Miss Ramona E. Grey, 83 Malone avenue, like her position as secretary to G. Russell Taylor in the motion business, 1007 Springfield avenue, Irvington.

Ernie Ridell of the Belleville Sport Shop is recuperating from a minor operation in a Newark hospital.

St. Mary's School in Nutley now numbers more than 500 students in its enrollment.

Vincenc Hurley, 86 Malone avenue, may be seen hurrying any morning for the 8.10 train on his way to Fordham University, where he is a student.

Lloyd Place is named after John Lloyd, a resident of this town for many years; Joralemon street after the family of Mrs. Ed Van Ripper, who was a Joralemon; Stephen street, after the father of Joseph Stephen, whose name was William; Colonial terrace was named by J. J. Tucker; Dow street, after Rev. John Dow, Methodist minister.

Kay's House, which stands at the corner of Linden and Tappan avenues, is one of the oldest houses in town. It was built when that section of the town was unmarked by habitation.

Miss Eileen Mueller, 44 Mertz avenue, is attending Montclair State Teachers' College for her second year.

A sign on the tennis courts at Clearman Field advises: "Persons using the courts must wear smooth shoes." Paradoxically, the courts are being used by football players, to walk on, with their heavy cleated shoes.

Walter Hack, a teacher in the high school, is in charge of the Adult Bible Class of the Grace Baptist Church.

We noticed a mistake in a New York paper, usually infallible, in its rotogravure section. In publishing pictures of the beauty contest, candidates recently it had Miss Charlotte N. J., instead of N. C. (North Carolina).

WZLNA are the call letters for an amateur station operated by Edward B. Clegg, Sr., 193 Greylock parkway. His sixteen-year-old son, Edward, Jr., is quite a "Ham" and is also a photographer, par excellence.

We hear that Morris Udansky, former scribe for the Belleville News and later of a Newark daily, is married happily and lives somewhere in the vicinity of Joralemon street and Franklin avenue.

On October 6, 1924, Ray Smith and Walter Joule, founded the Capitol Pharmacy. Since that time 119,000 prescriptions have been filled in the drug store.

A saw mill once stood at the northwest corner of Belleville and Washington avenues owned by Daniel Bellif and H. Galloway Ten Eyck.

It is told of the dog pound, which was located on the southwest corner of Cortlandt and Holmes streets, that once while the pound keeper was watching the front entrance, a group of youngsters pulled the boards from the back of the pound and allowed all the dogs to go free.

The fifteen other lodges in the New Jersey Northwest District will send delegations to Belleville on November 8, the occasion being the official visit here of Vice-President William Kennedy of the State Elks' Association. The local officers will put on ritualistic work, which will be the basis for judging the best lodge in this work in the district.

William Jernick, past exalted ruler of Nutley lodge, is organizing a special publicity committee for 1937-1938 for the State association. Esteemed Lecturing Knight Wallwin H. Masten, editor of this paper, represents Belleville. A general meeting of representatives of the sixty-two lodges in the state will be in Elizabeth within the next two weeks to discuss the plan in detail.

About 300 Attend Institute Meeting

Prominent Speakers Address Group at Local Synagogue

A capacity crowd of close to 300 persons crowded the synagogue of Congregation A. A. A., Wednesday night to attend the first session of the Belleville Institute of Public Affairs. Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, moderator, opened the session with an explanation of the purpose behind the institute. He expressed the hope that the project would grow so rapidly that it would be given over to the entire community. He suggested that a committee be formed representing every religious group and civic body in Belleville to administer the institute.

The topic at the session was "The Art of Living Together—Jew and Gentile." The speakers, who were enthusiastically received by the audience, were Rev. Dr. Lester H. Cleo, Rabbi Dr. Marius Ranson, and Wayne R. Parmer, superintendent of schools. Edward J. Abramson was chairman of the evening.

Each speaker took a different phase of the question. Dr. Cleo discussed the means through which a better appreciation could be attained between Jew and Gentile. He said that the secret of living together is to understand and appreciate one another. Mr. Parmer took up the question from the point of child training. He suggested that if we want to eradicate prejudice, we must start with the small child, and educate him to appreciate differences. Reference was made to the course given at Syracuse University which is devoted to finding ways and means of establishing a better understanding, thus eradicating prejudices. Rabbi Ranson discussed the problem from the religious standpoint. He pleaded for "aggressive friendship" between Jew and Gentile. His talk was punctuated by many interesting personal experiences. An open forum was conducted and many spirited questions were directed to the speakers. The public was invited to suggest topics and speakers, and many responded with suggestions.

Admission to the institute is open to all. The next session will be held at the synagogue Wednesday night, November 17. The topic will be: "Peace—How Can America Maintain It?" Speakers will be announced later.

A town-wide poster contest, open to all local artists, has been announced by the Guild. There will be an award of $5 for the best poster, descriptive of the Guild's current production "Smilin' Through," and four reserved seat tickets to the show will be given as second prize.

Two Service Clubs Join Hands at Forest Hill Field Club

Over sixty members of the Belleville Lions and Rotary clubs joined hands Wednesday at luncheon in the Forest Hill Field Club. A feature of the meeting was a quiz test on "American Patriotic Sayings" by Director of Public Safety George R. Gerard.

The questions were as follows, who said: "Give me liberty or give me death," "That a government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth," "Lafayette, we are here," "Now we must all hang together, or we'll hang separately," "Don't give up the ship," "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute," "We have met the enemy and they are ours," "The Union, now and forever, one and inseparable," "I regret that I have but one life to give for my country," "We fight to make the world safe for democracy," "My country, may she ever be right; but right or wrong, my country," "Speak softly, but carry a big stick," "I do not choose to run," "Hell's bells and Maria" and "The Union, it must and shall be preserved."

In the order the sayings were by Patrick Henry, Abraham Lincoln, General John Pershing, Benjamin Franklin, Captain James Lawrence, Charles Pickering, Commodore Perry, Daniel Webster, Nathan Hale, Woodrow Wilson, Stephen Decatur, Theodore Roosevelt, Calvin Coolidge, General Dawes and Andrew Jackson.

Recorder Everett B. Smith, Rotarian, president of the Welfare Federation, spoke on the community chest drive, which starts November 5 and concludes November 15, urging members of both clubs, many of whom are heads of large concerns, to designate individual in each local plant to aid in raising funds.

May Open Turnpike About October 15

Thousands of Motorists Have Been Inconvenienced A Year

Belleville turnpike through Kearny may be opened about October 15. This announcement has just been made by State Highway Commissioner E. Donald Sterner. The pike has been closed almost a year, at a great loss of time and money to motorists who have been forced to detour.

Removal of construction barriers between the Newark turnpike and Saw Mill Creek will permit of a shorter detour pending the later completion of the remaining one mile of the Belleville turnpike as part of Route 7 from Saw Mill Creek to Route 2, Ridge road, in North Arlington, Bergen County.

Route of Detour. The detour to be continued temporarily will begin at the Schuyler avenue intersection with the turnpike in Kearny and will extend through Schuyler, Seely and Kearny avenues to Route 2. The Belleville Turnpike is one of the most heavily traveled arteries in that area as it serves both suburban Essex and Bergen Counties. The agitation for its improvement to relieve congestion was long drawn out but the actual operations were delayed because of the large appropriation of funds that was required.

Negotiations were carried on by Commissioner Sterner with the federal government and through the United States Bureau of Roads an allotment of $665,000 was obtained for the reconstruction of the pike. This money permitted the elimination of the two dangerous grade crossings at the Newark and Greenwood Lake branches of the Erie Railroad.

Two Overpasses

It was necessary to build two overpasses with long viaducts carried on concrete piers through the meadow land. These structures have a length of one-third of a mile and represent an investment of $855,000. They were made sufficiently wide for four lanes of vehicles.

The federal government also advanced $80,000 for widening the turnpike in the one and one-half miles between the Newark turnpike and Saw Mill Creek, the dividing line between Hudson and Bergen Counties. The new roadway is to allow room for four instead of two lanes of vehicles.

The operations were carried on in conformity with the regulations of the U. S. Bureau of Roads as the contribution from the federal government was granted to provide work for the unemployed on a substantial project carrying increased safety for road users.

The road widening was stipulated to provide established hours for men whose names were on the relief rolls. It was necessary to obtain forces as they could be supplied through the state employment office, with preference given to veterans when they were qualified for the assigned task.

North Belleville Votes B. & L. Dividends

Approximately $8,350 Will Be Distributed to 642 Saving Members

A dividend of 5 1/2 per cent on installment shares and 3 1/2 per cent on income shares for the first six months of the year was voted by the Board of Directors of the North Belleville Building and Loan Association at a meeting in the association's office, 500 Washington avenue, last Friday night.

In addition to the declaration of the dividend, which will distribute approximately $8,350 to 642 saving members of the association, a substantial sum was added to the surplus and reserve account from the earnings of the six-month period, John P. Dailey, secretary of the association, said today.

During the last six months the association made substantial progress in every phase of its activity. The financial statement as of October 1, showed assets of $449,039.62. The mortgage-loan department of the association reported the granting of four loans on homes during the first six months of the year, an increase of fifty per cent over the similar period last year.

