

WILL ASK ZONE BOARD TO OKAY MILL PLANS

Long Fight Between Belwood Park Residents and Lumber Company Ends

The long fight ended, the Belwood Park Improvement Association tonight will petition the Zoning Board to approve plans of the Bloomfield Lumber Company to proceed with construction of its new planing mill at Belleville and Smallwood avenues. The association on Thursday voted acceptance of the compromise effected with officials of the company by Commissioner Louis A. Noll and Samuel Figuerelli.

Under the terms of the settlement, the company will screen the plan with a picket fence along Smallwood avenue, the mill will be placed as far as possible from the residential area and the gate, a principal bone of contention, which was planned for the middle of the Smallwood avenue fence, will be moved to Greenwood lane on the southern line of the property.

The compromise represents the end of a prolonged, bitter battle over the right of the company to build immediately adjacent to the class A residential zone. Fight was in the hearts of the residents up until the last moment and it appeared, until the final vote, that all the negotiations of the past month might fall through.

Changes Their Minds

Noll was absent from the first part of the meeting of the association at the Recreation House Thursday. When he arrived the members had just voted 7-6 to demand continuance of the fight. Noll addressed the assembly on the advantages of the compromise and threatened to withdraw his promised financial and moral support should the court battle be continued. The motion was reconsidered and the vote was reversed 7-4 with Figuerelli and association president Arthur Chiappari not voting.

The Board of Commissioners will be asked Tuesday night to drop the argument before the Supreme Court, in which much testimony had already been taken. Figuerelli was commissioned to confer with the company's lawyer to reduce the agreement to writing.

COOKING SCHOOL DIRECTOR NAMED

Miss D. C. Cordery, P. S. Home Consultant, Will Conduct News' School

Invitations have been extended to a number of local women's organizations to participate in the All-Gas Cooking School to be sponsored by The News on April 30, May 1 and 2. It will be held at St. Peter's Auditorium in William and Bridge streets. This educational and entertaining feature, which housewives will find filled with valuable tips and information for them, will be open to all women. There will be no admission charge.

To Give Valuable Tips

Miss Cordery will tell the housewives just what she knows of the culinary art and will present practical demonstrations as to her economic and time-saving procedure. She has full knowledge in every phase of cooking and promises to bring some brand new recipes and new ideas for luncheons, dinners and parties.

The demonstration will be brief and to the point. A public address system will be installed and large mirrors will be placed over top of table to reflect every movement made.

'Town Will Roll Up Big Hoffman Vote'—Noll

Commissioner Says More Localities Are Swinging To The Former Governor's Camp; Predicts A "Sweeping Victory" For Him In May Primaries

"Each week sees the Hoffman-for-Governor Club and its woman's auxiliary gain in membership," said Director of Parks and Public Property Louis A. Noll today as he predicted a "sweeping victory" for the former Governor in the May Primary. "Belleville will demonstrate a tremendous vote for Mr. Hoffman," said Noll, adding, "We plan a complete canvass of each district and ward in town by loyal workers for a governor who was lost enough to his constituents to be called 'Harold' and yet maintain the dignity of high office."

"We point with pride that during his administration from January, 1935, to January, 1938, New Jersey was placed on a pay-as-you-go basis. The budget was balanced every year during his term in office."

Predicts Victory

Louis A. Noll

"The over-all expenses of the State Government were reduced nearly 40 million dollars annually and not a single dollar was borrowed for either capital or current purposes and a net reduction of over 25 million dollars was effected in the State funded debt," he continued.

Started Interstate Cooperation

"New Jersey, during Governor Hoffman's term was the first state to set up a Commission on Interstate Cooperation. Now over thirty states have such agencies, authorized to execute regional compacts for detection and prosecution of crime, and such matters as taxation, labor, water supply, vehicular traffic, etc., without surrendering the sovereign rights of the states to the Federal Government."

Improved Without Borrowing

"Laws were passed in line with the Federal Security Act providing unemployment compensation, expanding old age assistance, aid to blind, crippled children, and dependent children, and broadening public health work in New Jersey. This was done within existing State income, and without borrowing."

Club Pleases In Concert

Enthusiastic Audience Heard Glee Club At School No. 10 Last Evening

From both sides of the footlights last night at School No. 10 came the opinion that the eighth annual spring concert of the Belleville Glee Club was most pleasing. An enthusiastic audience applauded long and loud throughout the program.

After the final number, Mark Main of 69 Wilder street, club president, said that he believed the concert to be one of the best in the history of the organization. Director Arthur E. Jacobus joined Main in complimenting the singers.

Winsome Eleanor Searle captivated the audience with her personality and charming soprano voice, particularly when she sang the part of the innkeeper's daughter in the presentation of the magnificent "The Highwayman" by Mark Andrews and Alfred Noyes. The club sang two encores, "Hear a Brown Bird Singing" and "Lift Thine Ties."

Clearman Field Will Be Closed For Summer

School Board Decides That Field Must Be Plowed Under; Athletic Teams Must Find Some Other Place To Play Their Games This Season

Clearman Field will be closed to any and all events immediately after the high school baseball season and will not be ready for use until footballs begin to fly in the fall. During this time the field will be plowed, resurfaced and replanted with grass seed. This was decided by the Board of Education at its meeting Monday night when it approved the recommendation of Building and Grounds Committee Chairman Walter Gilby.

The decision leaves the Cardinal Athletic Club and the Belleville Manufacturers' Softball League faced with the problem of finding new fields on which to play their games during the summer. The Cardinals had applied for permission to use the diamond on Saturdays during the summer and the league wanted it for twilight games during the week.

It has been seven years since the field was last reconitioned, Gilby pointed out, and it is now in "horrible condition." He acted on a report made to him by district clerk Ruel E. Daniels. The report follows:

Top Soil Washed Away

"Originally the field had a covering of only four inches of topsoil over clay with a large rock content. It appears that the topsoil has washed away. The rocks are continually forcing their way to the surface. The seed sown last year has washed into spots. In that part not seeded, especially the baseball diamond, the dirt has washed away from the tufts of grass, leaving a hummock condition."

"The softball games played last year have spoiled the infield. The baselines for softball are shorter and have therefore cut up the infield."

"There is a six foot drop in the field from the stadium to the field house on Union avenue. This, of course, causes excessive erosion of the soil."

The rocky condition of the field contributes to a great many knee injuries in football. We have carted tons of rocks from the field but they are continually forcing their way to the surface."

Pact Between Jergens And Unions Praised; Start Work Soon

Labor Leaders Sign Agreement Not To Halt Construction; Give Number Of Concessions

The new $1,500,000 plant of the Andrew Jergens Company will go up without a hitch to delay its construction as a result of a pact signed Saturday by labor unions' officials and the company. The treaty has been termed one of the broadest and most far-reaching in the annals of labor by all concerned. As a result work is expected to start on the new building in Mill street within the next two weeks.

Mayor Williams served as the intermediary who got the various officials, together in Town Hall Friday and Saturday. When the agreement was finally signed about noon Saturday, the building trades unions had pledged themselves to work on the plant and to stop for no cause whatsoever until work is completed.

The union men have agreed to install any machinery or equipment in the plant even if made by non-union labor. Present wages and working conditions will prevail until the building is up and "positively no jurisdictional disputes shall be permitted to delay or otherwise adversely affect the progress of the project."

"Competent Union Labor"

The agreement also stipulates that the company shall not be required to employ any mechanic whose competence it questions. Any contractor to whom Jergens company may award work on the buildings shall be furnished with competent union labor regardless of the contractor's past policy with respect to employment of union labor or his expressed future policy.

"Play Ball!"

From big league stadiums and sand lots the cry of "Play Ball" has been ringing across the land during the last few days.

Playing ball is the American game and the spirit of "play ball" marks the American life and business as well. When parents sacrifice to send children to school, they are playing ball with the next generation. And when a bank adapts its "banking practices" to the needs of business and to individuals, it is playing ball with this present generation — and with its customers.

John, and Miss Dorothy Fleming of Delavan avenue with Miss G. K. Degnan of Providence, R. I. are home from three weeks spent in Florida and Cuba.

