For the Belleville Police Department, the past hundred years' memories will be more secure in the future.

As part of the department's centennial, an archive of more than 4,000 photos has been collected, and a six-foot monument will soon be constructed outside the Belleville Avenue entrance to the police department, the site of the original police station entrance, according to Sgt. Charles Padula. The monument will contain the names of all of Belleville's police chiefs.

"It's been done through word of mouth, from retired and current police officers," Padula said. "We've gotten photos from all over the country."

Main Street

One such contribution came from James Lee, a retired officer residing in California. He had photos of both his father and grandfather.

"Back then, they had parades at night," Padula said. "One of the photos shows his grandfather with my grandfather, who was then mayor."

A lot of photos have come from senior citizens and their families that police did not even know were still in town, he said.

"Two elderly women had a picture of Charles Booth, who was an officer after he got out of World War I," Padula said. "Back then, the average time on the job was 30 years or longer. That's why we've only had eight previous chiefs."

Some of the most "wonderful" pictures, he said, came from photo negatives from storage kept offsite, old 4 by 5 negatives that have been transformed into new photos, many from the 1940s and 1950s.

Belleville's Caputo named board VP

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

Belleville Freeholder Ralph Caputo said his election to vice president of the board "changes his role significantly" for residents of Belleville, Nutley and Bloomfield, but he will still be available to hear their concerns as in the past Caputo was elected Vice President of the Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders during the board's annual reorganization meeting that held Jan. 3 at the Hall of Records in Newark. Caputo will serve as Vice President for 2007 as part of the board's leadership team with Freeholder Blonnie R. Watson of Newark, who was elected president.

"I will attend meetings with County Executive (Joseph) DiVincenzo, look at problems, and communicate additional information with my constituents from work conferences," Caputo said in an interview. "I will help arrange committee assignments and budget hearings, and subpoena witnesses."

As for residents of Belleville, Nutley and Bloomfield, he said, "I will still provide as much service as possible. Whatever can be provided, I will make available. I was unanimously elected, and I am honored and humbled."

Caputo was nominated by Freeholders D. Bilal Beasley of Irvington and Freeholder President Blonnie R. Watson and then elected by his colleagues in a unanimous vote, 9-0. He was then sworn in as Vice President by the Honorable Glenn A. Grant, Presiding Judge of the Superior Court of New Jersey, Essex Vicinage.

Caputo succeeds Freeholder Patricia Sebold of Livingston, who served in that role from 2003 through 2006.

He said it makes sense that he would be vice president, since he presides over an urban/suburban area and therefore complements Watson, whose constituency is urban.

He will keep his office at Hendricks Field in Belleville, where anyone from Belleville, Nutley or Bloomfield can stop in on a Saturday and speak with him, Caputo said.

Upon taking the oath of office, Caputo congratulated Watson on her election as President and pledged to be her reliable and supportive partner. He also remarked that she had earned the opportunity to lead the board.

He stated that she had, " ... been a leader by example, always reminding us of what public service can and should be about – this is, working to improve the lives of our constituents, and doing so with an open mind, fairness, determination, dignity and grace."

He also praised the outgoing Freeholder President Johnny Jones, and Sebold, for what he said was their outstanding leadership during the previous four years.

Caputo said he appreciated his colleagues for having elected him and pledged to be the best vice president he can be. He remarked on the great successes achieved by the Freeholder Board and the Administration of DiVincenzo over the last four years in rebuilding the county's fiscal standing and restoring the public's trust and respect for county government.

The Vice President praised the County Executive for his initiatives, responsiveness and work ethic, and also lauded the role of the Freeholder Board.

He stated, "As the legislative and co-equal branch of county government, this Board also deserves credit for the County's dramatic turnaround. We have been supportive of the Administration's initiatives, but also vigorous in fulfilling our oversight responsibilities, and that's the way it should be."

He added that, "Through our scrutiny of the Administration's efforts, I believe we have helped to fine-tune policy decisions and, in the process, contributed to the even more effective delivery of services to the residents of this county. I am proud of our efforts and committed to pursuing this rigorous role."

Caputo said he previously he will continue to listen to public officials and citizens groups about problems like traffic.

Road repairs and park improvements for the three towns and the entire district remain a priority, according to Caputo.

The county jail and courthouse projects had been responsible for much of the debt in recent years, but there are no such large projects in the near future, he said.

When it comes to responding to residents' needs, Caputo said sometimes everything works exactly as it should.

For example, there was the Branch Brook Apartments in Belleville, which were not being kept up by the landlord, and Belleville Park, which was in need of refurbishment.

Thanks to the help of the freeholders, local officials and the residents themselves, Caputo said Branch Brook Apartments have a new owner that has changed the name to the Audubon complex and kept the landlord has kept promises to improve conditions.

The Belleville Park on Belleville Avenue across from the apartments was the recipient of a $1 million grant that fixed ball fields and built a new playground. Caputo said he plans to be there for the residents of Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley for the rest of his term, he said.

COLUMBUS DAY

Compromise suggested that may restore Belleville, Nutley parade

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

In a move to end the controversy between groups in Nutley and Belleville as to whether the Columbus Day Parade should continue to be a joint project of the two neighboring towns, Nutley's mayor has drafted a proposal she said she hopes will resolve differences between the two sides.

One of the longest standing members of the Belleville committee said he hopes the proposal will resolve all of the issues.

A group in Nutley, consisting of many of the leaders and organizers of the parade in recent years, wants Nutley to stage its own parade.

Nutley Mayor Joanne Cocchiola met with Belleville Mayor Raymond Kimble and Belleville Parade Committee Vice President Mario Drozdz, outlining her proposal. She said she did not want to reveal the details of the proposal until all involved had a chance to see the ideas in writing.

"If everyone goes along with it, we should be okay for this year," Cocchiola said. "If not, we will give the okay for the new committee to stage the parade in Nutley. But I have an idea that I think can work. It could work, with some cooperation. I'm trying."