The appeal to the public of insurance of savings share accounts by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the Government, was credited by Mr. Dailey and the Board of Directors for the increase of thirteen per cent in the volume of share payments over the first half of 1936. This made available a larger sum for new loans. The new liberalized loan plan adopted by the association last year attracted a large number of persons interested in home ownership.

Alack, alack, Mr. Kachel is married, girls... turn your attention elsewhere... but you can still ask him to sing...

G. W. Bingham Named
Legion Commander

Otto Breunich Again To Act
As Senior Vice Commander

Belleville Post 105, American Legion, Monday evening at the Legion Chateau, elected the following officers: Commander, George W. Bingham; senior vice-commander, Otto T. Breunich; junior vice-commander, William I. La Baugh; finance officer, Harold N. Congleton; service officer, Thomas W. Fleming; historian, Lawrence E. Keenan; executive committee, Henry Miller, Edward Ackerson, Robert Burns, Walter Taylor and Duncan McKinnon; trustee, Richard Shannon.

The following members comprise the Armistice Day committee: Fleming, Fred G. Fredericks, Henry Denison, La Baugh, Edward Cantwell and Robert P. Smith.

A delegation, which will visit Nutley Post October 14, will meet at the Legion Chateau and leave at 8:15 P. M.

Plans are under way for a joint installation of the local post and auxiliary in the near future. A Past Commanders' dinner also will be held in the near future.

"Open house will be held shortly for ex-service men. Experience has proven that many veterans who otherwise would like to join the Legion, rarely know many of the Legion members and would like to get acquainted. Open house will afford them the opportunity," says Commander Bingham.

"Only the absence of the white horse, marred the progress of George W. Bingham in his election as commander. Captain, as he is known in the Army Ordinance Reserve, rode through the election with colors flying. The thrifty, thriving, thorough, thinking, theosophist, Breunich, will again assume the role of an officer in the capacity of senior vice-commander. In the capacity of liaison between the auxiliary and the post, Breunich has rendered outstanding service, to say nothing of his work on the holding company for the post," declares William Outcalt of the publicity committee.

"The perennial petriwinkle, Fleming, will again offer his services in the capacity of Service Officer. Tom has held this position for so many years, and is so thoroughly familiar with the forms required, that his status and work is well known to all," he adds.

"A large delegation attended the National Convention of the Legion, held in New York, recently. That accounts for so many men looking at their Social Security numbers after they came home—from a good walk," concludes Outcalt.

Detective Spitzer, of the Newark police reported that Robert Kingsland, 45, 37 Third street, Newark, was missing.

His family believes he may attempt to do away with himself. He is six foot, two inches tall, dark eyes, hair and complexion, wore a dark gray suit and had brown shoes.

She urges all her club members to attend the club meetings and to be active members, not just passive ones. She is an artist of rare ability. Her voice has an excellent range in both tone and quality.

Thirteen Boy Scouts and two leaders from Troop 92 left the Recreation House at 10 o'clock Saturday for an overnight trip to Camp Mohican, seventy miles away in the mountains beyond Blairstown. Three hours later they chugged into camp and carried their baggage into their quarters in the Buccaneer shacks.

After a cold lunch of sandwiches and milk, and the selection of a K. P. patrol of five to bring in wood and water and to prepare dinner, the rest of the group "hit the trail" for the fire tower. The warden was at home and explained his maps and instruments and work to an attentive audience. Scout Dan Scavo, in charge of the expedition, brought his command back to camp without the loss of a single appetite. Second class instruction in fire-building followed, tests being passed by Scouts Evans, Scavo, Milano, Denarie and O'Rourke. Supper of hamburger, potatoes, corn and milk went the way of all good things, to be followed by a Camp Fire with singing and stunts. Sunday morning instruction was given in compass and nature. Patrol Leader Huebsch fell into the lake. After a beefsteak lunch, quarters were policed, baggage and scouts piled into the truck, and waving farewell to Ranger Stolte, the journey home began. Weather was cloudy with a couple of sharp showers on Sunday.

Members of the expedition were Scouts David Roth, Anthony Caruso, Blackie Milano, Jimmie O'Rourke, John Metzler, Andy Denarie, Donald Evans, Roy Harvey and Dan Scavo; patrol leaders, John Pietro, Ken Huebsch and Wes Adler; senior patrol leader, Arnold Theting; assistant, S. M. Pirk and James.

Veterans are urged to file their applications no later than October 24, if they wish to be considered for enrolment in October, inasmuch as the period ends October 27.

Of interest to former members of the CCC is the new ruling under which they may re-enroll six months, instead of one year, following the effective date of discharge.

Enrolment is for a period of six months. The basic pay is $30 a month. Veterans assigned as "leaders" will receive $45 a month, and those assigned as "assistant leaders" will receive $36 a month.

Emeralds Unable to Get Newark Game Official Averages for Year Show Club Engaged In 37 Games

The Emerald A. C., unable to arrange a post season series with the Newark Normals, completed its baseball season with an unimpressive record of seventeen victories, nineteen defeats and one tie game. It marked the first time since 1932 that the team has played more than thirty-five games. It also marked the first time the club has finished below the .600 mark in the win-loss column. Although nineteen defeats have been charged against the club, eleven of these were of the very close type, in which the Emeralds were outscored by three runs or less. Five losses alone were by one run margins.

The 1937 batting honors went to Henry Lubben, who participated in all thirty-seven games, acquired the most hits, forty-four, scored the most runs, twenty-three; drove in the most runs, seventeen and ended the year with a mark of .347. This average was far from the 1936 record set by Art Costello, who ended the season with .416. Lubben, besides leading the club in batting, hit safely in thirty of the thirty-seven games he played.

Ed Fiske, Bill Harbaugh and Lubben were tied in home run honors, each having two apiece. Ed Fiske's homers were more noteworthy, however, in that in his first game for the Gems against the Belleville Triangles, on July 25, he hit both of them one batting right handed and the other left handed. Three-base clout honors went to Bill Fisk, who acquired three, and Johnnie Jones, two. No record was kept of doubles.

Other leaders were Bill Hamilton, who walked the most, twelve times; Tom Carter, sacrificed the most, six times; Lubben struck out the most, thirty-two, and Bill Fisk made the most errors, second place honors in runs batted in went to Firp Urna, Jim Lynch and Bill Fisk, who each had twelve.

In the pitching department, Bill Lister was the leader with six wins and three defeats. He pitched in the most games, fifteen, and in the most innings, 81 2-3. Arnold Clarke, with a .500 pitching average, struck out the most opposing batsmen, seventy-six, and hit the most batters, four. Tom Carter walked the most batters with thirty-eight.

Bill Lister and Firp Urna showed the biggest decline in their batting averages this year, dropping from .413 and .262 to .222 and .219, respectively, while Henry Lubben and Leo O'Reilly showed the greatest improvement, increasing from .274 and .303 to .347 and .333, respectively.

Batting averages and pitching records are as follows:

Coach Frank Smith's Conditioning Of Local Lads Showed in Big Game 10,000 Fans Go Wild, Tearing Down Goal Posts and Otherwise Celebrating What Is Termed A Moral Victory

By FRED McQUILKIN, B. H. S. Graduate

Did David Slay Goliath, and how? Did Belleville bounce the Biblical stone off the "conk" of Bloomfield's High School team, and how? Belleville won a moral football victory when the local team held Bloomfield to a 0-0 tie, Saturday, at Clearman Field.

About 10,000 fans went wild, tearing down the goal posts, carrying the team on their shoulders to the locker room, and otherwise celebrating the breaking of the jinx that Bloomfield had held over Belleville for the last nine years.

Coach Frank Smith, who was carried around the field on the shoulders of fans after the game, deserves a big share of the credit for keeping the Bengals from scoring. Considering the handicap under which Coach Smith worked, with green, light material which reported to him at the beginning of the season, "Smitty" wonders have been worked with the team.

Nearly 200 jubilant youngsters and fans celebrated the football team's scoreless tie with Bloomfield Saturday, by invading the latter town, armed with noisemakers, and in some cases, missiles.

The janitor at Essex County Boys' Vocational School on Franklin street reported damage of more than $100, mostly in broken windows. At the first signs of the celebrants Bloomfield police were assigned to all town schools and to Foley field, the town football stadium, but the county school was overlooked for a time.

Several attempts were made to uproot the goal posts from the Bloomfield gridiron, police reported, but all were repulsed. Several cars appeared bearing pieces of what had been goal posts, apparently taken from the local field, where the game was played. Police also reported attempts to approach Bloomfield High School. Sunday night Bloomfield's goal posts fell.

One group of youths advanced on the benches in Bloomfield Park, but were driven away after they had carried several to the curb at Broad street. No arrests were made.

Belleville's tie with the powerful Bloomfield team was considered a major upset.

The alertness of the Belleville team in recovering fumbles proved costly to Bloomfield's chances of victory.

Despite the fact that Captain Ed Doyle attended the funeral of his father Saturday morning, he was the outstanding player on the field in the afternoon, making 80 per cent. of the tackles.

Nick Zuzzio, crack fullback, did some mighty punting throughout the game to prevent Bloomfield's onslaught from reaching threatening proportions. At one stage of the contest he angled a forty-yard punt out on the Bloomfield two-yard line.

