KARLIN TELLS PUBLIC ABOUT DOCTORS

Owe Success To The Medical Profession, He Says

Karlin's Cut Rate Drug Stores at 120 and 531 Washington avenue are sponsoring a series of health talks, "Telling the Public About the Doctor," in the Belleville News. Watch this paper for the articles which will appear each week throughout the year.

"When all is said and done, we owe our past and future success to the members of the medical profession. We know many of you so well that sometimes it is like 'appreciation of our home folks'—we forget just how deeply we're obligated.

"However, when the opportunity came to us to tell the world what a lot of honest-to-goodness, hard-working and thoroughly prepared men compose the personnel of any medical group, we grasped it as a chance to do our bit.

"We sincerely hope you'll follow the campaign closely, and believe you will agree with us that these articles will be of tremendous benefit to everyone interested in ethical medical practice," says Abbott Karlin in a letter to all local doctors.

"It is astounding how few people have a concrete idea of how the doctor spends his years of schooling and internship.

"Yet, it is information everyone should have in order to understand the true value of the doctor's service to the community and to the individual.

"In the third and fourth installments of the fifty-two talks 'Telling the Public About the Doctor,' we have plainly outlined the intense study and training exacted from the doctor.

"Word has already come to us that the first seven talks of the above series, which have appeared in the Belleville News, have caused a great deal of interest among the laymen. If this attitude of appreciation of the doctor continues to grow, we shall feel that our efforts have been well rewarded."

Powder Explodes

It wasn't an arsenal moved to Belleville that rocked Washington avenue Tuesday night it was an explosion of powder in Karlin's Drug Store, 120 Washington avenue that caused the detonation and a cracked front display window.

The powder—it was a jar of face powder that took a dislike to the oppressiveness of the heat and shattered itself hither and yon about the window. Judging from remarks, as if they would do any good, the powder wasn't all that was irked by the heat, which reached tops for the summer.

CARL FLINK FILES FOR SHERIFF

Carl Flink, a native Newarker, residing at 335 Osborne terrace, with a business office located at 224 Springfield avenue, where he conducts an Insurance office and Motor Vehicle Agency, today filed petitions with the County Clerk for the office of Sheriff of Essex County with the designation "Regular Republicans."

In his early youth Mr. Flink was a Newsboy at the "Four Corners." He was an active member in the National Turn Verien where he participated in all forms of sports and during the war he was a member of Local Draft Board No. 3, having a special assignment from the Adjutant General's office.

In 1918 he was a Republican candidate for the Assembly from Essex County and is a veteran in the New Jersey Assembly where he served a number of years starting as page boy, doorkeeper, bill clerk and finally sergeant-at-arms during 1926-27-28.

He served as sergeant-at-arms for Senator Abel's legislative committee and as chief investigator for the Davis Committee.

Flink is the Standard Bearer of the association bearing his name and which has more than 1,200 members, including many district leaders throughout the County. Flink himself was a county committeeman for over fifteen years in the third and ninth wards. He is a member of the Ninth Ward Executive Committee, the Morning Club, the Elmer Herman Association, the Prince Street Boys, the Masons and the Elks. He is also President of the Trojan Building and Loan Association and has long been associated with various charitable and philanthropic organizations.

School Board Rejects Plan For Addition At No. 3 School

Finds Estimate of Cost Exceeds What Had Been Needed

Because the estimated total cost of an addition at Public School No. 3 to include gymnasium and auditorium reaches $173,650, the Board of Education at its regular meeting Monday night decided to reject the plan for the time being.

The board had hoped to get the work done for between $100,000 and $125,000 and in that connection had started the wheels turning toward a federal WPA project forty-five per cent of the cost of which would have been paid by the federal authorities, or about $35,000 if the original plan had carried through. On this basis Belleville taxpayers would have had $65,000 of the cost to assume.

Under the higher estimate—the one which was rejected—$78,000 would come from the Federal Government and Belleville would be assessed directly about $95,608.

"I don't want to saddle the taxpayers with any such amount," said President Herbert C. Schmutz. "If we had a better estimate, near the figure we anticipated, we could proceed to file the application for federal aid. As it is, I say let's not file the application. Rather, let's reject it and ask the architect to revise his plans, keeping nearer the figure we want. The cost is far beyond what we expected and when I heard of the figures at a special meeting of the board last week I was astounded. It is better to stop where we are than get something that would not be what we want."

The other board members agreed and so voted, except School Commissioner Mary Sheldon, who was absent from the meeting.

The improvement at No. 3 School has been aired for over a year. Especially has there been need for revision of the heating system and general layout as regards an auditorium. Various plans have been discussed and finally the rejected plans were drawn up.

Baseball Playoffs
The board granted the Belleville News permission to use Clearman Field three Saturday afternoons for the playoffs in the Nutley-Belleville inter-town baseball series.

Contract for supplying the schools with milk for the year were awarded Alderney Dairy Company and William Watters Dairy at three and one-half cents per half pint bottle, the same as last year.

Walter Gilby, reporting for the Building and Grounds Committee, said that all repair work in the schools would be completed by opening day of the Fall term and that the work had been done at a minimum cost. The new steps leading to the High School will soon be completed.

Public Service Coordinated Transport Company was awarded the contract for transporting pupils from Silver Lake to the High School at the rate of $3.65 per bus per day.

Leaves of absence for a year were granted Mrs. Irene F. Flanagan, fourth grade teacher, No. 5 School and Mrs. Winifred Chaffee, third grade teacher, No. 8 School. The resignation of Miss Eleanor D. J. Allison, as economics teacher in the high school, was accepted.

Homer C. Zink

Homer Zink In Limelight As County Seeks GOP Slate

Local Assemblyman Has Spurned Clean Government Label

Belleville's Assemblyman Homer C. Zink, who is in the field as senatorial timber, appears to be the central figure as regards the muddled Republican County situation.

