To Cooperate With Police Officials

Exalted Ruler Harold A. Gahr, Belleville Lodge of Elks, announced today the receipt of a communication from John G. Sauerwein, chairman of the New Jersey State Elks Association Safety Drive Committee, advising that the members of the order who have driven a car for the past two years without an accident for which they were responsible will be awarded gold merit cards. Honor rolls are now being distributed to the secretaries of the lodges in the state to enroll all drivers entitled to this award. The presentation will be made on a special safety night meeting which will be set aside for the purpose during March.

The program of giving certificates to each student who had satisfactorily completed the course of study on highway safety as approved by the New Jersey Department of Public Construction and recommended by the Motor Vehicle Department will again be a feature of this year's safety program.

The certificate will be signed by Howard W. Lewis, president of the State Elks Association; Charles H. Elliot, commissioner of education; Arthur W. Magee, commissioner of motor vehicles, and the principal of the school in which the course has been completed. It will be issued as a part of the educational program of the Safety Drive Committee of the State Elks Association, to promote increased care on the highways so that the toll of traffic fatalities might be reduced. Award of the certificate will be made on commencement night to each student who completed the course through Mr. Sauerwein and the exalted ruler of the local lodge in cooperation with the local school authorities.

The Elks' committee will continue the practice of cooperating with the municipal authorities in the removal of highway hazards. It is generally recognized that this joint effort has played a very important part in decreasing auto fatalities in our state.

Plans Are In The Embryo For Celebration April 5th

Mayor Is Expected To Name
Committee To Work Out
Details

With about three and one-half weeks in which to prepare a program for the opening event of Belleville's 100th anniversary celebration many in town are wondering just what type of program Mayor William H. Williams has in mind.

It has been said by him that he will name a committee to work out details for an affair on April 5 to take cognizance of the fact that it was 100 years ago on that date that Belleville had its first meeting of officials under an independent township. To date this committee has not been named although some civic-spirited citizens of Belleville have made known their desires to the mayor to assist in providing a "bang-up" time on the first observance.

While the official family will strut its stuff on April 5, embryo plans of the mayor call for a public gathering the same day in the Elks' Home auditorium where a prominent speaker will be provided. The town may be decorated and a parade staged by school children, merchants and manufacturers — in fact the town may treat itself to a holiday, or should, say many.

NURSES' PROBLEMS TOLD AT WELFARE MEETING HERE

Nurse Anna A. Ewing
Explained Varied
Duties Of Group

The Welfare Federation held its regular monthly meeting at its office, 338 Washington avenue, Tuesday evening, when Miss Anna A. Ewing, R.N., director of the Visiting Nurses Association, Newark, a member of the Welfare Federation of Newark and Belleville, and one of the participating agencies in the Community Chest, addressed the board members on services this organization renders to the citizens of Belleville.

She explained: The Visiting Nurse Association furnishes nursing care to the sick in their homes and teaches personal hygiene and sanitation; the visiting nurse, under the direction of the attending physician, gives bedside nursing care to patients and there is full cooperation between the nurse and the social and health agencies of the community, and told of the pre-natal and post-natal care, without which an appalling number of new lives would be dangerously handicapped from the beginning.

Miss Ewing pointed out that because of the assistance rendered through medical science to prolong life, the nurses find themselves caring for a large number of elderly persons with chronic diseases for whom there is no room in hospitals. She reported that in Belleville last year approximately 4,000 visits were made and her report for the first month of this year shows 337.

Floyd Bragg, president, appointed a committee of three, Recorder Everett P. Smith, Philip Dettelbach and School Board President Herbert Schmutz to submit the names of candidates for the 1940 Community Chest campaign at the next meeting.

Reports of the Belleville Girl Scouts and Community Service Bureau were read and ordered filed. Members who attended the meeting for the first time were Mrs. Alan D. Lundy, Walter Price and Hal Earl.

NO VIOLENCE AT SONNEBORN PLANT

Workmen Walked Out
After Confab Last

Although police escort workmen to the plant, no violence has been reported, although a few trucks with material consigned to the company, have been stopped.

Between twenty-five and thirty employees went on strike Friday at the plant which is located in Hancox avenue at the Nutley-Belleville line. They are all members of the Paint, Varnish, Shellac and Lacquer Workers' Union, A. F. of L.

Frank Celecia, union delegate, said the strikers were demanding a closed shop, wage increases, improved working conditions and vacations with pay. The strikers, he said, were all employed on an hourly basis.

The management, Celecia said, offered ten cents an hour raise Thursday night as an inducement to stay and join a company union.

Philip Dettelbach, plant superintendent, declared the strike was primarily over a jurisdictional dispute between the A. F. of L. group and the Avondale Welfare Association, an organization of employees. The management, he said, will negotiate with both groups if necessary until a single agency can be established by an election. Both groups were organized within the last four weeks.

Dettelbach explained the plant, which manufactures paint, lubricants, employs ninety-three, of whom fifty-one are on an hourly pay basis.

Striking employees of the company have charged the company had attempted to intimidate.

NEWARK ACTS ON BOUNDARY PACT

Will Confer With Local Officials On Line
In Lake

The Newark City Commission has adopted an ordinance agreeing to a resettlement of the Belleville-Newark line to expedite acquisition of the Branch Brook Park site for the Newark $14,000,000 low cost housing program.

The commission has named L. Dudley Coles, assistant chief engineer; Alfred L. Swain, chief clerk of the Department of Public Affairs, and Assistant Corporation Counsel Kane as a committee to confer with local officials on adjustments.

