ANOTHER GOOD BOARD

While congratulations are in order the Belleville News wishes to extend them to the townsfolk and commissioners. For weeks back a sentiment swept over town that everything was calm. A ripple here and there against the board only served the purpose of a ripple.

Four years of progress, four years in which Belleville has kept pace with other forward marching towns in this—the greatest, largest and busiest part of the world, have served to convince taxpayers that they are getting many benefits.

The News pointed out recently that we are in a section that is the pulse of the world and, to meet the requirements thus demanded, men of vision and ability are needed to keep us in the limelight.

NEW BOARD MEETS AT 1 P. M. TUESDAY

First Time Since Walsh Act Four Were Re-elected

By reflecting four commissioners, the town established a record, where not more than two members have been returned at any election hitherto since the adoption of the Walsh act in 1914.

Commissioner Clark, by virtue of a second-choice majority over Commissioner Carragher, was high man.

The old board will pass out of existence at 11 A. M. Tuesday morning. The organization of the new board will take place at 11 o'clock when there will be an adjournment till the regular evening meeting next Tuesday.

Similarly, Commissioner Waters attained third place over Mayor Kenworthy. Mr. Williams, the independent candidate, won by a first-choice majority the fifth position over his nearest opponent, Tax Assessor James L. Davidson.

Nearly four-fifths of the registered vote turned out, most of it in the late afternoon and evening.

The trend of the voting was known by 10 P. M. Official returns began coming in by 10:30 and ended at 2 A. M.

The capacity of the commission chamber of the Town Hall was taxed with 300 persons who awaited final figures. Bulletins posted at the News office were watched by a crowd of like numbers until midnight, when the results were definitely forecast.

Middletowns Trounce Roosevelt Players

"Bill" Luzzi Seeks Games With Teams At The Seashore

The Middletown Social and Athletic Association, trounced its keenest rivals, the Roosevelts, of Greystock avenue, at the Capitol Field, Sunday afternoon, 8-1. The feature of the game was the heavy hitting of the Middletowns and the airtight pitching of "Speed." This makes the fourth consecutive game the Middletowns have won. The Middletowns are looking for shore games with other teams. For information write to William Luzzi, 24 Hunt place, Nutley, or phone Belleville 2968.

Recreation News

The Recreation Commission announces that the Recreation House tennis courts will be ready for use May 15. All who enjoy the game are cordially invited to make good use of the courts. Courts must be signed for except on Sundays and there will be a charge of 10 cents per person per hour. All players must wear sneakers—crepe or heavy rubber soles will not be allowed at any time. No time limit will be set for the present but courtesy is expected to be shown toward waiting players. Tennis club desiring to conduct a tournament are requested to see or phone the Director, C. H. Ross, and make all arrangements with him. Mr. Anthony Pascale has been conducting a Marble Tournament in the public and parochial schools. Up to the present writing the tournament has been very successful. Between 30 and 40 boys have entered at each school. The finals will be held at the Recreation House grounds Saturday May 17, if the weather permits. If rain forces a postponement further announcements will be made in the local papers.

Grand View Park Opens Saturday

Saturday May 17, Grand View Park at Singac will be thrown open to the public for the seventh consecutive season. A world of new amusement features with all the popular rides and concessions of last season retained, it is confidently expected that all records for attendance will be broken this season. Every ride and park attraction has been rebuilt or brought up to date, a small army of workmen being employed since last fall putting the popular resort in shape. The new million gallon capacity swimming pool is confidently expected to prove one of the features of the park. It is one of the largest and most sanitary in this section of the country and during the season a number of aquatic stars will appear in exhibitions and contests. The new equipment in the park re-

The new million gallon capacity swimming pool is confidently expected to prove one of the features of the park. It is one of the largest and most sanitary in this section of the country and during the season a number of aquatic stars will appear in exhibitions and contests. The new equipment in the park represents nearly half a million dollars. A new color scheme of red and white with green trimming has transformed the park and given it a gala appearance.

It is the aim of the management to have some special feature every afternoon and evening at the park. This season dancing will replace roller skating, free talking pictures will be offered, free electrical music programs and vaudeville on Saturdays and Sundays will be offered.

Transportation facilities have been greatly improved to the park by special limited buses that will run from the principal terminals direct to the park. Many organizations have already made reservation for outings and picnics this season.

A parade on Friday will be held starting from Newark calling attention to the opening of the park on Saturday.

Being the latest collection of political tid-bits, some good, some bad, gathered by this columnist as he travels, thither and yon, without benefit of censor of the publisher of this worthy paper or the present board of commissioners. (Editor's note:—The views of this columnist are his own personal views and are not governed by the policies of the publisher.)

Well—it's all over—Yep. It's all over town now. The board has been returned and Williams. The I-told-you-so's have it. In fact they knew it all the time. Which only goes to show, you "can't fool all of the people all of the time."

In one of the most spirited elections—which spirit was injected in the last two weeks, right and truth again asserted itself over wrong.

It also goes a long way towards proving that Belleville recognizes true service. It wanted the board—it voted for it and by cracky, it got the board.

And that in the face of the most vilifying and insidious attacks ever heaped on any body of men. And in such a way and at such a time which left them in a position where retfuting seemed almost an impossibility.

We can thank our lucky stars that we have men who had the courage of their convictions who were able to cope with the venomous slander. And we sure are travelling under those same lucky stars when we found on Tuesday last, that there were upwards of 4,500 people who stood firmly by our commissioners whom they knew were right.

The writer is glad for one thing. And this by the way is not our ego. That he was supporting a cause which which was both just and right and so many of the folks helped him in his contentions that it was the proper and just move to retain the present board.

Be it said in justice to practically all the candidates that there was precious little "mud-slinging" which they themselves took part in. It really was set up by their indorsers. In order to vitiate the slander some of their supporters resorted to, the successful ones need have no conscience qualms.

They will not be judged by the statements of their followers. Rather they will be judged by their public acts.

Methinks that a certain gentleman of the legal profession must by now realize that his services as "Director General" of the government of this town is no longer required.

Too bad that men who apparently should have the intellect, abuse that God-given talent to bury it in slime and grime.

And just a final word about the "Big Three" as they have been called.

The Mayor—what a man! The target of the battle. Did he falter?—not he. A little battle scarred to be sure. Who wouldn't be? But he came up smiling. A smile that won over even some of his bitterest enemies. Surely he deserves a lot of credit. Here's hoping we are fortunate enough to have him with us for a good many years.

W. D. (pardon the familiar term), also bore some of the vicious slander. But they made little or no impression on Commissioner Clark. A glance at the the results will instantly convince anyone regardless of who they may be what Belleville thinks of Clark. We'd also like to have W. D. with us for a good many moons.

Patrick A Waters—That modest and meek until attacked Irishman from the Valley. How he turned back the onslaught of the Independent League. With that same broom that was placed in his hands by one who someday expects to acquire legal technique he brushed the cobwebs from the eyes of the voters where it had been placed by the I. L's. And Pat came "Smiling Through." Belleville needs a "Waters" in office and it may as well be Patrick A.

Frank J. Carragher—The Grand Old Man of the race. Our sincerest congratulations to him on his re-election. Disappointed perhaps with the results which must perforce show that his political star is on the wane, nevertheless the appeal he has made to the average citizen still finds him holding his popular grip on public imagination. To him the election must resolve itself into just another four years of public service. Always the cynosure of the public eye his ensuing term will no doubt again be eagerly watched.

