MAYOR APPOINTS MRS. HOMER ZINK TO SCHOOL BOARD

Will Take Place Of Mrs. Mary Sheldon Who Resigned

As the Board of Education organized Monday night with Herbert C. Schmutz being re-elected president and Charles A. Gebhardt, Jr., vice-president, to succeed Walter L. Gilby, Mrs. Homer Zink, wife of State Senator Homer Zink, was named to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Mary Sheldon, who resigned recently because she could not find time with pressure of other business to devote to her school board activities. The appointment was made by Mayor William H. Williams.

Mrs. Zink, who was born in Brooklyn, has taken a leading part in all matters pertaining to Belleville's civic welfare. She is a member of the Woman's Club, the Contemporary of Newark, formerly a member of the Girl Scout Council, helped establish the Community Chest and also the first Parent-Teacher Association in town.

Mrs. Zink was educated in Newark Schools to which she moved in childhood. She studied and later taught music. Two daughters of the Zinks attend New Jersey College for Women and one son attends Rutgers. Another is in Belleville High School. Mrs. Zink attended Monday's meeting.

Mrs. Sheldon was appointed to the board eight years ago to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Judson Stickle, resigned. She was re-appointed in 1932 and 1937. She served as chairman of the health committee and as a member of the teachers' committee and was vice-president of the board several years.

Visual Education "I'm wondering how far this visual education will go," said Commissioner Gebhardt as President Schmutz read a report for the Text Books and Supplies Committee, showing that a survey of principals recommended two more talking picture machines in the system at a cost of about $800. "I think this report should be studied by the Curriculum Committee," he added.

Mr. Schmutz said: "I don't see your point, but I'll be glad to turn it over to that committee for study. I am not satisfied myself to act on the report immediately without further study."

"I don't know anything about the appointment of a committee to survey the matter," said Mr. Gebhardt. "That's a lengthy report. I would like to look it over. How many more machines will be needed?"

"I don't know," replied Superintendent Principal Wayne R. Parmer. "But as we need them I will suggest it to the board and the money is available here if we get additional machines. We had hoped finally to have one in each school."

The board some time ago decided to expand its visual education plan and $1,000 is the budget this year for such expansion.

VETERANS ENJOY OLD-TIMERS' NIGHT

Over 100 Attended Party At Local Post Rooms

About 100 veterans and wives attended an "Old-Timers' Night" Tuesday under the auspices of George A. Younginger Post, V. F. W., in Veterans' Hall, Belleville avenue.

The gathering was for the purpose of bringing back into the veterans' fold former members of the post and to give them an insight into veterans activities, locally, in the State and Nation.

Other speakers were Commander George H. Weston, Herbert Scott, chairman of the affair; Department Commander Henry Giegold, Department Junior Vice-Commander Henry Lutz, Department Liaison Officer Dennis Wynne Lyons; Past Department Presidents Winifred Toussaint and Mary Huddy, and Mrs. Holden, all of the Auxiliary, and Mrs. Alicia Gannon, the local auxiliary president. Other officers of the post and auxiliary were seated at the head table.

Resplendent in its new decorations and drapes, which were furnished by the auxiliary, the hall was neatly arranged.

Wynne urged that more concerted action be made for legislation to equalize World War widows' pensions with the amount given to Spanish-American War veterans' widows. $30 per month is the maximum allotted widows of World War veterans, and then only if it is a service-connected case. Spanish War veterans' widows may get $60 to $100, it was pointed out.

"It is high time the veterans looked into this pension matter," said Mr. Wynne.

The local post is completing plans for its Bicycle Safety program as the first in New Jersey to take up the activity. Support has been pledged by the town officials and police, as was outlined last week in this newspaper.

Rev. Deckenbach Honored On Ordination Anniversary

Christ Episcopal Church Parishioners Arranged Surprise Breakfast For Rector

Christ Episcopal Church last Sunday observed the twentieth anniversary of the ordination to the priesthood of its beloved rector, Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach. Following the early celebration of Holy Communion, a surprise breakfast attended by 120 parishioners was served in the guild rooms. The full choir assisted at the service and Peter R. Deckenbach, Jr., served as Crucifer. On behalf of the Altar Guild which was in charge of the breakfast, Mrs. J. Harry Edwards presented Mr. Deckenbach with flowers and a book. He also received a purse from those present in recognition of his fourteen years as rector.

Following his graduation from West Orange High School, Mr. Deckenbach started on a commercial career in Wall Street. Feeling the call to enter the ministry, he enrolled at St. Stephen's College (now Bard College) at Annandale-on-Hudson and took the preliminary training for the General Theological Seminary course in New York City.

He was ordained a Deacon by the Rt. Rev. Edwin S. Lines in St. Mark's Church, West Orange. His first assignment was at St. Stephen's Church, Coytesville, Bergen County. On Quinquagesima Sunday in February, 1919, he was ordained to the Priesthood, again in St. Mark's where he had served as Acolyte when a boy, by the Rt. Rev. Wilson R. Stearly, retired bishop of the Diocese of Newark.