MOTORSTOKOR
WITH ANTHRACITE AND MOTORSTOKOR
Tucka MOTORSTOKOR into your present furnace now, and laugh at winter. It's completely automatic—carrying coal right from the bin, emptying ashes, keeping even temperatures—and costing less to operate than other automatic heat. No gassy, smudgy air. Buckwheat or rice anthracite is clean and costs one-third less. MOTORSTOKOR is simple, silent, rugged. It fits any furnace, makes it entirely automatic, even heats domestic water in many homes.

OLD TIMERS HELP WITH REVUE

Petrea Producers Are Aided In Presenting Gay 90's Show

Many famous Bellevillites of the mauve decade will be satirized and characterized when the Petrea Club presents its Gay Nineties Revue in St. Peter's Auditorium April 27 and 28. The production was written and will be staged by club members. William Brady, production manager, wrote or collaborated on all the acts with Kathryn Domahue.

Peter Barnes designed the scenes. Brady and James Leonard arranged the settings and Thomas Dowd supervised their building. Grace Kyser is coaching the Merry Widow Waltzes. William Cluxon and Joseph Trenti are handling the Floradora number. Zita Lonergan is playing for rehearsals. Brady, Dowd and Leonard have "taken this pot-pourri of song, comedy, dancing and acrobatics and assembled it" into what they feel will be the funniest and most entertaining revue ever staged at St. Peter's.

Musical Reviews

Have you ever been to a WQXR Musical Quiz broadcast? Try it some time. Several Bellevillites attended one not long ago. Upon reaching the station, one found that the reception and broadcasting rooms were disappointing as to appearance and size. They held none of the atmosphere of glamour, in rooms of the larger stations. Of course, when realizing that this particular station was started as a private enterprise, one shouldn't expect spacious rogers and Persian rugs.

The actual broadcast was most satisfying. The size of the room lent an air of intimacy. And the way the two producers (looking like a couple of college boys) dashed off notes on slips of paper, then thrust them under Irving Deakin's nose, gave one the feeling that here was a program that hadn't been rehearsed to the last gasp, but rather was being created before one's eyes.

Earl Wiid, a semi-famous concert pianist, was one of the team of four answerers. Dana Suesse, composer of many present day "hits," sat next to Mr. Wiid, and succeeded in achieving the only perfect score of the evening. We thought it rather interesting that a jazz composer should be so well-informed on classical music and musical history. The other two members of the team, both men, were remarkably clever with quick answers and occasional witticisms. The half hour was all too short for the program seemed to end just as it got well under way.

Two former Belleville residents took part in the monthly evening musicale at the Bloomfield Woman's Club last Friday. John Cataldo, Belleville High graduate, appeared as first violinist in the newly-formed tonal Art String Quartet. We can't be too enthusiastic about this group, for their precision, tone and balance is unusually good. Audrey Brooks, coloratura soprano, who sang for some time at Fermiseth Presbyterian Church, charmed the audience with her ease of production and excellent breath control while executing difficult coloratura passages.

HIS name was Ken — that's the name he had on his little ice cream parlor in Bloomfield avenue, and the only name anyone ever called him — and that's no doubt what they're calling him today out in Sioux City, Ia., or at Yellowstone National Park, or wherever he happens to be wandering at the moment. Eight months ago when he was running his small ice cream parlor he told us that some day he expected to close up the place, buy a car and a dog and set out for the unknown. We suspected it was just a case of premature spring fever, but yesterday we received a postcard from Ken and he's done it, car, dog and everything, just as he said he'd do.

We recall now Ken's philosophy. It was along the lines that if you have a couple of thousand dollars, your health and a fairly average love for life, there's no reason in the world why you shouldn't chuck it all and go out and have a fling.

"I'll see some of the places I've always wanted to see," he said. "I may even go down into Mexico, Central and South America. When it looks like I've spent everything I'll get busy again and go to work. But I'm going to have fun while it lasts."

FOR Sight-seeing Trip No. 1 hereabouts we suggest the Alderney Milk Barn, situated at the intersection of Routes 10 and 202, Morris Plains. Preferably from Mondays through Fridays, because of the exceptional rush to this exceptional spot over the weekends. But here is beautiful country with a glimpse of the fine Alderney Guernsey cows in the surrounding fields; the exquisite natural color of the terraine of Alderney's model Brooklawn Farm, and the comfortable, homey atmosphere of the spotless Alderney milk barn, where the milk and ice cream are as rich to the palate as the adjacent countryside is to the eye. Yes, by all means make the Alderney Barn Sight-seeing Trip No. 1.

WE attended the opening of Eastern racing at Jamaica Monday and witnessed the operation of the mutual machines which piled up a total first day business of $821,000. It is our belief that with the opening of the first mutual track in New Jersey the first day's business will be equally as great; especially so if the track is midway between Hudson and Essex Counties.

TUESDAY we took in Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey Circus at Madison Square Garden. Any adult who doesn't rave over this show better have his head examined, for it is the best circus yet, and those who will see it here have plenty of pleasure and excitement to look forward to.

LITTLE AL, the bellhop, sends this one in: The husband said to the departing wife: "You are leaving me without reason!" And her reply was: "I always leave things as I find them!" —Adv.

High School Youth Trying For RCA Scholarship

The opportunity of winning a $4,000 scholarship offered by the Radio Corporation of America will be given George Fralley of 36 Mertz avenue when he takes the preliminary examination next Tuesday. Fralley, who is seventeen and a senior at the high school, would attend Cornell University should he win.

From the thousands of boys all over the nation who will take the examination in physics and advanced algebra, ten preliminary winners will be chosen by a board of eminent radio scientists. These boys will spend a month next summer in New York and Camden where they will study the research laboratories and engineering facilities of NBC and RCA-Victor. All expenses of the trip will be borne by the sponsor. One student will then be chosen as the most likely to succeed in a radio scientific career and to him will be awarded the scholarship to a leading engineering college.

'Abe Lincoln' At Capitol

The screen version of Robert Sherwood's Pulitzer Prize play, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" will come to the Capitol Theatre for a three-day showing on Sunday. Starred with Raymond Massey, who plays the title role, is Ruth Gordon as Mary Todd. On the same program is one of the year's outstanding "thrill" films, Robert Montgomery in "The Earl of Chicago" with Edward Arnold.

SCHOOL TO GIVE MINSTREL

No. 10 Pupils Will Present Show On April 26; Band To Play

Several hours of entertainment and fun will be afforded the parents and friends of pupils of School Ten on Friday evening, April 26.

The program will start off with the first grade Collegians under the direction of Mrs. Grace M. Wagner. Dressed in rose and blue, with all the trimmings of college campus cut-ups, they will render group numbers and specialties. Colette Tupper and Jimmy De Piro will be cheerleaders. The songs, "Toy-maker's Dream," "Pretty Polly Perkins," "Wedding of Jack and Jill," "The Girl with the Pig-tails," and others, will be heard. Leaders for these numbers will be Mary Jo Steoli, Herbert Walker, Patsy Donovan, Carol Tutschek and Edward Costenbader. There are twenty-seven in the band.

A chorus of fifty-three fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth graders will follow the band concert with their interpretation of "Collegiate Minstrels." The music, speaking parts and costumes are being directed and supervised by the Misses Ellen T. O'Gara and Margaret E. Patton.

The color scheme for the costumes will be rose and blue, the girls wearing swing skirts and sweaters, and the boys white trousers and blue blouses. Jack Coogan is the interlocutor

Softball Interest May Result In Another League

Softball interest has risen to such a height in town that attempts will be made to form a second senior league. Recreation Director Lister said this week. A meeting of managers of all interested teams will be held tonight at 8 at the Recreation House.

An eight-team loop was formed several weeks ago and will open its season in a few weeks. However, there are still more teams in town who have requested formation of a second league. Attempts will be made tonight to enlist enough teams to warrant such action, Lister said.

