Pending tax increase: $106 average

BY RICHARD DICKON

of Belleville Times

The Board of Education introduced a $60.8 million 2009-10 contains a tax increase of $106 for a home assessed at the township average, a number reduced by nearly $80 from an earlier figure.

Township Tax Assessor Kevin Esposito said Tuesday that the Class 2 Residential average assessed value has gone from $304,000 in 2008 to $306,800 in 2009.

The total amount of state aid has increased $1.21 million to $25.49 million for the upcoming school year, and had some effect on the tax rate. School board members all vowed to reduce the

All of those changes are subject to revisions at a planned public workshop that may be scheduled next week.

Caputo backs bill for cops

State Assemblyman Ralph R. Caputo of Belleville has introduced legislation that would expand the number of officers that law enforcement agencies are able to hire. It would eliminate agencies necessarily going through civil service lists of eligible employees, in other words, officers that have been laid-off by other agencies

The legislation would add county sheriff's offices to the list of agencies authorized to hire laid-off law enforcement officers.

"Giving sheriff's offices the authority to hire qualified officers without having to go through bureaucratic hurdles is good for the law enforcement officers who have been laid-off," said Caputo.

will not support any expansion of programs or administratitive positions or costs, including an increase in head counts or perks. For the purpose of moving forward, I will vote yes, until we have time to go back through every line."

Bucco said, "These are trying times. I feel as a new homeowner and businessman in town, I know how much we have to cut. But I keep going back to the fact that we don't want to shortchange the students or do anything that reflects on students. We have to cut out the fat as they say. I have had many sleepless nights about this, and think our concerns are all the same, that the kids don't lose out."

Freda called the budget process "a balancing act. It is essential that we get the most for the least cost." He said there have been no raises in his company, and that the board will be "sweating every dollar."

As for the three audience members who spoke, school board candidate George McManus passed around a case study that he said shows that a new position in the athletic department is not necessitated by the district's size. He said that while obesity is a problem of high importance, he didn't believe that creating this position will help, since most people who are obese will not partake in more physical education.

Mattingly questioned why the district would escalate and incur further costs when surrounding towns are consolidating administrative duties. He said the district consistently is second highest in average administrative costs, and should state aid "dry up, that would be a very scary thought indeed." Mattingly said the district should use caution, and spend money on buying updated books and fixing roofs.

Frantantoni repeated a long standing opinion that schools are "spending us into oblivion," and pulled out all four pockets to illustrate how whether it is local, county, state or federal money, it sill comes from taxpayers wallets.

Manager takes aim at budget tax hike

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

Belleville's township manager sees increased taxes in residents' futures, from the county and schools as well as the municipal side, and said he will continue to review all spending up until the town spending plan is introduced, possibly as soon as March 24. "I'm still waiting for the town

Interim Superintendent of Schools Melindo Persi has put the tentative school budget tax increase at approximately $160, with state aid numbers just now being computed into the mix.

As for Canning, he said, "We're all facing some tough decisions."

Residents have called for firing employees if they don't agree to forego salary increases or even take a pay cut, and for employees to pay into their own health insurance, among many complaints.

In an earlier interview, Canwe've done a fantastic job, faced with what's going on in the world. Many departments are operating at less than when I came here in 2006. Students play toward future in music

DEBORAH ANN TRIPOLDI/BELLEVILLE TIMES

of Belleville Times

High school junior Ryan Bridge and freshman Shakeera Hooker ocus a big part of their lives on the making of music, and both say the schools' music programs have helped feed an affection that may Ξ carry them all through their lives. Bridge began playing piano at age six, and was recently selected to North Jersey Region One High School Choir. He is also trying out? for the North Jersey Region Jazz 5 Band and All State Chorus. Bridge also plays alto saxophone, clarinet and trumpet. It's all leading to a college career majoring in Music Composition, he said.

Whether or not he chooses to be a singer/music composer remains to be seen. "I'm not sure yet," Bridge said in an interview.

