PLANS COMPLETE FOR DINNER TO LEGION POST

Auxiliary In Charge Of The Twentieth Birthday Party

Final plans have been made by Mrs. Charles Hoffman, chairman for the twentieth American Legion Birthday dinner to be given to all local post members by the auxiliary Monday evening at 7 in the Legion Chateau, 170 Washington avenue.

Mayor and Mrs. William H. Williams, County Commander Harold Crane, Past County Commander William J. Doyle and Mrs. Harry Kendall, county president of the auxiliary, will be guests of honor.

Mrs. Charles Steele, Mrs. William Kant, Mrs. Lester McCorkle, Mrs. Arthur Christie, past presidents and Mrs. William P. Adams will be hostesses. Music will be furnished by John and Elmer Laubelester, who will lead the singing.

Belleville unit last night at its regular meeting in the Chateau, heard reports from various committees. Mrs. Joseph Huemer, president, was in charge.

Mrs. William I. Labaugh, recording delegate, gave a report on the last County meeting in Millburn.

Mrs. William Kant, child welfare and rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Huemer, Mrs. Otto Breunich, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. William Maser, and Mrs. Hoffman will visit Overbrook and Essex Mountain Sanatoriums today to remember each veteran with a gift from the local auxiliary.

Mrs. Kant requests any person having magazines playing cards, jig-saw puzzles they would like to donate to the veterans at the hospitals to please contact her and they will be called for.

The Occupational Therapy Shop at Lyons Hospital is also requesting old silk stockings and old automobile tires. The annual field day at Lyons has been set by Mrs. Grover Ashby, Essex County Rehabilitation chairman, as June 10. Monday and Belleville units will be hostesses at Lyons dance on April 8.

Belleville Auxiliary is sponsoring the second annual Poppy poster contest in the local schools, the closing date of the contest being May 10. Mrs. Christie is chairman. Veterans will sell "Veteran-made Poppies" again this year.

Mrs. Huemer has appointed Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Kant as delegates to the Americanization committee which will meet next week in the Town Hall. She has also appointed Mrs. Labaugh and Mrs. Breunich chairman of the booster list for the Essex County convention book for June.

Montclair unit has invited Belleville units to supper Thursday at 5 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Ashby, 268 North Fullerton avenue, that town.

Public sale Saturday of building sites, comprising tracts of town property repossessed in foreclosure proceedings, resulted in submission of bids for purchase of six lots averaging 40 by 130 feet each.

The remainder of the property, on Fairway avenue and in Greylock Heights will again be offered at public sale this afternoon at 4 p. m. Saturday's sale was supervised by Mayor William H. Williams, who is also director of revenue and finance. Deputy Finance Director John P. Coogan and Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan. By a recent ruling of the Mayor and Town Commission the sale of all town-owned property will be in the hands of Deputy Director Coogan.

The auction offers a difficult problem in policy. The state law provides property advertised for sale shall be sold to the highest bidder, but also provides all sales shall be ratified by the Town Commission.

Saturday the town advertised 23 building lots on Fairway avenue at a minimum price of $14,950, or $650 a lot. The price had been offered by the Mingo Realty Co. of Newark. At the auction Arthur C. White of 110 Fairway avenue bid $700 for the lot next his home.

Representatives of the Newark firm said the sale to White would cause them to withdraw their offer for the entire group of lots, and they entered bids of $675 each for two lots.

Although he received White's bid on the single lot, Keenan, acting as auctioneer, declined to accept it. (Continued on Page 8)

School Board On The Carpet For Ouster Of "Doc" Hood

Officials Charged With Ignoring Local Barristers In Favor of Elizabeth Attorney, Who Is Hired To Fight Janitor's Appeal That He Is As Fit "As a Fiddle"

Belleville, its veterans, and some local lawyers, in particular, are agog over the action of the Board of Education in selecting an Elizabeth attorney, Martin P. O'Connor, to represent the Board of Education in its defense against the appeal of William H. "Doc" Hood, who has been "out" as janitor of Public School No. 7 on the ground that he has a respiratory ailment. The appeal will be heard on March 24 in Newark.

"Doc," who is popular with the younger, as well as older element in town, is a Spanish-American War veteran, and, of consequence, the veterans are working in his behalf. He was sixty-three in November, last year, and would come necessarily within two years from that date within the retirement age limit. He lives at 158 Academy street and has taken the case to the State Commissioner of Education.

"Doc" was taken off the job by School Business Manager Ruel E. Daniels, it is said, "acting on orders, telling 'Doc' he had to appear at Essex Mountain Sanatorium for examination by Dr. Harmon."

"That's the bunk," say some veterans, "Doc's" own doctor, here in town, found him O. K." He had an arrested case of T. B., it is said.

"Doc," who was famous as a baseball umpire in this section, says he is "as fit as a fiddle" and has engaged Springarn and Sacks as his lawyers.

Belleville lawyers are up in arms because they feel that the school board should keep its legal work in town. One prominent attorney today said: "It's a damn shame that the school board has to go out of town for a lawyer. Not that I want the job, but there are plenty here who could handle it."

School Board President Herbert C. Schmutz says he has the answer—the Elizabeth lawyer had experience in a similar case and is in a position to render Belleville schools a service through that experience.

Mayor William H. Williams threatened to toss in the towel in the political arena Tuesday night unless he gets what he termed "better co-operation" and less criticism and misquoting in the newspapers.

"I may relinquish this seat," said the mayor, unless certain impediments are removed. Last year after considerable time was reduced the budget some eighty-three points, but certain parties were fit to make statements that reflected on Belleville. Because it was election year, it was doubtful if even explanations might be believed. Now comes another ouster. We had a meeting in my home to discuss it. There were only five members of this board there, one of whom had to leave early, but a daily newspaper comes out with a story that Mayor Williams refused to disclose any figures. I don't say any member told that story, because each member of this board knows he had tentative figures for discussion. I do say there were only five members there and I would like to hear any expressions anyone wants to make.

"I've continually had one thought in mind—Belleville's best interest. Officials of a town should have the same privilege to sit down and discuss privately certain matters as officials of any company.

"There have been certain actions by a party who should know better. Misstatements were made and my intentions. I am going to place before you at a meeting tomorrow some startling information. Possibly some other person may sit in my seat here. I get thrill more than I get from this job, but I don't intend to burn up my energy when I can get it in my path.

"The daily press has printed erroneous statements about the budgets that act against our town. I insist that the good name of Belleville be maintained.

"At the meeting tomorrow we will discuss a few more things: than the budget. If I am going to continue I want definite assurance that there will be no hindrances placed in my path. This board can maintain harmony if every member wants to."

On the way downstairs from the meeting Mayor Williams engaged in a short verbal tiff with Francis Carragher, son of former Town Commissioner Frank J. Carragher.

On the way downstairs from the meeting Mayor Williams engaged in a short verbal tiff with Francis Carragher, son of former Town Commissioner Frank J. Carragher.

John Distasio, 98 Greylock avenue, speaking for the Valley Improvement Association asked the Commission to improve the condition of Main street from the Belleville bridge to the Nutley town line.

Public Works Director Waters said it was impossible to patch a penetration pavement in cold weather. He said also he felt Main street should be maintained either by the county or the state.

It is impossible to keep a good penetration pavement more than two years," he said. "It would cost $100,000 to put a good pavement on Main street, and as ninety per cent of the traffic there is from out of town, I do not believe the taxpayers of Belleville should be put to that expense."

Mayor Williams said repeated efforts to have the state extend Route 21, or to have Main street maintained by the county, had failed. He recommended the board again go on record in favor of county maintenance.

An amendment to the zoning ordinance was introduced to change property at 460 Union avenue from a one-family to apartment zone. A public hearing will be held March 23. The change is to permit the erection of a five-family apartment on the property, which is owned by

SCHOOL NO. 3 WINS HIGHEST AWARD AT COLUMBIA

Gets "Medalist" Honor In Press Association Contest

"The Voice of No. Three," mimeographed magazine published by the pupils of School No. Three, was judged "medalist" in the annual Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest in New York, Friday.

This marks the second time that the "Voice of No. Three" has been so honored, the last time being in 1936. It is also the only school publication in Belleville ever to have achieved this distinction.

The editor-in-chief is Stanley Whetstone, an eighth-grader and president of the Press Club.

