WILLIAMS DEAD

Man's Death

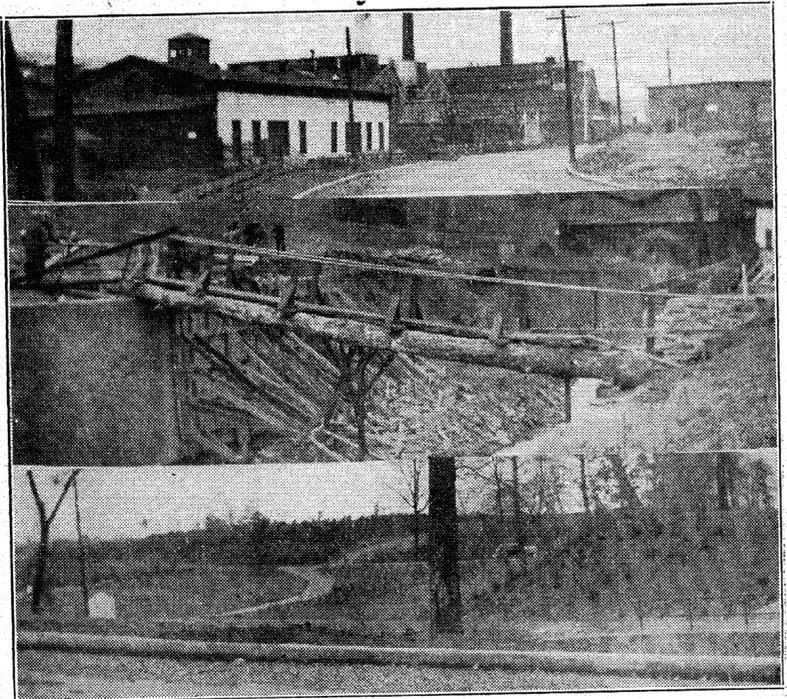

Funeral services for Harry Williams, 65, of 109 Smallwood street, who died of a heart attack Friday while walking along Erie Railroad tracks near the place, were held Monday morning at 8 o'clock at the A. H. Cole Funeral Home, 524 Orange street, Newark.

A passenger on a train saw Williams' body along the tracks and notified the conductor, who reported it to Erie Railroad Detective Springer. He, in turn, notified police. Police Surgeon Herbert B. Vail pronounced Williams dead. The body was removed to Huelsenbeck's Morgue by order of Dr. Martland.

Mr. Williams was born in New York and had lived in Jersey City before moving here eleven years ago. He was employed as a clerk in New York.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Carrie Williams; a daughter, Mrs. James Goggin; three sisters, Mrs. Henry Yangling, Mrs. Miss Louise Williams, Jersey City, and Mrs. Edward McLaughlin, Bound Brook; and two brothers, Clarence Williams, Jersey City, and William Williams, Baltimore.

Is This Jergens' New Home Site?

Upper picture shows view of old Hendricks Copper Rolling Mills, which are closing doors and may be razed to make way for Andrew Jergens Co., pharmaceutical manufacturer, if the latter company is able to have its requirements fulfilled by Belleville, Essex County Park Commission, Newark City Housing Authority and Public Service Corp. View is looking west along Mill street.

Middle picture shows temporary bridge for hauling material to construct retaining wall along Second River. Scene is a few feet east of top picture. Retaining wall, which is shown finished, would make a fine pier for proposed bridge over river at spot as set down in proposals of Jergens company. The picture is about at spot where extension of Franklin avenue, from Essex County Hospital for Contagious Diseases, would have to cross river to connect with North Sixth street, Newark. A few feet north of this scene are Erie Railroad tracks—old mushroom station site, where it is proposed to construct an underpass.

Lower picture is scene of Branch Brook Park Extension just east of Hendricks Mills looking south from Mill street—a beautiful view in keeping with proposed plans as sketched by Jergens architects at Philadelphia, details of which were told exclusively last week in this newspaper.

County Engineer Stickle yesterday received reports from the bodies most concerned in the tension of the thoroughfare. He will submit his findings to the Freeholders to consider the extension at an estimated cost of $375,000.

If the Jergens concern locates here it will mean an initial building will be erected at a cost of $1,000,000 to employ 1,200 persons, with a second addition planned within five years, similar in size.

Interesting History Surrounds Plant Of Copper Mill About To Close

Plant Was Built In Glade Here 150 Years Ago

Dating back before the invention of the steam engine, which also is linked with the name of Josiah Homblower and Belleville, the old Hendricks' Copper Mill, nestled on the banks of Second River in Soho section of town, is about to close its doors after 150 years of operation.

In fact, Belleville's oldest industry, which has faced the vicissitudes of time, is soon to be no more along the banks of that babbling brook, called a river, where a waterfall, in all its splendor, was the gathering place of the youth of yesterday for a swim and late into the fall—where an anonymous poet wrote of the old tin cup attached to a chain near a spring in Mill street—where chestnut trees in wooded sections gave up their burrs and tasty nuts to all the countryside.

All this, of reminiscent nature, was the setting for the old mill when pig copper was hauled here by way of the Passaic River to a spot near the mill from South America in years gone by. Coal came, likewise, from England. Old paddle wheels cut through the water and churned it as the wheels of the machinery to produce bolt and sheet copper turned over in the glade just south of the Essex County Park golf course, where players today scuff their toes and break their clubs on the first green.

Yes, the picture changed some years ago. First the Chestnut trees, like others in New Jersey, faced a blight that wiped out their existence. Then the waterfall dwindled in size as the changing course of the river and a sluiceway transformed it from a gushing small space to the entire width of the dam near the mill. That all passed, as did the wooded section as development came. But, long before, the old paddle wheels had been relegated to all the countryside.

$2,500 GRANTED INJURED OFFICER

Local Cop Permanently Hurt By Auto A Year Ago

Workmen's compensation totaling $2,500 has been awarded to Patrolman Charles Booth of the local police force for permanent injuries resulting when he was struck by an automobile in Washington avenue, October, last year.

In making the award Deputy Commissioner Stephen J. Lorenz ruled out a contention that Booth, or any police officer, was not an employee within the purview of the workmen's compensation act, but was holding office somewhat akin to an elective office.

This point was raised by A. Lionel Reid, attorney for the insurance company covering Belleville employees. Reid said that insurance companies in New Jersey, while carrying several millions of dollars coverage of policemen, feared that some court might rule that police were officials, and therefore not subject to workmen's compensation payments for injuries.

Dismissing the objections, Lorenz cited that awards to policemen have been upheld on numerous occasions, for injuries ranging from such trivial hurts as frost bite to fatal wounds incurred in the line of duty.

Testimony in the case showed that Booth, who lives at 132 Union avenue, suffered a skull fracture in the accident and was off duty until April, this year. As result of the injury, it was testified, his hearing and speech have been impaired and he was affected otherwise.

Booth, while in uniform and crossing Washington avenue, after having directed two automobiles was struck by another automobile, and subsequently was confined to the St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic. He was treated by Dr. Martin Meehan, assistant town physician of Belleville.

The decision is of utmost importance to all policemen in New Jersey.

Booth was represented by Edward J. Abramson, a local attorney.

