Dental Clinic Need Is Cited During School Board Meeting

Mrs. Porter Sheldon Says Survey In One Section Shows Many Defects

"Out of 900 pupils in a certain school area 500 had defective teeth," declared Mrs. Porter Sheldon of the Belleville Board of Education at a meeting Monday night. "Of the 1,828 cases of defective teeth reported only 162 were corrected. These figures alone point out the dire need for some sort of a dental clinic in our public school system."

Mrs. Sheldon proposed that about $4,000 be appropriated for the purpose of carrying on the work of looking after teeth of children in the lower grades especially the kindergarten.

Dr. H. B. Vail declared that the most important work that could be done was to look after the dental work of the first teeth.

"Parents say," he remarked, "what's the use of taking care of teeth that are going to drop out in a year or two?" It is a case of educating the parent that the jaw does not form perfectly until after the second teeth come in.

"I would propose that certain dentists throughout the town be asked to give a certain period for school children during their office hours, for remuneration, of course."

Health Officer Eugene Berry also advocates the establishing of a dental clinic. "A clean mouth is a healthy mouth," he declared, and that in addition to improving the health of the child the dentist will also improve the attendance.

Arington, Bloomfield, Irvington and West Orange have dental clinics.

W. W. Stewart, a member of the board, declared that "something must be done." J. L. DeRosset said that he was heartily in accord with the movement.

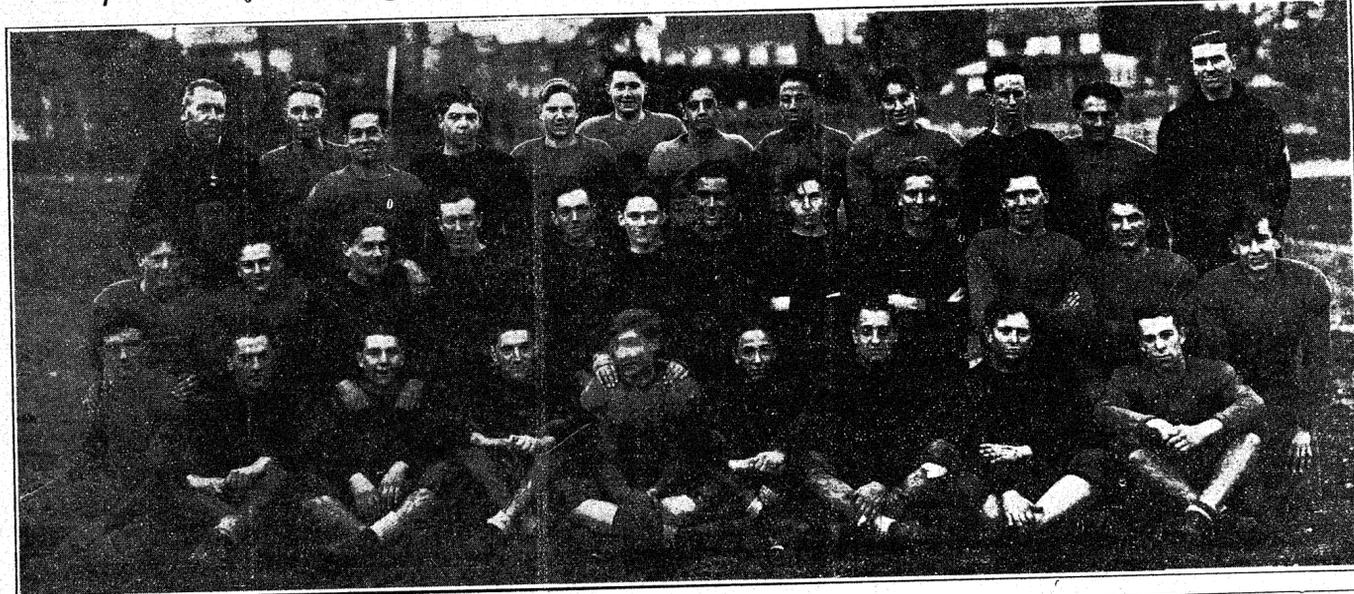

This matter was finally referred to the health committee, of which Mrs. Sheldon is chairman, for investigation and report.

Mrs. Sheldon believed a vacant classroom at School 8 might be equipped at an estimated cost of $1,000. Her tentative idea was to have a dentist and assistant in attendance five mornings each week so that pupils might avail themselves of the service without being counted absent from school.

John P. Maher, board president, and Watson Current, who comprise the building and grounds committee, will seek an immediate remedy for pilfering of gymnasium apparel from lockers, which, Supervising Principal George R. Georard reported, was still "deliberately and willfully going on" in spite of the purchase of new lockers early in the year. It is the old lockers, however, which are being broken into and the board expressed favor of installing bars across the doors.

The request of Harry C. Naylor of 231 Joramelon street for a share in handling school insurance was referred to the finance committee. A letter from a woman writer in Smallwood avenue was described by James J. Turner, business manager, as stating a "personal complaint" and was referred to the board in conference after the public meeting.

"Pop" Erickson's Big Blue And Gold Machine Primed For Nutley Fracas

This squad of Belleville High School huskies will tie off to Nutley tomorrow to be charitable—that's for the unemployed—but maybe not so charitable to Chief Stanford's Maroon and Gray aerial passers.

THIS YEAR'S ARGUMENT, WILL NOT CARRY "CHARITY IDEA" INTO PLAY ANY MORE THAN PREVIOUS BATTLES

Coaches Stanford And "Pop" Erickson Hold Confidence For Win For Respective Football Warriors

The Blue and Gold of Belleville High and the Maroon and Gray of Nutley are "chaffing at the bit," as the await their all-important grid classic, Saturday afternoon, at Park Oval.

Despite the charity aspect of the occasion, with the devotion of the entire receipts to charitable organizations of both towns, the warriors of George Stanford of Nutley and "Pop" Erickson of Belleville will certainly not carry that "charity idea" into play. These Belleville-Nutley games always typify rivalry at its hottest, and this year's argument is given more weight as both squads, on paper, seem so evenly matched.

On the eve of the struggle Coach Erickson of Belleville is confident that his team will show the form of the second half of the East Side game, which the Bell-boys captured 19-6. He has been coaching them during the past few days in a more adequate defense against an expected Stanfordian aerial attack and expresses satisfaction with the way his men have responded to his teachings.

On the other hand, Coach Stanford of Nutley is hardly despondent over his team's Turkey Day defeat at the hands of South Side, one of the classiest squads in the entire state. He is grooming his ace, Sherwood, in his specialty, flipping forward passes. This has been an art at which Nutley has been especially efficient all season and Belleville is looked upon as a sure victim of this fire. It is generally felt, too, that Stanford has something unexpected up his sleeve in the form of a running attack to thwart the invading forces.

Two years have elapsed since Belleville and Nutley last met on the grid-iron. In a memorable battle in the fall of 1928, two great teams representing the two schools collided, with Nutley being returned the victor by a 12-7 count at Clearman Field, Belleville, before upwords of 10,000 spectators.

This year, brought together by the mutual bond of charity, they will meet again, Belleville in an attempt to even the count with a win at Nutley, the latter in an effort to continue their successes of former years.

With stands available on all sides of the large field, it is expected that the attendance will equal if not better that high water mark of two years back.

The Commanders of both the Nutley and the Belleville Posts of the American Legion have announced that their entire personnel will be on hand in uniform to lend to the dignity and color of the occasion. They will also assist in the patrolling of the grounds.

High officials of both towns will come out en masse to witness this superb school-boy grid battle. The combined bands of both schools will lead a parade to the goal posts before the game and between the halves, while both forces of cheer-leaders have promised to be at their yelling-est to add zest to the occasion.

The teams will line up as follows:

Nutley High	Belleville High
Luzzi	L. E.	C. Plenge
Lang	L. T.	Galluba (C)
Hagerman	L. G.	McMaster
Van Horn (C)	C.	Braud

POLICE NAB PAIR IN AUTO TANGLE HOLDING THEM FOR EXTRADITION PROCEEDINGS STARTED IN CANADA

Local Authorities Unravel A Thriller Which It Is Believed May Lead To International Car Theft Ring

Belleville police are holding as fugitives from justice two men who will be committed to the county jail for extradition to Canada as a result of the police confiscating an automobile for which no one could produce to the satisfaction of the police either owner's or driver's license. The authorities believe that the arrest may lead to the discovery of an international ring of automobile thieves.

The men held are Julian alias Domenick alias Joseph Falcone whose home is said to be in Norwich, Conn., and Peter Zeitz of 132 Bromley street, Norwich. How they came to land into the hands of the police is a round about story which involves the questioning Monday and Tuesday of a Belleville and two Nutley men. The trio were apprehended in Washington avenue by Sergeant Elmer Leighton and Patrolman Harry Scott who became suspicious of the trio seated in the front seat of the car which had no rear light and carried Connecticut plates.

They were taken to headquarters and lodged overnight in a cell. Conflicting stories were told by them, but to the point that they had met a man named Falcone who said he was from Connecticut and wanted to place his car in a garage for the night. Falcone, they said, had not given his correct address to them, but was believed to be staying in Nutley at a boarding house, just where they did not know.

While the trio were lodged in jail Zeitz stubbed his toe when he strove to talk through a window at headquarters to the three. Sergeant James Hannan saw him and shanghied Zeitz into the jail.

Zeitz admitted he and Falcone had been together in Nutley but he did not know where to find him. Patrolman John Flynn decided to visit Nutley with Zeitz and enroute discovered Falcone sitting in a car in Washington avenue awaiting for Zeitz. Eagle eye detective work, details of which were missing at the time of going to press last night, placed Falcone in jail.

In the car was found a paper which showed that H. H. Valente, a salesman, of Montreal had purchased gasoline on a charge account on October 27 at a Montreal garage. Montreal police replied to a telegram from Police Chief Michael Flynn that on that day the car had been stolen in Montreal. Norwich authorities further informed the chief of Falcone's aliases and that he had been convicted of crime before.

A revolver and a razor were found in the car in which Falcone was found.

According to reliable information, Zeitz, Falcone and another man made a trip to Montreal in their automobile which overturned in Farman, forty miles from Montreal. They took a train back to Montreal where they engaged a room. Zeitz said he was in the room one night when Falcone came in and said:

"We're going home, come on, I've got a car."

Zeitz said he asked how it had been obtained and Falcone said he was taking it back for a garage friend of his. Police will further investigate as to the ownership of the Connecticut license plates which were issued to an automobile repair shop, said to deal in the sale of used cars.

Patterson Scores Two More Victories

Lays Low Marty Rosen And Jimmy Lawson In New York

Sammy Warner's young protege, Eddie Patterson, hard hitting two-fisted flash, has scored two more knockouts. Saturday night at the Monticello Club of New York in the first round he flattened Marty Rosen. Rosen tried to feel out Patterson in the first round but found himself on the floor from a terrific left hook to the jaw. Rosen was out cold for five minutes. Rosen weighed 124; Patterson, 119. Then Patterson was called to do battle at Fort Erie, Staten Island, New York, with Jimmy Lawson. Lawson floored Patterson for the count of eight at the start but the bell saved Patterson. In the second and third rounds Patterson staged a great come-back by slugging away at Lawson's body and jaw. In the fourth round Lawson was very weak. Patterson wasted no time in landing his terrific left hook on Lawson's jaw. Down went Lawson for the count of ten. Lawson weighed 123; Patterson, 121. Lawson is known for some of his great fights on the coast and hails from Scranton, Pa. Sammy Warner is the manager who is bringing out this young protege. Warner has tested his protege against some hard punchers and smart boxers. Warner says with a little more experience Patterson will give the best of them a battle.