Each year a competition is held at the school so that those pupils doing the most work on the magazine can become delegates to the Columbia Scholastic Press Convention in New York.

Attending this convention were Stanley, Douglas Baird, Carl Finerman, Barbara Weston, William Kindt, Donald Rochlin, Marie Cooper, Richard Van Doren, and Bertha Hermann. They were accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Haas of the English department.

The editor, is the only delegate who had won a trip for the third successive year. His points were won by short articles, drawings, puzzles, and poems. His stories were often refused because of their length, as the policy of the paper has been to carry the work of as many pupils as possible in the space allowed.

Faculty advisers include: Upper grade literary work, Mrs. Margaret Haas; upper grade art, the Misses Virginia Ruhe and Ethel Joulie; lower grade literary, Mrs. Mabel Smith, Miss Ruth Friedman; and lower grade art, Miss Lucie Smith. William F. Richards, principal of the school supervises the mimeographing.

Special to Belleville News Chicago, Ill., March 17 — John F. Coogan, Jr., tax assessor, Belleville, was named New Jersey state chairman of the National Association of Assessing Officers today by William F. Connelly, president of the association.

State chairmen have been appointed in more than forty states. President Connelly said to aid in gathering information on local and state assessment practices, and to extend the membership of the association among assessment officials and others interested in the work of property tax administration.

The National Association of Assessing Officers is the national professional society of assessing officials, formed for the purpose of elevating standards of assessment practice.

Assistance Board Hears Threat By Relief Client

"I Told My Wife If I Didn't Come Home She Could Look For Me In Jail — I'd Have A Good Reason For Being There" Is Quote Charged To Man Who Hints At Hoboken Stabbing.

"I told my wife if I didn't come home she could look for me in jail — I'd have a good reason for being there."

Thus spoke O'Neill Villacari, 22 Lake street, father of three children and $60 a month WPA worker, as he is alleged to have threatened members of the Local Assistance Board Monday, declaring that Relief Director John J. Hewitt might be faced with a stabbing similar to the one which involved Hoboken's Overseer of the Poor.

Members of the board are outspoken that they were provoked with Villacari's remarks. When he was called to task by Director of Public Affairs Joseph King, he is said to have remarked that he "assumed all responsibility" for his remarks and that he was willing to go to jail.

Present at the time, besides Mr. Hewitt and Director King, were Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach and Miss Jane Donnelly, Town Treasurer. T. Russell Sargeant was accompanied by Rev. Joseph Kelly who was ill. This group makes up the personnel of the board.

"If you try anything like that," said Director King when Villacari mentioned the Hoboken episode he was informed that he "would be in for plenty of trouble." Then followed the remark about going to jail.

Villacari said he wanted relief because a fellow workman on WPA was getting it. Hewitt pointed out the other man has four children, and needs such relief more than Villacari. Villacari, who has three children, was "beside himself," said Hewitt because one of his children had been removed to Essex County Hospital for Contagious Diseases with Scarlet Fever. With the child in the hospital, Hewitt told Villacari his load should be lighter.

Villacari threatened King with political reprisals for not granting him relief. He said that he had worked for King "last election," but King would never "go in again." He charged he always gets the cold shoulder when he makes requests from King.

As Villacari left the meeting he said he had an appointment at the Headquarters Tuesday morning and "expected the right answers."

Belleville Chapter, Order Eastern Star, is planning a social evening at bridge, which pinocchle and other games on March 25 in Belleville Masonic Temple. The entertainment is being arranged under the auspices of the patrons. Many local and out-of-town friends have reserved tables. The public is invited.

Conrad Gable, past patron, will conduct the games and "Doc" Hood, Belleville's best authority on card games, has been retained to conduct the downstairs activities. Other committee workers include George Carter, Frederick Sharvo, Frank Holmes, John Cowburn, all past patrons, and Thaddeus Thornton, worshipful patron. The proceeds will be used to carry on the chapter's local activities. Games will get under way at 8 p. m.

When fire broke out Sunday just before midnight in the cellar of the Gordon I. Kyle home, 26 Essex street, Belleville's fire laddies were on the job pronto — and efficiently.

A fireman, whose name has not been divulged, worked with such despatch and gentleness that he carried one of the Kyle children from a bedroom in the Kyle home to the home of a neighbor without so much as disturbing the youngster's slumber.

The Kyles are prolific in their praise of the firemen for not "even disarranging furniture" when it became necessary to carry the hose through the house to the cellar. The blaze was under control before the last fireman had jumped from his perch on the apparatus, say the Kyles.

LOCAL COP SUED FOR $50,000 IN FALSE ARREST

Case Against Flynn And Copper Mill In Court

Charging false arrest Justus Rossback; Roselle, has brought action in the Circuit Court of Essex County to sue on three separate counts of $50,000 each. Patrolman John J. Flynn, the Belleville Copper Rolling Mill and Albert Newschwander, this town, former paymaster of the company.

Rossback charges he was falsely arrested by Patrolman Flynn following a holdup of Newschwander on August 31, 1934, while he was carrying the plant payroll. Newschwander said his face was grazed and he did not hear a report of a holdup man. It was found an air gun which led police to believe a small air gun, about forty-five calibre, had been used in the holdup. When a resident near the Mill gave police the license number of an automobile which had been seen cruising in the section a few days prior to the holdup, the license number led to Rossback's car. It was found a postmortem of the type seldom seen, it was said. Flynn arrested Rossback and, in September, that year, the Roselle man was held for Grand Jury by Recorder Everett B. Smith.

The September term of the Grand Jury indicted Rossback and he pleaded not guilty, but in March, 1935, a jury found him guilty. In May, that year, the jury verdict was set aside by Judge Richard Hartshorne and in December, 1936, the indictment was dismissed and the matter nolle prossed and dismissed before Judge Hartshorne. The same month Rossback brought suit. He is represented by J. Victor D'Aloia, Newark, who because of a cold, called for a postponement of the suit Wednesday until today. It is believed, however, the case will not be heard until Monday.

Corporation Counsel Lawrence E. Keenan represents Flynn and Smith and Slingerland, Newark, Newschwander and the company.

ANOTHER PLANT COMES TO TOWN

Resistoflex Corporation Would Provide Work For 200 Persons

An initial project to occupy 18,000 square feet, immediate construction of which will be started on one of three proposed buildings on the site between the Newark-Paterson branch of the Erie Railroad and the Federal Leather Company plant, marks announcement that the Resistoflex Corporation with offices in New York City, has chosen Belleville for a manufacturing center. The concern manufactures flexible tubing and couplings. Dover and ultimately will have a plant here to employ 200. The first building, the size as mentioned is expected to be completed by June 1, and will provide work for seventy-five. When the two additional buildings have been added the plant will occupy 50,000 square feet, it is said.

On Lease Basis The plant is being built by the Essex and Bergen Realty Holding Company on a lease basis for the Resistoflex Corporation. Present at the final conference, which led to conclusion of the deal, were Edgar Peierls, president of Resistoflex; Lou Plansoen, president of the Essex and Bergen Company, and Emanuel Kemm, Newark realtor.

Mayor Williams said: "The acquisition of the Resistoflex industry by Belleville, within two weeks after the announcement by Andrew Jergens Company that it will build a $1,000,000 plant in Belleville to employ 1,200 people is another step in our plan for Belleville's industrial advancement. Recent weeks have focused nationwide attention on our community. We are being flooded by inquiries from large and small manufacturers in all parts of the country as to availability of plant sites.

Negotiations which are now pending will probably lead to announcements of at least two additional new industries for Belleville within the next thirty days."

Pocketbook Found Belleville police are trying to locate the owner of a green pocketbook which was found Wednesday at Belleville and Washington avenues by Philip Carolozza, 114 Witley avenue, West Orange.

The pocketbook, evidently carried by a young girl, had the name "Betty" scrawled on a piece of paper. It contained twenty-seven cents and trinkets.

Mrs. Elmer S. Hyde Is Elected President Of The Woman's Club

Other Officers Chosen At Meeting Held On Monday

Mrs. Elmer S. Hyde was elected president of Belleville Woman's Club Monday at the annual election in the club house, Rossmore place.

Other officers are as follows: Recording secretary, Mrs. Henry Squires; assistant corresponding secretary, Mrs. Horace E. Knox; first vice-president, Mrs. John De Nike; trustee, Mrs. Raymond E. Mertz; legislative chairman, Mrs. Arthur E. Mayer; social service chairman, Mrs. J. Claude Powers; printing chairman, Mrs. W. George Hunt, and Federation, Mrs. Harvey B. Thompson.

