Town Budget Jumps But Tax Amount Is Almost $3,000 Less

Predictions Are That Tax Rate May Drop 8 Points

The Town Commission Tuesday night passed on first reading the municipal budget totaling $713,000.00, an increase of $50,025.27 over last year's total of $662,974.73.

One reason for the large increase in anticipated revenue over last year is that the surplus revenue appropriation has jumped from $15,000 to $40,000. This amount will use up all but $4,000 of the actual amount in that account as of January 1.

Under the department of Public Affairs there are a few increases. The poor department quota has increased from $7,500 to $8,500; public library, $15,459.50 from $13,500 and shade tree maintenance, $6,000 from $5,500.

With the exception of an increase from $23,204 to $23,780 for salaries and $21,286.56 to $25,975 for sewers the Department of Streets and Public Improvements is the same.

In the Department of Public Safety the following minor changes are noted: health department, $15,500 to $15,800; street lighting, $37,500 to $38,500; police and fire pension fund, $5,200 to $5,500; police salaries, $85,600 to $90,000; fire salaries, $52,200 to $56,250.

Things have been cut to the bone in the Department of Revenue and Finance the only noticeable increases being salaries from $10,880 to $11,200, tax collector's salaries, $10,430 to $12,500 and tax assessor's department and assessment commissioners' salaries from $6,490 to $9,100.

The Mayor said he receives on an average ten calls a day from plumbers, steamfitters and others who want any kind of work and where possible Belleville men should get the preference on municipal work in town.

WATERS PROTECTS INTERESTS OF SILVER LAKE RESIDENTS

Storm Sewer Assessment Should Be Made General Like All Others Declares Commissioner

Commissioner Patrick A. Waters won a point by a four to one vote Tuesday at the commission meeting that a proposed joint storm water flume with Newark, East Orange, Bloomfield and Belleville, as participants, should be assessed in Belleville as a general improvement.

"I have been accused of buying Silver Lake votes with a $100,000 job," said Waters. "If that is the case I don't want a vote from there. The people of the lake have put up with flooded cellars, streets that automobiles are not able to pass in and unhealthy conditions for twelve years, because politicians have feared to do the job.

Commissioner Gibson said that the ground is cheap in Silver Lake and the assessment against benefits received would tend to make it more valuable.

Commissioner Frank J. Carragher who said he wanted more time to look over the ordinance voted for it, however, after Waters' talk. Mr. Carragher asked for an opinion from Corporation Counsel John B. Brown as to whether the other municipalities, from which the storm water accumulates in Belleville, could not be compelled to build the sewer to protect Belleville.

Two Or One-Family House Is Problem For Court Action Now

The one-family house of Jerry Lepre's at 90 Columbus Avenue is a two-family house, at least two families live in it, says Matthew Richards, building clerk, who is backed up by Building Inspector Robert Williams.

Sometime ago Joseph Williams of 83 Columbus Avenue wanted Lepre prosecuted, because Williams said Lepre was building a two-family house on a one-family permit. Joseph also wanted "Bob" fired for "neglect of duty." Nothing was done about it.

Meantime Richards claims two families moved in. Now Corporation Counsel John B. Brown has to unravel the situation.

Vacancies For Men Who Show Merit

Commissioner William D. Clark, when he revised the police and fire department ordinances, made provision a long time ago for promotions to men who display such heroism and good judgement in line of duty as Patrolman Elmer Leighton.

It is now Sergeant Leighton. His clean police record, his clean personal record and thoroughness have won him merited promotion. It was not his first catch.

Commissioner Clark has left other vacancies in both departments. The men have marks to aim at and they in the rank and file will eventually hit the mark.

Mr. Clark was in New York the night of the murder. He puffed up when an official high in his company flashed a New York paper in a group slapping Mr. Clark on the back, saying:

"We've got to hand it to you 'Bill.' Belleville gets them, when big cities fail. You've got some police department."

"I want to take this opportunity to publicly thank Officer Leighton, Peter Lewis and Daniel Peck, and all others who assisted in the capture. It was work well done."

Jailed For Holdups, Man Who Never Killed Sends $5

A man who is in Newark Street Jail awaiting trial for holding up six A. & P. stores, but who did not kill anyone is the latest to contribute $5 to the relief fund. Here is his letter to Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy:

Honorable Mayor Kenworthy: "Enclosed you will find $5 that I would like to give to Mrs. Paul Bohrer and her four children. I know the predicament she is in for I have a sister with four children whose husband died years ago. I know all the hardships that she will go through.

Yours truly, FRANK LOMBARDY.

"P. S.—Wishing Mrs. Bohrer will accept it because I am held here on the same charge, going into A. & P.'s. But I didn't kill anyone."

How The Fund Got Under Way

The collection of funds to assist the Bohrer and Maurer families was started by the Newark Star-Eagle on suggestion of Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy who received word of conditions from B. B. Tuttle, Newark Evening News reporter.

Radio Interference Heard By Board

Town Commission Decides It Has No Power To Act

A request of Arthur Salisbury of 51 Cedar Hill Avenue that the town commission enact measures to compel factories to install interference eliminators on dynamos and motors was not acted upon Tuesday. Instead Mr. Salisbury was informed to create town sentiment against the disturbance if he wanted results.

Commissioner James Gibson said Mr. Salisbury would have a harder time to regulate the nuisance than enforcing prohibition if he tried to silence disturbance from barbers' clippers, curling irons and what not. Salisbury said that if you want public sentiment in this matter I'll show it to you.

Mr. A. N. Horn, of 158 Joralemon street, returned yesterday from the West, Maine, where he attended the funeral services of Mrs. M. Trask, a relative.

Attend Early Show

Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy has announced that as many people as possible should attend the matinee performance at the Capitol Sunday. From present indications unless this is done many will be unable to get seats at the two evening shows.

Our Sympathy

Several new contributions from persons whose sympathies were touched by the distressing plight of the families of Paul Bohrer and Edward Maurer, Belleville men killed by a bandit, have sent the total of the Star-Eagle relief fund soaring.

The Star-Eagle invites its readers to contribute to the fund. Paul Block, publisher of the newspaper, learned of the serious financial plight of the widow and four children of Bohrer particularly. Their home is heavily mortgaged, they are behind three months in the payments to a building and loan association, they owe taxes on the house for all of 1929 and part of 1928 and have no savings.

Maurer was not married, but leaves his mother.

Bohrer was a member of the Valley Improvement Association which is canvassing from house to house to swell the fund. Several hundred dollars have been reported, but the exact amount will not be known until the collection is completed.

Honorary Escorts

William B. Frey, president of the association, says the two men did more than a public duty, and through his request police and fire escorts were provided at both funerals. He said:

"Bohrer and Maurer went beyond a public duty. Their deed was one of great heroism."

At the Town Commission meeting Tuesday night Commissioner William D. Clark said: "We all know how the lives of two citizens were snuffed out by a bandit. We can do nothing to restore their lives, but we can honor the living and assist the families. In a situation similar to this Belleville has never been found wanting."

The commission passed resolutions praising the acts of Bohrer and Maurer as "heroic and for the protection of their fellowmen," and extending condolences to the families. The resolutions stated in part:

Wednesday Night Bowling Club To Hold Card Party

The Wednesday Night Bowling Club will hold a card party at Belleville Elks' Home on Saturday evening at 8:30. Pinochle, Euchre and Bridge will be played.

There will be awards for bowling and the games. There are about 100 awards, including cash awards to the winners of games.

Fund Distribution

The opinion of the Town Commission, Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, the Newark Star-Eagle, which started the relief fund and Foreman Blanchard of the Grand Jury which donated $1,000, it that most of the fund should be put in trust for the Bohrer family and a sum be given to the Maurer family. Inasmuch as the Bohrer family is left without any means of support it is believed the bulk of the fund will go to them.

Today Mayor Kenworthy will have luncheon with the business committee of the Grand Jury to see what that group wants done with its contribution.

Pretty Movie Star Burns Fingers

Cooking Toast For Screen Hubby

Merna Kennedy likes toast for breakfast, but she's going to go without it for a long time if she has to make it herself.

Miss Kennedy, as co-star with Glenn Tryon in "Skinner Steps Out," sparkling Universal farce-comedy with dialogue, coming to the Capitol Theatre Sunday for the benefit of the bandit victims' families, had to prepare Tryon's breakfast in one of the many amusing scenes in the picture.