The entire Belleville team played inspired football to bring about this long awaited event, that will go down in Belleville High School's history as the record of an achievement well worth remembering.

Bloomfield started off with a bang, making four first downs, to travel from its own forty-yard line to Belleville's seven, where the Bellboys took possession after holding the Bengals for downs, in the shadow of their own goal posts.

Snares Forward Pass, Lands in Ash Can

Ash cans are used for divers purposes, but here is a case where one was put to a unique purpose.

John Fopp, sixteen years old, 17 Agnes street, was playing football in Belmore street when, in trying to snare a forward pass thrown by one of his buddies, he tumbled into an ash can suffering a cut on his arm which required two clamps. He was treated by Dr. Martin M. Meehan.

Tornadoes Will Close Floodlight Slate Powerful New Rochelle Club to Appear at City Stadium

NEWARK, Oct. 8.—The powerhouse Newark Tornadoes professional football team will close its floodlight slate next Thursday night against the New Rochelle (N. Y.) Bulldogs in an American Association game at Newark City Schools Stadium. Starting at 8:30 P. M., the clash will be the first between the teams. Two previous bookings were postponed.

Ten former Columbia U. players are in the New Rochelle cast. George Furey and John Hudasky are former Lion ball carriers. On the line will be these ex-Lou Little proteges: Ed Furey and Harry Chase, ends; Joe Ferrara, Charles Salinsky and Joe Richavich, tackles; Jim Davis and Joe Covielli, guards, and Al Ciampa, center. The latter gained all-American honors a few seasons ago.

Also in the visitor's backfield will be Mike Stelmack and Morty Hauser of N. Y. U., Charles Barkus and Pat Byrne of Manhattan, and Bud Holborn of North Carolina State.

Leo Paquin, all-Eastern end for Fordham last season, will continue his role as offensive end for the homesters. The Bayonne athlete, a lanky six-footer, will be on the receiving end of forwards tossed by Arnie Treux of Atlantic Highlands, Joe Reznichak of Perth Amboy and Frank Schummel of Bloomfield.

The latter is filling the role of a triple-threat back with Rudy Choborda of Hillside. The ace of the high-scoring Tornado running corps is Fred King, high-scorer of the nation's collegiate ranks for Hobart College last season.

Eagles Wind Up with 18 Wins and 12 Losses Team Expects To Answer Next Year's Bell in Better Shape

The Belleville Eagles won eighteen games out of thirty in their first season of organized baseball.

Leading the parade in two-base hits were Goglia and Gonnello, with eight apiece, while Bosiak had seven and Costello and Caruso, six and four, respectively. Bosiak led in triples with three, while Caruso had two. The only home run hit was off the bat of Johnson with the bases loaded in one game.

Lou Tobia led in runs batted in with twenty-nine, while Roy Costello had twenty-six. "Larry" Gonnello scored the most runs, thirty. Costello, Gonnello, Goglia and Bosiak led in hits with 36, 35, 32 and 31, respectively. Johnny Caruso was hit by pitchers four times, while Dava led in walks, thirteen. Caruso also led in sacrifices with five.

"Stanzy" Goglia led the pitchers in strikeouts, with 146. "Lefty" Johnson fanned fifty-six. Goglia hit six batsmen to lead in that department. In walks Goglia, Johnson, Braccaglia, and Bosiak had 40, 31, 25, 14, respectively.

Herb Foster, coach of the Eagles, intends to have an even stronger team on the field next season with an addition of a pitcher, infielder and catcher.

Robert and Marshall at Laurel Garden Canadian Star Wrestles One Of His Empire Cousins

Yvon Robert, colorful French-Canadian claimant of the world's wrestling title, meets one of his British Empire cousins Friday night at Newark's Laurel Garden when he clashes with Jack Marshall, of England, in a one fall to a finish match.

Marshall made his debut last week in sensational fashion by stopping Curley Donchin in a rough and tumble bout. The young Englishman showed that he could take it, coming back to win, after Donchin had used all the unethical tricks known to the game.

Robert, who is at the peak of his form, also put on an exciting bout, in which he stopped Dick Stahl, of Germany. Yvon really went to work on the young teuton, who had riled him by refusing to take a one fall match and demanded two out of three falls. Robert gave Stahl such a bad beating during the first fall that he was unable to answer the bell for the second.

In the semi-final, also billed for one fall to a finish, Jesse James battles the Black Mask in what should be one of the cleverest exhibitions of real wrestling of the season. Both men are adroit in the use of a variety of holds and shun the unorthodox style of grappling.

Two newcomers are slated to appear in the supporting card. Tony Colesano, good-looking young Italian gets a real test in his first showing for he tangles with the rough and ready Jim Austeri, one of his countrymen. Ede Virag, Hungarian champion, is assisted in his debut by Sheriff Tom Hanley. The other two prelims, all billed for one-half hour, pairs Hans Schwartz with John Gudiski in what should be one of the wildest bouts of the season, and Irish Paddy Mack with Angelo Caruso.

Hilltop A. C. Defeats Newark Rams, 8-0

The Hilltop A. C. won its second game of the season, against a heavier team, the Rams, North Newark, Sunday. The score was 8-0.

During the first half both teams played good defensive and offensive ball.

Joe Costa took the ball on the kickoff, in the third quarter, and ran forty yards before he was stopped. The Hilltops lost the ball on downs, but later the excellent kicking of Tony Brindisi had the Rams three yards from their goal. Scolorchio of the Rams then tried a wide right end sweep, but A. Paul broke through and brought him down for a touchback, this was the first score of the game.

In the latter part of the fourth quarter the Hilltops marched down to the Rams forty-five yard line. On the next play Boniface threw a beautiful thirty-yard pass and Nick Altieri was on the receiving end to go over the goal for the final score. Boniface tried to convert for the extra point, but missed by inches. The game ended with the Rams back on their own two yard line.

BELLOWING ABOUT BELLEVILLE

By JACOB LEVINE
Class 1938, Belleville High School

Your side-kick certainly was bellowing his head off last Saturday, as eleven cagey scrappers took the bloom out of Bloomfield and walked away with a physical, moral, all-around victory over Bloomfield's snarling (?) Bengals.

We mentioned something, last week, about Belleville's lack of confidence in its football team. But after an eye-ful of Saturday's spectacle—Yer honor, the prosecution rests!

We have no further cause to complain about Belleville's spirit. Everyone turned out in droves and cheered their respective heads off! The Belleville team that kicked the stuffings out of an amazed Bloomfield eleven, drove ever forward—because they knew you were behind them.

Hats off to our splendid football team and to you; you were aces.

Seen On The Field.

While Belleville was holding its own—and then some—on the gridiron, mobs of whooping, frenzied spectators marched before us in gaudy review. Here and there, we caught glimpses of Belleville citizens—caught them with arms waving, cheering with mouths open, rattling rattles, blowing horns—Belleville cheering its heart out!

Here are some we couldn't help but see—

George Heimrich, first class private in the air corps, home on leave from Mitchell Field, Long Island. With him we couldn't help but notice Isabel "Sandy" Watson, curly hair and all, Mary Heimrich, sister and clerk at Belleville High, and Paula Jennings.

Mr. and Mrs. Slavin smiling their paternal smile on Eddie, as he plowed home with the bacon.

Hank Abramson and—well, we would like to know the pretty Miss on Hank's arm.

Mort Donohue, full of smiles and bearing a slightly demolished nose, recently marred in gym class.

Nutley Dukes Win From White Eagles 500 Frenzied Fans See Vandemark Score Touchdown

Before a crowd of 500 frenzied fans, the Nutley Dukes defeated the Bloomfield White Eagles, 6-0 in a football game held at Booth Park, Nutley, Sunday.

"Red" Vandemark, Belleville, was the white-haired boy who scored the touchdown for the Nutley Dukes, by intercepting a forward pass and running thirty yards for a score. Vandemark scored in the opening minutes of the game. His kick for the extra point was blocked.

The Nutley Dukes threatened to score in the fourth quarter after successive line bucks by Jim Richardson, Joe Latruglio and Red Vandemark had placed the ball within scoring distance, only to lose the ball on downs.

Andy Walker, Red Wilson and Sam Speciale of the Dukes did Trojan-like work on the line. Eddie O'Neill played well in the back field.

The Nutley Dukes will play next Sunday at 2:30 P. M. at Booth Park.

SCENE IN BELL BOY-BENGAL GAME

Bill Geyer, Bloomfield ball carrier, stopped short by a determined Belleville defense. The game ended in a scoreless tie, one of the biggest upsets in years in scholastic circles.

Bell Boys To Play Bayonne Gridders

Belleville High School's football team tomorrow plays Bayonne High School at Bayonne in one of the toughest games the Bellboys will encounter this season. Last week Bayonne defeated Paterson East Side High School, 20-0.

One of the worst maladies that Coach Frank Smith will have to watch for, is that perennial sickness known as "over confidence, or swell headitis."

This would naturally follow in the wake of such a game as the Belleville team put up last Saturday with Bloomfield.

The team was all "pepped up" for the Bloomfield game and it is hoped that there will be no let down in the aggressiveness when it meets Bayonne.

However, there is every confidence in Coach Smith's ability to handle his boys with discretion and acumen so that there will be no easing up of training regulations or in practice sessions.