Decision on a new city line in the Silver Lake section was urged by the Newark Housing Authority, which declared it could not press condemnation proceedings for the Branch Brook Park site unless it was certain of its limits. The new line, which replaces the line through the center of old Meadowbrook, gives Newark about 10,000 square feet of land, all of which will be tax exempt when taken over by the housing authority.

Mrs. E. T. Seeley, 164 Academy street, entertained Wednesday for her five hundred club. Those present were Mrs. Charles Fritts, Nutley; Mrs. Willis Ford, Newark; Mrs. Margaret Norris, Danial Mellis, Mrs. Harry Higgs and Mrs. Wilfred Booth.

MANY EXAMINED AT DENTAL CLINICS IN LOCAL SCHOOLS

Mrs. Alice Mayer
Renders Initial
Report Of Work

A report of Mrs. Alice Mayer, dental assistant in the schools, shows that between January 3 and February 17 1,472 dental examinations were made in Public Schools Nos. 3, 5 and 8, according to Walter Gilby, school commissioner.

Only 169 children were found to have teeth that could be marked "O.K." Examinations were conducted from the kindergarten through the eighth grades, and three special classes at School No. 8.

Following examinations white charts were sent home to parents by Mrs. Mayer who says she has inquired from time to time of the dentists who are cooperating on a gratis basis as to whether they have received back any of the charts from parents. All pointed out that they have received "quite a few" at their respective offices, but are waiting until the examinations have been completed in all the schools before returning them to the pupils involved.

At School No. 8 Miss Viola Broadbent, principal, reports thirty charts returned, marked "work completed," five, "can't afford to go to dentist," and one, no remarks. Principal William F. Richards, School No. 3, reports fifty-four charts marked "work completed," and School No. 5, Principal Robert N. Hayes, two charts marked "work completed."

Following completion of examinations at schools pink cards are filed according to streets. After a month's time has elapsed a list is made up of the names and addresses of pupils who do not respond. This list is turned over to the town nurses for visits to homes, says Mrs. Mayer.

Following are the doctors who are co-operating: Morris Rochlin, Tracey Wilson, G. P. Worthington, B. A. Jacobson, George Kaden, Kenneth Mass, Albert Mandell, William Fabris and S. H. Wilde.

MOTION PICTURE HERE TO AID CAMP FUND

Teachers' Association Plans
Affair In Local High School

Capt. C. W. R. Knight will give his motion picture lecture, "Leopard of the Air," on Friday, March 24, in Belleville High School. The Belleville Teachers' Association is sponsoring the program for a summer camp fund for children who would not be able otherwise to leave the town for a brief stay in healthful surroundings.

Capt. Knight is well known as the "Eaglemann," but he is more than that. His motion picture lecture includes unbelievable, exciting and amusing shots of a great variety of animals and birds. As leader of the National Geographic Society South African Expedition of 1937, he has filmed a lioness actually stalking and beating very gradually, so different from the usual "action pictures."

Giant sand-moles, the hammer headed stork's method of building its huge domed nest, the home life of the secretary bird and murderous black and white crow that comes to devour the eggs — all have been filmed by this world authority on birds of prey. His film includes shots of the rodent giant mole, probably evolved from a squirrel; little butcher birds and gawky ostriches that do not leave their eggs to hatch in the sun but brood them like any other reasonable bird.

To film the home life of the secretary bird, a bird found only in South Africa, Capt. Knight constructed a hiding place ten yards from the nest, which was perched on top of a large bush. The pictures give a complete record, showing the nest from the time it contained eggs to the fully grown young out in the world. We see the young fed on lizards, locusts and snakes.

Capt. Knight not only filmed and photographed with still camera, in which a hammer headed stork fashions its home, but photographed a squirrel that took possession of the almost completed nest and then both hammer heads working feverishly on a new home.

Capt. Knight is the only man to have filmed the white rhinoceros in its native haunts, an animal, seen by so few, which is enormous, like a battleship on legs.

The humorous side of the film is supplied by such scenes as that of a native party to celebrate the birth of the young eagle, a troop of baboons feasting on the carefully concealed food of a party of natives and the antics of the monkeys, which suggest actors in a modern comedy.

Silver Lake Couple Hold 50th Wedding Anniversary

The Community Hall, 116 Belmont avenue, was the scene of a beautiful party on Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt, 162 Belmont avenue, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at a reception given in their honor. The hall was beautifully decorated with white and gold crepe paper, symbolic of the anniversary, and the couple were surrounded with beautiful flowers as they renewed their wedding vows.

The blessing was given by Rev. Benedetto Pascale, pastor of the First Italian Baptist Church, who prayed for continuation of their marital bliss. Mr. Hunt presented his wife with a platinum wedding band for her right hand.

Monday in Loft's Restaurant, Broad and Market streets, Newark. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Edith Burch, 18 Monmouth court, Irvington, or Mrs. Matilda Aierstole, 357 Summer avenue, Newark.

Mrs. Hoffman is chairman of a birthday dinner to be given the Post on Monday, March 20, by the Auxiliary.

The American Legion Auxiliary entered February with 371, 206 members enrolled for 1939, the largest February 1 enrollment in its history, according to Mrs. Huemer, membership chairman of Belleville Unit. This figure was an increase of 21,342 over the same date last year, when the Auxiliary established an all-time high membership record of 463,000. Maintaining the same rate of gain, the organization will have more than 485,000 members this year, Mrs. Hoffman, department chairman, pointed out.