As the young wife just learning to cook, she had to rescue burning toast from the electric toaster. And try as she would, Miss Kennedy could not get the toast out without burning her fingers.

Last Debate Sees Freshmen In Van

Juniors Topped At School On Advertising Subject

By JAMES REILLY

The last debate of a series and the deciding one for the championship of the high school took place on Friday, with the Freshman versus Juniors. The Freshman won. The coaches were Miss May Bailey for the Freshman and Earl Wilcox for the Juniors. Time-keepers were Palma De Noia for the Freshman and Gordon Brown for the Juniors. The Junior team was composed of Willard Wharton, Gilbert Freeman, Frances Gibson and Geraldine Rhoads. The Freshman team in order of speakers was made up of Adell Peck, Cecil Haslam, Letitia Codner and Dorothy Gardner.

The judges were Mrs. Carls, Mrs. Van Derveer and G. R. Gerard, Superintendent of Schools.

The Juniors had the negative and the Freshman, affirmative.

The resolve was, "That Modern Advertising Is Beneficial to the United States."

The constructive speeches were three minutes each with a warning at two minutes.

The intermission was five minutes. There were two rebuttals. Robert Jackson was chairman.

High School Notes

By JAMES REILLY

Due to some misunderstanding Dr. Losey did not enact "The Merchant of Venice" but that of "Macbeth." Those who witnessed his performance on Friday night pronounced it as being a fine interpretation of Shakespeare's play.

When Dr. Losey gave a brief demonstration on Friday morning before the student body he did it only in a way to show the students the way Shakespeare's works should be quoted. He made clear that expression, in repeating an essential in order to understand his work. As told by Dr. Losey, Shakespeare wrote his plays for the theatre and not as poems alone.

A new comer has entered the portals of Belleville High School. She hails from Ocean Grove and her name is Charlotte Smith. Good Luck, Charlotte.

A pair of notables presented themselves at the Belleville-Bloomfield basketball game, Tuesday last, Schummell, of football fame, in a basketball suit, and the other a former B. H. S. teacher, Benton Allen, who led Bloomfield's band.

The debating club of B. H. S. has organized a committee composed of Florence Wells, Francis Gibson, Ena Holden and Elsie Gibson for the purpose of choosing subjects on which to debate interscholastically.

School Board Lauds Paul J. H. Hollberg

Will Retire February 1 In Favor Of William Stewart

Tribute was paid Monday by school board members. Business Manager J. Turner, and Supervising Principal George R. Gerard to Paul J. H. Hollberg, whose term expires February 1, to be filled by William W. Stewart. All regretted the loss of a member whose "acumen and intelligence has been valuable to the development of the school system."

Mr. Hollberg has served on the board since 1921. Most of that time he has been chairman of the building committee. During his service Mr. Turner pointed out, $1,572,000 was spent for new buildings and additions.

Offers Help To Board

"I have been compensated greatly in the satisfaction of doing my work," Mr. Hollberg said. "I did wish to stay with you another term, especially because very important matters are to come up in the next few years. If I can be of assistance, I hope you will call on me."

Miss Minnie D. Kayhart was appointed vice principal of the high school after having served in an acting capacity since September. Mr. DeRosset questioned Mr. Gerard's action in placing Miss Kayhart in the position without consulting the board. Mr. Gerard's explanation that it had been thought well to fill the vacancy created by the promotion of Charles L. Steel to principal, temporarily until the teachers' committee should decide permanently was satisfactory to other members of the board.

Miss Ruth E. Harrison of Belleville was appointed a second grade teacher at school 4, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Edna A. Cronhardt, who wrote she sought a position in Newark.

Industrialism Has Raised Health Standards, Says Labor Secretary

Availability of Cheap Food Supplies Big Factor in Combating Disease

JAMES J. DAVIS

MODERN industrial organiza- tion has contributed as much as the progress of medical science in raising the standard of health of the American people...

"Industrialism has been accused of various short-comings," he says, "but I believe it deserves unbounded credit for the efficient organization of transportation and refrigeration to the point where practically everyone is able to buy, throughout the year, cheap, whole-some foods brought from all parts of the world."

"Fifty or sixty years ago, only the wealthy were able to afford fresh meats, vegetables and fruits all the year 'round. Such a familiar and cheap food as sugar—one of the most highly concentrated sources of human energy—was a luxury costing, when the change in the value of the dollar is taken into consideration, five or six times what it costs today."

As evidence of the direct influence of the food supply upon health, the Secretary of Labor gives the following statistics on the death rate from tuberculosis

In Germany preceding and during the World War:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Number of Deaths (round numbers). Rows for 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918.

"The air, sunshine and concentration of population were just about the same in the war years as they were in 1913," says the Secretary. "Neither I nor the medical men have any doubt but that the restriction in the food supply, brought about by the conflict, was responsible for the rise in the death rate. In view of the unquestionable importance of an adequate and varied diet, it seems remarkable that our women and girls will voluntarily court ill-health by adopting semi-starvation diets in the hope of acquiring a boyish figure."

Hartley Pleads For Vets in First House Speech

"As a new member and with the added handicap of being youngest of this House, I adopted the policy to listen and hear. I have listened with a great deal of interest, and I believe that I have learned," said Congressman Fred A. Hartley, Jr., in his first speech from the floor of the House in behalf of veterans.

"It is my conclusion that of all the duties we have there is none more important, more urgent, more humane, or more patriotic than our duty to see to it that the veterans of the World War are given justice.

"Like many others, as I campaigned through my District, I promised these boys a square deal. But, ladies and gentlemen, I am frank to confess that I did not know what it was all about. It was only after personal contact, and presenting the cases of the veterans of my District, that I came to realize of the fact that the present Veterans' Act, and the technical treatment of cases by many of the Rating Boards of the Bureau, are preventing thousands of veterans from obtaining that which they have a right to expect from this Government; a square deal," he said.

"How many realize that there are thousands of these young men, who today should be in the prime of life, who are confined in hospitals or walking the streets unable to obtain employment because of a service-connected disability, but at the same time are unable to obtain compensation for that very service connected disability.

"Let us briefly review the situation: When the 'call to arms' rang out, every nook and corner of this great Nation heard the cry. True to their tradition the sons of every State responded, ready to sacrifice their all, their jobs, home, happiness, comforts of life, even their own life's blood in defense of this nation's honor. How clearly can we recall the promise they were given; 'Your job will be waiting for you when you get back.' However, many did not come back. Thousands of America's finest left, never to return. Have we kept faith with those who did return? Picture if you will the emotions and desires of those who came back to join their families; to be home once more; a longing to be with their loved ones; eager to be discharged; their jobs having been completed. A perfunctory examination was given, and each veteran was asked how he was physically. Knowing that complaint would mean hospitalization, naturally, the answer was, 'Fine.' He was discharged as being in good physical condition and hastened home.

"How many of these boys, uncompensated, have suffered and are still suffering from disabilities incurred in the Service? How many uncompensated are in anguish because wounds inflicted by bayonet, or shrapnel, have become aggravated? How many uncompensated have developed various disorders as a result of having been gassed? Uncompensated because the doctor who treated them within a year after discharge from the Service failed to keep records, or unfortunately may have passed to the Great Beyond. Uncompensated because having become accustomed to torture and pain 'Over There' they did not seek the attention of a physician until a year or more after discharge. Then, there are those uncompensated veterans whose experiences in that awful carnage have gradually unbalanced them mentally. They have developed psychoneurosis from shell shock. Uncompensated because their cases, in many instances, were improperly diagnosed. Uncompensated because many of them did not seek treatment before December 31, 1924. Uncompensated because many cases of psychoneurosis have developed since 1924 in young men who appeared to be perfectly normal before that time. Uncompensated in spite of the fact that the Bureau itself admits that the peak of psychoneurosis cases will not be reached until 1948.

