DIRECTOR KING CLEARS EVERS OF LAWRENCE BURDE CHARGES

Allegations Made By Dismissed Employee Called "Completely Lacking in Truth" By Public Affairs Head

Commissioner Joseph King, director of public affairs, yesterday announced that he had completely cleared Edward Evers, president of the shade tree commission of charges brought by Lawrence Burde, a dismissed employee, after a departmental hearing held several weeks ago.

Burde, a brother of Nicholas Burde, a former member of the shade tree body, had charged that Mr. Evers had ordered employees of the commission to do private work at his home during town working hours, had converted town property to his private use, and had employees do private errands for him while they were being paid by the town.

Director King's decision follows: "From the evidence as heard and studied in transcript of testimony the complaining witness, Lawrence Burde, has completely failed to establish the truth of allegations made by him.

"The complaining witness, who was recently discharged by the shade tree commission, and his attorney were the only witnesses brought forth by him who in any manner might have established the truth of these charges.

The testimony of the complaining witness was weak in that he appeared uncertain on the stand, was confused as to time of alleged incidents, and was also contradictory as to time of alleged incidents.

"Other than these two, witnesses produced by the complaining witness not only failed to bear out his allegations, but uniformly denied the truth of said allegations.

"This, coupled with the denial of the accusations by Edward Evers, who brought forth ample evidence to show that the motive for these charges was based purely on the dismissal of the complaining witness, leaves no doubt in my mind that the charges are completely lacking in truth."

Three Boards Meet To Plan Recreation Program

Representatives of the town commission, the recreation commission and the board of education conferred Monday night on the expansion of the town's recreational program and the use of the schools to keep youthful members of the community off the streets.

Mayor Williams stated that facilities available in the schools were not being used to their fullest capacity, and suggested that gymnasiums, playgrounds and equipment might be used in the evenings. Henry Mason, president of the recreation body, commented on the joint conference, declaring that it was a step closer to an improved recreation program.

The mayor suggested that school and recreation athletic projects be coordinated, not only to provide recreation for young people not in school, but to develop athletic ability before pupils enter the high school. Walter Gilby, a member of the school board, suggested that Clearman field might be used for recreation, and a second field, perhaps to be developed on the "Turf Bog," be used for high school football.

John P. Dailey, president of the board of education, suggested the Recreation Commission submit recommendations on use of grounds and buildings, adding the schools would cooperate.

Others who accepted the Mayor's invitation to attend included School Commissioners Mrs. Mary P. Sheldon, Herbert C. Schmutz and Charles Gebhardt and Recreation members, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Brink, Wilfred Yudin, John McDermott and May T. Holden.

Telephone Company Honors Local Man

George F. Lynch, Jr., Saved Life of Woman Overcome by Gas

In recognition of his effective rendition of artificial respiration last September to a woman who had been overcome by illuminating gas, George F. Lynch, Jr., of 44 Walnut street,

GEORGE F. LYNCH, JR. this town, this week received an official citation from the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co.

Lynch, a central office maintenance man employed in the Humboldt exchange in Newark, was riding with Mrs. Lynch and a friend in Union when arrival of fire apparatus attracted his attention to a home where three people overcome by gas had been brought from the house to the porch. Holder of a certificate of proficiency in first aid as a result of his telephone training, Lynch at once offered his services and after about fifteen minutes of applying artificial respiration succeeded in reviving Mrs. Sarah Douglas one of the three overcome.

Presentation of the citation was made for the company by Paul T. Kraus, metropolitan division plant superintendent, at the telephone headquarters building in Newark, Tuesday.

Commissioners Split On Vuono License

Tie Vote Places Tavern Question in Hands of Burnett

Although State Beverage Commissioner D. Frederick Burnett ruled last week that a tavern license should be granted Samuel Vuono for premises at 190 Passaic avenue, the board of commissioners Wednesday night, by a tied vote, refused to grant the permit.

The local board's action places the matter in the hands of Commissioner Burnett, who is expected to grant the license.

Commissioners King and Clark favored compliance with Burnett's order while Commissioner Waters and Mayor Williams opposed the action. Commissioner Gerard, who voted against renewal of the license last June, is in Florida, recovering from a recent illness.