Lions Announce Prizes

Prize awards of the recent car party of the Lions Club as announced this week by Harry Ziegler, chairman, show that clocks were presented to A. W. Snyder of Bloomfield and Mrs. V. L. Hart of Belleville; radios went to Kay Demgard and Leo Connelly of Belleville, Vera Sims of Nutley, George Robinson of Bloomfield and M. Everett of Millburn, a camera to H. Levey of Bloomfield, and a case of motor oil to William Bolderman of Belleville and the endmen will be Cliff Everts, Bernard Berrigan, Gilbert Connelly and Fred Gow. In addition to group dances an songs there will be solo numbers by Harold Foster, Audrey Walker, Doris Stewart, Dorothy Bush, Donald Havas, Mary Haberle and Anna Santiglia.

Miss Louise Kerian will present a specialty dance between acts.

Weather Permitting

Mister Snow and Jack Frost permitting, the Bellboys will trot out tomorrow to answer the first "Batter up!" call of the season. It all depends on whether or not the weather man has his wires uncrossed. There used to be a day when, come April, we expected sunshine and showers, but never sure that the vernal equinox shouldn't be moved back to the first of May.

The snow of last weekend didn't stop the Cardinals and the Senators, although the game the former had scheduled with the high school was given the cold shoulder. The Cards claim to have the No. 1 nine of the town, but the Senators (who organized only four days before) beat them in easy fashion and the Mohawks (a junior team) scored ten runs off them, we somehow have our doubts.

Of course, the Redbirds (that is, publicity manager Frank Van Dyke) claims they have yet to use their grade "A" twirlers, but they have to step some on the season's official opener scheduled for Sunday.

Hundreds of the Isaac Walton boys who punched out at sun-up Monday morning to get the first crack at the trout streams, but the streams had been well stocked. So far no one has been able to make plans to use it even after it is completed.

In our opinion jurisdiction over the fields there should be placed directly under the Recreation Department so that plans can be made to use them after July 1. Without definite word to clear up the muddled situation many of the events tentatively planned for the summer program will be cancelled or just forgotten. You can't organize a league or a tournament or even a single game on the spur of the moment. As much time and trouble are expended in preparations for an athletic program as go into a similar educational program. Give the teams a chance to organize their programs, don't keep them bound hand and foot with red tape until the last minute.

The announcement that Clearman Field will not be available for any purpose, while it seemed a bit hard to bear for the sake of the summer athletic program, is a wise move. Any farm used too long for one product dies after a while and an athletic field is no different. Every once in a while you've got to plow the whole thing under and get it ready for a new crop.

Will Be Sad Blow
It has been seven years since Clearman was last turned under. It will be a sad blow to team managers who had been hoping that they might be able to use it once in a while. There is no doubt that, at the present time, it is the only decent field in town on which to stage any kind of a sporting event that amounts to any size. The loss of it, even for one season, will throw an added burden on the other fields, not one of which can be rated above Class D.

After the Turf Bog, that nebulous will-o'-the-wisp which is needed to be a cure-all for Belleville's athletic ills, — after that is completed, the situation will not be so critical. But even the T.B. will not reach final form this year and in the meantime local teams must make the most of Terry Field which also is unfinished and can support nothing larger than softball; Capitol Field, the morass of mud and weeds; Belleville Park diamond which is far from a player's dream; or School No. 7 "field" which is little more than an ordinary school yard and to which one would scarcely invite a visiting team. Not one of these places has the faintest semblance of a stand from which spectators can watch a game, which mere fact is enough to cut the attendance at Belleville's baseball and softball games by at least fifty per cent.

We're Kind of Backward
Looking the situation squarely in the face, we are forced to agree, much against our will, that a remark made to us last year by a visitor to town is true. He considered Belleville one of the backward towns of the state as far as recreation facilities are concerned. That may be treason in many quarters but there is a lot of truth in it. Recreation has been treated for many years as a step-child, whereas in the opinion of the majority of today's educators it is one of the most important sides of civic life.

Belleville is spending less per person per year for recreation than the price of a movie ticket. As a matter of fact, it amounts to less than a quarter. Now there is not much a person can do on a quarter a year for entertainment or recreation. We could get along comfortably on just about twice that amount, provided it were judiciously handled. Perhaps the day of enlightenment may dawn sooner or later.

It will be hard getting along without Clearman, but there is no other way. If we have to sizzle in our own stew for a summer, something constructive may come out of it. In the meantime we can only hope that the high pitch of softball will be kept going. The situation in the latter sport is growing more critical every year and it may not be long before the whole local baseball picture goes soft. If no one man or organization comes forward to rescue it soon, they may send the WPAers out to shorten all baseball lines.

Do Something Soon
This move of Clearman means that, more than ever before, the recreation facilities of the town must be coordinated. Something has got to be done immediately about straightening out the jumble of the status of the Turf Bog. So far no one has been able to make plans to use it even after it is completed.

In our opinion jurisdiction over the fields there should be placed directly under the Recreation Department so that plans can be made to use them after July 1. Without definite word to clear up the muddled situation many of the events tentatively planned for the summer program will be cancelled or just forgotten. You can't organize a league or a tournament or even a single game on the spur of the moment. As much time and trouble are expended in preparations for an athletic program as go into a similar educational program. Give the teams a chance to organize their programs, don't keep them bound hand and foot with red tape until the last minute.

SENATORS TRIP CARDS 14-10

It Was Only A Practice Game; Regular Season Will Open Sunday

Final tuning up for the opening of the independent baseball season in town saw the Senators trip the Cardinals 14-10 in a free hitting practice game at Capitol Field Sunday afternoon. The sixth inning, when each team tallied seven times, turned the scorekeepers' hair gray.

Every twirler of the seven who paraded to the mound for the two teams was hit early with the exception of the Cards' Don Richards who limited the Senators to one single during his three-inning stay.

Until the fourth inning the two starting pitchers, George Freed and Richards, hurled good ball and the score went only to 1-0 on the side of the Cardinals. In the fourth, the Senators sent nine men to the plate to tally four runs, on three hits and followed it up the next frame with three more tallies without benefit of a hit.

In the hectic sixth, the Senators combined four walks, four singles and hit batsmen off the slants of Jerry Lepre and Charley Holweg to put seven runs across. The Cards tallied a like number of times in their half on five hits, including three doubles and a triple, plus a pair of errors and a walk.

On Sunday the Cards will open their season against their namesakes, the Newark Cardinals in a contest slated for Preston Oval, Newark. Richards will probably get the starting assignment with either Lepre or Bill Smith doing the receiving. Charley Phillips, Leon Tierney, Bob Martin and Frank Van Dyke will more than likely compose the infield with George McKay, Bob Jackson and Bob Gibler in the out field.

MAY PICK NEW COACH SOON

Teachers' Committee To Consider Many Applications For Football Job

Belleville may know within a month who is going to be at the helm of its high school's football team next fall. Superintendent of Schools Farmer announced Monday night at the Board of Education meeting that the teachers' committee would meet in secret session shortly to study the many applications which have been made for the job of filling Frank Smith's shoes.

When questioned by reporters after the meeting, Farmer did not deny that there was a possibility that the recommendations of the committee might be made to the board at its May meeting, although he would not commit himself definitely.

This was the first public pronouncement made since Smith's resignation last fall which would indicate that the long-awaited decision might be near at hand. The only previous statement forthcoming from any board member was Farmer's announcement at the January meeting that twenty-two applications had been received at that time.

The team has been strengthened by the recent signing of Joe and Nick Cernero and Ray Fratella. Around the veterans left from last year, Coach Neil Intindola is trying to reorganize, some semblance of a successful team. Adviser Ralph Varra has also been assisting at recent practice sessions. The Templars will play a practice game next week with the Tigers A. C. at Riviera Park.

Tuscarora Canoe Club Starts To Rebuild

Veteran Boating Organization Comes Back To Life After Eight Years' Inactivity; Opens Membership To Those Who are Eighteen Years and Over

After eight years of inactivity due to economical conditions, the Tuscarora Canoe Club of 68 Main street has started a drive to build up its membership and take an active part in competitive canoeing. With a small membership last year, Tuscarora was able to enter crews in Washington, Philadelphia, Williams Lake, N. Y., Tibbets Brook, Yonkers, and in a triangular regatta on the Passaic, in which it triumphed over the Paterson and Verona Canoe Clubs in a series of six events.