William H. Williams—The new member, has our congratulations on his election. Laboring under the pressure of rumors which would not be denied "Bill" made a fine run and led his nearest competitor by over one thousand votes. Needless to say that W. H. will be watched for four years. Great things are expected of him. He has measured up to par in the business world. Political life with its many sided complexities will test his mettle in no uncertain terms. Here's wishing him the best of luck and four years hence with the proper service rendered may see Williams again in the political lists.

To the losers—our condolences and best wishes for better luck next time. The present tax assessor James Davidson carried on a fine campaign and in the writer's humble opinion may have been crowned with success had he entered the fight earlier.

And so Anti-Kamnia, whose career has been for the duration of the campaign, with sincerest thanks to Wally Masten, the Editor, who is a prince of good-fellows, for the space week after week in his fine paper, and sincerest thanks to all readers of "The Belleville News," Belleville's Leading Weekly, bids you all a fond adieu. His entrance into the political horizon may have resulted to a greater or lesser extent in returning the present board and Williams—his exit will be just as unostentatious as his entry.

Too-de-loo for ye.

ANTI-KAMNIA, Alias August E. Kirchdoerffer.

SECOND SECTION

FIRST NEWSPAPER TO APPEAR WITH LOCAL ELECTION RETURNS

Frank J. Carragher

Your Choice Was Our Choice

ONCE MORE THE NEWS IS RIGHT

How They Finished:

WILLIAM D. CLARK	5,072
FRANK J. CARRAGHER	4,909
PATRICK A. WATERS	4,606
SAMUEL S. KENWORTHY	4,507
WILLIAM H. WILLIAMS	3,871

William D. Clark

Samuel S. Kenworthy

Patrick A. Waters

William H. Williams

The present commissioners seeking re-election were granted that wish Tuesday by voters of Belleville. Along with them they selected William H. Williams, who topped his nearest competitor, James L. Davidson by over 1,000 votes.

William D. Clark was high with 5,072; Frank J. Carragher, second, 4,909; Patrick A. Waters, third, 4,606; Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, fourth, 4,507 and Williams, fifth, 3,871. Davidson received 2,823 votes.

There were 15,200 eligible voters, of whom 2,200 were new registrants. James Linarducci, deputy to Frank L. Klumb, deputy superintendent of elections, was assigned to supervise the election. After a brief check-up, he announced that no indications of fraud at the elections had been in evidence during the early hours of the voting.

The vote at 9 A. M. was running about twenty-five persons to the hour in each district, of which there are twenty-two. At noon about one-tenth of the registered voters had cast their ballots.

Belleville political observers and candidates watched with special interest the fight in the Silver Lake district, in the Fourth ward, where the election was expected to be warmly contested.

Belleville Girl Scout Council, of which Mrs. May Holden is commissioner, has made tentative plans for a court of awards in June, to be featured by a pageant. Troop 4, with the captain, Miss Helen Hollberg, went on a picnic hike to Yantacaw Park, Nutley, Tuesday after school. Each of the troop's four patrols entertained with an original act. The same troop will go on another hike Saturday with Eagle Rock as an objective. Trail making and fire tests will be given by the captain.

Public Service Has Annual Meeting

Congressman Charles A. Eaton, Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison Company and the N. E. L. A., and President Thomas N. McCarter of Public Service, were the speakers at the annual meeting of the Public Service Section, National Electric Light Association held Monday night in the Public Service auditorium in Newark.

In addition to the speeches new officers were elected and ten employees of Public Service Electric and Gas Company were awarded prizes for making suggestions which the electric department of the company found practicable and of benefit in improving operation. These suggestions were made during the year ending May 1 and, in addition to the ones accepted, twelve of the thirty-six submitted are still being considered. There was a 64 per cent. increase over the previous year in the number of suggestions submitted.

The men rewarded for their suggestions are: George W. Bower, Camden District Superintendent of electric distribution; James B. Walker, electric substation operator, Camden District; Richard J. Domenico, new business clerk, North Hudson Commercial Office; Alpheus Oakes, cashier, Somerville Commercial Office; Rudolph H. Mangels, chief electrician, Kearny Station; Roland R. Rhodes, electric substation operator, Englewood District; Burney K. Martin, engineering assistant, Elizabeth District, electric distribution department; Joseph Fleming, mechanic, Trenton District, electric distribution department; William A. Caldwell, Trenton District, electric distribution and Walter G. Skidmore, head ledger clerk, Rutherford Commercial Office.

Officers of the section were elected as follows: chairman, Alexander E. Bauhan; first vice president, W. R. Smith; second vice president, Walker L. Cisler; secretary, Walter S. Meany and Treasurer, James F. Kelly.

Mallack—Conroy

The wedding of Miss Anna Marie Conroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Riker Conroy of 37 Myrtle avenue, and Martin J. Mallack, son of Patrick Mallack of Belleville, took place in St. Mary's Church Wednesday. Rev. James J. Owens performed the ceremony. The bride, who wore a light blue ensemble with hat to match, was attended by Miss Helen Horn of Bloomfield, who wore orchid chiffon, while Joseph Mallack of Belleville was his brother's best man.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony and upon their return will reside on Howard place, Belleville.

School News

By JAMES REILLY

Miss Walters, supervisor of music in Belleville schools, worked hard during "Music Week" so that the students might understand better the value of music.

One of the presentations of "Music Week" was the "Schilling Quartet," consisting of Mr. and Mrs. R. Schilling, Robert Schilling, age five, and Violet Schilling, seven.

Their act consisted of two sketches in which were solos and group singing with Mr. Schilling at the piano. A former teacher of Miss Walters, and now music supervisor of the schools of New York came to Belleville High School this week and conducted the assembly in a number of songs. He is Russell Carter.

Berard Close, in charge of Junior assembly, made known that the Junior class is sadly lacking in funds. He said the present amount is about $500 and all that is needed is about $2,500 more, before their trip to Washington.

He called to the attention of the students the date of the Junior Prom and asked all to attend. Bernard stated all committees under the guidance of Miss Van Der Bere were working hard to make the affair a success for all.

23,078 BOYS TAUGHT TO SWIM IN SCOUT CAMPS LAST SUMMER

Report Of Fred C. Mills Shows New Record Of Accomplishment—Use Of "Buddy System" And Training Of Leadership Aids Increase

23,078 Scouts were taught to swim in Boy Scout camps during the year 1929, according to the report of Fred C. Mills, Director of Swimming and Water Safety of the Boy Scouts of America. This number, which exceeds the figures for the previous year by approximately 1,000, establishes a new record for the Boy Scouts and comprises what is probably the largest number of boys taught to swim in any one year in organized camps. Plans to teach a still greater number of Scouts to swim next summer are now being made according to Mr. Mills who is at present on a tour of the country, teaching Scout Leaders new methods of teaching water safety.

Buddy System Used
Instruction in swimming, by trained teachers, use of the "Buddy System," which was originated by Mr. Mills, and adequate facilities for swimming and the practice of water safety in all of the 569 Scout Councils reporting is given by Mr. Mills as the reason for the success of the Boy Scouts of America in teaching boys to swim. The use of Boy Scout and Red Cross Life Saving Corps and the thorough supervision and training upon a national scale of camp leaders, has done much, not only to increase the number of boys taught to swim, but also to prevent accidents and to make swimming and water activities in a Boy Scout camp an activity with little or no danger to boys.

