OVER 125 COVERS WILL BE LAID FOR AFFAIR SET FOR MARCH 1

In commemoration of its fifth anniversary the Belleville-on-the-Hill Improvement Association will hold a dinner dance at Dietsch's, Bloomfield and Clifton avenues, Newark, on Saturday evening, March 1. Founded February 10, by half a dozen residents of upper Tiona avenue, the Belleville-on-the-Hill Association has grown steadily until now it comprises approximately 250 residents. The aims of the association are strictly non-political, and have for their end only the betterment of the section. It has been instrumental in promoting all major projects on the hill, and has also cemented the friendship existing between residents in this section by according frequent social contacts.

Joseph W. Metz was the organizer and first president of the association, and served in that capacity for two years. At that time the association had grown to approximately 150 members and it was deemed best to set up a permanent organization. In addition to Mr. Steinmetz the following have served as presidents of the association during the past five years; James M. Lynch and R. C. Stivers. The present official body is as follows: Frank J. Wolenski, president; S. J. Straker, vice president; George Harrison, treasurer; A. Kersten, secretary; Leo Dempsey, director for two years; R. C. Stivers, director for three years, and John Herrman, director for one year.

The association holds its monthly meetings on the third Wednesday evening of each month, at Fewsmith Church, Little street and Union avenue, and all residents in the Hill section who are not already members are invited to join.

Everybody Gets News Says Boy Who Got Subscription Award

Before He Convinced Himself Though Harold Peabody Got 50 Readers

Harold Peabody, smiling Boy Scout and newsboy has been awarded $5 in Gold as well as cash commissions for bringing in over fifty new subscriptions to the Belleville News.

HAROLD PEABODY

Harold, who is in the eighth grade at Public School No. 8, lives at 32 DeWitt avenue. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Peabody. He was born in South Portland, Me., and has lived in Newark and Belleville.

Ambition is Harold's middle name. He intends to go to Belleville High School and then college. His Boy Scout activities are with Troop No. 4, Wesley Church. His second year as a scout he went to Camp Mohigan. He acts as mascot and water boy for the high school baseball team. Harold also plays basketball. He out-distanced sixty boys who increased the News circulation 500 in the last five weeks.

"The only reason I didn't get more," says Harold "is because the News goes everywhere in Belleville. Everybody gets it."

Favors Waters

Editor, The News:

Now that everybody is getting all pepped up over the coming commission election, I think it is no more than right for the persons, who would like to see a commissioner who has done much for his section, re-elected, come out openly for him.

Commissioner Patrick A. Waters has done much for the section in which I live. Every time he has done the things that were asked of him, whenever he could possibly do it.

It is no more than right to give credit where it is due, and I think that others, who have received a real service, should also give a boost to the commissioner who has rendered this service to them.

Naturally, I, for one, am going to go on the highways and byways in the interest of Commissioner Waters, and I hope that I may be able, in my small way, to show the commissioner that I appreciate what he has done for my neighbors and myself.

Here's hoping that he goes back for another four years.

Taxpayer Asks Who Is Responsible For Damage To Store

Truck Skidded In County Road And Removed Store Front

James Petrie of 242 Belleville avenue, Tuesday night asked the Belleville Town Commission who is responsible for an automobile accident in that street at the steep grade in front of his house.

Some time ago Petrie's front porch left its moorings with an automobile which crashed into it and more recently a truck skidded and removed the front of one of his stores at the address.

Commissioner Frank J. Carragher said "the hill is a death trap. There is tar on the road and it is bad for automobiles. The top dressing should be removed by burning it off."

Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy declared that gravel should be spread on the hill and on his suggestion the board will discuss the situation with the Board of Freeholders. It is a county road. Several accidents have occurred at the long, steep grade near Petrie's.

Mayor Kenworthy missed the early part of the meeting, having been invited to make a speech at the Boy Scout anniversary dinner in Newark.

The Belleville-Nutley Buick Co., was awarded the contract for supplying the police department with a combination patrol-ambulance. The bid was $2,275.

Two Depart From Citizens' League Executive Meeting

When Candidates Get Call Gerard And Hyde Leave

Former Recorder Samuel Figurelli, Walter Mathes, William H. Williams and Henry W. Winfield spoke Monday night as commission candidates at an executive committee meeting of the Citizens' League in the Recreation house, Joralemon street.

Mr. Winfield declared himself "a wet" and says he is the only man in Belleville who can bring Al Smith here and he intends to do it at Riviera Park which he says he has hired for the occasion.

When Chairman Harry Brumbach asked the candidates to leave the room and come back in when their names were called School Superintendent George R. Gerard left the meeting, declaring he thought some were not sincere in their efforts. Elmer Hyde also left the meeting.

While he refused to admit or deny his candidacy for the commission, Gerard's friends insist he will oppose Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, whom they charge attempted to oust Gerard from his position a few years ago and succeeded in deposing him as principal of the high school.

The town's political pot has begun to boil in earnest. The opening gun

Gas Station Permit Denied By Board

Adjustment Group Holds Up Six-Family House Application

The application for a permit to erect a gasoline service station at the southwest corner of Joralemon street and Union avenue, made by the Northern Oil Company of New Jersey, has been denied by the Adjustment Board of Appeals on the ground that the property would be within 200 feet of Public School No. 3.

The application of the Codomo Foundation Co., to erect a six-family house at 73-77 Brighton avenue, was laid over until February 20 to enable the board to inspect the premises.

There were twenty-seven out of forty-nine owners within 200 feet of the property who filed their objections to granting of the application.

The Adjustment Board held its reorganization meeting at which the following officers were elected: A. A. Buckley, chairman, and William H. Williams, secretary.

Constable Held As Embezzler

Belleville Man Accused Of Retaining Money Collected On Judgment

Harry Kibbee, a constable of the Irvington District Court, is held at Irvington police headquarters in default of $1,000 bail for a hearing on an embezzlement charge. Kibbee also was adjudged guilty of contempt of court by Judge Anthony F. Minisi of the District Court, January 30, but no penalty has been imposed.

Kibbee is said by J. Edward Delancy, clerk of the District Court, to have received thirty-seven executions of judgment on which he was ordered to collect the money and pay it to the plaintiffs which, it was charged, he has failed to account for.

It is on one of these unaccounted for executions that the embezzlement charge is made by John N. Jenny of 242 Halsey street, Newark. Jenny obtained a judgment in the District Court against Louis Greenberg of 231 Halsey street, Newark, for $20.10. Court costs totaled $4.93 additional. Constable Kibbee was given this judgment to collect. Jenny says Greenberg showed him a canceled check covering both amounts, but Kibbee has not paid Jenny the money.

Judge Minisi ordered Kibbee brought before him on contempt when Clerk Delancy discovered the number of executions Kibbee had not accounted for. Kibbee was arrested by Sergeant at Arms Charles Schroeder of the District Court and adjudged guilty of contempt. Wednesday, after he was again in court awaiting action on his case, Kibbee disappeared, court attaches said. He was arrested Friday night at his home, 225 Joralemon street.

NUTLEY HOLY NAME ADDS BOB COLE, STAR OF ACE HIGH, TO LONG PROGRAM

The monster smoker of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church, Nutley, has added several additional star acts to the already long all star program. Attracted by the wealth of star performers who are liberally aiding in the cause of charity, Bob Cole, late master of ceremonies of Clifford Lodge, and one time dancing star of "Ace High" one of Broadway's big stage hits, has volunteered his services for the banner program to be offered by the Holy Name Society at Park School Auditorium, Nutley, on Thursday, February 20. Another star act that will be sure to please is the team of Cassler and Darbey, vaudeville's musical act extraordinary, which has just completed a successful run at the Mosque Theatre in Newark. Bill Wright, nationally famous radio artist, whose character songs are famous from coast to coast has stated that he will cancel other engagements to be present. The program will be one long remembered and will be the talk of the town for months to come.

Starting promptly at 8:15, not a dull moment will be left for the customers to twiddle thumbs. Gus Kirchoerffer, the master of ceremonies is sure to keep things popping from the ring of the first gun until midnight. To keep the audience in good spirits Thomas' High Hat Orchestra will live up the intervals with peppy jazzy tunes. The boxing exhibitions headed by New Jersey's popular boy, "Vince" Dundee, will give the crowd enough action to please the most rabid fight fan. A surprise bout is in store for the customers and the visit of America's most foremost champ, while not definitely assured, will, if he puts in an appearance, round a gala night of nights.

Of the large and active committee headed by "Smiling" Joe Riley, more than 80 per cent were present at last Tuesday night's meeting. More than 1,300 tickets are now in circulation and the demands for the

He encouraged the boy with few talents to enrich his life by developing those talents. Mr. Stetson praised highly the "Good Turn Daily" law of the Scouts and said he believed that the tribute paid Jesus "He Went About Doing Good" might have had the word "turns" added to it and that in following out the scout law the boys were living close to the example set by Jesus.

