

Red Cross Redoubles Effort To Secure War Relief Money

Chapter Is Now Seeking $4,000 As Quota; Report Approximately $1,500 Raised To Date

The efforts of the local Red Cross officials are now being bent toward raising the new quota of $4,000 set by the National Red Cross, which is double the amount originally sought from this community in the organization's nation-wide drive for its war relief fund. Up until last night approximately $1,500 had been reported as contributed, which represents approximately forty per cent of the amount sought in town. A plea for additional volunteer help to aid them in their money raising drive was made by the committee in charge.

The school students are proving that they realize the importance of raising the money for the Red Cross campaign. All of the schools are having their individual drives. Those heard from to date in order received are School No. 4, pupils and faculty, $47; St. Peter's Parochial, pupils, $20; School No. 3, pupils and faculty, $26.50; School No. 7, pupils and faculty, $21.57. Other schools will be listed as their contributions are received.

Women Collect $125

The committee of the Women's Club members collected approximately $125 at both local banks Saturday morning and Monday evening. Donations of $50 and over received to date are as follows:

Federal Leather Co., $125; Ladies' Guild of Christ Episcopal Church, Frank L. Chambers, Rudolph Deetjen, National Grain Yeast Co., Thompson Machine Co., all $50.

Other contributors will be listed at a later date. Many contributions have been pledged including one of $100 from the Edison Co. The American Legion, through Thomas W. Fleming, has offered to distribute and collect mite boxes or bottles. The offer has been accepted by the chapter. It will permit the collection of small donations throughout town.

The newly organized Junior Red Cross will march in the Flag Day parade on June 14. They will represent each class of high school students and will assemble at the home of Mrs. William H. Williams in Rossmore place previous to the starting time of the parade.

Mrs. Harvey B. Thompson reported that a new quota has been set for wearing apparel, knitted work, handbags and other articles. She would like to hear from women who desire to help the chapter meet this new clothing demand.

Sea Scouts Will Acquire Coast Guard Boat

Forty-footer Which Was Used as N. Y. Harbor Picket Boat Will Be Delivered This Week; Completion of Cabin at Scout Acres is Near

The training program of the Belleville Sea Scouts will shortly move from the landlubber stage to the salt air. The local ship will take delivery this weekend of a forty-foot boat formerly used by the Coast Guard for investigations on water, according to W. Douglas Clark, Jr., district commissioner of the Robert Treat Council. Clark and members of the ship committee headed by Five Chief Alec Reid and Alvin Brant negotiated with the Coast Guard in New York and they received word Monday that the boat would be turned over to them. It was previously used as a picket boat in New York Harbor.

Capable of sixteen knots, the new craft will give the local scouts the practical experience which is part of their training. The Belleville ship numbers twenty-two and twenty-one who meet in the fire headquarters at Washington avenue and Division street every Wednesday night.

The boat will be used to familiarize the boys with the ways of the sea and for weekend cruises. Arrangements will be made with the police department to use the ship in case of emergency and for patrolling the Passaic River in Belleville during the swimming season. It will be harbored on the Passaic probably near the foot of Jorammon street.

Scout Cabin

The new cabin for Belleville scouts at Scout Acres will be one of the finest in North Jersey. Construction will be held up this weekend because of the Robert Treat Camporee at the Schiff Reservation at Mendham. The camporee, originally scheduled for last weekend, was postponed.

The cabin will be built in three sections and as much of it will be completed this year as contributions will allow. Each section will accommodate twelve scouts and their leaders and will be used as sleeping quarters on weekends at the camp. When completed it will be twenty-two by fifty-four feet and fireplaces will be built in each section so that it may be used summer and winter. A kitchen will probably be constructed adjacent to the cabin, labor for which will be supplied by Greco Construction Company.

TOWN POPULATION PUT AT 28,059 BY CENSUS

Laws Releases Preliminary Figures; Shows Four Per Cent Gain For Ten Years

Belleville's population has gone up almost four per cent during the past ten years, according to the figures released yesterday afternoon by Malcolm H. Laws, manager of area fifty-seven of the census bureau. The town now contains 28,051 persons, the preliminary figures show.

This is an increase of 1,077 over ten years ago, when 26,974 noses were counted here. When told that the figures were lower than many persons had estimated, Laws said that the estimates were based on the rapid strides made in industrial lines in Belleville in the thirties.

"Industrialization does not always mean increased population," he said, "for often companies are founded or expanded in a town but most of the employees are drawn from outside."

Thomas C. D'Avella of this town, assistant manager of the tenth district, pointed out that the figures were preliminary and that final total would not be known until every person who has been missed in the enumerators' check reports to the census office.

"If there are any, calls should be made to the census bureau to report the omission. Every possible effort has been made," D'Avella said, "to insure absolute accuracy. But there are some people who just could not be reached, even on ten or twelve calls and they should feel it their responsibility to report the fact."

