Zoning Body Overruled By Commissioners on Making 2-Family House

The action of the Zoning Board in recommending a change of "B" Rossmore place from "A" to "B7" residential zone met with opposition from the Board of Commissioners Tuesday night when the recommendation came before it for approval.

The Zoning Board decided on its recommendation when no residents of Rossmore place appeared at its meeting to protest the change of zone, which was requested by the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, owner of the premises.

Dangerous Precedent

He pointed out that the HOLC took over the property knowing that it was a one-family house. "There is no reason why we should let the bars down simply because a home happens to be owned by a financial institution."

The board on the other hand indicated that it was unable to go along with the zoning body's recommendation that 471 Main street be changed from Class "A" residential to business zone.

Relief Bureau Reaches Low Mark In Dependents

There were only 818 persons on the town's relief rolls at the end of October, according to the report made by John J. Hewitt, overseer of the poor, to the Commission Tuesday. This is the lowest figure in the history of the local Welfare Department, Hewitt said yesterday.

The department began eight years ago and the peak in cases was in December, 1934, when 6,177 persons were being supported by public funds. The number has decreased steadily month by month until the present low point was reached.

The family of the late Freddie Polo will benefit from a smoker to be held tonight in Laurel Garden, 457 Springfield avenue, Newark. Sponsored by the Men's Club of St. Anthony's Church, the program will include many boxing and wrestling bouts.

Communicable Diseases Are On The Increase

Communicable diseases in town for October increased considerably over the previous month and the same month last year, the report of Health Officer Beery showed this week. The figures, however, are far below many months this year, he said.

WORK GOES AHEAD ON NUMEROUS IMPROVEMENTS

Extension of Franklin Avenue To Mill Street Moving Along Swiftly

The town's three major public improvement projects are well on their way to completion, a check disclosed this week. The public works are in three widely separated sections of the town — extreme east, south and northwest.

The biggest of the three projects is that around the extension of Franklin avenue from Belleville avenue to Mill street. The roadbed of the new street has been cut through and, according to County Engineer William A. Stiekel, concrete will be poured in the near future provided freezing weather does not set in.

The second bridge—that which will carry the new highway under the Greenwood Lake branch of the Erie Railroad—will be completed within a couple of months, again depending on the weather. The first bridge, which is completed, provides an underpass at the Orange branch of the railroad.

On the other end of the new extension where it intersects Belleville avenue, considerable changes are also being made. Franklin avenue is temporarily blocked to traffic while new islands are installed and the avenue is straightened beside the Essex County Isolation Hospital.

Dredging Flood Basin Belleville avenue is also being straightened and widened considerably at that point. Dredging has already begun on the new flood basin which will be constructed from the old Hendricks Dam west to the Bloomfield line.

In northwest Belleville work is progressing on the Municipal Athletic Field at the Turf Bog. Most of the work being done at present is on the interior of the stadium proper. Showers are being installed in the two dressing rooms but activity at the Bog has slowed down considerably in recent months.

The field has been rolled but the area still evidences of the slight difference in the levels between the seeded and the sodded portions of the field which members of the Board of Education youngsters are using the field daily for football scrimmage.

The stop-and-start Passaic River Park is dragging along. Most of the attention is paid to the seemingly never-ending work on and around Terry Field and the section at the foot of Little street. In recent weeks considerable grading has been done on the southern end of the park between the Newark Boat Club and the Tuscarora Canoe Club.

Library Is Seeking Books For Soldiers At Dix

The New Jersey Library Association has passed a resolution asking all libraries and librarians to cooperate in giving and collecting books for the soldiers at Fort Dix. The Belleville Library is contributing a large number of duplicate and discarded books and will receive any books or magazines contributed by the public for this purpose.

They will be glad to receive books of adventure, mystery, western, stories, history, travel, biography, or any books that can be spared. The Public Library Commission has already sent 5,000 books. In addition to the regular post library at Fort Dix, there are thirteen chaplains at the Fort with the 44th Division. Each of these Chaplains has charge of a service club with a library and reading corner. Books are distributed to each Chaplain so that each group may receive some reading material.

Books are added to the seven-day collection in the Adult Department area.

A Matter of Business by Jeffrey Farnol, a group of thirty short stories. This is a well-balanced selection, ranging in scene from Bombay to London and in subject matter from French Revolution to the World War.

The Youngest Profession by Lillian Day. A story of the adventures of a fifteen-year-old girl and her family and friends.

Legion Will Hold Social Saturday At Elks The second annual social of the Belleville Post No. 105, American Legion will be held Saturday evening in the Elks Club. William Konrad is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Assisting Konrad on his committee are Edward Cantwell, Thomas W. Fleming, William I. Labaugh, William Mazur, Joseph Delaporte, William Keene, Dunbar McKenna, Joseph L. Kolinsky, Henry Miller, Edward Ackerman, A. A. Hartley, Fred Fredericks and Joseph Heumer.

