Carragher Objects To Land Grant To Erie Railway

Says Company Should Be Made To Move Girder

A resolution was presented by Mayor Samuel Kenworthy Tuesday giving the Erie R. R. a twenty foot strip of land at the end of Terry street to enable the company to construct a forty-foot concrete drive along the westerly side of the tracks between Essex and Little streets.

Commissioner Frank Carragher opposed this measure because of the failure of the Erie to remove the girder at the foot of Greylock avenue. He asked that the matter be laid over for a week to see if some agreement could not be reached whereby the Erie would remove the girder in return for the land.

Commissioner William D. Clark, though also desiring the removal of the girder, approved the passing of the resolution, as the improvement, which is to be paid for entirely by the Erie, will be beneficial to the town. He also thought that nothing could be gained by opposing the Erie in this project, and chances of removing the girder would be far better if the cooperation of the Town was given in this instance.

The measure was passed by a vote of four to one, Commissioner Carragher voting against it.

An agreement has finally been reached on the Wallace street and Brighton avenue assessments which have been hanging fire for the past several months.

In addition to the compromise which was decided on last week, the board has agreed to pay for the services of Gordon Gant, the lawyer retained by the residents. Mayor Kenworthy pointed out that the people were put to this expense because of the mistake of the "old board," he also said, "A few people carried on this fight and engaged this lawyer. The burden of the expense will probably fall on them and they will gain nothing by the reduction in the assessment."

A petition of 400 names was presented by Anthony S. Micone asking for the repeal of the ordinance closing hardware stores on Sunday. In presenting the petition, Mr. Micone pointed out that out of the 400 names which he collected, he received only three refusals. He thought that an opinion of the town at large could be based on these facts. The petition was ordered placed on file.

An ordinance, was presented by Commissioner Clark increasing the salary of the Recorder $250. This was passed on first reading.

Health Officer Warns On Swimming In Polluted Streams

The Department of Health warns the young boys in town of the dangers of swimming in polluted streams during summer vacation. Two years ago several cases of typhoid fever were reported and after investigation of the cases, the department was convinced the source of infection was Second River. About the same time, two cases were reported in North Newark which were also traced to the same stream. The history of each case showed the boys had been swimming in Second River just prior to their illness.

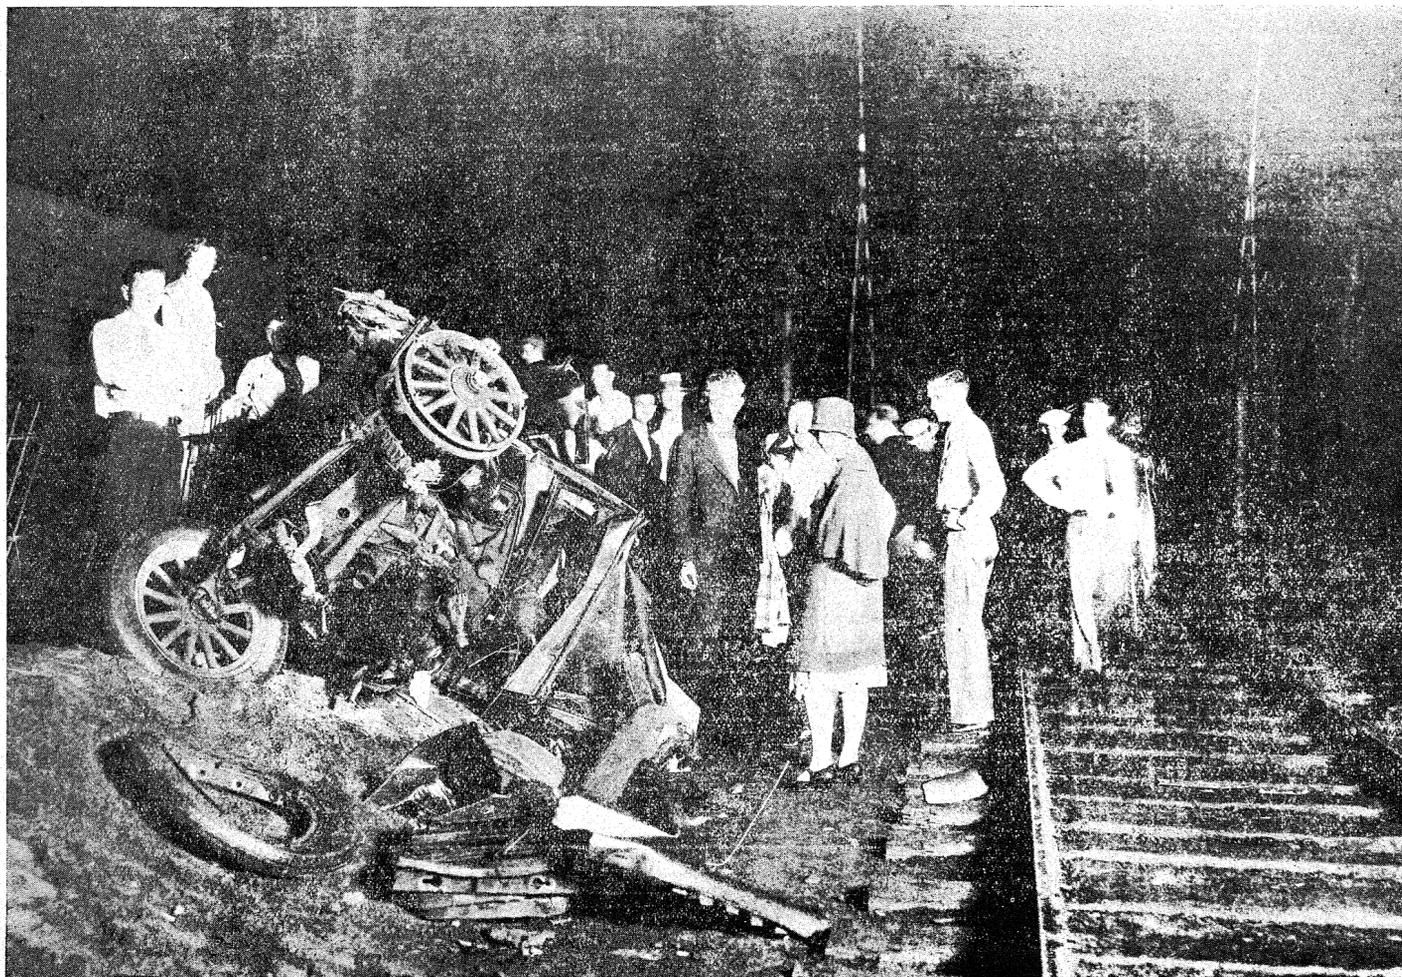

It is generally known, says the department, that the stream is highly polluted with raw sewage, and anyone swimming, wading, or coming in direct contact with this water is liable to become infected. It is also advisable to refrain from using the Passaic River for swimming. Although this stream has improved considerably during the past few years, there is still some raw sewage being emptied into it, and therefore is still dangerous.

Parents are advised to warn their children of these dangers, says Health Officer Eugene T. Berry.

Three members of Belleville Police Department are on vacation, having started Monday. Patrolman Joseph Schurr is camping in Western Pennsylvania. Patrolman George Gorham and Walter Drake are making trips to the shore and mountains. Patrolmen Harry Scott, John J. Flynn and George Spatz returned from vacation Monday. Scott spent his vacation in the Poconos, Flynn at Asbury Park and Spatz at Keansburg.

Child Directs Resuscitation Of Youth In Rescue Party Of Grown-ups In Narrows

Belleville And Nutley Folks In Yacht Party Whose Rescue Of Four Almost Proves Costly

When no one in a party of grown-ups seemed to know how to begin resuscitation nine-year-old Charlotte Vorhees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Vorhees of Belleville took command last week of the reviving of a boy who was hauled from the Narrows, after a canoe upset.