"I'd like to be a composer first, then a pianist and a vocalist, and then play the other instruments," he said.

Rating the high school's performing arts programs, he said, "They're really good. There is a lot of diversity. There is a dance program, which a lot of schools don't have. It's really strong."

For Hooker, being selected to the North Jersey Region One Band means she has come a long way in a short time, having just began to play in 2008.

She settled on playing the bass clarinet for a simple reason. "I started at band camp on the clarinet, but they needed a bass clarinet," Hooker said. That was a year ago, August, after she started playing the clarinet only because there were no more slots left for the flute, which was her real first choice.

Now, music has become a driving force in her life.

"It's bad, because it's become the most important thing," Hooker said. "I just want to play music." She sees herself following a path like band director Pam Brigante, who came back to Belleville after excelling in the BHS band just a few years earlier. "I like this a lot, and I'd like to teach," Hooker said.

As for the highly competitive BHS Band, which has won numerous awards in recent years, Hooker said the high standards drive her. "It makes you want to become a better musician," she said. "Everybody is so good it helps you as a beginner."

Her love of music puts her in an awkward position with her parents, who would like her to choose a safer, more secure career path.

"They want me to work in a hospital," Hooker said.
David Imhoff, director of performing arts for the district, said that, indeed most musicians do not major in performance, where "all you can do is play."

"Once you're certified to teach, you can teach at any level," Imhoff

For Hooker, who is less experienced, the biggest hurdle she said she faces is two words - "stage fright."

Both young musicians said more money for their programs would be nice. Bridge said, "We do a lot of fundraising, but it would be nice if we had a little money on top of that. We could have higher production values."

Still, both appear to have been smitten with a love of music that will likely last a lifetime.

Keeping a wary eye on additional spending

Monday's Board of Education proved a small, but significant example of democracy in action.

The administration and at least one board member supported increasing the administrative staff during tough economic times, all in the name of tackling childhood obesity. One board member's insistence that the move was not prudent, coupled with a small but vocal uprising among residents, ended with the supervisor of physical education position being taken out of the budget.

Most of the board members present vowed to trim spending even further, and it remains to be seen how much will be done to cut into a more than $100 tax increase for a home assessed at the township average. As long as increasing salaries and benefits are the engine that drives the school budget, reducing costs becomes something of a shell game involving increased top in administrative spending in Essex County, and state aid to cover the huge spending increase from

Recognition for one of Belleville's own first responders

BY STEVEN J. ROVELL Guest Columnist

When you get involved in politics, you become somewhat jaded with respect to people. You look for hidden agendas and ulterior motives. It is difficult sometimes to ferret out those people that are in it for the glory from those that are in it for the pure pleasure of serving others.

In the "Celestine Prophecy," the author speaks to the fact that those who learn to give of themselves have the ability to generate positive energy at anytime just by giving. However, those that have not learned this fact must always take from others.

They have to steal energy, goodwill, ideas and sometimes even other people's belongings. Eventually, the takers are left unhappy, disgruntled and without any true friends or family.

I say this because I have had the good fortune to meet some truly giving and caring people in our community. Some very generous individuals who serve their fellow man and ask for nothing in return. The sad thing is you very rarely see them acknowledged on the front page of the newspaper.

Capt. Chesley "Sully" Sullenberger the pilot, who on Jan. 15 safely crash landed an Airbus A320 into the Hudson River, commented that the real heroes of the day were the first responders who plucked all of the passengers and crew from the icy waters of the Hudson River.

On Friday night, March 6, in a quiet ceremony at Forest Hills Country Club, the Suburban Essex Chamber of Commerce honored one of those first responders" from that icy day in January. He was the Belleville Man of the Year, Lt. Richard Musso from the Second Ward.

Richard is a Jersey City police lieutenant and a paramedic. When he isn't working, he is out helping his neighbors as well as many of Belleville's seniors. The reason most of us haven't heard his name before is because he does not seek attention or acknowledgement.