Local Elks Plan Big Card Party

Affair Will Be Held At Home Wednesday, December 17

The Social and Community Welfare Committee of the Belleville Elks are completing arrangements to hold a card party and reception at the home on Wednesday evening, December 17, at 8 o'clock. Joseph Reilly, chairman of the committee, announces that the following ladies' committee are assisting with this affair: Mrs. Lawrence Keenan, Miss Freda Kemmis, Miss Rita Linhan, Mrs. Frank Neary, Mrs. Philip Baker, Mrs. I. Harker, Mrs. Ora Schwin, Mrs. John Garrison, Mrs. William Buttons, Mrs. Joseph Kimble, Mrs. F. Hull. The committee is making every effort to make this affair a success. After the games refreshments will be served without charge and dancing will follow.

There are 10,000 tickets on sale, ranging in price from fifty cents to $2. The fifty-cent tickets are for school children only, the $2 tickets, of which there are only 500, are for the center of the stands, while general admission is $1. If every ticket were sold a gross revenue of $9,300 would be realized. Those in charge of the affair in both towns are so optimistic that they are predicting that the very least that will be realized is $7,000.

A committee composed of Edgar R. Leete, Dr. Horace Tatum and Paul R. Radcliffe representing Nutley met at Yountakah Country Club with a similar committee from Belleville composed of Mayor Kenworthy, James J. Turner and Thomas Fleming. It was agreed that the game was to be played in Nutley because of the greater seating capacity and the fact that the last Belleville-Nutley game was played in Belleville. Belleville's bleachers will be brought to Nutley to augment the seating capacity here. A committee of three from each town met at the field Thursday morning and completed the seating arrangements. The seats have been so arranged that everyone buying a ticket will be able to see the game. During the week the committees in both towns were greatly enlarged and as soon as the tickets were ready the work of distributing them through the town's stores where they could be sold was started.

Printers in both towns contributed not only the tickets but automobile stickers and the moving picture houses produced "trailers" for use in publicizing the game. It is expected before the distribution of tickets gets very far that committees from practically all the town's social and fraternal organizations will be pressed into service. Before the tickets were ready many requests were received for blocks by the committee members in both towns.

The central board has assured the committee that officials will work in the game as a donation to the cause.

James J. Turner, Belleville School Business Manager will handle the financial end in Belleville and Colin C. Linn, business manager of the Board of Education, will handle it in Nutley. It is expected that all tickets placed on sale throughout the town will be collected up a couple of days before the game so that they may be sold to last minute buyers at the field on the day of the game.

Mrs. Lionel Phillips made high score in bridge at the card party held at the club house last Monday afternoon. Mrs. John Penter scored in whist while Mrs. F. H. Hanson was high in pinochle. Mrs. G. C. Miller is card party chairman. The bridge tournament now in progress is attracting wide attention, if you can judge by attendance, as there have been at least fifteen tables in play on card party afternoon. The grand award for the tournament is to be on exhibition very soon and will be well worth seeing and more than well worth winning. The net card party will not be till January 5.

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors will be held at the club house, Friday afternoon, December 5, at 2:30. All members are expected to be present.

Sergeant Geo. Wirtz Term Expires As Pension Fund Member

The term of Sergeant George Wirtz as a member of the Police and Firemen Pension Fund expired this month.

Sergeant Wirtz has been succeeded by Patrolman John J. Flynn, son of Police Chief Michael J. Flynn, who was unanimously elected Tuesday.

Sergeant Wirtz, who was financial secretary of the Belleville P. B. A. nineteen years until his promotion last year, met with the board for the last time Tuesday night.

Attends Convention

James L. DeRosset of 54 Smallwood avenue, a member of the Board of Education went today to Trenton to attend the semi-annual meeting of the Federated District Board of Education.

Mr. DeRosset was chosen as the delegate from the Belleville board two weeks ago. One delegate from each Board of Education in the state attends the meeting which is held to discuss district educational problems from the standpoint of the Board of Education. He is chairman of the finance committee of the local board.

Commissioner Williams was immediately on his feet in protest. He gave figures which showed that taxes due in 1930 amounted to $750,000; in 1929, $250,000; in 1928, $100,000; in 1927, $76,000 and in 1926, $20,000.

This World Of Ours
By BUS MCGINNITY

BIG SHOTS

We wonder if all those persons who consider themselves "big shot" are happy? We know they are not. Living this singular type of life, involves many things, one must do to carry them out. When you slip up on one of them, then the actor just forgets his lines and makes an ass of himself. There are so many people who have semi-executive positions, who are only barons in their own home, and to the rest of the family they appear either as barons, or "bone heads."

Anybody can be boss, but it takes a real man to handle big affairs. The importance of some of these "managers" who have worked at one routine position for twenty years, and have that "tom cat" smirk on their face, because you don't quite understand what they are talking about, is due, in lots of cases to the fact that the "tom cat" smiler does not know what he is talking about himself.

Any man twenty years at a mediocre line of occupation should either be immensely wealthy and president of the business, or throw in the towel and try some other line.

"A rolling stone gathers no moss," very true, but who wants moss on them?

Even the man who has been at one line of endeavor for many years should not let it go to his head, although in some cases, it might be well for it to go to his head for then it won't be crowded.

We knew of a man who was working at one position for many years, he was promoted each year at a sliding scale raise in salary. He was important and hard to talk to.

The company he was with finally failed. He went out to get another job and had a very hard time of it, for two years. Finally he secured a position at one-third the salary he had received at the former position. He was fired and hired several times later but on all the other positions he continued to get but one-third of the "gravy" salary he had gotten on the first job.

You know as well as we do that there are a great many persons holding positions today, that are most incapable. But they get the "breaks," and believe us when we tell you there is such a thing as a break. Merits don't seem to count much these days.

Police men in New York during Commissioner Enright's reign were wont to say: "If you are Enright, you are 'in right!'"

There are always burdens in the minds of some, who cannot tell the public, why they are irritable—these persons are excused. Sad happenings have occurred in the lives of all of us, which have set us back considerably, but the fellow with the big job, as he wants us to believe it is, and on top of it, has that rapid egomania is just "all wet."

Be yourself and everybody will love you. Perhaps the fellow you were talking to yesterday has probably a much bigger position than you expect.

Our idea of a big man, is one who listens, is kind, diplomatic in his conversation and above all a gentleman.

Driver Arrested After Collision

H. A. Lee Arrested After Car Crashes Into Auto On Greylock Parkway

Because he wasn't certain whether he was driving his car when it crashed into a parked machine Sunday night, Harry A. Lee, 31, of 32 Edgar place, faced recorder Fitzsimmons Monday morning on a charge of driving while drunk.

Lee was driving on Greylock avenue, police said, accompanied by Charles G. Stopana of Philadelphia. The car crashed into a parked auto, owned by John W. Keenan, of 355 Greylock avenue. Following the crash, Stopana was overcome with a craving to return to his old home town in Philadelphia, and hailed a cab, with orders to be taken to the railroad station. Instead, the driver took him to Dr. Louis Rizzolo, who dressed the lacerations on his face, and treated his black eye.

Lee, police said, left the car where it stood, and went to his home, where they later found him. When questioned, he said he didn't know if he was driving the machine or not, police said.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gemeinhardt, Jr., and daughter Dorothy of Prospect street spent Thanksgiving at home of a sister, Mrs. Joseph Hoeman of Newark.

Announcement by the principal, Miss McDavid.

Former Governor A. Harry Moore was the feature speaker at the Thanksgiving Day exercises at Belleville High School, Wednesday, November 26.

After congratulating Music Supervisor Miss Walters for the excellent singing of the boys' glee club and the equally fine renditions of the orchestra, Mr. Moore said that he always liked to talk to young men and women because they always made such a good audience.

Continuing he said: "I visited an industrial plant today where the men were holding Thanksgiving exercises. In these hard times one wouldn't think that the men, who only work two or three days a week, would have much to be thankful for but their spirit typifies the spirit of America, the never say die spirit that has made us overcome greater difficulties than those which we now face."

Mr. Moore then told a story which touched the heart of every listener. He began: "One night when I was governor of this state and the bills from the legislature to the governor were coming to me in a deluge, tired out, I took a walk. My steps led me to the penitentiary where I met the warden who walked with me to the death house with the little green door through which many pass but none return alive."

"The warden pointed out to me an old colored man who reminded me of the pictures I had seen of Uncle Tom. 'That man shouldn't die,' the warden remarked and explained the case to me. The warden introduced me to the colored man and he, on hearing my name, fell to his knees and breathed prayers of thanksgiving."

"He had prayed that the governor would come to see him before he died. So the next day I looked up the papers in his case and was able to commute his sentence to life imprisonment."

In the Thanksgiving program besides Mr. Moore, who was introduced by Principal of the High School Charles L. Steel, Jr., was Miss Ruth Hess, who read President Hoover's Thanksgiving proclamation. She was introduced by Paul Dow, president of the senior class. The boys' glee club sang, "Come Ye Thankful People, Come," "Just A Wearying For You," and "The Soldiers' Chorus." The school closed the program by chorusing "Psalm of Thanksgiving."

The entire high school is agog with impatience in connection with the coming Belleville-Nutley football game, that is, they can barely wait. This entire school week the full squad of cheer leaders led the student body in a few cheers each morning. Not only do we want to have the better football team but also our crowd is going to out-do itself in order to make a lasting impression on those folks up in Nutley. Our band is out for honors, too, with all their bright uniforms and such. Just to show at what pitch things are down at the high school, Mr. Gerard recently made an appeal from the platform to the school to show a lot of real spirit at the coming game tomorrow. Mr. Gerard also made a direct speech to Mr. Erickson, coach, telling him as to how he understood the conditions under which the boys had been laboring as coach. If we'll dig down and have been doing a real good job, such as watching over the boys at the Halloween party and all this considering the fact he is a family man. He has been giving up his time and many other things equally as precious in order to make the team a success so why not this last and best game of the season turn out en-masse just to show our coach what we think of him and his charges.

YOUR CAR and the YOUR MOTOR LAWS

GET YOUR PLATES NOW!

By HAROLD G. HOFFMAN,
State Comm'r. of Motor Vehicles.

Registration plates for 1931 and drivers' licenses are now being distributed by the Department of Motor Vehicles. Reception of applications began on Saturday in every motor vehicle agency throughout the State. New plates may be used beginning December 15.

Each year requests are made for certain numbers. Some drivers like tricky combinations like "10,000" or "4444," or they want the same numbered plates they had the preceding year, or plates which correspond with their telephone numbers, or which, for some personal reason, are remembered. So far as is possible, we shall continue to comply with such requests, but they must be made and the plates taken up before November 20.

Lengthen the period in which they might be obtained. I had intended to begin distribution the first of November, but the attorney general's office advised me that Article 1 of the motor vehicle law does not permit issuance of licenses before November 15.

Plates for 1931 will be uniform in size, fifteen inches long. Heretofore some special plates, for example those owned by State, county and city governments, have been seven inches long. The standardization of size has permitted economies in manufacturing the plates, and further economies will be possible when the standard color combination is put into effect in 1932. For 1931 the plates will consist of white numbers on a crimson background. All plates have been brought to standard size by placing letter such as "CO" and "MG" one above the other, instead of side-by-side.