Senator Zink Views Teachers' Pension Fund So Sound That Contributions May Not Be Needed

Also Discusses Need For Study of Relief Situation

The State Teachers' Pension Fund may be so sound actuarially, says Senator Homer Zink, that it may not be necessary for either teachers or the state to make contributions to it for a while. As House appropriations chairman last year, Zink and State Senator Powell, Burlington, cut $1,500,000 from the state budget.

Senator Zink believes that a pending audit of the fund may disclose its true status.

"Intelligent teachers and intelligent educators," he says, "now realize the legislative situation regarding teachers' pensions has been badly handled."

Zink recalled how the state had decided to withhold its $4,900,000 contribution to the fund for the fiscal year 1938-1939, using this as relief money. "Instead of giving cash to the fund, the legislature gave a promise to pay in cash, in 1942. The Attorney General said the promise as the state's solemn obligation. The promise is equivalent to a backed by actual cash as collateral. The cash is now in a fund which will be released for use in 1942. At that time, $4,900,000 will be used to fulfill the promise to the pension fund. Meanwhile, the fund is receiving interest from the state, in cash, at 3 per cent, payable every six months, a very satisfactory investment, indeed."

Fund Is Very Sound

"May I say to those teachers and to others interested that the pension fund, far from being insolvent, is much sounder than we are," Zink said.

BUDGET OCCUPIES SCHOOL BOARD

Name Convery Architect For Improvement At No. 3 School

The Board of Education Monday night will again meet to further iron out details of the 1939-40 school budget.

President Herbert C. Schmutz, whose term expires this month and who is expected to be named by Mayor William H. Williams to another term on the board, says the budget probably will be as low as last year's.

The board Monday night named Neil J. Convery as architect for the proposed new auditorium and gymnasium at Public School No. 3, details of which were printed exclusively two weeks ago in this paper. The work, which will include a new heating system, will be under WPA supervision. The project will be submitted for ratification by voters at the annual school election on February 14.

Belleville Unemployed Men And Women Seek Benefit

File Claims With Commission Under State Social Security Law

Although extensive preparations had been made at Belleville Town Hall, over the holiday weekend, to take care of a rush of applicants for unemployment benefits under the state job insurance law, only twenty-two, all males, appeared there Tuesday, eighty-four males and seventeen females Wednesday, and only seventeen up to Thursday noon, a total of 140 for the first three days.

A staff of six clerks of the State Unemployment Compensation Commission began its duties in the Town Hall council chamber at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. They had expected a grand rush but only one man showed up the first hour. He was Ralph Llore, 212 King street, near the Nutley line, and father of Policeman Jerry Llore of the Belleville police force. His application was accepted and sent to the state office at Trenton. By noon, Tuesday, four applicants had appeared before the clerks. They were questioned by Alexander T. Morelli of 78 Court street, Newark, deputy manager of the employment service, and Francis M. Walsh of 167 Richelieu terrace, Newark, acting claim examiner. By the time the office closed at 4:30 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, twenty-two persons had filed their claims.

Wednesday, a man who admitted he was eighty-two years old, appeared before the clerks and said he had met a friend who had filed a claim. He admitted he only appeared out of curiosity, but wanted to know if there was any chance for him to file a claim for unemployment benefits. He worked up to six years ago when he was laid off. He thought there was no harm in trying to find out.

In commenting on side lights of the work, Mr. Morelli said: "Most of the applicants stated that they would rather work than receive benefits for not working."

It was learned that a considerable number of Belleville Nutley men and women, who heaved themselves eligible benefits, had appeared at Newark offices. Those who did were instructed to report at Belleville office each week, due to continuation of registration. Applications were received at Newark offices, their social security account numbers were registered and it will be necessary for (Continued on Last Page) local auxiliary unit, has announced.

The other points in the program, adopted as the major legislative program for 1939 by the National Executive Committee of the American Legion are: Adequate national defense, universal service, creation of a separate United States Employment Service under the Department of Labor and strengthening of immigration, naturalization and deportation laws.

"For a number of years the Legion and auxiliary have been urging that widows and orphans of World War veterans be given the same protection by the government as is extended to those of veterans of other wars. Progress has been made until now widows and orphans of veterans ten per cent disabled in war service receive protection. We are seeking to bring to all of the mothers and children left dependent by the death of a World War veteran the aid of the government he served," says Mrs. Ackerman.

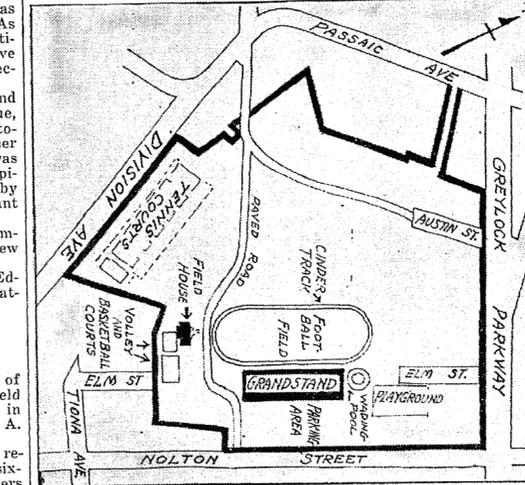

"The auxiliary always has been a leading advocate of adequate national defense as a safeguard for peace. At this time strengthened defenses are essential to the security of our country and our organization is working with increased energy in this cause."

"Enactment of the principle of universal service into the laws of the United States has been sought ever since the World War. The law we are asking would remove the profiteering motive from war and would provide equal service for all citizens in event of a conflict. We believe it would be a strong peace measure and would greatly strengthen the national defense. The auxiliary will urge passage of the Sheppard-May Bill during the coming session of Congress."

"We will also recommend passage of legislation to establish a separate United States Employment Service, under the Labor Department, with separate funds allocated to it to maintain efficient employment services for unemployed veterans and all unemployed."

"We also will urge tightening of immigration, naturalization and deportation laws to protect the United States from undesirable aliens."

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINTS A Healthy New Year

By Dr. James A. Tobey

If you want to have a happy New Year, have a healthy one. Resolve that next year and every year you will get the most out of life by being constantly in buoyant health. Here are the rules of the game:

- 1. Give a thought to your health, but don't think too much about it. Banish worry, forget dull care. 2. Have a thorough annual physical examination by your family physician. If he finds nothing wrong, it is worth more than it costs. See your dentist twice a year, your oculist once. 3. Eat what you want after you have eaten what you should, but eat only as much as your body requires. Avoid dangerous and unsightly overweight. Avoid underweight, too. 4. Select your daily diet from liberal portions of such protective foods as pure milk and dairy products, eggs, fruits, bread, meat, and all kinds of vegetables. Cut down on raw sugar. 5. Enjoy some moderate exercise every day, preferably in the fresh air and sunlight. 6. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Learn to relax, mentally and physically. Avoid excessive fatigue. Cultivate some leisure, and some laughter, too. 7. Keep clean inside and out. Bathe daily in lukewarm water. Wash your hands with pure soap before eating and after visiting the toilet. Change to clean clothes frequently. A daily bowel movement is desirable. 8. Sympathize with the sick, but keep away from them, thus avoiding dangerous infections. If you have a cold or become ill, go to bed and receive no visitors. 9. Have your children vaccinated against smallpox and immunized against diphtheria, so that they will be absolutely protected against these dangerous diseases. 10. Practice safety on the highways and at home. Drive your automobile carefully and courteously. 11. Also practice safety by avoiding poisons, narcotics, stimulants, and patent medicines; shun quacks and food fakirs, of whom there are many. 12. In playing the game of health, play fair with yourself, and with your fellow men. For ten cents you can obtain from the U. S. Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., an interesting and valuable booklet on personal hygiene, prepared by the United States Public Health Service.