He lives his Christianity on a daily basis by serving his fellow man while asking for nothing in return.

I would like to thank Richard Musso and his family for their service to our country and our community.

I would like to congratulate him on his award for his heroic actions. I would also like to thank the Suburban Essex Chamber of Commerce for acknowledging Richard for all he has done to make this a better and safer world to live in.

The writer is Belleville Township's Second Ward councilman.

AD not needed

TO THE EDITOR:

Our Interim Superintendent Melindo Persi has suggested that we hire another supervisor to manage the athletics department in response to our president's call to do more to stem the tide of childhood obesity.

While this is a worthy cause, the position requirement would be more suiting for a city than a town. Belleville is heavy with administrative costs that divert extremely needed resources for books, teaching supplies and infrastructure repairs and improvements.

In my comments to the new board at their second public meeting, I pointed out that we lost our director of curriculum position in a trade for the newly created assistant superintendent's position. In so doing, we forfeited a valuable, accountable position that required solid credentials that were worthy of the pay and benefits to create a position with little accountability to aid our former superintendent, Dr. Klisus. This position did not exist before that time.

We do not need a director of athletics or an assistant superintendent. We need the director of curriculum position restored.

Mr. Persi, in his own words, said that salary expenses will go up $1.2 million dollars this year, and that, with health benefits, accounts for two thirds of our budget. Mr. Persi neglected to mention pension costs that also are a real and related expense to the taxpayers.

We, as a township, and they as the board, should be focused on excellence and not AYP. There is no doubt that there are many areas where more money is sorely needed. The recent hiring of two athletic teachers to address the need of our students was the right response and priority of our board.

I was surprised to read the remarks of our board president, Mr. Longo, when board member Arlene Schor objected to the expenditure on the AD position as opposed to updating old textbooks. Mr. Longo suggested that that time had passed with last year's $4.2 million state aid increase.

If our elected board members are truly "for the children," the money will go toward books, roof and other repairs. We, in Belleville, depend on their well planned, prioritized leadership in these extraordinarily difficult times.

Older residents housing advances despite critics

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

The man paid to manage Belleville's development defended a plan to bring subsidized housing for those 55 and older to the township, saying many people younger than senior citizen age could benefit from the plan in the weak economy.

Township Manager Victor Canning responded to criticism from a handful of resident who regularly complain at town meetings, agreeing that the poor economy could affect the plan to develop housing near the senior citizen building on Mill Street, but insisting the plans are still worth pursuing.

said that the age restrictions might cause the plan to "hit a wall," and not meet the criteria to subsidize the development for low- and moderate-income residents. Parking is also a concern, where he said more than half the units may need parking spaces, causing residents to park at the senior building and affecting the quality of life for senior citizen club members.

Still, he said a development of more than 150 units with a stateof-the-art recreation area, other amenities and round-the-clock security is tough for those 55 and over to find.

As the development is presently set, rents would be $750 a cy unit and $850 for a two-bedroom, which Canning called very reasonable. If the number of units were reduced, the rents would rise, he said. "We're moving forward," Canning said. "We are in a position to purchase or lease the land and environmentally it's a go. Right now, we have nothing for people of this age. It's shameful."

Two residents remain critical of the plans. Florence Pentol, a senior citizen, said people can't afford to purchase the units, so now "we're going to rent to anybody. Being 55 and up is not a senior. A lot won't be able to afford it. With my taxes (on her home) and utilities, it's still cheaper for me to stay, not pay cy and can be as loud as I want. I try to keep my house as nice as I can. Many seniors feel the same. This should all be taken into consideration. You should consult with seniors."

Vincent Frantantoni, a frequent critic, said building on the Mill Street lot is "denying a nice field up there for children," and repeated his feeling that the units will end up with a lot not rented.

Canning disagreed that the site is a good spot for a recreation field.

He said calling the project not for seniors "is a play of words. At the end of the day, however you look at it, its based on income levels to be subsidized. A lot of people ter, he said.