Both Russell K. Rose and William J. Horgan of the chapter, who had worked with Mrs. Jones, recalled that much of the success of the local activities was due to her efforts when hard and intensive work was vital during the World War and the reconstruction period which followed both at home and abroad. The chapter is being represented at the funeral today.

Police Alert For Fifth Column Activity; Mayor Asks Public To Be Cool But Watchful

39 MOTORISTS FINED $361

Twenty-Seven Are Nabbed For Speeding On Washington Avenue

Thirty-nine traffic violators paid a total of $361 in fines and costs last night in Police Court before Recorder Everett Smith. Twenty-nine speeders, twenty-seven of whom were nabbed on Washington avenue, paid $260. Five were fined for passing red lights, two for driving on the left side of the street and three for careless driving.

Some motorists were surprised when Judge Smith acquainted them with their previous records which had been obtained through the State Motor Vehicle Department in Trenton. Ten of them were optimists for they showed up without money with which to pay their fines. Warrants were ordered issued for a number of motorists who failed to appear after being notified.

GLEE CLUB WILL HELP NUTLEYITES

Singers Offer To Lend Helping Hand To Group That Is Now Inactive

Belleville will lend a hand to neighboring Nutley in an effort to revive interest in glee club work in the latter town, it was decided at a meeting of the Belleville Glee Club Monday night. The members of the local organization voted to present two joint concerts with the Nutley group during the next season.

The Nutley club was founded in 1922 but has given no concerts in the past three years. The new plan calls for one concert here and another in Nutley. The winter concert date has been tentatively set for the week of December 9. Rehearsals will begin September 9. The officers of both clubs will work together as an executive committee.

The local club will participate in the joint concert of the Associated Glee Clubs of America at Varianco Park, Elizabeth, June 19. Arthur E. Jacobus, the club's director, will conduct one group of numbers and Ruth Daulton, Belleville's accompanist, is expected to accompany the entire program. Part of the concert will be broadcast over WOR.

Included in the program are "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" by Bach, "Omnipotence" by Schubert, "Morning" by Oley Speaks, "The Last Chord" by Sullivan, "Visions" by Bimboni, "Lift Thine Eyes" by Logan, "The Border Ballad" by Maunders and "John Peel" by Mark Andrews.

American Legion Forms Disaster And Relief Committee; Nothing To Arouse Suspicion At Present

This town joined with many others this week in adopting a program of alertness for Fifth Column activities. While there has been no indication or tip-off that there is any such organized movement locally, police are on the lookout for it. Mayor Williams issued last night a statement in which he urged the public to be ever watchful of possible subversive acts, but asked that they follow U. S. Attorney Jackson's suggestion of "keeping cool." The police in keeping an eye open to anything strange are following instructions which have been passed on to state, county and local police by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, cooperation with which has been strongly urged by both Prosecutor Wachenfeld and Sheriff Young.

In line with this activity, came the announcement from Thomas Fleming of the American Legion that a disaster and relief committee had been named to cooperate with the authorities in the event of any emergency. Denying that it was solely for Fifth Column purposes, Fleming said it would be to aid the fire and police departments or to quell any "subversive" activities. As planned, the committee would work on a chain telephone system. There would be three key men who would be notified in event of an emergency. Each of them would call three more men and so on until 115 men would be mobilized for duty within a short space of time.

Nothing Special Planned
Chief Spatz said that nothing special had been planned by his department in regard to Fifth Column activities.

"Any policeman," the chief said, "will take care of treasonable acts without being told."

He urged that the public cooperate with his men and warned them against hysteria and "witch hunts."

Mayor's Statement
Mayor Williams in his statement said:

"While the study of current events warrants the proper checking of all actions of a seditious nature, no one should permit suspicious alone to injure another party. All citizens of Belleville should study the procedure outlined by U. S. Attorney General Robert H. Jackson and follow it both in discussion and in any necessary action where any Fifth Column influence is indicated or actually develops."

"I urge our citizens to be fair to all their neighbors whose native lands are now engaged in warfare, but in the event of any accidents warranting action that matter should be reported personally to Police Chief George Spatz, who will give all complaints prompt attention and will place all questions of an un-American character before the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

Mayor Williams referred to the statement made last week by Jackson in which he defined the Fifth Column and laid down policies to be followed. According to Jackson, the Fifth Column includes saboteurs, spies and "representatives of foreign governments or foreign political parties by which the attempt is made to influence American policy on behalf of foreign governments."

Mayor Williams offered the following advice to the average citizen: "Refrain from joining any organization until you know the source of its promotional funds, who your associates in the organization are, who their backers are and what becomes of your dues or contributions. Keep cool and do not become frightened. Sensational statements as to the Fifth Column should be discounted."

Members of the different committees include:

Advertising: Rayne (McCann, Jeffrey Powell, David Martin, Vincent Corbett, Ruth Brimbergh, Alice Shanahan and Marjorie Breen; floor, Powell and Gerard Ferraro.

Advertising: Harvey C. Nielsen and David Martin; decoration, Virginia Bruenich and Margaret Wertz.

