Art is not concerned only with painting, architecture, and sculpture, but everything that is made by man which contributes to well rounded living, and the enjoyment of life. Instead of applying decoration in an artificial way we are beginning to realize that things designed so as to meet the requirement of utility or function have an inherent beauty in purity of form that cannot be approached by useless and artificial ornamentation. We have only to remember the un-

Recreation Body To Open Extensive Civic Recreation Center Old Belleville Hall To Be The Site Of New Project

For some six or eight weeks, James M. Lynch, president of the Recreation Commission and his co-workers, Mrs. Frank Brohal, Edward Lister, Charles L. Steel, Jr., and Henry Mason, have been facing the problem of providing wholesome and healthful recreation for the unemployed and employed citizens in the town.

This question was discussed liberally with members of the town commission, Messrs. Frank J. Carragher, William H. Williams and Mayor Kenworthy, as well as Arthur H. Jones, Deputy Commissioner of the Essex County Relief and Welfare Work.

At each meeting and discussion the members arrived at the unanimous opinion that the people were being drawn into a domestic, social and mental depression, because of the lack of employment and wholesome recreation, and that provisions leading to the solution of these problems should be brought about as soon as possible.

It was also agreed that a solution of these problems could not be brought about without the closest cooperation of all organizations and individuals possessing abilities and facilities usable in such a solution.

An analysis was made of the existing recreation facilities, and a clear report showed the present operation of a recreation house adaptable for social and recreation programs, and at present serving some twenty-two or twenty-three adult organizations, such as the Taxpayers' Association, the International Sunshine Society, the Bethany Guild and Men's Club, the American Legion, the Little Theater Guild, the Cameo Club, the Recreation Commission, the Girl Scout Council, the Varsity Club, and so forth, as well as providing place for many social functions of community interest, and serving as the office and headquarters for the Girl Scouts.

The total monthly attendance during October was 1,168, and to date, the attendance in November registers 1,456, proving the worth-whileness of the existing recreational program at the Recreation House, but does not solve the immense demand for physical expression and general relief needed by the many unemployed groups.

With a population of some twenty-six to twenty-eight thousand people, and a gradual increase in the number—

EVERETT B. SMITH APPOINTED RECORDER AS WATERS OPPOSES

Williams Deplores Humiliation of Abromson Due to "Peanut Politics" In Belleville. Waters Claims Appointment Was His Because of "Gentlemen's Agreement" With Clark and Kenworthy; Says He is Not "Double-Crosser" of "Big Three".

Commissioner William D. Clark announced that he had appointed Everett B. Smith recorder for the Town of Belleville at the meeting of the Board of Commissioners Tuesday night. The appointment is for the term of two years.

Clark moved that the Board concur in the appointment, and the measure was carried by a vote of three to one. Mayor Kenworthy and Commissioners Clark and Carragher voting for the appointment and Commissioner Waters voting against it. Commissioner Williams did not vote.

Commissioner William H. Williams stated that he believes that Belleville is getting a competent public servant in Smith, but he regretted the humiliation brought upon Abromson by the petty politics and vacillations of public officials. He also regretted the rebuff given Smith by Clark's failure to immediately appoint him. He said that he would not vote as a matter of principle, and felt that Clark had much to answer to Abromson for the way he treated him.

Commissioner Patrick A. Waters stated that he resented the remarks of a "deal" made after the appointment of Abromson. He said that he went into office with a bracket of three men (Kenworthy, Clark and Waters), and that the people had understood the bracket at the time. He said, "Clark told me it was my appointment."

Religious Discrimination Charged "A citizen of this town said to me, 'Waters, you're going to take a rap on the chin for appointing a Jew'" he went on. "An open letter signed by four reverend gentlemen of the town was that 'rap on the chin'."

"Clark can't deny that he was at my home, shook Abromson's hand and said, 'We put you over as recorder'." Waters concluded.

Williams Attacks Clark Commissioner William H. Williams then stood up, and addressing his remarks directly to Commissioner Clark, said, "Three different friends of mine have quoted your deputy, Mr. Entekin, as saying that he could do anything he wanted with you, Mr. Clark. Why don't you stand on your own feet?"

"As a citizen a few years ago I asked you what you knew about the traffic lights costing $40,000 which were then being installed," continued Williams. "You didn't know. There hasn't been a major purchase in your department that hasn't been a 'monkey job'. I don't charge that you have taken unsavory money, but you don't know what you are doing. We purchased a Reo ambulance and got a Buick."

Williams went on, "The National Board of Fire Underwriters has razed the life out of you for your management of the fire department. Everything that you've had a hand in has been of a plastic nature. Stand four-square, Commissioner Clark, and let's have no more vacillating decisions."

Clark replied that the present decision on the recorder's appointment was his, and that he was standing on his own feet in making the decision. Waters answered him by asking if he was standing on his own feet when he admitted that so much pressure had been brought to bear upon him that he was forced to name Smith. Turning to Clark, he asked, "Didn't you tell me it was my appointment? Yes or no?" Clark replied, "Two weeks ago I told you that but I'm appointing Smith now."

Commissioner Frank J. Carragher told Waters, "If I made a dicker with anybody and got licked I wouldn't holler about it." "I'm not taking a licking," shouted Waters. "I stood up under fire, and I'm not the double-crosser of the 'Big Three'."

Waters Names Abromson A resolution was introduced by Waters appointing Abromson as recorder. It was seconded by Williams. Carragher said, "Do you want a lawsuit? Why humiliate Abromson further?"

Williams replied, "I want to put Abromson in to prevent his further humiliation. There is no need for throwing him out and ruining his professional reputation. I want it to be known that he is a victim of 'peanut politics' in Belleville."

The resolution failed to pass by a vote of three to two, Waters and Williams voting in its favor, Clark, Carragher and Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy opposing it.

Marathon Dancers Claim Pay Default

Weary Angry Contestants Claim They Failed To Get Cash Promised

Eight marathon dancing teams that competed in the Riviera Park long-distance 122-day waltz, detoured en masse into police headquarters to demand the arrest of the endurance dance promoters.

According to the weary but very angry contestants, they had been promised all receipts of a three-day "Jubilee Dance" but there were no receipts.

The desk sergeant told the "walk-athoners" to make application for warrants Tuesday morning in police court, and the dancers departed to a local restaurant for a spaghetti supper.

Couple Get $500 Weiss and Glass, New York builders, and "Billy" Mishkin—are said to have been the promoters of the dance marathon that ended Monday morning at 4:18 o'clock.

First prize money of $500 was awarded to the last couple on the floor, Walter Schmalz of 507 Lafayette avenue, Hawthorne and Mary Cypus of Philadelphia.

"When this marathon started 122 days ago, they had a big sign hanging in the dance hall stating that all Jubilee Dance receipts would be divided among the contestants at the end, on

KENWORTHY ACCEPTS STATE POST; TO RESIGN AS BELLEVILLE MAYOR

East Orange May Resign From State League Of Municipalities As A Result Of Appointment Of Executive Secretary. Crandall Ousted Because Of Alleged Political Activities.

Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy of Belleville late Monday night was named executive secretary of the New Jersey State League of Municipalities, at a salary of $6,500 a year, following the ouster of Edward Crandall of Trenton because of alleged political activities.

Prior to the election, Crandall had invited President Hoover to address the League, which is a non-partisan body, incurring the ire of certain members. Edward Nugent, Elizabeth corporation counsel, was named president, succeeding Kenworthy.

Kenworthy was considered for the job when Crandall lauded it. "The Belleville Mayor's political doings have been uphill and down dale the last few years, a recent crushing defeat being in the primaries at the hands of John Scott, County Clerk."

Meeting in closed session, the board replaced Crandall of Trenton, successor to the late Sedley H. Phinney, with Kenworthy, who relinquished his position as president of the league. First Vice President Edward Nugent, corporation counsel of Elizabeth, was advanced to the presidency.

The executive board was at odds whether a vacancy existed. Spaulding Frazer, Newark attorney, supported Crandall, but the final vote was ten for Kenworthy to six for Crandall. Kenworthy then resigned and Nugent, as the first vice president, moved into the presidency. He had presided during the discussion on Kenworthy's appointment.

The new president declared Crandall had held the secretarial post in a temporary capacity, having been appointed July 1, after Phinney's death. Crandall's invitation to President Hoover was not his own idea alone, Nugent said, and was not the main reason for his being replaced by Kenworthy. The latter was deemed more experienced, Nugent said.

Manipulated Way In? Opponents of Kenworthy's appointment declared it looked as if the president was manipulating himself into the secretary's job. They considered after the meeting and again Wednesday, taking legal action or resigning from the league.

ber of idle and leisure time groups, it is practically impossible to provide adequate recreational activities with so great a force and so small a program as that provided at the small Recreation House.

Realizing this drastic impracticability, and the increased need, the Commission authorized the Recreation Director to prepare an extended program, to be promoted in the old Belleville Hall, at 253 Washington avenue, and to open such center under the title of "Employed and Unemployed Center."

Arthur Jones, of the Essex County Relief and Welfare, recommended the employing of some eighteen to twenty unemployed men, to renovate the building. Other unemployed men will be given assistance and relief as the program develops, with emphasis placed upon the generally called "white collared" unemployed, who will be selected according to their abilities, for the purpose of leading and directing boys' clubs, gym classes, and tournaments of a general nature, as well as assisting the director in the many other activities in which they are capable.

With this labor cooperation, and the elimination of minor portions of the present program, and with a strenuous effort in economy, Mr. Steel, chairman of the finance committee of the Recreation Commission, reports that the project can be sponsored without any additional cost or increased budget appropriation.

This report was pleasing to the Belleville Taxpayers Association, who are most heartily encouraging the opening of a recreation center for unemployed relief.

On Monday, December 5, this Employed and Unemployed Recreation Center, which has been planned by the employed, built by the unemployed, and used by both will be open to the public. The program will include men, women, boys and girls, in separate classes, according to their individual interests. The hours of operation will be from 11 A. M. until 3 P. M. for business, professional, employed and unemployed adults; from 3 P. M. until 6 for high school students and grammar school children, who will enjoy their special classes, and from 7 P. M. until 11 P. M. an organized adult program will be promoted. On Friday, from 3 P. M. until 11 P. M. the center will be used by the colored population exclusively, under the direction of the Colored Civic Forum.

These groups will enjoy a special room, equipped with a wrestling mat, a rowing machine, a set of chest weights, Indian clubs, boxing gloves, and other equipment necessary for individual conditioning purposes. Another room will be equipped with a billiard table, a ping-pong table, and some eight or ten small tables, where cards, chess, checkers, dominoes, and other quiet games can be played. In the gymnasium, a hand-ball, volleyball, and basketball court has been provided, along with supplies to be used in indoor baseball, indoor quarts, shuffle-board and so forth. A public shower has also been installed.