He next was Rector of Grace Church, Westwood, and while there had charge of services in Norwood and started a Mission at Rivervale. On June 16, 1920, Mr. Deckenbach and Miss Eleanor Conover were married in St. Paul's Church, Englewood, by Bishop Stearly. They have two sons, Peter, a Junior at Belleville High School and Paul, a student in Joralemon street, No. 3 School.

Mr. Deckenbach was called to Christ Church when Rev. Charles W. Popham became Rector of Grace Church, Rutherford. He assumed his new duties on September 1, 1924. Since then he has been active as Dean of the Belleville Ministers' Association. He also served a term as president of the former College Club of Belleville. He is an Associate Chaplain of Belleville Lodge 108, F. and A.M.

As a past president of Belleville Rotary, he has represented the club at conventions held in Mexico and in California and he is at present serving as the governor of the 182nd Rotary District.

In the Diocese of Newark, Mr. Deckenbach is assistant secretary of the Diocesan Convention and is a member of the Board of Missions and Church Extension.

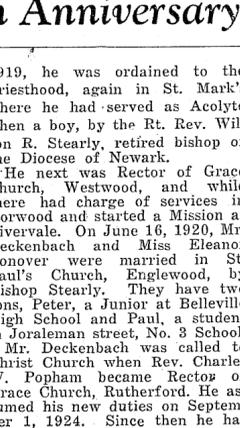

Reversing a decision of the District Court of the United States, for the District of New Jersey, and dispelling newspaper stories that they sought to avoid taxes, vindication is accorded Martin F. Tiernan and Charles F. Wallace, of Wallace & Tiernan Co., Inc., in a decision filed February 14 by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, Philadelphia.

The opinion of the higher court ends innumerable in newspapers, dating back to December, 1931, that the industrialists had availed themselves of loop-holes in the law to avoid the payment of taxes by setting up trust funds for their children.

The decision established the validity of the trusts set up by them for their children, and sustains their contention regarding the correctness of the tax returns already made by them. Mrs. Florence M. Wallace, wife of Charles, was the appellant in the cases selected to test all the trusts.

The court presided over by Judge Biggs, Maris and Buffington heard the case during the October term, last year. The opinion of the court written by Judge Buffington, which was unanimous, states in part: "The judgment is reversed and the tax returns already made by the plaintiff for the amount of its claim."

Real Estate Folks Have Been Dickering For Home Sites

Speculation is rife — now that the Andrew Jergens Co., pharmaceutical manufacturers has decided to locate its new $1,000,000 plant on the old Belleville Copper Rolling Mills site in Soho — as to the probability of a new school to replace old antiquated No. 2, a relic of yesteryear.

A few years ago this top-heavy structure was destined to go by the boards, but when the school authorities suggested such a building boom for the section and other buildings, a storm of protest from Soho residents, who had attended classes there themselves, saved the seat of learning for their children. The school is not up to pupil capacity.

With only passing comment Monday night at the Board of Education meeting, members, it was seen, are alert to the fact that Jergens' plant may mean a building boom for the section and a greater demand for school seats.

Old No. 2 School May Come Into Its Glory Once

Speculation is rife — now that the Andrew Jergens Co., pharmaceutical manufacturers has decided to locate its new $1,000,000 plant on the old Belleville Copper Rolling Mills site in Soho — as to the probability of a new school to replace old antiquated No. 2, a relic of yesteryear.

A few years ago this top-heavy structure was destined to go by the boards, but when the school authorities suggested such a building boom for the section and other buildings, a storm of protest from Soho residents, who had attended classes there themselves, saved the seat of learning for their children. The school is not up to pupil capacity.

With only passing comment Monday night at the Board of Education meeting, members, it was seen, are alert to the fact that Jergens' plant may mean a building boom for the section and a greater demand for school seats.

Real Estate Boom

There has been considerable activity in Soho section lately as regards real estate. There have been many inquiries as to purchases, it is said, some real estate operators and private investors picturing a demand in the locality for homesites.

And, thus as Jergens Saturday, after conferences Thursday and Friday with Mayor William H. Williams and the Joseph J. Garioldi Corporation, Jersey City brokers, closed the deal through its counsel Charles Milton, also Jersey City, another chapter is written in the history of Belleville's oldest section — rich in tales of days gone by.

It was late Saturday night when the company exercised its option to purchase thirty-nine acres from the Harmon Hendricks Estate, a family name written in the industrial and political history of the state.

In bringing Jergens to Belleville Mayor Williams has worked indefatigably. Over seventy conferences were held by the Mayor in the matter. The Mayor was assisted by Corporation Counsel Lawrence E. Keenan, Tax Assessor John F. Coogan, Town Engineer Matthew Sheehan, the Town Commission, and an advisory board, composed of leading industrial and business men of Belleville.

