SEEN IN THE GRANDSTAND

Some of those who were seen in the grandstand at the American Legion game Monday afternoon were among the regular attendance at the league games.

John P. Maher, president of the Belleville Board of Education, was there as usually in an earnest discussion with a fellow townsman of some matter of grave import.

Frank J. Carragher, commissioner, and one of his sons with him. This time it was John. Joe was away for the day.

"Pace" Taylor, "Bill" Crisp, and "Al" Baker, a famous triumvirate, came early.

Richard Lister had his meerschaum going full blast. Joe was there, too.

Hill Association's Plans For Dance Are Progressing

Sale Of Tickets Started; 1,000 Attendance Looked For

The committee of fifty, who have in hand the managing of the annual block dance of the Belleville-on-the-Hill Improvement Association, which is to be held in Adelaide street, between Tiona avenue and little street, Saturday evening, September 14, held a meeting at the Recreation House. Considerable enthusiasm was displayed, and the various sub-committees reported that they have the details well in hand.

The services of a good band have been secured. The lighting committee, under the chairmanship of David Simpson, promises to have the decorations the best ever. The refreshment booth will be in charge of eighteen ladies from the hilltop, with Frank J. Wolenski, chairman. Since Adelaide street is paved with concrete, a special committee has been appointed to prepare the dancing surface so as to make it as smooth as possible.

Feud Develops Among Youngsters

Underground Shanty Burned Taking Shelter From Scorpions

A "Little Caesar" might be written about Belleville if the younger element of the town keep up the feud which they have started. The first effect of the gang war in Belleville was exhibited in the burning of an underground shanty owned by the Scorpions at Overlook and Washington avenues at 12:05 A. M. Wednesday. The fire department was called out but the perpetrators of the deed had done their work well and the fire ladders could do little but keep the blaze from spreading.

Who the gang is that set fire to the clubhouse which belonged to a local gang ranging in age from six to ten has not been ascertained. But certain citizens claim that they saw dark forms scuttling from the scene of the fire previous to the sound of alarm.

On the roll of the local club appear such names as Casey, Vitale, Reilly and Leone and various other representations of well known families in the community.

Statistics Compiled Of Belleville Fires

Fire Headquarters
September 3—Brush fire, back of 71 VanHouten place, 1:15 P. M.
September 4—Shanty fire, Overlook and Washington avenues, 12:05 A. M.
William street headquarters—No fires.
Silver Lake headquarters—No fires.

PAINTING, Paper Hanging and Decorating; estimates furnished. William England, Ardmore avenue, Delawanna, N. J. Phone Passaic 7482.

Arthur Christie and Tom Fleming yelled "Peanuts, Popcorn and Crackers Jacks," to their hearts' content.

The police force was represented by Raymond "Square" Demgard and Bob Anderson.

John Baney and Curt Akersten had their heads together most of the time opining who would win.

Bill McKnight's red hair matched Tommy Dunn's.

Charles Kintzing had to explain for the hundredth time why "Lefty" wasn't playing.

Jimmy Dunn sat through the game quietly as usual.

Dave Lamb told what his big brother "Artie" could do.

Mike Conroy, who any one can tell is an Irishman, clung to his cherished corn cob pipe.

George Haslam and Howard Schreyer represented the younger element.

Joe Williams, the Judge Landis of the American Legion Baseball League, had on a nice new shirt and necktie.

Frank Brown was there. It must be remembered that his son, Frank Jr., is a valued waterboy.

When Gordon Scorso of the Nutley team walloped a homer, the Belleville contingent cheered him to an echo, and when Tommy Dunn duplicated the feat, the Nutley bunch bunch gave him a nice hand.

George Cox represented the Tapan avenue crowd.

"Bobby" Andrews represented the firemen and cheered lustily.

Jerry Lilori impatiently sat in the grandstand and watched his teammates win.

"Pat" Gelschen proudly watched his boy "Gene" general the Belleville team to victory.

Art Dopf represented the Belleville High School grads.

Ed Hollweg, a former baseball player himself, was an interested spectator.

"Mike" Dacey was there, goggles and all.

"Bun" Derbyshire came in for very little criticism from the grandstand. "Bun" is umpire, we would have you know.

Joe "Zimo" Flynn watched the game with eagerness.

The fair sex was well represented. Among those we knew were Mrs. Russell Lamb, who was once Miss Mary Jones; Mrs. Josephine Williams and Mrs. Frank Brown.

WHAT HO! AND WHAT HAVE YOU; DELIVERY BOY CONTEST STARTED

Another has entered the lists as the most popular delivery boy in Belleville. Last week we announced that Philip Nathan everred that he had the most popular delivery boy in town in the form of Sidney Kasen, but now "Teddy" and "Eddie" Sadelock of Eddie's Market, in Washington avenue near Malone avenue, come forward with another delivery boy.

The youth is Alfred "Al" England of 5 Ardmore avenue, Clifton, and "Eddie" and "Teddy" maintain that in this young man they have the makings of the most popular delivery boy in this town.

To those who know "Al" and his friends are legion, his smile is his personality plus. It's one of those smiles that spreads from ear to ear, radiating friendliness and good cheer and making one think of all the happy things in life.

So Sidney has a rival. Are there any other merchants in town who would like to see their delivery boys

Dr. Fred'k. S. Bootay Is A Modest Man

By EDDIE TAYLOR

Dr. Frederick Starr Bootay, when interviewed this week, was loathe to give any information about himself. When we scribe began asking questions concerning the doctor, the latter began talking about his son, Edgar. For he it known that Dr. Bootay is very proud of his family, which consists of his wife and his two sons, Edgar, who is nineteen, and Robert, who is eleven.

By dint of much coaxing the details of the doctor's life were wormed out of him.

He is fifty-one years old, having born in Brooklyn, January 17, 1878. He attended the Brooklyn Public School, Polytechnic Preparatory School, and New York Preparatory School. He then attended Baltimore University, from which institution he was graduated in 1904. He interned at Maryland General Hospital and was later resident physician at St. Luke's Hospital, Baltimore.

For the first two years of his life as a physician, Dr. Bootay invaded the "wild and woolly west" as a rural doctor. He says that at that time visits in his capacity as a doctor were sometimes and even many times twenty-five miles distant. He tells of the feud over cattle boundaries between the Meehans and the Tutties. The town he lived in was Akron, Cal.

Boosts The Schools
Dr. Bootay has lived in Belleville seventeen years. He is an enthusiastic supporter of the school as a system and of George R. Gerard as supervisor.

He attends many of the high school games having become interested in athletics when his son, Edgar, was in high school. Edgar was the star athlete of the school having played football, basketball and baseball.

Dr. Bootay has been school physician for the last twelve years and town physician for the last fifteen years. He is a member of the state and county medical societies, a fellow of the American Medical Association, a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, the Belleville Lodge of Masons, the Patriotic Order, Sons of America, and the Belleville Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.

This is the first time that the doctor has had his picture in any newspaper and this paper is justly proud of the fact that it is through its columns that his picture sees the light of day.

put forward as the most popular? If so send your delivery boy's name to Eddie Taylor, care of the Belleville News.

Of Interest To Eastern Star Members

A new chapter of Eastern Star to be called Belleville Chapter is being formed by residents of the Belleville on the Hill section. There may be a number of Eastern Star people, who have recently bought new homes and no doubt find it hard to attend their own chapter, who being so far away, who would be interested in this new chapter. There also may be some others who are not Eastern Star members, who are eligible that would like to join this new group. For further information call Belleville 1468-W, or call at the home of Mrs. M. Stevens, 63 Campbell avenue.

Improvement Group Picks New Name

Organization Decides On Valley Improvement Association

The Valley Improvement Association of Belleville is the name by which the group organized two weeks ago as the Passaic Valley Improvement Association will be known hereafter. The change was voted last week at a meeting at the Essex House, 247 Stephen street.

A committee comprising Frank Sopher, Mrs. Josephine McK. Tiger, and William B. Frey will ask the Board of Education for the use of School No. 1 for a meeting September 19. The trio are also in charge of publicity. Max N. Schwartz was made chairman of a committee on construction and by-laws. He will be assisted by Walter P. Weiss, George Rawcliffe, David Sundheimer, Raymond Williamson, Allan Current, Edward Galvin, William B. Frey and Miss Agnes Wharton.

