

BETTER RESPONSE TO CHEST DRIVE THIS YEAR

Expect Total Will Reach 88.8 Per Cent of Goal; Group Is Named To Nominate

If all the pledges and promises of contributions, materialize, the 1940 Community Chest will have realized 88.8 per cent of its goal of $17,000, according to figures released Tuesday night by W. Douglas Clark, Jr., president of the Welfare Federation, and Frank Chambers, campaign manager. The figure as of Tuesday night stood at $15,110.72, of which $14,598.72 were in pledges and cash receipts and $512 in reported anticipations or "verbal promises."

The 1939 Chest appeal brought an eighty-four per cent response to its request for $16,000, or a total collection of $13,482. Clark also pointed out that the expenses of $230.57 were the lowest ever incurred by any Chest drive. They formed only 1.5 per cent of the total amount collected and were spent in printing, advertising, delivery service, construction of the thermometer at Town Hall and hiring of a loud speaking system. The Chest had originally set $500 aside for expenses.

Frank J. McFadden, Everett B. Smith, Hugh D. Kittle, Alva A. Buckley and Mrs. Frank Ackerman were appointed to the nominating committee Tuesday night. They will report their selections for new officers at the January meeting of the federation.

Hospital Wants To Join

Columbus Hospital of Newark has applied for inclusion in the Community Chest locally. A committee consisting of Mrs. William E. Adams, Dr. Benjamin Jacobson and Dr. George Kaden was appointed to investigate the request and report at the January meeting.

Clark explained at the meeting why "the amount raised in the special gifts division seemed so low this year in comparison to preceding years. The change was due to a different classification of the contributions," he said. "The amounts reported in previous years and classified as industrial and special gifts were divided this year into three different divisions — industrial, special and out-of-town divisions."

Clark was chairman of these divisions and succeeded in raising $9,281.12 against $7,784 for last year. He was assisted by Smith, Buckley, Floyd Bragg, Edward Gierls, Philip Dettelbach and Charles Gebhardt.

Hickok Group Leads

The report of John S. Charlton, chairman of the house-to-house division which raised $2,648.55, showed that the district headed by Halley F. Hickok topped the list with other districts with $419.45. The teams led by Mrs. John Massarano, Harold Ross and Mrs. Ackerman finished in that order at the top.

The other division chairman were Mrs. Adams, churches; George Weston, clubs; Frank Banerter, lodges; George Newman, professional; Lester E. McCorkle, commercial, postoffice and isolation hospital employees; Mayor William H. Williams, town employees; Wayne R. Egan, school teachers, employees and pupils; Charles Thompson, Parent-Teacher associations. The final division reports showed:

Industrial	$6,840.55
House-to-house	2,648.55
Special gifts	1,216.00
School teachers	1,098.90
Out-of-town	878.17
Commercial	319.00

Coal Man Pays $25 On Underweight Charge

Failure to put a full partition in his truck between two orders of coal cost Marino Yacavone, twenty-two, of 463 North Twelfth street, Newark, $25 Monday morning. Yacavone, a driver for the Forest Hill Coal Company, pleaded guilty before Recorder Smith to a charge of underweight measure in a local delivery.

Anthony Petrillo, forty-four, of 902 North Sixth street, Newark, was fined $25 for the same offense when he was dropped by Charles R. Smith, assistant superintendent of weights and measures of Essex County. Petrillo was charged at first with permitting the underweight load to be given a correct certificate.

The explanation offered by the attorney for the company and accepted by Judge Smith was that Yacavone was carrying two tons of coal in his truck on November 18. The loads weighed the full four tons when it left the coalyard but Yacavone neglected to place the extra partition in the center.

Consequently the first order delivered was 925 pounds overweight as the coal overflowed. That made the second order 925 pounds less than the two tons. Yacavone said he had been driving for the company only a few weeks and blamed his predicament on inexperience.