Bingo Back By Christmas Is Hope Of Local Elks

Arthur Mayer, Representing Local Groups in Effort To Force Return, Explains Plight of Charitable Work Done by Various Organizations

Bingo may be played in the Elks Club and other places in Belleville and Essex County before Christmas. Arthur E. Mayer, secretary of the local Elks lodge and head of the Belleville-Nutley drive for resumption of the games in the county, last night issued a statement in which he expressed himself as "still hoping" that bingo boards would again flourish within a month.

The charitable work of the Elks Club is being jeopardized and much of the charity work done by organizations depending on bingo for their relief funds will definitely have to be discontinued, Mayer said as he tried to stress the seriousness of the situation. "The Elks' crippled kiddies work has already been curtailed and no new cases are being accepted. Other means of raising revenue for the work have failed, the most recent being the Elks' bazaar, which fell far below expectations."

Mayer pointed out that, since Prosecutor Wachenfeld clamped down on the games nearly a year ago, thousands of persons weekly are given free transportation to bingo parties in Hudson and Union Counties. Mayer's complete statement follows:

"At a meeting held at the Newark Athletic Club recently and attended by the officials of various Elks lodges and their committee chairmen, plans were formulated and these were to be submitted to the prosecutor for his opinion.

Newark Plumber Is Fined By Recorder Smith

Found guilty by Recorder Smith of installing plumbing without having first taken out a local license, Morris Orstein of 159 Dewey street, Newark, was fined $35 Friday morning. The charge was made by Plumbing Inspector Edward O'Connor who said that the work was done at 380 Union avenue.

Orstein pleaded not guilty to the charge but admitted that he had a license issued to another Newark plumber in his possession when he did the job. He also declared that he held licenses in eighteen other municipalities but had none for Belleville.

CHEST DRIVE LAGS BADLY BEHIND SCHEDULE

Have Collected Only 40% Of Amount Sought; Extend Time To November 22

Subscriptions to the Community Chest drive reached $7,989.64 Tuesday night as division leaders reported at Chest headquarters at 338 Washington avenue. The figure is only forty per cent of the $17,000 goal which it had been hoped would be reached today.

Campaign Manager Frank Chambers announced Tuesday night that the canvass would be extended to Friday, November 22. The canvassers have lost a total of five days so far in the drive, two holidays and three because of rain. The division reports are:

Table showing contributions: Industrial $4,062.00, School teachers 1,098.00, Out-of-town 795.00, House-holds 854.40, Special gifts 635.00, Professional 160.00, Civilian Veterans 170.00, Commercial 70.00, Church organizations 60.00, School pupils 52.24, Post Office employees 22.00. Total $7,989.64

Reports on the canvass of the town employees, the parent-teacher associations and the lodges had not been received up to Tuesday night. A more complete report of the commercial division will be submitted tomorrow night.

Pledges totaled $6,400.00 when reports were made last Friday night. That figure was 37.6 per cent of the goal. The Chest had collected $10,666 by November 15 last year, or 62.7 per cent of its $16,000 goal.

RAIN CUTS DOWN PARADE UNITS

Thirty Groups In Armistice Day Event; Ridgfield Park Corps Takes First Prize

The Armistice Day parade was one of the biggest in recent years despite the rain which cut the number of marching units by one third. Forty-five organizations had intended to parade but the rain depleted the number to thirty, seventeen of which were musical outfits. Thomas W. Fleming, chairman of the committee on arrangements, estimated that more than 1,100 persons were in the line of march.

A total of $320 in prize money was distributed to ten winning units. The most coveted, the $100 prize for the best senior drum and bugle corps, was won by the Renzi Corps of Ridgfield Park. Second place went to Connecticut Farms, $50, and third to the Public Service Post, American Legion, $25.

St. Mary's Holy Name Society of Nutley drew top honors in the junior division and took $40. Other prize winners in this classification were Ironbound of Newark, second, $25, and St. Ann's Church of Newark, third, $15. Belleville High School won the $20 first prize as the best band.

Fifteen dollar prizes went to the Crawford-Crews Post as the best marching senior unit; Belleville Girl Scouts, best marching junior unit, and the Belleville Boy Scouts for having the greatest number in the line of march.

Three Military Judges The judges were Major Herbert V. Ryan of the 521st Coast Artillery, Lieutenant T. F. Peters and First Sergeant A. J. Seiden-schwarz, both of the 102nd Cavalry band, National Guard. Mayor Williams and Commissioner Waters marched at the head of the parade.