Before voting against the resolution, Director Waters declared that he felt the local excise board should control the taverns of Belleville and should have the right to decide who was qualified to operate them.

The mayor, who opposed the renewal of the license last June, voted against it after learning from Town Attorney Keenan that such action would not constitute contempt of court.

Director Clark declared that his reason for voting for the license was that the matter had been appealed to Burnett, who had ruled that a license should be granted. He felt it the board's duty to comply with the order.

Director King, in favoring granting the permit, said he had voted for it last year and that his opinion had not changed since that time.

South End Group Plans Anniversary

Will Ask Gerard for More Lights in Van Rensselaer Street

Tentative plans for the celebration of the first anniversary of the South End Improvement Association next June were made at a meeting of the organization Tuesday night. James A. Ward, president, appointed Edward F. McFadden chairman.

Mr. McFadden will be assisted by Mr. Ward, Fred Vogel, Hugh Nixon, Arthur H. Christie, Louis A. Noll, Anthony Di Leo, Charles B. Tedesco, Mrs. John McCarthy, Mrs. George Nixon, Mrs. Vogel, Mrs. Thomas Bruce and Mrs. George Deuringer.

The association decided to petition Commissioner Gerard for additional street lights in Van Rensselaer street, although lights are now being removed in various streets in town to make it possible to confine street lighting expense to the $25,000 appropriated in the 1937 town budget. The town spent $31,000 for this purpose last year.

$75 Robbery

Police are investigating the theft of $75 from the home of Mrs. Rose Ferraro of 2 St. Mary's place Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Ferraro told police that someone knocked at the door of her home that morning, but disappeared before she went to the door. Later she left the house for three hours and returned to find the lock of a cedar chest forced and the money gone. Patrolman Jerry Lillor reported entrance had been gained by pushing aside a section of carpet covering a broken window in the kitchen door.

MAYOR PROMISES TAX RATE WILL NOT BE INCREASED

1937 Budget Amended So That Full Pay Will Go Into Effect After May 1

Salary cuts, instituted in 1933 for town and school employees, will be restored May 1.

This will be effected without an increase in the tax rate, Mayor Williams, town finance director, announced.

At the mayor's recommendation, the town commission Wednesday night voted to amend the 1937 budget to provide for full salaries for policemen, firemen, town hall employees and other town workers. John P. Dailey, president of the board of education, agreed that that body would restore the salaries of teachers, office workers and other board employees at the same time.

The cuts of from 10 to 15 per cent, were partially restored last year.

The town board raised salaries by adding an item of $16,728.40, due from the water department, to anticipated revenues. Pay restoration will amount to $12,228.40, leaving $2,000 to be applied to county taxes and $2,500 additional for street lighting.

Mayor Williams' message to the board in relation to the action follows: "In 1932, as finance director, I deemed it my duty to recommend substantial reductions in all municipal costs. I believe the great majority of school and town employees fully respected the serious tax problems confronting our taxpayers, and I further believe the majority of taxpayers will approve today the restoration of salary cuts to all town and school employees.

"Prior to today, without definite knowledge that the present tax rate would be protected, serious consideration could not be given to the subject of salary restoration.

"In conference today with the president of the board of education, Mr. Dailey, I recommended restoration of the balance of salary cuts to all school employees, said restoration to be effective May 1. Mr. Dailey advises me the board of education will arrange to adopt this recommendation and arrange for the costs to be met by altering plans on certain programs.

"I respectfully recommend to you the restoration of balance of salary cuts to all municipal employees, said restoration to be effective May 1.

"In making this recommendation, I feel confident the present tax rate will be maintained.

Yudin's Entertains 150 Master Painters

Representatives of Supply Concerns Speak at Store Opening

More than 150 master painters from Belleville, Bloomfield, Nutley, Rutherford, Lyndhurst, Kearny and Newark attended a party in honor of the official opening of Yudin's enlarged paint store at 114 Washington avenue last week.