With the singing of "America" and sounding of taps, the Scout service ended.

B. & L. MEN HELP HOME OWNERS

For the first time in the history of the Zone Board of Adjustment, building and loan associations have offered objections to a permit for a house different than others in a particular section of town.

The objection comes in the matter of an application for a six-family structure in Brighton avenue. Home owners there backed by building and loan officials protest. They say the associations should be protected as regards the established values on which they are holding mortgages.

Perhaps when other people hear that the associations are taking a part in such objections they will solicit similar aid to prevent encroachment from buildings they do not desire in particular sections.

LOCK THE DOORS

Not as a thought from the recent murder of a woman in her home, but because it is the thing to do, Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons suggests that a strict bar be placed against out-of-town canvassers who do not get permits to solicit in Belleville.

Not only would the judge make the canvassers get permits from police headquarters, but he would have cards issued to them on which would appear the solicitor's picture. He would lock the doors of Belleville, so to speak, against the unscrupulous, fresh and sometimes shady canvasser to protect legitimate canvassers, such as some reputable Belleville and out-of-town concerns have on a house-to-house proposition.

If Belleville had an iron-clad regulation of this nuisance, like Montclair or other towns we know of, the chances of trouble from this source would be practically nil. It will be interesting to note whether some such local measure will be adopted. If it is the recorder should get full credit.

NABBING SPEEDERS

Belleville motorcycle officers have been making nabs in the last week so far as speeders are concerned in Washington avenue. This is the kind of work that counts. Motorists who speed where there are traffic lights are the worst kind of offenders. A traffic light alone should serve as a warning that the motorist is proceeding along a busy thoroughfare.

This is good work, boys. Keep it up and nab them all.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS

Slam bang the traffic lights all you will, we firmly believe they are. Maybe they do not operate properly at all times, maybe they do hold up when you feel like speeding. But they prevent accidents and regulate traffic.

Take for instance Lincoln's birthday. Washington avenue was taxed to city with automobiles. There would have been one fine jumble if the lights had not been where they are. Let us look at the progressive thing and give Commissioner William D. Clark credit for putting them there.

ANOTHER MARVEL

Paris has decreed a new color for fashions this year—rose opaline. Less than 24 hours after it was exhibited in the French capital, it was reproduced in New York, having been cabled across the ocean.

Explanation makes it seem simple enough. The spectrum is subdivided into which are numbered and lettered. All that is necessary to do is to the right combination any anyone familiar with the code can reproduce color or shade. It is not as astonishing as the method used to telephone across a continent or across the seas. Yet how completely bewildering would have seemed, 25 years ago, to have picked up a newspaper and find that a new color had been cabled from Paris to New York.

ROMANCE AND GALES

Liners have been coming into New York two and three days late, with life boats and ventilators washed away and passengers glad to get on land again after riding out one of the worst winter storms in years. Honors for the best sailors among the passengers go easily to Dorothy on, an interior decorator, and Paul Dixon, an artist. They met on the Minnekahda for the first time, became engaged and were married captain on the last day of the voyage. Romance under a summer is the most natural thing in the world but romance on a liner battling winter gales is unique enough to deserve something more than cursory notice.

THE SOFT COLLAR

Last week some dictators of fashions for men announced that the soft collar was doomed and that anyone wearing such an article was completely out of fashion. It will be interesting to note how this judgment is received. There are many who, preferring comfort to style, will hold to the less formal necker for winter and summer. And it does seem unjust that they should be penalized for such an offence. Male apparel is sufficiently cumbersome under the best of circumstances.

CHIEF JUSTICE HUGHES

When he assumes the robes of the Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, Charles Evans Hughes will have achieved the supreme aim of his very distinguished career. He apparently cast aside that ambulatory 14 years ago when he resigned as associate justice to run for the presidency, an office for which he had no intense personal longing. To his fitness for the exalted post, there is, of course, no question. His ability, and high character are universally recognized. He will lend assistance to an eminently honorable station.

President Hoover caused much surprise by naming Mr. Hughes almost immediately after Chief Justice Taft's formal letter of resignation was received. He knew in advance of Justice Taft's intention and had his successor was to be. The new Chief Justice may not serve long. He is 67 years old. But he has plenty of time to add to the list of his today.

Jokes.

A friend of mine got into an argument with a friend of hers over a much-discussed point in bridge. Finally, she said, "I'll ask So-and-so"—a well-known authority on bridge—"to decide."

She wrote So-and-so a nice letter. In due time she received an equally nice reply and with it a bill for $25—"for professional services." Shocked and surprised, she consulted her lawyer "Pay the bill," he said. Two days later he sent her a bill for $25—"for professional services."

When asked how it was that in pictures and statues angels are always represented as women or young men without beards or mustaches, Dr. Potter, Bishop of New York, replied:

"Everyone knows that women naturally inherit the kingdom of Heaven, but the men get in only by a very close shave."

Pat O'Hara and Mike Murphy (who strangely enough, were Irishmen) had taken jobs at a colliery. Pat one morning broke his shovel when he was down in the mine. He was too lazy, however, to take it to the surface with him, so he left it for his friend, writing on it in chalk: "Take my shovel out, Mike, I've forgotten it!"

But friend Michael knew Pat of old, and refused to be caught by such a trick. So he rubbed the message off and substituted one of his own: "Take it out yourself. I've never seen it."

The young men had been behaving in a disorderly manner at a Revivalist meeting, and the missionary asked them:

"Why did you come to this meeting?"

"To see miracles performed," answered one of them.

Whereupon they were summarily ejected. "We don't perform miracles," explained the missionary, "but—we cast out devils!"

Grandma had just arrived on a visit and to take part in celebrating young Bobbie's birthday on the morning after supper Bobbie started to fidget round grandma's chair. To the surprise of everyone present he said: "Grandma, which is the right side of you? Mother said if I'm a good boy and keep on the right side of you you might buy me a bicycle."

Applicant—If I may say so, I'm pretty smart. I've won several crossword and wise-crack contests.
Employer—Yes, but I want someone who can be smart during office hours.
Applicant—I did this during office hours.

Irate Housewife—Aren't you the same man I gave a mince pie to last week?
Tramp (sady) — No, ma'am, I ain't. And what's more, the doctor says I never will be.

E. D. Lambright, editor of the Tampa (Florida) Tribune, says:

"Florida which, not many years ago, received national condemnation on account of the abuses of a convict lease system, has been, since abolishing that system, setting an example to other states in the treatment and employment of its state prisoners."

"Florida's state prison is a combined farm and industrial center. Farm and truck crops are produced, and products not consumed by the prisoners are sold at profitable prices. The farm includes revenue-bringing dairy and poultry plants."

"Industrial plants at the prison turn out low-priced shoes and shirts, which are sold in large quantities."

"A plant, operated by prisoners, makes all the state's automobile license tags, at very low cost."

"Construction of a modern prison building has just been completed. All the labor, skilled and common, used in its construction, was furnished by prisoners, among whom were found plumbers, brickmasons, steam fitters, painters, plasterers, electricians, fully capable of doing the work. The construction was supervised throughout by a life-terminer, formerly a contractor and builder. In this way the state got a building worth $750,000, at present construction costs, for approximately $300,000. Only the material had to be bought."

"The honor system prevails at the prison and convicts are guards over the convict squads, on the farm and in the shops. Only three or four of these trusted prisoners have betrayed their trusts and attempted escape."

Foresight

VISION THAT PAYS

Looking ahead to the future represents the kind of vision that pays handsome returns. Foresighted men for this reason set aside something every week out of the money received for their labor. This money, put into a savings account here, works in return, night and day, earning generous interest for the thrifty.

"ON WITH THE SHOW," is the first 100% natural color, Vitaphone picture. It is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel,

SYNOPSIS
Willie Durant is financing Nita French, an actress, in a musical show, but refuses to put up money. Jerry Connolly, the manager, accuses Durant of being tentative to Kitty, the stage-struck check room girl, and inducing her father, Dad Malone, and her sweet heart, Jimmy, to invest their life savings to gain a hold over her. The box-office is robbed and Jimmy and Jerry are suspected. Jimmy finds Kitty with Durant and quarrels with her. Then Nita refuses to finish the performance unless she gets her salary, but Kitty goes on in her part. Kitty explains to Jimmy why she was with Durant.

"You stay there," Jerry pushed Nita into her dressing room. "And if you dare to come out, I'll beat you black and blue." He banged the door closed, and hurried back to the wings followed by Sam and Pete.

A loud burst of applause filled the auditorium. Kitty and Harold ran off hand in hand and then went back again to take their bows. The clapping continued, long and lingering, forcing them onto the stage again and again. Even the members of the cast were adding their plaudits to the general commotion that reigned throughout the house. Jerry was frantically slapping Jimmy on the back, laughing like an hysterical woman.