The Congregation A. A. A. was jammed to the doors Sunday evening for the interdenominational Armistice service. Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin delivered the principal discourse on "Speak Up for Democracy."

Results of the football game between the junior varsity squads of Belleville and Kearny High Schools at Clearman Field Monday afternoon were disappointing, officials of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars said.

Spatz Warns Merchants About Punchboards

Police Chief George R. Spatz last night issued a warning to Belleville merchants and tradesmen that possession of punchboards and chanceboards is a violation of the law and that the police department intends to make a thorough check-up throughout the town.

"About this time every year," the chief said, "many large bakeries and candy manufacturers put out punchboards to try to push their products in the stores and they expect the merchants to handle them. We warn all merchants that the sale of chances from these boards is absolutely against the law. It is a Grand Jury offense and is punishable by fine and jail terms."

All Right—why DO we buy Automobiles?

THIS is just between you and us and this newspaper, so we can be both frank and honest.

Don't you really buy a car for what it can do?

Doesn't the big kick come from being first off the mark and winging up hills as though they weren't there?

There's only one place in the world you can get such things—from a power plant that's up to its job.

But here's the interesting thing the new Buick proves: With enough power, you can have that flashing action—and economy too!

Our FIREBALL design and Compound Carburetion let us use a standard high gear that has the same economical result as so-called gas-saving devices.

They step up mileage as much as 10% or 15%, wing you down the road at 50 on a 30-mile fuel diet.

They even make driving easier, since they give so much reserve power that you'll have less need for shifting gears, whether it's to top a hill or pick up quickly in slow-moving traffic.

We're not saying style and comfort and size don't count. We wouldn't have worked out "mass-stream" styling, BuiCoil Springing and Buick's new roominess if they didn't.

But when you can get these and pace-setter performance too—hadn't you better at least drive a Buick to find out about it?

The Task Facing The G. O. P.

The Republicans in this state have little to cheer about over the results of the election. W. Warren Barbour was re-elected to the U. S. Senate by a sweeping majority but the G.O.P. is not the sole claimant to his success.

During the next few years the Republicans are faced with a mighty task. To be successful, a political organization must have harmony and it must have jobs.

Before the Republicans think seriously about winning another major state election they must iron out the strife that has hacked up the party into various sections.

The Communist Vote In Belleville

In analyzing the voting locally in the General Election there is one alarming fact which to us stood out above all of the rest. It was not the vote given to Wendell L. Willkie, President Roosevelt or any of the other Republican or Democratic candidates.

We believe that in these figures there is something for every patriotic American in this community to think about. We have been sitting in the smug security of our homes without giving much personal thought to such things as Communism, Nazism or Fascism.

When we told an acquaintance about the number of Communist votes which had been cast here, he sh-sh-ed us and rather paternally advised that we were becoming unduly excited.

To him and to anyone else who gives us that reply, our answer is that real Americans did not throw their votes away in this election. If there is one point on which the President and Mr. Willkie agreed it was that for this democracy to continue to grow and prosper, the people of this nation must be united and solidified, working for one purpose — the preservation and prosperity of America.

There has been too much sh-shing, much time spent preaching about "it can't happen here." And while we were sitting there, the Communist levers just for the sake of pulling down a lever.

So long as the Republicans persist in trying to operate a party with a divided leadership and a disintegrated organization they will be on the short end. While they are whaling the daylight out of each other in the backyard, the Democrats are further strengthening their forces.

Along with the task of rebuilding their fences, they must find men who can be groomed for the next U. S. Senatorial race and the gubernatorial battle which will come three years hence.

There are few public officeholders in this state who stand in the fortunate position that Hartley does. It is difficult to point at him and say that he is aligned with Clean Government or with some other faction.

such as Communism preaching anti-Americanism and seeking to destroy the very foundations of the system under which we live have been growing until today we find them seeping into communities such as our own.

Every American citizen has a right to vote as he pleases, you say. Isn't it astounding that any real American should support people and principles which are diametrically opposed to everything which this nation represents?

If 185 Communists actually voted in last week's election, there are undoubtedly more of them within our midst. They do not all reside in one section. They are scattered about town. So that everyone may have an idea how these votes were spread out, we present the district-by-district vote for the Communist candidates as follows:

Table with 4 columns: First Ward, Second Ward, Third Ward, Fourth Ward. Rows show vote counts for Communist candidates across different wards.

The churches, the schools, the Elks, the veterans' organizations and other groups have inaugurated programs to promote Americanism. People have asked why this was necessary. Here is the answer. To these groups and to every American citizen in this community, we say that these 185 votes, cast for a cause which is contrary to our beliefs and principles, is a factual challenge.

