Three Nabbed After Hold-Up

Youths Planned To Rob Lunch Wagon, Bloomfield Police Say They Admit

Three Newark youths, arrested in Belleville and accused of robbing a taxi driver at gun point in a secluded section of town early Friday morning are said to have admitted they had intended "sticking up" a lunch wagon at Bloomfield avenue and Grove street, Bloomfield.

The youths were arraigned Friday before Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons on charges of highway robbery and carrying concealed weapons, are: Alfonse Amatucci, nineteen, alias Al White, of 37 Crane street; William Mangrella, twenty-one, alias Shorty, of 104 Peabody place and Arthur L. Pierce, colored, eighteen, of 113 Emmet street.

Amatucci and Mangrella were held in $25,000 bail each on charges of highway robbery and $5,000 each for carrying concealed weapons. Pierce, was held in $25,000 on the highway robbery charge.

Suspicious of the cab when they sighted it in the Belwood Park section, Patrolmen John J. Flynn and Elmer Leighton, patrolling in the police car, followed it a mile to Harrison street and Brighton avenue, where they accosted the driver, Mangrella, who, it is said, had taken the wheel from Alfonse Caruso of 321 Market street. The taxi driver was held a prisoner by the three, it is charged.

The hold-up netted only $3 taxi receipts. Amatucci wanted to return the money, the youths said in statements, when he found the driver also was Italian.

The cab was hailed at Bloomfield avenue and Broadway, where, it is charged, the three had planned robbing the lunch wagon. Pierce had not favored the act, having no weapon, he said, and the taxi hold-up was staged instead. The driver was robbed in Joramelon street, near the Bloomfield line. There is no house near that point.

In their statements the youths are said to have told of their sensations while perpetrating the hold-up. Mangrella said he was "shaking like a leaf in the wind" and could not talk. Amatucci said he suffered a "cold chill." Pierce said he did not take part, having no "defense." Two revolvers were found in the cab.

Stern Guardian Falls For Ward's Pet Gold Digger

He came, he saw, he was conquered! This paraphrase of the historical saying of the great Caesar applies to Conway Tearle, famous star of stage and screen, and the unusual events surrounding him in "Gold Diggers of Broadway," latest Warner Bros. picture which came to the Capitol Theatre on Wednesday.

Mr. Tearle, in "Warner Bros." comedy extravaganza, enacts the stern guardian of the son of a wealthy family. The ward desires to marry a chorus girl. Following his duty as he sees it, Tearle attempts to investigate the girl's character and while doing so becomes acquainted with another fair member of the chorus and promptly falls in love himself.

This, and a thousand and one other whirlwind happenings make "Gold Diggers of Broadway" one of the funniest and most spectacular of pictures. The all-star cast includes such well-known stage and screen celebrities as Ann Pennington, Nancy Wellesford, Nick Lucas, Lilyan Tashman, William Bakewell, Helen Foster, Winnie Lightner, Albert Gran, Gertrude Short, Neely Edwards, Julia Swayne Gordon, Lee Moran, Armand Kaliz and many others.

Robert Lord did the adaptation of the Avery Hopwood play. Larry Ceballos was in charge of the stage presentation. Roy Del Ruth directed.

An ordinance which was adopted by a three to two vote, providing for the extension of the Health Officers term of office from two to three years, also provides that the salary be increased from $2,800 to $3,000. Objections to the measure was voiced by Commissioner Frank J. Carragher and James Gibson, who said that it is not proper to have the term carry over into that of a new commission which will be elected in May.

Another ordinance provided for an increase for the plumbing inspector, Edward O'Connor, from $2,400 to $2,500.

Amos 'n Andy Give Kick To Judge Fitzsimmons And Then--

When police court interferes with radio let police court wait or else change the time of court—especially if Amos 'n Andy, blackface comedians are on the air.

At least, this is the attitude of Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons who is a devout listener-in to the pair at 9 o'clock each night. Ordinarily the recorder held court at this hour. But of late he has been emulating Mayor James Walker of New York by arriving late on the job.

Monday night was unusual in Police court. Some of the Town Commissioners attended to see how things functioned. They waited impatiently but no recorder. Finally the police called Mr. Fitzsimmons at his home.

"I'm sorry," said Mrs. Fitzsimmons, who answered the phone, "But the judge cannot be disturbed. He is listening to the radio and will not leave until his favorite program concludes."