Soloist and Conductor

Arthur E. Jacobus

Lura Stover

Joint Concert Monday Night By Belleville-Nutley Singers

Miss Lura Stover, Operatic Soprano, Will Be Soloist At First Joint Program To Be Held At High School; Arthur Jacobus Will Conduct

One of the outstanding events of the local musical season will take place Monday night when the glee clubs of Belleville and Nutley combine their talents to present the first joint concert in their history. Both clubs have given many performances in the years of their existence but this will be the first time that they have ever attempted a recital of this magnitude. The combination of the two organizations will bring the number of men participating in the all-male chorus to seventy-five. They will be under the baton of Arthur E. Jacobus of East Orange, regular director of the Belleville club. Lura Stover, leading soprano of the American League for Opera, will be the guest soloist. Miss Ruth Dautel will be the accompanist.

Miss Stover will favor Richard Strauss and Winter Wats in her selection of the program. Two compositions by each are on her list. She will also sing the incidental solos in "The Shepherd's Story" and "O Holy Night."

The first half of the glee clubs' program will place the accent on fun and jollity — "Hold Turpin," "Laughing" and "Now 'Tis Time to Go" being the outstanding examples. The climax of the first section, however, will be reached in its last selection, the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's oratorio "The Messiah." This masterpiece will receive slightly unusual treatment from Jacobus.

To Sing Christmas Numbers

The second half of the evening will be devoted to Christmas numbers. Many of these are unusual and seldom heard and several of them will be the greatest favorites of this and previous generations. The Belleville club has never presented "O Holy Night" without having to repeat it by demand of the audience. The listeners will join the clubs in the last stanza of "O Come, All Ye Faithful," according to a tradition which is as old as the clubs. The officers of the Belleville Glee Club are Mark Main, president; Paul H. Dove, vice-president; Harry F. C. Howard, treasurer; James McCall, corresponding secretary; John Gleim, recording secretary; Robert De Groat, librarian, and Louis H. Duell, assistant librarian.

The Nutley Glee Club has as its officers Ernest Pulsford, president; R. C. Schmidt, vice-president; David Jackman, secretary; Donald E. McClintock, treasurer, and Charles Hammond, librarian.

ABC HEAD BACKS BOARD'S REFUSAL OF LICENSE

Garrett Turns Down Appeal of Capitol Liquor Stores Co., No Need Shown

The appeal of the Capitol Liquor Stores Company against the refusal of the Excise Board of the town to grant it a license for premises at 300 Washington avenue was dismissed in a decision handed down Monday by Edward W. Garrett, acting commissioner of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control.

The appeal was made on the grounds that there is not now an ordinance limiting the number of package stores in Belleville and that "the denial of the application has deprived the appellant of the equal benefit of the laws."

Garrett said the appellant, the liquor store and Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan the town.

"The theory of the appellant's appeal is apparently that, in the absence of any such quota (limiting the number of stores), the respondent must of necessity grant an application therefor," said Garrett's decision.

No Evidence of Need

"Such, however, is not the case. It has heretofore been held repeatedly that a local issuing authority may validly refuse to issue a liquor license if, at the time, sufficient liquor places are already outstanding in the municipality, even though there is no formal regulation limiting the number of such licenses."

Garrett held that the "appellant, upon whom rests the burden of proof, offered no evidence that the seven distribution licenses now outstanding in the municipality were not sufficient to satisfy public convenience and necessity."

"On the other hand," he continued, "a map of the municipality presented by the appellant indicates that four of the seven distribution licenses, and nine consumption licenses, are located in the same section, comprising approximately ten blocks along Washington avenue, in which appellant seeks to locate."

Answering McBride's complaint that the store's owners had been deprived of their rights, Garrett cited a previous decision in another case in which Justice Parker held that a liquor license is a privilege, not a right.

"The prosecutor argues apparently that a liquor license is to be obtained and is obtainable on the same theory as a license to carry on, say a grocery business, commandable by any respectable citizen on payment of the prescribed fee," said Justice Parker. "The sale of intoxicating liquor is in a class by itself."

Supports Board Action

"I am satisfied," concluded Garrett, "that respondent did not abuse its discretion in refusing to grant appellant's application for a planetary retail distribution license at the premises in question. Its action is, therefore, affirmed."

The application was turned down by the Excise Board at its September 24 meeting, several weeks after it had passed an ordinance removing all restrictions on the number of package stores, which had previously been placed by law at five. The bid of Samuel Gordon of Kearny for a permit for 76 Washington avenue was also rejected the same night. Gordon did not appeal.