She said the Nutley commissioners she had contacted agreed with her plan. All five commissioners had said previously they would support having control of the parade in Nutley.

Former Belleville mayor Mario Drozdz is the Belleville parade vice president. He said, "Hopefully, we can resolve all of the issues. I will will do what I have to do to get the 25th anniversary parade off the ground. It's all pettiness here. The bottom line is this became a personality issue. I'm in favor of getting it resolved. I know the history. I've been the most active, longest-standing member."

'We're planning to go on as usual, although it may be a bumpy ride. ...'

Michael Perrone Belleville

2006 Parade Committee Chairman

Belleville's Michael Perrone, the parade committee chairman for Belleville last year, said he was not as optimistic that the differences can be worked out. He said the committee had their first meeting on Jan. 9.

Former Nutley mayor John Kelly was named parade chairman, and is co-founder of the parade in Nutley.

We're planning to go on as usual, although it may be a bumpy ride," Perrone said. "There is talk that they will let us alone if we let them (Nutley) pick their own grand marshal. We won't agree to that."

He said in a previous interview that the parade is the oldest and the largest in the state, and he and the majority of parade organizers in both Belleville and Nutley would like to keep it that way.

Perrone said the Belleville orga-bring it back to the committee. I nizers received a letter requesting the permit date, Sunday, Oct. 7 be given to the new group, and they never extended the committee the courtesy of a phone call or a letter.

Both sides agreed that the rift was initiated when over disagreements about how a grand marshal was selected, and who the grand marshal should be.

Nutley resident Thomas Sposato is one of those organizing the new parade committee.

He said Nutley politicians, including former mayors Carmen Orechio, Gary Furnari and Kelly had been grand marshals in the past, along with Belleville Freeholder Ralph Caputo, but none of them petitioned for the honor, but were instead nominated and voted upon by the parade committee.

Sposato said committee members had voiced displeasure about "not being told about meetings and back door deals."

The committees, he reiterated, are not set up by any politician, but are a volunteer group.

He said previously that for years there was no order, and too much infighting, and it started to get "nasty." Still, he said he still wants Belleville to participate, and he is definitely not anti-Belleville.

Sposato said previously that no sitting politicians, and certainly no one who was running for re-election the following year, would be chosen as grand marshal.

Belleville First Ward Councilwoman Marie Strumolo Burke has called the plan for Nutley to possibly take over the parade "a disgrace," and said the Nutley commissioners were "no better" than anyone in Belleville.

Parade compromise may be coming soon missioners indicated that they were not planning on granting a permit to the organizers of the annual Columbus Day parade held with its neighbor, Belleville. Instead of the 25th anniversary parade originally planned, Nutley said it would grant a permit to a group that would restrict their parade to that community only, cutting Belleville out.

Last week this space expressed the hope that a deal could be reached so that this celebration of ethnic pride and neighborliness between a pair of towns with very strong ties continues as it has since 1982. Since then, the mayor of Nut-

Last month Nutley's com- ley, Joanne Cocchiola, has reached out to her Belleville counterpart Ray Kimble with a plan that could keep the parade intact. Details of that compromise have not been released - it will be a lot easier to hash things out away from the public eye, presumably - so we'll reserve judgement on the deal until it has been made known.

In the meantime, however, we commend officials in both towns for trying to reach an agreement that will keep this fine event going strong, continuing a proud quarter-century tradition. We wish them the best of luck.

Paramedic question still unresolved

dents: as of Jan.1, the township still had paramedic service, despite an announcement from the provider of that service, MONOC, that rising costs were forcing them to close down here. The bad news, however, is that the underlying issues that are making life hard for the paramedic service providers still have not been addressed. A battle was won when MONOC was still in operation here when 2007 rolled around. The war has yet to be won.

State regulations apparently prevent a given paramedic service provider from simply shutting down, and a backup must be in place, legislators who intervened in this matter say. That might certainly keep MONOC in place for now, but what about the long term? Surely MONOC or some other company cannot be forced by the state to keep providing that service the company is losing money, as MONOC claims it is.

The problem stems from a 1996 Medicare rule that requires both basic lifesaving agencies, like volunteer ambulance squads, and advanced agencies, like MONOC and other paramedic companies, to submit one bill, capped at $400, when both respond to a scene. Because of the way that law is worded, the basic service providers can take as much of that $400 as they desire, leaving the rest for the paramedic companies. This phenomenon is not just being seen here in New Jersey, either: paramedic squads across the country are experiencing this too.

Clearly the law needs tweaking. Both basic life support providers and paramedics, who handle more

Good news for Belleville resi- providing a service especially if in advanced duties that are closer to what an ER physician would perform, are getting the short end of the stick. In New Jersey, the largely volunteer services have to tap every revenue source they can to supplement their fundraising drives, while highly skilled paramedics are becoming more and more scarce just as need for them is growing - more elderly people in this country as a result of increased life spans means there will be more need for the type of acute rescue paramedics can provide.

What state legislators - and local ones for the matter - must petition for is a change to Medicare that allows both the volunteers and the paid paramedics enough cash to get by on. Anything else is merely putting a Band Aid on a gaping wound.

LETTERS Make teens safer behind the wheel

TO THE EDITOR:

That three more teenagers have died while driving New Jersey roads is becoming all too common morning reading. The most recent deaths occurred recently in Monmouth County. Perhaps excessive speed was a cause, perhaps not. Perhaps the teen driver was violating Graduated Driver License (GDL) provisions, which govern when and with whom teenagers may drive, perhaps not. What is not in question is that inexperience did play a part. Exacerbating this tragedy is the death of a school transport vehicle driver, a grandmother, who died in the same crash.

Without a doubt, it's long past time to revisit New Jersey's GDL law. Luckily, the New Jersey Legislature is considering a bill (A-617 / S-1962) that will do just that. Our respective General Assembly representatives have passed this bill unanimously. The AAA Clubs of New Jersey applaud their efforts to promote traffic safety. Our state senators, however, have not. The AAA Clubs hope they'll move quickly on this opportunity.