SCHOOL FOR ADULTS

The Belleville Board of Education has inaugurated a school for adults, registration for which will begin at the High School, January 11 and 12, from 8 to 10 P. M., and for which a ten-weeks' program has been prepared by Supervising Principal Wayne R. Parmer. Classes will be conducted ten consecutive Thursday evenings, beginning January 26 at 7:45 P. M.

A wide variety of subjects will be taught by a faculty that has been completed by a committee, and opportunity will be afforded all who wish to take advantage of this chance to do many things better. This is a chance for many adults in Belleville to improve their knowledge along numerous lines that they would not otherwise be enabled to do. It is only another of the many advantages offered Bellevilleites by their Board of Education.

HELPING THE OTHER FELLOW

The start of the year sees most folks bogged down by obligations that made Yuletide buying an undertaking of no small dimensions. In the past, holiday shopping was an event accompanied by most scrupulous pocketbook pinching, and, in many cases, a studied review of department store basement advertising by the housewife.

This year there was a difference, in many households. Reports from the marts told of better Christmas business than for a long while. And why not? The money that would have gone into the State Motor Vehicle Department, for 1939 car license plates and drivers' licenses, was available for the holiday trade. Everybody participated in this respite; department and other stores which catered to the holiday trade; the tax collector, whose returns for 1938 were augmented by ready cash, and the ordinary fellow who found that by some strange twist of good fortune he had money in his pants where a hole was usually burned. For three months, or midway between New Years and vacation time, he did not have to pay out all he had and more.

Why 65? The furor raised over the arbitrary age limit has brought this question prominently before the people of the country, and the debate is growing more vigorous with the lapse of time. Who knows what the age retirement limit should be? Who knows what the individual man or woman at 65 is capable of doing toward self-support? Where is the definite authority for fixing at 65 the limit beyond which men and women can no longer earn their own living?

True, state laws and local ordinances provide an age maximum beyond which certain state, county and city or other municipal employees can no longer retain such employment. True, the age limit for officers and enlisted men in the military and naval service is fixed at 65. This was done only a comparatively few years ago to give opportunity to the junior commissioned grades to advance. The enlisted personnel age retirement limit was fixed to provide a definite grade of pay to support the soldier or sailor in his declining years, when, in truth, he could work no longer.

Was Dr. Osler, the inventor of the idea that man should be climaxed at the age of forty, correct in his deduction? To return to the original query, why 65? Why any arbitrary age limit, as a mass measure? What industry does, we cannot dispute. But industry has no standard arbitrary inflexible age limit. Then why should there be any such thing, nationally?

Why not return to the cave-dweller standard and be done with it? When daught-er took to herself a mate, the new son-in-law, self-imposed, pushed papa over the cliff, because youth had more right in the cliff domicile than papa, who had outlived his usefulness.

And if the old folks don't belong any longer in this glorious land of the free, who will put the damper on the "youth movement" in America, when it reaches the state of the "youth movement" in the dictatorships?

A JUDGE IMPRESSES

A Kentucky county judge who gave a brief talk over the air, a few weeks ago, impressed folks who heard him describe how he handles first offenders. Perhaps those who did not hear the talk might be interested in knowing what he accomplished in the few cases he mentioned. The lesson the judge intended to convey was the application of shame as a deterring influence to a continued life of the potential miscreant.

In the case of a boy who stole pennies from his mother, so he might treat some of his "puppy-love" little girl friends, the judge sentenced the lad to wear girls' clothes for thirty days. That cured him. A drunk was forced to carry a whiskey bottle filled with colored liquor on the public streets for thirty days. He has not imbibed since.

CHEAP RAILROAD FARES

An ingenious authority on railroad transportation has advanced the suggestion that American railroads can solve their financial problems by establishing fares at so cheap a rate that practically everyone in the country will ride from coast to coast, and from border to border, all the time. True, scoffers have appeared, but the railroad genius is not discouraged. He has placed his idea before the Interstate Transportation Committee of Congress and is working on it, day and night. He proposes fare zones and passenger classifications, so one may ride from New York to Chicago, for instance, as cheaply as $1 a trip. He also uses the parcel post zone and cost idea in his calculations.

Cheaper railroad fares, particularly for suburban traffic, are by no means new ideas. They are constantly being proposed by commuters and as constantly opposed by the railroads.

Not so long ago, in the pre-depression era, it was seriously proposed, by the New York Port Authority and allied groups, to establish a metropolitan rapid transit system, within a radius of fifty miles of the New York City Hall, which would transport passengers anywhere within the area for a five cent fare. Today, this proposal, no doubt, sounds sort of nightmarish, but many will remember outlines of the plan which contemplated a maze of inter-urban passenger-carrying lines in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, which included all railroads, tubes, tunnels, subways, etc., now existing in the entire metropolitan area.

The Newark Branch of the Erie, through Belleville, was to have been one of the strands in this transportation web, and Newark was to have had its subways and elevated structures to support the maze of tracks running in every direction. But the depression interfered with the grand and glorious idea.

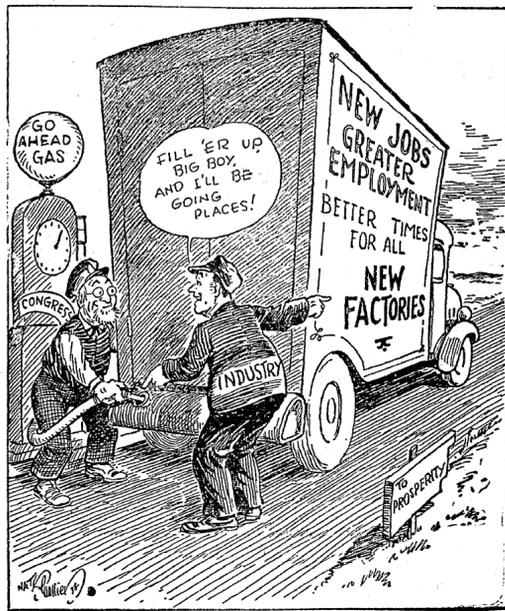

OUR "GOOD NEIGHBOR"

Following closely on the heels of the recent Latin-American conference at Lima, Peru, comes an announcement from Mexico of more than ordinary significance. It is nothing less than a declaration by President Cardenas that the program of expropriation of foreign-owned property in Mexico will go right on. Hundreds of millions of acres of valuable farm lands have been allotted to members of the agrarian party. President Cardenas defends the recent seizure of American and British oil properties by the assertion that American and British owners resorted to illegal production, wage payments and other practices which alienated the natives and created a situation antagonistic to the Mexican people.

President Cardenas understands the sentiments of Latin-America, and each Latin-American nation understands the sentiments of the others. All this was brought to the surface at the Lima conference and produced the agreement looked at entirely from different angles, north and south of the Rio Grande.