It is not something which you have seen or heard about in the nation or state. It is something which has happened right in your own home town. Yes, it is time for us to wake up, to be alert and to be real Americans.

Much To Be Thankful For

Oratorical Contest Winner States Duty Of Youth

Text of Speech by Blanche Wells, Senior at The High School, Which Won First Prize In The State Competition

Following is the text of the speech, "Youth in a Democracy," which Miss Blanche Wells, a senior at the high school, delivered last week in the state-wide oratorical contest of the New Jersey Forensic League and with which she won the unanimous decision of the judges for top honors:

Youth In A Democracy
"While the countries of Europe are in the midst of a great conflict and dictatorships grow in strength the question, 'Will Democracy Survive?' becomes the most vital topic in America.

Other Forms Failed
"Our ancestors created a democratic state for their own needs and protection. If we today wonder whether a democratic form of government is still the best one for us, we have but to look to Europe to see the sickening inhumanity and glaring failure of other forms of government.

"Education is essential in the preservation of democracy and with opportunities so plentiful we should grasp the chance to better ourselves and prepare for the many problems which are to face us. We must gather wisdom: learn the love of truth and loyalty to American ideals; we must encourage true freedom of speech and religion; harbor no prejudices. This way only can we avoid the tragedies of many governments where decency and self respect have been destroyed through hatred.

"Youth's undertaking the fight for the preservation of democracy is nothing new. It is and always has been a continual process for youth to grow into manhood and carry forward the work of its forefathers. The history of our country is filled with the names of men who have unselfishly dedicated themselves to that cause, and these men have ceased to be individuals but have become instead part of the very ideas for which they fought. So we have come to look upon Alexander Hamilton, not merely as a man, but as a symbol of liberty; Thomas Jefferson, not merely as a founding father, but as the man who wrote the Declaration of Independence, the embodiment of all democratic ideals.

Be Critical, Wise
"The responsibility of youth today is not merely a challenge to oppose war but above all to be critical and wise. If man can create war—and he does—so can he avoid it. Let us not give up hope, nor bow to the odds against us, for

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News. by Meador Wright

Essex politicians are like the Roman god Janus, their attention being about equally divided between the past and the future. They are looking back at the recent election while trying also a gauge events that are ahead.

Just about every Republican leader in the state—save those of Bergen County, has been nominated for this position and most of the nominations have been seconded. State Treasurer Albright has the most votes so far but many others have been given more attention than they like.

On the face of election returns Senator Barbour should be the titular leader of the party. But as many uncomplimentary glances are being cast his way as at Albright, Barbour may be above fault as regards the election but he is certainly not above suspicion.

It is recognized on all sides that he was a stronger candidate than Hendrickson. Likewise, he faced an opponent far different than Charles Edison. But even these factors do not seem to add up to 270,000 votes. The implication of deals at the expense of the Republican party generally is too strong to be dismissed as sour grapes gossip.

But the Barbour episode is a sidelight to the main issue. No one claims that Barbour deliberately tried to injure Hendrickson. At most he is accused of not trying hard enough to help him. This raises the question why Hendrickson needed help so badly, which is another way of asking why Republican leaders selected him in the first place.

Harmony Lodge No. 25, I. O. O. F., will hold a district meeting and roll call of members Monday evening in its lodge rooms in the Masonic Temple.

Registration cards of twenty-four young Belleville men have been received recently by the local Selective Service Board, bringing the total number of men registered from this town to 3,700.

Five more have volunteered to have their names placed at the head of the list and will probably be called in the first contingent to leave for camp a week from Monday. They are Joseph S. Nowakowski of 357 Washington avenue, James A. Finnegan of 93 Belmont street, Thomas J. McHenry of 34 Fairway avenue, Anthony P. Marrone of 88 Dow street and Walter W. Francis of 181 Hornblower avenue.

The names and serial numbers of the men whose cards have been returned to local draft headquarters since the previous list was published in The News two weeks ago are:

Hunting Dogs Only Exception To State Regulation

Hunting dogs, while actually in the field form the only exception to the stringent regulations placed on dogs in Belleville, Health Officer Berry announced yesterday. He quoted a recent regulation set forth by J. Lynn Mahaffey, State Director of Health.

"These restrictive measures provide that all dogs in this municipality be confined with the following exception—in the case of hunting dogs this department feels such dogs under present conditions, while working in rural areas under control of their masters, may be permitted to do so; however, with the proviso that the owner first obtain from the local health officer a permit stating that to the best knowledge of this official the dog has not been exposed to rabies.

"Any permit granted should be carried by the person in charge of the hunting dog while working. When not working under supervision the hunting dog would, of course, be subject to the same restrictions applied to other dogs."

