MYSTERY "SUICIDE" FOOLS POLICE; CLUES LEAD TO REGINA GOLF COURSE

And Nutley K. of C. Members Aid In The Discovery Of The Popular Miss Involved

A mystery suicide has baffled local authorities for the past several weeks. It has proven one of the strangest cases the police in this locality ever had to cope with. One of the popular young ladies who has made quite a furor during the past several months seems to have strangely disappeared. The name of the Miss has been a by-word not only locally but throughout the country. Her disappearance has been traced to Nutley and has brought both that town and Belleville into the spot-light of the latest crime wave which has been rampant in the East. Everyone has been under suspicion but clues which have been discovered during the past week seem to point to the Regina Golf Course at 34 Washington avenue.

Popular Lady Seen on Washington Avenue

By the merest chance shadowing of several of the Knights of St. Mary's Council of Nutley with whom this young lady was last seen the mystery is nearing the solving point.

The lady was the popular topic of street cars, buses, trains and where ever people congregate. All discussion centered around her. The present business depression especially brought her into popularity. You know her and your neighbor knows her. It is none other than "Mistortune." Now we'll admit you had your own "misapprehension" that this was "misleading" and you made no "mistake."

The Reason

The St. Mary's Knights of Columbus have been the cause of the suicide of "Mistortune" but in her place a far more popular Miss, name (Continued on Page Four)

Expenses, had mounted, Mr. Carragher said, by the cost of operating the five playgrounds at $1,200 each, the renovation of the recreation house at a cost of $1,500 and the purchase of equipment for Friendly Playground in Silver Lake and for School No. 5 grounds, besides salaries of $350 a month.

NUTLEY DOWNS WESTWOOD HIGH BY 30-0 SCORE

Maroon's Running Attack Too Much For The Bergenites

Nutley High School, tied with Asbury Park for the Class A. championship crown in 1929, opened its football season at Park Oval, Nutley Saturday afternoon by administering a 30-0 defeat to the Westwood High School eleven, before 3,000 spectators.

The Bergen county crew fought stubbornly, but bowed to the Maroon and Gray's running attack. Nutley's traditionally strong aerial attack was unsuccessful.

Forcing Westwood to punt soon after the initial kick-off, Nutley staged a 40-yard march which culminated in a left-field tackle thrust by Connors for the first score. Again in the second period the Suburbanites benefited by an exchange of kicks and carried the ball 30 yards to the 5-yard marker from which Sherwood knifed his way through the line for a touchdown.

Midway in the third session Nutley unreeled a series of reverses, featuring Connors and Blasi, who made the score on a 10-yard run. In the final period Westwood fumbled twice within its own 30-yard line, and the alert Maroon recovered the oval to start touchdown drives led by Mike Connors, who furnished the scoring punch on both occasions. Three Nutley players attempted the placements after the touchdowns, but all five kicks were failures.

Johnny Struble, one of the new faces in the Nutley line-up, made the longest run of the afternoon, a 35-yard dash from scrimmage on a reverse play. A short, flat pass over the line, Cavellero to Muhlback, was Westwood's biggest ground-gainer. Captain Clem VanHorn, the lone Nutley veteran, and Porky Brown, starred on the defense.

Nutley Driver Loses License For Month

Motorist Who Went On After Collisions Pleads Guilty

Neil Martison of 745 Franklin avenue, pleaded guilty of reckless driving Friday night when arraigned before Recorder David L. Swenson in North Arlington. He was reprimanded and his driving license was suspended for thirty days.

Martison, while driving in River road, a week ago, was in collision with a car operated by George Hess of 606 Central avenue, Carlstadt. Police alleged he struck another car driven by James Torrence of Beech street, Rutherford, and kept on going.

Martison was traced by policeman Frank Delasso of North Arlington, who had been given the license number.

Raymond Smith entertained several troops of girl scouts yesterday afternoon with moving pictures of snakes. The exhibition was held at the headquarters.

Although Italian By Birth Columbus Belongs To The World He Declares

Citizens of Belleville:

Plans have been made for a great demonstration and parade Sunday, October 12, in honor of the discovery of this continent by Christopher Columbus, and the parade will be the biggest and best ever seen in Nutley.

Christopher Columbus, although an Italian by birth, belongs to the world. All the loyal citizens of Belleville are invited to join us, without distinction or regards as to nationality. Almost all of the large and small communities in this Country will vie with each other in keen rivalry to maintain the spirit of this celebration.

Our celebration will be second to none, and we depend upon you to make it the best.

Decorate your windows, homes and automobiles, display the American flag, and, to further honor the memory of the discovery of this great continent, carry a button with a picture of Columbus on the lapel of your coat.

The parade will start promptly at 1 o'clock at Washington and Park avenues. The line of march will carry us past the monument erected to our world war heroes, at which point the parade will be interrupted for a few moments and a wreath deposited in honor of our fallen soldiers. The parade will continue to the Park School Auditorium where speeches will be made in both English and Italian, and a picture of Columbus done in oil, will be presented to the Board of Education.

The Municipal authorities who have so willingly co-operated with us in the formulation of our plans, will be present.

Come and swell the line of parade. You will be welcomed.

THE HOLY NAME PARADE

Sunday afternoon is the occasion for the annual Holy Name Society rally in Newark. At 7:30 o'clock mass that morning 700 members of the society of St. Peter's Church will receive Holy Communion in the church and a sermon pertinent to the honor due the Holy Name will be preached by Rev. Father Field and the influence of the Holy Name in lives of Catholic men stressed.

Would it not be a nice thought if all of us—no matter what our creed—just stood by Sunday for a few moments to reflect on what the Holy Name means? Can not all of us—many of whom have drifted from churches of all denominations—gain an object lesson?

Let us, who have slipped spiritually, and there are many of us, rejoice that these men think enough of the Holy Name to honor it with services and a rally. Let those who think only of the Sabbath as another day recall that the spiritual side of life is really all of life.

MARRIED TEACHERS

With the widespread employment, which is to be a menace to the very industrial system, it is to call attention to one situation which, in the writer's opinion, calls for immediate correction. I refer to our educational system. Although perhaps not generally known, it has prevailed for a long and worked great hardship upon a large and worthy group of individuals whose purpose it is to make their life work.

The present practice of retaining teachers in the public schools in marriage, which has long been the custom in this state, has seriously handicapped Normal School graduates in their effort to secure positions and is responsible for a large and ever increasing waiting list of married eligible teachers whose hope for a livelihood depends upon their being absorbed into the teaching forces of our educational system.

To cite but one case, which is typical of the situation, the writer at the instance of certain fraternal organizations has for nearly two years been endeavoring to secure a position on the teaching staff of Belleville for a capable young woman, a Normal School graduate living in Newark, but without success.

The fitness of the applicant for the position has not been questioned and the sole reason for her inability to secure employment appears to be the disadvantage which the prevailing system gives to married women teachers.

Mr. Gerard and the Board of Education are apparently in no way responsible for this result, as I have been authoritatively informed that many girls graduated from the local schools and now prepared to accept teaching positions cannot be placed owing to the practical monopoly of the otherwise available positions enjoyed by married teachers.

In some sections married teachers are organized with a view of securing greater advantages than they now enjoy which is to say the least, the most arrogant presumption.

Owing to these conditions many prospective young teachers, who have devoted years to preparation for their profession, have been obliged to accept employment in other lines in order to exist.

It may be contended that the married teacher is more efficient than her unmarried sister making her initial entrance into the educational field and who, consequently, lacks the experience of the former. While experience is an asset to be duly considered, efficiency is largely determined by personal characteristics and natural endowments; therefore it would appear that no broad deduction as to efficiency, based on term of service, is justified.

It is to be presumed that when a teacher marries her status becomes such that she no longer requires the income derived from her profession and, as experience has shown that she is generally unwilling to retire voluntarily, effective measures should be taken to compel such action.

In this situation laws looking to the protection of women who must make their living in the teaching profession are urgently needed and the purpose of this article is to arouse public opinion to the end that well devised legislation may be adopted which will effectually remedy these conditions. If such action is not taken it is not too much to expect that we shall eventually see our Normal School graduates practically barred from their chosen profession.

H. F. H.

ANENT WILLIAMS

It will be extremely interesting to see what next move will be taken by the opponents of the Commissioner of Revenue and Finance. The much challenged facts were certainly in evidence at Tuesday's Commission meeting in the chagrin of those who charged that the commissioner was "talking through his hat." He may have started with the left foot forward but it is now to be concluded that the right was not far behind.

If the opposition and their inquisitors desire to retain their self respect it will be well to commit themselves to silence henceforth or be branded as obstructionists.

The citizens of the Town of Belleville should now be satisfied that the department of revenue and finance at least is being conducted as it should be.

Many people of the town have been talking about the high tax rate and yet in the same breath praise the present incumbents. Let them be consistent and add a few more new members when the next opportunity presents itself. The kind that can step along with the live wire Commissioner of Revenue and Finance.

Junkman Sought For Beating Rival

Angelo Miele, 36, a junk dealer, was in a serious condition in Newark General Hospital today as a result of a beating he received Tuesday at the hands of a rival junkman.

Belleville police are seeking Peter Rosello of 463 South Clinton street, East Orange, whom Miele named as his assailant. The injured man, who lives at 143 Palm street, Newark, may have a skull fracture. Miele was slugged about the head and body with a three-foot lead pipe at the Silver Lake "dumps" in Belleville. He claimed Rosello attacked him without provocation. Police were told the men had been stealing each others' customers.

Mrs. James V. Thetford of 83 Bremond street has returned after having spent a week at Rochester, N. Y., attending the annual meeting of the New York Branch, Women's Foreign Missionary Society. She is superintendent of literature for the branch.

Whooping Cough Is Prevalent In Town

Slight Outbreak Not Alarming Health Officer Berry Declares

The present whooping cough is prevalent in town especially in the Grey Section. While this slight outbreak is not alarming (eleven cases reported for September), the Department of Health feels that a statement regarding this disease may check its spread.

In New Jersey during the ten years, 1914-1923 inclusive, whooping cough caused over 2,800 deaths, more than half as many as caused by diphtheria; over twice as many as caused by Scarlet Fever.

Whooping Cough frequently is followed by pneumonia. It favors the development of tuberculosis. It is especially dangerous in young children. Ninety-six out of every one hundred persons who die of whooping cough in New Jersey are less than five years of age. A physician should be called to see all known or suspected cases of whooping cough as it may help to prevent pneumonia or other complications.

A child can escape whooping cough until ten years of age, he may directly escape the disease, or if he does contract it, his chances of recovery are much greater. A child having whooping cough should be kept away from all persons who have not had the disease, including those in the same household. Every effort should be made to keep young children away from persons having whooping cough.

"Whooping Cough is considered contagious for a period of at least three weeks after the beginning of the disease, and as long thereafter as the spasms of coughing occur. Even though the most thorough precautionary measures are used by Board of Health and school authorities, the spread of whooping cough cannot be checked unless parents do their part," says Eugene T. Berry, Health Officer.

publicity out of it. I claim it is not businesslike."

Mr. Williams said: "Did you in 1928 attend a meeting held in the engineering department to discuss land values in Belleville?"

Mr. Clark said he did. "Did DeRosset of the Board of Assessment refuse to attend because the Board of Commissioners had no business in such matters?" Mr. Williams asked.

"Not of my knowledge," said Mr. Clark.

"Did you refuse to attend?" Mr. Williams asked Commissioner Frank J. Carragher.

"Yes," Mr. Carragher replied, "it was none of my business." "Therefore," stated Mr. Williams, "my contention is sound; there was political tinkering."

"Mr. Gibson, the head of the department invited the boards together," explained Commissioner Patrick A. Waters.

Mr. Williams asked Corporation Counsel John B. Brown whether the law did not give the assessment board "exclusive authority" and was told "yes" but that the board was entitled to advice of the Board of Commissioners if desired.

"You still think we have had efficient management?" Mr. Williams asked Mr. Clark, who replied in the affirmative.

"Quoting from the records," Mr. Williams said a $3,750 factory assessment should have been $37,500, a Joralemon street apartment assessed at $20,000 in 1928 was $6,000 in 1929 and $37,000 in 1930, and a Main street property assessed at $37,000 in 1927 was $3,900 in 1928 when it should have been $39,000.

Mr. Williams spoke also of a property at Hornblower avenue and Clearman place and another in Cortlandt street as being "unequally assessed" at $30 a front foot, without regard to the former being in a highly residential section and the latter in a factory zone. He also spoke of a Washington avenue property being assessed at $14,000 while another property in Valley street to the rear was not assessed at all.

Mayor Kenworthy pointed out the Cortlandt street property probably was properly assessed if vacant and suitable for industrial purposes. Tax Assessor John F. Coogan, Jr., stated it was vacant land.

James L. Davidson, former tax assessor, rose in the audience, offering to answer any questions in his assessment of last year aside from the Valley street omission, which he admitted he had overlooked.

Mr. Williams refused to apologize to Mr. Clark and Mr. Waters for having referred to them as "sweethearts of the Mayor" and as "musketees," maintaining the epithets were not as insulting as Mr. Clark and Mr. Waters had regarded them. Questions put to them at the previous meeting by Charles H. Nutt, a citizen, were answered by Williams. They are answered in page 5, this issue.

He said he had respect for other members of the board, that "over $690" was lost in one instance where a tax bill had not been delivered to the Forest Hill Golf Club, that the sending of bills was not being extended beyond the common practice of mailing statements and that he was not concerned with the lax methods of other towns compared to Belleville.

He asked Mr. Nutt for the name of the prospective manufacturer who eyed askew the town's financial administration, that he might communicate the word that there was no better place to locate. Mr. Nutt refused to divulge the name, fearing "it's too late." Mr. Williams agreed with Nutt that "lawlessness in this country is largely the result of lack of respect for public officials" and referred to Mr. Gibson's attack on him.

Mr. Clark asked Mr. Williams at one point in the meeting if Mr. Williams had not at a previous date referred to the board as directors and the people stockholders. He queried whether it is not proper to bring such matters to the directors instead of stockholders.

"There has been an attempt to confuse citizens into believing I didn't know what I was talking about," declared Mr. Williams, addressing Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy and Commissioners Clark and Waters.

"My assistants have delivered in one month almost 700 of the 1,284 'undeliverable' tax bills which precipitated this argument."

Mr. Williams also scored previous administrations for failing to fund bond issues in the last seven years, to collect personal taxes or to levy sewer assessments, some of which, he said, have been pending seventeen years. The town pays $40,000 annually in interest on unlevied assessments, he said, only a small fraction of which can be recovered.

Text Of Williams' Answer To Nutt

October 7, 1930

MR. CHARLES NUTT,
Belleville, New Jersey.