As far as memory serves, Belleville has never played Bayonne in football before. Bayonne is rated high in athletics, and the local "Zebrais" have no easy game on their hands.

Assistant Football Coach Leonard Kachel has done Trojan-like work in assisting Coach Smith in handling the players and he has become very popular on the football field and also in the school.

His co-mentor Herman Wische, is not far behind Mr. Kachel in popularity, and he is well known for his basketball prowess when he played on the Belleville team in the Essex County League.

Here's hoping that the Belleville team turns in a victory tomorrow.

This is the announcement sent out by President Edgar M. Conynon, who says "this will afford townspeople an opportunity to see at first hand how the bureau works."

He Had His Spurs on When He Fell

The next time Bill Fabian, popular member of the Shade Tree Department goes on a venture of rescuing a pussy from a tree, he will not take his spurs along.

Bill "almost broke his neck" when he attempted to climb a large tree with the spurs, only to find that he could not hold on to the tree with his hands or arms, causing him to tumble a small distance.

The cat's meow softened the heart of Bill and he went back to the shade tree garage, obtained a ladder and ascended the tree in a different manner.

He rescued the cat after much persuasion on Bill's part and ladylike resistance on the part of the kitten.

County To Install Three Traffic Lights

The County Engineering Department has agreed to install three new traffic lights, according to Commissioner George R. Gerard. A fourth of the cost is to be borne by the municipality.

The lights, which are expected to be installed soon, will be located at the Belleville entrance to the Rutgers street bridge, at Union avenue and Mill street, and Belmont avenue and Franklin street in the Silver Lake section.

According to Chief Spatz of the police department, three fatal accidents have occurred at the Silver Lake crossing and several at the Mill street corner, which is the Belleville entrance to Branch Brook park.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1937

We must divest ourselves of faith in magic as a way out of our difficulties—Glenn Frank.

CORRECTING PART OF AN EDITORIAL

The News regrets that in an editorial last Friday it stated that Public Service Corporation had arranged a deal with the Essex County Park Commission, whereby the corporation had transferred to the Park body land near the old Main street reservoirs in exchange for land elsewhere. In justice, therefore, to a wrong done Public Service Corporation in this statement, which was printed in good faith, following a talk with an official, whose explanation of the situation was misconstrued by us, we make this correction in equally as prominent manner. The company, we were informed this week by John L. O'Toole, vice-president, never owned the land in question. The fact of the matter is the land was owned by the City of Newark, which city made the transfer. Public Service has not asked for it, but in the spirit of fair play, we offer this correction—as a result of an unintentional error on our part. While we do not agree with Public Service, for instance, that Belleville should pay ten cents to ride to Newark or vice versa, it is not our intention to wrongly accuse the corporation of something it has not done. Even the five-cent fare is debatable, as facts in Guardian's column today disclose.

What we said about the transfer should and does apply to the City of Newark. When we said the Essex County Park Commission had stuck its finger in Belleville's eye—we meant just that—and when we said that its hand had been stuck into the town's pocket for most of the available and best land here, we meant just that. We don't take back one part of the editorial, which dealt with the gobbling up of Belleville's best assessable land for purposes that deprive the town of taxes. We mean all the park land, golf course and land occupied by the Essex County Hospital for Contagious Diseases at Soho. It's all non-assessable-fine for the county, but detrimental to the financial operation of Belleville. The least the Park Commission could do now is to give Belleville, as rapidly as possible, its river parkway, as proposed. Let's get some kind of shake in this deal.

PROTECT THE TOWNSPEOPLE

The mad rush of persons from Clearman Field following the exciting termination of last week's football game between the local and Bloomfield High School teams brings to mind something of serious import. The entrance and exit at the field is entirely inadequate and, unless something is done about it, a serious accident will occur. In fact the crush at the gate last Saturday almost bordered just that.

It is difficult to constrain enthusiasm at a football game and especially one such as was staged Saturday, but, and it is a big BUT, thought should be given to protection of life and limb of those, who attend games at the field.

On many occasions (notably one which comes to mind was the Fourth of July celebration) there have been thousands of persons trying to get through the gate at once—and the gate just about permits one person to pass at a time.

The school authorities by taking this tip would save themselves much blame and criticism if they were to provide large gates at strategic points along the fence, gates which could be closed except as exits. Not only would blame and criticism be spared, but probably a life. The time to lock the barn door is before the horse is stolen.

NOT BELLEVILLE'S FAULT

The deprecations Saturday night of some over-enthusiastic youngsters in the name of "football" received some very caustic criticism from many townsfolk, after the 0-0 game with Bloomfield, especially among those affected by the pranks. The blame can not be laid entirely at Belleville's door, a survey discloses.

We were young once ourselves, but we fail to see anything to be gained by the senseless breaking of windows in a school, not remotely connected with Bloomfield High School, the tearing out of the earth of flower bulbs, which a resident here had carefully planted and nurtured all summer, or the sending in of a false fire alarm.

The student body of the high school has voiced its disapproval and is to be complimented.

Of course, those not affected by the destructive mischief of the boys will pass it off as a side incident to the big game. But many town residents will remember, with vindictiveness, the mischief these boys have done, some of whom are said to live in other municipalities.

Those responsible, whoever they are, could have set a fine example for other nearby towns had they accepted the moral victory in a more dignified and sporting manner. To be imbued with enthusiasm is one thing—to be a rowdy, another. We doubt that Belleville high school had any part in the rowdyism.

MORE ON THE PIKE

Get the Pike open!

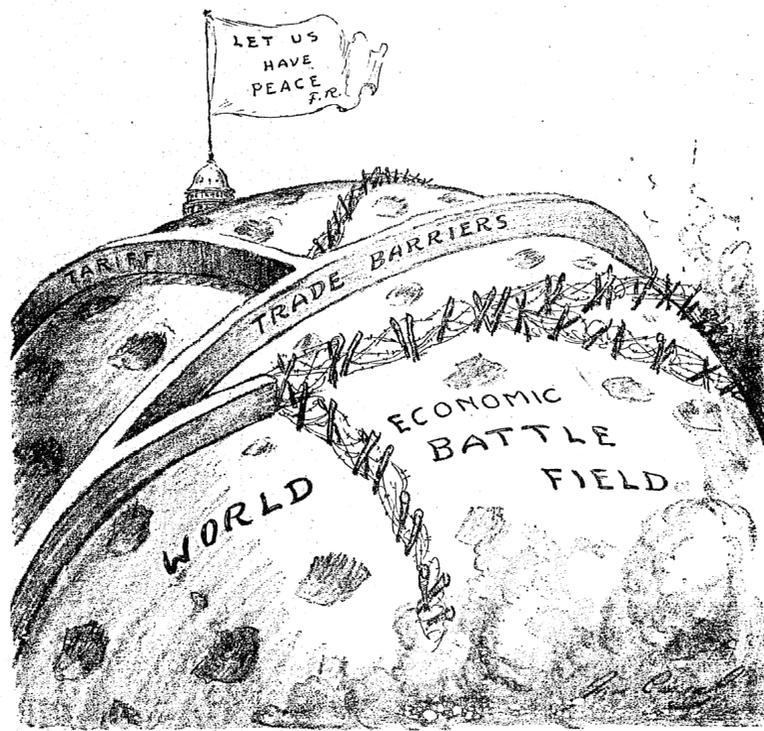

This editorial in the Belleville News a few weeks ago, just before Labor Day, may have had something to do with the announcement by State Highway Commissioner E. Donald Sterner that the newly constructed turnpike through Kearny, Hudson County, will be opened about October 15.

At any rate the announcement has been made and, since the editorial in this newspaper, other papers have followed with similar editorials, notably the Bloomfield Independent Press, last Friday.

Recently, too, this newspaper editorially pressed down quite hard on the closing of Rutgers street bridge for repairs, over the Labor Day holiday—"of all times." The county said it would take about eight days to complete the job. It took less.

But, the pike opening date is another thing. It depends upon favorable weather. In keeping with the editorial, in which this newspaper pointed out a loss of thousands of dollars a day to motorists who are forced to detour, every effort will be made to have the thoroughfare placed in use as quickly as possible.

ANOTHER ARMISTICE DAY NEEDED

THIS WEEK

By "GUARDIAN"

Senator Black is now Justice Black and though the newspaper reports said that none of his colleagues looked at him or spoke to him on the opening session of the Supreme Court, nevertheless he is on the bench and probably too much has been said and written about it already. We promise that this will be our last comment—but Justice Black must have undergone a revolutionary change in thinking in the years that elapsed between his taking the oath as a Kluxer and the oath as a Justice of the Supreme Court. Though this is our last word on the subject, we venture the opinion that it is not the country's last word.

Let's not go off half-cocked on this 5c fare business for Belleville. It's easy to take hold of an issue and ride it, but we must be reasonable about it. There are 21 different 5c zones in the Essex Division of the Public Service Transportation system. The shortest 5c zone is two and a half miles on the Central Avenue route—the longest 5.7 miles on the Port Newark route—but both of these are entirely within the confines of the City of Newark. The average mileage of all of these zones is 3.988 miles. The mileage on the Broad Street line from Broad and Market Streets in Newark to the North Newark line on Washington Avenue is 4.41 miles with almost as much more mileage for the same fare, in the other direction toward Irvington. We are not taking issue at the moment as to how far 5c zones should be extended—if they should be extended beyond City lines—but we are pointing out that in all justice, should the 5c zone be extended in the case of Belleville, it should be extended in a great many other sections and that that can only be done with the consent of the Public Utilities Commission after taking into consideration the total revenues and operating expenses of the Public Service Transportation Company.

