Protests Heard On Sewer Assessments

Assessments Wrong During Depression, Says Taxpayer

Strenuous protests on sewer assessments at this time were heard from a taxpayer at the meeting of the Board of Commissioners Tuesday night. Jerome C. Eisenberg, of 790 Broad street, Newark, who owns property at 69 Dow street, claimed that now is an invidious time to make the taxpayers pay for a sewer built more than 15 years ago.

Commissioner William H. Williams, director of revenue and finance, explained to Eisenberg that the present was the logical time to make the levies, as it was important to reduce the drain on the taxpayers' pockets caused by interest payments on sewer bonds which amount to about $36,000 a year. "Of course," he said, "the most logical time to make these assessments passed a long time ago."

Eisenberg then asked, "What assurance do I have that if I pay my assessments my taxes will be lowered?" He expressed the idea that the money raised on these assessments might be used for a spending spree by the town rather than to pay off the sewer bonds.

"Some poor misguided souls in Belleville have spread that story until I'm worn out," Williams replied. "They think we're levying these assessments to get ready for a money-spending campaign next year."

"It can't be done. You have the assurance of this board that taxpayers will benefit. I'm in the same fix as other taxpayers. There will be no greater burden at this time by levying the assessments, and in five years you'll save."

Henry Mason of Campbell avenue felt Williams' explanation would have the effect of correcting "the general impression abroad through the town" that this is a poor time for the assessments.

"There will be meetings for objection to the assessments," Mason said. "I suggest that Commissioner Williams attend them and explain as he has tonight."

A hearing by the Board of Assessment Commissioners will be held October 27 at the Town Hall on Section 4, amounting to $79,067.98. Confirmation will follow the second week after. There will be seven more sections for action before the end of the year. Section 6 was the third on which action was taken.

A representative of the Erie Railroad made a formal objection to the assessments in section 6, which was the section heard Tuesday. As the objection was made after objections had been heard, the protest was not considered valid and the section was confirmed.

Red Cross Provides Flour For Jobless

Women's Organizations To Assist With Clothing For Unemployed

Flour is being obtained from the national headquarters of the Red Cross by the local chapter of that organization to provide food for needy families in Belleville this winter.

Two carloads have already arrived and are being distributed by the overseer of the poor, Mrs. Lucy Bootes, and two more carloads have been ordered.

In addition, the Belleville chapter of the Red Cross has ordered 12,000 yards of cotton cloth from national headquarters. It is planned to have this cloth made up into useful garments by the Girl Scouts and various women's organizations in town.

The executive committee of the local Red Cross is requesting all organizations of this nature to volunteer their services in order to provide clothes for the many families who would otherwise suffer from lack of necessities. This committee is composed of the following: William F. Herkness, William J. Horgan, Mrs. George McHardy, Theodore Sanford, Mrs. Harvey B. Thomson, Mrs. James J. Turner and Homer C. Zink.

First Ward G. O. P. Plans Mass Meeting

Judge Minisi To Speak At Rally In Hose House

Members of the First Ward Republican Club have completed plans for a mass meeting and rally in the Valley Hose House on Stephen street next Thursday evening.

The rally, scheduled to start at 9 o'clock, will be different from other political meetings inasmuch as campaign speeches will be subordinated for a program of feature entertainment that has been arranged by Wilfred Yudin, ward chairman, and Edward J. Abramson, president of the club.

Those who attend will witness as the main feature of the evening's program an elaborate selection of card tricks and sleight-of-hand stunts presented by Harold Herbert, a local lad who is one of Belleville's leading magicians.

Besides Mr. Herbert's act there will be a variety of popular songs tendered by excellent talent and a five-piece orchestra to make the rally spicy.

Judge Anthony Minisi of the Irvington District Court will be the main speaker. Others who will address the gathering will be County Clerk John Scott, Captain Batchelor, candidate for sheriff, Freeholder Zenas G. Crane and J. Mercer Burrell and Hefman Black, both on the Republican ticket for the State assembly.

Christensen, and Mrs. Christensen. A string trio, violin and cello, under direction of Joseph Adolf, played. Ministers of Belleville and Bloomfield churches were present.

Vocal duets by Miss Struble and Mrs. Mildred Molander included: Mendelssohn's "I Would That My Love and Wood's "I Heard You Go By." Phillip Molander, organist at the church, accompanied the soloist, Mayor Charles Demarest of Bloomfield was chairman.