LOCAL YOUTH HAS UNDULANT FEVER AT MICHIGAN

Health Report Shows
Many Others Sick
In Belleville

A Belleville student at the University of Michigan, Martin Cherin, twenty, 11 Van Houten place, is ill in the college infirmary with Undulant (Malta) Fever. He was stricken a few weeks ago while attending classes and, it is said, is now on the road to recovery, although the length of time needed for convalescence varies, according to doctors.

Several other students, two from Newark, recently were similarly stricken at the University. The disease, which usually comes with chills, perspiration and a high fever is usually contracted through drinking cow's or goat's milk, or by eating raw meat, which contains the germ. It is seldom contagious, authorities say.

According to Health Officer Eugene T. Berry pneumonia and influenza and common colds have kept the doctors in Belleville on the jump the last two months. In January five contracted lobar pneumonia, two broncho pneumonia and eight influenza. The schools reported the highest substitute salary list in the history of the town, due to illness among teachers. Many pupils, likewise, were ill with colds. Chicken pox cases totaled forty-four in January, whooping cough, twenty-nine, and scarlet fever, eighteen. There were three cases of measles, two of erysipelas, two tuberculosis, two naso-pharyngitis and one mumps.

SUGGEST CLOSING STORES WEDNESDAY AFTERNOONS

Plan Was In Vogue
Here Two Years Ago

With the New York's World Fair offering much to visitors and other Spring and Summer attractions in the offing, Belleville's business places, especially the stores, are turning thoughts toward Wednesday afternoon closing. This was in vogue two years ago, but was not town-wide last year because two of the large food markets failed to agree to close.

Edwin Meile, 102 Washington avenue, vegetable store proprietor, suggested today to a News reporter that some agitation be started for the closing. He pointed out that if the large food markets had closed, A. & P., Mutual, National, American and other stores would go along.

Many other store proprietors are in accord with Mr. Meile. They agree that six days behind a counter, from early morning until late in the evening, irritates them to one-half day off during the week.

"All that is needed is cooperation," says Mr. Meile.

Sales of Town-Owned Properties

by

The Town of Belleville, N. J.

The Town of Belleville has sold many sites upon which attractive homes have been constructed and sold. The builders who have pioneered in the use of properties offered for sale by the Town of Belleville have been successful in their enterprise, have returned and purchased additional sites upon which new homes are now under construction.

The fact that Belleville has been successful in its efforts to have new industries locate in our municipality, the most recent and notable being, The Andrew Jergens Company, whose plant when complete is estimated to employ 1,200 persons, has caused increased inquiries for the development of residential sites in Belleville.

All properties are sold at Public Auction.

It is our purpose to make all sales as public as possible by widely distributing information to the public in general and to those engaged in the real estate and construction business.

Cooperation of real estate brokers is welcomed.

The Real Estate and Industrial Bureau of Revenue and Finance Department of Belleville is equipped to render competent real estate service to those seeking new locations for homes, home developments or industrial development.

All industrial inquiries will receive my personal attention. Experience gained by 20 years engaged in industry enables me to have an understanding of the complex problems confronting industrialists.

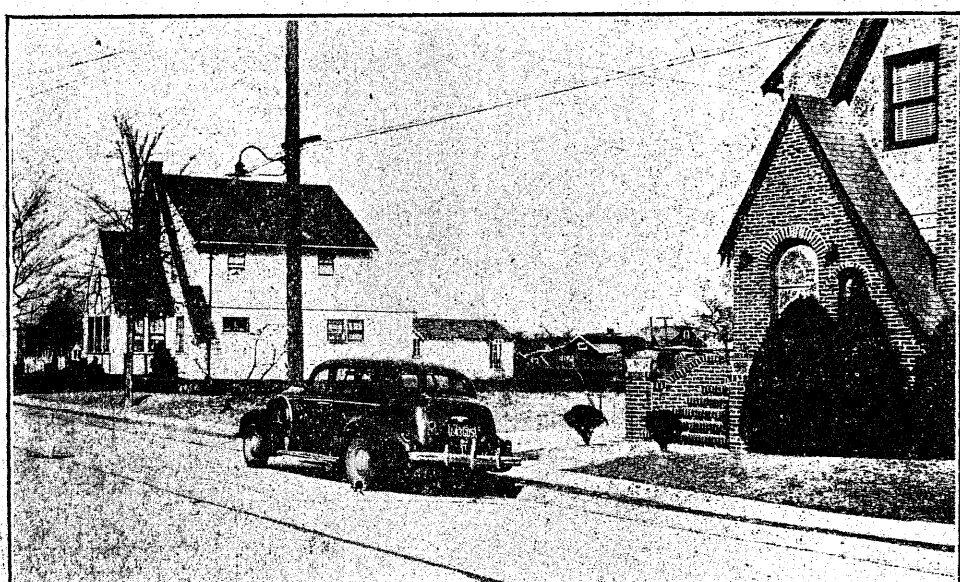

The sales of residential properties owned by the Town of Belleville are in charge of Tax Assessor John F. Coogan, Jr., whose real estate experience will be helpful to prospective purchasers.

Inquiries on the described properties, or any properties for sale by the Town of Belleville will be given prompt and competent attention.

What Do Your Guests Think of Your Home?

Quite properly, you're not trying to keep up with the Joneses. But you want to be proud of the appearance of your home, however modest it may be.