"From a standpoint of placements made this could not be called a successful season, but considering the fact that the men were mostly new timber, and there was a lack of good equipment, the officers and the club at large are well pleased. With last year in mind, some new equipment has been ordered and the hopes for 1940 are much brighter," said a club spokesman this week.

The canoeing activities are not tied down just to racing, for the canoe opens up all waterways for the cruiser or camper, and the sailor. The American Canoe Association, the parent body of canoeing in America, with which Tuscarora is associated, arranges many cruises.

Canoe sailing is a somewhat specialized sport and is divided into two classes: class A, a highly finished decked-over boat designed for both speed and beauty, but requiring a considerable amount of money in the beginning; class B, the average stock model canoe, with added equipment which is required to be able to carry extra canvas, and control the boat in all kinds of rough going. But for the average canoeist the Passaic River offers many days of fine sport at a minimum cost.

The American Canoe Association also offers to its members the facilities of its island summer home for camping purposes. This island is located about midway between Clayton, N. Y., and the town of Gananoque, Ontario. For a limited time the Tuscarora Canoe Club is opening up its drive for membership to young men eighteen years of age or over of good moral character who are able to swim. If they do not know anything about the way to handle a canoe, they will have the advice and training of men with twenty to thirty years experience in all types of water and weather.

"For those who are interested in an economical way, to spend their spare time in a good, clean, healthy outdoor sport, that is open to them for at least eight months of the year, a letter to the club at 68 Main street will bring the answer, or better still, call at the club and speak to the members personally," Franklin M. Olds, an official of the club, said this week.

Backstopper

Veteran Catcher Joe Sullivan is counted on heavily to bolster the high school nine this season. Joe, who was rated one of the best in the county last year, will be behind the rubber tomorrow afternoon to receive the slants of Pitcher Jack Avazier when the Bellboys square off against South Side.

John F. Coogan, Sr. Is Honored At Erin Society Luncheon

One of Belleville's first baseball stars, John F. Coogan, Sr., of 118 Adelaide street, was one of the honored guests at the monthly luncheon of the Erin Society at the Hotel Douglas yesterday. Coogan, who is the father of Tax Assessor Coogan, played right field with the Newark Little Giants fifty-six years ago. Toastmaster at the luncheon was Jean D. Heery. Vincent C. Duffy, ex-police recorder of Paterson, was the principal speaker.

H. S. Nine Will Open Season Tomorrow With South Side

Jack Avazier Will Start On The Mound For Zebras; Play Harrison, Orange Next Week

Belleville High's question-mark baseballers will start their sixteen-game campaign for a spot in the Greater Newark tournament tomorrow when they buck up against South Side. Up to yesterday afternoon the site for the game was undetermined. Den Leon, coach of the Newark boys, said that three fields are available but he could not tell which would be in the best playing condition.

The Bellboys have their work cut out for them at the beginning of the week also with not a soft spot in sight. Monday they will traipse over to Harrison to play the team they beat in a playoff last year for a place in the tournament. With no thought of rest they turn right around and head in the opposite direction Tuesday to play Orange.

MULLER FINISHES SEVENTH

Local Biker Puts On Spurt After Bad Spill In 45-Mile Grind

Paul Muller of the Belleville Bicycle Club finished in seventh place in the forty-five-mile scratch race held Sunday on Long Island under the auspices of the Century Road Club Association of New York. He was able to do it only by a rally after a bad fall.

Muller took his tumble at the thirty-three mile mark. Joe Kopsky, the club's manager, was quickly on the spot and sent Paul Muller closed the gap quickly, still with about five miles to go. He took a brief rest, then took a "flyer" with teammate Frank Misserindino. This proved to be short-lived, however, as the field was in no mood to let anyone get away at this crucial stage of the race. Muller had plenty left for the sprint and came from the back to gain seventh.

Bob Schneckengerber of the local club suffered minor injuries. Schneckengerber, who lives in Nutley, was riding with the pack with only a half-mile to go and with as good a chance as anyone when a rider directly in front of him fell. Bob could not avoid the spill and fell hard. Medical attention was necessary for the lad and two stitches were put in his forehead.

Pitt Minor Leaguers Open 11th Season Saturday

The Pittsburgh Minor Leaguers will open their eleventh year on the diamond Saturday when they travel to Clifton to play the Weston Biscuit nine.

The practice game with Heller Brothers scheduled for last Sunday was cancelled because of cold weather. The tentative line-up will be based on practice sessions held during the past three weeks which will have Ed Fiske, Ed Coppola, Frank Lynch and Marty Williams in the infield, Bill Lister, Roy Walker and Manager Henry Lubben in the outfield, and Arnold Clarke and Elmer Doremus as the battery.

BUILDERS of Voice Highways
Telephone linemen are builders... Each work day they roll out in their big olive-green trucks to renew, enlarge or rearrange the system of wire pathways behind your telephone — to make your service better and more dependable.
There is as much tradition in the every-day job of telephone linemen as there is in the heroic emergency work they do in restoring service when storms tear down the wires.
Every year they place hundreds of miles of cable and thousands of poles to care for telephone growth and changing service needs in New Jersey.
They have a real part in making and keeping your telephone easy for you to use at any time.

SAFETY first
In 1939 drivers of the New Jersey Bell fleet of 950 motor vehicles made a new safe-driving record... traveling 9,220,000 miles with only 76 accidents (none major)... 121,000 miles between accidents.

The annual spring festival of the music departments of the high school, to be presented May 1 in the school auditorium, will feature the Tonal Art String Quartet. This organization has become well known through its performances during the past year. Its formal debut to Essex County musical circles was made last month at the concert of the Bloomfield Civic Chorus in the high school there. The performance of the quartette was received with high praise and it was next invited to play for the Bloomfield Woman's Club.

The quartette was organized by John Cataldo, formerly of Charles street, but now living in Nutley. A graduate of Belleville High, Class of '32, he became a member of the International Artists' Society and won a scholarship with the late Louis Ehrke. SCHOOL OPERETTA FOR FESTIVAL

Musical Show To Be Part Of School No. 9 Program During Tulip Display

Frank Larkin of 444 Cortlandt street will play the leading male role in the operetta, "The Inn of the Golden Cheese," which will be presented May 10 by School No. 9 as a spring festival in observance of the tulip display at the school. It is expected that the tulips will be in full bloom by that time.

The operetta has for its plot a story of the dealings of William Penn with the Indians of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Margaret Norman will direct the production, while Miss Kathryn Conklin will have charge of the music. Besides the principals, the cast includes fifty persons, who will impersonate Indians, scouts and villagers.

There are more than two thousand tulip bulbs planted on the school grounds and, as has been the custom in the past, the display will be floodlighted. Children of the first and second grades will distribute tulips to members of the audience during the opening scene.

Eleanor Bacon-Peck Gives Final Lecture Before Contemporary

In the final lecture of a series of six before the Contemporary of Newark, Wednesday morning, Eleanor Bacon-Peck of Overlook avenue had as her topic, "Modern Music and Contemporary Composers." For illustration, Mrs. Peck used the recently recorded "Quintet for Voice and String Quartet" by Delmar Molarsky of Nutley, which had its premiere performance at the January chamber music concert given by the Nutley Symphony Society. At the concert, and in the recording, Mr. Molarsky, who possesses a rich baritone voice, takes the voice parts.

The composer attended the lecture as a guest of Mrs. Peck, and was introduced to the audience. The same lecture will be given before the Bloomfield Woman's Club next Wednesday, completing the series there.

TIN FOIL APPEAL GETS RESPONSE

Service Bureau Receiving Support From Children and Others; Will Aid Camp Fund

The Case Committee of the Community Service Bureau is getting a good response to the appeal for lead and tin foil for camp work. School children are collecting it in each school and many individuals have made donations. Mrs. Frank Ackerman, chairman reported at a meeting of the committee Thursday. There has also been a hearty response from clients of the Bureau whose children have been to camp in the past or hope to go this summer.