The "Buddy System" provides that no boy in a Boy Scout camp can go swimming except at stated periods and then only with another boy appointed as his buddy who must be constantly with him either in the water or on land. At the camp waterfront a buddy board is made. This is a large flat plaque with rows of hooks on which are suspended metal medallions, each bearing a number. When the boys go to camp they are assigned definite numbers in sequence and are paired as buddies with other boys. A good swimmer is paired with a good swimmer, a poor swimmer with a poor swimmer, and in this way a boy is given a chance for his usual activity in the water, but still always has a "buddy" to aid him in time of danger. At given times during the swimming period Scout life guards blow a whistle from their station and every buddy must be with the boy assigned to him or his swimming privileges are revoked.

Life Savers on Duty
While Scouts are swimming either on American Red Cross or Boy Scout life guard corps is always on duty. Some of the guards are in boats, some of them on towers and others on the diving platform and among the swimmers. These corps are efficiently trained so that in case of accident to any swimmer they are ready to serve. The non-swimmer in a Boy Scout camp is not permitted to go swimming with the other boys in deep water as that would both handicap the boys who can swim in their activities and be dangerous for the non-swimmers themselves the Camping Department reports. These boys are taught, especially periods, in a "crib." The "crib" is a wooden framework usually the size of a small swimming pool in which the water is from 3 to 5 feet deep. Here under competent teachers, Scouts who cannot do so are taught the rudiments of swimming and on passing specified tests are permitted to join their brother Scouts in deeper water. "The success of the Scouts' instruction in swimming," Mr. L. L. McDonald, the Camping Director says, "is proven by the figures of Scouts taught to swim each year."

All Scouts before attending Boy Scout camps are given a physical examination and so the likelihood of accidents in the water due to physical weakness is almost entirely eliminated.

Sir Hubert Murray, governor of the territory, in his annual report to the Australian Government, reports that the Boy Scout Movement has been a civilizing influence, and that education of the natives is following rapidly. A school reading book, made intelligible to the natives by numerous illustrations, he said, has been issued. In several centers branches of the government savings banks have been established, in which 439 natives have invested more than $30,000.

BYRD EXPEDITION OFFICER BECOMES SEA SCOUTER

Walter Perkins, Supply Officer of the "Eleanor Bolling," one of the ships of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, and who was a member of the original Sea Scout Ship of Kenosha, Wisconsin, recently radioed the "New York Times" stating that he gladly accepted a position on the Shipping Board and on the Ship's Committee of the "Ranger," Sea Scout Ship sponsored by the Voiture 410 of the American Legion of Kenosha. This again officially affiliates Mr. Perkins with the Boy Scout Movement. Previous to his departure for the Antarctic he was a member of the Troop Committee of Scout Troop No. 21 at Kenosha.

SCOUT HEROISM

A sensational story of Scout heroism has been recorded by the Boy Scouts of America as the result of the quick thinking and daring of 14-year-old Scout Arthur McCarthy, of El Cerrito, Calif., who saved a score of street car riders from possible serious injury at Richmond, California, according to a United Press report from the Pacific Coast. "A street car ran over and killed Julius J. Miller, key system repair man on Pullman avenue, and running wild, was rapidly approaching a passenger loaded car bound in the opposite direction on the single track. "Arthur had witnessed the death of Miller and gave chase to the street car. Unable to catch it on foot, he jumped the running board of an auto driven by Mrs. Fay Stallard, a nurse, and caught and stopped the street car.

Did Not Hesitate
"When the youth leaped from the auto to the street car step the machines were traveling rapidly. He applied the air but the car caught fire instead of stopping. "Jumping from the cab he raced to the rear and pulled the trolley from the wires in time to stop the car and avert a head-on crash with the other street car. Young McCarthy had first seen Miller lying on the track by the repair car and jumped out of a school bus to assist him. When he seemed to revive the lad left to notify the car barns. He looked back in time to see Miller stagger and fall beneath the wheels of the car as it started, and gave chase to the car."

Measles Epidemic At An End, Says Health Officer Berry

A total of 172 cases of contagious diseases during April has been reported by Health Officer Eugene T. Berry. This is Belleville's year for an epidemic in measles, which run in two-year cycles, he pointed out, but stated the number of cases is less than two years ago.

Cases of measles were prevalent among children in the lower grades of schools 10 and 5. About half of thirty pupils absent from one class at School 10 have returned. There are eighteen quarantined with measles from one class in School 5. There have been no scarlet fever cases reported since April 9, when there were six cases at School 10 and one at School 5.

The diseases reported were measles, eighty-four; German measles, twenty-seven; whooping cough, twenty-two; pneumonia, fourteen; scarlet fever, nine; chicken pox, eight; tuberculosis, three; erysipelas, two; diphtheria, mumps and meningitis, one each.

COLE PUPILS IN DANCE RECITAL

Fifty pupils of the Bob Cole Dancing Studio gave a review Friday night at School No. 10, under auspices of the Home and School Association.

The costumes were elaborate and the staging good. Performers were of all ages from two to sixteen years. Dorothy Liva of Lyndhurst, the youngest, gave a solo dance. A song and dance, "If I Had a Talking Picture of You," comprising eighteen children under seven, featured four-year-old Cecil Mercer and Dolores Mitchell.

A classical acrobatic waltz by Jean Green, timed to a vocal accompaniment by Ethel and Marion VanDusen, twins, was a contribution. Mr. Cole appeared in military and acrobatic dances.

Eleanor Croker of Bayonne, sixteen-year-old teacher of toe and ballet dancing at the Cole studio, appeared in a toe dance. Music was provided by Miss Florence Scanlan, pianist; Miss Lida Baker, violinist, and Percy Karrer, drummer.

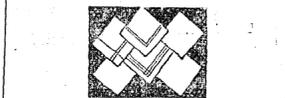

The proceeds will be applied to school needs. The committee included Mrs. Charles Madison, Mrs. J. J. Daly and Mrs. George Lennox.

NO EXCUSE FOR A "SPLITTING HEAD"

There's no need for an aching head to spoil your day. At the first warning throbs take Dillard's Aspergum. Chew it a few minutes. Almost before you realize it, your face clears the pain away. It's as simple as that—no trouble, and harmless—for Dillard's Aspergum is the new and easier way to take aspirin.

Dillard's Aspergum is the finest aspirin in delicious chewing gum form. You can take it any time—any place. You need no water to gulp it down. There is no unpleasant taste—no choking. Because you chew Dillard's Aspergum the aspirin mixes thoroughly with the saliva so that all its soothing qualities are effective quickly, continuously.

Keep a package of Aspergum on hand for quick, harmless relief from the pain of headache, neuralgia, neuritis, etc. It helps break up a cold, and soothes irritated throats, even such severe cases as follow small operations. If your druggist does not have Dillard's Aspergum, send for free sample to Health Products Corporation, Dept. A, 113 North 13th Street, Newark, N. J.

IT'S THE "BREAKS"

Newcomb Carlton, the president of the Western Union Telegraph Company has no personal pride of success. When asked for the "secret" of his success he said "Bah, it's the breaks. Success depends on them. There are dozens of men in our company who could fill my job as well as I can. But they probably won't get the opportunity. They won't get the breaks. These stuffed shirts in high places who are always lecturing youth and handing out 90 per cent bunk make me sick." Very pungent language with a great deal of truth in it.

AUTOMOBILES AND TRAINS

Can an automobile wreck a steam train? It can and does, and when it does the owner thereof has to pay for the smashed locomotive and the cars, if his negligence causes the accident. So decides the United States Court for the district of Illinois; until and unless the Supreme Court of the United States upsets that ruling, it is good law.

