Door-to-door furniture sales?

Township Council wants more information on company's plan

BY RICHARD DICKON
of Belleville Times

There may or may not be a furniture distributor attempting to sell to residents door-to-door soon, and continuing all the way through December.

While taking great pains to say they were not speaking specifically of the company looking to sell this time, township officials said negative consequences had occurred in the past in similar situations. Officials said they were delaying granting approval to this company until they are assured that no such problems will occur this time around.

A request was sent to the township from Taylors Furniture Distributors of Tobaccoville, N.C. The request is for permission to solicit door-to-door furniture from May to Dec. 22 from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Calls to the company were not returned.

At-Large Councilman Kevin Kennedy, while saying he did not know this company and was not accusing it of anything that could be detrimental to the township, discussed previous door-to-door furniture sales companies that were granted permission to sell in Belleville.

He said, "We have to make sure this will not be tractor-trailers driving up and down the street knocking on doors. If it is, let them use a nearby gas station to keep the truck parked like others have in the past."

At-Large Councilman Michael Nicosia agreed that such travel "could damage roadways and people's houses."

The council was considering an outright denial of the company, when Township Attorney Thomas Murphy stepped in to advise.

"Before we deny them, let's ask them for more full disclosure," Murphy said.

He said the company would be asked to register with the police, provide identification and agree to a criminal background search.

"I'm not saying you should ban them," Murphy said. "Let's get information."

He said he thought the company would "be someone walking the streets with a catalogue."

Kennedy was not the only person who remembered other companies driving up and down streets with tractor-trailers.

Resident Phyllis Frantantoni said she remembered similar problems. "You have kids riding on bikes and the tractor-trailers going up and down the street," she said. "It's too dangerous."

Frantantoni said if that is the case this time, she strongly urged the council to deny permission.

COURT

Former mortician gets 5 years for body parts scheme

Essex County Prosecutor Paula T. Dow announced on Monday that a former Newark funeral director has been sentenced to five years in prison for participating in an illegal body parts scheme that collected bones, tissue and skin from corpses to be sold to a lucrative transplant market.

Stephen K. Finley, 46, of Murray Hill, who pleaded guilty to second-degree disturbing/desecrating human remains in February, was sentenced by Essex County Superior Court Judge Peter J. Vazquez.

According to Essex County Assistant Prosecutor Jane Plaisted, between 2004 and 2005, Finley knowingly, intentionally and unlawfully entered into an arrangement with Michael Mastromarino, 46, a former oral surgeon from Fort Lee, by allowing a team of "cutters" to illegally harvest body parts from approximately 40 deceased individuals without obtaining proper consent from next of kin.

In return, Finley received approximately $1,000 for each body. Finley is one of the two New Jersey morticians linked to a ring that secretly harvested body parts from more than 1,000 cadavers in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania between 2001 and 2005. Also accused was Robert J. Maitner Jr. of Belleville.

Mastromarino, who headed the now-defunct Biomedical Tissue Services and was considered the scheme's ringleader, pleaded guilty in New York last year and is serving 18 to 54 years in prison. The ring allegedly used forged documents that altered the ages of elderly donors and concealed the fact that some may have died of cancer or other diseases.

"The gruesome activity engaged in by this funeral director was utterly revolting," said Dow. "This defendant had absolutely no regard for the common decency owed to the victims and the victims' loved ones."

In 2007, the New Jersey Legislature amended the Theft of Human Remains statute to raise the penalty to a first-degree crime.

The past Jan. 6, the New Jersey State Board of Mortuary Science, through a consent order, permanently revoked Finley's license to operate a funeral home in New Jersey.

On April 14, the Board of Mortuary Science said Finley violated the January the consent order and imposed severe monetary penalties.

Today in court, Judge Vazquez denied the state's motion to withdraw the original plea offer but said the state could pursue additional criminal penalties against the defendant for practicing mortuary science after his license had been revoked.

Dow commended Essex County Prosecutor Detective Patrick Todd with the investigation.

Keeping projects on track

BY RICHARD DICKON
of Belleville Times

Township officials say they are doing everything to keep potential developers from backing out of potential tax ratable projects and enticing new developments, all as developers flee New Jersey, citing over-regulation and a faltering economy.

A major development is supposed to be on its way to the former ice factory property at the south end of Washington Avenue, after the Planning Board approved a site plan to bring 135 rental units and 20,000 square of retail space to the now rundown area.

The Belleville Township Council is also reviewing possibilities for construction on the 18-acre land area of the old Hoffman-LaRoche pharmaceutical property next to Clara Maass Medical Center. Officials are looking at a possible deal with the property owner that would net the town three acres for its use, along with a mixed use of commercial and residential properties.

At the May 26 Township Council meeting, Township Attorney Thomas Murphy talked about efforts to keep development alive in a poor economic situation. That includes hiring attorneys who are experts in redevelopment at no cost to the township, he said.

"We have had several meetings with the ice factory developer [George Jacobs], and are currently in investigation for making the property an area in need of redevelopment (see separate story)," Murphy said. "The economy went backwards, so we have engaged the services of attorneys who are experts to help come up with a developer's agreement. It will not cost the town anything. The developer is trying to stay. Developers are leaving New Jersey because they feel over-regulated."

Township Manager Victor Canning, in a separate interview, said the township is looking to sell redevelopment area bonds.

"With the poor economy, banks want too much to loan money, so here the banks issue bonds with the developer," Canning said.

He said right now the most important thing is "to bring new development and jobs to an area that is underutilized and rundown."

The bonds can be for 20 years, and the "plusses" for the taxpayer are that if the development "goes bellyup," the taxpayers become the first lien players, and will have something to show, since they will own the land and whatever has been built upon the property, Canning said.

Jacobs previously described the former ice factory property development in detail when the economy was doing better and credited Belleville officials for being "incredible" in welcoming the developer to the township.

The site was home to Liquid Carbonics dry ice factory for many years, and was later sold for use

While attempting to move forward with redevelopment projects, township officials authorized and directed the Planning Board to investigate whether certain properties in town should be designated as an area in need of redevelopment.

One area is the old ice factory property (see related story). Township Manager Victor Canning and Township Attorney Thomas Murphy both explained that the official resolution is necessary to start things moving for any new development.

Local redevelopment and housing law authorizes municipalities to determine whether certain parcels of land in town constitute "areas in need of redevelopment," according to officials.

The township must give the planning board authority to conduct a preliminary investigation of an area and then make recommendations to the Township Council, according to officials.

So far, the ice factory property is the only area being considered "with or without change in the condition, for the effective redevelopment of the proposed area," according to the resolution.

As part of its investigation, and before going ahead with a public hearing, the planning board must prepare a map showing the location of the various parcels of land contained in the area, and prepare an official statement outlining the basis for the investigation.

Then the board would conduct a public hearing, giving due notice of the proposed boundaries of the proposed area and the date of the hearing. That notice would go to anyone who is interested in the property or who would be affected by the area being deemed in need of redevelopment a chance to be heard, according to the resolution.

As for the hearing, the board would hear from anyone interested or who would be affected by the change. All objections to such a change and evidence in support of those objections would be received and considered by the planning board and made part of the public record, the resolution states.

After conducting its investigation, preparing a map of the proposed redevelopment areas, and completing a public hearing where all objections are heard, the planning board could then recommend to the council whether to designate the lots as in need of redevelopment, according to the resolution.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Township accepts grant money to prevent substance abuse

BY RICHARD DICKON
of Belleville Times

The township has accepted a grant for drug prevention to help raise drug awareness and keep residents from falling victim to substance abuse, according to officials.

The township is once again fighting alcohol and substance abuse among Belleville's youth with a variety of programs, with officials applying for a county grant to fund the activities.

Essex County has received grant funding from the Governor's Council on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse to provide alcoholism and drug services, officials said. The county has proposed to contract with Belleville to provide the services for prevention, education and intervention for everyone from preschoolers through senior citizens, according to officials. The amount of the grant is $39,000.

Officials said the resolution applying for the grant means that Belleville recognizes that the abuse of alcohol and drugs is a serious problem in our society amongst persons of all ages.

Official said it is incumbent not only among public officials but the entire community to take action to prevent such abuses in the community.

Previously, officials have outlined many of the types of programs made available from the grants in recent years.

