School cap law said to injure budget attempts

24,

The new state law 1701 will restrict the Board of Education as it puts together the 2005-2006 school budget, according to School Board President John McManus.

The law caps spending at 2.5 percent and makes it difficult for school boards to put aside money in surplus for use on capital improvement projects.

McManus said, among other things, 1701 puts caps on surplus and affects line item transfers.

But Belleville resident and tax activist Vincent Frantantoni said school boards are using 1701 to "panic teachers, the public and parents."

"It was a three percent cap, and this reduces it to 2.5 percent or the cost of living, whatever is greater," he said. "If programs are adversely affected, you can ask the state Commissioner of Education for a waiver. It's not just a cold 2.5 percent cap."

He said the big question is where the money is going to come from from the state. Schools count on millions in state aid to fund programs, many of which are mandated by the state. "Where are they going to get state funds, if the state has a deficit?" Frantantoni asked.

He said the state has constantly violated the state constitution. State-mandated programs are supposed to be funded by the state, but often are not, leading to tax increases for residents.

"If school boards are really trying to control property taxes, they should be asking people to go public against state mandated programs, and fight against them," Frantantoni said

McManus said there are, indeed, preclusions that allow the school board to go for relief from the state, after they establish criteria and express a need.

"The bottom line is that it makes it more restrictive," he said. "We can't be fiscally responsible when we're wearing a pair of handcuffs."

Before, things were a lot less restraining as far as carrying over surplus for capital improvement projects. "We could carry it over and not hurt taxpayers," McManus said.

Proponents of the law say it forces school boards to give surplus back to taxpayers as a tax break.

McManus disagrees, saying, "We do not have to bond additional money at the last minute and put taxpayers in the hole (with the surplus for capital projects.)" The bottom line according to

McManus, is "1701 makes it a lot harder to get things done." Relief may come on Feb. 24, when the Legislature votes on a bill that would lift some of the restrictions established by 1701.

Villano said, "Our progress will

> He meant that any foot-dragging by the council on its end will not affect how quickly the schools get their fiber optic hook-up.

> School Board President John McManus said the implementation of the technology is dependent on a couple of factors.

"It's a matter of time and manpower," McManus said. "Issues will not be settled by next week. The technology committee has to go through the inventory, and the oldest will be refreshed first, then they will go through the district."

He said they have had requests from special education. "They have to look at it all and lay it out," McManus said.

McManus, in a previous interview, said Perinotti approached him that his company, American Re-insurance of Princeton, was looking to give away a number of IBM personal computers.

The company was doing a fairly expensive upgrade or "refreshing" of their computers, according to officials.

The offer kept climbing, from 20 to 40 and then finally to the astounding number of 275.

Perinotti has two children who have graduated from Belleville High School and a daughter currently in high school. His wife, Elaine, is a secretary at School 10 and a former Home and School Association president at School 7.

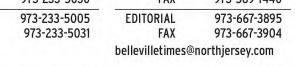

Of the 600 or so computers that American Re-Insurance parceled out to districts, Belleville got the most by far, McManus said.

To protect this site from improper development, the town fathers at the time re-zoned the property RA-2, one family residential. Their intentions were good for the town, as this site abuts a mainly one-family neighborhood with a golf course to the east, a beautiful elementary school to the south, and a firehouse to the north. Additional one family homes would enhance and preserve the suburban character of the area and increase the value of surrounding properties.

The Bad! The first in a series of poor decisions was made by the Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders and the county executive. In 1999, they sold the northern portion and the "Great Lawn" of the property claiming they had no further use for the property. This was untrue, because as of this date Essex County continues to house the county canine unit and the bomb squad at this site and

One parcel of land which housty would some day dispose of the es the Community Healthcare Net-34-acre land parcel known as the work was advertised for sale with a "Geriatrics Center" on Franklin minimum bid of $500,000. Surprisingly, the county sold it for only $300,000, which I believe may be a violation of bidding laws. One wonders why the trustees of Community Healthcare allowed their property to be sold for $300,000 and just seven months later, bought it back from the new owner for $1.1 million.

Next on the "Bad" list was the Belleville Township Council who catered to the developer's wishes and changed the zoning to commercial. They also amended the Belleville Zoning Ordinance and increased the density on this site from 16 to 25 units per acre and relaxed almost every other element of our zoning ordinance. In a lawsuit filed by a citizens group, line 58 reads, "The rezoning of the SOHO parcels, incompatible with surrounding uses and not for the purpose or effect of furthering a comprehensive plan was 'spot zon-ing." After a huge public outcry, DiVincenzo has made encouraging statements in his public ments. In his promised a "zero tolerance" policy on corruption in his administration. Recently, in his 2005 State of the County address he stated, "We have created a new history. One that tells the story of integrity, honesty, diversity, fiscal responsibility and openness?

Hopefully, after watching his two predecessors go to jail, DiVincenzo will fulfill the promises he made in his speech. To keep Joe D., a great family man, out of jail, I believe we must keep the public spotlight on him. The late Assemblywoman Millicent Fenwick once stated, " If you want a good government, you must watch it like a hawk." Let's see if his actions matched his words.

One month after taking office and promising to restore confidence in Essex County government, DiVincenzo raised eyebrows when he awarded seven political mentor. It appeared that DiVincenzo's promise of a national search for these administrative positions miraculously found the entire crew on a small site in Newark.

His promise of fiscal responsibility was put in doubt when he proposed to create a position of "inspector general" at a salary of $90,000 to monitor patronage and corruption, a job already entrusted to the county prosecutor and/or the state attorney general.