Dear Mr. Nutt:

May I respectfully submit replies to your inquiries as submitted by you at meeting of Sept. 30.

Question 1.—Advise me how to correct a citizen's impression that our Commissioners have no respect for each other?

Inasmuch as your question states Commissioners, I can only reply for one-fifth of our Board, my reply is "I do hold respect for each Commissioner but I reserve the right to express my own opinion at all times. May I have the name of your inquirer so I can personally answer him? (Mr. Nutt refused to offer name). The remaining four-fifths of the Board may speak for themselves.

Question 2.—Manufacturer asked if Belleville is a good location for industry also stated he was skeptical of town's standing?

Believing his skepticism of town's standing refers to financial standing, I will send him a certified copy of financial statement of our town if you will submit his name and address to me. Advise him to note the substantial bond companies bidding next week on the $1,000,000.00 bond issue. Advise him that for the first time in seven (7) years Belleville has a Director of Revenue and Finance who is sufficiently interested to fund many different issues of bonds which heretofore were renewed annually at considerable expense for each renewal. This financial procedure means elimination of expense and substantial saving in interest costs to taxpayers. I believe this bond issue action will be one of the outstanding deeds of this administration. I feel our citizens will recognize your Director of Revenue and Finance is putting his campaign pledges for a real business administration into action. Today I sold $256,000 of 1 year bonds at interest rate of 3 1/2%. I also sold $223,000 of short term bonds at interest rate of 2 7/10%. A local bank official advises me he regards the rate of 2 7/10% on $223,000 as a fine financial transaction and a local BANK OFFICIAL EXPRESSED SURPRISE SUCH A FAVORABLE RATE WAS POSSIBLE. You, Mr. Nutt and your inquiring friend must agree with me when are bonds are sought by bond houses at such rates that our bank men are surprised, Belleville's financial standing is above question.

Question 3.—Is Belleville a good location for industry?

Mr. Nutt, believing you are motivated purely by civic spirit, may I have the name of this inquiring manufacturer? (No answer by Mr. Nutt). I want to place before him the wonderful assets Belleville can extend to industrial leaders. I want to show him plants such as the Westinghouse Co., Sonneborn Co., The Rafter Machine Co., The Federal Leather Co., and The Wallace & Tiernan Co., The Eastwood Wire Co., Hendricks Copper Mills. I want to have him meet the progressive leaders of these and many other widely known industries of Belleville. It will be a pleasure to introduce him to our Board of Commissioners, I feel sure all the members will be glad to aid any manufacturer in the establishment of a clean, properly located plant.

This manufacturer's view point will change when Belleville's transportation facilities are outlined to him. The Passaic River on which through the National Government is spending in excess of $800,000.00 and the Erie R. R. whose officials will be glad to aid in our development, will appeal to him. We soon will have four fine roads running North and South the length of Belleville and three fine roads crossing the width of town, and in addition our highly developed road system throughout town will be approved. Belleville's proximity to New York City via the proposed improved road and Holland Tunnel and our local anticipation for docking facilities will be of interest to him.

Our supply of skilled, technical, and unskilled workers will be of interest to him.

Our Wonderful school system, and our great number of beautiful churches will give him the assurance of the high moral fibre of our community, our residential and commercial accommodations will please him, our recreation facilities will be recognized by this man as of advantage to his employees.

Will you as a civic duty give me the name of this manufacturer so a Committee of our Commissioners may place before him the residential, industrial, and educational assets so we can work towards a bigger, busier and better Belleville? (Again Mr. Nutt refused to offer name).

Has Belleville lost money or will money be lost as result of 1,284 non-delivered tax bills?

To first part, I answer "Yes" money has been lost, Forest Hill Golf Club is composed of two parcels—one of 21 acres and one of 13 acres. 1930 assessment was made at $2,000 per acre. The Forest Hill Golf Club received only the bill on the 21 acre parcel, and Mr. Reock, representing them, called at the Town Hall for his tax bill on the 13 acre parcel. He was given a tax bill for the 13 acres at $1,000.00 per acre and paid the first half on the $1,000.00 basis and appealed the assessment on the 21 acres at $2,000.00, which appeal was denied by the County Tax Board. Among the 1,284 non-delivered bills was the original bill representing the correct assessment on the 13 acre parcel at $2,000.00 per acre. Mr. Reock of the Golf Club obtained another hearing before the County Tax Board at which hearing he stated for several years he had to call at the Town Hall for tax bills on the 13 acre parcel.

The County Tax Board rendered a new decision changing the entire assessment to $1,500.00 per acre. Had the original 13 acre bill been delivered at the proper time, the original denial of the appeal would have covered this 13 acre bill and the taxpayers would not have lost over $690.00.

Does my answer not prove to our citizens that not only was money lost, but does not my answer not also prove that incompetent supervision was given to this work?

To the second part—may money be lost because of non-delivered tax bills. I answer, "While my assistants have delivered nearly 700 in less than one month, the delivery of balance will determine if further loss is to be incurred."

How does Belleville compare with other Municipalities in matter of undelivered tax bills?

My time will not be spent on checking up lax methods of other Municipalities. My interest is to establish methods comparable to those of the best operated Municipalities and any lax method existing elsewhere is of no interest to me.

Is it not true the custom of sending statements in an effort by the Law and the TAX ASSESSOR to accommodate the taxpayers and failure in delivery in no sense jeopardizes the money that the bills represented?

This is a three part question—answers are:

Part 1.—Tax Assessor has no duty by Law covering delivery of tax bills.

Part 2.—Jeopardy of money—My answer to your question number 3 covers this very definitely.

Part 3.—Effort by Law to accommodate taxpayer—Chapter 236, Article 6, 1918 State Law is as follows: "As soon as Tax Duplicate is delivered to Collector, he shall at once begin the work of preparing, completing, mailing or OTHERWISE DELIVERING tax bills to individuals assessed."

You will note the Law specifically demands DELIVERY OF BILLS.

One of the financial problems which confronted me on induction to Office was the inheritance of the uncollected personal arrears taxes of $140,000.00. These bills run over 12 years.

In 1925, a total of $70,000.00 was due the Town on unpaid personal taxes. During the four years of 1926, 1927, 1928, 1929 the total of unpaid personal taxes increased to $140,000.00. Does an increase of 100% in uncollected bills indicate good business management? Thousands of these dollars are due from people who are not now available—who then must assume this burden? You and I, and the property owners of Belleville.

Would the Department of Revenue and Finance be justified in spending public money in order to extend this courtesy beyond the common practice of mailing statements?

No courtesy is required, or is now being used, beyond the common practice of mailing statements. We are finding this method wholly effective.

Spending of public money is not justified when inexpensive methods prove effective.

Your statement that you believe lawlessness in this Country is largely the result of lack of respect for public officials, is without doubt true. I presume by this statement that you thereby disapprove of the attack made on Commissioner Williams by former Commissioner Gibson at a recent meeting. I assure you many of our fellow citizens feel as keenly as you do in expressing their disapproval of such conduct.

Respectfully yours,
WILLIAM H. WILLIAMS,
Director of Revenue and Finance.

The News takes this occasion to print in full Commissioner Williams' answers to Charles Nutt's questions of a week ago.

Of particular interest to all who believe in Belleville and have an open mind on the discussion are two facts the Commissioner brings out. Belleville is enjoying the lowest rate of interest for sale of bonds ever—and his remarks boosting the town.

The News offers its readers the questions and answers in full because of the nature of this discussion.

BICYCLES ON INCREASE

A headline announcement of "Bicycle Coming Back" impels one to wonder whether it has ever really been away. In this Country, of late years its use has largely been restricted to small boys wobbling about uncertainly on the highways, to messenger service and to health faddists pedaling for the exercise, but one need travel only a short distance from American territory to find the bicycle almost as popular as ever. In England and the Continent, especially in the smaller towns, bicycles are as thick as ever they were in America; they are ridden by men, women and children, with little seats rigged up on the handlebars for the babies. An American could easily imagine himself back in the early years of the century.

Even in this Country it need excite no surprise to learn that the production of bicycles is on the increase. Last year 307,845 were made in 29 different plants, employing 4,500 workers, and the average wholesale price was $20. This was an increase of more than one-fifth in two years. Back in 1909, when the automobile had definitely supplanted the popular fad of bicycling, only 168,824 were produced.

With the almost universal use of the automobile in this Country, the bicycle offers an important return to the form of outdoor exercise that ministered to health and pleasure a generation or more ago. The bicycle fell into disuse because the automobile was speedier, but it still has possibilities for enjoyment and usefulness peculiar to itself. All that is needed to bring about a revival of bicycling for pleasure is a safe spot on the highways to indulge the impulse.

WORKING FOR BOTH SIDES

Several noted naval architects, it is said, have designed some of the fleet run-runners which slip away from government ships on the Atlantic seaboard. A despatch from Washington states that the government will now commission the same designers to turn out a fleet of patrol boats fast enough to catch the elusive flyers of their own design.

This would seem to be a good deal like the old contest between the makers of cannon and of steel armament. The important difference is that the naval designers are making plans for both sides. It should be good business for them if they can keep it up long enough.

THE FALL DANGER

Everybody knows, or should, that the danger to automobilists is greater in the fall of the year than at any other time. The frost of the road, the fallen leaves and the general sparkling air is prone to make the motorist a little bit more careless than he is in the spring or the summer. When trees skirt the highways, falling leaves form, with the rain, a slippery surface which is deceptive to the unskilled driver. Fearing only ice or snow he suddenly finds, to his amazement, and often undoing, that the leaf-strewn thoroughfare is no more adhesive than if it were greased.

It is generally a settled thing that there are more accidents in the autumn than at any other part of the year. To the end that there may be less, tire engineers are agreed that the best preventive of disastrous skidding is the use of lower air pressure in automobile tires.

Of course due caution is needed in the time of the year that more accidents happen, but the need of seeing that your tires are softer and more gripping is quite essential.

DEPRESSION AND WAR

Senator Borah says nothing that is strikingly original when he warns us that the evil economic plight of the world is due to the World War. But it is a useful reminder, because a good many people have talked so much about over-production and the ousting of men by machines that they have forgotten that the war burdened all nations with enormous debts that increased taxes and, in Senator Borah's words, "took the money normally used for purchases."

More than two centuries ago, Robert Walpole, prime minister of England, said that "The most pernicious circumstances in which the country can be are those of war, as we must be losers while it lasts, and cannot be great gainers when it ends." The expenses of war two centuries ago were paltry as contrasted with our own time. From a purely selfish standpoint, it is about time that we awakened to the fact that war is no longer pay.

1903 AND 1930

We get so dulled by repeated stories of speed in the air that we do not realize how sensational and dramatic it all is. Frank Hawkes flew recently from Detroit to New York, a distance of 500 miles, at an average speed of 186 miles an hour.

More than three miles a minute. It ought to thrill us and it would if we took time to think of what it means. Less than 27 years ago, the whole world was stirred by reading that the Wright brothers had flown for 12 seconds, travelling 120 feet in the air. And today we are only mildly interested in the fact that a man goes faster than three miles in a minute. There is a contrast there worth thinking about.

A BIG CHECK

Almost everyone who noticed the news item about the payment of a check for $72,500,000 to complete a big oil deal must have speculated a little about what they would do with the money if they had it.

Even in these days when we talk glibly in billions, $72,500,000 is a lot of money. Not many of us have wants which reach to any such altitude. Even if one bought a $100,000 house, furnished it lavishly, invested in a superlative car, purchased all the things that one has wanted for a long time—it would not make much of a dent in $72,500,000. Instead of thinking what would I do with all that money? it might be wiser to wonder what could I do with it?

ALL STATES NEWS

POLITICS AND PERSONALITIES

A coalition, by American definition is a combination of political groups whose members hold together for legislative purposes but make a dash for the regular party standard on election day. At least, that has always been the situation. Washington commentators are venturing a prediction that this year may see a different turn of affairs.

It is said that the Democratic party, being well aware of Senator George Norris' value, will not vigorously support his Democratic opponent in the Nebraska race. One the other hand, at least two Insurgent Republican Senators are expected to take the stump in support of Senator Thomas Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, who is campaigning for reelection against Albert J. Galen, Republican. Democratic opposition to the Progressive William E. Borah is not thought to count for much in Idaho.

What, if any, significance is there in these indications of a closer working amity between the Democrats and their sometime Republican allies? The skeptical only grin and say, "Wait until 1932. They'll all be good elephants and donkeys again." The more optimistic prefer to regard the alliances as possible symptoms of a new order, but of an order that will not be manifest until 1936 at least.

Much talk has been heard recently of a possible pact between the South and West. And from time to time suggestions are made for a Liberal party with recruits from both national parties. Political opinion is fickle these days, and political trends are more pronounced than formerly. With prohibition cutting across both party lines, and generally prevalent in both political camps, who will say that the seemingly impossible will not come to pass?

FRANCO-AMERICAN GOOD WILL LIBRARY

A former American ambassador to France was once asked by a acquaintance for a certain book or France written by an American. The Ambassador, Hugh Campbell Wallace, had great difficulty in locating the volume. Shortly afterwards, he tried to procure a book on America by a French scholar, and again he experienced difficulty. Mr. Wallace then and there resolved to gather together every available work on report by a Frenchman on the subject of America and vice versa. The result of that resolution is a library, unlike any other in the world. Numbering several thousand books, pamphlets and reports, it is a complete history of Franco-American friendship since its very inception.

Original documents tell of Lafayette's feeling for America; of the enthusiastic celebration that greeted the signing of our Declaration of Independence; of Benjamin Franklin's popularity as the first United States Ambassador to France; and of many things that history cannot relate with sufficient color and detail. The first treaty of friendship between France and America, signed in 1778 is there in its pristine condition.

The works of travelers from France cover the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. An unusual depth of understanding between the two nations is revealed in this collection. Magnificent engravings and sketches of American life as depicted by French artists are found in numerous books.

Ambassador Wallace visited France this summer and arranged for the library to be placed in the new American embassy in Paris upon its completion.

ADVERTISING ON POSTAGE STAMPS

If ever you receive a letter bearing a stamp inscribed with some slogan like, "Eventually, why not now?" or "Pour out of live have it," credit the phenomenon to Representative Emanuel Celler of New York. It is Mr. Celler's idea that the Post Office Department can eliminate its deficit by selling space on postage stamps for advertising purposes.

The New Yorker explains that he does not "advocate," but only "suggests" this money-making scheme to the government. The suggestion is inspired by information he has received to the effect that France, Germany and New Zealand sell the marginal space on their stamps to private concerns, and that Bavaria and Italy have doubled the size of their stamps and sold the additional space. Mr. Celler further recalls that the United States itself has used the stencil employed to cancel stamps for slogans. Stamps have also been used to call attention to various expositions.