Speakers included Frank McCourt, vice president of the Hotopp Varnish Co., and representatives of Hanlon & Goodman, brush manufacturers; the Benjamin Moore Paint Co.; Richard E. Thibaut, wall paper manufacturer, and the National Lead Co., manufacturer of white lead.

In a short address, Barnett Yudin, proprietor of the establishment, thanked the painters and decorators for their patronage and predicted a period of prosperity ahead.

Awards were distributed to the painters and a buffet supper was served.

The painters were taken on a tour of inspection of the enlarged store, which is nearly double the size of the former establishment. Paints and varnishes are displayed on shelves reaching the length of the store, and thousands of rolls of wallpaper are arranged in the rear and in adjoining rooms.

Attractive display cases in the front of the store show painters' equipment and appliances and materials for modern decoration. The department offering supplies for artists has been greatly enlarged, and materials for oil and water color painting, modeling in clay and other media, and equipment for other forms of fine and commercial art have been added.

FHA to Reconsider DeNoia Apartment

Federal Investigator Will Make New Study Of Project

Reconsideration of the refusal of the FHA to lend funds for the construction of an apartment house at Belleville, and Pleasant avenues was promised by Mayor Williams this week by Myles Colean, director of larger unit projects.

The apartment is planned by a local builder, Emanuelle DeNoia, and a syndicate, who plan a large building to be erected at a cost of $300,000.

According to Mr. DeNoia, the project was originally turned down when a federal investigator reported that the Erie Railroad furnishes inadequate service to the neighborhood and that other features of the section are undesirable for government investment.

In his conference with Mr. Colean at Washington, Mayor Williams pointed out that the location is one of the most desirable in town, and that railroad service is only supplementary to several bus lines providing transportation to Newark and New York.

Blaze Damages Capitol Theater

Performances Continue At Local Movie Playhouse

An early-morning fire, believed to have been caused by defective wiring, damaged a corner of the roof of the Capitol Theater in Washington avenue near Joralemon street Monday morning.

Although the damage caused by the flames was heavy, the interior and projecting equipment of the theater were not damaged, and regular performances were presented as usual.

Firemen were first notified of the blaze when persons living near Cortlandt and Joralemon streets telephoned that a pall of smoke was hanging over the neighborhood. An investigation showed that fire had broken out near the left-hand side of the stage and was creeping under the roof of the building.

The fire had gained considerable headway, but the firemen, under the direction of Chief Reid and Battalion Chief Dunleavy, laid two lines of hose and succeeded in preventing its spread.

Ben Weshner, manager of the theater, which is owned and operated by Warner Brothers, said that the blaze broke out in or near the motor of a ventilating fan.

B. & L. Exempt From Security Tax

North Belleville Association Notified of Status By Washington

The North Belleville Building & Loan Association and its employees are exempt from the provision of the Social Security act, according to a vice received by the association today from the Federal Home Loan Bank in Washington, D. C.

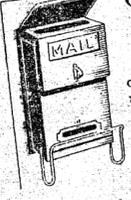

Exemption from the social security taxes is based on the fact that the association is an "instrumentality" of the United States Government, because of its membership in the Federal Home Loan Bank system.

The report from Washington said a ruling of Guy T. Helvering, commissioner of internal revenue, on the status of unit members of the system, and given to Horace Russell, general counsel for the system, stated that member units and their employees "come within the exception extended by Sections 811 (b) (6) and 907 (c) (5) of the Social Security act. The organizations and their employees are not, therefore, subject to the taxes imposed by Titles VIII and IX of the Social Security act."

Local Man Attacks Inspection Law Calls Proper Policing of Highways More Efficient

J. Aiden De Ronde of 195 Holmes street, editor and publisher of The Co-Operator, automotive maintenance trade publication, this week launched a new attack on the law requiring semi-annual inspection of motor vehicles for mechanical defects.

Mr. De Ronde declared that few accidents are caused by defective machines, and stated that the funds to be spent for inspections, if devoted to more adequate policing of highways by state officers, would result in a higher safety record.

The compulsory inspection law has failed in other states and cities where it has been tried, says Mr. De Ronde. His solution to the problem is: "The motorists are not watched, and they know it."