What The Flag Means To Us

Flag Day is observed annually on June 14 to make us realize what Old Glory really symbolizes. How many of us understand what the Red, White and Blue does represent? Do we know that it stands for much of that for which this democracy stands? Shamefacedly we must admit that too many of us in this country pay little attention to our national banner.

If you are proud of the flag you will display it. You will respect and be reverent toward it when it passes. On Memorial Day it was quite noticeable that many places did not display Old Glory. Few cars passed that did carry it, and it was amazing the number of people who did not stand at at-

Public Anxiety Is Increasing

Anxiety over events in Europe and our own problems of national defense increases every day. The isolationist and indifferent attitudes have gone from the minds of most of the public and the majority of the people are coming nearer to the conclusion each day that this war will be as much our fight as it anybody else's. Perhaps not in a contact sense, but everything points toward the efforts of our industries being directed to aid the Allies as much as possible.

The President's talk last week about national defense, the warnings and advice of Congressional leaders, stories of increased national preparedness, all have contributed to whipping up a tremendous war consciousness within the past month. The talk is of war and defense at every corner. Into many business offices went this week a mimeographed bulletin from the executive offices of the National Small Business Men's Association. It talks of the war, repeating rumors and reports from both here and abroad. It urges the business man to remember the facts concerning the spread of Fascism, Nazism and the setting up of a dictatorship in England.

State Highway Commissioner Sterner issued a statement from his office this week which went to every newspaper in the state. Describing New Jersey as the most vulnerable point along the highly industrial North Atlantic seaboard in the event of an invasion by a foreign power, Sterner said he had renewed his appeal for Federal aid in the construction of a super highway from Boston to Washington, D. C. Long a project for which he has fought, Sterner now pleads for it as a military necessity.

Ah, yes, even the New Jersey Taxpayers' Association has found a means to get in

Concern About The Fifth Column

Wherever you turn, the expression of "Fifth Column" pops out like a jack-in-the-box. Every word that has been whispered about the Fifth Column during the past few weeks has been sopped up by the newspapers and passed on to the public in scaring headlines. People are divided into two groups—those who pooh-pooh it and say "it can't happen here" and those who have taken all of the reports to heart and want to do something about it. No one wants to admit that there have been any subversive activities carried on in this country which are contrary to and in opposition to this nation's democratic principles of government.

But, whether it be that license of freedom of speech, press and assemblage as permitted by our constitution, or that we are just gullible people, affairs are taking place within our borders which would not be permitted elsewhere on the face of the earth.

To anyone who has been subjected to various kinds of propaganda sent by foreign powers masquerading under the nom de

They've Done A Good Job

No traffic squad or department has made a more sincere effort to instill into both the drivers and the pedestrians common sense practices than the four members of this town's police department who are assigned to this work. Chasing speeding motorists is dangerous. Giving warnings to foolish pedestrians makes bad friends. Still, they have kept up a relentless campaign to make the Belleville streets safe for both the vehicles and those who walk.

They have warned, lectured and issued hundreds of tickets. True, there have been two more pedestrian fatalities within the past two weeks, but that cannot be put at the door of the traffic squad. To one who tention or remove their hats when the flag passed by.

This is not intentional irreverence. It's just that some of us have forgotten what the flag represents. The Stars and Stripes wave over a land that stands for freedom. It is the symbol of our national life and existence—something which we want to keep during this generation and those which are to come. We should honor and pay our respect to our flag not only on Flag Day but every day. We are proud of it. Let us display it.

Here, as in many communities throughout the country, the Elks Lodge is sponsoring its annual Flag Day program. Join with them in this patriotic endeavor.

a "plug" for itself through the national defense propaganda. Rigid economies in local and state governments must be practiced today in national interest so that more can be spent for national defense. Upon the taxpaying group, the Association says, rests the task of insisting that the costs of local government be kept under control in the interest of the nation. From John E. Sloane of the New Jersey State Planning Board comes the recommendation that the efforts of that group be bent toward cooperating with the President's National Defense Program. The planners' studies should be directed to bring about a better coordination of New Jersey industries for defense purposes, Sloane states.

Of course, there is always the "chiseler" who is trying to sneak in with some cheap publicity on the wave of movements such as the one now sweeping the country. To newspaper desks from the publicity grabber of one of New Jersey's speculative summer colonies came the story that with a national defense program on the way, there will be a scarcity of labor and materials. Consequently, people should buy homes from them now because the price will be going up in a little while. It will cost twenty-five per cent more to build a home a year from now because of this country's preparedness program, scarily cries the publicist.

These reports are typical of those that are circulating today. It has been often said that the American people were indifferent, but when faced with a problem would grasp it and give their best to overcome it. A tremendous preparedness campaign is now afoot and from present appearances it seems as though the public is quickly realizing that our independence is dependent on its cooperation.

plume of some "paper" organization in this country, the Fifth Column stories are not entirely the bunk. With almost every mail that arrives on the business man's desk are circulars, pamphlets and letters which plead the case of some of the warring powers. Vigilance should be practiced, but at the same time the Fifth Column scare should not be permitted to rise to proportions which would tend to create mob hysteria or the circulation of baseless rumors.