Taking her final bow, Kitty ran off, her face flushed with excitement, her breath coming quickly. "Oh, Jerry—Jimmy—" she flung herself into the manager's arms.

"Kitty, you were great. . . That was simply swell. . . You saved the show, kid. . . You've got Nita skinned a mile. . . Where'd you learn to sing like that? . . . How'd you know the lines? . . . You're a great little actress. . ."

From all sides the compliments were showered upon her head. Jerry was pumping her arm up and down excitedly, unable to speak. Benton, the comedian, was patting her on the shoulder. Jimmy's eyes were shining, and he held tightly to the girl's free hand. Sarah Bogardy was jumping up and down, trying to make herself heard above the general hubbub. And on the outskirts of the crowd, his face alight with joy, his eyes mistily teared, stood Dad Malone.

"How did you ever manage it, Kitty?" Jerry at last contrived to regain his voice. "The wig, I mean—and the costume—"

"Oh, it was easy enough," Kitty looked up at the manager and smiled shyly. "You see, Jimmy came and got me. He told me about Nita not going on until she got paid. He hasn't any brother to borrow money from, like he told you. He says a chance for me to show you I could act. We were afraid to tell you because we thought maybe you wouldn't let me try it."

"I have been just dumb enough to do that little thing," Jerry admitted, "but how did you—"

"I'm coming to that," Kitty explained. "You see when I was looking around that prop room for the manuscript I found a red wig, and so all I had to do was brush it up and get it on. It's not so good as it could be, but the tiara covers the worst parts."

"You'll go on on Broadway wearing your own hair," Jerry laughed. "Oh, Jerry, do you mean that?" Kitty gasped. "Say it again—about Broadway."

"You heard me the first time," the manager laughed, patting her hand. "But you'd better go and get ready for the next act."

He pushed aside the other members of the cast and hurried Kitty out towards the dressing rooms. "I'll get Nita's costumes for you," he assured the girl.

"Why, Jimmy?" Kitty gasped. "Where are you going?"

"I ain't decided definitely, yet, but before I do, I just want you to remember that I—well, I—stumbled self-consciously. I started you on the road to fame."

Kitty bit her lip to keep from smiling. Jimmy was so serious, so young. "But why all the tragedy? What's the big idea?" she spoke lightly.

"As I gaze upon my lonely boy," Jimmy began solemnly, "over the mountain tops at sundown, I'll think of you and wonder if you remember the boy who placed your ladder on the foot—I mean your foot on the ladder of fame."

"Oh, Jimmy, I—"

"Let me finish. Here is a slight token of my esteem." The boy thrust the flowers towards Kitty, scarcely daring to raise his head. "There ain't nothing personal in it. It's just what any fan might give to any artist."

"They're beautiful, Jimmy," Kitty took the bouquet and held it lovingly. "Thank you so much." Suddenly she threw her arms about the boy's neck and kissed him.

"Don't, Kitty, please," Jimmy pushed her away. "Don't make our parting any harder. Can't you see I'm trying not to break down?" he assured the girl.

CHAPTER XIV

The Dorsey twins and Sarah Bogardy stood grouped about Kitty in her dressing room helping her to put on the finishing touches for the third act. The girl stared at herself in the mirror scarcely realizing that it was Kitty Malone looking back at her. She was so proud and happy with everybody saying that she had saved the show. Dad hadn't been in to see her yet, but then Dad understood. He had been an actor once himself and he knew how excited she must be. He would wait until after the show to congratulate her.

"You were perfectly gorgeous! Simply magnificent!" Sarah was babbling. "My dear, I never knew you had it in you."

"Aren't you kidding me," Kitty asked shyly.

She loved to hear the words of praise, but she was still self-conscious, and the effusions of Sarah made her blush.

"What's the difference?" Berta questioned.

"It sounds good, anyhow," Betty put in.

"But just let me give you a tip," Sarah warned, nodding her head significantly. "You keep out of Nita's way. She's threatened to kill you if you go on in this act, and my dear that female is dynamite."

"I'm not afraid of her," Kitty boasted.

"Well, you'd better keep away from her, anyhow," Sarah insisted. "I'll keep an eye on her for you. If she makes a suspicious move I'll yoo-hoo, like this," the comedienne yodded shrilly.

"What good'll that do," Barta demanded.

"Kitty can run or get help," Sarah replied. "Anyway, I just love to worry Nita. Now I'll run out and you see if you can hear me all right."

The comedienne flew out of the dressing room. The twins exchanged amused glances.

"That dame's dizzy," Berta grinned.

"When she was a kid somebody left her too long on a merry-go-round," Betty added.

"Oh, she means—"

A strident bellow interrupted Kitty's words. "Can you hear me all right?"

Came Sarah's voice from without. "Yes," Kitty called back.

"Well, we've been on the same line with sword swallowers," Berta began.

"But never before with a yoo-hooer," Berta finished.

"Overture! Overture!" The call-boy tapped on Kitty's door. A little thrill ran up and down her spine. It was wonderful to have the call-boy knocking at your door, telling you it was time to go on. This seemed like the culmination of all her dreams, and Broadway—Broadway would be the next stopping place.

"Well, see you later." Simultaneously the twins turned and hurried out.

Kitty added a dab of powder to her nose, fluffed out the soft tulle skirt and followed in the door. As she rounded the curve in the stairway, she looked below. There stood Jimmy, a huge bouquet of flowers almost hiding his face. She hurried on down.

"I came—I came to say a few words to you before leaving town," Jimmy began hesitatingly, his head still buried in the flowers aimed to look up. He seemed to be playing the role of a martyr and getting a great deal of melancholy satisfaction from it.

"Why, Jimmy?" Kitty gasped. "Where are you going?"

"I ain't decided definitely, yet, but before I do, I just want you to remember that I—well, I—stumbled self-consciously. I started you on the road to fame."

Kitty bit her lip to keep from smiling. Jimmy was so serious, so young. "But why all the tragedy? What's the big idea?" she spoke lightly.

"As I gaze upon my lonely boy," Jimmy began solemnly, "over the mountain tops at sundown, I'll think of you and wonder if you remember the boy who placed your ladder on the foot—I mean your foot on the ladder of fame."

"Oh, Jimmy, I—"

"Let me finish. Here is a slight token of my esteem." The boy thrust the flowers towards Kitty, scarcely daring to raise his head. "There ain't nothing personal in it. It's just what any fan might give to any artist."

Friendship Fades As Auto Plunges In Old Reservoir

Driver And Ex-Pal Go To Police For Advice And Drying Out

Sergeant Joseph Schurr of the police was hard put Saturday night to decide what charges—if any—he would prefer against Anthony Uzolina, 19, of 35 Magnolia street, Silver Lake, and Peter J. Nazare, 27, of 268 Lafayette street, Lyndhurst, who voluntarily related their plight at police headquarters.

The facts are these: Uzolina was driving Nazare to the latter's home to don festive apparel in which to attend a dance. Uzolina ventured a short cut in Belleville that took him to Greyllock avenue.

Greyllock avenue is a smooth cement road, but it ends abruptly on Main street, a route of rough pavement, and faces due east to the old North Jersey reservoir. Through the reservoir guard-fence rode Uzolina and Nazare. The bump caused them to forsake the car via the windshield and into the murky waters dove the driver and his friend.

Complications Eased At a late hour Saturday night they were thawing out and drying their clothes on the steam radiator at police headquarters.

Further facts in the case are: The car rests at the bottom of twenty feet of water in the reservoir; police who had been summoned by the men escorted Nazare to the home of Dr. Martin Meehan, who stitched a deep cut in the passenger's chin and treated contusions on his leg; Nazare is threatening to sue Uzolina for injuries sustained, and Uzolina isn't sure what his insurance policy covers.

Otherwise the situation was quite simple, except that Sergeant Schurr was not so sure. From the twinkle in his eye, however, it was safe to assume he would dismiss the water-soaked riders as soon as they were dry enough to go out into the night, afoot. And he did.

Belleville Plant Helped By Senate

Tariff Rate On Synthetic Camphor Is Up On Kean's Appeal

Senator Kean led a fight on the Senate floor Thursday, which won for a New Jersey industry a high tariff on synthetic camphor.

Over opposition by Western Republicans and several Southern Democrats, the Senate voted 43 to 29 to place a duty of five cents a pound on synthetic camphor, which in this country is made almost exclusively in New Jersey. Previously, the Senate approved a reduction to one cent a pound. The present duty is six cents.

Senator Kean said a plant in Belleville was manufacturing 500 pounds of synthetic camphor daily and that increased production had been promised if a tariff were levied which would permit competition with the German product.

Senator LaFollette (Rep., Wis.) opposed the high duty, maintaining that the industry was in the laboratory stage and had shown no signs of improvement in eight years. He said the high tariff would work unnecessary hardship on the consumer.

He said the Belle Chemical Company of Belleville had informed former Senator Edge it would be in production December 1, but that there had been no indication the concern could manufacture synthetic camphor with success, even with a duty of six cents a pound.