With this stated proposition and program, the Recreation Commission invites public criticism, constructive suggestions, and any assistance a person or organization may offer in this great work of relief and recreation.

WOMAN'S CLUB

comfortable clothes, the stiff parlor furniture, the meaningless jig-saw scrolls on houses and the automobiles of a few years ago to realize what enormous strides toward good design has been made in the last two decades.

This is not only because manufacturers realize that art sells things, (for who would buy the best automobile engine in the world if it was housed in a 1912 model body) but it is because people have been educated to demand things good in design. This education has been carried on through the public schools, through the advertising columns of newspapers and periodicals and has been impressed upon us by our environment. Good taste is not instinctive, it must be based upon knowledge, developed through use and tested by the things with which we surround ourselves.

Art is not a matter of price for it costs no more to make a thing beautiful in design, than one ill formed and ugly. It is a matter of selection. The consumer or the person who buys is always the deciding factor in the manufacture of beautiful objects or monstrosities.

The boys and girls in our schools who will be the producers and consumers of tomorrow will either raise or lower this standard of taste. If we are to progress artistically and commercially we must give them the information necessary to form sound aesthetic judgments, and develop an appreciation of all that is good in art and nature. Business and society demand that the men and women of tomorrow, select and combine appropriately the clothes they wear, the furniture they buy, as well as the things they sell.

For the things with which people surround themselves, if they have freedom of choice, form a true index of their character. The furnishing of a room in which we find glaring colors, gaudy ornamentation, an unrelated collection of cheap imitations, obviously bought with idea of making a show, we would expect to find reflected in the insincere character of the owner. No only do our possessions reflect our personality but they help to form and stabilize it. Wait Whitman in his 'Leaves of Grass' says:

"There was a child went forth every day, And the first object he looked upon and received with wonder, Pity, love or dread, that object he became, And that object became a part of him for the day, or for many years, or stretching cycles of years."

Influenced as we are by our surroundings, it behooves us to cultivate to the ability to control that environment whenever possible. It is our duty to bring our boys and girls in contact with things which will tend to influence them toward the beautiful and the good, that they may likewise develop into desirable citizens, dependable neighbors, and interesting companions. For art is not a thing set apart for special days and special occasions. It is something to live with and live by. It sells everything from lead pencils and fur coats to automobile and steam boats. It makes our homes livable and our store windows attract customers. It advertises our products and keeps the wheels of progress turning. It stimulates our emotions and help us to visualize ideals. It makes for a better understanding among nations and peoples and opens our eyes to a better and fuller life, lifting us from the tawdry and vulgar to the sublime. It opens our eyes that we may not be one of that great multitude who "having eyes see not."

The program was in charge of Mrs. U. D. Cornish, Art chairman.

Health Officer Berry Urges Seal Purchases

Tells Of Work To Stamp Out Tuberculosis In State

Health Officers E. T. Berry has just made the following announcement as regards the Christmas Seal sale:

"With the opening of the annual Christmas Seal drive of the New Jersey Tuberculosis League and its affiliated groups in New Jersey, I wish to take this opportunity to call on all citizens in town who are in the position to purchase these seals to do so and thus aid the league and its affiliated groups in the work of reducing and ultimately stamping out tuberculosis.

"The suppression of tuberculosis is now well recognized to be within our view. This can be accomplished however, only by wide publicity, general education and propaganda in all classes of society.

"The official health agency cannot hope to command the funds necessary for aggressive action in any one of the various divisions of health work. The very diversity of the official agencies cannot hope to command the funds necessary for aggressive action in any one of the various divisions of health work. The very diversity of the official agencies makes it impossible to divert any great amount of funds for publicity. Therefore, the aid of such organizations as the Tuberculosis League is necessary to disseminate such needed education.

"It was the recognition of the need of education for publicity and the placing of public health propaganda before the people in an attractive and simple manner that has brought forth in America the organization of the various unofficial health agencies. It has been suggested that the number of these agencies is a direct reflection upon the work of the official agencies. This, however, is a distorted view and is not the one held by those familiar with social and economic problems which must face the health organizations.

"The health board cannot meet all the needs of modern health activities. Its powers are limited and its activities influenced by various local needs and the restriction of inadequate appropriations. The present positions with the regard to the division of responsibility for the control of tuberculosis has developed a sound arrangement for cooperation in many states. The dispensary clinics, the erection and maintenance of sanatoria in state, county, and local health board activities, has been cared for by the health authorities. The publicity, education and propaganda upon the suppression of tuberculosis has been gradually taken over the National and State Tuberculosis Leagues who by the Christmas Seals, provide the means to carry on a wide campaign in the press directed along the lines of personal protection against infection and the necessity of providing sufficient sanatorium beds for the infected by local authorities.

"Active and incessant publicity far beyond what the official agency can hope to accomplish will be necessary for many years to come, in the work of reducing and ultimately stamping out of tuberculosis."

Park Use Increases Despite Less Funds

Records Show Unprecedented Attention In Activities

Despite greatly reduced maintenance expenditures and the general business depression, the Essex County Park Commission's business has increased tremendously during the past year.

The police records show an unprecedented attendance at the various activities in the County park. An attendance of over three million was reported at band concerts, trotting race matinees, playgrounds and various games and sports in the parks. One hundred and eight band concerts were held in the several parks, with an attendance of 513,500. The Monday night concerts in Branch Brook Park, given by the Essex County Park Commission Cadet Band, were attended by over eight thousand at each concert.

Baseball was the most popular of all sports. There were 3,610 games of baseball, attended by 1,292,780 persons. There were 22 racing matinees given by the Road Horse Association of New Jersey, attended by 180,000 persons. The playgrounds and wading pools in the county park system showed an attendance during the season of 702,749. The several athletic and track meets were attended by 165,585. Hockey, cricket, golf, bowling, tennis, bocce ball, football and soccer were attended by 271,068.

This year archery and quarts became very popular and the attendance is recorded as 8,755 at ninety archery contests and 377 quarts games.

There were 34,929 horseback riders recorded as using the bridle paths in South Mountain and Eagle Rock Reservations.

While the record of attendance given by the police for the various activities seems extraordinarily large, it is impossible to record the thousands who came to enjoy the beauty, the quiet recreation and the walks and trails in the parks and reservations. It is equally impossible to secure even an estimate of the number of people who picnicked in the Reservations, or to record the number of Boy and Girl Scouts who visited the Reservation to conduct Scout activities.

The great crowds of people that frequented the Reservations during the past summer bespeak the popularity of those Reservations for picnics and family parties.

The flower gardens in the several parks were extraordinarily popular this year and indicate that the people of Essex County are intensely interested in and appreciative of the efforts of the Park Commission in developing flower gardens that are beautiful and educational.

The receipts of over $7,000.00 from boating on the lakes in Weequahic, Branch Brook and Verona Parks indicate that the facilities provided for boating have been largely enjoyed.

The many letters of thanks received by the Park Commission and the appreciation expressed, especially by those who attended the band concerts, indicate that the efforts of the Park Commission to provide leisure time enjoyment, was a worth while service in these days of unemployment.

INSIDE STORY OF THE "DEAL"

Present Indications Are That Brown's Due To Get "Pink Slip" At Next Meeting Of Town Commission

The inside story of the "deal" for recorder is disclosed in the following article, based largely upon remarks made at Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Commissioners. When Commissioner W. D. Clark named Everett Smith, the following transpired:

Commissioner Clark moved the Board concur in this appointment. Commissioner Carragher seconded this motion stating that he felt it was Commissioner Clark's appointment, the vote being: Mayor Kenworthy, Commissioners Clark, Carragher "Aye," and Commissioners Waters and Williams, "Nay."

Commissioner Williams stating that he wished the following remarks added to his vote: I believe Belleville is getting a competent public servant in Everett Smith. I do regret that temporarily Everett Smith was to suffer a public rebuff because of the decision of the Director of Public Safety to not do what was his job, and I also regret that Mr. Abramson has to suffer a severe rebuff in the minds of his fellow citizens and friends. I think these young men are going to be substantial figures before the Bar in years to come, but I think it is particularly unfortunate for Mr. Abramson.

I will not vote for this resolution as a matter of principle. I heartily approve of Mr. Smith; he will have my encouragement. I look for a strong decent future for him, but I think Commissioner Clark has considerable to answer for to the young man who is to suffer a rebuff. I think Mr. Abramson's friends believe he has suffered a great deal and those in this profession must feel that men in public office should handle the future of professional men differently than this has been handled.

Commissioner Waters: "In refusing to vote for the appointment of Mr. Smith I want to say that I think Mr. Smith is one of the finest young men in Belleville today and I consider the nine others who wished appointment a credit to the town; it was a matter of putting the names into a hat and picking one out and even then there was not one which could not have filled the job with credit to the town. But the thing which I resent is the remark about it being a political deal which is being made in connection with my naming Mr. Abramson. Everyone knows it and I never denied it that I went in with a bracket of three men and I also bragged that I would never be the one who was yellow on it. We were elected that way and everyone knew it. We went out hanging on each other's arms—and then they tell me it was because I picked one man. Before I picked that one man I asked if it was my privilege for that appointment and if it was not, why did they not tell me? Commissioner Clark told me it was my appointment and he also went further than that. He came down to my house with Mayor Kenworthy and Commissioner Clark and had Mr. Abramson down there to notify him that he was the recorder. Now as far as he playing politics, everyone knows that while everything that was fair and reasonable I stood on the same platform that I was elected on, although it was said I would be the one who would slide out from under.

"I met a gentleman and he said you are going to get a rap on the chin for appointing a judge," and I said one had to expect most anything in politics—and the next day I got a letter telling me, and here is a copy. I feel I have a right to my own opinion and everyone else has a right to theirs, but just because I picked that man I am accused of being in a political deal and I did not give my promise to anyone only Mrs. Paul. I said I would back up Mr. Abramson and outside of that it is the first time in the history of Belleville that below Washington avenue, we ever had a recorder and I felt the Valley was entitled to a representative.

"I have no apologies to make for Mr. Abramson, but I have this to say, that Mr. Clark told me it was my appointment and Mayor Kenworthy was there when he told it to me. He went further than that; he went to our town attorney and told him to prepare the resolution and brought it to the conference two weeks ago and asked me to present it. What I want to clear up is this story about my playing politics.

"Up the avenue a group of men sat in a home and they threatened to join the Sam Kenworthy gang and this is the group that is accusing me of playing politics. One of them prepared this letter and tried to tell me that I do not dare stand up here and resent any word in it. I will tell you what I will do with that man, Homer Zink. I will go before that same committee and prove every one of these things and prove that he is lying.

"I had a right to fight for the Valley. Is that one of the biggest blunders of the big three? I was also accused of being in on the marathon and there was no ordained gentleman in the Town of Belleville who said a word against it because it was for the Veterans and that was the same reason that I was for it, but when we found it was not all right I was against it.