For years, notwithstanding earnest appeals by my predecessor, Commissioner Dill, the great majority of motorists have applied for their plates after the expiration of the motor vehicle law, December 1, an uncomfortably long number waiting even until the few days of the year.

Do not suppose I shall have any success in persuading automobile owners that now is the time to make application, but a re-statement of the conditions which face all agencies, and all applicants, during the last week of the year will at least serve as a warning of what may be expected as the result of delay.

Who has not seen at motor vehicle agencies long lines of men and women shivering in the cold, wasting such time which they need for the Christmas shopping or Yuletide merry-making, all because they waited until the very last minute?

Procrastination is a very human failing, but it is a little difficult for me to understand why people will indulge their weakness when it results in downright inconvenience and discomfort to themselves.

Comparatively few who transact business with the agencies in November and early December at the office almost deserted. The agencies have had to do their business within a few minutes. No long wait, no time lost at the end of the year when time is so scarce and so uncomfortable.

It is a little difficult for me to understand why people will indulge their weakness when it results in downright inconvenience and discomfort to themselves.

Because of the last-minute rush, New Year's Day finds many motorists unable to use their plates because they have no plates for the new year. This is unfortunate since it is avoidable, we sympathize for them. Let us thoroughly understand that 31 plates may be used beyond the end of 1930, 1930 plates may be used after the end of 1930, and the police in every municipality, the State, as well as State and motor vehicle inspectors on the highways will be vigilant to prevent motorists who attempt to use old plates.

Consideration for motorists is being given to delay making applications for plates. Present conditions and lessened income compel some owners to delay making 1931 tags because they have no money. We have no way of knowing how widespread this may be, but certainly it is in some degree the cause of the last-minute rush. Reason why owners who are not in straitened circumstances should act now.

Even if you can care about the discomfort you may cause the agencies, think how much inconvenience you will bring on yourself by delay. Now is the time to get 1931 tags.

More Than 1/2 Million Paid P. S. Operators For Safe Operation

Vice President Boylan Issues Bulletin Regards Compliments

More than half a million dollars has been paid to Public Service Co-ordinated Transport operators for the safe operation of their cars and buses since the company's No-Accident Bonus Plan was put into effect a few years ago, it was announced recently by Vice President Matthew R. Boylan in a bulletin addressed to the men.

Mr. Boylan complimented the operators upon their safety record during the current year and in announcing the continuance of the Bonus Plan for the coming year, he urged them to redouble their efforts in the interests of safety.

Under the Public Service No-Accident Bonus Plan the year is divided into three bonus periods. Bonuses are paid as follows for each period: $20 to operators having a perfect record; $19 to operators having no more than one accident; $17.50 to operators having no more than two accidents; $15 to operators having no more than three accidents.

A special bonus is awarded to the men of the carhouse or garage which has the best record in each division. This bonus amounts to $5 for each man. The record is based on a comparison of the number of accidents per 100,000 car miles during each bonus period with the record for the corresponding four months of the previous year.

Operators having perfect records for all three bonus periods of the year will be given a special bonus of $20 in addition to the period bonuses.

Nash Does So Good Inventory Period Is Curtailed

Kenosha Wis.—Public demand for the new Nash Twin-Ignition Eight-70, Twin-Ignition Eight-80, Eight-70, and Six-60 cars, which swept the country with their introduction October 9, this week caused a curtailment of the customary week's inventory period at the various plants of The Nash Motors Company, it was announced by C. H. Bliss, sales manager.

"It has been the custom to close the plants for a complete inventory during the last week in November before the close of our fiscal year," he said. "This has always been a regular routine in the Nash business year and has been necessary in order to close our books and complete our records."

"This year, however, the continued demand for the new Series of Nash cars has made it necessary to run the plants over into inventory week and use a part of the inventory period in order to meet the current orders for new cars. The inventory period, which also takes in the Thanksgiving holiday, will be completed November 29.

"That the demand for the new cars is continuing in a satisfactory manner is indicated by sales reports from ten key cities in the United States for the week ending November 22, which show deliveries of new Nash cars in four of these markets to be 56.25 percent higher than during the same period a year ago.

Gas And Electric Gains Noted By The P. S. Corporation

Sales of electricity by Public Service Electric and Gas Company for the first ten months of 1930 totalled 1,396,415,163 kilowatt hours, a gain of 4.39 per cent. over the corresponding period last year.

Industrial power sales for the first ten months of this year totalled 881,298,365 kilowatt hours compared with 881,011,230 kilowatt hours in the corresponding period of 1929, a gain of 287, 135 kilowatt hours. Compared with the corresponding period two years ago sales of industrial power in 1930 showed a gain of 22 per cent.

During the month of October total electric sales were 149,408,064 kilowatt hours compared with 141,434,512 kilowatt hours sold in October 1929, a gain of 7,973,552 kilowatt hours or 5.64 per cent. Industrial power sales during the month were 94,759,000 a gain of 1,467,221 kilowatt hours over October of last year. This gain is largely attributable to

Preparing Boiled Dinners

By MARIE DOERMANN,
Extension Service,
N. J. College of Agriculture

A New England boiled dinner is a tempting meal for a frosty night. To prepare this dish, select a cut of corned beef which has little fat. Cover with cold water and bring slowly to the boiling point, boil 5 minutes and then remove the scum. Cook slowly until tender, allowing 1 hour to each pound of meat. The vegetables commonly served with a boiled dinner are potatoes, cabbage, turnips, beets, and carrots. If the vegetables are cooked separately in some of the liquor dipped from the meat container, they will hold their shape better and still have the flavor of the meat. Cut the vegetables in any desired size. Serve the meat on a large platter surrounded by the vegetables.

"Red Flannel" hash, made of the left-overs of the boiled dinner, is also an enjoyable dish. First grind the meat, then chop the vegetables, adding 1 tablespoonful of minced onion, and salt to taste. Heat some bacon drippings in a frying pan, then add the hash, allowing it to brown thoroughly before turning, and then brown the other side. Serve with horseradish, sauce, or pickles.

Fish should be served at least once a week because of its high iodine content. Boiled fish can be varied in flavor by serving it with such sauces as hard-cooked egg, lemon, Spanish, or Hollandaise.

A large fish, or a cut of a fish weighing from 2 to 5 pounds, is thick enough for boiling. A savory boiled fish is prepared by adding 1 cupful of vinegar to each quart of water, one quarter cupful of sliced onion, one bayleaf, two tablespoonfuls of black peppercorns, 2 teaspoonfuls of salt, and 1 tablespoonful whole cloves. Tie the fish in cheesecloth, then place it in the water and boil until the flesh leaves the bones, allowing 8 to 10 minutes for each pound.

When the fish is done, remove it to a platter and garnish with slices of hard-cooked egg and parsley, serve with lemon sauce made by beating 3 eggs to which 1 tablespoonful of flour and one-half cupful of strained lemon juice have been added. Place in the top of the double boiler, slowly adding one-half of a cupful of the hot fish stock. Stir constantly, and cook 3 minutes. Season with salt, if necessary.

A leaf vegetable, such as spinach, cabbage, or Brussels sprouts, is a good accompaniment for boiled fish. The dessert for a fish dinner may be fairly hearty since fish has very little fat. A steamed or baked pudding with hard sauce, pie, or one of the ice box desserts would complete this meal.

Style Notes Prepared For The
Essex County Extension Service
By CATHERINE GRIEBEL,
Clothing Specialist.

Recently I was attracted to a window in one of the finest department stores which showed hats trimmed with ostrich feathers—not the long, sweeping plumes of 20 years ago, but ones of from six to eight inches in length. These plumes are bound to become more popular before many months. There is a softness and femininity to ostrich plumes that no other decoration can rival.

In spite of the fact that colors of black, brown, and green are, in the order named, favored over the wine color, tones of the latter deserve consideration. If greens are trying to your skin, if browns make your natural look like nothing at all, if black gives you a forlorn appearance take a chance on one of the wine colors. You have a wide choice, since they range from a bright, jewel like shade to a conservative one that is deep and dark. Many older women wear wine shades exceedingly well.

One of the smartest color combinations right now is brown with white accessories. Here the all-white hat is worn to advantage with white gloves, a bow of white fur on the dress, and possibly white fur on the coat. We have heard so much about black with white accessories that the use of white with brown is a welcome change.

The most wanted colors in gloves are black, brown, and white. With black fur on one's coat, black gloves are correct if the cloth of the coat is black, green, or wine. If the cloth is brown, no doubt its fur will be brown or beige, so brown gloves should be selected. White gloves should be worn only when there is another touch of white in the costume. Even a bow of white galyak on a dress of a bit of white lace at the throat, or perhaps a white facing for collar and cuffs, provides the necessary bit of white to make white gloves correct. A white hat, or a brown one with a white feather, or a bow of white fur adds to the harmony of the ensemble.

To the many women who forget that blues are not being worn this fall it may be encouraging to note that this color will, no doubt, be favored for spring year. There is a shade much talked of that is brighter than navy, and another, called "Admiralty," which is very dark. No matter what is said about blues during the fall and winter, we are pretty sure to find them important in the springtime.

Santa Claus Has A Full Pack Of Toys Made Possible By Lions Club Members And Town Firemen

Belleville firemen are busy these days working on children's toys for the benefit of the poor throughout Belleville, at the fire headquarters. There are all types and makes of toys crowded into the large auditorium of the fire house among which are many sleds, automobiles, scooters, doll carriages, wagons, and toy bed room sets, besides many dolls of every type and description. The Lions Club plan the distribution.

We are wondering who the lucky child will be who will receive the large aluminum zepplin which hangs suspended from the ceiling of the cellar of the fire headquarters building, which floats around in a realistic manner.

Among the firemen who are working on the toys, are Assistant Chief Alex Reid, Captain William Dunleavy, William Flynn, Robert Andrews, Harry White, William Gilchrist, Oscar Reid, Walter Berestford, James Dunleavy, Paul Zacone, Mike Carr, Paul Biase, Mike Hanley and Patrick Gelsen.

There are at the William street Fire House four firemen fixing and painting toys as in the fire headquarters. They are William Callen, Alfred Duffy, James Murphy and William Comesky.

The Lions have been collecting any toy that was due to be discarded by its owner and the firemen have been refinishing and repairing, when needed, each plaything.

A toy matinee was held Saturday morning at the Capitol Theatre for the children. The price of admission was one used toy. The theatre was filled to its capacity and when all the toys were gathered up, the firemen carted two truckloads back to headquarters and set to work upon them at once.

Kresge Department Store sent a big load of toys to the local fire headquarters to be distributed by the Lions and the firemen. As for dolls, the Girl Scouts under the direction of Miss Florence Kelly are doing any fixing necessary.

Dr. Daniel E. Kavanaugh, chairman of the Lions' committee in charge of this work, urges all those who have any toys of which they are going to dispose, to send such toys to the firemen at headquarters. The Lions will arrange to call for any contributions and they only ask that such donations be made as early as possible to insure the toys being made ready for distribution on Christmas.

The Lions wish to express their appreciation to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., Sherwin and Williams Paint Co., Sonneborn and Son, Daniel Mellis, Federal Leather Co., Essex Lumber Co., Kresge Department Store, Yudin's Paint Store, George Batty, Herbert Richards, Harry Zeigler, Kaplan's Hardware Store and Charles S. Belleville Clintons Back In Win Stride

Upset Vailsburg Collegiates 6-0 In Well Played Fracas

The Belleville Clintons resumed their winning stride, Sunday afternoon, at Belleville Park, upsetting the Vailsburg Collegiates, 6-0, in one of the best played games of the season.