Cardenas knows his Latin-America thoroughly. He knows he can count on Latin-American sympathy, if his country is subjected to external force. It has happened, and is likely to happen again. So the "good neighbor" to the south relies on sympathy and encouragement from South America, and, judging from the past, is likely to obtain both, if Mexico thinks she is pressed too far.

"READY FOR HIGH GEAR"

THIS WEEK

by "Guardian"

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

For us the big news this week, of course, is the convening of Congress and the President's message. To read that message is a good way to start the new year or that gives indication of what the President proposes to do if he can get the concurrence of Congress — and we fancy that, though there will be more opposition and more discussion than in the past five years, by and large the President will be pretty much in the saddle. So we recommend a thorough reading of the President's message so that you will be able intelligently to express your thoughts to your representatives in Washington.

We will have to wait for a further message to find out what the President proposes in the way of National defense. Certainly no one can disagree with his thesis that we should "Provide armed forces and defenses strong enough to ward off sudden attack against key positions" — but that does not mean that all will agree on an excessive armaments program. On that there will be plenty of discussion.

True to the policy of the New Deal during the past five years, the President recommends that National expenditures be continued at the present rate. He now puts it on the basis of "investing for prosperity" — in the hope of raising the total income in this country to eighty billion dollars a year — at which level he claims the present rate of taxation would produce sufficient income to balance a budget as large as our present one.

History has a habit of repeating itself and we are fearful that there is a lot of "wishful thinking" in this proposal.

The President continues to urge reorganization of "the executive processes of government in the interest of more efficient administration." With that we are heartily accord — but let us hope we will have nothing that approaches the reorganization battle in the last Congress and trust that we will have the much needed reorganization by the drafting and passage of a sane bill which will not attempt to abrogate the power of Congress and put too much power into the hands of the President.

We feel there is crying need for governmental reorganization and all thinking citizens will support any reorganization bill that is consistent with Democracy.

Though the President indicates that his tax program contemplates "relatively small" increases in some taxes in order to adjust inequalities we continue in the belief that the tax bill must go up in order to pay the mounting bills for operations and debt service and that those who feel that there is going to be any decrease in any taxes are fooling themselves.

With the President's purpose to find ways of ending labor strife, to improve the situation of the railroads and revise neutrality laws we are in accord — but as to his proposals on agriculture and social security, we have our doubts. No attempt of the New Deal to date to conquer the forces of nature through artificial regulation of the laws of supply and demand has succeeded. We presume the experimentation must continue — but it is a mighty expensive piece of research.

It will be interesting through the coming months to observe how the President's proposals are whipped into legislative form and what happens to them.

1939 is starting out with promise. The index of business activities is well above where it was at the beginning of 1938 though still appreciably below the start of 1937. Everyone must guard against a repetition in 1939 of what happened in '37 — over buying, over production, excessive inventories, etc., for those things surely bring depression and not prosperity.

Despite all of the problems of government and business, it's a mighty good country to live in. Yours 'til next week, "GUARDIAN"

Aunt Flo's Column

Readers beware! This week my column has gone to the dogs.

Tommy writes: Dear Aunt Flo: If ever I needed to know something it's now, and I hope you'll say yes. I made up a Christmas list and headed it off with a dog — Gee, I wanted a dog for the past four years and now I'm ten and no dog yet. It seems every night at supper, when Dad is home, the dog talk starts. He likes a dog and it is all for me having one, but mother says dogs are a lot of work and that he'll muss up her rugs and jump on the beds and the house won't be the same and she says nothing doing on dogs in such a mad way that there is almost a fight. I wanted the dog more than anything on my list and yet I hated to have mother and dad have a fight over it. Couldn't you write something that might help because mother reads your column, I know. Although Christmas is past I may get the dog yet.

TOMMIE

Well, Tommy, you sure have me in a tight spot and, worst of all, I am afraid I am on your side before we even get started. I have not forgotten how wonderful it felt to have a devoted little dog running at my heels when I played, or went to the store, or was sent down into the cellar for something the family had forgotten. It seemed that I was willing to do most anything as long as my dog could go along. And those greetings after school — what child wouldn't love them — the barking of glee, the great tail wagging and the actions, in general, that make us feel we are the most important person in the world — it all seems well worth the trouble.

You know a dog is so faithful that he seems to know when we are sad and have been scolded about something just as he does when we are happy and there is nothing to worry about.

But, Tommy, why in thunder did you ever make me remember all these things? Instead of that supper quarrel about the dog evolving around only three people, poor Aunt Flo will probably be dragged in, too, and what is said about her will be worse than was said about the dog. For this reason I must see mother's side just a little too and tell you about some of the cares of a dog. You see I have a dog myself, so I know. First of all, you will have to buy him a license. Then you will have to get him a muzzle and he will have to wear it every time he goes out doors, unless you have him on leash, which means that when you are not there, mother cannot open the door and let the dog run out himself. Now that is a big job for mother to think about isn't it? Then, too, if mother does not like dogs, do you suppose he is going to be very happy so many hours of the day when you are away? You know dogs are like people, they seem to sense the ones who like them and those who do not and so they are not very happy when the ones they love are away.

However, if you can get your mother to agree to let you have the dog, I think it would be grand and I feel sure that pretty soon she would win her heart, too, providing he is well behaved. That will depend upon the way you train him and if you love a dog as much as you tell me you do, you will want him to be well mannered and then everyone will like him. You must let everything you say to him be very definite — it is either "Yes you may" or "No you may not" — and strange to say he will like you much better for taking that stand.

Just to show you what good manners in a dog will do, I am going to tell you a story, but it is a true one, about a dear mother dog that I had one time with six little puppy dogs. There was Buster, Tiny, Pal, Trixie, Pete and Vanilla. Vanilla was a pure white fox-terrier, the most hopeless looking pup of them all, so just for fun we gave him that name. All the other pups were such cute little fellows that it was not hard to find homes for them, but poor Vanilla, try as we would, we could not find a home for him. No one seemed to be frightened enough to think he would ever amount to anything in the dog world. We had been spending a vacation in the country at the time and were about ready to come home but what to do with Vanilla was our greatest problem. In desperation we told the country groceryman. The very next day a kindly woman came to us and asked if she might try her luck with Vanilla. Upon inquiry we found that she was wealthy and influential throughout the countryside and a great lover of dogs, so we were happy to give Vanilla his chance. It seems that all he needed, for in the hands of this woman who knew how to train dogs and loved them, he has developed into such a beautiful dog and one with such rare intelligence that he is the "talk of the town" and everyone loves him. Which all goes to show that training has a lot to do with the popularity of dogs as well as persons. So if you get that dog help your mother to love him by training him to be a well behaved animal — and here's luck to you.

AUNT FLO.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Five Years

A forty-point tax rate was disclosed at a meeting of the Belleville Taxpayers' Association in the Recreation House. It was said that the tentative school budget was up $200,000 and the town was compelled to include $38,000 1930 tax bonds in its budget.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Van Riper, 60 Willet street, Bloomfield, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edna Van Riper, to James Torrieri, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Torrieri, 72 Harrison street.

Minor changes were made in the temporary regulations regarding the sale of alcoholic beverages at a special conference of the Board of Commissioners. The board also accepted a code drawn up by the Retail Beverage Dealers' Association.