This bill - the Teenage Driver Safety Study Commission bill would empower New Jersey to enhance the state's GDL law, giving it teeth by allowing a complete reassessment of teen driving laws in the Garden State. In addition, it may also spur the state Motor Vehicle Commission to finally and fully implement New Jersey's GDL law by tracking GDL driver progress and violations

Lowe's construction may be underway 'by summer'

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

Officials said they are much more optimistic about construction on a Lowe's Home Improvement Center beginning sooner in Belleville, after county, state and local officials recently visited environmental officials in Trenton to speed up environmental approvals at the site.

State Sen. Ronald Rice, County Executive Joseph DiVincenzo and county Freeholder Ralph Caputo joined local officials in trying to speed up the process of securing approval of stream encroachment issues at the former Walter Kidde not done? site on Main Street where the Lowe's is supposed to be built.

DiVincenzo called it "a very good meeting. They were very cooperative. Hopefully, by summer, we will have a shovel in the ground, if everybody does what they say they will do. It will bring ratables and jobs."

He said he spoke to state Department of Environmental Protection Commissioner Lisa Jackson.

"We have had a good relationship for the last four or five years," DiVincenzo said.

Caputo said he had gone to the site with Belleville Township Engineer Thomas Herits and a representative of Lowe's, and found that "the plan was never really acted upon. The DEP was there. Now, it looks like it's going to be fine. It looks very promising. We would lose a very valuable asset if this is

First Ward Councilwoman Marie Strumolo Burke said she had originally suggested that "all of the bigwigs meet, and try to get to the DEP in Trenton. I think this is very encouraging."

Township Manager Victor Canning, who was unavailable for held in May of 2006. comment, had said previously that monitoring wells, to check levels on contamination to the dirt at the site, were being dug on Roosevelt Avenue near the site.

He called that a good sign, meaning that what needs to be done was being done.

For that reason, he said, projections on actual construction were made.

Canning said last year that looking at plans ambitiously, he would say that in the spring of 2007 the township would see construction begin, and officials might see leveling of land done if there was good weather this winter.

The Township Council has continued to support the plans.

A site plan approval predicated on the developers' receiving clearance from the state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) was granted at a special meeting

Planning Board Chairman Sebastian "Sammy" Papa said previously that there were a couple of small variances approved, and the Lowe's people were told that, when and if the environmental questions are resolved, to come back and the board will process the application.

Papa called the Lowe's people "highly professional" and said the preliminary site plan approval was unanimous.

Traffic was a big question at the hearing, Papa said, and as a result the planning board will hire its own traffic engineer, and compare that engineer's report to that of the developers.

Lowe's will pay for the planning board's engineer, he said.

Papa said traffic is a big concern. especially around Little and Main streets, where motorists drive onto Route 21, and that is what spurred the request for a second traffic study.

The big question that remains for Lowe's is cleaning up the contaminated dirt at the site, a problem that led WalMart to back out of a similar deal.

It was originally thought that the owners would have to receive a "no further action" letter from the DEP, meaning cleanup was done to its satisfaction.

Officials have since said that the project will go forward while the cleanup is taking place, but that the cleanup would not slow progress of the project.

The plan to bring a WalMart store to Belleville fell through because of the concerns over cleanup of contaminated dirt left over from when a fire extinguisher company occupied the property several decades ago.

Former board members suing to reverse council decision

BY RICHARD DICKON AND DAVID HINRICHS of Belleville Times

The ongoing saga at the Belleville Library Board looks to be heading into a new chapter next week as a collection of former library board trustees are going to court in an attempt to reclaim their positions.

Last month, Belleville Mayor Ray Kimble appointed three new members to the library board on the grounds that the previous members had not taken an oath of office, therefore nullifying their current terms. Kimble replaced Frank Perry, Rev. Shirley Harris and board president David Hinchey at a Township Council meeting under the supervision of Town Attorney Thomas Murphy. The decision was highly contested by several members of the former Belleville Library Board and is still being challenged.

Attorney Michael Cerone handled the case for the former trustees and was unable to reverse the decision in a court hearing held in December that lasted several hours. All the trustees who were relieved of their positions at the library board were appointed by former Belleville Mayor Jerry Digori and his supporting council to terms ranging from two years to five years. "I don't really understand what is going on with all this, our system seems to be under constant change and I believe some of the people here have lost sight of the true purpose of this library and its board," said someone familiar with the situation. "I just hope all this gets sorted out soon so that we can get back to the real issues at hand?

Another court hearing has been tentatively scheduled for Jan. 22nd where Cerone intends to further combat the decision made by the Belleville Township Council of tions appointing the former trustees will be discussed as well as the appointment of the new members.

Current library director Joan Taub gave no comment on the situation and has maintained a neutral standpoint regarding the current library board.

Another anonymous associate of the library board said the new board has hired former township attorney Vincent Nuzzi by resolution. The associate said the board passed a resolution for Nuzzi to drop the suit brought by the previous board. Nuzzi will petition the court to remove Cerone as attorney of record for the suit and replace him with Nuzzi.

The associate said that Cerone should represent the continuous board, not the old board, and the new board includes whomever the mayor and council appoints. The have to be fired. Instead, the board simply hired a new attorney.

The associate also answered charges that the hours of library employees are being changed to punish certain employees. The associate said Township Manager Victor Canning, who was unavailable for comment, recommended setting the hours of employees as 9

Local Doctor Offers Breakthrough For Chronic Back Pain Sufferers When All Else Fails

- Dr. Diego Ruiz, D.C. -

For lower back pain caused by overexertion, strain or sprain injuries; treatments such as chiropractic, medications and injections may bring relief. But for those suffering from chronic and more severe back pain, there has been little rescue - until now. Dr. Diego Ruiz in Nutley, N.J. has recently brought a revolutionary back pain treatment to Essex County: The revolutionary procedure has helped many patients and is known as Non-Surgical Spinal Decompression.