"It has been said that I appointed enough recorders. Why, Mr. Clark appointed Fitzsimmons two years ago and Commissioner Clark presented the resolution and I was not in it and to me he said he made a good judge and that was why he was appointing him again.

"I picked one man out of ten and the appointment was made two weeks ago to try out the public. Anyone who sits around knows why it was done, why, your own home was not your own. Every night in the week there was a delegation there and I said let us settle it, and to me Commissioner Clark said in the presence of Mayor Kenworthy, 'It is your appointment,' and shook my hand. Mr. Abramson came down to my home and he shook his hand and told him his duties and then the man who played the politics, and politics were played by the man who never stood on his own feet. He cannot deny it and tell that he did not tell me it was my appointment or that he was not at my home and that he told Mr. Abramson he was the recorder for the unexpired term and then he put in for two years. He does not know his own mind for five minutes. He has to have someone tell him what to do. One man in particular said he had pulled everything that was done and he knew that you could weaken him, Bill Entekin."

Commissioner Williams: "I have been in office going on thirty months. Commissioner Carragher and I have been referred to as a minority on the board. I think Belleville has gained by any division of voting powers tonight. I think Commissioner Waters is better off by following the procedure that I have followed and looking squarely on each problem. Your friends some times do not approve of what you do and you receive some severe letters and lose friends but I do not mind. Three of your friends told me the same thing about Mr. Entekin doing anything that he could with you, Mr. Clark, and that you did not know what to do.

"I know when you were asked about some six thousand dollars for a fire engine, a play toy, you could not satisfactorily explain, Mr. Clark, the manner by which you purchased same—and then there were the traffic lights and signal system. Mayor Kenworthy said I would have to take Deputy Entekin's advice on the lights and signal system, and again I told you when you were spending $40,000 of the taxpayers' money and you should know who was selling a thing to you. Later I went along and sufficient folks were satisfied to place me in office, and there was an occasion to study some of the purchases that you were making and I say this so that you will stand four-square on issues involving the people's money. There is not one major purchase in your department that has not been a "monkied-job." I do not say you received an unsavory money, but you have not made any decision of your own mind. I think you should get the advice of estimable men of the town and then take all the evidence and step aside to study it. We apparently purchased a Reo car for the police department, but later came to own a Buick. When the large Seagrave was purchased there was also a lot of trouble. None of these things happen in nearby towns. You wanted to start out with two 750 gallon jobs and we find we did not need them. I know why all this talk about Belleville's hazardous fire conditions was started six months before the need of fire engines was discussed as I told you. We were told of what condition Belleville's fire lines were in by National Board of Fire Underwriters but they reported too much. You have never made a report to this date of what is in the underwriters' report. Everything that you have had a hand in has been of a plastic nature. For the good of the government that is to come to Belleville do not be of the type that you have been for the past few years."

Commissioner Clark: "This seems to have revolved itself into personalities instead of a question concerning the citizens of this town. The question at issue is the appointment of a recorder. Something has been said about somebody being responsible for a change in my feeling about the matter. This is not true, my decision was reached prior to anyone coming to me about it. The question of the recorder is a serious one and I have given it due and serious consideration because I believe that the people of Belleville as well as the people of the nation desire the persons in government to exercise their prerogative and do what is best for the people.

"I stood a lot of criticism and abuse—criticism here on this floor when for the life of me I cannot understand it—but it is suffice to say I am standing on my own feet right here and now and exercising the responsibility that is given to me—the responsibility that was laid at my door when the dishonor of Fitzsimmons was brought out. The appointment is mine and I have exercised that responsibility and I am going to exercise the responsibility that was given me by the citizens of this town despite the remarks of Commissioner Williams and I take issue with him that everything that I have undertaken has not been a muddle as he says, unless someone muddled it up."

Commissioner Williams: "That is right unless someone muddled it up."

Commissioner Clark: "Perhaps at your own instigation."

Commissioner Williams: "You cannot prove that—your own son-in-law's father razzed you right in this room and also your own deputy said he did not know why you did not stand up and speak your own mind."

Commissioner Waters: "That reminds me of something I was forgetting. Here is a man sitting on the side of me, Mr. Clark, and he cannot deny this, or the Mayor or the Town Attorney—they came to my home to prove to me who had the appointing of the recorder and the Town Attorney brought his books down and I said he did not have the power of appointing. The attorney said he did not, otherwise, why did we pass a resolution to put it under his department? We argued it out, we took the law of 1927 which gives towns, cities and municipalities the right to do things and there is nothing in the Walsh Act appointing a recorder and that act was passed by the assembly giving the right to appoint a recorder for five years and he convinced Commissioner Clark and me. If he would have said 'Waters, it is not your appointment,' it would have been all right but then he told me it was mine and shook my hand and brought Abramson down to my house and told him he was appointing him—and now he is doing this he says of his own mind. I do not know what to think. He said it was my appointment? Did you tell me it was my appointment?"

"A Racket" Commissioner Clark: "You said at the outset of your remarks that it was a racket when we went in in 1930 and I agree that was so."

Commissioner Waters: "Yes, and I voted with you on everything to date. Did you not tell me three weeks ago that it was my appointment?"

Commissioner Clark: "Yes, but I made no commitment on reappointment, and I did not bring Abramson down to your house, you brought him down."

Commissioner Waters: "I am not worrying about this licking that I am taking but I am trying to clear up what has been in the papers about a political deal. I can take a licking, I am not taking a licking tonight, not me, but aside from that got what I want right here. I practically answered what I have here and perhaps later in the night I will answer some more. The people know and I never said it was not so that we were not known as the "Big Three," but I was to be the one who would flip-flop, it was said that I would not stand up and I want to prove that I did stand up and that I am not the one who is the double-crosser. I am trying to bring this point out. I stood and defended one of my "Big Three" on this floor and I think now it would have been better to be in no combination, but there is one satisfaction that there is no finer young man in the town today—no better, and you could go all the way down the line. I am not sore because I am licked tonight. I told Mr. Clark a week ago he would not stand up for over three hours and I asked him then, 'if it is not my appointment, why don't you say so?' and he said 'Give me until 8 o'clock tomorrow,' and after three and one-half hours in this hall he said 'It is your appointment, Waters.' That is the thing I am getting through tonight. It is one of the worst things I have put in for three weeks and then thrown out. The reason why Smith was not put on that time was because he was in the same office with John Brown and you could not have the town attorney and the recorder in the town office. If you are going to have your town attorney defending the town in a case, who would think it was going right when your partner was sitting in judgment on it; you could get a repeal on any decision given under these conditions. Then I picked Abramson as my man. They all know that you could not have the town recorder and the town attorney coming from the same office and that is the point I am coming to tonight that I did not play politics. I do not know who Mr. Zink means when he says someone went down Washington avenue and stuck out his chest and said he would bet $100 his man would get in; and then that about the zoning in the Valley. I am defending my stand and the reason I am making it so long is I do not want to be misunderstood as to who were the "Big Three."

Commissioner Carragher: "When they asked me how about my vote for judge I said Commissioner Clark has full power for the appointment and it is up to him. Say that your man says to me 'Will you vote for me?' and I turned down my good friend. I was offered a deal if I mentioned Abramson I could name the attorney."

Commissioner Waters: "Did I ever ask you that?"

Commissioner Carragher: "No. None of the commissioners or the mayor either. They were very refined gentlemen and I said I liked Abramson but Mr. Clark has the appointment and he should make it and told them all the same thing, that it was up to Mr. Clark and that I would not make a deal behind his back."

The following resolution introduced by Commissioner Waters was next read:

Be it resolved by the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Belleville in the County of Essex, N. J. as follows:

That Edward J. Abramson, be and he is hereby appointed recorder of the Town of Belleville, for a term beginning December 1, 1932 and ending November 30, 1932 and until his successor be duly appointed and qualifies.

Commissioner Waters moved for the adoption of this resolution as read. Commissioner Williams seconded the motion.

Commissioner Carragher: "Do you want a law-suit in this town? Do you? If Commissioner Clark appoints John Jones or Mr. Abramson or anyone and three members of this board vote on a resolution and you go to court, Mr. Clark would win out and it would cost this town a lot of money. Do you know there was enough money wasted on this same impractical kind of work?

INSIDE STORY

"A resolution was passed to give you full power, will stand in court and it will stand for all time. That is a foolish trick again to fool Mr. Abramson and I think if he is here tonight he will say I am right. That is a waste of time."

Commissioner Waters: "I guarantee there will be no court procedure."

Commissioner Williams: "With positive assurance there will be no court suit, but only with the thought that Mr. Smith having been given the proper start on his job, and so as to keep the professional standing of Mr. Abramson clean and so that his friends in the profession will not believe that for any reason that might be construed as detrimental to his character have I seconded Commissioner Waters' resolution. I think his friends in Newark should know it was just 'peanut politics' in Belleville that has thrown him down. It was my thought that Mr. Abramson would go in as recorder and Mr. Smith could go in as attorney where he served most favorably as assistant."

On Commissioner Waters' motion that the resolution be adopted as read the following vote was taken: Mayor Kenworthy, Commissioners Clark and Carragher "Nay", Commissioners Waters and Williams, "Aye."

Commissioner Williams stated that he had a resolution appointing Lawrence E. Keenan as town attorney he wished to introduce (the resolution was handed to the town clerk but not read).

Commissioner Carragher: "I make a motion that in voting on the attorney of this town the same be laid over for a week. There has come up a new man and I want to look over it." This motion was seconded by Commissioner Clark.

Commissioner Water: "When does the appointment come up?"

Town Clerk: "December 1."

Commissioner Waters: "The only point I want to bring up is this—if we are to have no town attorney from Thursday on, I think we should do something tonight."

Commissioner Carragher: "I would like to ask Mr. Brown about that. What if we carry over?"

Mayor: "You merely carry over until the term is filled?"

Mr. Brown: "Yes."

Commissioner Williams: "This resolution is phrased identically the same as the one last year."

Mayor: "If the Board will recall when we came in there was an appointee held over until May."

Commissioner Waters: "Cannot one present a resolution here tonight and hear the resolution seconded?"

Mayor: "The motion was to lay on the table for one week."

Commissioner Williams: "We will withdraw that then, but inasmuch as some of the members of the Board may not know the reason for this and so there will be no misunderstanding, will the board have patience for a few minutes?"

Commissioner Williams stated Mr. Keenan was a graduate of Wesleyan University of Connecticut; of New Jersey Law School; director of Taxpayers Association; one of the organizers of American Legion Baseball League; active in all public affairs in the Town of Belleville as chairman of the Community Chest Fund Drive and other worthy charitable and social societies, and Exalted Ruler of the local Lodge of Elks.