Do the Joneses and other callers begin to see scaling paint, notice poor heating and ventilating, or an antiquated bathroom? It has been hard in recent years to "keep it up." But it's costly to let it run down.

It may be easier than you think to repair and improve your home with a First National F.H.A. loan. Repayment can be made in small monthly amounts, spread over 2 years or more.

We invite you to call on any of our officers for further information.

FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1939

THE 100th ANNIVERSARY PLANS

Only three and one-half weeks remain to prepare for the first official celebration of Belleville's 100th birthday as an independent community. This seems scant time in which to fittingly prepare the type of program that should mark the occasion, although Mayor William H. Williams says he has some tentative ideas about taking note of the first meeting of Belleville officialdom back on April 5, 1839. He would have the local commission meet on April 5, 1939, to coincide with the first municipal meeting, and, according to his plan, have a public meeting at which there would be a speaker of prominence in the Elks' Home auditorium that day. He further would have some sort of parade and then follow throughout the year with various other set celebrations—notably one on July 4. This is all splendid on the part of the mayor, but Belleville should do this job at once. The mayor, and we believe he has it in mind, should name a committee of outstanding public-spirited men and women, some of whom have already told this newspaper they would be glad to assist the mayor in working out a "bang-up" celebration.

This newspaper has told the mayor of the offer of these persons and, no doubt, their aid will be enlisted. Some of those who have offered help are in a position to lend invaluable aid in a project that should be more than a one-man proposition. G. R. B. Symonds, former Nutley Town Engineer and president of the Nutley-Belleville Buick Company, recently urged Belleville Rotary Club to provide speakers in the schools to acquaint children with the historical background of Belleville, dating back to Revolutionary days. Mr. Symonds' family is an old one in these parts, having had public affairs relations when Belleville and Nutley were one.

It is believed the mayor, who has not yet divulged his full plan or named a committee to carry out the celebration, would decorate the main streets of the town. It might be suggested that the decorations not only be for one day but carried on throughout the summer. While the July 4 celebration will probably be a feature, another suggestion of this newspaper is that it be arranged along the banks of the Passaic River, where there is a setting of natural beauty—where boats could be gaily decorated with American flags, where a regatta, similar to the one of a few years ago, could be staged. Belleville—if it had a mind—could make this occasion one also to go down in its history. Let's get the ball rolling and not wait until the last frame to bowl over the ten pins. Let's make this program click from start to finish.

ON THE ROPES

March, the mad month of wicked winds, from all appearances the last week, came to town like a polar bear instead of the traditional lion, although the winds did howl on occasion. One cannot expect too much of a stretch of days ahead of us. They constitute sort of a bridge between winter and spring. But if we have bad ones now we can look forward to better ones as the month progresses. We can look forward to spring outfits, seeds for planting, new grass, ripples in the stream and green grass.

windows and that snow shovel, unless we are fortunate enough to have room for these articles in the garage. Winter, a friend opines, is like Tony Galento may be if and when he meets Joe Louis—on the ropes.

MANY THANKS, LADIES . . . IT'S YOUR NEWSPAPER

"I can hardly wait until the postman leaves your paper on my front porch each Friday morning. That's how much I like it." Not once, but several times the last week this cheery, friendly message has reached our ears—and it is like sweet music. We are glad our readers are enjoying the new Belleville News each week and that the features we are adding are proving worthwhile. The Belleville News aims to be YOUR newspaper—a paper that will try honestly and conscientiously to chronicle all the news in Belleville, the intimate news that YOU want to read. We will be more than pleased to receive your suggestions for improvement.

A lady, who has been a resident of this town for thirty years, and a staunch Bellevilleite all that time, accidentally came across the writer the other day while he was conversing with a store proprietor as regards the relative value of newspaper advertising and circulars. The proprietor was inclined to think he obtained results from his circulars, as well as the newspaper.

"Well," interjected the lady, who previously had not met the writer, "I want to say I am sick and tired of circulars cluttering my lawn and porch. Why you find dozens of circulars from the same store. I read the Belleville News and so do all my neighbors. We like it because it is our home town paper—because it carries all the detail items. We wouldn't be without it. And, I want to add, that I read the advertisements. I read every one and so do all my friends."

The lady is a member of the Woman's Club and several other organizations. We made ourselves known to her and she suggested a ban on circulars in Belleville. Truly the Belleville News is becoming YOUR newspaper. The women like it for good, clean, wholesome reading and are voicing the opinion that the paper is the medium through which they would like to do their shopping. The women of Belleville like their homes to be neat and take pride in their grounds outside their homes. We are with them wholeheartedly to prevent the promiscuous circular nuisance that clutters lawns and sidewalks in Belleville. Let the movement against this pesky matter get under way. Your town will be better, your stores will be better and your newspaper will be better.

NO COMPROMISE

There is a rumor that men's suits in the future will come without vests, even the Winter ones. Of course, such a suggestion is preposterous, if not fantastic. Where in the world would any man carry his pencils, pen, cigars, watch chain, spare collar buttons, items he tears from the newspapers, the shopping list, stubs of theatre and fight tickets, his note book, eye glasses, lucky coin, rare stamps, cigarette lighter, not to mention several books of card matches, some of which with not a match in them? With all the talk going about regarding the rights of man and the need of protecting them in this changing age, such an idea is absurd and must not come to pass.