Swimming Group Reorganized As The Dolphin Club

What began three years ago as the Roosevelt avenue swimming team at School No. 9 has been re-organized into the Dolphin Club, Thomas Gryczka, principal of the school, announced yesterday. The club is composed of boys from the fifth-grade upwards who can swim or wish to learn how at the Passaic YMCA.

Edward Luhrs was elected head of the club with the title of Lord Neptune. Officers whom he ranks are named after fish. The boys' department of the Passaic Y renders assistance and advice to the club. Gryczka is the group leader and Wilho Winkla is the swimming instructor. Isabel Abbott, a teacher at No. 9, who is an excellent swimmer, was made an honorary member.

The Dolphins visit the Y once a month in two groups. There they have full use of the gymnasium, showers, pool and recreation rooms. They have thirty-five members and meet once a month during school hours.

Christmas Seal Receipts On Par With Last Year

Receipts from the sale of Christmas seals are running approximately on a par with last year, according to an announcement made last night by Health Officer Eugene T. Berry, president of the Belleville-Nutley Tuberculosis Association and chairman of the local drive.

A total of $28.50 has been returned to date as compared to $27.65 up to December 6 last year. This year's drive is slightly ahead of 1938. Daily receipts for the past week since the seals went on sale Thursday were:

Friday	$ 1.00
Saturday	93.00
Sunday	128.25
Tuesday	194.50

'42 Commission Race Opens, But It's Off The Record,

Elmer S. Hyde Association Organized To Promote "Civic Endeavors;" Steal A Page Out Of Commissioner Noll's Campaign Book

The 1942 Town Commission campaign has been officially baptized, launched, christened, or whatever else you want to call it. It's all quite sh-sh, off the record and all that sort of stuff. Nobody knows anything about it — not even the perpetrators themselves. That is nobody — except every backyard gossip between the Riviera Park Skating Rink and the Second River brook.

If you see a couple of fellows with their goggles together over a headless glass of beer at some bar you can be sure that it's the election. If there are three or four hunched over "coffee and" in a lunchwagon, give 8 to 5 and take twelve points that it's not about the bookie's afternoon favorite in the horse racing, dope sheets, but the election.

No, it's not a political gossip for the week is the organization of the Elmer S. Hyde Association. Of course, Mr. Hyde was quite amazed when informed that such an organization was even in existence. A candidate for the Commission in 1942? Well, he hadn't given it a thought. Naturally, he's gratified and all that.

sort of stuff by the action of his friends, but the part about being a candidate, well, that's another story. Naturally, Mr. Hyde has no statement to make at this time.

HOLIDAY BUREAU IS ORGANIZED

Clearing House For Christmas Giving Seeks To Avoid Duplications

Walter Warrick, president of the Community Service Bureau, announced yesterday in a letter to practically every organization in town that the Holiday Bureau has been reorganized for the duration of the Christmas season.

The purpose of the bureau is to give to organizations desirous of doing Christmas charity the benefit of the CSB knowledge and to avoid duplications of gifts.

The Holiday Bureau is a clearing service which checks the names on any group's list of recipients of Christmas favors against the names of all other lists submitted. Thus it "avoids duplication, encourages wider distribution, helps to diversify gifts, discovers the repeaters who try to get on more than one list."

It also prevents "Christmas day disappointments." Little Mary won't find all her gifts are mittens; or the Jones family won't get a number of baskets when they need coal; there will be fewer "forgotten" families; and children who need shoes will get them as well as toys.

The service is confidential. Warrick pointed out. No records are kept and lists are destroyed after Christmas. The service is free to individuals and groups who give to people in need. Fraudulent appeals are detected before the gifts are distributed. The letter which was mailed to organizations over Warrick's signature read in part as follows:

"It's Christmas again and as a community we'll celebrate it as we always have done — by sharing in spirit and substance with the sick and the needy. As individuals or organized groups we want to do our community giving wisely — with intelligence as well as kindness."

"If you were in need — really in need — worrying how to keep the family fed and clothed and warm, what would you like to get for Christmas?"

"Extra food always is welcome. Coal in the cellar is a comfort. But wouldn't you rather buy your own food or your own coal or your own children's toys and have the satisfaction of paying for them out of your own pocket?"