The first quarter of DiVincenzo's State of County speech addressed all the improvements that are very visible and we welcome and thank the county executive for these accomplishments. However, a good portion of these improvements were paid from the Open Space Fund approved by voters in 1999. We were led to believe this special tax was to acquire additional open space, not subsidize our county public works department.

DiVincenzo devoted only three sentences to the controversial Hilltop property. He claimed "a complex real estate closing was top administration positions to finalized and additional open space was gained." Perhaps DiVincenzo forgot that he was the freeholder president when the freeholder board approved the sale of the Hilltop property to the Essex County Improvement Authority in 1995. The facts are that the 300 acre Hilltop property was open space, and after all the "complex real estate" maneuvering, only half of the Hilltop was preserved as open space, the remainder sold off for development to balance the out-of-control county budget for one year. At the time, I questioned why the county was incurring a $45 million debt through the ECIA to plug a $32 million budget hole. I also questioned the competence and efficiency of the ECIA. Freeholder DiVincenzo defended the sale and the ECIA. Soon after taking office, County Executive DiVincenzo cut $1.3 million from the ECIA's budget and was reported in the Star Ledger stating, "The ECIA has been a disaster for the last eight years."

DiVincenzo also addressed the completion of the courthouse renovations and the "state of the art correctional facility, a $416million project." Under Freeholder DiVin-

Building" were turned into a parking lot to cater to the parents of toddlers who use the toddlers' equipment. The only other courts in all of Belleville for over 2000 children from eight up to young adults are two courts located at Fairway and Cortland streets. There are many toddler play-grounds throughout Belleville, including one behind the Friendly House, which is always locked by a neighbor, according to town officials. The two above-mentioned basketball courts are half courts, except Cortland Street.

Now a councilman wants to close the Cortland Street court and turn it over to toddlers. He says it is not maintained and that litter is cigarettes and marijuana, and apparent. In addition, the hoops engage in other negative behavior, also our town manager apparent-

There is only one full outside get broken down. We all know that if Belleville offered an outlet for teenagers, wherever they are, whether on the street or in their bedrooms, have a tendency to not be neat. Hoops probably are broken due to dunking the ball. The answer seems to be to provide more expensive hoops and to have Public Works clean up the areas regularly. In addition, the police might make it a stop when patrolling the town. Neighbors can call up the police where there is need.

Toddlers cannot walk to the swings and thus it would seem that their parents could drive to equipment already in place. Teenagers, on the other hand, can walk to the purposely created so our teenagers courts, and their parents are not have no place to play full court, often available to drive them to the three courts in Belleville and then pick them up.

Belleville did not want visitors from Newark playing on its courts and so it removed the many hoops throughout the town. This reader then had to drive his kids to Nutley. Now Nutley has torn up its courts. No longer can one bring his children to the courts on Park Avenue by 711 and on Bloomfield Avenue in Nutley.

About four years ago, the coun-cil appropriated $250,000 for the rehabilitation of the toddler equipment, which had become very dangerous and missing. No money was spent for our teenagers. Now councilman George Ritacco is going to spend more money for the toddlers and ignore the needs of our teenagers. It appears that he has a toddler and has a vested

This reader sees a lot of life in the three basketball courts. It seems our town leaders want our teenagers to play in the streets. People who are looking to move to town should ask realtors: Why all the hoops on the street? When this reader moved to Belleville 30 years ago, there were courts in most of the schoolyards and there were several recreation sites with hoops. The leaders of our town probably utilized them. It seems now that they are in power; they wish to deny this activity to our teenagers. We are told that many of our children are obese and need to exercise more. The question in Belleville is where? When this reader was on the recreation committee, which was disbanded by a previous administration, it showed the board of education and the town council a poll from the middle school and high school indicating that our children wanted more facilities for them to enjoy physical activity. Perhaps our basketball team could do better if they had an outdoor court to practice on when the schools are closed.

It is hopeful that a majority of the council, if not all of the council and mayor, will make a concerted effort to provide facilities for all of our children; not just the super athletes on the teams, and the tod-

Parents made to pay tuition for illegial students

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

The successful hunt for illegal students in the Belleville Public December, 13 students were Schools is translating into dollars via wins from court cases seeking tuition.

"For students found to be not residing in the district, there is a three to one victory ratio in litigation when we go to court to sue for theft of services," said School Board Vice President Arlene Schor, who chairs the board's residency committee.

the district's two domicile investigators, who look for and remove illegal students every month from the district.

'They are so efficient in identifying the students," Schor said. "They give such detailed documentation, it leads to success."

Schor made her comments during the committee reports at the Feb. 14 school board meeting.

Belleville has been successfully removing illegal students.

For example, in the month of removed from the schools for having non-residency status. For the year, 41 such students have been removed, according to School Board Member William Villano.

Another six students were denied access for not meeting residency standards, he said. For the year so far, 37 have been denied access.

Two court cases where the dis-She credited the success rate to trict has gone after tuition from parents of illegal students, have vielded a total of $16,372, Villano said. One case garnered $8,000 and another $8,372, he said.

Efforts are continually being stepped up by the board of education.

In November, Schor said the two domicile investigators are utilizing a new method in their efforts. The two started monitoring bus Belleville Middle School, to make sure students taking those buses are going to residences in Belleville, she said.

Parents might send their children illegally to Belleville because Belleville's school system is perceived to be superior to the one in their town. Illegal students cost taxpayers money because their parents are not paying taxes to Belleville to fund their child's attendance.