Those who participated in the final arrangements, are besides the local officials, Mr. Milton, the real estate firm representative, County Counsel Arthur T. Vanderbilt, William J. Stickle, county engineer; L. Dudley Coles, representing Newark; Kenneth V. C. Wallace, Essex County Park Commission; A. R. Watson, Erie Railroad; Neil J. Convery, Newark Housing Authority, and Martin Schreiber, Public Service Corp.

Many Substitutes

Due to illness among teachers, Belleville reached its peak in salaries for substitutes for the month, when substitutes were paid $1,218.

Appearing in the interest of the Belleville Glee Club, which sought use of schools without pay, Samuel H. Cocks, president of the club, was informed by Mr. Schmutz that a precedent would be established if the board granted the club free use of the buildings. Mr. Schmutz pointed out that there are many other deserving organizations that would apply for similar consideration and, if the board opened the schools gratis to all such groups, it would cost the schools about $5,000 a year.

Miss Malvina A. Jacobs, a teacher, was given a leave of absence for the balance of the year and ratification was made of a two weeks vacation for Miss Marjorie Owen, another teacher, from February 4 to February 22.

It's A Habit

A short time ago a burglar alarm sounded off at night at Zuccarelli's Drug Store, 240 Belleville avenue, and he was summoned from bed to quiet the racket.

A similar occurrence took place again Sunday night when the alarm went off again, disturbing neighbors shortly after midnight.

An appeal was taken to the United States Board of Tax Appeals and the hearing held in New York City on June 14, last year. The Board of Tax Appeals unanimously found that the trusts established were legal, and that there were multiple trusts, that is, there was a trust established for each child in the trust agreement, and the position taken by the Tax Department was reversed.

WPA's To Raze Mill Soon

The famous old Belleville Copper Rolling Mills on Mill street, more than 100 years old, are soon to be razed to make way for the new million-dollar Jergens Lotion plant. As Jergens' Walter Winchell might say, "The blessed event is on its way and is expected in a couple of months."

Business Guides

By C. E. Johnston
Director, Business Training Schools,
International Correspondence Schools

SPARE time, or that time which the average person spends when he is not actively engaged in earning a living, is actually more important than the time spent at work. The young person who is striving to "get somewhere" can ensure a successful business career by carefully budgeting his spare minutes. It requires but a few minutes daily to become proficient in some subject or trade which will lead to a better position.

Study the job ahead of you, is good advice. The young person who hopes to move forward in business or in a profession must acquire greater knowledge or skill. Many employers make it possible for the ambitious worker to learn as he works. However, if this opportunity is denied you, do not let yourself get into a rut. There is much that you can do yourself. Offer to do extra work if this will create an opportunity for you to learn more about advanced jobs. The most successful men are those who make their own opportunities.

The employer who fails to encourage loyalty among his employees is courting disaster. The employee who does not develop loyalty to his chief and to the business is endangering his own progress. The employee who expects to be successful in life must have the qualities of loyalty and cooperation.

Repair Overloaded Flues

A characteristic failing of many an old chimney is that its one flue frequently serves two or more fireplaces, stoves or ranges. Such a flue cannot function properly; it acts fitfully and results in smoking fixtures. It is also a certain fire menace as it becomes coated with soot and unburned particles that may be ignited by the heat of the gases in the flue, then to be dropped on to the roof of the house. If the roof is not covered with fire-resistant shingles, a disastrous fire may result. To correct such a condition, block up all smokepipe openings but one, leaving no more than one fixture to be served by the flue. Have the chimney cleaned annually, and re-roof at the earliest opportunity with fire safe shingles, such as asphalt shingles, slate or tile.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR WPA WORK AT SCHOOL

Authorities Require $150,000 For Addition At School No. 3

Local school officials have completed application for a $150,000 WPA project for an addition to School 3. The school board's share of the cost is expected to be $90,000. The third floor of School 3 has been condemned by the State Department of Education as unsafe. The Board of Education has applied for a WPA project for an addition to house an auditorium and gymnasium. A special election was held at which the voters approved an $84,000 bond issue for the school board's share of the cost. PWA officials, however, refused to give Belleville any assurance the project would be approved, as all of the funds allotted to New Jersey had been exhausted.

The WPA plans, tentatively approved, are similar to those submitted to the PWA. The WPA project, however, calls, in addition, for the fireproofing of all rooms. Herbert Schmutz, school board president, said today if PWA funds should become available after WPA project was approved, he would favor completing the job under WPA auspices. If not, another special election will have to be held to approve a bond issue to finance the schools' share of the WPA project.

