He died Monday afternoon. He was identification clerk in Newark Police Headquarters.

A charge of manslaughter was made Monday night against Hahn, before Recorder Fitzsimmons in the death of King. He was turned over to the prosecutor's office.

Miss Katherine Kivlen of 174 Floyd street, suffered bruises when a taxi in which she was riding at Washington and Belleville avenues, early Sunday morning was in collision with a truck and a traffic light pole. ### Miss Slater's Engagement Announced

The engagement of Miss Dorothy La Verne Slater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Slater of 147 Floyd street, to Wilbur Thomas Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hart of 112 Floyd street, was announced at a bridge party given Friday evening by Miss Slater's parents at her home.

Miss Slater is formerly of Bloomfield, where she attended Bloomfield High School. Mr. Hart attended Belleville High School and is a member of Phi Sigma Chi Fraternity.

The announcement was made in a very unique fashion. The "cat was let out of the bag" when a live Angora kitten with an announcement fastened to his collar escaped from a sack in which he had been hiding. The decorations were in pink and white with pink roses as table favors.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hart, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hart, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Willis Davis,

Mr. and Mrs. John Peacock, Miss Dorothy Davis, Miss Helen Healy, Harry Week, Wilbur Slater, Jack Colehammer, George Lee and Douglas Wadsworth of Belleville; Miss Florence Schnell, of Arlington; Miss Eleanor Merrihew, of Irvington; the Misses Tillie Todd DeVan and Helen Frey of East Orange; Mr. and Mrs. William Bath, of Elizabeth; Misses Ruth Pearce, of Patterson; Florence Gilmore, of Westfield; and Annette Bolmer of Plainfield; Miss Janet Kock and Nicholas Ickes, of Nutley; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sellick and Miss Ruth Colborn, of Newark; Fred Belther, of Caldwell; Richard Groendyke, of Lyndhurst; Miss Mary Lee Smithurst, of New York; Miss Marie Gogil, of Hoboken and Mr. Willis Davies, Jr., of Belleville.

High scores were attained by Miss Florence Schnell, Mrs. Victor Hart, Sr., Mrs. W. Bath and John Peacock.

The second of a series of Free Public School Concerts will be held Sunday afternoon, November 30 at 3 o'clock at the High School.

An exceptional program has been arranged, consisting of a mixed chorus of nine voices. This group, known as "Miller's Choral Singers," will contribute selections both in chorus, male quartette and solos.

Earle Ballentine, a talented young violinist of Belleville, will also be heard. This young man has studied the violin with Oscar Holst, well known violinist and teacher, also a resident of Belleville.

It is also possible that a pianist will be on the program, although at this time no definite announcement can be made.

It is unusual and interesting to note the number of talented artists who are actively co-operating to insure the success of this work.

It is hoped that the public will show their approval by keeping these concerts well attended as it will tend to interest other artists in appearing at later concerts.

The directors have adhered to the precedent set in the first concert by diversifying the program in such a manner as to keep alive the interest of the audience throughout the entire performance.

Have Your Toys Ready Tomorrow For Poor Kiddies

Lions Club Committee And Boy Scouts Will Pick Them Up

Belleville folks are asked to get their discarded toys ready for the Lions' Club committee and Boy Scouts who will canvas the town tomorrow (Saturday) to help Santa get a supply of such articles for poor children in town. From the frozen north St. Nick says there is only so short a time left to make preparations that all assistance must be afforded the Lions, firemen and all who are working out the details.

The approach of Christmas has spurred the Lions Club to resolve that youngsters in needy families of town must not be deprived of the legendary visit of Santa Claus. Arrangements were made at the club luncheon meeting Thursday for collection of broken or unused toys by Boy Scouts tomorrow, and refurbishing by Belleville firemen.

Dr. Daniel E. Kavanagh of 252 Washington avenue and Charles Gebhardt of 429 Union avenue are members of the local activities committee in charge of the program. Parents who have a surplus of toys or remnants which their children do not need are requested to get in touch with one of the Lions or have the toys ready for the Scouts.

Alva A. Buckley, Belleville Scout head, will assign the troops of the town to various territories for collecting the toys.

The firemen last year repaired and painted an enormous number of playthings, but found the canvassing too much of a job without other help. This year the demand will be greater.

Dr. Kavanagh may be reached by telephone, Belleville 2-3517; Mr. Gebhardt, 2-2326 and William MacNair, who is also doing yeoman work, 2-1286.

Not only broken toys, but toys children have outgrown are needed. Several merchants have co-operated to put across the Lions' plan. They are Charles Zuckerman, a member of the local club, Herb Richards, Sherwin Williams Paint Co., Pittsburg Plate Glass Co., Harvey Ziegler and Daniel Mellis, as well as others.

Girl scouts and some women in town are busy working on dolls. So all in all it begins to look like the Lions will bring old St. Nick to town after all to needy children. Word has reached this office that Santa is putting his airplane in readiness to pay a visit to all poor children in town. The Lions have seen to this.

Green Bus Suggests Quick Way To N. Y.

No More Bridge Delays Due To New Span Over Hackensack

Thirty-two minutes to New York by hailing the green bus with a red stripe at Belleville avenue.

There are no more bridge delays due to the construction of the new bridge over the Hackensack River, the company advises.

William Forster, manager of the Jersey City-Montclair Bus Co., Inc., says his line will save "time and money" to shoppers and commuters.

HIS ACTIVITY CONVINCES BELLEVILLE AND NUTLEY TO BURY THE HATCHET

So Shine Up Your Horns And Whistles For Charity Match Scheduled On December 6

Through the efforts of Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, who urged Belleville School Board officials to sanction a game with Nutley December 6 for charity, Nutley officials Wednesday night also agreed. The Mayor personally solicited aid in Nutley and his work there overcame opposition to the game. The Nutley Board agreed unanimously at 10 o'clock to the game.

The place and details will be worked out today when a joint committee from Belleville and Nutley will meet. Nutley's committee is Edgar Lee, president of the Nutley Rotary Club, Dr. Horace Tatum of the school board, and Superintendent of Schools Dr. Paul R. Radcliffe.

Mayor Kenworthy has not yet named his full committee, but some who will act on his group are the Mayor, Superintendent G. R. Gerard, J. Turner, High School Principal Charles L. Steel, Jr., Gus Plenge and Thomas W. Fleming, business manager of this paper. These members will handle preliminary details, the committee to be augmented later.

Kearny Was Ready
Had Nutley failed to meet Belleville Kearny High School stood ready. Mayor Jones and the Chamber of Commerce of that town had so advised Mayor Kenworthy, who sees in the game a means of advantageously helping the needy of Belleville and whatever other town fell in line.

Of course the place for the game is problematical. Belleville will naturally seek it. Additional seats could very easily be erected at Clearman Field to care for the crowd which would be bound to attend the game.

The last game between the schools was by Nutley. After a break of years in athletic relations the last game was arranged through a plan evolved by this newspaper.

And then because Nutley felt Belleville held over its temporary seats too long for other games, expense of which came out of the Belleville-Nutley fracas relations pettily snapped again.

COMMENTS ON EDITORIAL

EDITOR NEWS:

Your item on immigration control suggests that this is at the bottom of the problem of the jobless. Countries as far apart as Germany and Japan, as England and the Argentine are suffering from unprecedented unemployment. This is, of course, due to accelerated development of machinery. The United States' jobless, even during the summer employment peak, just about equaled in number the Mexican population of the border.

A bill to create the same quota against Latin America we maintain against Great Britain, Germany, Ireland, Scandinavia, Italy, has been in Congress for years. Last session it passed the Senate over 3 to 1. The House Committee approved it by an emphatic vote. Its chairman declared the House was ready to enact it by an 8 to 1 majority. Yet somehow its passage was again prevented.

It has been declared few Mexicans now cross the border. If so, why all the highly organized opposition to the same quota against Mexico we maintain against Great Britain, Ireland, Germany, Scandinavia, Italy? Very earnestly yours,

Immigration Study Commission,
C. M. GOETHE,
President.

Community Chest Over-subscribed Is Report At Dinner

Final Tabulation May Show $29,000 Has Been Pledged

The second annual Community Chest quota, $19,400, was over-subscribed by eight cents, it was reported at a victory rally which closed the campaign at Town Hall, Monday night. John Ray, campaign manager, said more pledges are due, however, and are expected to raise the fund to $29,000. A final meeting will be held in two weeks.

Tabulation of returns are: Special gifts committee, $7,000.98; Industrial division, $1,355.21; schools, $1,925; community, $333.85; lodges, clubs and other organizations, $410; banks, $80; individual subscribers, $1,239.14.

William F. Entekin, publicity director, thanked those who had helped make the campaign a success. He objected to "unwarranted criticism" that workers had been paid for their time, saying it was not so and that administration expenses would be shown to be less than had been figured in the budget.