A party of friends left the Newark Motor and Yacht Club for a quiet cruise to the Highlands but they got no farther than Quarantine. Their trip ended with the rescue of four youths clinging to the capsized canoe, which was soon followed by a near disaster to two of their own members.

The rescue party was aboard the thirty-four-foot motor boat, Water Lily, owned by Harry McCabe of 8 Clinton avenue, Arlington.

With Mr. McCabe were his wife and their nine-year-old daughter, Lillian, Mrs. McCabe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Langton of 218 Beech street, Arlington; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schaeffer of Nutley; Mrs. Jule Froh of 60 Hoyt street, Kearny; Mr. and Mrs. Vorhees and their daughter and Louis Cone and his son, Louis Jr., of Newark.

The party left the yacht club at the foot of Grafton avenue and reached the Narrows between Forts Hamilton and Wadsworth, where the party saw four youths clinging to the upset canoe.

The youths, Erling Olsen, 19; his brothers, Charles, 17, and William, 15, and Edward Tell, 19, all of 253 Fifty-fifth street, Brooklyn, were attempting to paddle across the Narrows when their frail craft was upset by the swell from an excursion steamer. By the time the rescuers appeared, Erling was exhausted.

The youths managed to hold on when Mr. McCabe saw their plight, he turned the wheel over to Cone, who piloted the boat toward them. Mr. McCabe threw a life-preserver, which two of the youths, holding Erling seized. The semiconscious Erling was put aboard the Water Lily, his companions swam to another motor-boat.

Mr. McCabe tied the canoe to the back of his boat and set out for Quarantine Base.

At this point Charlotte directed the activities, telling the grown-ups to work the victim's arms, and this was done till the base was reached.

The water logged canoe impeded the speed of the Water Lily and it was decided to haul it aboard. As the men were trying to put it on the after cabin it swung around and struck Mr. Cone and Mr. Vorhees. The latter was knocked unconscious and Mr. Cone almost fell overboard. Mr. Vorhees was revived within a minute. Young Olsen was put in care if a physician at Quarantine, who summoned an ambulance and had him taken to Staten Island Hospital.

The party remained at Quarantine some time and after preparing and eating a meal aboard decided to call it a day.

Another Victim At Crossing Of Erie Railroad

Glen Ridge Man Struck By Train At Rutgers Street

Following a futile effort to avert being struck by an onrushing Erie passenger train by running his auto along the tracks ahead of it, John Gobel, 44, of 11 Laurel avenue, Glen Ridge, died in St. Michael's Hospital Tuesday night.

Gobel's car was struck by the train early Monday night at the Rutgers street crossing. Police believe he saw the impending disaster and swerved his car off the highway down the railroad right of way in an effort to keep ahead of the train until it could be brought to a stop.

The roughness of the ties and the speed at which he was forced to travel were too much for the auto, police say, and not more than fifty feet from the crossing the train bore down on the car, rending it to pieces.

Gobel was taken in the police ambulance to the hospital by patrolmen Spatz and Lukowiak, where it was reported he was suffering from severe scalp lacerations, concussion of the brain and contusions of the right leg and right shoulder.

The train was in charge of Conductor Jacob Voorhees and was operated by Engineer James O'Brien. The accident was reported to the police by Daniel Seibert of 376 Harrison street, Passaic, a passenger on the train.

Police say the gates at the crossing were not lowered as the train passed although a crossing watchman was supposed to be on duty at the time.

An investigation is being made to determine where he was. About midnight, Patrolmen Flynn and Gross arrested four Newarkers, found, they say, stripping the wrecked car of its horn, battery, carburetor and other accessories. They were Patsy Fiore, 440 Woodside avenue; Anthony Sinico, 2 Railroad avenue; John McKale, 19 Agate place, and Edward Losi, 73 Irving street. Tuesday morning Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons sentenced the four to ninety days in the penitentiary. He

Mike, who has been within the confines of Police Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons' Court five times in the last year landed there once too often Monday night. Antiquated Volumes To Be Shelved In Public Schools

A recommendation, as presented by School Superintendent G. R. Gerard for the change of various text books in the schools, the idea being to do away with some of the antiquated volumes now in use and bring to a more modern standard the teaching in Belleville schools, was carried by the School Board, Monday.

J. L. DeRosset opposed the adoption of this recommendation because of the suddenness with which it was trusted upon the board. It was finally adopted by a vote of two to one, Watson Current and Paul J. H. Hollberg voting for and Mr. DeRosset against the measure.

Mr. DeRosset said, "My refusal to vote for it is no reflection on the committee as I have every confidence in it, but I feel, in justice to myself, that I should be given time to digest the contents of this recommendation."

GAS and BAKING

GAS cooks the meals of most New Jersey people. Whether used in the home, in bakeries, or in factories where other food stuffs are prepared, it has proven itself the ideal fuel for baking.

In the giant ovens that turn out 250,000 loaves of bread and 175,000 pounds of cake a day, the use of gas makes possible the same control over temperatures, the same constant heat, and the same distribution that the modern oven regulator range affords the housewife. Clean, economical, dependable, gas produces better baking results than any other fuel.

If you have any kind of a heating job to do, our heating engineers will be glad to show you how it can be better accomplished with gas.

HARD TO CONVICT

It is queer how the public indignation against persons charged with operating an automobile, while under the influence of liquor, flattens out when the cases reach court and citizens acting as jurors pass upon them.

There is no doubt that everyone realizes how potentially dangerous an intoxicated or semi-intoxicated driver can be. He is the most terrible menace there is on the highways today. The demand for his extermination by drastic punishment is almost universal.

Yet, even those who abhor the idea of a drunk at the wheel of a car see the situation in a little different light when called upon to decide the fate of a person charged with such an offence. There is every inclination to give the accused the benefit of the doubt. If he makes a good appearance, is vehement or ingenious in his denials it is not an easy matter to convict him.

Personality, business standing, reputation in the community are powerful enough in many cases to outweigh the testimony of the police.

It is safe to say that in 99 cases out of 100 the police are correct in describing a driver as intoxicated when arrested and so charged. There may be an odd case, once in a while where a police officer tacks that charge on to discredit a driver who has angered him.

But juries are apt to look on the personal side of the case and forget the possible consequences of an intoxicated driver at large on the highway. It seems harsh to some of them to jail a reputable citizen for a traffic offence, and yet the public at large demand it and are quite right in demanding it.

The chance that any citizen will be wrongfully convicted of driving an automobile while in an intoxicated condition is very remote in these days. But the really drunken driver has a reasonably good chance of escaping conviction if he has any sort of a defence or pretended defence.

WE WANT TO LEARN

The colleges have closed, but not for the long vacation that used to make yards and campuses quiet places between June and September. This week the summer schools will be opening, from coast to coast, and thousands upon thousands of men and women, old and young, will be attending classes.

Nothing has been more spectacular in the educational field than the growth of the summer school. It has won its place firmly in the system of higher education. The numbers thronging to sessions increase yearly. If one is ever disposed to wonder whether Americans want education, the summer schools are sufficient assurance.

THE TOWERED CITY

New York is a curious contrast of skyscrapers and low buildings, but the towered city of the future is being foreshadowed in numerous new developments. In one section between 23d and 24th streets no less than 80 old buildings are being razed. Ten apartment houses, 16 stories in height, will replace them. These are not high for New York, but the tearing down of 80 buildings, erected in the neighborhood of 1845, is a considerable undertaking even for the metropolis.

New York has changed amazingly within the last 10 years. The acceleration now in progress should make the next decade even more remarkable. It seems to outsiders an uncomfortable place in which to live, but we have no hesitation in agreeing with its jostled residents that it is the most astonishing city that has ever been.