Commissioner Williams continued: "I would like to see the legal advisor of this board far beyond reproach. I would rather look for more experience in that man than in a recorder. The recorder disposes of the individual sins and if he has fair experience and a sound sense of idealism it may be enough, but the greater welfare of the town is in the hands of this town counsel where hundreds of thousands of dollars will be spent and how laws will be carried forth. I believe there has been incompetent advice given to this town. I think the town counsel should have the moral stamina to tell commissioners when they are wrong and not send Belleville off on a wrong path. This board has been handed wholesale assignments of legal garbage."

Commissioner Carragher has been given foreclosure proceedings on four properties and he could get no one to bid on them and I asked the town clerk to get the papers necessary to effect a sale—have you got them Mr. Daly from Mr. Brown?"

Mr. Daly: "No."

Commissioner Williams: "That is one item."

"I say this board has been improperly advised on budget making for years. I heard our town attorney say in 1931 it was the first time he had seen a budget spread out plainly and he should have seen them four years before. I want this board to get this information and also our citizens so that they will see why there has been collision of thoughts in this town hall. I will take up the question of Mr. Coogan and myself trying to place Belleville Park lands back into ratables—but the legal assistance came from Mr. Grosso, attorney, of West Orange. Mr. Brown told John Keating, chairman Essex Tax Board, he left all his papers in the office, and Belleville's attorney was there without any of the abstracts that had been discussed to reinforce our cases.

"I would say our case was so good that the legislature changed that law to make it applicable only in Jersey City and Cedar Grove. If he had been doing his duty he would have advised the Board of Commissioners to fund bonds six years of age and this has not been done until recently. Another law tells improvement bonds must be amortized so much a year and therefore the budget did not have in there the proper amount to make up a proper budget and the Commissioners were not properly advised and if he properly advised there he failed in not compelling them to make up honest budgets.

"Also when I came in here I found assessments had not been made for a period of years and were causing a substantial direct loss to the people. I think a town attorney should advise the board and then insist they do what is right. Since 1920 there was another law on the books, a certain percent of general improvement bonds should be placed into the budget and the town attorney said the law did not exist. No such item was in the 1931 budget, and when I said the budget had been faked I was right. I think you should have a town attorney who will tell you outright that what you are doing is not right if you are proceeding illegally.

"Again downstairs there was the question of buying the bog lands, and he gave the advice to this board compelling me to go to Passaic and Trenton where I could get sound legal advice and when I told him what I had found out he said 'yes' that we could take the outside rim and sell it and put the proceeds into general treasury of the town, and I said unless this money could go into the town treasury for paying off some current or incoming debts I would not go along. He told me this could be done. Other corporation counsels told me that no counsel could extend such advice and know what he was talking about. The law actually demands money received from such land sales be used for further development of the same lands.

"We had our counsel advise the commissioners in budget making days of last year that it would hurt the people of Belleville if $72,000 and $12,000 of interest went into the budget; your Director of Revenue and Finance had to go out and get it and pay six per cent at later dates.

"Just get this—and if the taxpayers of this town will only appreciate it your town counsel told us to leave interest items out of the budget, interest on bonds held by people outside of Belleville, the worst sort of financial sin.

"Mr. Brown said the Water Department losses of 1931 should not go into the budget—he was wrong. The same treasurer was handling the books, the same man arrived at an amount that was a loss and the town attorney said it could hold over and we came to 1932 and the State Commissioner ordered the money put into our 1932 budget and then Mr. Brown told us the 'so-called' surplus, the $16,000, he told me this should go into the budget and we have to wait until the 1932 budget is collected before we can get this money.

"I do not want any property owner to think there is any question of personal abuse in this—it has taken a great deal of my time to overcome all this. Mr. Brown has not confined himself to the truth, it is rather a serious statement if I am wrong, but Mr. Sargeant and I went to Trenton and I asked State Commissioner Darby if he told the town counsel and Mayor Kenworthy that he would agree to leave out some $75,000 of the 1931 budget if they would put in $65,000 and State Commissioner Darby said he did not say anything like that to either one of those gentlemen. He said he told them they must talk one subject at a time, and should make budgets correctly. That is my reason for saying Mr. Brown was not telling the truth in his statement.

"I believe it is the duty of the counsel to keep himself so prepared on the laws that advice on questions asked of him may be given—Mr. Brown has not done this. I think he has received between $5,000 to $9,000 yearly and I think Belleville could save money by having a full time counsel. The man could go to court and serve the proper hours that the cases require and take care of certain foreclosure matters that have to be fought out on a fee basis today.

"He told Commissioner Clark that he could not rescind a certain fire-engine resolution and the following week reversed his opinion and there is another matter in the Casale land which was passed tonight. The town attorney filed the deed, though Casale's attorney did not even know it was filed and expressed amazement at such a rare procedure. Casale owned land with deed filed and did not know it. I think Mr. Brown has arrived at the point where he has served the town long enough and I think he should be given two checks and let go his way."

Mr. Brown: "I regret very much that the welfare of Belleville has suffered because of the politics that have been played right here on this floor. The bankers who sat down with this board when you make up your budget and talked to you throughout the year told you individually and as a group that you must stop this defaming the Town of Belleville because of what went on up here.

"I am not going to enter into any argument but I want to say it is just too bad for me that I am not of the same politics as Commissioner Williams. If I was a friend of his or one of his particular clique of course nothing would be wrong and I would be wrong and I would probably be sprouting wings but because I am not, nothing is too bad for him to call me. My regard is clean for the Town of Belleville—I have served this town faithfully—there have been hours I put in that I have never been paid for—I have conversed and conferred with you over matters and you have not been quite fair with me."

Commissioner Williams: "Tell me where."

Mr. Brown: "I think you have misconstrued many of the so called instances which you related. In the last one you referred to, the counsel under that which you said took place this afternoon. There was no misunderstanding, there was an agreement in writing in my office and their attorney admitted it.

"May I make one more reference to the bog proposition. When this board was talking it over as an athletic field and we all sat and discussed the proposition and what the town would get out of it and in good faith a sketch was made of the athletic field that would be needed and there was certain land that would not be needed for the athletic field, I told the board at that time how citizens or municipalities which found they had on their hands lands which they did not deem necessary for public purposes might sell these lands at public auction. That was why I said the lands could be sold when the conditions said they did not need them.

"I have nothing more to say except that if I am not called upon to be the servant of the Town of Belleville that whoever you map place here you will have the fullest confidence in them and that the Commissioners, officers and officials and in fact everyone connected with the Town of Belleville will only do those things which tend for harmony for the Town of Belleville."

Commissioner Williams: "The Town of Belleville can sell lands they bought but I contend if the money for these lands could be put into the Treasury for payment of current bills it would be all right, but the law states it must be used for the upkeep and expansion of those athletic fields."

"As to this question that he brought up regarding the credit of the town, there is nothing that is going to help the town more than the things I have fought for from the very beginning. If the Town of Belleville had been forced to amortize its funded indebtedness, make up honest budgets, pay interest through budgets instead of additional borrowing—institute economical management steps when I first urged same it would not be in the position that it is today. There will be nothing more pleasing to the bankers than to see that Belleville is doing what it should do. Do not let us worry about what they think about what I have said tonight."

"They will know there is someone here who wants this board to be advised correctly."

The attorney appointment was laid over for one week.

1930. Previously he was a member of the executive board two years and was chairman of the special committee on tax relief. A Republican, he played prominent parts in the Hoover campaign locally.

Born in Denver, Col., forty-three years ago, Kenworthy has lived twenty-two years in Belleville, where he formerly ran a stationery store and later a real estate and insurance business. He was vice chairman of the Second River Joint Meeting and chairman of the Essex County Mayors Committee.

Nugent, active in the league since its organization, is city attorney in Elizabeth.

East Orange Protests

East Orange may resign from the New Jersey League of Municipalities as a result of the election of Samuel S. Kenworthy, mayor of Belleville, as executive secretary of the league, Charles H. Martens, mayor of East Orange stated Tuesday.

Mayor Martens was one of the eight members at the executive board meeting of the league in Paterson Monday night who voted to retain Barrett L. Crandall of Trenton. The East Orange mayor said he would advise his council that the money spent by the city on the league could be used more effectively in welfare work.

The views of Mayor Martens and the other supporters of Crandall were given in a statement by Spaulding Frazer, counsel of the league, in which the replacing of Crandall by Kenworthy was denounced as a political move.

Frazer declared that others who favored the retention of Crandall were former Mayor Frederick W. Donnelly of Trenton, Mayor John J. Morrison of New Brunswick, Mayor Roy W. Stewart of Camden, Mayor Charles H. Fetterly of Bound Brook and Mayor David W. Jenkins of Franklin. He said Mayor John R. Johnson of Passaic refrained from voting.

Kenworthy's Tactics Scored

The statement said the board's action "makes unavoidably obvious a tendency toward political control of the organization, first definitely manifested by an attempt last June on the part of Kenworthy through a committee appointed by him, to assure himself of the election which he compassed at the Paterson meeting November 28."

"At the June meeting, notwithstanding the recommendation of all members of the special committee except Mayor Morrison of New Brunswick, Kenworthy was defeated by Crandall, the reasons urged for such action being the impropriety of using an official position in the league for personal aggrandizement, lack of secretarial experience and the inadvisability in a non-partisan association of an executive secretary with definite political affiliations," the statement continued.

"At the annual convention at Asbury Park, through a nomination committee appointed by Kenworthy, he was elected to succeed himself. Those who had opposed him for the secretariat welcomed this as a means of possibly closing the rift created by the earlier dispute.

"The same committee removed certain members of the executive board, who were presumably supporters of Crandall and placed on the board of officials who, the Paterson meeting showed, could see no impropriety in removing without charges a capable executive, who had been elected, from all league precedents, during good behavior, in favor of a president who in no way co-operated with the new secretary during the difficult months of initiation into a new office.

"The alignment at the board meeting was unmistakable. Voting to remove Crandall without charges and to put Kenworthy in his place, were: From Hudson County, Commissioner Quinn and Controller Budd of Jersey City, Mayor Reich of North Bergen and Mayor Gasser of Harrison; from Essex County, Commissioner Gillen and Corporation Counsel Boettner of Newark; from Union County, City Counsel Nugent of Elizabeth;

From Middlesex County, City Attorney Medinets of Perth Amboy; from Passaic County Mayor Hinchliffe of Paterson and City Clerk Miller of Clifton.

"Of these, Reich, Gasser, Boettner, Medinets and Miller served for the first time on the board on nomination of a committee of which Quinn, Boettner, Miller and Medinets were members. A fifth member, Mayor Jenkins, was not advised of the meeting of the committee and therefore did not participate in its deliberations.

"No Charges

"As stated, no charges were preferred against Crandall, no hearing granted. On what turned out to have been fake representations, he had resigned a lucrative position, moved his home from Bergen County to Trenton. The action of the majority is so unaccountable on any hypothesis other than that of ulterior motives, that the minority who supported Mr. Crandall feel that the facts leading to the despicable action of the executive board should be made public.