Canning said the parking may ≤ become an issue because many who were prepared to retire may? now have to keep working because $\frac{1}{50}$ of the economic downturn and their savings, so they may need a § car to go to work. March is National Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month. Regular screenings should start at age 50, or younger for people at higher risk. Screenings can help prevent the disease by detecting precancerous polyps, as well as detecting any cancer in the earliest, most curable stages. I strongly encourage individuals to speak with their doctors and learn more about the screening guidelines. It could very well save your life.

Lowe's project closer to clearing one of final hurdles

That the property, Route 21 Associates, was the corporation that used to

The plan is to simply remove the contaminated soil from the area, which should be completed in eight or nine months. Canning said this part of the environmental cleanup should receive state Department of Environmental Protection approval faster than previous areas of concern, like stream encroachment.

"The timing could be that by next year at this time or even earlier they begin to build the buildings," Canning said in an interview. "There should be no new surprises. We're at the end now."

He said the owners stand to lose $22 million if the project falls through at a time when finding another developer would be complicated by the severe economic downturn. Officials for Route 21 Associates would say only that plans are being finalized with the state to clean up the site, and the project is moving forward.

Canning said state Sen. Ronald Rice's office is working with Belleville to pursue Brownfields funding, which is available to polluted properties and assumes as much as 75 percent in matching funds for any company cleaning up the long-vacant Main Street site.

"It should be helpful in addressing the situation," Canning said.

Officials have hoped for years that the property could be transformed into a modern ratable commercial or retail store. WalMart had come looking before Lowe's, but retracted its interest after years of delays on environmental cleanup. Canning has spoken of frustration with the process, saying the township has rezoned the property, but issues are far out of its control. The Belleville Township Council has continued to support the plans. A site plan approval predicated on the developers' receiving clearance from DEP was granted at a special meeting in May 2006.

Planning Board Chairman Sebastian "Sammy" Papa said previously that there were a couple of small variances approved, and the Lowe's people were told that, when and if the environmental questions are resolved, to come back and the board will process the application.

Lowe's representatives could not be reached for comment.

Pontoriero Chiropractic Center 299 Franklin Ave., Nutley • 973-235-9393

Most people see a chiropractor when other medical treatment has failed, such as for back pain. A typical patient might have seen other doctors or therapists and may have been treated with medication or perhaps had surgery recommended to them. Once the medication has worn off, or the surgery has been performed with less than satisfactory results, the problem returns. The problem is often one requiring not just a quick fix, but a long approach. Chiropractors treat the patient, not just the problem.

The nervous system controls all our movements, and our overall health. When the spinal vertebrae become misaligned through trauma or repetitive injury, two health issues manifest themselves: pain, and illnesses such headaches, arm and shoulder pain, sciatica, numbness and tingling in arms and legs. Quite often, most of these have no known cures only temporary remedies. Chiropractic theory says the interruption of nerve flow can eventually lead to pain, disability, and an overall decrease in the quality of life. Conversely, the removal of that interference has been shown to have significant, lasting health benefits. Chiropractic is a drugfree, non-surgical sci-

Dr. Pontoriero takes a detailed health history, including X-rays, if needed, and takes the time to meet with you to find out what you really expect of your treatment. She'll discuss not only her treatment, but also ways you can take charge and empower your own health. For instance, children can be shown how to properly carry their backpacks and school bags. A busy Mom can learn another way of holding her baby, while a sports fanatic can benefit from adjustments to a weary body not used to the rigors of athletics. Dr. Pontoriero views each patient as an individual, not just a symptom, and you'll find that her relaxed office atmosphere will contribute to your overall well-being.

Dr. Pontoriero has received many prestigious awards, including The Nutley Jaycees Distinguished Service award for Outstanding Young Adult, as well as various civic awards. Among others, she was selected by Consumer's Research Council of America as one of America's Top Chiropractors and has been accepted as a life member of the National Registry of Who's Who.