OLD IRONSIDES

Work of restoring "The Constitution," known as "Old Ironsides" is nearing completion at the Boston Navy Yard but unless additional funds are soon secured the old frigate will not be equipped to begin her voyage along the coast of the United States for some time. In 1925 Congress empowered the Secretary of the Navy to receive contributions to recondition the historic old ship. In response to an appeal which was then made thousands of dollars were given, a considerable proportion of the money being in small gifts made by school children. The work of restoration has progressed so well that it does not seem reasonable to suppose the American people will allow it to languish.

A national committee has been named to solicit additional funds and Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commandant of the Boston Navy Yard is its chairman. To him all contribution to complete the work on "Old Ironsides" should be sent.

To facilitate the collection of money that is required to finish the work numerous articles have been made out of material which was originally used in the construction of the "Constitution," and these are offered for sale. There are book ends made of copper and lead from the old ship in the shape of steering wheels or made from oak of the timbers which once strengthened the frigate's hull and there are other things which make suitable gifts. These souvenirs of the "Old Ironsides" may be obtained by communicating with the chairman of the committee charged with the responsibility of carrying on the work.

When the "Constitution" has been rebuilt and refitted it is proposed to place a crew on her and have her visit all or many of the ports on both the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts. She will then be in appearance exactly as when she achieved her notable victories which gained for her unrivaled fame. Great Britain still maintains the frigate "Victory" which led the world to the title of Trafalga and the United States proposes to maintain her in the same way and for the same purpose.

"What kind of a car have you?" "Oh, a runabout. You know—run about a mile, then stop."

A class was reciting grammar. The lesson was in comparison of adjectives, and little Johnny Higgins, whose family had undergone a number of bereavements, was told to go to the board and parse the word "sick." After a moment's hesitation Johnnie scrawled, "Sick, wuss, ded."

"Mummy, I'm going to give auntie my spade and pall." "What for Willie?" "So she can kick it." "Kick it?" "Yes. Daddy said we would have a lot of money if auntie would kick the bucket!" She—Remember you? Of course I do. Didn't we meet at that ghastly party at the Jenkinsops? He—Quite likely. My name is Jenkinsop.

The grammar lesson proceeded smoothly enough till the teacher asked a small boy what kind of a noun "trouser" was. "It's an uncommon noun," was the reply, "because it's singular at the top and plural at the bottom."

One winter night, when the ground was covered with sleet, and the rain was freezing as it fell, the old doctor received a very late call from a family living way on the other side of the city. It was after one o'clock when he left home, and his horse—this was in the old days—slid all the way to the patient's house. He got there about three o'clock, and found that a little girl in the household had a severe cold. It was nothing dangerous. "How long has she had it?" asked the doctor. "Three days," answered the mother. "Why didn't you call me in the daytime?" asked the doctor. Then came the answer which made this the favorite story of the Medical Society for many years: "We are poor people, and we aren't able to pay very much, so we thought we would call you when you weren't busy."

"And now, sir," thundered counsel, "tell the court what you were doing in the interim." "I never went there," retorted the witness, indignantly; "I stayed in the drawing room all evening."

"What was the name of the last station we stopped at, Mother?" "I don't know. Be quiet. I'm working out a cross-word puzzle." "It's a pity you don't know the name, Mother, because little Oscar got off there."

"How did you cure your boy of running off to swim?" "I happened to speak of swimming as bathing one day, and he immediately took an unconquerable aversion to it."

THE NIMBLE SAILOR

Admiral Dewey at a dinner in Washington praised the quickness and nimbleness of the well-trained sailor.

"Did you ever hear," said Admiral Dewey, "of the sailor who turned shepherd?"

"Well, this sailor, weary of the bleak, old seas, gave up his ship, packed his kit and journeyed into Scotland, for his grandparents had been scottish, and the love of the heather ran in his veins like wine.

"In the towns of Scotland there was little to do, but in the country he was told work was plentiful. There was a demand in the country for good shepherds.

"So the sailor went into the wild, forsaken Scottish uplands and at the farms along the way he asked for a shepherd's place. One farmer, the fourth one, needed a shepherd and he looked the sailor over.

"Man," he said, "ye're bonny and strong and intelligent and all that; but, man, whaur's yer sheep dog?"

"I have no sheep dog," said the sailor. "I am no lubber that must have his herding done by a dog for him. I can herd sheep without a sheep dog."

"The farmer laughed a dry laugh. "Ye may have a try at it if ye like," he said. "Do we see on yon mountains all these sheep like little white balls o' cotton wool? Weel, man, I want all these sheep—and there's just 300 o' them—brought in to these pens here by sax o'clock tomorrow mornin'. Can ye do it?"

"To be sure I can," said the sailor, and without wasting any more words he set off for the mountain to herd the sheep into the pens.

"Well, at six the next morning, when the farmer came to the sheep pens, he expected to find them empty and the sailor gone. The sailor, though, sat on a fence smoking his pipe, and in the pens a great multitude of sheep were gathered.

"Man," said the farmer, "ye've done weel without a dog. I'll count 'em."

"He counted the sheep, and they were all there. But a big, brown, active hare, wild with fright, hindered his counting somewhat, it ran so swiftly to and fro.

"What is this chap doin' here?" the farmer said.

"Oh," said the sailor, taking the pipe from his mouth, "you mean that little brown feller? Well, sir, to round him up gave me more bother than all the rest of them put together."

Citizen Cites

There is safety in numbers, but only if you happen to know the combination.

Sometimes there are "jumps" in traffic accidents showing probably that pedestrians failed to jump soon enough.

Opportunity knocks but once, which persuades the chronic knockers that it has no home town.

You must accumulate sense in the head before you can accumulate dollars in the bank.

Strangely enough a man is most apt to stand up for his rights when he feels he hasn't any.

Small impudence comes from large egotism.

Nothing is more necessary to successful achievement than a definite goal.

Don't expect too much from life and miss some of its sweetest joys.

The man who thinks the world owes him a living will find that it costs more to collect it than it is worth.

This is the season when the man who takes a cold bath every morning doesn't add any hot water.

Conscience is that still small voice that tells a man he didn't get away with it.

It takes positive genius for a man to convince others that he is as good as he thinks he is.

Many a man's honesty may be due to the fact that his price is too high.

It takes more courage to admit that you are wrong than to insist that you are right.

Lots of reform is wasted on the world at large that might better be used at home.

Did You Ever Stop To Think

By EDSON R. WAITE

Edwin S. Friendly, business manager of the New York Sun, says: "That undoubtedly the most notable character in the annals of all literature is Hamlet, whose strongly marked personality sets him apart like some rare object of Grecian Art beside a machine manufactured product of this modern age. This remarkable personage said many wise and sagacious things and men in all lands have appropriated them for their own benefits. Polonius, the lord chamberlain in the famous tragedy asked Hamlet what he read and received this apt reply: "Words, words, words."

Of course we read words and the thoughts they express and perhaps it will be interesting to read some words which are in this instance important facts about newspapers. Everybody from coast to coast is interested in newspapers and this is proved by the fact that over 50,000,000 copies are sold every day in this country.

American newspapers received the lion's share of the total amount of money spent for all classifications of advertising during 1928. American business in 1928 gave magazines, billboards and radio broadcasting 275 million dollars in advertising. It spent a billion dollars in advertising in newspapers.

The preference for newspapers by American business conclusively demonstrates the selling power of newspapers over all the other mediums. The best advertising sells a product quickly and comparatively inexpensively. Newspaper advertising does this better than any other form because newspapers are closest to the people and reach the greatest number of them.