One individual who had been saving tin foil for some time brought a big contribution to the office. The Junior Women's Club has given $7 and is also collecting foil. It is estimated that contributions to date are sufficient to send five children to camp but already the Bureau has had requests to send forty-five children. They were able to send thirty-six youngsters away last year.

The committee is beginning a study of the Housing problem in Belleville and plans to draw in other groups interested in the same subject. New members of the committee present were: Mrs. John Chariton, Mrs. John Masarano, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Allen Turner and Mrs. R. Clifford Whitfield. Old members included Mr. Walter Lake, Mrs. William P. Adams, Mrs. Lester McCorkle, Mrs. Elmer Peterson and Miss Angela Chapman, representing the Board of Health Nurses and Mrs. Ackerman.

OVER THE WOMAN'S DESK

by Peggy Patterson

Writing in the most widely circulated woman's magazine in the country, one of the leading columnists appeals to American mothers to unite in a demand for more and better character education in the school systems. A broad term and one which requires much pondering is "character education." To each of us it may stand for something different in the light of the needs of our individual families; but to all it spells the only answer to the future of democracy for our youth. Knowledge, we have learned, is an utterly useless weapon unless the technique for its manipulation is perfected. Character education, simply enough, is the development of this technique.

The school is the focal point for this development because much of the religious and moral training of the past era has been relinquished; also because the hours spent in the formal pursuit of education seem to be the ones in which the young mind is most receptive to training, more so than to the casual methods necessarily employed in the relaxed atmosphere of home. To strike while the iron is hot, then, we must incorporate character building into the school curriculum.

Thrilled By Power

When a tiny child learns to manipulate his tricycle or other form of locomotion, he will voluntarily put it through its paces for hours on end. He will send it shooting forward full speed ahead as if to unleash all its forces and then triumphantly swerve it around just in time to avoid striking some barrier which he has known all the time was in his path. The impulse back of this maneuver, it seems to us, is his joy in feeling the control he has over this subject.

He is thrilled by his power to give this inanimate thing its head and then bring it sharply under control. He will always be thrilled by his power to control the elements which will confront him through life. Parents and educators can capitalize on this innate desire of the young, therefore, through practice in applying this power to the problems of adult life which they are facing.

There are schools scattered throughout the nation in which the principles of initiative are applied; in which the forum and discussion methods of acquiring knowledge of how our democracy actually works are put into practice and children get the feel of the power which they will eventually wield when they are adult members of their communities.

Knowledge will never be a dangerous weapon in the hands of the children who have been exposed to these methods. They have participated at meetings in which they have advanced theories for their projects, seen them accepted, tried and found wanting or perhaps successful. They have seen the mechanics of democracy functioning on a scale which they can readily comprehend.

And like the small boy who expertly managed his tricycle, the pattern of thought and action has been laid for controlling his first powerful machine, be it automobile, airplane or one of the great giants of industry. This pattern for living in a democracy can be thoroughly established before the completion of high school education which is available to practically every child in the United States, provided that the methods which have been evolved and tested so satisfactorily in a few communities are universally adopted.

Women's Influence In War

The power of women in a country such as this to prevent war, thinks one of our leading women writers, is practically unlimited. Their sympathy, once aroused, is an element which she considers so forceful as to be dangerous. For sympathy with the persecuted, unless it is based on the broadest motives, is likely to produce intense hatred for the aggressor. And this unbalanced feeling is enough sometimes to lead us into combat.

We are cautioned, therefore, to think deeply and largely when our weaker neighbors are persecuted and our impulse to protect them is so strong. If we sacrifice our own members to this cause we are not menacing something which is our own particular duty to protect, namely the preservation of our homes? Control of our emotions and instincts was perhaps never before so pertinent a question and never more necessary.

A leisurely job, and one which will give you great pleasure now and peace of mind later, is the collection of vases and bowls in which to display your summer cut flowers. Do not wait until gifts from your friends' gardens, or proudly culled specimens from your own, are in your arms and then go frantically around peering into dusty closets for the right container. If you will buy them now, bearing in mind the type of flowers which are standing in your garden, you will be rewarded with the double pleasure that properly arranged flowers can give you.

Crystal-clear, frosted or carved—in deep vases, urns and bowls—fascinating to buy and will set off any blossoms. Beautifully tinted porcelain containers can be bought to accept your decorating schemes and will be just as effective between bouquets as when they are filled.

Many Unique Designs

Unique designs such as a glass swan with back sufficiently indented to bear a cargo of flowers or a sail boat whose spun glass skeleton will support dainty trailing vines will make you feel like a collector when you are buying them. The mere thought that you are preparing to welcome the annual return of beauty should raise the spirits even in this war-torn atmosphere.

Even though we have foregone discussing fashions with you this week for the pleasure of describing some of the lovely home decorations now on display, we cannot resist picturing for you this fascinating summer evening frock. Black and white and white and black are perennial favorites. In this case crisp black lace traces a graceful design on filmy white organza.

An Ideal Combination

Here is our favorite motif faithfully carried out. A striking flowered chintz frames the windows and is used on the fireside chairs. The hand-hooked rug repeats the theme and the severely plain walls and carpet make a perfect background.

DOGS

by Laurence Torley

Recent developments in the European war theater emphasize more strongly than ever the importance which the American pure-bred dog fancy has come to occupy among the dog-loving nations. The American Kennel Club, governing body of the sport in the United States, now recognizes 108 of the world's principal breeds of pure-bred dogs. This means that breeders in America may maintain strains of the various breeds and preserve the pedigrees in the AKC Stud Book.

As all but a few of the breeds spring from European countries that are now at war or surrounded by warring nations, breeding operations will be seriously curtailed. In many cases, the breeding of dogs will be stopped altogether for the war's duration. And if the war lasts for a period of years, it is inevitable that numerous leading strains will die out.

Scandinavian Countries Famous

The Scandinavian countries long have been famous for their good sporting dogs, although fanciers of those nations breed many other varieties as well. The Norwegian elkhound, a breed that goes back nearly 5,000 years, is probably the most famous of the native dogs; but many "foreign" varieties have been brought to a high state of development in the land of the Vikings.

America's present good stock of Gordon setters may be credited to the excellent blood lines imported some years ago from Denmark, Norway and Sweden. This breed had its origin in England, Germany and Great Britain are the two leading dog-breeding countries of Europe, and Americans, in the past, have imported countless dogs from those two sources.

Variety of Designs Offered In Slip Covers

Floral Patterns Will Predominate And Offer Wide Latitude In Choosing Decorative Arrangements; Curtains In Silk And Cotton Marquisette

Temporarily at least we are sure you are ready to lay aside all concern over your own wardrobe and turn to the fascinating job of outfitting your home for spring and summer. You may not be prepared to repaper and repaint each room but there are two items which you surely cannot resist, and they are two of the most effective means of transforming your home, slip-covers and window arrangements.

Whether you are fortunate enough to be able to order your covers made by an expert or courageous enough to fare forth with pins, scissors and a good eye for color, you may be certain that the manufacturers are ready for you with an unusually colorful and durable line of materials. Determine that your covers are going to be as sleek and form-fitting as possible and free from all ornate embellishments. The keynote of this year's success story in interior decorating is the careful use of color. In fact, you can concentrate almost entirely on this important value, for the materials themselves have been so perfected as to details of washing, fading and retaining their fit that you can feel quite safe. They are all clearly marked and if you buy something that cannot stand the strongest light or soap and water cleansing, you will have only yourself to blame.

Everything from checked gingham to hand blocked chintz may be used depending entirely on the type of room with which you are working and the effect you wish to achieve with your furniture. A plump davenport which may be inclined to sag can be nicely spruced up with a firm, striped material which will give it smart, square corners and a generally trim air. No pleated or moss fringe in a case like this. However, where you are going to use a plain color cotton, dress it up with thick moss fringe and a flounce or pleating. For covers which fit like a second skin depend on scallops or smart buttons for trimming.