Currently she serves as the president of the Nutley Chamber of Commerce and serves as committee member on several Nutley community service committees.

Schools to focus on K-2 literacy, mathematics

BY RICHARD DICKON of Belleville Times

With the time arriving for an introduction of the 2009-2010 school budget last night, school officials spent time at a recent meeting explaining the planned focus on literacy and math skills for grades kindergarten through third grade.

Susan Rovell, supervisor of elementary education for the district, brought a PowerPoint presentation, explaining to officials that her goal is to have each student reading and performing math skills at the highest level by third grade. Now, she said a tremendous number of students are being classified as learning disabled by that time when in fact they just need reading intervention before they begin failing in third grade.

Rovell said students take "a giant leap" in third and fourth grades, needing to "read to learn, not learn to read" by that time.

The plans are to spend a 90minute block of time on literacy and an 80-minute block on math,

Students need to be tested very early to find their reading level, and once assessed be differentiated into groups with instruction based on their weaknesses. This is to be done without the students feeling that anyone is more successful or another failing, Rovell said.

Second graders reading at kindergarten level must be helped to move up, while a second grader reading at a third or fourth grade level must have lessons tailored for them, she said.

Rovell said that while this approach would seem quite logical it actually goes against conventional methods of testing children at the end of a period and finding out they are failing.

"It's archaic not to use assessments first," she said.

Having the teachers come into the classrooms rather having students moved in and out means that students are less likely to notice those struggling versus those more gifted at a certain age, Rovell said.

"This stresses social learning, interaction where students are learning together," she said. "If you walk by a classroom you don't want to hear no sounds, because that means no learning is going

Constance Calandrino, math supervisor said students would be assessed to see where they are at, and where they need to go, with clearly defined goals like problem solving that will integrate literature and science into math learning. Daily math is planned to develop "spiraling skills," where math knowledge continues to grow, she

The AC Beerfest comes to the AC Convention The AC petriest comes to the attree-day nonstop "Celebration of the Suds." Everyone from casual beer drinkers to serious connoisseurs will have an opportunity to sample some of their old favorites and to discover many new or lesserknown brews, both local and imported.

Visitors will get to chat with brewers who craft the various quaffs, and discuss brewing techniques and ingredients. Some of the brands participating will be Abita, Allagash, Troegs, Yards, Barley Creek, Lancaster Brewing Company, Magic Hat, Victory Brewing Company, Brooklyn Brewery, Smutty Nose, Flying Dog, Dog Fish Head, Ommegang, Stone Brewing Company, Samuel Adams, Grolsch, Wiedenmayer Brewing Company, and many others.

Entertainment is a huge part of the celebration. Returning this year by overwhelming demand will be the popular Celtic band Birnam Wood who'll liven the weekend with their high powered Irish music. This year's festival will also offer a large array of carnival-style games and interactive experiences for show goers. "Cooking with beer" demonstrations will be another popular attraction, and a variety of local restaurants will be offering snacks from sausage and peppers to crab cakes to wash down with a great brew. Hooters AC adds to the fun with a series of wing eating

On Friday evening Harrah's will host The Judges Event, a new addition to allow true beer enthusiasts to rate and judge a variety of beers, ultimately deciding which takes home the 2009 People Choice Trophy. The Judges Event will be limited to 200 attendees at $200 per ticket, including dinner at Harrah's, a Judges Event t-shirt, a signature glass, and choice of festival session with early admittance. Another addition to the 2009 AC Beerfest is the VIP Sky Box, an elevated section of the festival floor which features a catered buffet and a special selection of beers in a relaxed setting apart from the main floor. The Sky Box offers limited admission at $100 per person.

The AC Beerfest will be conducted in three sessions at the AC Convention Center: Saturday 12 noon to 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.; and Sunday 1 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tickets are $35. The festival offers a "Designated Driver" price of $5 per ticket, to include sodas and non-alcoholic beverages.