A new medical breakthrough, Spinal Decompression specializes in treating lower back pain from disc bulges and hernias, sciatica, stenosis, degenerative discs, arthritis or facet syndrome. The practice came about as a result of manned space travel.

It was discovered that the effects of anti-gravity relieved back pain and increased the height of the disc. This led to the development of this new technology, allowing us to recreate the effects of anti-gravity here on earth and rescue those with chronic back pain.

"For years, I've seen patients suffer despite multiple opinions and therapies. I'm thrilled to be able to alleviate my patients' pain with this new state-of-the-art treatment," says Dr. Ruiz.

This non-surgical procedure is ideal for those with clinically unstable low backs, have tried medication unsuccessfully or have been scheduled for lengthy or alternative therapies. In fact, clinical studies have even shown spinal decompression is effective on patients scheduled for surgery or for those who unfortunately have already had surgery - and it failed them.

Dr. Ruiz continues, "the procedure is non-surgical, drug and needle free and I'm excited to bring it to Essex County."

Dr. Diego Ruiz, D.C. - 359 Centre St. Nutley, NJ 07110 - Phone: 877-569-2225

—Shocking News— About Surgery

The most common procedure for herniated discs up to now has been surgery. Yet, a report in the New England Journal of Medicine states that "51% of all back surgery is unnecessary."

Decompression therapy has provided relief for many patients suffering from the pain of herniated intervertebral discs, sciatica and stenosis.

Dr. Ruiz responds, "as a physician, I err on the side of skepticism, especially of anything with such profound miraculous achievement, but the majority of patients recover in a very short period of time with no documented side effects!"

— Medical Breakthrough —

It is reported by the U.S. Public Health Service, that the number one reason for visiting a neurologist and an orthopedist is back pain. Back pain is the number two reason for hospitalization, second only to childbirth.

We spend 25% of our annual health care budget on low back pain, yet it remains at epidemic proportions today.

With 30 million people in pain, many struggle to find a reliable treatment and few hold hopes of a permanent cure. For those who have been to numerous doctors or tried a variety of treatments or have been told to live with it, or are scheduled for lengthy therapy protocols or surgery, this is the breakthrough they have been waiting for - and it is affordable for all.

—How It Works—

Non-surgical Spinal Decompression creates a negative pressure inside the disc, which draws in any bulging or herniated disc material, like suction. This stimulates the body to undergo a process known as "fibroblast activity," producing fresh new tissues and cells. These new cells attach themselves to the torn fibers of the disc that cause its contents to bulge. In essence, it's like a bone healing. When complete, it is stronger than before. It is more of a cure than a temporary remedy.

"I couldn't stand or sit for any period of time, as my leg would go numb. The pain would be so severe in my low back then travel into my hip and buttocks then go down my leg, that I couldn't work, play with or pick up my daughter.

"I was anxious and frustrated because nothing helped. After undergoing the non-surgical Spinal Decompression therapy at the SpinalAid Center, I have been pain-free and back to full activities. I recommend the procedure to anyone with back pain - especially if you haven't found help elsewhere."-Jackie Tank

School results on the upswing, consultant says

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

щ The first numbers are in from testing done by the company hired E by the school district for consulting on professional development, test analyzing and curriculum improve-LL. ment, and the results are positive, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Dr. Gerard Babo 2007 The company was hired in an effort to improve learning, and as a ŝ byproduct, improve test scores. At the middle school, which is in JANUARY most need of improvement, preassessment and post-assessment testing has been completed for seventh graders in math, Babo said.

"Significant gains have been THURSDAY, made," he said, while not giving specific numbers. "We're awaiting eighth grade scores, and we're expecting gains there." Babo said the preliminary gains are a testament to the efforts being made.

"It's a very important validation of the teachers' hard work," he said. One resident has questioned the expense of hiring an outside company when an assistant superintendent has already been hired to oversee curriculum improvement. A special emphasis is being placed on Belleville Middle School, which failed to make Adequate Yearly Progress for several years as defined by the federal No Child Left Behind (NLCB) program.

Babo brought in the Global Institute for Maximizing Potential to help with the district's efforts. Pre-testing and post-assessment in math and language arts is being analyzed from high school and middle school students, Babo said.

The institute has started to implement strategies, and look at the individual needs of high school and middle school students, he said.

Babo said the company is working closely with faculty and staff.

In a previous interview, the said the middle school teachers especially are on board, and they see the institute's help as making their jobs easier.

One resident at a previous meeting, Vincent Frantantoni, questioned the need for the company to be hired and paid for by the district.

He said he thought the assistant superintendent was going to handle curriculum, and he would like to see curriculum handled inhouse. Frantantoni said the district didn't need to hire an assistant superintendent just to hire another company to do the work.

School Board President Arlene Schor said the company is not overseeing curriculum, but does have a track record with seven or eight other school districts.

She said that by making timely evaluations, the district is addressing instruction so officials will get better student performance, and the hiring is not a gamble, it's an investment.

Babo said previously that he did a lot of research over the summer and was very impressed with Global, adding that they will be a major component of the district's efforts.

He said the institute just did a pre-assessment of all middle school students, taking writing samples and a computer math assessment, and are now analyzing the data. Babo said Global will meet with the teachers and give them reports, to tell where students are weakest and where they are strongest - to give a game plan, and ideas, that will include professional development for teachers.

The district is also doing this at the high school and School 5.

Babo said the data from School 5 will help across the district, since standardized testing is summative, and there is no accountability and not enough specific information.

He said in the past the schools used the Iowa or Terranova tests to get more specific information.

Now, Babo said, there are not any tests connected to core curriculum, so the district is getting more information from this company that is extremely specific. He said the district is getting the tendencies and weaknesses of an entire grade, and individual class and an individual student.

One of the changes being tried is linking reading and language arts, so they are connected, and teachers are prepped to work together, he said.

Hiring the company was one of the specific recommendations made by state assessors who visited the school after they failed NCLB for several years, Babo said.