Berry pointed out that the co-operation of all dog owners in Belleville in carrying on the restrictive measure placed in effect more than a year ago is "most desirable at this time when it appears that rabies is definitely on the decline." He said that the work of the department in picking up and destroying all unregistered dogs found running at large would continue. No cases of rabies have been reported in several months here.

COLOR IS VOGUE IN A VARIETY OF CLOTHES

Hats In Many Bright Colors Shown; Suggestions For Christmas

Football grandstands are not the only places where colors will be flaunted this season, to judge from the gay plaids and stripes of the sports coats being purchased by women of all types. A vertical striped effect seems happily to predominate since it is the most flattering to all figures. Either by contrasting weave or color it is worked out in many of the swinging, fur-collared coats and in some cases an almost invisible plaid in large blocks is also present. A plum colored woolen coat with cream-stitched vertical stripe, for instance, has a shaded blue block plaid running through it. Its tuxedo reverses are natural lynx. Slit pockets are also a feature.

Black and white mixture tweeds are accented with woven colorful stripes and some frankly blanket plaids are in evidence. Fiery red and green is no unusual combination, although most of the coats are more modified. Blue and green plaids seem to be favorites. Although tuxedo reverses are quite numerous, especially in the more expensive coats, the sailor or square collar of fox is the most usual on this type of coat. Fluffy white fox, dyed to simulate lynx, is in the lead with red fox and racoon following in popularity.

Becoming To You

Careful choice should be made since these colorful coats are most attractive but surely not becoming to the very short or stocky figure. There are many soft beige materials in distinctive weaves with smaller fur collars which are decidedly more becoming to most women. Lovely new shades of green shading from olive to chartreuse are available with creamy fox collars and for the more conservative there are herringbone tweeds in black and white or brown and beige neatly collared and cuffed in sheared beaver. These coats are fitted and belted but clever front fullness gives them all the "softness" of line which is essential to style.

It should be easy to match one of the colors in your snappy plaid sports coat to the rich colors of the lovely new sports hats in deep pile fabrics like beaver. They are high-crowned, many with brims turned sharply off the face, and all with soft little puffs of feather trimming. Sparkling shades of green, wine, brown, mustard and blue are available. Little berets, which settle on the head like a mushroom cap, flaunt long, supple feathers which rise straight into the air. These are smooth felt in any of the fall shades.

Notable examples of good taste and style in sheer woolen sports dresses continue to catch the eye. A black flannel shirtwaist dress is outstanding this week for its notched collar faced with scarlet flannel, for the front fullness of its skirt below the diagonal slit pockets and for the brilliant jeweled eagle worn on the left of its short sleeves.

You were wrong if you thought that warm nighties could not be more stylishly or beautifully made. It has been done again and the brushed rayon gowns and pajamas shown this year are more exquisite than ever. Shirring at the waistline of the gowns makes them fit trimly and gives added fullness to the long skirts. In powder blue, peach and white they feature angora trimming or embroidery. A gown with high plain neck is adorned with woolen daisies, V pockets on the skirt of another are outlined with loops of soft white wool, while a white gown has its collar and cuffs outlined with alternate blue and white woolen picots. Tight sleeve and pajama cuffs are an asset to these garments and keep them in place.

For Christmas Gifts

They are our suggestion for the Christmas gift which you might add to your quota in this week's shopping. Nice, too, and more luxurious, is the scented lingerie and nightwear shown by many stores. In a good quality of crepe the slips and gowns are shown in white, peach or cream. They are monogrammed, plain or lace trimmed and lightly scented with a spicy perfume. The scent will remain after repeated washings and will save one operation for those who are in the habit of using perfume in the last rinse when laundering their fine things.

You may have a dress starting on its second season or an inexpensive one which needs a smart touch, either of which should respond to the attractive new suede and leather belts. Deep green or wine suede made in a graceful leaf design will slenderize your waistline as well as dressing up your frock. Circles of patent will gleam brightly on almost any dress which calls for a belt. Some of the buckles are simply dainty owners of suede which intervene to form the closing. The attractive motif is sounded, too, in natural leather belts studded with shiny gold buttons on which the rhinestone eagles.

Most comfortable outfit for very cold winter days is a trim tweed suit under your casual fur coat. The suit above is flanked by practical fur coats, either of which is eminently suited for sports or daytime town wear. A taupe tweed with fitted jacket and gored skirt for becomingness to all figures makes the suit. The straight short coat on the left is a sturdy muskrat dyed in the popular brown of baum marten. To wrap you warmly for motoring is the sturdy sheared lamb coat on the right. A snug waistline is insured by the inset of cloth which ties in front.