Eventually the recorder arrived in his sanctum sanctorum and after disposing of some minor matters came across a case involving family difficulties between Mr. and Mrs. George Sessom, colored, of Newark avenue, Belleville.

It developed Mr. Sessom said he turned over all his wages each week to Mrs. Sessom, who claimed non-support.

"How much do you earn?" the recorder asked the husband. "Oh, some weeks I get $5 and sometimes I don't." But I give it all to my wife. I just borrowed $40 on my government insurance and she got that."

"How much have you got left?" queried the recorder.

"Oh, let's see. You are the man who owes the court $2 from a former case," was another remark from the recorder.

The attendance is gradually increasing, forty-eight being present Sunday evening. The League is attempting to reach a new high mark for the first meeting of the new year. ## Park A. C. Engages Danceland Darkies For February 8

The Park Athletic and Social Club, Inc., Friday night entered into a contract with John Richardson and his "Virginia Pals" to play at the second annual dance to be held on Saturday, February 8, at Elks' Hall. These musicians will be the main attraction of the evening. Their leader, John Richardson, is a special treat with his trombone.

After graduating from Jenkin's Orphanage Band he played with the "Black and Whites" of Virginia, then traveled to England where he was engaged by the "Piccadilly Club" in London. Two other members played with the "Blacks and Tans" in California. The cornet player played with Al Bennett and his "Red Rhythms."

The varied experiences of this group have changed them from ordinary musicians to artists. They broadcast over WJN and WAAM once a week and play four nights at Dance Land in Newark. Since the Parks make this entertainment an annual affair and seek to run a high-class dance, giving their supporters total satisfaction, they go to the extreme in obtaining an orchestra that will aid their dance to gain popularity.

Negotiations are now under way to hire another local popular band so that there will be continuous dancing.

Seeks Hiding Place In Bloomfield Attic After Chase By Cops

Recorder Fitzsimmons Sets $5,000 Bail For Man In Theft Case

Found hiding among rafters of the attic of a house at 204 Ampere Parkway, Bloomfield, after he was chased by police from the scene of a robbery of a dry-goods store in Belleville early Monday morning, Anthony Pampinella, twenty-one, of 63 Franklin street, was arrested and charged with breaking and entering. He was held in $5,000 bail for Grand Jury by Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons, Monday night.

Pampinella was seen hurrying away from Landau Brothers' department store, 18 Bloomfield avenue, by Patrolmen J. J. Flynn and Elmer Leighton when they became suspicious of a small automobile parked in front of the store. Leighton followed and aided by Sergeant Clancy and Patrolmen Clark and Reeves of Bloomfield arrested him. They were accompanied by a person who said he had heard noise at a cellar door at the Ampere Parkway house. Police said no one in the house heard.

In the car police found thirty-two pairs of working trousers, nine boys' pants, sixteen boys' blouses, several suits of women's underwear, eleven boys' union suits and one glove. The proprietor of the store said a large quantity of silk stockings and gloves had been taken. The door to the store was broken.

According to Police Chief Michael Flynn, Pampinella admitted knowing of the robbery, but said it had been committed by a party named "Mickey," to whom he had lent the car. He was to receive $50, he said. As a mechanic employed in a garage at Bloomfield avenue and Ninth street the car was in his custody for repairs, he said. Police found the car license had been issued to a man listed at 163 Broad street, Bloomfield. That address is a vacant lot.

Police believe Pampinella knows the full name of the person he lent the car to and that he acted as lookout.

POOR CHILDREN WERE GIVEN TOYS BY BOY SCOUTS CHRISTMAS TIME

Repair Shops Operated In Many Cities As Yuletide "Good Turn" By Boy Scouts Of America

The collecting, repairing and re-painting of toys which were presented to poor children at Christmas time occupied the spare time of Boy Scouts throughout the United States this month. The work was done under the supervision of local Scout Councils in many cities and as individual Troop projects in many others.

First to Open

The first Boy Scout toy shop to start work this year was conducted by the Birmingham, Alabama Council under the supervision of the Sea Scouts of the Regional Sea Scout Flagship "Leif" Erickson, of that city. Last year the honor of opening the first toy shop went to the Boy Scouts of Oklahoma City, Okla., where twelve Scout Troops pledged themselves to turn out 2,400 good as new Christmas toys by December 15.