Mrs. Mary T. Holden and John A. McDermott were appointed to the Recreation Commission by Commissioner Frank J. Carragher. Mrs. Holden, who was local Girl Scout director, was named to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Frank Brohal. Mr. McDermott was slated to fill the unexpired term of Charles L. Steele, Jr., former high school principal, who resigned to take up a similar position in Teaneck. Mrs. Brohal resigned due to ill health.

"Adam and Eva" was the production selected by the Wemec Dramatic Club for its third annual production in the high school. Those in the cast were Alice Mathews, Dorothy Wadsworth, Dorothy Patton, Kathryn Eskholme, John R. Carrough, Charles A. Gebhardt, Jr., Vail Ryan, Horace Baldwin, Jack Robertson and Alan Crisp.

Miss Ruth Roehm, 51 Malone avenue, entertained the S.A.S. Club of the Girls' Vocational School, Newark, at bridge in her home.

In appreciation of his work on the gridiron a group of colored folks presented Milo Salters with a watch at a Christmas party given by the Dunbar Literary Club in the residence of Maisie Sloan, 27 High street.

Meador Wright's PIQUANT POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

The controversy that is raging over the reappointment of Arthur H. Bissell as Monclair police recorder is a very huge tempest in a very small teapot. Bissell was named for a two year term the day after the election. The terms of Brecholders Burnet, Harris and Gray were considered certain to have Clean Government endorsement, while Mrs. Harris is conceded very little chance of getting it. Mr. Harris will not be a candidate for the ticket that will include two colleagues, that speculation is rife on her probable successor.

Mayor Speers' department of public affairs. The transfer according to public announcement was made for the purpose of separating the administrative and judicial functions of the police department.

Over Political Promise

The fight that has developed centers around the alleged promise of Townsend to name former Recorder P. Henry Strazza in return for the latter's assistance in Townsend's campaign for Congress last September. It is being promoted by friends of Strazza and by enemies of Republican Chairman Russell C. Gates, and has county-wide significance in that it indicates Townsend has abandoned any plan he might have had of leadership in an anti-Clean Government movement this year.

Bissell would have been reappointed regardless of who might have had the authority to do so. Accusing Townsend and the other commissioners of connivance, in my judgment, is totally unjustified.

Political news was likewise made last week by two other municipal appointments — that of William Huck of Bloomfield and Luke M. McKenny of East Orange, as recorder and assistant city counsel respectively. Huck was associated with Townsend last summer in leadership of the anti-Clean Government primary campaign. His selection as recorder indicates harmony among the various factions of Bloomfield. The East Orange appointment made news because it was soon discovered that McKenny had been a legal resident of Orange and a member of the election board there at last September's primary election. Whether Martens was aware of this when he made the appointment is not known.

Tiff Over Salaries

A tug-of-war between County Clerk Gates and Curtis Burnett, chairman of the finance committee of the board of freeholders, over pay increases of county employees is in the making. It is Gates' claim that his department was slighted in the matter raises, while employees direct under the board of freeholders were favored.

Aside from this dispute, the freeholder board was organized this year in complete harmony. No committee changes of importance were made and the ripple in the sea of harmony concerns candidates for this year election. The terms of Brecholders Burnet, Harris and Gray were considered certain to have Clean Government endorsement, while Mrs. Harris is conceded very little chance of getting it. Mr. Harris will not be a candidate for the ticket that will include two colleagues, that speculation is rife on her probable successor.

Mrs. Harris' Successor

Mrs. Olive Sanford and M. Abbie Magee, both of Nutley, a prominently mentioned to succeed her. How hard a fight M. Harris will or can make to win another term is problematic. Her record on the board has been brilliant as well as stormy. There is no denying that Arthur Vandercilt, veteran county leader, would have liked to have seen her defeated on the occasions her last three elections, but each time he lost out. One thing certain: if Mrs. Harris is not selected endorsement is sure to go to another woman. No one in Clean Government would advocate replacing her by a man.

John C. Leary, New York was announced.

Emil Meyer, sixty years old, of Rossmore place, died in St. Michael's Hospital, Newark, from injuries received when he was struck by a trolley car at Washington avenue and Jorammon street.

The Belleville Club was leading the way in the Belleville Bowling League with six wins and two defeats. The Odd Fellows were second place with three wins and two setbacks.

Private Joseph J. Boyajian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Boyajian, 246 Washington avenue, was in an evacuation hospital in France suffering from a gunshot wound in the left leg. He was a member of Company H, 259th Infantry.

A telegram from the War Department to his mother, Mrs. Louisa Hanley, 49 William street, stated Corporal Michael P. Hanley had been wounded November 11, the day the armistice signed. In a letter dated November 14 to his mother, Col. Hanley made no mention of being wounded. Private Del Guercio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Del Guercio, 48 Franklin street, was slightly wounded in other report read.

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

By Joe Duval

The whole town has gone basketball-mad—and so have we. Tonight half the town (almost) will be up to see the High School play Dickinson—and so will we. Monday night the other half will come around to see W&T and National Grain gently tear each other to pieces—and so will we. Tuesday half the town will jam in to see the High School play Thomas Jefferson—and the other half will be in watching the Senior League strut its stuff. Thursday most of them will be back again to see the Intermediates.

The Bellboys had little rest Christmas week. They went over for a practice game with Columbia High and won easily, and followed it up with a swim in the Columbia pool. Thursday and Friday they had workouts with the Alumni. Between the grads living in Belleville and those who were home from college for the holidays, the Alumni fielded a very strong outfit and gave the varsity a strenuous time of it. Prominent among the grads were "Bus" Ganspohl, Tony Zuzzo, Roy Mehan, Frank Stellatella, Al and Leo Colkin and "Red" Gresh.

Some of the High School courtmen thought the warning against playing with outside teams was just another one of those things. Jim Shanahan and Dan Herb learned differently this week when they were told to turn in their uniforms. There are a few other points, mostly in regard to training, that some of the fellows don't regard very seriously; but they will all of a sudden some day. Proper training is essential to the success of any team and the High School is no exception.

A Passaic Valley Basketball League

The current proposal gaining such widespread publicity and support seems to us to be one of the most worthy to come to our attention in some time. Basketball has made such tremendous strides in popularity all over the country in the past few years that it is high time that the Passaic Valley cashed in on some of it. There is nothing like a league to what interest; there is nothing like striving for a championship for building up a following. According to the present suggestions, a league comprising Belleville, Weequahic, Irvington, Kearny, Nutley, Clifton, Passaic, Paterson East Side and Paterson Central seems to be in order. We go on record as voting "Aye!" Start the league next year with all or as many as want to come in.

Tear 'Em To Bits, My Hearties

Another one of those free-for-all elimination tournaments was held in the wrestling emporium at Columbia Park, situate on Hudson Boulevard, up North Bergen way, last night. This one was under the promotional genius of Ralph Mohnd. The idea of these little affairs is to match all comers in pairs and let them beat each other up for twenty minutes. Then the winners pair off against other winners and so on, until only one of them is able to walk home on his own two feet. The delightful reward for all this, besides the fat little purses to the best man, is a match with Bronko Nagurski or Frankie London. With that sweet prospect in mind, we were inclined to decline with thanks any advancement toward the finals. But take Ralph's word for it, the boys just eat it up.