Advertisers are interested because if newspapers could not depend on advertising for their principle source of revenue readers would have to pay more than a few cents each for their papers.

American newspapers, because of their distinctive advantages over all other forms of advertising, will become more and more the backbone of advertising campaigns as they are able to concentrate sales. Reach a prescribed territory and cover it quickly and reliably.

Our Poet's Corner

FRIENDSHIP, say tell me, what does the word mean? The folks all about us, are not what they seem. They greet us with smiles, when with wealth we are blessed But should reverse meet us, then come the test.

The test, Oh! the test, the acid-tried test, False friendship will vanish, but what of the rest Can we find in this big world, amid the great throng, A friend that is loyal, one heart, true and strong?

Yes, there is true friendship, one that will outlast. The sham, the deceitful, false friends of the past. 'Tis the man or the woman, who the Christ's spirit shows But we must my brother, this same spirit know.

We may know this true friendship we may have it to-day, If we will but follow, the God given way, And live for mankind, with a purpose that's true, Remembering, someone needs our friendship too. MYRON W. MORSE

How to Play BRIDGE Series 1928-29 by Wynne Ferguson Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 27

One of the most common errors at the auction table is the desire of players to double an adverse bid before they have shown their partner that they can help his bid. Many a game and rubber are lost by such tactics, so try to avoid them.

If your partner makes a bid and you have a hand that justifies at least one raise, don't hesitate to give this raise even though one of your opponents bids a suit that you would like to double. Such a double may or may not be a profitable one and the question as to its profit cannot be accurately determined until you have informed your partner by your raise that you can help his bid.

Then if your opponents rebid the suit you wanted to double on the first round (and you will be surprised how often they will do so) you can double with the confidence that your partner is in a position to decide whether to play for the penalty or for game in his bid.

In this way you are certain to get the best results, whereas, if you had doubled on the first round, your partner would not know that you could help his bid and would be in a quandary as to the proper procedure. He would have to guess, and guesses seem to have the unhappy faculty of being wrong much more often than right. This is the real reason for eliminating guess work whenever possible.

The following hand is a perfect example of the principles just discussed:

Table with 2 columns: Hearts, Clubs, Diamonds, Spades. Row 1: Hearts—Q, 9, 7; Clubs—J, 4; Diamonds—K, Q, J, 7; Spades—Q, J, 8, 5. Row 2: Hearts—A, K, J, 10, 6, 2; Clubs—K, 9, 8, 3, 2; Diamonds—4; Spades—3. Row 3: Hearts—8, 5, 3; Clubs—10, 7, 6; Diamonds—A, 10, 8, 5, 2; Spades—K, 5.

Hearts—A, 9, 7; Clubs—Q, 8, 5, 3; Diamonds—K, 10; Spades—K, Q, J, 7

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one no trump. A bid two diamonds. Y bid two spades and B bid three hearts. Z was now confronted with the problem just considered. Should he bid three spades, a bid amply justified by his hand, or should he double three hearts? It was a practical certainty that he could defeat the three heart bid, but it was also a certainty that he and his partner could make three spades, and possibly four if Y held a fairly good hand.

With such a hand, Z should undoubtedly bid three spades and show his partner that he has a "sublime" raise. There is too good a chance of game and rubber for Z to gamble three hearts and defeat the bid by one or two tricks.

On the other hand, either A or B may bid four hearts and this bid Z can double safely, for his partner knows that he has a raise in spades. Y is thus placed in the happy position of being able to choose between a try or rubber or a try or the penalty—whichever course seems best and offers the greatest chance for gain. Guess work is thus eliminated and the partnership obtains the best result with the cards held.

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one spade. A was one of those players who love to make deceptive bids. He decided that this was the right time to do some stunts, so he bid one no trump. Y, with a very strong hand, doubled one no trump. B and Z passed and A, still in a deceptive mood, bid two diamonds. Y doubled and B redoubled.

Here is where Z should have sensed what A was up to for how could A have a sound bid of two diamonds. Y a double and B a redouble? Z should have bid two spades over B's redouble, but he was still under A's deceptive spell; therefore he passed. A now had the stage set for the chance he wanted. He bid two hearts. This, of course, Y doubled, thinking he had A in a position where he was trying desperately to squirm out of a bad hole. Fortunately for A, his partner B passed the two heart double, although he said afterwards that he was tempted to bid three diamonds but felt that his partner was "up to something".

Z had another chance to save the situation by bidding two spades, but the singleton heart in his hand made him think that his partner must have heart strength; so he decided to pass. A, of course, made his bid easily and scored a game and rubber not possible in any other way.

It was a fine example of deceptive bidding, but don't try to follow A's example. This hand happened to turn out successfully, but in the majority of cases such bidding is a losing venture. The example is given, not to be followed, but as a warning of what to expect and when you meet it, of the proper defense to follow.

Answer to Problem No. 30

No score, rubber game. If Z dealt and bid one spade, what should A do? A should double one spade, not to defeat the bid but to ascertain if his partner, B, has the club suit stopped. If B should bid two clubs and Z passes, A should bid two no trump. If B should bid hearts or diamonds, and Z passes, A should also pass. If Z should bid two spades over B's bid, A should double. This double would be a business double, intended to defeat the contract. Z is very apt to rebid, for A's informationally double is very deceptive and may lead Z into thinking that the spade strength is divided. Such an informationally double is therefore often termed a "masked" double.

VACATIONISTS TAKE ALONG TOP-COATS OF SUMMER-WEIGHT WOOL

UNWISE the vacationist who starts on a pleasure trip without a practical utility top-coat. Not too heavy in weight yet not too heavy should it be. Preparedness of this sort brings its own reward. For cool breezes even in summertime sometimes hold sway. Then, too, there are motor trips, hours of travel by train and boat to consider, which emphasize the advisability of acquiring a smart coat such as the exceedingly handsome and distinguished model pictured.

This is just such a coat as the best shops are advocating for summer wear. Its medium is a loose light-weight woolen fabric, in a smart diagonal design. The model is featured with an ever important self-fabric scarf. Sun-ray tucking while it ornaments also achieves a perfect fit for this coat about the shoulders.

Pastel woolens bring a charming phase of fashion into play. It adds zest to sports and town modes, that so many are developed in lovely yellows, pale greens and blues, likewise violet colorings—the latter being a voguish color which is receiving no end of exploitation. Indeed there is quite a rivalry between grayish greens and dusky violet shades for summer-weight woolen coats and ensembles. In almost every instance these colorful costumes are topped with matching hats either felt or straw and the accessories through and through carry related colors. In mentioning fashionable shades, the new eggshell tint must not be omitted. Woolens in this smart tone are irresistible. Increasing favor for gray is noted. Coats or ensemble suits in this color call for perfectly matched accessories.

In fashioning practical coats of lovely colored woolens, style creators have done a commendable thing. Transforming the utility coats into a "thing of beauty" without sacrificing its practicality, has added zest not only to town and travel coats, but the new rain coats revel in color and charm.

PLAIDS IN THEIR EVERY PHASE THE RAGE FOR BEACH ENSEMBLES

AS TO "what are the wild waves saying" no doubt if we could tune in on their conversation we would find they were telling each other how much they admire the spectacular colorings and chic styling of this year's bathing and beach costumes.

Certain it is that fashion is staging a panorama of in-the-sea and by-the-sea modes, whose audacious styling, bizarre coloring and striking patterning while they are startling the world, nevertheless call forth sincerest admiration.

In the display of bathing and beach togs it is a question whether the fabrics of which they are made or their novel styling counts for most. As media for beach ensembles, stunning plaids have become the rage. It matters not whether the plaid be gingham, taffeta or one of the new plaid rayons. The smart outfit illustrated features an attractive plaid rayon weave in brilliant blue and white—a color combination which fashion is especially highlighting this season. Here's something interesting in regard to the jacket—it is lined with turkish toweling.

