Car And Records Stolen From Two Local Nurses

Two child hygiene nurses, Miss Mary Millar of 127 Forest street and Miss Angela Chapman of 1 Essex street, have suffered from robbery by another "meanest thief." Miss Millar's brief case was taken from her car while she was making a sick
call in Cortlandt street last week.
Miss Chapman's car, which also contained a brief case containing valuable records, was stolen from in front of her home last Thursday night.

Miss Miller's case contained records of her training in England,
necessary to prove her qualifications,
and which will be difficult to duplicate, while Miss Chapman lost school health records which can only be duplicated after considerable trouble.

Firemen Leave Land Of Nod In Cold To See Bloomfield Fire

Two Adjoining Plugs Need Surveyor To Tell Which
One Is Which

"And About Ben Adhem awoke
from his deep dream of peace..."

This sentence from the old poem, by a stretch of imagination might well apply to Belleville's firemen who were called out in the chilly blasts of Monday night to answer
an alarm in Silver Lake.

This is not meant to infer the firemen are Abou Ben Adhems but they certainly had their dreams and later, feelings, rudely shocked by the alarm just after they had dozed off into slumberland.

Shielding their faces as best they could from the biting wind
the smoke eaters wheeled over to the lake and met with Bloomfield's fire fighters at twin fireplugs.
One plug belonged to Belleville and one to Bloomfield. A surveyor would be required to tell which is which. As luck would have it the fire was decided to be in the neighboring town and the local boys came back to sweet dreams once again—colder a mite than when they had started out.

Thanks Firemen

Editor News:
I desire to express my appreciation through your paper for the splendid work performed recently by the firemen of the Washington avenue firehouse. The fire in my garage was caused by the short circuiting of a car and the complete destruction of the garage was averted by the almost immediate arrival of the firemen who prevented the spread of the flames to my residence and the adjacent building.
Very truly yours,

Young Men's Republican League Of Belleville Meets Tonight

Victor Schleicher, Lawyer, Former Instructor At High School will Give Address On "The Young Man's Interest In Politics."

The young men of town are invited to attend an open meeting of the Young Men's Republican League of Belleville at the Recreation House,
Joramont street, tonight.

The membership and entertainment committees have put forth every effort to make the evening a most congenial one of the "get acquainted" type. A short address,
"The Young Man's Interest In Politics," will be delivered by Victor Schleicher, former Belleville High School instructor and now a prominent attorney. This will be followed by song and entertainment.

The league was organized a few months ago to interest the present generation in the promotion of honest and clean politics in municipal, State and national government, as well as great wholesome social activity
among the younger men of the town.

The club is desirous of obtaining,
as members, self-thinking young men of legal age who heretofore have been indifferent to politics. It wants to be instrumental in their becoming better acquainted with the ability and qualifications of the men who hold public office, thus enabling themselves to judge whether or not

Local Bank Awarded Claim By Court

Sums Figured In Bankruptcy Litigation Of Tube Company

Federal Judge William Clark has decided that the National State Bank of Newark, and the People's National Bank and Trust Company, Belleville, are entitled to their claims of $3,500
and $3,200, respectively, against a fund of $33,193, figuring in the bankruptcy litigation pending against the General Tube Company, Newark.

Also Chester P. Rogers, as receiver of the closed New Jersey National Bank and Trust Company, Newark, has a claim of $1,250 against David Leezenbaum, 187 Chancellor avenue, former president and chief stockholder in the bankrupt concern, for a $1,250 stock assignment on fifty shares of stock in the closed bank.

At the conclusion of final argument Friday, Judge Clark so ruled.
He directed counsel to file briefs to determine Leezenbaum's interest in the fund.
At the hearing it was charged by Morris H. Cohn, attorney for the company's trustee, Fred Herrigal, Jr., that Leezenbaum deposited a check for $50,000 in the company's account
in the New Jersey National Bank and Trust Company. He further charged that this money was transferred later by Leezenbaum to his private account in the same institution. The attorney claimed at the time this institution closed June 11, 1932, Leezenbaum had on deposit
$33,193.

It was further alleged that Leezenbaum by using this sum as security obtained a $20,000 loan from the local institution and $3,500 from the National State Bank.

Under Judge Clark's ruling, these two banks are entitled to their claims against the $33,193. Jacob L. Newman appeared for the National State Bank. Nathan H. Berger for the local institution, and Seymour J. Solomon for Leezenbaum.

Annual Meeting Held By Service Bureau

John W. Maynard, Former
Editor of Newark News,
Was Speaker

The annual meeting of the Community Service Bureau was held Tuesday night, January 30, at the Women's Club. John W. Maynard, former director of the Newark emergency relief administration, was the speaker.

Mr. Maynard gave, from the laymen's point of view, the importance of supporting the private agencies during the depression. He told of the important role the social workers had played in the Emergency Relief Administration and that social work is a recognized profession the same as medicine or law. He stated that meeting the physical needs in times like these is not sufficient, that there are many phases of social work which the government is not prepared to take over which had to be carried by the private agencies.

Miss Bertha Kline, executive secretary, told of the various services rendered by the bureau this year. Of the 234 families under care of the bureau, 48 have received no relief whatsoever from the State or from the bureau but if it had not been for the preventative work ended by the bureau, relief would have been necessary.

The new trustees elected to the board are Dr. Rochlin, Mr. Holbert, principal of the high school, and Miss Mary Biller.