"A more detailed statement of the situation is being prepared for distribution to the member municipalities. Certainly a league of municipalities under such self-interested leadership cannot function to good advantage. What further action will be taken must await conference and discussion."

Kenworthy will resign from the board soon to devote full time to his Trenton post, he said yesterday. He resigned Tuesday night as the town's representative to the Second River Joint Meeting. On motion of Clark, Carragher was appointed to take the mayor's place. If Williams becomes mayor, it is likely he will retain the finance post because of his knowledge of the town's credit status.

The new commissioner may be selected from among James L. Davidson, former tax assessor; Samuel Figuerelli, former recorder, and Elmer Hyde, Republican town chairman, runners-up in the 1930 town election, but the names of Tax Assessor John P. Coogan, Jr., Town Clerk John J. Daly and Joseph King, former freeholder, have been mentioned.

Astate political observers predict that Coogan will get the post.

Clintons Play Asbury Team Scoreless Tie Game And Brilliant Local Defense Stops Wanamassa Attack Saturday

The Belleville Clintons traveled to Asbury Park, Saturday afternoon, and in a football game played at Asbury Park High School Stadium held the strong Wanamassa Indians to a scoreless tie. Although outplayed throughout the entire second half the Clintons were never outgamed and although their heavier rivals came within striking distance of the goal a number of times they could never cross.

The Clintons had the better of the contest in the early stages of the game and only real work on the part of the Indian ends Tropoli and Hulick, prevented a Clinton score. During the second half the Indians carried the ball within striking distance after a poor punt of the Clintons was followed by a brilliant run back by A. Garrity. The Clinton line held at this point and Biase kicked out of danger. Three other times during the remainder of the half the shore eleven threatened but the Clinton line put up a stout-hearted defense and with Galluba and Spillane breaking in and spilling the carriers, the Indians took to the air. Eight passes were tried with no avail; one at the closing minutes of the game narrowly missing the outstretched hands of Norris who was in the clear. The line-ups and summary:

An outclassed, but fighting, Belleville High grid eleven picked up the pieces of a rather dismal season, Thanksgiving Day afternoon, as they received a 26-6 set-back at Kearny in the final contest of the season. The unexpectedly severe defeat in their annual Turkey Day classic rung down the curtain on the most disastrous Blue and Gold season in years, four wins being chalked up alongside no less than six defeats. About 5,000 people visited the stadium to gaze at the proceedings.

Trojan Footballers Swamp Clinton Jrs. Manning, Vandemark Are Best Of Winning Combine

The Trojan football squad swamped the Clinton Jrs. 19-0 Sunday, at Belleville Park, in the annual "grudge" game between these two local junior grid squads. "Brownie" Manning, Trojan back, was the individual star of his team's convincing victory. He personally accounted for the first two touchdowns,

BY ARTHUR BLOEMKE

BASKETBALL'S DEBUT

BEFORE the last official's whistle had put a halt to the highly distasteful and disappointing events that transpired over on the Kearny High gridiron, Thanksgiving Day, athletic thoughts at Belleville High were already turning towards basketball.

In the past few moons, the Blue and Gold court squads have been a lot better than average. In fact the last two aggregations, with their Lambs, Smiths, Goodriches, Bonavitas, Bohrs, et. al. have set up season's records (that stamped them as the cream of the basketball crop hereabouts). The quintets averaged four defeats in nineteen game schedules. In addition, virtually all of the teams to defeat them, received the same dose with reverse English in return engagements.

These past successes naturally have set high standards for succeeding teams. The Bell-boys have come to be regarded as one of the classiest of high school aggregations. Theirs seems to be the winning combination, that "certain something" that differentiates so readily and clearly between the winner and loser.

Now, with that arch-rival, Nutley High added to an already heavy court schedule, the incentive for winning is all the more clearly defined.

IT'S MC BRIDE

OF course, the lion's share of the credit for placing the Bell-boys on their present high basketball plane belongs at the door-step of none other than A. K. McBride, their coach.

While the material at the local high school has been consistently good recently, the quintets have always carried the unmistakable stamp of good coaching. They have not been a collection of stars, but rather a team of co-ordinating units.

McBride is now faced with a man's size job of rehabilitating. His is the difficult task of building a new varsity around the single returning letter-man of last year, Eddie Mutch. "Mac" Lamb, Ray Smith, Hen Bohrer, Eddie O'Neil, Lou Westra, Nick Bonavita, Joe Roherti, all have graduated, leaving a void that's going to be hard to fill.

The intra-mural tourney, recently ended, aided McBride somewhat in unearthing likely talent. Practice, too, is now in its second week, with the fifty-odd aspirants engaging in an extra-early start.

We feel more than confident that Coach McBride will turn out another winning combination this summer. After all, our last year's second team was plenty good, and they should make fine varsity timber.

CUMBERLAND'S GAIN

JERRY BONAVITA, three-sports star athlete at Belleville High several years back, cut a definite notch in the Cumberland University athletic program, this past autumn.

Bonavita is well remembered for his valiant work at both end and in the backfield for Belleville High grid elevens. Playing quarter-back this year on the freshman football squad of Cumberland, a small Tennessee college, Bonavita was easily the stand-out performer. He accounted for six touchdowns, as well as doing most of the punting.

He is looked upon as certain varsity material next fall, and seems set for a fine collegiate athletic career.

BADE MAKES GOOD

OUR all-state guard of 1931's Belleville High grid eleven is destined for a long and brilliant career at Lehigh, where he is matriculating, if reports as to his prowess on the freshman eleven are a criterion.

During the season just closed, Bade was the regular guard in all of the scheduled freshman team contests, missing only a few minutes of play over the course of the entire season. His play was of the same A1 caliber, that made him an all-state choice.

Incidentally, Bade makes the third ex-Bell-boy star to win his spurs at the Bethlehem institution. His fine play, too, makes possible a rather unique situation.

With Paul Short as the ace player and captain-elect of the team and Stan Goodrich another backfield possibility for regular duty, there is a likely chance that Belleville may be represented on the Lehigh grid varsity three next season: Bade, guard, and Captain Short and Goodrich, backs. How would that squad in the line-up?

It's not only possible, but probable.

Complete First Season In Undefeated Fashion, Sunday Afternoon

The Capitol Theater football eleven ended its first and highly successful grid season, Sunday afternoon, at Belleville Park, thoroughly trouncing the Bloomfield Rangers, 26-0. The Moviemen went through their eight game schedule in undefeated style, two ties spoiling an otherwise perfect record, that showed six victories.

Squad Of 50 Now Out For Belleville High Court Team

One Letter Man And Many Second-Stringers To Form Nucleus

Twenty football players were added to the candidates for this year's Belleville High basketball team, at the beginning of this week, at the high school gym. This increases the squad to fifty, as the boys close their second week of practice.

Coach A. K. McBride, whose quintets have won thirty of thirty-eight games in the past two years, is faced with the difficult task of replacing almost his entire last year's varsity, which was lost to him through graduation.

Ed Mutch, football center, is the only letter-man to return. A goodly number of the highly successful second team which went through an eighteen game schedule last year, with but two defeats are back in harness and should blossom out into first rate varsity material.

Gene Dacey, Al Calkin, Johnnie Schwab, Al Keeshan, Johnnie Daly, "Pop" Jannarone, Ed Burke and Nick Gardi are some of this latter group. Ned Dunn, Sadlock and Perry Vitello are other likely candidates.

Knights Of Columbus In First Place In Legion Bowling

Democrats Drop To Second Place, After Monday's Match

The Knights of Columbus bowlers went into undisputed possession of first place in the local American Legion League race, following their high scoring three straight win over the Political Club, Monday night, at Ferrara's. The Democrats, in the meanwhile, were lucky to take two of three from Johnny Lawlor's El Club, winning the final game on a close roll-off. They are now in second place, a game back of the high-flying, Casays.

The Moose made sure of third place taking the odd game of a three game series from the Oldhams in a Titanic struggle. The Belleville A. A. and Woodhouse Association quintets both recorded clean sweeps, the American Legion and Lamb Association, respectively falling by the wayside. The Parks took two of three from the tail-end Dugan's Bakery in the sixth and final match.

Editor Belleville News, Belleville, N. J.

Dear Editor: Permit me to suggest the name of Elmer Hyde as the psychological man for the vacancy created in the town commission by the reported resignation of Mayor Kenworthy. In the reorganization of the town's affairs we could not do better than to have Elmer Hyde helping to solve the town's problems.

Among the qualifications we recognize in him a business man of sterling qualities, public-spirited, and a man that does things when once given the responsibility. Mr. Hyde is a World War veteran. As chairman of the town Republican committee Belleville showed up well in the recent election. It took hard work to accomplish such results.

Belleville needs the best that can be found to conduct its affairs and for this reason I hope the members of the town commission will name Elmer Hyde.

WALLACE WINCHELL.

Editor, The News: I would like to impress vividly upon the minds of many pedestrians the great risk they unknowingly assume—that of walking on the right side of the highway, especially in the evening.

A small group, the non-society respecting, irresponsible character type, are well aware of their indecorum. I realize my humble words will not influence their obdurate minds. It would take a stern disciplinarian, a Stalin, successfully to transform their intractable natures.

This exhortation is directed to those well-meaning, law-abiding citizens who have never heard of this rule: Walk on the left side of the road.

A careful study with pencil and paper, taking into consideration the glaring lights of an oncoming vehicle, which totally blind the driver, and the rapid rate of speed in vogue today, will demonstrate to you how by so walking you safeguard your own life, as well as prevent the motorist from any court action due to no fault of his. OBSERVER.

ANENT TOWN COUNSEL

The Editor,

The News. Now that the Recordership is settled the next matter of townwide interest seems to center upon the reappointment or appointment of Town Counsel.

I was present Tuesday evening along with several hundred other citizens and heard the flow of abuse from one of our Commissioners directed toward our present Counsel who has served the town for six years. From the Commissioner's vituperative personal attack (loudly voiced in spite of illness) I gather that the main duty of Town Counsel is to delve into the moves of each Commissioner, seeing personally that he conducts the affairs of his department competently, being a general busy-body and assuming responsibility of such acts as deemed necessary rather than acting in the capacity of legal advisor for the Town. Of thousands of opinions given by our Town Counsel during the past six years, the Commissioner saw fit to cull from his scrapbook something in the neighborhood of six opinions he felt could have been rendered according to his own judgment.

It is the heedless and uncalled for personal attacks such as we witnessed Tuesday evening that makes one wonder just how far the town's name is being dragged when such tactics are used.