In addition to the repairing of old toys, the Scouts manufactured new mechanical toys and carved wooden animals to add to the stock.

Scout Troops in Brooklyn, N. Y., Pueblo, Colo., and Milwaukee, Wis., were among the first to report the start of their work this year. Since the first of December it is estimated that more than one hundred toy shops have started operations in different parts of the United States. The shops are improvised in vacant stores, cellars of Boy Scouts' homes, Troop meeting rooms and any other place where a large quantity of work and a small quantity of noise won't be considered a disturbance.

The Scouts usually start with their campaign for broken toys with the distribution of posters made by the Scouts, asking people to donate their children's old or discarded toys to the Boy Scouts for repair and distribution to the poor children of the city. Then a house to house campaign is conducted and the toys are collected, distributed to various Scout Troops and summarily repaired. Then, cooperating with the social agencies, welfare federations or the overseer of the poor, the Scouts determine the children to whom the gifts are to be given and deliver them on Christmas morning. Many of them go to charity wards of hospitals and orphan asylums.

Scouts Do Work
The repair work is distributed according to the talent of the Scout who is to get the work. Scout painters decorate the toy houses, artistically inclined Scouts repaint doll faces and lamp shades, other Scouts mechanically inclined, replace missing pieces from electric trains and other mechanical toys. Still others manufacture new arms, legs, bodies and hair for orphaned dolls and animals.

In previous years every municipality where the Scouts did toy repair work took a real active interest in what the Scouts were doing, and gave them enough toys to keep them busy for many days before Christmas.

SCOUT HERO

A blind athlete, who runs the 100-yard dash in 10:3 and who was an honor student in high school and class leader, reported for freshman crew practice at the University of Washington on the first day of the practice season. He is Scout Howard Dent, 17 years old, who is six feet tall and weighs 153 pounds.

The coach at the University, Al Ulbrichson, believes that the blind-

taining abrasives to the working parts of the engine where it might cause excessive wear and even more serious difficulties.

This complete type of oil filtration is vastly superior to the more common practice of filtering only part of the oil, and the dumping that filtered part back into the dirty oil in the crankcase. In this latter method, only one filter of small capacity is used. It is located in a by-pass line from the pump, and only part of the oil goes through this by-pass, after which it is dumped back into the engine pump where it is again polluted. The oil pump picks up this mixture of a little clean oil and a lot of dirty oil and passes it on to the bearing surfaces.

Thousands of owners, who have experienced increased performance efficiency, longer life, and lower upkeep costs on their cars, attest the value of Hupmobile's complete oil filtration method. It is only one of many features of Hupmobile standardized high quality, which has come as the result of twenty-one years of consistent quality manufacture.

Flyer To Stay On Ground Until Nash Tests Are Complete

Kenosha, Wis., December 27.—The country's great air lanes have lost temporarily at least one of their best known and most consistent customers. But, in this instance, the air's loss is the open road's gain and the whole transaction looks up on the credit side of the American transportation progress book.

For when Col. Arthur C. Goebel, the pioneer pilot and transcontinental champion, whose work has done so much toward the development of motors generally, wheeled his new and specially equipped Nash Twin-Ignition Eight Cabriolet away from the Nash factory yard, he declared that he intends to stay on the ground until he has tested out every detail of its advanced mechanical features and its unequalled performance attributes.

Eschewing his favorite, mile-high mode of travel for the smooth and effortless flight of the new straight-eight, he swung into the Lincoln highway for an overland run to Kansas City and thence south through Oklahoma and Texas for an old fashioned bear hunt in old Mexico. He plans to drive the car on to California, following his Mexican visit, and to use the new Nash as his official car for aviation work on the coast.

Col. Goebel, long a prominent Nash owner, is thoroughly acquainted with the advanced twin-ignition, high compression, valve-in-head motor which powers his latest road favorite. He has used the same type of motor in many of his epoch making flights, notably the historic battle which won him the Dole Air Derby from San Francisco to Hawaii and on his record breaking non-stop run from Los Angeles to New York.

"There are only two places to find the kind of motor performance that twin-ignition, as it is applied to this new car, gives," he told C. H. Bliss, Sales Manager. "One is in the air among the best airplane motors, and the other is under the Nash hood. I always feel that I have all of the odds in my favor, whether on land or in the air, when I can feel this kind of twin-ignition motor working for me."