School children were awarded prizes in the poster contest. Ruth Jenkins, who received a $3 first prize for the best poster in School 1, donated the money to the chest.

Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kenwell of Union avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ball of Mertz avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hodgson of Essex street were bridge guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kenwell of Newark.

YOU, YOUR CAR and the MOTOR LAWS. Harold G. Hoffman, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. Image of a car.

Editor's Note: This is the nineteenth of a series of articles by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, presented by the News, as its part in the campaign of education to familiarize motorists with the laws which regulate their conduct on the road.

By HAROLD G. HOFFMAN State Comm'r. of Motor Vehicles. XIX.—MORE ON PARKING

Just what is parking? The traffic law defines it simply: "The standing or waiting on any street, road or highway of any vehicle not actually engaged in receiving or discharging passengers or merchandise."

I am not concerned with regulations governing the duration of parking. That is primarily a matter of municipal importance. Limited parking, it is true, has largely proved itself a failure throughout the country. This is so partly through indifferent enforcement of existing regulations, and partly through the lack of public cooperation and a large measure of public selfishness.

But a stroll along any street or highway reveals many parking violations entirely disassociated from duration limits. The manner of parking comes within the scope of the State traffic law, and thus becomes a matter of concern to me. In many instances, the manner in which unskillful, or, as is more often the case, careless drivers park their machines constitutes a traffic hazard of the most dangerous sort.

The traffic law contains a comprehensive article on parking, which is far more generally ignored than observed. Let me summarize its provisions briefly:

Parking is permitted only parallel with the edge of the roadway headed in the direction of traffic, on the right hand side of the road and with the curb side of the vehicle within six inches of the edge. Deviation from this rule is permitted only when local authorities have provided markings for angle parking on the left side.

Vehicles must not be parked on the paved portions of main highways, outside business or residence districts, when it is practicable to park off the highway, and in no event shall a vehicle be parked unless there remains fifteen feet unobstructed for the passage of vehicles, nor unless a clear view of the parked car may be obtained from a distance of 200 feet in each direction. Of course this provision does not apply when emergencies make it impossible to avoid stopping and leaving the vehicle in a position which would otherwise be illegal.

It is unlawful to park within an intersection, on a crosswalk, between a safety zone and the adjacent curb or within at least twenty feet of a point on the curb opposite the end of a safety zone, in front of a private driveway, within twenty-five feet of an intersection, within fifty feet of a stop sign or within fifty feet of the right-hand corner of any street upon which any bus route is established.

It is also illegal to park within twenty feet of the entrance to any fire station or within ten feet of a fire hydrant.

So much for the rules. What is the practice? How frequently is a car parked anywhere from ten inches to two feet from the curb? How often do we find cars parked head in, or tail in, one end protruding into the lane of traffic, forcing other drivers to turn into the left traffic lane, causing traffic jams and frequently accidents?

The restriction on distance from an intersection is almost completely ignored, and so is the provision relating to Stop Street signs. Nor is space reserved for buses, as the law demands.

Most of these violations are committed in cities and larger towns, where parking space is at a premium. Here is a wide field for police activity. I do not intend to tolerate careless parking on State highways, so far as I am able to prevent it, and I intend to obtain the cooperation of the State police with the motor vehicle department inspectors to stop it wherever seen.

But the State is large, and the forces of the State troopers and motor vehicle inspectors are small; Municipal police departments, too, have their hands full keeping traffic flowing smoothly at busy intersections.

It comes down, then, to a matter of appealing to motorists themselves to show some consideration for the other fellow, to realize that these regulations were made for definite reasons of safety and traffic expedition, and not because of the idle whim of some legislator. They must come to realize, too, that general observance of these and other motor vehicle regulations will benefit themselves and no one else.

RECEIVER DENIED TO LOCAL FIRM

Keep Business Going During Depression Judge Advises

"In view of the present unemployment situation, you should keep the business going," Federal Judge Guy L. Fake said Friday in refusing to appoint a receiver for the Atlantic Enamel and Lacquer Works, Inc., 691 Main street against which equity receivership suit is pending.

"You should try to settle the matter between yourselves," Judge Fake added, in directing his remarks to two attorneys, each representing conflicting factions in the management of the company's affairs.

Irving Schwartz, attorney for Harry G. Lapidus, a stockholder and former vice president, asked that a receiver be appointed, alleging insolvency.

This contention was denied by Meyer Strunsky, appearing for Simon Schack, the company's president. Judge Fake adjourned the hearing until November 24, with the understanding that an attempt would be made by counsel to bring together the warring factions.

Harry Lauderburgh of Jersey City a former scout executive in that city, spoke on the "History of the United States Flag" Friday night at a rally of Boy Scout Troop 90 at School 10, E. D. Kelly, chairman of the troop committee, also spoke.

Entertainment included a violin solo by John Cunningham, vocal selections by Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Sheen and community singing led by Harvey Maden, assistant scout executive of the Newark Boy Scout Council. A. A. Buckley, president of the Boy Scout Unit, was master of ceremonies.

A first aid demonstration was given by Henry Potter, Robert Reed, Thomas Whychell and Ray Vosburg; signalling by George Piercy and Thomas Whychell; fire was started by friction by Hurl Vreeland in twenty-five seconds and George Piercy made a fire with flint and steel.

A scout ax, donated by Mr. Kelly for the boy instrumental in bringing out the most people to the rally, was won by Edwin Curtin. About 250 were present.

Waters Declares Improvements Are Cheap In Belleville

No Other Town Gets Them Any Cheaper He States

Commissioner Patrick A. Waters and John Travers, real estate man and builder, debated during objections of citizens at a town commission meeting Tuesday night to confirmation of assessments in William street from Belleville avenue to Union avenue and in Parkside drive from Belleville avenue to William street. The ordinances were laid over a week for study.

One complaint from Travers was that residents of Wilson place had been granted strips of property to compensate for damage due to the Parkside drive opening. He pointed out that for the Wilson place opening he had donated land to the town and whatever part of it the town didn't need should revert to the original owner.

Waters defied Travers to show where any other town was getting improvements cheaper than Belleville. He said Wilson place residents would have been damaged by the opening of Parkside drive unless strips of land were given to protect their property.

"Fine!" Travers said, "You gave it at our expense." Waters retorted: "You're the one who wanted the street, you cut it through, you sold the property and you're the one who should pay the assessment. I can't see the fairness, after you've made your money on the property."

"You can't see much," Travers interrupted and added: "Stand up a minute. I want you standing up," when Waters started to sit down.

"I will," Waters replied, "because you can't knock me down." Commissioner William H. Williams interrupted, suggesting the parties of the dispute address the chair. Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, to end the discussion, asked Town Clerk John J. Daly if any one had objected to the ordinance authorizing the improvements. The clerk replied no one had.

Other objectors to the assessments were James F. X. O'Brien, representing Aime V. Lariviere, a builder in the streets, and Frank McCoy. The latter said the "whole thing was for Travers."

After a sermon by Father Field, benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be given and the memorial service will close with the De Profundis.

This is the first service of this kind held by Court Sancta Maria, and all members as well as their friends and relatives and friends of the deceased members of the Court and parishoners are respectfully invited.

AREME CHAPTER, O. E. S.

The regular meeting of Areme Chapter, O. E. S., at Masonic Temple Monday evening, will be marked by initiation and business. Members are kindly requested to bring in supplies for Thanksgiving baskets, to bountifully supply those in dire distress.

basins were wrongly placed, the sidewalk at Dawson street dangerously sloped and water taps covered by the "incidental arbitrary" grading of the street, it was said, and instead of a benefit the property owners "regarded the work as a damage."

Commissioner Carragher asserted that it was because he was trying to "clean up such things" that the engineering department was taken from his directorship five years ago. Mayor Kenworthy said that was not the reason and "the commissioner knows it." Carragher said he had records to show it was.

Property owners in New street who complained of a seven-foot retaining wall collapsing under the force of a thirty foot embankment, causing the spreading of debris in their back yards, were told the matter was subject to private suit. The owner of property in Mt. Prospect avenue, on a hill above them, had filled his property and the rain loosened the dirt down on them, the complainants said. Carragher's motion was passed authorizing Brown to find out whether the property owner carried the fill across the side walk without a permit.

The management will be under the direct control of the corporation.

The prospectus of the corporation reads: "The Municipal Holding Corporation was incorporated under the laws of Delaware to acquire land and on the same to build and set up Model Recreation Centers.

"The Corporation holds an option to purchase a tract of land in the Town of Belleville, N. J., one block from bus and car lines, and a few minutes' walk from the city line of Newark, N. J. This tract fronts on three streets, namely; Cortlandt Street, 266 feet; Bellavista avenue, 251 feet and Stephens street, 305 feet.