"Let me illustrate by giving you specific examples: First, I will relate cases other than tuberculosis and psychoneurosis:

"Taking the case of James B. Toner, of Bayonne, New Jersey, who was an engineer. While building a hut with several buddies in France, the explosion of a shell nearby caused all of them to immediately drop to the ground. Toner happened to be at the time lifting a heavy plank, which fell upon him heavily, injuring him in the groin. This accident, which took place in the latter part of October, 1918, caused a hernia to develop. He was treated at the Camp Hospital No. 21, Bourbon Les Bains, France, although, just as in many other cases, no record seems to have been made of it. The Armistice was signed on the following November 11, and shortly after Toner returned home and was discharged. Within one month after his discharge from the Service he applied for employment with his former employer, the Standard Oil Company at Bayonne. The examining physician refused to pass him because of a severe hernia. He tried for the next two months to obtain employment at many other plants and in each instance was refused because of the same reason. Unable to obtain work, three months after his discharge from the Service, he underwent an operation at the St. Francis Hospital in Jersey City.

"Affidavits have been submitted to the Bureau from the examining physician of the Standard Oil Company, stating that the condition existed when he was examined at their plant after his discharge from the Service. The affidavits further state that when asked how the condition developed he told of the incident that took place while building this hut in France, which I have already related. There are also the affidavits of two of his buddies who were present when this happened. There is also on file the St. Francis Hospital papers giving the details of the operation. In spite of this preponderance of evidence, even though the Bureau admits his disability, this man's application for compensation has twice been refused, the reason being advanced that cases of this kind are rare; that no notice was made of the disability when the veteran was examined upon being discharged from the Service. And furthermore, because of the fact that such a condition MIGHT have developed over night through some other cause.

"It is apparent that the Bureau has entirely disregarded the evidence and evidently believed that the veteran did not know what he was talking about when, within a month after his discharge from the Service, he was asked how the condition started, he told of the accident over seas. Perhaps they believe that the veteran at that early date anticipated that this Government would eventually enact a law compensating the soldiers of the World War for injuries in the Service. How ridiculous! Here is a man unable to obtain employment because of a disability incurred in the Service, and yet unable to obtain compensation for that very service connected disability.

"Another case I desire to call to your attention is that of Wactaw Solinski, of Bayonne, New Jersey, who has a citation for bravery in action. This veteran's legs have become useless because of aggravated gunshot wounds and muscle hernia, for which service connection obviously had to be granted. In this instance, the Bureau, unable to evade by usual service connection alibi, falls back on the percentage rating, and although this veteran is unable to stand for more than an hour at a time it is claimed that he is not disabled to an extent which prevents him from following his trade as an automobile mechanic.

"I also have the case of a victim of tuberculosis, which I believe will serve as an example that the present Act is inadequate. This veteran, John E. Ween, of Newark, was shipwrecked on the way over seas; was adrift for two days during the icy weather of November, 1917, with another buddy, who died of exposure. He continued over seas and was treated for 'colds' during his Service. After his discharge from the Service he was treated at various intervals from 1922 until the early part of 1923 by a doctor who during that period improperly diagnosed his case as 'influenza.' Three weeks after the last examination by this doctor, Ween suffered a severe hemorrhage, and upon being examined at an Institution in the City of Newark it was found that he was suffering from an advanced case of tuberculosis. The doctor who improperly diagnosed this case is now in Austria, and in all probability has no record of the case, and even if he is contacted, I leave it to your judgment whether he will admit a mistake in the treatment of this case over a period of nearly six years. This veteran is not expected to live more than six months. At the present time his wife is endeavoring to provide for their family of three children, and unless something is done by this Government, this veteran, who answered the call to arms, will undoubtedly leave behind him a destitute wife and family.

"As an example of cases of shell shock, I present the case of Charles Carr, of Newark, New Jersey. As a result of his over seas experience, he is today a permanent and total mental wreck, confined to an insane asylum. His nervous condition first started to have its effect in 1920, and gradually developed until about a year ago when it was necessary that he be sent to an Institution. The doctor who treated him has had the case from its inception and has submitted two affidavits, one stating that the treatment started in 1920, and the other diagnosing the case in 1924 as a neurasthenia case mental type mild. The Bureau rejected this claim while admitting that this disability undoubtedly had its origin in the Service, they contend that a 10 per cent degree has not been proved within the limit prescribed in the Veteran Act. Furthermore, because of the fact that this man was continued on the pay roll of the company employing him until 1926, and because the doctor in his statement did not use the medical term 'Psychoneurosis.' This doctor is a practitioner of many years, and testified in a recent hearing on this case that in diagnosing the case as Neurasthenia mental type he considered that term to mean the same as psychoneurosis. In this case also we find the wife of a husband mentally unbalanced as a result of his Service to the Government, which turns its back on this family in their hour of need.

"I now desire to call your attention to a case that illustrated a willingness on the part of the Bureau to stall, and in the vernacular of today, 'pass the buck.' This veteran, Stephen S. Rudy, of Bayonne, New Jersey, was a Regular Army man, who served over seas during the World War; has four citations for bravery in action, one for the capture of a machine gun nest and 12 men singlehanded. At the termination of the war he reenlisted. In April, 1924, as a result of his experience during the war, he suffered a complete break down, both mental and physical. He was discharged from the Army as 'physically unfit for duty.' This veteran has endeavored since July, 1924, to obtain either a pension from the Pension Bureau or compensation from the Veterans' Bureau; each department continually referring the case to the other until October, 1929. In a tour that I made of my District interviewing veterans relative to compensation, I was shocked and could hardly believe his story. I immediately communicated with both departments only to get a similar response. Just think of it, here is a man who served his country faithfully and well, whose bravery on the battlefields of France exemplified the highest degree of heroism. The result of which is that although discharged as 'physically unfit' incurred in line of duty, the very departments supposed to mete out justice in such cases turn their backs on him. He, too, has a wife and four children.

"And so I could continue with such examples that exist in my District, and in all probability throughout this country.

"Claimants with chronic diseases of the heart, chronic rheumatism, chronic blood or kidney disease, ulcer or abscess formation, chronic gall bladder diseases, proceeding to the formation of gall stones and finally the infectious foci of the throat, tonsils or teeth, as streptococci in throat, tonsils or teeth as in pyorrhea, tonsillitis and chronic septic sore throat, carried in the body for years, and later manifesting themselves in chronic disease elsewhere in the body; these are denied service connection, notwithstanding the fact that the service of the men was such as to absolutely bring on these diseases because of deprivations as to cleanliness, as well as cold and wet sleeping in that same manner. Claimants with valvulitis, inflammation of the valves of the heart, or with stomach conditions, such as ulcers, from rough and improper food at irregular intervals, or a chronic rheumatism, or a chronic gall bladder disease will be denied service connection, if they were not treated for the disability during their first year after discharge by a doctor who could supply a certificate of such treatment. These diseases are all of a slow-going nature and may be of several years duration in manifesting themselves so as to be properly diagnosed. Any number of these men have been denied service connection for their disability because they failed to have a doctor treat them within a year after their discharge, and many because of economic conditions did not call a doctor and were forced to use home remedies until they became so incapacitated that they were forced to come to the Bureau for aid.

Even then the Bureau was administered by the Public Health service which service was forced to take numbers of young men and innumerable errors of diagnosis other than a rapid or somewhat irregular action, with weak and distant sounds that may go undiagnosed, and later may be properly diagnosed as heart disease. If such conditions should have had a neurological cause assigned, service connection would have been had years ago. Other numerous infections will cause these conditions and for that reason they should, and do, warrant service connection, as well as the nervous and tuberculosis diseases. The various other constitutional diseases should also properly come under this category. It is a well known medical fact that most all of these diseases are insidious and are the aftermath of infectious diseases, such as influenza, the nasopharyngeal and gastro-intestinal forms as well as the rheumatic fevers of indefinite origin so prevalent during the war. Then, too, exposure, the cold and wet, and the sleeping on cold wet ground, excessive exertion, strain and fear, with worry and fatigue, were undoubted factors, coupled with all the other vicissitudes of the soldier in time of war to be accountable for any of the constitutional or systemic diseases. It is a well known fact that the mouth and teeth were admittedly notoriously neglected during the war, because of lack of personnel, as well as opportunity to care for either. Further sound medical evidence, seasoning, and logic will show direct connection with the service in these chronic cases and yet because the men had no doctor treat him within the year after his discharge, and after he was too poor to have one, he is denied the service connection because of the arbitrary time limit selected for these diseases.