TEACHING US A LESSON

How many times we meet people who never seem contented until they have made someone else miserable! You know them, men and women who derive their entire happiness from trying to make other people unhappy. They are like a burr in the shoe, a brass pin pricking into the flesh, a snake in the grass. Really nothing quite describes the effect they have on you. They take away all ambition, all pleasure, all courage, if you stay where they are for any length of time. The world seems all wrong and life itself hardly worth living. Yet they really should teach a lesson. The distressing and disagreeable things they say and do should make us thankful that all people we meet are not like this caustic minority. Their manners and methods, the people who shrink away from them, should fill your own heart with determination to extend your hands in kindness and fellowship. Really we should be grateful to these "teachers" for making us resolve never to be like them in thought, word or deed.

HE HAS SUCH TAKING WAYS

THIS WEEK

by "Guardian"

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

This week saw confirmation by the State Senate of Frank Hague, Jr., as a Judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals of the State of New Jersey. It developed as we indicated last week that enough Senators would not be able to stand up against the pressure to have this young man fail of confirmation and that was news, not only for the State but for the nation. Despite his relative youth and lack of experience, it is probable that had the young man's name not been Hague there would not have been much to do about the nomination—but, as has been observed, if the young man's name had not been Hague, he never would have been nominated. Despite his youth, the best comment in the whole situation was made by the Essex County Senator who, according to press reports, said that maybe the confirmation was a good thing because it would of a certainty give impetus to the movement that has been started to reorganize, reform and rejuvenate the whole Judicial set-up of the State. Let's hope so!

So we are going to have either 3500 new military airplanes or even 6000 if the U. S. Senate has its way—with three hundred fifty-eight millions of dollars appropriated for the purpose. We continue to be dumb in understanding where we are going to use these 6000 airplanes and against whom. Firm as we always have been in encouraging adequate defense forces, it seems to us that this is going at it in a bit of a panic. Airplanes—because of the rapid technological developments of the industry, soon become outmoded. That isn't so of fortifications, guns, battleships or naval vessels, either—and we have a hunch that if the people of this country keep their heads—all of these 6000 planes will be obsolete before they are ever used by our country in conflict with anyone.

Again this week the economy bloc in Washington has made a reduction in a budget for a Government Department in cutting the budget for the Department of the Interior something over six million dollars. This is the seventh time that the economy group has forced a reduction in appropriations as estimated and requested by the President.

That is all to the good—and may this group continue to be insistent upon reducing Government expenditures. Nothing will help recovery more.

The Government Reorganization Bill got away to the good start this week by the House passing a Compromise Act which, if it reaches final passage, will make it possible by concurrent resolution of the House and Senate, to check the otherwise free hand of the President in putting through specific items of reorganization. That is democracy. No sane person questions the need of an intelligent reorganization Bill and every taxpayer wants to see real reorganization in our National set-up. The difficulty last year was that the President wanted dictatorial powers as to reorganization. The Bill then proposed would almost give him the right to do as he chose—whether Congress liked it or not. The present proposal is far more sensible and thinking citizens should let their Senators and Representatives know they want this Bill passed.

Good for Pat Waters!

In last week's issue of this paper in connection with a discussion in open meeting by the Town Commission on the subject of relief, he was quoted as saying: "Nobody's going to see women and children starve. They've always been taken care of and always will. But I say what about the poor taxpayers? If we don't look out you and I and everyone else will lose his home the way things are going."

I say those who get WPA jobs and refuse to work should be put in jail. That isn't a case of not having a job. It's a case of not wanting to work. When a man is fired by a foreman on a WPA job we should have his name sent to us so we can check up our relief lists, as well.

Strong, sensible words, Commissioner Waters and words that should be listened to in every town and hamlet in this country.

We learn that the final steps in connection with bringing the Jergens Company to Belleville and its construction of a large plant with employment of hundreds of workers—are in process. We add our word of commendation to the many that have been extended to Mayor William H. Williams for his forward-looking efforts through the past years in presenting the facilities of Belleville as an industrial-residential area to manufacturing concerns seeking new locations. Despite criticisms and edicts in the face of real discouragement the Mayor kept on. This is a fine reward and justifies a continuance of the efforts of the Mayor and his fellow Commissioners to keep on adding to the industrial life of this community. Therein lies strength for Belleville, its residents and its taxpayers.

And speaking of taxes, don't forget next Wednesday, March 15th, is the dead line for your 1938 income tax returns. When you file it and pay your first installment may you get a sufficient sense of satisfaction in realizing the good that your tax money does to overcome the regret that so much of it will be wasted.

Yours 'til next week,
"GUARDIAN"

them into abandoning membership in the Paint, Varnish, Shellac and Lacquer Workers' Union of the A. G. of L. to join a company union.

Cecilia said the Avondale Welfare Organization is a company union organization February 17, about three weeks after employees joined the A. G. of L. unit. Before that time, Cecilia said, the company had never had any organization for employees.

Cecilia said salaried employees and company officials tried to force men to join the company group through threats and intimidation. The company refused to negotiate, Cecilia said, and the employees struck despite an offer of ten cent an hour raise if they returned to work without a union.

Junior Catholic Daughters

The Junior card party which was held on February 21, was a success. That's what the girls and the Juniors are looking forward to bigger and better ways of raising money.

This is prompted by a desire to see each Junior in her own green and white cape and cap for Junior Court day in June.

Arrangements are being made by some of the troops to visit Union City to see the Passion Play. Many of the Juniors have never seen a Passion Play and leaders are sure it will be an unforgettable experience for them.