Repairs To Tannery May Eliminate Odors

Sealed Walls And Windows Are Expected To Minimize Odors

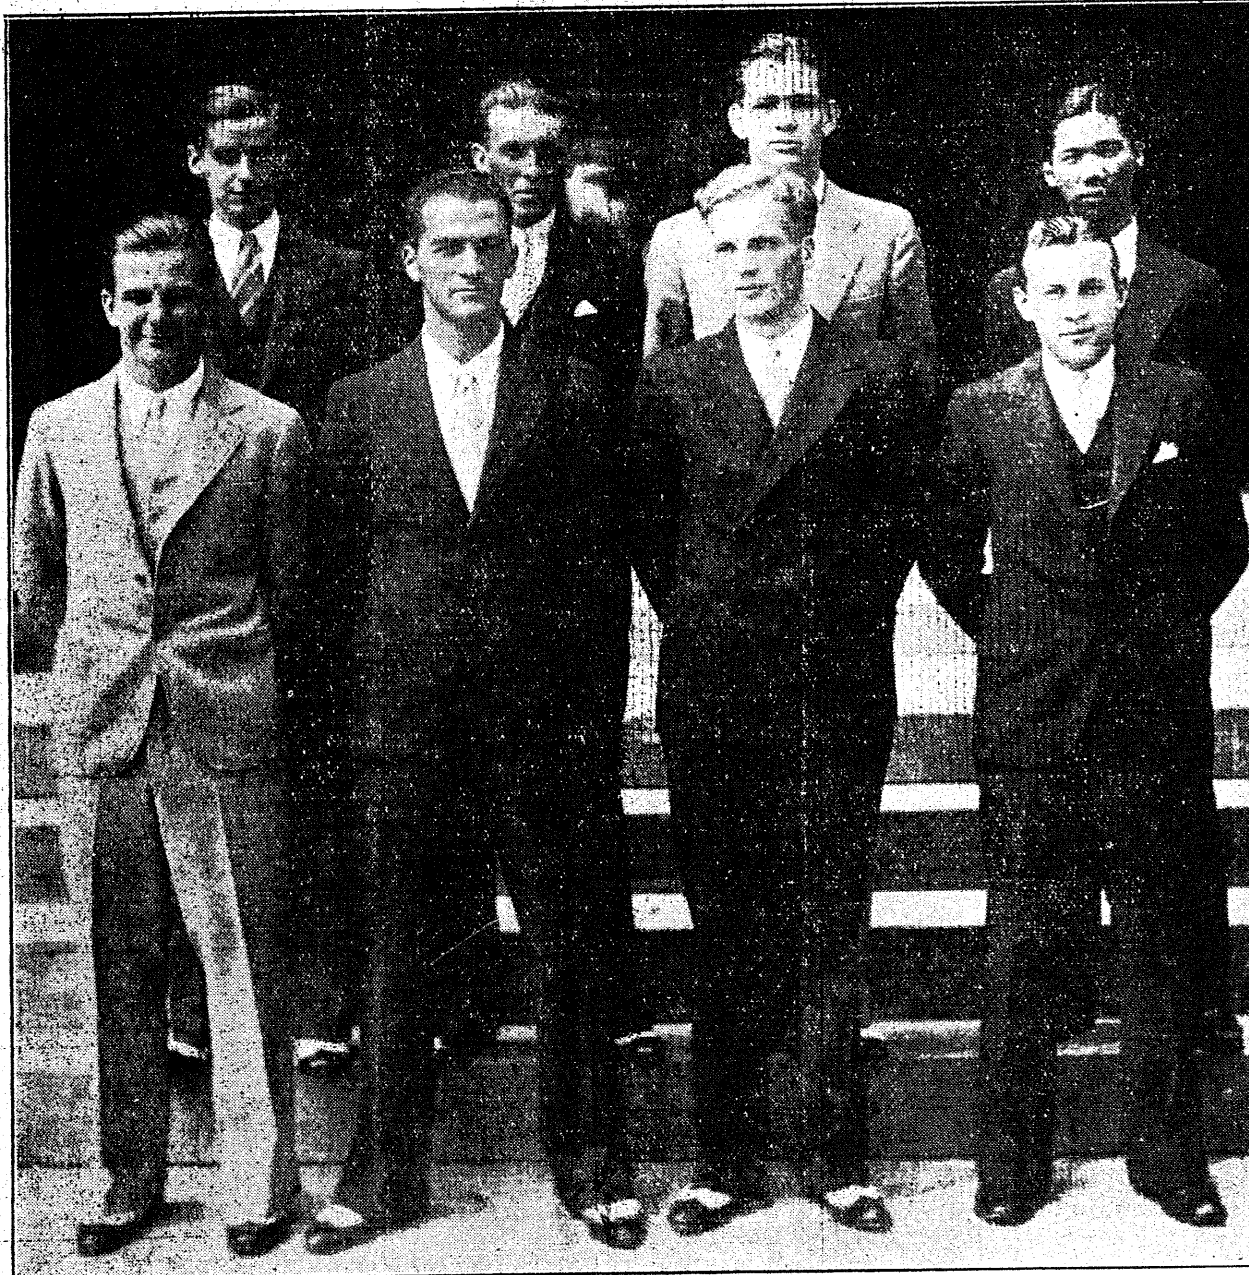

Repairs to the buildings of the H. J. Crowhurst tannery were promised by representatives of the company at the conference of the board of commissioners Tuesday afternoon. They promised to stop cracks in the walls and said that the broken windows had already been replaced. They announced plans to equip the building in which the raw hides are received with a sliding door large enough to admit trucks, in order that the trucks might be unloaded inside the plant, thus eliminating odors from that source. Commissioner Patrick A. Waters, who lives in the neighborhood, said that anything was acceptable to him that would tend to eliminate the obnoxious odors from that section.

At the regular meeting at 8 o'clock, a letter was received from Senator W. Warren Barbour, stating that he was sending a postal inspector to Belleville to investigate postal conditions in regard to the need of the town for an independent postoffice. This was in reply to a letter sent to the representative of this section in Congress and in the Senate requesting such a postoffice for the town.

It was voted to accept the gift to the town of land to round off the corner at Schuyler and Cortlandt streets from the Paterson, Newark and New York Railroad, a branch of the Erie Railroad.

A communication from the Health Department was received which announced that Dr. E. A. Flynn had arranged for the removal of tonsils and adenoids from 39 needy children without expense to the town.

Large Group From Belleville Enters Cumberland

Dr. O. Bell Close Gives Address As Tennessee College Celebrates Ninetieth Anniversary. Nation-Wide Campaign For Endowments And New Buildings Planned.

Eight of the students who entered Cumberland University, at Lebanon, Tennessee, as Freshmen this year, are Belleville residents and graduates of the local high school. The following Belleville boys are enrolled: Jack Hozack, Jerry Bonavita, Howard Buckley, John Albera, Jr., George Price, Lawton Cox, Bernard Shaw Close, and Shing Nan Wu.

Cumberland University is a Presbyterian college situated almost exactly 1,000 miles from here. This group of friends are attending the college in the belief that they can get more benefit from a small denominational college than from one of the large eastern universities. The university has the largest enrollment in its history this year, but the total number of students attending is only about 800.

Cumberland University was founded in 1842. It is one of the oldest universities in the State of Tennessee. Almost from the year of its founding, Cumberland became an educational center for the ministers, teachers, lawyers, and statesmen not only of Tennessee and the South, but of the nation.

During the ninety years of Cumberland's history more than 21,000 students have matriculated in some of its departments. More than 5,000 of these have graduated and have taken up positions of prominent leadership and service in their respective communities. The president of one of America's national organizations has said that he meets Cumberland men in practically every community, state and section of the country who stand out as leaders of vision and success.

Produces Leaders
Cumberland's contribution to social, political, educational, and religious leadership during its ninety years of service is worthy of study and consideration.

Among Cumberland alumni are two members of the United States Supreme Court, nine United States senators, 50 congressmen, seven governors of states, 14 judges in Federal Courts, and 95 mayors of cities. In the field of education Cumberland has produced 44 college or university presidents, 10 deans, 10 registrars and 77 professors. 1,200 graduates have entered the ministry.

Dr. O. Bell Close, pastor of Fewsmith Presbyterian Church, whose son, Bernard Shaw Close, is a student at Cumberland, delivered an address at the celebration of the ninetieth anniversary of the founding of the institution October 13 and 14. He spoke on "Lame Duck Leadership," extolling the quality of leaders turned out by the small church colleges.

Some of the high-lights of his speech follow:
"If some modern Michael Angelo should carve upon the tomb stones of all ancient nations an appropriate epitaph the inscription would end, 'slain and buried in this political potter's field by a leadership with neither courage nor convictions.'"

"The small church college has long been the training camp for the leadership of the nation. We send to you the youth of the land, they come from our hearts and our hearthstones, they are not men; they are freshmen; it is not enough that you return them to us as men; send them back as leaders of men."

"The large commercialized colleges are turning out men, legions of men. You have a better background, give us leaders for their legions."