"How long will we sit idly by and permit such conditions to exist? How much longer will we permit such technical treatment of so humane a problem? I realize we have appropriated large sums to provide hospitalization, but what of the family of the veteran being hospitalized. How are they to be provided for? "There should be no more delay in settling this job than there was in mustering these boys into the Service. Remember, as each day passes on, so does the opportunity to give justice to the boy who has made the supreme sacrifice. May their deeds inspire this Congress to a full realization of the responsibility that is ours, and my the action that we take leave no doubt in the minds of these heroes of the world war that this Government has not forgotten," he concluded.

SMART DETAILS

French designers are past masters of the art of developing frocks on simple and beautiful lines, and at the same time adding effective details which in no way detract from the smartness of line. This principle is depicted in the attractive street frock shown here, in one of the new leaf prints. Revers and a pleated, wing-shaped jabot slipped through a loop finish the V-neckline. Many women prefer front revers, instead of the usual collar, especially for wear with the fur-collared coat. A chic flare is provided by inserted circular skirt sections topped by pockets. ## Nutley Municipal Budget Increases $95,600

OVER HALF A MILLION DOLLARS
WILL BE NEEDED BY TOWN IN 1930

To Place Service Men On Parkway Body

Memorial Group Started Activities During 1929.

Nutley Memorial Parkway Commission will be reorganized by Commissioner Charles Sherwood. It was organized in January, 1919, with the following members: Mr. and Mrs. William H. Arnold, Harry Coughlan, Emil Diebitsch, James Gilmore, George A. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Emil C. Miller, Perley A. Prior, Dr. George Philhower, C. B. Royce, Edgar Sargent, Colonel Henry Prout, Mr. and Mrs. William Longfelder, F. R. Feiland, Elliott N. Smith and Frank B. Carland.

Colonel Prout, Mr. Arnold, Mr. Smith and Mr. Hill have died and the other members were discharged with the thanks of the Nutley Town Commission Tuesday night.

Mr. Sherwood said the new commission probably would consist of seven of the present members and one representative each from the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Street Name Changes Come In Ordinances

Eight Such Measures Were Introduced At Last Meeting

Eight ordinances providing for changing the names of several streets in Nutley were introduced Tuesday night by Commissioner Sherwood at the Town Commission meeting. Ordinances suggesting renaming other Nutley streets will be read at the next meeting of the commission.

If the eight ordinances pass final hearing January 28, Newark street will be renamed Jackson street; Ridge avenue will be changed to Ivy place; Moore terrace to Speer place, Harrison avenue and Edgar street to Harrison street, Rutan place and John street to Prospect street, Elm street to Vincent place, Willow street to Rutan place.

The reason for several of the changes is duplication. In the case of John street, Rutan place and Prospect street, the three are a continuous thoroughfare. Prospect street is the longest. For that reason the commission decided to retain Prospect street and rename the two others.

The same is true in the case of Harrison avenue and Edgar street. The two, with Harrison street, form a continuous thoroughfare.

Frederick A. Heisley's Entries Disqualified In Poultry Show

The Madison Square Garden Poultry Show, just concluded, was the first since the admission of the Australopis, a new Australian breed of chickens, to the American Standard, in August of last year.

Frederick A. Heisley of 414 Centre street, Nutley, had begun the raising of this new breed in 1928, and was able to enter one of the three young pens shown at the greatest poultry show in America. His entry and also that of Alfred Trudel, of Rahway, unfortunately incurred disqualifications, so that the entry of A. A. Carver, of Burlington, Wisconsin, alone was eligible to a prize.

Through the ravages of a chicken thief, finally stopped by the vigilance of the Nutley Police Department, Mr. Heisley was left with a small number of young fowl from which to select the individuals—a cockerel and four pullets—making the young pen.

Disqualification came about through a wing of one of the pullet's showing some evidence of clipping, the wings of the others having fully grown out within the period of nearly four months when cut upon the insistence of an implacable neighbor when the fences erected to keep the birds at home.

Hostess To Club

Mrs. J. E. Garratt of Sylvan place was hostess Friday afternoon to the Friday Afternoon Club. The program was in charge of Mrs. Harry Lovell. A paper, "Items of interest concerning Bernard Shaw and John Galsworthy," was read by Mrs. Silas P. Cumming. "Modern British Poetry" was read by Miss Marion Walker. George Symonds, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. B. Symonds, played the violin, accompanied by Mrs. David Ramsay.

Republican Club To Hear Candidates

Discussion Will Take Place On School Election Or Appointment

The Republican Club of Nutley will meet in the Community House the evening of January 27. The six candidates for the School Board election February 11 have been invited to speak. They are Dr. Horace Tatum, Mrs. Joseph D. Little, Walter Reinheimer, Arthur Junker, William S. Wallace and Alexander Mitchell.

After the speeches, the club will discuss election of members of the School Board as against appointment by the Mayor. Club officers will be elected.

Central Trounces Nutley High Five

Undefeated Maroon Five Proves Easy For Fast-Going Newarkers, 38-21

Central High downed the heretofore undefeated Nutley Five, 38-21, Friday night on the losers' court. The Maroon trailed practically from the start, being on the short end of a 21-12 count at the half. They wilted perceptibly before the rapid-fire High street attack in the closing sessions.

The Blue owed its comfortable margin largely to the brilliant efforts of Lew Babiak and Captain Segal. The latter for a time threatened to surpass his vaunted teammate, chalking up eight points in the first half to six for Babiak. In the final periods, however, the big Blue pivot man came into his own with a quartet of goals, giving him fourteen points for the evening. Segal, held to a lone basket in the second half, totaled a modest ten. Alex Baykowski contributed five points, three of which swished the net via the foul route. Pint Sentner also turned in a mark of five for the Maroon.

The visiting second stringers made the evening a complete success for the Newark school by humbling the Nutley seconds, 22-12, in an appetizing game. The sensational shooting of Halulakus, diminutive forward, proved a big factor in his team's victory.

Mrs. Frances R. Lybrand

Funeral services for Mrs. Frances Ranney Lybrand, eighty-three, who died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. Anthony Usina of 138 Satterthwaite avenue, Nutley, were held Monday morning at the home. Burial was in Rock Creek Cemetery, Washington.

Mrs. Lybrand was born in Delaware, O., in 1846. She lived in Nutley fifteen years. Her husband, Charles A. Lybrand, died shortly after the Civil War from a wound suffered in the battle of Shiloh. He was a captain in the Union Army.

For more than twenty-five years, Mrs. Lybrand resided in Washington, where she was active as one of the few women examiners of patents. Her work included the considering of patent applications relating to railroads, bridges and other engineering projects.

Mrs. Lybrand, daughter of the late Isaac Parker Ranney, once a judge in Ohio, was talented as a musician and artist.

Mrs. Lybrand is survived also by a son, Charles A. Lybrand of Lowell, Mass.

Directors of the First National Bank of Nutley were re-elected last week. The last named added one director, Alfred B. Sturgis.

Grace Church Dramatists Take Place with Best Clubs

On Friday and Saturday evenings the Christian Endeavor Society of Grace Baptist Church presented its first attempt at dramatics before a capacity audience at the local church. The performance turned in by its group of capable players entitles this group to take its place with the best of the local dramatic clubs. The play selected for its initial undertaking was "The Mummy and the Mumps." The characters were as follows: Bill Laidlaw, James Ferris, Jr.; Agatha Laidlaw, Lorena Clark; Maude Mullen, Madeleine Thomson; Dulcie Dumble, Mae Moore; James Slammom (Racker), William Blair; Francis Briceo, Herbert Wells; Anna Hampton, Helen Hageman; Sir Hector Fish, John Stoddart; Phoebe Beebe, Ethel Bryan, and Sheriff Perkins, Allan Blair. Properties were in charge of George Karrer and Charles Thompson.

This play dealt with the humorous experiences of an English intellectual who broke quarantine when he arrived in this country and was shipped in a mummy case to a girls' school near Boston, to find he was being impersonated by an imposter. The three-act farce dealt with a mix-up in identities throughout the unfolding of the plot.

The juvenile straight was James Ferris, Jr., who played the part of the nephew of the owner of the school, in love with one of the pupils and aiding the imposter (Francis Briceo) in his efforts to stay in the school. Mr. Ferris, by his quiet and effortless portrayal of the role, established himself as an actor of no mean ability.