The ace's new car is finished in faun and ivory, a striking but beautiful color combination, and is equipped with the latest development in chromium plated wire wheels. Its every metal part is chromium plated and a vivid contrast is supplied by the red natural leather which forms the upholstery.

Notice to the public

SUPPOSE you are today paying 50c a tube for your tooth paste (and there are many very good dentifrices selling today at that price).

Suppose, like most people, you buy about twelve tubes during a year. Now if you knew that you could buy as good a dentifrice as can be made and still save each year the price of 25 loaves of bread or 60 bars of soap or 40 pounds of sugar or a box of fine cigars—could you conscientiously fail to take advantage of such an opportunity?

That is exactly what you do when you buy Listerine Tooth Paste at 25c for a large tube. Figure it out for yourself.

PROGRESS AND EDUCATION

Yesterday we rode in the ox cart and horse-drawn vehicle—today in the high speed motor car and the airplane. Yesterday we plowed with sticks and oxen—today with tractors and multiple plows. Yesterday the candle was our only means of illumination—today electricity "floods the earth." Yesterday fifty miles of cross-country travel per day was unusual—today a few hundred is the usual. Yesterday the paved road was unheard of—today thousands of miles of hard-surfaced, "all-year" highways traverse the country. Yesterday we attended the community entertainment of questionable quality—today we sit in our homes and enjoy every type of entertainment over the radio. Yesterday we sent our communications by messenger—today we send them by air-mail, or wireless. Yesterday we read news a week-old—today it is printed as it is happening.

Education has brought our yesterdays into our todays. It has enabled us to think of "what was" in terms of "what is."

These succeeding changes in the parade of progress have brought their concern—concern for their influence on the mode of living—the habits and opportunities of a hundred million people. It has meant a constant adjusting of the educational objectives in order to train youth and adult to the new life. Herein is the contribution the schools have made. It has been a process of mind development. The training has keyed the mental to control the physical. It has proved a governor, a safety valve, a regulator of human conduct, behavior and effort.

All classes have adjusted themselves to the new situations. The laborer has become the mechanic; the tradesman the supervisor, the superintendent or the executive. With the raising of the lower limits of living have come greater opportunities. The individual has educated himself to the new job.

These changes are in evidence also in increased wealth. Farm property in general has become more valuable. Residential, business and industrial holdings have done the same. Salaries, incomes on property, earning capacity of industrial and commercial organizations have increased. With the greater earning power and a larger number of invested dollars have come new desires and greater purchasing power necessary to take care of a greatly augmented production. Basic in all of these is educational progress. In the words of President Hoover, "If we were to suppress our educational system for a single generation the equipment would decay, the most of our people would die of starvation, and intellectually and spiritually we should slip back four thousand years in human progress. We could recover the loss of any other big business in a few years—but not this one."

The changing situation has taxed and challenged the ingenuity of the schools. They have given an accounting. They have demonstrated the wisdom of the investment. Where there are criticisms of legitimate school costs they result for the inability to measure results of the failure to see the whole picture.

If our schools were faced with the task of educating for today alone it would be a sufficiently difficult undertaking. They have the added responsibility of educating for tomorrow.

REDUCING CITY NOISES

Some very interesting figures are being secured in the crusade against noise in the cities, now so active in New York and other large centers. It has been found, for instance, that 85 per cent of the useless noise is caused by traffic; that only two per cent of automobile horn blowing is necessary, and that what is noise to some people is sweet music to others. Hence, stop everything but traffic and still you have much distracting noise and stop the radio speakers in one neighborhood and there will be as much complaint from there over rattling milk cans early in the morning.

It all comes down finally to a question of expense, as usual. Engineers are willing to reduce traffic noises to a minimum by a complete rebuilding of transportation systems that will mean a 10 cent fare is the minimum and a much higher one advisable. Delivery trucks can be made nearly noiseless by adding from 5 to 25 per cent to the costs of operation, and so on and so forth.

It those who desire comparative silence in the cities are willing to pay a good many millions extra, they can have it, which makes the chance of getting it rather remote after all. A more practical solution probably is for those who cannot tolerate city noises to quit the cities. A good many small town dwellers have been appreciating this privilege in the face of metropolitan indifference for a long while and are pleased to have their position sustained by the experts.