Representative Celler is to be commended for his resourcefulness. But haven't we enough with advertisements staring at us in street cars, screaming at us over the radio and greeting us at every road bend, without encountering them on friendly epistles?

WE GROW HEALTHIER

Here is good news for a country suffering from stock market crashes and other economic ills. Physically, the past year has been an exceptionally healthy one, the Public Health Service reports. Although the whole world shared in this well-being, the United States was particularly fortunate in its freedom from ## sickness and death.

One of the most striking evidences of our improved health is the decline of diphtheria. During the first five years of the present century, this disease took an average toll of 29.6 persons per 100,000 population. An average of only 6.7 deaths for the same population was reported in 1929. Yellow fever, which once swept a panic-stricken country with devastating swiftness, did not put in an appearance in America during the year. Cholera was absent in continental United States, although it broke out in Manila and on several islands in the archipelago.

Not one case of human plague was reported in either the United States or its possessions. However, plague-infected squirrels were discovered in California, and the Public Health Service has taken occasion to sound a warning lest proper precautions against infection be disregarded.

Both the death rate and the birth rate declined during the past year, but the latter still has a large margin over the former.

AGRICULTURE AND EDUCATION GET TOGETHER

The difficulties attendant upon wringing a living from Mother Earth are met with surprisingly similar programs by various nations of the New World. These programs, as revealed at the Pan-American agricultural conference held recently in Washington, may be summarized by the word, "education."

In Mexico, correspondence courses in agrarian culture are freely proffered, and agricultural training is stressed throughout the school system. Costa Rica specializes in equipping her men to manage large estates. A thorough rural elementary education is of fundamental importance in Porto Rico. And our own America has long carried on a detailed program of agricultural instruction.

Cuba has one of the most elaborate educational programs in existence. Emphasis is laid on the "traveling agent" who goes from farm to farm giving demonstrations. The small Republic also boasts six agricultural schools where rural standards of living and crop diversification are stressed. The Cuban government is developing experiment stations which distribute tobacco plants and fruit trees. Over 100,000 seedlings were sent out by a single forestry station during 1929. The Normal schools endeavor to train teachers in "agricultural thinking." This is a remarkably ambitious program for a little nation, but Cuba gives every indication of carrying it through with completeness and dispatch.

THEY FOLLOW THEIR FATHERS

When Philip LaFollette won the Republican nomination for Governor of Wisconsin, he added one more name to the list of sons and daughters who are following the trails blazed by their famous fathers. The Wisconsin gubernatorial nominee has a brother, Robert LaFollette, Junior, who has held the senior senatorship from his state for the past five years. Their father served as governor and as senator from Wisconsin during his lifetime.

Senator Frederick Hale of Maine who fills the same place his father, Eugene Hale, filled years ago, is also the grandson of the late Zachariah Chandler of Michigan, a member of the Senate for almost a generation. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the "Great Commoner," has served one term in the House of Representatives and will undoubtedly be reelected by her Florida constituents this Fall. The late Senator John Bankhead of Alabama has one son in the House and another running for the Senate. Mark Hanna's daughter, Ruth McCormick, after one term in the House, is now aspiring in Illinois to a senatorial toga as worn by her father.

But one of the most remarkable lines of succession is that of the Bayard family of Delaware. Former Senator Thomas Bayard, who is now trying to come back to the Senate, once stated in the Congressional Directory that his father, Thomas Francis Bayard; his grandfather, James Asheton Bayard; his great-grandfather, Richard Henry Bayard; his great-great-grandfather, James Asheton Bayard; and his great, great-grandfather, Richard Bassett, had each served as United States Senator from Delaware. That is almost an extraordinary as the Adams family of Massachusetts whose members have handed down from one generation to the next a record of statesmanship unique in our history.

I have found such joy in simple things:
A plain, clean room, a nut-brown loaf of bread, a cup of milk, a kettle as it sings,
The shelter of a roof above my head:
And in a leaf-faced square upon a floor,
Where yellow sunlight glimmers through a door.

I have found such joy in things that fill
My quiet days, a curtain's blowing grace,
A growing plant upon a window sill,
A rose, fresh cut and placed within a vase;
A table cleared, a lamp beside a chair
And books I long have loved, beside me there.

Oh, I have found such joy! I wish I might!
Tell every woman who goes seeking far
For some elusive, feverish delight
That very close to home the great joys are;
These fundamental things—old as the race,
Yet never, through the ages, commonplace.

KEEP YOUR HEAD UP

Pilgrim now upon life's journey
Where's the end I hear you say,
Many milestones have been passed by
Night has followed many a day,
Oft when weary and discouraged
You were strengthened by this cry
Keep your feet upon earth's carpet
And your head up in the sky.

You will meet with sore temptations
As you travel up life's hill,
Sometimes rough will be the pathway
Sorely tried will be your will,
Christ will be your boon companion
For He's always very nigh,
Keep your feet upon earth's carpet
And your head up in the sky.

Keep your feet upon earth's carpet
And your head up in the sky,
Meet each day with grit and courage
You will conquer, if you try,
Firmly stand upon earth's carpet
Never falter, never die,
And success will crown all effort
With your head up in the sky.

Did you ever stop to think?

by Edson Waite

Charles A. Guy, Editor of the Lubbock (Texas) Avalanche and Journal, says:

"It has often occurred to me that the practice of community building—or rather the practice of engaging in it—has never struck close enough home to that great group of our citizens, covered in the blanket characterization of 'the man in the street.'"

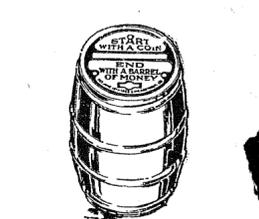

"That occurrence has led me further; has caused me to ponder over the condition in order to reach some direct reason for its existence.

"In every city, village and hamlet in our country we find as bulwarks of the chamber of commerce, commercial or whatever the civic vehicle happens to be called, the same little group of business men. This same little group bears the burden for the whole of the community in the expenditure of effort, time and finances. The 'average citizen' who profits and whose family profits indirectly from the varied labors of the few, doesn't seem to feel that he, too, is responsible for helping make his town just a little better than it is.

"The cause of the trouble, as I see it, is that the average commercial organization does not realize that, beyond the few merchants who are vitally interested in civic development, there are scores of other men who could and would help—if properly approached and cultivated. Generally speaking, the chambers make little effort to interest, in actual cooperation, anyone outside the 'faithful few' and as a result the term, 'Chamber of Commerce' is foreign to many who reap great gain from its activities.

"Man-power is as valuable in civic endeavor as it is anywhere else. From the psychological point, alone, it is priceless in welding community thought—in the making of that intangible treasure, 'public opinion.' If our Chambers of Commerce see the light, make a little room for the 'average citizen' and give an occasional opportunity to be heard, the individual, the city and the chamber itself will be broadened until all are vital parts of the community in which they flourish."

NASH ANNOUNCES FOUR REMARKABLE NEW GROUPS OF AUTOMOBILES AT THE LOWEST PRICES EVER ESTABLISHED

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 9.—(Special) Four remarkable new groups of automobiles, reflecting the greatest values ever established by the famous Nash organization, have been announced today by The Nash Motors Company.

Ranging in price from $795—the lowest cost ever achieved in a typical Nash quality car—to $2,025, and representing a striking advancement in motor car engineering and performance, balanced to today's increased dollar value, the new cars were received with unprecedented enthusiasm by a motoring public awaiting them with re-sharpened sense of motor car value.

This impressive presentation of three distinctive new straight eight series and the popular new six cylinder group, comprising in all twenty attractive new models, is the answer of C. W. Nash and his experienced associates to the universal demand for improved motoring efficiency and economy and for sound national prosperity building.

In making this, the most important public announcement of the automobile year, Mr. Nash emphasized the vital necessity of supplying the public with manufactured products measuring to the highest standards at prices wholly consistent with the advanced purchasing power of the present day dollar.

"We have always felt it an imperative duty to Nash owners to set out motor car standards higher than the average," he said. "We are sure that in the new Eight-90, Eight-80, Eight-70 and new Nash Six Series the motoring public will recognize cars of superlative value as well as cars of superior design and performance. They all represent years of proved engineering research which have made them mechanically certain in every respect, and the manufacturing economies of an organization whose primary aim has been to produce a higher quality at a lower cost to the buyer than can be found anywhere in the automobile field."

The goal of Nash engineers in producing these four new series was to create the greatest possible mechanical efficiency in each field. So each of the new car groups was treated as a distinct and specialized development. Engineering fitted to one series was not forced upon another. The weight of the car, the number of cylinders in the motor, size of the motor and the price field for which the series was intended, all played their part in mechanical character and design. To well-informed and experienced motorists the mechanical advancements in each series is a source of unusual interest.

In design and construction, the new Nash Six models are considered a triumph of modern engineering. They bring within the financial reach of new thousands the high quality and satisfaction which tried and proved Nash engineering has made a tradition of the industry at a price unmatched in the field. To the basic principles of high compression and high turbulence so successfully engineered to L. Head motor construction, the new motor adds an impressive list of advancements usually found in only the highest priced cars. These distinguishing features include in part: a finely machined 7-bearing crankshaft lightened by hollowed crank pins; rifle bored connecting rods for force feed oiling to the piston pins; the latest and finest type aluminum alloy Invar strut pistons; perfected carburetion with fuel pump feed; newly refined fan and water pump, equipped with a sealing ring instead of the conventional pump packing, and with thermostatic control of water circulation.

Additional features and equipment include an effective torsional vibration damper, oil filter and air cleaner; new easy operating clutch and silent transmission with ball bearing clutch release and cushioned clutch driven plate; unusually massive double-drop frame; hydraulic shock absorbers, co-ordinated with individually tailored springs; cable operated fully enclosed 4-wheel brakes; finest type cam and lever steering system; four point, rubber cushioned motor suspension; co-incident ignition-steering lock and dash board starting control. New, low-slung beauty, added roominess, and finer luxury in the extra large Nash-eman bodies, give the last touch of value to the big, efficient Nash series.

Superior engineering in the Eight-90 series presents new and finer Nash cars which embody every attribute that discriminating motorists have longed for in an automobile. They are the finished products of years of progressive thought and engineering development in the twin-ignition, eight-cylinder field. Individually, they are considered examples of performance perfection unequalled in Nash manufacturing history.

Several major advancements lead the many refinement details which bring performance leadership to the Eight-90 motor. Nash engineering has increased the motor's power fifteen per cent, without increasing its fuel consumption. The horse-power thus developed is 115 as compared to 100 in the former Twin-Ignition Eight. Perfected, twin type carburetors developed is 115 as compared to 100 in the former Twin-Ignition Eight. Perfected, twin type carburetors developed is 115 as compared to 100 in the former Twin-Ignition Eight.

One of the most important Eight-90 series advancements is the new "safety transmission," which provides quick, positive control of the car, a shortened, easy shift, silence in second gear, and the ability to shift easily and without clashing of gears at any and all speeds. Safety in all speed ranges, in traffic where quick get-away is imperative and in negotiating mountainous roads and steep down-grades, has been accomplished by the helical gear design and the constant meshing of second gears. This development, in addition to an effective arrangement of jaw clutches, permits a short, unhampered shift from second to high speeds and vice versa. Softly cushioned clutch action completes the efficiency of transmission and clutch units and brings absolute driving confidence.

On wheelbases of 133 and 124 inches and equipped with bodies of new charm, luxury and distinction, these models are powered by the famous Nash twin-ignition, high compression, straight eight power plant, whose construction is featured by the nine-bearing, counter-balanced crankshaft with hollow crankpins, dove-tailed bearing caps and torsional vibration damper; drop forged aluminum alloy connecting rods and aluminum alloy pistons; six bearing camshaft with frictionless chain drive; full force feed motor lubrication and fully machined combustion chambers. New, Bijur automatic chassis lubrication which reaches 22 vital points as the engine runs, steel encased, life-time lubricated springs, "double action, hydraulic shock absorbers, and the many additional mechanical features of the former Twin-Ignition Eight all aid in unequalled performance. Complete insulation of the body from the frame, felt sealed floor boards and insulation of the dash panel on both sides adds materially to driving comfort. Refinement of the entire cooling system with its large capacity radiator, thermostatically controlled radiator shutters, self oiling fan and new, nitrated pump shaft, which gives this important unit a degree of hardness second only to the diamond and thus impervious to wear, brings the system to its highest efficiency.

In the new Eight-70 Series, Nash has brought to motorists one of the lowest priced, quality straight eights that has ever entered the market. In power, pick-up, adaptability and general performance, the new product is comparable to the highest priced motor cars. Built on a generous 116" wheelbase, the new models are big cars in every respect. Grace and lasting beauty characterize their aristocratic new bodies.

Rich appointments, including the finest quality mohair upholstery, sets on each side of the rear seat, smartly patterned interiorware, silver finished, modern instrument panel, and satisfying performance qualities mark them as sensational examples of the "New Nash deal for the new dollar."

Powered with the high compression, high turbulence motor of Nash L-head design, developing more than 75-horsepower, the new Eight-70 Series offers performance far in advance of its field. Its aluminum alloy pistons, improved to the last degree; rifle bored connecting rods, nine-bearing crankshaft with effective vibration damper; ultra-modern down-draft carburetor which insures instant starting, swift acceleration and perfect motor operation, combined with its host of regular Nash engineering features, such as Bijur, automatic chassis lubrication, hydraulic shock absorbers, and world's easiest steering system, creates a new and higher standard for the price field the series occupies.

Watch-like precision marks every mechanical detail of the handsome new Eight-80 group. Critical examination of this newest twin-ignition, straight eight motor and its component units results in the conviction that these cars are capable of fulfilling the most exacting requirements of the experienced motorist. Such examination also stirs amazement that the wealth of mechanical features it contains could be offered for its modest price. Briefly, these features include: wheelbase, 121 inches; twin-ignition, valve-in-head, straight eight motor, developing 85 horsepower; perfected, down-draft carburetor with fuel pump feed; aluminum alloy Invar strut pistons, connecting rods drilled for oiling to piston pins; inherently counterbalanced 9-bearing crankshaft with hollowed crankpins and vibration damper; self-oiling fan; six bearing camshaft with silent roller chain drive; new, easy-shift transmission and easy operating clutch; full force feed motor lubrication; new Bijur automatic chassis lubricating system; new, easy steering system with stabilator to ward road shocks from the wheel; double-action hydraulic shock absorbers and metal covered, permanently lubricated springs; cable actuated, self energizing 4-wheel brakes; automatic built-in radiator shutters and effective new insulation of dash board and floor boards.

Following is the factory price list of the new Nash fine car ensemble, which experts declare is the greatest value ever offered in the automobile industry:

AUTOMOBILISTS CAN'T BURN UP MODERN ROADS

By E. E. DUFFY

"Burning up the roads," is a phrase that was coined back in the days when horse hairs rather than gasoline fumes were in the air. The modern traveler, equipped with a powerful motor, would of course make the gallant of other days appear as though he were standing still.