Mrs. Marie M. Hennigar

Mrs. Marie Mousette Hennigar, 62, of 39 Malone avenue, died Friday at the Presbyterian Hospital following an operation for mastoiditis two weeks ago. She lived in Newark thirty-five years before moving to Belleville five years ago. She leaves her husband, Charles C. Hennigar.
A high mass of requiem was offered at St. Patrick's Cathedral Monday at 9. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Funeral Services For Charles W. Chappel

Funeral services for Charles W.
Chappel of 22 Belmoor street, who died last Friday at Passaic General Hospital after a month's illness, were held Monday afternoon at the William V. Irvine Funeral Home in Washington avenue, with the Rev.
Peter R. Deckenbach, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, officiating.

had lived seven years in Belleville.
He was employed as a chemist by the du Pont Viscoid Co. of Arlington.
Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mabel Greenwood Chappel, and two

Belleville Man Hero In Rescue From Car Sunk In Icy Water

George Liviki Saves Life
Of Motorist—One
Drowned

A Belleville man proved a hero in the rescue of a motorist from a car
which sank in the Newtown Creek, between Long Island City and the Greenpoint section of Brooklyn, after plunging through an open drawbridge Sunday.

George Liviki, the local hero, a deckhand on the tugboat Captain Hastler, leaped into the icy waters from the deck of the tug when he saw the auto dive into the stream, and succeeded, after a struggle, in saving the life of Adolph Stuke of Brooklyn, the driver. George Stuke, 27, son of Adolph and a bookkeeper
of the Harlem branch of the Chase National Bank, was unable to free himself from the car and was drowned. His body was not recovered for several hours.

Liviki and the elder Stuke were treated by an ambulance physician and Stuke was taken to St. John's Hospital, Long Island City, where it was found he was suffering from lacerations of the head, bruises of the body and submersion.

Abramson Opens Campaign For Board

Popular Lawyer Addresses
Many At Elks' Home

Selected by Belleville's Citizen Group as a fitting candidate for commissioner in the May election
Edward J. Abramson Tuesday night announced his candidacy before more than 700 persons in the Elks' Elks' Club.

Speaking at an invitation by and entertainment sponsored by organization Abramson was introduced by William J. Wakefield, who outlined the association's reasons for endorsing him. John A. Hood also spoke.

"Belleville," Abramson said after thanking the Citizen Group for pledging its support, "by virtue of its excellent geographical location could and should be one of the leading communities in Essex County. Attractive inducements should be offered worthwhile industries who can use to good advantage this strategic locale.

"In that way Belleville's ratable
can increase and unemployment decrease.

"This community is faced with many problems such as these which must be met unhesitatingly with firm hand and a constructive plan.
Abramson declared in an address that he would outline the tasks and their solutions minutely between now and May 8.

"The Citizen Group searched the town for a man who would make a suitable candidate and commissioner," Wakefield said in introducing Abramson. "Its members sought a man whose ability, background, education and knowledge of Belleville governmental problems would fit him to hold office. We found that man in Edward J. Abramson."

A resident of Belleville for twenty-five years, Abramson is a practicing Counselor-at-law. He is president of the First Ward Republican Club and vice president of the Belleville Boy Scout Council. Abramson served as president of the Belleville Progress Club for the past four years.

He is a former Belleville police recorder and referee out of the Irvin-ton District Court. He is the standard bearer of the Edward J. Abramson Association which has a membership list of 2,500.

Abramson is also a member of the following organizations: Belleville Elks, Omega Phi Lambda Fraternity, Belleville Glee Club, Regular Republican Club of Belleville and an honorary member of the George A. Younginger Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The commission candidate received his bachelor of law degree at New Jersey Law School. He was graduated from the Belleville High School and a Belleville grammar school.

2 Arrests Made Here In Lottery Game

Police Discover 300 Tickets
In Bloomfield Man's Car

Two arrests Saturday, and others
expected soon, unearthed lottery operations in Belleville.

Sidellio Petrillo, 36, of 35 Baldwin street, Bloomfield, was arrested Saturday by Police Captain Elmer Leighton and Policeman John J.
Flynn. They said he had in the auto
he was driving through Washington avenue, 300 tickets of an Italian lottery with headquarters in Newark.

A short time later Michael Maffia, 41, a shoemaker of 134 Washington avenue, was arrested on a charge of selling the tickets at his store.

They were arraigned within an hour before Recorder Everett B.
Smith. Petrillo, described by police as chief runner in Belleville in the lottery racket, was held in $2,500 bail on each of two charges, having and selling the tickets. Maffia was held in $3,000 on one charge. They were represented by Anthony A.
Calandra, 31 Clinton street, Newark.
The shoemaker is reported to have given the authorities such importainformation that Captain Leight-predicted several additional arrests shortly.

The Company Has Safe Driving Period

Adopted Some Years Ago Proves Its Worth

Driving a fleet of more than 850 motor vehicles over six and a quarter million miles last year, New Jersey

Bell Telephone Company drivers established a new safe driving record for the fourth consecutive year. Total accidents charged against the big fleet, all those in which the drivers could be held in any degree responsible, numbered 71 for the year, or at the remarkable average of one accident in each 88,500 miles of driving in all sorts of weather and over all types of roads. Only three of the 71 accidents were serious. Motor vehicles in the fleet drove an average of 10,000 more miles between accidents in 1933 than in 1932, when the record had been 26 per cent better than in 1931. A 9 per cent improvement had been made in 1930 and a 49 per cent improvement in 1929. Appreciation of individual responsibility by drivers of the company vehicles is credited with the improvement in the safe driving record by H. L. Peters, general plant employing supervisor of the company. Proper selection of drivers, and full appreciation of responsibility, can entirely eliminate accidents for which the driver is responsible, Peters asserts. This is the objective set by the company.