Purpose Of The Issue
"Net proceeds from the present financing is to be used to conclude the purchase of the tract of land in Belleville, N. J., and to build thereon, the recreation center, consisting of swimming pool, wading pool, (to be used as an ice skating rink in the winter), and sand beach, umbrellas and beach chairs, 18 hole golf course, and a building in which will be located the bath houses and showers, individual lockers to accommodate 3,000 people, and refreshment grill to accommodate bathers and spectators.

Plans have been drawn and building operations are due to be started at once on an outdoor cement swimming pool, 80x175 feet, with depth of from 3 to 9 feet, and designed for swimming meets with adjoining wading pool 10x80 feet, with depth of 15 to 18 inches for children. This pool is to be equipped with all modern appurtenances and purification system and sterilization apparatus will assure constantly changing and purified water. A concrete promenade is to surround this bathing group and adjoining will be a white sanded beach covering approximately an acre of ground, and, at the other end of the plot, an 18 hole miniature golf course with entrance on two streets. Dressing rooms with showers, provided for men and women, and individual lockers to accommodate 3,000 persons, and a refreshment grill to serve the entire center will be housed in a building 34x150 feet, fronting on Stephens street.

Outlook
"No investment in industry, insofar as financial returns are concerned, can compare with the choicely-located well-built and thoroughly equipped swimming pool and beach.

"First of all, earnings are immediate and always in cash and, on the money invested, unusual returns may be expected.

"The swimming pool industry is a growing business for it caters to the craving needs of the people to relax and exercise in a healthy atmosphere. This craving is on the increase and is being constantly promoted by insurance companies, doctors, physical culture associations, schools and other progressive organizations.

Home Building And Loan Issues Its Fortieth Annual Report

Coming Down Through The Years Figures Show That Assets Now Have Reached $1,584,133.41

Coming down through the years the Home Building and Loan Association, which lists among its roster of officers, directors and share holders many prominent people of town, has just issued its fortieth annual report, showing resources of $1,584,133.41. This staunch old organization Monday night held its forty-first annual meeting at its headquarters, 228 Washington avenue.

The following officers were re-elected; President, J. W. Hirdes; vice president, Edmund W. Bechtoldt; secretary, Wilbur C. Weyant; treasurer, Theodore Sandford.

Directors for three years are Alfred Cooper, Dr. DeRuse, S. Tillou, and Rudolph H. Deetjen. Director for one year is Patrick A. Fort.

An announcement to the constitution was approved, granting the Board of Directors authority to appoint annually from among its own members a second vice president.

Five hundred new shares of stock were subscribed.

Besides those mentioned others interested in the association are John De Graw, counsel; James L. Davidson, Walter Gilby, Harry Cooper, Chris Reinhardt and George D. Haslam, directors. The examining committee is Messrs. Deetjen, Tillou and Davidson.

The President's Message:
"We are pleased to submit to you the Fortieth Annual Report of your association and the officers and directors are grateful in being able to again show such good returns on your investment," says President Hirdes in the report.

"Our eighty-first series is now open and you are urged to take additional shares in this new series and more particularly do we suggest that a friend and neighbor would welcome your invitation to join with us.

"Every dollar deposited and credited to your account in this association instantly become a profit-earning dollar. If you delay saving money until you feel you can afford it, frequently that time never comes.

"Take the advice of any shareholder who has had shares of stock mature in the Home Building and Loan Association.

"We are not satisfied to stand still and are looking forward to greater success and advancement."
Receipts for last year were $850,926.83 and the assets as mentioned. The total number of loans on bond and mortgage is 306; on stock, 41; loans repaid during year, 39 and percentage of average gain per annum, .079

Herbert V. Ryan, George J. Blum and Allen C. Current examined the books for this year's report.

A statement of the association says it is "Strictly a co-operative organization for the purpose of saving and loaning money. Each share of stock receives an equal pro rata share of the profits.

"All funds are loaned in the form of first mortgages on improved real estate. Only loans considered as good risks are accepted which are determined by having the property appraised by a committee composed of three of your directors who are competent to judge real estate values. Loans are also secured by monthly payments, one-half of which are interest payments and one-half are payments against the principal.

"The payments made against principal are credited to the shares covering the loan, which shares are assigned to the association. When the payments, plus the profits, reach $200.00 per share (11 years, 6 months) the mortgage is received for cancellation.

"Being strictly co-operative, our association serves the investor and the borrower alike, and as each owns shares, each receives a pro rata share of the profits.

"Our association serves the investor by offering him a safe way to invest his income and the borrower by enabling him to build and own his home on easy monthly payments.

Returns during the last two lean and wet years on several pools considered successful, averaged about $150,000 per year. Interest charges and running expenses will reach about $70,000, thus leaving a net profit of $80,000. It is doubted whether on an investment of from $100,000 to $150,000, any other industry can show such attractive returns.

Possibilities
"We have brought to your attention the returns of other pools and, basing our possible returns on these, the pool and beach profits alone at Belleville Beach Club, because of the choice location, should exceed those figures. Add to this the fact that the pool is to be used as an ice skating rink in the winter months with the running expense of same very small, and the revenue from the golf course during the greater part of the year and that from the refreshment grill and concessions, the net proceeds of this present undertaking should be in excess of 50 per cent.

"The pool will be ready for use as an ice skating rink for the season 1930-1931 and the golf course as soon as construction work on the pool and pavilion has been completed.

"It is safe to assume that the business of The Municipal Holding Corporation will be an attractive source of financial investment.

Recorder's Quick Sense Traps Man Who Phoned Him

Tracing Phone Call Police Nab Man In Newark Home

Quick work in tracing a telephone call when a man called Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons at his home recently, threatening his life, led to the capture of James Owens of 59 Baldwin street, Newark, by Detectives Bowles and Apgar of Newark, who hurried to that address. Owens had been held for the grand jury by the recorder and committed to the county jail six weeks ago in default of $1,500 bail on a charge of threatening to shoot his wife with a revolver.

Owens called the recorder's home twice. After the recorder refused to meet him on a "business proposition" when he first called, Owens was quoted as having cursed and said: "You won't live the day out, anyhow. I'll get you."

The recorder traced the call not knowing who the man was, then notified police headquarters. Owens called again and was talking to the recorder when the detectives arrived. He gave his name first as Brinkley but later admitted his identity and was held for a hearing before Judge Albano.

Owens, when arraigned before Recorder Fitzsimmons, lived in Walnut street, Belleville. He was arrested on his wife's complaint and police found the revolver in his house.

Belleville On Hill Can't Find Anyone To Be President

So Famous Powerful Group Decides To Call It Quits

What is to become of the Belleville-on-the-Hill Improvement Association is problematical. Over twenty members of the group Wednesday in Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church discussed the advisability of continuing and so decided but when it came to electing officers no one wanted to take the presidency. It was felt then that the association had accomplished all it set out for in the hill.

Just what will become of funds left in the organization will be decided later. Whether the group will try to continue has not been determined. The group was one of the most powerful in town, having about 200 members, eighty or more being in good standing.

by Belleville Board of Education Monday night. Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy cited to the board the necessity of raising emergency funds and suggested a football game as one of the best ways.

Gymnasium's Use Given
The request of the Belleville American Legion for use of the high school gymnasium Tuesday nights to foster basketball was granted. The Legion wrote it was taking over the activity sponsored by the Recreation Commission, which cannot function the remainder of the year due to lack of funds.

Supervising Principal George R. Gerard reported 5,767 pupils enrolled in October, an increase of 197 over that month last year, with an attendance of 98.1.

On the motion of Mr. Walter Reinheimer, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:
"That we acknowledge the letter of Mayor Kenworthy of Belleville and express to him our appreciation of the spirit in which it is written; agree to his proposal for a game between the High School football teams of his town and ours, and authorize our athletic board to cooperate with Belleville in making the necessary arrangements.

"India" Was Subject Of Talk Given At Rotary Meeting

Charles Staubach of Glen Ridge Told Of Experiences

"India" was the subject of a talk Wednesday noon at a meeting of Belleville Rotary in the Nereid Boat Club by Charles Staubach, a member of the Newark club.

Mr. Staubach, who lives in Glen Ridge, spent considerable time last year in India and was able to give a very illuminating talk on actual conditions as they are today. India, he said, is a country about one half the size of the continent of Europe and has a population close to 320 million.

"India most decidedly is not ready for independence," he declared. "The rank and file of the country do not want independence. This is because of the many religions and the fact that these various religions are at loggerheads all the time.

"The people as a whole are too ignorant to vote. While the present London-India conference will probably establish a modified provincial government it is a question just who would be able to operate intelligently in a parliament.

"The general sanitary conditions of the entire country are about the worst known. Anyone about to construct a sewer should have careful advice as to the proper way to protect themselves. For instance no milk or water should be used. The only water to drink is French bottled water and then one must watch for bootleg bottles.