David Cook, The winner of the seventh season of Fox's American Idol competition, comes to Borgata this weekend for two shows at The Music

Box. The rock-oriented vocalist with a bent toward a commercial post-grunge sound has been declared "the most imaginative American Idol talent to date" by Rolling Stone Magazine. David originally came to the Idol auditions to support his younger brother Andrew, who did not make the cut. However, after gaining encouragement from Andrew, David sang Bon Jovi's "Livin' on a Prayer" for the show's judging panel and was accepted into the competition's Hollywood round. A guitar player since age 12, Cook took advantage of the show's new rule allowing vocalists to play instruments on-stage, and for many of his subsequent performances accompanied himself on guitar. Although he did not receive much attention during American Idol's early stages, his third week's performance of Lionel Ritchie's "Hello" drew rave reviews from the judges, who praised him for transforming an R&B song into a post-grunge power ballad. It was a formula that Cook would repeat with much success a few weeks later, when he performed a rock arrangement of Michael Jackson's "Billie Jean." Also bringing some extra attention to Cook was the revelation that his older brother was battling cancer. Sensationally, Cook was taken to the hospital during the competition for treatment for high blood pressure and heart palpitations, purportedly caused by stress over his brother's situation. However, he quickly returned to the show and dismissed the event as a minor precaution.

Often referred to as "the Battle of the Davids," the 2008 finale of American Idol pitted Cook against 17-year-old wunderkind David Archuleta, who many critics and fans predicted would beat the elder Cook, However, on May 21, 2008, Cook ultimately received 56 percent of the final vote and was crowned the winner. Two weeks later, 11 songs by David Cook entered the Billboard Hot 100, an unprecedented feat that nearly doubled the chart's previous record. His self-titled full-length debut album was released last November, and certified platinum early this year. The first single, "The Time of My Life" recently went platinum, with over one million tracks sold. "The Time of My Life" is not only the biggest single debut but the highest selling coronation single in the show's history. Cook is the 34th American Idol contestant to appear on a Billboard chart. Cook, who kicked off 2009 by performing for troops, visited seven different bases on a USO tour. His shows at Borgata are Friday and Saturday, 9 p.m. both nights. Tickets are $45.

HOPING FOR A HOME

Emma is a young kitten who came to the John A. Bukowski Shelter along with her three siblings. Her siblings have been adopted, leaving Emma all alone in a big cage. Emma doesn't mind, as she now has more room to play. She is fond of playing and will go on for hours batting her toys around or chasing a laser light. She's very happy and has all of the energy that a young kitten should have. Emma is a classic tabby with the signature tabby "M" on her forehead. She is up to date on her shots and will be spayed prior to adoption from the John A. Bukowski Shelter, 61 Bukowski Place, Bloomfield. Telephone: 973-748-0194.

A 'Sorce' of optimism for Bucs hoping Belleville High baseball

BY MIKE LAMBERTI for Belleville Times

Belleville's head baseball coach, Joe Sorce is already in mid season form in terms of optimism.

Belleville, which is playing a "We're making very very aggressive scrimmage schedule, willopen the regular season on April 1 at Ridgewood.

"We're making very good Coach Joe Sorce progress," Sorce said. "I really think a lot of that stemmed from last summer and how we played in (senior) legion ball. "This year, our kids have a great attitude. We have 12 seniors and a core of experienced players. Hopefully, that will be a good starting point."

Sorce's coaching staff consists of varsity assistant Mike Mignone, JV coach Vin Orrei and new freshman coach Steve Puglia, who was a volunteer assistant last season.

"I'm really happy with the coaching staff and the fact that all school) building," Sorce said.

to finish job

BY MIKE LAMBERTI for Belleville Times

The message is clear, according to Belleville softball coach Chris Cantarella. It's time for the Bucs to finish the job it started last year by winning 18 games.

"I think our kids pretty much know what has to be done," Cantarella, in his fourth season as head coach, said. "We had a good season last year. We were 18-7 and advanced to the county and state sectional semifinals. But we came up short in games we were hoping to win and this year, witha majority of our key players back, we want to take that next step."