Merely because a person is of certain foreign extraction does not make him a spy to be watched twenty-four hours a day. Some who have come to this country and learned to love it for its freedom are more loyal citizens than some who have been born here.

As has already been proven in certain European countries, propaganda is a powerful underhanded weapon that is difficult to control. From all sides we are being subjected to a constant bombardment. We should be wary of it and ever watchful for the effects that it may produce from within.

has watched them daily, it seems that they have worked with diligence and persistence which is worthy of commendation.

However, as has been said before, this campaign for safety should not rest on the shoulders of four men. It should be the job of every member of the police department, of every driver and every pedestrian. It is unfortunate that two more names have been added to the death column, but we believe that the efforts which are being made daily by the police will eventually be rewarded. Many motorists have sadly learned that this town is enforcing the motor vehicle regulations. Cooperation of all, coupled with the hard work of a few, will finally bring about the feeling of safety which we all hope for.

MUSICAL SILHOUETTES

A Musical Commentary by Leon Carson

CCCXXXII

I hold every man a debtor to his profession; from the which as men of course to seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and ornament thereto.

—Francis Bacon.

Strange:

Fantastically enough, the International Society for Contemporary Music is planning to hold its first festival in New York City next October. This is most certainly a courageous bit of looking ahead on the part of its board of directors in the face of the steadily growing violence of the European war, and the increasingly expanding territory involved. Famous musical centers such as Amsterdam, Brussels, Oslo, Copenhagen have been submerged in its terror, while London and Paris stand in the shadow, and musicians in all corners of the world stand in awe of revolutionary changes.

At least our own America still remains a lone haven for something like sane thinking and for a high level of art; may this solace be not shattered before the autumn winds begin to blow!

Valuation:

Well, the much heralded postage stamp issues bearing likenesses of five of our American composers is now before the public. But strange denominations, these: Foster, one cent; Sousa two cents; Herbert, three cents; MacDowell, five cents, and Nevin, ten cents.

Do you suppose these demoniations represent the United States Government's relative evaluations of the worth of these men? If so, it becomes a point of great controversy.

Voice from the Past:

Emma Eames, the lovely and greatly admired American soprano who made her debut at the Metropolitan Opera on the same night as the two de Reszkes, and who retired over thirty years ago, has at last broken a long silence in order to express a few opinions about the opera.

In her recent "Herald Tribune (N.Y.)" interview she had nothing but praise for the present General Manager Edward Johnson, but blamed his predecessor, Giulio Gatti-Casazza, for much lowering of the standards of artistic endeavor, in the following vitriolic sentences:

"He was the vandal of all directors," she said emphatically. "He came here as the dry nurse of Toscanini (Arturo Toscanini, the conductor), who was frightfully nervous and needed his surroundings made as easy for him as possible. Gatti-Casazza took good care of Toscanini's nerves but demolished the singers' art."

"That was a time when a person who was a star had to have a spark—a spark that could be kept alive only by being fostered, cared for, understood. That's what Grau (Maurice Grau, manager of the Metropolitan when Mme. Eames made her debut, in 1891) knew what to do, and his tradition was carried on by Conried (Heinrich Conried, who succeeded Grau). But Gatti-Casazza broke down entirely the high standards of the Metropolitan."

Singers today lack mastery of technique, just as so many singers in the days of her childhood lacked anything but technique, she said. "Your voice is the canvas on which you paint; you have to be a perfect mistress of your brushes so you can convince the audience of what you want them to see," she explained.

Incidentally, Mme. Eames, besides expressing her disapproval of modern music said a thing or two about modern women, observing that they "do everything in their power to make themselves ugly, and fortunately they don't all succeed. Those girls who wear floppy hair all over their shoulders, I'm perfectly certain never wash their ears. Is there anything lovelier in a woman than the line of her neck down her back? Then why do they cover it up?"

And leaving the necks and backs of the dear ladies out of the picture for the moment, we might add to Mme. Eames' little tirade, the question, "And what about the American woman's hat?" For the past several years, otherwise intelligent young (and old) women have submitted to the dictates of a foreign commercialistic set-up on head styles to the point that they no longer attempt to fit the hat to the head, but vice versa. Of all the silly, goofy-looking contraptions in the world, these, our good-looking women of today are using to make themselves unattractive and unnatural in appearance.

If a few of our good ladies would use their native intelligence and first do a little hat designing of their own, and then insist upon a milliner creating same into an actual piece of headgear which could be placed on the head in normal fashion, the present dictators of hat styles would soon realize that sanity in headgear had once more asserted itself in the feminine mind.

My! How did we get into all this?