"The new day requires new leadership; the day after the depression will be full of problems."

"No baby in New York City may have its bottle until its mother has paid tribute to the racketeer."

"Let us be too proud of our civilization, let us remember that the same nation that produced the 'Lone Eagle,' slew his eagle and buried it in a swamp."

"The North Pole will produce palm trees before an alcoholic degenerate gives birth to a boy capable of democracy."

"Give us a new generation of Jacksons, let them have the convictions of Stonewall and the courage of Old Hickory."

The ninetieth anniversary celebration was featured by the formation of plans for the expansion of the university. These plans call for the completion of a five year program which will give the institution added endowment of $400,000; dormitory of women, $100,000; heating plant, $50,000; gymnasium, $75,000; library, $75,000; liquidation and unforeseen miscellaneous, $200,000. This celebration also included a rededication of the university to a greater service with more adequate material equipment with which to serve.

Dr. Close is planning the establishment of an information bureau and reading room at Belleville, where prospective students can obtain information about the university and its curriculum.

Service Bureau Aids Homeless Children

Good Home Found For Orphans By Local Organization

The Community Service Bureau describes a typical case which they have helped:

"A few weeks ago a lawyer phoned asking that we make a plan for two children whose mother and father had been killed in an automobile accident. These children, two shy little Italian girls, seven and five years of age, were taken immediately after the tragedy to their grandparents. Their attorney stated that there had been some property, but after funeral expenses and other debts had been paid, the balance was very small and some permanent plan would have to be made for their future care."

"The grandparents were anxious to keep the children, thinking that they would be able to get an allowance from the state fund for dependent children. After thoroughly going into the matter, we felt the grandparents chief interest in the children was a commercial one. We also questioned this environment as being a desirable one for the welfare of the children. The grandfather was a paralytic and the grandmother was too aged and too indifferent to American ways to be entrusted with the care of children so young."

"There were many aunts and uncles of the children and after visiting all of their homes, we discovered one aunt, the mother's sister, whose home would be an ideal place for these children. She was an intelligent young woman, thoroughly Americanized in her mode of living and was the type who would be interested in seeing that the children would have the advantages of an education. The only drawback was that she was financially unable to assume this responsibility without assistance."

"The Bureau filed an application with the Essex County Juvenile Court asking that these children be granted support from the state dependency fund and that they appoint this aunt legal guardian; that the money from the state be paid to her for the children. This request was granted by the juvenile court. The children were immediately taken to the aunt's home."

"They are very happy, are going to school regularly, and their physical

Chest Drive Opens Here Thursday

Volunteers Needed To As- sist In Canvass For Funds

The Community Chest drive for 1933 will open with a rally at the Elks Club on Washington avenue on Wednesday evening at 8 P. M. A special invitation is issued to the volunteers for the house-to-house canvass to be present at this meeting. The usual banquet for all workers is to be omitted this year in the interest of economy.

The Chest has established headquarters at 142 Washington avenue which will be open at all times from October 24 to November 7. The headquarters will be in charge of various organizations who participate in the drive on different evenings during next week. These organizations will have representatives on hand to explain their work and interesting demonstrations and displays have been arranged.

Monday, October 24 will see the Red Cross in charge of the office; Tuesday, Boy Scouts; Wednesday, Girl Scouts; Thursday, Community Service Bureau; and Friday, Visiting Nurse Association.

Only $19,000 is asked of the people of Belleville in this year's drive, as it is felt that donors are hard pressed for money at this time, but the need is greater than last year. All of the organizations participating have decreased their budgets, with the exception of the Visiting Nurse Association, whose task has been greatly increased by the depression. Less than three per cent of the funds are required for administration expenses, which is due to the cooperation of many volunteers who give their services without pay.

The organizations participating in the drive are the Community Service Bureau, which provides food, clothing, fuel and shelter after trained investigators have found relief necessary; the American Red Cross, which gives relief to veterans and families of veterans and helps all classes of humanity after national disasters such as floods, fires, hurricanes and droughts; the Visiting Nurse Association, which provides free home nursing service for new-born babies and for the sick and bed-ridden who cannot pay. The Boy and Girl Scout organizations and the Silver Lake Community House, all worthy character-building organizations, are assisted by the drive. An emergency fund has also been created to be used for emergency relief as directed by the trustees of the Welfare Federation of the town.

Three hundred volunteers are urgently needed to help with the canvass. Only two evenings' work will be asked of them and they will only be requested to cover one side of one block. Your aid in this work will be greatly appreciated.

Rumor Confirmed Of A New Plymouth Six

Persistent rumors that a new Plymouth car shortly to be announced would be a six cylinder automobile of lower prices than that of current Plymouth models, was confirmed here today by P. A. Fort, of the Fort Motors Co., of N. J.

Although no definite announcement date was named, Mr. Fort stated that the new cars would make their appearance here within a few weeks.

"The new Plymouth Six," said Mr. Fort, "is the product of a new era of automobile manufacture. The recent economic stress has stimulated the progress of automotive design far ahead of the amount of advance usually achieved in any three year period. Machine tool manufacturers have volunteered more new designs recently than usual. Machine tool design has kept pace with the demand for finer but more economical manufacturing methods. Intricate machines that operate to almost unbelievable dimensions are now available. Amplifying gauges that literally split hairs not once but many times, are a part of the general production scheme.

"Thus the engineering laboratory model may be reproduced in the commercial product with absolute accuracy. The Plymouth Six is a product of these new conditions. Only these recent developments permit the production of a car of so low a price and the quality of past Plymouths with many new features. The mammoth Plymouth plant in Detroit has been completely re-tooled. Millions of dollars have been spent for new machinery."

At the request of factory officials, the local dealer is not yet announcing the specific features of this new Plymouth. However he stated the new car and it retains the features which distinguish its predecessor—namely, Floating Power, automatic clutch, Free Wheeling, easy-shift silent second transmission, all-steel body, rigid X frame and a six-cylinder engine of Chrysler Motors' exclusive design and build.

"The new Plymouth Six," said Mr. Fort, "is, moreover, a beautiful car, skillfully designed to combine the most popular beauty and style elements found ordinarily only in cars of a much higher price range.

"We have not been informed as yet of the exact price of this new motor car," he said, "but we know that it will bear the lowest price ever placed on a Chrysler Motors' product."

Bell-boys Set To Hand Central Upset Buchanan's Boys Geared Up For Big Clash Here Tomorrow

cal high school grid squad has his boys all geared to hand the undefeated Coach "Reds" Buchanan of the local Central High footballers the surprise of their respective lives, tomorrow afternoon, when the Newarkers thrust their cleated shoes on the turf at Clearman Field to do battle with the Bell-boys.