Lorena Clark, who played the heavy role of the spinster owner of the school, showed that it was not her first attempt as an actress. Her lines were letter perfect and proved that she had given a great deal of attention in studying the difficult role entrusted to her.

Madeleine Thomson and Mae Moore who played the parts of students at the school treated their parts with intelligence, and Miss Moore, particularly scored with her mannerisms and perfect control of facial expression. They both did much to make the play the howling success it was.

William Blair enacted the role of the negro servant at the school, his dialect was very good, and with a little more practice, this young man could give "Amos and Andy" a few lessons.

Herbert Wells easily carried off the honors for male acting during the evening. He smoothly acted the part of a young fellow up to no good masquerading as an English man of letters in order to remain in a private girls' school to make love with one of the students. During the course of the evening, he had the difficult assignment of carrying an English dialect and also impersonating a female. He did both of these with telling effect. As a comedian this player ranks high among the amateur Thespians of Belleville. We look forward with pleasure to more of this kind of acting.

Helen Hageman, who played the part of a student trying to help Sir Hector Fish (the real Englishman) displayed a great deal of ability. This charming miss easily won the admiration of the audience by her complete command of all the tricks that go to make female leads, ingratiating, graceful and dramatically effective. Her only drawback was that she was not on the stage enough and that her role, while important, kept her off stage for a good part of the performance.

John Stoddart, cast as the Englishman arriving in a mummy box, had a very arduous assignment. He was busy during the evening in running from door to door to escape detection. When he stopped, the audience found that he was in complete mastery of the role. He was a riot, garbed as a female.

Ethel Bryan played the part of a snooty female reporter. She intelligently delineated the part when on the stage, which was not often enough. We expect to see this young lady in the future in a heavier part.

The cast was completed by Allen Blair, who acted as a Comic Sheriff, blundering from here to there. He did this very creditably.

It is hoped that these players in their next effort will select a heavier play as a vehicle for their acting. There is no doubt that the ability to carry a more important play is in this group. The program does not name the coach or coaches of this production but a great deal of credit must be given to them for their work. There did not appear during the whole course of play one ostensible miscue, and at no time were any of the players fishing for their lines or garbling the words in confusion. As this is extraordinarily unusual in amateur dramatics, we comment on it.

Philadelphia, Jan. 24 — Nutley High School is among 534 public and private schools which have been accredited for 1930 by the Commission on Secondary Schools of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Middle States and Maryland, according to announcement today by Dr. E. Duncun Grizzell, chairman of the commission.

The Commission, which has offices at the University of Pennsylvania, serves as a fact-finding and rating agency in the preparation and maintenance of a list of accredited secondary schools within its territory, and also as a clearing house for information of a professional character concerning these schools.

All secondary schools in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia, and the Panama Canal Zone are privileged to apply for inclusion on the commission's accredited list which is compiled annually, but failure to be included on the list does not necessarily imply inefficiency on the part of a school, according to Dr. Grizzell.

Approval essential to membership on the accredited list is based fundamentally on the efficiency of the school's preparation for college work, among the most important factors considered being membership on a list approved by state department of education, membership in good standing on the accredited list of several colleges and universities, the records of the school in various examinations and tests, and the success of its graduates in colleges.

Thus, secondary schools not appearing on the list may be doing equally as satisfactory work as those listed, but may be excluded solely because they do not prepare well, or at all, for college entrance. In some instances the failure of the schools to apply for places on the list is responsible for their omission, Dr. Grizzell pointed out.

Revocation of their driver's licenses thirty days was the sentence imposed on John A. Strouse of 187 North Thirteenth street, Newark, and Isaac Multz of 141 Second street, Passaic, by Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons recently. Strouse was charged by Patrolman Monaghan with passing a trolley car on the left and Multz was charged by Patrolman Smith with speeding in Washington avenue.

Walter Dunning of 1050 East Twenty-fourth street, Paterson, and Frank Steffanell of 3 Hancock avenue, Nutley, were fined $5 and $2.50 costs and $10 and similar costs, respectively, on charges of speeding, made by Patrolman Smith.

More than twenty motorists were fined $2 each for stop street violations.

Charged with reckless driving, Klemens Pilecki of 351 Page avenue, Lyndhurst, was fined $11 by Recorder Charles Young in Nutley Police Court Friday morning. William Borchester of 229 Hoyt street, Kearny, was fined a like sum for operating a car without a driver's license.

Public Hearing Set For January 28

Nutley's budget for 1930, taken up last Tuesday night by the Town Commission, is $582,745.98, an increase of $95,600.82 over last year. The 1929 budget was $487,145.16.

Commissioner Rife said he estimated the 1930 town tax rate at $1.54. Last year the town rate was $1.18.

The Department of Public Affairs, Public Safety and Health is allotted $139,831.86, an increase of $19,207.96 over 1929.

An appropriation of $8,800 is given the tax clerk's office. Last year the office was included in the Department of Revenue and Finance. This shift in part accounts for the decrease in the appropriation for the latter department in 1930 in comparison from last year. The Department of Revenue and Finance this year will receive $20,342, as against $22,000 last year.

The Department of Public Parks, Public Property, Streets and Public Improvements will receive $134,729.34, an advance of $11,020.34 over last year.

An allowance of $63,117.23 for non-departmental purposes is an increase of $14,017.97 over the same department for 1929.

Interest, maturing bonds and emergency notes will receive the largest appropriation and the largest increase over last year, $213,934.55 having been appropriated for this purpose. The increase over that of last year is $54,202.55.

A hearing on the budget will be given January 28.

A resolution was passed increasing the salaries of the police chief and captain $300 each and regulating pay of other members. The chief's annual salary was fixed at $3,500, the captain's at $3,300. The three sergeants will continue to receive $2,700 annually. A patrolman will receive $2,000 his first year as at present and an increase of $100 the next two years. His fourth year he will receive a $200 increase and a like amount will be added to his salary his fifth year.

Chancemen will be paid seventy-five cents an hour for the first two hours. Each hour he works after the first two hours the chanceman will receive fifty cents an hour. His salary if he works a full day will be $5.

An ordinance was introduced providing that the office of town accountant be abolished and the office of town treasurer be created.

A resolution was passed appointing Town Accountant Frank Drake Town Treasurer for a three-year period with an annual salary of $3,000.

Notes

Sunday, 11 A. M.—Subject: "A Real Friendship." Fellowship, this is a peculiar term. Like most terms in ordinary conversation means much more in print than in actual practice.

Sunday, 7:45 P. M.—Mr. McCombe will speak from the subject of "Road Building." The mind of America is directed towards this all important subject. Through its agency some men have been made poor; while others have amassed a fortune. Politicians make this subject a study. Why not the average citizen? The usual song service will begin the happy hour at Grace Church.

Sunday evening the audience room of Grace Church was taxed to its capacity by the people who wanted to hear the Rev. William Scherer, of South America. For over an hour Mr. Scherer held his audience captive. With intense interest they followed him; as he related some of the thrilling experiences which befell him and his wife, working among these strange people, of whom we have known little. Mr. Scherer is a former Belleville boy, receiving his education in the Belleville schools. A few years ago, he, with his parents, moved to California, where he became interested in Foreign Missions. Entering the Bible Institute in Los Angeles, California, and later the Moody School in Chicago, he fitted himself for the work in South America. Mr. Scherer expects to leave New York with his wife and child February 6, for Brazil, South America.

The people of Belleville, always interested in their own, wish him success in his chosen field of labor. The School of Religious Instruction which began last Tuesday at Grace Church will continue for a period of six weeks. The large number present at the first meeting gives promise of a successful course. The instructors are specialists in their line. Doctor Booth of Newark will lead the class for young people. Mr. Graham of Arlington will instruct the men, while Mrs. Powers of Bloomfield will have charge of the women.

Monday evening the World Wide Guild held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Douglas Clark, Jr., Webster avenue, Arlington. One of the most delightful meetings of the year is the verdict. Of course, it could not be otherwise, with such a delightful hostess as Mrs. Clark. The Guild is proving to be a source of strength and help in the work of Grace Church.