Harold G. Hoffman, former governor, spoke on the Legislative program, and "Unemployment Insurance," of which he is executive director. He explained how the Federal law affects the state and how the insurance with funds collected from employers and employees tide over men from the time they lose employment until they find something or are re-employed by the same firm again. Benefits are based on the money received and length of service. At present 1,200,000 men are covered with unemployment insurance in New Jersey—represented by 22,000 employers—It is the hope of this service to stabilize employment, he said.

Aunt Flo's Column

PATIENCE IS A VIRTUE. Perhaps a little in this case might work wonders. Dear Aunt Flo: I have been going around for a year or more with a boy nineteen years old and we have had wonderful times together. I am seventeen and have just taken my first position, but my boy friend has worked for the past two years.

We never quarrel when we are together and always have a grand time no matter where we go because we seem to understand each other and like the same things. Just lately he has grown so terribly serious that I don't know what to make of him. I don't mean in his affection toward me, but otherwise. He has suddenly become so interested in his job and in studying that he does not want to go out much and I don't know what to think. I wonder whether I am foolish to give up all my time to him under these circumstances. He seems to like me as much as ever and when he wants to do anything to please me, but all my other girl friends are running around with a lot of boys and it sort of makes me think I am foolish to waste my time with him. Do you think I should give him up or shall I keep on being friendly with him?

My dear, if you will only practice a little patience and be sure you will lose nothing and you may gain a great deal. You are both much too young to give up the society of other young men and women. What you tell me of your friendship with this particular young man leads me to believe also that you would be very foolish to give it up simply because he is interested in his job, and studying so much. That is not such a bad trait and you do not know how fortunate you are to have found someone whose company you can enjoy so much and who is so eager to please you at all times and yet who demands so little in return. Most girls complain to the contrary, stating that they dislike to make dates and accept invitations from young men because they demand so many privileges that are distasteful to them.

You certainly should not sacrifice this young man's friendship simply because the girls think you ought to run around more, for in some cases that is a useless waste of time. On the other hand, if you meet someone who appeals to you and whose company you think you could enjoy, I see no reason why you should not accept their invitations.

You know choosing a sweetheart is very much like setting out to buy something that we have saved up our money for and want very much. If we are over enthusiastic and buy in the very first shop we enter, we are almost sure to find something we like much better in a little shop down the street, after all our money is gone and it is too late to make the change. So remember that and be very careful.

I once knew a girl who had a devoted sweetheart, who showed her in a hundred different ways how much he cared about her, not by the words that he said but by the many thoughtful and kindly things that he did. However, he had a very meager job and so he did not think that he dared speak too seriously with her or ask her to give up other friends. Meanwhile, he studied and worked and showed her kindness at all times. The girl felt much as you do now—she was very young—she craved adoration and love and glamour. She met another man who took her about from one gay party to another—he did not worry about his job nor did he care to study. He wanted to live and so they had one glorious time going about. Finally they married and the glamour, of

Girl Scout News

Mrs. James Kelley, lieutenant of Troop No. 4, Senior Girl Scouts, is conducting a dramatic class on alternate Wednesday evenings. She will instruct Troops Nos. 4 and 7. After Wednesday, March 15, the classes will be held in Grace Baptist Church.

The Easter workshop of the Girl Scouts is well under way in preparation for the coming season. The scouts meet at the local scout office in the Elks Club to cut out eggs of gay-colored cardboard. Chickens, ducks, robins and sparrows of contrasting colors are attached to the cards bearing Easter greetings from the Belleville Girl Scouts to each patient in nearby hospitals. Each Girl Scout on the sick list will also be remembered.

For twenty-seven years the Girl Scout organization has been helping girls to be healthy, happy good citizens. Girls today live in a world which has known war, depression and wide-spread turmoil. Nothing is quite so simple as it was on March 12, 1912, when Juliette Low held a tea party in Savannah, Ga., and told a group of eager children about the Girl Scout idea. Nevertheless, that Girl Scout idea seems as vigorous and young as it ever did.

The Girl Scouts of Belleville today learn to cook a meal, model a vase, pitch a tent, or conduct a meeting by actually doing these things. Best of all, they are learning to choose intelligently among many possible courses of action—a first requisite for the training of citizens in a modern democracy. Today as always, the Girl Scout asks, "What are the facts?" And her watchword is, "Go and find out!"

Girl Scouts are now in their twenty-eighth year with an all-time high in membership. Partly responsible is the revised program. More flexible, it allows wider choice of activities, more democratic means of carrying them out.

When modern education began to emphasize the individual instead of the group, the Girl Scout has concentrated on individual development through group participation, came into its own. This, together with the greater scope of the program, has resulted in a membership of 519,000 girls for the year 1938.

Most noticeable growth has been among the fourteen to eighteen year old, or high school, group, called Senior Girl Scouts, for it is during these years that youth begins to realize its duty to society as contributing members.

Participating citizenship is one of Senior Girl Scouting's major aims. The girls study housing problems in America, and specifically, housing in their own communities. They analyze current events at troop meetings. They search the traditions of other countries, the better to understand the nations of the world.

STEADY, MAYOR BILL!

Mayor William H. Williams may be partially justified and irked by some who have been "throwing a monkey wrench in the wheels," so to speak, but we can't find any decided effort in Belleville to work against the best interest of the town. To the contrary, we discover, that most Belleville folks are willing to put their shoulders to the wheel to see Belleville progress. Politically, there are always those who take the opposite side of things and, by and large, this is probably a good axiom to follow. It, at least, keeps the boys who are manipulating the official gears on their toes. We know a lot of people who have shouted Belleville's praises from the housetops these many moons and, for their efforts, they have received little praise. Persons who are sincerely motivated have been kicked around, to use the vernacular. So the Mayor didn't job here and worked long, hard hours, but some little thing is apparently getting under his skin. It is true that there has been some unfavorable publicity from out of town newspapers, which seem to gloat every once in a while in "kicking our dog around"—or maybe it is one of those things in the background of which lurks annexation to Newark. Bill Williams, you have done a good job. Don't let these trivial things throw you. For every little obstacle put in your path you'll find a helping hand in the right direction—Belleville's betterment. Don't think of throwing in the towel because a little wind is stirring the calm surface of the political pond. When you quit the job you hold, do it for something bigger and better and not because someone got your "agate." Maybe this tip isn't worth the space it takes—lock your town hall office door for a few days—get in your car and take a trip—it works wonders. You've earned it.

Belleville's 8,000 odd votes for Mayor Williams proves how many folks approve of his plans and a better Belleville.

GOOD OLD MAIN STREET'S BAD

Good old Main street, from Rutgers Street Bridge, north to Nutley, fits the description applied to it Tuesday night at the Town Commission meeting by residents who live near it. They said it is in deplorable condition—in fact, good old Main street's bad. No wonder, either. It is one of the few penetration method roads left here and nothing can be done about filling in the holes during cold weather, as explained by Director of Public Works Patrick A. Waters, because Belleville has to haul the hot fill material from Great Notch, and it cools before it reaches the job. To try to patch the road in stormy weather is equally as unsatisfactory. The patches just will not hold. Belleville has tried to get the county to take over the stretch of road, inasmuch as the river parkway extends on its border. The State Highway might do something about the situation but its hands are tied because the lines of the road have not been established as yet by the county. So it looks like it will be a rough ride for some time over the stretch. Belleville folks, except those who live near the street, are inclined to let motorists from neighboring towns who have learned they may skip Washington avenue traffic lights by using the river drive, keep right on using the street. Trucks use the highway extensively and use of it by them has not helped the condition any. For the valley folks, however, some method should be found a little later in Spring to help them so that car owners here will return home with springs intact. Fact of the matter is, the County or State should come out of that feeling of lethargy and do something about Main street. It really should not be Belleville's "headache."

SISTERS AND BROTHERS, STILL!

Of course we are all a bit superstitious and cling to fantastic beliefs even if we do not admit it. How many of the readers of this look over their right shoulders at the moon or rap on wood or refuse to walk under a ladder? Probably more than would admit it. Yet superstition is really a Pagan belief and has no part in this enlightened age. We were just reading that, in the olden days, a lark's heart was fastened to the left leg to cure colic and by wearing a flea in a locket all pains could be allayed.