"Stuff Happens" was originally produced at the National Theatre in London in 2004. It has subsequently been performed at the Mark Taper Forum in Los Angeles and off-Broadway at The Public Theater in New York last spring. Real speeches, meetings and press conferences are blended with fictionalized versions of private meetings. The play poses the following questions: how does the world set- the late 60s and early 70s, it West Center for the Arts is located tle its differences now that there is only one superpower? What happens to leaders who risk their credibility with a skeptical public? From events that have dominated international headlines for the last few years, David Hare fashions both an historical narrative and a human drama about the frustrations of power and the limits of diplomacy.

New Jersey Peace Action (NJPA) will be on hand for the 12 Miles West performance of "Stuff Happens" Thursday, Jan. 25 at 8 p.m. The suggested donation is $10. A portion of the proceeds from the 12 Miles West performance will benefit NJPA. 12 Miles

Bob Saget is a household name through his TV roles on the long-running sitcom "Full House" and as the host of "America's Funniest Home Videos." Most recently he's launched the new NBC trivia quiz show "1 vs. 100." When he plays Borgata's Music Box Saturday night audiences will see Saget in another light entirely, as he pokes fun at his squeaky-clean TV image in the course of his raunchy standup routine. Definitely not for the kiddies! Showtime is 9 p.m. Tickets are $45.

Cage Fury Fighting Championships returns to Trop Friday night in the latest in this wildly popular series of blood-tingling multi-disciplinary events as professional fighters from all over the country will step into the cage to battle for four title fights bouts preceded by nine preliminary fights. The action begins Friday at 8 p.m. in the Tropicana Showroom. Tickets range from $55 to $200.

(Weigh-ins for Cage Fury Fighting Championships III - The Battleground will take place on Thursday at the popular 40/40 Club, a popular AC nightspot owned by rapper Jay-Z. The doors will open at 7:30 and the weigh-ins will begin promptly at 8 p.m.The weigh-ins are open to the public with the fighters, Cage Fury Championship Cage Girls, Tito Ortiz, and Dan Severn in attendance. We hear there's a likelihood Jay-Z's girlfriend Beyonce may also attend.)

Historic Steel Pier, located across the Boardwalk from the Taj, has for the past 14 years been a magnet for family amusements ranging from adult thrill rides like the Crazy Mouse roller coaster and Sling Shot catapult to kiddie and carnival style games of chance. With the closing of the season last year, Trump announced that amusements would not return the following summer. Instead, we were told that the Trump organization would demolish the amusement site and the 109-year-old mecca for major attractions from Charlie Chaplin to Judy Garland and Frank Sinatra, big bands and the legendary diving horses would undergo a massive restoration to become the site of a luxury condominium project. Latest word is that Trump's condo plans are on hold and the refurbished amusement site had a reprieve for another season. Operators have announced a grand opening April 1. It would seem that for now Trump officials have been concentrating on upgrades to their three AC casino properties. Construction is now underway for a new $250-million, 786-room hotel tower at the Taj. The 40-story tower is slated for completion in the summer of 2008.

Meanwhile, of course, work is proceeding apace on Harrah's 47story fourth hotel tower, projected to open with nearly 1,000 more guest rooms and a posh Red Door Spa in Spring of 2008. Slated for even earlier opening is Borgata's new 40-floor tower with its own elaborate and massive spa and indoor pool the end of this year.

Crooner Julius LaRosa, who sprang to fame with his hit songs "Eh, Cumpari" and "Domani" as Arthur Godfrey's protégé in the '50s, is booked for a nostalgic run at Resorts Sunday through next Thursday. Expect Julius to reprise the sentimental Italian repertoire which earned him a series of appearances on Ed Sullivan's legendary Sunday night variety show on CBS. He may very well have some amusing inside anecdotes about those early days of TV and his notorious onair firing by Godfrey, accused of having "lost his humility" — an incident considered scandalous at the time, but in retrospect sort of quaintly amusing.

Showtimes at Resorts Superstar Theater are Sunday through next Thursday January 24, at 7 p.m. each evening. Tickets are $25. _Special Advertising Feature

Remarkable Pig' auditions set

Paramedics will be remaining after all, officials say

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

For residents who have heard that paramedic service to Nutley residents may be discontinued, Nutley Deputy Fire Chief Frederick Scalera wants to reassure everyone that no such action will happen.

Last November, Monmouth-Ocean Hospital Services Corporation (MONOC) issued a public notification that several Mobile service. Lives should Intensive Care Units throughout the state, including Nutley and Belleville, would be out of service or on a limited operating schedule as of this past Jan. 1.

Belleville Medic Unit 256 was to be completely out service, affecting Belleville and North Nutley, Newark.

Scalera, in his capacity as state Assemblyman, worked with the Commissioner of Health in resolving the situation, he said.

"We were informed by the Assistant Commissioner (of Health) Dave Gruber that MONOC failed to file the proper paperwork with the Department of Health to be able to continue running out of Belleville," Scalera said. "The Department of Health has informed me the presently,

'It all comes down to money. They're not making what they want to in that area. They made a threat, but there will never be any lapse in never come down to money.'

Frederick Scalera Nutley Deputy Fire Chief

MONOC holds the certificate of need from when they took over from Clara Maass and St. Barnabas Health Care System. Gruber says that they have to have a company ready to take over when and if MONOC would stop responding to the affected areas?

Sen. Paul Sarlo and Assemblyman Gary Schaer, the other representatives of District 36 along with Scalera, helped get to the bottom of the situation, he said.

"They just can't shut down,"

Scalera said.

He said the entire situation comes down to financial considerations.

"It all comes down to money," Scalera said. "They're not making what they want to in that area. They made a threat, but there will never be any lapse in service. Lives should never come down to money."

The issue stretches much farther than Nutley and Belleville and has become a concern all over the country largely in part to the Single Bill Rule passed in 1996 that permitted only one bill to be sent to Medicare for services rendered to their patients. This bill must be split between the Basic Life Support (BLS) units, which are usually local departments such as the Fire Department and EMT units, and Advanced Life Support (ALS) units, like MONOC, when both arrive on the scene and carry out transportation. The bill, which has a cap of $400, is divided between the BLS and ALS units depending on how much the BLS unit requests, a request which has no limitation.