Children Need Fathers

We cannot help feeling that the life of children would have a much rounder, more stable setting if all fathers somehow managed to give their young ones more of their personal attention, companionship and love. Mothers and fathers have different attitudes toward the children, and the children need both. The mother is likely to love her children for their hidden possibilities, their future promise. The father measures them by the stricter rules of society. If he is a doctor he must cure the sick; if he is a lawyer he is supposed to get justice for his client. Whatever his work he must make good now; for in his world, people are measured not by what they dream or promise by what they really do. Thus while the mother is forgiving, the father is practical and realistic.

The father, too, has broad acquaintance with men and affairs; a more objective viewpoint; greater diversity of experience. These matters "discussed" in the home give a balance and range to the child's background that he cannot get only from his mother. Especially as boys grow older, the value of the father's companionship and discipline increases as the youngsters begin to feel they are outgrowing "womanish" influence; and the worldly and vocational interests become important. Manliness in boys results from intimate contact with a manly father. Man-to-man talks between father and son are the best way to clarify the changes during adolescence. There are fathers who say they expect to take a day off some time and have a talk with their growing boy. But the day is not given and the boy grows up and does something he will always regret because that day with his father never arrived. Other fathers are gruff and unresponsive when their children hang around waiting to ask them something. It may be important to the child, but if you rebuff him and wait the occasion as an interruption or annoyance, the question may never be asked and the child's nature is hurt to that extent. Companionship cannot be had all of a sudden. It must be based on long, slow growth and confidence, and through it come the greatest satisfactions and rewards of fatherhood through the years.

Announcing Operation

Mrs. S. A. R.: My little girl, 8, has to have her tonsils out as soon as possible. I have not told her as she is nervous and high-strung and will probably make herself sick over the prospect. Yet I don't want to deceive her. What do you suggest?

She will have to be told, for such operations are usually presented all one's life. However, there are ways of telling. Someone whom the child has confidence in—you, her father, or the doctor, should tell, very briefly, casually, and matter-of-factly. Put her attention on the future benefits. Explain that the operation itself does not hurt, that there will be just a little discomfort afterwards. Try to plan the telling and the operation when there are no other special strains. Follow telling with keeping her too busy an interest in pleasant and unusual things to think of it.

GIRL SCOUTS PLAN TO ATTEND TWO WORLD'S FAIRS

Special Days Designated In New York And San Francisco

Belleville Girl Scouts will have the opportunity to visit the New York World's Fair, according to plans now being considered by the various troops.

Members of the Girl Scout World's Fair Committee who are planning events for the Golden Gate International Exposition on the west coast, and for the New York World's Fair, have just announced that Girl Scout Days have been designated in each place. At the San Francisco Fair, Saturday, May 13, will be dedicated to the more than half a million Girl Scouts in this country, and Saturday, June 10, will be "Girl Scout Day" at the New York World's Fair.

Other plans for each of the expositions are progressing rapidly, according to Mrs. James P. Shaw, of New York City, chairman of the Girl Scout World's Fair Committee. "Through the imagination and the active cooperation of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., of Oyster Bay, L. I., vice-president of the Girl Scout national organization, we are going to have a building of our own in the Children's World at the New York Fair," Mrs. Shaw reports. "That building is to be a replica of 'Our Chalet,' the international meeting place in Switzerland for Girl Scouts and Girl Guides from all parts of the world. The Chalet will be in charge of a Girl Scout executive, and will be a meeting place for all Girl Scouts who visit the fair. International pageants will be given at each exposition on Girl Scout Day," Mrs. Shaw continues. "In New York, about 16,000 Girl Scouts are expected to form a massed background for a pageant to be presented by 1500 Girl Scouts from Westchester County, N. Y. This pageant, to be based on world friendships, will include a chorus of 500 dances and other features that are to be dramatizations of the Girl Scout program."

Pianos Are Needed To Aid Sight Conservation Pupils

Unfortunate Children Need Them For Practice In Homes

Are there any Belleville residents who have pianos that they no longer have use for and who would like to donate them to a worthy cause — in homes by members of the Sight Conservation Class in Belleville school? Supervising Principal Wayne R. Parmer, today, through this newspaper, sends forth this plea because several of the blind and near blind pupils in the class, who are studying piano in school, have no instrument at home on which to practice.

"We have no fund from which to pay for advertisements," said Mr. Parmer, "and therefore may we ask help through the Belleville News? The WPA has provided a teacher for the pupils in this class, who want to while away weary hours by learning how to play the piano. There is one blind pupil and about ten near blind. Three of those who take lessons on the piano in school have none at home and, the hour once a week they play in school, is hardly sufficient for them to learn. We would like to see their endeavors carried over into their homes. Somewhere in town we may be able to find those who will come forward to help. In Montclair a similar plea was made and responses came in by the dozens."

If Belleville responds some means of transporting the pianos will be arranged. A word to Mr. Parmer at his office in Public School No. 8 or a telephone call to that office—Belleville 2-1600—is all that is necessary to help these children, who are thus impaired.