More like the head of a family. And if you had been counting pennies all year long, wouldn't it be wonderful to have a few extra dollars for Christmas."

"In planning Christmas giving, put yourself in the other fellow's shoes. Remember that a gift of money enables a needy family to plan its own Christmas . . . and that's the best kind of Christmas. If you give through a social agency you can be sure your gift will go to families whose need is known and who will use your gift to real advantage."

Griffin-Gara

The marriage of Miss Kathleen Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Gara of East Orange and Peter C. Griffin, son of William H. Griffin of 117 Union avenue, took place with a nuptial mass in Holy Name Church, East Orange, Saturday. A reception followed at the Hotel Suburban.

The bride is an alumna of East Orange High School and the Mountaineer Hospital School of Nursing. Mr. Griffin graduated from the high school in 1934. They left immediately after the ceremony for a trip in the south and upon their return will take up residence in Greylock parkway.

Sings Dec. 16

John W. Meade, Jr.

MEADE IS SOLOIST FOR FESTIVAL

Young Baritone Will Sing At Annual Event On December 16

John William Meade, Jr., of 124 Bell street will be the soloist at the second annual Community Christmas Festival, Mrs. Lloyd C. Nunn, chairman of the committee on arrangements, announced Tuesday night. The concert, which is a town-wide project for which there is no admission charge, will take place December 16 in the auditorium of the high school.

The selection of Meade as the soloist gives the concert a complete local flavor. The young baritone has lived here with his parents nearly all his life and graduated from the high school in 1939. He has chosen "O Holy Night" and "Just for Today" as his section of the program and will also sing the incidental solos in "The Birthday of a King."

Meade has built up an enviable reputation with the Essex Opera Company, the New York Opera Company and the Chicago Opera. At the present time he is considering several radio offers. He was last heard in town last Spring at the concert of the Woman's Club Chorus.

A chorus of more than 200 voices is expected to sing the major portion of the program, all of which is devoted to Christmas carols and songs. Miss Mary Elizabeth Compton will direct and Peter J. Edwardsen will be the accompanist.

He listed as the most common mistakes in the questionnaires: filling them out in pencil, failure to sign them and failure to answer all the questions completely.

Two additional registrations received this week by the draft board brings Belleville's total to 3,705. The new names are Leo Leslie Murren of 25 Division avenue, and Joseph John Evangelista of 425 Washington avenue. Murren is now in Pedro Miguel, Canal Zone, and has been given order number 1875-A. Evangelista has order number 289-A.

MURPHY BENEFIT FEBRUARY 11

Commissioner Noll Heads Committee Planning Concert For Disabled Fireman

Commissioner Noll was named general chairman of the benefit concert for the family of James C. Murphy of 49 DeWitt avenue, disabled town fireman, at a meeting held in the Recreation House Monday night. Heading the list of artists who will appear on the program is Matthew T. Ryan of 351 Jorammon street, concert singer. The event will take place February 11.

"James Murphy has been employed as a fireman for a number of years," Noll stated at the meeting, "and has always been faithful to his position. During the past few months he has been stricken with a serious illness and at the present time is on the disabled list and is supporting his wife and eleven children on half salary."

Ryan will have full charge of the program and has promised to secure the services of several leading artists of the New York concert stage. Luther E. Van Noy was named treasurer; Ernest E. Alden, assistant treasurer; and Charles B. Tedesco, secretary.

Committee chairmen include Gilbert E. Howley and William Chapman, tickets; Noll, advertisements; Robert P. Smith, organizations; Edward J. Abromson, professional and business men; and Joseph C. Duval, publicity.

Historic Old Daly Home Destroyed By Fire

The old Daly home at 536 Mill street was gutted and destroyed by fire last week. The house was built in 1856 by the late Peter J. Daly for his bride. In it all the Daly children, including the late Town Clerk John J. Daly, and several grandchildren, were born.

Peter Daly was foreman at the now defunct Belleville Copper Rolling Mills, which were razed last year to make way for the new plant of the Andrew Jergens Company. The house was on the estate of the Hendricks family, which owned the mills. More recently the house was occupied by Frank Bishop who was also employed at the mill.