After two periods of scoreless play the local footballers in the person of their husky fullback, "Bungo" Gorham, pushed across the only score of the game mid-way in the third quarter. A thirty-five yard march by the Clintons had previously carried the oval to the six yard line, from where Gorham took it across.

The game started with the visitors having all the best of it, though lacking that vitally essential scoring punch. Play, following the opening kick-off was confined mainly to the center of the field, when the Collegiates recovered a Clinton fumble and started a parade to the goal-posts to forge deep in home territory. The Clintons held tenaciously, however, and finally received the ball on downs in the shadow of their own goal posts.

A snappy attack advanced the ball to the forty yard line, but here the Vailsburg boys held, forcing Gorham to punt. His attempt was blocked just as the quarter ended, to give the visitors the ball on the forty.

On the first play of the second period, the Collegiates returned the compliment, fumbling, with Dacey recovering for the Clintons.

Once more in possession of the pig-skin the locals kicked. The receiving Vailsburg ball carrier ran back the ball to his forty yard line, where Howley with a flying tackle nipped him.

Both sides tried an aerial attack for the remainder of the half, with no success. Gorham booted back of the Collegiates' goal posts as the half ended.

The locals, chagrined at their inability to pierce the Vailsburg goal line, opened up with lots of drive in the third period. Receiving the kick-off on their own thirty-five yard line, they brought it to the visitors' forty-five yarder, when a fumble stopped them temporarily.

The fast charging Clinton line broke through on the next series of plays and threw the visitors for a downs, the Clintons receiving the pig-skin on their opponents' thirty-five yard line.

With Gorham and Howley alternating at plunging through, the Clintons made first down on the six yard line. Gorham couldn't be stopped on the next thrust off tackle and made the required distance for the driving score. The try for the extra point went awry.

The remainder of the game was devoted mostly to punting back and forth with several Clinton plays relieving the procession of kicks. On the very first play of the first quarter, "Turk" Byrnes, former Belleville High luminary, netted twenty-eight yards on a brilliantly executed triple pass.

In the last three minutes of play, Vailsburg looked like a sieve on a trick play, which gained twenty-two yards for the Clintons. Seconds afterwards, Herb Otto, ace Clinton end, came from nowhere to tackle a touch-down bent Vailsburg back.

The entire Clinton line featured by Dunn, Monaghan, Pethith and Otto, was like a stone wall all afternoon. Howley and Gorham were bulwarks in the Clinton back-field.

Manager Andy Monaghan of the Clintons announced after the game that his squad wishes the Belleville High grid eleven the best of luck in their classic struggle with Nutley, tomorrow afternoon. He promises that the Clintons will all be there "and how!"

Coach And Players Extend Their Thanks To Townspeople

Football Coach Carl Erickson of the local high school wishes to express his and the football team's gratification and thanks for the eighty-two telegrams sent to him on the eve of the momentous Belleville-East Side game which was such a splendid victory for the Belleville team.

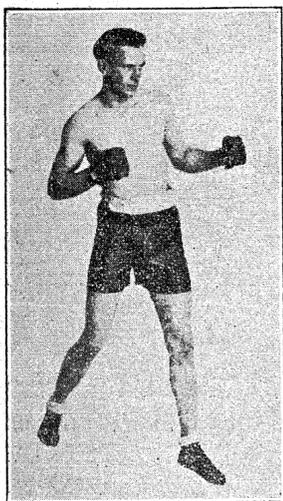

Many parents of the football men telegraphed the hope that Coach Erickson's aggregation would "bring home the bacon." Business houses and stores supplied many of the telegrams but most effective of all were the messages from the 1930 class of the high school headed by Paul Short, last year's captain.

Among the latter were those from Alfred "Okey" Anderten, Rose Lukowiak, Peggy Hardman, Gilbert Freeman, Ruth Williamson, Tony Dopart, William Shepherd, Florence Woodruff, Margaret Mason, Mildred Joiner, Nicholas DeJura, Norman Shetford, Ethel Bryan, Dorothea Schneider, Jane Babin, Patricia McCurtis Mellick, and Dorothea Baldwin.

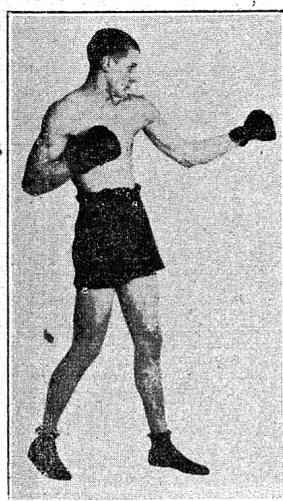

Amateur Glove Talent Galore Is Scheduled At Elks' Tourney

Three Well Known Simon Pures Are On The List

Amateur glove talent galore will be on view at the local Elks' Hall, tonight, with the staging of their second A. A. U. boxing tournament, under the auspices of the Social and Community Welfare Committee, headed by Joe Reilly.

Two lads who will appear are Bob Vaughn, 138 pounds, runner-up for state championship, and Edward Andahazy, 150 pounds, both coached by Jimmie Dyer of the National Turners.

Three of the best known and coming-out simon-pure boxers of the state will be featured in special bouts against picked opponents.

Ed Andahazy, the pride of the National Turners, tops the list. This 150-pounder has been cutting a swathe in amateur circles in both New York and New Jersey. Only a week ago he gave a splendid account of himself in kayoing Joe Briggs, crack Brooklyn south-paw, at the Knights of St. Anthony club in Brooklyn. The New York lad was flattened in less than a minute and a half as a result of Andahazy's sharp punching. All who have seen him predict big things, especially Jimmie Dyer, well-known Newark boxing instructor, who is coaching him.

A second principal in a "special" bout will be Johnnie Benford, a 138-pounder, who will be staging a return appearance. Fans who attended last month's bouts will remember him as the outstanding performer of that set. His two quick knock-outs in his division to cop the prize made him the outstanding performer of the night and his return is a result of popular demand.

A scan of the record of this seventeen year old "phenom" is interesting. In the brief span of four months he has captured ten consecutive decisions, seven of them being of the K. O. variety.

A third "special" bout performer, Bob Vaughn, 135, of the National Turners, also has an enviable record and seems at the top of his stride. Vaughn only recently was the runner-up in the New Jersey State Championships in his division. He is a wonderful boxer and is apt to give his opponent lessons in the art of jabbing.

Two lighter members of the National Turner entry are Johnnie Stock, 118, and Bob McNamara, 128. The former is the new 118 pound champ of the Turners and is reputed to be a good, strong boxer for his weight.

Other Bayonne A. C. principals besides Benford include Tommie Burke, 118; Joe Barese, 128, and Bill Jackson, 148.

Teddy Baldwin will be the only local entrant in the card of bouts. He was the only Belleville boy to file his entrance with Reilly and will be matched against a suitable opponent. Tickets for the bouts, the receipts of which will go to the fund for Christmas baskets, are popularly priced at $1 with no reserved seats. They may be secured from any member of the Elks or at the Elks' Home.

"POP" ERICKSON'S LADS COME THROUGH IN TURKEY DAY GRID FEAST WITH EAST SIDE HIGH SCHOOL AT CLEARMAN FIELD

A fighting-mad, Galluba-led Belleville High grid eleven pulled out of the fire their annual Turkey Day classic with East Side at Clearman Field in the face of a biting wind and intermittent snow flurries. Hopelessly in arrears, at half-time, "Pop" Erickson's Blue and Gold machine snowed under the Newarkers with a fierce nineteen point barrage in the second half to easily top their early six point lead.

Time and again the Bell-boys drove down the field to East Side's goal in the first half, but always lacked that scoring punch. At the start of the second half Erickson played his trump cards by inserting Captain Lou Galluba into his faltering line and Jerry Bonavita into the back-field.

Behind the inspired play of their captain, "Mac" Lamb and Jerry Bonavita teamed up to perfection at the start of the third quarter, with the score 6-0 against them.

A march down the field carried the ball to the seven yard mark. A pass, Westra to Plenge, brought it to the one yard mark, from where Jerry Bonavita took it over for the first local score.

Before the crowd's excitement had died down from that sudden turn of events, Jerry Bonavita reeled sixty-seven yards off tackle for the longest run of the day and an easy touch-down. After he had once got clear of the line of scrimmage Bonavita had an open field in front of him, due to some brilliant blocking on the part of his mates.

The final Belleville six-pointer was added in the fourth quarter when an East Side back, attempted a kick back of his own goal posts with Casale recovering for Belleville in touch-down territory.

The local boys got a scare right at the start of the game. After East Side had run back Brand's opening kick-off to their own thirty yard marker, Horton, on the second play, sprinted off tackle for a net gain of forty yards before he was hauled to earth.

On the very next play, East Side pushed through center for eight yards, but here they were stopped, relinquishing the ball on downs, on the Belleville twenty yard line.

In the shadow of their goal posts, the locals pluckily tried their hand at the plunging, but met with little success. Fritz Plenge kicked out of danger on the fourth down to East Side's forty-two yard line.

An intercepted forward by Fritz Plenge gave Belleville the oval deep in East Side territory a few plays later, but, despite a great lunge off tackle of ten yards by Westra, Plenge had to boot the ball. It went outside on the Newarkers' eleven yarder. East Side showed real courage on receiving the pig-skin by heaving a forward pass in the shadow of their goal posts and they succeeded. Heaved by Smukler, their full-back, the pass netted twenty-five yards.

This only served to bring the ball to mid-field, where it stayed for the remaining few minutes of the quarter. Belleville held the pigskin on her own forty-five yard line just as the whistle sounded.

And then, with the inauguration of the new period, things began to happen! Taking Plenge's punt at the start of the quarter on her own thirty-two yard line, East Side began a sixty-eight yard touch-down parade to take the lead, 6-0. Splitting off tackle, plunging off guard rushing through wide holes at center and topping it off with a highly successful forward passing attack East Side had arrived to Belleville's twenty-five yard line, before realization came. But then it was too late, as on the next play, Smukler stepped back and threw a perfect spiral into the waiting arms of Horton, who cantered across the local goal line. They try for the extra point was blocked.

Taking the oval on her own thirty-two yard line, Belleville, led by "Mac" Lamb staged a spirited march down the field, that carried to East Side's twenty, before losing the ball on downs.

The half ended seconds later with play directly in mid-field.

Belleville came on the field with new pep and determination after the rest period and soon brought consternation into the East Side ranks.

Galluba, though still on the injured list, kicked off for the locals with plenty of snap, East Side finally gaining possession of the ball on her own thirty-two. Failing at two line thrusts the visitors took to the air with equal failure, Casale intercepting for Belleville on the thirty-nine. Playing the safe game Plenge used his toe with dexterity plus, kicking out of bounds on the East Side five yard line.

Forced to punt the Newarkers obliged with a return to their own thirty-four. "Mac" Lamb then took the situation in hand and on three successive plunges carried the ball to the fifteen yard mark. Two more thrusts netted four additional valuable yards. On the fourth down, with everything hinging on the play, Westra flipped a short, quick pass to Fritz Plenge, who was tackled on the one yard line. Jerry Bonavita then went off tackle for the score.

Following an exchange of punts Belleville started a one-man drive for their second touch-down. Receiving the ball on Belleville's twenty-seven yard line, the locals launched their drive. "Mac" Lamb sprinted around left end for six and on the next play, Jerry Bonavita found a hole off tackle and slid off the milling, surging secondary defense to run unmolested sixty-seven yards for the six-pointer. Belleville was granted the extra point on an East Side off-side to send them soaring into the lead by a 13-6 tally.