Prevented entirely from getting in any practice on Monday because of the inclement weather, and held to only a brief signal drill, Tuesday, the locals are none the less exceedingly optimistic about their chances on the morrow. After all who has Central defeated so far worth mentioning? A much over-rated East Side, as the result of the South Side-Bloomfield scramble seems to amply prove. That's about all.

The Bell-boys, on the other hand, have that sweet victory over Passaic of last week locked away among their souvenirs. And wasn't an outplayed Bloomfield eleven lucky to eke out a 6-3 victory over the locals on an intercepted pass? Another thing, the Yellow Jackets will be out to avenge that 20-0 mugging up at the hands of this same Central crew last season.

The big thing, of course, is to stop Laysears, the big, elusive Central halfback. He has been pretty nearly a one-man show all fall for the Newarkers, and with him stopped the eleven should be slowed down to a walk.

Belleville has just the line to do that little trick. That forward wall has been the outstanding feature of everyone of their games to date. Playing in the form they displayed at Passaic, Johnnie Daly and Ed Burke at the wings figure to smear anything and everything Central may direct in the way of end runs. The center of the line, too, with Bob Cocks and "Spooks" May at tackles, Johnnie Shepherd and Frank Vuono, guards, and Ed Mutch center should be capable of more than holding its own with the Central forwards. Artie Leadbeater, "Fuzzy" Ryder, "Skipper" Pascal, "Pop" Jammarone, Bill Tully, Joe Morano, are all backs capable of doing all the essentials, running, blocking, kicking, throwing passes, and doing 'em well.

Let's go, Belleville!

Mrs. Marie Drentlau of 64 Bell street will be hostess tonight at a card party for the benefit of Aremie Chapter, O. E. S. The party will be the first of a series to be staged by the ways and means committee, of which Mrs. Anna Hansen is chairman.

Weekly Meetings Held By Silver Lake Association

Tonight is to be Democratic night at the Silver Lake Improvement Association and next Thursday will be Republican night. The organization will attend the Republican rally at Kreuger's Auditorium, Newark, next Friday night in a body, accompanied by their band.

This organization is a non-partisan political club formed by a group of young men who refused to be dictated to by any one political party. The association will be glad to assist anyone from the Silver Lake section who is having any political difficulties. Their headquarters is located at 123 Heckel street.

The association has at present about 85 members, but they plan an active membership campaign and hope for 100 per cent enrollment in the near future. Meetings are held weekly.

Grant Association Honors Ball Team

The Eddie Grant Association has tendered a banquet to their ball club for their fine showing during the past season. They had a very successful season, winning 21 games and losing only two. The banquet was well attended, about 90 persons being present. Speeches were delivered by many notables. Jerry Spatola, Jr., of Newark, sponsor of the baseball team, acted as toastmaster. John Zito was chairman of the reception committee.

Belleville

CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach, Rector.

Twenty-second Sunday after Trinity. This day marks the beginning of the Teaching Mission. Rev. Allen Greene of St. John's Church, Union City, Missions. There will be a corporate communion of the entire congregation at 8 A. M.

9:45 A. M.—Sunday school to be addressed by the missionary.

11 A. M., morning prayer, sermon by the missionary.

8 P. M., the first conference, subject: "The Great Commission."

Monday, October 24, 8 P. M., the second conference. Subject, "Within A Mile Of Our Altar."

Tuesday, October 25, 8 P. M., the third conference; subject, "The Great Commission at Home and Abroad."

Wednesday, October 26, 8 P. M., the last conference; subject, "What Shall We Do?"

Saturday of this week, October 22, will be a day of intercession. The church will be open from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M. All are earnestly urged to come to church for at least ten minutes, and offer silent prayer for the success of the mission.

Yesterday was the second day of the annual church bazaar. All organizations participated. The tea room was most attractive, and was presided over by the rector's wife, Mrs. Peter R. Deckenbach, assisted by Mrs. William S. Denton; where dainty sandwiches of nut bread and cream cheese, tea and cake could be procured. The color scheme was yellow, with a center piece of yellow dahlias and green candlesticks.

Miss Lillian F. Edwards and her group of the Girls' Friendly Society, were in charge of ice cream sandwiches and cones, which particularly appealed to the younger attendants at the bazaar.

Mrs. Edward Nelson was assisted at the apron booth by Mrs. Harry J. Lloyd, Mrs. Sylvester Frazer and Mrs. Thomas Greaves. A delicious supper menu was served both nights. Mrs. Lloyd C. Nunn, president of the Ladies' Guild was general chairman. At the meeting of the Girls' Friendly Society last week, Miss Lillian F. Edwards and her group, who are in charge of activities during October, had arranged a clever set of impersonations. Mrs. Herbert Ainsworth, the Branch president was impersonated by Margaret McAleese; Mrs. Martha Peck, by Bessie Reitzel, Mrs. J. Harry Edward, by Alys Miller, and Miss Elizabeth Halstead by Isabelle Wilson. These associates were seen to be at a game of bridge.

Next came a social gathering of the younger associates, Miss Edwards being impersonated by Miss McAleese; Miss Frances M. Williamson, by Miss Wilson, and Miss Margaret Pride, by Miss Reitzel. Then an evening at Mrs. Hal W. Earl's was shown, the hostess being represented by Miss Miller; Mrs. George Kelsall, by Miss Wilson; Mrs. Frederic K. Sedgwick, by Miss Reitzel, and Mrs. Harvey W. Mumford, the publicity associate, by Miss McAleese, with her pad and pencil, asking for news. The second part of the program was devoted to: first, an historical guessing contest, as it was the evening of Columbus Day; and second, to guessing which radio program belonged to the various songs as they were sung on gazoos, by the group in charge. Miss Ruth L. Williamson received the award for the largest number of correct answers in both guessing contests.

The Ladies' Guild will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon of next week. Reports on the bazaar will be presented. The president Mrs. Lloyd C. Nunn will occupy the chair.

Meeting of the vestry this evening at the parish house. A full attendance is desired by the rector.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES

The International Society of Christian Endeavor visits the nations of the world with a ministry of instruction, suggestion and inspiration.

The International Society gives constant aid and leadership to the states, provinces and other organizations, which carry on conventions, summer youth conferences, leadership training institutes and society visitations.

The International Society plans and carries out the biennial international convention which brings together thousands of young people who are leaders in their churches. Every five years a world's convention is held.

The International Society's headquarters in the World's Christian Endeavor Building, Boston, is a clearing house of information and promotion for young people's work.