To Plan Christmas Party

In addition to the regular business of the organization plans for a Christmas party will be discussed at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Good American Council, Number 102, Daughters of America. Hostesses for the meeting, which will be held at Veterans' hall at 8:15, will be Mrs. R. J. Fredericks, Mrs. Anna Lanza and Mrs. Marie Vaughn.

THREE VOLUNTEERS WERE REJECTED FOR ARMY DUTY

Bernie Barnett Among Them; May Call 1,500 To Fill Quota Of 220 By June

Next Thursday has been set for Belleville to fill the gap left by the rejection of three conscripts at the induction station in the Sussex Armory, Newark, on Friday, according to Edward Reed, chief clerk of the local Selective Service Board.

The board was at first ordered to send the three top alternates before next Thursday but Reed said yesterday that the local initial quota has been lowered from eleven to nine and only Frederick J. Vogel of 22 William street will leave next week. The adjustment will be made up in future consignments to Fort Dix, probably in the January and February contingents.

Turned down at the Newark armory because of "insufficient dentition" were Bernard J. Barnett of 11 Minker place, Carmen Ceringione of 13 Brook street and James A. Finnegan of 93 Belmore street. All were volunteers and will be placed in class 1-B.

Reed said yesterday that he "would not be at all surprised" if the service board had to go through 1,500 names to get the quota of 220 which Belleville must furnish before June 30, 1941. He said that of the 400 questionnaires already returned, less than 100 had been placed in class 1-A. "And of these we expect that fully fifty percent will be rejected by the medical board."

Questionnaires Not Complete

Reed made another plea to men filling out questionnaires to consult with the Draft Advisory Committee. "Of every fifty questionnaires returned to us," he declared, "not more than two or three are completely and correctly filled out. A very small percentage of the men bother to consult the advisory committee at all."

The result is that these men all have to make special trips to the board headquarters in Town Hall, oftentimes missing a day of work to do so. Reed said that there were men in town who were still coming in to get their serial numbers.

He listed as the most common mistakes in the questionnaires: filling them out in pencil, failure to sign them and failure to answer all the questions completely.

Two additional registrations received this week by the draft board brings Belleville's total to 3,705. The new names are Leo Leslie Murren of 25 Division avenue, and Joseph John Evangelista of 425 Washington avenue. Murren is now in Pedro Miguel, Canal Zone, and has been given order number 1875-A. Evangelista has order number 289-A.

ALUMNI OFFERS ESCORT BUREAU

Will Help Girls and Fellows To Get Dates For Dance December 27

The escort bureau idea has finally hit Belleville. The committee on arrangements for the supper-dance of the High School Alumni Association started it yesterday to aid those who might find themselves in distress getting a partner for the affair, which will be held at the Merdowbrook in Cedar Grove December 27. Bobby Byrnes orchestra will play for dancing at the first big party sponsored by the association since its formation last Spring.

"If you find yourself without a date, and you need help securing one," Bernard Ings, publicity chairman explained, "you simply call our escort bureau and they will fix you up for the dance. The boys should get in touch with Harvey Nielsen of 20 Beach street and the girls should contact Miss Anne Donovan of 98 Liberty avenue."