Strains of the national anthem were heard at exactly 8:45, the time at which the concert was scheduled to begin. Alexander Smallens, conductor, then led the orchestra to play the well known "Polovisian Dances" of Borodin and Prokofieff's clever "Peter and the Wolf," in which Frank Luther was narrator. This work is a fairy tale for children, but judged by the rapt attention and apparent enjoyment of all, it was well suited to adults too. Mr. Luther, who has made a great many recordings of songs for children, has a pleasant voice and speaks expressively, without exaggerated histrionics.

Marian Anderson, Negro soloist, swept onto the stage in a billowing white dinner gown which had long, full sleeves. A Handel aria, popularly known as the "Largo," was her first offering. This she followed with the famous "Alleluia," by Mozart. Listed as a contralto, Miss Anderson nevertheless has a full soprano range. It seemed to this writer that the Mozart composition lost some of the joyous quality one expects because of the richness of the singer's voice. However, the coloratura passages were beautifully executed even though they lacked the lightness one might desire.

It's better than the rest on 6 BIG COUNTS!

If you think all low-price cars are "about the same" you don't know this year's Ford! Here are some of the ways it outvalues the rest on the things that count!

- 1. MORE ECONOMY! More miles per gallon than either leading "6" proved in official test. And no oil added between 2000-mile changes, based on owner experience!
- 2. MORE CYLINDERS! Ford is the only low-price "8." Ford is fastest, smoothest, most fun to drive. It takes an "8" to match an "8."
- 3. MORE COMFORT! Among all low-price cars, Ford springbase is longest! Ford knee-room is greatest! Only Ford has "floating-edge" seat cushions!
- 4. BIGGER BRAKES! The biggest hydraulics ever used on a low-price car are on Ford!
- 5. MORE QUALITY! Among all low-price cars, Ford has the only full Torque-Drive... the only semi-centrifugal clutch... the only valves that don't need adjustments... the only engine that needs no breaking-in!
- 6. MORE EQUIPMENT! Check the savings for yourself. Ford prices include many dollars' worth more in equipment, yours at no extra charge!

NO MATTER WHAT YOU'RE DRIVING NOW... THIS YEAR TRY FORD!

Mrs. Thomas Berry Is Winner In Weekly Photo Contest

Mrs. Thomas Berry is no exception to the general rule. It is usually the regular customer who takes the weekly $5 award offered by The News to Belleville's shoppers. Mrs. Berry, who is the wife of the truant officer and mother of Health Officer Eugene T. Berry, was doing her weekly shopping as usual at the National Self-Service Grocery Store when The News' photographer happened along.

When the picture appeared in last week's News Mrs. Berry was the lucky winner. You will surely win if you choose Belleville merchants with whom to do your trading and you may win $5 if you are the lucky one when The News' photographer comes around.

BELLBOYS FINISH SEASON MONDAY

Conclude Baseball Campaign With Clifton; Lose to Barringer By 4-1 Score

The Belleville High School baseball tossers go into their final game of the season with Clifton High at Clifton on Monday with a .500 record. They have won eight and lost the same number to date. Yesterday afternoon, they bowed to the Blueboys of Barringer 4-1. With Pitcher John Hadam holding the locals to two hits at Clearman Field, the Barringer boys had little trouble in pushing over runs in the second, third, fourth and fifth innings of the seven-inning clash. Little Smith were the only Bellboy batsmen who could solve the Barringerite's deliveries for bingles. Smith and Wohlenforth led the visitors batting volley with two hits each. Skirt Suits Quite Fashionable Flattering full skirts are the nicest feature of the new bathing suits. Equally popular with the suit-length jackets of terry cloth and chenille are three-quarter capes like the one on which the young lady in the picture is reclining. Wear a turban, by all means, while tanning to preserve the soft lustre of your hair.

The Woman's Desk

by PEGGY PATTERSON

Mortimer J. Adler, the man who has written a book about how to read a book, starts off a recent article on the subject in a humorous vein when he points out that it is easier to read yourself to sleep than to read yourself awake. He does not phrase it exactly that way but it dawns on us that never was it so important to read oneself awake than it is today when history is in the making and mental

To read yourself to sleep, according to Mr. Adler, is simple enough when you assume a comfortable position in bed, have a slightly inadequate light and a book that has no vital bearing on your state of knowledge or development of character. This is passive reading. If, however, you are in search of specific knowledge, if you need, through reading, to acquire a technique which will increase your ability or if you have an urgent desire to enlarge your vision, you cannot indulge in this form of passivity.

Active reading is your aim and, like all other effect producing occupations, must be undertaken in an orderly fashion. The mind, like the body, can accomplish nothing unless a pattern of movements is adhered to. You can read a book simply by the use of force but you cannot make a basket with it unless you apply technique to the motion. You can throw mental energy into gulping up the pages of a book but you can't come out of the orgy with something tangible unless you apply technique to the process.

Ask Yourself Questions

Mr. Adler's solution is summed up in the simple direction "Ask questions while you read — questions which you yourself must try to answer in the course of the reading." The questions he suggests may be applied to any sort of reading matter, except purely entertaining fiction.