To be sure New York City has had many political campaigns based on the continuance of the 5c fare but they have continued 5c fares in New York City only through making up the deficit out of public tax funds which everybody pays. Let us be reasonable and sensible about it—and that can only be done by getting the facts and taking a good look at them. Then we will let reason guide our actions—not sentiment. Published elsewhere in this issue are the 5c fare zones of the Public Service Transportation Company in the Essex Division.

Vandalism by Belleville school boys after the football tie last week with Bloomfield, brought front page headlines in the Newark Sunday papers, with resulting unfavorable comment about Belleville. We have been preaching the necessity of favorable comment and have been commending our Town Commission and officials upon our success in bringing Belleville into a brighter place in the sun of municipalities in this area.

There does not seem to be any justification for the accusation nor for the headlines. The President of the Board of Education and the principal of the high school have made a careful investigation of the vandalism that occurred at the Essex County Vocational School in Bloomfield last Saturday evening and have failed to find any evidence that a single Belleville student played the slightest part. We know that the investigation they have conducted is thorough and genuine and we chose to take their word. Possibly we can ask our neighboring papers to be a bit more careful in their investigations before making unjustifiable reports.

Never has Belleville reached its Welfare Federation goal. The top was 82.3% in 1931—the bottom, 60.1% in 1933. The average contribution per person from Belleville during the six years that the Federation campaign has been run is 47.3 cents per capita. Think of it! That is the lowest per capita contribution that we have been able to find any record in the statistics furnished by the National Council of the Community Chests. It gives every resident of the community room for thought. It gives the officials of the Community Chest, and of the member agencies room for thought also for certainly they have not sold to the residents of this community their need nor the job they are doing for the people of Belleville. Let's hope that in the few weeks intervening before the campaign, the whole subject will be fully presented to the residents of our Township. Yours for Belleville, "GUARDIAN"

Voice of the People

Anent Appointment.

Editor News:

Our Mayor has again demonstrated, by his appointment of Charles Watson to the Department of Revenue and Finance, his determination to keep his promise to the people of Belleville, to conduct the town's business in a business-like manner. My friend and your friend, Bill Williams, certainly sacrificed political prestige in this appointment. The position was important enough to start a train of applicants to the Mayor's office, many of them the boys that get the vote, so dear to the heart of a politician but, the Mayor again, as in the past, picked a man of proven experience with practically no political connections, proving that he has and will continue to manage the Department of Revenue and Finance the same way a successful private business would be managed.

The writer wonders just how many Belleville people have noticed the dignified, efficient and business-like manner in which the town's affairs have been conducted in the past few years. I am sure it would be gratifying to many to see and to know that Belleville is rapidly becoming New Jersey's outstanding municipality.

I would like to assure the people that I am in a position to know what I am talking about, as I had the opportunity of working with the State auditors on the town's 1935-36 audit, and for those not familiar with the workings of an audit, particularly one conducted by State auditors, let me say that they bring out, neglect, mistakes, and poor management like a sore thumb, and there is no covering up the facts found. They are open to any one in the state interested enough to want to see them. I not only know from personal experience, but have the word of the State auditors that Belleville is one of the leading and, in many cases, the outstanding municipality of New Jersey in efficiency and successful management of its financial affairs.

These conditions exist only because the Mayor had the will and determination to run his department the same as he would a private business. He surrounded himself with employees obtained for their experience and efficiency rather than for their political connections and, in this, he has certainly succeeded. The writer knows and is confident in saying that the office staff in the Department of Revenue and Finance are as competent and efficient as that of any in private industry. Another of the Mayor's noticeable accomplishments is the Board of Education. No words of mine are adequate to do justice to that body of loyal citizens. The fact that our Belleville school system is today second to none is a monument to their untiring efforts and hard work.

Of course, my actual experience was limited to the Department of Revenue and Finance. However, my observation and daily contacts with the other four departments left a fine impression with me and convinced me of their loyalty and efficiency also.

There was a time when I was of the opinion and, I know many people today who suffer the same opinion, that the town hall was a political club, where the boys met once in a while and went through the motions of conducting the town's business. I received the surprise of my life and I can assure anyone of the same opinion, that if they will visit the town hall any time during business hours that they will change their idea. They will find a modern work shop conducted in a workmanlike manner and one they will be proud to tell the world about.

JOSEPH RUSSELL

Undisciplined Youth.

Editor News:

A significant display of undisciplined youth was staged at Clearman Field after last Saturday's Bloomfield game.

A display, which reflected not too creditably on the efficiency of our police department, was a mar on the home training of many of the inconsiderate hoodlums who, without respect or thought for women and children, surged toward the inadequate exits, pushing and crushing those caught in the narrow aisle leading to the street.

To make matters worse, a human battering ram in the form of a goal post propelled by a row of common ruffians, apparently unable to distinguish between clean sportsmanship and low-browed ignorance, plowed through the unmovable mass without a thought for the rights, to say nothing of the safety, of women and children.

Conditions warrant exuberance, but they never warrant ruffianism. J. ALDEN DE RONDE, 195 Holmes Street, Belleville.

PIQUANT POLITICS

By MEADOR WRIGHT

IT IS no secret that Republican leaders are alarmed at the startling apathy of voters, with the election only three weeks off. There are few meetings, little press comment and no discernible general interest among G. O. F. devotees. Democratic workers are plugging hard for A. Harry Moore. Efforts are being made in every county of the state to bring out a landslide vote for the Jersey City orator, but if there is any counter effort being made by Republicans, I have failed to discover it.

It is hard to imagine a candidate as alert and potentially popular as Dr. Clee going down to a defeat as ignominious as those that befell David Baird and Hamilton F. Kean. But unless enthusiasm mounts higher than it appears likely to do at this writing, such a defeat is by no means impossible.

Personally, I do not expect to see the Democrats carry Essex County, either for Senator Moore or the county ticket. But I think the chances of that happening are far greater than of Clee's being elected Governor. At any rate, these chances are enough to impel Republican leaders in Essex to do their utmost to get out the vote.

All things being equal, the local Republican ticket is stronger than that of the Democrats. Particularly as regards candidates for the important freeholder posts do Republicans have the advantage. Ralph W. DeCamp, present director of the board, has always been one of the best vote-getters. Anthony P. Miele of East Orange is likewise considered a strong candidate, and may very easily be high man of his party. The third member of the slate, Mrs. Everett Colby, is not likely to run far behind her colleagues.

On the Democratic slate, only Leo P. Carlin looms as a potentially strong candidate. Carlin has influential local backing, and for this reason is likely to run several thousand votes ahead of his two colleagues, Sidney Simandl and Dr. Ames L. Filippone.

The two general assembly slates are not far apart in the appeals they may be expected to make to the voters. The Republican slate is made up of substantially the same group that was defeated (with one exception) last fall. Assistant Corporation Counsel Raymond Schroeder of Newark brings a distinct personal following to the ticket. This was proved by the primary returns, where he was high man, although number six in the grouping.

The recent publicity given the purchasing bureau of the county government is an excellent build-up for the three Republican freeholder candidates. For this and other reasons, I would expect the Democratic freeholder trio, with the possible exception of Carlin, to run several thousand votes behind the rest of the ticket. This happened in 1931, but then the Moore victory was so sweeping that every Democratic candidate was elected.

I look for a Moore victory again this year, but because of Dr. Clee's local popularity, this potential sweep may very well miss Essex.

As far as the state-wide campaign for Governor is concerned, the attitude of Harold G. Hoffman's followers is the most disturbing to Republican strategists. Clee's casual remarks before a labor group in Paterson mostly C. I. O. devotees, has been the cause of much mouth-to-mouth criticism by the more conservative group of Republicans. This talk, reaching almost the proportions of a whispering campaign, intimates that Clee has taken a radical attitude toward labor. Whether such whispering will hurt or help him remains to be seen.

But it is certain now that Hoffman's friends are not going to give Clee much aid and comfort. These close friends of the Governor have one paramount aim: to get control of the party machinery preparatory to winning the gubernatorial nomination for him in 1940.

How successful these efforts will be may very well rest on how successful Hoffman is in rehabilitating himself in Essex. In the recent primaries, Essex produced 85,982 Republican votes for Clee and Powell. At the same time, the nine counties of Warren, Sussex, Salem, Ocean, Hunterdon, Cape May, Cumberland, Somerset and Gloucester produced only 55,750 votes. In the presidential election last fall, these nine counties gave the Republican and Democratic candidates only 216,553 votes to 315,848 cast in Essex. This indicates this county's importance.

The greatest political error that Governor Hoffman has made has been the ignoring of Essex in matters of patronage and legislative recognition. An example of this neglect is furnished by the judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals. Not a single one of the 16 justices of this highest court in the state comes from Essex, yet Hoffman has made three appointments to it since his term as Governor began. The unfortunate death of Justice Elsie Cole of Sussex County throws one more appointment to this court in the lap of the Governor. Whether he will ignore Essex this time, as he has in the past, remains to be seen.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

That the Congress will do most of its own legislating, come next January or possibly before, is an expanding probability in the Capitol city.