If there has been anything seriously wrong with the vast majority of Counsel Brown's opinions then not one or two Commissioners, but the entire five would be duty bound to select another man for the position. If, on the other hand, Counsel Brown has been competent and acceptable to the Board and the Town at large these six years (as previous reappointments would indicate) then he is assuredly entitled to a continuance in office, especially so with his experience in this office.

It would seem only justifiable, I believe, that at least four of our five Commissioners should call for the reappointment of John B. Brown as Town Counsel for the good of the town. Yours very truly, CITIZEN

Another letter was received from a man who said he lived at 508 Washington avenue. In checking up the News found this to be a lunch wagon, the proprietor of which said a man handed him a letter to publish in the News. The proprietor of the lunch wagon said he did not know the letter writer. The News tries to give use of its columns in good faith and expects its contributors to also write in good faith. The letter went into the waste basket.

Editor News:

I would like to offer a word of commendation to the Manufacturers' League who taken upon themselves the responsibility of collecting discarded clothing, putting it in wearable condition and distributing it to the poor. From my past three years of practical experience in charity work in this town, along with seven or eight other ladies, known as the "Samaritans," I feel your organization will fill a long-felt need in this community and it is only with organized effort that the most good can be accomplished. I wish you every success during the coming winter and hope I may be of service to you in the near future. Mrs. George A. Fitzsimmons.

ANENT SPATS

Editor, The News:

Here's a question that's bothering me. My wife tells me I'm old-fashioned because I wear high shoes in the winter time. She says I ought to wear low shoes and spats. Now, will someone please inform me why spats are worn. Is it really to keep one's feet warm, or just to keep up with the male of the Jones' family? JUST A HUSBAND.

J. H. Stephens

Joseph Hornblower Stephens, member of a Belleville pioneer family, died suddenly early Saturday at his home, 131 Joramemon street. He was 72 years old.

Mr. Stephens, associated fifty years with the Bank of New York, was a descendant of Josiah Hornblower, reputed to have brought the first steam engine to this country to pump water from mines. Hornblower is said to have founded Belleville, and a tablet was dedicated to him five years ago in the Dutch Reformed Cemetery, close to where Mr. Stephens was buried.

Mr. Stephens was treasurer of the Firemen's Relief Association forty-one years.

Mr. Stephens is survived by his wife, Mrs. Katherine S. Stephens; a niece, Mrs. Mary S. Hatch, and a grand-nephew, Joseph Nelson Hatch. Funeral services were conducted at the home by Rev. John A. Struyk, pastor of Belleville Dutch Reformed Church, Tuesday at 2 P. M.

ANENT RELIEF

Has your trunk disgorged those old red flannels yet? And how about that suit you thought you might wear again—and never did! Will a deserving man get into that outgrown overcoat—or a moth? George Gerard, representing the Manufacturers' Association, in assisting the Emergency Relief Administration collect clothing and furniture was pleased at the success of the solicitors, who began the first canvas of the town this week. Unemployed men are working at canvassing and collecting the clothing in return for relief given. One solicitor was told by a Floyd street resident, "Old clothes? I don't know as I have any; but here's a dollar to help buy some kid a pair of shoes.—And say—have your truck call Wednesday, maybe I can dig up a bundle of clothing for you!" Mrs. Estelle, Deputy Relief Administrator for Belleville, putting the bill in a special shoe fund, emphasized the need for clothes of all kinds.

Continual collection will go on asking old clothes from every home. The clothing is then thoroughly fumigated in a special fumigating building, transferred to the Clothing Bureau Workshop where it is sorted. Women, returning their services for relief granted, then repair them, sew on buttons, rip apart and remake them and they are ready for distribution to those needing relief. The Board of Education, through Mr. Turner, has made available to the Relief Administration facilities in the basement of No. 8 School, Union avenue, as the most central distribution point. In distributing clothing, the Relief Administration will cooperate with responsible organizations such as the Red Cross, Community Service Bureau, the Teachers Relief Committee, and so forth. In this connection, the Community Service Bureau, the Sunshine Society and the High School faculty have established the practice of clearing cases they help, by calling the Relief Administration office at Belleville 2-2100 to make sure that unnecessary duplication of effort and money is not taking place. Every organization doing any relief work would be benefited by clearing cases in this simple manner.

"BOB" NEBRIG COMES THROUGH

"BOB" Nebrig, if we may be permitted to use such a personal address in an editorial, is starting a real athletic endeavor at Belleville Hall, in Washington avenue. He plans to interest about seventy-five teams in various group in basketball.

That is some undertaking, under his regular Recreation Commission activities and the best part of it all is that "Bob" intends to do it at practically no outlay of additional cash than has been allotted the commission to do its yearly work.

"Bob" is going one step further. There will be rowing machines, weights, volley and hand ball for the old timers, who still yearn to limber up their muscles, but feel such games as basketball are too strenuous.

Something of this nature has long been needed in Belleville. More power to "Bob" Nebrig!

THE NEW CHICKEN

MORE than casual interest must be shown the despatch from the Chicago poultry show announcing that the kitchenette-size chicken has at last arrived. It is bred for city dwellers to raise in their small back yards.

It is called the Wyandotte-Bantam. It eats only about one-third as much as the ordinary size chicken, and eventually lays eggs large enough for the kitchenette breakfast table—or just a little smaller than the ordinary egg. This is news, indeed, although the extent of the miniature hen's cackle has not yet been revealed.

HATS OFF TO THEM

LAWRENCE Keenan, campaign manager of the Community Chest, reports $11,000 of the $19,000 fund raised to date. No definite date for closing has been set.

To Mr. Keenan and his associates in the drive goes considerable credit for handling it so well when everyone and his brother have frayed and empty pockets. To collect $11,000 right now is a man's-sized job, yet Mr. Keenan and his workers did it by consistent, hard work. Let's hope they reach the objective of $19,000. Surely no appeal in recent years has been staged with such odds against it—hats off to these workers, who are trying to maintain one of our finest civic trusts—the community chest.

THE BIGGEST OF PUZZLES

PUBLISHERS of newspapers and books, producers of stage plays and movies, are always perplexed by the fascinating but unsolvable riddle of guessing what the public wants.

It is one of the most mysterious problems of our complex age. It extends not only to matters of education and entertainment but also to practical needs. This year, there is a lively demand in the wholesale market for desk sets, consisting of a blotter, ink stands and other accessories. Last year and the year before, the demand for desk sets was below average requirements. Just why the public wants desk sets this year appears unexplainable.

The Monmouth American (Long Branch) finds Roger Babson optimistic.

"Although Roger Babson, the economist, was a Hoover supporter, he says that Roosevelt's election will pep up business. Here's how he sizes it up:

"The Majority of business men would have been better pleased with a Republican victory, but the masses of the people are pleased and encouraged by the election of their choice. Remember business improvement really depends more on how Main street feels than it does on how Wall street feels. Main street will be hopeful, encouraged and more ready to spend its small change. This spending may not be much per capita but in the aggregate it will be a powerful help to trade.

"I believe that business hit bottom in August, 1932, that fundamental recovery is now under way. I do not see probability of radical legislation that will endanger any legitimate business. Roosevelt will probably call a world economic conference, and much good may come in the straightening out of financial, trade and tariff difficulties.

"I believe the low point in the stock market was reached and passed in June and July. I am optimistic on the future of both business and securities. The trend is upward. Business men or investors will not lose anything by the election and the effect on the masses of the people will be one of encouragement, hope and renewed confidence."

"And that's the big need."

POEMS FOR YOUR FILES

WILL

By Alfred Lord Tennyson

Oh well for him whose will is strong!
He suffers, but he will not suffer long;
He suffers, but he cannot suffer wrong.
For him nor moves the loud world's random mock,
Nor all Calamity's hugest waves confound,
Who seems a promontory of rock,
That, compass'd round with turbulent sound,
In middle ocean meets the surging shock,
Tempest-buffeted, citadel-crown'd.

But ill for him who, bettering not with time,
Corrupts the strength of heaven descended Will,
And ever weaker grows thro' acted crime,
Or seeming-genial venial fault,
Recurring and suggesting still!
He seems as one whose footsteps halt,
Toiling in immeasurable sand,
And o'er a weary sultry land,
Far beneath a blazing vault,
Sown in a wrinkle of the monstrous hill,
The city sparkles like a grain of salt.

Chess Pie

Artistic

Creation

FAMOUS southern pie! Its beautiful golden filling and gorgeous brown top have been enjoyed by so few people outside of the South, that this recipe should be a real treat.

The chief characteristic of this delicacy is a waxiness of texture unlike any other. It is very rich. One pie will usually serve eight people. For those who do know chess pie, this way of preparing it will probably be an adventure—numbers of recipes have been passed from door to door and over the fence. The evaporated milk helps to create the exceptional texture and the necessary richness. We can almost sniff the thing as we write about it!

Chess Pie.

1/2 cup butter 1/2 egg yolks
1 cup sugar 1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup flour 1 ed milk
1/2 tsp. salt 1 tsp. vanilla

Cream butter. Add sugar. Cream until sugar granules are dissolved. Add flour, salt and egg yolks. Stir thoroughly, then add milk and vanilla. Pour into a raw pie shell. Bake in a hot oven (425° F.) 30 minutes. Then reduce to slow oven (200° F.) to finish baking, about 20 minutes. Yield: 1 pie.

The three egg whites left from the yolks used in the pie, can be made into a meringue. Most people think, though, that the pie is superior without a meringue, and it is better to use the whites in a cake.

Survey Reveals

Demand For Lower Priced Automobile

Lower Cost And Greater Operating Economy Is Sought By Buyer

A national survey recently completed for one of the leading automobile manufacturers, to determine what is uppermost in the minds of car owners and prospective buyers, discloses three important demands: (1) lower first cost; (2) lower maintenance cost; (3) greater economy in operation.

This survey was conducted among car owners in the lowest price class since 1928. It shows that 80 per cent of all cars sold last year cost under $750.

While those were the three leading demands of motorists, it is also noted in conjunction with those requirements, that distinctive styling as well as power and speed performance to meet current day needs were highly important.

In nearly every case the person interviewed declared that with present day incomes at least 50 per cent under the average income of 1929, in order to be interested in a new car purchase it would be necessary to market a vehicle that would be materially lower in price as well as in maintenance and operating cost on a basis comparable with lessened incomes.

These disclosures resulted in the manufacturer, for whom the survey was made, analyzing car prices in the class of $750 to learn what the average price reduction had been since 1929. The analysis disclosed that car prices in the low priced class in the past three years have been reduced just a trifle more than four per cent, whereas 1932 incomes on the whole have decreased more than fifty per cent in the same period.