—O:—

IT MAKES ONE FEEL OLD

As he stepped out briskly along Washington Avenue, stimulated by the nip of winter in the air, a citizen who likes to consider himself middle-aged would have especially resented being called elderly or old, but his skittishness received a sudden jolt when his attention was attracted by a new photo in a shop window showing a group of men and women riding old-fashioned high bicycles.

Then the citizen realized how old he was. He felt that he could sympathize with Methuselah. The incident automatically had pushed him back into his proper place, into another generation. The bicycle of his youth was already a museum piece, in a class with the stage coach and hoop-skirt. It made him feel like asking a policeman to help him cross the street.

These stunts putting new breath into the long-dead past are interesting, but to the oldest they can make the remembered past seem very far away.

Whether it is a weakness or a virtue, man dreads the feel of old age. While tradition has it that the female of the species is more prone to understate her age, the male is not less loath to be reminded that old age has arrived.

Jokes

Mr. Junewed—I want to get a nice bunch of roses for my wife. How much will they cost?
Florist—I can't tell you until you describe the nature and violence of the quarrel.

"You have only two or three buildings in this new town of yours."
"I know," responded the enthusiastic realtor, "but look at the parking space!"

"It's only your constitution that has pulled you through." "I hope you'll bear that in mind, doctor, when you send your bill."

The foreman of a large iron-works was short of laborers, and, as a last resort, went to an old tramp who was lying asleep beside one of the furnaces, and roused him with the question: "I say, my man, are you wanting work?" "What kind of work?" asked the tramp. "Can you do anything with a shovel?" "Yes," replied the tramp, rubbing his eyes. "I could fry a piece of ham on it."

"I see this medicine is good for man and beast." "Yes," said the druggist. "Give me a bottle. I believe that's the right combination to help my husband."

He—"You say you don't know what love is?"

She—"Why, of course I do. It's the tenth word in a telegram."

The young playwright was reading a new drama to some critics, when he noticed that one of them was asleep. Stopping, he awoke the sleeper and reproved him. He was reading his play, he said, to obtain the opinion of the critics. How, therefore, could a man who was asleep give an opinion?

The offender pondered a moment and then ended the discussion by saying:
"Sleep is an opinion."

Citizen Cites

Charity begins at home and in these modern days it seems to be about the only thing that stays there.

How you use today determines how tomorrow will use you.

When people are in pursuit of happiness, they give it the chase of a life time.

On the ocean of life many a courtship goes on the rocks.

You have to cultivate good habits. The bad ones grow wild.

The great beauty about happiness is that no man can keep it all to himself.

Many a man has grasped an opportunity that was too hot for him to handle.

Sing your own praise and you will be out of tune with the rest of the world.

The most clever retorts are thought of after the chance to use them has passed.

Bribery proves that money talks—even if it does only say "Hush!"

Nothing is perfect to the pessimist. He figures that, even the dove of peace is pigeon-toed.

Some people are talked about almost as much as the weather.

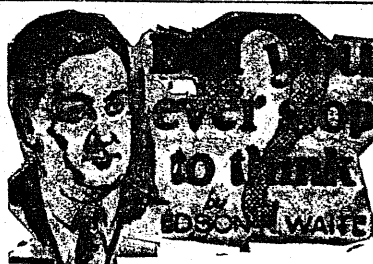

Hope is an airship. Disappointment is a parachute that lets us down easy.

Liberty is like everything else. It can be carried to extremes.

It's a hick town if the city hall isn't as good looking as the filling station.

Elections are much like player pianos. What you get out of them depends on the roll you put in.

Wives of great men always remind us of it.

Henry W. Shoemaker, publisher of the Altoona (Pa.) Tribune, says:

"Whenever I see a crowd of women with baskets standing at a railroad station or bus depot going to some distant town to shop, it seems to me that they are not only subjecting themselves to great loss of time and inconvenience, but are removing the greatest incentive to local merchants to be progressive or up-to-date.

"Why some place at a distance has a larger assortment of later styles or better taste or markets is only because the demand at home is not sharpened by local calls.

"Shopping at home is community building in its most constructive sense. The home town that has the buying support of its own people becomes the shopping centre for the district. It becomes celebrated for its progress and its enterprise, and the time and money saved by buying at home creates an invisible savings bank of local wealth and happiness.