The current note is being sounded by Representative John J. O'Connor, of New York, chairman of the potent House rules committee, and his plan is finding wide favor.

Mr. O'Connor would end the custom of having most of the legislative drafting service done in downtown departments by young and inexperienced legal employees.

He proposed to form a Congressional drafting committee composed of members of both the House and Senate.

One idea behind this proposal is that a Congressional drafting service would be much more likely to write laws that will stand up in the courts. It would be a group of young legal lights in government departments who never had any personal legislative experience and who had never been renowned for their legal ability before they went to work for the federal government.

The Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage bill is frequently cited in this connection. The original bill, drafted hurriedly, was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

Mr. O'Connor says of his plan: "If we are going to pass a lot of new laws, let's write them carefully so they will stand the tests of the courts."

But more important to most of the veterans of Capitol Hill is the determination to enact measures dictated by their own judgment and by their constituency—to break away from the "rubber stamp" approval of quickly drafted "emergency" measures.

Farm bills, the majority of which were written by department lawyers, can into this feeling last session. Most Congressmen who were lawyers themselves with years of legislative or legal experience, thought they were unconstitutional. In fact some do not yet see how they can write constitutional bills embodying Secretary Wallace's aims.

Another example of how little attention was paid to some of the administration's "must" legislation before the Congress staged its revolt at the close of the last session, was the bill which cut the gold content of the dollar. No public hearings worthy of the name were held. After the bill passed the House, a leading member of the House Coinage Committee, who supported it on the floor, admitted he hadn't even read it.

Strangely, the House Coinage Committee, which started the rubber stamping vogue, also began the trend toward restoration of legislative powers to the Capitol. What happened was that the Coinage Committee members took a hearty "razzing" for their lack of understanding of the gold dollar bill.

Determined not to be "caught short" again, the committee took itself to task when the Treasury sent up a bill asking authorization for the issuance of fractional coins less than one cent in value to be used to pay sales taxes in several states—and pondered the measure more carefully. The result was that the measure was pigeonholed.

Raymond E. Mertz Has Built Hundreds Of Homes Here Since World War

Realtor and Builder Had Large Part in Building Better Type Homes in Greylock Section

Raymond E. Mertz, who has just completed for himself and family one of the best homes in Belleville at 10 Van Reyper place, has had a part in building up a great portion of this town. Many hundreds of homes have been constructed by him since the World War in Greylock and surrounding sections.

"Just at present we are marking time," he said yesterday when interviewed as regards building operations in Belleville. Of late he has built several homes in the hill section, west of Union avenue near Joralemon street.

Mr. Mertz, who was born in Newark, moved here at an early age and has lived here ever since. He attended Belleville schools and was a student at Rutgers College when the United States entered the war. He enlisted in the R. O. T. C., and was transferred with a group of Rutgers young men to Camp Lee, where he began training for a commission.

After the war he worked in Wall street for about three years and then entered the building business, in which he has been actively engaged ever since.

In the SPOTLIGHT

After a week of celebration over Belleville's victory, we light our Spotlight again and search.

With a mighty surge the gridiron gladiators of Belleville High School held their deadly Bloomfield rivals to a scoreless tie. When one figures the inequality in weight and experience, Belleville really won. In other words last Saturday's game was a moral victory for the home town boys.

Good luck, boys. May you finish the season in a blaze of undefeatable glory.

We stated the excellence of Belleville's coaching staff in our column last week. Do you readers believe us now? If not for Mr. Smith, Mr. Wische, Mr. Kachel and Mr. Wineka, the newspapers might have written this kind of headline, "Bloomfield runs rough shod over Belleville."

A crying need for Newark and her neighboring towns is vaudeville. Great evidence of vaudeville's intense popularity has been proven by the occasional presentation of "Live Entertainment" in a few theatres. Only a week or so ago a well known orchestra held a week's stay in a downtown movie house. The crowds were of a great number and enjoyment derived could never be surpassed by the average moving picture. Is that not proof enough of vaudeville's popularity?

If our "Spotlight" column is read by some person who can remedy the latter situation, we urge a change. Canned entertainment (movies, etc.) is enjoyable but you can't beat vaudeville.

One of America's major radio companies is at present sponsoring a weekly radio series that is quite worthy of note. The object of the program is to discover whether such a thing as mental telepathy is existent. To prove the practicability of their experiments, the sponsors claim that most of the important inventions and discoveries were laughed at before they were proven of use, but it is hard for us to believe the probability of their attempts. We go so far, in fact, that we call it well nigh impossible. Even with those two faults the program is a good one and it is a fact that it will hold the listener's attention.

Over zealousness on the part of a few thoughtless individuals has brought great defamation to Belleville High School's honor. When the home team tied last Saturday, a group of over enthusiastic people caused much damage to Bloomfield property. What the intentions of the vandals were is unknown, but they did spoil a great deal of Belleville's joy.

If anyone knows of the culprits they would accomplish a good deed by telling Hugh D. Kittle, principal of Belleville High School, about them.

Indian summer is approaching, and with it, the advent of many tourists to country lanes and forest paths. The multiple hued leaves on stately trees are symbolic of the season.

In time white snow will fleck the trees. The leaves will disappear and Old Man Winter will be head man again.

Rabbi Rubin Dobin of the Congregation A. A. A. of Belleville, sponsored an affair Wednesday night that is the first of its kind in New Jersey's history.

You all must have read accounts of the Jewish Institute. Dr. Lester Clee, Wayne R. Parmer and other noted men participated.

Here's looking forward to many more similar occasions.

Son Born.

A son, Robert, was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Conaham of the Fairview apartments, 580 Washington avenue, at the Presbyterian Hospital.

Seen About Town

At the park there was also a man who was "buried alive" for two weeks. He was called "Beano."

Perry's raft, at the foot of Holmes street on the Passaic River was a meeting place for the young bloods of Belleville about forty years ago. Oliver H. Perry owned a rowboat tied to the raft. Rev. Cornelius Abbott, rector of the Christ Episcopal Church had a cedar skiff. Dr. Bob McDonald owned a naptha launch.

Young boys of the town, who are men now, tell of catching lizards at Blue Jay Pond which is about where Greylock parkway and Linden avenue is now.

The Essex Hose Company auxiliary was an active organization in bygone days, and was composed of candidates for the fire company. Some of its members were William Cassidy, John and Joseph Hozack. The Eastwood Hose Company auxiliary included among its members, James Donahue, Ed Matnes, William Scaine, Richard "Dixie" Scaine, Harry Donnelly, Morris Cahill, Charles Murphy, Herman Solky, Thomas Ward, and John Cullen.

Ike Rosenblock, who kept a store many years ago at William and Cortland streets, had a sign on his window which read, "Home Ice Made Cream."

In the good old days, the bridge tender's house, at the Passaic River bridge, in this town, carried a sign which read, "nine miles to Jersey City, and nine miles to Paterson." The trip to Jersey City must have been a long one in those days.

Bob Riceman was a pigeon fancier and his homing pigeons won many prizes.

The Capital A. C., in years past, have put on some great baseball, basketball and football teams. The members of the team were, Daniel Brude, Charles Christell, Malcom Lamb, Arthur Bloemeke, Harry Knab, Edward O'Neil, Richard O'Neil, Warren Knight, Danny Dunn, Carl Wittish and Manager Art Knab.

Among the dime novels appearing in this vicinity, forty years ago were, "King Brady," "Diamond Dick," "Jesse James," "Frank Merriwell," "Pluck and Luck," "Liberty Boys of '76," and "Frank Ready."

Tom Williams, a former hobo, was well-known in the eighties and nineties, as a friend of Charles Eline.

The pinochle season opened Wednesday night at the Fire Headquarters, with Battalion Chief William Cullen and Arthur Knab opposed to Mike Carr and William "Becky" Gilchrist. The team of Cullen and Knab defeated their opponents by an overwhelming score.

Legion Starts

Friend Movement

Belleville Post Will Appoint Director and Assistant In Work

Frank V. Lanzara, 141½ Clifton avenue, Newark, senior vice-commander of Newark Post, 10, American Legion, was appointed by Essex County Commander William J. Doyle, as county director for the American Legion friend movement. Lanzara holds a similar office as director in his post.

The movement, sponsored by Common Pleas Judge, Richard Hartshorne, is for the American Legion members to make immediate contact with persons who, having ran afoul of the law, and, after investigation, are considered proper to be placed on probation by their respective judges to whom they must appear.

Volunteers selected from American Legion posts for this work will cooperate with judges of the Common Pleas, Juvenile Courts, County Probation Office and Federal judges in appropriate cases. Each case will be studied with the view of selecting a Legionnaire, who is best suited to make friends with the probationer. Active contact with the probationer by the Legionnaire will be arranged until the probationer is fully rehabilitated in mind and body. This pioneer work of a fascinating, difficult and constructive nature by the American Legion will be one of the major programs of opportunity in character building. Judge Hartshorne is a past county and state commander of the American Legion and chairman of its law and order committee.