The phrase, "burning up the roads," was concocted as a flippancy, which it still is. Strangely, however, a continuous flow of rapidly moving vehicles over a stretch of pavement creates considerable heat, which is noticeable after a rainfall when whirling tires soon dry out the pavement surface.

As for concrete, the accepted pavement is:

88 Series
880—Sedan (4-Door)	$1295
882—Coupe	1245
882R—Coupe (Rumble Seat)	1285
887—Town Sedan (4-Door)	1375
890 Series
890—Sedan (4-Door)	$1565
891—Cabriolet	1695
892—Coupe	1695
892R—Coupe (Rumble Seat)	1745
894—Sedan (7-Passenger)	1925
895—Limousine (7-Passenger)	2025
897—Ambassador	1825
899—Victoria	1765

ing material, heat created by moving tires or by the sun has no effect on its surface. Recently in Chicago a special fire test of concrete masonry walls, made of much the same material as concrete roads, was held to show city building officials and builders the fire resistance of concrete. A flame of 1,900 degrees Fahrenheit was placed directly against the concrete wall for three hours with very little structural damage to the wall. Nineteen hundred degrees Fahrenheit is almost the temperature of a volcano: what likelihood, then, of motorists or the sun softening the surface of a concrete pavement?

It has been pointed out that "a bad road has three dimensions, the length, breadth and depth; a good road has only two, length and breadth." With 28,000,000 automobiles soon to be on the nation's highways it is more important than ever that the matter of depth be eliminated. Depth in this instance, of course, refers to a hard smooth surface only obtainable through the application of concrete.

The matter of length is of such importance that comment is not necessary. But in the factor of breadth there is much to consider. In and near thickly populated areas it appears that pavements cannot be supplied in too great quantities in width up to 80 feet. Progressive states have determined that yesterday's rural road width of 16 and 18 feet is not as desirable as the 20-foot width.

And now we have another width entering the picture. This is the narrow concrete highway of nine and ten-foot widths which very well serves the rural community where there is considerable hauling to be done, but little through traffic.

But throughout the road story, runs the thread of economy and smooth riding which is only obtained in the pavement surface which presents a smooth surface despite great volumes of traffic and persistent attacks from weather.

3 new EIGHTS and a new SIX

NEVER was such motor car quality offered at prices so sensationally low. The literally startling difference becomes at once apparent when you contrast the prices of the new and finer Nash series, with prices of corresponding models a year ago.

Its low non-productive overhead, its elimination of borrowed capital, and remarkably foresighted manufacturing alone enable Nash to offer so much for so little. The unique example in value-giving thus provided the industry was planned last November. At that time, C. W. Nash and the strong group of executives surrounding him, clearly foresaw present conditions. They at once began to design cars affording value so great, so unmistakable, as to overcome all buying reluctance.

The result is instantly apparent. Even casual inspection of the four new Nash cars establishes the fact that nothing even remotely approaching them in downright dollar value has ever been available in their respective price fields.

SENSATIONALLY PRICED!

STUDY THESE SENSATIONAL PRICES!
Compare what is probably the most remarkable achievement of Nash in greater value-giving—the New Six—with the Single Six it succeeds. The new Six offers a multitude of superiorities—at prices which range from $160 to $140 below the prices of the Single Six.
Body Style	The New Six W. B. 1141.7*	Last Year's Six W. B. 1141.7	Price Difference

Coupe (rumble seat)	$825	$980-	-$155-
Sedan (2-door)	$795	$935-	-$140-
Compare the New Eight-70 with its two additional cylinders, its longer wheelbase, its larger, more luxurious body, with the six-cylinder car it replaces. Then consider the remarkable fact that there is actually a basic price differential in favor of the New Eight!

Editor's Note: This is the fifteenth in a series of articles by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, presented by the News as its part in the campaign of education to familiarize motorists with the laws which regulate their conduct on the road.

XV.—Illiterate Drivers.

A survey made by the American Automobile Association shows that the great majority of the states have made no provision to protect the public against the danger arising from the presence of thousands of complete illiterates on the road. There are now thirty-five states with a registration of more than 16,000,000 where drivers are not subject to any examination as to their understanding of danger and direction signs. States that do not require the applicant for a permit to distinguish between "Stop" and "Go" have the highest percentage of illiteracy.

"While it cannot be claimed that illiteracy is a major cause of fatalities and accidents," the A. A. A. survey says, "there can be little question that it is a factor. Convincing proof of this is found in the fact that States that have a real driver's law, with ability to understand sign compulsory, have over the last few years kept their accident toll twenty to twenty-five per cent below states in the other category.

Thirteen states require the applicant for a driver's license to understand warning and direction signals. These states had as of January 1, 1930, a registration of 9,962,777 motor vehicles. The average illiteracy on the basis of the entire population was 3.78 per cent. The thirty-five states in the other class had a registration of 16,558,673, while the average percentage of illiteracy was 5.28 per cent.

Of what concern is all this to New Jersey? Just this: New Jersey, as the A. A. A. statement points out, is one of the thirteen states which deal rigidly with illiterates, and under the wise laws and regulations promulgated by the Legislature and by Commissioner Dill and his predecessors, it is impossible for a complete illiterate to obtain a license to drive an automobile in New Jersey.

Every applicant must be able to sign his name, for the law requires that "each license to drive an automobile shall have endorsed thereon in the proper handwriting of the said licensee, the name of said licensee." In other words, if an applicant can't write his name, he cannot obtain a license.

In the second place, the law prescribes that applicants for drivers licenses must demonstrate not only their knowledge of the operation of an automobile, but in addition must be tested to determine their familiarity with the "laws and ordinary usages of the road."

If an applicant can do nothing more than write his name, he is given an oral test on his knowledge of the motor vehicle and traffic laws. To protect the public this oral test is far more stringent than the written test given literate applicants.

The applicant must be able to read, pronounce and demonstrate satisfactorily his understanding of "Stop," "Curve," "Turn," "Slow," "Road Closed," "Pavement Ends," "Detour," "One Way," "School Zone," "No Dumping," "Speed Limit 20 Miles," and other directional signs provided for in the traffic law.

So severe is the test, as a matter of fact, that only occasionally is an illiterate capable of passing it successfully, although scores of illiterates apply for licenses at every examination center.

Teletype Alarm System Is Put Into Effect

New Jersey's new weapon to combat the criminal within its borders went into service last week when the statewide police teletype alarm system was placed in operation by Governor Larson.

The first message, delivered by the Governor at a short ceremony in Newark zone headquarters of the State Police, was typed onto the teletype network as he spoke and simultaneously printed in thirty-two state police stations in New Jersey, and at police headquarters in New York and Philadelphia.

"Others to make short addresses at the ceremony, which was broadcast by WOR, included State Senators Arthur N. Pierson and Joseph G. Wolber; Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf, superintendent of the State Police; G. W. McRae, vice president and general manager of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company; Police Chief Philip T. Bell of Kearny, president of the state association of chiefs of police, and Rev. Gill Robb Wilson of Trenton, state police chaplain.

Messages were received over the intercommunicating teletype system from Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania, Mayor Walker of New York, Major Lynn Adams of the Pennsylvania State Police and Police Commissioner Mulrooney of New York.

Termining the system for transmitting alarms "a triumph in mechanical achievement," Governor Larson declared: "Organized crime has attained such proficiency in preying upon our public that it becomes imperative that all police agencies in the State cooperate and coordinate in combatting this vicious menace to society, and it is indeed an evidence of progress and accomplishment to place in operation such a coordinating agency as this system, affording every opportunity for cooperation, as it does."

Turning the network over to the State for use, Mr. McRae asserted, "In the task of preserving peace, as in the task of creating a system of transportation or an adequate service of communication, experience in the telephone business tells us that coordination of effort is essential to avoid disorder and congestion. For this reason we in the telephone industry are very happy that the developments in our art now enable us to furnish this teletype police alarm system to coordinate the efforts of the guardians of peace in coping with their increasingly complex problem.

Senator Wolber, sponsor of the legislation creating the teletype system, brought assurance that Essex County will be the first county to connect all its police departments with the alarm system, and expressed the hope that the other counties would "hasten to give us the opportunity to cooperate with them, and will cooperate with us through this wonderful modern device."

Senator Pierson, author of the bill creating the inter-county and interstate Regional Plan Committees, termed the occasion a happy one for these bodies, "inaugurating the material realization of one of the important steps in our program, a step which goes far in strengthening the security of both our resources and our people."

Chief Bell stated that the alarm system was strongly endorsed by the New Jersey Police Chiefs' Association, and marked "a long and progressive step against the criminal elements" in the State.

Colonel Schwartzkopf, entrusting the system to the personnel of his organization, told them: "You have a fine opportunity to render a worthy and far-reaching service to all police departments in the State, and through them to all the law-abiding citizens of our Commonwealth. You have the privilege of service granted you in the most effective way. You have before you an era of effort which you may apply to the limitless benefit of New Jersey and to the pride of her citizens."

Widespread Interest In New Nash Cars

On Strength Of Information Advance Orders Placed In Volume

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 8.—(Special) Widespread interest in the four distinctive new series of motor cars soon to be announced swept headquarters of The Nash Motors Company this week. On the strength of information concerning these new cars, advance orders have been received in such volume as to necessitate making solid train load shipments and solid boat shipments of the new cars, which will be used for display and delivery to consumers on the announcement date, Thursday, October 9.

"It has been some time since shipments of automobiles have been made in such quantities by manufacturers in the industry," C. H. Bliss, sales manager said recently, "and it is not only gratifying to receive such a display of public confidence as expressed by the orders placed for our new cars far in advance of the public's having seen the new models, but it is also an indication of improved business conditions throughout the industry, as these large shipments are going to all parts of the United States."

Regular advance shipments have kept Nash factories in Kenosha, Racine, and Milwaukee busy the past few weeks and insure extensive displays of the new models as an interesting feature of the announcement period. Hundreds of thousands of motorists have been invited to attend the announcement showings in all parts of the country and study the new cars which are considered the most important contribution the Nash Company has ever made toward the increased luxury and increased economy of motoring.

The enthusiasm and public confidence in the forthcoming Nash models, expressed in these huge advance shipments, forecasts one of the most successful public announcements in the history of the company particularly as it has been stated the Nash Company has been one of the largest manufacturers to make plans which will greatly assist in stimulating general business activity.

CLIPPINGS REVEAL EARLY SUCCESSES AND PERFORMANCE OF HUPMOBILE

Detroit, Mich., October 8, 1930.—Resurrected from a dust-covered file recently were some interesting newspaper clippings concerning the early days of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation and the triumphs and outstanding performance of the company's early models.

Harking back to the heyday of long skirts, high collars, and linen dusters, these news items produce a kaleidoscopic review of Hupp's early history and the pioneering genius behind its first successes. Incidentally, the review of news items discloses many newspapers that have long since passed on to their reward.

Since the Hupp Motor Car Corporation was originally organized in 1908 and its first cars produced a few months later, many of the clippings appeared in the year 1909. It is evident that Hupmobile attracted attention shortly after its first cars were produced and this publicity quickly spread to Europe. This fact is indicated by a clipping in December of 1909 in the Christian Science Monitor which noted that Sigismund Eckerl, Viennese automobile expert, came to Detroit and obtained one of the first roadsters. This car he took on a 750 mile test trip in which were included some unusual feats in the Adirondack Mountains. He reported that he had performed "extremely well and that it surpassed his expectations which were based on European car performance."

In the same month, the Cleveland Leader told of the amazing trip of C. J. Salling of Los Angeles, who with two passengers and a full load of supplies including maps, gasoline, oil and shovels, drove the 481 miles from Los Angeles across the Great American Desert to Phoenix, Arizona, in 27 hours and 40 minutes. This news dispatch related that the sturdy little Hupmobile was not once stalled in this terrific pull across the desert waste.

In the Detroit Times of 1909, an enterprising writer ascribed to Hupmobile "the creation or establishment of a new type of motor vehicle which will undoubtedly change the trend of this new industry." That was at the time that Hupmobile productions were confined to the small cylinder roadsters and phaetons. Since then Hupmobile's activities have expanded to include six-cylinder and straight eight models in dozens of different body types.

Every small boy has heard of Tyrus Raymond Cobb whose scintillating fielding for the Detroit baseball team made him a national hero. Both the younger and older generation would probably be surprised to learn that the Georgia Peach was at one time a Hupmobile dealer. In the Atlanta Georgian and News on January 1, 1909, an article reported that Ty had taken on the Hupmobile agency during the winter season when he was not playing baseball. In the same issue, this paper related that Hupmobile had created a stir by introducing a sixty inch tread in the southland to accommodate motorists on the roadways of that section.

Some idea of Hupmobile's pioneering influence even in those undeveloped days may be gained by the New York American of January 1, 1909 which reported that "Hupmobile is the first four cylinder car to be built for less than $1,000 with a sliding gear transmission." Some indication of the strides that this industry as a whole has made may be gained from a piece in the Denver Post of 1909 which tells of a big order given by a Colorado distributor in which he asked the factory to supply him at once with three Hupp roadsters. It was later in 1909, on October 30, that the Albany Herald reported the winning of the famous class C Albany to Atlanta reliability run. Any car that could stand up under this gruelling cross country run in those days was sure to make a hit.

Hupmobile was evidently quite ambitious in a production way as early as 1909. Early in the following year Motor Era published the astonishing statement that Hupp Motor Car Corporation had built 150 cars during the preceding year, and that in 1910 they planned to build the unprecedented total of 7,500 cars. This trade paper gave space to the first experimental car which was driven under "unusually severe conditions" during the month of November in 1908. In telling of the company's beginning, it related that tents and awnings had to be erected to provide shelter for employees.

Then, as now, Hupmobile established many performance feats. In the Denver News Times of March 13, 1910 appeared the following:

"In the first year of its production, Hupmobile has won many events of importance. Its first triumph was in winning the famous Porter Hill climb in Cleveland. In Dayton, Hupmobile conquered the annual Fort Ancient hill climb, and it established an enviable record in Detroit reliability run. Hupmobile easily outdistanced many larger and more powerful cars in the 200 mile Mud Plug in San Francisco. In a special test in Buffalo, one of the small runabouts averaged 36.8 miles to the gallon of gasoline. From Kalamazoo to Chicago, a distance of 171 miles over all kinds of roads, another small Hupmobile averaged 28 1/2 miles per gallon. In the Lone Star states Hupmobile won one 5 mile and two ten mile races at Corsicana and Waco over much larger and more powerful entries. On August 28, it won the six hour speed test at the Brighton Beach speedway, and to further clinch its first year's record, it was first in the Mt. Greylock hill climb in Massachusetts."