If a person had warts they would disappear if the afflicted one would tie as many knots in the string as there were warts, bury the string on the way to church and, on the return, step over the place where the string was buried. Farther back in the dim ages beetles were buried with mummies to keep the devil from destroying the body. We can laugh these old superstitions to scorn, yes, but how many of you carry a rabbit's foot for luck and refuse to let anyone peer into the looking glass over your shoulder?

Perhaps we are not so far removed from the Pagan after all, especially when we refuse to sit down with thirteen at a table as we saw a person do the other day. Superstition has persisted for thousands of years and although it employs no judgment, imparts no knowledge and instructs no intellect, it has a strong hold on the reasoning faculties of the present generation.

Superstition is as old as the fire worshippers and as young as the debutante who, going to her first ball, refuses to change her hose when she finds they are on wrong side out. It may be terribly foolish but it's difficult to find a person who has not some pet superstition tucked away in the back of his head. After all, we have not come such a long way from the Pagan days when the only way men could settle disputes was by killing each other. If you think so look at the pictures of destruction in Spain, the millions who crouch in fear beneath the lash of the war god. Not so very long. Sisters and brothers still under the skin!

LOOK OUT FOR A SALES TAX

Apparently, the lesson of the overwhelming public protest which forced repeal of the unpopular consumers' two per cent sales tax back in 1935 has been forgotten. Unfortunately, the legislative memory is short.

The perplexing relief problem remains unsettled, the same old groups are blocking efforts to raise needed funds through use of existing state income and up and down the State House corridors, they talk of revising the sales tax.

At least one form of sales tax proposal is out in the open. The current report of the State Tax Revision Commission, now formally before the Legislature, recommends a three per cent gross receipts tax on all retailers.

The Commission hopes the retailer will absorb most of this $37,000,000 tax and hide the rest of it in the price of his merchandise. The theory is that you won't mind because you won't know you're paying it. This is nothing but our old friend, the 1935 consumers' sales tax, in disguise and now fifty per cent higher.

New Jersey retailers say they cannot absorb any part of such a tax. Short profit margins make this impossible. To avoid bankruptcy, they'll be forced to shift all of it to their customers.

This means the burden of this new tax will fall on you. It will raise the cost of living in New Jersey some $37,000,000 a year. It will cost every salaried worker a little more than a week's wages annually.

Fortunately, for the taxpayer, the Commission's program, sugar-coated with the promise that the new revenues will not be used for new spending but to relieve real estate, is dead. It has no chance for passage this year. But this doesn't mean that there will not be further effort to revive a sales tax in some other form. Quite the contrary.

At Trenton, the advocates of new taxes are biding their time. Elated at existing legislative confusion, they are waiting for an opening. Informed political observers are certain that an attempt will be made to get sufficient votes to pass some kind of a sales tax.

Any sales tax is going to cost you money. Prevent these raids on your pay envelope by telling your legislator that you don't want a sales tax in any form. Tell him you can't afford it. Let him know that you think New Jersey can get along without new taxes, that the present million dollar a day combined state and local government income ought to be enough to keep all essential governmental services functioning.

THE OLD LIGHTHOUSE STILL STANDS

THIS WEEK

by "Guardian"

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

The big news this week is the partitioning of what was left of Czechoslovakia, the setting up of a pro-Nazi dummy government in Slovakia and the occupation of Moravia and Bohemia by German troops, accompanied by the personal entrance of Hitler into the former Czechoslovakian capital, Prague. Probably planned for months, events have moved so swiftly in the last four or five days as to leave the world in very much of a fog and to make intelligent observations and comments difficult. And everyone is left in a state of (mental) confusion and unrest, asking "What next?"

We have taken the position heretofore that what happened in Germany was not much of our business and that if the German people were happy about it, we should not become very much excited. And when the German army, contrary to the Treaty of Versailles and the Locarno Pact, occupied the Rhineland and Hitler put his army in possession, and commenced reconstruction of fortifications, we did not feel much concerned because after all, that was German territory. In March 1938 when the Anschluss with Austria was accomplished and Hitler rode in triumph into Vienna, we were not much concerned because the Austrians were a German speaking people closely related to the Germans and apparently the majority of the people in Austria wanted to become part of the Reich and that was their business. And in October when Germany marched into Sudetenland and Hitler again made a triumphal entry there was some evidence that at least a goodly portion of the folks in the occupied zone wanted to belong to Germany rather than to Czechoslovakia and that there was a good sprinkling of German population—and we felt again that that was their business.

But now something has happened to make us begin to believe that maybe what is going on is very much our business. We all recall the critical days of last October, when armies and navies were mobilized and war or peace veritably hung in the balance, now Hitler before the world said that henceforth the German Reich wanted no more territory in Europe; that the German Reich would henceforth protect and guarantee the borders of Czechoslovakia; that Alsace-Lorraine would forever remain French; that war between England and Germany was not an instrument that would be used in the future, and followed up by a similar declaration with respect to France. And now with only five months past, he has broken his promises with reference to territory and the integrity of Czechoslovakia, — has occupied Moravia and Bohemia and broken the Czechoslovakian nation and government into smithereens.

So long as Hitler and his regime were, by means short of war, doing things to areas that were essentially German and attempting to regain the prestige and place in the sun that was Germany's before the World War, we felt that those steps could not justify a great deal of excitement in this country and we were strong in the belief that Messrs. Chamberlain and Daladier in their negotiations at Munich adopted a wise and far-seeing course.

But what next? Hitler now has not only broken his word but by might has taken possession of lands not German, of lands where he is not welcomed,—where he is not greeted with huzzas or walks on roses strewn before him but where he is openly hated,—where he is manifestly not wanted. This week he has gone in as a conqueror by might and not as a liberator returning folks to the homeland.

And what stock can the world place in his promises? How can he world expect him to keep his word as to Alsace-Lorraine,—to France and to England, any more than he has kept his word about territorial acquisition in Europe or the sanctity of Czechoslovakia?

The simple answer is that we can't expect him to keep his word and that unless he is curbed, he will at some time in the future, when England and France find themselves far better prepared than they were at Munich, take one step too many and bring about a war that will engulf all of Europe and in all probability bring this country into it, also, however vehement we all may feel about the futility of war.

Hitler's actions this past week are downright dishonest and immoral. They are a further attack on the liberties of people. If they keep on, the liberties which we cherish in the Democracies can well, bit by bit, be taken away. Certainly for the good of our children and our children's children, to enjoy the liberties of our forefathers, it begins to look as though the nations in the world who love liberty must get their heads together to stop Hitler. Otherwise Hitler and the regime that he heads up will stop liberty.

And that IS our business. Yours 'til next week, "GUARDIAN"

Victoria, B. C., Cyclists Pay Visit To Belleville On A Tour Of U. S.

Rounding out a 6,000-mile motorcycle tour of the United States from Victoria, British Columbia, two young men, George Wellburn and Jack Buckham, members of the Victoria Motorcycle Club, paid a visit to Belleville Tuesday morning. The pair left Victoria on February 15, travelled along the West Coast to San Francisco and Los Angeles and then turned east to El Paso, San Antonio, Houston, New Orleans, Jacksonville, Miami and north to Belleville. They arrived here Monday night and were guests that night of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Eastwood, Montclair. Mr. Eastwood is with the Wallace & Tiernan Co. They were escorted Tuesday morning to Belleville and set on the road to New York. They will proceed from there to Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, through the Dakotas and Montana to Seattle and Victoria. It was in Belleville that Mr. Eastwood snapped the accompanying picture of the motorcyclists, who have spent most of their nights on terra firma in sleeping bags.

MAYOR MISQUOTED ON LAND SALES, HE DECLARES

Private Sales Never Held—Only Sales By Auction

March 7, 1939.

Editor, The Belleville News: In your issue of February 17, 1939 in the article relative to sales of Town-owned property, note in the first, third and fourth paragraphs I am quoted directly. You are respectfully advised that these three paragraphs covering statements I did not make, are inconsistent with facts. The interpretations of your representative have been the cause of many people believing that private sales of town-owned properties had occurred in the past, and have impressed many people that a new policy was being established covering the sales of town-owned property and indirectly reflected on those who previously handled the sales of town-owned property, Director William D. Clark and Mr. Fred Handlon.