In many cases, the BLS unit will request as much as $335 of the total $400 given by Medicare for services rendered to their patients ages 65 and older, leaving ALS units such as MONOC with $75 or less, funding that is just not enough to support the program.

Vice President of Operations at MONOC Jeff Behm indicated that an interface agreement with a BLS billing agency is implemented for these operations but has no existing cap, meaning that they can and will ask for whatever percentage of the reimbursed funds they want.

He said MONOC fully supports the volunteer agencies of communities, but a problem arises when a BLS billing agency makes a claim on a Medicare reimbursement of a patient 65 and older. Then MONOC doesn't receive the proper funds back to maintain healthy finances, Behm said.

Belleville Councilwoman Marie Strumolo Burke voiced her displeasure about the news concerning the company's withdrawal of simply just have one paramedic unit shut down.

The decision to begin shutting down paramedic units was not an easy task and was something that officials at MONOC tried to prevent for a long time, Behm said.

There is a coalition entitled "Save NJ Paramedics" that can be found online at www.savethep-aremedicsnj.org that is asking people to support a series of proposed ple to support a series of proposed solutions to get proper funding back to New Jersey paramedics. They are supporting legislation that would create a special fund to compensate paramedic units compensate paramedic units, allow for direct transportation of patients and change the single-bill rule to permit paramedics to send their own bill.

Schools seek to save on insurance costs

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

Everyone, from large corporations, to public entities, to private citizens looks for any way possible to save on insurance coverage.

The Belleville School District is no different, and is once again hoping that there is strength in numbers.

The Board of Education is back with the state School Boards Association Insurance Group in a new "Subfund" meant to save the district money, but a school official said significant savings isn't necessary guaranteed by Belleville's participation.

We've been insured by them for years now," School Board Administrator Edward Appleton said. "We get the cheapest quote. It's the best we can do."

Still, he said it's not always easy to insure a school district.

"It's very litigious," Appleton said. "For any insurer looking to save money, this is usually the first market the get out of."

This year, the state School Boards Association group has been broken down into subgroups, with Belleville now agreeing to be part of the North Jersey Educational Insurance Fund, he said.

The New Jersey School Boards Insurance Act was enacted and signed by the governor in 1983, according to officials. The act enables school districts to cooperate with other to make the most efficient use of their powers and resources on a basis of mutual advantage in the areas of insurance, self insurance and related services, officials said.

The Belleville district continues to look to secure protection, services and savings relating to insurance and self-insurance for itself and its departments and employees, according to officials.

Appleton said while far from perfect, the fund the best and most efficient way of securing this protection and services, by cooperating with other school districts across the state.

This time, the duration of the membership will be for three consecutive years.

The areas of coverage include property, equipment, breakdown, crime, bonds, general liability, automobile liability, auto physical damage, an umbrella coverage and errors and omissions, according to officials.

Appleton could not give a number, or even a guess as to how much money has been saved over the years using the fund, but said it is really the only way to try and save on premiums.

Third Luongo dinner a rousing success

BY MIKE LAMBERTI for Belleville Times

Over 500 people, most of whom hailed from either Belleville or Nutley, jammed Nanina's in the Park last Thursday for the third Robert Luongo ALS Fund Dinner. And according to the dinner's chairman, Phil Cuzzi, the event was monumentally successful.

"Just incredible," Cuzzi, one of Luongo's closest friends, said of the night, which paid tribute to Robert Luongo and helped raise money for ALS research and Luongo's daughter's college fund.

Robert Luongo was a 1973 graduate of Belleville High School, where he was captain of the football and track teams. He went on to attend Harvard University, earning a degree in 1977. He was a successful businessman, living in Florida, when he began to feel numbness in his arm in 2000.

examination revealed An Luongo had Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS), aka Lou Gehrig's disease. ALS is a progressive neuromuscular disease that weakens and eventually destroys motor neurons (components of the nervous system that connect the brain with the skeletal muscles).

Luongo's physical condition steadily deteriorated, but his mind was as sharp as ever. In 2004, Luongo lost a courageous battle to the disease, which to this day has no cure. He was 49 years old.

In Jan., 2005, Cuzzi organized the first Robert Luongo ALS Fund Dinner. A Major League umpire, Cuzzi envisioned an event in which Luongo's family and friends would get together for an evening of sports memorabilia, fun, and remembering a man who made everyone feel better about themselves.

The event has been a sell out for three straight years. The sports memorabilia auction, both silent and live, was, once again, a big hit.

"Last week's event raised $33,000 in sports memorabilia alone," Cuzzi said. The highest bid went for a personal appearance by New York Mets star David Wright to a school. The bid drew $4,000.

The event had its share of stars, including the Sopranos' Steven R. Schirripa, aka Bobby Bacala, who was the guest auctioneer. Vincent Curatola, who plays Johnny Sack on the Sopranos, was also in attendance, as was former middleweight boxing champion Jake LaMotta and former New York Giants players Bart Oates and Bob Tucker.

Floyd Vivino was the guest speaker and had the audience in stitches with his one liners. Of course Vivino is more commonly known to most of us as Uncle Floyd.

Belleville native Mike Chieffo once again served as the D.J. and many local dignitaries, including the Mayors of Belleville and Nutley, Ray Kimball and Joanne Cocchiola respectively, along with Council and Commission members from the neighboring towns and Nutley Superintendent of Schools Joseph Zarra, himself a Belleville High graduate, were in attendance.

But the biggest ovation of the evening was for Dominique Luongo, Robert and Debra Luongo's only child, who gave a stirring speech at the dinner's outset of her dad's love for Belleville.

"Here's a 12-year-old girl who can step up to the microphone and address a crowd of over 500 people and not even flinch," Cuzzi said. "She's growing up before our very eyes. Robert would be very proud. He had the same kind of personality."