Election of officers slated for last Thursday night, was deferred until the reorganization meeting. William B. Frey was chairman of the evening. Mr. Schwartz will act as counsel for the group. Residents of the section between Washington avenue and the river, from the Newark line to Nutley, whether property owners or not are eligible to membership.

Bert L. Knowles Achieves Honors At Summer Camp

Bert L. Knowles, 18 years old, of 356 Greylock Parkway will return September 15 from Camp Talcott at Huguenot, N. Y., where he spent the summer, after making several notable achievements at the camp.

Bert, who weighs 175 pounds and is over six foot, was assistant swimming instructor, having charge of ninety boys. During the summer he passed his Senior Life Saving test and in addition won the "High T" a coveted letter awarded to only ten instructors at the camp in the past twelve years.

Some of the requirements to capture this award include: 1.—Pass the senior life saving test. 2.—Build something of some importance without instruction. Bert built a council ring around the campfire. 3.—Write and direct a play. 4.—Name twenty-five trees and shrubs and tell their uses. 5.—Secure ten points in an athletic meet.

Bert, who can run the hundred-yard dash in eleven seconds and the 220 yard-dash in twenty-six seconds, took first place in the 75 yard-dash, the 100-yard dash, the high jump, in which he jumped five feet, three inches, and second in the 50-yard dash.

6.—Gain seven points in an aquatic meet. Bert took first place in the 50-yard dash and second in the dive. 7.—Take charge of a church service. 8.—Hike forty-five miles in two days. Bert with seven other boys hiked from Camp Talcott, which is nine miles north of Port Jervis, to High Point. When Bert arrived at High Point his feet were blistered and next morning on dressing he discovered that his feet would not fit in his shoes. Being ever ready in an emergency, Bert donned baseball stockings and hiked home with these alone covering his feet.

During the summer Bert was selected from a group of twenty-six instructors to represent the camp at a conference at Camp Brooklyn, Hawley, Pa.

He was graduated from Belleville High School last spring and will enter college in about a year as he intends to work for a year before furthering his education.

Another chap at the camp, Paul Short, captain of the Belleville High School football team spent most of his time during the summer perfect-

And The Little Bird Sings No More

Once upon a time and not so long ago E. Payson Taylor of 31 Malone avenue, Belleville, had a canary bird that sang and whistled cheerily from morn 'til night keeping Mr. Taylor's home alive with music that had none of the discordant tones of the radio. To get the bird singing all "Pace" had to do was to whistle in a peculiar way and the bird would burst forth with into song.

But now all is changed. No more does the bird sing. On the contrary he has not uttered a note in many a day and the wherefore is this.

Upon the little bird's horizon was thrust a gay deceiver, la femme, a bird of feminine wiles and fancies. Soon the two birds were caroling love notes to each other all the day. They would peck at each other through their respective cages and he would prim and she would perk and in all they had a delightful time.

Then came a rude hand that placed the lady bird back in her former home. Our little friend was desolate. He would feebly try to utter a note to call his lady back to him but the song stuck in his throat. Now he sings no more. "Pace" tries to tempt him with his whistle but to no avail. The little bird just won't sing anymore.

NEWARK ASKS FOR CONSERVATION OF PEQUANNOCK WATER SUPPLY

Commissioners Petition Consumers To Draw Water Only In Cases Of Domestic Or Business Uses

Following receipt of a letter from Newark that curtailment of unnecessary uses of water must be demanded in the territory being supplied by Newark, the Belleville Town Commission has decided to petition its water users to conserve water wherever possible. A proclamation to this effect has been issued by the town rulers.

Local Man Drowns In Budd Lake

Thomas Esposito, 23, of 83 Wallace street, drowned when his canoe upset, while he and his wife were boating on Budd Lake, at Netcong, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Esposito went to the lake for the day and were out canoeing about 2 o'clock when the craft upset and both were thrown into the water. Mrs. Esposito was rescued by a nearby row boat, but her husband went down. Both could swim. The lake was dragged for more than two hours by men under direction of Chief of Police Howard McLaughlin and the state police before the body was recovered.

Coroner Thomas Lewis issued a burial certificate giving the cause as accidental drowning. The body was removed to Morgan's morgue, Netcong, and later to the Esposito home. Esposito was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Esposito and a painter. Four brothers and two sisters also survive him.

Esposito was born in the Soho section of Belleville and had lived there all his life. He was a graduate of School No. 1. He was married two years ago.

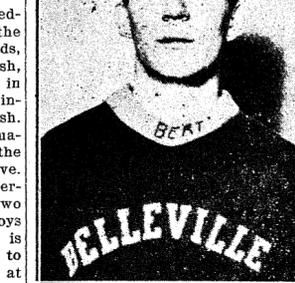

Funeral services were held at the home yesterday. Burial was at Glendale Cemetery.

Belleville Youth Home From Camp

Vincent Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Walsh of Hornblower avenue, is home from Fort Brown, Tex., where he has been with Troop B, Twelfth Cavalry, two years.

ing himself in the sport in order to be ready to start the local high school's campaign this fall. Paul, because of his activity in driving the camp truck could not devote much of his time to athletics at the camp and therefore did not receive the awards that his former teammate gained.

Camp Talcott is 1400 feet above sea level and 500 feet above Port Jervis. There is a white sand beach of a width of fifteen yards entirely around the lake. Upon entering the camp one rides along Broadway and the first stop is Times Square. From thence one proceeds to Riverside

BERT L. KNOWLES drive. Other streets are named correspondingly. There are two volleyball courts and two basketball courts and an athletic field on the camp grounds.

ALL IN READINESS FOR OPENING OF TENNIS TOURNAMENT, MONDAY

Tennis will predominate for the next two weeks in Belleville when a tournament following the rules of the United States Lawn Tennis Association will be held at the Hillcrest Tennis Club courts in Division avenue opposite Adelaide street and will be under the auspices of the Hillcrest Club. Registration for tournament play closed Tuesday and a committee composed of Gavin S. MacMillan, Corbin D. Lewis, Howard J. Virtue and Sidney S. Summerfield, chose the competitors by ballot.

Twelve players will compete against each other in the first round of singles. They are Dr. D. E. Kavanaugh, vs. Walter E. Dunn, Jr.; Albert Vermuth vs. Harry B. Fisher; John Munro vs. Anthony A. Pascal; Ernest Turner vs. Jack Sterret; Donald Wilford vs. Lloyd Jenkins, and John Carlough vs. Harry Estelle.

The second round of the singles is scheduled to begin next Wednesday. Players are the winners of the first round and ten other players. Those who will play are MacMillan vs. Alfred Woods, Rudolph Deetjen

No drastic enforcement of the measure is planned, however.

Morris R. Sherrard, consulting engineer of Newark, wrote Mayor Samuel S. Henworthy as follows:

"Newark is supplying Belleville with Pequannock water under a certain contract which, as you know, provides that in case of a shortage of water, Newark's needs are paramount and the outside customers of the city can only be supplied from Newark's surplus. Although Newark has adequate water in storage in the Pequannock Water shed, the increased consumption of water caused by the recent long drought has taxed the Newark pipe lines from Pequannock Water Shed to the Cedar Grove reservoir and to its customers beyond the capacity of the aqueduct and it has been necessary to draw on storage in the Cedar Grove reservoir so that the storage in this reservoir is now two-thirds depleted.

"Mayor Congleton has directed me to call your attention to this situation and ask you to immediately notify the water consumers in Belleville to refrain from all unnecessary use of water particularly for sprinkling purposes, for golf course watering, for swimming pools and artificial pools and for purposes other than domestic or business uses."

Contacts have been awarded as follows: roofing, J. Steinberg and Son, Newark, $932; re-pointing of masonry, Alliance Sand Blasting Company, New York, $625; cleaning, Hudson Sand Blasting Company, Newark, $523.

Effective as of August 31 the Nutley-North Newark Bus line is under Public Service operation.