The "Mummy and the Mumps," the play of plays, is over. It proved to be all that was claimed for it. Everybody pleased; not a word of adverse criticism heard from those who witnessed it. All are loud in their praise of the finished work on the part of those who furnished the entertainment. Each did their part to perfection. It is impossible to single out any individual as a star, as each did their work as if it was an every day affair with them. The players showed the effects of careful training and much credit is due to the coach, Mr. Herbert Wells, of Nutley, for the wonderful showing on the part of the young people. Large audiences were present both nights. Mr. Rossman and Mrs. William Glenck helped to make the play a success. The following entertained the audience during the acts: Master "Buddy" Wilson in vocal solos; Miss Helen Mc Nair, Mr. Elmer Hyde, Miss Pauline Rosenblum with piano solos; and Miss Jean Tallman with piano and ukulele solos. It was a great success in every detail.

The ladies' Auxiliary are planning for one of their famous luncheons at noon, on January 28. Remember the date.

Kiddies also voted $2 to go to the relief of a woman behind in her rent. The next meeting will be held on February 15 at the home of the president.

Church Federation Of Men's Bible Classes Has Business Session

The new baby Federation of Men's Bible Classes of West Essex, an off-spring of the great National Federation of Men's Bible Classes, which born on December 8, 1929, at a mass meeting in the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Montclair when delegations from all churches and Bible classes of West Essex attended, held its first business meeting on Monday, in the Montclair Y. M. C. A.

Robert Luz, President of the newly formed Federation and Vice President of the Westminster Men's Bible Class of Bloomfield, presided at the meeting. Six, out of the eight newly elected officers or their alternates were present.

The Bible Classes represented by these officers were: The Westminster Men's Bible Class of Bloomfield, which is affiliated with the Westminster Presbyterian Church of that town, Everyman's Bible Class of Montclair, affiliated with the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Montclair, Community Men's Bible Class of Belleville, which meets in the Wesley M. E. Church, Southside Everyman's Bible Class of Montclair, affiliated with the Southside Presbyterian Church of Montclair, Central Men's Bible Class of Montclair, affiliated with the Central Presbyterian Church of Montclair.

The officers who attended were Robert Luz, president; Robert Lancaster, secretary; Eugene Cannon, treasurer; Preston I. Kelsey, vice president; Philip Van Sant, vice president; Robert Cox, alternate for J. B. Brown of Belleville, and Warren V. Cluff, alternate for L. P. Alford.

Much important business was transacted at this first meeting of the Federation and the officers who attended were so enthused over the plans they were making out for the future, that the meeting did not break up until after 11 o'clock. It was decided that the officers could best serve the Federation of West Essex by acting in the capacity of an advisory board in helping every way possible to increase the interest and growth in the Men's Bible Classes of West Essex and by creating greater interest in the Bible Class Movement through the National Federation of Men's Bible Classes.

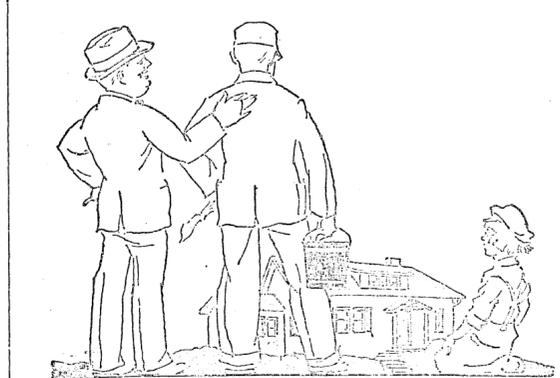

To this end, it was voted to make a survey of the field and accordingly a committee was formed to make this survey and report its findings at the next meeting of the Federation on February 10, at the Montclair Y. M. C. A.

It was also decided to hold a mass meeting for the men of West Essex, under the auspices of the Federation on the afternoon of March 9, in the Westminster Church of Bloomfield for the purpose of creating a greater interest in the Bible Class work and to stimulate enthusiasm for the State Convention of the Federation of Men's Bible Classes which will be held on April 5, in Elizabeth, N. J.

ANOTHER POLICE VICTORY

Belleville police have won another victory and Elmer Leighton, who is now a sergeant, gained it for the department. He subdued a murderer trying to escape.

Leighton's act won for him a job which Commissioner William D. Clark had left open for just such work in line of duty. He was advanced from patrolman to sergeant.

There are other similar vacancies and some of Belleville's finest are already in line. Many catches of crooks and bandits have been made and the patrolmen who have not yet advanced need have no fear about their chances to climb the ladder when the time comes.

Belleville has one of the best police forces in the country and about this there is no mistake. It is forcibly driven home to us at a time like last Thursday.

The fire department is likewise good, and members there have vacancy marks to shoot at. Commissioner William D. Clark has tried to give Belleville nothing but the best in both departments and the best means efficient members, plus.

:O:

INNOCENT SUFFERERS ALSO

Aside from the bereaved families who figured in last Thursday's murders, are other innocent sufferers, relatives of William Gimbel, especially his immediate family.

While we have no sympathy for anyone who murders, we must pause to think of those relatives to whom this youth has brought unhappiness and sorrow.

The family of Gimbel have no alternative, but to stand by the boy, as parents and relatives. Meantime feeling for the bereaved families.

Belleville should judge them as it always did and have a feeling for them too, in their hour of trouble.

:O:

IT IS HARD TO TELL

How much history is it safe to believe? An antiquarian has announced that George Washington was not born on the site in Virginia which is marked by a monument but at least a mile and a quarter away. As that happened nearly 200 years ago, it is perhaps natural that there should be some question about the birthplace. But take a more recent happening. When Brooklyn announced that steps were to be taken to preserve the Moore homestead, where "A Visit from St. Nicholas" was written, New York countered with the information that the poem was written there. And then another claimant pointed out that the verses were not written in Brooklyn or New York.

These are perhaps minor matters, as contrasted with the great events of history. But they do make one wonder whether historians are always as correct as some of them think they are.

:O:

CHEAPER BOOKS

That people do like to read is perhaps proved as much by the republication of old books at cheaper prices as by the flood of new books that has reached record proportions. And that the public wants books of enduring value is seen in the titles of the Everyman edition, the Modern Library and numerous other reprints of worth while volumes.

Recently the big bargain on the book counters has been "The Outline of History," by H. G. Wells for $1. Announcement is now made that Mark Twain is coming out for the first time at bargain rates. "Tom Sawyer" will be the first and the price will be 75 cents. We suspect that a good many people will realize that this is a real bargain. Not many things that can be bought for 75 cents will wear quite as well as a copy of "Tom Sawyer."

AN OBJECT LESSON

Samuel J. Fastenberg of East Orange, his wife and his friends of Jewish faith, took occasion to spend midnight mass at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Christmas.

So imbued with a spirit of tolerance and love and regard for his fellowmen is Mr. Fastenberg that religious views make no difference with him. He must, because of his own belief and his voluntary desire to attend on such an occasion as Christmas a church of another creed, have a spirit of peace on earth, good will to men.

Mr. Fastenberg went one step further. Recently he presented the church a large, silk American flag of the finest texture, a case, stand and all that goes with it. It is such men as Mr. Fastenberg, who make us realize there is a Golden Rule by which we should live. It makes us feel no matter what we are—Jew, Gentile, Catholic or Protestant, white or black, this earth is put here with all of us just little specks on it. It is the good we do here that will determine what happens later, it is said. Mr. Fastenberg has issued a challenge to all of us. If we live a friendly life like his, regardless of what we are in a religious way, we cannot go far wrong.

AUTO OUTLOOK GOOD

One of the leaders in the automobile industry not only expresses the opinion that there will be no marked depression in car sales, but on the contrary presents very convincing data to indicate that the motor manufacturers are virtually certain of good business this year.

In explaining the drop in sales during October and November, this authority points out that an increasing number of manufacturers are adopting the policy of changing their models at this season rather than in the summer, as formerly. This period when models are being revised is inevitably a slack one and could easily account for the fewer sales in the past two months.

As to the longer look ahead it is pointed out that the replacement market was largely responsible for the record 1929 output and will doubtless be a more important factor in the next several years. In 1930 the replacement demand alone, figured on actuarial mathematics, is placed at 3,390,000 cars. This number for replacement is greater than total sales only a few years ago. In addition to the increasing replacements the foreign market for American cars is expanding wonderfully.

That if anyone is interested in developing broad market for almost any product in this day and age, neglect of advertising is nothing short of folly.