A certain motorist in Illinois drove his truck smash up against a freight train, causing the derailment of the locomotive and five cars. It must have been a heavy impact. At any rate, the railroad sued the man for $30,000 damages and obtained a verdict for $10,000. That verdict is now sustained.

This rather takes the wind out of the old theory that when an automobile hits a train, it is always the railroad that must pay the damages.

We do not assume that any of our readers will try conclusions with the iron horse and his attachments, but it is well enough to recall what the courts have decided in such cases.

RESTAURANT BUSINESS GOOD

It might be expected that business depression and unemployment would affect the restaurant business acutely. But statistics from 25 leading cities show an increase in receipts of restaurants for the first quarter of 1930 as compared with a similar period last year, which was an exceptionally good year. The number of restaurant customers also increased. People are not cutting down on food.

THE AUTOISTS' DUTY

There are many people who will agree that much of the blame for our disastrous forest and brush fires must be placed on autoists who carelessly flick lighted cigarettes from their rapidly moving cars. It is a practice that all well meaning people should eschew. Not one of them would knowingly and deliberately start a costly blaze, but the results of heedlessness are just as deplorable as those of malice.

Unless there are ash trays in one's car, it is a temptation not to extinguish a discarded cigarette. You do not like to rub it on the woodwork of your auto, nor stamp it to death on the carpet, and it often seems too much bother to pinch it and hold it until cold. But autoists have a very grave responsibility. To be charged with being the cause for the loss of millions of dollars, sometimes of human life, is something they can be cleared of if every rider will only exercise care.

COFFEE AND CRIME

There are always educators who are ready to tell us what is the matter with us. Professor Roland M. Harper of the University of Georgia thinks that automobiles, tobacco and coffee are increasing the divorce rate and adding to the crime-wave.

Estimable gentlemen, he says, use coffee and tobacco, but so too do the great majority of criminals. And it might be added that estimable gentlemen and criminals as well are very much addicted to bread. We suspect that the causes for crime and divorce go a good deal deeper than a fondness for speeding in automobiles and a liking for cigarettes and coffee.

That Upkeep Matter

WHEN you have decided what size of car to buy—whether it be a four-six or eight cylinder, and you have picked the type of body best suited to your needs—it is then time for you to make up your mind that you are going to give that car the attention it needs. Care in breaking in a car means a lot. It may double or treble the life of your car, regardless of what make it is.

Choose with care what kind of gasoline and oil you buy. It will pay you large dividends. I have a friend who listened to this advice and he has thanked me many times. He has had three new cars in nine years, all of the same make. And when he turns his old car in for a new one, the increased allowance pays him for his care. In all three trade-ins he has been allowed as much money as the average one or two year old car brings.

He washes his car, or has them washed, once a week. And each time he sees that the grease cups are filled. Every 500 miles he changes the oil in the crank case and refills the transmission and the differential when the car instructions bid him to do so.

Taking my advice, he uses only Pennsylvania grade lubricants for, in my opinion, oil made from Pennsylvania paraffin base is more uniform in grade, has more body and is more cooling than any other oil.

This decision was arrived at only after years of racing on tracks and driving on roads. The automobile must be regarded in much the same manner as the human body. If it is to perform efficiently and economically, the motor must be put on the proper diet.

Many motorists are careless about the kind of gasoline and oil they purchase. I notice frequently that it is these motorists who complain about the "greem" they have bought. The modern gas station is equipped to oil and grease your car in a few minutes. The expenditure of these few minutes will pay you.

The court was disgusted by the failure of the jury to reach a decision after many hours of arguing. "I am deeply disappointed and I discharge you without thanks," he said. "You can't discharge me," fired back one of the jurors. "I was hired by that man there," and he pointed to the attorney for the defense.

"What are you studying?"
"Oh, I'm taking up Scotch, French, Spanish, etc."
"How do you manage it?"
"Just push a handle up and down."
"What are you talking about?"
"I run an elevator."

The old doctor was giving the young graduates instructions in how much to charge a patient. "For calls at night I charge fifteen dollars. If the call is more than three blocks away I charge twenty dollars. For office calls I charge ten. For giving aid over the phone I always charge thirty. If anybody asks me about a patient I charge three. For putting iodine on a finger I charge a dollar. And for—"

Back in 1870 Patrick O'Flaherty operated a hack line in Missouri near a railroad station to a town some 15 miles inland. One morning about a dozen passengers presented themselves from the morning train from St. Louis. When they asked what the fare was to the end of his line Pat told them so much first class, so much second class and so much third class. "But what's the difference?" they chorused. And Pat smilingly replied: "Oh, ye'll find out, soon enough."

So, their curiosity plied the passengers took first, second or third class, got into the hack and were whisked away. After a few miles they came to a long, rocky hill up which the horses struggled until finally they balked. Shoving on his brake Pat called out to his passengers:

"First class passengers kape y'r seats, second class passengers git out an' walk, third class passengers git out an' push."
She (at the prom)—"Who is that big, handsome fellow over there?"
He—"He's the editor of the Pennsylvaniaian."
She—"And who's the light-haired fellow with the big crowd around him?"
—"He's the captain of the football team."
—"And the one over by the punch bowl?"
He—"He's the stroke of the crew."
She—"How about the fellow who just passed here?"
He—"He's the manager of the basketball team."
She—"But who is that little insignificant fellow standing over by the wall?"
He—"That fellow? Oh, he bought a ticket to the prom."

For the fellow at all—
He made only twenty a wique.

Wireless stations in Japan have begun new matrimonial announcements, in which Japanese girls boast in flowery language of the charms of their graceful figures and faces.

The following, I presume, would be a typical example of how a would-be bride sets forth her charms and announces that she is in search of a husband:

"I am a very pretty girl, with a beautiful disposition. My hair is wavy like the clouds. My complexion has the brilliance and the bloom of a flower. My face is as mobile as the leaves of the weeping-willow. My dancing brown eyes are like two moon crescents, they will captivate you beyond all expectations. I have a shape that would make Greta Garbo jealous, and I can make love like nobody's business."

"I have possessions enough to pass my life in happy ease with my lover. If this appeal is heard by an intelligent young man who is amiable and comely, will unite myself to him for life. And when we are dead we will rest forever in a tomb of red marble."

Such an appeal is bound to reap the "cream of the crop," so our own dear American girls should not be caught napping.

And while we are on the subject of Radio, I will tell you a gag that has been passing around a broadcasting studio about a time announcement. In one of the studios from which the correct time is announced there is a small set of chimes. One man holds these in front of the announcer, who strikes the chimes at the proper moment. "You have just heard the melodious chimes which tell you that it is . . ."

On this particular day, so the story goes, somebody neglected to take off the clamp which holds the chimes still and silent when not in use. The announcer stated, that when "you hear the melodious chimes it will be," and so on, and with his eyes on his wrist watch stood ready to strike the chimes. At the proper moment he struck. "Plunk." Once more. "Plunk." After the third try the announcer grabbed the chimes and threw them into the corner, where they jangled and rattled quite unmelodiously. He managed to keep a straight face, however, long enough to make the customary, "You have just heard the melodious chimes . . . etc."

The Raspberry Quartette will now sing that famous Scotch song entitled, "For two cents I would throw this penny away."

Have you heard the one about the Scotchman who was given a pair of spats and then went out and had them half-soled?

It is rumored that a local politician, after receiving the nomination for Commissioner, went home to his wife with a remark like this: "Congratulations, dear, I got the nomination."
"Honestly," she queried.
"Why bring that up?" slyly he answered.