One of the sensations of the season is the adopting of pajama styles to beach wear. For these costumes, novelty is the word. The use of gaily printed cottons and calicoes, also cottons, as well as elaborately patterned linens is advocated as well as that of silks of flamboyant color and design. Silk-and-wool jersey also is proving delightfully wearable. One of fashion's latest whims is to use moire for the making of the pajama costume. The fact that modern invention has produced a "permanent" moire, the patterning of which no wave may hope to wash away, makes this material thoroughly practical for bathing and beach apparel. White silk pique is another favored medium. It works up effectively in the popular sailor costume. The tronsers of white silk pique flare at the cuff and there is a sleeveless blouse. The sailor collar is trimmed with navy blue braid. There is an anchor embroidered on the pocket of the blouse. The final touch is a soft tie of navy silk.

The vogue for sunburn bathing suits is outstanding this season. Favor for these modes has led to the promotion of protective wraps, as a necessary part of beach equipment.

Signs Warn All Against Thefts

Strangest Of Stores, Without Salesgirls, Puts Watch On Customers—Does $20,000,000 Yearly Business

Ordinarily, the customer in a large store finds signs such as, "Report any discourtesy to the floor walker," "Your suggestions appreciated," etc. Any sign that might tend to touch the sensibilities of a customer is unheard of.

However, there is a store in New York where signs do not speak the same story. They warn the prospective customer, as he or she enters the door, that "Honesty is its own reward, but dishonesty has its own penalty—JAIL."

Moreover, there are numerous other signs and photostatic clippings adorning the walls, all telling the sad but poignant stories of persons who have gone to jail for shoplifting in this particular store. Also, in addition to the signs, there are living warnings—attractive young women, who sit above the heads of the customers and do nothing else but watch them, to detect any attempt at stealing.

Does $20,000,000 Business

The store is S. Klein's, called the unique store of Union square. In 1906 Klein opened the store, then a tiny one-room shop, on a $90 capital. The store deals chiefly in dresses, coats, skirts, blouses, sweaters, furs and fur coats and children's things. It employs no sales people. The customers wander from rack to rack. They pick what they wish and, if a dress, etc., they take it to a fitting room and try it on. In 1928 the store had grown to more than a $20,000,000 business.

Klein, in building up his business, did not follow the usual trail—that of trusting the customer. It is vice versa. He trusts them while they are honest and pay and do not steal things.

The big signs in the store, admonishing those who enter that stealing from him has its own penalty—jail—are printed in bold black letters in Italian, Yiddish and French. The enlarged clippings of newspaper stories recounting how persons found guilty of shoplifting from Klein's have gone to jail, hang everywhere on the walls. The intimidating signs have a marvelous effect on those who might be tempted to steal.

Shoplifting At Minimum

Young women selecting dainty frocks from the various racks have no chance of trying them on, then putting their own dress over it and walking out without paying. Klein has made his store proof against this kind of shoplifting.

In each fitting room there sits a prim young woman. She has a platform above the heads of the customers who are trying things on. The young woman sits in silence. She holds no conversation in any way. It is when she spies someone trying to slip away with a dainty frock that she suddenly comes to life. And once a shoplifter is caught, S. Klein proceeds to do the rest.

These girls are posted in all sections of the store, sitting as pretty, but threatening sentinels over the clothing racks, their eyes constantly glued on the prospective customers rummaging around through the store—and every one temporarily under suspicion.

There's not much shoplifting done in S. Klein's.

St. Anthony's Beat Park Club, 7-5

A large gathering of fans saw St. Anthony's take a hard fought game from the Parks last Tuesday. Both hurlers were in good form but Snell had the edge on Cavello.

De Riccio, the Saints shortstop, started at bat with three doubles and a single in four times up.

The Parks got one run in the first when King walked, stole second and came home on Lawson's single.

St. Anthony's came back with four runs in their half when Pascal walked, Carchio advanced him and was safe himself, De Riccio doubled scoring both men; M. Carchio singled scoring De Riccio. M. Carchio stole second and third and came home on Gentello's grounder.

The Parks failed to score in their half of the second but St. Anthony added another run when Pascal walked and scored on De Riccio's double.

In their half of the third the Parks scored twice when Cavello reached first on an error, Lawson singled and Mays doubled.

In the fourth St. Anthony's drew further away from the Parks when Carchio scored on De Riccio's double.

The Parks tried hard to even the count in the sixth and succeeded in getting two runs on a walk, two hits and an error.

St. Anthony's scored one in the sixth on two singles and a double.

NASH '400'

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

This is the Sedan you will buy, if you Compare in the $900 Field

WE will not need to urge you to buy the Nash "400" Standard Six Sedan if you only compare it to other Sedans in the $900 field.

First of all, it is a Nash, built in the traditional Nash manner, with precision workmanship in every part.

And second, it is a Nash "400", and that means something in today's lineup of motor cars.

It means more powerful, more durable, more enjoyable motor performance. The engine in this sedan is a new high compression type with 7 bearings instead of 3 or 4, with aluminum alloy (Invar strut) pistons instead of cast iron pistons, and with full pressure lubrication to every single bearing point. Even the connecting rods in this Nash engine are rifle drilled, to supply oil under pressure up to the wrist pin bearings.

Other "400" features which this car brings to you are the world's easiest steering—a luxury and refinement of interior decoration far beyond expectation at its price—size and capacity for five full grown passengers—riding ease attained by alloy steel springs individually designed for its size and weight, plus outboard mounted, Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers.

And finally, no extra charge for bumpers, front and rear, Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, spare tire lock and tire cover. There's nothing except a spare tire to buy—none of these other items, customarily charged for as "extras" at retail prices, to pay for, when you buy the Nash "400"!

Price Range (f. o. b. factory) of 23 Nash "400" Models, $885 to $2190 including Touring, Roadster, Coupe, Cabriolet, Victoria and Sedan Models

Growth Shown About Brookdale

Lots Sold And Houses Being Erected Rapidly In Pas- saic Avenue Section.

Up on the highest elevation in Bloomfield on West Passaic avenue in the Brookdale section one of the largest realty developments undertaken in years is in progress.

Jacob Zimmerer, Jr., who has done much in the developing line in that section has begun to develop the Garabrant and Aug farms of fifty acres on which will be erected within the next three years 360 one family dwellings on nine streets, which means an outlay of $3,000,000.

In the center of the development a five-acre plot has been reserved by Mr. Zimmerer for erection of a school by the Board of Education in the future. This plot Mr. Zimmerer donated.

"Brookdale Manor," as the development has been named, has eighty homes already constructed, while thirty have been sold to persons from all parts of the State and New York. The main thoroughfare, including a boulevard, will be laid out under Mr. Zimmerer's direction.

"Brookdale Manor" is an all-American neighborhood and the homes are of the latest style of architecture. The streets will be fifty feet in width and so constructed as to be accessible to any part of the development.

With the canal bed to be used as a possible rapid transit route to Newark, New York and Paterson this once prosperous farming district will be converted into a city in itself.

Within the past five years more than 400 new homes have been erected in this section of the town, a majority through the efforts of Mr. Zimmerer.

Movie Relates Passaic Sewer System Story

"Guardians of the Passaic" is the title of the motion picture presented Friday night in the Newark Chamber of Commerce Assembly Hall by the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission, describing the river from the time Indians inhabited its banks to the present, its early grandeur, its subsequent decay through pollution and its eventual rejuvenation by the commission's work.

The object of the picture is to acquaint the municipalities using the sewer with what has been accomplished by the $20,000,000 project.