"The effect on a town where the stream of buying goes elsewhere is gradual retrogression or discouragement. Outside enterprise is not attracted there, due to the dull appearance of the shops and the deserted appearance of the streets.

"Buying at home is providing a sinking fund for the improvement of every local business and every citizen."

Whirl Of Sport

By Arthur Bloemeke

With regards to Belleville High's basketball squad and its personnel an interesting fact is brought to light.

Numbered among the promising candidates for the team is Stanley Goodrich, six-foot pivot man. During the few practices held to date he looks to be "the goods" and stands a good chance of making the varsity. However, "Stan" is not content alone with being a star in the athletic firmament, but also shines scholastically.

Throughout his two and a half years of high school he has been at or near to top in his scholastic ratings. His last month's average of 95.4 was high enough to lead his class on the honor roll.

Another stellar performer on the Belleville High squad of last year was Bob Jackson, who is making a strong bid for this year's team. He is also high in his class-work as well as being president of the Senior Class.

These two boys are certainly good examples of combining studies and athletics with splendid results.

Many Belleville basketball fans are interested in the career of Lloyd "Lefty" Kintzing, former Belleville High School star, who is making good as a professional courtster, with the Rochester team of the American League.

"Lefty," following in the footsteps of his brother, Harry, was one of Belleville High School's best performers in the court game during the last three years of his high school life.

He played with the Belleville Collegiate when that squad took on such teams as the Original Celtics, National Turners and others of like caliber. He also played with the Belleville A. A. and his outstanding superiority on this team finally secured for him a berth on the Rochester team, which he joined last winter and played nearly the entire season as a regular.

After several weeks of practice, the Belleville High court squad is now entering the final half of its preparations for the rapidly nearing 1930 basketball season.

During the past week the squad was in the hands of Harry Metz, capable assistant of Head Coach Albert K. McBride. Metz reports that, though it is a little too early to go into detail about the merits of the present wearers of the Blue and Gold, a tentative varsity line-up has been picked. This starting line-up is composed of "Mac" Lamb and "Dutch" King at the forward posts; "Bob" Jackson, lanky center, at the pivot position and Paul Short and Bill Bennett, last year's pair of varsity guards, back at their familiar stations.

This proposed line-up cannot be taken as infallible, however, as "Stan" Goodrich has shown up particularly well in practice to date and if he shows just a little more speed he enjoys a splendid chance of breaking into the varsity line-up. In case of his insertion at the center post, "Bob" Jackson will move over to one of the forward positions, to take the place of either Lamb or King.

Others who have shown fine form in practice so far are Ralph Casale and Jerry Bonavita. Both were on the squad last year and stand splendid chances of making their varsity letter this year. Of the latter it is said that if he shows a little more improvement in his shooting he is liable to oust one of the "regulars" from his post, for he is one of the most capable floor men on the squad.

The Burke's Colts pin-knights continue to show the way in the fast Belleville American Legion Bowling circuit with the loss of but a single contest in over fifteen games played so far this season.

The Colts seem to have the best aggregation of bowlers in the loop, but can expect plenty of trouble from the St. Peter's quintet, now in possession of second place by a comfortable margin. With Charley Schleckser, Tommie Dunn, Johnnie Mallack, Willie Klemz and Gene Gelshen all at the peak of their form, it appears well-nigh impossible to head this fast-stepping Burke's combination.

Schleckser, at the present writing, is on top in the individual ratings, as well as being in possession of the two high water marks of the loop, 266 and 267.

The splendid success of the Burke boys and the fine performances turned in by St. Peter's has certainly not detracted to any appreciable degree from the interest in the race for

BACHELORS TAKE 18-10 DECISION FROM GARNETS IN GREAT GAME

In the first "croocial" battle of the Recreation League basketball season Thursday night the Bachelors easily took an 18-10 decision from the strong Garnet quintet at the local high school gym.

The real deciding feature of the spirited contest was the Bachelors' superiority at tossing 'em in from the fifteen foot line, no less than eight of the winners' total points being garnered by free throws.

The Bachelors got off to an early lead in the first half by registering eight points, while holding their fast-stepping opponents to three. The feature of this period was the fine work of "Johnny" Johnston, fleet forward of the winners. Johnston was all over the court in this half, tallying six of the eight points his side collected.