The three main attractions are the wonderful buildings, known as the finest in the world, the teeming streets and life of the natives and their places and methods of worship."

It was Mr. Staubach's opinion that independence for India would be immediately followed by civil war, which would give the mountain tribes a chance for invasion. At the conclusion of his talk he showed two reels of movies.

President John DeGraw presided.

Roo Tree Celebrates Second Anniversary

About sixty members and friends gathered at the Recreation House

Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock for the luncheon of the Roo Tree Branch of the International Sunshine Society celebrating its second birthday.

Mrs. Fred Ruff and Mrs. Joseph McCarthy were hostesses and were able to greet among others Dr. O. Bell Close of Fewsmith Memorial Church, Ruth Lang and daughter, Miss Fredericks and Mrs. Ritchie.

After luncheon the program was opened by the singing of a sunshine song. Dr. Close, Ruth Lang and Mrs. C. E. Armstrong, vice president of the New Jersey State Board of the International Sunshine Society gave addresses. Mrs. Albert Hunt of Nutley rendered several vocal solos accompanied by Paul Robertson. A trio composed of Hene Lynch, saxophone, Bernice Ruff, violin, and Helen Ruff, piano, played selections. Charles Heywood of Wells known singer and impromptu pianist kept the gathering uproar with many comical also touching their deepest feelings with the lullaby his mother used to sing. He introduced Larry Deak one of his pupils, who dances as well as sings.

An oil painting donated by Mr. and Mrs. John Arend was raffled off and Mrs. Fred Schweitzer held the lucky number.

Mrs. Edward Moniot was in charge of the luncheon. Mrs. Fred Ruff was in charge of the program which was announced by Mrs. Rudolph Lull. The next meeting will be held at Recreation House, Wednesday afternoon, December 3, when plans for Christmas celebration at the Arthur Home for the Blind at Summit will be made.

FOOTBALL GAME

letic council and vice-president of the Nutley Board believed that the season should come to an end with the South Side game Thanksgiving Day. He, however, voted "yes" on the motion favoring the plan as made by Walter F. Reinheimer.

An amendment was made by Chester A. Shannon that permission from the parents of players be secured before the game was accepted.

Advocates of the plan are Mr. Leete who represented the Nutley Rotary Club and Daniel J. Sullivan of the Nutley Lions Club.

Mr. Leete expressed the desire to see Nutley and Belleville resume football relations and Mr. Reinheimer said that the Nutley Board would be willing to go on record as being in favor of such a game next year.

Mr. Sullivan said that $4,000 would be received. Miss Emma L. Mott, Nutley poormaster said that others who had talked to her believed the net receipts would amount to $6,000.

The plan is to have service clubs of Nutley and Belleville handle arrangements and the sale of tickets. Coaches Stanford and Erikson of Nutley and Belleville respectively, said before the Board reached a decision that they would be ready with teams if the game were scheduled.

The following letter has been sent from Nutley authorities to Mayor Kenworthy:
Mayor S. S. Kenworthy, Town Hall, Belleville, N. J.
Dear Mayor Kenworthy:

Your communication of the 18th was submitted to the Board of Education at a meeting held last evening in the Board room, High School Building.

ST. PETER'S ANNUAL BAZAAR

In the short space of seven years since Rev. E. J. Field has been rector of St. Peter's Church a decided march in the advance of the parish has been noted. During this time the entire Parochial buildings have been rebuilt, including the church, school, and convent and a new rectory has been built. Six parcels of property have been acquired and it has been made possible to have new streets, sidewalks and curbs constructed as well as re-furnishing the school, convent, church and rectory. A debt of $48,000 has been liquidated and as of today, St. Peter's is free of that debt and has a large surplus on hand.

It is worthy of note that seven years ago this month Rev. Field came to Belleville. He stirred up an enthusiasm in his parish that made these accomplishments possible. He worked indefatigably himself to see his ideals become realities. He spent countless hours planning for the remodeling process. Few times, indeed, has he been out on the streets of Belleville. He spent his hours at the rectory laying out and directing matters of import to his parish.

Add to this the annual bazaar which will be held at the church from December 3 to 6 and the picture of this success is complete. In the seven years $650,000 has been turned into the church, a large amount of which came from funds derived through the bazaar.

THE MAYOR SCORES IN FOOTBALL

Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy has gone and done the impossible. And more power to him. He has scored a Nutley-Belleville game.

Monday night he received the favorable O. K. from local school authorities to stage a Nutley-Belleville football game December 6 for charity. And not content with that he set his feet firmly on the ground and stalked off to Nutley after informing the school authorities there by letter that the game should be played and talked the folks over the border line into the game.

And the Mayor did not talk Nutley into the game because he wants to see Belleville trim the Maroon and Gray, which is possible. He did it because charity in both towns needs the money to be derived from the game and every red blooded man and woman in both towns want the game. Outside of a few it is hardly conceivable why the school authorities of both towns have taboed the game, anyway.

The taxpayers foot the bill for the schools and unless we miss our guess ninety-nine and ninety-nine hundredths of the taxpayers want an annual game.

Now that the hatchet has been buried let us have the battle each year. This year the purpose of it is laudable. Next year the funds may have to go the same way. If they do not go to charity let the game stand. Everybody and his uncle are happy.

LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE

Two popular and very different games, bridge and football, have long been subject to frequent and sometimes irritating alterations. Football, almost wholly an amateur college sport has been tinkered with by regularly authorized bodies. Bridge, which is everybody's game, has been battered about by professionals who have found fluidity and constant change profitable in the line of teaching and writing. Those who have held for a standardized game of bridge have been wont to refer to the venerated game of chess as an instance of something which has stood proudly above the reach of tinkers and "improvers."

But in this restless age even chess is being attacked. And how! Lasker moved for the abolition of castling, and this is the mildest of the suggested innovations. Capablanca proposed that the chessboard be enlarged to contain 100 squares and that so many new pieces be added that it would require the study of many generations or centuries to work out a series of stereotyped and "safe" and dull openings.

Now one reads of a Slovak pedagog who has devised a reformed game of chess with pieces named the airplane, the tank, the cruiser, and so on. It would be ever so much more modern than a game of bishops, knights and castles. In this schoolmaster's game no pieces are ever removed from the board, the game merely goes on and on till the campaign of one player assumes such a position of commanding superiority and his foeman is compelled to accept terms of unconditional surrender.

The best that can be said for chess is that while bridge has repeatedly suffered changes, the elder game is merely the subject of terrible suggestions, none of which has merited or received general acceptance. One is still reasonably safe in holding that any jiggering of the chess rules is lese majeste or something like that.

BUY NOW

Economists and businessmen have come to the almost unanimous opinion that what is depressing business today is a buyers' strike in which the clement of panic shows itself. There is only one remedy for this condition and that is a large surge of buying.

"Buy Now" campaigns in process of organization in cities and in whole states recognize these facts and reflect a refusal to let things take their natural course. Men behind these campaigns are the kind of men who go after business, not the kind who wait for business to come to them.

These campaigns are based on the proposition that the public has stopped buying because of fear of unemployment and hard times and the belief that prices will drop still more. Unwittingly, persons who stop buying for these reasons bring about that which they fear. It is well to save something for a rainy day, but nothing is so designed to hasten that rainy day as hoarding.

If all who harbor a desire to buy something which they can afford would buy that something now, store counters would be emptied, factories would resume operations to replenish those counters and men and women would return to work in those factories. Nothing is so calculated to bring back prosperity as a little spending.

Extravagance may be partly responsible for the depression, but frugality has greatly aggravated it.

ALL STATES NEWS

POLITICS AND PERSONALITIES

The most arresting comment yet made concerning the Democratic election landslide came from Senator Simeon Pess, of Ohio. Chairman of the Republican National Committee. "There was no outstanding national issue," said Mr. Pess. Well, what do you know about that? Presumably, the voters resigned themselves to the gods of chance and marked ballots with their eyes shut. It appears that Senator Pess specifically included the tariff among the irrelevant issues. Perhaps the good Dr. Pess can explain:

The election of Edward P. Costigan, former member of the Tariff Commission and low-tariff exponent, as Senator from Colorado where protection sentiment usually soars sky-high.

The election of David J. Lewis, also a former member of the Tariff Commission and low-tariff Democrat as Representative from Maryland.

The election of Representative Cordell Hull, almost the only "tariff-for-revenue-only" apostle left in the country, as Senator from Tennessee.

The difficulties experienced by Willis Hawley, co-author of the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act, in retaining his place as Representative from Oregon.

And the eagerness of the country as a whole to turn out of office men who had voted for the present Tariff Act and to replace them with member of a party that urged downward revision of duties during the campaign.

Then, if the tariff were not an issue, why did Chairman Pess and other administration spokesmen praise its virtues before election day, at the same time defending it to the last campaign gasp from all attacks of the opposition?