It's been a building process for the program as it seeks to return to the glory days that saw traditional 20-victory campaigns during Carl Corino's run a coach from 1980-1993 and 1995-2005. Belleville won 507 games for Corino in 25 seasons, as well as three Essex County championships, three NNJIL titles and a pair of North Jersey, Section 2, Group 4 crowns.

After advancing to the 2003 sectional final, the program struggled a little from 2004-2006. In 2007, Belleville had a solid campaign, and last year the team started 15-1 and were ranked as high as second in Essex County and among the top 20 teams in the state in ear-

"That was a nice run to get to 15-1," Cantarella said. "I know the kidsenjoyed seeing their names in the paper and being ranked in the state, but now they want to see that carry over into late May and June."

Cantarella welcomed 50 girls to the program at the start of practice earlier this month. The team had its first set of pre season games last week when it faced Saddle Brook on Friday and Passaic Valley of LittleFalls the following day.

The regular season opener is April 1, when Belleville hosts Ridgewood at 4 p.m.

"It's a crazy schedule this year," Cantarella said. "We have 17 games in April and just seven (regular) season games in May. Getting off to a good start is key for us."

In addition to its NNJIL slate, Belleville will be hosting a fourteam tournament on April 11 which includes Columbia of mer Belleville standout athlete in back as the freshman coach.

All of Belleville's home games are played at Clearmon Field.

Belleville's infield returns all experienced players, led by sophomore pitcher Gabby Chimento and junior catcher Leah Benacquista.

Jessica Benacquista, a sophomore, should start at first base while junior Nicole Velardi is at second.

The left side of the infield features Mariah Lucena at shortstop and third baseman Alexa Veniero,

'I think our kids pretty much know what has to be done.

Coach Joe Cantarella

both seniors.

Lucena and Veniero were also Belleville's top offensive players last season, with Lucena hitting .478 with 25 RBI and Veniero battling .430 with 41 RBI.

They're both talented offensive players, but they also play solid defense," Cantarella said of Lucena and Veniero.

Belleville has had some tremendous shortstops throughout this decade, led by Anabel Rodriguez and Kristin Wilson, both of whom were all state players, as well as Lucia Trumble and Bianka Cosme. Third base has also been a staple of consistency for the Bucs, going back to the days of Andrea Curran and Danielle Green.

'Our entire infield is strong and I like the way our pitching shapes up with Gabby, who started most of the time as a freshman last year, throwing well so far. Leah is a very good catcher and Jessica and Nicole have played well in the scrimmages and practice."

The outfield is still a question as Belleville needs to rebuild in all three positions following last year's graduation of Ronica Sorice, Crystal Cruz and Vienna Pace.

"We have about seven girls who are in contention for an outfield position," Cantarella said. "I'll know more about our outfield after another week, or so, of practice and scrimmages."

Cantarella's coaching staff feaires varsity assistant Maryann Maplewood, Verona and West Soares, JV coach JillMarie Patter-Orange, which is coached by a for-son and Kenny Johansen, who is

The Belleville crew team will open the 2009 season on Sunday when it races at the Flicks in Philadelphia. The program, under the direction of coaches Gail and Jeff Lahm, began practice in late February with a tremendous turnout of athletes.

ARE BRAND NAMES BETTER THAN GENERICS?

While some physicians and patients cling to the belief that brand-name drugs are better than their generic counterparts, a recent study says that they are not. In fact, when researchers analyzed the results of 30 studies that have been performed since 1984, they found no evidence that brandname medications given to heart patients (and patients with other cardiovascular conditions) worked any better than their less-expensive generic counterparts. The study covered betablockers, diuretics, calcium-channel blockers statins, antiplatelet agents, ACE inhibitors, alphablockers, anti-arrhythmic agents, and warfarin At a time when patients are struggling to keep up with rising healthcare costs, substituting generic alternatives for costly brand-name drugs provides one solution. Patients are urged to ask their pharmacists about this cost-saving measure.