With the game in tow there was no stopping the Blue and Gold Warriors. Inbued with a fighting confidence the local forward wall broke through to drive the East Siders back on every attempt.

Mid-way in the fourth quarter Fritz Plenge came through with a beautiful punt from mid-field. The well-directed oval rolled out of bounds on the visitors' one yard line.

Keyed up now to a fighting pitch the locals broke through with wild abandon, causing the East Side back to fumble. Ralph Casale was Jerry on the job, recovering the floundering oval in back of East Side's last white chalk mark for a third Blue and Gold touch-down. A forward pass for the extra point was muffed up, but what did it matter?

With but a few minutes left to go East Side, in desperation, again tried her once successful aerial attack, but it was a different team that they now faced. Her every attempt was doomed, the ball resting in mid-field as the final whistle blew.

Galluba, Daly, Bade and Estelle, led the Belleville line, and Lamb, Bonavita and Plenge led the back-field, which sounded the key-note of

This Whirl of Sport

THE BIG GAME Tomorrow afternoon, at Park Oval, Nutley, Belleville and Nutley High Schools, will resume grid-iron relations after a one year lapse. And all for charity's sake.

This game will be the climax, finale or whatever you might care to call it of both team's football seasons. Neither squad has enjoyed especially successful seasons thus far. On the other hand, both will deem the season a complete success with a victory over the other.

We think that "Pop" Erickson's Blue and Gold threat has at last reached top form with that remarkable display of recuperative power against an under-rated East Side squad, Thanksgiving Day. The squad as a whole ought to be right at their peak against Nutley.

Nutley's 25-2 defeat at the hands of South Side hurt and dependent on their re-action to this trimming must their team be considered. It had a tendency to demoralize them, they are sunk. If, however, it spurred them up to a fighting pitch, a battle royal may be looked for, tomorrow.

We are inclined to favor the latter, but withal, we think Erickson's charges will come through after a keen battle.

Of course, much wonderment has been expressed as to whether this charity tiff will result in permanent Belleville-Nutley grid-iron classics as in the past. As present matters stand, neither school has included the other in the make-up of their 1931 schedule so far, although both have several open dates.

We believe we have the backing of both towns when we state that a continuation of relations looks like the advisable thing to do, when viewed from every conceivable angle.

We, at least, can hope that such will be the case. At any rate, we have two "beats" on our hands that can only be conquered by our attendance at Park Oval, tomorrow. Our usual loyal support will do more than anything else to "Beat Nutley," and to "Beat Unemployment." Let's go, Belleville.

Local basketball suffered an irreparable loss, a week ago Tuesday, with the passing of "Vic" Ackerman. For the past several years, "Vic" has been a prominent and likable figure in Belleville court ranks. Last year, he was one of the foremost participants in the Recreation League.

This year, as a member of the Garnets, he was starting on another campaign, when heart trouble claimed him as its victim during a game against the Bachelors, Tuesday night.

Always a hard player, "Vic" was known throughout the league ranks, as a clean-playing, hustling performer. His steadiness, consistency and ability to "come through in the pinches" were qualities that were never questioned.

"He played the game."

Policy in football ranks seems to demand that whenever a winning team is not produced, blame the coach.

Of course, this attitude must bear some semblance of logic as that, to some extent, is the coach's job. On the other hand, it almost invariably happens that the coach is unjustly accused.

Such, we feel, is the case at Belleville High. The Blue and Gold has not been enjoying what one might call a successful season this year, winning three, tying two, and losing five of their ten games.

For most of this season, "Pop" Erickson, the local coach, has borne the brunt of the blame for these results, as handed down to him by the self-appointed, spectator "coaches." These cocky individuals, many of whom never played a game of football in their lives, delight in taking every possible opportunity to impress upon the town in general the utter futility of the Erickson coaching regime.

Few of the local fans are aware of some of the obstacles confronting Erickson. They take a look at the physical endowments of the local boys and immediately look to the coach for the rest. They fail to consider the mental attitude of the boys, which unquestionably has not been of the best. All season other things than football have diverted the attention of a number of them, with their playing suffering as a consequence. Some have also failed to match their unquestioned physical power, with as much gray matter, proportionately. Many have been the times, when a bit of quick thinking might have won a game that was lost.

We believe that Erickson has done the best that could be done under the circumstances. His record at Ridgefield Park, where he turned out state championship squads with regularity and also at Asbury Park will bear us out in that statement.

With the start of his coaching activities at Ridgefield Park in 1919 he was forced to start at the bottom. The Parkers seldom won more than one or two games each season, when he first took over the reins. During his stay there he built them up into title contenders year after year. In one span of three years, 1922-24 he coached teams that went through thirty games without defeat, although they did drop one game by forfeit. He also is credited with

Local Elks' Bowlers Lose Two Bowling Matches To Turners

The local Elks' bowlers dropped two out of three games to a much improved National Turner quintet, on Thursday night, at the Belleville alleys, in a Morris and Essex League match.

The Hello Bills started off with a bang, taking the first game by nearly a hundred pins. Bob Whitten featured this Elkan pin onslaught, good for a sum total of 901, by registering a nice 213 tally.

The locals lost the final two, however, on "narrow squeaks," both times. The Newarkers evened the count in the second with a hair-line four pin margin, in spite of Charley Waldie's brilliant 203 count. The whole Belleville team rolled consistently well in the final, but could not match a spirited Turner finish, lost by an even twenty pins. Ke 221, the high individual mark match, was mainly instrumental in this deciding victory for the Turners.

CLASSIFIED ADS BRING RESULTS School Board Decides To Pay Piano Cost For Free Concerts Subject Causes A Lively Debate At Monday's Meeting

George E. Stewart, sponsor of the Sunday afternoon concerts, two of which have been held in the High School, communicated with the Belleville Board of Education Monday night at its meeting asking if the board would care to obligate itself to the paying of $16 for the cost of a piano each time one is used in the concerts.

In reply to this request W. W. Stewart, a board member said, "There is personal publicity in this affair to which I am opposed." Watson Current, a member, said that he had seen no ulterior motive in the holding of the concerts. Continuing he declared, "Mr. George Stewart has worked under serious difficulties and is producing something that is acceptable." Mr. Current explained that when George Stewart proposed the concerts he thought that the piano in the school could be used, but on finding this impossible he, with another citizen had defrayed the cost of the pianos for the last two concerts out of their own pockets. J. L. De Rosset, another member said that he would not sanction any such expenditure because George Stewart had declared that the only costs to the board would be for programs. He would listen to no explanation such as given by Mr. Current.

A vote was taken on Mr. Stewart's resolution that the request be denied which was lost. Mr. Current then moved that the board obligate itself for three concerts and this passed.

APPEAL FOR CLOTHING FOR NEEDY

EDITOR NEWS: I am making an appeal through your paper for clothing for which people have no further use. The thought behind the appeal is as follows: Cold weather is almost on top of us and there are sure to be some people right here in our own town, who are going to need warm clothing mighty bad before winter is over. I'm sure there are two-thirds of the people of Belleville who have clothing of some kind for which they have no further use. Now if all this clothing is collected and assembled in one place, and an invitation sent out to the needy to come and get whatever clothing they require, I am sure a great deal of happiness would be felt by the giver and receiver. We intend to occupy a store in the center of town and open it possibly two or three afternoon, or until all clothing is distributed if enough promises of clothes are received. Men, women and children's clothing will be gratefully accepted. We only ask that they be reasonably clean and of course wearable. Anyone who has clothing to contribute, or who would care to help in any way, kindly call Mrs. George A. Fitzsimmons, Belleville 2-2838 or Mrs. B. Donaldson, Belleville 2-1093. Further details will be explained in later issues of this paper. MRS. GEORGE A. FITZSIMMONS.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons has interested a group of women in collecting the garments. Permission has been granted for free use of a store at 542 Washington avenue.

At a meeting called Monday afternoon by Mrs. Fitzsimmons at the home of Mrs. Samuel Donaldson of 87 Beech street, Belleville, the group decided to meet Monday and sort articles which the public is being asked to take there that day. Assisting Mrs. Fitzsimmons are Mrs. Donaldson, Mrs. Frank P. Brohal, Mrs. Jane Curran, Mrs. Joseph Kilpatrick, Mrs. Thomas W. Reilly, Mrs. J. P. Baker and Mrs. Fred E. Ruff.

Earl Ballentine Scores Triumph At Concert With His Violin

By EDDIE TAYLOR Earle Ballentine, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. August Ballentine, of Belleville, scored a distinct triumph with his violin in his rendition of two classic numbers at the public school concert held under the supervision of the Belleville Board of Education in the high school, Sunday afternoon. The young man appeared to present first, "Rondino, on a theme by Beethoven," composed by Fritz Kreisler; and second, "Waltz in A Major," one of Brahms many waltzes.

Mr. Ballentine played the first few measures of the "Rondino" when he discovered that his E string was not in tune. With the insouciance of a professional he referred to the accompanist for the correct note, tuned his violin, and went on playing the two numbers with a trueness of feeling that brought to him the plaudits of the 500 persons who attended the concert. Miller's Choral Singers, a philanthropic organization which was formed two years ago under the leadership of William Miller of 22 Dover street, Newark, with Orren Burt of Newark, pianist, present the other numbers on the program. Mr. Miller, himself, made a favorable impression with his audience by his appearance alone, with his snow-white hair, his stately demeanor and his kindly bespectacled eyes. Chief among the presentations of the Choral Singers was the male quartette, composed of Arthur Cooper, William Cooper and Alex Skinner of Newark and Alfred Cochrane of Kearny. This group seemed to receive the greatest appreciation from the listeners as they sang that old favorite, "Annie Laurie," and for an encore the soothing, "Come where my love lies dreaming," the last number having a counterpoint melody running through it that made it especially delightful.

Mr. Cochrane pleased with his deep baritone voice as he sang "Shipmates O'Mine," a song reminiscent of the sea and the billowing surf to which Mr. Cochrane's voice was admirably suited. A hitting number in which the piano played an important part was the soprano solo, "Rain," presented by Miss Lela Shurts of Newark. The piano interpreted the pattering of rain on the window pane with a naturalness that caused one to imagine that drops could be heard. Mr. Burt played that instrument. (It so happened that when the audience fled out it was raining outside.)

Others whose solos were of a high order were W. W. Stewart who suggested that the board request that the concerts be held in the evening of a week day instead of on Sunday afternoon and this was referred to the music committee of which Mr. Current is chairman and Mr. Stewart is a member. Miss Elizabeth R. Durning a teacher in the third grade of the Soho School resigned and Miss Dorothy Ferrara of Belleville was appointed to take her place.

AN ERRAND OF MERCY

The U. S. S. Boxer is on her way home. That brief sentence tells a good deal to those who know about the Boxer and her errands of mercy but not enough people do know the story. The Boxer is a mercy-ship. She is a little 50-ton steamer. All summer she makes her way into and out of isolated Alaskan harbors, distributing food, lumber, medicine and general supplies to tiny communities which are almost cut off from land contact with the outside world. The job of the Boxer is a more important one than many that are more renowned. When a despatch states that the little ship has turned homeward, Americans should know what that means and be proud of the fact that the Boxer has been doing this sort of work for more than twenty years.

WESLEY'S NEW ORGAN

When John DeGraw, president of the Board of Trustees of Wesley M. E. Church last Sunday presented the new organ for dedication it marked a step ahead in the progress of that church.

The new organ cost $10,000 of which $4,000 has already been pledged by societies of the church. No personal subscriptions have been solicited.