Meantime the class, which was organized in October, is steadily showing progress under Miss Evelyn Pleister, teacher, who uses large printed type to teach children who are near blind and who are not able to read small print. The children cannot use the regular class room books. A person has been supplied by the WPA to read to the blind pupil.

Captain Knight, one of the best naturalist-lecturers is known to American audiences from previous appearances with his famous eagles. He returns to America this season with a new crowned eagle, Coronation, which made her entry into the world on October 16, coronation year. The young crowned eagle is one of the showiest birds he has ever possessed.

Captain Knight's fascinating experiences filming crowned eagles will be told by him as a running commentary of the film. The nest, they originally discovered, was built in the fork of a huge yellow wood tree, about sixty-five feet from the ground. It was high above all trees around it and almost impossible to reach. There were two eggs. At a native could climb up and remove any branches that obscured a view of the nest from the cliff side, some fifty yards away. After many tries, a line was shot over the lowest fork of the tree. Ultimately, a wire was hauled over and then the ladder made of twisted steel wire with wooden rungs. But the first attempt met with failure for the distance from the nest to the hiding place they constructed up the cliff side was too great for first-rate photography.

But another nest was found in even wilder, uninhabited, unexplored country, far out at the end of an outward-growing branch. A blind was erected at the top of a nearby tree. This was built very gradually so as not to arouse the suspicions of the eagles. The first step consisted of having Capt. Knight's shirt among the topmost branches of the tree where the blind was to be built, its swaying in the breeze would, it was hoped, accustom the birds to the presence of something unusual.

At the end of a week the blind was complete but the thinness of the branches among which the hide was built made them so shaky that moving pictures would never be had steadily on the screen. So another blind was constructed, this time only nineteen feet from the eagle's nest in the enormous limbs of a giant yellow wood tree.

Then the actual photographic recording was begun and intimate studies of the home life of the eagles were secured. The extreme gentleness of the fierce-looking mother, the arrival of the two tiny eaglets, the male bringing food to the nest to feed the young, pictures of glossy specks visiting the eagles nest to collect tiny feathers with which to line the home they were making in a hole in the same tree, just below the second, a habit common to crowned and golden eagles.

The young eagle grew up until it was able to fly and the expedition filed its growth throughout the various stages.

Captain Knight, who is a raconteur par excellence, as well as a world authority on birds of prey, has been called the best lecturer of all men who use motion pictures. His is an exciting, engrossing show from start to finish and the addition of a live, crowned eagle to the program does much toward furnishing a thoroughly enjoyable show.

Home Safety Institute Meets In Newark At Their New Home

The fact that every seven seconds, an accident occurs in someone's home has stimulated Rutgers' University to mobilize its safety education resources in an attempt to bring to homemakers in the state an awareness of this problem in the effort to prevent, "not through fear but forethought," this needless and oftentimes bitter experience in family life.

To present this problem to (north, south, central) Jersey women, the University is sponsoring an institute on home safety which will be held in the auditorium of the Newark Evening News Building, 215 Market street, Newark, on March 7, beginning at 10 a. m. The all-day meeting, which is one of three to be held over the state, is given under the auspices of the Home Economics Extension Service, New Jersey College of Agriculture, in cooperation with the Rutgers Bureau of Public Safety.

According to Mrs. Margaret C. Shepard, county home demonstration agent, the nation's record in home safety is a challenge to homemakers, and one which should be brought to the attention of every family.

"It is the purpose of this institute," she said, "to give practical and helpful suggestions in home engineering, and to guide homemakers in the creation of safe attitudes which will be the basis to the solution of the problem. Homemaking is a science, and the homemaker should apply the same techniques as are now being put into effect in industry and highway safety to make the home safer."

Miss Marion Butters, assistant director of the Home Economics Extension Service, will act as chairman of the meeting. Professor Lawrence B. Tipton, head of the Bureau of Public Safety, which is a part of the University Extension Division, will outline the purpose and scope of the institute.

"The state and individual municipalities and doing very progressive work in making our state and highways safer," Professor Tipton said. "School children are being taught safety and industry is constantly increasing its efforts to reduce accidents to a minimum. There is no reason why the home should be more dangerous than these public areas. Home accidents, which are so unnecessary, can be prevented and the mother and homemaker is the one who has the direct responsibility for instilling safe habits and attitudes, as well as for safe engineering in housekeeping."

"The children learn the value of safety and safe practices at school. The father is in direct contact with industrial safety programs while at work. It is time that safety practices go into the home as an active part of family life and a philosophy of home management."

Carrillon Will Turn Belfry Of Lawrenceville School Into "Singing Tower"

CHICAGO — Construction of the carrillon that will turn the belfry of the Lawrenceville (N. J.) school chapel into a "Singing Tower" has been started in the Chicago plant of J. C. Deagan, Inc., famed American bell makers.

The three-ton instrument is the gift of Martin F. Tiernan, of Wallace & Tiernan, Inc.