"This survey," the manufacturer said, "provided us the information we sought and the fact that we obtained our information from all sections of the nation, in large and small cities as well as on farms and in rural sections gave a complete cross-section of what the public demands. It shows that America is in an entirely new era. Since so many of the persons interviewed declared that instead of graduating to a higher priced car in their next purchase, because of existing conditions they would seek, a car priced even lower than that which they are driving at present. This clearly shows a complete reversal of buying habits and indicates that the manufacturer who brings out a car priced that it closely parallels the curtailed incomes of today, and at the same time is more economical to operate and maintain, without sacrifice in style, quality, comfort or performance, should find an excellent market."

"Another important fact developed in this survey was the importance that car owners now attach to fuel economy. In previous years the buyer gave little thought to fuel economy and was satisfied if the car had attractive lines, was comfortable and had ample power and speed performance. Now he is interested in 'how many miles per gallon?'"

"He is not satisfied that present-day prices are low enough nor is he satisfied that a car cannot be built to give him, say from 25 to 30 miles on a gallon of fuel. This would be about the proper ratio of reduction in fuel expense when compared with the reduction he has suffered in income."

While this manufacturer would not permit his identity to be made known nor would he admit that such a car should and would be produced, it is not out of reason to believe that already he has his engineers developing plans for a car that would come nearer reaching the present-day reduced income than any other manufacturer in the automobile industry.

Newspaper of the Air

WHAT appears to be a concerted effort on the part of the newspaper fraternity to improve radio from within is arousing much comment in press and studio circles in New York. The influx of newspaper writers, devoting part of their journalistic and literary talents to radio is changing the technique of program writing and building.

One popular nation-wide program, the G-E Daily Circle, is built entirely around a group of famous newspaper writers, with Heywood Brown as news interpreter and master of ceremonies. On his staff are Emily Post, "etiquette" John Erskine, exposé of the famous, Arthur B. Reeve, police reporter turned mystery writer, Hendrik

RATHER DUBIOUS

SOME one has proposed to Governor Roosevelt a "seasonal tariff" idea which he is considering. The scheme is to allow the importation of certain perishable foreign agricultural products at some season in the year when our American farms and orchards are not producing.

Thus we would allow lemons from Italy, onions from Bermuda, grapefruit from Cuba, and so forth, to come in at a low duty for a short period.

It might work out but we doubt if the agricultural interests of the country would take a chance on it. They are afraid of the cultivation of a taste for foreign products.

EASIER AND HARDER

ANOTHER big link in the chain of highways to enable motorists to get into and out of New York, without too much delay, was opened last week. This is the new three-mile viaduct across the New Jersey meadows, a super-speedway with room enough for five cars to move abreast.

Getting into New York is now easier than moving about after one is there. The new viaduct will bring in more cars daily to add to traffic difficulties. In a city like New York, a constant race is maintained between easier access and congestion, with congestion always ahead.

HOW ABOUT IT?

WHAT has become of the two and three-quarters per cent beer which, a year or so ago, was to settle the whole prohibition business? We were told that this percentage was just right—it would satisfy all the beer drinkers and pass the Supreme Court.

But now no one talks about two and three-quarters per cent beer—it's four and a half and five per cent beer we expect to get. Some enthusiasts think that the Supreme Court can be argued into legalizing 12 to 14 per cent wines, also.

A while ago if it was suggested that two and three-quarters beer was little better than near beer, the protest would be loud and long. At the moment, however, it has no friends at all.

Holly Wreaths Are Dainty Cookies

IF YOU are looking for an extremely decorative, easily handled holiday cookie, here is one which attracts attention.

You will have a fine, yellow cookie dough, made nutritious by concentrated evaporated milk. When the dough is thoroughly chilled, anyone can handle it in a pastry tube.

The angelica used on top of the cookies is readily obtainable. It is a kind of crystallized decoration, somewhat after the manner of citron in texture. It is fun to use, if you have not made its acquaintance before.

Holly Wreaths.
1 cup butter 2 1/2 cups flour
1 cup sugar 1 scant tsp. soda
1 egg 1 scant tsp. baking powder
2 tsp. evaporated milk 1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla

Have pans and oven ready so that cookies can be baked immediately after mixing. Cream butter and sugar until sugar granules are dissolved. Add egg, milk and vanilla. Stir until thoroughly mixed. Sift flour, then measure. Resift with soda, baking powder and salt. Stir into first mixture. Chill dough and press through a pastry tube, in the shape of a holly wreath, onto greased baking sheet. Decorate tops of wreaths with bits of angelica and candied cherries. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) 10 minutes. Yield: 4 dozen cookies.

This is a cookie most of your friends have never made. Even fancy bakeries hardly ever have them. You are certain to enjoy many appreciative remarks from your family and friends.

IN VOGUE TODAY

The decorative stichery that lost its place when the vogue for strictly tailored lines and the masculine silhouette swept the country a few years ago has come into its own once again. "It's smart to be feminine" in this day and age, and fagoting, smocking, tucking and shirring trim the most charming of the winter's frocks.

With chic neckwear and intricately fashioned sleeves in high favor, the woman who enjoys doing needlework will find that most of these decorative sticheries offer endless possibilities. Although the time that they require may prove a restricting factor to many seamstresses, it is a small price for the note of distinction any dress with a hand-made finish assumes. The ever-welcome factor of economy is also in their favor, for they may be used when old sleeves are replaced by new ones with little danger of giving a "patched" appearance. Harmonizing colors or fabrics of different textures may be combined in the same manner.

Practically all patterns today show interesting seam constructions, suggesting the wide use of various decorative finishes. One attractive costume seen recently combines brown rough crepe with matching satin, its wide armeye line featuring a fagoting joining between the satin bodice and the sleeves of crepe.

Fagoting is the most popular trimming for white neckwear. Collars fashioned of silk or woolen fabrics should be fagoted with silk button hole twist or silk wash twist, but for cottons or linens ordinary cracker cotton is most practical. If a fold of material is to be fagoted to a curved edge it should be cut on the bias and the raw edges seamed together to make a double fold. If the edges are stretched in the process of stitching them together they will curve easily and the folded edge of the bias strip may be held in slightly, as it is fagoted, to fit the shape of the edge which it adjoins.

Shirring provides fullness for many of the new sleeves, and bodices are given the same treatment to release fullness at the shoulders or neckline. If several rows of shirring are to be made, it is much simpler to sew two rows in a continuous machine stitching, for if this is done the thread ends need to be tied on only one side of the shirred material.

Pine tucking is another feature of the season's smartest costumes. A black, sheer crepe afternoon dress, for instance, uses this medium of self-trimming on a yoke made by stitching a number of one-eighth inch tucks approximately three-eighths of an inch apart. Lines or stitching, the same distance apart, are then run across the tucks to form squares and fasten the tucks down in the opposite direction. This treatment gives an attractive textural effect particularly harmonious with the rough surfaces of the fabrics now in vogue.

The Feast Finds A Happy Ending

By MARYE LAMNKE
Director of Home Economics, Kraft Cheese Institute

Holiday meals, like great plays, should end with a flourish. Like great books, they should be closed with a sigh.

Not a heaped up profusion, a last cloying addition of sweet upon sweet, but a course that leaves a piquancy on the tongue, and a mellow glow in the imagination.

Here is a noble last course for any feast—something to be thankful for indeed. Fine cheese, fruit, crisp crackers, and coffee.

There is a dignity as well as grace, beauty as well as deliciousness in such a service as this.

A cheese tray filled with both the ruddy and pale-hued the sharp and mild varieties of the world's finest cheeses in an array to satisfy every taste—is a fitting climax to a holiday meal. Set on its cool green bed of galax leaves, inviting the enicure with slices, squares, and wedges of cheese-goodness, it provides just that tang which the feast requires. American, Swiss, Roquefort, Camembert—you can get them all in convenient package sizes.

Cheese nuggets, simply small squares of "Philadelphia" Cream cheese, dipped in chopped nutmeats, flanking the tray, lend a festive note decidedly in keeping with the season.

The centerpiece for the holiday dinner contributes much to its simple elegance. No more beautiful one can be found than that of autumn fruits, great frosty grapes, rosy apples, tangerines with golden sweetness, ruddy pears, persimmons frost-ripened to an orange goodness—all in a generous and appealing profusion. An assortment of nuts in a brown wooden bowl, with nut crackers to go round—and demi-tasse service of steaming coffee complete the array.

YOU, YOUR CAR and the MOTOR LAWS

Harold G. Hoffman,
Commissioner of Motor Vehicles

A fifteen per cent decrease in automobile accidents during the first nine months of 1932 over the corresponding period of last year, was announced recently by Motor Vehicle Commissioner Harold G. Hoffman.

Contributing factors to the improved accident situation were a 2.46 per cent drop in gasoline consumption and a 1.38 decrease in car registration, Commissioner Hoffman said, adding:

"However, we must not lose sight of the fact that the united efforts of conservation agencies have made the public safety conscious and this has operated in a large measure in cutting down the accident toll. Also to be considered as factors are the liability insurance rates prevailing in the heavier populated counties of the state and the effectiveness of the financial responsibility law. Consideration must also be given to the depression which, in my opinion, has served to keep both the irresponsible driver and the rattle-trap car from the highways."

Quoting figures, Commissioner Hoffman said that accidents for the first nine months of this year totaled 34,407 against 40,707 last year. For the same period, the gasoline consumption this year was 422,364,551 gallons as against 423,026,122 gallons in nine months of 1931. During the twelve months of last year the gasoline consumption was 570,801,964 gallons.

While all accidents have decreased fifteen per cent, Commissioner Hoffman feels the keenest elation over the fatal accident situation, records of which, he said, reflect a twelve per cent decrease over the first nine months of last year. Including September, 807 persons have been killed by automobiles this year as against 917 last year in the same period. The total fatalities in 1931 were 1,302 persons.

"God the Only Cause and Creator" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Church of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 4.

The Golden Text is: "Unto thee, O God, do we give thanks, unto thee do we give thanks; for that thy name is near thy wondrous works declare." (Psalms 75:1).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made; and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made. And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made." (Genesis 2:2,3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "All that is made is the work of God, and all is good. We leave this brief, glorious history of spiritual creation (as stated in the first chapter of Genesis) in the hands of God, not of man, in the keeping of Spirit, not matter,—joyfully acknowledging now and forever God's supremacy, omnipotence, and omnipresence." (p. 521).

Local Police Probe Burning Of Auto

Report Has It That Car Was Saturated With Gasoline

Police are attempting to unravel the mystery surrounding the burning of a large sedan in a deserted section Thursday night. The car bore New York license plates 7Y-95-07, which were issued to Murray Azio of 114 West 73d street, New York City.
 The car was discovered burning by a passerby in Newark avenue near Florence avenue. Firemen extinguished the flames after the car was partly destroyed.
 Police officials would not discuss further details about the car. It was reported the car was found saturated with gasoline.

been brought in by pupils. Encouragement has been given to this program of supplementary reading by the posting of reading charts on which are listed the books read by each child. Book reports have also inspired the program. The importance of silent reading has been greatly emphasized during the year and considerable progress has been made in this direction.