In the second half the Bachelors' superiority was not so clear-cut, although they did outscore the Garnets, 10-7. This half seemed to be more the battle that was expected between these two well-balanced squads with the result that the pace was fast and furious throughout, close guarding and spectacular shooting featuring.

Besides Johnston, who was high scorer of the evening with a grand total of eight points, Wengel, the other half of that fast forward combination of the Bachelors, and who tallied four times on foul shots, and "Snooky" Parcells, a defensive genius if ever there was one, stood out in bold relief in the single men's victory.

Les Armour and Bob Mutch, the two six-footers of the Garnets, accounted for seven of the losers' ten-point total to head the offense. "Sonny" Dingle was the life of the Garnets' defensive game, breaking up play after play of his opponents.

Unleashing an avalanche of baskets that completely submerged their lighter opponents, the Wesley M. E. quintet overwhelmed the Panthers, 25-6, in a Recreation Basketball League contest staged Thursday night at the Belleville High gym.

Leading at half time 11-2, the high-scoring Wesley five kept up their fine work in the final period to retain their huge margin. Jimmie Metz, towering center of the Wesleys, headed the high-powered offense of the winners, netting thirteen points from an assortment of six field goals and a single successful foul try. He also scintillated on the floor as well, getting the tap almost every time.

Burt Colehammer and Johnnie Carrough evened distributed the remaining twelve points the Wesleys collected between them, while "Sonny" Hoskings, although not in his usual scoring form, played brilliantly on the floor. The entire Wesley passing attack seemed to pivot about him.

Perry and Phelps took care of the Panther scoring. Perry, elongated center of the losers, registered four honors. The rest of the teams in the loop are fighting to better their present positions, as either of the first two are battling for first honors.

Good-bye Stained Teeth

New Safe Treatment Bleaches Dark Teeth in Three Minutes

Dentists have discovered a new safe treatment which bleaches stains from teeth, giving yellow discolored teeth a beautiful flashing whiteness. It is called Bleachodent Combination, and consists of a remarkable liquid which cures or softens the stains—and a new kind of paste, which instantly removes the softened stains, and prevents new stains from forming. Simply brush the teeth with a few drops of the liquid—then use the paste—and even the darkest teeth are quickly whitened. Tobacco stains disappear after first few applications. Bleachodent Combination was first made for children's teeth to avoid the use of harsh gritty pastes which are so harmful to children's soft sensitive teeth. While Bleachodent Combination will instantly remove surface stains, do not expect it to remove stains caused by silver fillings, as these are below the enamel, and Bleachodent Combination is not intended to act on the enamel in any way. Fine for the gums. Bleachodent Combination is widely used and recommended. Costs just a few cents, and money back if not delighted. Get it today at all good dealers, such as:

times, while Phelps scored a lone field goal, a long "shot" that covered over half the length of the court before it finally found the net. Captain Bill Schenck of the Panthers played a fine guarding game, preventing the brilliant Hoskings from scoring a point.

"Natural" Staged

The Union A. A. and the Community Aces staged a "natural" Thursday night in a Belleville Recreation Basketball league tilt, when the Unions managed to eke out a close 11-10 victory over their fighting opponents.

Both sides, as evenly matched as two court aggregations could possibly be, were determined to win their first victory of the league season with the resulting close struggle that abounded in thrills and spirited action.

In the first half, due mainly to "Henny" Zborowski's unerring eye, the Unions rolled up an early 8-4 margin over the slow starting Community Aces. Zborowski registered three times from the floor during this half, while Marco DiGiovanni, giant center of the winners, "shot" the other goal, a fine, mid-court basket. S. Pico and Sessa tallied for the Communities.

The Aces came back with a rush, however, in the second half and almost tied the faltering Unions. This period found the Silver Lake boys completely outdistancing their rivals, outscoring them, 6-3. The Unions possessed the necessary reserve strength, though, and with the Aces within one point of tying up the score took a brace and held their slim margin to the finish.

"Sal" Pico was the outstanding ace of the Community Aces, tallying half of his team's points. Zborowski and DiGiovanni of the Unions took over the task of scoring all of their team's points between them, while Yudin's defensive play also stood out.

After winning their scheduled contest with the All-Stars through forfeit, the Valley A. A. won an abbreviated exhibition contest from that aggregation, 13-4, in the Belleville Recreation Basketball League, Thursday night, at the local high school gym.