Once a student is found, the family will be taken to court, Schor said, and the district will strongly pursue tuition owed through the courts. The investigators, Bruce Morgan and Wayne Worley, present the cases.

The district has recovered thousands in tuition in recent years. A report for 2002-2003 on illegal students includes statistics that show the district was awarded nearly $11,000 by the courts from parents whose children illegally attended

For the past several years, stops at Belleville High School and Belleville schools. Schor said another 51 were denied that year for incomplete registration documentation.

A total of 174 students were removed during the 2003-2004 school year alone. Of that total, 81 were transferred out of the district for not meeting residency requirements, according to Schor. Another 26 were denied residency when investigations showed them not to be legally residing in town, and another 67 had a problem with their residency during registration.

A more complete report spanning June 30, 2001 to June 30, 2004 showed a total of 476 students removed during that time.

Another idea put forth by the school board's residency committee to detect illegal students is the hiring of a registrar who handles all new students coming into the district. While still not hired for the district, that person would be in charge of keeping all official records of residency for each child, said Schor.

The committee will make a more formal presentation about staffing the position in the coming months according to Schor.

The district now offers a $50 reward to any private citizen whose report regarding possible illegal students results in the removal of the student from the district.

School officials did not say whether the reward has led to many illegal students being found, or whether most are coming from investigations.

The efforts also help the town detect and shut down illegal multifamily dwellings – another expen-sive problem. Each time an illegal dwelling is found and the owner is made to pay his fair share in taxes, officials say it helps all taxpaying residents.

Belleville said clear of facilities cost overrun scandal

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

With Gov. Richard Codey promising to investigate inflated prices for school construction throughout the state, School Board President John McManus said no problems exist with such Belleville's renovations and construction, because Belleville has yet to dip into the state's multi-billion dollar till.

Codey said the state's new inspector general will examine the state agency handling the state's $8.6 billion school construction why there have been hundreds of millions of dollars in cost overruns and the charging of excessive professional fees. The firm is the Schools Construction Corp., which published reports say has built schools that have cost an average of 45 percent more than schools built by local school boards during the same time, since 2002, according to the Star Ledger.

McManus said the firms being questioned are really handling more of the state's poorer Abbott districts, not suburban districts like Belleville.

"I'm not familiar enough with the charges being made about inflated fees on school projects," McManus said. "This is for funding school construction. We haven't used any of that money yet so we don't have any experience. Nutley program to find out the reasons might have more experience with that."

> But Belleville does have proposed construction on the horizon. district created the The Belleville Schools' Community Facilities Taskforce (CFT), which is on a mission to improve the district's aging facilities weighing in from a taxpayer's perspective.

Task force member Vincent Frantantoni said the amount of $70 million for a referendum is being talked about right now, a number that frightens many taxpayers.

McManus said it is too early to talk about a final number, since the task force is still hard at work on formulating a plan.

The group has had several meetings thus far, fulfilling the district's goal of involving as many residents as possible in planning future building projects. With a $20 million-plus building project proposed for School 4, district officials are determined to get the community involved from the start.

There have been problems with new construction in other areas. A former Paterson schools maintenance supervisor faces 10 years in prison after pleading guilty Feb. 17 to accepting bribes from a construction company in exchange for approving its bills without checking its work. This was the first time a school employee has acknowledged defrauding the state-controlled school district during a blitz of publicly funded, multimilliondollar building renovations from 1999-2002

McManus said every contract would be checked by proper channels and no such bribery problems would be possible in Belleville.

Frantantoni said fees have been inflated for many projects statewide, with architect fees being the biggest culprit.

"You can negotiate not to pay a percentage, but just to pay a flat fee," he said. "What that does is protect against excessive costs. There is no need for a project to be bigger than it needs to be, since there is no more money for the architect in fees."

Frantantoni asked for a probe more than 20 years ago when Belleville school officials wanted to put in $5 million in windows and roofs

"Mathematically, I showed how they could do the repairs in their capital budget," he said. "Voters rejected the $5 million referendum, and we did it in house for a lot less."

Frantantoni credited the current school board for doing a lot of capital improvement work within its surplus account for the past several years.

School TV studio equipment not coming fast enough

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

Hi-tech mass communications supplies are not being implemented into the Belleville High School television studios fast enough for the head of the school board's technology committee.

Last April, the Board of Education placed a question on the ballot, along with school board elections and the $44 million school budget, asking for $47,900 to fund the gear.

Residents passed the measure with the budget, but the supplies have been slow in arriving and being placed in the studio. Board member William Villano, who chairs the technology committee, said at the Feb. 14 school tour the studio on Feb. 17.

"I want to see what level of technology we're at in the TV studio versus what we purchased," he said. "It's not been put in quick enough?

School Board President John McManus, in a later interview, said the equipment is on order.

"We have to look at how to employ the technology as opposed to what we used to do and how we're going to change," he said. "It's a little more than just equipment. We've gotten a request to update the video facility."

He said voters approved the money, and now it is up to the board to make the TV station better.

"We need to improve the quali-up with existing systems," McManus said.

In January, action was finally taken by the school board.

School Business Administrator Edward Appleton gave each member a handout explaining the status of the mass communication supplies.

The supplies have been held up because the technology keeps changing and modernizing.

In an earlier interview, Appleton said the vendor is Troxell Communication of Gibbsboro and the company will be paid a total of approximately $51,000. Included in that number are "a whole laundry list - at least 20 items," he said. Those items include racks, a sound mixer, audio cassette decks, itors. He said the equipment is basically anything there would be in a studio.