WITH COMPLIMENTS OF UNCLE SAM

Gifts from the United States to foreign rulers have not always consisted only of autographed photographs of our President such as was recently sent to Ras Tafari of Abyssinia as a coronation present. State Department records show that expensive tokens, including jewelry and fine liquors, have been presented to monarchs in the past.

When in 1853 Commodore Perry journeyed to Japan in the interest of friendly commercial relations with that country, he took with him gifts to the Emperor consisting of perfume, whiskey, wine, cherry corianders, champagne, chinaware, books, a telescope, rifles, swords, amunition and tea. And for the pleasure of the Japanese people, he took a narrow gauge railway which was set up on the beach of eddo and used to give the Orientals short rides.

During recent years, however, it has been our policy to give simpler tokens. Present Coolidge presented the Japanese Prince, Chichibu, with a portfolio for a wedding gift, while the then Secretary of State Frank Kellogg, and Mrs. Kellogg, gave the bride a clock. The shah of Persia received as a coronation gift an autographed photograph of Mr. Coolidge in a silver frame. To Emperor Zeoditu of Abyssinia, on June 23, 1928, our Minister to that country, Addison E. Southard, gave a silver bowl; and to Ras Tafari, then Prince Regent, he gave a set of Moore's International Law.

SAINT NICK MAKES READY

Although Saint Nicholas is expected to remember his children as he has always done, Christmas for the adults this year will probably take on a more utilitarian aspect in the opinion of Eric T. King, of the Department of Commerce. Because of existing economic conditions, it is thought that labor-saving devices, wearing apparel and similar products will be more popular as gifts than the usual expensive luxuries.

However, the toy sales have kept their usual lively pace this year, and a large company in the sporting goods industry reports "the biggest year in history." The confectionery industry is already on its seasonal boom. So the youngsters have no reason to fear a Christmas stocking less full than last year's.

Industries which expect a larger volume of business during the festive season are those in silverware, photographic equipment, radios, smokers' supplies, and various textile products such as clothing, sets of bedroom linen, and gift towels.

A MAN WITH TWO COUNTRIES

It is no longer unusual for an American citizen to take up residence in a foreign country for a period of years. And the most popular place of refuge in the Old World from the strenuous life of America is, of course, France. One of the pioneers in this movement is Edward M. Tuck, who bears the title of "the oldest American in France" in point of residence. He has occupied the same apartment in Paris for the past forty years.

Recently, Mr. Tuck gave to the government of his adopted country an art collection valued at more than $1,000,000. It comprises paintings, tapestries, Sevres vases and rare enamels which have gradually been acquired over a period of 40 years. The collection was placed in a new museum in Paris with appropriate ceremonies attended by prominent French artists, politicians and society leaders. President Doumergue himself thanked the donor.

Mr. Tuck first went to Paris in 1866 as American vice consul. He returned to New York, made his fortune in a banking house and went back to Paris to stay. He wears the insignia of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, the gold medal of the City of Paris and the gold medal of the Bank of France for financial assistance during the war.

THEY WILL ENTERTAIN US

Although Congress was created not to amuse but to legislate, we may be forgiven for glancing over the newly elected personnel with an eye to the more picturesque and interesting types.

First, there is James Hamilton Lewis, Senator-elect of Illinois, he of the pink whiskers, sartorial splendor, and charming wit. He "could not smile over the defeat of a lady," but he can be trusted to make us smile more than once when his urbane irony is given full play during Senate debate.

Then, there is Huey P. Long, now Governor of Louisiana, also Senator-elect, who receives foreign emissaries in his pajamas, who loves "pot-licker," and who has made the front page so often with his eccentric sayings and doings that it is hard to wait until 1932 for his arrival in Washington.

Another Governor, William J. Bulow of South Dakota, will come to the Senate with an already acquired reputation of being "funnier than Will Rogers."

And there are undoubtedly others who haven't had the opportunity to demonstrate their unique or engaging qualities. Altogether, we should be recompensed for the defeat of our chief vaudeville actor, "Tom-Tom" Herlin, whose white vest and thundering fulminations against imaginary menaces have provided Senate galleries with entertainment for ten-years.

MORE HELP FROM THE PUBLIC

A United States forest ranger is telling a story to prove that the public has developed a Good Samaritan attitude toward forest fires within the past six years. In 1924, this ranger says, he watched for a few moments the reactions of passing motorists toward an incipient woodland fire in his district. This is what happened.

"An auto came by. The driver stopped to put water in the radiator, saw the smoke, stepped on the gas, and went away.

"Another auto came by, driven by a local man. He stopped, got out, kicked around the fire for a minute or so . . . and went away.

"Another auto came by, slacked off, got an eyeful, stepped on the gas, and went away.

"The next car stopped. Three men got out, took a look and a drink, and they went away . . . Fourteen cars passed, and I had a good-cross section of the public's concern for forest fires by the time I put the fire out.

"But when a fire broke out near the same spot this year, rangers found 15 people already at work with rakes, shovels, sticks, hands and feet, fighting the flaming menace."

DISTINCTION OR ANNOYANCE

A Cabinet Officer's position carries with it, besides honor and monetary benefits, some unique distinctions that fall under the classification of nuisances rather than blessings. For instance, Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur is one of the most sued men in the country. Since taking office in March, 1929, he has been named defendant in 250 suits. Of course, they are not filed against him personally (but as representative of the Interior Department. He is also substitute defendant in all unsettled suits brought against his predecessor.

Most of the suits concern the Secretary's refusal of permits to prospect for oil, a refusal made in accordance with President Hoover's oil conservation policy. Others are claims against the government for losses incurred in prospecting and mining minerals during the World War. Secretary Wilbur's position as guardian of our Indian wards has also given rise to suits. Some of the wards sue to obtain permission to lease their tribal property without permission. Persons who have claims against Indians sue Mr. Wilbur to force him to make good these claims from the Indians' income.

No other Cabinet Officer has a "suit record" that nearly touches Secretary Wilbur's. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, however, eclipses him entirely in this respect; up until a year or two ago, almost 500 cases per month were filed against the Commissioner with the Board of Tax Appeals alone.

"A man is easy to read," said Roberts to nobody in particular as he and a few of his friends lounged in the window of the club one evening. Just then a street car stopped in front of the window and Perkins and his wife and sister got off.

"Which one is his wife?" some one wanted to know. Nobody could answer until Roberts said: "She is the one he didn't help off the car."

"I've turned my wife's back-seat driving to some use."

"Go ahead, I'm helpless."

Parson Tenthly and Deacon Dutton were discussing their automobiles and talk gradually took in every detail connected with automotive engineering. The conversation began with tires and ended with the beam of light cast a hundred feet up the road by the spotlight on the windshield.

"What do you find the hardest thing to overcome when driving your car, parson?" the deacon wanted to know.

"The desire to talk back to my wife," the good man answered.

"I say—Harry, that's hard luck!"

"Yes—I'll miss her."

"She t'inks I am a wonder, and she knows her little lad Could never mix wit' nuttin' dat was ugly, mean and bad. Oh, lots of times I sit an' t'ink how nice 'twould be, gee whiz, if a feller was de feller dat his mudder t'inks he is."

A CO-INCIDENCE

A striking co-incidence in chain of thoughts occurred last week-end. Walter Price, town, and the writer were both "struck" with the highly plausible idea of staging a renewal of those Belleville-Nutley high school grid classics for charity's sake, at precisely the same time. Strange, indeed!

Mr. Price conveyed his suggestion via the channels of another gazette, while the writer used these columns for the purpose.

If a game of this sort is to materialize, it is essential that all cooperate to the fullest extent. The unemployment crisis is serious.

It is up to all to bring about the "Smoking of the peace pipe" by the rival school authorities.

Now Belleville High gets into the spirit of things and offers to play Nutley, December 6, for charity. Kearny is eager to substitute in case of Nutley's refusal.

The players want the game. Belleville High wants it. How about it Principal Mankey and "Doc" Tantum?

West Point and Annapolis cut any amount of red tape and patched up grievances to bring about an Army-Navy game to aid unemployment on a national scale. Isn't the local situation pressing enough to be handled in the same way?

We know you are too big to put "thumbs down" on such a splendid opportunity of doing something really worth while for the towns.

Scholastic football in the two towns has thrived for a good many years. Now give it a chance to repay in some measure by aiding many of your townsmen in defeating that dinky "hard-times" bug-aboo.

The Belleville and the Nutley press feel that they have the backing of both towns for the arranging of the game. All that is needed now is your sanction. We await it with confidence.

MORE ELKS' BOXING

Following up their unqualifiedly successful boxing tourney of several weeks ago, the Belleville Elks, in the person of Joe Reilly, announce that they will hold a similar show two weeks from tonight at their home on Washington avenue.