"The fact that a large number of our drivers are entitled to display six-year safe driving insignia is sufficient proof," he says, "that motor vehicles can be operated safely."

Insufficient caution, which includes backing into other vehicles, in the garages and on the streets, and failure to observe, caused most accidents, 29.6 per cent and 31 per cent of the cases respectively. Driving too fast for conditions caused 8 per cent of the accidents, but Peters asserts that "We do not believe that 'speed' properly used is responsible for many accidents. It is the misuse of speed, or failure to control it, which causes accidents."

Chester I. Barnard, president of the telephone company, has congratulated the drivers on their 1933 records. The drivers several years ago initiated a safe-driving resolution now signed each year by all drivers of telephone vehicles, and most telephone people who drive private cars. The resolution commits the driver to obey traffic laws and regulations; drive carefully and keep the vehicle under control completely; grant right of way freely and willingly; be regardless of pedestrians, particularly children and elderly persons, and bear in mind the possibly serious consequences of accidents.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

On Monday of this week, the Girl Scout Officers' Association met at the home of Mrs. May T. Holden on Holmes street. This turned out to be a big get-together affair, the first of 1934.

Plans were discussed for lodge work, several troops announcing their methods of acquiring cook and hostesses.

Miss Ethel Akersten will commence instruction in first aid beginning February 21. A class of lieutenants in troop management will be started by Mrs. Holden on February 19.

The spring rally will be held early in April.

Mrs. W. J. Vail of Nutley addressed the gathering. She spoke of her early work in Girl Scouting, the satisfaction of seeing work done, and the real value that lies in Girl Scouting for the youth of today. She explained how Italy, Germany, France, England and Switzerland are working in this field today. It is a very serious undertaking in these European countries. Mrs. Vail also described some of the unusual things she saw while travelling abroad last year, which she did in such a gay and charming fashion, that left her audience breathless, and all clapping for "more" at the close.

Those present were: Lena Roviello, Evelyn Hollberg, Mary Grimley, Mrs. Lorena Clark, Eileen Lynch, Alice Strack, Myrtle Schmetter, Helen Colahamer, Valerie Donnelly, Grace Martling, Virginia Brown, Edna Bann, Shirley Howell, Audrey Epler, Mrs. Georgia Peterson, Ellen Conroy, Mrs. Harvey Thompson, Mrs. Walter Warwick, Mrs. Frank Ackerman, Miss Ethel Akersten, Charlotte Holden, Mrs. William J. Vail, Mrs. May T. Holden and the Misses Dorothy Bundy and Libby Lindsey of Troop No. 4, Lyndhurst.

Gorham, 24, of 402 Belleville avenue, held on statutory charges, and Joseph Manning, 21, of 138 Linden avenue, held as a material witness. ments will be served, and awards given. Miss Ethel Anderson is chairman of the committee in charge, assisted by Mrs. Agnes Woods and Mrs. Margaret Woods.

Car And Cyclist Collide

Spencer Graham of 71 North Spring Garden avenue reported to police that his car and a bicycle ridden by William Frichner of 138 Center street had been in collision Tuesday. TEMPERANCE THROUGH EDUCATION

Many people believe that much ground was lost by the advocates of temperance during the time when the United States was trying to make the "experiment," prohibition, work. It is heartening to observe that signs of activity are now appearing in many states in producing temperance through education.

When national prohibition went into effect great strides had been made in this country in inculcating the habit of self control in the use of intoxicating liquor and spreading a knowledge of the dangers of strong drink among the people. A look at the map of the United States prior to the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment shows how the idea of temperance spread. In all the great industries temperance was insisted upon among employees. The railroads were the first to declare that no man occupying a responsible position should imbibe strong drink during his hours on duty. Industries quickly adopted the same policy until temperance and self control was a common thing among millions of people. All of this progress was effectively stopped when Federal prohibition was adopted. Likewise the instruction of children in the schools in temperance subjects was discontinued.

Ohio this instruction has been resumed. Other states are also encouraging similar efforts. In our own state more attention should be paid to this subject. It is the most certain way to promote true and lasting temperance.

NOISELESS AIRPLANES

Man has waited a considerable time for an airplane that shall be noiseless, just as he waited for a noiseless automobile. The latter has come, but the plane still refuses to be silent.

A plane that made little or no noise would be a boon to the army service. But the greatest advantage would accrue to the thousands of civilians who now use air transportation as a matter of course. And the blessing of quiet to people along the routes and in the vicinity of airports would be incalculable.

After all, is there any mechanical reason why these flying machines should not be made as noiseless as other machines? Surely human ingenuity ought to be able to cope with that problem.

Way To Industrial Peace Seen In Councils Of Workers

MUCH conflict between workers

and employers in industry can be eliminated through the works council system of employee representation, according to a report of Walter C. Teagle, chairman of the industrial relations committee of the Business and Advisory Planning Council, created by Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper. Mr. Teagle is president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, which for many years has had in operation a plan of employee representation through which workers and management get together to settle disputes and consider working conditions.