"Let arrests for violations come thick and fast and accidents will decrease, not by 5 per cent, but substantially. Co-ordinate the activities of state and local police and discipline with an iron hand and eliminate the cause of 95 per cent of our motor mishaps."

1932 TO 1937

TAXPAYERS AND EMPLOYEES MUTUAL PROBLEM

Six years of constructive financial planning in Belleville by Mayor William H. Williams, director of Revenue and Finance, witnesses another forward moving step in the restoration of salary cuts to school teachers and town employees as of May 1.

Taxpayers should feel elated that this sound financial planning makes possible restoration of pay cuts to deserving public employees without one cent of increase in the tax rate.

Ever mindful that the taxpayers are the ones most concerned Mayor Williams has refrained during budget making time from comment on the restoration, even accepting gracefully and with dignity barbed thrusts of those who should have used better judgment in pleas that pay cuts be restored. No one could read the Mayor's mind, but he, and he alone, had a plan that would redound to the benefit of employee and taxpayer, alike. This plan was accepted by the Board of Education as well as the Town Commission. Belleville taxpayers may rest assured that their pocketbooks will not feel the restoration of pay to employees as curtailment in certain departmental and non-departmental expenses, totalling $43,000 makes possible the move. All of us should be glad to see salaries on the increase. We have had too much pessimism while traversing the road with lower pay envelopes. It is gratifying to see that the teachers, in particular, have been granted their requests. Many of them are underpaid as it is. It is unfortunate, however, that premature statements of a representative of that group reflected on public officials, at least one of whom, the Mayor, had been studying for months the best manner in which to re-arrange salaries.

In appealing to his fellow commissioners for the utmost economy in departmental costs the Mayor urged reductions in street lighting, library, recreation and other divisions. To the full credit of all members of the Board of Commissioners the 1937 budget indicates each commissioner accepted the finance director's recommendations.

Salary restoration to all school and town employees with no added costs to the taxpayer was undoubtedly more important to the families of school employees, to the merchants and commercial houses than the importance of a few hundred dollars more or less in several departments.

In the course of the past six years we find Mayor Williams' recommendations sound, public service at no time suffering because of the decreases in budget items and to the taxpayers' gratification we find even keener attention paid to positions by public servants and "more public services for less tax dollars," substantiating the Mayor in his slogan used in municipal advertising program.

Taxpayers and employees may well feel gratified with the financial rehabilitation of our town, and while grateful to the finance director, the members of the Board of Commissioners, the Board of Education and others who are responsible for spending the taxpayers' money, must bear in mind that a continuation of the businesslike administration of public business must be maintained.

The employees must continue to render a full week's work for their compensation and the taxpayers must by prompt payment of tax and assessment accounts aid their public officials in maintaining the splendid financial credit accorded to the Town of Belleville.

1932 to 1937—proved a difficult road but cooperation, economies in the face of stern opposition and the sound financial program have restored Belleville to its rightful position.

Belleville has the right leadership. Cooperation in all public matters is the duty of every citizen. Let us resolve to maintain and enhance the spirit of true cooperation for the dignity of Belleville.

AIR POWER

The noted British naval writer, Hector Bywater, pays special tribute to the United States naval policy in an article in an army association journal. He says that the navy has a "clear-sighted appreciation of actualities" in following the principle of a well-balanced fleet instead of putting too much emphasis on air power. He is of the opinion that air power should still be considered an auxiliary arm of the service, rather than a force in itself. Yet it is hardly possible to doubt that the great development of aircraft and aeronautics will be reflected in a striking manner in future wars.

A BIG PILE

It must seem to many people that the automobile industry, turning out new cars with dazzling speed, would finally reach a saturation point. But this is not likely to happen. There is a steady demand for new cars, and to such an extent that it is estimated by the automotive chiefs that 15,000,000 cars now on the roads will have gone to the junk heap in the next five years. Moreover, in that period, the industry plans to turn out 20,000,000 automobiles. No one will deny the figure. Americans want shiny, new automobiles. If times remain good they will have them.