The opening scene shows a tribe driving their horses into the Passaic to drink, which they did with apparent relish, as one of the subtitles in the scenario says: "This river, whose 'spirit' nourished every living thing tasting of its pure waters, they named 'Pesayak,' meaning 'furnished'."

Then comes the paleface trading with the Indian for land, and 200 years pass by, showing the river next as the playground of the municipalities along its banks. Old river scenes taken from photographs are shown. Boat clubs lined the shores and developed famous oarsmen. Swimming was popular. Raging in majestic fury is the great falls of Paterson.

Progress brings the change the picture shows, which resulted in the establishment of the sewer after the river had become a menace and a nuisance from pollution. Development of the metropolitan area revolutionized conditions. Industries grew up along the river and it became the depository of sewage, domestic and industrial. Its invitation as a recreational center was spurned. The river's deserted banks and its shallow, low and filthy waters were shown in the picture as well as drivers dumping all sorts of germ-breeding matter on the banks.

With the rapid growth of population and industry the necessity of such a sewer as the Passaic Valley system became apparent and fifteen municipalities voted $11,250,000 for the construction of a trunk sewer forty-one miles long emptying into New York Bay. Work started in 1912. The picture shows the construction from day to day, taken while the work was in progress. August 2, 1924, the Passaic Valley sewerage system was placed in service.

Since that time there has been a gradual clearing up of the Passaic River. Pollution has been cut to a minimum and the river is once more a sports center.

Hupmobile Establishes Three Speed Records In Spain

Detroit, Mich., July 5.—Several Spanish spectators were crowded about the famous Terramar race track, cheering wildly. A white car dashed past its staccato, exhausts muffled as it flew over the finishing tape. The last of three new speed records for stock cars had been established in Spain—by a Hupmobile New Century Eight.

Such was the picture transmitted by export officials of the Hupp Motor Corporation to the home office last week. Their story told of the certification of three new speed records for the Hupmobile Eight. These were for the 50 and 100 kilometer distance, and for one hour of continuous driving.

All of the specifications contained in the International speed test regulations as set up by the Royal Automobile Club of Spain were followed to the letter. These required that the stock car be equipped with fenders, lights, and windshield or windshield, spare tire and wheels and standard equipment. Sixto Campo, official time keeper of the club, was in personal charge of the racing tests which were made on the Terramar Autodrome near Barcelona. Following the new marks, the car and its motor were completely checked, even the cylinder head being removed so that the pistons and valve dimensions might be checked after the three gruelling drives.

In the 50-kilometer run, a distance approximately equivalent to 31 miles the Hupmobile Straight Eight roadster averaged 79.97 miles an hour. In the second run, of twice that distance, the clocked time gave the car a speed mark of 80.05 miles an hour. For the continuous one-hour drive, the Hupmobile covered 79.94 miles.

ELLIOTT CHARGES FRAME-UP IN KIDNAPPING-- WANTS TO "CLEAR NAME"

Willard H. Elliott, former vice president and treasurer of the Ho-bart Trust Company of Passaic, who after being missing for six days, turned up Tuesday with a story of being kidnaped by Chicago gunmen, is determined to "clear his name" from what he termed "this frame-up."

His reference to a "frame-up" followed the story he told about being held captive in a house in the vicinity of Clifton by kidnapers who treated him with the greatest consideration, refused to accept gifts, and turned him loose without making any demands whatever upon him or his family. "I gave an intimation as to what he meant by a 'frame-up' by saying that the motive for the kidnaping had something to do with the bank. He could not understand, he said, why the bank elected another vice president and treasurer two days after his disappearance.

Seeks Prosecutor's Aid
Elliott, who lives at 88 Lafayette avenue, East Orange, said that he was going to ask the prosecutor of Passaic County to take up the matter of his kidnaping for investigation.

Assistant Prosecutor James M. Dunn of Passaic County, announced at about the same time that he had requested police authorities of Nutley, Passaic and Clifton to confer with him at his office concerning the kidnaping. Mr. Dunn said he was anxious to get together all the information these police officials have on the case, to determine whether there is ground for indictment of any one for conspiracy to kidnap or on any other charge.

Elliott was supposed to return to the bank for duty Wednesday, and the bank was supposed to give him back his old job, but he said that he would not return and did not know whether he would ever return. After being found seated in an auto in Nutley Tuesday morning, reading a newspaper account of his disappearance, he telephoned to Mayor John J. Roegner of Passaic, who is president of the trust company, that he would be back Wednesday, after resting. Roegner is said to have assured him at that time that his old place would be waiting when he returned.

Elliott, in talking of the bank position having something to do with the kidnaping, said he felt that great damage had been done to his reputation, hence his determination to These appointments will go into effect July 9.

Commissioner Sherwood, to whose committee it was referred, said that the building must conform with building code or no permit would be issued.

The monthly reports of the police and fire departments were read by Mayor Cook. During June, Harry Kimball, chief of the fire department reported eighteen calls had been sent in, eleven of which were still alarms and the other seven were brush fires. Dwight Decker, retiring president of the Nutley Rotary Club, received a white gold watch, a gift from his fellow Rotarians in recognition of his services, Thursday at the Yountakah Country Club. Dr. Edward Crystell, incoming president, gave a talk on the history of the club, who was installed at the meeting.

GA NUN LOSES IN FIGHT FOR ASSESSORSHIP

Commissioner Charles A. Sherwood has won his fight to prevent Alfred E. Ga Nun, from serving as tax assessor of Nutley, when the Supreme Court dismissed proceedings that Ga Nun had brought in an effort to obtain the job.

When the present board of commissioners was elected last year Ga Nun was appointed by Commissioner Rife as tax assessor to succeed Henry T. Lefferts. The other two members of the board, Mayor Cook and Commissioner Sherwood, refused to concur in the appointment and a majority vote renamed Lefferts.

Commissioner Sherwood led the fight against Rife's appointee. Ga Nun had been particularly active against the commissioner in the campaign and Sherwood's plea that Ga Nun was "personally objectionable" to him failed to change Rife's insistence that he be given the job. Rife's contention was that the position came under his department and the other two members of the board had no jurisdiction in the matter.

For several weeks Ga Nun appeared daily at the town hall to take over the duties of the office, but was not permitted to do so. Ultimately he discontinued this practice and the court action was begun.

Ga Nun's suit was in the nature of quo warranto proceedings to test the right of the majority members of the board to keep him from the office. His appointment by Rife was for the period from July 31 last to May of this year. The Supreme Court, in dismissing his suit, said that where the law prescribes the term of a municipal officer it is beyond the power of the governing body of a municipality to appoint for a greater or less term. It also said the term of the office is fixed by law for three years, and therefore Ga Nun's application to remove Lefferts was a nullity.

There was a display of day fireworks during the march along Franklin avenue.

At the flag-raising exercises on the Park School grounds, Mayor Cook delivered an address and Paul R. Radcliffe, superintendent of schools, read the Declaration of Independence. The remainder of the morning was taken up with athletic games.

In the afternoon there was a baseball game between the championship Nutley High School nine and a picked team of former town stars.

In addition to a band concert and a pyrotechnic display in the evening, there was a demonstration of fire-fighting by the fire department, under the direction of Chief Kimball.

BLAZER JACKET, SLEEVELESS FROCK BECOME SUMMERTIME PARTNERS

TO SAY that sleevelessness calls for sleeves, seems almost paradoxical until one makes a study of summer style trends. While it is true that the majority of frocks are sans sleeves, yet consider the inevitable short jacket or coat which plays such an important role in completing the summer costume. Its mission above all else is to supply sleeves to the sleeveless.

There's no doubt about it summer chic demands that these separate jackets be included in every carefully planned wardrobe and that they be of every genre from sports and utility types to those of dressiest mien. Wherefor the short-jacket theme is that versatile it runs the gamut from natty sports blazers and knitted cardigans to airiest-fairiest creations of chiffon and lace and such.