The organ consists of a great, swell, choir, echo and pedal organ and console with three manuals and pedals. It is the work of the Harry Hall Organ Company, New Haven, and a credit to its builder, the church in which it has been placed and the town.

THE EVERYMAN'S CLASS

We sometimes wonder if the good things that are thrown in our path receive the measure of appreciation that they deserve.

For instance, there is an organization known as the Everyman's Bible Class, a flourishing institution of which the citizens of Belleville should be justly proud.

Away back in 1923 four men started this class that grew amazingly fast in membership. Born in a Methodist Church, yet everyone of its four leaders by chance being Presbyterians, its appeal is to men of every denomination, for it now has no connection with any particular denomination. Its sessions are held in the Masonic Temple on Sunday mornings, beginning promptly at 9:30 and ending at 10:30.

The hour consumed is filled with sixty minutes of real human interest, and as the sign which the class has placed at Washington avenue and Essex street states, yields dividends that fully compensate for the time spent.

There is something wrong with the man's make-up, who leaves the atmosphere of those meetings after hearing the talks of "Doc" Cairns; who listens to the music of the orchestra, tries out his lungs in song with his "buddies" and receives the handshake that comes straight from the heart of the other fellow, and then says: "That hour was not refreshing and profitable."

We would be negligent if we failed to mention the activities of the week, when members meet in quiet pitching contests, chess and checker tournaments, while others will be found on the bowling alleys.

Such an institution is a tower of strength in our community and forms a bulwark that will surely resist any attack of vice and wrongdoing.

What a splendid achievement to enlist the man-power of the community in a movement that has for its object, clean living, a high plane of morals in civic and every day life and the advancement of Christ's Kingdom.

In appraising such an organization, we think we can see a good reason for the pastors of all the local churches aligning themselves with it. It seems that a class of this kind, attracting men who perhaps do not attend any other religious service, will provide material that will ultimately find its way to some regular church.

We recall the many instances when the Everyman's Bible Class of Belleville responded in fine style to the needs of humanity and the distress attending national calamity, as those of local poor, unemployed, Mississippi and other floods, and so forth.

Can it be, that men of our community are failing to support such an organization as the Everyman's Bible Class, and losing the tremendous benefits it holds for them, because they do not try to summon enough energy on Sunday morning to inquire into the reason for these movements?

Is there a man, who is father of a boy, and blind to the need that that boy has for a good example in his father? Or is there a man, who is so selfish that he cannot realize the responsibility he bears to his neighbor and brother?

If you would enjoy such a class be at the Masonic Temple next Sunday morning at 9:30 and get an eye full, an ear full and a heart full of good things intended for a real, red-blooded man of full stature. We advocate the hearty support of all citizens.

DAIRY OUTLOOK BRIGHTENS

Developments at the convention of the National Co-operative Milk Producers' Federation, just held at Des Moines, indicate a definite trend toward a better understanding and a more satisfactory working basis as between milk producers and distributing companies.

The issue of retail distribution of dairy products by cooperative associations in competition with the established private companies was put before the Federation by Thomas H. McInerney, president of the National Dairy Products Corporation, probably the largest distributing company in the world, a company which pays to the milk producers of the country approximately $5,000,000 in cash every week.

Mr. McInerney in cordial frankness told the cooperatives that such organizations as National Dairy were better equipped, both in plant facilities and financial resources, to handle milk distribution than were the associations. If not, he said, then it would be entirely a question of the survival of the fittest. In his opinion the farmer is a better farmer than merchant and the merchant is a better merchant than farmer, and each could be of service to the other.

Conceding the value of well-managed cooperative associations Mr. McInerney stated frankly that collective bargaining in the sale of the raw materials in dairy products was not only sound economically but that he welcomed it.

From subsequent discussions on the subject it appears that distinct fields of service may be outlined for both the cooperatives and the distributing companies and that points of conflict in time may be entirely eliminated. The meeting augurs well for the dairy farmers and the industry as a whole.

POLITICS AND PERSONALITIES

For once, a common purpose animates all political factions represented in the coming session of Congress. Everyone wants to cooperate, to avoid filibusters, and to put through a constructive program so that an extra session will not be necessary. It is an ideal situation—except that each group has a different idea of cooperation, an individual program, and its own conception of what constitutes a filibuster.

The Republicans, for the most part, merely desire to pass appropriation bills, confirm executive appointments and hold legislation down to bare essentials. Democratic leaders have officially tendered their aid in accomplishing these things. However, they claim a program of their own, and many of them agree with Senator Carter Glass of Virginia who presents the offer of cooperation as an apology for Democratic leadership. Senator Borah is infuriated by the "superlative impudence" of the administration's plea for cooperation from his group. He and other Progressives demand instead that the administration cooperate with them by withdrawing its opposition to the Wagner unemployment relief bills. Shipstead anti-injunction bill, the Norris bill for government operation of Muscle Shoals, and the Norris lame-duck amendment.

Taking all these things into account, one will be thankful for every bit of cooperation that can be mustered in the Congress that convenes in December. However, it is of the same brand that prevails now nothing short of a miracle will be required to accomplish anything constructive.

EXPLAINING THE NATIONAL MAP

Why state and national boundary lines are incomprehensible and even eccentric in some places is explained by the United States Geological Survey in a recent bulletin. It all goes back to the peculiar methods that were originally employed in determining boundaries.

The "Southwick Jog" on the boundary between Connecticut and Massachusetts is an area ceded to Massachusetts in recompense for an error in original adjustment which gave Connecticut an extra strip of land. In the southeast corner of Missouri is a "panhandle" that is said to have been a plantation owned by a man who insisted that his property be included in the new state. The projection on the northern boundary of Minnesota, which includes land about 124 square miles in area, is the result of inaccurate maps used by the treaty makers.

For more than 200 years, Massachusetts and Rhode Island disputed over the east-west boundary between the two states. The question went twice to the Supreme Court of the United States before it was settled.

A remarkably accurate survey to that time was the Mason and Dixon line which run between Pennsylvania and Maryland by two English mathematicians in 1763-67. A re-survey 130 years later with modern instruments showed a difference of but 180 feet from the original position found for the northeast corner of Maryland. The original stone for five-mile marks on this line were carved in England from limestone and are still standing, with Lord Baltimore's coat of arms on the Maryland side and the Penn arms on the Pennsylvania side.

WOODROW WILSON TODAY

History is replete with names of great men whose greatness was not completely realized until after their death. So with Woodrow Wilson. True, he was a mighty, if misunderstood, figure in life; but the tributes accorded him now deal largely with his influence in world affairs today. Such a tribute was well voiced recently by Pierre de Lanux, member of the Secretariat of the League of Nations and twelve years ago a member of the French High Commission to America. Speaking at a Woodrow Wilson association dinner in New Jersey, M. de Lanux said:

"Wilson has formulated the basic working principles of our international ethics. These things did not exist before him. These ethics are now growing, and you will find them presently in the very routine of our international relations. It may be said that by setting up these ethics of international life, Wilson has opened up a new field for human energy, virtues and emotions at the time when men became loath to apply their virtues to the destructive activities of war."

"FLAT EARTH" ISSUE NETS FEW VOTES

A firm conviction that the earth is flat may do a person no great harm, but as a political campaign issue, it is a complete flop. Ask Gustav Ebbing, of Cleveland. Mr. Ebbing, who aspired to represent the twenty-first congressional district of Ohio in Congress, ran in the last election on the sole issue that the earth is a hollow sphere with ether in its centre, and the continents and oceans on the inside. He found only 101 voters in the entire 222 precincts of his district who agreed with him.

Last September, Mr. Ebbing requested Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, to support his candidacy rather than that of the regular Democratic candidate. Mr. Baker's letter of refusal, when published, attracted national attention. The "flat earth" exponent also broke into the papers in 1928 by filing a suit for an injunction in the Federal court seeking to restrain Charles G. Dawes, then President of the Senate, from certifying the electoral college vote. Mr. Ebbing's complaint was that Mr. Hoover had not been a resident of this country long enough to qualify for the presidency.

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING

How the first Thanksgiving Day proclamation issued by George Washington on October 3, 1789, was lost for 100 years and finally turned up at an auction sale when it was purchased by the Library of Congress is told in a bulletin from the George Washington Bicentennial Committee.

According to the Committee's story, there was some grave objection in Congress to the resolution requesting the President to issue a Thanksgiving day proclamation. It was argued that we should not mimic Europe where the thanksgiving custom was already established. However, the resolution went through, and George Washington ordered the day of prayer and thanks. Then the original proclamation dropped out of sight, apparently having been misplaced when the Capital was moved from one city to another. In 1921, it was discovered by Dr. J. C. Fitzpatrick, of the Library of Congress, among a collection of Washington manuscripts being auctioned at the American Art Galleries of New York City. Dr. Fitzpatrick purchased the document for $300, and it was promptly placed in the Library, where it is now treasured. The proclamation was written in long hand by William Jackson, Secretary to the first President, and was signed by George Washington.

CONSIDER THE STARS!

Some novel facts concerning the earth, the sun and the stars and their relationship to each other are contained in the latest report of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. We are introduced to a new cosmic family consisting of an aggregation of several millions of stars with a radius of 100,000,000,000,000 miles. This group, which was discovered by Dr. Frederick H. Seares, assistant director of the Mount Wilson Observatory, centers in a system of "very hot, massive stars" which can be observed extending about 6,000,000,000,000 miles in the direction of the Milky Way.

These stars, according to Dr. Seares' belief, form the nucleus of a group that includes most of the stars visible from the earth, or those only one-sixth as bright as can be seen with the naked eye. They make up a "cosmic unit" in which the sun and planets are immersed. This unit, in turn, is immersed in the Milky Way galaxy with several billion stars; including about everything that can be seen in the heavens. But the Milky Way galaxy is only one of many galaxies, some of them more than 6,000,000,000,000,000 miles distant. The earth and the sun seem to be about 300,000,000,000,000 miles from the center of the Milky Way.

HOME DRESSMAKING STILL FLOURISHES

Women who are their own dressmakers still exist in sufficient numbers to form an important factor in our economic life, according to officials in the Bureau of Standards at Washington. The Bureau's interest in this domestic subject lies in the problem of adopting a uniform system of dress patterns that will enable the American woman to select patterns in accordance with known body measurements.

The production of sewing machines including both the hand and electric types, was valued at more than $21,000,000 during 1929. Modern women evince an increasing preference for the electrically driven machines over the old hand-and-foot devices, as shown by the increased production of the former type. Another indication of the prevalence of home dressmaking is the value of the dress pattern industry which totaled almost $14,000,000 during 1927. Figures for last year are not available. Other allied enterprises are fashion services, style magazines, piece goods, sewing threads, laces, trimmings, buttons, fasteners and numerous sewing materials.

GOOD TIMES By Greenville Kleiser

Think "good times"—
It is the state of mind
That brings prosperity
And puts dull days behind.

Talk "good times"
No matter what they say;
Sane, optimistic talk
Will drive the clouds away.

Act "good times"—
Be equal to the test;
Compel "good times" to come,
Resolve to do your best.

Spread "good times"—
By thought and word and deed;
With sturdy faith and confidence
Know you will succeed.

The Voice of Others

An Overworked Rule

There are two distinct means used by parents, bosses and society in an attempt to make us good: The hope of reward and the fear of punishment—the latter more often, for it is cheaper!—Lorain Journal.

Been Running For Years

Kathleen Norris says a marriage school might procure results. As a matter of fact every marriage is a school, and some of the students have flunked the course six or seven times.—Kansas City Star.