$1.15 Is High For Cigarettes, Especially When They're Yours

Who ever heard of buying a pack of Lucky Strike cigarettes of $1.15? But, that is the price which A. Edward Locker of 122 Leslie street, Newark, paid for a deck, and the cigarettes were his, originally! But he didn't know the pack was his.

It came about in this way. Victor Hart, jeweler, of 112 Floyd street, by a dint of a little sleight-of-hand relieved Mr. Locher of the pack at a meeting of the Lions Club, Thursday. Mr. Hart then passed them to Milton Brasher, who immediately announced that an auction would take place.

Brasher proved a very expert auctioneer, for he raised the bidding from five cents to $1.10 and there it hung for a few minutes until Mr. Locher, in desperation, for he had just discovered that he didn't have any cigarettes and not knowing that the pack was his, bid $1.15. He won! Imagine his discomfiture when he was told that the pack was his.

Playground Notes

Recreation Grounds
Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the playground season was brought to a close at the Recreation House Grounds. A party was given to the kiddies to mark this event. About sixty children were present, and all were served root beer, grape juice, candy and cake.

Last Thursday at these grounds tournaments in hopscotch, checkers and target were held. Raymond Heaver from the Recreation House was the winner in hopscotch; Tony Pico from Silver Lake in checkers; and Sonny Kaluzer from Cortlandt in target. On the same day, the girls of the Joramemon street ground defeated the girls from Friendly in volleyball—winning two games out of three. Mae Cece and Lillian Hull performed best for the winners.

Thus ended another season of fun wait until next year!

Silver Lake
A big week and a smashing "finale" were the features at the Lake Playground during closing week.

Wednesday the Lake boys in what turned out to be a dual meet between Cortlandt and the Lake, nearly succeeded in taking the track meet single handed, but as is most often the case, the best balanced team came out ahead—and Cortlandt street certainly should be commended upon their very fine showing. Stars for Silver Lake were Vitello brothers, Dan, Armand and Orlando; Art Primevera, Percy Perry, Harry Harris and George Hunt. Lena and Dose Dachino, Josephine Barbone of the girls also did their part.

Friday came the closing event—the party—a happy and eventful day. Various events and features were staged and finals and results are as follows:

Midget race winners—Patsy Barbone, Sam Tarbuco and Charles Morris.

Awards for best girls' costumes were: Rose Dachino, dutch girl; Lena Dachino, pilgrim; Vera Salino, Martha Washington; Rose Fuselli, clown, and Florence Miller, Red Riding Hood; boys: George Peblasio, Indian; Junior Hunt, Indian and Michael Mazzara, clown; boy doing most for "Our Gang Talkie," Art Primevera; girl doing most for "Our Gang Talkie," Lillian Favia. Arthur Primevera and Tony Caragliano won the mouth-organ contest.

Letters were given to the athletes who participated in Wednesday's meet—Josephine Favia was awarded a prize for winning inter-playground championship in jacks; as was Tony Pico for winning checkers.

The directors and children of Silver Lake Playground wish to publicly thank Miss Nina Robertson and Mrs. Jane Curran, whose cooperation and help assisted in making the party the success it was.

Friendly
A kite making contest was one of the activities staged on Friday afternoon at Friendly playground. Angelo Seavone, exhibiting a kite four feet tall, bearing the name of the playground, won.

For the girls an embroidery contest was planned. Concetta Franz proved to be the winner. Instead of holding the closing party on Friday, this ground will have a reunion tomorrow, (Friday, September 6) with moving pictures as the feature. After the show prizes will be awarded to children who won the weekly contests.

On Friday afternoon the Recreation Commission closed the playgrounds after another successful season. This year the commission added another ground to its list after a request coming from the northern section of Silver Lake. The ground was operated on a piece of property recently purchased by the Italian Baptist Church.

The final event for playgrounds as a whole was the annual track meet, when Cortlandt street ground carried off all honors in the girls' events and rated fairly well in boys' events.

Final contests ended in the following results: Horseshoe championship, Ray Marshall, Cortlandt; Jacks, Josephine Fava, Silver Lake; Hopscotch, Raymond Heaver, Recreation House; Target, Sonny Kaluzer, Cortlandt; Checkers, Tony Pico, Silver Lake, and "Our Gang Talkie," Silver Lake.

Theft of plumbing fixtures valued at $50 which had been installed in a new house at 84 Magnolia street, Silver Lake section of Belleville, by Anthony De Stefano & Co., 447 No. Twelfth street, Newark, was reported to Belleville police Friday. Articles taken included a gas heater, half a dozen radiator valves and sink fixtures.

This Whirl Of Sport

By Arthur Bloemcke

With their victory in the afternoon game of the Labor Day double header the local American Legion nine gained the edge in the current series over their inter-town rivals, the Nutley A. C., two games to one.

Both morning and afternoon tilts were close and hard-fought through-out with a single tally deciding both contests.

The peppery young Nutley catcher Gordon Scorsio, almost defeated the Legionites single handed in the afternoon game with his three smashes, including a homer. The ever-reliable "Tommy" Dunn counter-batted these wallops with his great home run, as did "Butch" Kastner, who collected a pair of timely blows.

Although the down-trodden Parks are headed for the cellar berth in the local Legion League race, their indomitable team spirit seems to be worthy of more than passing attention.

Despite the fact that they have won but three of their seventeen League contests to date, they have tried and tried hard for every game, with the result that every team in the league has had a tough time before defeating them.

The way in which the members of the team have stuck together in the face of disappointment is highly commendable as well. Although resting securely in last place they invariably have more than their quota of players at the field at game time, even though some must "warm the bench."

That's the kind of spirit that has built up the American Legion League to its present high rating.

That's the way Parks!

You won't have to wait much longer, ye Tildens and Hunters.

Now that the Hillcrest Tennis Club has received the entries for its annual tournament for local tennis enthusiasts, plans are progressing rapidly for the starting of the first round matches on Monday.

This tournament will certainly be a gala event in Belleville's sports history and should receive the unstinted support of all local sportsmen and sportswomen.

Let's all be at the Hillcrest Tennis Club at Adelaide street and Division avenue at 6:30 Monday evening September 9 to witness or participate in this sports classic.

With but a week left before the end of the American Legion League season a few words of praise must be extended to the local American Legion post for the way it has stimulated baseball interest throughout the town through the League.

"Joe" Williams, ably assisted by Larry Keenan, the League secretary, as well as by the American Legion Athletic Committee and the newly organized Council, ably took over the League reins to make it a banner season for all concerned.

"Twas a great year, fans, and an even greater one is expected next year with added experience.

"THAT LITTLE GAME" Inter-nat'l Cartoon Co., N.Y.—By B. Link

Legion Nine Splits with Nutley A. C., 7-8, 7-6

In a holiday twin bill for the "inter-town championship" the Belleville American Legion nine and the Nutley A. C. split even, Labor Day.

After losing the morning tilt at Park Oval, Nutley, 8-7, the Belleville nine came back in the afternoon at Clearman Field to register a 7-6 triumph.

"Butch" Kastner hurled for the Legionites in the first game and was hit hard, fourteen hits being pounded off his delivery by the hard-hitting Nutleyites.

For the first six frames Kastner managed to keep these blows fairly well scattered. In the second and fourth, however, the winners bunched their hits to score five times. Four smashes produced three runs in the second, while a pair of wallops was sufficient for two in the fourth.

Going into the "lucky seventh" trailing by a single run, the Legionites rallied and landed on Shepper, who had relieved Baykowski, three times on as many bingles to take a short-lived two run lead.

Kastner, however, was not equal to the occasion and could not hold the margin. After two hits had produced a run for the winners in the seventh, the Nutleyites broke up the game in the eighth, tallying twice on a trio of smashes, to eke out a close 8-7 decision.

In the afternoon tilt at the local grounds, Jim Mallow reversed the decision, with several great exhibitions of pinch-pitching.

In the very first canto with one out, the bases full and one run already across, Mallow cut short the promising Nutley rally by striking out the next two batters.

The Bell-boys then came back in their half with three wallops to tally twice.

A single hit, aided by some sour fielding on the part of the Nutleyites added three more markers to the growing Belleville total in the third.