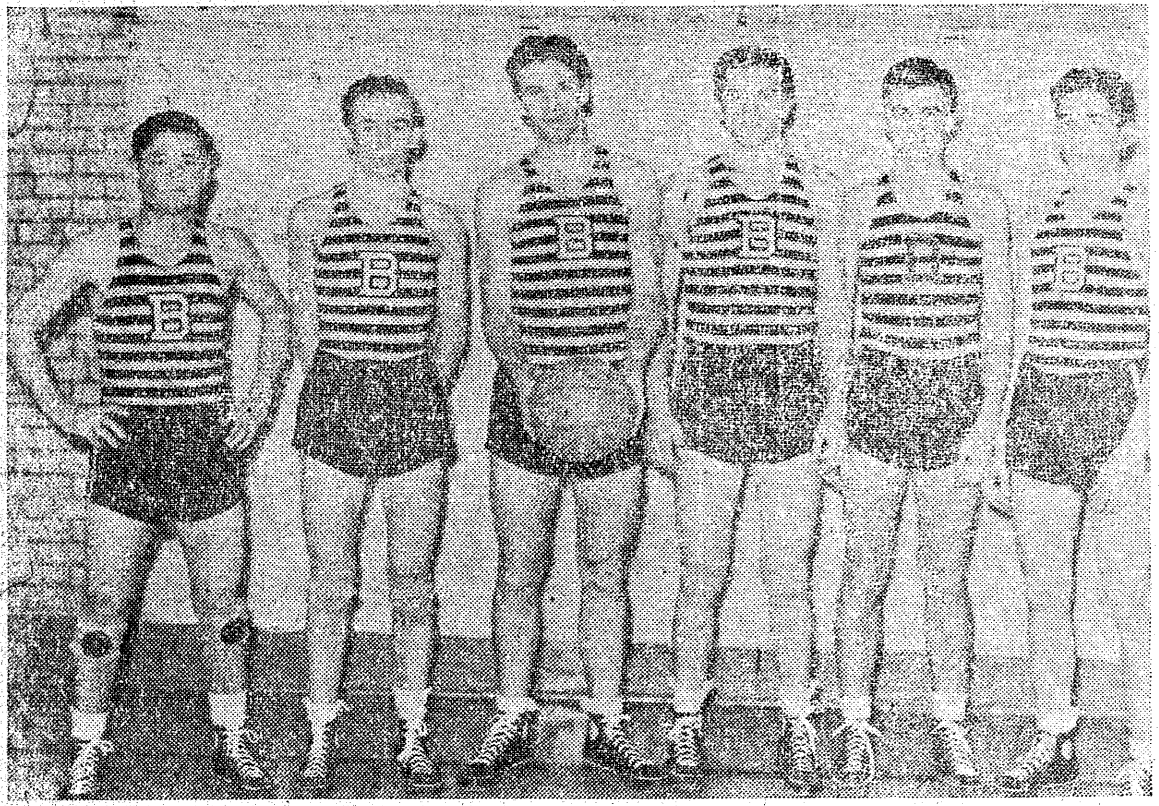

The committee, under the chairmanship of Nielsen, is arranging tables according to classes dating back to 1893. Reservations can be made only in advance. Nielsen said the advance sale of bids was heavy and that he expected a large crowd to attend. The ticket committee includes:

James Finney, Marjorie Breen, Genevieve Holland, Patricia Ehl, Anna Donovan, Denis Prophet, Jane Hill, Alice Simon, James Wood, James Tully, Harry Bender, Randolph Holden, Bernard Ings and Nielsen of Belleville.

Glamour Beauty Studio Moves To New Quarters

The Glamour Beauty Studio, operated by Colette & Daniel, has moved to newer and larger quarters at 323 1/2 Union avenue and is now open for business. It was formerly located at 307 Union avenue. The beauty studio has been operating in town for over four years.

First String Bellboy Basketeers

These are the Bellboys who will carry the Blue and Gold into the opening tussle of the basketball season tomorrow night, against the Bulldogs of Emerson High. On the left is Johnny Calicchio, smallest man on the squad and the new captain of the Zebras. The others are Jackie Malcolm, who with Calicchio will start in the forward position; Jack O'Grady, veteran center; Russ McDermott, Jim Joiner and John Higgins, all guards. Russ is a veteran, the other two, both newcomers to the varsity, will both have chances at the other guard post. Coach Al McBride is looking forward to a bright season with four veterans from last year's varsity and the entire junior varsity squad back. Ready and waiting as subs will be Bill Austin, Howard Wilson, Roger Volpe, Billy Radomski, Jim Shanahan and Joe Higgins. The Bellboys have their fingers crossed against opening the season with nine straight losses as they did last year.

New Home For Oldsmobiles

This building at 73 Washington avenue now houses the showroom and service department of the Belleville Motors, local Oldsmobile dealers. The company, which is headed by Joseph White, moved to the new quarters on Saturday. Shown in front of the showroom are three of the new 1941 Oldsmobile models which are on display there. This month, the local dealer is holding "open house."