The equipment could arrive in as little as 30 days, but Appleton said he has to sit down with the department supervisor and come up with a strategy.

The change is more than just getting the new equipment delivered, he said. The district has to take out the old equipment. It might do it during the shut down of the schools the week of Feb. 21.

In a separate interview, McManus said that changes in the equipment caused delays. He said that for voters to approve the equipment and it not to be purchased on time "would be a crime." The supplies would provide the board meeting that he wanted to ty of programs, and how we link editing decks, recorders and mon- latest technology to the high school television station, which board members say is woefully out of date.

At a previous meeting, Villano asked Appleton if the new equipment is "the latest and the greatest?"

Appleton said a representative from Panasonic said the items bid were updated and proper for the studio's operations.

School board member Anthony Sessa leads the school board's public relations committee, which is exploring the possibility of using the school's TV station to televise school board meetings. The exploration has just begun, he said.

School 10 students strut for 'On Stage' show

Rob Murante shows off the latest in sports fashion.

Backstage the models clown around, waiting for their big moment under the lights.

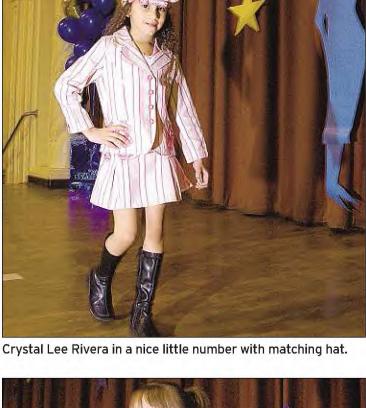

Belleville School 10 held its "On Stage" fashion show on Feb. 15, featuring students in an array of different outfits. The show also featured performances by the Garden State Brass Ensemble, MC Mathew Kistner and DJ Robert Cassie. Parents and grand parents packed the School 10 auditorium to get a glimpse of their little runway star, most of whom hung out back stage before the show working off their nervous energy. Overall, the show was a hit for kids and families alike.

THE GO GUIDE

12 MILES WEST

'Rapunzel' highlights 'Family Week'

The New Jersey Theatre Alliance and 12 Miles West Theatre Company will present a production of "Rapunzel" on March 5, 6, 12 and 13 at 3 p.m., and March 6 and 13 at 1 p.m. These performances are part of the eighth annual "Family Week at the Theatre," an annual event that provides free performances for children during the first week of March.

These performances will be offered at a "buy one adult ticket at $10, one child goes free" rate.

Based on the famous Grimm's fairytale, this musical adaptation follows the story of Rapunzel and Prince Jim as they search for love, happiness and some snappy 60's pop melodies. It is recommended for ages five and up.

After the March 5 perfor-mances, The New Jersey Theatre Alliance and 12 Miles West Theatre Company will present the "Fantasy to Finale Workshop," to be taught by Rapunzel author/composer Mark Sarto, who will guide students through the process of how to bring a musical from an idea through production, utilizing some of the latest technologies. 12 Miles West theatre staff will also discuss how they find and select scripts for production.

Space is limited, and first preference will go to performance attendees. These workshops are offered free of charge to children and their families. It is recommended for ages 10 and up.

Family Week at the Theatre is an annual statewide festival offering free and discounted tickets to young people and their families. It has been developed to encourage families to attend professional theatre together by making the experience affordable, educational and exciting. Across the state in all 21 counties, young people (ages five to 18) will receive free tickets to over 100 performances and special events including free classes, workshops and backstage tours. Since its 1998 inception, the program has served over 45,000 young people and their parents with professional theatre performances and activities.

While these performances are offered free of charge for children, there is a nominal $10 admission charge for adults, and reservations are necessary. Fantasy to Finale starts at 4 p.m. on March 5 and 12. For more information or to RSVP, call the box office at (973) 259-9187. To receive a full events schedule for Family Week at the Theatre (March 5-13), call 1-800-THE-ARTS or visit the Web site www.familyweek.com.

12 Miles West Center for the Arts is located at 562 Bloomfield Ave., two blocks west of the Garden State Parkway. This event is not wheelchair accessible at this time.

For more information, visit the Web site www.12mileswest.org.

Pushcart Players hosting 'Not Quite Hamlet' in early March

The New Jersey Theatre with all of Shakespeare's twists, Alliance and 12 Miles West The-turns and family feuds, this musical atre Company will present Pushcart Players' production of "Not Quite Hamlet" on March 5, 11 and 12 at 7:30 p.m.

These performances are part of the eighth annual "Family Week at the Theatre," an event that provides free theatre performances for children during the first week in March. The March 5 and 12 performances will be offered at a "buy one adult ticket for $10, every two children go free" rate. The March 11 performance will be offered at a "buy one adult ticket for $10, one child goes free" rate.

Pushcart Players, an award-winning professional theatre and artsin-education company for young audiences, has created a musical adaptation of William Shakespeare's classic tale. Narrated by Shakespeare himself, this delightful production includes a comic spin and a happy ending. Filled romp provides a great introduction to the Bard for young audiences. It is recommended for grades three to nine.

While these performances are offered free of charge for children, there is a $10 nominal admission charge for adults, and reservations are necessary. For more information or to make a reservation, call the box office at (973) 259-9187.

To receive a full schedule of events for Family Week at the Theatre (March 5-13), call 1-800-THE-ARTS or visit the Web site www.familyweek.com.