It is of the tubular-bell variety, rather than the old-world cast bell type, and will be played electrically from a small manual in the chapel. The tubular-bell carrillon also differs from the old variety in that each bell is equipped with electrically operated dampers which silence each note as the following is struck, permitting the melody to stand out clear and unimpaired rather than running together in a jumble of tone as in the case of the old cast bell sets.

The Deagan plant, building the Lawrenceville carrillon is also now engaged in construction of the Florida Stephen Foster Memorial carrillon. The latter will be heard at the New York World's Fair for the duration of that exposition and then permanently erected on the banks of the Suwannee river the composer immortalized in song.

The Foster carrillon is of seventy-five bells; largest ever built.

BARNARD REPORTS PHONE ACTIVITY

Marked Improvement Noted In The Last Few Months, He Says

Telephone activity in New Jersey in 1938 followed the trend of general business, Chester I. Barnard, president of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, states in the Company's annual report made public today. The decline which began in the last quarter of 1937 continued through the early part of 1938. A marked improvement was shown in the later months, usually considered somewhat of a measure of general business activity, were 1,900,000, or about two per cent fewer than in 1937, the report states. The total volume of telephone calls, however, including both local and toll, was greater by about 80,000 calls a day average.

Telephones in use in New Jersey increased in 1938 but much more slowly than in 1937. The net gain in telephones for last year was 15,429, compared with 33,703 in 1937. A total of 702,955 telephones were in service at the end of 1938, a new year-end peak number which, however, was 1,800 less than the maximum reached during the summer period of seasonal installations.

Operating revenues for 1938 totaled $48,231,103 compared with $48,144,510 in 1937. Operating expenses except operating taxes were $33,091,070 compared with $33,069,756 in 1937. Operating taxes increased $217,220 in spite of substantial credits on amounts charged in previous years and totaled $6,661,337, "an amount equivalent to $9.58 per telephone or the operating revenues of the Company for 50 days."

Net operating income amounted to $8,770,696, a return of 4.06 per cent, on the book cost of physical property and working capital employed in the business, which was approximately the same as in 1937. Net income available for dividends was equal to $6.18 per share of $100 par value common stock outstanding. Dividend payments for the year totaled $5.00 per share. The balance of net income amounting to $1,650,635 was added to the Company's surplus.

Service improvements noted in the report include new central offices in new buildings at Cedarville, Millburn, Neshanic and Penns Grove; further substitution of cable for open wire on main circuit routes; a simplified method for Atlantic City telephone users to make out-of-town calls which enables them to dial "Operator" for all such calls as well as for assistance on local calls; and faster service for information and Long Distance calls. The average call for distant points from New Jersey telephones is now completed in less than a minute and a half.

Committee held its initial meeting Monday evening at the office of Franklin E. Pellegrin, 11 Hill street, Newark.

"CHRIST JESUS" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 26.

The Golden Text is: "Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; . . . And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of Lord Jesus, (Colossians 3:16, 17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I am who I am in the world, and I will not abide in darkness. And if any man hear my words, and believe not, I judge him not: for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world." (John 12:46, 47).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christ, as the spiritual or true idea of God, comes now as of old, preaching the gospel to the poor, healing the sick, and casting out evils. Is it error which is restoring an essential element of Christianity, namely, apostolic, divine healing? No; it is the Science of Christianity which is restoring it, and is the light shining in darkness, which the darkness comprehends not." (p.347).

Local Features Of Interest To Homemakers

Ten Years Younger

LOOKING smart at middle-age is much more a matter of time and thought than money, beauty and fashion experts have found.

Fashion director Helen Koues of Good Housekeeping Magazine believes that mothers unconsciously let time steal their youth from them long before it should. "Lack of interest and lack of money may sometimes be the cause," she says in the February issue of the magazine, "but more often the cause is neglect, creeping in unnoticed by unselfish mothers who give their lives to their families with never a thought of how their appearance affects their sons and daughters."

Wanting to help all these American Mothers, Miss Koues and her fashion staff have worked out the problem of achieving youthful smartness with Mrs. Smedley of Bronxville, N. Y., whose daughter is in high school, to prove that their theory is practical.

"I felt that glamour was no longer my forte," Mrs. Smedley told the fashion staff, "so I decided I might at least be both warm and comfortable; so I succumbed to woolly sweaters and skirts." The result is seen in the photograph at the left taken just before the fashion staff went to work.

After a vigorous series of beauty treatments, careful fitting of the all-important foundation garment, Mrs. Smedley emerged as the stunning matron shown in the cardigan.

dates with water and nuts. Then add melted butter. Bake 3/4 hour in moderate oven very slowly.

Thank You

Dear Aunt Flo: If it is permissible, having two recipes I sent in accepted by you, I will submit another for your consideration. This is a dessert popular in Pennsylvania Dutch section.