Mr. Reilly, who is chairman of the Social and Community Welfare Committee of the local Hello Bills, is planning an extensive winter sports program to be sponsored by the Elks.

He is planning to hold his much-liked amateur boxing tournaments at least once a month and oftener if possible, as a first step. His initial venture as a promoter and match-maker was a success to the nth degree. Action galore was provided the well filled hall, with most of the bouts ending in knock-outs.

His December 5 show will probably contain more local talent than the first one. Reilly is scouring the hinterlands of Belleville, Silver Lake Nutley, North Newark, Arlington, and so forth, for promising simon-pure glove welders. His one aim is to make it as such a local tournament as possible.

The Elks are not stopping at boxing bouts, however. It is said, on good authority, that they might convert their hall into a basketball court and devote Sunday nights to the court game with dancing afterwards. As to personnel of that squad, if it materializes, Reilly is planning on getting the pick of the newly started Legion basketball loop to represent the Elks.

The plan is still in the formulative stage, with no definite word available for a week or two. Last year the Elks were content with letting bowling comprise their sports program. Within that short span of a year they have entered teams in both the Legion baseball and bowling loops, in addition to their boxing and basketball leanings. What a difference a year can make!

SHORT AND SCHWEIKER

The Lehigh Freshman grid squad scored an impressive win over the Hun School of Princeton, Saturday afternoon.

That statement in itself means little. When it is mentioned, however, that Paulie Short, last year's Blue and Gold captain, was the star of the game, it is given new significance.

It is not easy to forget a ball-otter and gridiron general of the type of Der Paulie. He was far and away the outstanding factor in bringing Belleville High its best football season last year.

The punch, the ball-carrying class, the all-around effectiveness that was his, is sorely missing in the present condition of the Bell-boy squad. Short has been hampered by injuries somewhat most of this season, while playing regularly on the Lehigh Fresh team.

Last Saturday, however, he hit his stride, proving himself the best back on the field, with his adroit handling of the pig-skin. He certainly may feel that the local townspeople wish him all the luck in the world at Lehigh.

The other Paul, the other half of that famed Schweiker to Short combination, is also cutting quite a swathe in preparatory school ranks. Schweiker recently played most of the game for his Dean Academy team against the West Point Freshman squad. From all reports the forward passing ace is doing right handsomely by himself up at Dean Academy. Against West Point he proved one of the main-stays of the Dean Academy winning attack.

Schwieker is another boy whom all Belleville fandom is rooting for in his climb up the football ladder.

Belleville Elks Seek Home Talent For Local Bouts

Second Amateur Show Is Scheduled For Friday December 5

The Belleville Elks will stage a second amateur boxing tournament Friday, December 5, at their Washington avenue home, in lieu of their highly successful initial attempt some weeks past.

"Joe" Reilly, chairman of the Social and Community Welfare Committee, will again act as match-maker. He states this time that he prefers local applications. All entrants must be registered in the A. A. U., however, which will again sanction the bouts.

The weight classes will remain the same as before. The four classes will comprise the 115, 126, 138 and 147 pounders. The prizes for the winners will consist of wrist-watches for first and second place in each of the four divisions. Consolation prizes will be awarded also.

Another angle that is desired stressed is the fact that women are welcome and cordially invited to these popular shows. In expecting a capacity crowd, Reilly hopes that a goodly percentage of it will be feminine.

And don't forget, all entrants. Send your entries as soon as possible to "Joe" Reilly, care of the Elks' Home, Washington avenue, town.

ROSS MAY PRESS SALARY CLAIM

Lack Of Funds To Carry On Recreation Work Led To Suspension

A second case parallel to that of Roy W. Brooks, Belleville tax collector, who recently was reinstated and paid full salary after seven weeks' suspension, may develop if Clifton H. Ross, suspended recreation director, presses his claim against the town for the remainder of his year's salary. He said he intends to force the issue.

Ross, who was appointed by the Recreation Commission to serve from April 1 to December 31 at a salary of $2,200 a year, suddenly found himself out of a job when the Town Commission ordered suspension of recreation activities October 15 when it was discovered the appropriation of $10,000 had been almost exhausted. Inaccurate monthly statements were said to be responsible for the fact that the shortage was not discovered sooner.

Although Ross holds no written contract, he claims the resolution appointing him specifically designates his term and he was given to understand by the Recreation Commission that if his work was satisfactory he would be reappointed next year. Louis J. Goldberg of East Orange, his attorney, conferred with Town Counsel John B. Brown Monday afternoon. Brown explained the Recreation Commission has authority to discharge Ross prematurely, but only on "sufficient grounds" and after a public hearing.

Commissioner Frank J. Carragher, who controls recreation activities through the recreation board, said that shortly after his suspension Ross offered to resign and "call it quits" for a settlement of $154, which included some expenses and two weeks' advance salary. Carragher agreed.

It was not until Ross consulted the lawyer, Carragher said, that he became dissatisfied with the arrangement. The commissioner declared he will back Ross in his demand for full salary.

Suspension of Ross as director of the Belleville Recreation Commission October 15 because there were no funds to continue the recreation work, was rendered ineffective at a conference of the Town Commission Tuesday afternoon.

Corporation Counsel John B. Brown reported Ross would demand his salary, amounting to $458.35 for the balance of the year regardless of whether he worked. The Town Commission agreed to the necessity of transferring funds to the recreation board and Brown was instructed to arrange for the action next week.

Director Carragher of the Department of Public Property was, in Brown's opinion, relieved of responsibility for the recreation board over-expending its $10,000 budget, because the commissioner's jurisdiction was limited to approving bills. Carragher believed that in the future he should have "full power or nothing."

Carragher said he would put Ross to work, directly under him, if the recreation board didn't give him something to do.

"There's plenty I can use a good man for," he said. "I've several surveys around town I'd like made."

Brown will confer with Town Treasurer T. Russell Sergeant to determine how departmental surpluses may be transferred to cover the situation. Last week Director Clark of the Department of Public Safety stated he might need $2,700 extra to cover police and fire department salary items. The only substantial surplus available was in Director Williams' Department of Revenue and Finance. Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy needed $1,000 extra for poor relief and an emergency note was issued, but he will need a similar amount next month.

BELLEVILLE HAS REASON TO BE ELATED IN THE BATTLE WITH WEST ORANGE

An extremely wet and mud-battered, but happy gang of Belleville High grid warriors shook the sod of West Orange field off their elevated shoes, late Saturday afternoon, satisfied that the 6-6 tie they had achieved early in the afternoon was a moral victory.

West Orange, one of the leading contenders in state Class A ranks and unbeaten so far this season, entered the rain-soaked field, expecting and confident of victory. They left well over an hour later, firmly convinced of the tenacity and recuperative powers of an under-rated Blue and Gold grid machine.

The treacherous propensities of the slippery pig-skin proved a Jonah to the West Orange hopes. They fumbled with the slightest provocation, while the local mud-hens seemed to dote on the condition of the pond-dotted field, making nary a costly fumble all afternoon.

Captain Lou Galluba after almost single-handedly paving the way for Belleville's lone touch-down, suffered a dislocation of the elbow late in the first period, to force him out of the game. He was given an ovation upon his departure. Some of the glory was taken away from the tie with the later announcement that Galluba may have to remain on the side-lines for the remainder of the season.

The local mudders, after scoring early in the opening quarter, on a blocked kick, were gunning for victory all the way and almost succeeded in their objective. For half of the game they retained their 6-0 margin, but West Orange couldn't be denied any longer. A third period touch-down on their part gave them the tying score.

Fritz Plenge's beautiful and well-placed punts were one of the biggest factors from the local standpoint. Plenge's much superior booting kept

Old Man Rain Halts Clinton Footballers

Old Man Rain prevented the fast stepping Clintons from continuing their unbeaten pace in local gridiron wars, Sunday afternoon, at Belleville Park, against the Vallsburg Collegiate. Andy Monaghan's boys did manage to get through the first fourteen minutes of the game, which resulted in a scoreless tie, but after that the driving rain forced a discontinuance of play.

The two teams plan on playing off the game, Thanksgiving Day morning at Belleville Park.

Though unable to cross the final chalk mark during the abbreviated first half, the Clintons out-rushed the visitors by a margin of five first downs to one, before rain interfered. "Bungo" Gorham, with straight line plunging, "Sus" Howley, with his forward passing, accounted for the quintet of first downs for the Clintons. "Pat" Dunn, veteran Clinton pivot man, did yeoman work on the line for the home talent. On one play he kept driving the Collegiate ball-carrier back, finally tackling him for an eighteen yard loss.

Sunday afternoon, at Belleville Park, the Clintons will entertain a rival claimant of inter-town championship honors, the Bloomfield originals. The Clintons have already met and disposed of two Bloomfield elevens, and a win over the Originals will entitle them to undisputed possession of the inter-town diadem.