Pointing out that the National Recovery Act gives the works council a legal status equal to that of the labor union for collective bargaining, Mr. Teagle in his report asserts that the organization of workers by plants to include all workers has many advantages over the organization of workers by crafts into unions. "The experience of companies which have operated successfully under employee representation for many years indicates that such a plan encourages the early settlement of disputes in the shop or the department in which they originate," he says. "Differences that cannot be adjusted in this way are taken up in joint conferences of employees and representatives of management. For the protection of an employee or group not satisfied with the decision of a joint conference or of the company executives appeal may be had to the president or the board of directors. In addition to appeals within the organization, many plans provide for final settlement by arbitration."

"A certain percentage of labor troubles has been due to disagreements between unions themselves as to the classification of work properly belonging to each. Plainly, any such disputes are beyond the decision of company management, yet they frequently result in strikes and loss of wages to employees in other departments even though the management is entirely innocent either of provoking the trouble or championing either side after it has arisen.

"Herein lies one of the advantages of employee representation, in that while it insures representation of all employees by their own associates who understand their local craft problems, it avoids jurisdictional disputes between two crafts in the same organization."

"Unity of action in all departments is assured through conferences at which every employee is represented. There is no record of any case where representation by employees has been made use of by racketeers at the expense either of the employees or the employer."

Factfully Yours

Science declares that the ancient Chinese had hands like man, but feet like apes. Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington in Virginia, does not belong to the Government. It belongs to the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association of the Union. It took a professor twelve years to make a study of the bones of the Italian poet Dante. The first slot machine on record appears as Hero's invention in the second century. It permitted the distribution of water for sacramental purposes by the introduction of a coin. Phileas of Cos, one of the best poets of the Alexandrian school, was so thin he had to wear lead in his shoes to keep him from being blown away. A prescription prepared for Schesch (a queen of the third dynasty), consisted of equal parts of the heel of an Abyssinian greyhound, of date blossoms, and of asses' hoofs boiled in oil. Prior to the time of Hippocrates, medicines were administered to the sick ailing in accord with the interpretations of their dreams. Of China's seventy-two Buddhas, twenty-nine are gods of healing or of drugs. Carlyle's "French Revolution" was accidentally burned by a servant who thought it was waste paper. Strobe, the geographer, suffered from a peculiar squint. The licensing of physicians began under the reign of Caliph Haroun-al-Raschid of Bagdad. Morphine was named after Morpheus, the god of dreams. The dissection of a human body is not permitted in the State of New Jersey, and consequently there are no medical schools in this State. Under Theodorice, King of the Ostrogoths, an edict had been issued to the effect that if a patient died from the results of an operation, the physician should be handed over to the relatives of the deceased to do what they pleased with him.

Farewell Party At St. Anthony's Church

A farewell party for Miss Jennie Malanga of 251 North Tenth street, Newark, who is leaving for Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., to become a missionary sister of the Sacred Heart, was held at St. Anthony's Church last Wednesday evening. The party was arranged by the pastor, Rev. Cataldo Alessi.

Miss Malanga, who is thirty years old, has been a communicant of St. Anthony's Church twenty-three years. She is a graduate of Abington Avenue School, Newark, and has been employed by the Tung-Sol Lamp Works eleven years.

Guests at the party included the Rev. Anthony De Lucca, pastor of Holy Family Church, Nutley; the Rev. Salvato Midaglia, former pastor of Holy Family Church; Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Malanga, parents of the guest of honor; the Holy Name Society of St. Anthony's Church and Miss Malanga's fellow employees at the lamp factory.

THE DUCK HUNT

Having a Christmas furlough of ten days, four sailors doing shore duty in Washington, D. C., decided to go duck hunting on the historic Potomac River.

"Nothing like it," said one of the men. "I prefer it to anything else, but, of course, if you guys have other suggestions to make why..." "Duck hunting's good enough for me," interrupted another. "I'm kinda sick of wine, women and song. I need a vacation. I need a rest."

"So do I," replied a third. "We'll hire a cabin or a houseboat, lay in a good supply of food, and we'll spend ten days hunting ducks and swapping stories. Whaddya say?" "Okay by me," said the fourth sailor. "Let's go."

So they procured several guns, fishing tackle, blankets and other paraphernalia, and piling their stores into a car they were ready to start. One of the bluejackets paused long enough to remind the others that whiskey was a good thing for snake bites and that they had better take some along.

"If any of us is bitten by a snake," he added, "we gotta have sumpin' on hand to help us. I'm right, ain't I?" "Yeah, you're right," agreed the others, so they got a gallon of whiskey.

"We'd better sample this stuff," suggested one of the boys.

This, too, was agreed upon.

"Not bad stuff, is it?"

"No, not bad," said Bill, "but I'd rather have beer. I'm not much for whiskey."

"Well, that could be arranged. We'll bring the whiskey..."

"And I'll bring the beer."

"Sa-ay!" exclaimed another, "I know where I can get a portable victrola!"

"Swell!" shouted the sailors.

"And I know where I can get a couple of women to join us," said Bill.

"Boy, what a time we're gonna have," chorused the group. "Come on, let's go!"

As I was saying, having a Christmas furlough of ten days, four sailors doing shore duty in Washington, D. C., decided to go duck hunting on the historic Potomac River.

Town Commission Seeks To Limit Liquor Permits

No new licenses for the sale of alcoholic beverages will be granted at this time, the town commission, meeting as an excise board, decided Tuesday night. The board decided that if a license is dropped for any reason no new license will be issued in its place until the number of dealers is decreased. Belleville now has forty-two establishments authorized to sell liquor.