MARQUETTE

This year France pays tribute to one of her truly great sons, Father Marquette, whose memory is to be honored with the unveiling of a bronze tablet at his birthplace in Laon. America owes much to this great trail blazer and to his companion, Joliet.

Their names are perpetuated today through the great northern Middle West, where their zeal as missionaries carried them as white pioneers. They had no way of knowing that the great expanses of forests were to become the proud cities they are today, or that the wildernesses, in a comparatively short time, were to be transformed into important parts of a white man's world. Yet they will always be honored as two of our greatest pioneers.

GREASING "SQUEAKY WHEELS"

A little judgment, persuasion and common sense is all that is needed to iron out misunderstandings in civic matters. Take for instance the recreation situation which involved the Board of Education, Town Commission and Recreation Commission. There had been all sorts of dire grumblings and in some quarters it was rumored recreation in Belleville was about to go up the spout.

Well, Mayor William H. Williams called a meeting of all concerned Monday night and much constructive and good work was accomplished. There existed following the meeting a better understanding of the problem by all concerned. Each group thanked the other and in turn was patting on the back for the co-operative spirit. This is a good sign. Belleville has travelled far since the day its fair name was bludgeoned all over the front pages of out of town newspapers. Now it is different. More intelligence is being applied to local affairs with the result that the cultural and ethical standards of our civic life are also soaring to their place in the sun.

There is a moral in this modern version of an old saying "the wheel that squeaks gets the grease." Let's hope Belleville's squeaky wheels get plenty of such grease. The mixture has the proper ingredients to make for a happier, more gracious and prosperous town.

AUTOPLANE

Now that an automobile is actually being demonstrated, with its inventor being in trouble with the traffic police on land but skimming unmolested through the skies, a motor-minded public will be able to let its imagination run free on the possibilities of motoring in the future. The autoplane has wings which fold back and are removed when on the ground, but are easily attached when the owner wishes to leave the highways and soar aloft. It is not at all impossible that such a combination will be the ideal machine of the future.

ONLY YESTERDAY

How far away the World war now seems. Yet when one reads of the death of Franz Balla in Hungary it makes it almost yesterday. Balla was the first man wounded at the outbreak of the conflict in 1914. When he passed away the other day he was only 43. Time marches on but not quite as quickly as we sometimes think.

KNOW YOUR STATE

Prepared for The Belleville News by Russell VanNest Black, Director-Consultant New Jersey State Planning Board

More Power for New Jersey

The possibility of the development some time in the future of great hydro-electric power plants in the Delaware River Basin is discussed in the recent report of the National Resources Committee. The committee, however, recognizes that the basin's immediate problems are those of domestic water supplies and pollution abatement and suggests that the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin, already concerned with these questions, be granted the necessary authority by the legislatures of New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware to assume jurisdiction over the development of the basin.

Pointing out that northeastern New Jersey communities, New York City and the Philadelphia region must provide for future water demands and that the lower Delaware and the Schuylkill are heavily polluted with untreated domestic sewage and industrial wastes, the report says: "Adequate supplies of relatively unpolluted and wholesome water can be obtained from the streams of the upper part of this basin by the construction of impounding reservoirs, if so desired. By such use, the river would fulfill its highest use to a vast metropolitan population."

The report goes on to say, of power development possibilities: "A hydro-electric power project proposed by the United States engineers consists of eight reservoirs which will provide capacity of 326,600 kilowatts, at an estimated cost of $46,754,600. Such a development for the normal load factor of the general power market might not be economically attractive. There are certain benefits to be derived from the construction of this group of reservoirs which cannot be reduced to a question of economics nor delayed for many years until an economic status is reached. The project affords reservoir sites for water supply purposes. The reservoir at Tocks Island provides ample capacity to serve Philadelphia and the northeastern New Jersey communities.

"The construction of these reservoirs for hydro-electric power alone may not be justified now, but to make available a future water supply source for the city of Philadelphia and to serve as units in flood control and regulation of the river, it is recommended that a dam be constructed in the near future at Tocks Island. Provisions should be made for the installation of power units when the need for more hydro-electric power arises. The construction of the remaining dams should be deferred until the actual need for them as power units arises."

"Soul Sufferers"—Or Psychic Nourishes.