In the past, many schools have hosted "Red Ribbon Week," an anti-drug week held throughout the state, where students wear red ribbons with blinking lights to demonstrate their participation in fighting alcohol and drug abuse.

Then there are programs that fight cigarette smoking among minors.

Each year, parents and school officials unite to provide the successful Project Graduation, which is completely drug and alcohol free.

"Crash Course" is a daylong program where students see firsthand what happens when people drive either without seat belts, after drinking alcohol or abusing illegal drugs.

There is an Essex County Alliance Speakers Bureau that brings experts in preventing substance abuse to the schools, part of a series of assemblies on the subject that take place throughout the year.

The Belleville Public Library has also been a big part of the drug prevention efforts in the past, offering numerous and varied programs during the year.

CELEBRATING MULTICULTURE

Thinking long-term, as positive as possible

There is only so much township officials can do to keep potential developers from backing out of potential tax ratable projects and entice new developments. This is particularly difficult when so many developers are fleeing New Jersey, citing over-regulation and a faltering economy.

A major development is supposed to be on its way to the former ice factory property at the south end of Washington Avenue. This is after the Planning Board approved a site plan to bring 135 rental units and 20,000 square of retail space to the now rundown area. The plans looked much more promising a year ago, before the housing market crashed, and the world economy followed suit.

The Township Council has other hopes, reviewing possibilities for construction on the 18-acre land area of the old Hoffman-LaRoche pharmaceutical property next to Clara Maass Medical Center. As officials looking at a possible deal with the property owner that would net the town three acres for its use, along with a mixed use of commercial and residential properties, the prospects right now look grim.

So Township Attorney Thomas Murphy is talking about efforts to keep development alive in a poor economic situation, and the plans are creative, including hiring attorneys who are experts in redevelopment at no cost to the township.

Township Manager Victor Canning said the township is looking to sell redevelopment area bonds, which will allow taxpayers to be first to benefit if a lien is necessary on the property, owning the land and whatever actually ends up being built.

While these are far from perfect scenarios, no one can accuse township officials of not trying to make lemonade of the lemon that is the economy in June 2009. While there are always some who object to anybody doing anything, action is preferable over inaction.

It may be true that some of the rental units at the ice factory may go without renters, at least for awhile, and any new businesses that take up residence may struggle. Still, township officials deserve credit for optimistically pushing forward in a climate of gloom and doom. Residents may benefit from the officials taking a long view and not giving up during what is hoped to be short-term, serious downturn.

Silverlaker Joe Fornarotto deserves a 20-gun salute

LIFE IN SILVER LAKE

Friendly House memories; real rec facility is needed

BY BARBARA BALABAN
GUEST COLUMNIST

The Friendly House was a prime destination for my son for many years, specifically between 2002 and 2006.

During this period, he and many others flocked to the only indoor recreation center the Township of Belleville had to offer its youth.

My son would walk with his friends from the neighborhood to the Friendly House and play basketball from 6 to 9 at least three nights a week. On any given night, there would be anywhere from 10 to 50 other players of all ages playing basketball in the deteriorated old building that the township forgot about long ago.

But the kids never forgot. They always knew that despite the fact that there were no windows in the gym, no heat in the winter, no air conditioning in the summer, and no fresh paint on the walls, there were always games to be played.

The building, which could have been renovated 10 years ago, was severely neglected instead. Now it's official.

The Township Council has voted to demolish the Friendly House.

And while the council members decide whether or not to erect a new recreational facility for our town's youth, or wait another few years for NJ Transit to follow through on some obviously long-forgotten, swept-under-the-rug deal, the kids continue to wait.

Nutley just constructed a beautiful new full-basketball court alongside its track with Plexiglas backboards. Here in

Keep board attorney

TO THE EDITOR:

As a resident of the Township of Belleville for the past 83 years, I've seen and heard many things going on in my lifetime. Taxes have been going up in many towns, but Belleville school taxes have been fair, and your interest for our children is appreciated.

We in Belleville have an attorney, Frank Pomaco, who has done a wonderful job as school attorney for the taxpayers of Belleville for the past 23 years. He is an experienced school board attorney and presently represents three other Essex County school districts. He is a senior partner in a law firm that has been in Belleville for 37 years.

The rumors are that some board members are looking to replace Frank Pomaco with a lawyer who has no prior school board experience. I am asking you to look at the facts and don't let our children and us taxpayers suffer later. Don't let this happen.

Proposal too costly

TO THE EDITOR:

I recently reviewed the blueprints for the proposed "repairs" to the Friendly House. The two bids received were for $2.7 million and $2.9 million. However, we the public have been misled. The bids were not for necessary or mandated repairs, but rather the plans called for extensive renovations and alterations that were not necessary, not warranted and extremely costly.

The proposed plans called for cutting open the entire left side of the front wall and installing three levels of plate glass. The rear entrance plans were also very elaborate and certainly not needed for a recreation facility where children just want to have some fun. The plans also called for a Styrofoam/stucco system to the exterior of the building.

Belleville, we don't build courts; we tear them down. The only outdoor basketball court we have left in Belleville is at No. 9 School, which is out of the way for a lot of the kids who can't drive yet.

This town allowed the only indoor recreation facility it had to fall apart; the result of countless years of neglect. Why? According to this paper, officials referenced "unwanted youths from out of town crashing the facility."

Okay, so youths from other towns came to play ball. The fact that this has been misconstrued as a bad thing is farcical. As far as the kids are concerned, when it comes to basketball at least, the more people, the better, especially if they are good players.

The demolition is indeed a very bitter pill to swallow, a sad reflection of the township's irresponsibility and lack of commitment to its youth. Neighboring towns have beautiful recreational facilities, township pools, outdoor courts, places for kids to go, especially during the long summer months.

There is no doubt about it. We need a new Friendly House. I agree with Councilwoman Burke. It should be built in a safe place, preferably where the old building stands now.

Belleville residents complain that the kids hang out on street corners. Where exactly are they supposed to go? Unless your teen is away at camp all summer long, or too young to work, there is not much left but the streets or empty schoolyards.

It's time to build a real recreation facility, and by the way, not just for our kids. We adults could benefit from it too.

The writer resides in Belleville.

Hopefully, we have since learned that this system has serious drawbacks and is not needed on this building. Minor repairs to the damaged areas of the existing brickface exterior would be more practical.

There were many more extensive alterations to the interior of the building that appeared to be nothing more than an architects dream, unless he was directed by officials to incorporate these items into his plan.

The demolition of this building will not be an easy task and presents some potential liability problems. The building sits extremely close to the residential structure on the north side. A slight mishap in the demolition process could cause damage to the adjoining structure.

I certainly support restoring this recreation facility, including the installation of an elevator. However, it is imperative that you, as elected officials, demand an itemized breakdown of all the individual components of these bids. I am confident that the necessary repairs to this building can be accomplished at an expense close to the $800,000 bond ordinance that was approved several years ago. The luxury and wish list items in the presently proposed plans constitute the major portion of these bids.

Our children and taxpayers expect more accountability, responsibility and frugality from our elected officials. I am available to review these plans with you and point out the wasteful items.

Parting Villano urges tolerance

BY RICHARD DICKON
of Belleville Times

William Villano, who left the school board recently after a dozen years, took the opportunity to remind the current school board to be civil during a recent presentation where he was recognized for his service.

The key word in Villano's statement was "tolerance," something that had been in question with a split board making decisions to possibly fire teachers, involuntarily transfer teachers and principals, and finally fire the interim superintendent publicly without telling him privately beforehand.

First, Villano said, "Obviously, I enjoyed my time, and there were challenges, and just as we had them then, you have them now."

He said the school board's words "mean the most," and have an effect on the children who are watching what they do.

"Tolerance needs to be a part of this," Villano said. "Whether in the election or the course of board business."

He said he himself has not always been as tolerant as he should be.

He said board members "in the heat of the moment" might convey the wrong message to students and teachers.

"You might overlook tolerance," Villano said. "I've done that myself, and I'm not proud of those moments. But I would appreciate it, and ask you that while all the children are watching, remember the great importance of teaching."

He went on to thank citizens for the opportunity to serve for four straight elections.

"It will always be one of the highlights of my life," Villano said.

Villano had said previously he was leaving his school board slot to concentrate on pursuing his own education.