The local boys pushed over their final two markers, and what later proved to be the winning ones, on a pair of safe smashes in the fourth.

After his teammates had pounded out this large five-run margin for him, Jim Mallow eased up in the closing rounds to allow the losers to tally four times on six hits. After these outbursts he steled down and coasted to victory.

Shepper, after getting off to a poor start, seemed to get better as the game progressed and in the final four innings he blanked the Legion nine with but a single hit.

Kastner secured two hits besides playing a bang-up game in the field for the Legion nine in the afternoon tilt. "Tommy" Dunn's mighty homer was also a batting feature, while Lawlor provided the fielding gem with a marvelous catch of a hot liner in the fifth.

G. Scorsio collected three hits for the losers, including a homer. Gorman also connected safely three times but marred his batting performance by committing a trio of misplays.

Legion Nine Noses Out Broadhursts

Newark Club Loses Fracas At Clearman Field Saturday

In a wild slugfest which witnessed a grand total of twenty-seven safe wallops of various dimensions the Belleville American Legion nine eked out a close 11-10 decision over the Broadhursts at Clearman Field Saturday.

For the first five frames it was a pitcher's duel of the A-1 variety. Moniot, who served them up for the Legionites, allowed but one hit and no runs during this time, while two runs on five widely scattered hits was the sum total of the Legion's scoring.

Going into the ninth with a six-run margin to work on Moniot, who had been going along in fine style, suddenly blew up with a loud detonation. Five hits, including a homer by "Red" Veasey to open the inning, gave the Broadhursts six tallies and the score was deadlocked once more. Johnnie Lawlor, who relieved Moniot in this round, attended to the rescue work with real efficiency, retiring the final two batters with ease to end the disastrous round.

Nutley High School To Make Bid For All-State Honors

The prospects for a successful football season at Nutley High School are exceedingly bright judging from the veteran material that answered Coach George J. Stanford's first call for varsity candidates yesterday afternoon. Although the Nutley mentor lost five lettermen from last year's squad, he is confident that he can replace these players with competent performers.

Losses from the 128 Maroon and Gray team include Ray Gibney, quarterback Dick Schutte, center; Jack Wilde, guard; Jim Sentner, end, and Bill McCrum, halfback.

Schutte, McCrum, Sentner and Gibney have completed their high school courses while Wilde is slated to enter Newark Academy in the fall. The loss of Wilde will be a telling blow to Nutley for he was one of the mainstays of the line for two seasons.

Although Nutley loses one line luminary it retains another, Ed Edson, who has been the kingpin of Stanford's forward wall for three seasons. The approaching campaign will be his last in varsity competition and he is expected to again be the star of the Nutley team.

Last fall Edson, by virtue of his sterling work at a tackle berth, was chosen as an all-state tackle on the first team. Edson is the first Nutley High football representative to qualify for an all-state berth since Frank Kirkleski was chosen as New Jersey all-state quarterback in 1921 and 1922.

Edson, who tips the beams at 190 pounds, is powerfully built and despite his excessive weight is amazingly fast. He excels not only in the defense but also on the offense. He aids the ball carrier materially by creating enormous holes in the line through which his backfield mates plow for substantial gains with apparent ease. He crouches low in the line and possesses the unusual ability to diagnose plays. He is always on the lookout for enemy fumbles, ready to pounce upon a truant pigskin in a flash.

Edson, who is eighteen years old, is one of the leading candidates for the captaincy of the Nutley team this fall. The 1929 Maroon and Gray leader will be elected before the first game.

Besides Edson, Coach Stanford will have several other line veterans available for duty. Foremost among these are Hubert Crawford, end; George Wetherill, guard; Clement VanHorn, center, and Dixon Van Winkle, end.

Wetherill has been a varsity guard for three years and is counted on to do the bulk of the line work this fall. Van Horn saw service in several games last fall but was not a letterman. However, he has added more weight during the summer and it is expected that he will replace Schutte as the Nutley team's center.

VanHorn weighs 180 pounds now and he should prove a valuable addition to Nutley's line. His only handicap in recent years has been lack of weight, but now he has put on more poundage Van Horn should be one of the Nutley stars in the fall.

From the 1928 backfield Stanford inherited Howard Jones, a fast and shifty halfback, and Hank Stager, hard plunging fullback. Another backfield candidate will be Bucky Williamson. In an effort to keep in condition during the summer months Williamson and Jones are working on a ship bound for the Pacific Coast. They will not return home until September 20. Bill Sentner and Bill Wallace, also Letterman, are to return.

Another ball-carrier who will be eligible for varsity competition again is Alex Baykowski, Nutley's three-sport star, who excels not only on the gridiron but also on the diamond and on the court. Baykowski will be groomed for a quarterback berth, a position with which he is familiar. Baykowski will probably do all the passing, with ex-Captain Stager taking care of the punting.

The Nutley coach is anxious to mould together a reliable grid machine as soon as possible, for the opening game is only four weeks away. The 1929 grid campaign for Nutley will be ushered in with East Orange High School football eleven furnishing the opposition.

Nutley is in the habit of lining up against tough teams in the initial game of the year and the coming season will be no exception. East Orange has always produced well drilled elevens and the Nutley-East Orange game should be one of the early features of the high school grid season in New Jersey.

RAISE LICENSE AGE?

The traffic problem is tremendous. The best minds of the country are trying to find some means to relieve conditions on highways—taxed, in some cases, beyond capacity by motorists, where death, banditry, crime and reckless driving stalk.

Perhaps a compulsory insurance measure would help remedy the sad state of affairs. But we are forced to wonder. Here is a thought a good friend passed on to us. Some universities have banned autos among undergraduates. Youth is blamed.

Most of the crime so rampant is laid to youth. Reckless driving in many cases is laid at the door of young folks—much of it to sons and daughters of the wealthy—boys and girls of high school age.

What would a law accomplish if it required that licenses to operate a motor vehicle be given only to those who have reached of passed their twenty-fifth birthday?

It would cover the college situation! It would wipe out much of our youthful crime activities! And, certainly, it would cover the youngest of our present drivers! Not all of us have sense at twenty-five, or ever. But to our way of looking at it a person at twenty-five or over is more settled than before that age.

If we have not learned by that time life is precious, we never will. We dare say that such a law will never be enacted. We doubt the nerve of any official to utter such a thought publicly, let alone try to legislate it. But we agree with the person who passed it on to us that it is a means of accomplishing much toward the solving of the traffic problem with all its ills.

RAILROADS GETTING BACK OLD TRADE

Railroads are discovering, as a great many others have done, that it's a long lane that has no turning. Just when it seemed that they were to be overwhelmed by the automobile a way is opening for renewing the fight. On the first visit of the Graf Zeppelin to this Country there was such a traffic jam that many people were marooned for hours on the roads or the field at Lakehurst, N. J. There was little to eat and less to drink and the experience was close to being shipwrecked on a barren island. This last time elaborate preparations for handling even a greater crowd were made but only 20,000 turned out instead of the five times as many expected. Interest in the event was greatly lessened, of course, but still the traffic conditions are held chiefly responsible, for none who were there the first time could be caught in any such a mess again.

And so it is coming to be in every event of great public interest. Traffic jams are sure to be such as to destroy most of the pleasure of being present. Roads cannot keep the cars moving and there is not nearly enough room for parking. Hours are wasted crawling along an inch at a time or trying to get out of a maze of tortured drivers and clashing cars.

But the railroads are not subject to any such jams; they can take you there and bring you home in quick and efficient comfort. Hence they are advising leaving the automobile at home and buying a ticket when all the folks are especially interested in something. And prospects are very good that the crowds will be forced back to them very shortly. The football games and other great national spectacles are so nearly inaccessible in any reasonable comfort by automobiles even now that people are turning away from them and back to the older transportation that may not be quite so convenient in all ways but which is so much surer and more human.

Perhaps about the time the railroads get the automobile trade back the airplane will be finding some way of filching it away from them again but they may well entertain the hope they can have it back at least for a while. Anyway, a good many passenger agents are looking much more cheerful than was once the case.