The first one deals with the leading theme, what is the book or article about as a whole? The discovery you will make in trying to answer this one is that the author wrote by selecting his topic and dividing and subdividing all the material relative to it of which he wanted to make use. He wrote in this orderly way and you will miss the point if you do not read this way.

Next you must ask yourself as you go along, what are the pertinent things more than all others which the author says about his theme and how does he say them? He will use explanatory matter as a background and flashing through it here and there like the sparks in a comet's tail will be the sentences which grip your mind, which when summed up together will crystallize the theme for you. You will know them when you meet them. Stop and ask yourself from time to time what they were.

The third point, when you are reading seriously, cannot be side-stepped if you are honest with yourself. After you have penetrated the author's mind sufficiently to answer the first two queries, you must penetrate your own sufficiently to see whether or not you agree with him. Is this truth that I am reading? If it is truth to the author and not to you, then you have gained an insight into the mind of another, which is a form of enrichment

Flaming Red Popular Color For Summer Frocks

Short Coats And Capes In Terry Cloth And Chenille Will Be Featured; Numerous Styles Being Offered In Shoes For Beach Wear

If flaming red is as popular with the patrons of the beach shops as it is with those who have selected the stocks, the Jersey shoreline this summer will look like a garden of tropical flowers. Chambray, pique and seersucker as well as silk jersey suits are numerous in red and white stripes of varying widths. One of the most attractive cotton suits has its form fitting top completely pin-tucked. The plain skirt is no more than a wide circular ruffle over tucked brief shorts to match the top. The square neckline of a pique princess line suit in stripes is outlined with a solid band of red. A silk jersey peppermint striped suit with exposed midriff has a full skirt shirred on from a fairly wide waistband. This gives a trim line and is worn over pure white shorts.

In the printed cotton suits lined with jersey red is again a popular background. Navy and other shades of blue follow closely. The designs in prints are quite small with splashy white flowers appearing here and there. For those who eschew the brilliant colors there are solid color, sharkskin suits made on crisp, tailored lines over silk jersey linings. The rich shades of yellow, pink and blue are enticing. There is nothing misty about them although they are pastels. Square necklines and button trim at center back make them very smart. They are lined with matching silk jersey.

Chenille, Terry Sloth

For the short coats and three-quarter length capes which we will wear over these suits, chenille and terry cloth seem to be the chosen materials. Chenille in white with bands of contrasting color outlining the tuxedo front and cuffs of the hip-length coats is smart; or solid color chenille in a deeply imprinted waffle design in the favorite reds and yellows. These comfy jackets have roomy patch pockets and, in many cases, attached hoods. All of the graceful swinging capes have hoods and it looks as though everyone was determined to protect her hair from the usual damage of too much summer sun.

White is a favorite for these all-purpose capes. The terry cloth jackets which look good to us are lighter in weight than chenille and very absorbent. They are slightly longer and most of them, in white with fine blue or red stripes, have four pockets. They conveniently button down the front with big bone buttons. To spare your shoulders after they have acquired a sufficient tan are three-cornered shawls with looped fringe.

Seen occasionally are lovely ensembles such as a silk jersey bathing suit in gray with matching hood jacket of gabardine. Silk embroidered crabs on the pockets in coral make it distinctive.

Whether or not you have worn wedge heeled shoes for street dress, you will most certainly not be able to resist them in beach and sport shoes. Our favorites are the elevator heels, which are slices of vari-colored or two-tone kid, used on fabric ties or step-in models. A white linen toe-less tie laced with blue may have, for instance, a heel which is alternate layers of blue and white kid. A toeless step-in shoe in solid color linen, with tiny side gussets to increase the snug fit, is also made more attractive by the wedge heel accented with strips of white.

Styles In Shoes

Sandals of mesh lined with plaid cotton and strapped with the same plaid are among the ever popular type of summer shoe.

binding and buttons of red and blue. Among the beach accessories the enormous pinwheel hats stand out and promise adequate protection for those who do not wish a deep tan. Natural rough straw makes the brim in most cases. The crowns are sometimes of printed silk and are matched by the shawl or smart pouch handbag to be carried with these hats. Turbans of fish net and silks and fluted eye-shading crownless hats of starched linen and pique indicate a new interest in protecting the hair and skin from too much sun.

Contest Recipes

Send your favorite and reliable recipes to our contest. Two prizes will be awarded weekly. Each winner will receive two guest passes to the Kent Theatre. The features starting Sunday are: "Northwest Passage" and "City of Chance."

The tang of orange flavor is welcome at this season and Mrs. Joseph Schmidt of Stephen street submits a recipe which combines this feature nicely with the economical use of orange skins always so lightly discarded.

Orange Bread

The skins of 5 oranges
1 1/2 cups of water
3/4 cup sugar

Boil the skins of the oranges until soft, cool and scrape out the pith. Cut in fine pieces. Add sugar and water and boil 15 minutes.