Synthetic camphor is used as a plasticizer in the manufacture of celluloid. Almost all of it heretofore used has been imported from Germany and Italy.

The only concern in the United States manufacturing it is said to be the Belle Chemical Company of 495 Cortland street. Charles A. Bianchi, manager of this company, Friday denied the assertion of Senator LaFollette that his plant was unable to produce synthetic camphor.

Mr. Bianchi said it was true production had been delayed, but it began in the Belleville plant two weeks ago and now is being turned out to the extent of 500 to 1,000 pounds a day.

He also added that the product can be made in this country with a profit if the tariff laws offer proper protection. He thought the five-cent tariff would offer such protection.

Little Touches Impart Distinction To the Formal Luncheon or Dinner

By CHARLES SCOTTO, Chef, Ambassador Hotel, Park Avenue, New York City

THOSE slight touches which the alert woman is constantly on the watch for as a means of giving distinction to her formal luncheons and dinners, are seldom really hard to achieve. Since they add so much to the pleasure of both hosts and guests, they are well worth the very little extra trouble they entail.

A hors d'oeuvre is always appropriate as the first course for either the mid-day or evening meal. A tomato juice cocktail is an equally appetizing prelude, while fritters make a delicious accompaniment to roast beef.

Southampton Hors d'Oeuvre— Scoop out the stem ends of six whole, firm tomatoes, leaving a cone-shaped cavity. Sprinkle with pepper, salt and a little sugar. Fill with butter. Bake in a moderate oven until tender—about twenty minutes. Place the tomatoes on the plates on which they are to be served. Four over each of them two tablespoons hot cream, seasoned with salt and pepper. Sprinkle with minced parsley or chives, and serve.

Tomato Juice Cocktail—Chop fine one small slice of onion with a few celery leaves, and marinate in three cups strained, salted tomato juice from one to three hours. Then mix in two tablespoons ketchup, one-fourth cup orange juice, two teaspoons sugar, and a dash of cayenne. Strain, frappe, and serve with crushed ice.

Caroline Fritters—To three-fourths cup canned corn, add one-half cup milk, two well-beaten eggs, and one-half tablespoon sugar. Mix thoroughly. Mix one scant cup flour, one tablespoon baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Sift and combine with the other mixture. Place buttered muffin rings in a buttered dripping pan. Drop the combined mixtures into the rings, and bake in a moderate oven.

Mrs. Cornish next introduced the guest speaker, Henry Holst, antique dealer, who took the members on an imaginary trip to London to study English furniture designs, and went back to the time of Queen Elizabeth, through the reign of Queen Mary, when more delicate furniture came into vogue, then to the Queen Ann period and told of the characteristics of that time. The next was the Chippendale period which was called "The Golden Age of Furniture." The speaker told of visiting the old church where Thomas Chippendale worshipped. Robert Adams came next, Hepplewhite and then Sheraton, the last of the great eighteenth century cabinet makers. Some of the American cabinet makers were also discussed. To illustrate his talk Mr. Holst had with his several chairs of different periods. The address was interesting, instructive and humorous.

Mrs. Dudley Drake was in charge of the club tea. Mrs. Porter F. Sheldon, held the regular monthly food sale preceding the meeting and was assisted by Mrs. W. H. Stone.

After the meeting Mrs. May P. Holden, Girl Scout Commissioner, presented "Thanks" badges to Mrs. R. C. Whitfield, Mrs. Cornish and Mrs. Sheldon in appreciation of their services to girl scouting in this community.

February bids fair to have innumerable events of varied interest for the members of the club and their guests. Among the leading activities planned are the evening card party on February 25 at the club house and the fashion show to be held at the afternoon of February 28. At the card party players may either pivot or progress. Tickets may be had from members of the Ways and Means committee under whose auspices both of these events will be held. Mrs. J. J. Schaffer is chairman of this department.

No further entries for the finals in the bridge tournament will be made after that date as the semi-finals and finals will be played at the two succeeding afternoon card parties. Attention is called to the tournament prize, a Windsor chair, donated by Otis and Otis, interior decorators of Belleville. Mrs. Otis is a member of the club. Mrs. A. S. Blank will be in charge of the card party with Mrs. J. Harry Hardman as tournament manager. The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Norman Cooper, Mrs. W. H. Williams, Mrs. Arthur Martin, Mrs. W. Mackley and Mrs. J. R. Irwin.

Invitations to numerous to mention have been received by the club and they have been posted on the bulletin board.

Two Depart From Citizens' League Executive Meeting

was fired some time ago, when the Citizens' League was formed to study prospective candidates and report later as to selection of three. The selection has not yet been made.

The Independent Voters' Association has endorsed Town Commissioner Frank J. Carragher, Elmer Hyde, William H. Williams and Walter Mathes, leaving fifth selection for future consideration. This group is said to be backed by Thomas Hartman, long a Republican leader in town, who is reported to have no special desire to see Mayor Kenworthy re-elected.

Head Group
Harry Ranson is president of the independent group. Miss Elva P. Bushnell, secretary, and Christopher Cuttingham, treasurer.

Former Mayor John De Graw still has backers for any plan he may have. DeGraw quit the present committee because, he said, he couldn't get along with his colleagues. Since DeGraw was elected, four years ago, Edward Nelson quit as director of revenue and finance, due to ill health, and James Gibson took his place. Patrick A. Waters, brother of the late Mayor John H. Waters, took De Graw's place.

The present mayor, Waters, Carragher and Director of Public Safety and Health William D. Clark seek re-election. In addition, Williams, Mathes, Hyde and Everett A. Hicks have tossed their hats into the ring. Mr. Hicks feels he is fitted to run for the department of streets and public improvements, since he has been a plumbing contractor. He is a Republican, and never has held public office. He has resided in Belleville thirty-three years, and says economical government is his platform. He promises to give the job daily attention.

Many Attended Guild Meeting

work of the Guild will not displace the work of any charitable or social welfare organization now functioning in the parishes embraced in the district, but will supply a long felt need in the shape of a single organization that can furnish every line of welfare work found necessary. He said the membership will consist of active and associate members, the former women who will give their time and services and the latter men and women who are unable to serve, but who will contribute to the work financially. "Service is infinitely more valuable and infinitely more important than money. We can devise ways and means for raising the money we need if we have the service to dispense the charity which is given to us to dispense," Bishop Walsh said, "and the service of the Catholic woman is asked as a proof of her Christian charity, which is the fulfillment of a law which inhabits her soul."

Other speakers were Monsignor T. M. Donovan, Rector of the Sacred Heart Church, Bloomfield and Moderator of the Guild for this district, Rev. E. J. Field, Rector of St. Peter's Church, Belleville; Rev. James Grotzback, Assistant Rector of St. Mary's Church, Nutley, Rev. Bronislaus Socha, Rector of St. Valentine's Church, Bloomfield, and Rev. Joseph Morello, Rector of Holy Family Church, Nutley.

A constitution was adopted and officers appointed by the Moderator were introduced to the meeting. Monsignor Donovan explained that after the first year of the organization officers will be elected by the members.

The officers who were appointed are as follows: President, Mrs. Anna Hughes of the Sacred Heart parish, Bloomfield; first vice president; Miss Teresa K. Salmon of St. Peter's Parish, Belleville; second vice presi-

Is Your Dilemma One of These?

Are you a working girl who finds it hard to make ends meet?

Are you in love with a boy who wants to run away with you?

Have you married — and after three days looked upon the man as one you should not have married?

Do you know the agony of injustice?

Have you been clean and yet, because of gossip, forced to bear unjust abuse?

Are you a mother . . . and destitute . . . and ready to do anything for your child?

Have you been under the spell of luxury . . . yet willing to exchange it for peace of the soul?

Have you looked into the eyes of someone you have wronged?

Have you read your name in the paper, a victim of scandal?

Are you a mother who has lost a child?

Would you rob a woman of her husband?

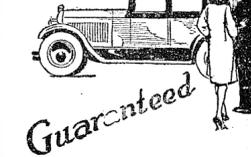

Are you a rich employer, with a wife who has remained far behind along the road of life?

If your child was the secret offspring of wealth, would you give him up, so that he might flourish in a world which was closed to you?

Or, would you keep his existence hidden to prevent his being taken from you?

These are only some of life's questions dealt with in "The Trespasser," Gloria Swanson's first talking picture—a 100 per cent dialogue production. It is distinctly a play of life today . . . it "brings the camera to the keyhole" . . . it is American . . . you can hear the heartbeats of life in Chicago's higher social circles. Gloria Swanson will be seen and will be heard to talk and to sing in this vital drama at the Capitol Theatre, next week.

EXCELLENT WORK BEING DONE IN HIGH SCHOOL

Excellent work is being done in Belleville High School at the present time.