THIRD CLASS TOURISTS

The steamship companies report a remarkable increase in the number of tourists travelling "Third class" bound for Europe. For the two months of June and July of this year one big company shows 12,113 tourists of this class, as compared with 9683 in the same months of last year.

This does not mean that there has been a sudden rush from the first cabin into the steerage, or that former emigrants now style themselves tourists. The change has come about in the last several years because steamship companies are furnishing accommodations now that were not thought of in connection with third class travel a few years ago.

In some ships the old steerage and second class quarters have been abolished, and more and better rooms provided for so-called third-class tourists. The public rooms correspond with those of the first class, with veranda cafe, smoking roof and lounge, and with dining tables limited, as desired, to two, four or six. Passengers furnished with such service are showing less aversion to being designated third class, and the steamship companies find the increased volume of traffic yields larger profits.

HOSTILE TO PROGRESS

A good many towns and some cities in the United States were hostile to automobiles when they first appeared on the roads. But they did not hold out long in opposition.

The same attitude toward the airplane is now in evidence. The flourishing and distinctive town of Pelham Manor, just outside of New York, proclaims that it will not be polluted by flying machines. They cannot be kept from flying over but the authorities have prohibited any land being used for aviation fields, hangars or even factories to make any variety of flying machines. It will be interesting to see how long Pelham Manor keeps airplanes off its sacred soil. Our guess is that it will not be many years.

Walter C. White, president of the White Motor Company, says: That during the 30 years I have been engaged in the truck and bus transportation industry. I have learned that if one wants to be a producer, he must build solidly and be a worker. The secret of having is in the getting. The man who gets things without work does not appreciate and evaluate properly, and is not nearly so likely to hold what he gets. Success is to be lasting and permanent, it has to be won, not merely accepted as a gift.

Another big point—if success is to be lasting and permanent it has to be built on a foundation of service and public interest. The more selfish and narrow the viewpoint of a man is, the more likely he is to go on a wrong track. If he looks at things from a broad social and economical viewpoint, his prosperity is much more likely to be sure and lasting.

No man develops a lasting success without successfully assuming responsibility and discharging it. It is all very well to theorize, and to study theory, but the man who would have a lasting success has to learn to apply theories, to work. Theorizing alone doesn't get far. Combination of plan and work is the thing. The more training a man can get the better, if he is to make his success permanent. I believe in training just as I believe in work. You can't get too much of the right kind of training. I believe further that true merit does not remain undiscovered. I believe that in most instances the outstanding man gets the job for which he has proved his fitness.

From my experience in employing men, I am much inclined to favor the man whose aims in life are something more than mere position, salary and individual achievement. There is a kind of unselfish personal achievement that carries with it personal reward, but the achievement is undertaken for its own sake and not for the sake of reward. The men that most nearly measure up to this kind of achievement are those who reap the greatest benefits for themselves, for their company, and their community.

A STICK OF POISONOUS RED

I saw a Miss at lunch one day, Her face was free from dye, Her eyes were bright like diamonds, How beautiful thought I.

A winsome creature, was this Miss, Hair silken on her head, But to my horror she brought forth, A stick of POISONOUS RED.

From a small case came forth a glass She looked into its face, And on her pretty lips she placed, This poisonous red, poor Grace.

She did not know her beauty soon, Would from her pass away, And crackled lips, and eyes so dull, Would strand her in life's way.

Oh silly Miss, please hear this cry, Pray save your pretty face, Abandon paint and lipstick now, Let beauty take its place. MYRON W. MORSE.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1928-29 by Wynne Ferguson Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1928, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 36

One of the difficulties that besets the average bridge player is the proper play of the hand when only a few cards remain; that is, the so-called "end play." Here is one that was submitted recently and is given as an example because it contains a principle that occurs very frequently:

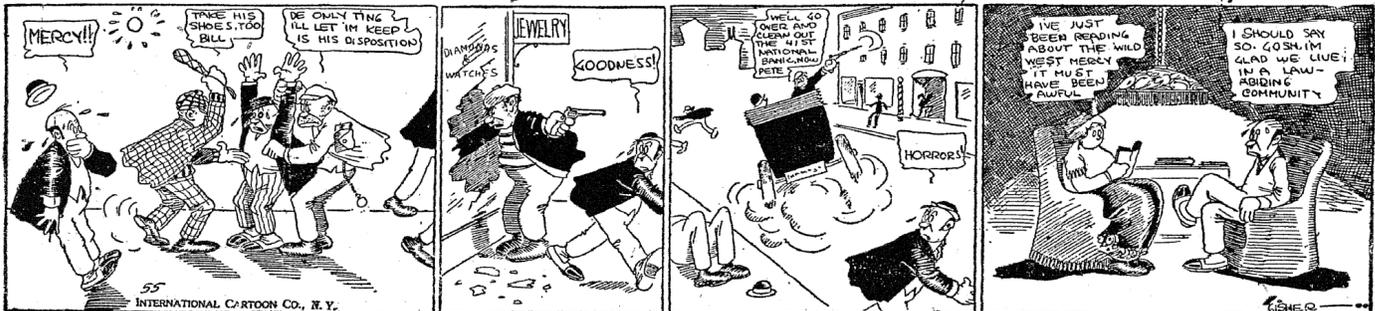

Hearts—8 Clubs—A, Q, 8 Diamonds—10 Spades—10, 7 Hearts—10, 9, 3 Clubs—10, 5, 4 Diamonds—10 Spades—none Hearts—none Clubs—K, J, 7, 3 Diamonds—Q Spades—9, 8 Hearts—J Clubs—9, 6, 2 Diamonds—none Spades—Q, J, 6

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can he play the hand so that he will win six of the seven tricks against any defense? The end play consists in first taking out all of B's cards, except clubs, so that when that suit is led, B will be forced to win the trick and lead back the same suit. This type of end play is called "stripping" the hand or the "elimination" play. Solution: Z should first lead two rounds of spades, winning the second spade trick in Y's hand with the ten of spades. Y should then lead the ten of diamonds and Z should trump with his last spade. Z should then lead the jack of hearts, on which B should discard

Answer to Problem No. 36 Hearts—J Clubs—7, 5, 4, 3, 2 Diamonds—Q Spades—Q, 7 Hearts—4 Clubs—J, 10 Diamonds—J, 10, 7, 5 Spades—9, 4 Hearts—none Clubs—A, Q, 9, 8 Diamonds—none Spades—A, J, 6, 5, 2 Hearts—10 Clubs—K, 6 Diamonds—9, 3 Spades—K, 10, 8, 3

If hearts are trumps and Z is in the lead, how can Y Z win eight of the nine tricks against any defense? Z should lead the ace of clubs. B has two plays: First, he can play a low club. If he does, Z leads the nine of clubs, forcing B in the lead. B must now lead either a heart, a diamond or a spade. If he leads the heart, Y wins the trick and leads out the queen of diamonds and on these two tricks Z should discard his two remaining clubs. Y's clubs are now good and he should lead them out. Z discards three low spades. Y should now lead the queen of spades and no matter what B does, Y Z must win two spade tricks. Suppose B at trick three leads a diamond. Y wins the trick and should lead the jack of hearts. Z discarding his two clubs as before. The play results the same. In case that B leads a low spade at trick three, Z should play low and allow Y to win the trick with the queen. Y should now play the jack of hearts and queen of diamonds and Z should discard his two clubs. If at trick three, B should lead the king of spades, Z should win the trick and put Y in the lead with the queen of spades at trick four. Y should then lead the jack of hearts and queen of diamonds as before, and the play is the same. Played in this way, therefore, Y Z must win all of the tricks but one.

On With The Show

By ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1929, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"ON WITH THE SHOW," is the first 100% natural color, Vitaphone picture. It is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

"Welcome Home," a musical comedy trying out on the road, is stranded. Willie Durant, the financial backer, is friendly with Nita French, the star, but, strangely enough, refuses to put up any more money. Behind Nita's back he is attentive to Kitty, the check room girl with stage aspirations, and induces her to leave her home and her father, "Dad" Malone, stage door man, and her sweetheart, Jimmy, head usher, to invest their life saving in the piece. It is Saturday night and Jerry Connelly, the manager, is unable to pay salaries. Sam Bloom, scenery builder, has come to collect or remove his sets.