The leader at next Sunday's service will be Charles Lingerman of Newark who is known as one of that city's outstanding Christian business men. He is a director of the Goodwill Home and Rescue Mission of Newark and also a member of the official board of the Central Presbyterian Church of the same city. He will continue on Christian Endeavor's great theme crusading for Christ. This great campaign will close on the last Sunday of this month which is the 30th. The meeting will start at 6:30 on this evening and the speaker at the closing moments of the wonderful crusade campaign will be none other than Miss Lillian Johansen who as a missionary in India, spent her entire fortune on the young people of that country. Miss Lillian Johansen also broadcasts over John Scott's "Happy Hour" on radio station WAAM of Newark, N. J. There will also be a great musical service on this evening. Miss Johansen will give her complete life story from the time she was born on the high seas until the very hour in which she will deliver the message and she will also be dressed in Indian clothes. We invite all of our older members and friends to attend these meetings. Also it would be a good idea to come early and be sure of a seat.

Next Saturday the society will hold in the store next to the Star Cleaners and Dyes a cake sale and we invite our many friends to attend this sale and look over the splendid assortment of cakes that will be on sale.

On Friday evening, November 4, 1932, the Fresh Air Committee of the society will sponsor an old fashioned gospel hour rally. The program will be held under the direction of the Rev. Samuel B. Scales, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Woodbridge, N. J. There will be a sermon by the Rev. Elmo L. Bateman, pastor of the Peoples Church of Irvington, N. J. There will also be both instrumental and vocal music furnished by artists from radio studios. The old fashioned gospel hour is broadcast six times a week; four times over station WPAP and twice over station WNJ.

Plans for the hobo convention are being continued by Miss Mc Cabe and it is to be held after the next business meeting which will be on the first Monday evening of each month.

The names, addresses and phone numbers of all the old members are still wanted by the anniversary committees and should be forwarded to E. W. Burden, 15 Stephen street, Belleville.

The regular Sunday evening service of the society was started last week with a fine song service. Angela Campione then delivered the evening message. Mr. Campione was a former inmate of the Essex County Penitentiary in Caldwell and many other such institutions throughout the country. He was also a dope fiend before his conversion. Mr. Campione gave a thrilling detailed description of his life. After a closing hymn A. Staff of East Orange, N. J. offered a closing prayer.

The state convention which was held in Somerville last week was enjoyed by all of the Society delegates that attended this great gathering. A few interesting news items from this convention will appear in this paper next week.

NEW JERSEY PRESS ASSN.

NOW IS THE TIME!

AN insidious rumor has been creeping around town that should be immediately quelled in the public interest. This rumor has it that the purpose of the sewer assessments is the raising of a sum of money in addition to regular taxes in order that the town may engage in a spending spree next year.

Such is not the case. The law provides that the money levied in these assessments may only be used to pay off the long-standing debt of the town for these necessary improvements. The redemption of these bonds will save the town $36,000 yearly in interest payments, and produce a permanent lowering of the tax rate. It is the duty of every good citizen to pay these assessments in full as quickly as his finances permit.

Belleville people are now complaining that these levies should have been made long ago, as the interest paid on the debt in seventeen years equals the original debt. This is true, but the thing to do now is to get this debt paid off as quickly as possible, to avoid the loss of large sums in interest payments in the future.

GIVE ALL YOU CAN

THE Belleville Community Chest campaign will open Thursday with an appeal for funds from those who are able to assist those less fortunate than themselves. Expenses have been cut to the bone this year, and only $19,000 in contributions will be asked for, instead of $25,000 as was the case last year. Appropriations to character-building organizations have been severely cut, although they have need of money, and most of the funds solicited are to go to direct family relief.

The administration of the Community Chest is to be lauded for cutting its own expenses. Less than 3 per cent of the funds raised are used for administration and expenses. This is possible because the solicitors in the drive contribute their services without charge for the good of the town.

Give as generously as you can this year. In the face of salary and wage cuts it may seem hard to contribute to the fund, but, when others are in dire need of food, clothing, shelter and medical attention, every penny counts.

WORKING AND LOAFING

PEOPLE who know Greenwich Village say that writers who want to write have been moving into the country. Those who want to pose as authors stay in New York's Bohemia.

Yet Jo Davidson, one of the best known of modern sculptors, returning to the metropolis after an absence of three years, says that what he likes about New York is the urge to work that comes from living there. "In Paris I work—but in New York I want to work," he put it.

Someone should find out why novelists and dramatists who want to work get out of New York and why Jo Davidson likes the city because it makes him want to work.

DOING IT UP BROWN

IN ARRANGING homesteading by 5,000 families in its far north country, Quebec is doing things up brown.

First of all, such families are granted 100 acres of land. Next a maximum of $600 is given the homesteader to start his venture. That isn't all. The government pays him $5 an acre for clearing and $12 an acre for plowing. This goes on for two years.

Sounds almost too good to be true, but the government expects to tap tremendously rich resources by it. And only practical farmers are selected.

ICE CREAM ABROAD

THE LONDON office of the United States Department of Commerce reported recently that ice cream, apparently, is becoming as popular in England as in this country. In the words of the report: "During a recent hot spell, one concern estimated its sales of ice cream bricks alone in one day sufficient to build a row of 17 six-roomed houses." That is a lot of ice cream. But it is no wonder that this healthful delicacy is finding more and more popularity.

WORDS FLY LIKE BULLETS

IN THESE days of political warfare when harsh words fly like bullets from side to side, we often think of Elbert Hubbard's well-known saying, "Those who live by the hammer must die by the hammer" and again we realize that his prophecy is true. Those who scatter thorns may pierce their own feet. If political prominence can never be obtained by fair play, and by following the golden rule, it can never be obtained by double dealing and by abuse. If success can never be won by going straight, it can never be won by going crooked. At least not the kind of success that is worthwhile. If we can make up our minds to look at political questions as we look at business questions, calm in mind, clear in head, unbiased in judgment, much of this bally-hoo and propaganda will vanish like fog before the sun. More battles have been lost by frowns and ill feeling and more successes won by smiles and charity to fellow men than the old world imagines in its wildest dream. If we aim at the sun we may not reach it but at least the arrow will fly farther than if aimed at an object on the level with ourselves. But why worry? We cannot make the political situation, the national situation or the foreign situation over in a day.

For if all the world were peaceful
And all the skies were fair
A few of our politicians
Would still be pulling hair.

Items Of Interest Taken From Here And There Outside Of town

The Kearny Observer finds Kearny school teachers worthy of praise:

The teachers of the Kearny school system have cheerfully accepted deductions from their salaries in order to help the town out of its present financial dilemma. They have taken this action voluntarily in spite of the fact that they have already waived their right to salary increment in giving of their time and money to local charities, have received no pay since June and are uncertain as to just when they will receive September's checks. By this action they have proved once more that they are among the foremost of Kearny's citizens.