The assemblyman, who has spurned the Clean Government label, is endeavoring to bring about harmony in Essex. So far contradictory statements as to the progress of the harmony move have been made with an independent slate being listed for the September primary, as well as talk of a Clean Government slate.

Zink last week in spurning the Clean Government slogan, said: Friday Zink said:

"Almost without exception, I have found Republicans to be tired of strife, and anxious for peace, if it can be arranged on decent, respectable terms.

"Harmony can be achieved, but it requires concessions. It does not involve a compromise of principle. There is, of course, a difference between compromising principles and merely giving up prejudices. That was clearly proved during the Constitutional Convention, back in the early days of our country.

"It is admitted by careful observers that we have plenty of work to do if we expect to win in November. Recent changes in the Democratic party in Essex will soon result in a better feeling in that organization. PWA is still a very powerful vote-getting factor, as it was in 1936, and the proposed new state bond issue will appeal to thousands of voters who want to see huge sums of money spent. There is, in—

STRIKE IS ENDED AT FRUIT PRODUCTS COMPANY PLANT

More Than 135 Workers Had Been Out Two Weeks

All is serene at the Fruit Products Company plant, 417 Cortlandt street, with about 135 workers back at their tasks following a fifteen-day strike. A contract has been renewed between the company and the United Fruit Workers' Union, Local 46, a C. I. O. affiliate.

The union and George B. Kane, president of the company, agreed upon the contract Monday night. On August 2 the plant went on strike when Salvatore Politto, president of the union, charged the company was not willing to renew a contract which had expired June 30. Kane said the company asked the National Labor Relations Board to certify the C. I. O. union as the bargaining agent for the employees.

Certification of the local was made 10 days ago in Newark, and negotiations between the union and the company were begun immediately. The principal disagreement was a union demand for a closed shop. A compromise was reached when the company objected to the closed shop because of the seasonal nature of employment and a preferential arrangement was included in the contract.

The contract gave a limited number of employees a raise in wages, although hours and wages were not disputed points. The contract contained a 60-day clause for collective bargaining.

Three women employees were arrested in the strike. Hearings in the cases of the women, charged with assaulting police, postponed twice, will be today before Recorder Smith.

DRIVER BEATEN AS HE MAKES LIQUOR DELIVERY

Attacked As He Enters Yard At Nutley Home

Beaten unconscious and robbed of $11 Saturday night, Charles Sellars, 12 Chester avenue, Newark, a driver for the Washington Liquor store, 447 Washington avenue, was found lying on the sidewalk in Nutley by his employer, Barney Miller, who had ridden to Nutley with Sellars in the company truck.

Miller, about 9 o'clock Saturday night, received a telephone call, requesting delivery of a bottle of whiskey at the home of Albert S. Ihde, 137 Highfield lane, Nutley. Miller was told to bring the bottle to a side door in Walnut street.

Sellars walked through a gate with the bottle in one hand—a flashlight in the other. As he flashed on the light, a man struck Sellars over the head and the driver fell in the dark. The $11 was taken from his trousers' pocket just before Sellars became unconscious. He said his assailant wore brown plaid slacks. Miller went looking for Sellars when the latter failed to return to the truck. He found him lying on the walk.

Make A Cake For Dinner Dessert.

Cake without baking sounds like brick without straw, to the ears of the unsophisticated—something that just can't be done. But the clever woman who knows the secret of modern time-saving cookery can produce a most tempting and delicious cake without going near the oven. It is made with a basis of sweetened condensed milk, and it is prepared in the refrigerator instead of the stove. Best of all, it takes only a few minutes to put together and it is so good that it will bring repeat requests from the whole family.

New York, August 19 (Special).—A policy of cooperating with consumer or other public study groups "which provide an open forum for the discussion of hidden taxes and all trends and measures affecting the cost of living" has been outlined by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

The Doctor MUST Give Service

A Medical Clientele Is Based On Confidence

Much of the Patient's response to treatment depends on confidence in his Doctor. Not only is there a physical reaction to this feeling of confidence in the method of treatment, but the fact that you believe in your Doctor, causes you to follow instructions more carefully.

This confidence of the Patient can come about through only one thing—satisfactory service and the knowledge that your Doctor is competent.

This confidence of the Patient, is the chief foundation of a Doctor's practice.

Naturally, it is up to the Doctor to render the highest type of service, for no other than selfish reasons.

For the Male!

Between the time when sleep ceases for Friend Husband and his departure for the office, there is a great deal of activity in the average early morning household. The alarm clock starts it all. A day seems brighter when it starts with the mellow tone of an electric alarm. No rude bell shattering the silence here! And shaving is no longer fraught with danger when there is an electric razor in the medicine cabinet. As for breakfast—that new automatic toaster and scientific little coffee maker make it a pleasure. In short, Mr. and Mrs. Public and their children do well to depend on electric appliances for better living.

Public Service showrooms contain complete displays of all household appliances. Low prices and liberal terms prevail, so pay us a visit today. You too, can banish early morning strain.

Services Held For Frank A. Werner

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home for Frank A. Werner, 288 Greylock Parkway, who died Tuesday in St. Barnabas Hospital, Newark, after an illness of several weeks. Burial was in Woodland Cemetery.

Mr. Werner, who was born in Newark, had been a janitor in the local schools for one and one-half years. He had lived in town eleven years.

A member of Belleville Lodge F. & A. M., Mr. Werner leaves two sisters, Mrs. Clara Lutz and Miss Lillian Werner, both of Belleville; and a brother, William, Newark.

Girl Scout News

Under the leadership of Miss Edna M. Baun, Girl Scout Captain of Troop No. 9, fourteen of her scouts had eight days camping in the new Belleville Girl Scout cabin in South Mt. Reservation.

The group left from Miss Baun's home Friday evening, July 29, in a truck driven by George Buchanan and returned August 6 in a truck driven by Mr. Walsh.