Almost half of all prescriptions today in the US are filled with generic drugs. At ROSSMORE PHARMACY, we are highly-trained and skilled healthcare professionals who perform various roles to ensure optimal health outcomes for their patients. we're located at 338 washington Avenue, where we are happy to answer all your questions about generics. Exercise makes a big difference

When you have a chronic illness, it can be difficult to find an activity you love. Grace Ragland decided to take up mountain biking in an effort to cope with relapsing-remitting multiple sclerosis and now races competitively, leaving her worries about MS behind her.

"I will not let MS get in the way of accomplishing my goals," she said.

WORSHIP BRIEFS

Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church

Lenten breakfast series

On Wednesday, March 25th, Fewsmith Church will host its 5th Lenten breakfast. The guest speaker will be Pastor Grace Alfieri. She is the pastor of the Christian Apostolic Church in Belleville. Pastor Alfieri is a member of the Belleville Clergy Alliance and has been a long standing member of the Christian Apostolic Church and the Belleville community. She will give us a brief meditation on "Lead Us Lord".

Everyone of all religious beliefs and denominations are invited to come and enjoy the Lenten breakfast. It starts at 6:50 a.m. and ends promptly at 7:30 a.m. with enough time to make it to work or school. For a suggested donation of $4 for adults and $2 for children, guests will enjoy eggs, bacon, sausage, toast, cereal, sweet cakes, coffee, tea and juice. For more information contact the church office at attend. 973-759-6869.

Bethany Lutheran Church

Kids' fun night

Pastor Nancy S. Moore and the members of Bethany Lutheran Church are sponsoring a weekly 'Kids' Fun Night' on Wednesdays, from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the church hall (please enter via the New Street door). There will be ping-pong, games, activities and refreshments. Everyone is welcome to join in the fun.

Healing prayers

Pastor Nancy S. Moore of Bethany Lutheran Church administers healing oil to all interested worshippers during prayers following each worship service. This brief, special practice is held at Bethany on the first Sunday of every month directly after the regular 9 a.m. and 10:15 a.m. worship services. Everyone is welcome to "Reconciling in Christ" parish. It is the stated policy of this congregation to welcome and fully include persons of every race, age, gender, marital status, ability and sexual orientation. The church is located at 188 New Street, Belleville. Call 973-759-1555.

Care closet announces March distribution day

The Care Closet, an outreach program of Christ Episcopal Church, has announced its March distribution day for Monday, March 30, beginning at 3 p.m. until all of the supplies are exhausted.

The Care Closet distributes packages of paper products, cleaning products and personal hygiene items to persons with Families First cards. The parish is always receiving gifts of individually wrapper paper towels, facial tissue and toilet tissue; the program also is in need of brown grocery bagging for packing the supplies each month. Additionally volunteers are always welcome both for the preparation of the bags and on distribution day. For more information please phone the parish.

Christ Church is an inclusive community church in the Anglican tradition, located at 393 Washington Ave., between Joralemon and Essex Streets, in the township of Belleville. For more information you may phone the church at 973 751-0616.

Godspell auditions announced

Christ Church, in conjunction in the Cherry Plant with The Cherry Blossom Players, Belleville's Community Theater, has announced three performances of the music from the musical "Godspell" on Friday, E April 3, Saturday, April 4, and Sun-Zuday, April 5. The performances will Sun-Zuday, April 5. be given as a revue of the musical ≤ and raise funds for the parish's ministries. The score requires ten? singers, five men and five women. Persons wishing to audition for the performances are asked to call the parish at 973-751-0616.

The music for the final version of "Godspell" was written by Stephen Schwartz, and most of the lyrics came from the Episcopal Hymnal. "Godspell" opened off-Broadway in 1971 and moved to Broadway in 1976 where it closed a year later.

Christ Church is an inclusive church in the Anglican tradition, located at 393 Washington Ave., Belleville. For more information, call 973-751-0616.