The Horseless Age for January 12, 1919—a magazine now extinct—relates experiences of four intrepid men in driving three of the 1910 model roadsters to New York for the opening of the New York Automobile Show. It tells how John E. Baker, secretary; J. R. Drake, treasurer; and Fred P. Harvey, purchasing agent of the company and R. W. Keeler, managing sales agent, left Detroit on December 27, 1909 and arrived in New York on January 6, 1910 after a 748 mile trip through deep snow and terrific cold. This publication relates that some indication of the "daring feat may be gained from the fact that in one spot it took 1 1/2 hours to make 3 1/2 miles over a badly drifted road.

Motor Field in its November issue of 1910 says that Hupmobile is building thirty of the Model "B" cars per day which sell at $750 each and "will average fifty miles per hour."

In 1910, Hupmobile continued to be active and scored several unusual records. The Los Angeles Herald tells of a measured mile driven in 58 seconds flat on the new Motordrome at Playa del Rey. In the Pittsburg Press of April 17, a story relates that Hupmobile was the first car to climb Stone Mountain near Atlanta, Georgia. The St. Louis Republican relates that a Terra Haute travelling salesman averaged 1,000 miles a month with his Hupmobile roadster with no repair expense for the first year.

A humorous angle is revealed in a clipping from the Detroit News early in 1910 in which Frank H. Croul, police commissioner, announced there would be "no more all night parties on Belle Isle" (the motor city's largest public park). The clipping revealed that the police commissioner had assigned Lieut. Owen C. Lindsey to patrol the island with a new Hupmobile roadster, the first car to be used by the Detroit Police Department.

In its second year, Hupmobile again attracted the attention of European manufacturers. A clipping from the July 5 issue of the Detroit Free Press tells that Boris Nifitow, the personal representative of Nicholas Kozmetzoff, director of railroad service for the Russian Empire, had bought a new Hupmobile which was to be shipped immediately to St. Petersburg, for government services in the Russian capital.

Some of the other early items mentioned that Charles K. Hamilton, noted aviator appearing at the Atlanta speedway bought a Hupmobile for his first car and drove it without any instructions whatever—a feat not so easily done in these days of congested traffic. Clippings from several New York papers told of the return from a world wide trip of 70,000 miles in 16 months participated in by Thomas Hanlon, Joseph Drake and Thomas Jones of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation in New York in time for the 1911 Automobile Show. Other clippings revealed: "That a Hupmobile averaged 18 miles to the gallon in an economy test in Arizona where gasoline retailed at 50 cents a gallon; that two intrepid Portland, Oregon, motorists made a 4,200 mile trip through California and Mexico with their Hupmobile sealed in high gear; that the last of the plank roads in California were being removed; that Mary Anderson, movie player purchased a new Hupmobile painted green on her birthday which fell on St. Patrick's day; that Hupmobile was represented in Baltimore by Miss Marguerite Jones, the only automobile saleslady in Baltimore; that Lillian Gish, the movie actress, purchased a Hupmobile Town Car on her eighteenth birthday in 1916; that in the same year a Hupmobile 40 horsepower ambulance was donated for war work by Italian citizens of Bridgeport, Connecticut; that Antonio Moreno and Anita Stewart, featured players of the now defunct Vitagraph were Hupmobile drivers as was Edith Johnson, another movie star and "Mary Sunshine" filmland's baby star, while Vivian Martin, also a film player, was a Hupmobile owner."

Even the realm of billiards was susceptible to Hupmobile's charm. For Willie Hoppe presented his wife with a New Victoria, while a long story in the San Antonio Light told of the visit to that city and other western points of Cornelius Vanderbilt, noted financier, in his Hupmobile touring car.

But what he was really hunting was parking space and a reliable garage. And if he'd been able to hold out a little longer and travel a little farther, he'd have found both, right here.

Belleville Clintons Dispose Of Anokas Football Squad, 26-0

Hard-hitting Back Field Is Too Much For Newarkers

The Belleville Clintons successfully opened their grid season, Sunday afternoon, at Belleville Park with an easy 26-0 triumph over the Anokas A. C. footballers of Newark.

The hard-hitting local back-field of Ashworth, Howley, Mallaek, and Gorham, which started the game, accounted for two touchdowns early in the first quarter and from then on the size of the score was the question. Clark, Hearn and Welsh were later rushed into the back-field and immediately started a second drive in the third quarter which resulted in their final pair of touchdowns. A long forward pass, Gorham to Clark gave the Clintons their fourth touchdown late in the third quarter.

Immediately following the opening kick-off the locals started a sustained march down the field, with all four of the back-field alternating at plunging through the Anokas' line. Ashworth finally sped through the center of the line for the score. A fake kick, with Gorham carrying the ball around end, scored the extra point for the winners, giving them a 7-0 margin.

"Bunko" Gorham started a second Clinton drive immediately after the ensuing kick-off. A series of end runs with Gorham dominating the play brought the pig-skin to the five yard mark where Gorham took it across for the second touch-down. His try for the extra point was stopped.

The Clintons kicked off to their Newark rivals at the start of the second half, but the Anokas could not pierce the husky local line and were forced to punt. Belleville receiving the ball on their own thirty-five yard stripe.

Marty Mallaek made a beautiful end run on the first play carrying the oval thirty-five yards to the visitors' thirty yard ribbon before he was stopped. Thus started the Clintons were not so easily stopped, and Monaghan, Gorham and Hearn ripped off five yards each in rapid succession for first down on the fifteen yard marker. Hearn on the next play took the ball through center for another five and Clark carried it the remaining distance for the touch-down. Mallaek made good his kick for the extra point.

In addition to the brilliant offense of the entire back-field, the fine tackling and defensive work of Cangelosi, Monaghan, Otto and Irving stood out for the Clintons. Ciallela did most of the ball totaing for the visitors.

G. O. P. Bowlers In American Legion Loop

Up Until Tuesday Only Eleven Teams Had Been Entered

The Republican Club's request for admission into the local Legion Bowling League was officially endorsed, Tuesday night, at a league meeting at Ferrara's North Newark bowling Academy.

Up to that time eleven of last year's entrants had all signified their intentions of coming back to the fold this year. The Capitols were the only ones not to re-enter, leaving an opening for a twelfth team.

Three other quintets, besides the O. P., applied for the opening, but the Republicans got the nomination by the American Legion Athletic Council.

All other matters necessary to the official opening of the circuit, Monday evening, at Ferrara's were attended to at the session, by representatives of the various teams entered. President "Joe" Williams chairman of the meeting.

Charles Waldie Is Vice President Of Bergen County Loop

Same Ten Teams As Last Year Will Bowl This Season

The Belleville Elks were represented at a meeting of the Bergen County Elks' league, Thursday night, to decide the 1930 schedule and other matters pertinent to the league betterment.

Charlie Waldie, one of the local vice president of this strong Hello Lodge's leading pin men, was elected Bill loop. Mr. Waldie has always been active in the league affairs and fully deserves the singular honor to which he was elected.

It was decided at the confab to sponsor the entrance of the same ten teams as participated last year. The league's opening date was fixed at October 28, when all ten squads will inaugurate their campaigns.

The arranging of a suitable schedule was the final item brought up for discussion. It will be ready for publication in another week or so.

Trojans Hold Lead In Junior League By 24-6 Victory

Intertowns Put Up Game Battle But Taste Defeat

The Trojans retained their hold in first place in the Belleville Junior Football League, Sunday afternoon, by trouncing the Intertowns, 24-6, at the league grounds. In the second game of the day the Lincoln Cubs and the Middletowns battled to a scoreless tie.

The league-leading Trojan eleven was given a hard tussle in the first game, before their high-scoring offense had found itself and piled up the twenty-four points that finally won.

A strong Intertown line, led by Riccardi and Liguori, at times completely smothered Trojan attempts at ground gaining.

Once started, however, the league leaders were unstoppable and with Hodgkinson and Santamasemo, their pair of star backs, in brilliant form, they soon amassed their twenty-four points. After that they were confident to protect their safe margin.

Len Hodgkinson, flashy young half back of the winners, was the big star of the tilt. He tallied touch-downs twice, as did his running mate, Santamasemo, the signal-caller.

On the opening kick-off, the Intertowns fumbled and Murren recovered for the Trojans. Hodgkinson then went over on a straight line plunge on the first play, from the eight yard line.

Again in the final quarter the brilliant Hodgkinson tallied, this time on a weaving, whirling ninety-five yard run through the entire Intertown team. The Intertowns lost the ball on downs on the Trojans' five yard stripe. One the first play, Hodgkinson twisted his way around left end, past the secondary defense and sprinted the remaining distance for the score.

Murren and Bade were especially effective on the line for the league leaders. Riccardi, Liguori and Zampano did some fine work for the losers. Liguori scored the offy Intertown touchdown by recovering a blocked kick at the Trojan goal line.

In the second game an improved Middletown team battled the Cubs to a scoreless tie. Luzzi was the whole show for the Maes, while Lordi and Rabbit were mainly responsible for the Cubs' fine work.

The league standing at present follows:

Cubs	0	0	2
Intertowns	0	1	1
Middletowns	0	1	1

Sunday's Games:

Belleville Elks Reach Mid-Way Mark In Club Tourney

"Tom" Mac Nair Leads His Mates With Ten Wins In 15 Starts

The Belleville Elks reached the mid-way mark in their club championships, Tuesday night, at the local alleys with "Tom" MacNair showing the way to the even dozen contestants entered.

MacNair, who won the signal honor last year, led the pack with a fine record of ten victories in fifteen games rolled up to Tuesday night. The championships still have over a week to go.

Waldie and Seibert, each with eight victories in twelve starts jointly hold second place. Kastner, Faust, B. Brogan, L. Brogan, Buttons, Mayer, Dunn, Whitten and Bechtoldt follow in that order.

Of the new-comers to "Hello Bill" ranks, "Butch" Kastner, a portly of no mean ability, is showing some fine form. He is at present tied for third place in the rankings and has caused trouble for all of the leaders to date.

"Dutch" Faust's 246 in the second game, Monday night, was the outstanding individual mark of the affair so far. In this remarkable exhibition of rolling he accounted for six consecutive strikes. However, "Tom" MacNair's 241 on Thursday and his 235 on Tuesday pressed him close for top honors. Bob Whitten duplicated this latter performance with a brilliant 235 count, Friday, against Bill Buttons.

The best individual average for the three games was compiled by Mac Nair with his successive tallies of 209, 241 and 210 on Thursday. Billy Bechtoldt was the victim of this pin murdering.

This Whirl Of Sport

Saturday's Game

Though the Belleville High footballers took it on the chin again last Saturday, a team never looked so good in defeat.

To say they took it on the chin is putting the truth squarely before you. This fighting gang of pig-skin-chasers never gave in and it remained for the referee, himself, to practically hand Bloomfield a touchdown, by penalizing Belleville fifteen yards, sixteen yards from their goal line. Of course that's taking nothing from the fine officiating of this particular gentleman, but it is simply introducing the fact that Belleville High's strikers have a real never-say-die spirit.

All during the first three quarters boys were fishing with their backs to the wall. At least five times the home boys were within Belleville's ten yard line and the locals held for downs each and every time. And the mighty Schummel, Bloomfield's all-star man, was treated the roughest of them all.

The "break" came mid-way in the final quarter. Again Bloomfield was deep in Belleville's territory and again that superb local forward wall was stopping them in their tracks. However, what the rival backs could not do a penalty could. Over-zealousness, probably, hard playing, also, cost them fifteen of their hard-earned territory. This gave Bloomfield the ball on Belleville's one-yard line and assured them of a touch-down and the game. Even at that it took them two downs to make one yard.

Bloomfield deserved to win that game and yet they didn't. They were constantly in Belleville's territory, proving themselves easily the superior offensive team. They seemed to possess more power. But what the Bell-boys lacked in football fitness, they made up for in sheer "guts." If we may be permitted to use the expression, a zamer team, with a finer line, never trod a high school grid-iron.

On The Bowling Front

The ancient and honorable sport of bowling is beckoning its legion of devotees, already, all over the country. Belleville, with its usual up-to-the-minute following out of extensive sports programs, is far ahead of other near-by communities in bowling.

The Manufacturers' League, a bowling circuit of several years' standing, opened its season last Friday and will enter its second week tonight. Last year this loop had but eight teams, but the interest in it has become so great that this season they saw fit to enter local sportdom on a twelve team basis.

The Belleville American Legion League, with the energetic "Joe" Williams at the helm, will swing into action for the 1930 season, Monday night, at Ferrara's North Newark Bowling Academy. This is also a twelve team circuit, now in its second year.

The Belleville Church League, another hold-over circuit of last year, is at present drafting its schedule and will get going in another couple of weeks, with all eight teams composing it rolling.

In those three leagues alone, there comprises a total of thirty-two teams with at least five bowlers on each squad. This makes a total of 160 bowlers, who will see action on the alleys this winter, with 200 pin-knights pretty certain of toting the foul line.

In addition, the local Elks are in the midst of some "hot" bowling competition in their 1930 edition of their club championships. At Tuesday's writing "Tom" Mac Nair, ace anchor man of the regular Elks' quintet, was in the van in the standings with a record of ten wins and five losses. Charley Waldie, however, was pressing him closely for top honors with eight victories in twelve games rolled, tying with Seibert for second place.

As a further step in their bowling activities the Elks will enter a team in the strong Morris and Essex loop on October 23 and in the Bergen County Elks' League on the 25th. Both of these leagues are widely known all over the state and comprise the cream of the pinners in the northern part of New Jersey.

Last year the locals finished well up in the standings in both circuits.

For the past few years the bowlers representing the local club were composed mostly of the same men. This year, however, three new members of the club, Gene Gelsman, "Butch" Kastner, and "Tommie" Dunn, threaten to oust several of the regulars from their present positions on the five. At any rate, the local Elks are assured of having strong representation during the coming campaign.

That large line-up of local bowling enterprises is certainly bound to prove more than ample fare for the sports-hungry fans during the wintry months rapidly approaching.

Year in and year out Belleville's

Schwabker To Start Again

Every once in a while memories of that brilliant Schwabker to Short combination of last year's Blue and Gold grid team come to all of the followers of that team. They of course, were the main eyes in that memorable eight straight winning streak of a year ago.

Now the pair have shifted their activities to higher institutions of learning. The first Paul Schwabker, is now attending at half-back for Deen Academy, one of Massachusetts' leading "prep" schools.

Last week Schwabker was a big factor in defeating the Holy Cross Freshman eleven, 3-0, at Worcester in Deen Academy's last start of the campaign. A week from tomorrow the Deen strikers will oppose the N. Y. T. freshman at Ohio Field, New York City, and Schwabker is sure to start at one of the half-back posts. It is expected that a delegation of local fans will make the trip to see their favorite in action.