Following are the list of girls that went: Margaret Revill and Jane Buchanan, assistants to Miss Baun, Betty Reif, Jean Podgorski, Dorothy Collins, Eleanor Roskelly, Catherine Broadhurst, Marion Watson, Sylvia Annunziato, Charlotte Woodward, Mary Lu Bodkin, Carol Crowther, Joan Nelson and Florence Peritt.

Many types of craft work were made, such as baskets, covering jars and tin cans with colored paper, carving napkins rings from branches of wild cherry tree, cutting tin cans to various shapes to be used for candle holders, and blue prints and spatter prints of the different varieties of leaves.

All cooking was done in the open fireplaces outside the cabin. Margaret Revill was the chief fire builder.

The evenings were enjoyed by having the fire place in the cabin aglow, and the girls singing and presenting skits for the parents and friends who came to visit. Much marshmallow and hot dog roasting and pop corn popping was enjoyed. This group learned many songs. Even while preparing meals, cleaning and setting table one could hear singing. Jean Podgorski seemed to be the main song bird and Jane Buchanan told the most interesting stories.

The last night in camp there was a costume party of many different countries. The cabin was decorated with streamers and balloons. Many games were played and prizes were won by Jean and Jane. Refreshments of ice cream, watermelon, candy, orangeade and pop corn were served at 10 o'clock.

To close the evening Miss Baun presented every girl with a little gift.

This group of Girl Scouts were the first to stay for more than a day in the new girl scout cabin.

Bob Bangert Has A Brand New Dog Collar

No, he hasn't a license—no license to remove it. We don't know what the dire consequences would be (or does Bobby Bangert), but we imagine "dire" is the right word. As far as we know no doggie has ever had the temerity to slip his P. G. T. collar.

Well, now, as far as the initiated are concerned, the cat—or rather dog—is out of the bag. For the benefit of the uninitiated P. G. T. stands for Pathfinders of the Golden Trail, a Boy Scout fraternity, with ideals as high as any in the world. Only young men who are recognized by their fellows as outstanding in the exemplification of the ideals of good citizenship are elected to this select fraternity.

This year eleven were so honored, two of them from Belleville. Unfortunately the other fellow, Jack Idenden, was obliged to decline. You see while Bob needs only four merit badges to become an Eagle Scout, Jack needs six. Jack is hoping for at least a dead heat at the end of the camp season and that means work, more work than he could possibly do were he to live the dog's life that Bobby has this past week.

Honors are not new to Bobby, last year he was voted the best camper at Mohigan, and a year previous received an award for the best nature exhibit in competition with the High Schools of the entire state.

While Jack has not been so singularly honored his efficient handling of a Boy Scout patrol, which due to his contagious enthusiasm and intelligent planning, is also enjoying camp life, and his part in organizing and conducting the Regular Fellows Club, which gives boys under scout age an opportunity for wholesome recreation, is recognized and appreciated.

NEED OF WILLS TOLD ROTARIANS

Harvey Specht Says Many Neglect This Job of Importance

Harry Specht of the Eastwood-Neally Corp., addressed Belleville Rotarians Wednesday at luncheon in the Forest Hill Field Club on "Wills."

Mr. Specht outlined the necessity of making a will, citing cases where litigation, because of lack of a will, had depleted estates. He also told of the humorous side of some wills, particularly the one made by a wealthy Canadian who was responsible for the "Stork Derby" and probably a 50,000 increase in population in Canada.

"Some persons live well-planned, orderly lives, but they pass on leaving their affairs in a muddled state," said Mr. Specht, urging Rotarians to prepare wills that will be of benefit to those who are left behind.

Henry Holst led in group singing, with Alex Berne, member of Newark Club, at the piano.

G. R. B. Symonds, Russell K. Rose and Wallwin H. Masten were named as a committee to arrange details of the district conference September 15 at Nutley so far as Belleville club is concerned. The local club will abandon its meeting Wednesday, September 14, in order to attend in a body the Nutley meeting.

deed, trouble ahead even for a united Republican party in Essex County.

"As a candidate for the Senate, I am much interested in this situation. I want to be nominated and elected, to be sure, but I want to be nominated by the Republican party, not by any fraction thereof.

"I wish to repeat that I will not run for the Senate under the designation 'Clean Government.' My reasons are sufficient; I have stated them to many people for a long time past. Dr. Clew knew my views when he recommended me as his successor.

"If this determination of mine costs me the nomination, Essex County will still be represented in the Senate. I am interested in something more than political office. I want to see a strong and decent, but broadminded and liberal Republican party in Essex County. What Republican does not?"

Authorized by the so-called harmony group of Republicans to suggest an Assembly slate of twelve names, indicated Tuesday his recommendations will be mostly veterans in the lower House. He is known to prefer a ticket of men and women experienced in legislative affairs and is himself a four-term veteran of the House.

Making no answer to the statement by William H. Seely, Clean Government Republican leader, in which it was announced Clean Government would put another ticket in the field, Zink Tuesday night addressed a meeting of suburban and Newark leaders at the Hotel Suburban, East Orange, where he was the honor guest. He asked for a conciliatory attitude in the drawing of a ticket.

Zink and David H. Jones, leader of the Suburban Republican Movement, said the ticket put forward by Jones a week ago was considered tentative. Zink said he was interested primarily in the Assembly slate. The tentative ticket dropped six of the incumbents, but included in their stead some veterans of past years.

Dr. Paul Keller of Newark introduced the resolution authorizing Zink to suggest the Assembly slate to the leaders.

Among those at Tuesday night's meeting were Freeholder Elizabeth A. Harris, John C.

To Get Diplomas

Having completed make-up subjects in which they had failed last year as Seniors in Belleville High School, diplomas will be awarded the Misses Gloria King, Blossom O'Connell and Marie A. Weiss, it was reported Monday night at the Board of Education meeting by Supervising Principal Wayne R. Farmer. The young women attended special classes this summer at Bloomfield High School.

any one but themselves as to its composition. Isn't that just a bit ridiculous?