Floral Pattern Dominates

There is no doubt that a floral pattern will dominate your rooms unless you wish to be ultra-modern and depend on stripes and the more formal small patterned fabrics. We cannot imagine anybody entirely ignoring these floral prints which dominate the scene in every place where drapery and slip-cover fabrics are sold. The backgrounds early in the season seemed to be predominantly light but darker shades are beginning to creep in. The palest blue, gray, beige and yellow are still in high favor but rich shades of brown and dark slate gray and blue are noticeable.

These are undoubtedly cooler looking on the very hot days. The flowers themselves are in huge, variegated bunches without regard to kind except in the case of roses which are generally used alone. Usually each large flower motif is outlined by a formal frame or diamond-shaped lattice. The colors are harmonious and softly muted. Brilliant splashes are few and far between.

Furnish Suggestions

And therein lies one of the most intriguing features of this subject. These handsome, discretely colored patterns posed against neutral backgrounds furnish you with unlimited suggestions for your whole room. They do not dominate and smother your other decorations. They distinctly call for sharp accents and the most casual will all but speak and tell you what to choose. Let us cite an example which literally speaks for itself. Against a deep, slate blue linen crash imagine bunches of dahlias in assorted sizes. Gentle shades of yellow, lavender and a touch of red dominated in the center set the stage for a splendid color effect. This fabric used as a slip-cover on an isolated piece of furniture is attractive; but when used as the background for all the other pieces and properly played up it becomes positively dramatic.

The sofa cover and full-length draperies in the room we have in mind are made of this dahlia print. The cover is piped in white, the draperies accented by a plain wooden valance painted in a slightly lighter tone of the blue. And only in these two instances does this material appear in the room. A pair of chairs, however, before the fireplace are covered in a deep crimson which draws out the touch of red in the dahlia print. A lampshade on the opposite side of the room repeats this motif. The blue note is intensified in an occasional chair which is upholstered in deep turquoise and the light touch of yellow is echoed in the seat of a desk chair.

Follow Simple Rules

The cool, plain floor covering of gray throws into relief the whole picture. And constantly as you look at the room your eye turns to the print which inspired it and which reflects in its subtle shades all the brilliant notes until it is the most outstanding thing in the room. We believe that the simple rules observed in this instance are excellent ones for you to follow when you plan your changes. Select a lovely design in your favorite colors and use it sparingly. Surround it with plain colors and draw out the tones that will make for the coolest, most restful effect. With the enormous variety of design, texture and price on the market today you will be agreeably surprised at the results you can accomplish.

Glass curtains continue to be evenly divided between the straight silk or cotton marquisette and the ruffled tie-back. The straight curtains come in white and a surprising array of shades from palest eggshell to warm, rosy beige. The room you wish them for will guide your selection, of course. The darker shades diffuse strong sunlight and cool your rooms noticeably. At the same time they are so filmy that they appear to accelerate the slightest breeze and coax it in.

Variety of Tie-Backs

The tie-back curtain, which is thoroughly acceptable for every room in the house, is shown in more variety this season. Pure white organdy, batiste and lawn seem to be rising in favor with the dotted swiss and marquisette to which we have become so accustomed. Exquisite, all-over embroidery and generous eyelet work distinguish the more expensive curtains. Garlands of applied flowers trail around their edges. Pastel curtains for the bedroom are varied by designs which are woven into the material instead of cushion dots raised above it. A leaf design going up and down the fabric is particularly effective and comes in soft yellow, blue, flesh and green. Some of the organdy curtains have their ruffles embroidered in these shades.

An interesting note is the new pastel window shade with a spray of hand-painted flowers above its hemline. A lovely one in pale pink with delicate white flowers and lacy green foliage is framed by a white curtain tied back with pink loops and headed with a pink valance.

Contest Recipes

Send your favorite and reliable recipes to our contest. Two prizes will be awarded weekly. Each winner will receive two guest passes to the Kent Theatre. The features starting Sunday are "Little Old New York" and "Brother Rat and a Baby."

Dainty desserts with the tang of fresh fruits are the order of the day now that so many of the spring fruits are in the market. The following variation on the custard theme sounds interesting.

Fruit Cream

3 eggs
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup large lemon
Fresh pineapple or strawberries

Beat the egg yolks with the sugar until thick and lemon colored. Add lemon juice and place bowl in a pan of hot water over a very low fire. Stir until mixture begins to thicken. Add stiffly beaten egg whites and continue to stir until mixture is like cream. Chill in sherbert glasses and serve garnished with pineapple or strawberries.

Wonder Cake

2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon butter
1 teaspoon lemon flavoring

Beat together the eggs and sugar until foamy. Add flour and baking powder sifted together. Heat milk in double boiler with butter. Add to first mixture, add flavoring and bake in a moderate oven in a square pan for about thirty-five minutes.

Now They Want A New P.O.

Some folks think that Uncle Sam has snubbed Belleville in parceling out Federal cash for public improvements. In fact, some of them who are real provincial, are quite burned up about it. It's all over the fact that Nutley, Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Kearny and half a dozen other places have been presented with nice new post office buildings and Belleville just has a — well, a building.

Uncle gets around to giving them the funds for a new building he finds the town has grown so that he has to double the ante. Maybe it's decided by the number of letters that pass through the office. If that's the case — and you are civic-minded enough to want a new building — get on the job and write letters to your Aunt Minnie, Cousin Willie and the others you have not scratched an opus to since the baby had his first teeth.

The Post Office Department usually has plenty of headaches as soon as they announce in a community that they are going to erect a new building. Everybody wants to sell them a choice lot at twice its value. The task of filtering out the good from the bad falls to the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department which in the end is the bureau that foots the bills.

Almost every politician will claim that he has some influence to sell a favored spot and it usually winds up with the government taking the one on which the least amount of selling pressure was used. Anyway, if it's a new post office building that's bothering you, write a letter to your Congressman. He's always glad to hear from his constituents.

The Season Is Here

The great American pastime — baseball — had its official opening this week and from now on many of us will be ducking out of the office on an occasional afternoon to sit along the first or third base lines at the Stadium, Polo Grounds or the Bears' home lot. The high school nines also step out this week and soon every vacant lot will have its do-or-die games. Inate neighbors will be yelling about balls landing in their prize tomato patches and the cops will be rounding up the kids to shake out of them enough money to pay for shattered windows.

It's just part of the game so many of us like and which makes us believe that winter has really gone by. What a contrast there is between the millions here who will soon be excited over the nation-wide battle of baseball teams and those across the pond who have chills running up and down their backs because of a virtual Europe-wide battle between nations.

Perhaps one of nicest tributes paid to baseball was contained in the season's opening statement made this week by Ford Frick, president of the National League. He said in part:

"We are thankful the baseball season opening means our young men are mobilizing with bats and gloves and baseballs instead of guns, gas masks and tanks. They're swinging at fast ones and curving and chasing hard-hit drives across the open field instead of peering over the brim of a trench. The only masks they need are for the catcher and the umpire. Against the somber setting of European war, the opening of the baseball season in this spring of 1940 is a particularly cheerful reminder of our national solidarity."

With An Eye To The Future

This is New Jersey Planning Week. It has little or no significance to this community since there is no planning authority or group here. Like many municipalities, Belleville has gone along from year to year trusting to the ability of those in control and Dame Fortune that the right thing was being done. But, some who are more far-sighted have reasoned that this was the wrong way to do it. They argued, and successfully in many places, that those of us who are here today should assume the responsibility of planning for the town of the future. In some communities, plan bodies have been appointed to which powers were delegated while in others they have served in an advisory capacity to the town officials.

What is there left to plan? This is the first question that pops up when one talks of planning. What is there in Belleville today that could be improved upon for the future? We have five commissioners to run the town, why should we become more involved with such a thing as a planning board? The job of a commissioner is one with a multiplicity of duties. They have much to do and it would be beyond their physical or mental limitations to devote many hours to the study and analysis of details that go with a thorough planning job.

But there are problems dealing with zoning, transportation, future street and business development, which are all pertinent to this community's future. It would seem wise to discuss them today so that the town will be prepared and ready when the problems will have to be met.