Cuzzi noted that if Luongo were planning the dinner himself, he would have loved the evening.

BHS BOYS BOWLING Bucs finish second at county tournament

BY MIKE LAMBERTI for Belleville Times

The Belleville boys' bowling team had another solid week, sweeping Teaneck and defeating Paterson Kennedy in league play and finishing a very impressive sec-ond at the Essex County Tournament last weekend in West Orange.

The boys and girls team will return to action tomorrow against Hackensack. Next Tuesday, the Bucs take on Paramus and on Jan. 24, a key match for league supremacy awaits with Nutley. All league matches are played at Bowler City in Hackensack.

Head coach Mike Early was very happy with the boys performance at the county tournament.

"We can all be proud of the way the boys held together and succeeded against the best teams in the county," Early said. "They got off to a slow start, but regrouped very well."

Belleville finished second in a 15-team field, trailing on West Orange. After a tough first game, the Bucs rallied back with a 1022 second game, led by Marquis Byrd's 248. Byrd, a junior, rolled a 677 series (204, 248 and 225). His 248 earned Byrd the High Game Honors in this year's tournament.

Mike Baldonado was a key component to the second game as well, finishing with a 201 while Joey Leardo had games of 201 and 233. Shawn Gonzalez, a sophomore, had an excellent tournament, averaging 171. Jon Crespo, a senior, was also consistent in helping the Bucs conclude a very solid performance.

There was not a girls county tournament because only five schools, including Belleville, had a girls only team.

"Most of the teams had mixed squads," Early said. "If there was one more school that had a girls team, we could have had a tournament for them, too."

In league play, the boys improved to 47-30, blanking Teaneck, 7-0, defeating Paterson Kennedy, 5-2 and losing a close 7-0 verdict to unbeaten Bergen Catholic to remain in first place in their division.

"I thought we bowled pretty well," Early said. "We had three good games against Bergen Catholic, but we just missed. We came back with two good wins and we're in the mix for the league title"

Leardo bowled 213 and 208 against Teaneck and had a good

40 years later, the memories never fade

It's been 40 years since that day, and while life stops for no one, it does allow one to reflect a little.

For me, the week of Jan. 15-22 will always mark a time of my life that has both sadness and pride instilled in it. I'm in my 40s now. but it seems like yesterday when I was that little kid, watching the NFL-AFL championship game (later dubbed Super Bowl I) on played the Kansas City Chiefs in a somewhat empty L.A. Coliseum.

I didn't know much about that first Super Bowl. I remember watching it, but didn't quite understand its significance. I do remember the next day writing a composition about the game in my third grade class at Mt. Vernon School in Newark.

By the end of that week, my parents had decided to make a trip to Margate, to visit my grandmother, my aunt and her two young children. My uncle, Arthur J. Abramoff, my grandmother's son, was a First Lieutenant and pilot in the United States Air Force. Two months earlier, he had been deployed to Vietnam for a 13month tour.

So, on that Saturday, Jan. 21, 1967, we took a drive to Margate for a day trip. Ten minutes after arriving, a knock on the door was greeted by despair on the part of my aunt. Any military wife knows that knock, and on that day, we all felt the pain of knowing that Arthur J. Abramoff was killed in action a day earlier while flying a mission. He was 25 years old.

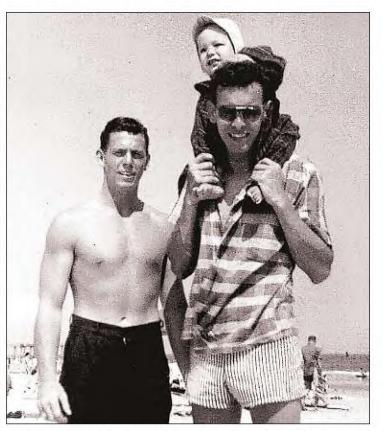

Back on May 1 of last year, my that Sunday afternoon, Jan. 15, uncle's alma mater, New York Uni-1967 when the Green Bay Packers versity, dedicated a part of a new building to his memory. With that day, a number of people who grew up with him, and a few who served with him in Vietnam and were a part of the rescue mission of Jan. 20, came to NYU to honor him. I had the chance to meet a number of people who knew him a lot better than I did, and for that, I'll always be eternally grateful.

I didn't know my uncle that well, but remember hanging out with him as a kid in Margate, especially during the summer months. We talked about sports and cars, two things that today continue to provide a great deal of enjoyment for me. Those memories of my uncle are probably why I still consider Margate to be my favorite New Jersey shore summer spot.

This Saturday will mark 40 years since my uncle gave his life in the service of his country. I can only speak as a member of one family in this country when I say you never forget. I can only imagine what so many other families in this country are feeling today with the current war in Iraq.

In the years that followed my uncle's passing, my father, Elias Lamberti, himself an Army officer, helped me to understand my uncle's legacy even more, and with that, gave me a deeper respect for what my uncle stood for and his love for this country. My father taught me a lot about life. He also helped develop my love for sports.

My father passed away on this week, as well. He died on Jan. 22, 2004 after a lengthy illness at the age of 71. He moved our family to Belleville in 1969 and lived the rest of his life in the township. He bought his first home here in the 1970s and had nothing but fondness for Belleville.

So, on this week, as another remember, with great fondness and Super Bowl nears, just a little note Super Bowl, and will always including a love for sports.

Versus Bergen Catholic, Crespo rolled a 217 and Byrd had a high game of 205.

Bloomfield College: a top pick for Hispanic students defined as an institution where Hispanic students and first-generation college students are offered a solid chance to achieve academic success

The college was recently listed in The Hispanic Outlook In Higher Education Magazine (Volume 17, Number 4) under the 2006 Publisher's Picks List, which follows, state by state, and represents the magazine's latest and best thinking about which colleges and Bloomfield College has been ongoing trends that affect multicultural institutions of the 21st century.

According to the magazine's publisher José López-Isa, expanding opportunities for Hispanics in higher education has always been the magazine's passion and focus.