Despite the inclement weather the Juniors turned out exceptionally well for Communion Sunday. The latter part of April, the date to be announced later.

—Meador Wright's— PIQUANT POLITICS

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

I have before me a letter from Homer C. Zink in which he answers my criticism last week of his statement that the State government has neither a legal or a moral responsibility to provide relief for the unemployed, such responsibility resting with the municipalities. In his letter Senator Zink elaborates his original argument that a legal responsibility was placed on the municipalities by legislative resolution, and that moral responsibility belongs there because only by having the municipalities pay all or a major part of relief costs can these costs be confined to the actual needs of the unemployed and the destitute.

Necessity Knows No Law
There is no question about "legal" responsibility except its relative importance. It is my contention that responsibility is not something that can be evaded by resolution or statute. The obligation of the state government regarding relief was precisely the same after the action of the legislature as before. That obligation begins and ends with necessity.

By immemorial custom, municipalities have looked after relief, with the counties assisting in some instances. Neither the state government in New Jersey nor the Federal government for the nation had ever assumed any major burden prior to the present depression.

Hoover stood resolutely by this custom and refused all pleas that the National government aid the states. When he left office the weaker states were practically bankrupt. Schools were closed, and other normal functions of government had been abandoned or drastically curtailed. Actual hunger existed, and relief was a far behind it. The new administration adopted the policy that no one should be in actual distress and pledged in the credit of the National government to uphold this policy. Regardless of which party is in power, it is extremely unlikely that this basic policy will ever be altered in our time.

CARE OF YOUR PETS

Belleville, N. J.

The Rabies Question

There seems to be so much general misunderstanding at this time concerning the rabies problem, that we are submitting in questionaire form some of the inquiries we have received on the subject.

What is this rabies scare?
It is a genuine, growing epidemic which has been steadily and with increasing rapidity gaining a foothold in the metropolitan area. This is not a false "scare." There is really cause for alarm. Naturally, the average person rarely, if ever, sees or recognizes genuine cases of rabies. Therefore he believes all this publicity is unwarranted. However, those of us who make a business of handling animals find that cases of rabies have been becoming more and more common, until recently they have assumed alarming proportions.

In various newspapers there have been statements about the number of rabid dogs this year as compared with other years. Isn't this the number of dogs that have bitten people?
No. This is the actual number of rabid dogs which have bitten people; that is, dogs which have died from the disease, have been examined by the laboratory of a hospital, and found to be positive cases of rabies.

Have there been any cases of rabies in this town?
Yes, Mr. Berry, of the Belleville Health Department, states that in the year 1937 there were no cases of rabies, in 1938, eight cases, and in January and February of this year, six cases.

Why can't I tie my dog in the yard? Why must he be in an enclosed pen?
It is for the safety of your dog that the authorities ask that he be enclosed in a pen. As long as your dog is tied, he can't get to other dogs, but, unless he is enclosed in a pen, a rabid dog running loose would easily be able to bite him.

What are the symptoms of rabies?
It is a mistake idea that all rabid dogs run down the street frothing at the mouth and attacking people. There are two types of rabies, dumb rabies and violent rabies. Of these two the former is, perhaps the more dangerous since it is less easily recognized. In the early stages of the disease the animal will want to lie in dark places, since the light hurts his eyes. He may show a change in disposition, even toward his owner and the members of the family. His bark may change, due to paralysis of the larynx. Eating foreign material and snapping at anything thrust within his reach are also symptoms. In the latter stages of the disease the dog becomes partially paralyzed, he is unable to close his mouth, and can't drink or swallow food. He drools saliva from his mouth.

Is the rabies inoculation effective?
Rabies vaccine has not yet been developed to the high degree of effectiveness that other vaccines have attained. However, it has proven successful in a large percentage of cases. The point about rabies inoculation which we feel should be emphasized is that, in spite of the fact that the inoculation might prove invalid on a small number of animals, it is still the best protection science has thus far developed, and therefore is valuable in saving the lives of a great many pets which might otherwise have died.

I think my dog has rabies. Shall I have him destroyed?
This is exactly what you should not do. If you suspect your dog of having rabies, isolate him from all other animals for a period of at least two weeks. Report to your veterinarian or to your local health department. If the dog is rabid, and has bitten any person or animal, it is especially important that he be allowed to live his natural course, so that the laboratory work done after his death will be accurate, and so that those affected may be notified to take the pasteur treatment.

If my dog becomes rabid, and I have not been bitten by him, I don't need to worry, do I?
It is a common belief that rabies can be contracted only by a bite. This is not so. It is the saliva of the infected dog that carries the disease. This saliva, coming in contact with an open wound, no matter how small, will subject the person to rabies. Thus, if your dog has been proven a positive case of rabies, and if you have been petting him, or have exposed yourself to his saliva in any way, it would be advisable to take the pasteur treatment.

If I am bitten by a dog which does not have rabies, should I take the pasteur treatment?
Every dog bite wound should be cauterized. It is, however, unnecessary to take the pasteur treatment if it is definitely known that the dog is not rabid.

If my dog is bitten by a dog known to have rabies, is there anything that can be done to save his life?
A series of injections of rabies vaccine (similar to the pasteur treatment for a human) may be given to try to prevent the dog's contracting the disease.