Aided by having a good building not crowded to capacity, with a fine faculty of instructors, attended by about 740 pupils who are in large majority earnest in their desire to acquire an education, and supported by the homes of Belleville to an unusual degree, it is believed that a year's work far above average is being done. As proof of this it is noted that in September there were 68 students on the honor roll, which was about 9 per cent of the total number and considered an excellent showing. This number rose, however, in October to 83, in November to 94, and in December to 96. The results of the mid-year examinations show that there are now 138 pupils on the honor roll—19 Seniors, 26 Juniors, 31 Sophomores and 62 Freshmen, or almost 20 per cent of the whole enrollment attained an average of 90 per cent or better in the recent tests, which is a tremendously fine showing, and worthy of this comment.

Belleville High Defeats Cliftonites On Second Occasion

Javecs Hang Up Third Win In A Row Over Second Squad

Coming from behind in characteristic fashion, the Belleville High basketball squad registered its second victory of the season over Clifton, 24-21, at the latter's court, Friday afternoon.

Paul Short, who has played a stellar game at guard all season, was the hero in the Blue and Gold's triumph, caging the ball for nine points, to lead both sides in scoring. He also featured on the floor.

In addition to Short, "Nick" Bonavita and "Mac" Lamb, the star forward combination of the Bell-boys, featured the Blue and Gold attack, as well as starring on the floor.

Marchioni, flashy forward of the home boys, was the whole works for the Cliftonites, accounting for seven points, in addition to being the pivot man for his side's pass-work.

Belleville High Defeats Cliftonites On Second Occasion

The old gentleman learns of an affair that his daughter has had with an American planter and strongly disapproves of it. Richard Stoneybrooke, the American planter resolves to abduct Theresa and carries out his scheme with the aid of a number of friends. They invade the old grandee's castle, disguised as pirates and abduct Theresa and two other ladies. This bit of action brings the curtain down on the first act.

Act two takes place in the tropical air on the Isle of Pines. The wives and sweethearts of the pirates are staying at an adjacent hotel. Don Cigarrero comes to rescue his daughter and meets Richard Stoneybrooke, not knowing that he and the pirate captain are one and the same. The Don makes Richard an offer in which he promises the fair Theresa and his fortune if Richard succeeds.

The combat between Captain Crossbones and his pirates is clearly shown. The old don keeps his promise and nothing is left to be desired.

Following the play there will be dancing and sociables. Practices are proceeding nicely and the comedy will be in early March.

"Lucky In Love," featuring Morton Downey, will be the picture at the Capitol Theatre, February 26 and 27, in connection with the Senior class benefit. Don't forget and make either one of these your open night. Lots of support is needed, so let us help.

Good-bye Stained Teeth

New Safe Treatment Bleaches Dark Teeth in Three Minutes

Dentists have discovered a new safe treatment which bleaches stains from teeth giving yellow discolored teeth a beautiful shining whiteness. It is called Bleachodent Combination, and consists of a remarkable liquid which cures or softens the stain—and a new kind of paste, which instantly removes the softened stains, and prevents new stains from forming. Simply brush the teeth with a few drops of the liquid—then use the paste—and even the darkest teeth are quickly whitened. Tobacco stains disappear after first few applications. Bleachodent Combination was first made for children's teeth to avoid the use of harsh gritty pastes which are so harmful to children's soft sensitive teeth. While Bleachodent Combination will instantly remove surface stains, do not expect it to remove stains caused by silver fillings, as these are below the enamel, and Bleachodent Combination is not intended to act on the enamel in any way. Fine for the gums. Bleachodent Combination is widely used and recommended. Costs just a few cents, and money back if not delighted. Get it today at all good dealers, such as:

LONE SCOUT HERO WINS AWARD FROM VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS FOR OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT

Eagle Scout Perry E. Piper Who Rescued Boy From Drowning In 1926 And Has Made Unusual Record In School Work And Scouting Granted $300 Scholarship

When Lone Scout Perry E. Piper of Sumner, Ill., leaped into a swift river and swam 50 yards to the rescue of a friend, three years ago, he did not seek reward for his work as he considered it part of his duty as a Scout.

The scholarship money may be applied to any form of higher education in any approved school which the Scout may care to choose.

Through his training as a Lone Scout, Piper was able to save the life of Elmer Corrie, of Venice, Ill., during August, 1926, when Corrie was drowning in sixteen feet of swift water in a river in which both boys had gone swimming.

During his high school period he served as a member of the Junior Fair Board of Lawrence County, Ill., was a member of the Dairy Club, Agricultural Club, Science Club, served on the school paper, ran on the track team, was a member of and captained both the basketball and baseball teams and was described by his principal as one of the outstanding students of the school.

Among the Scouts of his community he has been long known as an ardent and efficient worker. During November of last year he made a survey of the game in his county for the conservation authorities and sponsored a Lone Scout Booth at the County Fair.

Belleville Boys In National High School Orchestra

ATLANTIC CITY—More than 300 high school students of music, specially organized into a National High School Orchestra by Joseph E. Maddy, director of music at the University of Michigan, will play before 10,000 superintendents of schools at the annual convention of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association at Atlantic City, Thursday, February 27.

The concert is one of the principal features of a program in which appear nearly 300 educators and other prominent men and women in discussions of public school problems. The superintendents who will attend this convention are in charge of the education of 20,000,000 public school children, and many of the high school students will play before their own school heads.

In preparation for their winter concert program the high school students assemble each summer at Interlochen, Michigan, where rehearsals are held under the direction of Mr. Maddy. This is the second appearance of the National High School Orchestra before the superintendents' annual convention, the previous appearance being at the Dallas convention in 1927.

The orchestra will broadcast at least three programs from Atlantic City and New York during the convention, the principal one being a nation-wide hook-up on the National Broadcasting Company chain which will broadcast the concert given for the superintendents Thursday at 2 p. m., February 27 (Eastern Standard Time).

Radio programs of the orchestra have been broadcast several times and have been heard in Great Britain as well as in America. A European tour is planned for the organization in 1931, when it is expected that concerts will be played in England, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Austria and Switzerland, including a performance for the Anglo-American Music Educationists' Conference which will be in session in Lausanne.

The annual St. Patrick's ball of the P. B. A. will be held at the Belleville Elks' Club March 17. Final arrangements will be made at a meeting February 20.

The committee on arrangements includes George Spatz, chairman; Ernest Slater, J. J. Flynn, Raymond Demgard, Harry Scott, Richard Nourse and Kenneth Smith.

Former Belleville Health Officer Is 2 Boroughs' Head

George N. Golding of Bradley Beach, formerly health officer of Belleville and at present assistant medical director of the American Export Steamship Lines in New York, has been appointed health officer for Verona and C. well. Both appointments become effective February 1 after which Mr. Golding's time will be divided between the two West Essex boroughs.

Mr. Golding's career has been in health work. He is a licensed health officer of the state, and holds a certificate from Rutgers University. He is also a member of the American Public Health Association.

During the World War Mr. Golding served as a pharmacist in the United States Navy. As a medical director of the E.-port Steamship Line, he was affiliated with the United States Public Health Service in an extensive program of disease prevention.

The administration of health work in Caldwell requires only part-time service. As a similar condition exists in Verona, the health commissioners of the boroughs realized the advantage of having the health officer's full time devoted to such closely adjacent communities and cooperated in making their selection.

Hollywood Jubilant Over Return of Curves

A New Mode Marks the Passing of an Old Ideal

THEY'RE changing those Hollywood contracts. No longer must those poor little rich girls of the movie lots watch from the sidelines while guests at their fabulous mansions revel in the bounty of their dinner tables.

Those extreme contract specifications covering height, weight, waist measurement, and size of this and that, now belong definitely and finally to another—and darker—period of the picture industry's history.

The barbaric practice of self-starvation lost caste some time ago, and, for that matter, it was extremely short-lived, so far as the studios were concerned. A few tragic examples of the fatal results were all that was needed.

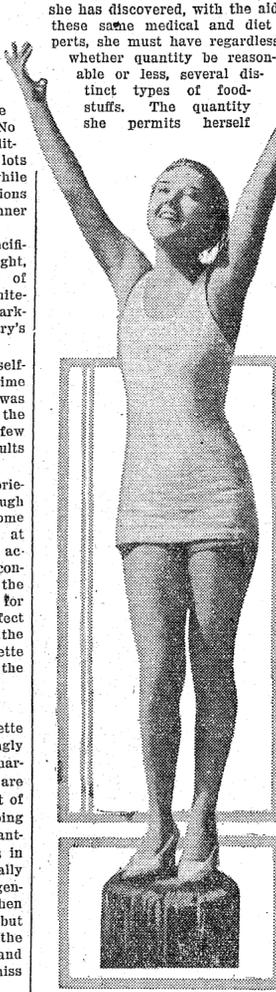

At the moment when the proprietors began losing money through the sickness, and worse, of some of their star performers—and at the moment when magnates, actors, directors and everyone concerned unanimously called on the science of modern medicine for help in this problem of the perfect figure—that moment marked the birth of the so-called silhouette mode which is now sweeping the country.