Caputo named to schools committee

New Jersey Assemblyman Ralph Caputo of Belleville has been named to the Joint Committee on the Public Schools, a joint Assembly-Senate legislative panel that helps shape New Jersey's public education policy.

Assembly Speaker Joseph J. Roberts Jr., who appointed Caputo to the committee, noted the assemblyman's well-documented dedication to public education as a teacher, administrator and state education official.

"Assemblyman Caputo's adult life has been largely centered around ensuring our kids get the strong start they will need to become successful adults," said Roberts. "Ralph has seen New Jersey's public education system from every possible angle, from the classroom to the state Department of Education. That varied experience will be invaluable in helping the joint committee tackle the issues important to moving New Jersey's public schools forward."

The state Joint Committee on the Public Schools conducts ongoing analyses of the public schools, their financing, administration and operations. The panel also makes recommendations for legislative action to improve public education.

"We need to preserve and protect New Jersey's public schools just as we would any of our state's great resources," said Caputo (D-Essex). "In an ever-changing global economy, we must ensure our public schools continue to turn out students who will be able to compete and succeed against the rest of the world. This committee has an important role in keeping New Jersey's public schools the envy of the nation and world."

Caputo began his career in education in 1962 as a Newark elementary school teacher.

He joined the state Department of Education in 1972, serving as an urban education specialist, an advisor to the Commissioner of Education on state legislative matters and northern area chief for the Title I Office.

He became the assistant Essex County superintendent of schools in 1975 and later served as the acting Essex County superintendent of schools.

Woman cries foul over net placement

BY RICHARD DICKON
of Belleville Times

One person's recreation area is another's interrupted peace and quiet – and safety for someone living near Belleville's Municipal Stadium.

A woman whose home is in the line of fire of batted baseballs told township officials that a net put up to stop the balls has not worked. She wants greater relief from the potential safety hazard, but officials cannot guarantee that even extending the net will really help.

Ann Sheehan is a Greylock Parkway resident whose home is the location for foul balls from Belleville High School's varsity to recreation league baseball teams.

She told officials at the May 26 public Township Council meeting that the net erected to stop baseballs from flying into her yard "was put in the wrong place."

"I can't have barbecues, or even sit outside and read a book," Sheehan said. "I can't have people over. If someone gets hit with a ball, I'll be the one who gets sued."

Several council and township officials engaged in a dialogue with Sheehan, saying they sympathized with her situation, but that there may not be funding to add to the net, and even if they can, it may not work.

At-Large Councilman Michael Nicosia told Sheehan that the purpose of the net itself limits its effectiveness.

"It was meant to stop line drives," Nicosia said. "It can't stop balls that go higher, and the problem is that foul balls tend to go higher."

He said the net being placed where it is already interferes with the playing of games.

"In my opinion moving the net or adding to it will not stop the balls," Nicosia said.

Township Manager Victor Canning said that town officials are in the process of putting together bid specifications for improving drainage in the area of the baseball field, and that may lead to more help for Sheehan.

"If there is money left over, we will look into extending the netting," Canning said. "But foul balls go up there. Still, if we can improve your quality of life, I'm all for it. But if there is no money left after the bids, I can't pull money out of a hat."

Sheehan responded that, "It's a very dangerous situation."

Mayor Raymond Kimble said he wanted to go out to bid as soon as possible to see if there is indeed money left over to add to the net.

"We'll see if we can do a capital improvement," Kimble said.

Canning said he was not convinced that adding to and moving the net will help.

"I relied on the professionals to do this," Canning said. "But if there is not money left over, we'll try to find more money."

Sheehan said she is also concerned that ball players enter her yard and throw and bat balls around near her home.

Nicosia suggested that signs be erected to keep youths out of her yard.

Canning said he will ask the Superintendent of Schools and the Recreation Director to reinforce with players not to bother Sheehan's yard.

First Ward Councilwoman Marie Strumolo Burke said she wants officials to do everything possible to improve Sheehan's situation.

"I feel bad for her," Burke said. "Let's see what we can do."

SCHOOLS

BMS students do well in Fire Bowl

The NJ Fire Bowl Competition is comprised of various school districts from around the state. The competition focuses on different aspects of fire and fire safety all in hopes of raising awareness to the dangers of fire. It also addresses how to remain safe if a fire were to take place.

This past January, Belleville firefighter Ralph Castellano began visiting Belleville Middle School on a weekly basis, teaching the members of the BMS Fire Bowl team the important knowledge of fire safety. Team members were then devised of two teams in hopes of competing in the Fire Bowl in May.

On Tuesday, March 31 the members of the team along with coaches Peter Ayala and Joseph Rotonda visited the Middlesex Fire Academy in Sayreville. The students and coaches took part in a seminar on fire safety as well as having the unique opportunity to meet Scout, a 5-year-old Labrador Retriever who investigates the causes of fires. Students were also treated to a fire demonstration by firefighter trainees.

Students were tested on Tuesday, April 14, to determine eligibility and seating for the May 19 Fire Bowl Competition at Kean University. Every member of the BMS Fire Bowl team became eligible to compete.

BMS students received some of the top scores in the state. This would include Third Place Individual Award - Ali Hajihaidari, Second Place Team Award for the BMS boys team, First Place Individual Award - Stephanie Blosschak, and First Place Team Award for the BMS girls team.

The BMS girls team placed first in the state and has qualified to take part in the championship against Bayonne School No. 14.

"This year's event was another success," said Kennedy. "I thank everyone who contributed to this event, and to our honorees for their willingness to help."

This year, the association honored Joseph Maurillo as the Humanitarian of the Year, also Councilwoman Marie Strumolo Burke for her community service. The association also honored the Church helps sister take on quilt project

BY COREY KLEIN
for the Times

Jerry Aulenbach, a former organist and choir director at Wesley Methodist Church in Belleville, respected teacher, son, brother, cousin and friend, died of the AIDS virus on April 15, 1991. Before he passed, his sister, Jane Aulenbach, promised to make him a quilt panel to add to the international AIDS memorial quilt. When her brother passed on, she did not have the heart to begin.

Now, 18 years later, Jane is making good on her promise with help from the United Presbyterian Church of Lyndhurst. The church, located at 511 Ridge Road, will display the quilt panel beginning on Friday, June 5, at 6 p.m. and continuing throughout the weekend.

"Pastor Kimberly [Chastain] found out my story, and she made it a mission that we be able to keep my promise to my brother," said Jane. "The next thing I knew, we were doing a whole weekend."

The idea for an AIDS Memorial Quilt began in 1985. Thousands of men died from AIDS in San Francisco and mourners began taping placards bearing the names of those who died to the walls of the San Francisco Federal Building, according to Chastain. It looked like a patchwork quilt, so six-by-three foot panels were made to memorialize those who died of the disease.

In 1987, the AIDS quilt was displayed in Washington, D.C., composed of 1,920 panels and covering a space larger than a football field. Today, so many panels have been given to the project that it can no longer be displayed in its entirety in one place.

"Before he passed away, we stayed in a three-room apartment in Nutley because he was so sick," said Jane.

Jane told her brother who lived with her for the last nine months of his life, that she would like to have a quilt panel made in his honor that displays the things he loves. Jerry, who loved the theater, playing piano, teaching, church and his family, wanted all of these things to be included on the quilt panel. "Out of the blue, he said, 'Don't put a banjo on it,'" she said.

She asked him why, and her brother, known for his unpredictable sense of humor, replied simply that she should not include a photo of a banjo on it because he did not play the banjo. Naturally, Jane made sure the image of a banjo was cross-stitched onto the quilt panel. "The joke's on him," she said.

Jane and her family recall his sense of humor as one of his most notable traits. He taught fourth, fifth and sixth graders during most of his teaching career, but began teaching second graders later in life at a school in Washington Township. "He loved the little kids," she said.

'Lonesome West' at Nutley Theatre

Nutley Little Theatre will open its next production, the darkly comic "The Lonesome West" by Irish playwright Martin McDonagh, for a three-week run beginning Friday, June 12.

Evening performances, with an 8 p.m. curtain, are scheduled for June 12, 13, 19, 20, 25, 26 and 27. Matinees at 2 p.m. are held June 14, 20 and 21. The opening-night performance is a benefit for The Oasis. Tickets are $15 apiece.