"Hey, Jerry, I want to talk to you." It was Jimmy, his young eyes full of determination. Jerry backed away. "What, again? Is it about getting Kitty into the show?"

"Since you brought up the subject, when are you going to put Kitty on," Jimmy insisted. Jerry groaned. "I've told you a thousand times there's not a chance. No for the love of Pete stop pestering me. I've got all the troubles of the entire world on my shoulders and I can't stand much more."

"Oh, speaking of pests, that reminds me," the boy smiled brightly. "Sam Bloom is outside. He wants to see you."

"Have a heart! Did you tell him I was back here?" the manager demanded anxiously. "Sure, why not. Haven't you paid for the scenery?"

"Haven't I paid for the scenery! Have I paid for anything?" Jerry shouted. "Get out front, quick! head him off! Don't let him get back here. Tell him—tell him I've gone to Jericho—Asia—China—tell him I just died."

Jimmy hurried off. "Don't worry, Jerry, I'll get rid of him for you," he called back over his shoulder. "Curtain up!" came the call. A blast of music swept over the footlights. Jerry heaved a sigh of relief. At least the show was on. A vivid splash of silk-stockinged legs as the line-up of the girls went into their dance. Feet tapping, beating out the rhythm. The chorus boys dashed out onto the stage singing lustily. Jerry lighted a cigarette, pushed a stick of gum into his mouth and leaned against a piece of scenery.

"So, there you are!" A short, heavy set man planted himself in front of Jerry, a moody frown on his face. "Well, well, well. If it isn't old Sam Bloom, himself." Jerry smiled a sickly, half-hearted smile. "That great big prop and scenery magnet! Glad to see you, Sam."

"Yeh?" There was a decided question in Sam's voice. "Your doorman was tickled pink, too. So much so, that he tried to throw me out."

"Oh, don't mind that," Jerry apologized. "Most likely he didn't recognize you. I'm glad you dropped in to catch the show. Great little opera we've got here. You'll love it."

"I didn't come to catch the show," Sam returned dryly. "I came to catch you." He pulled a bill out of his pocket and thrust it under Jerry's nose. Jerry hedged for time. He had a cent to his name, at least, not enough to pay a bill for scenery, and the box office would certainly never be able to cover the amount. And Durant had not as yet put in an appearance at the theatre. He'd have to get out of it some way himself. There was one thing certain, he was going to take the show to Broadway, regardless.

"Now, look here, Sam," he began. "I'm going to pay this bill, certainly I'm going to pay it. Don't I always pay my bills? Now, give a guy a break, Sam. I happen to be just a little—er—financially embarrassed right at this moment, but—"

"That one won't work either," Sam shook his head decisively. "You've got a swell house out front. I just talked to Georgie in the box office. There's enough to cover a good chunk of this bill."

"Great grief, Sam, you can't take that box office tonight," Jerry caught the man's coat lapels and almost shook him. "Listen, boy, I need that dough to get the show in. Honestly, I've got a property here that'll knock Broadway for a loop. This is good for a summer run. Why man alive, I'll bet we'll be carrying this into next summer."

"Hm!" Where have I heard those words before?" Sam sniffed sceptically. "Well, take a look at it," Jerry pleaded. "Look at those costumes. Just listen to that music. If you don't think this show won't go over you're a sap. I've got to have all the money that's in that box office tonight just to pay off some of those poor kids. They all know the show's going to be a hit, and they've been stringing along with me. I can't let them down. They've got to eat. The noise of the mechanism that pulled a painted boat up to the levee drowned out Jerry's words. "Blow that whistle and ring that bell."

Tell the traveler all is well And he's welcome home. Yes, he's welcome home. Grab his satchels and take his grips. Plant sweet kisses upon his lips Cause he's welcome home!

"That's what Broadway's going to be singing to us the night we land there," Jerry shouted, trying to make himself heard above the vibrant voices of the chorus as they heralded the arrival of one, Harold Astor, stepping down from the gang-plank, resplendent in his white flannel suit, enhanced by a pale lavender tie, breast pocket handkerchief, and socks.

A burst of applause came from the audience and resounded happily in Jerry's ears. He must convince Sam that there was money in the show. He knew Sam Bloom. He had done business with him before. Sam either got paid or he took his scenery that would be the end of everything. That scenery had to get to Broadway, and it had to get there as the property of the "Welcome Home" Company. He looked around anxiously as though hoping to find some solution to his problem.

Even as he looked, he saw a pair of beautifully formed legs moving languorously along behind the backdrop. Flashing stones of purest white scintillated in the gloom of the semi-darkened wings. Nita French strolled slowly, swaying provocatively on her rhinestone studded heels. Her vivid red hair was bright about the oval, creamy-tinted face. The pouting red lips that could tighten into a thin line, and very often did, now looked soft and inviting. Despite her many years on the stage, most of which she had conveniently forgotten, Nita could still make up.

"Well, if it isn't Nita French, herself," Sam Bloom whirled about at the sound of her approaching steps. "In the flesh, baby, in the flesh!" Nita held out a brilliantly pink-tipped hand in greeting. Jerry breathed a sigh of relief, glad of any interruption which might turn the attention of Sam Bloom from his desire to collect.

"How are you, Nita?" Sam smiled. "Fine until I saw you," Nita pouted. "Every time we meet the show I'm in closes." She waved airily and stepped into the wings waiting for the cue for her entrance. "This troupe," Sam spoke thoughtfully, as though a sudden idea had dawned. "That means her boy friend Willie Durant, is putting up a show. His tone was more conciliatory. "How come you're so broke, Jerry? Durant's rolling in money. Where is he? I think I'll have a little talk with him myself. Maybe we can get this matter straightened out between us. You're a nice boy, Jerry, and I wouldn't want to do anything to hurt your show."

"Well, as a matter of fact," Jerry began slowly. "Durant sort of went cold on us. Lost his taste for the show business. He's as good as refused to put up another cent. He hasn't turned up this evening yet. I'm waiting for him now."

"Well, what a crust you've got," Sam waxed indignant. "Durant won't back his own show, and you ask me to hold the bag for the scenery." "But I'm telling you he went cold on us."

"Trial Of Mary Dugan" At Capitol

Six cameras and six microphones were trained on every scene taken in the huge courtroom set for "The Trial of Mary Dugan," Bayard Veiller's all-talking picture which opens Wednesday at the Capitol Theatre as a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production. Bayard Veiller, author-producer of the sensational stage hit, who personally directed the talkie version of his murder drama, used the unusual number of cameras and sound recorders in order to obtain as many different angles and voice "distances" as possible.

Norma Shearer makes her talkie debut in the title role of the court-play, and Lewis Stone, H. B. Warner and Raymond Hackett are cofeatured with her. The supporting cast includes Mary Moran, Lilyan Tashman, Myra Hampton, Dewitt Jennings, Olive Tell and many other stage and screen notables.

Miss Muriel Machette and Miss Eunice Durant, who have made quite a reputation for themselves as songsters, will be heard all week on the stage of the Capitol. Manager Jacobs wishes to announce that he will be pleased to give a tryout to any singers in Belleville or Nutley who believe they have talent.

LARSON TO AID POLLUTION FIGHT

Promises Hartley To Ask Health Board To Assist In Purifying Passaic

A committee of citizens headed by Representative Fred A. Hartley, Jr., of Kearny waited upon Governor Larson Friday and asked his support in putting an end to pollution of the Passaic River. With Mr. Hartley were John C. Lloyd of Belleville and Percy R. Pearce and Willard Keller of Newark.

Mr. Hartley told the Governor that factories along the Passaic continue to pollute the river and that suits instituted against violators have not been pressed by the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission.

The Governor said the matter was new to him and that he would look into it. He declared he would ask the State Department of Health to act.

United States Senator Kean advocated the passage of laws giving more power to the State Department of Health as a means of ending pollution of the Passaic. Years ago, Mr. Kean said, the health board had more power than now. He believes laws should be passed empowering the state health authorities to prohibit pollution of any stream in New Jersey.