Lanzara, since 1929, has been assigned as parole officer at the Newark City Home, and for the past eight years, has rendered efficient service beneficial to Essex County and the City of Newark parole work. During the World War he served with Company E, 312th Infantry, 78th Division. In 1916 he saw service on the Mexican border with the First New Jersey Infantry, National Guard of New Jersey. He is married and has two children.

Belleville Post 105, American Legion and auxiliary will appoint a director and assistant in this work.

WRITE BITS

By John E. Smith

CAN YOU?

When your work for the day you have faithfully done, Are you ready for play, Recreation, or fun?

With the burdens and cares, Conscientiously borne, Can you drop these affairs, Or are you too much worn?

Can you draw a line there, Between labor and rest, And at just the point where, For your own good it's best? Can you put heart and soul In your work, without fret, By means of self-control, Then relax, and forget?

Do you know when to start, And as well, when to quit, Fully doing your part, And still keeping as fit? Do you know how to shake All the cares you've been thru, And enjoy a fresh break That is coming to you?

Thru the strife and the grind, As the days hurry by, Is an orderly mind Yours on which to rely? Can you drop worries, fears, As you hustle along, And as evening appears, Sing a glad, cheerful song? Life's strain, can you take it? Its fret, can you shake it? Worry, can you stop it? And care, can you drop it?

Everyman's Class Looking Forward to Interesting Season

Red and Blue Generals Marshall Forces for Membership Drive

What purports to be a most interesting season of Every Man's Bible Class started last Sunday morning at Masonic Temple, under the guidance of the class' new president, John Ellsworth.

A spirited enthusiasm on the part of the Red General, Dalkymple, and Blue General, Bunting, implies a most interesting contest of membership for this year.

The large attendance at the start is a tribute to class speaker Mr. Trantor and the interest of the men of Belleville in the lessons he brings to them each Sunday morning.

The cabinet of Every Man's Bible Class extends a cordial welcome to all men of Belleville to meet with them next Sunday in their second session.

"We think this class a wonderful thing for Belleville men. Come out and get your opinion. Sing your favorite songs for the joy of singing, mix with your neighbors for the satisfaction of spontaneous friendliness; enjoy the informal worship of Christian service as applied to your work-a-day world.

"Get the habit, set a good example for your children whom you drive to church or Sunday School by doing the same thing as you would have them do," says Christian P. Hansen, publicity chairman.

When Calvary's Cross I think about, And what the Saviour bore, To Him my heart with love goes out, I want to love Him more.

How great the sacrifice He made, Sinners can never know, How much they gained through debt He paid, Eternity will show.

I find in Him my only plea, But feel that plea secure, My Saviour bled on Calvary, To make Redemption sure.

My Father, may Thy blessing rest On kind friends granted me, May each find that dear friend their best, Whose blood stained Calvary.

Local Pastor's Aunt Composes Poem On Occasion of Her 105th Birthday

Beautiful Basket of Flowers Presented to Rev. and Mrs. John A. Struyk's Relative by President Roosevelt

Rev. and Mrs. John A. Struyk have just returned from a visit with their aunt, Miss Margaret Lumley, in Freys' Bush, New York, near the home of Owen D. Young, Van Hornsville. Miss Lumley celebrated her 105th birthday on September 26. She presented the Struyks with a poem which she composed as follows:

Forget Not All His Benefits, My Heavenly Father, poor today I feel my thanks to Thee, For blessings all along life's way, So many granted me.

One hundred-five years I've had Thy care, Those years Thou gavest me, So trials come to all to bear, But help is found in Thee.

Along life's pathway, dangers lie, Unseen, how oft we'd fall, Did not a Father lead us by, Who knows and sees them all.

My Father, little known to me How great the debt I owe! A debtor all these years to Thee 'Tis more than I can know.

I cannot know and could not pay But that was known to Thee, Thy love and mercy made a way And granted me a plea.

I plead no merit of my own, I could not make such plea, For all my life to Thee is known—No thought is hid from Thee.

The plea, though granted, I will make, I trust in that alone, The Saviour suffered for my sake, Did for my sins atone.

The sinner needs no other plea, That Saviour is divine, But only faith and love from me Can make that Saviour mine.

When Calvary's Cross I think about, And what the Saviour bore, To Him my heart with love goes out, I want to love Him more.

How great the sacrifice He made, Sinners can never know, How much they gained through debt He paid, Eternity will show.

I find in Him my only plea, But feel that plea secure, My Saviour bled on Calvary, To make Redemption sure.

My Father, may Thy blessing rest On kind friends granted me, May each find that dear friend their best, Whose blood stained Calvary.

Lincoln Theatre Has Latest Heating Plant

Balmy June Weather For Patrons at Playhouse All Winter

During the past month the latest heating system and equipment, devised by science, has been installed in the Lincoln Theatre for the coming winter season in order to give to all patrons the most comfortable and unvarying temperature throughout the day. This is accomplished by a new device known as the Chronotherm, which is an electric clock, maintaining "leveled heat" constantly, and through the exclusive Minneapolis-Honeywell "heat acceleration," provides the perfect winter comfort desired by all theatre patrons. The new burners installed were specially designed for the Lincoln Theatre and, through these plans, whether the outside conditions be most frigid and uncomfortable, a show may be enjoyed in June home-parlor like atmosphere and naturally a constant source of enjoyment for all. It is the desire of the management that a constant study for improvements will be made to continually keep the Lincoln Theatre the "friendly theatre" of all.

Skimmed Milk Used To Whiten Surface

Frozen water is generally the accepted formula for a skating rink, but technicians engaged in creating a rink for scenes in the Twentieth Century-Fox musical marvel, "Thin Ice," starring Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power, which opens Sunday at the Capitol Theatre, discovered something was wrong, photographically, with the ice. One technician conceived the idea of mixing skimmed milk with water to be iced. Accordingly, sixteen cows, working full time, produced the milk which colored the studio-made ice rink. The surface was made whiter and less reflective of studio lights. Each day, during the production of the picture, ten thousand gallons of water and skimmed milk unfit for drinking because it had been robbed of its butter fat and cream, were mixed and poured with maternal tenderness over the old icy surface.

Vivid Romance of Peddler Who Rose To Wall St. Top

The romance of a calico peddler, whose rise to such financial eminence that he threatened to corner all of the gold in the United States in an effort to corner the affections of a girl, is dramatically portrayed in "The Toast of New York," starring Edward Arnold, Cary Grant, Frances Farmer and Jack Oakie, showing today and tomorrow at the Lincoln.

The photoplay is based on events in the career of Jim Fisk, one of the pioneer financial moguls of this country, whose legerdemain in the money marts still reads like fascinating fiction. No less amazing is Fisk's unconventional love for Josie Mansfield, a bewitching siren upon whom, in the photoplay he squanders a fortune in an effort to make her the leading actress of her day. Arnold in the role of Fisk and Frances Farmer as Josie Mansfield are brought together for an encore to their success in "Come and Get It."

Supporting the leading players in prominent roles are Thelma Leeds, former radio star, who makes her film debut. Donald Meek, Paul Guilfoyle, Clarence Kolb, Douglas Woods and George Irving. The associate feature on the double bill is "The Devil is Driving," starring Richard Dix.

A District Attorney who relentlessly prosecutes the men of wealth and power, who were responsible for his office, is the principal character in this high-powered drama. Richard Dix, who has figuratively gone to the devil in his screen career as star of "Devil's Squadron," "Devil's Playground" and now "The Devil is Driving," enacts the leading role with the forthright dynamic energy which distinguishes most of his screen work. He is ably supported by an imposing cast including Joan Perry, as the prosecutor's sob-sister sweetheart, Nana Bryant, Frank C. Wilson, Henry Kolker Elisha Cook, Jr., and John Wray.

Non-Sinkable Actors Trust Hollywood to meet any emergency. Now it's non-sinkable actors! In the picturization of Rudyard Kipling's sea classic of the Gloucester fishermen, "Captains Courageous," opening Sunday at the Lincoln Theatre, Freddie Bartholomew as Harvey Cheyne, the millionaire's son, and Mickey Rooney as Dan, the captain's son, go through considerable rough weather at sea. Location sequences took Director Victor Fleming and his cast over to the channel islands and as far north as the Oregon and Washington coast. In one of the early scenes Freddie was swept overboard from a liner and rescued by Spencer Tracy as Manuel the Portuguese fisherman. Taken aboard the schooner, "We're Here," he was outfitted by Lionel Barrymore, as the captain, in oversize oilskins, sou'wester, hip boots, Rooney, as Barrymore's son, was similarly attired. Director Fleming took no chances on either boy falling overboard, either from the schooner or from its fishing dories, in the heavy boots and oilskins. Though both are fine swimmers the weight of the clothes would have been a tremendous handicap. So under their jackets each boy wore one of the new style life preservers which takes up little space but can be instantaneously inflated. Two types were tried out. The first, inflated at first just sufficiently to keep it wearer afloat, can be blown up just like the old style water-wings through a valve which is readily accessible. Fully inflated it will keep a man afloat indefinitely. The other type contains a small tube of compressed lighter-than-air gas. Pressure on a valve releases the gas into the life preserver and automatically inflates it. Both types are slipped on and worn as vests under the outer garments. Inasmuch as both boys wore oversize coats, the added bulk was not noticeable.