Since the sales of town-owned property began about three years ago, through the period in which sales were conducted by Director Clark and since sales of property were replaced under my supervision, only one procedure has been utilized, and that procedure is as follows—any party desiring to bid on town-owned property fills out an application form, stating their name and address and the amount they anticipate bidding and the terms under which they will purchase. This application is submitted to the Board of Commissioners and if the amount stated appears reasonable, the Town Council is instructed to take the necessary steps to conduct a public auction and place advertising covering such auction in the newspapers, in which advertisement is stated the day, hour and place where the auction will be held. Any and all bids received are referred by the Town Council to the Board of Commissioners at the next subsequent meeting at which time the Board of Commissioners accepts the highest bid received and only by approval by resolution of the Board of Commissioners at a public meeting is the final step taken in a real estate transaction covering town-owned property.

I am stating this procedure in detail, as well as stating that no change has been made in the sales procedure, as many people calling at my office have indicated from reading the February 17 article that private sales had been held under Director Clark, and in justice to Director Clark and Mr. Handlon I am submitting this statement to your readers. In relation to the quotation of paragraph three, in which I was quoted as saying, "one of these unkind persons got so huffy, he was thrown out of the Town Hall and told not to come back, and, etc.," you are respectfully advised that I did not use any of the above expressions and believe you represent an unrepresentative exercised unwarranted liberties. I did state, "persons I regarded as unethical in their efforts to obtain town-owned land at prices or on conditions that were not to the best interests of the Town," were told that neither Mr. Coogan nor I wished to continue any conferences with them and they could hereafter do their business with our office. In view of the inaccurate statements of your representative as printed in the issue of the Belleville News on February 17, I request you to print the above statement so that your readers and prospective purchasers of Belleville property may have an opportunity to thoroughly understand our operating policies.

Sound Your Horn Publicity 155 Main Street Belleville, N. J. March 17, 1939

Editor, The Belleville News: It is indeed encouraging when one sees concrete evidence that one's publicity notices are being read. Such was the feeling I got upon reading Mrs. Davies' comments in last week's issue of The Belleville News. I would like to correct, if I may, the mistaken impression Mrs. Davies has of "Sound Your Horn." All the action of the play, throughout the entire three acts occurs inside a roadside diner. The play derives its name from the fact that the diner also sells gasoline, and has a large sign containing the words, Sound Your Horn. This motorists do throughout the greater portion of the play creating humorous situations. I might add that I too, can appreciate Belleville and the suburban area, because of the absence of excessive noise and the beautiful homes it contains. I am sure our group, "The Re-

Meador Wright's PIQUANT POLITICS

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

With a conference reported scheduled for this week between William C. Cope of Glen Ridge and Harold G. Hoffman, the Republican pre-primary pot in Essex shows signs of boiling. No particular significance should be attached to the Cope-Hoffman conference. The Glen Ridge leader has assumed the role of mediator, and in this role is willing to see members of all major factions. It is Cope's theory that a primary fight this year would greatly weaken the party for 1940. He would avoid one by anticipating the probable lines of divergence before they occur.

Last fall Cope found himself in the Clean Government camp for the first time in his career. He was allied with William H. Seely, his erstwhile opponent, because he was not in agreement with the ticket finally put together by the Clean Government opposition. For a few weeks the two Bills went around arm in arm, but since the general election Cope has been drifting towards his old position at the center of the party fulcrum. What direction he would travel should this position become untenable is not certain, but I would guess that it would be away from the Clean Government camp.

Some Invite Fight Many leaders in the anti-Clean Government camp are by no means as anxious as Cope to avoid a fight. I have heard the opinion expressed in some quarters that this year would be a good time to fight it out with Clean Government, and that a ticket should be prepared as early as possible. There are even suggestions that the vote of Homer C. Zink for the confirmation of Frank Hague, Jr. could be made into a good primary issue, in that Zink's candidacy was sponsored by Clean Government. Were such tactics followed, Clean Government would be put in the embarrassing position of having to repudiate Zink entirely or else condone the Hague vote. Since it would hardly do the latter, Zink would have to be cast overboard in much the same manner as the sailors cast to the sea the prophet Jonah.

However annoying such campaigning might be both to Zink and Clean Government, I cannot see how it would help the opposition. Republican voters in Essex have demonstrated again and again their confidence in Clean Government leadership. Some day this confidence will be withdrawn, but I do not believe that it will be in 1939. Clean Government leaders, themselves, feel generally the same way, and are not going to be too much disturbed by the plans of the opposition. At the same time, however, they are anxious to avoid a primary fight if for no other reason than to avoid the expense of a victory. Nothing whatever would be gained by a fight. Hence, Arthur T. Vanderbilt and his associates will make small concessions just to avoid the annoyance a second ticket would cause.

City Manager Sentiment My own feeling is that a climax will come in Newark long before a county fight can materialize. If a city manager referendum or some other contest should result in the overthrow of Pearce R. Franklin, the entire balance of power within the Republican party in Essex might be upset. But in what direction the balance would tilt is anybody's guess. Mine would be that Franklin's overthrow would weaken Clean Government, in that it would prepare the way for an alliance of Newark and opposition elements in the suburbs that would be respectable as well as numerically strong. Independent-minded voters are never going to turn the county government over to the Newark crowd that has nearly ruined Essex if they can help it. Therefore, getting rid of Franklin is a condition precedent to any sound anti-Clean Government movement.

Announcements are due any time now of a determined effort to launch a City manager referendum. The citizens' group for which Edward Fenias is the spokesman plan the fight. It is not clear yet, however, how widespread will be the support given Fenias. In the turbulent condition of Newark opinion, support can shift easily from one group to another.

CARE OF YOUR PETS

By DR. CECIL L. GATES, D.V.M., Belleville, N. J.

Fits and Convulsions A fit or convulsion is not a disease in itself. It is a symptom of a variety of diseases. Fits may take several forms. The animal's whole body may jerk and quiver convulsively in a prone condition, or he may run aimlessly about, barking and howling, staggering into furniture, etc. Frequently he will gnash his teeth together, frothing and drooling at the mouth.

The usual fits occurring in dogs arise from many and varied causes. Dogs infested with worms or other internal parasites are sometimes subject to fits. They also frequently occur in young dogs at teething time, or when the dog is suffering from a calcium deficiency (rickets). The fit is also a symptom of distemper, or disease of the brain, of wrong diet, of strychnine poisoning, of acute indigestion, or of a foreign body in the stomach or intestine. It may be brought about by fright or excitement.

When a dog has a convulsion he should first be subdued or allowed to come out of the fit of his own accord (if it does not last longer than a few minutes). If it is possible to isolate the animal, water, he has an attack, this should be done. Usually he will recover from a convulsion more quickly if he is placed by himself in a room which is cool and preferably darkened. No time should be lost in the location of the trouble and the removal of the cause. This is especially important if the attack has been brought on by strychnine poisoning, often caused by the administration of human cathartic pills. Unless you are positive as to the cause of the fit, do not try to worm the dog or to give him any other medicine, as this may only complicate his condition. If, for example, the dog should be coming down with distemper, a worming at this time would surely retard his recovery, and recovery might even cause his death.

DO NOT THINK THAT BECAUSE A DOG HAS ONE OR MORE FITS THAT HE IS A VICTIM OF RABIES, OR THAT HE IS INCURABLE. A competent veterinarian can discover the cause of the fit or convulsion and advise the best treatment.

Praises Firemen March 17, 1939

Editor, The Belleville News: Dear Sir: May I use your paper to say a few words in praise of Belleville's Fire Department? Sunday, just before midnight, we discovered a fire in our cellar, and the firemen answered our call with such speed and worked so efficiently that it was out before serious damage occurred. It was necessary to drag the hose all through the house, and the furniture was hardly disarranged. One of my children was carried to a neighbor's by a fireman so gently he was not even awakened. It is a comfort to know service like this is within reach of the nearest telephone. Thank you. Yours truly, Amy (Mrs. G. L.) Kyle, 26 Essex street.

"MATTER" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 19.
The Golden Text is: "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain." (Exodus 20:7).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people." (Matthew 9:35).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If God causes man to be sick, sickness must be good, and its opposite, health, must be evil, for all that He makes is good and will stand forever... It is the transgression of a belief of mortal mind, not of a law of matter nor of divine Mind, which causes the belief of sickness" (p.299).