The notion that advertising adds to the price of a product is still a persistent one. The sophistry that utility companies advertise in the newspapers to insidiously influence editorial opinion is still advanced by those anxious to tear down these industries. Both are fallacies and as fallacies should be attacked at every opportunity.

The demagogues devoting themselves to the utilities would like to have every editor feel that his readers believed him bought if his paper carried gas or electric company advertising. They would cheerfully deprive these industries of the right to advertise at all, if they dared to propose such a thing. Meanwhile they sow what suspicion they can in the hopes that the utilities will be discouraged from advertising, and the publishers will be afraid to solicit such business.

true. Mass production of sales must use advertising. It is a contrast between popular and class appeal. Compare the Chevrolet and the Rolls-Royce.

If there is anything wrong, morally or commercially about utilities company advertising today, it is simply its inadequacy. In other words, there is not enough of it being done. The industry can employ to advantage advertising in its various forms to a much greater extent than is the case at present. If this were done, the pace of development would be accelerated, the maximum benefits of gas and electricity brought to many additional people in quicker time, and volume of output built up so that the price per unit of service could be more rapidly reduced.

Frelinghuysen Sees Effort To Remove Outside Sponsorship

Thus He Speaks As Regards Candidacy Of Morrow

An apparent effort to remove from the candidacy of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow all appearances of outside sponsorship is being made by Douglas G. Thomson, Mr. Morrow's campaign manager, according to former United States Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen.

In a statement issued last week Mr. Frelinghuysen calls attention to press accounts of an address made recently by Mr. Thomson at a meeting in Tenafly, Bergen County. Mr. Thomson was quoted as having said:

"The organization—and by that I mean Governor Larson and others—had absolutely nothing to do with the selection of Dwight W. Morrow, whose nomination came as an attempt to get someone who could get above the petty differences between the north and south section of the State, and to have the highest possible type candidate to represent us in the senate."

"In order to keep the record straight before the Republican voters of the State," Mr. Frelinghuysen said, "I wish to quote from a letter written by Governor Larson to Senator Baird and made public by Governor Larson on his arrival in Atlantic City to attend the testimonial dinner given to Ambassador Edge on Saturday evening, November 30:

"I thank you (Mr. Baird) for the unselfish service to the State which you have so often rendered; for your personal sacrifice in devoting the time necessary to this important work, and I thank you, too, for having used your own influence in assisting me to persuade Mr. Morrow, after distinguished and effective service to the Government, to enter another line of service where we all have reason to believe that his singular talents will be of even greater usefulness to his State and Nation."

"The words of Governor Larson's written to Senator Baird," Mr. Frelinghuysen continued, "should be regarded as sufficient refutation of Mr. Thomson's statement in his apparent effort to repudiate the men actually responsible for Mr. Morrow's candidacy. It should also be recalled, however, that telephone conversations were carried on by Senator Baird and Daniel E. Pomeroy, in New Jersey, with Mr. Morrow in Mexico City, in which the arrangement was made that Senator Baird would resign his seat in the Senate in favor of Mr. Morrow, that Mr. Morrow would be appointed by Governor Larson, and would in return become a candidate for nomination at the primaries.

"This situation should be thoroughly understood by the Republican voters of New Jersey, especially in light of the peculiar attitude taken by Mr. Thomson at the very outset of the campaign."

THE money and effort involved in these five great projects, combined, will be equalled by the five year Telephone Construction Program now in progress in New Jersey.

This $160,000,000 program will duplicate the cost of the telephone plant now in service in New Jersey after fifty years of growth.

It is made necessary by New Jersey's growth, and by the increasing use of the telephone, which require not only great expansion of telephone plant, but also the removal of $60,000,000 of plant both in the regular movement of business and because it will become inadequate to care for increased service requirements, and not because it is worn out or obsolete.

This program requires doubling the capitalization of this company.

It assures continued employment for thousands of telephone workers, employees of the Western Electric Company and of hundreds of New Jersey contractors and suppliers.

It will result in the continuance of an adequate and constantly improving telephone service.

SERVICE PROGRAM OUTLINED FOR BOY SCOUTS' TWENTIETH BIRTHDAY

Anniversary Week Of Boy Scouts Of America To Be Celebrated From February Seventh To Thirteenth

On the evening of February 8, the Boy Scouts of America will celebrate their twentieth birthday and members of the organization in every part of the country will re-dedicate themselves to the principles of the Scout Oath and Law. This unique anniversary night program of the Boy Scouts has been repeated each year since 1910 when a few thousand Boy Scouts gathered together and repeated the Scout Oath and Law, pledging themselves to its tenets. This year nearly 825,000 Boy Scouts will take part in the ceremonies.

Program of Service

All during the week of February 7 to 13, which is Boy Scout Anniversary week, the Scouts of the United States will take part in a program of service to others. February 7 will be observed as Sponsors' day and on that day Boy Scout Troops will do some "Good Turn" for the institution sponsoring them. On Saturday, February 8, Anniversary Day, the Scout, at eight o'clock in the evening will recommit himself to the Scout Oath and Law. On that day a nation-wide demonstration will be given to show the possibilities of Scout Mobilization on a large scale to aid in time of stress or disaster. On February 9, Scout Sunday, Troops of Scouts will attend church in a body or act as ushers in their own churches. On February 10, School Day, Boy Scouts will give first aid and safety-first demonstrations in schools and will volunteer their services as safety patrolmen to aid smaller children in crossing streets in the school vicinity.

Home Day

February 11, Home Day, the Scout will perform some "Good Turn" in his own home. In the evening some Troops will hold father and son banquets and others will conduct overnight hikes on which the sons will invite their fathers to participate. February 12, will be Patriots' Day and on that day Boy Scouts will go on patriotic pilgrimages to the graves of historical characters or to some shrine having to do with the nation's history. Those Scout Troops whose members cannot take part in the pilgrimage will hold outdoor meetings and hear talks on the lives of great Americans.

On February 13, Citizens' Day, Scouts will offer their services to cooperate through the year with police, fire, and municipal departments as well as service, civic, organizations and Chambers of Commerce, Scouting demonstration will be given before these various organizations on the evening of this day.

DONATE SWIMMING POOL

As a gift of the Lions' Club of Plainfield, N. J., the Boy Scouts of that city have a 50 to 90 foot swimming pool at their camp. The entire camp, in fact, was given to the Scouts by the Plainfield Lions' Club. The property, comprising 42 acres, was deeded by Harvey Rothberg, Plainfield lawyer, to the Plainfield Lions' Club as a memorial to his brother, Louis, who died on a French battlefield during the World War. A clause in the deed provided that the property should be used for the establishment of a Scout camp under the supervision of the Lions' Club.

Since the tract was presented to the club in 1923, the scope of the work has increased. At first one Troop of Boy Scouts erected a cabin on the land, and at the present time there are twelve Troops, including two from Westfield, N. J., having cabins. These Troops all meet at the

Building Garage At Second River

The Public Service Production Company is constructing for the Coordinated Transport, at Second River (924 Broadway, Newark), a bus garage that will house seventy-five buses. This garage is being built in two sections, one for the garage, which is 340 feet by 90 feet and 16 feet high, and a two-story office section 90 feet by 30 feet. The garage is being constructed of concrete block with stucco finish, steel trusses, Johns-Manville roof on wood deck, and a concrete floor. There is to be a repair shop with pits equipped to do minor repair work. The office section is also built of concrete block, but with a veneer of face brick. The first floor is to be used for a boiler room, and the second floor for an office.

Nutley Asked To Add School Vote Polls
Nutley probably will have five polling places for the School Board election February 11 instead of one. Thomas Cadmus of Rutgers place filed four petitions Monday with Colin Linn, business manager of the Board of Education, requesting the board to add four voting places. The petitions have enough signatures to warrant a change.

The petitions were drawn up by residents and circulated in school districts. In Yanticaw School district 594 registered voters signed, 591 signatures were obtained in Spring Garden School territory, 567 in the Washington School area and 627 in Lincoln School district.

GARNETS STEP AWAY FROM VALLEYS

Displaying all kinds of brilliant form, the Garnets stepped away to a 14-9 decision over the Valleys in the feature attraction of the Belleville Recreation League's basketball program Thursday night at the local high school gym. In the opening tussle of the night, the Wesleys marched on to their fifth league victory, accounting for a hard-fought 19-11 win over the plodding Community Aces. In a low scoring game marked by close guarding, the Unions eked out a close 9-5 triumph over the Panthers to complete the nights schedule.