Directed by Jacqueline McElroy-Poquette of Westwood, the cast includes David Arts of Wyck-off, Andrew Lionetti of Westwood, Glenn Rombough of Montclair and Emily Golden of Paramus. Sandy Chiappino of Hackensack is stage manager.

The third in Martin McDonagh's "Leenane" trilogy (along with "The Beauty Queen of Leenane" and "A Skull in Connemara"), this hilariously dark Irish play depicts the shocking and violent goings-on in the "lonesome" far Western Irish town of Leenane. A Tony Award nominee in 1999 for Best Play and Best Actor in a Play, it features two battling brothers and a priest driven to despair over his inability to resolve their differences or any of the recent unsolved murders in his parish.

Nutley Little Theatre has engaged SmartTix.com to handle ticket sales by phone and through the Internet. Patrons can still order by phone by calling 1-877-238-5596. NLT schedules 'Becket' auditions Nutley Little Theatre has scheduled auditions for its production of the Tony Award-winning drama "Becket," which will open NLT's 2009-10 season in September.

Auditions will be held Sunday, June 14 and Monday, June 15 at 7:30 p.m. both nights at the NLT Barn, 47 Erie Place, Nutley.

Evening performances of "Becket" are planned for Sept. 11, 12, 18, 19, 24, 25 and 26. Matinees are on Sept. 13, 19 and 20. Additional dates may be added within this range. Rehearsals will be held through the summer. "Becket" will be directed by Cheryl Rossillo of Ridgefield.

"Becket" — or "The Honor of God" — by Jean Anouilh tells the troubled story of a relationship between Thomas à Becket and Henry Plantagenet, known to history as King Henry II of England. The relationship begins as a friendship but ends with the murder of Becket by Henry's henchmen at the Cathedral of Canterbury.

The play requires a large cast with a wide age range. Needed are three or four young men to play various roles, two men in their late 20s to late 30s, eight or nine men in their 40s to 70s, two women in their 20s to 30s, one woman in her 30s or 40s and one woman in her 40s or 50s. The director will be flexible with age ranges. British accents are required.

Off The 'D List' – Kathy Griffin at Borgata's Music Box

Mary J. Blige's upcoming date at Borgata's Event Center is probably the hottest R&B booking in AC this year. Her Borgata stopover is the only local performance in support of her latest CD The Dream. Considered by many as one of the greatest singers of our time, the nine-time Grammy-winner has consistently produced #1 albums and singles, counting seven multi-platinum records to date. Blige is credited with redefining R&B with her emotional live concert performances. She set a new sales record with the The Breakthrough which debuted at #1, with the single "Be Without You" also making history by holding down the #1 spot on the Billboard "Top R&B/Hip Hop Albums" chart for a record breaking sixteen straight weeks, ultimately becoming the longest running #1 song on the R&B chart in over 40 years.

Mary J. Blige plays Borgata's Event Center Friday with showtime at 8 p.m. Tickets are already a sellout at $85 to $125, but there may be some seats held for Borgata's favored players.

Also this weekend, Borgata will host the rapid-fire wit of Kathy Griffin in the more intimate Music Box theater. The Emmy-award winning comedienne will be performing four shows over two days, Friday and Saturday, with shows at 8 p.m. and 11 p.m. both evenings. The acerbic, razor-tongued, take-no-prisoners comedienne has built a career for herself as an actress and a standup performer around the schtick of being permanently under-respected (as the title of her TV series, My Life on the D List, suggests), and fighting back with her claws extended. Griffin is notorious for mercilessly skewering and taking potshots at worthy targets — particularly fellow celebrities and comedians — through her comedy, and has built a considerable career out of doing so.

Kathy parlayed a small multi-episode role on Seinfeld

to a supporting role in the hit NBC sitcom Suddenly Susan starring Brooke Shields, to her own award-winning series Kathy Griffin: My Life on the D List, which began airing on the Bravo network in 2004. The comically charged reality show cast Griffin as herself, battling through the experiences of everyday life, garnering rave reviews from day one. It has run for four seasons, winning two Emmys in 2007 and 2008 for Outstanding Reality Program. Off camera, Griffin reportedly harbors a jet-black sense of humor and an ongoing fascination with true crime, particularly serial killers. Her live shows are always an unpredictable source of her notorious talent for improv on whatever strikes her attention at the time. Tickets for all four shows are $60 and $70.

On Friday and Saturday evenings, 20-some prelim winners will compete with their own Elvis interpretations. Contestants in Atlantic City's Ultimate Elvis Tribute Artist Contest will be judged on the "best representation of the Elvis legacy" in talent, appearance, performance, stage presence, and overall tribute. The winner will be offered a 12-week performance contract with Legends in Concert to join one of the Legends companies in the all-important Elvis role. In addition, the winner of Atlantic City's Ultimate Elvis Tribute Artist contest will take home a $1,000 cash prize and a Resorts getaway prize package.

The Ultimate Elvis Tribute Artist Contest will be held in Resorts' Superstar Theater, Friday at 9 p.m. and Saturday at 8 p.m. Tickets are $20.

Despite the fabulous dinner offerings at the many AC gourmet restaurants, more and more visitors prefer a quick, light bite before or after the shows, sporting events, or sessions at the gaming tables, rather than spend time languishing over big meals. In response to this demand, Morton's The Steakhouse, located on the ground floor of Caesars, is rapidly emerging as one of the resort's favorite watering holes. Morton's Bar 12-21 has inaugurated a program of Power Hours seven nights a week, from 5:00 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. and from 9:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. During these Power Hours, Morton's lounge offers a taste-tempting variety of signature Bar Bites for just $6 a plate. These delicious treats run the gamut from Filet sandwiches, Mini Prime Cheeseburger Trio, Mini Crab Cakes, Blue Cheese French Fries, and a fantastic warm Jumbo Lump Crab, Spinach & Artichoke Dip served with toasted croutons. During Power Hours, fresh Oysters on the Half Shell are available for just $1.50 each, and Colossal Shrimp at $2.50 each. I personally prefer to share a few of these small plates with friends rather than order major restaurant entrees.

For the first time, Morton's Bar 12-21 is adding extra "spirit" by introducing Power Hours pricing ranging from only $4 to $7 on select wines by the glass, beers and cocktails. It's worth the trip just to sample some of the 50 house specialty martinis, including Morton's signature "Mortini."

Singer/songwriters at Hillside Café

The Hillside Café, a nonprofit acoustic music venue in Nutley supporting the best up-and-coming singer/songwriters, will feature Jim Boggia on Saturday, June 20 at 8 p.m. Doors open at 7:30 p.m.

The opening performer will be Kiernan McMullen.

Jim Boggia

A recent addition to the premier Beatles' cover band "The Fab Faux," Boggia is a widely lauded singer/songwriter/multi-instrumentalist in his own right. His songs find a balance right between devastating beauty and sadness, and the big fat joke that is life. Boggia is known for his dynamic, improvisational live shows. The Washington Post made note of his "soulful voice, experimental instrumentation and an encyclopedic knowledge of pop music." An aficionado of 60s and 70s music, his third solo album, "Misadventures In Stereo," was mastered at London's fabled Abbey Road studios where the Beatles recorded virtually all of their 60s classics.

Boggia's Hillside Café performance is expected to showcase a career artist at the peak of his creative power, a self-proclaimed "music geek" for whom making music is as effortless as breathing. Boggia's sample cover of "She's Leaving Home" is available on YouTube. For additional information about Jim Boggia, visit the Web sites www.jimboggia.com or www.myspace.com/jimboggia.

Kiernan McMullen

Kiernan McMullen's debut album "New Age Robin Hood" has been described as "fresh," "impressive" and "showing serious potential" since its release in August 2006. Hot Press Magazine has described Kiernan as "impressive...with considerable style." This is not a surprise from a guy who, at only the tender age of 20, has already lived in Hong Kong, Boston, Australia and the UK.

Spending the majority of his childhood in the U.S., he started learning music at an early age. But it wasn't until his move to Ireland that songwriting came into the picture. It wasn't long before the songs became plenty, the gigs became plenty and fans began to catch on. With a style that fuses acoustic jazz and funk with rock and hip hop, it reaches across a lot of genres. For more information about Kiernan McMullen, visit the Web site www.myspace.com/kiernanm.