The Woman's Desk

by PEGGY PATTERSON

An intelligent educator talking to parents about the proper cultivation of reading habits in their children brings out a point incidental to his discussion which appeals to us more strongly than his major arguments. The unbounded freedom of a child's approach to literature is the real reason why he gets spontaneous enjoyment out of it which his elders have long since had to abandon. This same natural propensity for enjoyment should be the guarantee that any normal child will become a keen reader.

He is free, first of all, from the desire to read just to "keep up" with the latest books. This is a definite damper under which is the spell of many adult readers is broken. He is free to read over and over again the stories that satisfy his longings and never has to cast aside old favorites because he must have the precious time for contemporary reading. Unstamped as yet with the earmarks of his particular generation, he can read of any era or civilization with a flexible imagination. He is not bound by prejudices; the term "old-fashioned" does not hamper him. In short, the child of today is no different from the child of past generations in his desire or ability to enjoy literature. He simply, and woefully, has not been introduced to it. The remedy, which lies solely with parents because reading for pleasure should not be associated with school duties, is quite a simple one. The child should not be bribed to read nor should he be compelled to make reading take the place of more modern occupations. Radio programs and movies have their rightful place in his program and forceful removal of them causes nothing but antagonism.

His reading period must come in addition to these and may be introduced at bedtime. You will start, of course, by reading to the young child, preferably stories of the past. Gradually with increasing interest he will be anxious to do it for himself, excitedly if you are unable to read to him on several occasions when his curiosity has been aroused by preceding chapters. And then the fascination will overtake him and, painlessly, the habit will be formed. The bit of patience required for this accomplishment will yield enormous dividends in the life of the adult you are creating.

Literature will be his only introduction into the past. The movies, radio serial stories and comic strips to which he is devoted deal almost exclusively with the future and his schoolwork gives him an intimate acquaintance with the present. Both of these, however, are viewed only in a dim light unless they are related to the past from which they have sprung. Help your child to brush away this shadow which interferes with his fullest enjoyment of life.

How often do you buy a hat while you are seated at a mirrored table? Probably nine times out of ten because by the time you are ready to undertake the task you are often fatigued to the point that you are anxious to relax. Which is no more good reason why no woman should ever choose a hat while under the stress of lack of time or while exhausted from other occupations.

The often repeated adage that a new hat is a tonic for falling spirits is not to be depended upon. For if your spirits have fallen to the degree that you cannot stand up to try on your hat it is very likely to disappoint you later on. The tendency is to concentrate on the face while seated before a mirror; but remember that in most cases when you are wearing your hat you will be walking about. The ideal test therefore is to approach a full-length mirror while trying on new headgear. This can usually be done in any shop and will guarantee you against the danger of buying a hat which throws your figure out of balance. In order to become convinced of this important step women must realize that their silhouettes when completely costumed are much more responsible for the impression created than any of their individual features. The eyes of the observer when they travel easily over an unbroken line are pleased even to the point of overlooking some flaws which may be present. But any incongruity of line will immediately cause them to pause and focus attention on that detail.

A short neck, for instance, will not make you look lumpy unless attention is called to it by extravagant ruffles, collars or scarves. An arm must not have its contour spoiled by a long sleeve, beware of the new long sleeves and be sure that they are long enough from shoulder to elbow and elbow to wrist which is very different from simply being long enough for comfort. The hips, of course, may be unduly emphasized by having skirt fullness start at the wrong point which will unfailingly ruin an entire costume.

The only sensible rule, therefore, is the rule of the eye which cannot be accomplished unless you equip yourself with a full length mirror, or one which can be tipped to answer the purpose, and train yourself never to put on any article of clothing without closely scrutinizing your entire silhouette. Be firm with yourself in discarding dresses or hats which make you in the least bit awkward; or, if you cannot sacrifice them, let them serve as a lesson and do not repeat the mistake. Emphasize your height in cultivating this taste for "silhouetting" yourself for your longest lines are your most graceful.

BEFORE YOUR EYES

By Joe Duval

Clifton Is Underrated

One of the most underrated teams in North Jersey is Clifton, which invades Clearman Field Saturday. The Passaic County boys had up such a reputation for losing during the past several years that they dropped twenty-odd straight games that many people thought it unbelievable that they can have any kind of a respectable record this year. The fact that they have won three games this year is that they held Nutley to a lower score than any of the season's opponents with the exception of Garfield and Montclair. They aren't cut and water with those who pool-pool Clifton as a sure loss on anybody's schedule.

Larry Gates, after watching the Cliftonites drop a 7-0 affair to the Paterson Central in the opener, reported back here that Clifton is a powerful machine. He felt that Belleville, as the Bellboys are known at that time, would have a hard time picking against the boys from up north. Saturday night the Kearny game he decided that he had changed his mind and that Belleville has a good chance to win.