"We are never rendered so ridiculous by the qualities we possess as by those we affect to have."

La Rochefoucauld

A good many years ago Edgar Allan Poe, who had the unusual eccentricity of writing intelligently, in a just criticism of R. H. Horne's "Orion," wrote: "The use of language is in the promulgation of thought. If a man—if an Orphicist—or a Seer—or whatever else he may choose to call himself, while the rest of the world calls him an ass—if this gentleman has an idea which he does not understand himself, the best thing he can do is to say nothing about it."

Poetry, too, has come in for its share of abuse. The theme, the objective—the end of poetry—that is true poetry—was, is, and ever will be transcendent BEAUTY! Now it is used as a pleasant phonetic vehicle for maudlin philosophy, homilies on "man's purpose in the universe" or as a tocsin of impending economic revolt. High-sounding themes which Poe aptly pointed out, were better fitted to a Kantian terminology and the rigidity of German logic. Poetry such as this may be mechanically perfect but it is blank verse, Spenserian stanzas or free verse; but like Spalanzani's mechanically perfect daughter Olympia—has no soul. A moral or a truth may be couched in delicate verse, but this should be the secondary consideration of the poet.

Didactics and poetry do mix; but the beauty or the commonness of such a mixture depends upon the artfulness of the mixer. And of this no modern Coppelius can persuade us otherwise. A good illustration of the modern, gospel-preaching poetry we speak of, will be found in a stanza selected from the poetry of C. Day Lewis, who believes a poet's cause is to serve a serious moral and political purpose. The following is from his volume titled, "A Time to Dance":

to discover at maturity, our mental perception so sub-normal as not to admit of a comprehension of such every-day works. Can you visualize our utter bewilderment in view of our clear conception and understanding of Bacon's "Great Instauration," Arthur Schopenhauer's "The World as Will and Idea," and our perhaps lesser understanding of Kantian metaphysics? Then at the height of such bewilderment, came the warning revelation that the great difference was, that on the one hand were men who knew what they were talking about, and wrote it that way; while on the other hand, were men who did not know what they were talking about and wrote it that way.

Request Rejection Of German Goods

Jewish Groups Ask School Board to Purchase American Products

A request that the board of education refuse to purchase goods made in Germany was made this week in a letter sent John P. Dailey, board president, by the Progress Club, which announced it was also representing the North Essex Post of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States and the Sisterhood of Congregation.

The communication was signed by Samuel J. Kogan, president of the club, and Dr. Benjamin A. Jacobson, commander of the post.

The action of the organization followed publication in this newspaper of an article reporting that Herbert C. Schmutz, a member of the board, had opposed the purchase of German-made type for the printing course to be established at the high school.

The letter to Mr. Dailey follows: "In a recent issue of The Belleville News it was reported that the board of education contemplated the purchase of equipment in connection with a proposed course in printing, and that German made goods were considered in competition with American made goods.

"We sincerely hope that the board, in making its final decision, will see fit not to purchase the German made products. To do so would be lending financial aid and economic assistance, even in its small way, to a country that has shackled every conception of democracy as we in America have learned to know it; that has fostered an intensive regime of racial and religious discrimination and hatred, and that will, according to its policy, use the proceeds of such transactions to finance its militaristic program to the detriment of its own and the world's youth.

"We respectfully take this means of calling attention to our position in this matter and feel confident that the board will take no action in connection with the purchase of the above equipment that would inevitably lead to a flood of criticism and protest resulting from the purchase of German goods.

"The Progress Club of Belleville, Inc., composed of local professional and business men, has also been authorized to act as spokesman in this matter by the Jewish War Veterans of the U. S., and the Sisterhood of Congregation A. A. A. of Belleville."

FOOD MARKET Advice

ONE of the largest single boatloads of HADDOCK on record was brought into Boston in time for your fish dinners this week or, if you prefer COD steak, fish FILETS, SWORDFISH or WHITING they are also plentiful and reasonably priced. The same thing is true of OYSTERS, CLAMS, SMOKED and SALT FISH.