If you are trying to vision just how a bright blue and white striped blazer jacket would look over a dainty white sleeveless crepe frock, meet Miss Merna Kennedy, please, one of Hollywood's favorite cinema stars, who is posing for this picture in a sports blazer of latest type. Yes, we agree with you, the scalloped hemline about the skirt of the dress is a charming touch.

There's no doubt about it, the addition of a jacket to a sleeveless frock increases the usefulness of a costume beyond reckoning. The encouraging part of it is that these little coatees may be made of almost any material, and they individualize a costume according to their style and character.

If one must be economical a white crepe or georgette frock makes a wise start to a summer wardrobe.

While it should in general present a tailored aspect, at the same time fashion, this season, endows it with many intriguing "dressmaker" touches. The wearability and adaptability to "the time, the place and the girl" of the sleeveless white frock may be multiplied ad infinitum according to the number of clever jackets designed to wear with it.

A good beginning for the jacket program when buying a white frock similar to the one pictured is to add a cunning jacket of the same material. Scallop it all around to match the dress and fasten it at the neck either with crystal or pearl club-button links or a scarf which ties in a soft bow. Quite unique, too, is a jacket of all over lace in one of the new sunburn or eggshell tints. The shoes and hosiery should match.

As to jacket of gay colored transparent velvet, no fashion-wise woman would be without one or several.

effects. At the same time "back brims are encouraged to appear their widest. Not all brims however, achieve their flattering face-framing silhouettes through lengthened-at-the-back effects. The real issue is to secure becoming soft lines—to type each hat to its wearer. Which is just what has happened in the instance of each hat in the group pictured herewith.

A black satiny thin straw with a soft folged velvet edge is made to frame the face very attractively according to the hat shown at the top to the left. An original French model this and every one will agree that it looks the part, even to the cluster of delicate pink roses which accent the picturesque.

To the right is a huge transparent hair body with its sheerness emphasized by a border of fancy open work straw lace.

A single flower posed on the underbrim, is often noted in mid-summer styles. The hat in the center is a fine Milan straw, a fold of satin accomplishing a charming face-framing contour.

The last hat is a pleasing interpretation of the ever-favorite cloche. In Paris the vogue for black-and-white millinery is being advanced with greatest enthusiasm. This pretty model is an outcome of the black-and-white craze. Huge white silk poppy petals cover the crown with a monture of flowers forming an intriguing one-side trim.

IS YOURS a face-framing brim? If it is, it is that which it should be. The face-framing idea is being exploited throughout the millinery realm. Because of the face-framing theory having taken such a hold in the minds of the creators of the beautiful, brims are flaunting new graces, new intricacies—a program of thrills and surprises!

Watch the new brims. No two alike if fashion has its way. A type created for every individuality, is the prevailing thought. An idea that captures the fancy of many is that of the long-at-the-back brim. This has led to artful methods of securing the desired effect—such as cutting the front brim away entirely, especially in connection with the styling of felts.

In matter of dressy thin hair crepe and other pliable thin straws, brims are adroitly folded and plaited at the front to the point of extreme narrowness and fluttering off-the-face

Phone Company Provides $728,690 For Expansion

Appropriations for new construction to meet growing demands for telephone service in various parts of the state approved last week by the directors of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company totaled $728,690.

Major projects authorized include replacement of the switchboard handling long distance telephone traffic at the Trenton toll center with a new switchboard almost twice the size of the present board to care for the growth in long distance calling and to improve the service. While authorized at this time, production of the equipment and its delivery will postpone installation until next spring.

Additional cable facilities will be provided in the Montclair, Verona and Glen Ridge central office districts and in Elizabeth to serve growing telephone needs and in anticipation of future development.

Appropriations for a new central office building and switchboard in Ramsey were approved. Growth of the district served by the Park Ridge Central Office will be anticipated by an addition to the office equipment which will increase the facilities of the office fifty per cent.

The appropriation for the new construction included a large expenditure in Belleville for new cable construction to care for the expanding telephone needs of the community, it was announced by S. R. O'Neill, manager for the company.

Plan Day Camp For Local Girls Along Passaic

Mrs. George T. Holden, commissioner of the Belleville Girl Scout Council (assisted by the Patrol Leaders' Association), will be in charge of a day camp for scouts who can not go to Camp Yountakah. There will be one-day sessions each week on Tuesday, effective as of last Tuesday, and lasting through August.

The camp is situated on the Passaic River near Belleville, and is patterned after the regular Girl Scout camps as far as possible, with the same scout instructions and recreations. In this way the girls will have an opportunity to pass their outdoor merit badges, and will also have lots of fun of which otherwise they would be deprived.

Kindness is a language that needs no interpreter, the world around.

Shipping Of Nash Abroad Requires Great Deal Of Care

Shipping Of Nash Abroad Requires Great Deal Of Care

Kenosha, Wis., July 5.—When the greatest of all transportation mediums—the automobile—itsself requires transportation, the process used in protecting cars for shipment is one of the most interesting and elaborate systems developed by the motor industry.

More than one and one-half million feet of lumber are used each month in the huge overseas shipping building in Kenosha where the Nash Motors Company has evolved one of the most efficient and painstaking systems of protecting cars for export known in modern shipping. Some sixty trained men send the cars along the progressive assembly which boxes them so perfectly that neither rough handling at seaboard, open roadstead unloading, nor extraordinary conditions sometimes encountered overseas can injure them in any way.

The export cars, bound for points on all the seven seas, are so well housed that their packing cases are often used for garages and houses in lands where good lumber is scarce, and travelers in far countries are apt to see the famous Nash nameplate emblazoned on desert huts and seaside cabins in some of the world's most out-of-the-way places.

The precision workmanship and quality manufacturing which marks every step in Nash production is thoroughly carried out in this export boxing process. At the start of the 160-foot boxing assembly line the cars for export are washed and sprayed with a non-corrosive mixture to protect metal parts. Then, after removing the wheels, the car is lifted by electric hoist to the heavily reinforced floor of the specially prepared export box, which rests on the shipping production line. The car is bolted and clamped to the interior covered, and a bath administered. The structure of the Nash export box, with three-way joints, is then assembled to prevent any side sway, and sides and ends are nailed to the frame. The heavy top is then installed on and a cap of waterproof material added for further protection against the elements. Two screened vents are cut in each end of the box to afford air circulation, and the Nash trademark, together with the car's destination, is stenciled. The boxed car is then lifted by an overhead crane and firmly anchored on a freight car, ready for the journey to seaboard.

This boxing process has been developed exclusively by Nash and approved by insurance experts. It combines the best methods in shipping experience. When the boxing is complete, the car is ready for practically any traveling experience.

While many cars are now shipped overseas unboxed, these boxed shipments are still in the majority because relatively few ships which call at many ports are fitted to carry unboxed cargoes.

Camptowners Conquer Belleville In Junior American Legion Tilt

The Belleville Junior American Legion nine waged a game, but losing battle against the champion Camptowners of Irvington, who had a distinct advantage in size, last week. Despite the 17-6 score against them the localities shaped up well against their experienced opponents holding them to a 6-6 draw for the first six frames.

The Bell-boys weakened in the closing innings, however, and the Camptowners proceeded to clinch the game with two prolonged rolls which added eleven runs to the totals. O'Neil, Bell-boy twirler, pitched good ball striking out twelve of the Irvington boys, but erratic support from his teammates at critical times spelled his downfall. Triminsky, his opponent, although doing out eleven passes, allowed but eight hits, beside receiving good support from his teammates. He also, retired eleven local batters via the strike-out route.