The Hillside Café is located at 45 Hillside Crescent at the corner of Church and Prospect streets, in the Franklin Reformed Church community room.

Admission is $10. The café is handicapped accessible.

Roche Players return with new play

"Beauty and the Beast," a play based on the 1991 Disney film of the same name, is being performed this month by the Nutley-based Roche Players.

Synopsis

After a handsome but conceited prince treats a beggar woman poorly, the woman turns out to be a beautiful enchantress and turns the prince into a beast. Further, the prince's staff is all transformed into objects relating to their profession. The prince is given a magical mirror to view the outside world. To break the spell, he must learn to love a person for who they are, and get her to love him before a magical rose loses its petals. Meanwhile, in a nearby village, a beautiful young bookworm (Belle) feels lonely and out of place. She lives with her eccentric but kind father, Maurice. Soon, Maurice goes off to compete at an inventors' fair but gets lost in the woods and ends up a prisoner at the beast's castle. Belle eventually finds the castle and makes a deal with the beast to let her father go in return for her staying there with the beast. As the beast's inner kindness slowly reveals itself, Belle falls in love with him. However, a jilted, self-centered and overly-masculine suitor from Belle's village, Gaston, takes a posse to "save" her from the beast. Gaston ends up stabbing the beast. Luckily, when Belle rushes to the beast and expresses her love for him, he comes back to life again as a handsome prince.

Music is by Alan Menken, with lyrics by Howard Ashman and Tim Rice and book by Linda Woolverton.

About the Roche Players

The Roche Players are a group of theatrical enthusiasts linked together by their employment at Hoffmann-La Roche Inc. of Nutley. This highly spirited group has presented an annual musical for over 30 years for the sole benefit of local charities. All the performers and backstage crew work on a voluntary basis, rehearsing three evenings per week over 10 weeks to stage five to six performances. Some members have been with the group for most of the 30-plus years, some are new to the group, and others include retirees and spouses of Roche employees, as well as their children. There is a lot of work involved to put on a quality production, which can take time away from other things, but it also lends the performers a mental and physical break from their daily routines. For most of the Roche Players, the rewards outweigh the investment of time.

Bucs end season with thrilling win

BY MIKE LAMBERTI
for Belleville Times

A tough loss to Randolph in the NJSIAA, North Jersey, Section 1, Group 4 tournament last week was somewhat negated by a scintillating victory over arch rival Nutley on June 1 in the season finale for both teams at George Zanfini Field.

Joe Sorce's Bucs rallied from 4-0 and 5-3 deficits to defeat the Raiders, 6-5 and close the books on a very successful 17-14 season.

We'll have a wrap up of the season in an upcoming issue.

Last Monday's win over Nutley marked Belleville's first season sweep of the Raiders in recent memory.

"It was a really nice way to end the season," Sorce said. "Nutley has a tremendous program. They were in the GNT finals and, obviously, have always been tough on us. We found a way to come back after we had fallen behind early. Our kids hung in there. I'm happy for them that they will have this game as a nice memory for the end of this season. For our seniors, it has to be really special."

There were many key hits for Belleville, but none bigger than Juan Lisojo's two-run double with one out in the last of the seventh which gave the Bucs a win. Belleville trailed, 5-3, heading into the seventh when Vinny Wolf and Dylan Steitz singled and Kris Bosea reached on a fielder's choice to load the bases. Eric Mieloch drove in a run on a fielder's choice and Lisojo, playing his final high school game, launched a long drive off the fence that scored Steitz and Bosea with the running runs.

Senior captain Chris Judge pitched another solid game and got the win with a complete game effort.

"It doesn't get much bigger than that," Sorce said afterward. "I'm really proud of the kids. Hopefully, this is something we can continue to build on for next year."

Belleville had put together quite a run heading into the Randolph game, having won four straight games. Versus Randolph, the Bucs took a 2-0 lead, but some costly errors put Belleville in a 5-2 deficit by the second inning. Belleville closed to within 5-4, but Randolph went on to a 7-4 victory. Mieloch had two hits and Shawn Gonzalez was 1 for 2 to lead Belleville. Randolph would eventually win the sectional title by defeating Memorial of West New York.

"We were right there with them, but you have to play solid defense in those kind of games and we hurt ourselves there," Sorce said. "Randolph is a good team, they won the sectional title, so we know we can play with them."

NOTES: The American Legion baseball season began earlier this week. Belleville will have a junior and senior team again this summer. The senior team will be at Ironbound on Saturday for a 10 a.m. game while the junior squad takes on Livingston this Sunday in a doubleheader at 10 a.m.

We'll have much more on the legion team in an upcoming issue.

SOFTBALL

Softball team's season ends with loss to Randolph team

BY MIKE LAMBERTI
for Belleville Times

The Belleville softball team was defeated by Randolph, 6-0, in a NJSIAA, North Jersey, Section 1, Group 4 semifinal last week at Clearman Field.

The loss closed the books on a very successful campaign for Chris Cantarella's team. Belleville was 18-6 this year, almost mirroring last season's 18-7 mark.

We'll have a complete wrap up of the season in an upcoming issue.

"We had a good year," Cantarella said following the loss to Randolph. "We would have liked to play better today, but Randolph has a good team and they played well."

Belleville had opened the season with a loss to Ridgewood, then went on a 12-game winning streak which earned the team the top seed in the Essex County Tournament.

During that run, however, Belleville lost the services of its top pitcher, Gabby Chimento, who broke her thumb while taking batting practice. With Chimento out, the Bucs turned to Alexa Veniero, the team's regular third baseman who is also an effective pitcher.

Veniero pitched well, moving the Bucs into the county semifinals, where it lost to the eventual champion, Mount St. Dominic of Caldwell. Belleville then regrouped and played well in the state tournament, winning two games over Passaic and Montclair before falling to Randolph.

"Losing Gabby was tough, but the kids played well behind Alexa,"

TRACK

Shabazz garners sectional championship

BY MIKE LAMBERTI
for Belleville Times

Junior sprinter Sherece Shabazz won the NJSIAA, North Jersey, Section 1, Group 4 championship in the 100-meter dash in 12.47 on Memorial Day weekend at Hackensack. Shabazz also took third in the 200 meters, running 25.71.

It marked another in a long list of tremendous accomplishments for Shabazz, who also enjoyed a marvelous indoor season for the Bucs.

Shabazz advanced to the Group 4 championships last weekend, where she ran well but did not qualify for the Meet of Champions.

Belleville put together a good season, once again, despite not having any facilities to practice on. It was the 23rd straight year that the Bucs have not had a home venue to host meets and the 12th straight season the program has not had a track to practice on.

At the league championships on May 9, Zeeshawn Khan took fifth in the 1600 meters with a time of 4:43 while Bryon Cure finished in 5:05. In the 400 meters, Matt Cabrita took fourth place in a time of 51.79. Khan came back to take third in the 3200 meters by running 10:19. Khan's effort was very impressive considering it's not easy to run both the 1600 and 3200 meters on the same day, much less medal in each event.

It marked another in a long list of tremendous accomplishments for Shabazz, who also enjoyed a marvelous indoor season for the Bucs.

The 4 x 400 relay team of Cabrita, Edward Feliciano, Ibrahim Hayek and Douglas Richardson took third place in a time of 3:37.

For the girls, Rhea Nigli took third in the 1600 meters by running 6:05. Kristy Bono (6:22) and Jamie Bono (6:24) also ran well for Belleville. Victoria Barrett (61.45) took third in the 400 meters. Makeda Marshall (65.0) and Shyane Lozada (68.0) also turned in solid efforts. Shabazz finished third in the 200 meters (26.27).

At the Essex County championships on May 15 and 16, Shabazz took fourth in the 100 meters, running 12.88. She also finished third in the 200 (25.78) while Marshall ran the 400 meters in 64.73. In the 800 meters, Vanessa Ackon (2:31.92), Sherry Tirgrath (2:45) and Mary Diaz (2:46) all ran well. Khan (4:43) and Cure (5:00.62) excelled in the 1600 meters. Khan (10:15) and Cure (11:00) also competed in the 3200 meters. Douglas Richardson cleared 18'4" in the long jump and 38'3" in the triple jump. Feliciano and Cabrita each ran well in both the 200 and 400 meters.