Normal Figure

For analysis of the silhouette mode shows that the amazingly graceful new gowns that are characteristic of the new fashion are nothing more than the finest art of the dressmaker applied to draping the figure of vigorous and radiantly healthy womanhood. Curves in the places where they originally were intended to be—not the generous curves of the period when the hourglass was the ideal—but the perfect contours that are the inevitable mark of the healthy and remarkably active modern miss and her mother.

The lady heroine of the silent flicker and the talky must have her health, as well as her beauty, if she is to work, and they say that the production departments all are relentless taskmasters. Wherefor, she has discovered, with the aid of these same medical and diet experts, she must have regardless of whether quantity be reasonable or less, several distinct types of food-stuffs. The quantity she permits herself each day depends entirely on the particular condition and particular tendencies of her particular figure, but she makes certain that she includes some of each of the types in the course of her three daily meals. Being faithful in some measure to this group is the only real dietary secret of Hollywood today, where reduction is practiced but starvation shunned. They are the secret of the "balanced diet" and loyalty to them will do much toward keeping the curves at the exact degrees required by the new fashions.

A perfect example of the physical foundation required by new fashions.

Balanced Diet

As expounded by Dorothy Mackall, young First National star, this system may be expressed in these practical terms:

If you possess good health and take a normal amount of exercise regularly, adjust the amount of food to individual requirements but check the following list every day to make certain that your diet includes:

Sugar and starches, among the least fattening of which are fruit sugars and crisp cereals.

Proteins, such as fish, lean meat, white meat of chicken, and eggs—avoid all pork.

Mineral foods, including celery, spinach, chard, lettuce, cabbage, tomatoes.

Vitamins, the least fattening of which are apples, raw cabbage, lettuce, lemons, liver, milk, oranges, grapefruit, fresh pineapple.

Roughage, of the least fattening sorts, such as bran, lettuce, celery, cabbage, string beans, asparagus.

This is all there is to Miss Mackall's system. The food faddists will rail against it but the wisest guardians of human health, the members of the medical profession, will tell you that it is the only safe way of attaining the normal and youthful lines demanded by the arbiters of style and pulchritude. And the most remarkable thing about this "balanced" system is that it may be invoked by both those whose curves are too pronounced and those who now find themselves in that hapless category, the entirely curveless. It's merely a matter of exercise and adjusting the quantity of each of the five food groups for any normally healthy girl or woman.

ARTICLE No. 12

In the preceding article problem hands were given illustrating end plays. Simple as they were, they have puzzled some of our readers so the following solutions should be closely studied:

(a) If hearts are trumps and Z is in the lead, how can Y Z win one trick against any defense?
(b) If hearts are trumps and either A or B is in the lead, how can A B win all of the tricks?
(a) Solution: Y Z can win one trick by the lead of the eight of clubs by Z. Y should trump with the queen of hearts. B must over-trump with the ace so that Z must now make the jack of hearts.
(b) Solution: If either A or B is in the lead, hearts should be led and won in A's hand with the king. A can then lead either the ten of diamonds or seven of clubs which B should trump with the four of hearts. B should then lead the ace of hearts, dropping Z's jack and thus enabling B to win the balance of the tricks. This end play was given to show the importance of the lead. Very frequently it is worth a trick or more to have one hand or the other in the lead, so be careful to figure out in advance, if possible, whether or not it is advantageous to obtain the lead yourself or allow your partner or an opponent to do so.

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z make all of the tricks against any defense?
Solution: Z should lead the ten of hearts and discard the eight of spades from Y's hand. Z should now lead the deuce of spades and A is forced to discard. If he discards the six of diamonds, Y should discard the nine of clubs and Y's ace of diamonds and Z's jack of diamonds will thus win the balance of the tricks. If A discards the ace of clubs, Y should discard the trey of diamonds and Y will thus win the balance of the tricks. No matter what A discards at trick two, Y Z can win the balance of the tricks. This end play is given to show the importance of forcing the opponent to discard. Very frequently tricks can be gained by so doing.

Clubs are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win three of the four tricks against any defense?
Solution: Z should lead the nine of hearts and discard the king of diamonds from Y's hand. Z should now lead the ace of diamonds. A should trump this trick with the ten of clubs and Y should over-trump with the jack. Y should now lead the jack of spades and no matter what B plays, Y Z must win one more trick.
If at trick two, A refuses to trump the ace of diamonds, Y should trump with the deuce of clubs and lead the jack of spades. B can either trump with the queen of clubs, in which case Y's jack of clubs is good, or trump with the trey of clubs, in which case Z over-

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win two of the three tricks against any defense?
Solution: Z should lead the deuce of spades. If A plays the trey of spades, Y should play the four. If A plays the ten of spades, Y should play the queen. In either case, B is forced in the lead, either with the seven or king of spades. He must win this trick or Y Z will win all three tricks.
Having won this trick, B can lead either a spade or a diamond. If he leads the spade, Z wins the trick with the ace and Y's king of hearts must win the next trick. If B should lead the king of diamonds, Z should discard the queen of hearts and A is forced to trump. As Y just overplayed A's trump on the first trick, he can still do so no matter what was played on the first trick. As a result Y must thus win trick two and Z's ace of spades must win trick three. In this way Y Z must win two of the three tricks. This end play is given to show the importance of throwing one opponent in the lead so that he is forced to lead a suit to his disadvantage.

Other end plays will be given from time to time, but the best way to profit from these example hands is to be on the lookout for opportunities in actual play.

The Total Figures
The total was over $13,275,000,000 in aggregate resources. Some of the systems comprised 50 to 100 banks each. Head offices of the groups were found in all jurisdictions, but nine of the states and the District of Columbia.
"We have not included in these figures," the report says, "banking groups in which a commercial bank, a trust company and an investment house, and sometimes a savings bank, are tied together by some form of stock holdings and operated as complementary elements in an organization rendering complete financial services. We have held that such groups are similar to a departmentalized bank and different in the purposes and operations from a chain or group banking system."
"For purposes of the present report we define chain or group banks as systems in which centralized control, whether corporate or personal, either rigid or informal, directs the operations of two or more complete banks, not functionally complementary, each working on its own capital and under its own personnel and located in one or more cities or states."
Commenting on the question whether the rapid development of chain banking was in the nature of a reaction against restrictions imposed on branch banking the report says that observation does not wholly confirm this theory since chain banking is prevalent in some states where virtually no restriction is imposed on branch banking, as well as in those where the establishment of branch banks is prohibited. It adds:
"The Question of Branch Banking"
"However the facts do show that anti-branch banking laws have been a factor in some cases, and probably in some sections, in the spread of chain banking. Instances have come to our attention where expansion along chain bank lines has been carried out by state banks whose expansion along branch bank lines was stopped by the passing of state laws prohibiting further branches. Yet whether expansion would have been along branch bank lines if the laws had imposed no barriers, it is impossible to say. There is obviously a well developed banking opinion in some sections that the chain bank method brings to outlying banks the strength and efficiency of a big organization without depriving them of their local individuality and sympathies. In view of the mixed factors noted, we feel it is unsafe to generalize as to what bearing branch banking laws have on chain developments."
"The recent era of rapid chain bank developments has found specific reflection in some state legislative action tending to restrict or control chain or group banking. Also we find a sharp difference of opinion among state bank commissioners who have expressed their sentiments regarding chain banking."
In a foreword to the report, issued in booklet form by the association at its New York City headquarters, Chairman Hecht says that "The Economic Policy Commission does not take a stand in advocacy of or in opposition to this new method of concentrating banking resources through the affiliation of banks into groups and chains; but is simply offering as a fact finding body what we believe is the first complete national picture of this rapidly growing movement."

BOWS AND GOSETS
Molded lines that cling to the figure, and new feminine details make this frock one of the most charming afternoon models we have seen. The pointed front and back of the bodice, and soft gathers at the waistline assure a flattering fit. The little bows drawn through the bodice are pets of fashion, and the pointed godets give width and the proper uneven length to the skirt. Made with long sleeves, this frock is most successful for afternoon. Made without sleeves, with the back cut in a deep V, it is stunning as an evening frock. And it is becoming to every type.

BANKERS FIND GROUP BANKING WIDESPREAD

Over 13 Billion Dollars of Bank Assets in Affiliated Systems Numbering 1,850 Members—In Nearly Every State.