Belleville has many streets which go north and south. But how many through thoroughfares go east and west? It must be admitted that there are few. If there had been proper planning, would streets with steep hills like those coming up from the valley have been permitted? Of course not. Would some of the schools have been placed on the busiest and most heavily trafficked streets? Probably not.

These are just a few of the thoughts that pass through our mind. Some of the town's present day ills could be rectified. It can best be done by a group of citizens who are willing to devote the time and effort to the study of this subject. A group which would serve as an advisory board to the town commissioners on problems pertaining to the community's future. Avoiding obstacles and pitfalls similar to those which confront them now with the change in times and conditions is an important problem facing every progressive community.

A Credit To Labor And Industry

The business-like method in which the Andrew Jergens Company and the unions reached an agreement on the relationship that is to exist between the two during the construction of the large plant here is unique and speaks well for both parties. The net result of the conference for a mutual understanding between the unions and the Jergens concern is that the company can sign contracts with the contractor to proceed with construction without the fear that there will be long and costly delays because of labor disputes.

The cooperation of labor and industry in the local situation can be held up as an outstanding example for others to follow in view of the numerous places in the country in which the two groups are at odds.

was reached by the unions with the Jergens officials should remove from many minds the conception that labor in this area is a big, bad wolf. By its willingness to be conciliatory toward the wishes of the company, New Jersey labor has created for itself an immeasurable amount of goodwill. A standard has been set which is better to follow than the course that eventually results in long, bitter disputes generally resulting in heavy losses and but few gains.

To Belleville it means that within a year or so, the town should be bustling with a new industry which will reap benefits for the community as a whole, give employment to some of the residents and bring more trade to some merchants.

THIS BUSINESS OF GOVERNMENT

Executive Sec'y N. J. State League of Municipalities

TAX RELIEF? One of the most interesting legislative proposals to come to the attention of the public in recent years is the proposed plan for school aid, relief reimbursement and property tax reduction recommended by Senators Loisieux, Scott, Stanger and Zink. According to the proponents of the program, 402 of the 566 municipalities in the state would receive a reduction in their 1940 tax rates varying from one to twenty-nine points. On the other hand it is claimed seventy-six municipalities, where a grant equal to twenty-nine points in the local tax rate would not provide seventy-five per cent of the estimated relief costs for 1940, would be permitted to draw from an equalization fund an amount up to this seventy-five per cent estimate and at the same time would be required to accept certain drastic conditions relating to relief administration, current expenditures and capital borrowing.

If the proponents are not in error, the eighty-eight remaining municipalities would receive just enough to cover their 1939-40 school fund deficiency and seventy-five per cent of the relief costs for the current year. Under the circumstances, the taxpayers in 402 municipalities would enjoy a reduction in their 1940 tax rates which would be denied the taxpayers in the other 164 communities.

General practice in connection with grants for aid as followed by states other than New Jersey is to make certain that every community in the state receives an equal share of whatever funds may be available, to the extent of a uniform reduction in local tax rates based on the taxable ratables in the municipality. This policy has, in the past, been followed in New Jersey. We need only point to the annual refund of $5,000,000 of the gas tax revenue which was returned to municipalities on this basis for a period of several years prior to 1928. The peculiar allocation of funds as provided in the proposed program of the four Senators appears to further penalize those municipalities which, for the last several years, have been heavily burdened with the costs of public relief.

Those Who Are Favored

In practically every instance where a municipality has found it possible to pay its own way because of a light relief load, they are favored under the plan with a reduction in their 1940 tax rate of from twenty to twenty-nine points. On the other hand, many municipalities having a heavy relief load are faced with an increase in local tax rates because the state has, in the past, contributed more than seventy-five per cent of the costs. This increase in the burden runs as high as ninety per cent.

Let us look at the situation in Belleville where the administration of relief has been highly commended by our own Senator Homer C. Zink, a member of the committee of four which proposes the plan. First, according to the figures presented by the committee, Belleville would be forced to come under the drastic provisions set up for the seventy-six municipalities. If the governing body desired to avoid such a penalty, it would be obliged to provide an additional $15,000 for relief expenditures. Belleville would be further penalized by being forced to assume the costs of distribution of Federal Surplus Commodities, absorb approximately $3,500 now received from the state to cover the costs of transportation for WPA employees and assume an additional heavy burden through being forced to purchase the material used in the Sewing Room project and lose $8 per person for every relief status employee now engaged on this project. If the project were abandoned these employees would be forced back on relief and the clothing now supplied through the Sewing Room project would have to be purchased by the municipality. All of this appears to be a heavy penalty for a municipality which has obviously been doing an excellent job.

Nutley Would Gain By It

According to the figures presented by the proponents of the plan our neighbor, Nutley, would be favored with an eighteen point reduction in its 1940 tax rate. Other nearby communities would be favored with tax rate reductions as follows:

Bloomfield	22 points
Irvington	23 points
East Orange	23 points
Montclair	23 points
West Orange	21 points

All of the following would receive a twenty-nine point reduction: Glen Ridge, Caldwell, Cedar Grove, Caldwell Township, Essex Fells, Maplewood, Millburn Township, North Caldwell, Rosewood, South Orange, Verona and West Caldwell. Newark and Orange would be heavily penalized, in fact more so than Belleville.

These examples show an obvious lack of uniform treatment. Several communities with little or no relief burdens would be definitely benefited. On the other hand, those communities with heavier responsibilities would be unable to provide any tax rate reduction for their taxpayers.

The plan was brought to a vote in the Senate on Monday, April 8, and received nine votes, two less than required for its approval. It is understood that two additional votes were lost during the Senate Republican caucus Monday afternoon. Efforts to line up sufficient Democratic support for the proposal met with little or no success and as a result the plan was not brought to the floor for consideration. This does not mean that it is dead. With a two-week recess and the near approach of the Primary Election, measures of this kind are likely to be weighed by some legislators from the standpoint of political expediency. Political trading has, in the past, resulted in many unsound laws. Belleville taxpayers can only hope that this proposed legislation will not be used as a means of bartering either for votes in the State Legislature or in the coming Primary.

ODDS AND ENDS FROM OTHER PENS

River Restrictions

How the opening of the Passaic River bridges during rush hours paralyzes vehicular traffic was demonstrated by a survey conducted by Councilman Flynn of Kearny. Mr. Flynn started the movement to keep the bridges closed and traffic moving during the period that workers travel to and from shops, stores and factories. Of the 5,000 vehicles using the bridges March 28 between 7 a.m. and 9 a.m. no fewer than 566 buses, cars and trucks were held up for four minutes. That is only part of the public inconvenience thus occasioned. It does not take into account the time consumed in getting traffic flowing in a free and orderly fashion after the bridge draws closed.

Industry and business in this region, impressed by the time loss, are converts to cessation of river travel during rush hours. We have Representative Hartley's word for that. Where the War Department, which has jurisdiction, once argued that bridge restrictions were injurious to industry, Mr. Hartley says "today industry on both sides of the river is in favor of the plan." That is good news for Mayor Law of Kearny, Mayor Gassert and Councilman Ford of Harrison, Mayor Reynolds and Councilman Seeds of East Newark, and other authorities in Essex and Hudson, who are fighting to lift the dead weight of open bridges from rush-hour traffic. Doubtless the War Department will take due cognizance of altered circumstances when it acts upon the suggested restrictions.

Sponsors of the twice-daily closing are soliciting the support of the public and they are getting it. Anything that will speed up travel, hampered as it is by the antiquated bridges now in use, deserves public support. To the leaders of the movement—a community vote of thanks. —Newark Evening News

Parody — On The Gettysburg Address

Seven years and one month ago F. D. R. brought forth on this continent the New Deal, conceived by the brain trust and dedicated to the principles of Communism.

Now we are engulfed by a huge public debt and are taxed and regimented more than this nation or any nation so deceived and so desecrated should long endure.

We are opposed by parasites who would continue this raw deal.

We have paused to contemplate the remains of our once sound prosperity and to give our best efforts that the spark of liberty might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But in our natural lives we cannot expatiate, we cannot liquidate, we will not repudiate this debt. Our children, infants and yet unborn will struggle here far beyond our time attempting to win back their heritage we neglected to defend. The world will little note or long remember what we say here, but our future and theirs depends on what we do here.