We Rest On Our Laurels

While we're still in good shape we'll take a sneak on this prognosticating game. We claim national championship (as who doesn't these days?) for football forecasting. We'll wager we're the only sportsman in the country to finish the year with 1,000 per cent. O'course, we only picked four games, but we still batted 1,000. . . . Even the Southern Cal did almost make us a liar besides making us a nervous wreck, we hold no grudge. Why they had to wait until 65 1/2 minutes of Duke's greatest season were in the record books, we'll never know; but thank heaven for fourth string quarterbacks with stiches in their heads. . . . Howard Jones is a swell fella, now, and will be until he gets another game. Then he'll be just another punk with alumni and undergrads after his scalp.

In The Bowling Spotlight

The biggest sportlight we have swings full on Wallace & Tiernan this week and stays there while the band does a fanfare. W&T topped every team's record in the district this year with a magnificent 1111 game last Friday night at No. Nwk. . . . Ted Skidmore paced the W&T five with a neat 256, which also gave him week's top in individual scores. . . . W&T's Marge Weischedel, rolling in W&T night (every Tuesday night at No. Nwk.) tabbed a 206 for week's high score. . . . And so, kiddies, Wallace and Tiernan made clean sweep of everything in sight last week and keeps the sportlight for seven days. . . . Tremendous interest in that W&T-R.C.A. (sounds like New Deal agencies) match slated for alleys 5 & 6 to-night at No. Nwk.

ond consecutive week, due to the holidays. The Belleville Rosery, which walked off with the Senior title without a great deal of trouble last winter, finished the first round this year in the cellar of the league. Tuesday night, however, they served notice that they are far from counted out of the present picture. They defeated the Royals in convincing fashion to remain the only undefeated team of the round. The Royals and Baldwin Brush Co., first round winner, dropped out of the triple deadlock for first place, Baldwin taking an unexpected trimming from the Eagles. The biggest upset was the two-point defeat of the Senators by the hustling Colonials. The Penguins continued to lead the Intermediate League by knocking off the Tigers. While the Penguins are still undefeated, a single loss would tie the Intermediates up in knots. The leaders met the Owls last night and have to play the Seminoles next Thursday. Interest is running high over the expected terrific battle when Wallace and Tiernan and National Grain Yeast meet in the deciding contest of the first half of the Manufacturers League. A victory for W&T will give them the round by a wide margin. A win for National will give the Yeasters a chance to tie for the lead and force the championship into a sub-playoff. The game will start at 7:30 P. M. A crowd at least equaling Tuesday night's 600 is expected to crowd into the gym to watch it.

NEWARK 5 ENDS BALDWIN STREAK

The undefeated streak of Baldwin Brush Co., first round champion of the Senior Recreation League, was brought to an abrupt halt by the Loyalty Group, leaders of the Newark Insurance League, last week. The score was 37-31.

MEAD & KURZMAN REOPEN TITLE QUEST TONIGHT

Mayor Young Of Nutley So Start Match Off With Bunglow And Brogan

Hal Mead and Heinie Kurzman, Essex County shuffleboard champions last year, tonight open the second half of their current campaign to retain their title. Their present record stands at 15 victories as against 2 defeats. One of these losses was at the hands of Tony Bunglow and Harold Brogan and the champs are out to avenge it. Bunglow took the one half of the State champion team of Bunglow and Detrick. Brogan is the champion of Orange. Tony and Harold combined forces this year and form one of the strongest threats to Mead and Kurzman's title. Mayor Frederick H. Young of Nutley will open tonight's 100-point match at Elmers' Tavern, Franklin avenue, Nutley, at 9 P. M. The largest crowd of the year is expected to witness the battle.

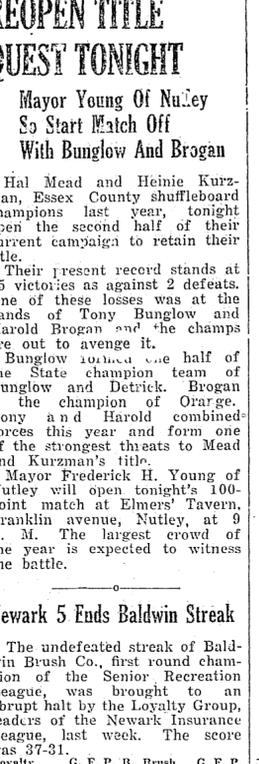

FOURTH LECTURE AT SYNAGOGUE

The fourth lecture in the series "Jews in Other Lands" will be held in the Social Hall of the Congregation Ahavas Achim Anshe, 317 Washington avenue, on Wednesday night at 9 p.m. The speaker will be the Rev. D. A. Jessurun Cardozo, Associate Rabbi of the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue Shearith Israel of New York, on the "Jews of Holland." Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, who is arranging the series, will introduce the speaker, and Samuel J. Kogan will act as chairman. Rev. Cardozo was born in Amsterdam, Holland, and studied at the Sephardic Seminary and Amsterdam University there. He continued his studies at Jews' College and Oxford University in London. He officiated at the Sephardic Synagogue of London and was Rabbi of its Ramsgate branch founded by Sir Moses Montefiore. The speaker is known all over the world as a leading thinker and scholar, and has published many books on varied subjects. In 1936, Rev. Cardozo accepted the call to the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue in New York, where he is associated with Dr. David de Sola Pool. Rev. Cardozo is an accomplished orator, and has spoken in many cities all over the country. Admission to the lecture is free to all. A discussion period will follow the address. All are welcome.

After their enjoyable dinner they started on their journey again. When they were about a mile down the road, a car came from the cross road and almost hit them. Mr. Smith said that he could have seen the other car coming if the billboards hadn't obstructed his view. The children were frightened but they soon forgot their fears and alarm when they saw "The World of Tomorrow" at the fair.

NEW JERSEY HIGHWAYS AT THEIR WORST

At the next meeting refreshments will be served in the domestic science room. Chess Club: The Belleville High School Chess Club has a potentially good team. Previously it has been inexperienced but now with a little more training the members are ready to face a new season. Their first opponents will be East Orange at Belleville on January 12. The Debating Club: The Debating season officially opens in February. At present the club is preparing its line of fire.

QUESTION: Do you think that basketball should receive the same support from the student body that football does? Bill Proffit: It's all according to how popular the sport is in high school. Lots of people go to football because it is an outdoor sport and is played in the afternoon, but basketball is an indoor sport and is usually played in the evening. Many students find it impossible to support basketball the way it should be supported.

Kenze: Yes, I think that athletics should receive the recognition and support from student body, even though it may be the main attraction.

Langlands: Yes. After students are playing the game, they think it's almost as popular as football for almost as many attended last year. Basketball is as much training as physical exertion.

Avazier: Sure, because I see the fellows in basketball do work. They're kept on the job, there's no time to rest. It's faster and faster game than football.

Miller: "Yes—it gives one a little relaxation after a week's work."

Fitzsimmons: "No. Somewhere may not be anything interesting to the students, and probably will just be held for the sake of having one."

Cipperly: Sure—it gives a little relaxation after a week's work."

Kreimer: "Yes. It gives a chance to perform on stage and provides a good incentive for the audience."

Fashion Flash

By J. Marian Schleckser

At this time of the year in Belleville High School there are many evidences of Christmas. Everyone has something new on and naturally it is something that is of interest to me.