The Clintons will take the field against their neighborhood rivals with two of their star backs missing from the line-up. "Marty" Mallack and "Hughie" Welsh are both out for the season, one with a shoulder injury and the latter with a dislocated elbow. The rest of the regular Clinton cast will be on hand intact.

Peanut and coffee dust smoldering in a roasting machine in the window of Makee's delicatessen store, 576 Union avenue Saturday morning created clouds of acrid smoke which filled the two-story brick building. Fire apparatus was summoned, but there was no blaze.

the locals on top throughout the first half.

At the start of the third quarter, however, the West Orange faulty attack, hit its stride and bore their way down the field to knot the count. After that they subsided before the determined plunging of a hard tackling Blue and Gold forward wall and had to content themselves with a tie.

The Bell-boys entered the game with the bearing of champs rather than that of under-dogs and their alertness enabled them to take an early lead.

Lou Galluba kicked off with lots of snap. His punt travelled to the twenty yard stripe, with West Orange returning the ball to their own thirty. The first line plunge gained the home boys three yards. As a second play they tried a forward pass which was promptly snatched out of the air by Fritz Plenge to give Belleville the ball on West Orange's forty yard stripe.

Tucking the grimy oval under their arms, the local ball-toters then started to rip holes in the West Orange inner defense. Art Leadbeater got eight off left tackle as a starter and Plenge and Lamb completed the first down on the thirty with a pair of short line thrusts. The next plunges were not so successful, three of them netting but five yards.

Unwilling to risk loss of the ball Belleville elected to boot. Fritz Plenge's attempted out-side kick within the five yard line just missed its target, going over the goal line to give West Orange the ball on their own twenty yard line.

A center rush for six and an end run for minus three satisfied the home boys that kicking was their dish. That fast charging Belleville line was contrary along those lines, however, with the result that Lou Galluba broke through and completely blocked the kick of the harassed punter. Casale plunged on the wet, floundering oval on the five yard line.

Stirred to a fighting pitch by this turn of events, West Orange held fast, giving but three yards on three Belleville plunges. "Mac" Lamb, fleet-footed Belleville back, was Johnny-on-the-spot, however, and skirted left end for the needed two yards and the touch-down. Lamb's conversion of the extra point, via the forward pass route, fell short of its mark.

Ralph Casale, with a dazzling burst of speed, again brought the Belleville contingent to its feet with a thirty yard run-back of the next kick-off. He got the punt on the fly, sped along the side-lines, behind some nice interference, and got past mid-field before he was brought to earth.

It was not so easy once past the mid-way section, however, so Fritz Plenge stepped back and booted a corker to West Orange's fifteen yard line. Three West Orange plunges availed little, making a punt a necessity. Lou Westra received the kick in mid field just as the quarter ended.

Belleville forged deep into West Orange territory at the start of the second period, purely and simply because of Fritz Plenge's unerring right toe. After a bit of punt-exchanging, the West Orange punter muffed up his attempted kick on the fourth down, Casale recovering his fumble for Belleville on the homesteaders' thirty-three yard stripe.

A fifteen yard penalty inflicted on the locals for holding forced the calling of Plenge into action again and he delivered with a kick to the twenty yarder. And then they kicked back and forth again. It was that kind of a game.

With the half-time whistle a minute or two away, West Orange staged a last minute drive that just missed fire.

After several successful cross backs had brought the oval to mid-field, a twenty-nine yard pass and another for twenty yards brought the oval to the one yard line.

With the whistle on the official's lips, West Orange tried an off-tackle play, which Belleville promptly smeared for no gain, just as the half ended. It was a sorry bunch of West Orange boys that trudged off the field for the rest period, while the locals were jubilant.

A poor kick-off at the start of the second half, provided the West Orange-angies with just the needed spark to enable them to tie the count. Receiving the ball in mid-field, they sliced off tackle with several deceptive plays for splendid yardage. The climax of this march down the field was a thirty-three yard sprint off tackle on the part of a West Orange substitute, Kearns. This run carried the oval to the two yard line.

A pair of plunges and west Orange had scored. With the game hinging on the result, Cataldo of the homesteaders tried an end run for the extra point, but Fritz Plenge was the man of the hour with a neat tackle, to stop him in his tracks.

Play was confined to mid-field for the rest of the quarter, with only Fritz Plenge's fine punting giving Belleville the edge. One of his well-placed kicks went out of bounds on West Orange's ten yard mark just as the third quarter ended.

West Orange, with the aid of some nicely executed fake reverses did manage to tote the oval back to mid-field, but no further. The entire fourth quarter was devoted to forwards and when they failed, as they almost invariably did, punting was resorted to.

The most notable Belleville achievement in the way of ball-carrying was provided by Jerry Bonavita, subbing for Lamb. He carried the ball ten yards through center early in the period, but nothing ever came of it. West Orange was in possession of the ball deep in her own territory just as the game ended.

The entire Belleville line did yeoman work in stopping the much vaunted, Cataldo-led, West Orange back-field. West Orange was never before so completely throttled in a scoring way this season. Estelle, Galluba, Bade and Usdansky were particular bulwarks.

Fritz Plenge, the Blue and Gold punting throst, showed to fine advantage throughout, handling the wet ball with deftness and finesse, especially on his kicks. "Mac" Lamb, Art Leadbeater and Lou Westra completed the back-field in capable fashion.

Belleville Elks' Pinners Take Two From Euclid Five

The Belleville Elks' pinners took two out of three from the strong Euclid Masonic five at Hoboken, on Thursday night, in a Morris and Essex League match.

The local Hello Bills found the Euclid allies to their liking all night rolling above 100 in each game. "Babe" Whitten, with a 248, led the locals to a "thousand" team tally in the first. 1947 to be exact. Scores of 229 and 215 by Waldie and MacNair also helped.

A 917 in the second game gave the Elks a 150 pin margin to easily cap that one. Faust compiled a fine 212 in this game. Despite "Tom" MacNair's brilliant 222 the locals fell victims to a belated Masonic rush in the final. A 971 team rally, backed up by three 200 tallies, gave the homesteaders a thirty pin margin in that one.

This final win enabled them to salvage one game of the three and just prevented a clean sweep for the high scoring locals.

Tiffanys Miss Out To Tie For Lead In Manufacturers'

Martin-Dennis Still Tops The List Of Twelve Combines

Tiffany's missed a chance to go in to a tie for the league lead with the Martin-Dennis five in the local Manufacturers' Bowling League, Friday night, at Ferrara's, taking but two games from Jeffery-Mayer. Martin-Dennis dropped the final of their match with Thomson's, after winning the first two, to keep one game in the van in the race.

In other games of the night Wallace & Tiernan took the odd game of their three with Hoyt Brothers. Federal Leather won all three from the slipping Sonneborn squad. Sweeney's showed lots of form in sweeping their series with Hanlon & Goodman and finally Atlas Fence dropped two out of three to International Ticket.

Brogan's 234 in the final game of the Sweeney-Halon & Goodman match was the individual high score of the night.

The Republican Club, in spite of an unexpected two out of three setback at the hands of the Veterans of Foreign Wars pin-knights, managed to retain a one game hold on first place in the local Legion Bowling League at Ferrara's, Monday night.

The El Club failed to take advantage of this slump on the part of the league-leaders, dropping three straight to the Elks, to move down to third position.

The Moose, by virtue of a clean sweep against the slipping St. Peter's quintet, went into a tie for second place with the Knights of Columbus. The Knights took two away from the Belleville A. A. to gain their coveted position.

The other two games of the evening resulted in favor of the Junior Order and the Hoopies. The Juniors found the Bachelors easy pickings winning three in a row. The Hoopies were not so successful against the Parks, dropping the final after sopping the initial two.

INTERTOWN ROD AND GUN CLUB OPENS SEASON WITH GOOD RESULTS

The Intertown Rod and Gun Club opened up the hunting season with very good results although the club was divided, as four members hunted on the club's 400 acre farm at Neushanic and the other members made the trip to Sussex.

The Neushanic party which was up of the President, R. Beckett; Secretary, E. King; Jack Beckett of Nutley, and J. C. DuBose were the most successful having bagged sixteen rabbits and eight pheasants for two days. The other party made up of Oscar Lawson, Joe Rue, J. Baker and J. Fleming did not have as good luck as the region which they hunted was not as large. Their report to the club was eight rabbits and two pheasants.