"For a month or more we have been edited by daily outgivings of this minority to the effect that the county committee has been ignored. Well, I have not heard of the county committee or any one else being consulted as to this harmony slate, so-called.

"Obviously the whole business is an attempt of a few men to manipulate the political scene for their own advantage. Their motives are purely practical. I doubt if the voters of Essex County will look to this group for efficient government or whole-hearted opposition to new taxes.

"I am leaving for Vancouver to attend the Canadian Bar Association meeting as a representative of the American Bar Association. On my return I will consult with the leaders of the Republican party throughout the county and then I may have a further statement to make."

Hopeful of Harmony

Zink told the Jones group, who met at the Hotel Suburban, East Orange, Monday night, that the outlook for agreement between party leaders is bright.

"I sincerely believe harmony is nearer today than it has been in the last ten or twelve days," Zink said. "I feel strongly that if we keep our heads for the next few days and stop calling names, we may be greatly surprised to wake up some morning this week to find the situation has been reasonably settled. J wait and see."

Several members of the burban organization had intended to urge Monday night "Seelyism" be made the slogan for a primary battle. The reference was to activities of William H. Seely, a Clean Government leader. This program was dropped, however, after Zink, host of the group, spoke.

Zink said he is in accord with the principle that good service by an official merited continuation in office. He declared this doubly advisable in the case of legislators because a member of the Assembly does not become thoroughly familiar with what expected of him in one term office.

"This year's Assembly delegation generally did a good job, performed a real service to the state and county and I feel should send back to Trent those who have served satisfactorily, if this is humanly possible. We should remain cool in the present situation and not tempt to answer anything which has been said on the situation the last few days. The less said of a personal nature the better it is for all concerned.

Whole Party Representation

"Members of the present Essex Assembly delegation who have accomplished a good job by means should go back. This is even more important than election of a senator. The suggestion at Sunday's conference of choice of Assembly candidates should be made without consideration to recommendations from any particular group."

A HARD PILL TO SWALLOW

The taxpayers of New Jersey apparently are finding talk about the inevitability of new state taxes a hard pill to swallow. Witness the promptness and dispatch with which unfavorable taxpayer reaction punctured trial balloons hoisted hopefully the past few weeks from legislative conferences at Trenton and elsewhere.

Most of the feelers on new state levies, like the one calling for an additional one cent tax on gasoline or a return of the two per cent sales tax, with food and medicine exempt, died a-borning. No one seemed willing to acknowledge sponsorship for them or indeed even knew from where the suggestions came. We have a general election coming on this fall. No doubt we will hear more about new state taxes and the impossibility of avoiding them right after November 8th.

Admitted that the cost of relief reached totals much higher than anticipated this year. Admitted that the State Treasury is not flush. Yet it is a fact that the combined state and local tax levy in New Jersey last year was $340,000,000.

The question naturally arises why, with this vast existing levy, can't we continue to finance current needs out of current income? Why must we add to a combined tax levy already so high and burdensome? How about economy? How about state reorganization and consolidation? How about cutting down all along the line?

Fortunately, signs are multiplying that New Jersey taxpayers are no more sold now on the inevitability of new state taxes than they were when the sales tax was repealed back in 1935.

Robert T. Bowman, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, recently polled a large group of local chamber of commerce leaders from all over the state. He found them determined to oppose any increase in the tax burden. From taxpayer and consumer groups have come other indications of increasing public resistance to new taxation. Definite proposals for new levies undoubtedly would be the signal for a wide taxpayer protest on many fronts.

This is as it should be. New Jersey is on a tough spot. It must watch its step. This state's per capita state and local tax burden last year was $81, second only to New York which led the nation with $92. A few more years of rising tax burdens and this state may find itself with the sorry distinction of having the highest per capita tax load in the country.

A TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Have you ever noticed what a dangerous traffic hazard exists at Joralemon street and Union avenue? It is extremely dangerous as regards left turns by south-bound automobiles from Union avenue to Joralemon street and westbound Joralemon street traffic which seeks to turn south into Union avenue. Why wouldn't it be possible to eliminate these two turns, as well as the left turn occasioned when east-bound Joralemon street traffic turns north into Union avenue? Right hand turns at the intersection are not so dangerous. New street is only one short block west of Union avenue where a left turn could be made by westbound vehicles that would proceed south. Likewise, DeWitt avenue is one short block east for eastbound traffic that would go north. For those who are proceeding south in Union avenue, and would turn east into Joralemon street, it might be advisable to shunt the traffic another block south to Holmes street. These are mere suggestions from years of observation of a general free-for-all fight to unravel traffic at the corners mentioned. It seems that elimination of left turns specified would do the trick. It is worth a try, at any rate. It is true that there have not been any series of accidents at the intersection, but that is no indication that this condition will continue. There have been some close shaves. And then, too, there is the problem of school children who attend Public School No. 3. Truly this is one of Belleville's worst traffic centers.

REMEMBER THE PETS

They are happy, harmless, household objects, alert and alive. In return for small meals daily and an unoccupied corner of where we live, they pour out of little hearts greater devotion and loyalty than most humans show toward us. They constitute the great army of fireside pets which guard us while we sleep and entertain us when awake. Each summer some of them face a crisis. Their human and humane owners, in a berserk moment, either leave them behind when they go on vacation or cast them aside at the vacation place. That is the end for them. They are picked up and mercifully put to death, or they die of little broken hearts, or they run wild, hunted things, haunted with the memories of better days as sometimes we all are. They are only animals, beasts if you will. But, they too, were created. Do not forsake them. They never would forsake you.

ASSIGNMENT FOR SIGN BOYS

Mayor William H. Williams Tuesday suggested that Commissioner Louis A. Noll take up with county and state officials the matter of sign revision at intersections, pointing out that there are all kinds of signs in Belleville and every other municipality. There seems to be no head or tail to the location of the markers, said the Mayor, after Director Noll had pointed out that the Public Service Corporation plans to place still more bus signs about town.