SUNRISE SERVICE IS PLANNED BY C. E. GROUP

Will Be Conducted On Reformed Church Lawn

An Easter Sunrise Service under the auspices of the Belleville Reformed Christian Endeavor Society will be held on the church lawn on Easter Sunday, April 9, if the weather is permitting. The service will be held in the chapel.

John C. Radin, Sr., president of the Society, is the general chairman. Assisting him will be the Misses Francis Place, Ethel Place, Ruth Wood, Catherine Wood, Estelle Lee and Edgar B. Bloemke.

Refreshments will be served after the service by the young ladies of the society.

Local Minister Returns From Missionary Field

Rev. William Scherer, former member of Grace Baptist Church, will be the principal speaker at evening service Sunday in that church.

The North East Peru mission, with which Rev. Scherer is connected, is located 2,200 miles from the mouth of the Amazon river. The region comprising his field of activity is the home of several tribes of Indians. Rev. Scherer has done outstanding work in ministering to the physical and spiritual needs of these people.

Rev. Scherer is well known in Nutley and Belleville where he resided before entering the missionary field.

The services are under the auspices of the Helen V. Davis Chapter of The World Wide Guild.

Plans Progress For "Sound Your Horn"

Miss Catherine A. Wood will portray the leading character in "Sound Your Horn," Christian Endeavor Church, on Sunday, March 30 and 31. Miss Wood has been actively engaged in young peoples' work in the Belleville Reformed Church for the past five years. At present she is serving as secretary of the Senior Christian Endeavor Society and as a teacher in the Sunday School.

Miss Wood will be supported in her role by Vitold Milton. Mr. Milton interprets the role of a Soda Dispenser, Theodore Webster.

Others in the cast include the Misses Dorothy Hollander, Estelle Lee, Dorothy Newton, Mrs. Irma Anderson, Mrs. M. Ruth Dunkin, George W. Price, Robert F. Wolf and Fred H. Woodward, Jr.

Miss Edna Baum has been selected to assist Mrs. Violet E. Troeoin, coach. Miss Baum will prompt.

The stage properties, under the supervision of Irving G. Belden, are rapidly nearing completion. An amplifying system will be installed by Samuel Anderson, Nutley.

E. H. Thatcher is chairman in charge of ticket sales. Tickets may be obtained from Mr. Thatcher or any member of the cast.

Sidney Kauffer

Sidney Kauffer, who operates the Corner Drug Store, 106 Washington avenue, with William Abramson, is thirty-two. He was born in Newark and attended East Side High School where he played football and competed with the track team. In 1923 and 1924 he was city shot put and discus champion and in 1924 won the New Jersey Interscholastic championship in the discus. With Henry "Hank" Watters and Halsey Douglas he helped organize the Belleville High School track team three years ago. Mr. Kauffer is married and lives in Conover avenue, Nutley. He has been in Belleville fourteen years. Several of his experiments in the drug field have received high praise from doctors and dentists. He recently was accorded honors for a paper which was presented in state competition as regards dentifrices. Mr. Kauffer is active socially and interested in all civic endeavors. After graduating from East Side, he attended Panzer College and graduated from New Jersey College of Pharmacy.

James L. Davidson

Joseph King of the firm of Davidson and King, real estate, insurance and builders, 414 Washington avenue, was born in the north of England and moved to Belleville as a young man. Starting in the building business together in 1910 the partners were instrumental in construction and development of much of the town. Mr. King has always been interested in civic affairs. He is a director in the First National Bank, president of the Clover B. & L. Association, charter member of the Community Chest, Director of Public Affairs here and a former County Freeholder. He had charge of the erection of the County Hospital here. He is now in his second term as a commissioner, is married and has a son in Belleville High School. He resides at 20 Malone avenue and his hobby is his garden and flowers.

Born in Scotland, Mr. Davidson's early life parallels that of his partner, as told above. He was formerly tax assessor here and, like Mr. King, is intensely interested in all civic matters. He is a widower with two children, Marion and Stanley B. His hobby is hunting and fishing. Much of Belleville's development may also be traced to Mr. Davidson's vision.

Barnet Yudin

Barnet Yudin, who was the last secretary of the Belleville Merchants' Association, has seen his efforts as a small paint dealer crowned with success until today he has the finest equipped paint store in this section of New Jersey, embodying an art department and auto glass department, in charge of Ted Krause, service manager. All this within the brief span of thirty-three years. That number of years ago Mr. Yudin arrived in Passaic from Russia. He stayed there three years and then opened a small store at Van Rensselaer street, moving later to a Rutgers street store then to his present location, 114 Washington avenue where a complete painter's service has been established, including a splendid line of wall-papers. Mr. Yudin, who is fifty-three, was at one time interested in building operations, having built up Lincoln terrace and constructed many other homes here. He is a member of the Elks, Progress Club, Congregation A. A. A. and Workmen's Circle.

PAUL'S Shoe Shop

We Are Proud of This Town of Ours

Belleville is gradually becoming an industrial center of no mean proportions. Many are the manufacturers who have listened to the advantages of Belleville and acted on them. And there are many reasons why it is most advantageous for any large concern to consider Belleville seriously before locating anywhere in the east. Belleville has some of the choicest sites in this section of the country, has abundant labor close at hand, has unequal transportation facilities, in short, has the entire metropolitan area to draw upon. For our merchants this has meant greatly increased business. Every new industrial plant here means a greater turnover, more profits, improved merchandise for our businessmen. They can afford to stock the best. Since this is so, the wise Bellevilleite buys in Belleville, always looks for what he wants in the Belleville shops before he goes elsewhere. Many people labor under the delusion that it is necessary to trade with the big stores in the big cities in order to get a bargain. But if it is bargains you are looking for, try Belleville first. If it is high-quality goods you are seeking, try Belleville first. For everything from soup to nuts and automobiles to lace doilies, try Belleville first. Much has been done to improve Belleville, much remains to be done. Every citizen can help by trying Belleville first in everything.

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES By Joe Duval

The feline has been released from the sack. And what a cat it turned out to be. This Belleville News Bowling Sweeps will be the biggest thing that has hit this part of the country since the Main Street-Second River Bridge dropped four inches.

We never realized what a bowling town this is until we proposed this event and watched the reactions. Everybody wanted to be first with their entries.

There are very few investments in which you have a chance to multiply your initial outlay twenty times over in such a short time. Every entry, pro or dub, has an even chance at the $15 singles prize and half of the $30 doubles prize.

And speaking of bowling, we watched the High School kegglers do their stuff against Asbury Park Saturday and they have something on the ball — or on the pins. They rolled them down there with the finesse of veterans.

Their coach Paul Jones ended the season in the Suburban Schoolmen's League with top individual average, 186. You had to use a telescope to see the next Belleville man in the standings—which is one reason the High School faculty could do no better than a tie for fourth in the team standings.

Harry Blackley of Sheet Metal in the Manufacturers' League was a nervous wreck by the time he finished rolling Friday night. It wasn't so bad when he laid down his seventh strike in a row, no, the eighth didn't turn many hairs any grayer either. But the ninth, tenth and eleventh straight strikes almost brought about a nervous breakdown each time.

By the time the moment came for his last roll he was practically a jittery bug. Action had stopped at every other alley in No Nwk and everybody watched holding their breath. The ball bounced, rolled down the alley, pins went flying in all directions — all the pins except No. 5. Malcontent No. 5 wobbled enough to drop on any league, but finally got back its balance and settled down definitely.

So Harry Blackley rolled 299 and missed his 300 which would have brought him a gold ring from the A.B.C.

But that's not as bad as the boy who did roll 300 at No Nwk last fortnight. The only trouble was that he did it all on one alley instead of the two demanded for recognition by the A.B.C.

The Shuffleboard Mayors Are Here Again Mayor Williams dropped a pretty tough decision to Nutley's Mayor Young two weeks ago, but Hizzoner still thinks he is the better shuffler — of the two, of course. So a return match has been arranged for next Thursday at the Elks' Club. Their respective Lordships are reported headed for their training camps in preparation for the big match.

Whole gobs of attractions have been lined up. Triples Point Frank Keiley, the Elks' fighting champ, and his Mystery Partner will tackle the Essex County champs Hal Mead and Henrie Kurzman. Walter Lowe will be the referee and Congressman Fred Hartley will emcee the whole affair.