Over 1,850 banks with more than thirteen billion dollars in resources are shown to be associated with chain or group banking systems in the United States in facts recently gathered by the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. The chairman of the commission, R. S. Hecht of New Orleans, pointed out that the facts indicate that "almost 7 1/2 per cent of our banks and over 18 per cent of our banking resources are in the great net of group or chain banking that now covers almost every part of the country."
The commission's facts comprised chain and group banking affiliations in the broadest sense of the term, the report said. They included those groups in which the controlling element was a particular bank, there being reported 78 instances of this class involving 407 banks and about $6,473,000,000 in combined banking resources. They included also groups in which a non-banking holding company, not subsidiary to any particular bank, was in control and of this class 23 instances were found, involving 330 banks and nearly $5,335,000,000 in resources. The report also included groupings in which control was exercised by individual persons and these cases numbered 167, involving 1,071 banks and about $1,468,000,000 in assets.

SCHOOL SAVINGS GROW
A total of 4,222,935 school children participated in school savings banking in the United States during the last school year, depositing $28,672,496 and rolling up net savings of $10,539,923, bringing total bank balances now credited to this movement to above 50 million dollars, according to the annual report of the Savings Bank division of the American Bankers Association. Schools to the number of 15,597 are enrolled in the plan.

AMERICAN GAS PRODUCTS LEASE KELSEY PLANT IN BELLEVILLE

Old Auto Factory, Recently Used For Making Of Aeroplane Engines, To Be Occupied By New York Corporation

The former Kelsey Motor Company Building at 740 Washington avenue, Belleville, has been leased for a long term of years to the American Gas Products Corporation of New York by the Embar Holding Company. The lease was negotiated by the industrial department of Louis Schlesinger, Inc. The American Corporation manufactures and distributes gas heating appliances. The corporation has been located for many years at 376 Lafayette street, corner Great, Jones street, New York. With the acquisition of the Belleville plant the organization will concentrate all its manufacturing and distributing in New Jersey and will move its executive offices to the new Chrysler Building in New York City.
The Belleville plant, adjoining the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing factory, was erected in 1922 by the Kelsey Motor Company for the manufacture of automobiles. More recently it has been used by the American Cirrus Engine Company for the manufacture of aeroplane engines. This latter company moved from this section to its main plant at Marysville, Mich.
Installation of machinery has already been started by the American Gas Products Corporation and it is expected to have the new factory which contains 32,000 square feet in operation by March 1, employing from seventy-five to 100 persons.

Nathan Fishel of New York represented the American Gas Products Corporation. In this transaction the Embar Holding Company was represented by Rudolph Glickman, president, and legally by Joseph L. Lippman of Stein, McGlynn & Hancock.
The officers of the American Gas Products Corporation are William P. Rasch, president; H. Leigh Whitelaw, vice president; Max S. Wolff, vice president and treasurer, and Saul K. Wolff, secretary. They were legally represented by Julius Weiss and Daniel Nachbar of Weiss, Peis and Grant, attorneys of New York.

Hints For Homemakers

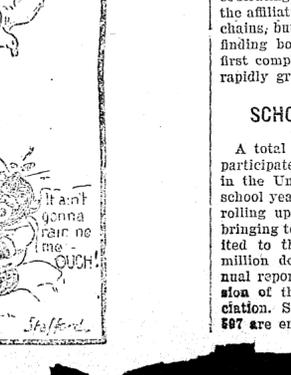

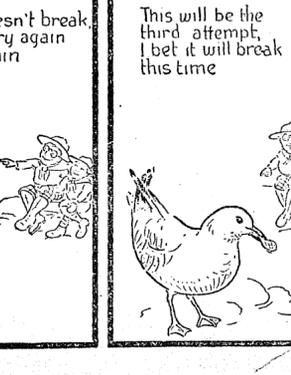

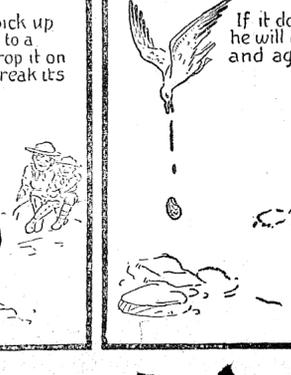

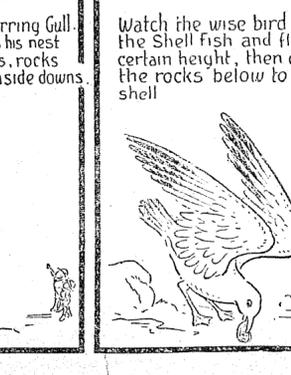

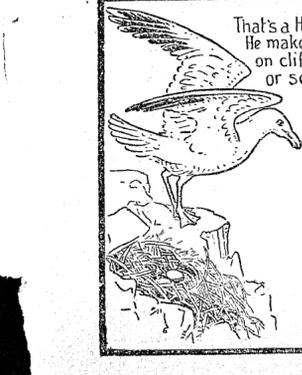

By Jane Rogers

If your food chopper needs sharpening, run a piece of sandpaper through it, just as though the soap were food. It will both sharpen the cutters and remove any grease that may be on them. Rinse thoroughly in boiling water.
Tea biscuits sometimes turn out paler than they should. A teaspoon of sugar added to the recipe will help to give them the golden glow that adds so much to their appetite appeal. Tart shells, pie crusts, and rolls gain greatly in appearance if a little sugar syrup is brushed over them just before they are taken from the oven.

Alumni Expected To Offer High School Stern Opposition

The Blue and Gold court squad is expected to meet stern opposition tonight at the local high school gym when it encounters an all-star Alumni team.

The personnel of the Alumni squad is headed by Harry Metz, who will act as both captain and coach. He will lead into battle a stellar collection of "old grads," all stars in their own right and past members at the passing and shooting game.

Included in this imposing array of talent will be the familiar figures of Bob Mutch, Tony Pascale, Les Armour, Jimmie Metz, Hart Campbell, Elmer Hosking, Eldridge Jacobson, Herb Mayes, and Harold Smith. Most of these players are outstanding performers in the Belleville Recreation League and the remainder have established their skill beyond a shadow of doubt.

The high school team will line-up with the squad that has been showing so much "stuff" in recent games in tact. The squad includes "Stan" Goodrich, Bob Jackson, "Mac" Lamb, Nick Bonavita, "Dutch" King, Paul Short, and Jerry Bonavita.

The game, from the players and the spectators' point of view promises to be a hum-dinger and S. R. O. promises to be the order of the night.

This Whirl Of Sport

By Arthur Bloemeko

As another bowling season starts on its last lap and another baseball season waits to pick up where the "alley" game leaves off, we pause to contemplate what makes the wheels go round during these seasons.

Further investigation proves that there is one man who is not only a cog in the machine, but all the cogs as well. He is "Joe" Williams, local sportsman, who has taken an active interest in bowling and baseball, not for the monetary gain to be realized, for there is no such gain, but for sport's sake.

"Joe," as he is known to every sports enthusiast in Belleville, works day and night when the season is on and off, doing things that eventually round into a smoothly working, capable and efficient schedule that makes each league a joy to enter.

Not only does he make the teams entered in the leagues work strenuously for the betterment of the league, but he has created interest among sports followers in Belleville and in many communities nearby, who have become interested due to the publicity that Joe has obtained for his leagues in the Newark and suburban papers.

Before his assuming the helm of these two leagues, which are sponsored by the American Legion, of which Joe is athletic advisor, baseball and bowling in this community had not reached the stage of development which would warrant any outlay of funds for their further advancement.

In closing may we say that Joe's characteristics, a likable personality, a fervor for work and a diligence that is little short of "stick-to-itiveness," make him "the man for the job."

Picking up the tail-ends of the football season, we find one young man, who, despite the arduous duties entailed in "going out" for the team, managed to earn considerable money by rising at five o'clock each morning during the season and working in the Nutley Post-Office until 8 A. M.

The youth is Bill Griffin of Beech street, Belleville, who, although he made the second team last year looks like "the goods" for next season's varsity squad. He is a backfield man and our advice is, "Watch his dust next year."

The Alumni-Belleville High School basketball game to be played tonight on the local high school court is stirring more than usual interest because of the fact that the high school team is developing into a formidable aggregation under the leadership of Coach McBride.

The Alumni team will be as strong this year as it ever was, due to the fact that the players are practicing each week in the games played in the Belleville Recreation League. The ten man squad composing the old "grads" of the high school forms a really imposing team and should make the Blue and Gold varsity hustle all the way to win.

Youth Reported Missing From Home

William Tomshaw, 16-year-old son of Andrew Tomshaw of 15 Beech street, left his home one morning four weeks ago to look for work and has not been heard from since by his family. He had been idle for nearly a month. In December he was a bellboy at the St. Francis Hotel, Newark.

William is about 5 1/2 feet tall and weighs 135 pounds. He has black hair, dark blue eyes and light complexion. When last seen he wore a dark brown overcoat, gray trousers, red sweater and a gray cap. His father said the boy was an enthusiastic movie fan.

William has two sisters and a brother, all younger than himself.