Fruit Crunch

1 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 egg
Pinch salt
Mix with fork

Grease pan or casserole and fill with sliced or whole fruit — if latter small, put mixture on top. Dot with butter and cinnamon and 1 tablespoon sugar. Sprinkle with little water on top. Bake in moderate oven — 30 to 35 mins.

Canned fruits with juice drained off may be used. If tart sprinkle sugar on fruit. Juice may be thickened with corn starch and used as sauce or a hard sauce can be used.

Very truly yours,
Mabel (Mrs. J. H.) Melroy,
51 Smallwood Ave.,
Belleville, N. J.

Dear Mrs. Melroy: I regret that this very excellent recipe for Fruit Crunch arrived after the winners had been selected. I know that you will permit me to pass it on to our readers even though you are not one of those chosen to get tickets to the Capitol this week. I have received so many recipes since the paper came out Friday that I had to make my choice Monday morning and your recipe arrived in the afternoon mail. Thanks for your interest in this column and better luck next time.

STATION AFBN CALLING ALL BOYS AND MOTHERS

Ambition is one of our greatest assets if correctly applied. — Mothers do not squelch it.

Bill, aged ten writes: "Dear Aunt Flo: Do you think it is awful to have a paper route? I am ten years old and like fun but I want to have a business like my dad, you know, so I can make money. Mother says I am to young. Gee, she makes a baby out of me she says all the people will talk and say we are washed up if I have to sell papers. I'm good in lessons so she is got no kick a feller bigger than me says I can help him deliver papers and earn 25 cents a week and may be later more. Please answer me so I can show mother.

Dear Bill: I am one hundred percent for newspaper routes and sales. So go to it and show your mother this answer. I believe that every boy should begin early to do some sort of work that he likes in order to earn a little money of his own — but it must not interfere with his school work, for you know education is also very necessary.

I see no reason why a newspaper route, such as you speak of, should not be the grandest work you could do, in fact I know it would, because right in my very own family there was a boy, who long years ago, had such a route and today he is a big business man and engaged in big business propositions, as ANDY would say. Suppose I tell you about this boy and then let mother do as she thinks best about you.

The boy I am going to tell you about we will call Tom. Well, Tom was a fine healthy, happy boy of eight. He had not a worry in the world. All he needed to do was to go to his Dad, make his wishes known and, like rubbing the magic lamp, his wish was granted. He had everything a boy eight could wish for. Then one day something dreadful happened — his Dad became very ill and was unable to work again and, no matter how much he rubbed the magic lamp, nothing happened.

Finally, he came to his mother and told her that a high school boy had offered him a job as helper on his newspaper route. The mother felt just like your mother does for she still had a lot of foolish pride and so she told Tom that it would be better not to start out. However, Tom wanted to take his Dad's place very badly and so he coaxed and coaxed until his mother finally said, "All right." Tom began, and was he happy? I'll say he was. In fact he was so happy that even his mother began to be happy, too, just to see his smiling little face when he returned from the route each day laughingly telling her about all the kind women customers who gave him bright red apples and homemade cookies when he delivered their papers. Tom only made a quarter a week but he was proud and felt independent because it paid his way to the movies each week.

Finally, the High School boy got a better job and gave the entire route to Tom. It was no trouble for him to take over the work because he had grown used to it and by this time had also gained the confidence of the newsdealer. He kept right on with his job, year after year gaining customers, all the time and making more money. He was thrifty and each week saved a certain amount which he deposited in the school bank. Finally, he graduated from High School and sought employment with a large business corporation. They asked if he had ever done any sort of work. Tom was not ashamed of his experience as a newspaper boy and so he told them about that. They got in touch with the newsdealer who recommended him most highly, said he could always be depended upon, was honest, always on time. Tom got the job he was after and since that time has been going steadily up the ladder. Today Tom feels that much of his success is due to his first experience as a newspaper boy — and somehow I feel that way about it too.

I wish you the very best of luck Bill, my boy, and I hope most sincerely that your mother will let you take that newspaper route.

Thomas W. Harrison

Thomas W. Harrison, president of T. W. Harrison, Inc., Plymouth-De Soto dealer, Washington avenue between Little street and Overlook avenue, has been in the automobile business in New Jersey since 1920. In 1922 he took over the A. P. Heyer agency in Montclair, the oldest garage in the state, organized in 1901. He operated that business until 1936, meantime opening his agency here in 1935. He was born in Bath, N. Y., 1896 and attended Heberling High School there, later going to Bath, Me., where he worked in the woods as a lumberjack, replacing this activity with a job with the Texas S. S. Co., Bath, Me.

He was later with a steamship company in Chester, Pa., and then did the welding work on the Mayor Hylan Fireboat, N. Y., at Shooter's Island, S. I. He also built motors for Curtiss-Wright and American La France Company, both Elmira, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison live in Bloomfield and have a daughter, a recent graduate of the high school, there.