Now, mind you, we're not saying that Clifton is any world-beater. They have taken their share of shellackings this year. But we think that Clifton is not a pickup sandlot aggregation of people would have us believe.

Larry Sidelights

The Bellboys showed again on Saturday that they have the potential strength, despite their terrible handicap of lack of weight, returning to the spotlight next week as one of the better teams of the territory. They are gradually gaining the experience necessary to pull them up to the top. Few teams have more spirit and willingness than the Bellboys.

Bud Wille's passes give us the blues. They are completely unorthodox—more of a basketball than a regular forward pass. It manages to complete most of them for substantial gains and that's what counts. That one to the Kearny game on Saturday was one of his best floaters but it ended up precisely where it was supposed to go.

Ray Yagiello is Kearny's No. 1

Ray Yagiello is Kearny's No. 1 back but his name never appears on the probable starting line-up. As supposed to be a little trick player, Coach Reholtz. Opposing coaches and teams are supposed to watch Yagiello as they see that he is not scheduled to start. He is not scheduled to start because he is on the injured list. But he always starts anyway and is expected to sweep the previously-overconfident opposition into disorder.

Aside to Kearny's future opponents: Don't put any store in the Kearny game line-up. Yagiello will be there.

The Belleville stands have never cheered so lustily as they did in a little battle with the Kearny players before the game. With the sections alternating during a fifteen minutes preceding the kickoff, the two schools ran through their entire repertoire of cheers—and did it louder than they usually do it in a game.

The victory was not what was the Bellboy minds after the game. As Larry Gates walked into a dressing room, Bill Hunkeler crossed the tops of the lockers with a "Hey, Mr. Gates, can you go hunting Monday?" The locker room was in deadly silence while Larry debated the question of not holding practice. When he said "Okay" the place went wild.

Tony Zuzzio went around the locker room after the final whistle, unrolling out oranges. Things went smoothly until he got around the "hot corner"—the southeast section of the room. Then he was suddenly snatched under by a number of Bellboys in various stages of undress. He finally managed to get himself up off the floor, laughing but minus the oranges.

Something Phooey

There was something definitely fishy about the agitation in the Kearny Basketball League this year. The loop was going nicely along minding its own business and planned to use the same number of teams as last year. Then suddenly came demands and pressures for six extra teams. Faced with a difficult situation, Lister decided to have two sections, hold the regular league games in the high school and let the newcomers have their own little league using the Friendly House court. There was to be a cutoff at the end of the year. Without warning two of the new arrivals dropped out of the picture—did not even attempt to form teams. The worst part of it is that they did not even bother to inform Lister of their disaffection. Now he is stuck with a four-team league on his hands and that hardly makes the effort worth while particularly when he had gone to so much trouble to make arrangements for teams which, it now appears, never intended to enter the league anyway.

Cortland Street Resident Victim of Old Gag

Michael Quinn, sixty-four, of 48 Cortland street showed sympathy for simulated illness Monday afternoon and is now sorry to the extent of $15. He was the victim of an old gag which police say has cropped up all over the county in recent months.

Quinn was called from his home to the street where a man and a woman were seated in a car. The man of a severe illness and gestured a great deal with his hands, which Quinn, in fact, touched the leg man several times. After they drove off Quinn discovered that a watch pocket had been picked was minus $15.

ZEBRAS OUTSCORE KEARNY 20-13 FOR FIRST WIN

McDermott Stars For Blue And Gold; Aerials Count In Triumph

Playing with greatest amount of zip and alertness which they have displayed all season, the high school gridders gave the home folks something to cheer about Saturday when they dumped Kearny 20-13 at Clearman Field. Standing out in the victory for the Blue and Gold were Russ McDermott, Johnny Joehner, Vito DeFranza, Danny Del Tufo, Herky Heimrich and Ted Metz.

To McDermott went the lion's share of glory. He caught two touchdown passes as well as several others and blocked the Kearny extra-point placement which would have tied the game at 14-14 while his punts kept the Kardinals off balance.

nals back on their heels most of the time.

Belleville scored first after a McDermott punt had set Kearny back on its five-yard marker. Yagiello, the huge No. 1 back of the visitors, dropped into his own end to punt, but the whole forward wall of the Bellboys swarmed in on him. Danny Del Tufo blocked the ball, which rolled out of the end zone for an automatic safety.

Kearny Goes Over

A moment later a Belleville march was halted when Bob Rubino's fumble was recovered on the Belleville 31. Kearny started to move but was stopped on the 26. McDermott punted but a fifteen-yard clipping penalty against the hometowners put the ball on the nineteen from where the visitors took it over in three plays.