KEARNY PIPE LINE PUT IN RIVER

Duct To Carry Wanaque Supply Placed In Passaic Saturday

Navigation in the Passaic River north of the Belleville-Kearny bridge was suspended Saturday from 1 o'clock, while a forty-two-inch water pipe, which will be used to carry water from Wanaque to Kearny was being lowered to a cradle at the bed of the river.

The pipe is 510 feet long and weighs 450 tons. It is identical with a pipe placed on the river bed several weeks ago and which it will parallel.

The river was closed by authority of the War Department and the State Department of Commerce and Navigation. Paul Jones, superintendent of the job, which is being performed by the Spiniello Construction Company, said a central section of the pipe was connected. This took until about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, following which the big main section was lowered.

Mayor James W. Harvey of Kearny, Mayor Alfred F. Barnard of North Arlington, Captain J. William Griffin, engineer of the Kearny Water Department; Thomas J. McCarthy, engineer for the Spiniello concern, and a number of other officials witnessed the work.

Short Stretch Yet
When the pipes were hooked together there remained only a short stretch of similar piping to be placed under Belleville streets to the reservoir which is the point of delivery of Wanaque water to Kearny as specified in the contracts of that town with the North Jersey District Water Supply Commission, the City of Newark, Paterson, Passaic and other municipalities.

Kearny was one of the first of the group of municipalities to enter the Wanaque watershed project in partnership with the North Jersey commission and under its contract will be allowed to draw a maximum of 12,000,000 gallons daily. The present daily consumption of water in Kearny is approximately 5,000,000 gallons, 2,000,000 of which is consumed by the residential population and the remainder by the industrial establishments in the meadow section.

It was also announced that plans for a return game between the Nutley and Belleville Lions, are set for Clearman Field, Thursday, September 19.

IDAHO BOY SCOUTS MAKE SURVEY OF SHOSHONE ICE CAVE REGION

To Act As Guides For Tourists Visiting Scenic Wonders Of Their State

Boy Scouts of Shoshone, Idaho, have made a complete survey of the Shoshone Ice Caves and during the summer and autumn months will act as guides to visitors in that section of Idaho to show them some of the natural wonders of the cave region.

Alpha Kinsey, local residents say, was the first man to record the entering of the ice caves in the early 90's. The largest cave is one of a series of caverns which extend in a meandering course from Gooding Cottonwood ranch up to the Black Butte Crater. The Crater is about two miles above the largest of the Shoshone Ice Caves. Smaller bodies of ice are found in a number of the caves. The ice caves, experts say, are products of natural phenomenon. Severe weather conditions, the presence of water and a thick layer of rock which forms a refrigerator and physical conditions such as will make possible the forcing of air down into the Cave's mouth, is what causes the formation of the ice.

The Scouts have made a complete survey of the largest cave's interior and measurements of its dimensions were made, showing the entire length to be more than 300 feet. The outside corridor, measuring from where ice is first found, was shown to be approximately 50 feet in length. The second chamber, measuring from the stairway to the point of rocks at the entrance to the inner chamber, was found to be 125 feet. The distance around the rocks was measured at 50 feet. The inner chamber has a length of 75 feet. Width of the cave varies from 20 to 40 feet, and the height of the ceiling averages about 15 feet. The cave was found almost free of water upon the floor. Pictures of the inner chamber of the cave were taken and will be used by the State Chamber of Commerce.

Telephone Company Plans Irvington Business Office

A Telephone Business Office is to be located in Irvington. Announcement was made today by the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company of the lease of 1033 Springfield avenue, corner premises in the Weber Building now under construction, for the purpose. The company expects to occupy the 2,300 square feet of office space leased by October 15.

The new office will be the first telephone business office in Irvington, which is served now by the company's office in the Telephone Headquarters Building at 540 Broad street, Newark.

Frank A. Hickey, district manager for the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, said today that the new office will handle all Essex and Unionville accounts, and be available for personal payment of bills and other telephone business for all subscribers in Irvington and the Unionville central office district.

The new counterless arrangement recently adopted by the company for its new offices will be used in Irvington, Mr. Hickey said, permitting the transaction of telephone business by subscribers and telephone representatives conveniently at individual desks.

Modest Flushing Home Gets One Millionth Feature Frigidaire

The millionth Frigidaire, a feature at the National Electric Light Association's recent Atlantic City convention, and sought by notables and institutions, will guard the food and health of a modest Flushing, N. Y., household.

The history-making electric refrigerator was awarded to Mrs. Santa Spiller, 3 Jagger avenue, Flushing, by the Domestic Electric Co. Inc., New York Frigidaire distributor, following a contest in which about 4,000 persons participated.

Production of this cabinet was celebrated throughout the country by Frigidaire Corporation as one of the outstanding achievements of this General Motors subsidiary. Plans to place the millionth cabinet in the company's laboratory along with the first models, or to presented it to one of the many officials and notables who sought it were considered. However, the decision was reached to award it to some New York housewife.

The cabinet contains all features choice of the majority, including the famous Frigidaire cold control for faster freezing and more satisfactory dessert making.

Large Sums Expended By Phone Company

The New Jersey Bell Telephone Company is spending almost a half million dollars a week this year constructing new telephone facilities to keep pace with the residential and industrial growth of the state.

Expenditures authorized by the directors of the company Thursday, last week, for this purpose totaled more than $1,500,000. In all, more than $23,000,000 has been appropriated to expand and improve the statewide telephone system during 1929. Approximately another $5,000,000 has been appropriated during this year for work to be done in subsequent years.

These appropriations for construction are entirely apart from the operating and other expenses of the company. Principal items in the last appropriations include expenditure of over $600,000 for additional cable facilities to Philadelphia and the New Jersey part of the cable route to New York State points, both being arterial routes of the Bell System long distance lines.

Opening Rally Of Essex County Chapter A. I. Of Banking

The annual Opening Rally of the Essex County Chapter, Incorporated, American Institute of Banking, is to be held in the Mosque Ballroom on Wednesday evening, September 11.

This is the first general meeting of the Chapter this fall, although last evening, the annual Consul and Vice Consul Dinner was held at the Down Town Club in Newark. At this dinner, Charles F. Ellery, member of the National Executive Council of the A. I. B. was the principal speaker. At this time the plans for the coming season were discussed and means for securing new members were gone over.

At the general rally on September 11, Congressman Franklin W. Fort will be the speaker of the evening. Following his address there will be dancing for those that wish.

The American Institute of Banking, the educational section of the American Bankers' Association, has at present a membership of over 65,000 bank men and women of whom nearly 44,000 are taking advantage of the courses arranged by the 204 Chapters of which it is composed. Essex County Chapter is the eleventh largest in the country and had a class enrollment of over 700 last year, of whom 127 received Institute Certificates of various kinds.

A careful analysis of the Chapter's active student body has been made and four regular and three special courses, taught by eight men, who are specialists, are to be given this year starting September seventh.

Cattle Dealer Fined For Beating A Cow

Fined $25 in Belleville Friday on a charge of cruelty to animals, Hyman Gordon, forty-five, Pine Brook cattle dealer, paid under protest. He told Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons he could not have employed other means than he was accused of using to get a cow into his market wagon.

Hyman was arrested by Patrolman Richard Nourse Friday morning when a woman telephoned police he was beating a cow "shamefully" at Belleville avenue and Main street. The officer testified Hyman was wielding a stick on the animal when he arrived. Hyman said one of the three cows he had in the truck had laid down. Fearing it would be trampled on, he unloaded a cow, stood the first animal up, and was trying to get the unloaded bovine back again.

After his arrest, Hyman pleaded with police against detaining his cows. They would be late to market he said, and there would be no market Monday and he was "only a poor man." Sergeant George Wirtz allowed the cows to proceed under guidance of the truck driver.

Why add to your Fall Bills-

when you can buy your Winter's coal more cheaply in the Spring

Fall and early Winter always bring added expenses. Fall bills greatly outweigh those of Spring.

But there is no need to add your fuel bill to the others that arrive late in the year. For coal does not deteriorate with storage, nor change in style.

When you buy your coal in the Spring you buy it when it is most easily paid for—and at Spring prices.

We are now offering such prices on all sizes of Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite—that notably high-grade hard coal—pure, clean and of uniformly high quality.