Victor Hart

Victor Hart, Jeweler, 457 Washington avenue, corner Tappan, was born in Newark in 1886 and attended schools there, including Newark Technical School and other schools where he studied designing and drawing. He has been at the same corner for thirteen years. His father was a jeweler before him as was his grandfather in England. His brother Joseph Hart, Jr., is one of the largest jewelry manufacturers in England. Victor also studied there for five years in the School of Art, Birmingham, in which he earned a scholarship. He was president of Hart Bros., Inc., Newark, after working for some of the largest jewelry concerns in this country.

He has lived with his wife at 112 Floyd street, for the last thirty-one years and the couple have two sons, Victor L. and Wilbur Thomas. Victor is a member of the Lions Club and one of the originators of the old Greylack Improvement Association and the Greylack Hose Company.

Dr. Cecil L. Gates, D.V.M.

Dr. Cecil L. Gates, who operates the Animal Hospitals, Washington avenue at Mill street, was born in Green City, Mo., and attended schools in Berhoad, Col., Gill, a city of 100 persons, and Windsor, the same state. At Windsor High School he played basketball on the school team that was co-champion of the United States. He graduated from Colorado College, Fort Collins, in 1932, studying small animal practice, a love he developed while working with the S.P.C.A., New York, in order to pay his way through school. He was at times bell-hop, waiter and worked in the school library with the same aim in mind. While in college he was a star wrestler in the 135-pound class.

Mr. Gates, who is thirty-two, married and has one daughter, lives at Lake Valhalla, near Boonton. He established his business here seven years ago and also operates with his brother other animal hospitals in Paterson and Boonton. His hobby, he says, when he finds time is "puttering in the garden" at his home. He employs four persons here.

Ed. A. Moos

If some of today's apologies for wrestlers should inadvertently bump into Ed. A. Moos, genial manager of Sears-Roebuck Company store in Washington avenue they might figure that an "Ed" might well be added to his name. In substantiation of this Ed was intercollegiate wrestling champion in 1930-31 while attending Haverford College from which he was graduated with a B. S. degree. He wrestled in the 175-pound division and won nation-wide acclaim as a stalwart fullback for the same college football team. The manager, who was born in Jenkintown, Pa., also swats 80 with a tiny golf pellet in a round Ed, who is a member of Belleville Rotary Club and the Alumni Associations of Haverford and George Prep School, has Walter Winchell's word for it that Constantine Bennett is that way about him. He learned managerial duties at Sears-Roebuck headquarters in Chicago and opened stores for the company in Glen Cove and Far Rockaway, L. I. and managed Irvington and Staten Island stores.

Our neighborhood shopkeeper is entitled to our patronage because he is endeavoring to carry a well rounded stock of goods and is prepared to sell his products at the most reasonable price possible consistent with a fair profit he is entitled to. He is entitled to the patronage of our local residents because in most cases he is a property owner, not only of his place of business but of his home in Belleville.

It was decidedly interesting to me to find in the shops of one of our food dealers that he carried 60 different imported products and practically every well-known brand of food stuffs manufactured in this country.

It was interesting to note in a shop supplying apparel for men and women that this merchandiser had in stock a full range of several of the best known makes of shirts which are nationally advertised. Another shop carries 8 lines of nationally advertised shoes, another in the hardware line carried practically everything required by the average property owner to aid in the maintenance of his property or in improving yard and garden.

At shops of several of our automobile dealers I was greatly interested in finding that they have machines of latest designs for testing the various electrical units of automobiles. This analysis impressed upon me very deeply the fact that all of these men, whether carrying merchandise in stock for our daily needs or awaiting our calls for service, are justly entitled to the patronage of the citizens of Belleville. We, in turn, by giving our local merchants an opportunity to serve us, enable them to develop their business and in turn render to us an opportunity to have a greater selection of materials available at their shops.

May I urge upon the buying public of Belleville that we individually and collectively endeavor to purchase all the materials we require in the running of our homes at local stores and show by our purchases that we appreciate the efforts of local merchants to supply us with quality merchandise at proper prices?

MARCH OF TIME and WALT DISNEY'S "MICKEY MOUSE"

Button, Button Who's Got Freddie's Buttons?
A Malone avenue couple, or rather the husband, was slightly embarrassed the other evening, all because friend hubby had given his wife a chow dog for Christmas.
A party of the wife's girl friends were invited to the home, it seems, and to "spruce up" the occasion, hubby went off to the bathroom with a really pressed suit. The bathroom is midway between the living room and kitchenette, to which the girls were just about to repair when hubby discovered that the chow had played a rather disagreeable trick.
While hubby was making good use of his electric shaver, the animal took time out to chew off the buttons from hubby's vest. And, as if to make matters worse, his trousers, as well.
There he was - Freddie in his name - stranded high and dry. Only an opportune visit from his wife saved Freddie. She produced another suit for him and the girls in the party never knew his predicament.