The other Paul Short, is at present regular full-back on the Lenich Freshman team. Reports here it that the switch from quarter to full-back has improved his work immensely and he is making good with a bang out there.

Pasalis Tomorrow

Despite a rather lengthy injured list following the Bloomfield game, Belleville High seems fit and ready to tackle the strong Pasalis eleven tomorrow at the Passaic Stadium.

With Brand, Galbraith and possibly Nick Bonavia out of the game because of ailments, prospects would seem gloomy, but such is not the case. Though the trio will certainly be missed plenty, capable substitutes in "Chuck" Plenge, Stan Goodrich and "Babe" Lamb have looked extremely well in practice so far.

Lamb, in particular, who went out for the team this week, looks like the goods at half-back. He can carry the ball with the best of them punt and pass well. He seems sure to start against Passaic and should prove a god-send in the way of a scoring threat. Plenge and Goodrich proved their worth with their scintillating play of last Saturday.

Business Men Get Thanks From Players

Manager Louis Jannarone of the Belleville High School football team, announces that the local athletes desire to extend their thanks to the twenty-three business men of the town, who so thoughtfully wired them telegrams of good will on the eve of the Bloomfield game.

The telegrams certainly went a long way towards making the boys appreciate the fine support the local townspeople are accorded them in their efforts to give Belleville a team of which to be proud.

Blue And Gold Football Defense Almost Impregnable

Two Scores In Last Three Minutes Gave Bloomfield 14-0 Victory Saturday

Blue and Gold defensive combination that simply refused to be freed held Bloomfield's vaunted offensive scoreless for three quarters of Saturday afternoon's game at Bloomfield, but a fourteen point home barrage in the final, cost the locals the title. A fifteen yard penalty imposed on the Bell-boys in the last quarter brought the ball to their own one yard line, and Bloomfield's first touchdown was a direct result.

A thirty yard sprint off tackle by Davis of Bloomfield led to the second touchdown a few minutes later. For the entire first three quarters Bloomfield was strictly on the defensive, but nevertheless playing gritty, and football that refused to give an inch to their rivals when touchdowns were in the offing.

Blue and Gold line was hitting cylinders and not only stopping Schummel & Co., but throwing the Bloomfield backs for loss after loss. Local attack, however, was limited just as its defense was so effective. Not one first down was recorded for them as they elected to score a safe game that required no scoring power, but plenty of grim determination. And they had it, make no bones about that.

Captain Lou Galluba, starting his first game in the back field, after being shifted over from tackle, backed up the line in splendid fashion all afternoon. He also accounted for most of the Belleville ball carrying of any moment. To pick out any individual as starting in the locals' brilliant line would be sheer foolishness, as their strength lay in their co-ordination as a unit. Hal Bada, Ralph Casale, Homer Estelle, Chuck Plenge and Harvey Brumbach made tackles that proved disastrous more than once to aspiring Bloomfield backs.

Galluba started things by kicking off to Bloomfield's thirty-seven yard stripe. Schummel, carrying the ball for the first time, made a first down on two line plunges, but was stopped dead on the third try. With the ball in mid-field, Bloomfield was penalized five yards twice in succession for off-side, and then when they couldn't pierce the Blue and Gold forward wall, elected to kick. Schummel took care of that assignment and with the wind in his favor, punted to Belleville's seven yard marker.

On the first play, Fritz Plenge, who did most of the locals' punting with a nicety that left little to be desired, kicked out of danger to his own thirty-yard stripe. The kick is given added impressiveness when the rather strong head-wind he was bucking is considered.

On a successful series of off tackle smashes and end runs on fake kick formations, Bloomfield managed to tote the pig-skin to Belleville's seven yard mark. But right here the locals' gritty defense came to the fore. They held for downs, throwing the mighty Schummel for no gains twice in succession.

After a line plunge had gained nothing the Bell-boys again resorted to punting and, kicked out of danger. Again Bloomfield marched down the field with the ball, and again she was stopped as a forward pass at the goal-line, Davis to Davidson had muffed up. After Belleville had kicked out of danger, a fifteen yard penalty moved the oval to Belleville's sixteen yard line as the first quarter ended.

The Bell-boys' supreme moment came at the start of the second quarter. A forward pass, Davis to Davidson had brought the oval to Belleville's six yard stripe on the first play of the second session. This maneuver left the ball in Bloomfield's possession six yards from Belleville's goal line with four downs to make it. But they never did. Davis managed to get two through center on the first play, but Schummel was stopped with no gain and Davis was thrown for a yard loss. On the fourth down an incomplete Bloomfield forward pass landed over the goal line, giving Belleville the ball one their own twenty yard mark. And what a hand the many Belleville rooters gave their gritty boys for that exhibition.

He was touchdown-bound, having gotten through almost the entire Belleville team. Santamasemo, the safety man, however, got him with a fine tackle. The half ended immediately after.

An exchange of punts occupied the first half of the third quarter, with Berlinsky of Bloomfield finally invading a "break" by running back a kick twenty-five yards to Belleville's twenty yard line. The locals' defense, however, was still impregnable, four downs netting the home-sters just five yards. Schummel was stopped on the fourth down on an off tackle smash.

Fritz Plenge's punting artistry was again called into play at this time and again it proved effective, bringing the pig-skin back to mid-field. A forward, Schummel to Davidson, netted the Bloomfieldites twenty-five yards to again put Belleville on the defensive. The ball was in Bloomfield's possession on the locals' eighteen yard marker just before the quarter ended with the count still a scoreless tie.

Making another of their now famous last minute stands, the Bell-boys again held for downs after the rest at period, with Roberti blocking an attempted Bloomfield forward pass on their last down. An exchange of kick-punts followed with Schummel kicking over the goal line to give Belleville the ball on their own twenty yard line.

On the first play, a line plunge, Galluba momentarily fumbled, but an alert Mr. White of Bloomfield pounced on the oval. This gave Bloomfield the ball on Belleville's twenty-seven yard stripe.

Again Belleville's line held and again Bloomfield resorted to an aerial attack. This time they were successful, a forward, Schummel to Davis netting fifteen yards. Then came the real "break." The referee on the next play penalized the locals fifteen yards for holding, giving Bloomfield the ball on their own one yard stripe and practically handing them a touch-down. Even at that the determined Blue and Gold stopped the first thrust at their line and a recovered fumble by Berlinsky of the winners finally gave them a touch-down. Schummel place-kicked the extra point, making the score 7-0.

After an exchange of punts, Bloomfield moved up the oval to Belleville's thirty-five yard line, and Davis of their team zig-zagged his way through almost the entire team to the locals' five yard stripe. He promptly waded through for the needed five yards and another touch-down. Again Schummel's place-kick was successful making the final 14-0, where it remained till the final whistle.

The game ended right after the ensuing kick-off.

Belleville never looked better defensively is the only way one can sum up such a heart-breaking defeat. The line-up:

Patterson Flattens Zivic In Fourth

Belleville's Little Machine Is Heralded As A Comer

Eddie Patterson, Belleville's little fighting machine, scored his sixth straight knockout victory Monday night. Patterson put to sleep Jack Zivic in the fourth round at the Fort Erie Club in Staten Island. Zivic almost dropped Patterson in the first round, but Patterson went to his corner smiling. In the second round Patterson threw about a million punches and all Zivic could do was to hold on.

In the third round Patterson dropped Zivic for the count of six and also in the fourth Zivic was dropped but got up. Patterson, quick as a flash, tore in to Zivic with hard lefts and rights that made Zivic take the long count. Patterson left the ring with 6,000 cheering him. Patterson is the son of the veteran Kid Russell, who also fought some good men in his days. Harry Smith and Bruce Flowers, two stars of today, were present. Smith thinks Patterson is a comer. Flower said Patterson looked like a little champion after the first round. Patterson's girl friend was also at the ring side. He is billed to fight next week in Richester.

The Belleville Manufacturers' bowling circuit inaugurated its 1930 season, Friday night, at Ferrara's North Newark Bowling Academy with an even dozen teams participating.

One of the new teams entered and one of the old stand-bys each swept a series with their rivals to go into a tie for first place in the league standings. Jeffery & Meyer and International Ticket took three from the Atlas Fence Co. and Hoyt Bros. respectively for the league lead.

Another new five in league ranks, the Martin Dennis quintet, accounted for the high team score of the night with a fine 908 in the second game of their match with Sweeney's. Holter, lead-off man for the Dennis boys rolled 188, 204 and 166 for the best work on that five and for one of the best averages of the night.

The championship Tiffany squad took two out of three from John Hood's Thomson team, with Willie Klemz and Teddy Skidmore showing the way for the "champs."

In other matches of the night Federal Leather took two out of three from Wallace & Tiernan. Martin Dennis administered the same dose to Sweeney, Hanlon & Goodman dropped two to Sonneborn's, despite Tommie Dunn's brilliant 225 in the second game, the high individual mark of the evening. Fritz of Federal Leather also looked good with a 205 in his last game.

Walker of Wallace & Tiernan and Watson of Jeffery & Meyer's contributed the remaining double century mark of the matches, the former knocking 'em over for 214 in the second game of the Federal Leather match and Watson ringing up 204 in the opener against the Atlas Fencers. In this latter match Hallett of the Fence boys showed some consistent bowling with marks of 160, 187 and 185.

Belleville Plays At Passaic Tomorrow

After Tough Breaks Lads Will Try Once More To Win

The Belleville High skidders will attempt once more to break into the win column, tomorrow afternoon, travelling to Passaic to play the high school eleven of that metropolis.

Passaic, in its only appearance this season to date, put the skids under Garfield High by an 18-6 count. While Garfield is of Class B rating, Passaic's showing was none the less impressive and a good game may be expected.

A new Blue and Gold face is pretty certain to break into the line-up tomorrow, in the person of "Mac" Lamb, erstwhile basketball and baseball star. Lamb just went out for the team this week and has shaped up so well, that Coach Erickson believes that he may be the long awaited spark to set the Bell-boys in their stride. He should at least go a long ways towards giving Belleville an offensive side, to compare with its brilliant defense.

"Butter" Brand still remains on the injured list, but his place will be ably taken care of by "Chuck" Plenge, who put up such a fine game, last Saturday, against Bloomfield. Captain Lou Galluba is another on the injured list, being out just at present with broken finger. It is doubtful whether he will be ready for tomorrow's game.

The probable line-up follows:

Belleville	Passaic
J. Bonavita	L. E. Youmans
G'rich or Galluba	L. T. Levine
Bade	L. G. Rasin
Plenge or Brand	C. Miller
Mc Master	R. G. King
Estelle	R. T. Coffey
Casale	R. E. Gallagher
Roberti	Q. B. Waslewski
F. Plenge	L. H. B. Souden
M. Lamb	R. H. B. Rychie
Galluba or Blase	F. B. Clayton

LIONS CLUB OF BELLEVILLE JOINS WITH OTHER CLUBS TO PROMOTE BUSINESS CONFIDENCE WEEK

Object Is To Instill Confidence And Put Money Into Circulation And Start Buying

The Lions Club of Belleville, together with the 2,257 other Lions Clubs of the United States and Canada, is putting on a Business Confidence Week from October 19 to 25 inclusive.

A call has gone forth to the president and secretary of every Lions Club, from the Board of Directors which recently met at Chicago, urging that a committee be appointed at once to enlist the cooperation of the press, the other civic organizations of the city, and all agencies in pointing out the advantages of that community and the many reasons everyone has for being confident, and carrying on business as usual.

International has suggested as the slogan of each Lions Club this sentence from one of Calvin Coolidge's recent articles:

"It is now a public duty to pay bills promptly and buy what you can afford."

In his letter to Lions Club officers, the secretary general of International points out, in these words, that our chief need is confidence:

"There seems to be too much of everything—too much corn, cotton, wheat, copper, and even money—for prices are low on all products, and you can borrow money on call at one per cent. Yet the sellers of each product seem to be the only ones that have more than sufficient. Savings deposits and bank balances have increased. The answer to all this, apparently, is that nearly everybody for a time, has stopped buying and put the money in the bank; or, what is worse, has taken it out of circulation entirely.

"A Business Confidence Week will instill confidence and help put money back into circulation, and start buying. The more buying, the more manufactured; the more manufactured, the more people employed; the more people employed, the more buying—the more buying, the more of the products consumed."

The recommendations of International are that the Lions Club of each community instantly take the lead in staging this event, counting with confidence on support from every other civic organization, and from the press which has never yet been found wanting when community welfare was at stake.

Each Lions Club is urged to arrange, for Business Confidence Week, a mass meeting for all the people, to be addressed by the best business leaders possible; to arrange, whenever possible, to have the proceedings broadcast by radio; and to inform everybody, through the press and by whatever secondary means is found desirable, that the business depression is almost entirely a state of mind, and that the way to end it permanently is to go forward with business.

A local movement of this character is already being staged by the Lions Club and other civic organizations of Muskegon, Mich. They call it a campaign to "Bust the Buyers' Strike." They have made it very definite by seeking to pledge 2,500 persons to spend not less than $100 each in the three days of the campaign, thus putting a quarter of a million dollars into instant circulation. Further, they plan to pledge each unmarried person with an income of $1,500 or more to spend at least $50 in the same period.

The Lions Club of each community in the United States and Canada, working in concert with the press and with other civic bodies, can present a dozen strong proofs that the community is really prosperous if it would only realize it, and buy to supply its needs without fear. Lions International feels that such a program, supported as it surely will be by all good influences, will have a powerful effect, and will aid mightily in bringing from "just around the corner" that prosperity which everyone agrees is there.—Lions International.

Mayor Kenworthy To Lead League In Tax Relief Battle

Now that he is president of the New Jersey State League of Municipalities, Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy intends to make tax relief for municipalities the chief work of that body during his administration. As the first step in the program, he has helped put the league on record as favoring the proposed $100,000,000 bond issue.

"Our organization," Mayor Kenworthy said, "is out to get the co-operation of the next Legislature in plans for eliminating the mandatory taxes that now are such a burden to municipalities, particularly the smaller ones."

Helped Draft Bond Plan.

"We hope to see the bond project voted upon affirmatively at the referendum at the polls next month. That will open the way for action by the 1931 Legislature to remove the mandatory laws to which we object, for the bonds will finance various undertakings now supported by special taxes."

It was while chairman of the special tax relief committee of the league that Mayor Kenworthy played an important part in the drafting of the bond plan and the adoption of it by the last Legislature, subject to the approval of the citizens at the polls.

Hitherto the presidency of the league has gone invariably to the large cities. It is conceded that Mayor Kenworthy's election is a result of his activities on behalf of tax relief. He succeeds John J. Morrison of New Brunswick.