94% OF THE TIME IT'S UNSAFE TO TRUST THE WEATHER

Study of U. S. Weather Bureau Reports Shows Only 19 Days a Year Average in United States When Outdoor Temperatures are Safe for Food Preservation

Mother Nature is a poor guardian of perishable foods. Back-porch and window-sill makeshifts for food preservation are unsatisfactory, insanitary, unsafe. Study of United States Weather Bureau reports shows that only 19 days a year on an average in the United States afford outdoor temperatures that are safe for perishable foods. Ninety-four per cent of the time it is too warm—too cold.

Trusting to these makeshifts is not an economy. The food spoilage—a little here, a little there—amounts to a staggering loss at the end of a year. And the menace to health lurks always in these perishables that are improperly preserved.

Health Authorities, everywhere, recommend adequate artificial refrigeration the year around as the only safe and satisfactory way to preserve perishable foods. Take this step now to save money and safeguard the health of your family.

Sales Director Says Registrations Show Straight Eight Trend

With automobile production and sales this year surpassing high records of years gone by, it is evident that public trend toward the straight eight is rapidly growing in intensity, according to Thomas E. Jarrard, general sales director of the Marmon Motor Car Company.

A survey of automobile registrations throughout the country for the first seven months of the year conclusively shows that sales of eight cylinder cars are greater this year than ever before. Mr. Jarrard pointed out. This fact, he said, is apparent not only in the large cities and thickly populated areas, but in the rural districts and, in fact, wherever automobiles are used or sold.

"When all facts are taken into consideration, this rather remarkable increase in public desire for eights is not an unusual circumstance, but rather the natural result of growing knowledge of the advantages of this type of car," Mr. Jarrard said. "Likewise, the factor of price has been significant, for it must be realized that, by and large, the eight is lower in price than ever before.

"Even a year ago, it was not believed within the realm of possibility for a straight-eight to be offered at anywhere near the $1,000 figure, yet today we have our own Roosevelt at this price and any number of standard makes of eights in the more expensive groups. The eight, as a matter of fact, has been brought within the reach of the everyday motorist with whom price is the chief consideration, and Mr. Average Citizen may now drive this type of car and enjoy its advantages as well as the man who can afford a higher priced car.

"We have only to look back on the earlier days of the industry to find that automobile history is only, in a sense, repeating itself. There was a time when the six was the car just beyond the average pocket-book, but the inevitable advances of engineering and manufacturing brought the six into the low price field where it was immediately purchased by literally millions of motorists.

"Then the eight came into being and, as its advantages were recognized it became the accepted mode of high-priced transportation. Again, progressive engineers and manufacturers set to work, and it was not long until the eight was not the costly automobile it had once been, but a newcomer in the so-called medium price group. This year Marmon completed the job with the new Roosevelt at $995. f. o. b. factory.

"In the minds of automotive experts there is no question but that the eight cylinder engine is the type best suited to modern motor roads. Its acceleration, smoothness and general all-around performance are qualities that cannot be ignored and its longevity and economy recommended it to every motorist."

Legion Convention Draws Many Folks To Elizabeth

Elizabeth, September 4.—Opening with the pre-convention ball Wednesday evening, the eleventh annual convocation of the State Department of the American Legion formally got under way at Elizabeth, Union County. Approximately 3,000 delegates and alternates from posts in all sections of the state participated in marking this anniversary of the formation of the organization in this state.

The first business session which all delegates and guests attended was opened yesterday morning at the Elks' Hall by State Commander Herbert H. Blizzard. The Ladies' Auxiliary convened at the Elizabeth Carteret Hotel at the same time. The 40 et 8 had been allotted its own meeting place.

Nomination of officers was conducted with the election scheduled for this afternoon. The sessions start promptly at 9 A. M. and 2 P. M. All sessions of the delegates are addressed by some national personage, including men active in governmental life. Governor Morgan F. Larson has signified his intention of being present to address the body and to march in the parade, tomorrow. He will be accompanied by a large detachment of the New Jersey National Guard and the 114th Regiment band. The dirigible "Los Angeles" flies over the city each day, and on one of its trips will drop a message of greeting to be read in open session.

Probably the most spectacular sight of the gathering will be the parade on Saturday in which thousands of delegates and guests will march in line. State Commander Blizzard has been named honorary marshal. Bands from every County in the State will provide music for the marchers and banners will proclaim the designation of each unit.

One other colorful feature will be the annual competition on Saturday of drill teams and band, bugle and drum corps. The competitions will be held in the stadium at Warinanco Park which has a seating capacity of many thousands. State trophies will be awarded to the winners. The Elizabeth convention committee also has provided for a number of monetary prizes. An award has been set aside for the county being most largely represented in the parade, while the Ladies' Auxiliary also will present a prize to the county turning out the largest number of members. These prizes are expected to be hotly contested because of rivalry among a number of counties for next year's convention site. They will be largely represented.

New Hupp Quality Attracts The Public

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 5.—Hundreds of telegrams and letters, testifying to the quality and value of the new 1930 Huppmobile Six, are being received by the Hupp Motor Car Corporation from all parts of the United States and Canada.

Many of these come from mechanically inclined owners, mechanics and dealers, and stress the unusual mechanical details of the new car.

One of the outstanding features of the car, which was announced the week of August 5th, is its roominess. The interior of the new car is even greater than its predecessor although selling for several hundred dollars less.

List prices of the new car are: Commercial Coupe, $995; Sedan, $1060; Convertible Cabriolet, $1075 and Phaeton, $1100.

Effortless handling and riding of the model "S" are accentuated by over-sized seating accommodations. The front seat is wider than the average—49 inches. The same is true of the rear seat which is 50 1/2 inches wide. Comfortable driving position, partially obtained from leg room in the front compartment, is assured in the new car. The distance from the front seat edge to clutch and brake pedals is more than ample—15 1/2 inches. As in the rear compartment, a detailed study of various driving positions has developed the most comfortable posture form for the front seat and seatback. More than ample leg room is provided in the tonneau. Exceptionally wide doors provide unusually ample entrance space to both front and rear compartments.

Quality Mechanical Features

The mechanical features of the new Huppmobile Six are typical of Huppmobile quality construction. A new departure in the $1000 price field is the use of two adjustable tapered roller bearings in the rear wheels instead of the conventional single bearing. These two bearings take both radial and thrust load, and assure long life, smooth and quiet operation.

Because engine vibration is multiplied in light crankshafts, Huppmobile has increased the weight of the unit until it is one of the heaviest in its price field. The shaft weighs 76 1/2 pounds. Four heavy counterweights assist in producing smooth, vibrationless performance. Another feature is the large crankshaft "cheeks"—that portion of the shaft between bearing surfaces. Their unusual size and design tend to assist in smooth performance.

Further engine lubrication is obtained through "bleeder" holes in the connecting rods which spurt oil onto cylinder walls and provide an additional oil spray to the valve taps.

Among other engine attributes which brought favorable comments are: Machined cylinder head; three-point, adjustable, silent chain drive camshaft to and generator; specially designed carburetor for quick get-away; force feed lubrication to all main, connecting rod and piston pin bearings; rifle drilled connecting rods; diamond bored connecting rod bearings; weighed and balanced pistons in sets for each engine, and honed cylinder. The engine of the new Huppmobile model "S" Six, as still further evidence of outstanding quality of the new car, is the same engine used in the Century Six, yet refined to provide greater power, speed and smoothness.

Watchman Gets Scare At The Rare Metals Company

Wet to the skin as he wandered along the Erie Railroad tracks in Belleville Friday night, Arthur Brown of Peoria, Ill., spied the welcoming warmth of a boiler room through an open door of the Rare Metals Products Company. He entered and settled himself comfortably.

A few minutes later Patrolmen Smith and Anderson escorted him to a cell at headquarters for the remainder of the night. The night watchman had seen the entry and telephoned police. He had cause to be careful, since two weeks ago a man who walked into the boiler room turned out to be one of two tire thieves, both of whom engaged in gunplay with the watchman before their exodus.

Saturday morning at headquarters the watchman said Brown was not one of the gunmen and refused to press a charge against him.