The board extended the existing licenses, which would have expired Sunday, until Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan receives a communication from D. Frederick Burnett, State beverage commissioner, explaining the powers of the municipal excise board in regard to liquor.

Patrick, scoutmaster, and members of Troop 88, left Belleville in private automobiles for a week-end camping trip at Camp Mohican, near Blairstown. Scouts in the party were: William Terry, Walter Garabrant, Harvey Mumford, Edward Dunham, Joseph Caskey, William Fehon, John Idenden, Robert Gerardo, Clifford Van Blarum, Robert Bangert, William Holmes and Claud Daw; also as guests Lynn Brumbach and Jack Patrick. He met the party at Blairstown, with the camp truck, and transported them and their luggage on to Mohican. Meals were prepared and served by Mr. Brumbach and Mr. Patrick. The night was spent in the camp lodge. On Sunday several members of the party hiked to the forest rangers' fire tower, about four miles distant. After the midday meal, camp was broken up, put in order, and the party turned faces homeward, arriving in the early evening. It was the first experience of its kind for several of the boys, but all voted it a most enjoyable one.

At the meeting of Troop 88 held at Christ Church parish house on Tuesday evening, the Wolf Patrol, of which Walter Garabrant is senior leader and Edward Dunham is leader, was the winner of the contest in first aid, for which the award was a layer cake.

Nutley Man Released After Odd Death Of Woman In Belleville

Husband Identifies Body After Fatality In Auto Ride

A Nutley man who was held by Belleville police in connection with the death under strange circumstances of a Newark woman was released Tuesday night, as the police felt that he was not responsible for the fatality. The body of the woman, who had given her name as "Rose Mathers," was identified on Tuesday morning as Rose Mathers Morris of 66 Elliot street, Newark, by her husband, William J. Morris of the same address.

The Nutley man, whose name police withheld, told police that he picked up the woman Sunday evening at Elliot street while driving his car north in Broadway, Newark. She accompanied him to his home in Center street, Nutley, where she took several drinks of liquor, after taking some medicine tablets, he said. Mrs. Morris collapsed, and the Nutley man placed her in his car, thinking she had fainted, and drove through the streets in an effort to revive her. When he reached Riviera Park, Belleville, and she did not come to, he summoned a passing police car, which took the woman to St. Michael's Hospital, Newark, where she was pronounced dead.

Assistant County Medical Examiner Brien performed an autopsy, and found that death was caused by the combined effects of the liquor and an overdose of the medicine. Nutley police were notified, and went to the house where the tragedy occurred and secured the box which had contained the tablets and the bottle of whiskey, which were turned over to the Belleville police for examination.

The body was not identified until Tuesday, when James A. Morris of the Elliott street address, brother-in-law of the woman, read a newspaper description of Mrs. Morris and called it to her husband's attention.

Funeral services were held in Philadelphia, from where the family moved from Newark recently.

Bostock Endorsed By G. O. P. Club For Freeholder Berth

Veteran Town Chairman Is Held Logical Man For Post

Edgar H. Bostock, who has served as chairman of the Nutley Republican County Committee since 1918, has been endorsed as a candidate for the Board of Freeholders of Essex County by the Republican Club of Nutley. Copies of the resolution endorsing Mr. Bostock have been sent to all Republican ward and town chairmen in the county.

Recorder Charles H. Young, president of the club, stated Tuesday that Mr. Bostock is the logical man for the nomination and election to the board this year.

"Mr. Bostock has always been a hard worker for the Republican Party," Mr. Young said. "He has been our town chairman many years and has never held any office except a seat in the Assembly. We are going to do all in our power to secure his nomination to insure his election once he is nominated."

Mr. Bostock was elected to the Assembly on the Republican ticket in 1918, 1924, 1925 and 1926. He has held no other public office. He was born in England, and has lived in Nutley twenty-seven years. He tells of seeing the town grow from a village of less than 5,000 persons to the large town of today. Mr. Bostock is a glass manufacturer.

Belleville B. C. Surprises In Legion Bowling Loop

Johnny Lawlor's El Club was the victim of a major upset in local action, Monday night, as it dropped the first game of its match with the last place Belleville B. C.

The El Club came back to win the final pair, but lost ground to the league-leading Oldhams who topped the lowly Gebhard Association three straight.

The Baneymen, with Gene Gelsen's three double century marks showing the way, are now leading the parade by a four game margin.

The great Herb Brinsted, at anchor for the Oldhams, after a miserable 145 in the first game, came back in the final pair for 218 and 214.

Ernie Welhofer and Bob Brinkerhoff came through with double century marks in the Belleville B. C.'s lone victory over the El Club.

"Lefty" Church's 259 in the second game for the El Club was high individual score of the evening.

The El Club rolled 939 in each of the final games to win them both.

The W. H. Williams' Association took the first two games of a close match with the Democratic Club for another upset.

After fine pinning by Williams and O'Brien had given the Williams an eleven pin victory in the first, they were pressed to the limit to win the second by the matter of two small pins.

Al Cubellis, Kovac, and Johnnie Mallack all contributed pairs of double century marks for the Democrats.

Mike De Carlo's Moose crept up into a tie for fifth place with the Williamsmen by virtue of a three-straight triumph over the Mayer Association.

Rhodes hit 243 in the second game, while DeCarlo and Tuerrif were also 200 pinners.

The third place Knights of Columbus quintet dropped the first game of its match with the NRA club, but came back strong to win the final pair.