"Really, I can't play golf," the sweet young thing said. "I don't even know how to hold the caddy."

We'll probably announce our candidacy for the Commission race for the next election. Then that will give the scandal mongers plenty of dirt and filth to dig up. It seems quite the mode to hand this kind of bouquets at our fellow citizens.

When a great invention is needed some genius will rise to supply it.

Don Francisco, vice president and general manager of the Pacific Coast office of Lord & Thomas and Logan, says:

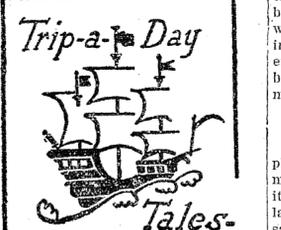

That advertising, by creating new desires, has raised our standards of living.

By keeping before the American public the better things of life, advertising has awakened within the average American new incentives for industry.

To live better is a dominating impulse in American life, and to achieve it, people must work harder and earn more.

Spending money for better things—keeping money in circulation—is the reason for American prosperity.

DOX QUIXOTE'S CRADLE CITY

The past of Valladolid seems to be the chief attraction in the present. Here Columbus died and Phillip the Second was born. Here Cervantes published "Don Quixote" and his plays still hold the stage in the famous old Teatro de Calderon. Here was laid the memorable scene of the meeting of Ferdinand and Isabelle, as well as the romantic tragedy of Blanche of Navarre. Here lived Calderon, the great Spanish dramatist, also the infamous fanatic Torquemada, who created the Inquisition Tribunal. Valladolid was long the city of the Auto da Fe, which tried to save the souls of men by destroying their bodies.

THE STARS OF FLORENCE

Of Florence there is no tiring. Its interests are as wide as the heavens and in its heaven shine the stars which the world cannot forget. At 2 Via Dante Alighieri is the house where its greatest poet was born. Florence Nightingale, Cherubini, the composer, and the sculptors Ghiberti and Donatelli were born here. In the Piazza San Lorenzo, Browning bought for 35 cents the old parchment covered book which he made the basis of his "Ring and the Book." In a wood skirting the Arno outside, Shelley wrote his "Ode to the West Wind"; the city is also the scene of George Eliot's "Romola," of A. M. Foster's "Fast of St. Magdalen," and scores of other books. Here are the tombs of Michaelangelo, Galileo, Rossini and Alfieri. The firmament of Florence is one of the most famous in the world.

SUN AND FROST IN SWITZERLAND

Enthusiasts would no doubt come to Switzerland to skate or skii, wherever ice and snow could be found, even were it beneath cold gray skies. But while we can skate, or curl, on perfect ice, in dazzling warm sunshine, beneath a sky of Tyrrhenian blue, and amidst the noblest mountains of Europe, not only enthusiasts, but all the world and his wife continue to flock to Switzerland for a share in the wonder and delight of such glorious days. It is related of John Addington Symonds, that after lunching one day on the balcony of his chalet at Davos, he lit his cigar by the sun's rays through a magnifying glass, and while doing so cast a shadow on a glass of water that had been in the sun, and the water immediately froze.

EXCAVATING OLD GERMANY

Digging in Germany might prove a profitable pastime. Within one week a householder of Marionburg dug up a keg of 697 silver coins of 1625 and 6, which were probably buried during the Thirty Years' War; a tourist discovered the skeleton of a bear in a cave near Karlsruhe, where none have been seen for three hundred years; graves of ancient Celts have been found with bones five thousand years old; at Konigsberg the oldest find was a stone ax dropped there before the glaciers came down over Europe eight thousand years ago; under the altar of Speyer Cathedral the stone sarcophagus of an early Christian saint was brought to light; near Frankfurt-in-Main a Roman military camp has been excavated and found to be steam heated throughout its 16 rooms.

SUMMERTIME IN ICELAND

If you are wise you are already planning where to go for the summer. If you want to escape modernity, and avoid crowded cities, Iceland has been waiting over a thousand years for your visit. If you want to correct your pre-conceptions of childhood's fairy story days, try and find it you can, any Esquimaux, polar bears or blubber eating natives. Less than two days romantic sea journey from Leith in Scotland, you come to this land of cool and attractive summertime, this land of long, light nights, land of hot springs and volcanoes that will not harm you, of which Viking sages have sung for many ages. You will talk of your trip for the rest of your life.

VISITORS TO GENOA

Genoa, one of the most magnificent cities in the world, as Venice may be one of the most beautiful, has suddenly been interesting the globe trotter; and there is no city in the world that has streets of palaces for proportion and perfection of form as perfect, nor a sea more sapphire blue. Byron lived two years in the old Saluzzo palace and worked on his cantos of "Don Juan." Its hoary gray stones have gazed upon a sea of picture; Barbarossa stormed the city. It saw Richard, the Lionhearted, and John, with the Crusaders; it saw Louis the Twelfth of France ride by, when Genoa was forced to hail him as master. Napoleon raided her precincts. President Wilson drove by, and many a group of khaki-clad soldiers of the American Expeditionary Force has stood and admired the great gray mass of stone.

"THE AMERICAN BOY'S SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY IN WHICH HE LIVES"

John and Henry were coming down the street. John was reading an old history book that he found in the library. "Say Henry," said John, "What can a fellow do these days? Long ago there were many things a boy of my age could do to give himself a name. He could discover some new land or invent some machine that would become useful, he would make a name for himself. But now mostly all lands are discovered and I couldn't invent any machine."

"That is very true," replied Henry, "A boy nowadays cannot discover new lands, but he can help to make his own land better; especially his own community."

"Will you please explain yourself?" asked John.

"Surely," answered Henry, "I'll tell you at least three ways in which a boy can help his community."

"First of all, he can help his community by showing good behavior especially in the presence of younger children. He should be obedient to the traffic officers, teachers and above all to his parents, because the home is the real community center. If he respects these people he will learn to respect the laws and grow up to be a law abiding citizen."

"Secondly, he can try to make his community safer by removing the causes of accidents and by showing a safe example himself. A boy can practice safety by crossing the streets at the right time and place. At home he can remove rubbish that is liable to cause fires, accidents or diseases. At school he has an opportunity to practice safety at the fire drill. In the school yard he can help to clear away wires or other obstacles to safety."

"Thirdly, he can help to make his community cleaner by cooperating with the Board of Health. In order to cooperate with them he should remove rubbish which would tend to spread disease. He should keep his own body clean and help to keep his younger brothers and sisters clean. A boy should also have a clean mind in a clean body. A clean minded boy is always a good example. A boy should also use clean language."

"Gee! but you know a lot, don't you Henry?" said John, "I never could have thought of all that."

"If you read as many books as I do," answered Henry, "You would be able to tell me the same things but nevertheless think about what I have told you and if you practice these things you will be doing just as well as making a name for yourself."

"Now let's see if I can remember the things you've said," replied John.

"First, you said a boy could better his community by showing good behavior."

"Secondly, you said a boy could help to make his community safer."

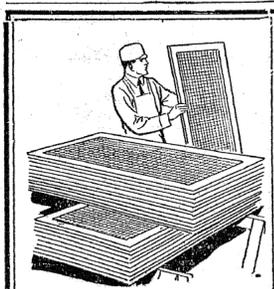

"Thirdly, you told how a boy could help to make his community cleaner."

"Yes, I remember them," said John, "Now I will try to practice them."

I have received no help.

There are a great many ways in which the American Boy can be of service to the Community in which he lives.