O'Neil featured the Belleville attack with three safe wallops closely followed by Cuptell, who garnered two hits, while Phillips hit best for the Camptowners.

V. F. W. Defeats American Legion, 11-7

In a game ostensibly to decide the baseball championship of the town "the Veterans of Foreign Wars came through with a hard-earned, 11-7 victory over the local American Legion nine.

The game was close and hard-fought throughout with the many in attendance on their toes to the last out.

Some of the remarkable features of the game were "Doc" Hood's steal of home, Thompson's heavy hitting, which led both teams and included a single, double and triple "Buddy" Carragher's sensational catch in right field and Joe Williams' patrolling of center field.

Capitols Take Over Bell-Nuts 6-4

In a close, exciting game, the Capitols managed to beat the Bell-Nuts 6-4. A poor crowd was present due to the weather, but those that were there witnessed a fine game.

Jimmy Mallack and Klemnz starred for the Capitols, the former getting two hits and the latter a home run; while Ott and W. Sentner performed best for the Bell-Nuts with two hits apiece.

Moniot and Kintzing both pitched good ball, Moniot allowing eight hits and Kintzing seven.

The Bell-Nuts started off by scoring in the first inning when Baney was hit by Kintzing, stole second and scored on Ott's double.

The Capitols came back in their half with three runs, however, when Flynn walked and went to third on John Mallack's single. Both scored on Jim Mallack's single. Jimmy Mallack then stole second and scored on Schessler's single.

Neither team tallied in the second, but the Bell-Nuts tied the score in the first half of the third when W. Sentner doubled, Baney reached first on a fielder's choice and Sentner reached third. A timely single by Ott brought in the two runs.

The Capitols were not to be denied however in their half of the fourth and bombarded Moniot for three runs on two successive doubles by Jimmy Dunn and Gelschen followed by Klemnz's homer to deep right.

In the first half of the fifth the Bell-Nuts tried hard to tie the score but were only able to bring in one man. J. Sentner reached first on an error, went to third on Ott's single and scored when Gelschen failed to tag him at the plate.

Although the Bell-Nuts tried hard to even matters again in the next inning they failed to score and the game was called in the sixth because of rain.

Good Attendance Marks Opening Of The Playgrounds

All playgrounds opened Monday morning, July 1, with a very good attendance. All children were enthusiastic, and under the guidance of the directors and assistants of each ground, boys' teams in playground ball and volley ball, and girls' teams in volley ball and dodge ball are being formed. Games will begin next Monday. On Monday afternoon, July 8, at 2 o'clock, the Recreation House playground ball team plays that of Silver Lake at Number Seven Field.

Tuesday morning, July 9, Silver Lake's girls' Volley Ball team will play Cortlandt at Cortlandt street. Thursday afternoon, July 11, Cortlandt's boys' volley ball team and Silver Lake will play at Silver Lake.

In addition to the organization and practicing of teams, playground tournaments are getting under way in marbles, hopscotch, jacks and horse-shoes.

Mrs. Curran, handicraft instructor, reports that a large group at each playground are showing their interest and enthusiasm toward handicraft. The handicraft classes are now progressing rapidly with basketry as their main objective.

National "Champs" Swim At Mohawk

A splendid list of entries reached the Lake Mohawk Country Club at Sparta, for the Senior and Junior Metropolitan Championships which were contested yesterday afternoon at 2:30 P. M. Among those who raced are the following members of the American Olympic Team of 1928, Eleanor Holm, National Indoor and Outdoor Medley Champion, Lisa Lindstrom, National Backstroke Champion, Ethel McGary, National Long Distance Champion, Agnes Geraghty, National Breast Stroke Champion and Adelaide Lambert, member of the winning United States Relay Team and former all-around American champion. Other entries included such well known swimmers as Carin Nilsson, former Medley Champion, Kathryn Brown, Metropolitan Diving Champion and Elaine Delany, Interscholastic Diving Champion. The two latter swimmers were joined in a fancy diving exhibition by Mary Hagen and Frances Hanlon. The Junior swimmers included Kathleen Connolly of the Elks Lodge, Margaret Trautman of the People's Palace and Asta Winckler, unattached. There were about fifty picked entries in all and the time was watched with interest owing to the coming participation of the W. S. A. Team in the National Championships at Honolulu. American Legion Team Trounces Paterson East Side Nine, 16-4

A rejuvenated American Legion nine that swept away everything in its path chalked up its first win of the season with an overwhelming 16-4 victory over the Paterson East Side nine, Saturday.

Behind the superb twirling of "Butch" Kastner, who allowed but seven well scattered bugles, besides striking out ten of the visiting batsmen, the localities displayed an unbeatable brand of ball, collecting eighteen safe wallops in addition to fielding well.

The local boys got to Pollit, who started on the mound for the Patersonites, early, when the first seven men to face him reached first safely and scored. Carragher, leading off, worked the pitcher for a free ticket and "Tommy" Dunn moved him along with a perfect bunt along the third base line which he easily beat out. "Champ" Juliano then proceeded to clear the bassocks with a long triple to deep left center. "Johnnie" Mallack's double over the fence then brought Juliano across. "Jim Mallack followed with a double to the same spot scoring his brother with the fourth run of the inning. A Paterson error, a pass to Paschal and Kastner's long single to right next sounded the tocsin three additional times to give the Legionites an overwhelming lead.

After a couple of errors had given his opponents a single tally in the second Kastner gave a remarkable exhibition, striking out the next three batters to face him.

"Johnnie" Mallack's hefty home run drive to center field, off Morris, who had relieved Pollit, scoring Juliano, who had singled ahead of him, gave the Bell-boys two runs additional in the second.

In the next frame Gelschen singled, stole second and scored on Kastner's safe drive to right center.

The localities dented the rubber twice more in the fifth on a Paterson error, successive doubles by Carragher and Dunn and Juliano's single.

With an eleven run margin Kastner eased up in the sixth and successive drives by Morris, Terhune and Sinnegan, a Belleville error and Mac Farlan's bingle gave them a trio of tallies to end their scoring for the day.

Two run spasms in both the sixth and eighth inning, resulting from clean hitting, ran the Belleville total to sixteen.

"Butch" Kastner, marking his debut with the local squad, besides pitching in masterful fashion collected three slashing safe drives, all of which figured in the run-scoring. "Johnnie" Mallack led the long distance walloppers with a homer, a double and a single in three successive times at bat, while Juliano, with two singles and a triple, and Dunn, with three slashing singles, also sparkled on the Belleville offense.

Nereid Boat Club Wins From Actives In Passaic Regatta

In the regatta on the Passaic last Saturday the Nereid Boat Club triumphed over the Active Boat Club of Edgewater taking three races to the Active's two. For accomplishing this the Nereid Boat Club received the point trophy donated by Congressman Hartley.

The Nereid Boat Club won both the junior and novice quad races by large margins. In the junior shell were Stanlar, Hardman, McCormack and Hicks the crew that placed third in the Harlem regatta, while Degelo, Dalphond, Dingle and Bennett composed the crew of the novice squad.

The other race the Nereid oarsmen won was the one-half mile double shell. This was a close race and Stanlar and Hardman of the Nereid just managed to eke out a victory over Kahl and Dunn of the Actives.

The Active Boat Club won the one-half mile novice single gig race when Gebhardt Paethe beat Bill Bennett, and one-half mile double gig race when Rhodes and Dalphond lost by a small margin.

The Active Boat Club won the junior eight oared shell race but as this was only an exhibition match it did not count towards the trophy.

The star of the canoe races was Ernest Riedel, world's champion one man double blade canoeist who paddles for the Pendleton Canoe Club of New York. He won the double blade event from Kilmast of the Awanda Canoe Club of Edgewater.