Bill Byrnes, Jr. and Weber, the Caseys' two leading average pinners, duplicated again against the NRA's, who had Conlan and Ventura as their best bet.

The high-scoring Waters Association, though accounting for some of the best team scores of the evening, with their 930, 937 and 1054, could get no better than a two-out of three win over the Woodhouse Association.

Bob Whitten, the league's leading bowler, and "Dutch" Faust, hit peak games of 233 and 245 respectively for the Waters.

Widman, with consecutive scores of 213, 226 and 214, and Woodhouse, who compiled 205 in the first game, and 201 in the final, were fine individual performers for the Woodhouse Association.

tion, though accounting for some of the best team scores of the evening, with their 930, 937 and 1054, could get no better than a two-out of three win over the Woodhouse Association.

Bob Whitten, the league's leading bowler, and "Dutch" Faust, hit peak games of 233 and 245 respectively for the Waters.

Widman, with consecutive scores of 213, 226 and 214, and Woodhouse, who compiled 205 in the first game, and 201 in the final, were fine individual performers for the Woodhouse Association.

Giants Surprised By Speedsters In Lion's Club Bowling

The Speedsters, with Zeigler contributing yeoman anchor man work, took two of three from the league-leading Giants in Lion's Club pin warfare, last week.

Johnnie Carrough's 202 and "Lefty" Dailey's 193 were the best scores for the pace-setters, who now head the loop with three games to spare.

The second place Cubs did not take full advantage of this slip on the part of the league-leaders taking but two of three from the last place Comets.

After dropping the first game the Cubs won the second with a mere two-pin margin.

The had a 121 pin margin in the final.

Men's Club Increases Lead In Church League To Eight Games

As the Fewsmith Men's Club pinners were taking it easy downing the lowly Bethany Lutheran boys three straight, last week, in the Church loop, the second place Christ Episcopal bowlers had to be at their very best to take two from the Fewsmith Presbyterian Club.

This turn of events permitted the Men's Club to advance their first place margin to the sizable one of eight games.

The Episcopalians hit 996 and 930 to win their first two games, but went below the 900 mark in the final to lose out in that one as Fewsmith just reached 900.

Russ Stout, Jerry Sawyer and Garry Garrabrant were all at their peak form (with Stout's 221 in the first game, falling just one pin shy of Bill Knowles' 222 in the same match, the high individual tally of the night.

In addition to Knowles, who also had 198 and 185 scores, another man, Dow, showed up well for the Presbyterian lads.

Bennett rolled 178, 203, and 184, in setting the pace for the league-leading Men's Club.

Hochstuhli's 207 in the second game was the lone ray of sunshine for the Lutherans.

Forest Hill continued to tie Christ Episcopal for second place, taking two of three from Grace Baptist to accomplish it.

Fourth place Montgomery was pressed hard in every game to take three from last position All-Church quintet in the one remaining series.

Sonneborn's Possess Four And A Half Game Lead In Manufacturers' League.

National Grain Yeast, by taking three straight from the National Box Lumber Co. picked up a game on the league-leading Sonneborn quintet on Friday night, at Ferrara's.

The pace-setter could take but two of three from Mono Service in their match.

Wallace & Tiernan, holding down third place at present, contributed some of the best pinning of the night in sweeping their series with Northern N. J. Oil.

The W. & T. boys hit 1044 in the first game for high team score of the night.

Hanlon & Goodman and Martin-Dennis each took two of three from the Sacks-Barlow and Eastwood Wire, respectively, in other matches.

Champion of Wallace & Tiernan hit 247 for high individual score of the night.

Tronicke, Wittek and Walker were other high scorers for the W. & T. boys.

Nester's 222 and Anderson's 225 showed up best for the Northern N. J. Oil.

Zika, Sonneborn's; Oliva and Wilson, Mono Service; Skidmore and Cook, Martin-Dennis; Smith, Eastwood's; Whitfield, National Grain & Yeast were other fine individual performers.

Smith of Eastwood's had three double century marks to his credit for the most consistent performance of the night.

Pairing Skaters For Dreamland Grind One Of The Teams Will Be Called The Montreal French-Canucks

Two of the fifteen teams that will take part in the 21-day international roller skating championship race at Dreamland Park, Newark, starting February 7, have already been announced by Vic Brown, who is promoting the gruelling grind in connection with Harry Mendel and Jack Mitneck.

One of the teams hails from Montreal, the hot bed of roller skating. It will find as mates, Ray Ispter, Stan Malcolmson and Tony Cinimo. They will be known as the Montreal French-Canuck trio in the grind and there is no question that they will be one of the most popular trios in the long whirl.

Ispter, Malcolmson and Cinimo have rode in many a race together. In Montreal only last month they finished second in a fifteen day whirl going 3,800 miles. They had led the grind for half the distance until misfortune came their way.

Cinimo contracting a bad cold and Malcolmson injuring his ankle. It was Ispter's great riding while his two mates were ill that kept them from quitting the race.

A second team will have Nemo Shelton, Ed Marquardt and Joe West forming the "Spirit of St. Louis" combination. Here are three skaters all speedsters and are noted for their fast lap stealing. Tohy can go out and nab a circuit probably faster than any other team in the marathon.

Pat Mulvey will complete erection of the track late this week and the rides who will participate will immediately start riding the board track and get used to it. It will be twelve laps to the mile. Dreamland Park can easily be reached by bus or trolley car. From Newark one can take either No. 12, 24 or 44 buses or No. 13 trolley car. All pass the door. Elizabeth, is the next door town to the park.