At the sectionals on May 22 and 23, Cure ran 5:01.69 in the 1600 meters while Khan (10:20) and Cure (10:58) each competed in the 3200. Feliciano (52.94) and Cabrita (52.43) each ran the 400 and Richardson triple jumped 36'10" and long jumped 17'2".

Barrett (26.46) and Marshall (28.94) each ran well in the 200 meters. Barrett took sixth in the 400 (61.10) while Ackon (61.88) and Marshall (65.96) also ran well.

Cantarella said. "We won some good games in the state tournament and our win over West Essex in the county quarterfinals showed a lot about our kids, as well."

In the West Essex game, Belleville fell behind, 3-0, in the early stages of the contest, but rallied back behind some key hits, most notably a grand slam homer from sophomore first baseman Jessica Benacquista that gave the Bucs the lead for good. Veniero followed Benacquista's blast with a solo homer.

Mariah Lucena concluded an excellent career at Belleville by hitting .493 this season with six doubles, five triples and a .514 mark with runners in scoring position. She also drove in 26 runs this year while striking out just once all season.

Veniero, who won eight games in the circle, hit .412 with nine doubles, a triple, three homers and 26 RBI. Lucena and Veniero were valuable seniors who will be hard to replace in 2010.

Among those players returning next year are junior second baseman Nicole Velardi, who hit .429 with eight doubles, a homer and 30 runs scored. She was also a perfect 21 for 21 in stolen bases. Benacquista hit .414 with four doubles, a triple, three homers, 24 RBI and 25 runs scored. She also hit a robust .599 with runners in scoring position.

as a warehouse before closing altogether and becoming an eyesore buried behind overgrown vegetation.

He said he was knocking all of that down, and putting up two, four-story buildings. The front building will have rental units above and retail on the first floor. There will be a total of 135 rental between the two buildings, Jacobs said.

Parking will be at grade level, with the buildings elevated to provide the maximum amount of parking, he said.

Across the driveway on the other side from the development is an existing 63,000-square-foot, one-story office building.

Jacobs said his company would gut the existing offices and renovate the building.

For the next couple of years, the building will serve an initial use as a sales office and showroom for the development, he said. Later it will be rented out to businesses, Jacobs said.

As for dealing with Belleville officials, Jacobs was effusive in his praise, saying that in 30 years a developer, Belleville had treated him as well as any town ever has.

Jacobs is the managing partner of the Livingston Town Center in Livingston, which includes 114 housing units, 65,000 square feet of retail space and a 270-vehicle garage.

His company also took over the Styretown retail area in Clifton in 1999 and also owns the adjacent Styretown apartments.

As for dealing with Belleville, Jacobs said, officials have "been absolutely aboveboard in helping getting something done."

stepped backwards and had his foot caught in a trash bin. The children spent the entire class trying to help him remove his foot from the bin.

Jerry also wrote the script and music to his own play, "Sir Kent of Buckingham," which was performed by his students. On Saturday night, performers will sing a song from that play.

Jerry was gay, but was not public about it for his family's sake. "He was a great brother. If people read about it now, I don't care," said Jane. "I was proud of him and I'm so glad that this is happening."

Eleanor Giuliano, Jerry and Jane Aulenbach's cousin whom Jerry was very close with, said his sexual preference was never an issue for the family. "He was flamboyant. He was the type of person that - 'I am what I am,'" she said. "Everyone knew and everyone loved and accepted him."

Jane, who teaches music in the Lyndhurst School District, noted how the whole family has a deep love of music and the arts. She will retire in June. "I'm sure he'd be happy for me," she said.

Jane and Jerry Aulenbach's father passed away in 1994 and, this past July, her mother passed on. Before Jerry died, he recorded a cassette tape for his family, thanking them deeply for their love and support and singing a few tunes. Jane knew it existed, but didn't have the heart to listen to it until several weeks ago.

She sat with Chastain and listened to her brother thank her specifically for caring for her during his final days. Her parents passed on before they could hear it. "He addressed all of us," she said. "They're with him now."

AIDS virus

Jerry found out he had AIDS more than 20 years ago at a time when AIDS was more often proven fatal. "The subject of AIDS was very prevalent, but now it has been on the back burner," said Jane.

Jane and Giuliano recalled one particular Christmas Eve when he raised his glass and said the test was negative. It turned out to be a false negative. "We had heard of AIDS, but we were not aware of the damage it would cause," said Giuliano.

At that time, too, some of the medications Jerry went on were experimental. "Unfortunately, he passed away before a lot of these medications were available," said Giuliano. "Today, once they find out, they can have a decent life. They don't always get full-blown AIDS."

AIDS left Jerry nearly blind toward the end of his life. Despite this, he was a proficient piano player up to his death. He played a stunning rendition of "Happy Birthday" on the piano on his sister's 40th birthday even though he could barely see. "He played the piano like a whiz," said Giuliano.

The quilt

Making the quilt was a group effort and, without the help of the parishioners at the United Presbyterian Church, Jane could not have done it. "I can't even sew a button on a blouse," she said.

She became affiliated with the church about six years ago. Once the ball started rolling on the quilt, many other parishioners pitched in.

Jim Hedden came up with the original design. Betty Ann Christiansen did a good portion of the sewing. "I couldn't have done it without her," said Jane.

The author is a staff writer at the South Bergenite.

SUMMERTIME FUN

Van Vleck House & Gardens to hold annual garden tour on Friday, June 5, and Saturday, June 6

Van Vleck House & Gardens announces its 2009 garden tour, "From Roses to Rock Gardens," will take place this year on Friday, June 5, and Saturday, June 6. Come and enjoy a private walking tour of seven spectacular local gardens in Montclair, rain or shine.

On June 5, a coffee reception will be held at Van Vleck House from 9:30 to 11 am. Marta McDowell, noted garden consultant and educator, will give a preview of the tour's gardens and a presentation of garden tips entitled "Got Dirt? Make the Best of What You've Got - and Your Budget - for Your 2009 Backyard Stay-cation." After her talk, you are invited to tour the renowned Van Vleck grounds before beginning the self-guided home garden tour. The private garden tour hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

This year's collection of gardens presents a diverse array of style, materials and features. From a stunning boulder incline with plantings, seating areas and a waterfall to an official Wildlife Habitat property ... from a putting green nestled in beautiful setting to a sprawling pool and plantings with a 'California' feel ... and yes, even a rock garden, this self-guided tour has enough to interest, intrigue and excite all gardeners, from expert to beginner.

"From Roses to Rock Gardens" is an annual fundraiser, which contributes to maintaining and improving the historic Van Vleck House & Gardens.

Ticket prices are $30 general admission, $25 Friends of Van Vleck. Group tours are encouraged with a special multi-ticket purchase offer - buy three tickets, get the fourth free. Tickets may be used either on Friday, June 5 or Saturday, June 6.

New this year is an optional bus tour and refreshment package, offered in partnership with the Montclair Arts Council's "Destination Montclair" campaign. For an additional $25 per person, we are offering two tour packages on June 5 only:

Morning Tour with Box Lunch - Board an air-conditioned mini-bus after the Friday morning lecture and visit all seven gardens. The tour ends at approximately 1:30pm at the Van Vleck House, where you'll relax with a delicious box lunch.

Afternoon Tour with Wine & Cheese - The tour begins at 1pm at the Van Vleck house with a docent-guided walk of the historic grounds. You'll then board an air-conditioned mini-bus that stops at all seven gardens, returning to the Van Vleck House at approximately 4pm where you'll enjoy wine and cheese on the terrace.

To order tickets or for more information, call 973-744-4752 or email info@vanvleck.org. A form to purchase tickets may be downloaded at www.vanvleck.org.

Van Vleck House & Gardens at 21 Van Vleck St. in Montclair is dedicated to preserving for public enrichment the spirit and beauty of the late 19th early 20th century house and gardens. Continuing the Van Vleck family's commitment to the community and horticultural excellence, the house serves as a center for non-profit organizations and the gardens are open to the public for display, education and research.

Money saving travel tips

The summer vacation season is about to hit full swing. With the economy in a recession, however, there are ways to still hit the road without breaking the bank.

Good deals are out there, it just takes effort to find them. Many Web sites such as Orbitz or Hotwire offer discounted airline tickets.

Check with a travel agent for deals.