It is rather for us, as citizens, to end this undeclared war upon our free institutions which these termites are now waging. We must dedicate ourselves to the great task before us, the task of relieving so far as possible the debt burden being placed upon our children by the New Deal gang, and see to it that this gang shall not hold office again, that this nation in 1940 shall have a new birth of freedom and that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth.—V. A. Kear, Colby, Kans., in South Dakota Republican Herald

MUSICAL SILHOUETTES

A Musical Commentary by Leon Carson

"Philosophy, aesthetics, and meditation on the inner meaning of human life and art... draw music into their compass." —Hugo Leichtentritt.

Questionnaire:

As to what is liked in the way of music by the inhabitants of Nutley living in the Washington School area was made manifest in the return of concert questionnaires sent out by Miss Troy, the principal, to members of the Parent-Teacher Association of that school. These returns indicated many interesting angles along the line of popular taste. The voting disclosed the following facts:

Out of ten standard operas listed, the "Intermezzo" (instrumental) from Cavalleria Rusticana proved the chief favorite with twenty votes. The "Toreador Song" from Carmen ran a close second with eighteen ballots to its credit, while the liting "La donna e mobile" from Rigoletto came in third with fourteen.

When it came to the Art Song division Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me" took first prize with twenty-nine votes, winning over "None But the Lonely Heart" of Tchaikovsky, by four. Tied for a poor third were a pair of Schubert songs, "Who Is Sylvia" and "Hark, Hark the Lark," each receiving sixteen votes. Surprising, this!

Of the lighter operas, operettas and musical show songs, Victor Herbert emerged the winner with twenty-four votes for his "Gypsy Sweetheart," while his "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" missed out by only one point.

When it came to the ballad-type songs, "Home on the Range" (American) and "All Through the Night" (Welsh) led the list with fifty-two points each. "The Last Rose of Summer" (Irish) followed with forty-four. "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" (English) with thirty-three, and our own beloved Stephen Foster ("Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair") fourth, polling thirty-one votes.

So far, so good,—but when we reached the Patriotic Song Group, we received something of a shock. The unsingable "Star Spangled Banner" recorded thirty-seven votes as against "America" with twelve. We thought that at least ninety-five per cent of the folks in every community liked to sing the latter, but this is apparently not so in East Nutley.

Instrumentally speaking, Beethoven's "Minuet in G" led the Violin group with thirty-six votes, and for the Cello, Saint-Saens' "Swan" garnered a like number.

Not satisfied with filling in the blank spaces on the questionnaire, our enthusiastic music lovers "wrote in" nearly fifty extras, ranging from the "Bell Song" from Lakme, arias from "The Tales of Hoffmann" and "Jewels of the Madonna" to "Oh, Johnny, Oh," "Beer Barrel Polka" and "Bring Back My Bonnie."

And then they proceeded to fill the Washington School Auditorium last Monday night and listen to a concert by local artists who sang and played from these chosen lists.

Newark:

Alexander Smallens will direct the Essex County Symphony Society Orchestra for his third consecutive year. The season will begin on June third and end on June twenty-fourth. Four concerts will be given.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

The misgivings expressed in this column last week about passage by the Senate of the bill putting voting machines in Hudson were amply justified by events. The Senate not only failed to pass the bill but showed rather conclusively that it does not intend to do so, either before the primary or after.

So unreciprocate was the Senate to the measure passed by solid Republican forces in the Assembly that suspicion is lent to the theory that the lower body was merely indulging in political camouflage. It is not unlikely that the whole affair was staged by Lloyd Marsh as an answer to the Newark News' article purporting to show an alliance between Marsh and Hague.

Such a move goes by the name of smart politics in the atmosphere of almost incredible cynicism that exists in Trenton. Knowing that the Hague forces were too firmly entrenched in the manouver. The first was an answer to The News' charges that he worked with Hague; the second was a gentle warning to Mr. Hague that another payment was due on the installment for those services. Harold Hoffman's denial of any part in the manouver was probably in the nature of insurance against a possible back-wash. Knowing that the measure could not get through the Senate, Hoffman was afraid to take any credit for its passage by the Assembly. It is just possible that Hoffman actually had no part in the matter, although he certainly knew of it in advance.

His relations with Marsh have been rather peculiar of late, anyway. The Passaic leader was scheduled to be Hoffman's campaign manager, but plans were shifted at the last minute. Hoffman announced that he would be his own manager and thousands of dollars worth of printed matter with Marsh's name on it as campaign manager was destroyed.

While it is supposed to be a local matter and therefore largely without the province of this column, the Commission fight now going on in Montclair promises to have plenty of County reverberations. Actually, James J. McMahon is fighting for his political life — as county leader no less than as a Montclair commissioner. Ironically enough, the man who threatens to bring about his downfall is his former ally and fellow Democrat rather than his avowed Republican opponents. This man is Thomas B. Kaveny. Kaveny and McMahon are life-long Democrats, worship at the same church and until a few months ago were the warmest of friends. Kaveny practically directed McMahon's campaign four years.

Congregation Will Observe Passover Festival

Local Jewry Will Join In World-wide Program Which Starts At Sundown Monday And Ends On April 30: Services Monday Through Wednesday

Observance of Passover, the Jewish Festival of Freedom, will start at sundown Monday and extend to sundown, Tuesday, April 30, among local Jews as it will all over the world. Pesach, as the holy day is known in Hebrew, marks the deliverance of the Jewish people from the bondage in Egypt. This occurred about 3,500 years ago, and Jewry the world over observes it every year. The Jewish dates for the festival are from the fourteenth day of Nisan to the twenty-second day of the month.

Because of the many-sided significance of the holiday, Passover is known by many names. Among them are "Chag Ha Matzoh," the Feast of the Unleavened Bread, because of the Matzohs that must be eaten during the eight days of the holiday; "Z'man Chairusainu," the Season of Our Freedom, because the Jewish people acquired their complete freedom, and became a full-fledged nation; and "Chag Ha'Aviv," the Holiday of the Spring, because the festival marks the advent of the spring season.

Traditional Home Ceremony

The traditional Seder ceremony is performed in all Jewish homes during the first two nights of the holiday. This event, which brings together all members of the family, stresses the historic ideal of freedom always held high by the Jews. The head of the house leads the Seder ritual, as it is arranged in the "Hagaddah," the Passover Book.

The Seder is filled with symbolic ceremonials. Some of them are the "Four Questions" asked by the youngest child about the meaning of the holiday; the drinking of the four glasses of Passover wine, referring to the four expressions of freedom used by the Bible in relating the redemption of Israel; "Kos Shel Eliyahu," the Cup of Elijah, the prophet who, according to tradition makes a visit to every Jewish home that night, and the singing of many age-old Passover hymns.

Peters, Archivist of Ogelthorpe University, manuscripts containing the essence of its philosophical doctrines to be included with other chosen works of music, art and the sciences, to be interred in the specially constructed vault and kept inviolate for over six centuries.

Man's Leg Broken When Own Car Hits Him

At least one local man will not wait for New Year's to make a resolution always to make sure the brakes have been put on front of his car. But it took a broken leg to do it.

Three New Novels Added To Library Shelves

Recently added to the seven-day fiction department at the Free Public Library are the following books:
Bethel Merriday, by Sinclair Lewis, a novel of a young girl on the stage. The story of her struggle to secure a place for herself in the world of the theater, as she pursues her life-long ambition to become a professional actress.
House of cards, by Alice Curtayne; a brilliant Irish writer, has for its theme the age-old question of marriage or a career for a woman of the world. This is the story of a young Irish girl, who had to work so hard for her excellent position, that she hated to think of giving it up to marry the man she loved.
The Story of Mona Sheehy, by Lord Dunsany; is another Irish novel of beauty and fantasy. Mona was supposed to possess strange powers from the fairies, according to superstitious village folk. She traveled about the country in the company of tramps and tinkers, and her adventures make this story of Ireland warm, real and magical.