The Montgomery Midgets last week trounced the Royal A. C. 35-21. J. Smith scored nineteen points for the winners with C. Scott and Demarest following with eight each.

F. Dow scored eight points for the losers.

The Montgomery team also had in its lineup F. Rjepe, and D. Scott. Besides Dow the Royals had playing Ed Stryjewski, Chubby Anderson, John Felty, Red Travers, A. Pater, son, R. Dow and C. Place. John Lanza was referee.

Rutgers Athletic

Heads To Speak At

Nereids' Banquet

Little And Ten Eyck Will

Tell Of Rowing Progress

At College

George Little, director of athletics at Rutgers University and Ned Ten Eyck, rowing coach at that University will be guest speakers at the Nereid Boat Club of Belleville's dinner Thursday, February 1.

Lev Brett, Nereid coach and chairman of the alumni advisory committee for rowing at Rutgers University has asked Director Little and Coach Ten Eyck to tell the Nereids of the progress of rowing at Rutgers where the sport was resumed last spring after a break of over thirty years.

Director Little, while at Wisconsin University introduced rowing and brought his enthusiasm for the sport to the banks of the Raritan. He is best known for his work in intramural athletics in which he has attained great success at the State College.

Ned Ten Eyck was the first American to win the "Diamond Sculls" on the Henley, England, in 1897. He was later single sculls champion of the United States for seven years. He comes from one of America's oldest rowing families. His father, Edward Hanlan Ten Eyck at 83 is still actively coaching the University of Syracuse oarsmen and is recognized as the dean of rowing coaches.

Ned Ten Eyck's brother, Jim, successfully coached the great Detroit Boat Club for many years and developed Ed Hoover, another diamond sculls champion.

Ten Eyck's work at Rutgers has been noteworthy. With no background and little material, with the aid of a small group, he managed to get three old eight-oared boats; equip them; store them in a borrowed boat house on the banks of the Raritan and started to develop the thirty of forty Rutgers undergraduates not already engaged in other sports.

From the spring of 1933 to the fall of the same year he continued this development under the most trying difficulties. Thirty to sixty men, mostly under-classes, continued to work under his leadership under the most adverse conditions.

He concluded his first full season of rowing with a victory for the Rutgers Jayvee Heavyweights versus the Columbia No. 150 Crew on the Raritan River October 28 last, while his second Jayvee Crew lost to Columbia's Jayvee Heavyweights.

Following this initial Regatta for Rutgers, the Rutgers First Jayvee Crew competed on the Schuylkill River November 3, 1933 and defeated Rusty Callow's Jayvee Heavyweights, Manhattan College, (New York) Varsity and two other University of Pennsylvania crews.

It is already rumored that due to Ten Eyck's fine work in his first season, Rutgers may be invited to the Poughkeepsie Regatta in June.

The Nereid Club is now approaching its fifty-ninth anniversary. It has kept active socially and in sports throughout the years. Its rowing squad of nearly thirty are now doing road and rowing machine work in preparation for spring and summer regattas.

MEET THE LIFE GUARD CHAMP

By J. WARREN McELIGOT

It was an extremely hot day in mid-August. Long Beach, Long Island, mecca for those seeking relief from the heat in cooling waters, was thickly populated with people. All along the beach thousands of bathers could be seen either returning from a dip or enjoying the soothing waters. Exaltation was rife because everybody seemed to be having a fine time.

Lelling in the warm sands a few steps away from where playful waves creepingly lashed onto the beach sat a powerfully built, robust, sun tanned man in a conventional bathing suit but an insignia on his jersey bore out the indication that he was on hand for a purpose. And that purpose was to save the lives of drowning persons.

His name was Eddie Nugent. His home town was Nutley. He appeared to be about thirty-four years old. He seemed pleasant and had a ready smile for everybody. And everyone seemed to know him. Countless people, men, women and children, passed him and greeted him with a cheery "Hello Eddie." And Eddie would exchange the greeting in an equally cheerful tone.

As Eddie sat there, gazing out upon the briny deep, cries of "Help, help," rent the air. Immediately the beach was transformed from one of which was all enjoyment and pleasure into an excited frenzy group. Pandemonium reigned. Why? Someone was drowning! But not for long! Not while Eddie Nugent was on the job.

Eddie plunged into the waters and in quick time he was out to where the treacherous waters were compelling a middle aged lady to be taken in. With the deftness and meticulousness of an accomplished life guard, Eddie went about his task calmly but with much deliberation. And it wasn't long before Eddie hauled the victim to safety. Eddie soon revived her. Then he went back to his post on the sands. It was all in a day's work for him.

"Gosh," remarked a bystander, "that man knows his stuff about life saving, doesn't he?"

"He ought to," returned his companion. "He's been here fifteen years and I've seen him pull hundreds to safety."

It was just another altruistic stunt for Eddie when he saved the middle aged lady from drowning. It was a formality so to speak because he performed the trick many times during the day. And he has saved so many lives during the last fifteen years, Eddie is regarded as the champion in his line.

After last season at Long Beach figures revealed that Eddie had saved the lives of 1,017 drowning persons which automatically gives him the title of "Life Guard Champ." There have been other guards who have made wholesale rescues but none have equalled the mark that Eddie Nugent set and is still establishing in larger figures.