Poultry Cheap
All poultry is cheap in the light of current meat prices and in comparison with both last year's and the past five year's average prices. Small size FOWL represents the best value but CHICKENS, DUCKS and TURKEYS are all very reasonable. Fewer EGGS have been coming to market in the past week or so but, as yet, retail prices are unaffected.

Cheese Excellent Value
CHEESE is a concentrated food, it has a flavor most people like and it costs very little. It can be used in combination with most vegetables and with all breads and cereal foods as well as with milk and eggs to make hearty main course dishes for lunch or dinner.

Grapefruit Cheapest Fruit
Combinations of circumstances have made GRAPEFRUIT the outstanding fruit of the year for quality, abundance and good value. It is interchangeable with ORANGES or orange juice as a breakfast fruit and in addition is a favorite first course or salad or dessert ingredient at lunch and dinner. Oranges are still a good value though navels are fairly high. APPLES are higher but still a good value. PINEAPPLES are more plentiful and STRAWBERRIES, though somewhat higher, are cheap and plentiful for the season. South American GRAPES, PEARS, PEACHES, PLUMS, NECTARINES and MELONS are in market.

Many Vegetables Reasonable
In spite of a firm market on ASPARAGUS, GREEN and LIMA BEANS, BROCCOLI and PEAS many vegetables including BEETS, CABBAGE, CARROTS, CAULIFLOWER, SPINACH, new POTATOES and the various roots are reasonable. BEEF prices have eased slightly, PORK prices are unchanged and reassembled and VEAL is a little cheaper. LAMB prices are somewhat higher though still moderate.

Here are two menus planned around foods which are readily available and moderate in price.
Oyster Cocktail Egg Sauce
Boiled Haddock Spinach
New Potatoes Bread and Butter
Jellied Grapefruit Waters Coffee

Chicken Grapefruit Boiled Rice
Cauliflower au Gratin
Beet Salad Bread and Butter
Prune Whip Coffee

Receive Entries For K. of C. Games

Blessed Sacrament Seeks To Capture Parochial School Trophy

Entries are rapidly being received for the K. of C. parochial school track games to be held in the Elizabeth Armory March 19. Eugene F. McVeigh, executive secretary, has stated that no entry will be accepted after March 10.

Blessed Sacrament School of Newark presents a serious threat to the present champions, Sacred Heart of Passaic, in the forthcoming games. The Blessed Sacrament has with them this year Coach Bill Brophy, while the Vailsburgers have as usual the Rev. Melvin J. Dalton, who in 1928 was a member of the United States Track team sent to the Olympic games in Amsterdam. The Brophy-boys are out to capture the Rev. John J. Outwater Trophy, which will be awarded to the parochial school scoring the most points.

Entry has likewise been received from Holy Cross Unit of the Columbus Cadet Corps of New Jersey, an old-time unit which is seeking its fifth consecutive Columbus Cadet Corps championship. Jim Cundari, coach of the Harrison squad, is banking on Pat Durkin, sack race champ, to add heavily to the team point score by copping the 40-yard novelty event.

These are the fifth annual games to be sponsored by the New Jersey K. of C., attracting an entry of over 1,100 boys each year. Entries close with the executive secretary at 65 Lincoln Park, Newark, New Jersey.

Affair Will Be Held March 13 at New Cafeteria; Tasker to Speak

An "all sports" dinner, scheduled to be held in honor of high school athletes this evening, has been postponed until March 13 at 6:30 P. M. The dinner will be held at the new high school cafeteria.

The principal speaker will be Wilbur Tasker, football coach at Rutgers University. Herbert C. Schmutz, a member of the board of education, will be toastmaster. The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of Ruel E. Daniels, business manager of the board; Charles A. Gebhardt, board member, and August Plenge.

About 450 persons are expected to attend. Letters and other awards will be given members of the 1936 football and track teams and the 1937 basketball squad.

Presents Report On Vital Statistics

359 Births and 253 Deaths Occurred Here In 1936

The annual report of Eugene M. Gavey, registrar of vital statistics, was presented to the board of commissioners this week. It showed that 253 Belleville residents died last year, while births totalled 359.