He should obey his parents as there are a great many ways in which he can be of help to them.

He should work hard in school. The Community spends a great deal of money on the schools to give every child an education, and he should take full advantage of this so as to fit himself for later years when he must earn his own living.

He should be careful to obey the laws and should respect the rights of others. In the Parks and Playgrounds he should be careful not to destroy anything and should see that others do not do so.

He should be respectful to those older than himself and should set a good example for those younger than himself.

In these ways he will grow up to be a good citizen and a credit to the community in which he lives. I have not received any help.

"The American Boy's Service to His Community"

It is very hard for a little boy like me to write about my service to my community. I know it is the duty of every boy to help his community. I try to do everything I can. We little boys cannot do great things, but there are lots of ways for us to do our share.

Our parents and teachers teach us to keep clean at all times. We learn to keep ourselves and our possessions tidy. By keeping our yards, clean and by helping to keep our streets clean, we are doing one of our little tasks.

When we learn to obey the traffic signals, like our fathers do when they drive, and when we teach children younger than we are to obey the signals, we are serving our community. All the boys are proud to become members of the Junior Police Force. I know that when we are members we serve our community and ourselves. We learn to help boys and girls younger and weaker than we are. We learn to think and act quickly while helping them. Learning to do this will make us better citizens, too.

Even our work in school is a way of serving our community. We are learning to become smart and useful citizens. When we have high marks we raise the standing of our school when compared with schools of other communities.

Boy Scouts are loyal to their community. There are many ways for scouts to serve their community. Sometimes they help the police handle crowds. They did that last year when all the children went to the game at Bears Stadium.

We serve our community when we are courteous to strangers. Often someone asks us the way to some place or street. If we help them all we can, we are helping our community.

There are many other ways for boys to serve the community in which they live.

SEYMOUR TAFFET.

"The American Boy's Service to His Community"

The right type of American boy is a vital necessity to every American community. He is the future voter and law-maker of his community and of the United States. It will be his duty to take charge of the government. It is up to him whether his community progresses and thrives or just drifts along, gradually deteriorating and becoming the plaything of pool politics. He will be called upon to run the great American government. World peace is greatly dependent upon him because some of the boys will grow up to be the great statesmen of the United States, and world peace will never be complete without the United States. This proves that the American boy will have a great deal of responsibility in controlling the government and industries in the future, for which he must make careful preparations.

He should take every advantage that his school offers in completing his education. It is his duty not only to his community but also to his parents. They have invested a great deal in him and, when he has completed his school work, they expect him to prove that they did not waste their time and money.

What the American boy must do in preparing for his new responsibilities is more emphatically stated in the Boy Scout oath—"keep yourself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight." He must be trustworthy and loyal to his home, parents, community, and country. He should always try to be friendly and cheerful. Obedience to those above him should receive considerable emphasis. His obedience to orders should be prompt and cheery. He should never shirk or grumble at hardships. If he wishes to be of value to his community, he must learn to be thrifty. He must never purposely waste or destroy property. He should work faithfully and try to make the best use of his opportunities.

He should keep clean in body and thought, stand for clean speech, clean sport, clean habits, and travel with a clean crowd. A boy who cannot stand up for the right against the coaxing of a friend or the jeers and threats of an enemy always fails in his purpose. Defeat should never down him.

A good American citizen should be reverent towards God. He can set the example for others by being faithful in his religious duties and by going to church regularly.

If a fellow intends to be a good American citizen, he must respect and honor the American flag. He will do a great service to his community if he will try to make others see and have this same feeling toward the American flag and what it stands for.

If the American boy remembers exactly what his responsibilities are in the future, tries his level best to prepare for them, and lives up to what is expected of him, then he will be doing his community the greatest service possible. A motto always to be remembered by every American boy is—"God first, the other fellow second, and me third."

I have not received any help from anyone in the above essay.

"The American Boy's Service to The Community in Which He Lives."

The American Boy—who is he?

We can find no one boy and definitely say, "Here is the American Boy." Yet, a composite American boy would be distinctly different from a composite boy of any other nation. He is mischievous, but rarely maliciously so. He is honest with himself and with others. He judges his fellows fairly, if at all. His tolerance of another's race, creed and political views (yes, boys have political views, amusing as it may seem) is remarkable.

In confidence, ask him what he intends to do when he attains manhood. Earnestly, even naively, he will tell you of his ambitions and ideals—his vision of happy home-life; his desires for more education and for worthwhile productive occupation that will enable him to save enough so that he will not become a public charge.

The American Boy performs many services for the community in which he lives. He serves himself, his parents and the community at large when he takes advantage of the benefits and opportunities offered in the way of education. The better he is prepared for life, the greater will be his success. His parents have, in all probability, sacrificed much to his success. They have "backed him up" to succeed. He owes it to them, or to the memory of them, to attain the goal they confidently expect he will reach. The community has fostered his education so that it may profit as he profits. His success will be a credit to the community as well as to himself.

The American Boy serves his community by obeying the law. A law-abiding community may not obtain the publicity that a vice-infested community does, but then, law-abiding citizens desire neither the publicity nor the stigma that goes with it.

Every boy wishes his community to be a model in beauty and in cleanliness. He may help to make and to keep it so in various ways. If he takes proper care of the gardens and attends to the tasks that help keep his home and surroundings respectable, the neighbor's son will follow (compulsorily or otherwise) his example. Just pride in public parks and buildings causes him to refrain from vandalism.

Though he may not be deeply religious, the American Boy does let his conscience be his guide. He does what he believes is ethically correct, in that way raising himself and his community to a higher plane.

America's youth is the foundation upon which future science, art and forward progress will be based. The boy of today is the one who must preserve all knowledge for future generations.

Along life's highway, one of the saddest sights is of an old couple plodding toward the setting sun. How much more beautiful it is to see them confidently, eagerly, awaiting the rising sun!

I have received no help with the content of this article. I have used no reference books.

"The American Boy's Service to The Community in Which He Lives."

We American Young Men and boys are inexpressibly grateful to our country for setting aside one of the fifty-two weeks of the year as Boy's Week. In return for this national regard, and all other interests taken in us, let us see if we can't attempt to show our appreciation by rendering to our local communities, and to our country, the very best we have. We are the boys of today but the citizens of tomorrow and if we would have a pleasant community to live in as citizens, we must prepare for it in our youth. This is in general the entire service we owe.

Let us consider this as our New Year's Week and turn our attention to making resolutions. Let us resolve first that: we shall acquire all of the education that we can, and use it for the good of our community now and in the future. Think of the large sums of money spent annually for education in our community or your community. Is it all to be spent in vain? No. We are going to see to it that from now on, the amount that is spent on us will bring back its full value.

Let us further resolve that: we shall treat the public places in our community as we would like to have them treated if we were paying the tax to keep them up. The local parks ought to be used in the right way. If we see a sign which says no fishing or no swimming, we are going to govern ourselves accordingly even if we "feel like a swim."

The library ought to be used extensively and community centers ought to be encouraged by our conduct in them. Let us still further resolve that we shall do our best to keep our community clean and presentable. If we see papers on the sidewalks, let us pick them up and put them in the refuse box. Let us plant trees to help beautify our community. Let's take care of our own lawns and backyards remembering that every little helps.