Reference Libraries
 Reference libraries, which may be regarded as indispensable in a good school program, have been established in four of the schools during the year, and the organization of such libraries in the other schools will probably be completed during the coming year. This work was done largely through parents and teachers, and through association organized by them. It is most credible that this work was carried on to such a high degree in so short a time. There never was a time in the history of education when reference and supplementary work were regarded as so essential to good school work as it is at present. Text books in most cases serve as mere guides to the great field of interest concerning a subject, and it is the business of the school to teach children how to secure and use supplementary material. In addition, these libraries supply pupils with general reading material of a select quality. Our general reading program has received much support and encouragement from this source.

The seniors in the high school (Class 1932) gave as their memorial to the school a presentation of service which consisted of the securing of books and contributions made by the citizens of Belleville. About 450 books were presented. Through the efforts of the High School Parent-Teachers Organization, a high school library was instituted in the latter part of the school year. It will be fully organized and placed under the direction of a full time librarian beginning with the next school term.

Extra-Curricular Work
 While school organizations or activities which appear, in name at least, to be additions to regular classroom work are generally regarded or spoken of as extra-curricula activities, they are in reality not separate and apart or "extra" at all, but a real vital and very essential part of a good school program. It is in these organizations that initiative, self-reliance, leadership and a great many other valuable educational qualities will be given an opportunity for development as in no other phase of school life.

During the year there were instituted in our high school the following organizations: Stamp Club, Radio Club, Varsity Club, German Club, Spanish Club, French Club, Dramatic Club, Student Council, Student Patrol, and Music Clubs, including a girls' band. In addition to the "major sports" teams, golf and tennis clubs were organized. Home Room organizations were effected and regular exercises and activities instituted. Many of the home room groups used their accomplishments as assembly programs for the interest and advantage of the entire school. The values which come from the organization and production of such programs are too well recognized to need to be mentioned here.

While the 8-4 system of schools is generally lacking in the many advantages of the modern junior high school organization, we are attempting in Belleville to so organize our work in upper grades in the grade schools as to insure our children of most of these advantages. We have accordingly, in addition to introducing departmental work, organized clubs—nature clubs, art clubs, sewing clubs, dramatic clubs, debating clubs, various subject clubs, etc., in most of our schools. This we shall gradually extend throughout our entire system. We have greatly enriched the assembly programs and thereby increased the number of pupils that may be given the advantages which come from participating in such programs.

School papers have been organized and published during the year by all of the grade schools. The values of such school publications in the creation of school interest; in the motivation of the English work of the school; in the fostering of real creative work; in the linking up of the home and the school; and in the experience it offers for those boys and girls who are responsible for its organization and publication, can only be fully appreciated by those who are in the midst of the results. The work may be regarded as most valuable, and the teachers and principals promoting these school activities are to be highly commended. It should be said that this work was carried on with little or no cost to the school district. The senior issue of the Monald was a distinct credit to our high school and the Class of 1932. All those who had any part in its organization and publication are to be congratulated.

Guidance
 There was established in the high school in the very beginning of the year a guidance department. A guidance director was appointed from our own faculty, one who, to begin with, was fairly well acquainted with the problems of our boys and girls. To properly assist young people in their choice of a profession or vocation is an undertaking of no small importance and requires the utmost skill and training. A set of guidance books published by the "Institute for Research Devoted to Research in the Professions and Vocations," which is regarded as one of the most if not the most authentic publication on the subject of professions and vocations, was purchased for this department. It is our purpose to fully acquaint our boys and girls with the work of the world and after studying their qualifications, to help them to find their way into doing that which they are by nature best qualified to do. Conferences are held with boys and girls and with their parents when this is felt advisable in order to make our guidance direction as sound and valuable as possible. The cooperation we have received from parents in this undertaking is greatly appreciated.

Pupil Reports
 A system of pupil achievement reports was introduced at the beginning of the year, which system was the result of an extended study by every member of a school faculty. Our object in this achievement mark is that the parents shall receive not only a bare achievement mark for a particular report period, but that they shall know as far as possible what factors went into the matter of arriving at such a rating or what qualifies it. To accomplish this objective, a parallel column to the achievement column is arranged on the card for the qualifying record. While the report should carry to a parent an illuminating record, our objective goes far beyond this point. It is our desire to give emphasis to the positive side of a pupil's work. There is an old saying that "nothing succeeds so well as success," but there could well be added to this so as to read, "nothing succeeds so well as knowing that you are a success." On our new report cards it is possible to give credit or to emphasize the many fine things, in addition to mere subject achievement, with which a child may be credited. This positive attitude toward the activities of children is a highly important consideration in their educational advancement. Generally recognizing properly what a child does well, will lead him to want to do all things well. Our report system in addition brings the teacher, in making the reports, into the position of needing to analyze the mark—a check on the reason for a particular rating. Needless to say that our system of reports places on the teachers much additional work, but we hope that the satisfaction of extending value to pupils and parents will more than compensate in the more complete understanding that will gradually grow to exist between home and school.

Professional Interest
 That there is a fine professional interest among our teachers is best demonstrated by the large number of them who took Extension Courses during the school year and summer courses during their vacation. One hundred and thirty-six (136) teachers out of a faculty of two hundred improved themselves during the year by this additional training. Five hundred and twenty-one (521) credit hours were completed by these teachers in training schools.
 Through the kindness of our Public Library Trustees and Librarian, a professional library was established in our Public Library during the early part of the school year, the editions of which were selected with special reference to their practical use in connection with the problem project program which was carried on during the year. According to our data sheets, taken at the end of the school year, there were fourteen hundred (1400) books read by our teachers during the school year. In addition to this, there were a great many periodicals read during this time in direct connection to their immediate work. With such a program of professional activity, our teachers are bound to be on the very front professionally and our boys and girls fall heir to a greatly enriched school program.

Parent and Teacher Associations
 Our efforts during the past year to develop and carry on a modern school program were greatly supported by the Parent and Teacher Association, which were organized in a number of the schools. No such activity program as was initiated by our schools during the year could be made effective or be carried out with maximum efficiency without the understanding cooperation of parents. The Parent and Teacher Association afforded an excellent medium to discuss with parents our school objectives; a medium through which there was considered jointly our common object and subject in education, the boy and girl.
 Through these organizations, there was also brought about a number of improvements in the equipment in the several schools, such as, books for our libraries, curtains for the assembly stages, nurse and teacher room improvement.

In several schools, where Parent and Teacher Associations have not yet been organized, a Parent Night was substituted and several general meetings of parents and teachers were arranged which resulted in practically the same values secured through the organizations in other schools. This splendid cooperation has indeed been most helpful in the interests of our boys and girls. We hope that these activities and this fine spirit of support may continue and find expansion during the coming school year.

Respectfully submitted,

 Superintendent.

WAYNE R. PARMER PRESENTS ANNUAL EDUCATIONAL REPORT ON SCHOOLS

Superintendent Reports On School Progress Of Past Year

Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmer has presented the annual educational report of the schools to the Board of Education. It follows: It has indeed been a great privilege and pleasure to serve in the capacity of Superintendent of the Public Schools of Belleville during the past school year. Through the fine cooperative efforts of the members of the Board of Education, Business Manager, principals and teachers, a number of desirable changes have been introduced and successfully worked out during the year. All of these changes are in response to the never aim in education which is "the maximum development of an individual into the most socially efficient person he is capable of becoming at all times during his life." Our children must be prepared to meet the problems of the future which are unknown now and the only way to be assured that our young people will be prepared to meet their problems then is to teach them to meet and solve problems now. Stated in other words, we need to teach them to think for themselves. We believe we are helping our children through our activities program to develop initiative, to think for themselves, to be creative and original and to learn to assume responsibility. These are the objectives toward which we have worked with great interest during the year and which we hope to continue as our future program.

The hospitality and cooperation of the citizens of Belleville have been a source of stimulation and support which is much appreciated.
Departmental Work
 Within three weeks after the opening of the school term on September 8, 1931, and after several conferences with the grade school principals, departmental work was organized in the upper grades in all of the grade schools. Considering the fact that the particular training and preference of the teachers in the various subjects could not be as fully respected in every case as it might have been, had the teachers originally been selected definitely on the basis of the subjects they were to teach in the departmental arrangement, it was most gratifying to observe the cooperation which nevertheless made it possible to make the change with dispatch and receive the advantages.

The advantages of this type of organization can best be set forth by taking an actual situation. For example, let us take a class in geography in an eighth grade, consisting of five sections. Under the traditional organization the teacher would conduct the work of instruction in all subjects in one of these sections. The pupils would remain in the same room under the same teacher for all of his school work during the year. Under the departmental organization a teacher who is especially fond of teaching geography and has prepared especially to teach it, remains in the same room to teach the five sections of geography. We need to equip but one room with maps, globes, visual aids, supplementary books and magazines, and products. It is therefore possible either to be able to have five times as much equipment or equip for this subject at one-fifth of the cost.

The teacher, in preparing for her day's work, needs to prepare in but one subject and can consequently give as many times as much attention in preparation of her subject as the number of subjects she would be teaching under the traditional system. It will make it possible for her to use the library in the interest of enriching her work. The projection machine may be set up and remain in operation for each succeeding section. The advantages here are also clearly evident.

Under the traditional system, a pupil was obliged to remain under the same teacher for the entire day. Should there be a personality conflict, there is likely to be a full year of it. On the other hand, should there be an extreme fondness of pupil for teacher, as well as of teacher for pupil, there is likely to be a full year of it. In either case, it is unfortunate for the child, for life generally is not constituted that way. A pupil should have the advantages of meeting and adjusting himself to a number of personalities. On the other hand, a pupil coming from a class in some other subject comes to a room with a new or different atmosphere; a room decorated and equipped for geography; a room in charge of a different teacher—a teacher who has had time to

- These facts and figures have been recently compiled by Town Clerk John J. Daly, under the direction of the Board of Commissioners of Belleville, with the idea of informing the citizens of Belleville as to the condition of the Town Government and some of the past history of the Town.
- To those outside of Belleville whom this may reach, Belleville is located outside of Newark, between it and Paterson; ten miles from New York City, surrounded by other beautiful towns such as Roseland and Nutley, and is bounded on its eastern side by the Passaic River. It is partly industrial and residential, being a town in having many sites still left for desirable industry to locate. The residential sections are of high type and are protected by a zoning ordinance.
- These men have served Belleville as Mayors since that office was instituted, as follows:
 1. THOMAS DENISON, 1812-1814.
 2. JOHN C. LA PATCHERIE, January, 1814 to November, 1814.
 3. JOHN H. WATERS, November, 1814, to January, 1825 (Died in office).
 4. JOHN DEARLY, January, 1825, to May, 1828.
 5. SAMUEL S. KENWORTHY, 1828-1830; 1830 to present.