The Coast Star (Manasquan) has a timely editorial on Fire-Prevention Week:

Nearly one-third of these were children under ten years of age. The total economic loss was $464,633,265.

During 1931 fire destroyed approximately 10,000 lives.

In order to visualize these facts, compare them with the following:

The annual fire bill is about equal to 75 per cent of the interest on our national debt.

The new excise and miscellaneous taxes recently imposed on us will produce, in a year, very little more than the annual fire bill.

Over 80 per cent of all fires are easily preventable.

Fire is the great destroyer—not only of life and property, but of business opportunities, community and industrial progress. Of every hundred industrial establishments burned in the last five years, 43 were not rebuilt. The waste was complete and absolute.

The conquest of fire is simply the conquest of public ignorance, laxness and indifference. Each of us owes the community a duty—to eliminate the hazards on our property. We cannot afford the "luxury" of fire.

DESDEMONA HAWKINS

The WHITE RAT of Hawkins Hall

By Alice Mary Kimball and Mary Allen

THE STORY THUS FAR

Great-grandfather Hawkins, the widowed Mrs. Hawkins, and her children—Jack, fourteen; Ted, eight, and Nancy, twelve—live in old Hawkins Hall, Bert, the oldest son, a medical student, brings the family Desdemona, a white rat from his nutrition laboratory. Desdemona and her mate, Othello, whom Bert sent later, raise a family of eight rats.

Then Desdemona disappears. The children try to forget their sorrow by taking her children to junior high school for an experiment Miss Marsh, the biology teacher, has planned. One group of rats is called the Smitty Whiskers, the other, the Pink Tails.

Aunt Helen, Mrs. Hawkins' sister, is sick, and Lancelot, her baby, comes to live at Hawkins Hall. The doctor says Nancy will make a splendid nurse.

Desdemona returns suddenly. She has been with a family of dark rats living in the walls of the house. She describes her adventure in letters to Falstaff, her brother in Bert's college laboratory. A few days later, Falstaff's reply comes. Miss Hawkins's class continues to get letters from Falstaff to Desdemona.

CHAPTER FOUR—Continued. Then came some pictures and a letter of explanation with many big words in it. The biology class was proud to be written to as if they were already initiated into the mysteries of a college laboratory.

It was a story of rats which were fed a good diet except that protein was lacking in one of the amino-acids which are building stones of the body.

"They were a sight!" wrote Falstaff. "They didn't grow and were too exhausted to lick themselves clean or to smooth their unkempt hair. Such a disgrace they were to the self-respecting tribe of white rats."

CHAPTER FIVE When everything seemed to be going well with the people of Hawkins Hall—Great-grandfather in good health, Baby Luette plumping up and sleeping nights, Bert taking all sorts of honors at college—Jack stopped his hearty eating.

He came late to meals and, in grandfather's words, picked at his food. Mrs. Hawkins was seriously worried. Jack had always been inclined to fuss about his food, following the example of the old gentleman who turned up his elderly nose at green vegetables and thus upset any kind of table discipline which Mrs. Hawkins might have otherwise enforced. He was an ill-fated old gentleman, too.

"Eat what is set before you, asking no questions," he would thunder at Jack. "No, Martha," he would announce to Mrs. Hawkins, "I will not eat rabbit fodder. If you will not give me pie for breakfast, you can at least see that I have plenty of doughnuts." And poor Mrs. Hawkins would know that because he had eaten the wrong food for an old gentleman, she would probably have to be up "in a night."

But she did not put up with food fiascos from the children. It was her business to see that they had strong healthy bodies. The whole family worked in the garden patch behind the house in the summer, and mother and Nancy caused quarts and quarts of green vegetables and fruit. The bins in the cellar were heaped with winter vegetables.

So, although the Hawkins family was very poor, they had better food than many a well-to-do family that did not take so much trouble. Mrs. Hawkins made delicious baked Indian pudding and custards for desserts. Cornmeal mush was one of their favorite supper dishes. They had potato soup and other thick milk soups for supper in the cold weather. Foods containing vitamins were always on the table. In spite of this—Jack's appetite dwindled. He kept right on growing lengthwise, but wide-wise there was hardly enough of him to cast a shadow. He was stupid and sluggish, and his disposition was abominable.

Then one day she met Mr. Barker who kept the neighborhood grocery store. "Glad to meet you, Mrs. Hawkins," he said. "I've been wanting to ask you if you didn't want a few oranges or other fruits instead of all bananas. Bananas are an excellent food, but you can overdo anything, Mrs. Hawkins."

"What are you talking about, Mr. Barker?" inquired Mrs. Hawkins. "We do not eat many bananas. No more than other families do. We haven't had any for two weeks at least."

"Then what does Jack do with all the bananas he takes away?" inquired Mr. Barker. He can't eat them all himself."

In response to Mrs. Hawkins' question, she learned that Jack was working for Mr. Barker an hour every afternoon after school, delivering packages. He took his pay in bananas. Mr. Barker had offered to pay him in money, but he had preferred bananas.

It was clear now why Jack had stopped eating meals. How could he eat at the table when he was eating ten bananas a day! But why? Mrs. Hawkins questioned him when he came home that night. "Are you so fond of them?" she asked. "I'll have them oftener, if you are." They are so nourishing and good."

"I never want to see another," groaned Jack. "I used to like them, but now! I heard they were good food and I thought they would make me heavier. I have weighed myself every day on Mr. Barker's scales and I haven't gained a pound and I don't see how I can eat another one."

"The manager at the aviation field promised me a job there next summer, but he said I'd have to put on weight first, because he said I would get all tired out with the heavy work if I was not in first-class condition. Oh, Mother, I want to be an aviator."

Nutley Man Listed In Honor School At Rutgers College Fifty-Nine From State Are All Members Of The Senior Class

Students from this county were among the fifty-nine New Jersey students admitted to the honor school of the College of Arts and Sciences at Rutgers, according to the eligibility list announced by Dean Walter T. Marvin. Six out of state young men brought the total to sixty-five, all of whom are members of the three upper classes.

Admission to the honor school is based upon outstanding work in the regular curricula offered by the College of Arts and Sciences, and retention of membership is upon the same basis. Men completing their college work in the group are entitled to have "graduated in the honor school" upon their diploma, the only such honor attainable since men are not graduated from Rutgers "cum laude."

Students in the honor school are permitted to enroll in special honor sections which carry on advanced work. The majority of these classes, organized wherever a large enough enrollment makes them feasible, do graduate-type work and cover considerably more territory than do the regular sections.

Wherever possible under their curricular requirements, the men in the honor school are permitted greater freedom in selection of courses than are the other students. Four honor classes are equated as five regular sections, and men in those groups may omit their elective subject if desired, although their tendency is to take the full curriculum.