Our last resolution will possibly be the most important and most valuable for it is something that can't be bought at any price. Let us resolve we shall so conduct ourselves at all times and at all places that we will be good examples for the younger boys and girls and so that we will make a favorable impression upon our superiors. Our character is the most valuable possession we have and is the one thing that we can take with us to the next world. Our associates have a great deal to do with our character. If we have bad associates, they will so influence us, that we will become likewise. Let us then be careful of the company we keep.

We shall try, with the aid of the Almighty, to keep these resolutions and all others which will be a benefit to our community.

CHURCHES

CHRIST EPISCOPAL
Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach

Fourth Sunday after Easter. Holy Communion at 7:45 A. M. Morning Prayer and Sermon at 11 o'clock. Topic, "The Beaten Track." Evening prayer and sermon at 7:45, topic, "Old Religion with New Emphasis." Sunday school is at 9:45 every Sunday, with Superintendent Sylvester P. Denison in charge. Young People's Fellowship is at 7 P. M. every Sunday. Miss Jane Walker is the President.

Last evening the associates and members of the Girls' Friendly Society held a small informal card party among themselves, of which Miss Ruth Williamson was in charge. Twenty-six from Christ Church attended the eighth annual banquet of the Girls' Friendly Society, Diocese of Newark, which was held at the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company building on May 8. They were Rev. and Mrs. Peter R. Deckenbach, Mrs. George A. Kellsall and daughter, Helen; Mrs. Harvey W. Mumford and daughter Bertha, Mrs. J. Harry Edwards and daughter Lillian, Mrs. Herbert Ainsworth and daughter Marion, Mrs. Martha Peck, Mrs. Frederick S. Ford, the Misses Frances and Ruth Williamson, Miss Elizabeth Halstead, Mrs. Edward Nelson, Mrs. Mary J. Lloyd, Mrs. Frederick Idenen, the Misses Mary Stanier, Elizabeth S. Moore, Nancy and Alice Miller, Catherine McCluskey, Nellie O'Neil, Charlotte Swartz and Margaret McAleese.

The banquet was held this year on Bishop Stearly's birthday, and the girls of our branch were given the honor of arranging and singing a special birthday song for him, and one of our members, Marion Ainsworth, was chosen to present the Bishop with a gift, on behalf of the Diocese. There were about 650 people present, and pledges for the Holiday House at Delaware, N. J. were made, by the different branches, amounting to $1,170.

In view of the fact that there are so many dates booked on the calendar, the Actors' Guild decided to present their drama, "Young Mrs. Winthrop," last night only, instead of two evenings, as was at first planned. They felt they were most fortunate in securing the Musical Art Trio, composed of Christina Wellington Phillips, violin; Maxine Moore, cello, and Eleanor Bacon-Peck, piano, to play at the performance. The Trio rendered a short program preceding the play, and between the acts, creating a musical atmosphere suitable to the drama.

Following was the cast: Mrs. Ruth Winthrop, Mrs. Hal W. Earl; Mr. Douglas Winthrop (her son), Peter R. Deckenbach; Constance Winthrop, (his wife), Mrs. Harold Crane; Buxton Scott (a lawyer), Stewart A. McAleese; Mrs. Dick Chetwyn (a society woman), Miss Betty Tempest; Edith (sister of Constance), Miss Marguerite Wharton; Herbert, Frank Holmes; Dr. Mellbanke, Walter Gilby; John (a footman), Alfred T. Page. Mrs. J. A. Tempest was the coach, and certainly the play was well done, and a pleasant and profitable evening was enjoyed by all those who attended.

The annual presentation service of the United Thank Offering, of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese, will take place at St. Luke's Church, Montclair, today. There will be a celebration of Holy Communion at 10:30, Bishop Stearly will be the celebrant, and the preacher will be the Right Rev. Frank W. Creighton, Missionary Bishop of Mexico. This will be followed by a Box Luncheon. In the afternoon there will be a short meeting at which the speaker will be Dr. Mary L. James of the Church General Hospital at Wuchang, China. Mrs. Harvey W. Mumford, Blue Box Custodian for Christ Church Parish, is very much pleased with the response of our women to this offering, it being the largest on record, and topping that of a year ago which was $68.25, the second largest, by more than $10. Mrs. Edward Nelson, president of the auxiliary, Mrs. J. Harry Edwards, treasurer, Mrs. Mumford, Blue Box Custodian, Mrs. Walter Coups, Mrs. George H. Hildebrand, Mrs. George A. Ketchell, and Mrs. Mary J. Lloyd expect to attend this meeting. Mrs. Nelson, chairman of the Comfort Club, hopes all those who wish to be members, will bring the two new garments for the boys at Bonnie Brae Farm, and thirty-five cents, which constitute the annual dues, to her home, 59 Prospect street, as soon as possible, as they must be sent in at once, and there will be no further meeting of the Auxiliary until the Fall.

Mrs. J. Harry Edwards wishes to thank all those who made the trip to the Mountain Ice Company's plant at North Newark, on Thursday such a success, socially and financially. Mrs. Edwards was in charge, and the trip was for the Auxiliary's benefit.

The concert on Friday evening, given by the Grammar School Band, of New Providence, for the benefit of the Altar Guild, was very well attended. The fine program was well presented, and thoroughly enjoyed, the witty remarks of the leader, J. T. Nicholson, causing many a smile. Among the features were a xylophone solo, "Let me call you Sweetheart," by Lois Nicholson, a small seven-year old girl, accompanied on the piano, by her aunt, Mrs. J. Harry Edwards;

A cornet trio, by three boys, a cornet solo, selected, by Joseph McConnell, a trombone solo, selected, by Milford Totten; a piano duet, by Charlotte Noll and Dorothy Hogg, and a saxophone duet, by Walter G. Price and his son, George, accompanied on the piano by Miss Helen Price. There was very fine special singing and dancing by Arthur Miller and Kenneth Totten, accompanied by George Miller, (composer-pianist). The band made an imposing appearance, as the girls were dressed in white skirts and white middie blouses, and the boys in white duck trousers and white shirts. Mr. L. R. Winchell, supervising principal of the New Providence schools, accompanied the band, on its trip here. Mr. J. T. Nicholson, director and leader, is brother to Mrs. Edwards, directress of the Altar Guild.

The Altar Guild will hold its regular monthly meeting on Monday evening. A full attendance is requested. The Misses Catherine McCluskey, Bertha Mumford and Nancy Miller, represented Christ Church Sunday School, on Saturday, at the Presentation Service of the Church School Lenten Offering, which was held at St. John's Church, Jersey City.

There will be a meeting of the Men's Club at the parish house, on Monday evening.

The Vestry will meet this evening. If you like to eat good things, join the merry throng who will be on hand for the Ladies' Guild Luncheon on Wednesday, May 28. Miss Elizabeth S. Moore is chairman of the Committee in charge. Following the luncheon there will be a card party.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Mortals and Immortals" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 18, 1930.

The Golden Text is: "Henceforth know we no man after the flesh." (II Corinthians 5:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." (II Corinthians 5:1)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Science reveals the glorious possibilities of immortal man, forever unlimited by the mortal senses." (p. 288).

Notes

Sunday, 11 A. M.—The minister of Grace Church having as his subject: "Light by Light" will endeavor to lead the thoughts of the congregation during the morning service, in thinking things through. Come away from the perplexities of daily existence, and for an hour give the soul a chance to grow.