Police Chief Gives Autoists Tips On Winter Driving

Cites Recommendations of National Safety Council Based on Surveys; Most Accidents Occur In December, The Statistics Indicate

With the arrival of cold weather this week, Police Chief George Spatz issued a warning to motorists and urged them to take preventive measures which may save them or others from possible injury or loss of life. December, the chief pointed out, is annually the high month for accidents. A survey by the National Safety Council shows, according to Spatz, that there is an increase of accidents and deaths in northern states of about forty per cent over the summer months, while southern state increases vary from three to twenty-one per cent depending upon the location and severity of the weather.

"The Safety Council's committee on winter driving hazards, composed of leading authorities in all branches of automotive and highway safety engineering, has now completed exhaustive research and tests of all factors," declared Chief Spatz. "Skidding and inadequate traction were proven the most serious winter hazard. Stopping distances on ice without tire chains or sand are from five to ten times longer than on dry pavement — and on packed snow three to five times longer.

"Reduced visibility," he said, "was shown as the second most important winter danger because of longer hours of darkness, snow and fog. While authorities will do everything possible to keep streets and highways open, there is need for reasonable cooperation and self-help on the part of motorists during storms, and as long as conditions are dangerous afterward."

Spatz recommended study of the following safe winter driving tips based on the new research of the National Safety Council:

Check brakes. Unequalized brakes start skids. Keep tire chains, windshield wipers, defrosters, lights and other vital winter equipment in good condition and use when needed. Speeds on ice should not be excessive even when sand or tire chains are used. Chains provide a needed safety factor on snow and ice and are as important for traction as a windshield wiper is for vision.

Lowering tire pressure is not recommended. This common practice does not increase traction enough and any slight gain is more than offset by decreased resistance to side skids. It also damages tires. Non-skid tread tires are very helpful on dry and wet pavements and to a limited degree on soft fresh snow. On ice or packed snow, however, good tread gives no more anti-skid protection than smooth tires.

The use of tire chains is the most practical means of self-help for increasing traction on snowy and icy roads. On new wheels alone they provide necessary forward traction and decrease braking distance by forty per cent. Chains on all four wheels further decrease braking distance thirty per cent as compared with chains on rear wheels only.

Actual braking distance on snow and ice vary. Average distances at twenty miles per hour follow: dry pavement, twenty-one feet; wet pavement, twenty-six feet; packed snow, good tires, sixty-nine feet; chains on rear wheels, forty feet; chains on all wheels, twenty-eight feet; glare ice, good tires, 168 feet; chains rear wheels, eighty-eight feet; chains all wheels, sixty-three feet. It is well to remember that stopping distances are twenty-two feet more than all of the above braking distance figures because it takes the average motorist three-quarters of a second to react and apply the brakes after seeing a reason to stop. At twenty miles per hour travel is twenty-nine feet per second or twenty-two feet in three-quarters of a second.

Maintain clear vision through windshield and windows and be sure your lights are adequate. You must see a hazard to avoid it. In older cars fresh air should be circulated by opening the cowl ventilator slightly rather than side windows which tend to suck exhaust gases through the floor boards.

On wet and even dry pavement, always anticipate ice on bridges, in shaded spots, around curves and over hills and when thawing temperatures are dropping.

Start on ice by releasing the clutch slowly, with engine idling and the car in second gear, and accelerate cautiously to avoid spinning the rear wheels. Without chains on an icy road, it is unsafe to overtake and pass vehicles in urban areas and hazardous in rural areas unless the road ahead is clear for at least

Second River Social Club Dance February 8

The Second River Social Club, an organization of Public Service bus drivers, has announced that it will hold its first annual dance next February 8 at the Elks Club in Washington avenue. Harold Nestell of 154 Union avenue is the general chairman.

Lester Smith is the vice-chairman; James Gardner, financial secretary; Robert Wintheman, recording secretary; and Andrew Pecora, treasurer. Members of the advisory committee are: Robert Edgerton, William Weidman, Joseph Huber, Albert Powers, Frank Monaghan, Fred Amberg, William Schneider, John Smith, Anthony Paul, John Liddy, George Tarrantino, John McCallum, Fred Welsh, John Dean, Ralph Guarino, John Houghton, Robert Weischedel, Frank Parrish, William Barricale and William Ulrich.

WHERE IS POST OFFICE GOING?