If you can't afford to travel during the peak vacation season, great deals can be found during the off-season.

Subscribe to a travel Web site that provides customers with alerts when airlines or hotels are offering discounted rates.

A backyard oasis in a summer of tighter budgets

Last year, the media reported a new trend: foregoing big vacations for "staycations," or staying put and using the money saved for turning homes and yards into destination spaces for leisure.

For many people, this is shaping up to be a summer of smaller pursuits.

Planting a line of ornamental trees, for instance, to block your view of that one neighbor you wish was not, and who's likely to be home more this summer as well.

Still, the real joy of vacationing is feeling like you're not required to do anything, and that's tough to manage at home. If only there were a way to cost-effectively create some kind of relaxation haven right in the middle of your daily life, a backyard oasis where you could just pop in and leave the world behind. But that's obviously impossible ...

Not if you've got a well-made hammock, isn't it!

"Repeat customers are always

METRO CREATIVE SERVICES

Hammocks aren't just "mini-vacations," they're also kid magnets - though younger children should not be in a hammock unless supervised by an adult.

telling me the best mini-vacation they've ever bought has been a hammock and a hammock stand," says J.R. Pelletier, manager of TheHammockCompany.com, an international leader in hammock sales. "I think it's that sense of being supported while also being up off the ground - it really feels as if you've been lifted out of your busy life where the driveway still needs edging and the fence needs painting."

Potential relaxers should, however, be aware that not all hammocks are alike, cautions Bill Russo, president of Nags Head Hammocks, one of the world's leading producers of hand-woven hammocks.

"A poorly made hammock may not last even the summer, so that's really wasted money," Russo says. "But a well-made one should give you a number of seasons of enjoyment, possibly even year-round, depending on where you live."

One note of caution: A shady spot is best for setting up your hammock. "If you fall asleep in direct summer sunlight - and chances are you will fall asleep - you won't feel nearly so relaxed when you wake up burned!" Russo says.

And if you time it to before all those lovely new trees start filling in and blocking the view, you can set up your hammock where that annoying neighbor can't help but see you in it, kicked back and relaxing.

Museum presents first exhibit to explore Cézanne's influence on early 20th-Century art

The Montclair Art Museum (MAM) presents "Cézanne and American Modernism," the first exhibition to fully examine the influence of Paul Cézanne (1839-1906) upon modern American artists from 1907 to 1930.

From Sept. 13, 2009, to Jan. 3,

2010, the exhibition will explore the critical function American artists and others played in establishing the reputation of Cézanne, who has been universally acclaimed as the definitive bridge between late 19th-century Impressionism and the modern art movements of the 20th century.

As the largest, most ambitious exhibition in the 95-year history of the museum, "Cézanne and American Modernism" comprises 131 works, including 18 works by Cézanne and paintings, works on paper, photographs and archival documents representing 34 American artists spanning 1907 to 1930.

Works in the exhibition are drawn from a wide range of museum collections, including MAM's, and from important private collections. As a testament to its commitment to the community, MAM will not charge extra for this special exhibition but instead will retain its existing price structure.

Choose real wood for authentic backyard projects

As the days get longer and the sun gets warmer, homeowners looking out their back windows see ... the same old backyard. Never fear! It's easy to change the look of a yard with decks, gazebos, raised garden beds -- all of these enhance outdoor living spaces and create a nice oasis for the family to spend the warm outdoor months. And for the environmentally conscious, earth-friendly family, the building product of choice is real wood.

Your backyard is natural, it's beautiful and it's part of your home. Why introduce a fake imitation? So many decking products "look" like wood, but they're not. They can't offer the renewability of wood, the true beauty of natural wood, the earth-friendliness of locally grown wood, the authentic smell and feel of real wood. Don't be fooled; go with the grain and choose real wood for your decking and backyard projects.

What's the one thing historic homes have in common? Real wood. From the framing to the flooring, the front porch to the back deck: builders have relied on real wood as the building material of choice. It's durable, it's beautiful and it lasts.

Wood remains the top building

METRO CREATIVE SERVICES

There's no substitute for real wood on a deck or patio.

material for outdoor living projects like decks and gazebos -- especially pressure-treated pine, used most often for outdoor projects because of its structural integrity. And the natural strength and integrity don't come at the expense of our environment. Well-managed forests provide natural wood products and a host of benefits for wildlife and the environment -- choosing real wood is a win-win.

Man and nature have long held a durable, unbreakable bond. The more we nurture that bond and protect the natural resources around us, the stronger the relationship will grow. Choosing artificial decking means choosing products made from finite resources, products that use exponentially more energy to manufacture. Wood is the only renewable and recyclable building product on the market.

This year, when it comes time to build a deck, gazebo or even a birdhouse, choose wisely: choose wood.

Create a vacation feel at home

Many people will forego their annual vacation this year because of limited funds. Others are finding they have a competitive edge in the workplace if they cut their travel plans short. However, a missed vacation may leave individuals wanting in terms of a change in scenery. That's why decorating experts say bring the vacation home with decorative accents and other tricks that make you feel like you took a trip.

Travel is down across the board. According to USA Today's retiring president and publisher, Craig Moon, the 27-year-old publication has lost about 100,000 subscribers due to the travel slowdown. Hotel chains are a big subscriber and fewer travelers means fewer purchased papers.

Those who are skipping vacations are choosing to stay home and enjoy a "staycation" instead. By incorporating some design influences from popular destination areas, homeowners can create the feel of vacation without the high price tag. Here are some tips to try:

Go 'scent'sual: Think about your favorite places to visit and the scents that are associated with those locations. Fill your home with fresh flowers, fruit and air fresheners that evoke those scent-inspired memories.

Fill the home with photos: Recall memories of great trips with a hallway wall lined with vacation shots. Stop and reminisce about the wonderful times you spent.

Create a theme room: Purchase decor elements that remind you of a popular destination area, perhaps a terra-cotta pasta dish painted like the Tuscan countryside or a linear art piece that reminds you of the Chicago skyline. Theme rooms should be subtle not campy, and do their best to trigger memories of a vacation.

Change the paint color: Go for a bit of whimsy with a brighter color, or one typical of a vacation spot. Serene blue for the ocean or bright orange for Mexico can change the vibe of any room.

Trigger memories with food: If you can't travel, bring the culture home with indigenous foods. Page through a recipe book and make a meal inspired by a past vacation.

Growing list of 'superfruits' pack a nutritional wallop

Powering up your diet with superfruit-rich dishes can be easier than you think. The superfruit title is no longer reserved for berries – nutritionists now include other antioxidant- and vitamin-rich juicy gems on the superfruit list, such as peaches, mangos and oranges.

Thanks to the superfruit trend, exotic fruits such as acai, goji, pomegranates and mangos have moved into the mainstream. Even familiar fruits such as blueberries, strawberries and cranberries also make the powerful superfruit list. The long list of superfruits and all their health benefits can be confusing so you may be left asking, what makes these fruits so "super?"

Superfruits are naturally abundant in antioxidants, which help prevent cellular damage caused by free radicals our bodies produce when exposed to everyday toxins, research shows. By increasing your intake of antioxidant-rich superfruit you can arm the body's line of defense to prevent pathways for cancer, aging and a variety of diseases.

Any fruit is essential in maintaining a healthy lifestyle. By choosing a serving of superfruit you will also be amping up your body's defense system.

Superfruits can still flex their antioxidant muscles when used in recipes or blended with other juices. Superfruits are increasing in popularity and now appear in bottled water, granola, powders and energy bars. Packaged fruits are a healthy, convenient solution to keep in your refrigerator and simply take with you on the go. Del Monte's new SuperFruit snack cups contain familiar fruit chunks and also include a blend of superfruit juices including pomegranate, acai and mango.

"An added benefit of the already peeled and sliced fruit is that there is no waste, and no wasted time. It's a healthy and convenient snack to have on hand during a busy day," says registered dietician Laura Molseed Ali, who holds a master's of science, and is a licensed dietician/nutritionist and Del Monte Foods' resident dietitian.

Another product, POM Wonderful, has made tackling the hard-to-eat pomegranate easy with tasty pomegranate and tea juice blends.

The small yet powerful acai berry is still useful in energy drinks and protein bars, and is also sold in a powder extract as a vitamin supplement.