The service in the evening beginning with a song service will be the Happy Hour Service. Mr. McCombe will have as his subject, "Fleeing" men flee from their misdeeds. Shadows crowd around the life, from which at times we would gladly flee. Memories come that we would fain forget. Strong men—well better come and hear the minister of Grace Church discuss this peculiar subject, this coming Sunday evening. The service begins promptly at 7:45 P. M. In this day of complex activities we allow many things of value to be crowded out of our lives. Charles Darwin, the great student and distinguished scholar, confessed, that because of his intensive scientific study of many years, which had crowded out general cultural interests, he had lost all appreciation of music which he had loved in his youthful days. When the day of life has passed and ambition has lost its power to drive us on, it is a sad awakening, to come to the realization; that the best in life has gone from us.

Monday evening the home of Miss Irene Eller was the scene of much merriment. Miss Eller was the hostess to the Good Will Chapter of the World Wide Guild of Grace Church. The young ladies celebrated the "Night before Election," in grand style. The outstanding feature of the event was that no candidate for commissioner was present. Refreshments were served.

Strange things do happen at times. The newspapers report that the Senate of the United States has rejected the nomination of John J. Parker, to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. One of the chief objections seems to be a decision which he made some time ago, in which the Negro was concerned. While it is true that we look to the Supreme Court to be fair in all its decisions, we must remember that the judges, after all, are only human. No one will question the danger that is facing the Republic, if men not yet attaining to the high office of Justice of the Supreme Court are to be excluded, from that distinguished body, because sometime in their career they expressed an opinion which seemed to reflect on a particular class. As one reads between the lines it would seem that there are other matters involved, of which the general public has no knowledge, which led the Senators to reject Judge Parker. There seems to be the impression that the nomination was made by the President, in payment of political debts. If that is so, then the rejection was warranted. The greatest injustice that can be done to the people of the U. S. A. is to use the Supreme Court as a means of settling political debts. The Supreme Court has a long and glorious record. It has been served by noted and distinguished men. It is the court of last appeal. It has the final word in regard to the laws of the Republic, and the Senate cannot be too careful in its endorsement of the members of that learned body. In this matter we can forgive the Senate in being over-careful; but we could hardly forgive the Senators in being over-careless. It is better for the country that one good man be rejected, than men unfitted by nature and ability be elevated to this distinguished court, because of their influence in the political world.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Grace Church met at the home of Mrs. Russell on Beech street. The afternoon was spent in discussing the subject of "Missions." Much interesting information was obtained about the people in strange lands. Their habits and customs were contrasted with the blessings and social standing of the women of America.

Mother's Day was fittingly observed all over the country last Sunday, in all our churches the praise of wearing a flower was not as widely observed. It would seem that the people in a quiet way are protesting against the commercial aspect of the day. The day is too sacred to be used by any class as a means of profit or the increase of business. Richter has well said—"Never, never has one forgotten his pure right educating mother! On the blue mountains of our dim childhood, towards which we ever turn and look, stand the mothers who marked out to us from thence our life. The most blessed age must be forgotten ere we can forget the warmest heart. You wish, O Woman, to be ardently loved, and forever, even until death. Be then, the mothers of your children."

Monday evening, May 19, there is to be a great gathering in Grace Church. The Good Will and Sunshine Chapters of the World Wide Guild, The Ladies Auxiliary of Grace Church, the women of the church and congregation will unite in a great meeting. The women of the Community will be made welcome. The speaker of the evening is to be Miss Ruth Maguire, District Secretary of the Atlantic Division. Miss MacGuire is a strong and interesting speaker and will have for her subject, "Americanization."

The Young People's Society of Grace Baptist church is planning a straw ride for the afternoon and evening of June 21 to Bertram's Island, Lake Hopatcong. Committee in charge comprise Mrs. Charles Thomson, David Thomson and Willard Wharton.

There will be a combination meeting May 19 at 8, in the church, of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Senior and Junior World Wide Guilds. Miss McGuire, Americanization secretary of the Baptist Convention will speak on her work. The address will be followed by a social hour.

The afternoon and evening of May 23 will be featured by a strawberry festival—if pleasant—on the church lawn, under the auspices of the La-

Auxiliary. Mrs. George McCombe and Mrs. Harry Russell are planning arrangements. The Auxiliary met yesterday with Mrs. Russell for the Missionary work. Mrs. Harvey Struble was in charge.

NEWARK GOSPEL TABERNACLE

Bloomfield avenue at Tenth street

Rev. Edmund Hains, Evangelist.

The Newark Gospel Tabernacle is preparing to welcome Rabbi Leopold Cohn, a converted Rabbi of New York City, and his son, Joseph, who will preach at the Tabernacle on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. Come and hear how a Jew found Christ.

Dr. Lyell M. Rader, the famous chemist and brother of Paul Rader, will bring a very interesting message on Sunday afternoon. His sermon is entitled "Two Gods."

Mr. Hains will preach a special sermon on Sunday night entitled: "The Eyes of God."

The Mother's Day pageant drew an exceptionally large crowd, and was greatly enjoyed.

WESLEY M. E.

Rev. Edgar M. Compton

The Mother's Day Service held last Sunday morning was a most interesting and successful service. The mothers of the congregation took entire charge of the service. The sermon preached by Mrs. Samuel Hodges and ordained minister of the Holy Church was a source of inspiration to the listeners. Her fluency of speech and easy delivery was greatly admired, and many remained after the service to congratulate her.

The members of the Young Woman's Auxiliary will serve next Sunday at both services, on the hospital committee, are Mrs. Harland Box, Mrs. Leonard Memmott, Mrs. D. Frits, Mrs. Malcolm Budd, and Mrs. George Williamson. Mrs. John Pole is chairman for this month.

Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, the members of the Epworth League and their friends, will listen to an address by George Yocum of Newark, formerly of the Y. M. C. A. Camp Kamesha. Miss Alice Compton is chairman in charge of the program.

Mrs. O. T. Breunich, chairman in charge of the League banquet announced the affair, was a success both socially and financially.

The Woman's Missionary Society met yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. Henry Stier, of 254 Little street. The response to the roll call was an item of interest about their fiftieth anniversary. A social hour followed the meeting.

A Rummage Sale for the benefit of the "New Equipment Fund" of the Ladies' Aid Society is being held at 140 Washington avenue, near the First National Bank. Today is the last day of the sale.

SPRING CARNIVAL REVIVES MEMORY

St. Peter's Social Society again did the usual good deed for the Church. The Spring Carnival, arranged and sponsored by the Society, was most pleasurable and profitable. The funds of the church were increased by the addition of the sum of $1,800.00.

The initial evening was given over to the devotees at the several games of cards now in vogue, and the winners of the capital prizes were well rewarded for their presence and skill.

The Old Fashioned Dance was the source of resurrection of gowns and styles of "Ye Olden Days." The music, which was characteristic and alluring, was enjoyed by the graceful dancers.

The best feature was reserved for the finale of the Carnival. The originality and skill of the principals of the cast were well worth the going and an invitation to linger.

"The audience was a capacity one, and the memories of other days were recalled in the introduction of players, whose names have been familiar we won't say how long since.

The church authorities and the parishioners are grateful to the ladies and thankful to the patrons.

The committees in charge, of which Miss Teresa Salmon was general chairman, are deserving of congratulations.

FORGET IT

Don't let your mind worry 'bout something that's past; It's gone past recall; so forget it. You have made a mistake, but don't be downcast. 'Twon't help things at all, to regret it.

'Twon't help you to worry o'er yesterday's pain, 'Twill make today sad if you let it; For yesterday's sorrow may be today's gain So do your whole best, and forget it.

If the past you'd review, just choose some bright day, When nothing had happened to fret it; But banish all days of depression away, Just hold to the joy and forget it.