Idea just came to us that it is too had the High Schools aren't on speaking terms. Think they ought to follow the example of their Mayors. Certainly no high school, and above all no high school feuder, is better than the man in the highest office in the community. If the Mayors can call each other Fred and Bill, where is the justification for petty squabbles among their subordinates, squabbles which assume the proportions of a world war in the offended party's imagination.

The Flowers That Bloom In The Spring Duck! Here comes spring. And with it baseballs and softballs. Looks like there will be a great deal of activity on the local diamonds this year. With a senior and a junior softball schedule all lined up by the Recreation Commission and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, there should be some pretty keen competition in town.

The Senators, Cardinals and Emeralds have already announced that they will put baseball teams on the field this year. Probably the rest of the teams which competed last year will follow suit shortly.

But spring always sounds the death knell of basketball, too, and for that we are sorry. For basketball has, within a couple of years, climbed into first place among winter sports. Recent statistics showed that more people witnessed basketball games during 1938 than saw any other sport in the U. S. — football and baseball not excepted.

To the many teams which made the winter season so interesting to Belleville we extend congratulations, particularly to the various league champions. We also offer a hope that the belated grammar school basketball will not be allowed to perish during the summer.

Brett Named N.Y.R.A. Officer; Nereid Buys Double Shell

C. Leverich Brett, 119 Heller Parkway, Newark, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Nereid Boat Club, was last week elected a vice-president of the New York Rowing Association.

Br. It, who has long been a dominant figure in metropolitan rowing circles, attended the meeting in New York with Leslie Burnley, 72 Nolton street, and Homer R. Zink, 26 Rossmore place.

Nereid has completed plans to buy one of the New York Athletic Club's championship double shells, The News learned exclusively this week. The Belleville club will take delivery on the shell in the near future.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE PLANS TAKE SHAPE

Six On Eight Team Loop To Be Arranged; David Lamb In Charge

The Recreation Commission of Belleville will sponsor a senior softball league this spring and summer, Edward J. Lister, Director of Recreation, announced this week. According to the number of applications, it will be either a six- or an eight-team league.

David Lamb, 88 Holmes street, will manage the circuit. He is in charge of the Terry Street League for the past two years. Managers or representatives of all teams interested in entering the loop must contact him in the near future.

Managers must submit team rosters along with their own names and addresses. A meeting of all managers will be called at the Recreation House within a fortnight to formulate final plans.

VFW TO SPONSOR JUNIOR SOFTBALL

Will Hold Tournament; Winner To Be Entered In State Championships

With spring lurking just around the corner, the Young-inger Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is already laying plans for the annual junior softball tournament to determine the champion of Belleville.

The last conducted the competition last year from which the Penguins emerged the victors, went on to win the state championship and lasted to the second round in the national tournament in Columbus.

E. H. Alden, William (Doc) Hood and Herbert J. Scott have been appointed to conduct the softball affairs of the Post this summer.

Entry blanks and further information can be obtained from the Young-inger Post. All teams must enter by June 30.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT FOR EMERALD A. C.

Twelve Returning Veterans Plus Promising Addition Raise Team's Hopes

The Emerald A. C. will put a baseball team on the field this summer for the tenth successive year. This was announced today by Henry Lubben, manager of the North Newark nine.

The outlook is particularly bright for the 1939 season with twelve of last year's squad returning and one new player being placed on the roster.

The returning veterans are Bill Lister, Walt Cody, Jim Lynch, Alex Young, Leo O'Reilly, Bill Cowan, Ed Fiske, Romie McGilvan, George Wiggins, Ed Sullivan and Arnold Clarke. The newcomer is Frank Lynch, formerly of the Newark Normals. He may, however, be classed as an old member since he has played with the Emeralds off and on since 1931.

Walt Smith Named Captain Of Virginia Basketball Five

Special to The Belleville News: Charlottesville, Mar. 16 — Walter C. Smith, 18 Bell street, Belleville, N. J., was this week elected captain of the 1940 basketball team of the University of Virginia. He has held a guard position on the Cavalier team combine for the past two seasons.

Smith has also been a first string backfield performer on the Virginia football team for two years. His brother, Ray Smith, was captain of the 1935 basketball team.

School One Is Court Champ After Trimming Number Ten

School Number One is the 1939 champion of the Belleville Public Schools. Number One trimmed Number Ten in a low-scoring game in the high school gym Saturday morning to take the title.

With Pal and Athin leading the way the victors held Number Ten to three baskets as they won 14-9.

Number Eight defeated Number Seven in the consolation final by the score of 23-11. Stanfield and Petrella were high men for the winners with nine points apiece.

ROSEY TRIUMPHS OVER W&T, 26-14, WINS COURT TITLE

Pals Trip Seminole, 29-28, Take Intermediate Title; Bellboys Nip Seniors

The Belleville Rosery is the undisputed king of local senior recreation basketball as a result of its hard-fought 26-14 victory over Wallace and Tiernan, champion of the Manufacturers' League.

The Rosery had won the Senior Recreation League crown over the weekend.

Friday night the Rosery trimmed Baldwin Brush 33-24 in the first game of the final playoffs. Baldwin was the first-round champion. Joe Grosch led the Rosery with eleven points.

The Rosery went on to beat the Senators, third round champion, Monday night by a score of 36-29. Al Culklin led the Rosery scorers with six field goals and a brace of fouls. Ed Stryjewski, champion individual scorer of the Senior League also had fourteen points for the Senators.

Tuesday night the Rosery and Wallace & Tiernan were matched for the championship of Belleville. The game was very even thru the first half, the score being tied 8-8 at the intermission.

The second half, however, was Rosery all the way. With Joe Shanahan, Grosch and Culklin leading the parade, the eventual winners were not to be denied in their quest of the title.

Belleville News To Sponsor First Annual Handicap Event At No. Newark Bowling Alleys

Every Entrant Has Chance At Both Singles And Doubles Prizes For One Entry Fee; Closing Date For Applications Is April 22

Plans have just been completed for the biggest event of the year, the climax of the local bowling season. The arrangements are complete for the first annual Belleville News Handicap Bowling Sweepstakes. The event will be held at the North Newark Bowling Academy Friday and Saturday, May 5 and 6.

The date of the first weekend in May was chosen because all leagues in this district have closed their seasons by that time. It is expected that fully three-quarters of the local bowlers will enter the competition.

In order to open this affair to every possible contestant and yet give the lesser lights an even chance at the prize money, it was decided to make it a handicap event. Whether you have averaged 200 or (like most of us) 100 you still have as good a chance as the next fellow to multiply your initial investment ten times.

The entry fee will be $1.50 per man and each man has a chance to boost his winning pot to $30.00, for the guaranteed first prizes will be $15.00 for the singles and $30.00 for the doubles.

The remainder of the money taken in through entrance fees will be split into the other prizes after the alley charges have been deducted.

Two for Price of One By posting one entry blank a man can enter both singles and doubles for one entrance fee. All he has to do is to name his doubles partner, who must also return an application.

Then each man will roll three games, his handicap will be added and his score will count towards the singles prizes. His total will also be added to that of his partner to give him a chance to share in the doubles prize money.

To establish a handicap every entrant must fill in his season's average on the application. A minimum of 21 games must have been rolled during the season. Then his league secretary must certify this figure as his true average.

Where a man is not a member of a league his average must be certified by the superintendent of the alleys on which he rolled. For his handicap score he will be given 75 per cent of the difference between his average and the par of 200 which has been established.

Alleys Par Excellent The alleys at the North Newark Bowling Academy on which The Belleville News Sweepstakes will be held are considered among the finest in the state.

Located at 90 Verona avenue opposite the North Newark station of the Erie Railroad there are 16 of them, all well lighted and in excellent condition.

The News Sweepstakes will be held on the eight alleys on the first floor of the establishment. Through the cooperation of owner Jim Ferrara and manager "Doc" Haycock the downstairs alleys will be held for the exclusive use of the sweeps May 5 from 7 o'clock on and May 6 from 2 o'clock on.

The closing date for entries will be midnight Saturday April 22. All entries must be postmarked before then or must have been returned in person to The Belleville News office, 11 Mill street, Belleville, or to the North Newark Bowling Academy by Ed West.

Full entry fee must be enclosed with the application or the entry will be disregarded.

Besides basketball, Booty is a varsity lacrosse player and has a fine chance of copying All-American honors this year.