SEARS ROEBUCK REMODELING PLAN OFFERED EXCLUSIVELY TO OLD HOME OWNERS IN THIS SETCION

A fund of $5,000,000 for the financing of a monthly partial payment home modernizing and remodeling campaign, to be conducted exclusively within a radius of 50 miles of New York City, will be made available to owners of old residences through Sears, Roebuck & Company, according to an announcement made today by Gus Meissner, New York general manager.

This new move on the part of the world's largest mail order house represents the first attempt within the construction industry to apply to the reconditioning of old residences the long-term financing which in the past has been made available only for new home building or such specific departments of remodeling as the major contracting jobs of modern heating, plumbing, re-roofing and repainting. If the new financing plan is successful in New York, the company is prepared to extend the policy to other large cities throughout the United States, Mr. Meissner stated.

For the administration of this fund special home modernizing architectural and job figuring branches of the company was opened Monday, October 6 in White Plains, New Rochelle, Mount Vernon, and Jamaica, N. Y., and in Newark, Hackensack and Paterson, N. J., in addition to the one in the New York headquarters office of the building materials division located at 111 Fifth avenue.

"The minimum repair job accepted under our new financing plan will be $100 including both materials and labor," Mr. Meissner stated, "with cashdown payments as low as ten per cent and partial payments over a period up to twenty-four months. The general practice among institutions financing remodeling jobs is said to require a minimum major repair expenditure of $500," he said.

Mr. Meissner pointed out that their new remodeling finance plan will extend not only to the structure of old homes, but to all minor repairs, equipment and accessories of a built-in nature from oil burners to ironing boards, new plaster walls, new wall paper, or new floors and coverings, as well as to exterior improvements such as sun rooms, porches, storm sash, new roofs, or side walls. Under the plan Sears, Roebuck & Company will act as general contractor, supply all architectural services, financing and materials. Local labor will be used exclusively.

In 1929 the company started in the New York area to supply both materials and labor, and occasional financing for only four major classifications of house repair work, namely: heating, plumbing, roofing and garages.

Its new home building and financing plan was made effective in New York and the East and Middle West in January this year, with a marked liberalization of long term credit over existing practices in the residential mortgage financing and construction fields. This embodied a 75 per cent mortgage, amortized in monthly payments like rent over a period of 15 years. Its Home Construction Division was established to build the homes thus financed.

One of the principal objectives in this setup was to eliminate, for the benefit of the home owner, the costly second mortgage or junior financing. Despite the continued and unprecedented lag in residential construction generally during the spring and summer of this year, it is reported that the operations of the company under this policy have so far surpassed, in number or homes built and in volume of building materials sold all previous records in the company's eighteen years of experience, which started with the mail order sale of ready-cut homes and building materials and equipment back in 1912.

Plans Completed For Donation Party To Ruth Lang Fund

Last Thursday plans were completed for the annual Donation Day party, October 16, of the Cookery Club for the Ruth Lang Fund. Mrs. George A. Fitzsimmons, who is chairman for Nutley, Arlington and Belleville, appointed Mrs. Fred Ruff, 31 Bell street, sub-chairman for this division.

Mrs. Ruff would greatly appreciate if the ladies living in the neighborhood of Mrs. C. B. Martin 205 DeWitt avenue, Mrs. Fitzsimmons, 86 Beech street and Mrs. Rudolph Luhrs of 56 Forest street, would deliver all donations to these addresses by 12 o'clock Thursday, October 16, so that she may call at these homes for the articles and in that way save time.

The following names have been added to the list of donors: Mrs. Edward Moniot, Mrs. Herbert Jacobus, Mrs. George F. Baurhenn, Mrs. F. J. King, Mrs. Joseph Graef, Mrs.

Charles Vintere and Mrs. Fell. Anyone desiring to help please get in touch with any of the women.

Miss Bertha Kilne, executive secretary for the Community Service Bureau, will address the Women's Club opening session Monday. Meeting of the executive board will be held today at 2:30 at the club house.

Miss Elizabeth Rossman of Niantic, Conn., is the guest of her sister Mrs. William W. Melius of 166 Holmes street.

Death Rate In Belleville Lower

Report Shows Mark Under 1928; Infant Mortality Low, Births Up

With 209 deaths in Belleville in 1929, a decrease of twenty-six over 1928, the death rate of 7.91 per 1,000 was lower than in 1928; the infant mortality rate of 36.4 per 1,000 living births was "one of the lowest, if not the lowest, in the county," and the 495 births were an increase of twenty-one over 1928, it is stated in the third annual department report of Health Officer Eugene T. Berry.

The death rate, computed on an estimated population of 26,400 compares with other years as follows: 1928, 8.54; 1927, 7.74; 1926, 8.84. Eighteen infants died, which was one less than in 1928.

Communicable diseases numbered 587, compared to 1,004 in 1928. There were only eight cases of measles compared to 574 in 1928, but there were 205 cases of mumps in the spring of the year contrasted to eleven in 1928. Other diseases showed slight variation and the fifty-three diphtheria cases were less by three.

Pointing out there were three deaths from diphtheria, compared to seven in 1928, the health officer said: "Deaths from this disease should not occur in these days, with our wide knowledge of preventive measures. No death of a child who had been immunized. To stamp out diphtheria there must be a general acceptance of immunization by parents of children from nine months onward to school age."

Schick tests were given 995 children, of which 104 showed positive reactions and 856, negative. Though there were no cases of smallpox or typhoid fever the health officer recommended provision of virus at public expense for use in clinics. Two more recommendations were periodical examination of food handlers and discontinuance of hawkers' licenses, the latter precaution due to complaints against "unavoidable insanitary conditions" attendant on the sale of refreshments from a vehicle.

Other Statistics
Town nurses made 3,748 visits to homes of mothers of infants under one year old. Mothers made 2,700 visits to baby keep-well stations. Other visits were: Pre-natal, 1,041; pre-school children, 2,675; school children, corrective, 1,320.

Sixty-two persons, mostly children were bitten by dogs. There were two cases of rabies among dogs which had bitten no one. The Humane Society removed 531 stray dogs, an increase of fifty-six more than in 1928 and 346 dead dogs and 121 dead cats.

Sixteen mosquito breeding places were abated with 15,000 cubic yards of dirt fill. There were 570 health violations and $79 inspections of dairies, stores, barber shops and eating places.

Woman Struck By Auto Of Hit-And-Run Driver

Police are searching for the hit-and-run driver whose car struck Miss Harriett Pearson of 61 Center street, as she was walking along Park avenue with a companion Sunday night. Ralph F. Geiger telephoned police headquarters and told Sergeant Wilford Stager that the body of a woman was found lying in Park avenue near Humbert street.

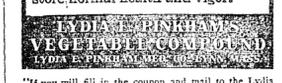

Officers Frank Shupel and Chester Simpson found that Miss Pearson, who had been walking along Park avenue, accompanied by Mrs. Robert J. Martin, of 640 Riverside avenue, Lyndhurst, had been struck by a car going east on Park avenue, which had not stopped.

Miss Pearson had been taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, by John Connolly of 35 Division avenue, Belleville, and Nick Grandinetti of 106 Park avenue, Nutley, who were passing. She was treated for a cut over the eye and will remain in the hospital two or three days.

Commissioners have made the work of the department enjoyable and more efficient," Mr. Berry observed, adding, "My thanks extends to physicians, hospitals, schools, social service bureau and individuals who have contributed to the year's work."

Department Of Health Helps Belleville School Children

TWENTY-EIGHT OPERATED UPON DURING SUMMER MONTHS FOR TONSIL AND ADENOID CASES

Through the cooperation of Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, Commissioner W. D. Clark and Health Officer Eugene Barry, twenty-eight children of school age have been given a new lease on life.

As a result of the annual physical examinations in the schools many defects are discovered in school children. It is then the duty of the Child Hygiene nurse to report to the parents and assist them in having the corrections made.

It was during this routine that the school physician, discovered a number of children suffering from the results of diseased or enlarged tonsils and adenoids. Miss Mary Millar R. N., one of Belleville's Child Hygiene nurses, followed these up in the homes, explaining to the mothers the need for medical attention and the dangers of neglect.

Mayor Kenworthy, Commissioner W. D. Clark, Dr. Ellis L. Smith, and Health Officer Barry took an active interest in these children and assisted Miss Millar in arranging for the operations. Some of them were operated upon at Soho Hospital and others at the Newark Memorial Hospital. All of them returned to school this fall in much better physical condition and more able to take their places with other children in their classes.

It is a well known fact that frequently serious heart disease results from diseased tonsils and makes invalids of young children. Mental and physical retardation may also result. Who can say how many of these twenty-eight children might not have been seriously handicapped had they not been taken care of as they were?

Miss Millar is one of five Child Hygiene nurses in Belleville. She works with the mothers in the homes teaching them how to keep well babies well. She also is interested in the expectant mother and is prepared to advise her in regard to her proper care and the importance of early medical supervision.

The child of pre-school age is the infant growing up and special emphasis is made on the early infant and pre-school period as being the most important period in preparation for adult life. It has been definitely demonstrated that through supervision during this early period babies' lives have been saved and many of the defects found in school children have been prevented. This nurse who visits in the homes, also visits the schools, carrying over to the school child her interest in prevention and assisting in solving his problems.

This is New Jersey's Continuous Child Hygiene Program. It is sponsored in Belleville by the Department of Health and Board of Education who recognize its value and cooperate with the State Department of health under whose supervision it is carried out.

"Save Belleville's Children"—May not this slogan apply to other physical hazards than the automobile?

This Evergreen Nursery Provides Trees To Decorate Grounds of Electric Stations

To provide decorative shrubbery for landscaping the grounds of its substations, Public Service Electric and Gas Company maintains its own tree nursery at its Athena Switching Station. The trees are evergreens of several varieties, including silver fir, Douglas fir, white and blue spruce, Japanese cedar, white cedar and golden tipped juniper.

These trees were three years old when planted at the station in the fall of 1928. Seven boy scouts from South Orange and Maplewood assisted Public Service men in planting 1,000 seedlings at that time. In doing so the scouts performed one of the requirements necessary to obtain a merit badge in forestry. The trees will remain in the nursery from five to ten years, depending on the size they attain and their consequent decorative value. During the period in the nursery, pruning of the roots of each tree is necessary at about two year intervals. The object of the pruning is to prevent a spreading root system which is difficult to transplant. A tree with a compact root mass may be moved easily.

HILL-TOP CARD PARTY GALA EVENT

The Hill-Top Improvement Association staged a very brilliant card party attended by many genial folks from the neighborhood who enjoyed an evening featured by smooth arrangements last Saturday evening at Recreation House.

Seventeen point pinocle predominated, with bridge and whist in favor. Other folks enjoyed playing bean bag. Thirty five awards were presented to the best players of these games. After the playing, a very generous repast of refreshments was served by a group of Belleville debutantes, from the immediate neighborhood.

All those present agreed that this card party was very enjoyable, and highly commended the Hill-Top entertainment committee, consisting of Thaddeus Thornton, Charles Longhi and Milton Schneider.

An announcement was made regarding arrangements which are being made for a fancy costume Halloween Party to be held at the end of the month.

Residents Protest Against Proposed Garage And Shop

Construction Contract Is Awarded By Nutley Board

The Nutley Town Commission Tuesday night received a petition signed by sixteen protesting the proposal of Joseph Novotny to operate a garage and machine shop in Erie place.

Residents in the neighborhood believed it would lower property values. The board tabled the petition for further consideration.

Contract for the construction of sidewalks, curbs and pavement in Bloomfield avenue, from Margaret street to the Belleville line, and in Highland and Ohlson avenues, was awarded the Union Building & Construction Co. of Passaic. The figure was $35,489. Two other bids were filed.

John J. Schafer of 98 Hillside avenue and James Ritacco of 40 Roma street were appointed police chancellors.

Chief William J. Brown of Nutley police advised that if residents in the neighborhood of 230 Grant avenue desired to protest the operation of a dog kennel at that address, they should file a complaint before Recorder Charles Youngs.

A petition signed by several property owners in the vicinity of the Grant avenue home of Frederick Miller protesting the operation of the kennel was received at a previous meeting. The petitioners complained the "incessant barking of the dogs" made the kennel a "common nuisance."

Mrs. Perley A. Prior of Grant avenue entertained Group 2 of St. Paul's Church Monday afternoon.

GARDEN SCIENCE

IN PLAIN LANGUAGE
from
ESSEX COUNTY
EXTENSION SERVICE
NEW JERSEY
AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

GARDEN SCIENCE

By R. E. HARMAN,
Essex County Agricultural Agent,
State College of Agriculture

The word "Dahlia" creates enthusiasm as much as that of any other word among flower enthusiasts, unless it be "Rose." But if the dahlia tubers are not properly harvested or are not stored as they should be, you will be disappointed in 1931. The idea is not to store the bulbs so that they will merely keep over winter but to store them so they come through with as much of the stored-up energy as they possessed when they went into storage. And further, we wish them to start growing in the Spring before we are ready to set them out.

As soon as frost occurs, food is quickly stored in the tubers from the stems. Then they should be dug three or four days after the first frost which kills the tops. When this time arrives, cut off the top an inch above the ground. Get a spade well under the tubers; lift soil and tubers, leave the soil intact and invert so as to drain the moisture out of the stems. Place under cover and let dry off a few days. Unless the soil is a heavy clay, allow as much as possible to cling to the tubers.

Store in boxes or cases, burying the tubers in clean sand. First remove any diseased parts or broken tubers as well as fibrous roots. Keep in a room which ranges from 40 to 50 degrees and which receives ventilation.

Plant Pansies Now

By A. C. McLEAN
N. J. Agricultural Experiment Station

Gardeners who want large pansies next spring should set plants in a rich bed of soil before November 1. Pansies planted in the fall and left undisturbed in the spring produce more and better flowers than plants which have been moved.

Do not wait until spring to buy plants if the best pansies are desired. The pansy is very easily transplanted at this time of the year, and is practically winter hardy if given a slight protection to keep the ground from freezing and thawing. The chief precaution should be to plant them in a soil that is well drained. Then, when the ground starts to freeze, cover first with some straw and then with leaves.

If you haven't plants of your own buy some of the best of such large-flowering strains as Steel's, Roggli Giants, or some of the better foreign families. Additional information on the cultivation of pansies is contained in New Jersey Experiment Station Circular 185, which may be obtained free by residents of the state from county agricultural agents or by writing to the Bulletin Clerk of the experiment station at New Brunswick.

Transplanting Evergreens

By A. C. McLEAN,
N. J. Agricultural Extension Service

Early fall is one of the best times for transplanting such evergreen trees, as spruces, pines, and cedars. These trees have now completed their season's growth, and the terminal buds on the branches should be ripe.