Safe Place

It is said that 1930 is a normal year in real estate, showing that a good many people know where to put their money between big parties in the stock market.—Indianapolis News.

By Way of Comparison

It is said that no two objects in the universe are more than 54,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles apart. We are not so sure. Sometimes desire and hope of realization seem much farther apart than that.—Toledo Blade.

Mrs. H. L. Hamilton's group of the Young Woman's Auxiliary met at her home recently to discuss new ways of raising money to contribute to the new organ fund. Those present were Mrs. G. P. Oslin and her mother, Mrs. Mary Love, Mrs. Edgar Compton and her mother, Mrs. A. Guick, of Gladstone; Mrs. George Cameron, Mrs. John Welch and Mrs. Ernest Johnson. A social half hour followed the meeting. Mrs. Compton poured.

Henry Stier, John B. Brown and H. N. Cummings arranged a special program for the occasion. All the societies of the church attended the exercises en masse.

Clark of Plymouth Church, New Haven, assisted by Elsie McCall Persons of Montclair, soloist at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, New York; Maxine Moore of Milburn, cellist; Christine Phillips of Belleville, violinist; Mrs. Ysbrand Bregman, the organist at Wesley, will play the piano.

The instrument, which has three manuals of sixty-one keys each, was made by the Harry Hall Organ Co., of New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. John Pole's group of the Young Woman's Auxiliary held a miscellaneous party last night at 8 o'clock in the Mountain Ice Company auditorium, Sylvan avenue, Newark. All kinds of games were played, each one to his own fancy.

Last Sunday was one of the great days in the history of old Wesley Church for in the morning her new $10,000 organ was dedicated. The special service which was arranged by the pastor, Edgar M. Compton, included a beautiful sermon based on John Drinkwater's "God Is At The Organ," responsive readings by the pastor and congregation, which were re-echoed by appropriate responses from the organ. John DeGraw, president of the board of trustees presented the instrument for dedication. The others on the committee consisted of J. H. Stier, L. R. Memmott, C. G. Jones, J. B. Brown, H. N. Cummings, T. Sanford and Edgar R. The case of the organ, conforming very beautifully to the architecture of the church, was designed by Charles G. Jones. The organ has three manuals of sixty-one keys each, and was built by the Harry Hall Co. of New Haven, Conn.

The evening service took the form of a musical service. Anson Dupue, soloist at St. Stephen's Church, New York, rendered several vocal selections. Mrs. Bregman directed the music at both services, and very ably displayed the wonderful musical possibilities of the organ.

The pulpit flowers last Sunday were placed by the Wemec Dramatic Club, which made the initial and other generous contributions for the new organ.

The first of a series of organ recitals will be given in the church on the evening of December 10. Tickets may be obtained from J. H. Stier or from any one of the presidents of the various societies of the church. A most interesting program has been arranged, and we hope all music lovers will co-operate with us to make this recital a great success. Raymond L. Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Thou, even thou, art Lord alone; thou hast made heaven, the heaven of heavens; with all their host, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas, and all that is therein, and thou preservest them all; and the most of heaven worshippeth thee." (Nehemiah 9:6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Infinite Mind is the creator, and creation is the infinite image or idea emanating from this Mind. If Mind is within and without all things, then all is Mind; and this definition is scientific." (p. 256).

Anent Clothing Appeal

EDITOR NEWS:

Mr. A. Atkins, proprietor of the Boston Store, has kindly donated the use of one of his stores located at 542 Washington avenue, for distribution of articles of clothing.

The response to last week's appeal was encouraging, but I am sure there still are more people who would like to donate discarded clothing, but missed the article in last week's edition. Don't let this chance to help some one in need slip by.

A cordial invitation is extended to those in need of clothing, and especially to those who probably have never needed aid before, but due to this age of depression have been rendered helpless. Swallow your pride, come and accept this help in the spirit it is given; none of us know who may be next to need a helping hand.

Anyone knowing of any persons in need of immediate relief kindly call Belleville 2-2838 and the needed clothing will be distributed at once.

The store at 542 Washington avenue will be open from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M. on Tuesday, December 9, and each day thereafter at the same hours, until clothing is disposed of.

MRS. G. A. FITZSIMMONS.

Hill Association Was One Of Strongest Of Its Kind In Town

Has Decided To Give Its Funds To Community Service Bureau

The Belleville on the Hill Improvement Association which has decided to disband as told exclusively two weeks ago in this paper, was founded in 1924 and was the strongest of its kind in town, being instrumental in fostering most of the improvements in the hill development, as well as taking an active part in the social life of its residents.

A special meeting was called for the purpose of deciding the destinies of the association recently, and after considerable discussion it was decided to liquidate the affairs. A committee of three trustees was appointed consisting of Joseph W. Steinmetz, chairman; J. English, and S. C. Summerfield to wind up affairs and to distribute the funds amounting to about $165 to the poor in conjunction with the Community Service Bureau.

Once one of the strongest organizations in town, having upwards of 300 members, it has become increasingly difficult during recent months to maintain the interest of the members or get them to accept service on the various committees, as a result of which the annual elections scheduled for the October meeting had to be postponed. Many of the members have expressed themselves as feeling that while the association had accomplished wonderful work, it had outlived its usefulness.

Past officers of the association who now go out of service, are: F. J. Wolneski, president; S. J. Straker, vice president; George Harrison, treasurer; Frank Gerode, secretary; Leo Dempsey, R. C. Stivers and John Herrmann, directors.

MAKE A COLDFRAME

By A. C. McLEAN
N. J. Agricultural Experiment Sta.

The coldframe is a valuable piece of equipment for which the home gardener can find many uses. He will find it valuable for over-wintering plants which are not quite hardy enough to withstand the cold weather and for the early planting of seeds in the spring. The coldframe may also be used for growing lettuce in late fall and early winter.

It is not too late now to make a coldframe for use during the approaching winter. The frame is nothing more than a wooden box about 12 to 18 inches high in the rear, 8 to 12 inches high in front, and covered with 3 by 6 foot glass sash. In length, the frame should be any multiple of 3 feet. The frame should be placed over fertile soil.

Amateur gardeners will find that the new unbreakable glass substitutes, made on wire from cellulose acetate, are satisfactory for coldframes. Plants will winter practically as well under this kind of covering as they will under glass, and, as an added advantage, there is no danger of having the plants "burned" by the sun's rays on warm days.

Such plants as English wall flowers, English daisies, pansies, Canterbury bells, and other less hardy species that retain their leaves, can be wintered more successfully in coldframes than out-of-doors.

If the frame is covered during unusually cold weather it can be used to winter a considerable number of the tender plants, including lettuce. Seeds may be sown in the coldframe from the first of April, making it possible to obtain plants early in the season.

Additional details on the construction of coldframes and other plant-growing structures are contained in Extension Bulletin 51 of the New Jersey College of Agriculture and Experiment Station. This publication can be obtained free of charge by writing to local county agricultural agents, or to the mail clerk, New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick.

Dessert Recipes By Extension Service

What to serve for dessert is an ever-present problem for home-makers because most persons find a meal more satisfying if it is concluded with a sweet dish.

So states Miss Marie Doermann, New Jersey extension service specialist in nutrition, who suggests that the choice of a dessert should depend upon the main course of the meal. If the beginning of the meal is light, she says, a hearty dessert is to be preferred. A light dessert is advised when a substantial main course is served.

Texture is another quality to consider in choosing desserts, the specialist explains, since a soft, smooth dessert is enjoyed more if it is sprinkled with chopped nuts or toasted coconut, or served with a crisp cookie.

Fruit, or a combination of fruits with other foods, is a standard dessert that is enjoyed by most people, Miss Doermann states. Apples are in season most of the year, she continues, and they may be used in making tasty desserts. One of these is apple crisp, the recipe for which she lists as follows:

"Pare, core, and slice eight apples. Butter a baking dish, fill it with apples, then sprinkle over them one teaspoonful of cinnamon and add one-half of a cupful of water. Mix three-fourths of a cupful of flour and one cupful of sugar, then cut into the mixture one-third of a cupful of butter or work together with the finger tips until the mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle over the apple mixture and bake, uncovered, in a moderately hot oven for about 30 minutes. Serve with whipped cream, lemon sauce, or maple sirup.

"Cranberry applesauce combines two favorite fruits in a tasty, colorful dessert. Combine 1-2 cupfuls of sliced apples, 1-2 cupfuls of cranberries, and 1 cupful of water and cook together slowly until soft then add 1 cupful of sugar and cook until it is dissolved. More sugar may be required if the apples are very tart.

"Macaroon custard will be a change from the usual plain custard. Scald 2 cupfuls of milk, then pour it over 1 beaten egg to which one-fourth of a cupful of sugar and one-eighth of a teaspoonful of salt have been added. Cook in the double boiler and stir constantly until the custard coats the spoon. Remove from the stove, add 1 cupful of stale, crushed almond macaroons, and 2 tablespoonfuls of peach or other jam. Beat vigorously and cool

DIE-BACK OF ROSES

By R. P. White
N. J. Agricultural Experiment Sta.

Many roses of certain varieties are this fall disclosing considerable die-back of the canes. This injury is caused by the fungous disease commonly known as brown canker, and these late infections, which sometimes kill the canes to the crown of the rose plant, are the result of the unseasonably mild weather experienced this fall.

All diseased canes should be immediately cut, well below the external appearance of the disease, and destroyed. The remaining portions of the canes should be thoroughly sprayed with lime-sulfur solution of a 1 to 40 strength. Bushes which are already severely diseased, as shown by one or more canes dead to the crown, should be discarded.

Winter protection of the roses should be provided as usual. Hill up the plants and, after the ground has become frozen, cover the entire bed with a loose mulch of straw or some other coarse material.

Further information on this and other garden, flower or agricultural questions may be obtained from the County Extension Office, R. E. Harman, County Agricultural Agent, Caldwell. (Phone Caldwell 6-0572).

Protect The Evergreen

By A. C. McLean
N. J. Agr'l. Extension Service

Now is the time to plan for winter protection of evergreens. Such plans should recognize that evergreens, if they are to survive the winter without injury, must have plenty of moisture at their roots. This warning is especially appropriate now because the drought of last summer greatly reduced the amount of water in the soil.

An ample supply of soil moisture will prevent the drying out of the plants, a condition that kills more evergreens than cold weather. The leaves of evergreens function all winter and evaporate moisture which must be supplied by the roots. Make sure that the soil is thoroughly watered before freezing weather, and then mulch the surface rather heavily. This will enable the roots to supply moisture to the plant and will prevent winter injury.

Since protection from the bright sunlight and from heavy winds materially reduces evaporation, it is advisable to erect board fences around evergreens that are exposed on the south or west. As an alternative, the evergreens may be wrapped with burlap. Either practice will reduce the evaporation of water from the leaves.

The broad-leaf evergreens such as rhododendrons are in special need of attention as their roots develop close to the surface of the soil. The soil in which these plants grow should be well-moistened, after which a heavy mulch of leaves or peat moss should be applied. Six inches of peat moss is not too much to use in mulching rhododendrons or azaleas.

MAKE MONEY WITH FRUIT CAKES!

It's "open season" for fruit cakes, a season that sends the wise cooks gunning for recipes and ingredients, and the fortunate prospective eaters dreaming of knives with which to cut a piece of their best-loved cake.

The eating-season for fruit cakes is a year 'round one, but the baking season is a limited one. If your cakes are to ripen adequately and grow mellow for Thanksgiving, Christmas, and the festivities of the Winter social season.