In this season we all invariably turn to skating, skiing, tobogganing and other winter sports. For skating this year fashion decrees that short skirts either of velvet or wool and lined with satin or taffeta should be worn with a sweater or jacket. The familiar ski pants are popular, too. The latter are worn for tobogganing.

The best received in the formal group seems to be the new strapless gown. At most affairs one sees more of these than any other. In addition to having no straps, if the gown happens to be in taffeta, it very often has a hoop around the bottom, as in the olden days.

The "monk robe" style is rather new in the style world and, like the strapless evening gown, goes back into the past for inspiration. This has a very full skirt with a wide belt around the center. Then there are still the shirtwaist frocks. But, as a whole, fashions seem to be turning to the past for new "creations."

Gerard Ferrara, president of the Class of 1939, was born in Newark, July 9, 1920, and came to Belleville at the age of five. He attended public school No. 8 for eight years and was president of the eighth grade class and chief of the Junior Police Force.

When Jerry came to high school he was elected vice-presi-

Ann Sothern-Robert Pryor At Shubert, Newark
 Roger Pryor, stage and screen actor, who has forsaken his acting to follow in the footsteps of his famous father as a music maestro, will appear in person at the Shubert Theatre, Newark, starting today with his lovely bride, Ann Sothern, star of many Hollywood productions, who has recently triumphed in the production "Trade Winds." This will be their first public stage appearance together and in a way is a honeymoon for them both, as Pryor's work as orchestra leader, appearing in such places as the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago, Baker Hotel in Dallas and the Roosevelt Hotel in New York, has kept him busy with his orchestra, while Miss Sothern's Hollywood engagements have kept her on the coast.
 In addition to Ann Sothern and Roger Pryor and his orchestra, appearing in person in the Shubert stage show, starting today, there will be Newark's own Singing Troubadour, Nick Lucas, Condos Bros. dance stars of "Wake Up and Live", Marion Bellet and the English Brothers, international funsters; Lane Truesdale, charming radio songstress, and Red Hodgson, author of "The Music Goes Round and Round" and others.
 In addition to an overture under the direction of Harold Ross, the Shubert Theatre offers sixty-five minutes of outstanding screen featurettes.

"Kentucky" Now Playing At Proctor's, Newark
 Loretta Young and Richard Greene are co-starring for the second time in "Kentucky" in the new screen show now playing at Proctor's Theatre, Newark. On the same program is the new Charlie Chan, Sidney Toler, in "Charlie Chan in Honolulu" with Phyllis Brooks, Sen Yung and Eddie Collins.
 "Kentucky" has been filmed entirely in Technicolor. Originally it began as a black and white production, but Producer Darryl F. Zanuck found the beauty of the Kentucky country could not be shown adequately in that medium, so he made the entire production in color.

Larry Clinton Heads Stage Show At Newark Paramount
 The Paramount, Newark, Theatre's offering for the week starting today, is Larry Clinton, the Musical Marvel, and his Dipsy Doodles, including Bean Wain and Ford Leary.
 On the screen, Gail Patrick, who has been called the screen's "most perfect brunette beauty," as well as Hollywood's best-dressed actress, has the biggest dramatic role of her career in Paramount's "Disbarred," a dramatic story of the experiences of a modern Portia. With Otto Kruger and Robert Preston, sharing the limelight with Miss Patrick, it opens in conjunction with the gala musical stage attraction.

INTERESTING HISTORY

 to the heap of useless articles and Harmon Hendricks' quiet plant in the woods became a hustle and bustle of steam. Harmon with others had arrived here from Holland to which country his ancestors of Portuguese extraction had been driven. Solomon I. Isaacs, a brother-in-law of Harmon, was one of his first associates. He withdrew in 1833 and Hendricks' sons took charge, changing the name to Hendricks Bros. Uriah was the last of Harmon's sons to control the business and, in 1869, following Uriah's death, his sons, Frank, Edmund and Harmon continued operation of the business which, in 1928, fell into the hands of a New York bank as executor of the estate when the last of these three brothers died. From 1928 it has operated as the Belleville Copper Rolling Mill.
 Establishment of the Morris Canal years ago opened up a new avenue for Hendricks and Isaacs to ship pig copper and coal into Belleville. They held controlling interests in barges used for such shipments.
 Of late years many and varied copper processes have been in vogue at the mill, including production of rivets and wire.
 Hendricks Mills commenced operation in what is known as

Jeremiah Harpers Celebrate Their Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary

Jeremiah Harper, Retired Fisherman, And Wife Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Harper, 89 Schuyler street, celebrating their sixtieth wedding anniversary Sunday with group of friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Harper have seven children living, nineteen grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. Mrs. Harper, the former Emma Slaugenhwhite, will celebrate her eighty-second birthday in February, while Mr. Harper was eighty-four last July. They have lived at the above address with their daughter, Mrs. William Tucker for the past five years.

 Their children, besides Mrs. Tucker, are Mrs. William Humphrey and Mrs. Wellington Arnold of Framington, Mass.; Fred Harper of Halifax, Nova Scotia; Mrs. Frank Gregoire of Waltham, Mass.; Lindsay Harper of Holliston, Mass., and Mrs. Jeremiah Kent of Pleasant Point, Nova Scotia.

the lower, or "Soh" Mill, just west of the site of the former paint-mill. In 1824 was built what was known as the Upper Mill, immediately in the settlement now known as "Montgomery." In the early history of this firm they turned out about three hundred and fifty tons of copper each year. Their business was largely increased by the building of the Upper Mill. The production of the mills is large, giving employment to about seventy-five hands. The lower, or "Soh" Mill was practically abandoned in 1867 to concentrate the business, and destroyed by fire in 1875. The manufacture of rivets and wire has attained quite significant proportions. The Upper Mill was destroyed by fire in 1874, and was immediately rebuilt in a larger, more beautified and imposing scale, and now presents itself a magnificent manufactory, with all necessary machinery.

Boat Skippers
 Captains Michael Sandford, George Whitfield and Caleb Nichols were commanders of the boats by which copper and coal were delivered. When it is considered that these mills are distant from the river about one and one half miles, one can appreciate the great saving to the firm as a consequence of the construction of the Midland, now New York and Greenwood Lake Railroad, which in its windings, runs within one hundred yards of the mill, connected with which there is a spur running into the yard, and the copper and coal is shipped direct from the mines by this road, and the manufactured products to all parts of the United States.
 One noticeable feature of the conduct of these mills has been that men once employed by the proprietors, except in rare instances, remained with them for life, to be succeeded by their descendants. James Moore, now nearly eighty years of age, having entered employ in the early history of these works, soon after became superintendent. He has continued in that position during all the changes in ownership, (taking place only by death) to this day.
 The same familiar face confronts the visitor now that meet his eye a half-century ago. In addition to the ownership by this firm of the mills, it now owns large tracts of land, with spacious mansions and beautiful surroundings to which they are making frequent excursions.
 Some of the old timers at the mill are Peter J. Daly, father of former Town Clerk John J. Daly, 175 Smallwood avenue, who is seventy-six and has worked there for sixty-three years; Walter F. Hill, East Orange, forty-two years' service; Eugene Verhaeghe, Newark, forty-four years; John J. Coniff, Belleville, forty-three years; Peter Parry, Belleville, forty years; Harry Henson, Belleville, forty-two years; Albert Newschwander, Belleville, cashier, thirty-nine years; Fred Mianek, Bloomfield, thirty-eight years; Andrew W. Conklin, Belleville, engineer, thirty-nine years; Samuel Cappallo, Belleville, now seventy-eight years old and still active as a cold roller of copper plates after thirty-four years service; George H. Turner, Belleville, traffic manager, twenty-six years, and George Hurlburt, Belleville, thirty-six years.