Make your everyday meals something super with easy superfruit dishes.

Berry breakfast

Blueberries: are No. 1 in total antioxidant power and are full of disease-fighting and anti-aging qualities. They are a perfect addition to yogurt.

Strawberries: Full of essential nutrients and low in calories, they are a quick and nutritious snack for both kids and adults, and are perfect on waffles instead of syrup.

Sweet snacks

Peaches: Packed with potassium essential for proper functioning of the body's cells and maintaining a healthy metabolism, peaches are an excellent source of vitamin A, C and beta carotene. Peaches are great mixed in protein-rich cottage cheese.

Bananas: Containing a high dose of potassium which is essential to keep your heart and nervous system in good shape, bananas are also one of the highest sources of naturally available vitamin B6.

Power-up dinners

Cranberries: One of the original superfruits, cranberries are rich in important nutrients such as vitamin C, beta carotene and fiber and are linked to helping reduce the risk of chronic diseases. Cranberries are a perfect component to a sauce to go with pork or chicken.

Mango: A relatively new-on-the-scene superfruit, nutritionists have added this sweet tropical delight to the list because of its high concentration of vitamin A and C which are important for normal growth and development. Mango and pineapple slices skewered with beef or shrimp and tossed on the grill can give a taste of the tropics.

Maintaining a diet rich in healthy and nutritional superfruits is easier than you think. Superfruits' vitamin rich, antioxidant power will help rejuvenate the body and the mind. For more healthy tips visit www.try-superfruit.com.

NEW PROSTATE-CANCER DRUG

A drug recently approved by the FDA for the treatment of advanced prostate cancer provides a new avenue of treatment. Degarelix is an injectable drug that belongs to the class of drugs known as gonadotropin-releasing hormone (GnRH) receptor antagonists. Degarelix works by blocking the body's production of testosterone, which slows the growth of prostate cancer. According to a year-long randomized trial, patients treated with degarelix had testosterone levels that were comparable to surgical removal of the testes (which produce testosterone). In addition, even though PSA (prostate-specific antigen) levels are not always a definitive indicator, men receiving degarelix experienced an average 64% decrease in PSA levels two weeks after starting treatment, 85% after 1 month, and 95% after 3 months.

For more information about this new drug please call us at 973.759.1968 or 973.759.1956. We are experts in medicine and its side effects. At ROSSMORE PHARMACY, we pride ourselves on our extensive knowledge on both over the counter medications and prescribed medicine. If you ever have a question about medicine, and need a trusted source for answers please come to our pharmacy or call 973.759.1968 or 973.759.1956 to speak to a licensed pharmacist. We believe in personal customer service. We are located at 338 Washington Avenue.

HINT: Commonly reported side effects of degarelix use include pain, redness, and swelling at the injection site; hot flashes; weight gain; fatigue; and increases in some liver enzyme levels.

Paying special attention to words and their power

Genesis chapter one verse one tells us that "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth." The third verse of the same chapter says, "... God said, let there be light; and there was light." Each time God spoke, whatever he said came to be. This let's us know that words have power. God established this in the beginning. Too often we are not aware of the power that is in our words. We blurt out whatever comes to mind not realizing that they will have an effect on us and others.

Proverbs 18:21 (AMP) states, "Death and life are in the power of the tongue, and they who indulge in it shall eat the fruit of it [for death or life]." Stop and think for a moment how many times you may have spoken words of death and not life. Your head is paining you and you say, "My head is killing me." No it's not killing you but your words cause you to feel miserable. At other times you may say, "I'm sick and tired of this or that."

God wants us to respond to all circumstances based on what his word says. He longs for us to speak the truth of his word. If I'm feeling a pain in my body the words that I need to speak are, "By his stripes I am healed."

In Matthew the eighth chapter the centurion understood the power of words especially the words of Jesus. The centurion requested healing for his servant boy but he told Jesus that he was not worthy or fit to have him come to his house. He said to Jesus, "...only speak the word, and my servant boy will be cured." Jesus' response to this man's request was, "I tell you truly, I have not found so much faith as this with anyone, even in Israel."

You must guard your mouth and speak only what is true and what you desire. Before you say that you are "sick and tired" say "I don't have strength right now but according to God's word, "The Lord is my strength and he will see me through this trying time. As I wait upon him he will renew my strength." Those words help to lift your head and encourage you. No one wants to listen to a person that is constantly speaking negativity. God doesn't want us to speak adverse words either. He wants us to know and to say the truth of his word knowing that we shall have whatever we say. I admonish you to guard your mouth and speak the word of God and in so doing you shall have the things of God.

Christ Episcopal Church

Juneteenth

Christ Church has announced that it will observe "Juneteenth" at a special luncheon to follow the regular 10 a.m. Mass on Sunday, June 21.

Juneteenth is a holiday that commemorates the end of slavery in the United States. It recalls how the states of Louisiana and Texas heard the news that President Abraham Lincoln has signed the Emancipation Proclamation on January 1, 1863. Slavery continued in those two states for more than two years after the proclamation was signed because the word had yet to travel there. Texas and Louisiana finally got the good news on June 19, 1865. Former slaves broke out in spontaneous celebration.

Legend has it that the good news was spread by a black man who rode a mule from the east all the way to Texas. Historians credit General Gordon Grandier, who arrived in Galveston, Texas on June 19, 1865, with the announcement. The announcement marked the end of slavery for the nation.

More recently, the United States House and Senate have passed a resolution calling for Juneteenth to be recognized as Independence Day for African Americans and celebrated by all.

Observance of Corpus Christi

Christ Church has announced its annual observance of The Solemnity of Corpus Christi for Sunday June 14. The morning service will include a Solemn Procession, Solemn Mass and Benediction of the Most-blessed Sacrament. The Rev'd Paul Walker, Vicar of Christ Church, will officiate and preach. The Feast of Corpus Christi is one of three parish festival that Christ Church observes; the other two being the Feast of the Transfiguration, the normal name day for parishes bearing the name Christ Church, and the Feast of Christ the King.

The Feast of Corpus Christi is celebrated on the Thursday following Trinity Sunday; the actual feast day is Thursday, June 11. Corpus Christi is one of two celebrations in the church year that commemorates a doctrine rather than an event in the life of Jesus Christ; the other is Trinity Sunday, which precedes it.

The feast day celebrates the doctrine of the real presence of Jesus Christ in the body and the blood of the Mass. Normally it would be celebrated on Maundy Thursday, the day that the Sacrament was instituted, but the events of the Triduum overshadow it, so it is observed on the first Thursday after the octave of the celebration of Pentecost, the closing of the Paschal season.

Gladys Hughes honored at Evensong

Christ Church has announced that one of its members, Gladys Hughes, will be honored for her contributions to the life and ministry of Christ Church, at a Diocesan Evensong on Sunday, June 21 at 4 p.m. A special reception preceded the Evensong at 3 p.m. The Evensong, which is held annually by the Diocese of Newark to honor the senior members of the Diocese for their contributions, will be held at Christ Church, 422 Main St. in East Orange.

Trinity Sunday observance

Christ Church has announced its observance of Trinity Sunday for Sunday, June 7 at 10 a.m. with Solemn Festival Mass. The Rev'd Randy Webster, Curate at Christ Church, will celebrate and preach at the Eucharist.

The first Sunday following Pentecost is called Trinity Sunday and commemorates the first of the two major doctrines of the English Catholic Church (the Anglican or Episcopal Church), the doctrine that God is made present to us in three distinct ways. The second of these doctrines, which will be observed on the following Sunday, is the Solemnity of Corpus Christ.

Annual volunteer appreciation banquet

The Jubilee Community Development Corporation at Christ Church has announced its annual Volunteer Appreciation Banquet for Sunday, June 14. A Service of Thanksgiving will be held at 5:30 p.m. The officiant will be The Rev'd Paul Walker, Vicar of Christ Church. The Gala Banquet will follow at 7 p.m. Reservations can be made by calling the parish at 973-751-0616.

The Jubilee Community Development Corporation oversees the various outreach ministries at Christ Church which include the work of The Care Closet, The Mary and Martha Soup Kitchen, and the "Investing In Kids (INK)" programs.

Local food drive

Christ Church has announced a food drive to replenish and restock the pantry of The Mary and Martha Soup Kitchen.