Panthers Stole Glory At Basketball Games Thursday

Although the Bachelor-Garnet tilt, which the Bachelors won, 27-12, was the scheduled main attraction of the Recreation Basketball League, warfare, Thursday evening, at the Belleville High gym, the surprising Panthers "stole all the thunder" of the night. The scrappy Panthers, far down in the league standing, came within a single point of conquering the strong Wesley quintet. The church squad finally emerged victorious, 15-14, only after the hardest sort of struggle. The Community Aces won over the Unions, 18-15, in another heated battle, the final of the night.

The Wesley-Panther clash was the first contest of the night and was generally looked upon as an appetizer for the expected close game between the Panthers and Bachelors, which was to follow.

The Panthers, however, led by Hughie Laird, Perry and Neil Wilson, were out for blood and led throughout the entire first half.

The Wesleys, considerably handicapped by the absence of their generalissimo, "Sonny" Hosking, could not seem to get started in this half and at the end of the period were on the short end of a 10-9 count.

In the second half the Methodist boys finally broke the ice and went into the van, 15-12, in the closing minutes of the final quarter, after an up-hill fight. This Wesley comeback was due chiefly to the fine work of Bart Colehamer, who led the winners' attack, as the customary big guns of Jimmie Metz, Johnnie Carrough and "Jack" Jacobson, were spiked by virtue of some effective Panther guarding.

With a minute to go the losers almost evened the count on a nicely executed short shot by Perry, to bring the score to 15-14. Lack of time prevented any further scoring for either side.

The score:

Wesleys	G.	F.	P.
Carrough, f.	0	1	1

For the entire first half, the Bachelor-Garnet skirmish which followed was the expected hard-fought battle between two strong teams. During this period the Bachelors were always in the lead, but never by a decisive margin. As the whistle blew, ending the hostilities for the opening half, the Bachelors were in the van by an 11-18 count.

The second half, however, was an entirely different story. Headed by that ace of aces, Johnny Johnston, the Bachelors hit their real stride in this half and registered point after point in bewildering and rapid succession. The Garnets were unable to cope with this unexpected display of fireworks and were forced to use purely defensive tactics. A minute before the final whistle blew, "Lefty" McCabe, subbing for Parcels, made good his second field goal in a row to make the final count, 27-12 in the Bachelors' favor.

Johnny Johnston of the Bachelors easily took high scoring honors of the game with a brilliant thirteen point total, almost half of his side's scoring. McCabe and Parcels came next in line with four apiece. Pat Dunn, pivot man of the winners, put up his usual splendid guarding performance, holding the brilliant Bob Mutch to three points, all of which were made in the closing minutes of play.

Although there was no outstanding scoring ace for the losers, Campbell, Mutch, Ackerman and Dingle had the satisfaction of distributing the Garnets' twelve point total between them. Dingle and Ackerman featured on the floor as well.

The score:

In a ripping, slashing tussle for supremacy, the Community Aces outdistanced the Unions, 18-15, in the final attraction of the night.

The big feature of the game, from the winners' standpoint was the sharp-shooting of Nunzio Pico, ace forward of the Communities. Pico found the net for eleven points for his side and not satisfied with that scored two more for the Unions. This odd feature occurred late in the game, when Pico, in the excitement following a jump ball, shot for the wrong basket and rang up two points for the Unions.

His mistake, however, did not prove costly as the Aces had finally grabbed the ever changing lead for good and retained a slim margin to the final whistle.

Yudin and DiGiovanni played best for the Unions.

Social Recreation Service

By
Belleville Recreation Commission

This column has been given over to the Belleville Recreation Commission as a medium of providing a series of social programs, that can be easily adapted, with slight variations to the home, school and church. These programs are the result of a careful study of the Commission to provide the most inexpensive and desirable entertainment for the community.

Each week in this column will be published a program in part or whole according to the length of the article. However if the space is not available for the entire program, only the essential features will be printed. But, if any person or organization desiring the particular program in full or any other, can secure the same by communicating with A. A. Pascale, Belleville Recreation House.

The following program is one centered around George Washington's Birthday, but, is not given in detail.
A Washington's Birthday Party
The custom of celebrating George Washington's Birthday with some festivity offers a delightful opportunity for a party which is "different." Colorful red, white and blue invitations with the same motif carried out in the decorations, favors and refreshments; some unusual games planned to suit the the spirit of the occasion; forty or fifty guests greeted by Uncle Sam and Betsy Ross in costume—what more could be desired for a happy and successful celebration?

Invitations
Unusual invitations may be made as follows: Use a white card; write with clear blue ink in the center of the card, leaving a wide margin. Paint two red stripes one-half inch apart in each margin at right and left of the writing. Between the two red stripes, paint tiny blue stars. The lines and stars are made with a broad tipped pen.

Decorations and Favors
A gay patriotic atmosphere may be achieved by the barest recreation hall as well as in a smaller room by the judicious arrangement of the red and white strips of bunting or crepe paper and large blue cardboard stars. The stripes are cut in varied lengths, and widths, and pinned or posted to lengths of wood or cardboard which are suspended from the ceiling by strings or wires attached at each end. These strips interspersed with large blue cardboard stars will flutter gaily over the crowd as they move about.

Receiving the Guests
A colorful note will be added to the party if the reception committee will wear costumes of the period. Two sets of numbered cards of either red, white or blue are distributed among the guests. Guests are instructed to match colors and numbers for partners.

Refreshments
Refreshments may be a feature of the evening. Have the table covered with a white crepe paper cloth and place a wide strip of red paper across the center. Then take another strip and lay it across the other way, forming a cross in the center. Now place a large candle attached to a large blue cardboard star in the center of each of the four white spaces. Place a square of white cake on a small paper tray. Insert a tiny red birthday candle holder in which has been placed a blue candle. Candle holders may be obtained from the ten cent store. Serve with this, red, and white ice cream. Uncle Sam lights the large candles on the table after the plates have been passed, and the guests are instructed to light their candles from the large candles. Couples may be asked to think of as many historical incidents as possible which occurred during the life of George Washington. Later, Uncle Sam may call for results and the couple remembering the largest number of incidents may receive a box of candy in the shape of a large silver star while the couple remembering the least is given a first grade primer.

Free Throw Contest

Have you filled out your entry blank for the Basketball Free Throw Contest sponsored by the Belleville Recreation Commission? If not, do so immediately and address your correspondence to Anthony A. Pascale, Recreation House, Belleville, N. J.
The contestants are to be arranged into three groups, namely: high school, grade school and industrial. Individuals of the high school and industrial divisions will shoot forty fouls or free throws, while the grade schools will shoot twenty five per man. The only exception is that high school boys playing on the first or second team of the basketball team will have five baskets deducted from their final tally.
A gold and silver basketball will be awarded to highest scorer and runner-up in each division. You don't have to know how to play basketball. The following is a schedule of where and when each group will shoot their free-throws. Observe carefully:
St. Mark's Church—February 17 and 24, 7 to 9:30 P. M. Under the direction of Mr. Pascale. For Grade Schools.
Fewsmith Memorial Church—February 20 and 27, 7 to 9:30 P. M. Under direction of Mr. Knowles. For Grade Schools.
Belleville High School—February 18 and 25, 7 to 9:30 P. M. Under the direction of Mr. Pascale. For Industrial and High School individuals.

Two Foul Shots Win For Boonton

Two foul shots were the deciding margin of victory for Boonton High School over Belleville, in a basketball game, Tuesday afternoon, on the Blue and Gold's court, which the visitors won, 23-21.

Boonton led at half time, 10-9, but Belleville jumped ahead in the third quarter with a lead of 16-12. In the last quarter, however, Boonton played rings around the local boys, scoring eleven points.
The climax of the game came when "Stan" Goodrich "sunk" the ball from the center of the court, placing Belleville in the lead, 24-20. With but a minute and a half to go a Belleville player passed the ball to a member of the visiting team under Boonton's basket, who promptly dropped it in for a two-pointer. The Mountaineers then cinched its victory when Block dropped in a foul shot, a few seconds before the final whistle.

Features of the game were the sensational "shooting" of "Mac" Lamb and the guarding of Paul Short, who also contributed seven points to his team's total.

Belleville Elks Keep Close Upon Heels Of Leaders

The Belleville Elks rollers kept close to the leaders in the Morris and Essex Bowling League, Thursday night, by taking two out of three games from the Commonwealth Club at Montclair. The feat appears even more brilliant when it is taken into consideration that the Commonwealth boys are almost unbeatable on their own alleys.

A 915 team score in the opening game sufficed to give them the jump by the scant margin of two pins. After losing a close game in the second, the local boys came back strong in the final to take that one easily and the match. A record 978 tally in that game gave them a near 100 pin margin over their rivals.

"Mac" McManus hit 234 in that final game for high scoring honors of the match, although Billie Bechtoldt was hot on his heels with a 232 tally, recorded in the opener.

McMaster and Dodd of the Montclair quintet also broke 200. The former bowled a brilliant 231 game in the final, while Dodd rang up successive scores of 205 and 100 in the first two games. Burke of the home squad cleaned up with a fine 231 in