OYSTERS ARE NOW IN SEASON

Recently I had the good fortune to attend the Annual Safety Congress of the National Safety Council, in Washington when Sidney J. Williams, public safety director of that organization, predicted that by 1940 there will be 50,000 traffic deaths annually in the United States. He declared that at the present rate of increase the country cannot hope for anything better.

Williams, however, tempered his threat with a promise. He said that if the public will snap out of its lethargy, and if public officials will put into effect remedies of proven value, our traffic accident rate need never go higher, and that the record of 33,500 traffic fatalities last year may stand as an all-time "high."

This is certainly putting the choice right up to every one of us. We have only to decide whether to go on killing by automobile at the present pace or by driving cautiously, turn the tide.

If every driver in New Jersey will stop right now and take stock of his driving. I am sure that the direct benefits will be fewer deaths and accidents. If you find it difficult to analyze your driving ability then let Ray Lochar, of Medford Lakes-in-the-Pines, help you with his poem—

"How Do You Drive?"
Say, Mister, I see that you act like a gent

When you're walking along on the street.

And I'm sure that your conduct when on pleasure bent

Is such as could never beat.

But how do you act as you're driving along

Down the highways with traffic alive?

Do you stagger a path through the homeward bound throng?

Now tell us, just how do you drive,

When you're going on foot, I always take note

You never crowd angrily past.

You don't grab at the tail of somebody's coat

To make certain you won't be the last.

Why then, when you start down the street in your car,

Do you have always to make such a fuss?

You have plenty of time and you're not going far,

Leave some room on the highway for us.

When approaching a corner, why can't you slow down,

Somebody is apt to be there.

Don't fly gaily along like you owned the whole town

Try being polite and BE FAIR.

Our highways are wide, there is room for us all,

I'm sure if together we strive

We'll all get there quicker, and there won't be a call

To ask, "Mister, How do you drive?"

It's not how you act when there's someone you know

Fifty Solo Hours Needed By Pilots To Carry Passengers

State Aviation Director Endorses National Plan

Trenton—Unqualified endorsement of the tentative proposal of the Department of Commerce, Aeronautics Branch to require fifty hours of solo flight experience before passengers may be carried either for or without hire by any pilot was today expressed by Gill Robb Wilson, State Director of Aviation for New Jersey, Mr. Wilson said:

"Aircraft of today do not fail. For more than one year there has not been an accident due to structural failure of a licensed ship in this state. The one aircraft which lost a wing and from which the pilot was compelled to descend by parachute was an unlicensed ship. Motor structure failure is almost as rare and even motor maintenance failure is negligible. Not a life has been lost due to any of the aforementioned causes in a like period."

"Accidents have been due to the human element almost entirely and the inexperience of some individual a causation factor of prime importance. The move is in line with the traditionally intelligent policy of the Department of Commerce. I believe the proposal will meet with the enthusiastic approval of every experienced operator and every student of flying who has intelligently approached his training. In any case the regulation is based upon the statistics of experience and approval or disapproval is really of little moment. Aviation has but one criterion and that is public safety. In heaving to that line we have found the pathway to increased traffic and utility. I personally would like to see one single standard of flight technique for every class of pilot and all additional ratings based on an experience chart with various aircraft under various conditions. The higher the standard the greater the challenge to the individual to become proficient."

That's watching to see what you do, But, how will you act as onward you go

Down the Highway of Life, rushing through, If you still Hog the Road, crowding others aside,

You will find, I am sure, ere its spent, It's not where you go in your thrilling Life Ride

But how did you drive as you went.

If there were more drivers like Adolph Duhamel, highway safety problems would no longer perplex Motor Vehicle Commissioner Harold G. Hoffman.

Duhamel, who lives at 196 Ravine avenue, West Caldwell, today sent Commissioner Hoffman an old accident report blank of the type used before the new standard card was adopted in April, 1931.

"May I have a new card and envelope as a sample," Duhamel wrote. "I got this one seven years ago and never had any use for it. Send me another as good and make it so it will last twenty years."

Commissioner Hoffman complied with the request, complimented Duhamel on his fine driving record and expressed the hope that he would never have occasion in the future to file an accident report.

Get Up Nights?

Use this easy bladder physis to drive out impurities and excess acids which cause irritation that results in leg pains, backache, burning and getting up night. No Time Now For Excuses

NO longer will students in the University of Nebraska at Lincoln be able to lay the blame for tardiness upon the error of a clock. That excuse for late arrival passed into the discard recently when the University installed a system of 40 Telechron electric clocks. Furthermore the University has its own Telechron Master clock that controls all the time-pieces so that one never varies from another by so much as a second.

A similar system is to be installed in the Medical School at Omaha.

Moose Continue To Lead Legion Bowlers

Oldhams And Democrats In Tie For Second Position

Mike DeCarlo's Moose bowling five continued to show the way in the local American Legion League, Monday night, at Ferrara's North Newark alleys, taking two out of three games from the Woodhouse Association quintet. The Moose defeat in the final game, their first loss of the season, was accomplished through the compilation of a 1,055 team rally by the Woodhouse boys for high team score of the night.

The Oldhams had an easy time of it disposing of the last place Bachelors three straight to jump into a tie for first place with the Democratic Club winners, who won two out of three from the Belleville A. A. The Democratic boys hit their peak in the second game of the latter match with a 1021 aggregate.

O'Connor, anchor man of the Woodhouse five, was high scorer of the matches, accounting for a 255 tally.

..This Whirl Of Sport..

BY ARTHUR BLOEMEKE

COMIN' THRU

WITH the stage all set for the recording of a 6-6 tie game with Passaic, our great band of Bell-boy gridders suddenly had a change of heart, Saturday afternoon. The result: Victory No. 3 of the four games played to date.

Considering the Tartar-like qualities of the Passaic opposition, the victory was all the more welcome. The fact of the matter is, it was Belleville's first win on the gridiron over a Woolen City eleven, since the decision was made to test their skill against each other in the rough and ready pastime of football.

Of course, that series of stand-off struggles has been of only three years' duration. And Passaic's margin of superiority (?) has been anything but pronounced, as evidenced by the 13-7 and 14-13 qualities of the only two past skirmishes, prior to Saturday's grand and glorious finish.

In the universal tongue of the sportsman there are victories that are accomplished owing to the simple fact that one opponent is clearly and unquestionably superior to the other. And then there are last-minute triumphs, embellished with all the trimmings so dear to the hearts of the fan.

The Blue and Gold conquest of last week was of the latter nature. Not that Belleville's edge over the Passaic crew was even questioned (the record of first downs leans Belleville's way 9-5). But as the stubborn forward wall of the home boys held time and again, there were many in the goodly crowd predicting nothing else but a 6-6 finish.