Any time from September until the first of November is a good time to move these trees. They should not be moved later than November 1 because of the danger of winter killing.

In moving these trees it is essential to include with them a ball of earth about the roots, which never should be allowed to become dry. If the evergreens are transplanted rather early this fall, new roots will become established in the soil, making it possible for the plant to obtain all the water it needs. Lack of water, not cold weather, is the principal cause of the winter-killing of evergreens. Water the evergreens well when setting them out, and mulch with some such loose material as straw, leaves, grass, or peat moss to hold the soil's moisture.

Do not cut back evergreens when transplanting. With holly and some of the broad-leaved evergreens, however, it is advisable to remove the leaves as a means of stopping the evaporation of water from the plant. Fall-planted evergreens start early in the spring and make a better growth than those transplanted the following spring.

Further information on this and other garden, flower or agricultural questions may be obtained from the County Extension Office, R. E. Harman, County Agricultural Agent, Caldwell. (Phone Caldwell 6-0572).

Store Vegetables Now For Next Winter's Use

Home-makers can reduce their food costs at this time of year by purchasing onions, potatoes, beets, carrots, cabbage, and other fall vegetables in large quantities directly from a producer, according to Miss Marie Doermann, New Jersey extension service specialist in nutrition. Why buy these vegetables in small amounts from week to week, she asks, when storage space is available in the cellar of your home?

Most of these vegetables will keep well for a few months—perhaps until Christmas—even in cellars with furnaces, the nutrition specialist advises. She says that the home storage of vegetables offers the housewife the opportunity of saving at least several dollars and also much time and energy that would be required for marketing at more frequent intervals.

"Carrots, beets, turnips, parsnips, and similar root vegetables shrivel less if buried in sand," Miss Doermann says. Potatoes may be kept in a bin or barrel. If a few narrow boards are removed from the bin or staves from the barrel so there is a free circulation of air, the potatoes will keep longer. Sweet potatoes require a warmer place than white potatoes. Squash also keeps better in a warmer temperature. Cabbage may be wrapped well in newspaper and placed on a shelf so that the heads will not touch. Celery may be dug with plenty of soil clinging to the roots and planted in a box of sand. A little water added occasionally will keep the celery crisp."

Clifton H. Ross, superintendent of recreation, went to Atlantic City Monday to attend the National Recreation Congress convention to be held throughout the week. He will leave soon for a vacation of two weeks at his home in New Bedford, Mass.

When your evening wrap can be demurely wrapped around one . . . when its collar is high and covers every inch of one's décolletage . . . when sleeves are long . . . and when the wrap itself is almost as long as one's dress . . . how could one possibly suspect that the frock underneath is as sophisticated as Mayfair itself?

But it's true that our evening mode this season is a combination of sophistry and neivete! As the lovely evening gown illustrated shows the sophisticated part of this mode, so does the charming wrap give that Puritan touch to the ensemble. Evening dresses are low-cut and oftentimes only feature a string-like band over the shoulders . . . while evening wraps are very long with high collars that cuddle closely around one's head!

Five Jailed, Four Fined In Local Police Raid

Five Negroes were sentenced to ninety days each in the county penitentiary on charges of gambling and four others fined $10 each on disorderly person charges by Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons Friday night. Ten were arrested in all during a police raid on an alleged speakeasy at 72 Belmont avenue, Silver Lake section.

The raid was conducted at 10 P. M. by Captain Flynn, Sergeants Sullivan and Leighton and seven patrolmen, who confiscated about $2, one pair of dice and a quart of "white mule." The proprietor was not determined.

Attilio Pernano of 406 North Sixth street, Newark, was given a suspended sentence on testimony that he "just went in" the place and had not been gambling. Those sentenced were James Hopper of 401 North Fifth street, Newark, and Mabel Whaley of 144 Franklin street; John Rogers of 124 Newark avenue, Robert Deyancey of 2 Kane street and William Ransen of 175 Heckel street, all of the Silver Lake section. Rogers told the court he didn't remember "how many times" he had been arrested before.

James Weathers of 45 Belmont avenue and Marion Shields of 11 Kane street, Silver, Lake, and Edward McClellan of 448 North Twelfth street and Roy Lee of 133 Davenport avenue, Newark, were the ones fined.

IN VOGUE TODAY

Style Notes Prepared for the Essex County Extension Service, By CATHERINE GRIEBEL, Clothing Specialist.

With fall and winter clothes of black or dark colors it is not surprising that hose and gloves are dark too. Gloves may be black or dark brown, depending on one's choice of costume, but there are others that may be worn. Dark beiges—almost taupe—are also correct with black, and medium shades of brown-beige may be selected for brown ensembles. One or the other of these beiges may be worn with dark green, wine, or dark blue. Black gloves are appropriate when one's coat is trimmed with black fur.

An earlier article explained that dull finishes lead in fabrics. For this reason canton crepes, flat crepes, suede-finished wools, and broadcloth without its old-time gloss, are popular. Suede gloves are much seen. There are lace gloves, to be sure, but they have a duller finish than formerly. The loose-wristed pull-ons are most popular in six, eight, and even twelve button-lengths for daytimes wear. They are worn wrinkled on the forearm. Gloves for evening are to be expected with the formality one notes in fashion. These are longer—sixteen or twenty-button length. Black is smart with black evening gowns; flesh pink, white or eggshell to suit white or colored frocks. I saw some in Paris with narrow strings of ermine, some with incrustations of the material of the dress, and one pair of flesh-pink worn with a dress of the same shade that had a flare of hair braid about four inches deep where the glove ended half way between elbow and shoulder.

For street wear several cutlet-like gloves worn over the long sleeves of the dress. These were made of antelope, which is heavier than suede.

Hose are dark because they are less conspicuous with dark clothes than are the bright or light beiges we wore last year. For black, the beige is a gray-beige about like taupe; for brown, the beige is more brown. You will find a card at the hosiery counter in most shops with suggestions for shades to harmonize with different costume colors. It seems to me that we get more help every year from hosiery manufacturers who realize that salespeople must be able to advise their customers in their choice. It isn't a pair of hose you are buying at random but the right pair to fit into your ensemble.

It is rumored that off-black hose are to be worn with the off-black green and wines and browns which are so fashionable this season. I am skeptical about their acceptance because a dark stocking must be very sheer so that it will not look heavy. That means an expensive pair, for although a few rings do not show in beige, they do mar the beauty of dark rose.

Schlosser—Clark

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Alice M. Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Clark of Westchester, N. Y. formerly of 53 Smith street, Belleville, and a niece of Felix Clark of that address, to Richard Walter Schlosser of 125 Haring street, Brooklyn, a brother of Mrs. George E. Stewart Jr., of 27 Smallwood avenue.

The wedding was held Sunday at St. Benedict's Church, The Bronx. Rev. John Fitzpatrick of St. Brendan's Church, The Bronx, a cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony. A reception at Bracker's Inn, City Island, was attended by 100 guests.

After a wedding trip to Ashbury Park Mr. and Mrs. Schlosser will reside in Fordham.

Mr. and Mrs. William Murch of 141 Linden avenue, who have closed their summer home at Belmar, left Friday for a trip through the Berkshires. They will return the middle of the month.

THE SCRAPPER

By EDITH D. DIXON,
Extension Service,
N. J. College of Agriculture.

"My little girl of six years scraps with everybody with whom she comes in contact—playmates, babies, older children, adults—it makes no difference who. What shall I do to break her of this?"

This comes from an irate parent. I am inclined to suggest that first of all she change her own attitude toward the child. There is no child who cannot get on with some one and the adults in charge must take a more constructive point of view, asking themselves not how they can break her of quarrelling with everyone, but how they can help the child to be more cooperative.

I do not know this little girl but I can guess that she is not very happy. She probably realizes that people do not like her and this makes her more antagonistic. Perhaps she has not learned to respect the rights of other children and wants always to have her own way. That is not her fault; all children want their own way, but their parents have to teach them, not by talking but by practice, that it is necessary to give in to others, to share with others, and to plan for others some of the time if you want to be accepted by them. Has this little girl been permitted to invite other children into her home and plan for them a pleasant afternoon? Has she been told beforehand what her duty as a hostess would be?

This child may have executive ability and is not getting sufficient outlet for its use. Perhaps she needs more opportunity to plan and do things for herself, to do things about the home, to take responsibility.

Perhaps she is playing with too many children at once. Some children become over-excited by a large group.

Perhaps she is ridiculed or teased at home so she "gets even" by bullying or quarrelling outside.

Perhaps she is handicapped physically and cannot do the things that her playmates can do. This would make her feel inferior and tend to develop a general antagonism toward the group.

Every child needs to be taught to excel in something so that he has a contribution to make to the group. This will help him to build self-confidence, the lack of which lies at the bottom of both over-timidness and over-aggressiveness.

Next Week—"She Questions Every Command."

Note: These weekly articles on child training are furnished to the News by the Essex County Extension Service which, with Miss Dixon's cooperation, is prepared to answer letters of inquiry on child training problems. Address such letters to Mrs. M. C. Shepard, Home Demonstration Agent, Park Theatre Building, Caldwell, N. J.

ANOTHER CUT IN RATES FOR GAS HOUSE HEATING

Third Reduction Made in Last Eighteen Months Brings the Ideal Heating System Within Reach of Additional Thousands of New Jersey Home Owners

THE NEW RATE!

The rate now effective is 7½ cents per 100 cubic feet, providing the customer guarantees a minimum revenue of $150.00 for the heating season of eight months—October to May, inclusive—representing a consumption of 200,000 cubic feet.

The rate formerly charged was 8 cents per 100 cubic feet, with a minimum revenue of $160 for the heating season.

Until such time as the total of gas consumed reaches 200,000 cubic feet, the customer pays a minimum monthly bill of $18.75, but any amount added to make the minimum is credited to the customers account, after the 200,000 cubic-foot minimum is passed.

INVESTIGATE COST!

The advantages of gas house heating are known to everyone. It keeps your house at any desired temperature with no more trouble than the adjustment of a thermostat. No dust, no ashes, no storage of fuel, no furnace tending!

The comparative economy of using gas as a house heating fuel is not so well known. Yet it is not luxury for the rich, but rather a convenience available to many. A new conversion burner may permit use of present equipment.

Let us give you the facts—tell you almost exactly what it will cost to heat your home with gas, and of the many benefits and savings that come to you by reason of its use. There will be no charge for our services.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Are sin, disease, and death real?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 12.

The Golden Text is: "Depart from evil, and do good; and dwell for evermore." (Psalms 37:27).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases. And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick." (Luke 9:1, 2).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Entirely separate from the belief and dream of material living, is the Life divine, revealing spiritual understanding and the consciousness of man's dominion over the whole earth. This understanding casts out error and heals the sick, and with it you can speak 'as one having authority.'" (p. 14).

The auxiliary will send its usual box of second hand and partly worn clothing to a mission station, the latter part of November. Mr. Deckenbach is asking for dolls, beads, tops and other toys for girls and boys, and neck ties, belts, handkerchiefs and so forth to fill a Christmas box, which is to be sent to Indian children in South Dakota.

Men, have you secured your tickets for the great event of the year? Thursday evening, October 30, the men's club of Grace Church are to have Turkey with all the fixings. An evening full of wit and fun is planned. Judge Van Riper will be the after dinner speaker. He is in great demand for such occasions and the men of Grace Church were fortunate in securing him for the dinner. The dinner is for men only. No tickets will be sold at the door. Any member of the club can supply your demand. The number of the diners is to be limited, so you had better get your ticket without delay.

Clubs and organizations today emphasize the motor power of their activities—SERVICE. Business men group themselves together for the sole purpose of extending their activities, in the helping and encouragement, which they can give to their fellow-men. Today every serious minded man an woman should pause for a moment and ask themselves the question, "What am I doing with my life? Is the community better and richer because I am a resident of it? Am I doing a worth while service for my fellows? Am I selfish and self-seeking? Mr. McCombe will discuss this subject, "Fellowship in Service" at the morning service this Sunday at the Grace Church.

We have said it many times, many men of many minds. Humanity is peculiar in its make up. After the song service at Grace Church next Sunday evening the pastor will consider the subject of "The careful Man." You meet him everywhere. Come and see him with the mind's eye Sunday evening, at Grace Church.

We speak about hard times. We are sometimes inclined to question the statement; when we read such statements as the following: "Passengers sailing between the Port of New York and other United States ports on the Atlantic Gulf and Pacific coasts, including Long Island Sound and Hudson River routes, reached a total of 279,674 during the second quarter of the year. The total passengers carried on domestic steamship routes for the first half of the year reached the number of 404,283, not far below the foreign travel. These figures do not include one-day round trip excursionists carried by the Sound and River lines. We say that we are having hard times—maybe, but it takes money to travel, even if it is but for a day.

Sunday evening our young people started their regular service. We are looking for the old members to be in their places at the service this coming Sunday at 7:30 P. M. The leader will be Mr. Percy Karrer.

We may yet learn something from the past. Today the excuse is given for something that is left undone, that we are living in a different time. New ideas and customs have changed the age in which we live. Well, it may be so, but we are inclined to believe that there is one custom of ancient Athens that we would do well to copy.

When the young men of ancient

Athens reached manhood they were compelled to subscribe to the following oath: "We will never bring disgrace to this city, by any act of dishonesty or cowardice, nor desert our suffering comrades in the ranks. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city, both alone and with many; we will reverence in those above us who are best in incite a like respect and reverence in those below us who are prone to annul or set them at naught, we will strive unceasingly to quicken the public sense of civic duty. Thus in all these ways we will transmit this city not only not less, but greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

Fellowship Service is growing in interest. We have begun the study of the Gospel of John. Why not get away from the cares of the day? Bring your Bibles and get some comfort and help for the battle of life.

The Thrift Magazine gives the following

alibis for not attending the church. It is a summary of a recent questionnaire, which was sent to a large number of people. Have you a better one? If so, let's have it. "I am waiting for my husband to join first."

"I am not good enough."

"I don't have the right kind of clothes to wear."

"Too much church in my childhood."

"There are too many hypocrites in the church."

"The church is a joy killer; I want to have good times."

"I am too tired to go to church on Sunday."

"The church is out of date. This is an age of science."

A financial expert remarked some time ago: "I wouldn't buy any bonds of a community that did not have good churches and good school." Going to church means a community that is respected, because it is law observing and law abiding. Church people as a rule are prosperous.

The Sunshine Chapter of the World Wide Guild is to have a Food Sale at the church this Saturday afternoon. Do not weary yourself cooking for Sunday. Get what you need for your Sunday dinner from the young ladies and you can then enjoy the afternoon of Saturday. The entrance to the church on Bremond street will be used. Remember, real home cooking at Grace Church Saturday afternoon.