Based on an estimated population of 28,755, the mortality rate was 8.7 per 1,000 while the birth rate was 12.5 per 1,000.

An indication of the current trend to universal use of maternity hospitals was shown in the fact that only ninety-seven children were actually born in town last year, while 262 were born in out of town hospitals.

Mr. Gavey issued 171 marriage licenses here in 1936. He reported 150 marriages took place in town and fifty one marriages of local residents took place in other municipalities of New Jersey.

Local Bike Riders Capture Team Race At Madison Square Garden in Upset

Angelo DeBocco and Charles Bergna Finish Two Laps Ahead of Stellar Performers in Amateur Event at Six-Day Track

Two Belleville youths, Angelo DeBocco and Charles Bergna, captured the one-hour amateur team race at Madison Square Garden Sunday night in the most startling upset in the bicycle world this season.

In the race, held before the opening of the six-day professional grind at the Garden, the local boys carried the colors of the Belleville Bicycle Club to victory, although facing one of the strongest fields in amateur ranks. Bike experts did not expect the local team to finish, since teams were entered by such powerful racing aggregations as the Bay View Wheelmen, the Long Island Wheelmen, the Unione Sportiva Italiana and other strong clubs, but De Bocco and Bergna finished two laps ahead of the field.

The Belleville boys were accompanied by their trainer, Joe Kopsky, a former professional star. Mr. Kopsky declares that DeBocco is the most outstanding amateur in this section and predicts championship laurels for him. DeBocco started training only a year ago, on his return to this country from Italy, where he spent several years. Bergna was spending the Winter in a CCC camp when recalled to Belleville by Mr. Kopsky to team up with DeBocco.

Baskets and Bleachers

Notes on the Games By Coach HARRY W. SIMESTER of the Brothers College, Drew University, Quincent Madison, N. J.

OUT-OF-BOUNDS PLAYS (Thirteenth in the Series)

A tight defense has had your team bottled all evening, and the score is close as you enter the fourth quarter. Now you have the ball in your scoring zone—the atmosphere is tense; here's when every basket counts. Suddenly your offensive is interrupted by a defensive guard who manages to deflect the ball over the sidelines. The opponents relax for the moment. There's your cue! A lapse, even for a second, should prove fatal at this stage of the game. But, can you take advantage of it? It is your out, but have you a set-play to spring at just such a time? You should have, and, moreover, you can have; but don't wait until the fourth period of a close game to plan one. Organize now a few simple plays such as the following, illustrated by the four diagrams:

Play "A": 0-1 takes the ball out of bounds, 0-3, 0-4 and 0-5 cut toward the right side of the court and slightly toward 0-1. 0-2 cuts around the free-throw circle towards the left, and by circling receives the throw-in pass under the basket. Note that all players must move at the instant the official hands the ball to 0-1. 0-4 and 0-5 will set up a screen to enable 0-2 to elude his man, D-2.

Play "B": 0-1 again takes the ball outside. This time he passes in to 0-4 right on the foul line, and, cutting under the basket, receives a snap return from 0-4 for a lay-up. This play is made possible by the fact that 0-2 screens 0-1's man, D-1, while 0-3 and 0-5 fake in order to draw their men out of position.

Play "C": Use this play when the ball is out of bounds on the sidelines, not at the end of the court. 0-1 fakes a pass to 0-2 who is coming towards him, and passes, instead, to 0-4, a short distance away. 0-2 screens D-1, allowing 0-1 to get into the open where he receives a pass from 0-4, and dribbles in for a lay-up.

Play "D": (Let's have somebody else score this time—0-1 must be getting tired.) The set-up is the same as in play "C": 0-1 fakes the ball out of bounds and passes to 0-4 who pivots and passes cross-court to 0-5. 0-5 dribbles down the court for a shot. 0-1, in the meantime, goes down the sidelines toward the basket and may be in a position to receive a pass from 0-5 if the latter be covered for a shot.

One caution on such plays: do not become discouraged if they fail from time to time. A good average for them would be three or four a game. After all, that would be six or eight points, and many contests have been lost by less.

This is the end of Coach Simester's "Baskets and Bleachers" series. Did you like it?