Two Newark Offices
 In the Newark district, Essex county applicants are taken care of at two offices in Newark, the Sussex Avenue Armory, and 309 Washington street; and one office each in Orange, Irvington, Bloomfield and Belleville.
 For the most part, the clerks say, few cases of ineligible persons have been reported. Most applicants appear to understand the fundamental principles of the law. For the benefit of those who do not understand who are eligible and who are not, these facts are quoted from the little booklet distributed by the clerks.
 "If a man cannot claim benefits if he belongs to any one of the groups of workers that the New Jersey law does not insure. Generally, these are: agricultural workers, domestic workers in private homes, Federal, State, County and City employees, including WPA workers except when employed by a private contractor; officers or members of the crews of vessels on the navigable waters of the United States; children under twenty-one employed by a parent; or anyone employed by his child or spouse; employees of hotels, charitable, educational, religious and certain other types of organizations; school boy minors doing part-time work.

Remembers When
 Mr. Daly remembers when a yoke of oxen carted coal from the old Morris canal to the mill and also plowed the fertile fields of the late Francis Hendricks' farm nearby.
 A native of Belleville, Mr. Daly was eleven when he was asked one day to hold one of Francis Hendricks' blooded horses. After school hours he made himself useful as an errand boy for Mr. Hendricks and at thirteen he was put on the payroll at $15 a month.
 When Mr. Hendricks wasn't at the mill, Mr. Daly picked up copper scrap, swept out the office, washed windows, or guided copper wire from the rollers to a huge reel.
 The men at the mill were called to work by the bell which still hangs in a hallway near the office," said Mr. Daly. "Copper heating facilities were not developed as they are now and during the process the men went to their homes or worked around the garden until summoned by the bell.
 "When I was eighteen I drove a team of mules and sometimes Mr. Hendricks' horses. When I was married at twenty-five I received a raise to $25 a month. Being one of the first constables covered under the law a helping hand in a period of involuntary unemployment by the payment of benefits weekly during a sixteen weeks period of total unemployment.

 "Unemployment compensation is not relief. Benefits will be paid eligible New Jersey workers as a matter of right, the amount and duration being determined by the previous earning record of the jobless man or woman in covered employment. Unemployment compensation will be paid only to eligible workers who are available and able to work and unemployed through no fault of their own."
 While the ostensible purpose of the Unemployment Compensation Act is to receive applications from unemployed Belleville and Nutley or other Jersey men and women who are eligible to the New Jersey fund, unemployed residents who worked in other states which have unemployment laws are also aided in New Jersey, whether it be Belleville or some other place. In this respect, Mr. Morelli said: "We have taken care of some folks here who worked in other states. Their applications have been taken and will be certified to the states in which they worked that have laws similar to those of New Jersey. But it must be understood that the New Jersey law applies only to those who have worked in this state under its provisions."

 tual requirements prescribe. Indeed, it has been suggested the fund is so sound that ways may be found to permit both teachers and the state to reduce their respective annual payments, with complete safety.
 "An impartial audit of the fund will soon be made, which should go far towards restoring the confidence of the older teachers in their security. Everyone having an open mind deprecates the fact teachers were told their fund had been raided and impoverished. There was no raid and the fund is not impoverished. In fact, it is unique in its vast resources and liquid condition. The trustees have handled its finances splendidly.
 "Indeed, if it were generally known how much profit the trustees have made for the fund the teachers would feel more at ease about their security. On the other hand, taxpayers might start wondering how much longer the state is to be forced to make contributions to the fund."

Speaks on Relief
 Senator Zink declared in an interview with this paper today that there is a growing conviction among those "who have given careful thought to the subject of relief that the state's share of relief cost must be pegged, or fixed at a definite amount.
 "The municipal share will then be the difference between the total cost and the state's contribution. It is a good bet that this plan will produce a startling drop in the total cost of relief."
 Zink recalled that when the Legislature originally appropriated $10,000,000 this year for relief, it was agreed the municipalities would contribute $4,000,000 or twenty-five per cent, whichever was greater. Subsequently the state voted $5,000,000 out of highway funds for relief purposes and now the word is that the state must dig up about $8,000,000 more, Zink explained.
 "At the present rate of spending," he said, "the cost of direct relief for the year will be pretty close to $24,000,000. In accordance with the understanding had last Spring, the municipalities can therefore, be called upon to pay about $6,000,000. Naturally, they say they cannot pay this amount nor any sum approximating it because they have proceeded all year on the theory that they would not be obliged to pay more than $4,000,000.
 "The fact remains, however, that they were given to understand, last Spring, that they would be called upon to pay one-fourth of the total cost, if that cost turned out to be more than $16,000,000.
 "In spite of increasing relief loads, municipality after municipality has gone ahead this year, creating new jobs, increasing salaries and adding to the general services, which are so freely given to their citizens and which cost so much. There are those who believe that, on the whole, municipalities with highest relief costs are the same municipalities which show the highest cost of government exclusive of relief.
 Parallels

"In other words, it is suggested that extravagance in the municipal handling of relief parallels extravagance in other branches of municipal government."
 "In passing, it may be said that, if the total cost of direct relief for 1938 should be $24,000,000, as hinted, then the cost of general relief in New Jersey this year has nearly doubled since 1937, because there must be included in the present cost the $5,000,000 appropriated out of highway funds to the WPA highway program.
 "Either unemployment in New Jersey has increased tremendously or the WPA highway program has not produced the results promised for it when it was adopted last Spring. It is a fair guess that next year's Legislature will not appropriate money for further WPA highway projects unless proof is presented that the cost of direct relief will be reduced at least a dollar for every dollar of state money appropriated to WPA.
 "A spot check of the WPA highway projects, made last Summer, indicated that the work was well handled, but this spot check likewise showed that large numbers of men working on the program were not taken from the relief rolls. It is therefore suspected that the $5,000,000 appropriated to the WPA program did not produce anything like a reflected decrease of $5,000,000 in the cost of direct relief."

SAFETY FOR YOUR CHILD AGAINST DIPHTHERIA
DIPHTHERIA is now a conquered disease. Physicians know positively how to prevent and treat it, and there is no need for any child to contract it.
TOXIN ANTI-TOXIN INOCULATION IS A SAFE, SANE WAY TO PROTECT AGAINST THIS DISEASE
A serum has been perfected that will give protection against Diphtheria. It is called "Toxin antitoxin," is harmless and will make the child safe from the disease.
It may be that your child has a natural immunity to diphtheria, and if so, this can be established by a simple test, by a competent physician. This test, known to medicine as the "Schick test," consists of one hypodermic injection. If the reaction is negative, your child will be very unlikely to contract the disease. Should the reaction be positive, the child should be given "Toxin antitoxin" for protection.
In cases of diphtheria, or any indication of sore throat, the physician should be called at once.