As the companion feature, "Wild Horton," starring Edward Everett Horton, furnishes the comedy relief on the program. And by the way, remember Wesley Barry, the freckle-faced kid who made millions laugh a generation ago? He's back in pictures—as a grown man—in this new Paul Gallico newspaper comedy, "Wes" is now in the real estate business but appears in films once in a while just to keep his hand in. He plays the role of an amateur radio operator. The cast also includes Edward Everett Horton, Lynne Overman and Louise Campbell in the leading roles.

Request Features Saturday Evening, Capitol—"Showboat," with Irene Dunne, Allen Jones, Charles Winniger and Paul Robeson. Lincoln—"Ladies of the Big House," with Sylvia Sydney and Gene Raymond.

Without waiting for television, portraying similar backstage scenes, candid camera and candid artist join talents to depict those nervous moments of respite during rehearsal of the Monday night NBC Time to Shine broadcast. In the photo inset is Lloyd Shaffer, baton poised for the signal to his musicians. The artist catches, with deft pen, the orchestra at ease; Barry McKinley, young baritone star, studying a new song, and John B. Gambling, announcer, and Lyn Murray, chorus director, discussing the script for the new show.

AMUSEMENT SECTION

At the Capitol

Tyrone Power and Sonja Henie in "Thin Ice" at the Capitol, Sunday through Tuesday.

Sonja Henie Is Proof that Champions Can Reach Tops on Silver Screen

For years it has been axiomatic that only those outside the various departments of sport could succeed. But Sonja Henie, winner of world figure-skating championships and Olympic crowns, proves beyond any doubt that a star in sports can and really does succeed in motion pictures, and proves it in "Thin Ice," Twentieth Century-Fox picture in which she is co-starred with Tyrone Power, which opens Sunday to Tuesday, at the Capitol theatre. Miss Henie is the greatest champion who has ever won film stardom. Few, however, realize the full extent of her talents as an athlete. With Olympic titles, she is generally accepted as the champion of all skaters, but the star's record goes farther than that. Not only is she recognized as the greatest figure skater in the history of ice competition; not only is she an exquisite entertainer, who dances on skates with the grace of a Pavlova; but she also is the most remarkable champion the world of sports has ever known. No other athlete in any sport can point to a record of continual championships to rival hers. Miss Henie, who won her first world figure skating championship at Oslo, Norway, when she was fourteen, has not been defeated since that time. For ten consecutive years she won championships at Oslo, London, Budapest, New York, Berlin, Montreal, Stockholm, again at Oslo, Wein, and in 1935 at Paris. At each of these international meets she was pitted against the finest skaters, and won over them with many points to spare. Never once was she closely pressed. Competition in each of the three Olympic contests she won was somewhat closer. These great international contests taxed her strength and talent to the utmost, yet it is a matter of record that no opponent came closer to her than ten points in a total perfect score of one hundred. Sonja's first picture, "One in a Million," was enthusiastically received wherever it played. Because of this signal success she was teamed with Tyrone Power in "Thin Ice."

Thus Miss Henie broke the long list of failures that historically seemed to be the fate of athletic champions. The difference between her case and theirs, however, is the fact that she is versed in many branches of sports, while they were versed in only one. When she arrived in Hollywood, producers turned deaf ears to her. They couldn't see a skating champion as a potential screen star, particularly in view of their experience with other athletes. But Miss Henie decided to force the issue. From her own purse she rented the Polar Palace, and announced she would stage two nights of exhibition skating. Tremendous crowds were on hand both nights to set a box-office record. Production chief Darryl F. Zanuck, whose genius has brought to the films the world's most popular personalities, selected Miss Henie to play in "One in a Million." The star flouted all traditions and taboos by proving unquestionably that she is not only a star in sports, but a star in pictures as well. Arthur Treacher, Raymond Walburn, Joan Davis, Sig Ruman, Alan Hale, Leah Ray, Melville Cooper, Maurice Cass, and George Givot are featured in the supporting cast of "Thin Ice," which was directed by Sidney Lanfield, with Raymond Griffith as associate producer. The screen play was written by Boris Ingster and Milton Sperling from the play "Der Komet" by Attila Orbok. Song hits include "Over Night," "My Secret Love Affair," and "My Swiss Hilly Billy" by Lew Pollack and Sidney D. Mitchell and "I'm Olga From the Volga" by Mack Gordon and Harry Revel. Associate Feature. Mickey Rooney showed that he could give direction as well as take it during the filming of Monogram's "The Hoosier Schoolboy," the associate feature.

Mickey, who is considered in Hollywood as quite an adept pianist and tap dancer, taught young Anita Denning a few steps a la Astaire and also instructed her in the art of "swing" piano playing. The lessons were given when the company wasn't working and during luncheon. Rooney is the leader of a twelve-piece orchestra and was recently signed by a leading radio network to a long term contract. Besides waving the baton in front of his band, he has also written several musical numbers. "The Hoosier Schoolboy" concerns the story of Shockey, a Hoosier schoolboy, and his shell-shocked father, Captain Fred Carter. Replete with amusing, as well as heart-stirring events of a small town in Indiana, it offers refreshing departure from the usual entertainment channels. There will be continuous performances on Tuesday, Columbus Day. Martha Raye Sings Two New Swing Tunes. Martha Raye sings two new comedy song hits in Paramount's musical romance comedy, "Double or Nothing," which opens Wednesday at the Capitol and continues through next Saturday for a four-day engagement. They are, "It's On, It's Off," and "Listen My Children." She also teams with Bing Crosby in singing "After You."

Seven topnotch songs make their debut in "Double or Nothing," three of them by Arthur Johnston and Johnny Burke, who wrote Bing Crosby's times in "Pennies from Heaven"; two by Sam Coslow and Al Siegel and two by Burton Lane and Ralph Freed. The initial cost of Japanese ju-jitsu lessons is just a fraction of the upkeep, Peter Lorre found, when he had to spend several times the cost of the wrestling course on liniment and chiropractic treatments. Lorre had to learn the technique for his role of the Japanese detective in Twentieth Century-Fox's "Think Fast, Mr. Moto," associate feature with "Double or Nothing."

At Proctor's, Newark Team Heads Cast of "Life Begins in College" Opening Today

The Ritz Brothers, one of the newest comedy teams in motion pictures, will appear in their first starring picture, "Life Begins in College," with Joan Davis, Tony Martin, Gloria Stuart, Fred Stone and Nat Pendleton, Friday at Proctor's Theatre. On the same program is "One Mile from Heaven," with Claire Trevor, Sally Blane, Douglas Fowley and Bill Robinson.

Nat Pendleton plays an Indian attending Lombardy College. On his arrival, the students, led by Dick Baldwin, haze him. Pendleton escapes to a tailor shop run by the Ritz Brothers, who have been trying to work their way through school for seven years. Nat confides to them that he has an income of $10,000 per day. The Ritzes are interested and make him a member of their fraternity. Pendleton turns out to be an excellent football player, but refuses to stay with team unless the Ritzes can play. In the big game, Pendleton is not permitted to play because he had once played with a professional team. Among the songs in the film are "Why Talk About Love," "Big Chief Swing It," "The Rhumba Goes Collegiate," "Our Team Is On The War-path," and "Sweet Varsity Sue."

"One Mile from Heaven" is the story of a newspaper woman (Miss Trevor) who discovers two mothers fighting over a child. She traces its history and learns it is the daughter of a wealthy socialite who is trying to hide this child of a former marriage.

Kay Francis Plays At Capitol Today

Actress Seems So Poised Many Doubt Ability As Sprinter Kay Francis seems so poised that many doubted the story of her college record as a 100-yard sprinter. She appears too dignified to hurry. For the information of doubters, she not only can run, but she does. In her current Warner Bros. picture, which comes to the Capitol Theatre today, she runs about a mile. "Confession" is a very serious drama, in which one would hardly expect speed trials. But there are moments—very tense ones—in which the heroine must cover lots of ground in the least possible time. For instance, one morning she wakes up in a strange apartment and knows that she must escape or lose forever her chance of happiness. This is no time for a stately exit. The heroine must get away right now. Through a long room and a longer corridor she flees. Downstairs, through another hall and into a cab. A good 150 yards in all. This scene was made nine times; the first two times because she ran too fast for the camera to hold her. Two recruits from vaudeville have important roles in "Dance, Charlie, Dance," the Warner Bros. comedy, which is the co-feature. They are Tommy Wonder of the well-known team of Tommy and Betty Wonder, and Collette Lyons, both former headliners. Miss Lyons also has a musical comedy success to her credit having been featured for a season with "Strike Me Pink" on Broadway. "Dance, Charlie, Dance" is the story of a small town boob, played by Stuart Erwin, who comes to New York and accidentally puts over a big Broadway show. Jean Muir is the feminine end of the romantic interest, with Glenda Farrell, Allen Jenkins and a large comedy cast in support. Frank McDonald directed, from a screen play by Crane Wilbur and William Jacobs. George S. Kaufman, who has authored so many Broadway comedy hits of the past few seasons, also penned "Butter and Egg Man," from which "Dance, Charlie, Dance" was adapted.