Blue and Gold aerials changed the picture in the second period as the locals came from a 7-2 deficit to an 8-7 lead and later to a 14-7 advantage. McDermott caught both his touchdown passes in this second quarter. The first was thrown by Bill Hunkeler from the seven after a seventy-five-yard drive down the field in ten running and three passing plays.

Will Outweigh Locals

As has been the case in most of the games this season, the Bellboys will be outweighed on both the line and in the backfield. The Maroon and Gray are comparable in size to Hillside. They have two big, burly backs in Lennon and Sanicki, both veterans from last year. Sanicki is the more spectacular of the two and is a hard runner. He excels on end-steering and off-tackle thrusts. Starting with this pair in the rear flank will be Demchak and Pavlick. All of these boys saw action against the Bellboys last year. The probable starting lineup will have George Sussel and Anderson at the wing positions, Pellak and Harold Sussel in the tackle spots and Pedratti and Gilewicz guarding Porter at center.

The victory over Kearny on Saturday gave the Bellboys the shot in the arm which they hope will carry them on to victory in their next two clashes. While Kearny is no gridiron power, the triumph was sweet music to a gang of youngsters who had gone without a win in five games. From the injured quarters comes the report that Bill Hunkeler will probably see more action on Saturday while Joe Becker is expected to be ready for service as a wing back. Harry Leiss is the only one who is still on the doubtful list.

The Blue and Gold is also looking ahead to its Thanksgiving Day get-together with Newark South Side. Bill Thornton's club has had a better than average season, bowing to Nutley 33-9 and to West Side on Armistice Day 9-0.

Nereids Vote Honorary Membership To Two

F. A. Weiznegger of Newark and William F. Essling of Maplewood were voted honorary memberships Thursday at the meeting of the Nereid Boat Club. The honor, which is used sparingly, was awarded "in recognition of the interest and assistance which these men have given the club over a period of years."

Essling's connection with Nereid dates back more than five years during which he has shown his interest time and again. Last year he gave the club its new banner. He is president of the National Insignia Company of New York and vice-president of the New Jersey A. A. U.

Weiznegger was the champion single sculler of the Passaic River Rowing Association when he became interested in Nereid. At that time (1898-99) the association was the leading rowing group in the country. Weiznegger voluntarily served as coach without pay to the Nereid crews and tutored Schuyler (Cap) Webster and Roger W. Brett to the doubles championship of the river, the first open title the club had ever won.

The elections brings the total number of honorary members of the club to twelve.

Rejuvenated Mustangs Clash With Locals Here On Saturday

Clifton Boys After Winless Seasons Find Themselves; May Give Blue and Gold Trouble

The Blue and Gold eleven spurred on by the 20-13 triumph over Kearny last week takes on what may prove to be a tartar on Saturday afternoon when the Maroon and Gray gridders of Clifton High will trek into Clearman Field. The plight of Clifton up until several weeks ago was one of the sorriest in Northern Jersey scholastic circles. Coach Al Lesko's charges had not won a game since early in 1937 and had been beaten twenty-three times. The ice was finally broken against Lyndhurst High whom the Mustangs scored 25-0. Since then they have secured triumphs over East Rutherford and Ramsey.

JAYVEES BOUNCE KEARNY 12-6

Long Runs Feature Armistice Day Clash Between Second Squads

Belleville High again shocked the forces of Kearny Monday as the second team trounced the Kardinals on Clearman Field 12-6 before an Armistice Day crowd. The jayvees opened up in the first quarter, marching sixty-four yards to a touchdown. After two brilliant end runs by John Frunzi and Bud Wille the ball was carried over from the two by Fred Thalheimer. The Bellboys failed to convert a pass for the extra point.

Larry Gates' pet play again clicked and was executed so well that it resulted in a score. The forward pass, which Wille, who was caught by Shaughnessy who in turn lateralled to Frank Kriz who raced the remaining forty yards for the tally. Again the jayvees failed to convert, this time trying to place kick the ball. A blocked kick was the cause of Kearny's only tally, this being done by Norris.

Outstanding work for the Bellboys was shown by John Mueller and Red Smith by getting tackles continuously. A promising youngster was watched by Jim Findlay, who time and again made large gains for Belleville.

Between the halves the sophomores teams of the two schools had a short scrimmage with Belleville coming out on top 7-0.

We sincerely try to give dollar for dollar value, for we realize only too well how pitifully dependent is the family whom circumstances have obliged to come to us. Our keen sense of responsibility forces us to conscientiously price our service within the amount which our client desires to pay. It is not to our credit to oversell or influence in any way, an individual who comes to us.