Although the Valleys in their loss to the strong Garnet combination could not seem to get going as a team, they at least supplied the high scorer of the game, Harry Metz.

Metz, a former Belleville A. A. star, registered the entire point total of the losers, nine, as well as holding the high-scoring Bob Mutch to a quartet of tallies.

After a slow start in the first quarter, when the Valleys gained a five point lead, the Garnets suddenly came to life in the second period and outplayed the losers completely to end the period in the van by two points.

During the next half they added to this already sufficient margin, while holding the Valleys in check.

Although Bob Mutch and Hart Campbell with four points apiece were high scorers for the Garnet quintet in reality there were no individual stars for the Garnets. They put on a fine passing and shooting offensive that had the Valleys completely befuddled at times, as well as turning on the steam defensively when necessary.

Vic Ackerman, Nap Prior and Sonny Dingle completed the Garnet scoring with two points each.

Herb Otto, Herb Mayes and Jim Petrie, although not up to their usual high offensive standard, stood out as highly effective guarding mainstays for the Valleys.

Minus the services of three of their stars, the Wesleys found the going anything but easy in their game with the Community Aces, finally winning out after a hard fought battle. The Aces also lacked several of their stellar performers.

The Wesleys held the lead at every stage of the proceedings, but the never-say-die Community Aces were at their heels every minute and were always dangerous.

Due mainly to the splendid efforts of Walt Groner, who caged three shots in a row under the basket in the opening period, the Wesleys got off to a good start and a large though short-lived lead.

This was no deterrent, however, to the Aces, who proceeded to creep up on the church squad, until at half time they had cut out the Wesleys' lead to a matter of a mere four points.

The Wesleys, were not to be stopped so easily though and throughout the second half outplayed the Silver Lake boys sufficiently to materially increase their margin and take away any doubt that may have existed about the outcome.

Groner's trio of baskets in the early stages of the contest were enough to give him high scoring honors for the Wesleys. "Sonny" Hosking added five points to his impressive total during the course of the night to take second honors in that department. Burt Colehammer and Johnnie Carlough also featured for the Methodist boys.

"Sal" Pico, as usual, was the whole show for the Community boys, registering eight of his team's eleven points, as well as being pivot man in all of his team's plays. Mazzaba and Sessio also featured for the Aces.

In the remaining tilt of the night the Panthers found the Unions too much and subsequently dropped a close 9-5 decision.

The affair, which was bitterly fought, was one of those games where superb guarding and not accurate shooting stood out. Each side seemed imbued with the idea that they must prevent the other from tallying, irregardless of the effects of this method on their own point totals. The result was a fast and furiously contested duel between two evenly matched squads with action and plenty of it being crammed in.

The fine defensive work of the Unions especially stood out as they held the Panthers in complete subjection, not allowing them to tally a single field goal. Their guarding game was a little too close though at times, permitting the hard-fighting Panthers to garner five points, via the foul shot route.

The negligent Union scoring was led by Abramson, who swished the net for four points, almost half of his team's total. Zborowsky and Colanino accounted for the remaining pair of Union field goals.

Bill Schenck of the Panthers was successful in two foul tries to lead his mates offensively. He had also stood out on the defense and was ably aided and abetted by Laird and Rhodes, who each contributed splendid guarding performances.

Belleville Drops Close Battle To East Side Five

Fighting a game but losing battle, the Belleville High basketball quintet was unsuccessful in stretching their careful nurtured winning streak to three straight and dropped a close 30-24 game to East Side of Newark at the latter's court, Friday afternoon.

The Blue and Gold netsters were in their usual fine form, but they simply could not cope with the inspired playing of their rivals and were forced to accept the short end of the count, after a nip and tuck battle.

The first quarter was all Belleville's. Seemingly unaffected by the smallness of the East side court, the local boys set about their task with a rush, gaining a 7-3 lead at the end of the initial period.

Although outscored in the second quarter, the Bell-boys retained their slim margin and at the end of the half were in the van by a 14-12 count. The individual feature of the first half was the brilliant playing of Nick Bonavita, a local substitute who started at guard. He tallied seven points in this half and as later events proved was high scorer for the localities. He was replaced by Paulie Short in the third quarter.

The rest between halves seemed to do the Newarkers a world of good, as they opened the second half with a whirlwind passing and shooting attack that netted them eight points before Belleville could tally.

The Bell-boys tried desperately to overcome the effects of this latest rampage of East Side and even managed to hold the Newark boys even for the remainder of the game, but the damage had been done.

Going into the fourth quarter with a 24-19 count against them, the Blue and Gold fought hard and outplayed their opponents in the final stanza although outscored by a 6-5 margin. Several almost impossible shots accounted for by the Down Neck aggregation sufficed to keep them in the lead and enabled them to finally win out by a 30-24 score.

"Mac" Lamb, star forward of the Bell-boys, ranked next to Bonavita on the offense, accounting for a six point total. His defensive work also was of the highest order.

Bill Bennett and Dutch King, the former acting as Captain, also stood out for the Belleville basketekers.

Walker and Howard, center and forward respectively of the East Side combination, were chiefly instrumental in their team's impressive showing.

Although no attempt is being made to all but the defeat, it seemed to your correspondent that the box-like structure of the East Side court considerably hampered the playing of the locals. After three successive games on the generously proportioned local high school gym, the narrowness of the Newark gym proved too radical a change to be overcome in the span of a single game.

Belleville Elks Take 2 Out Of 3 From Montclair

Rolling in splendid form, the Belleville Elks pin-knights took two of three from the Montclair A. C. Thursday night at the Montclair alleys to advance to fourth position in the Morris and Essex loop, within four games of the first place Junior Order quintet.

After getting off to a poor start in the initial joust, which Montclair copped by a narrow margin, the local Elks hit their stride in the second game, bowling over the pins for a brilliant 964 count. An 872 score in the final game was sufficient to make it two out of three for the Bell-boys.

"Tom" MacNair, who has found all alleys to his liking of late, continued his fine work as anchor-man, chalking up successive scores of 171, 211, and 179. His 211 count in the second game marked the high spot of the individual performances dur-

Belleville High Despite Rally Is Beaten By Bloomfield

Belleville High School's basketball team, despite a rally in the last half, lost to the Bloomfield High aggregation by the score of 33-31, on the locals court, Tuesday afternoon.

Bloomfield led at half time by the score of 18-9, but with the insertion into the game of Stanley Goodrich at center, Belleville took a new lease of life in the second half. In the third quarter with Jackson, Goodrich, and Lamb of the Belleville quintet scoring almost at will the locals amassed a total of sixteen points putting them in the lead at the end of that period, 25-24.

In the last three minutes of play in the fourth quarter with the score 29-29 Miller and "Turk" Schummel of the Bloomfield team each dropped in a basket adding four points to their team's score, providing the deciding margin. Belleville drew nearer when Stan Goodrich caged two free throws but the whistle blew just as the Blue and Gold staged a final drive down the court.

Jackson was the stellar performer for the Bell-boys with four baskets and a single foul throw to his credit. Lamb, Short and Goodrich each scored six points for second individual honors. King handily dropped in four foul tries.

Davis was the white haired boy for Bloomfield, aggregating ten points for that team.

ing the night. "Cliff" Faust in the lead-off position was the steadiest bowler on the local squad, reeling off tallies of 191, 182, and 197.

Crane, anchor man of the Montclair alley men, accounted for the only 200 scores his side made. He rolled three excellent games of 203, 199, and 180.

This Whirl Of Sport

By Arthur Bloemeke

Although definite contracts have not arrived as yet from all the high schools which the Belleville High football team will play next fall, it is understood that Belleville has on its schedule such teams as Passaic, Atlantic City and Central High School of Newark.

One of these games in particular has been greeted joyously by the members of the football team. It is with Atlantic City.

It happens that the Blue and Gold aggregation will travel to Atlantic City for the first game of a two year contract. This will probably mean that a night will be spent at the seashore resort, which, to the players' way of saying, it is "all to the mustard."

The other games on the schedule with Passaic and Central have never been played before. Passaic is a big drawing in these parts and should bring a record gate receipt.