The Mayor's suggestion is timely. In other states there seems to be at least a semblance of uniformity in markers. As you drive along the roads you can pretty near tell where to look for a marker. But in good, old New Jersey, the sign boosters appear to be among the missing. In the vernacular, there are at least forty-seven different kinds of markers, placed, it seems, in the least comprehensible spots. For instance, in Belleville, in fact, it is in front of Zuccarelli's Drug Store in Belleville avenue, the county has plastered a "no parking" sign. After all Zuccarelli pays taxes and about ten per cent of all he pays goes to the county. The fellows, who juggle county affairs, should be a little more considerate. That sign could ruin Zuccarelli's business, and—why go into that? It does look as though a little better judgment could be used along the lines pointed out by the Mayor. If for no other reason than beautification a change for the better in markers would be acceptable.

TIME FOR A NEW AMBULANCE

Three years ago Director of Public Safety William D. Clark, who was then Director of Parks and Public Property, and a few friends made an appeal to Belleville residents for subscriptions to an ambulance fund. The drive went over the top and Belleville has been blessed with a town ambulance, second to none, the advisability and use of which has been demonstrated. The ambulance has more than paid for itself, but now like all motor vehicles it is getting old. It is time to trade in that car and get a new one. This time, when the appeal goes forth for funds, the work, no doubt, will be lighter. Many townspeople have made good use of the ambulance and Director Clark and his cohorts have rendered Belleville a distinct service. Let's back him when he seeks more funds to get a new ambulance before the trade-in value of the present one depreciates to the point where a large fund must be raised. It is understood Director Clark plans to make such an appeal in the near future. His plea should be greeted with open arms. A few cents here and there from interested folks will do the trick and nobody will receive any addition to a tax bill for a new ambulance.

THE LAW OF LIFE

When we hear so much talk of equality, everyone sharing alike in the world's goods, taking from the employer and giving to the employee, we are reminded of the saying of a certain wise man, "Divide a million dollars equally among ten men on a desert island and in three or four years nine of them will be working for the tenth and he will have all the million." Some men by right of brains and energy are bound to be leaders. It is the law of life and cannot be changed any more than can the law of supply and demand. Why rant and prate about it? Such arguments and such methods have led to revolutions.

It was our privilege to talk at some length with an important American business man, resident, as an importer and exporter, in Buenos Aires,—and to learn from him more than we knew about present trade conditions between the United States and Argentina and between the Argentine and the rest of the world.

Though the Peso is still the medium of exchange in Argentina, our informant says that as far as foreign trade is concerned, Argentina through the operation of bilateral trade treaties with some twenty-two countries, is practically on a barter basis in that Argentina agrees to buy from each of these countries as much as Argentina sells to each of these countries and no more. Furthermore, importations into Argentina from these twenty-two countries may be paid for with Pesos purchased from the Government at twenty per cent discount from the standard Pesos.

And so England, Germany, Italy and many other countries ship their goods into Argentina in exchange for goods purchased from Argentina at approximately twenty per cent advantage over goods originating in the United States because the United States does not have a bilateral treaty with Argentina and, according to our informant, cannot have it because of the enormous excess of exports from the United States over imports to this country from Argentina,—and because this type of treaty, based essentially on the fundamental principles of barter, is contrary to our basic policy of foreign relations and foreign trade.

This Argentine policy in effect, means that Argentina will buy goods of American manufacture in proportion to the purchases we make of goods of Argentine origin. Our imports from Argentina normally are rare metals—mostly tungsten—beef, and hides, but an embargo against the importation of beef from a large portion of Argentina because of a prevalent foot and mouth disease epidemic amongst the cattle there, cuts down seriously even our normal importation of beef and hides from that country.

That places the American producer and manufacturer at a great disadvantage and our informant, whose livelihood depends upon trade between the two countries, does not look for immediate improvement.

"Well," you might ask, "what has all that to do with Belleville?"

A great deal. We have well established leather industries in Belleville and the availability of hides and

Seashore Parks
Prepared for the Belleville News, by Charles P. Wilber, State Forester and Director Department of Conservation and Development and Member New Jersey State Planning Board.

Of the specific recommendations concerning recreational areas made to the Governor and Legislature by the State Planning Board, the acquisition by the State of Island Beach and a major portion of the Hackensack Meadows for marine parks appear to have been most cordially received by the press and public. Popular interest in these proposals is expressed in many ways, including occasional inquiries as to this or that consideration not explained in detail in the current publicity. An attempt will be made to clarify the earlier statement.

Island Beach was selected as a State ocean-front park because it is admirably adapted to a wide range of recreation activities. It is the only remaining undeveloped and readily accessible stretch of beach of State Park proportions along the entire New Jersey coast.

Among other things, the area is unique in the formation of its sand dunes and in its plant life and, best of all, it is big enough so that large areas of it can be preserved in its natural state as

LOOKING BACKWARD

Five Years

The resignation of John J. Daly as town clerk was accepted by the Town Commission and Mrs. Florence R. Morey was named in his place. It was reported that 155 girls had visited the Recreation Camp along Third River during July. H. Willard Sawyer, president of Belleville Rotary Club, outlined membership in the NRA. A party in honor of the first birthday of Audrey Ellen Speed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Speed, was held at the summer home of the grandparents, Town Commissioner and Mrs. William D. Clark.

Plans were being made for the wedding of Miss Evelyn Mary Ekins, daughter of Rev. G. Herbert Ekins, 48 Division avenue, and Gordon T. Butz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Butz, 581 North Eighth street, Newark.

The Town Commission authorized the Jersey City-Nutley Bus Company to add four buses to the six operating on the line.

John McLaughlin, nineteen, 15 Smith street, suffered a fracture of the right leg when his motorcycle was in collision with a truck at Vanderpool street and New Jersey Railroad avenue, Newark. He was taken to City Hospital.

Arrangements had been completed for the national canoe racing championships to be held on the Passaic under the auspices of the town and the Tuscarora Canoe Club.