1/2 cup sugar
4 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
4 1/2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/8 teaspoon salt

Add sugar, shortening and egg to the boiled mixture. Sift together the dry ingredients and add gradually to the first mixture. If mixture is extremely stiff add a little milk. Bake in two loaf pans in a moderate (350 degree) oven for one hour. For those of you who like to simply warm weather meals with one attractive main dish instead of the usual combination of meat and vegetables, Miss Ruth E. Wilson of New street suggests the following:

Meat Ball

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
1/2 cup milk
1/2 pound cooked chopped meat, seasoned

Combine the dry ingredients, cut in shortening and add milk as for biscuit dough. Pat out on a sheet of waxed paper to about 1/4 inch thick. Spread with the

Featured At Capitol, Sunday

Ginger Rogers is not only unwelcome but embarrassed at this little party between Joel McCrea and alluring Carmen Morales — even though Joel's her husband. The conflict comes after a mounting series of rifts between the couple in the human romantic photoplay, "Primrose Path," which starts Sunday for three days at the Capitol Theatre, Belleville, on the same program with the romantic drama "The House Across the Bay" starring George Raft and Joan Bennett.

Starts at Kent, Sunday

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

By Joe Duval

A Great Organization

Tonight Nereid Boat Club will celebrate its sixty-fifth anniversary. Actually, the club was founded July 10, 1875, but the date will be observed tonight at the annual dinner. And to Nereid tonight will go the plaudits of all eastern oarsmen and of Belleville's sports world. For Nereid, in its long history, has time and again proved that it has what it takes to make an organization great.

The club had little to start with except eight eager young oarsmen and the will to live. It began slowly and, in the days of the old Passaic Valley Amateur Rowing Association of happy memory, was not counted among the big cheeses. The Belleville club had little of the wherewithal to make it a moat in the sports world's eye.

Just when it started to climb to a nice niche in the local picture rowing on the Passaic folded up because of the heavy pollution in the river. Then came sixteen years of struggle for existence. For who wants to belong to a rowing club when there is no rowing? Seven of the nine clubs gave up the struggle during this period, but little Nereid hung on for dear life. When dawn broke in 1924 Nereid and Newark's Institute has since gone the way.

BIKERS TO PEDAL IN LONG TREK

Bryan and Others Entered In German Club's 100-Miler Sunday Morning

Ray Bryan of 503 Union avenue will defend the title he won last year when he and five other members of the Belleville Bicycle Club compete in the eleventh annual hundred-mile classic sponsored by the German Bicycle Sport Club of New York. The race is scheduled for Sunday morning at 5 and will start at Queens boulevard and Van Dam street, Long Island City, N. Y.

The other Belleville bikers who will compete are Paul Muller, Bud Wille, Tom Guarino, Phil Castle and Frank Miserendino. The local club split up the honors pretty well in its usual Sunday morning races in Branch Brook Park this week. First places in the four races went to Gene Gonzalez, Joe DeBacco, Ed Littig and Ray Frae.

Meet Larry Gates

Had lunch with Larry Gates last week. We wanted to probe inside and find out what makes him tick. For two solid hours we pumped the daylight out of the man. At the end of it all, we came away with the feeling that we liked him and that Belleville would, too. The impressions that we got were not in the answers to questions nor all in what he said, but in the way he said them.

Larry is an earnest young man with an ambition. His goal is to make the team he is coaching the best possible. He has ideas and he has a way of putting them across that will impress even the skeptic. He has a way about him.

He is a medium-sized fellow as far as height goes, but he is currently ranting against the weight he has put on during the past year while he was studying at Columbia. He will go in for strenuous exercises at his summer camp at Lake Mamariscotta, Me., to get back in fighting trim. He has a pleasant face which has the rare quality of smiling unintentionally.

He asked us to pass along one message to the footballers who will be back next year—keep in shape. He would like to get right into work September 3 and not have to spend a week ironing out the ravages of the summer. Next spring he will have practically the entire squad out for track. Gates is looking forward to Belleville and Belleville is looking forward to him.

Alpine Pedaller Takes Final Heat of Match Race to Win Inter-Club Meet

With victories tied at one each, Alpine Wheelmen of Newark took the third and final heat of the one-mile match race from the Belleville Bicycle Club at Weequahic Park Sunday afternoon.

The race was run on an individual basis, the first bikerman to cross the line automatically winning the heat for his club. Charles Logan, No. 1 Alpine, barely nosed out Bud Wille in the opening heat—the margin was less than a foot. Joe DeBacco of the localities evened the count by copying the second race.

Wille led the field in the deciding heat, then Paul Muller, Belleville roller champion, took over the lead. Logan came from nowhere in the final quarter, however, and won by four lengths.

Odds and Ends

Word from Bernie Barnett says he is back in harness again. Pitching at Charleston Sunday he whipped the home club 4-3 for his first win of the year. It was the first time he had given to the mound since his unveiling when infected blisters made him wild and hospitalized him for a month.

Stan Litts has taken quite a ribbing from studs at the high school level.