12 Miles West Center for the Arts is located at 562 Bloomfield Ave., just west of the Garden State Parkway. This event is wheelchair accessible.

RECIPE

Dr. Byrd Cake

- 1 tsp. salt
- 11/2 tsp. vanilla
- 2 cups diced bananas (about two large)
- 1 (8 oz.) can crushed pineapple with juice

Sift together flour, baking soda, cinnamon, salt and sugar into large mixing bowl. Make a well in center and break eggs into it. Add oil, vanilla, bananas and, last the pipeapple and its last, the pineapple and its juice. Stir (do not beat) until well blended. Pour batter into well-greased 9or 10-inch tube pan. Bake in 350-degree oven for one hour and 20 minutes. Cake will crack on top. Set pan on rack to cool. Run knife blade around edges of pan and tube and carefully turn out cake to finish cooling. Cake keeps well when properly wrapped and refrigerated.

SLCA plans upcoming events, invites residents to meetings

Our first meeting of 2005 of the SLCA was held last week. Even though the weather wasn't great, we had a good show of members. Leading us in the Pledge of Allegiance was our Community Policeman Gary Souss, who I might add, is a treasure to us. We went through the agenda and reported on the activities held since our last meeting, such as our Silver Lake Day, New Year's in November and our tree lighting ceremony. Angel, our vice president, reminded all that our spring dance will be held on Friday, May 6, at the Chandelier Restaurant. Our headliner will be the Passions who sang that oldies tune, "Just to be With You". D.J. music will also be provided so that we can dance the night away. Details will follow.

With spring approaching, the SLCA, will be awarding another $1,000 scholarship to a BHS senior who meets the criteria and who still lives in Silver Lake. A special highlight of the evening was our new digital camera purchased by the association. The camera was on hand that evening as well as our "photographer" Officer Souss who showed us how to use it and took lots of pictures of our members. We had our share of neighborhood complaints. One major complaint was that our Silver Lake signboard on Franklin Street, across from the firehouse was being vandalized. These "hoodlums" are banging the back or front of the sign and knocking off the letters. But as soon as they knock them down, Pete Branch and I are there, to put them up. I guess it's a cat and mouse game, but in the end, we will win. We have our scouts out and hopefully will find out who the culprits are. But we still need your help. In the event you happen to see anyone who looks suspicious and in the act of vandalizing, go across to the firehouse and call the police.

So gang, mark your calendar for our next SLCA meeting which will be held on Tuesday, March 15 at the Moose Lodge. Please join us for dessert and to be informed of what is going on in Silver Lake.

Let me boast a bit about our Clara Maass Hospital situated in Silver Lake. I had a procedure done last week at the hospital. Of course, I was quite apprehensive but weathered the storm. As I entered Clara, I was greeted with efficient and courteous service. The staff was wonderful and should be commended. So all you workers in the Same Day Surgery Department, Silver Lake is sending you out a 20-gun salute for going above and beyond your duties. Thanks to Madeline Delli Santi, R.N.; Zerrim Cesmebasi, Diana Calunsad, Mindy Ybanez, Mary Jane Bernal and Paul Illingworth, and Dr. Daniel Manzi, who did the procedure. And to you, Thomas Biga, the executive director, be proud of your staff. They were excellent. And let me not forget the CEO and president of St. Barnabas Health Care System, Ronald Del Mauro. Mr. Del Mauro, the staff came off with a flying A. And to the Clara Maass Auxiliary headed by Grace Purdue and my friend Marie Vander Zwan, and the Angel, keep up the good work.

And remember, we love Silver Lake.

As reported several weeks ago, students at Belleville Middle School, along with their teacher Joseph Rotonda, mounted s successful campaign to raise money for the victims of the Southeast Asia tsunami that happened in December. By making a selling blue and yellow friendship bracelets, the students were able to raise $653. Last Wednesday, representatives from the American Red Cross, which is assisting in the relief effort, came to the school to accept the money raised.

Carpal Tunnel Syndrome may be treated with low level laser

A report authored by Michael Weintraub, M.D. was presented at the 48th annual meeting of the American Academy of Neurology.

The report concluded that Carpal Tunnel Syndrome(CTS) was reversed in 77% of cases studied when treated with the Microlight 830 low level laser. This noninvasive laser uses a flash of light to penetrate deep into the wrist and soothe the effects of CTS.

The physical therapists at Pre-cision Care LLC in Bloomfield have two years' experience in treating CTS sufferers with the Microlight 830 laser. When used in conjunction with standard physical therapy techniques the laser has been shown to return disabled workers to their jobs in more than 70% of cases.

Hazel Lauron, physical therapist, says, "We have helped patients avoid surgery by using this laser, and we have even treated cases where CTS surgery has failed."

Precision Care LLC is a modern facility staffed by friendly physical therapists experienced in treating mild to quite severe cases of CTS. If you are experiencing pain, numbness, pins and needles of the fingers, hands or forearms you may have CTS. These symptoms can wake you from a sound sleep. Call Preci-sion Care at 973-748-3006 for

Bucs win two, finish season 10-9

BY MIKE LAMBERTI for Belleville Times

finished up the regular season with a 66-12 win over Bayonne and wrapped up a 10-9 season.

Joe Nisivoccia's team will now prepare for the "second season" of high school wrestling, which begins tomorrow evening at Livingston with the District 14 championships.

The districts will conclude on Saturday afternoon. Those wrestlers who finish in the top three of their respective weight class advance to the Region 4 championships, which begin with preliminary round action at Passaic Valley on March 1. The regions continue on March 4 and conclude at Passaic Valley on March 5 with the championship and thirdplace bouts. disappointing," "That was Nisivoccia said. "We lost the first seven matches and had to work uphill from there."