About 500 witnessed the annual inter-playground track and field events at Belleville Park, where Miss Carrie Byrnes was a star in the athletic events. The Cortlandt street lass took first place in each event she entered.

The recreation Commission was planning to close its summer season with a field day at Clearman Field. Senior and Junior athletic events were scheduled, and several novelties, including a "human checker game." The police and firemen were to engage in a tug of war.

Lack of trolley transportation had caused the Brighton A. C. to postpone its ride to Palisade Park, indefinitely.

The Misses Helen Kintzing and Shirley Steel were at Delaware Water Gap.

Among those who made addresses at the dedication of the new firehouse in Silver Lake were Dr. George G. Yarrow, commissioner; Acting Mayor Leroy F. Vermeule, Commissioner Frank A. Neary, Town Clerk John J. Daly, James V. Thetford, Angelo Domenico, Captain Joseph Mc Carthy, and Firemen Larry Biase and Paul Zacccone.

Gregory M. Davey, the first Belleville boy to land in France, in a letter to his mother said that he had been wounded in the Chateau Thierry-Soissons front, a fragment of high explosive shell hitting him in the right leg.

Robberies at two Belleville homes were reported to police. The places visited were Ira H. Cornell's house at 330 Joralemon street and at the home of William R. Howe, 11 Pleasant avenue. From the former place silverware and jewelry valued at $300 were stolen and from Howe's jewelry valued at $165.

Washington Snapshots

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

Inside Washington is thinking and talking about: A genial young man, Tommy Corcoran, known to the Capital as "Tommy the Cork." He is an intimate White House adviser.

In a recent magazine article a veteran Washington correspondent, Henry M. Hyde, quoted Corcoran as having personally made this statement to him:

"The definition of private property in the United States must be changed. We hope to make this change gradually and without disorder."

It is more than a political statement. What he is talking about would affect every man, woman, child, farmer, factory worker and storekeeper in America. A bloodless purge of all property owners!

Slowly but surely a campaign against hidden taxes is being built up in the shadow of the city where they originate—the National Capital.

In Maryland, just outside Washington, the very existence of tobacco farmers is threatened. They find no market for their crop. Significantly, instead of urging, at their meetings, that tobacco be plowed under they ask reduction of the hidden tobacco tax.

That tax, one of the steepest hidden levies, is six cents on each package of twenty cigarettes, or $21.90 a year for every one-pack-a-day smoker.

The tobacco growers figure that if the tax were restored to its two and a half cent pre-war level, popular brands selling two

Meador Wright's PIQUANT POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

A review of the negotiations that led to the announcement of the so-called harmony ticket is helpful in understanding the tangled picture of Essex Republicanism. These negotiations began several weeks ago with David H. Jones and Homer C. Zink taking the lead. Representatives of both Pearson R. Franklin and Clean Government joined in. This column reported a tentative ticket as early as July 22.

Very early, the leaders of the harmony movement realized that only limited objectives would be possible if a fight with Clean Government were to be avoided. But as the negotiations progressed, these objectives became more and more modest. As things stand at this writing, Clean Government is sure to win more than it loses. For this it can thank Arthur T. Vanderbilt who has been ruthless in his bargaining tactics.

Had the man who fell among thieves in his journey from Jerusalem to Jerico turned up with their clubs, their stored loot and their shirts, then only would the parable be applicable to Vanderbilt and his Essex conferees. Even so, William H. Seely essayed the role of the Good Samaritan and proceeded to pour oil and wine into the imaginary wounds of his Short Hills comrade. But I am getting ahead of my story.

Jones Was Sure

Having secured concession after concession from Zink, Jones and Franklin, Vanderbilt finally gave his approval to the compromise ticket—or at least Zink and Jones thought that he had given his approval. So sure was Jones that the agreement could not be upset that he immediately gave out the names of the selections to the press. That was last Thursday, August 11.

Zink was to be the candidate for state senator, John C. Howe for sheriff. Freeholders Rawson, Lindeman and Van Duyn were to go back. Six members of the assembly were to be replaced. Fred A. Hartley, Albert L. Vreeland and Dallas S. Townsend were to be endorsed for the three congressional posts. Likewise, it was agreed that Jones was to succeed W. Stanley Naughtright as county chairman.

In making the announcement, however, Jones committed a fatal psychological error. Seely, Naughtright and Dr. Lester H. Clea, in effect, had been left out in the cold. Vanderbilt may not have objected to that privately but he did not wish to appear publicly as having "double crossed" his erstwhile colleagues. Thursday, Friday and Saturday the wires hummed. Then the Sunday Call induced Vanderbilt to make his famed statement repudiating the whole agreement, and thereby secured one of the big political scoops of the year. The anti-Clean Government conferees were dumbfounded. Vanderbilt was simultaneously accused of having double-crossed them by a dozen leaders of the harmony movement. On Monday Seely sought to take advantage of the upset to announce that there would be a "complete ticket running under the designation of Clean Government."

Everybody Wrong

But it soon turned out that Seely was as wrong in assuming that there would be a fight as Jones had been in assuming an agreement. Both statements were in the same category, in that for a quarter would cost less than a dime and consumption would increase.

If Maryland's farmers are successful, legislators may be forced to do something they won't like—cut a hidden tax. They like hidden taxes because people don't realize they are paying them. The late Speaker Henry T. Rainey of the House once summarized the legislators' tax policy as designed "to get the most feathers with the least squawking of the goose."

But here is something new: One state agriculture department now advises Mr. Farmer to call formally at his hen house. He should knock before entering. To swing the door open and walk in abruptly throws the hens into confusion. It upsets their nervous systems. It is bad for laying quails.

Meador Wright

each sought to bring about the conditions he desired by announcing that those conditions already existed.

True to their past policies, the Newark newspapers proceeded to take the side of Seely. Bluntly, the Call styled the announced slate as a "Franklin Ticket." Their actions were somewhat like those of the Negro woman who whipped her son before leaving home to make him behave while she was gone.