Throughout the shortened first half, the Valleys staged their usual fine defensive game, holding their opponents scoreless, while tallying four times themselves.

During the final period the strong Valleys increased this margin by registering nine points to the All-Stars' four. Close guarding featured

John B. Ford Has A Good Friend

Editor News:

I have, a friend of mine from Belleville who has been travelling all through the south and Cuba. I have been sending him the Belleville News every week and he has enjoyed it. Now that he is back I wish you would put it in your paper. He is my friend.

John Baker Ford of 17 Prospect place has returned from a trip through Florida and Cuba. While at Cuba he did plenty of fishing and he also had his first ride in an aeroplane.

If you give me this space in your paper I will appreciate it very much.

this half as it had stood out in the period previous.

"Herbie" Mayes, although out of position in the role of pivot man, scintillated both on the defense and the offense for the Valleys. He scored seven points, over half of his team's total, besides holding the All-Star center, Bob Wilson, scoreless. "Nick" Comesky made his presence felt during the short time he was in the game by accounting for four of the Valley's total, while Fritz Bloemeke produced the additional two points.

"Al" Baisden again starred for the All-Stars, making all of his team's points. Nell and Bob Wilson played their usual fine floor games.

CHURCHES

WESLEY M. E.
Rev. Edgar M. Compton

Large congregations were present at both morning and evening services last Sunday at the special Christmas services at Wesley M. E. Church. In the morning Rev. Compton chose as his subject, "The King's Birthday" and spoke upon the importance attached to birthdays in general and impressively brought to mind the greatest of them all which is celebrated at Christmas time. "Through our Lord's birthday, he said, we have the wonderful plan of salvation which could have come in no other way than through Him." There was an augmented choir for the occasion.

At the evening services, Mrs. J. V. Thethford impressively read Dr. Henry Van Dyke's famous Christmas piece, entitled "The Mansion," and was accompanied with soft music by Miss Wurthman at the organ. The program was under the auspices of the Young Woman's Auxiliary. Special Christmas numbers were rendered by the choir and Christmas carols were sung by the congregation.

Last Friday evening a cantata was presented by the beginners and primary departments under the direction of Mrs. Ellsworth Akers and was very entertaining. One of the many noticeable things were the pretty decorations. There was a well trimmed Christmas tree at the left of the pulpit, with greenery around the archway and a brightly illuminated star in the center over the pulpit. There was a string of green leaves placed around the two main entrances to the church also, which added to the Christmas effect.

An unusual cantata was presented by the combined Senior and Intermediate departments on Monday evening before an overflow audience. A modernistic trend was predominant in "Bringing Up Santa" which was highly entertaining. Mr. Leonard Memmott was in charge of the cantata. A cast of fifteen took part. Mr. J. H. Stier, Sunday School Superintendent was generally in charge of the evening. Boxes of candy were distributed among the members of the Sunday school and friends.

Christian Endeavor

Almost effective piece of work was done by members of the Christian Endeavor in their decorating of the church for Christmas. The church proper is decorated with evergreen garlands, draped from window to window and across the front and back of the church. Wreaths at each window, lighted wreaths on the back of the altar and small Christmas trees beautifully decorated carry out a most attractive scheme.

The church school room is decorated with pine branches and Christmas trees trimmed with colored lights and ornaments.

After the church service last Sunday evening, members of the C. E. entertained the congregation in the auditorium and served refreshments. This was a welcome opportunity for members of the congregation to meet their friends and exchange the season's greetings.

Driver And Aid Accused Of Taking Diamond Ring

A woman's suspicions, after disappearance of her diamond ring from a table in her home Monday morning culminated in the arrest by the Nutley police of a laundry truck driver and his thirteen-year-old helper.

Mrs. Fred E. Myers of 55 Prospect street, Nutley, admitted the youth, Joseph Lubertazzi, twenty-three, of 64 Roosevelt avenue, Belleville, and his boy helper, into her home Monday morning to get the laundry. While she was assembling the articles which were to be taken away, a diamond ring lay on the table in the dining room.

According to the boy, who with Lubertazzi later confessed the theft, the youth made motions for him to take the ring. The two left soon afterward.

Mrs. Myers discovered the loss a few minutes later and notified the Nutley police.

Captain John Jameson and Patrolman William Wallace and Frank McCrea located Lubertazzi in a pool room in Bloomfield avenue, near Center street.