He came to Belleville five years ago and bought the store here after marrying Miss Lillian Trestman, whose family operate a store at Center street and Passaic avenue, Nutley. Mr. Frank, who is an ardent horseman, noted for his steeplechase feats, at one time operated a store similar to the one here in Union City. His Belleville store is tied up with 2,600 others in the Ben Franklin League, which has a slogan of "Scientific Variety Retail Program." The Frank store carries a full line of merchandise at the same prices as downtown stores. The proprietor is interested in all civic matters and likes Belleville.
Mr. Frank's modern store carries a complete line of articles, too numerous to mention in the space allotted. He caters to a discriminating clientele.

He married Miss Rose Hoffman, Brooklyn, formerly a nurse at Pride of Judea Orphans' Home, that city. On Tuesday the couple will celebrate their thirteenth wedding anniversary at a family reunion at Cliffside Park. They have two children, both pupils at Public School No. 1, Selma, twelve, and Joyce, seven, who has been on the honor roll three times in succession. Mr. Rosenberg's hobby is listening to classical music. He is a home man and believes that Belleville merchants are in need of an association that would include close contact with consumers.

1939 Visitors
During the year 1939 we can look forward to a great number of people from many States of the Union passing through Belleville on their way to and from the World's Fair in New York.
Many of the people will attend the World's Fair solely in the interest of the pleasure gained from seeing the most modern developments in types of buildings and the many interesting features in machinery, household equipment and architecture.
Undoubtedly, many of the visitors will be interested in the types of homes and industrial plants in the various communities through which they travel, and some may be sufficiently interested in selecting Belleville for a residence, or for a commercial, or industrial home at some future date.
May I appeal to our home owners, merchants and industrialists to make a special effort during this coming spring-time period to help in the improvement of their various properties, so that visitors traveling through Belleville will remember our Community as an attractive and orderly town?
Our Director of Public Safety, William D. Clark, has assured me that special instructions will be issued to members of our Police Department to be gracious to all parties traveling through our Community, so that visitors going through Belleville will remember our Town as a community whose public servants are courteous folks.
We all realize that the gentlemen of our Police Department can be good policemen for the Community and while they are doing their police and traffic work in full accord with best police principles, they can aid in creating good will for Belleville by courteous assistance to both our citizens and visitors.
Our Merchants by making a special effort to make their shops attractive and appealing will help their own business and at the same time create good will for the community.
I will be glad to receive constructive suggestions from our citizens and merchants, whereby our Board of Commissioners can cooperate in developing good will for Belleville.

SPORTS

BEFORE YOUR EYES

By Joe Duval

The anticipated blaze of glory in which the High School was supposed to envelop the end of its season never materialized. Wee-quahic started the backfire too soon.

For some reason or other Belleville's power last Friday night was throttled to approximately half of what it was in any other game this year. They fought just as hard, but they got nowhere fast.

Wee-quahic also won the competition between the rooting sections. The Belleville rooters had a foul called on them every time a Wee-quahic player shot a foul.

The futility of hissing and booing when one's opponent is at a more or less crucial moment has always impressed us. Seldom is the player rattled by the heckling, yet all thru the current year the Belleville cheering sections have persisted in unsportsmanlike conduct whenever an opponent was shooting a foul or attempting a point after touchdown.

Tactics of this sort seldom help the score, always help blacken the name of the school, not the individual, note — of the school guilty. It is because of this sort of thing that Belleville's reputation is not among the highest in Essex.

The true story of that famous foul that defeated the Belleville Rosery in the Recreation Tournament the other night (according to reliable witnesses) was this: Carragher (Bloomfield) was dribbling down the floor; Culklin (Belleville) blocked his path; Carragher charged right into the other; instead of calling a foul on Carragher for charging, referee called on Culklin for blocking or something.

When the game ended 17 seconds later the ref had to beat a rather hasty retreat to his dressing room.

BOUQUETS, BRICKBATS AND STUFF

Joseph Emmett Gallagher, latest rookie outfielder sensation with those Yankees, gives Frank Smith, present BHS football mentor, full credit for first putting the idea of top baseball in his head. Frank was Joe's freshman coach at Manhattan.

The Belleville Elks are all geared up for that big bowling match with Passaic next Thursday. Course they have to roll up in the enemy's territory, but they aren't fazed. A clean sweep will mean the championship for them.

It's not hard to find the reason behind Wallace & Tiernan's extremely successful year in the Manufacturers' League. Having gone thru twelve straight games undefeated to become the league's highest scoring team, one might expect to find one or two of the W&T boys up among the individual leaders. Instead they are all bunched down the ladder away. There were no individual stars on the W&T team; they played as a unit and everybody had a hand in the scoring. This bears out our oft-repeated contention that the most successful teams are the ones where there are no individual stars — where everybody is just good.

SUMMERFIELDS CAPTURE TITLES

Win Two Championships In Town Tournament; Edelman, Reock Also Win

The Summerfield family took the honors in Belleville's annual table tennis championships held Wednesday in the spacious Wallace & Tiernan recreation room.

Sid, who lives at 365 Little street, retained his Veterans' singles title, beating John P. Dailey, 188 Division avenue, for the second straight year. The scores were 21-12, 21-12, 13-21, 21-7.

Daughter Eleanor disposed of the defending Ladies' champion Alice Hart, 32 Fairview place, in the semi-finals and went on to trounce Edna Edelman, 73 Broad street, in the finals, 21-9, 21-15.

Fourteen-year-old Ernest Reock, 367 Washington avenue, followed the same course, in the Boys' division eliminating the defending titleholder Jackie Bergamino, 64 Belleville avenue, in the semi and winning Bill Hochstetl Jr., 22 Hunkle street, in the finals, 21-19, 25-23, 21-7.