With their whole movement in danger, the advocates of the harmony ticket became alarmed. Most of them were for accepting Seely's challenge and fighting it out. But not Zink. Like Brer Rabbit after he had been caught by the strategem of the Tar Baby, the Belleville assemblyman put on his thinking cap. With his usual methodical thoroughness, Zink had ascertained the sentiment of both camps. He knew that Vanderbilt had no love for Seely, and that the former did not wish to fight if he could avoid it. He knew, too, that Seely's statement was a last desperate effort of a condemned man to save his skin, and that his desire to fight was shared by no one save Sheriff Candidate Joseph Giuliano.

Zink Pulls Fast One

With this knowledge, he took the opportunity of a meeting of the harmony group at the Hotel Suburban Monday night to make a bold and clever proposal.

The proposal was that Zink alone should designate an assembly slate subject to the approval of no one but the whole county committee. The proposal was accepted in toto, with a face saving resolution thanking Jones and Councilman Huck of Bloomfield for their past efforts. It was a masterly strategic retreat, and showed every promise of being successful.

Zink immediately let it be known that every assemblyman could go back save Edgar Williamson of East Orange, Frank Platts of Newark and Herbert Eber of Maplewood. Eber had already announced that he would not seek re-election. Likewise, there was strong support for former Legion Commander Graham Huntington. Williamson and Platts were turned down because Clean Government would not fight for them, and the opposition would prefer two new men. It is reported at this writing that all of the eight assemblymen picked for renomination will go along with Zink save only Henry Young, Jr., who is waiting to see what Seely and Vanderbilt will do.

Jones Is Called Off

Decision was prompt to insist that Townsend be endorsed along with Vreeland and Hartley. As regarded Jones for county chairman, it was decided that he discontinue his plan of securing pledges in advance from county committeemen, leaving the chairmanship in abeyance until the new committee should assemble after the primary.

The objections of Clean Government to John Howe for sheriff were harder to meet. At this writing, no decision has been reached. Zink, however, is said to favor no recommendations to the county committee for sheriff, and it looks to me as if this plan will be followed. Should it be, then no followers of any candidate would have an excuse for not supporting the Republican nominee in November.

So much bitterness has been aroused that only a hands-off policy, in my judgment, will avoid repercussions after November. By no means then could Franklin be accused of trying to dictate who would be sheriff. It would be yielding to the spirit of compromise fully and would secretly please Clean Government leaders who are as divided on Giuliano as the opposition is on Howe.

Thus, the fight narrows to a gigantic battle of wits between the sober, serious Zink and the brilliant Vanderbilt. Seely is fighting desperately for his political life. Naughtright has already lost his. Behind the whole scene looms the burly figure of Democratic Chairman James J. McMahon, working determinedly for Democratic unity and hoping desperately for Republican disunity. Few political bouts in the history of Essex County have been more dramatic or more critical.

Sports Before Your Eyes

by JOE DUVAL

As the end of the various baseball and softball league seasons approaches, the races for the respective championships have become real cat-and-dog, knock-'em-down-and-carry-'em-out fights. It is all ways that way. Teams seldom realize that any one victory or defeat early in May might mean the difference between first and second place in September. Around this time of the year the classy teams of each league, after having taken it easy all summer, start kicking their own shins for having been careless when they played some second division club back around May umpteenth. Then suddenly, just before it is too late, they start to hustle and pick up the ground they lost three or four months before.

Belleville will miss what is for them some of the best sport in the world if they fail to take in some of these "crucial" games which will be played during the next few weeks. As we have said before, there may not be any Gehrigs or Di Magsios or Foxes in any of the games, but there are people you know, and that means more than any $25,000 salary star. We are naturally more interested in a mediocre friend than in a hot-shot stranger.

Take this Terry Street League, for instance. The Colonials came through and upset the dope last Tuesday and defeated the Y.M.F.A. outfit to sew the race all up in knots with a three-way tie. The Pirates are also in on the playoffs, which will take place next week.

Then there is also this Manufacturers League, which is a slight case of dog eat dog. Wallace and Tiernan neatly tied the can on Pittsburgh Plate Glass this week, leaving Crowhurst Leather resting quietly in the number one spot. But Pittsburgh is just as likely to turn on Crowhurst when they meet next Thursday, and then there will be another three-way deadlock. Or some one from farther in the standing may trample W&T or any other of the leaders, and then the situation will be tenser than ever. The results in this circuit are more unpredictable than the weather, now that the weather is the same, day in and day out—hot and murky.

Drop in on any one of these battles and you will bite your fingernails for two solid hours.

Let's Go Quietly Mad

And speaking of baseball, have you been around to see any of the games in the Baseball Championship Tournament? Between the Hilltops, Senators and the Maglios, Belleville is, quietly going baseball mad. We can't tell anything about the Cobras yet; they drew a first-round bye and will not play until tomorrow, when they meet the Hilltoppers in the semi-finals.

But that is going to be what is colloquially known as a hum-dinger when the Senators and the Maglios get together Sunday. Each team has a slugging pitcher, with the Senators having a slight edge in Bernie Barnett. Bernie is the chap who defies precedent and custom by hitting as well as he pitches. The Maglios' Bucco, however, showed that he is no slouch in that direction either. Against the Cardinals last Saturday he slammed out three hits, a creditable performance even for an outfielder.

Nutley is moving right along towards the conclusion of its tournament final. Sunday the I.C.A. club and the Tigers, pre-tournament favorites, will meet on Nichols Field, Nutley, to decide the town championship. Interest among our northern neighbors is running high and they are waiting with eagerness for the Belleville-Nutley series beginning September 3. Final plans are now being made for this series and an announcement is expected within the next few days as to the site of the first game. One town will hold the first contest of the series and the scene will shift to the other for the second on Labor Day. If a third game is necessary, it will be played the following Saturday, September 10, the location to be chosen by lot.