The match started at 145 pounds and Glen Ridge jumped out to a large lead before Belleville began to rally, starting at 103 pounds where Filiberto Colon won by fall.

Colon, the Essex County champion, is one of a number of freshmen who have done well in their first year of varsity competition. Muniz, a senior won an overtime on March 11-13. (There is more on match at 125 pounds. Other Glen Ridge included Angel Cuevas (130), Robert Cozzarelli (135) and Carlos Atuncar (140), all of whom won by fall. Cozzarelli's pin came in a quick 14 seconds.

Last Saturday, Belleville clinched the winning season by beating Bayonne. Among the wins there was junior heavyweight Frank Rubino, who pinned his opponent in 57 seconds and was carried off the mat in victory by his teammates.

"The kids were really happy for ank," Nisivoccia said. "He's Frank," worked hard all year long and I know our wrestlers were happy for him.

NOTES: Livingston, Nutley, Bloomfield and Belleville should be among the favorites to win the District 14 title. The districts represent the last week of team competition in the high school wrestling season. Starting in the regions, team scores are not calculated.

Millinder going for 1,000

BY MIKE LAMBERTI

for Belleville Times

The Belleville boys' basketball team concluded its season last Tuesday at Montclair with senior guard Lucius Millinder needing 33 points to reach the 1,000-point plateau for his career.

Belleville took a 7-15 record into that game, having lost league contests last week to Don Bosco Prep and Teaneck.

'We're hoping Lucius can do it, Belleville coach Duane Eason said. "He's had a few 30 point games this year and I keep telling him he's got a 40-point effort in him, so hopefully the Montclair game will be it.'

Against Don Bosco, Millinder scored 20 while up-and-coming junior guard Marquis Dwah had 12 points. Dwah, a twoguard, has impressed Eason with his overall game of late.

'He's a very good athlete," Eason said. "He has a good vertical leap and shoots the ball well. Over the past two weeks, he's stepped up his game significantly."

The Bucs lost at Teaneck, 59-53.

"We played well and had chances to win," Eason said. "We missed some free throws and couldn't get over the hump."

Millinder had 22 points and Dwah had 10 in that game. The Bucs were further hampered when senior Joe Droz hurt his ankle and had to miss the second half.

"He's our best defensive player," Eason said of Droz. "Without him in the lineup, it took away some of the things we like to do on the defensive side.

Eason has been working with three guards in the lineup, including freshmen Kaseem Harris, Marlou Zanoria and Dwah

"It gives us a different look," Eason said. "We're a smaller lineup that way, but quicker. We have a lot of young kids who have been getting varsity experience this year, and it can only help us next season.'

NOTES: The J.V. team has been led by junior Danny Balaban, who is averaging 15 points and 15 rebounds a game.

"Danny will be a key player for the varsity next year," Eason said. "He's put his time in on the J.V. level and has done very well.

Lopez, Barnes playing well

BY MIKE LAMBERTI for Belleville Times

It was a tough week for the Belleville girls' basketball team, which dropped three games to Holy Angels, Teaneck and Wayne Hills.

Dilma Hernandez's team took a solid 9-14 record into its season finale last Tuesday against Montclair, at home. "We made mistakes last week that young teams make," Hernandez said. "We weren't as consistent as we should have been, and against those teams, you can't do that.'

Holy Angels is one of the stronger teams in Northern New Jersey and Belleville gave a good account of itself, scoring a season high 53 points in a 75-53 setback.

Tiyanna Barnes had 19 points and 10 rebounds while Christina Lopez tallied 17 points with five assists and four boards for Belleville. Yanira Almagro finished with seven points.

"I was happy with the effort and the offense," Hernandez said. "Holy Angels had a very deep, talented team. I thought we played well.

Barnes and Lopez led the Belleville offense against Teaneck, scoring 14 and 11 points respectively. The two also had 10 rebounds each and Lopez also recorded three assists. Samantha Baker had nine points for Belleville.

"Teaneck wasn't as big as us, but they were quick and their press hurt us," Hernandez said.

In a 58-41 loss to Wayne Hills, Lopez had 18 points, six assists and six steals. Baker finished with nine points and five assists and Barnes, battling a knee injury, had eight points and 10 boards.

NOTES: The J.V. team, coached by Joelle DellaVolpe, has put together a 7-15 mark heading into the season finale.

"Joelle has done a great job with the V.," Hernandez said. "That team is mostly freshman and sophomores and they've played well."

The J.V. team has been led by Marissa Brown, Bianka Cosme and Stephanie Gomez.

Belleville should be in the mix at District 14

The District 14 championships this weekend officially kick off the second season of high school wrestling for Belleville. Approximately nine teams make up District 14, which will be held at Livingston starting tomorrow night and concluding Saturday afternoon.

There are 32 districts throughout the state, and by the end of the weekend, those wrestlers who finish in the top three of their respective class at the districts earn an invitation to the region championships.

There are eight regions throughout the state and Belleville is a member of Region 4, which will return to Passaic Valley this year, starting March 1, after Clifton hosted the regional round last year. The regional round continues on March 4 and concludes on March 5 with championship and third-place bouts. Those wrestlers who finish in the top three of their weight class at the regions will qualify for the state championships at Atlantic City, beginning on March 11 and concluding two days later.