"Gunga Din" Starts Today At The Wellmont Theatre In Montclair

From time immemorial India has figured in the world's eyes as the land of mystery, of high adventure, fevered romances and strange religious beliefs, a land, where as globe-trotting travelers tell you "most anything can happen, and generally does!"

These truths are brought vividly home to the spectator in the motion picture, "Gunga Din," a melodrama of British army life in the Far East, adapted from Rudyard Kipling's poem of the same title, which starts at the Wellmont theatre, Montclair, tonight.

It offers as its hero Gunga Din, a bhisti, or water carrier in the service of the English army, who, despite his low caste, a tremendous handicap, the full significance of which can only be fully understood by those who know what the social divisions of the Orient mean to its inhabitants, rises from his humble estate to become a valiant fighting man.

With his three sergeant comrades the bhisti passes through a series of wild adventures, borne on swiftly-moving currents of blazing action that furnish never-ceasing succession of amazing thrills. There is fighting galore, the dull boom of artillery mingling with the sharp crack of rifles, moments of red-blooded suspense when the bayonets swing down to the charging level, and ferce tribesmen meet the onset with all the savage valor of their race. There are interludes of comedy, the humor of virile men who can laugh in the presence of impending doom, and pathos that will linger long in the observers' memories, when Gunga Din risks and sacrifices his life in blowing up the treasure-filled temple which is the headquarters of the Thugs.

Also, there is romance, as typified by the heroine of a love affair with one of the sergeants, a character daintily impersonated by pretty Joan Fontaine. Sam Jaffe scores a pronounced hit as the self-sacrificing bhisti, and Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., play the roles of the three sergeants, Cutler, MacChesney and Ballantine, with splendid dash and vigor.

Excellent performances are given by other members of the cast, Eduardo Ciannelli, who appears as The Master, or chief of the Thug band, Montagu Love, Robert Cootie and Abner Biberman. The scenic beauty of the film is undeniable, ranging from shots of foaming rivers, dense forests, wild, mountainous peaks, to the grandeur of a historically famous Khyber Pass. A melodrama de luxe, as thrilling in its headlong action as it is unique in audience appeal, "Gunga Din" classes as sure-fire entertainment.

Frank Ruby of 361 De Witt avenue.

Eugene J. Kivlen, Democratic chairman, in a telegram to the Commission, said: "To prove sincerity of your resolution last meeting demand mayor start investigation of relief administration in town. Would save thousands in new budget. If it prevent more raids on teachers' pension fund and prevent salary cuts for police and firemen, efforts would not be in vain. Willing to confer with mayor my office his convenience."

Kivlen referred to a resolution adopted at the last meeting requesting State Administrator Allen to recertify and investigate all Belleville men on WPA and all others working in WPA jobs for which the town pays a share of the cost.

Mayor Williams said in part in reply: "Our board at its last meeting was assured by Public Affairs Director King that the ultimate care had been exercised to see that all relief dollars were well spent. As finance director, I will be pleased to receive any recommendations you may care, to submit whereby the thousands mentioned by you may be saved. I do not believe you think the Board of Commissioners has anything to do with so-called raids on the teachers' pension fund."

Born in Boston, Miss Richman received her education in public and private schools in the Middle West. Although her parents play no musical instruments, she was playing the melodies of familiar songs on a small piano at the age of three. At six, her music study was begun. As a young artist, Miss Richman became well known to the various music groups in Detroit and vicinity. The winning of scholarships for piano and composition at the David Mann School brought Miss Richman to New York where she has made her home since.

She has studied with Frank Sheridan and Isabella Vengerova. Miss Richman's concertizing in the Middle West showed a promising artist with brilliant technique and warmth in interpretation. Recent engagements include appearances at Queens College, Flushing, and at the College of the City of New York. As a creative artist, Miss Richman has compositions for piano, violin, and a trio for piano, violin and cello to her credit.

An exponent of both Russian and American Schools, Mr. Cambourakis has concertized in Russia, Southern Europe, North Africa and America. Beginning his violin lessons at the age of five, he was doing recital work at eleven. He is a pupil of Seligmann of the Imperial Conservatory, Russia, and has studied with Auer and Graffman in this country. Mr. Cambourakis holds the position of concert master in three orchestras, the New York Young Men's Symphony orchestra, the Symphony Orchestra at the College of the City of New York, and the Nutley Symphony Society.

This season of engagements started auspiciously with his rhapsody of the Mendelssohn Concerto with the Nutley Orchestra.

As a composer Mr. Cambourakis has received notice for his works for the violin. At his studio in Nutley he accepts serious students who desire thorough training.

"The Adventures Of Huckleberry Finn" At Loew's, Newark

"The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," sequel to "TOM SAWYER," with Mickey Rooney in the title role and playing his first solo starring role in the story of life on the Mississippi, is now playing at Loew's State Theatre, Newark. On the same program will be "FOUR GIRLS IN WHITE," with Florence Rice, Ann Rutherford, Una Merkel and Alan Marshall in the leading roles.

Familiar to millions of readers, the Mark Twain story presents Mickey as the river lad who seeks to aid a run away slave to escape up the river to a free state. Their raft is invaded by two comical swindlers, who give bogus Shakespearean plays, plot to sell the Negro back to slavery, and are about to defraud two girls of their father's estate when Huck exposes them and precipitates a dramatic climax. The cast includes Walter Connolly and Walter Frawley as the swindlers.

The kindly Widow Douglas, benefactress of Huck, is enacted by Elizabeth Risdon. Jim, the runaway, is played by Rex Ingham, the Negro actor who scored as De Lawd in "GREEN PASTURES." Lynne Carver, Jo Ann Sayers, Minor Watson, Victor Kilian and Clark Blandick complete the cast, which was directed by Richard Thorpe.

World's Fair Preview Stage Show At Shubert, Newark

The Shubert Theatre, Newark, presents for the week starting today the "World's Fair Preview" on their stage, featuring the romantic Irish singer Phil Regan, stage, screen and radio star, and the dancing sensations of "Tip, Tap and Toe"; the mystifying act of Earl LeVeve and Helen Ware; the unusual dance team St. Clair and Yvonne, who bill themselves as "Frankenstein's Brother and Sister"; and Burton and Kaye, in songs, satire and swing rhythm plus the sixteen "World Fairest," a dancing unit of sixteen beautiful girls.

As an added stage attraction the Shubert offers the girl who originated the fan dance and proclaimed by such judges as Florence Ziegfeld and Earl Carroll as having the World's most beautiful body, Faith Bacon, who will do her "Dance of The Orchids" which is predicted will become as famous in 1939's World Fair as in 1893's and the Fan Dance in 1935. Buddy Page and his Shuberters are also on the bill.

On the Shubert Screen will be the thrilling romantic adventure picture of International Smugglers, "Forged Passport."

Wings Of The Navy At Capitol

"Wings of the Navy," a Warner Bros. Cosmopolitan production, which is declared to be by far the best to date of the remarkable succession of "service" pictures turned out at that studio, comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre Sunday with a cast headed by George Brent, Olivia de Havilland, John Payne and Frank Mc Hugh.

The Warner studio's preeminence in the field of pictures dealing with life in the various divisions of the armed forces of the nation was first established several years ago with the production of "Here Comes the Navy." Since then such pictures as "Devil Dogs of the Air" and "Submarine D-1" have enabled this studio to continue its supremacy.

As its title so aptly indicates, "Wings of the Navy" is a story laid against a background of naval aviation. It is a powerful tale that, effectively transfers to the screen the spirit and traditions of the aerial division of the nation's guardians of the sea and coastline, and in the course of telling the story, the film production impressively unfolds scenes which give the onlooker a vivid conception of the strength and competence of the Navy's aerial wing. The co-feature "Ambush" tells the story of a pretty stenographer trapped by desperadoes after a daring bank robbery. Forced to lend them her aid, she helps lure a brawny truck driver to the bandit hide-out. But in the resultant flight across the state, she and the truckman conspire to defeat the bandit's plans. They are involved in a rapid-fire fight with the police, narrowly escape death several times, but win success in a rousing finish.

Glamorous Gladys Swarthout occupies the leading role in this melodramatic modern story, with Lloyd Nolan as her romantic partner, and Ernest Truex, Broderick Crawford and Harry Tufts as her dangerous opponents.