These games are really worth-while watching, a fact which the Belleville citizenry is rapidly beginning to realize. For those who like fast, stiff competition, Clearman and Capitol Fields make a perfect Mecca.

Can A Successor Fight Ammonia?

Poor Tony Galento has not yet been definitely counted out, but already they're trying to pick his successor. Energetic fight promoter Bill Patterson of the Meadowbrook Bowl thinks he is going to find him next Monday night when he leads forth two ambitious young lads who are going to settle the whole issue in the Meadowbrook ring.

Matchmaker Babe Culnan has finally managed by some means to get Freddy Fiducia and Joe Wagner in the same ring. There is no truth to the rumor that he had to chloroform the boys' managers to do it. The men behind the men with the fists have struggled (most vehemently, we hear) against this match for over a year, and are probably handing themselves a nice little hand for arousing interest in the fight.

They probably have, but why do they have to make those non-sensical remarks about the other fellow? Says Wagner's brains: "We'll knock him kickin'." Comes back Fiducia's man-in-the-back-ground: "There'll be only one winner—and it won't be Wagner." Grrrr—throw them a raw steak. The remarks are unnecessary, but they help to fill newspapers on the off days.

It should be a good fight, but as for picking a successor to Tony Galento, that is another matter entirely. It would be easier to try to find a counterpart for Douglas Gorce Corrigan—which is an impossibility.

Branch Brook To Cleveland

The Branch Brook quartet leaving for Cleveland for the National Public Links Championships on Monday have as good a chance as any of them of coping some of the prizes. Pat Mucci, Mike Cestone, Wally Manion and Gerry De Rosa qualified three weeks ago for this event. Each of them is a well-known goffer in his own right and among them they form one of the strongest teams in the east. Mucci is the Metropolitan Public Links Champion, Cestone was this year's state amateur finalist and also holds the pro-amateur state title which he won with Maurie O'Connor. Put them all together and they form a combination which has not tasted defeat in any team competition in three years.

The old Nereid Boat Club has never been as serious as in the past two weeks. With the Metropolitan Rowing Championships scheduled to take place on the Harlem River—the dirty Harlem—a week from Sunday, the oarsmen have gotten down to very diligent training. Nereid plans to send five or six crews to New York for the event, one of the feature regattas of the year.

A toast to Gerry Ringi, fast developing into one of this section's leading pitchers. Gerry this week turned in one of the few no-hit no-run performances in Belleville history. His twirling enabled the Hilltops to win another from the Bisons.

As usual, a no-hit pitcher had lots of fielding support behind him but very little batting. The Hilltops could reach Hickey of the Bisons for only three hits and a solitary run.

SENATOR-MAGLIO COBRA-HILLTOP GAMES CARDED

Winners To Meet On Clearman Field a Week From Tomorrow

The Belleville Baseball Championship Tournament has narrowed to a field of four as a result of last week's first round games. The stage is set for the battle for the title and the Chairman's Cup next Saturday, August 27.

In last week's battles, the Maglio A. A. eked out a close 7-6 decision over the Cardinal A. C. and the Senators took the Triangles over the hurdles, 9-1. Sunday at 3 o'clock on Cap-

The ultimate goal of the teams in the tournament is the eagerly-awaited two-out-of-three series with the Nutley champions over the Labor Day week-end.

Maglios Score Early

It was the early attack of the Maglios which carried them to victory and enabled them to withstand a furious Cardinal attack in the seventh inning of Saturday's game.

Striking in the second, fourth and sixth stanzas, the Mags built up a 7-0 lead. They held this huge advantage until the seventh when the Cardinals suddenly went on a rampage and the Mags almost went to pieces.

The Cardinals used three hits mixed with two walks and spiced with three Maglio errors as their recipe for six runs. Bucco, the Maglio pitcher, stayed in the game and experienced little trouble after that.

The score was almost tied up in the last half of the ninth when the Redbirds had a runner on second with none out. A fast Maglio double play ended the threat, however.

Butti, Buccino and Bucco, the three busy B's of the Maglio squad, led the attack. Between them they hammered eight of their team's twelve hits and scored five of the seven runs.

Sixth Inning Slaughter

The Senators hopped all over the Triangles in the sixth inning of their game and scored eight runs before the slaughter ceased.

Ricci of the Triangles had clouted a home run in the third to give his team a brief lead. The Senators tied it up in the fourth when Metz beat out a bunt, went to third on McCadden's double and scored on Barnett's sacrifice.

Barnett's double touched off the fireworks in the sixth. McCourt was safe when a vain attempt was made to nail Barnett at third. Mosior filled the bags to capacity with a short single through the pitcher's box.

Scoring began when McCann was hit by a pitched ball. Freed, pinch-hitting for Boryszewski, singled to center to send McCourt and Mosior across the plate. Metz doubled against the left field wall scoring McCann and Freed.

McCadden beat out a bunt, McMahon singled and Barnett doubled for the second time that inning to tally two more runs. Barnett stole third and came home on a bad throw by Banta.

Bernie Barnett was the star of the game, slugging out two doubles, scoring three runs himself, driving in three more and allowing the Triangles only six scattered hits.

RINGI OF HILLTOPS PITCHES NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

Only One Bison Able To Reach First Base In Twilight Game

Gerry Ringi of the Hilltop A. C. soared to the pinnacle of pitching aspirations last Tuesday when he shut out the Bisons without a single hit. This was the first no-hitter in Belleville this season.

Ringi was complete master of the situation all the way. He walked one man during the contest, but outside of that no Bison got a look at first or any other base. Ringi chalked up seven strike-outs on the way.

This pitching performance was necessary for a Hilltop victory, for the winners did very little batting themselves. Hickey, the Bison twirler, hurled a fine game himself, allowing only three hits and one run.

Leo Adessa, a non-playing member of the Hilltops, was inserted into the line-up to complete the nine-man roster. Leo, who never plays himself, had one big chance during the game and he made good. A long fly, to right field might easily have spoiled Ringi's record, but Adessa rose to the occasion and snared it nicely.