The district championships also conclude the team portion of the high school wrestling season. Team scores are calculated and a team champion is awarded for each of the 32 districts. However, the regional round does not calculate team scores, just individual results.

trict 14 of late, winning the last four titles and seven in the last eight years. Despite being young, Livingston (16-7) will once again be a favorite to win, especially after a late season surge that saw it win a match in the sectional championships. Nutley and possibly Bloomfield and Belleville should give a strong showing.

Here's a look at Belleville's chances in the 14 weight classes this weekend at Livingston.

140-Carlos Atuncar (15-8) has won his last four matches, all by pin. He'll probably have to wrestle Livingston's Sean Robertson somewhere along the line this weekend if he hopes to win the district title.

145-Junior Dom DeBenedetto (12-12) is improving by the week and could advance. Nutley's John Dinan will probably be the top seed.

152-Eric Pacheco, who has consistently weighed in less than 152, has a tough chore in this weight class. Livingston's Dave D'Angelo and Nutley's Chris Abbaleo were in the county final. 160-Frank Minichini hopes to conclude his senior year with a good run here. 171-Justin Procaccino has wrestled just seven varsity matches for Belleville but has potential. Montclair Kimberly's Joe Walter is the favorite, but Nutley's Hey-Chung Gehring could win it.

189-Nick Giangrande (16-8) has been outstanding for Belleville. Nutley's Lou Ritacco should be the favorite and Bloomfield's Said Gaida will be a tough out. 215-Joe-Mac Dizon (11-11) has worked hard in this tough weight class. Livingston's Phil Silverberg and Nutley's Anthony Maurillo should be the top seeds.

275-Frank Rubino won his final dual match of the season for Belleville and hopes to surprise a few people at the districts. Bloomfield's Andrew Ackerman should be the top seed.

The Ugly! If this plan proceeds we will be stuck with a high-density complex of buildings on the most beautiful site in Belleville. These high-density projects, over the long term, often evolve into problem plagued rental units as we currently are experiencing at a large apartment complex a quarter a mile from this site. The traffic experts predictions of traffic problems will pose a danger to children attending the elementary school #10. If we lose one more life on Franklin Avenue because of the high traffic volume and poor planning and zoning decisions, will the huge profits and increased ratables be worth it? If the additional water runoffs from this project create additional flooding problems in other parts of town, such as the Valley section, who will be held accountable?

The Good, the Bad and the Ugly! Produced by Essex County, with supporting roles played by the Belleville Township Council and the Belleville Planning Board. Watch for coming attractions!

Traditional styling is chic once more only this time with a twist

Traditional style is chic once again! Today, traditional décor is everywhere from television sitcoms like Will & Grace and Gilmore Girls to music videos and print advertisements. And it's color. This especially can be seen becoming more and more popular among designers and homeownlot of times talking about issues that really don't matter when it comes to spiritual things and walking in the light of Jesus Christ, possessing his attributes and being obedient to his will? Absolutely!

BELLEVILLE CLERGY ALLIANCE Walking in the light of Jesus

I believe that we are living in the last days and the Bible is being fulfilled and we see the signs of the time just by the way that we are living. "Whatever feels good, do it," is something humanism told us but it is totally against the principles of God.

I offer these five principles that I want to raise so that we can walk in the Spirit of Truth and receive Christ and the Holy Spirit. Then we will not only be hearers of the word but doers of the word who walk in faith. 1 John 1:3-5, 9 sets us up for several things to happen: 1) we have fellowship with God, 2) our joy be full, 3) walk in the light,4) confess our sins, 5) then we be cleansed.

"That which we have seen and heard we declare to you, that you may also have fellowship with us; and truly our fellowship is the Father and with his Son, Jesus Christ. And these things we write to you that your joy may be full.

him is no darkness at all. If we confess our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness?

1) The only way we come to know God and his love is through the saving grace of his son Jesus Christ, who is the light of the world. The only way we can have fellowship with God is through the son Jesus Christ and the light which he gives to everyone that believes in him. 2) Our joy can be made full and complete only after we receive Jesus Christ in our lives

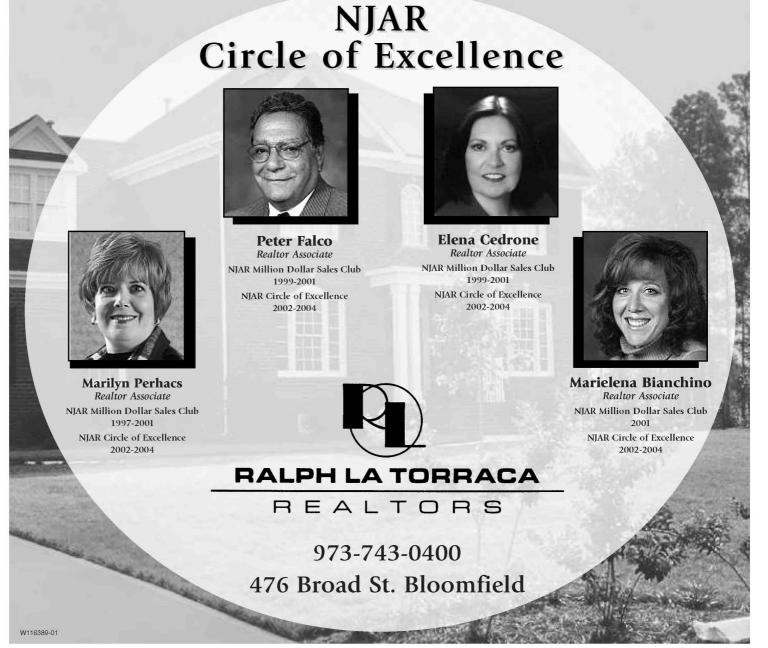

Many people are in church but their joy is not full and they are incomplete because they don't know Christ. Completion comes by the washing of blood, and if we have not been washed in the blood of Jesus we are not his and we are incomplete. 3) To walk in the light we cannot fulfill the lust of the flesh. It is impossible to be in light and darkness at the same time, and I submit that if Christ is not in your life you are yet in darkness. 4) We must be willing to admit (confess) we are sinners and need a Holy God to wash us. Then and only then can we stand in the presence of God to receive This is the message which we anything from him. 5) To be have heard from him and declare cleansed from all unrighteousness