At Bloomfield College, Hispanic culture and ideals are strongly represented on campus, with 18 percent of the student body being of Hispanic origin and 27 percent of the full-time faculty of African-American, African-Caribbean, Hispanic, or Asian descent.

Electrical fires can be prevented

Local fire officials are urging consumers to look for and correct electrical safety hazards in their homes. Each year, incidents involving electrical equipment, such as extension cords, outlets and light bulbs, result in more than 41,000 residential fires that claim about 350 lives and cause over 1,400 injuries. These fires also cause more than $620 million in property damage annually.

Many of these electrical-related incidents are preventable, according to fire officials. The simple act of removing electrical cords from under rugs could help prevent many house fires. If every household installed ground fault circuit interrupters (GFCIs), deaths from electrocution in and around the home could be reduced by onehalf. I urge consumers to look around their homes and correct electrical hazards.

Students trying to slip into Belleville schools

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

This year's school Central Registration numbers show more illegal students being removed from Belleville schools, a move that continues to help reduce taxpayers' burden, officials said, by recovering lost tuition and preventing students from ever illegally attending Belleville schools.

During Central Registration, held in August, a total of 134 students were denied entry when their non-residency status was exposed, according to board member Antoinette "Toni" Marone, chairman of the school board's residency committee.

were transferred out of the district, ago. when their residence in the town-said.

More recently, in December, nine students were transferred out, and six were denied entrance into schools, she said.

"Our domicile investigators are still monitoring bus stops, to look for students coming in illegally from Newark and Irvington, and any other place where students may be coming from," Marone said.

For central registration, it begins in early August, and all new students moving into the district have to call and make an appointment to register.

Officials said previously that the program has had excellent results At that same time, 129 students since it was started several years

The process continues through September into the beginning of October and is staffed by Bruce Morgan and Iris Rodriguez, the district's domicile investigators in charge of detecting and removing students who are illegally attending district schools.

Under central registration, parents pick up a residency package that they must fill out before students can be enrolled for the year.

The district has tried to get all of the students from one particular grade level to re-register in the past, but have not seen enough of a benefit in detecting illegal students to continue, officials said. The idea is to get all existing students to re-register, which would cause illegal students to simply not re-register, because they didn't have proper paperwork.

The district measures the number of possibly illegal students by comparing the number of packets taken out versus the number returned. The difference is a figure very close to the number of students in the district illegally, school officials estimate.

The detection and removal, or the prevention from ever attending township schools, serves two functions, she said.

First, it keeps enrollment down, which saves tax dollars, Marone said. Second, it makes sure only students with residence in the township attend classes.

The number of illegal students being detected has risen steadily over the past few years. School Board President Arlene Schor has commended the domicile investigators.

Belleville officials stressing value of recycling

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

Belleville council members are urging residents, especially those in need for more recycling with the apartments, to become involved in the township's recycling program.

The more that residents recycle, officials say, the more that the township will save in garbage hauling costs and the more money my ward, on Newark Avenue and Belleville will receive from recycling tonnage.

First Ward Councilman Steve Rovell and First Ward Councilwoman Marie Strumolo Burke recycling seriously.

"When it comes to recycling tonnage, by not recycling, we pay more," Rovell said. "We want to heighten awareness."

He said apartment building complexes like Valley Crest need to join private residences in recy-

"If we recycle more, we pay less," Rovell said.

Burke said she brought up the previous administration, which included former township manager Mauro Tucci, and continues to push for it now.

"There are a lot of apartments in Cuozzo Street," she said. "Something needs to be done. We should send a newsletter to every resident?

Also, Burke wants there to be both implored residents to take consequences if a resident is found not to be recycling.

"If someone is caught, they should get fined," she said.

In Belleville, newspapers are collected one week and glass bottles and aluminum cans are collected the next week.

According to the 2005 Recv-cling Tonnage Report for Belleville, the Mandatory Source Separation Act has established a recycling fund from which tonnage grants may be made to municipalities to encourage local source separation and recycling programs. The "intent and the spirit" of the act is the use the tonnage grants to develop new municipal recycling programs and continue to expand existing programs, the report states.

The state Department of Environmental Protection has executed recycling regulations for towns to implement for mandatory source separation and recycling and imposes certain requirements as a condition for applying for tonnage grants.

The conditions include making and keeping accurate, verifiable records of materials collected and claimed by the municipality, according to the report.

ß taining a legal residence in the Σ township is not their only job, F however.

ш The two are also tightening up student attendance, Schor said, E referring to the more traditional job of cracking down on student truancy.

LL. m Other recent announcements by the school board regarding illegal students include that the detection 2007 and removal of illegal students is expected to bring in more than $200,000 in tuition collected from õ the students' parents.

JANUARY School officials say that their efforts to remove illegal students from Belleville schools have resulted in smaller classes and a lighter burden for taxpayers. THURSDAY,

For the year, the district expects to collect $212,846 in unpaid tuition from the parents of students illegally attending Belleville schools while not maintaining a legal residence within the township, she said.

To help the board remove illegal students, the township council last spring was considering imposing penalties on any adults housing or aiding out-of-town students in the school district.

Following much discussion with board members, Second Ward Councilman Steven Rovell proposed joining such towns as Green Brook, Nutley and Bloomfield, in imposing a $1,250 fine on parents as well as any adults who lend their address to a non-resident student.

Schor said families have the right to appeal to the courts, and it's never a form of harassment, since the district has negotiated settlements for less when there is a hardship. She said the courts judge within reason and the district is not "heartless."

Other efforts are continually being stepped up by the board of education.

Parents might send their children illegally to Belleville because Belleville's school system is perceived to be superior to the one in their town. Illegal students cost taxpayers money because their parents are not paying taxes to Belleville to fund their child's attendance.

Once a student is found, the family will be taken to court, Schor said, and the district will strongly pursue tuition owed through the courts. The district's two domicile investigators pursue leads on possible illegal students, and present the cases

The district has recovered thousands in tuition in recent years.