Not only are clever women stalking the fruit, the bowls and the recipes for the family's sake, but they are making money with fruit cakes as well, individually or as members of clubs—and so can you.

Fruit cakes, when baked properly from a proven recipe, attractively wrapped and boxed, sell for $1 a pound, or even more in large quantities. They may be made for as little as 40 cents a pound and with a minimum of effort if the prepared fruit and ingredients are used.

The Ingredients: You can buy your fruit peels already candied and sliced in quarter pound packages, citron, lemon and orange peel; buy your dates pitted and pasteurized, nuts shelled, raisins seeded. Ordinary flour may be used, and you may vary liquid according to taste.

The Baking: Use a paper-lined pan to prevent burning. Bake only in an oven in which you can obtain an even, slow heat; otherwise steam, and dry in oven. Do not bake more than fifteen pounds at one baking. Bake according to size of loaf; a one-pound loaf takes 2 1/2 to 3 hours; a two-pound takes 3 1/2 hours, three-pound, 4 hours.

Decoration: Do not frost cakes until after removing from storage. Decorate with bits of citron, cherries or almonds in fancy designs.

Packing and Wrapping: Wrap cake for packing, first in waxed paper, then in fancy paper and then box in decorative tin or cardboard box. Tie with ribbons and seals. A clever name for your product will help sell it.

Style Notes Prepared for the Essex Co. Extension Service by Catherine Griebel, Clothing Specialist.

Foundation garments are changed in design as the fashions in costumes change. Hence I find it necessary to be fitted each season, for, although I have worn the same size and the same make for three years, some of the new models fit my figure better than others.

The new garments are shaped in at the waistline and there is a slight uplift to the bust section (I am speaking of the one-piece garment which, it seems to me, is the type best suited to the mature figure). There are elastic insets at the sides, the front and back are boned, and the material is fitted well up over the diaphragm to keep the waist as slender as is possible.

I think it is wise to purchase a garment that is easy-fitting rather than tight. It gives more comfort to begin with, and there is no danger of one's flesh pushing up around one's waist. The larger garment lets it stay where it belongs. Some women seem to think that it is only necessary to keep their hip girth down but if you study such figures you will notice that the slenderer hip is gained only by sacrificing the waistline. With waistlines of outer garments in their present position, this is far from desirable.

Some of the new foundation garments have side-lacings; one on either side of the center front. The type I prefer hooks up under the arm and gives a smoother line. There are separate corsets and brassieres if you wish them, but it seems to me that these should be worn only by the young and slender. A slight restraint is all that is needed by the young girls—a boneless girdle which may be of elastic, satin, or lace, depending on how much you wish to pay and on your proportions.

Naturally, the all-in-one worn by the older woman is more costly than the light-weight girdle chosen by her daughter. I always invest in a good foundation garment, even if it means going without a dress, a hat, or something that I need less than I do the foundation garment. No dress can look as it should over an old-fashioned, out-of-shape corset, whereas an old dress will look fairly well if put on over a brand new corset.

Remember that you must have your foundation garment fitted to you. This fitting is a nuisance, I know, but it is the only thing to do if you want to be well and healthily corseted. As I go through the shops I still see women buying them of a counter and by size. Why anyone should take such a chance is more than I can understand.

Teaching Self-Control

By Edith D. Dixon
Extension Service, N. J. Agr. Experiment Station.

We talk a great deal about children acquiring self-control but we fail to use the situations at hand for teaching this important habit. The best means of acquiring self-control is to begin early to restrain the appetite for food. The holiday season is one of the events in almost any home which offers opportunity to test one's will in this respect. The child who attempts to eat twice as much on Thanksgiving Day as he does on any other day in the year is likely to feel very uncomfortable and frequently to become ill.

But more serious, perhaps, than over-eating is the piecing between meals with the candy and other sweets so often in evidence at this season of the year. In many homes the child is allowed only one piece of candy a day immediately following the noon meal. Why should this rule be violated at this season? Because we have more candy about? If so, the situation is one that offers the opportunity to practice self-control. But the child cannot be expected to practice alone. Have you been in the home where the child was scolded for eating too much candy while the adults were munching most of the time?

One mother punished her four-year-old child for eating a box of chocolates which he discovered in the sideboard drawer where she kept it concealed for use by herself and her husband. Many grown ups admit indulgence in this respect, yet they expect a child to restrain himself.

Insect Control Of House Plants

By C. C. Hamilton
Associate Entomologist

The control of insects infesting palms, ferns, and similar house plants is very necessary because the drier air resulting from artificial heating of houses increases the susceptibility of the plants to insect attack.

Reporting the plants, if they are root-bound, the addition of fertilizers or plant-food, and watering to help the plants to outgrow insect injury.

The common species of insects infesting palms, ferns, and similar plants are several species of flat or circular scales, usually from one-sixteenth to one-eighth of an inch in diameter, the hemispherical scales, which are somewhat larger, much more convex, and usually dark brown; and mealy bugs, which may be recognized by the white woolly or waxy covering over their bodies.

All of these insects are difficult to control because the waxy covering over their bodies protects them against wetting. In fact, most full grown scale insects cannot be killed by spray materials without injuring the plants.

Nicotine or pyrethrum soap sprays which contain considerable soap are effective in killing the young scale insects and should in time free the plants. Four or five applications at intervals of a week to ten days are necessary.

When the soap sprays are used in fairly strong concentrations the plants should be syringed or washed with water several hours after spraying. It is usually safer to buy spray materials which contain sufficient soap rather than to add extra soap.

Full grown scale insects on palms may be controlled by brushing or scrubbing the plants with a fairly strong spray, using a moderately stiff brush and washing the plants soon after the brushing.

Ferns which are heavily infested with mealy bugs or hemispherical scales should be cut back completely, or the heaviest infested fronds removed before spraying.

President of National Dairy
Declares 50 Percent
Increase in Milk Con-

THOMAS H. MCINERNEY

As a purchaser and retail distributor, the National Dairy Products Corporation each week pays to the dairy farmers of the country approximately five millions in cash for their products.

According to Thomas H. McInerney, president of "National Dairy," who addressed the annual convention of the National Cooperative Milk Producers' Federation held recently in Des Moines, the market for milk and dairy products is consistently widening. Nutrition scientists, he said, estimate that the present consumptive demand should permit of an increase of 50 percent over present volume.

Mr. McInerney's appearance before the cooperatives' convention was in response to an invitation to outline his company's attitude toward the dairymen's associations. In cordial frankness, Mr. McInerney stated that he believed in and welcomed collective bargaining in the sale of raw materials but as for the retail distribution of milk and dairy products the private company was better equipped both in plant facilities and financial resources. If that was not true, he said, then it would be entirely a question of the survival of the fittest.

In its efforts to expand the milk market, Mr. McInerney said, the National Dairy Products Corporation was spending millions of dollars in advertising, in research work and in varied promotional activities. He declared it was to the interest of both farmer and distributor to increase the volume of milk consumption to market capacity and toward that end pledged his company's cooperation.

ROMANCE AND DATES ARRIVE IN SHIPS—$1,500,000 WORTH!

The good ship Gorjistan, straight from the land of the Arabian Nights, arrived in New York harbor, bringing romance enough to last the girls all winter! For the Gorjistan, as you may not know, brought dates—$1,500,000 worth, 10,000,000 pounds of dates, the kind you eat—and, in being the first to arrive from over those choppy seas, won the big prize award the winner by the importers of this country.

Each year at the opening of the date season in Iraq, where the best dates are grown, all the big importers charter special steamers, to see who can first get the "gold of the dessert" to the waiting housewives of America. This year, the boat captained by the jovial Henry Peeps made it first, and carried off the grand prize before the Montaban and sister ships so much as got started on their perilous journey.

The big race to America is the year's most thrilling event in this part of the world. The date season opens at the site of the original Garden of Eden, and starts only after many preliminaries as exciting as the race itself. First, to see whose band of swarthy Arabs can climb the palms and pluck the ripe dates fastest. Then to sort them, to send them to the command of Arab chief.

They are packed and put on the ship. The date season is as dead indeed! Romance is over, so that there may be no more romance in the dessert! After the dates arrive in this country they are pasteurized just as is pure milk. Then they are ready for you, and you may let your daughters have as many of these dates as they like—for this kind is good for them!

When you open that package of dates to have your share (there will be enough this year so that every man, woman and child may have at least 23 dates) you won't be able to forget that thrill and romance does not have to exist in moonlight and poetry alone—it can be right in the ingredients, along with health and taste!

In case you don't want all your dates plain, as "nature's candy," we are some tested recipes into which they may go. You'll like them.

Date Torte
1/2 cup flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. baking powder
2 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup nutmeats
1 pkg. dates.

Sift dry ingredients. Beat eggs; beat in sugar gradually; add the vanilla, nuts and sliced dates. Stir in dry ingredients. Bake in a shallow pan which has been lined with paper and oiled, in a moderate oven (300 to 325 degrees Fahrenheit) about one hour. Cut in squares when cool. Serve with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.

Filled Surprise Cookies
3 cups flour
3 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup milk.

Sift dry ingredients. Add sugar slowly to shortening, then beaten egg and vanilla. Add flour, baking powder and salt alternately with the milk. Shape the mixture into two long rolls about 2 inches in diameter. Chill thoroughly.

Filling
1 cup sugar
2 tblsp. flour
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup nutmeats
1 pkg. dates
2 tblsp. lemon juice.

Make the filling by mixing the flour and sugar and adding to boiling water. Cook until it thickens, stirring constantly. Add chopped dates, nuts and lemon juice. Cool.

Cut the chilled dough into thin slices. Place a spoonful of the filling in the center of a round. Cover with second round and press the edges together firmly. Bake on a well-oiled baking sheet in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit) for 10 minutes. Makes six dozen small cookies.

Sunflower Salad
Place a mound of sliced dates in the center of a leaf of lettuce. Surround with sections of orange or canned grapefruit arranged like flower petals. Serve with a favorite salad dressing.

Richmond Sandwiches
2 pkgs. cream cheese
1/2 pkg. dates
1/4 cup butter
1/2 tsp. powdered ginger
1 1-lb. loaf bread.

Follow general directions for sandwiches, spreading one slice of bread with softened butter and the other with sandwich mixture. Add sliced dates and ginger to the cream cheese. If necessary, add a little cream or rich milk so filling will spread easily. 24 sandwiches.

Raising The Sansevieria

By A. C. McLEAN,
Agricultural Extension Service

Among house plants the sansevieria, popularly known as the snake plant, can grow and thrive despite much abuse. This plant has strap-shaped leaves which are colored in alternate green and yellow-green. It is a very hardy pot plant and, in fact, it is especially popular in nature gardens and fancy plant containers, which are now being sold in great numbers by florists.

The sansevieria is well adapted to indoor culture, for it will grow and thrive either with very little light or direct and ample light. Although the plant can withstand extremes of temperature, it does best when the thermometer reads from 70 to 72 degrees.

The culture of the sansevieria is of the use of pots of propagation. Small plants in 3 to 4 inch pots in containers are well filled when a change may be made to larger ones which are a size larger.

The sansevieria propagates easily by using the natural method. The leaves can be taken and started.

and potted in small pots. This plant can also be propagated by leaf cuttings, but this method is more difficult, and it requires green-house facilities or a special plant growing case for best results.

A fairly neutral soil suits these plants well. A good potting soil of half sand and half loam, with a small amount of well-rotted manure, makes an ideal growing medium.