The feature match of the evening was, of course, the finals of the men's singles, in which Bob Edelman trimmed Nick Candura, 16 Washington Street, 21-17, 21-15, 16-21, 21-16, to retain his Belleville title. Candura was somewhat tired after his terrific struggle with Herman Doehl, 169 Linden avenue. Candura took this semi match, 21-15, 21-10, 10-21, 18-21, 22-20.

BLOOMFIELD EKES SINGLE-POINT WIN

Trips Belleville Rosery In Recreation Tourney; Officiating Draws Ire

In a game marked by what the spectators called the biggest highway robbery since Jesse James, Bloomfield was granted a 22-21 decision over Belleville in the first round game of the State Recreation Basketball Tournament at the West Side High School, Newark, Tuesday night.

Referee Durie and Umpire Leonard, in the opinion of the onlookers, had predetermined the winner and their choice had gone to Bloomfield's Delco Remy team. The Rosery outplayed its foes throughout the game but was tumbled to defeat by the overabundance of questionable fouls called against it.

Belleville had four foul shots, Bloomfield sixteen. Yet Bloomfield was able to win by only one point.

The manner of winning also brought the wrath of the spectators on the officials' heads. Belleville had tied up the game 21-21 shortly before the end. With 17 seconds left to play "Juney" Carragher (strangely enough a Belleville man as are Ned Dunn and Joe Grosch, who also played with Delco) was given a free shot when it was obvious that no foul was committed upon him.

He made it, of course, and the game was over.

Senior, Intermediate Playoffs Start Tonight; Senators Trim Eagles For Title Shot

Senior and Intermediate League playoffs will take place tonight and Monday night, the Recreation Department announced this week. All games will be held at the High School.

The Senators defeated the Eagles 32-27 Monday night in the playoff for the third round championship. The two teams had tied for first place. With every man in the line-up contributing at least one point, the Senators were not to be denied in their bid for a spot in the final series.

Tonight the Belleville Rosery, second round winner, will take on Baldwin Brush, the first round champ. The winner will meet the Senators Monday night for the year's title.

Playoffs in the Intermediate League will be merely for the first half championship. The Penguins, Pals and Seminoles ended the first round in a three-way deadlock. The first two will play tonight. The winner to meet the Seminoles Monday.

CROSS TO DEFEND N. J. PADDLE CROWN

State Singles Champion Faces Stiff Competition In Table Tennis Race

Bill Cross, local table tennis star and New Jersey singles champion, is seeded first in the coming Essex County Championships at the Evergreen Table Tennis Center, 39 William street, Newark, starting Saturday and continuing through Sunday evening.

Young Bill, Belleville High graduate, at present a Prudential co-worker, started his paddling career in the basement of his parents home, 185 New street. When the net game reached the tournament stage, Bill forsook the basement and, with expert coaching, became one of Jersey's outstanding table tennis stars.

Until the 1938 State Championships, young Cross had to be content to go no further than the quarter-finals of the major events. With the odds against him he swept aside many strong opponents of the miniature pastime to become Belleville's first State champion.

Cross is favored to cop the title, but will receive strong competition from Scott Stickle, U. S. Junior Champion, Morris Bernstein, U. S. Veteran, titlist, Sydney Heitner, former U. S. singles leader, Dan Krer and Abbott Nelson, Princeton University stars and State doubles kings, and a host of county stars each capable of creating a major upset.

Belleville had four foul shots, Bloomfield sixteen. Yet Bloomfield was able to win by only one point.

The manner of winning also brought the wrath of the spectators on the officials' heads. Belleville had tied up the game 21-21 shortly before the end. With 17 seconds left to play "Juney" Carragher (strangely enough a Belleville man as are Ned Dunn and Joe Grosch, who also played with Delco) was given a free shot when it was obvious that no foul was committed upon him.

Wee-quahic Eliminates Zebras In Ragged Game At Elizabeth

Bellboy Chances Leave With Hannon; Record Is 12 Wins, 6 Losses

by Joe Duval

The curtain was dropped on the 1939 Belleville High basketball season with rather rude abruptness last Friday night. The Bellboy act started out with great promise last December, gained for itself wild applause and staggering epithets. By last Friday midnight people remembered the 1939 Blue and Gold quint as the team with potentialities that glimmered briefly and went out.

With one solid tomahawking at the hands of the Wee-quahic Indians any hope that the Zebras had of glory among posterity was shattered like a dropped coffee cup. Three thousand spectators came to see what was advertised as the game of the year—and most of them started walking out long before the game was over.

Wee-quahic may not win the state championship, but if it plays the way it did Friday it will not survive the second round, but ragged as were the Newark Indians, they were still the better team on the floor that night. They proved it when they ran off with a 29-21 win under their belts.

Belleville's hopes left the floor in the second quarter with Bill Hannon. Throughout the year Hannon had proved himself the hub of the team, the spark plug that kept the wheels turning. This was quite evident early in the game when he turned up four times out of five with the ball when it bounced off the backboard. But through some quirk of fate Hannon left the game midway in the second stanza because of four personal fouls. After that Belleville fought hard but futilely. It was usually Wee-quahic who retrieved the ball, it was mostly Wee-quahic who did the scoring.

Brief Belleville Lead The Bellboys held the lead until the count worked up to 7-4 in the second period. Then two fouls and a field goal by Sid Reinhold put the Indians into a lead which they never relinquished thereafter.