Just as Lou Gehrig is still increasing his record for consecutive games played so is Eddie adding further to his life saving each day that he is at Long Beach. It was 1,017 rescues at the close of the 1932 season but that figure was increased materially last year at Long Beach when Eddie was experiencing his heaviest duty. When final figures last season were tabulated it was found that Eddie had rescued more than 1,100 people during his fifteen year tenure at Long Beach.

The powerful life guard has rescued everything from nobility to cats. He has saved no less than thirty lives in one day and he remembers an occasion when he hauled to safety three persons at one time, which is quite an achievement. Powerfully built and possessing amazing stamina, Eddie is built for the work cut out for him and he revels in it. It is his first love, he declares.

It was back in 1919 when he just returned from overseas that he got the idea that he wanted to be a life guard. He debated with himself a long time. There were obstacles and lures in his path.

Before him beckoned a potentially brilliant career in the boxing ring. Before the war he had established a somewhat enviable record as a light heavyweight and critics predicted a bright future for him. He was only twenty years old then and the height of his power in the ring was a long time away.

But Eddie thought it over. Would not it be better, he debated, to render mankind a nobler service as a life guard? He thought it over and over and finally decided that he would abandon the ring for a better purpose. When he made that decision, Eddie became an altruist. Since then many hundreds of people have benefited by his noble decision.

So Eddie trekked to Long Beach and started his career of wholesale rescues. Now, if he wants to, he can look back with pride. He has justly earned the title of "Life Guard Champ."

When the United States declared war on Germany in April of 1917, it was Eddie's distinction to become the first pugilist of note to enter the service. He joined the army and served overseas for eighteen months. Finally, when the war terminated, Eddie returned to his native heath. One of the fondest recollections during the war was that of a warm friendship which sprung up between him and Georges Carpentier, the Beau Brummel French boxer. Eddie distinctly remembers of an exhibition about which he and Carpentier gaged near the front line trench. France before a capacity crowd happy American soldiers.

"I'll never forget Georges," marked Eddie the other day. "I was a prince if there ever was a prince I would never want to meet a fellow."

Eddie's success as a life guard attributed to his ability to keep condition at all times. He never drinks, nor smokes; he abstains from all beverages, including coffee, and hasn't eaten meat in ten years. He's a strict vegetarian. Eddie has one weakness, though. That weakness is claims. When claims are put before him he is a voracious eater. He declares that once he consumed 150 claims at one sitting.

He has had many colorful experiences in his career at Long Beach. In his possession today is a letter of thanks received by him from the late Rudolph Valentino, thanking him for saving the life of Rudy's dancing partner.

It seems that one day Rudy's dancing partner ventured out too far and was in danger of drowning when Eddie went to her rescue. After she was resuscitated she thanked Eddie for his noble act and told him she'd hear from Rudy in the near future.

Imagine Eddie's surprise, then when he received, a few weeks later a letter of thanks from the late Valentino together with a $1,000 check. So proud was he of the check that Eddie, instead of cashing it, framed it and placed it one of the walls in the living room of his home. He proudly displayed it to all visitors who came to his home.

"Look," Eddie would say, "it's from Valentino and in his own hand writing, too."

One winter morning Eddie was aroused from his slumbers at an unduly early hour by a telegraph messenger. Eddie ripped open the envelope and found that it was from Valentino. Rudy instructed Eddie to cash the check at once or else payment would be stopped immediately.

"I grabbed my hat," exclaimed Eddie, "and I bet I made the bank in nothing flat. The bank wasn't open yet so I just hung around until the finally opened the door. Then I cashed my $1,000."

A few years ago when Nugent something like 500 rescues to credit, Arthur Guy Empey, author of "Over the Top," a best seller during the war, who has a summer home at Long Beach, realizing Eddie's worth, petitioned the people of the town to get up a purse for Eddie. Contributions flowed free and fast. When the purse was given Nugent by Empey, it contained more than $1,000.

Back in 1922 when Eddie Nugent was enjoying an off season a big bulky, awkward South American by the name of Luis Angel Firpo ventured into Nutley unheralded. A year later this same Firpo was to meet Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight title.

Firpo didn't know the first thing about boxing when he came to Nutley and it remained for Eddie Nugent to teach him the fundamentals of the game. This Eddie did and soon Firpo became a recognized national heavyweight. But it was within the confines of the old Nutley fire house that Firpo launched a career that made him the heavyweight champion of the world for a few fleeting seconds—those few seconds represented the time when he knocked Jack Dempsey out of the ring.

Although he has abandoned the boxing game as an active participant, Nugent is still affiliated with the "squared circle." During the winter months he is boxing coach at the Newark Athletic Club and even in late years he has been represented in exhibition bouts. Eddie is thirty-five years old now but he still packs a terrific wallop. If he had continued a ring career following the war critics believe that he would have developed into a champion.

"I'm glad though," stated Eddie the other day, "that I had an opportunity to do something worthwhile. I never went to college and consequently never had the opportunity to become a doctor, lawyer, chemist, engineer, or what have you. I wanted to be of some benefit to mankind. So I did the best thing I could. I became a life saver. And while my services may not have amounted to much, I derive some satisfaction from my career as a life guard."

"Me quit?" he interogated, "Not yet and not until they are required to carry me out. When the day comes when I am no longer useful as a life guard, I'll turn in my uniform. But that day, I hope, is a long way away. At least it seems so. I've been on the job now fifteen years and I feel as fine physically today as I did when I started the job back in 1919."