Instead the local boys treated the Stadium encumbents to a last minute game-winning touchdown march, that lacked absolutely nothing.

CENTRAL COMES TO TOWN

IT WILL be a cocky, confident combine of pigskin toters that Central High will bring to the Clearman Field gridiron, tomorrow afternoon, to do battle with the local stalwarts.

The Newarkers, undefeated so far this campaign and with the Newark City Championship practically "in the bag" as the result of their Saturday win over a favored East Side eleven, will undoubtedly be installed "favorites" in the pre-game "dope."

That should be just the cue for the Yellow Jackets to battle their rivals to a fare-thee-well. And don't be too surprised to see an additional scalp hanging from the Bellboys' belt, sometime in the immediate vicinity of 5 o'clock, Saturday afternoon.

A Blue and Gold eleven of this year's caliber, especially being installed as an under-dog, is a dangerous foe to reckon with at best.

STEPPING INTO BIG SHOES

PERHAPS the most pleasing event that transpired up at Passaic was the ball-packing ability displayed by one, "Skipper" Pascal, a junior at the local high school.

Doesn't that name, Pascal, have a familiar ring to it? You're right, the newest Bell-boy grid "find" is a younger brother of one of the greatest athletes ever sent from the local high school in possession of a sheep-skin, Tony Pascal. His scintillating play in all three major sports, football, basketball and baseball, was a feature back in the palmy days of 1924 B. D. (before depression).

A team-mate of Pascal's in those years was another ex-Belleville High athletic "great," Bob Mutch, whose younger brother, Eddie, has been cutting plenty of capers in the Blue and Gold line these past few seasons. This is Eddie's second year as regular center and to say that he has been a mainstay of the forward wall is putting it mildly.

But to get back to Pascal. His pile-driving ability at smashing through opposing lines seems to be unlimited. And he makes yardage, plenty of it, if his work at Passaic is any sort of a criterion. That thirty-four yard run of his off-tackle early in the third quarter was about as sparkling a bit of ball-lugging as we have seen done by any of the local crew. And to show his ability to come through in a pinch, he crashed through right tackle for the winning touchdown on third down in the final quarter.

He should make a welcome addition to the Blue and Gold varsity backfield corps.

AS BRILLIANT AS EVER

CONTINUING where he had left off in the North Plainfield tilt, Artie Leadbeater, local fullback, demonstrated to the Passaic fans just why he should be rated as one of the best backs in this vicinity.

Whenever yardage was needed for first downs and all complex strategy seemed to have failed, the final simple strategy was resorted to, "Give Leadbeater the ball." And the best percentage of the times he came through.

It would hardly take a football "expert" to arrive at the conclusion that it was Leadbeater's educated toe that paved the way for the winning Blue and Gold touchdown. Punting from past the middle of the field, Leadbeater got off a beautiful forty-five yard kick that bounded outside on the Passaic seven-yard line, about as nice a bit of punting as we have seen in some time. With their backs to their goal posts, the best Passaic could do was to punt back to their own twenty-yard line, to set the stage for the winning six-pointer.

And right after that Leadbeater furthered the Belleville cause with several nice bits of off-tackle and center rushes, a specialty of his that he had been executing all afternoon.

THAT IMPENETRABLE FORWARD WALL

ONCE again Belleville's sturdy line showed to advantage. From end to end, Burke, May Shepherd, Mutch, Vuono, Cocks and Daly, it took all the pounding Passaic could deal out and didn't give an inch.

While they all played in heads-up fashion, we think that Frank Vuono at guard played exceptionally well. And he has been doing just as well all season, though not receiving the same amount of notice as some of his flashier mates. He is about as consistent and as quietly efficient worker as there is on the squad.

Feature Passaic Win

Pair Show Class As Late Rally Wins 13-6 Game For Locals

The newly-organized backfield team of Artie Leadbeater and "Skipper" Pascale eked out a last minute victory for the local Bell-boy gridders, Saturday afternoon at the Passaic School stadium, 13-6, before a crowd estimated in the neighborhood of 3,000.

Twice Belleville advanced the ball to within the Passaic ten-yard line late in the third quarter and at the start of the fourth period, but could not quite make the grade. Once a pass, Ryder to Pascale, on fourth down, was completed but just missed making a first down, while a second time Pascale received the ball on downs on its own one-yard line, as Morano after catching a short pass from Ryder, stepped out of bounds on the one-yard line, with a touchdown a seeming certainty.

Midway in the fourth quarter, Leadbeater booted the ball outside on the Passaic seven-yard stripe for a nice forty-five yard punt. DeMuro was able to kick back to his own twenty-five yard line, Pascale running it back to the nineteen.

Leadbeater then proceeded to tear the Passaic line to bits, going off-tackle for five yards, and then through center for seven more and first down on the seven-yard line. Two more short thrusts netted three yards, and on third down Pascale took it off-tackle for the remaining four yards and the winning touchdown. Ryder's drop-kick for the extra point was perfect.

The first Bell-boy six-pointer was accounted for in the early minutes of the opening quarter. After Leadbeater's punting had driven back the Passaic boys deep into their own territory, the shifty Belleville fullback, ever alert, plucked a stray Passaic forward pass out of mid-air and ran thirty yards for the score out-running almost the entire home eleven. Ryder's drop-kick for the extra point struck an upright and was no good.

Passaic started an advance all its own in the closing minutes of the first quarter, getting a first down on the Belleville six-yard line as the whistle blew. A five-yard penalty against Belleville for offside and a fumble that Rychie of Passaic recovered over the goal line were the means the home boys used to account for their tally.

Artie Leadbeater, with a net gain of close to 150 yards during the afternoon, included runs of thirty, eighteen and eleven yards in his sterling ball-carrying exhibition. Pascale contributed the longest run of the day with his thirty-four yard sprint off-tackle in the third stanza.

The defensive work of Eddie Burke, "Pop" Jannarone, who was forced out through injuries midway in the struggle, and Johnnie Daly was another big feature of the Belleville triumph. This trio threw aspiring backs for sizable losses time and again, ranging from twenty-five yards down.

Local Boxer Fights Today

Eddie Patterson, Belleville's Golden Gloves star of 1930, will meet Young Tommy of West New York in a fistie combat today at Middletown, N. Y. Suffering from a bad left hand, Patterson has had only three fights this year. He stopped Frankie Morris in two rounds at the Anchor Arena in Jersey City, held Tony Mack to a draw and scored a victory over Harry Gilmore.

Patterson is out to meet the best featherweights. He has fought Sidney Lampe, Ray Haywood, Sammy Miller, Jackie Stall, and Harry Jacobs, lightweight champion of New Jersey. Patterson has had twenty-six fights in his career and only lost two.