CARDINALS HAVE BIG WEEKEND

Team Wins Three Out of Four Games; Trim Minors 7-4 at Home

The Cardinal A. C. registered three victories out of four games played over the Memorial Day weekend. On Thursday they traveled to Freneau, where they divided a doubleheader with the Morganville Barons. The Cardinals won the first game 10 to 9 and then dropped a 1 to 0 decision in the nightcap. On Saturday the Pittsburgh Minors of North Newark were the victims 7-4. On Sunday the Cardinals went to Leonardo, where they earned a hard fought 3 to 2 victory over the Leonardo Field Club.

The first game on Thursday was marked by ragged fielding and erratic pitching, to enhance large scores by both teams. The second game showed a complete reversal of form on the part of both teams. For eight innings the teams were able to reach the pay dirt. In the last half of the ninth, however, two scratch singles, followed by an error netted the Barons the winning run.

Belleville bikers dropped a hair-line decision to the Alpine Wheelmen Sunday. But the showing was nothing to be ashamed of. Alpine is noted for its sprint men and the Newarkers were also familiar with the course. These two advantages counted heavily, but the Belleville bikers have now challenged Alpine to a pursuit race and figure they will meet the boys from Newark on a more even footing. Who can tell—we might be in the midst of another battlefield before long.

Nereid Oarsmen Shooting First Across Line

Nereid Boat Club's great intermediate quadrule shell leads the New York A. C. shell across the line in the Decoration Day regatta of the New York Rowing Association. Crescent Boat Club of Philadelphia trailed Nereid by four lengths. In the Belleville boat are, from bow to stern, Barney Swain, Ed Minion, Andy McMaster and Carl Hagert.

BELLBOYS ENTER STATE TOURNEY

Trackmen Don't Have Chance For Team Title But May Cop Individual Honors

Seven members of the Bellboy track squad will compete in the state championships Saturday at Essex Park, Montclair, according to Coach Wilho Winkler. He said that this number will not give Belleville much of a chance at the title but he believed that several of the men have what it takes to win places.

Eddie Holloway is entered in the sprints, Fred Weinberger in the quarter, George Baldwin in the half-mile, Dan DeTuffo and Jack Mason in the mile. George "Dutch" Tietze and Jack Jocher in the shotput. Injured Wally Elliott, who was considered one of the best bets in the hurdles, is not in sufficiently good shape after his long layoff to warrant entering.

NEREIDS TO MARK 65TH YEAR

Boat Club Will Hold Annual Dinner Tonight; To Honor Four Veteran Members

Nereid Boat Club will celebrate the sixty-fifth anniversary of its founding tonight with the annual dinner at the clubhouse, 30 Main street. Sixty members of the oldest athletic organization in town are expected to attend.

C. Leverich Brett of Newark and Lake Hopatcong, a longtime active oarsman and officer of the club, is chairman of the committee on arrangements and will act as master of ceremonies. Serving with him are Gerard F. Rhoades and Frank A. Siegler, Jr., both of Belleville, and Dr. Brainerd F. Swain of Newark.

The members will be addressed by three men well known in the sport world. They are William Essling, vice-president of the New Jersey Amateur Athletic Union; Elliott A. Gesser, president of the New York Rowing Association, and Constance S. Titus, national single sculls champion in 1902 and 1905 and national doubles king in 1906.

Will Honor Four

Singled out for special honor at the dinner will be four men whose length of membership totals 178 years. They are E. Schuyler Webster, fifty years; Roger V. Brett, forty-six years; C. Leverich Brett, thirty years; and Herbert V. Wardman, forty-one years each. Another guest at the dinner will be Frank A. Weisenger, Nereid's first coach from 1899 to 1901 and former champion of the Passaic Valley Amateur Rowing Association.

Plans are also being made for a card party and dance which will be given by the rowing members of the club next Thursday. Alfred J. Walker of 133 Jorammon street and William Jones of 197 Linden avenue form the committee for the affair. Refreshments will be served.

PITTSBURGH HAVE BAD WEEKEND

Minors Lose To Kearsburg 4-3, Cardinals 7-4, and Then Wave Game Cancelled

Last week was a bad one for the Pittsburgh Minor Leaguers. They traveled to Kearsburg Thursday to drop a 4-3 decision, were soundly beaten by the Belleville Cardinals 7-4 Saturday at Clearman Field and had their game with the Linden Colored Giants, scheduled for Sunday, called off.

Kearsburg handed the Minors their third one-run loss of the year. Johnny Woods on the mound for the ex-Gems allowed the Kearsburg nine only five hits and no earned runs, but contributed two of the Minor errors to lose the game.

Two more away games are carded this week, with Agar Manufacturing Company to be met Saturday at Whippany and the Lakeland Council A. C. Sunday at Netcong.

Church of Christ, Scientist

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the lesson-sermon subject for Sunday in all Christian Science Churches and Societies. The golden text is: "Ah, Lord God! behold, thou hast made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and stretched out arm, and there is nothing too hard for thee."

Among the Lesson Sermon citations is the following from the Bible: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honor and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Creator: Spirit, Mind: God, who made all that was made and could not create an atom or an element the opposite of Himself."