Isn't it ironic that we spend a to you, that God is light and in to be willing to give your not just your heart and every part of you and submit under the mighty hand of God.

God so wants to bless us and bring us into the place, the land that flows with milk and honey if we could only allow him to be God and stop giving over to every whim that our flesh desires. The Spirit of Truth is the guidance we need or a measuring stick if you will that keeps us on the right path and will not allow the spirit of darkness or Satan to stop us from fulfilling the things God has for us. So, if we are going to see God in peace and our joy is going to be full and complete, surrender your heart totally to God and you will experience a love that you have never known before, "the love of God!"

I want to close with this little church blooper I received: "A Sunday school teacher asked her children, "And why is it necessary to be quiet in church?" One girl replied, "Because people are sleeping." Maybe too many are in church sleeping.

Public Invited to Shafter Branch rededication

The Belleville Public Library and Information Center invites the public to a reception commemo-rating the rededication and 40th anniversary of the Richard A. Shafter Branch of the library on Sunday, March 6 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

It was then Board of Trustees President, Dr. Federick Long, who sought to expand the main library to include a branch facility to serve parts of Belleville relatively distant from downtown Washington Avenue. Mrs. Richard A. Shafter, novel for "One Book" programs "Barry" to all who knew and admired her, walked Belleville's neighborhoods talking to people about their library in an effort to find a site for this proposed branch. The resulting library, carved out of two unused classrooms in School Number Four on Magnolia Avenue was known as the Silver Lake Branch. In 1986, the Library Board, led by President Joseph Casale, voted to rename the branch in Barry Shafter's honor.

All those wishing to attend this special anniversary and rededication reception are asked to call the Circulation Desk at the Main Branch at 973-450-3434.

'One Book New Jersey'

Read along with the Belleville Public Library and Information Center and the rest of New Jersey as part of the "One Book New Jersey" program. The featured adult book is "To Kill a Mockingbird." A discussion will be led by Dr. Carrie Prettiman, professor of language and literature at Cedar Crest College in Allentown, Pa., on Thursday, April 14 at 1 p.m.

Books will not be provided by hand lotion, cold packs. Join the Friends of the Library the library. Participants are required to obtain their own copies of the book. Sign-up now by calling the circulation desk at 973-450-3434.

"To Kill a Mockingbird," first at the circulation desk of the published in 1960, has become a classic. Through the eyes of Jem and Scout Finch, author harper Lee explores the attitudes toward race and class in the South in the 1930s. Lawyer Atticus Finch takes on the defense of Tom Robinson, a black man accused of raping a young white woman. This story shows the quiet heroism of his struggle for justice.

"To Kill a Mockingbird" has gar-nered numerous awards, including the Pulitzer Prize. It has been translated into more than 40 languages and made into an acclaimed movie starring Gregory Peck as Atticus Finch. It has been selected more often than any other across the country.

Library/Red Cross collect for troops

The Belleville Public Library and Information Center invites the public to aid in the collection of supplies for New Jersey troops being deployed to Iraq. Supplies may be dropped off at the library. They will then be transported to one of two Red Cross centers which is spearheading the collection.

Items needed by the troops include the following: travel size shaving cream, bath soap, international calling cards, wet wipes, small bottles of hand sanitizer, Twizzlers (individually wrapped), granola bars, small cans of fruit, Crystal Light powder, double-edge, disposable razors (no loose razors), unscented, small bottles of foot powder, eye drops (no contact supplies), ladies' hygiene items, new music CDs, new video DVDs writtablets, black in pens, ing envelopes, bug guard, sun block SPR 45 or higher, travel size bottles of shampoo, travel size bottles of

The American Red Cross provides assistance to the military 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Assistance is free, provided by the generous donations of the American people. The Belleville Public Library is located at 221 Washington Ave., Belleville.

Children's programs

Winter/spring story times at the James J. Cozzarelli, Jr. Children's Room of the Belleville Public Library & Information Center begins and runs though April 7. The Children's Room offers weekly classes for different ages: Books for Babies is held Mondays at 10 a.m. for children under three years old. Toddler Story Time is held Wednesdays at 10 a.m. for children three and up. Preschool Story Time, for children four years old and up, is held Thursdays at 10 a.m. To sign-up for any of these programs, call the library at 973-450-3434 or register in person.

Belleville Library goes wi-fi

The Belleville Public Library's main branch has gone wi-fi! The library has installed wireless technology so that patrons can bring in their laptop computers and work in the library. Hot spots are located in the Carnegie Room upstairs, in the lobby and out on our patio located on the Academy Street side of the building. Anyone with a laptop set up for a wireless interface can come into the library, sit at one of our tables and work online. In the warmer weather, the staff urges patrons to bring their laptops, coffee and snacks and make use of the outdoor tables and chairs.