At the last meeting of the club, which was held last Friday at the home of Mr. Beckett, 29 Adelaide street, the members arranged to have a fishing party to Long Branch, Saturday and Sunday of this week. Mr. Beckett invited the club to use his summer home for the week-end. The program for the two days is as follows: The members will fish from the Long Branch pier Saturday. ### Health Officer Warns Against Scarlet Fever

Due to a slight outbreak of Scarlet Fever in town, the Department of Health wishes to warn parents of its prevalence.
"While we do not feel there is any immediate danger of an epidemic, however, due to the mildness of the cases so far reported, parents should be on their guard, so that a correct diagnosis can be made and prevent its spread to other children," says Health Officer Eugene T. Berry.
"During the past three weeks thirteen cases have been reported. The following are a few facts about the disease which we feel parents should be familiar with.
Principal Signs and Symptoms
The onset is usually sudden. Vomiting, sore throat, headache and fever are the first symptoms noted; vomiting is not evident in all cases, there may be only a state of nausea. The rash usually appears within twenty-four hours, and is seen first on the neck and the upper part of the chest. It appears as a fine bright red. Later the skin peels in scales, flakes or large pieces.
"Parents are urged to cooperate with this department to help check this slight outbreak. If your child complains of not feeling well and should develop a slight sore throat, accompanied by a slight rash and fever, do not take it for granted that due to the fact that he is not real sick, it may be a stomach rash or measles, for it may be Scarlet Fever.
"If any of the symptoms should appear your family doctor should be called at once," he concludes.

Ten-Day Lover Held As Abductor When Girl Summons Police

Nutley Man, 22, Found With Old Gang On Corner After Love Nest Tilt

Mary McGillis, 17, of 76 Race street, was determined that the woman wouldn't pay; but it seems that Mary reckoned without the law and is now in the Newark Penitentiary Home facing charges of being a wayward minor.
Mary allegedly left her home for Jason Gould, 22, a painter, of 2 Locust avenue, on November 4.
Telling her parents that she was going to visit friends in Bevis, she went down to the corner and met Gould. They eloped to a love nest he had rented in a Newton rooming house.

Ten-Day Romance

For ten days romance bloomed. Then it palled on Gould. He thought of the old gang hanging out on the corner.
Friday morning he put on his hat and coat and announced that he was going out for a stroll. His stroll brought him to Nutley and naturally he started looking up the gang. They were all there, very little changed by the ten days.
Back in Newton, Mary waited patiently for his return. When noon came and he failed to appear, she became worried. They had had a few harsh words and she thought of them. But the more she thought, the more clear it became to her that Jason's "I'll be seeing you again, sometime" was just another way of saying goodbye.
Called Police Aid
So Mary picked up the telephone and poured out her heart to the Nutley police.
"Would they find Jason for her? They would and did. He was back on the corner with the gang when Officer Theodore Lusez arrested him on a charge of abduction.

This World Of Ours

By BUS MCGINNITY

"UNION TROUBLE"
 The scene is two lovers, living in a world of their own with only the moon and the stars as a guidance to their courtship. Suddenly "the process of love" overtakes them to such a degree, that in their frantic fervent minds, they decide to get married. It cannot come too quickly for them; and before they know it, they become man and wife.
 The desire to be alone with each other, to constantly be with each other, and in the vernacular of today, to play "papa and mama," finds them in still another world. The temperamentalities, emotions, whims and complexes and many other things about two human beings become exposed. They do not understand each other. Constant arguing and dissection now arise, which make life a tragedy to both of them.
 And to this, H. L. Mencken has the following to say about "disparate union" or the old inevitable unhappy marriage. Mencken says:
 "It is not unknown by many that first-rate men, when they marry at all, tend to marry noticeably inferior wives. The causes of the phenomenon, so often dismissed and so seldom illuminated, should be plain by now. The first-rate man, by postponing marriage as long as possible, often approaches it in the end with his faculties crippled by middle age, and is thus open to the advances of women, who attractions are wholly meretricious, empty flappers, scheming widows, and trained nurses with a highly developed professional technique of sympathy. If he marries at all, indeed, he must commonly marry badly, for women of genuine merit are no longer interested in him; what was a lodestar, is now no more than a smoking smudge. It is this circumstance that accounts for the low calibre of a good many first-rate men's sons, and gives a certain support to the common notion that they are always third raters."
 In a marriage between an able man and a commonplace woman, the chances that any given child will resemble the mother are, roughly speaking, three to one. The fact suggests the thought that nature is secretly against the superman, and seeks to prevent his birth. We have indeed, no ground for assuming that the continued progress visualized by man is in actual accord with the great flow of the element forces. Devolution is quite as natural as evolution, and may be just as pleasing, or even a good deal more pleasing to the Almighty.

 All animal breeders know how difficult it is to maintain a fine strain. The universe seems to be in a conspiracy to encourage the endless reproduction of peasants and Socialists, but a subtle and mysterious opposition stands eternally against the reproduction of philosophers.
 As per statistics, it is notorious that women of merit frequently marry second-rate men, and bear them children, thus aiding in the war upon progress. One is often astonished to discover that the wife of some sordid and prosaic manufacturer or banker or professional man is a woman of quick intelligence and genuine charm with intellectual interests so far above his comprehension that he is scarcely so much as aware of them. Again, there are the leading feminists, women artists and other such "captains of the sex"; their husbands are almost always inferior men, and sometimes downright fools. But not paupers! Not incompetents in a man's world! Not bad husbands! What we here encounter, of course, is no more than a fresh proof of the "agency of women." The first-rate woman is a realist. She sees clearly that, in a world dominated by second-rate men, the special capacities of the second-rate man are esteemed above all other capacities and given the highest rewards, and she endeavors to get her share of those rewards by marrying a second-rate man at the top of his class. The first-rate man is an admirable creature; his qualities are appreciated by every intelligent woman. It may be reasonably argued that he is actually superior to all elements. But his attractions, after a certain point, do not run in proportion to his deserts; beyond that he ceases to be a good husband. Hence the pursuit of him is chiefly maintained, not by women who are his peers, but by women who are his inferiors.
 As Shakespeare has put it, there must be some mystery in love—and there can be no mystery between intellectual equals. I dare say, that many a woman marries an inferior man, not primarily because he is a good provider (though it is possible to imagine her overlooking this), because his very inferiority interests her, and makes her want to remedy it and mother him. Egoism is in the impulse: it is pleasant to have a feeling of superiority, and to be assured that it can be maintained. If now, that feeling be mingled with sexual curiosity and economic self-interest, it obviously supplies sufficient motivation to account for so natural and banal a thing as a marriage. Perhaps the greatest of all these factors is the mere disparity, the naked strangeness. A woman could not love a man, as the phrase is, who wore skirts and pencilled his eyebrows, and by the same token she would probably find it difficult to love a man who matched perfectly her own sharpness of mind. What she most esteems is marriage, on the psychic plane, is the chance it offers for the exercise of that caressing irony which I have already described. She likes to observe that her man is a fool-der, perhaps, but none the less damned. Her so-called love for him, even at its highest, is always somewhat pitying and patronizing.

John Saacke has driven Telephone cars for twenty years without an accident injuring any one. He is dean of 1,800 drivers of telephone motor vehicles in New Jersey who drove more than 760,000 miles last month ... safely.

1800 men driving a fleet of trucks and light cars 25000 miles every day, on the crowded highways and byways of New Jersey with safety to pedestrian and motorist, is no accidental occurrence. It is the direct result of unceasing war against accidents in which every Telephone driver is enthusiastically enlisted, a war which has driven the accident enemy back, month by month.

His subject will be "Mussolini and World Politics." The meeting which is non-sectarian and non-partisan will be open to the public free of charge.

The speaker was honored by the Italian government for his services during the World War by having bestowed upon him the rank of Officer of the Crown when he was only 34 years old. He has since been made Knight Commander for his cultural achievements. He was also awarded the Italian Military Cross for his brilliant exploits on the Dolomite front.

Dr. Roselli came to America eight years ago as attache in the Italian Embassy. His services were requested and obtained shortly afterward by the War and Treasury Departments of our own government. With the exception of his annual European trips he has resided here ever since. He returns to Italy every summer to study new developments in Italian literature and art and to renew his acquaintance with leaders in Italian politics and thought.

Brakeman Killed; Wife Gets $45,000

Wins High Court Verdict In P. R. R. Man's Death

In a sealed verdict opened in Supreme Court at Long Island City, Mrs. Margaret Creemeans of 243 Linden avenue, was awarded $45,000 for the death of her husband, John, 37, a Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman. The verdict was against the railroad, and Justice Leander B. Faber denied motions to set it aside or reduce it.

Creemeans was killed July 6, 1929 in the Sunnyside yard of the railroad. No one saw the accident, so there was no direct evidence of what happened.

Witnesses testified that Creemeans was riding a freight car down into a classification track, standing on the iron step at the side of the car and holding the grabiron in his hands when last seen. His body was found later, alongside the yardmaster's shanty.

The plaintiff contended that the shanty was too close to the track and that Creemeans was crushed between it and the freight car. The defense argued that Creemeans was killed by his own carelessness, losing his hold and falling under the car.