Procurement Division To Have Charge Of Selecting Site Of New Building

The most frequent topic of conversation following the announcement in The News last week that a new Post Office Building would be erected here was where the structure would be located. Even before Congress has appropriated the funds to be used for the purchase of property, the wisecracks are second guessing as to the most likely choice. Almost all are agreed that it will be somewhere along Washington avenue.

After Congress has allocated the money, the first step by the Post Office Department will be to advertise for bids for the ground. Property owners interested in selling land will submit their prices and descriptions of the property to the Department. The Procurement Division of the Treasury Department which will have charge of the land purchase and the issuance of contracts for the construction of the building will then send a representative here to investigate each bid.

Rare Diamond Necklace On View At Busch & Sons, Newark Jewelers

This beautiful diamond necklace, which George J. Busch, Jr., president of Busch & Sons, Newark, outbid all others for at the recent sales of treasures of the late Mrs. Harbert Shipman in Manhattan, is of platinum mounting, set with 76 round-cut diamonds, from which are suspended 38 graduated platinum pendants, each set with large and small diamonds. The total number of diamonds in the pendants approximate 256, with the weight of the diamonds placed at 70 carats. The necklace, one of the most beautiful in the world, is being shown at the Board and William street store as a feature of the firm's 40th anniversary.—Adv.

ACTIVITIES LISTED BY LEGION MEN

Post Will Sponsor Oratorical Contest; Announce Dinner For Past Commander

A number of activities currently planned by the Belleville Post No. 105, American Legion, were dis-cussed Monday night at the post's semi-monthly meeting. Further purchase of cod liver oil were au-thorized for distribution to the children of Belleville, continuing the Legion's undertaking begun last year.

Richard D. Shannon reported plans well under way for an ora-torical contest to be held at the high school. He said that a de-tailed announcement would be made in the near future.

The annual dinner in honor of the newest past commander will be held some time in January. In-terest in the event is already ac-tive, according to A. A. Hartley, and many are looking forward to an opportunity to fetre Past Com-mander William I. Labauch.

Vice Commander Edward P. Cantwell is chairman of the com-mittee on arrangements for one of the post's famous socials, to be held in late January or early February.

"Our Christmas plans are un-der way," Thomas W. Fleming reported "and the resources of the Legion post will be utilized to the utmost to spread holiday cheer."

Summerfield Is Representative For War Relief Benefit

Sidney C. Summerfield of 365 Little street has been appointed local ticket agent for the Brit-ish War Relief benefit which will be held December 14 in the Columbia High School auditorium, South Orange.

Organization of Defense Council

Mayor Williams has announced plans for the formation of a local Defense Council. This is in line with plans being carried out in other municipalities throughout the state under the direct supervision of the State Defense Council. Some are inclined to scoff at this, inquiring why it should be necessary to organize a Defense Council. What are they going to do — build air raid shelters, man anti-aircraft guns or organize an army? Fortunately, none of these is correct. The State Defense Council is a subordinate of the National Defense Council and the local groups are tagged on at the end.

It is the primary purpose of this effort — not only in New Jersey — to so organize each municipality that if and when this nation is called upon in an emergency, the entire country, down to the smallest hamlet, will be prepared. It is not propaganda. It is not a "scare" effort or a program which will permit any individual to set himself up as a public idol or benefactor.

The purposes of each council and the work that they should perform is clearly outlined in the published program prepared by the State Defense Council and approved by Governor Moore. Little publicity will be given to the work for it is of the nature that does not call for its activities to be spread all over the front page. The Council's membership will be made up of responsible citizens in the various branches of community life whose integrity and loyalty cannot be questioned. They will seek to work in cooperation with other groups in town including the veterans and those who are interested in promoting better patriotism and Americanism.

Mail And Shop Early, Please

Since within the next few days we will be in the midst of the Christmas whirl if we haven't already gotten started, there is no time like the present for some comment on mailing and shopping.

If you want to give Superintendent Price of the Post Office and his men a present for Christmas, we suggest that you mail your gifts and cards for out-of-town relatives and friends as early as possible. They will appreciate this effort on your part more than anything else that you could do for them. Don't wait until the last minute to send Aunt Minnie those handkerchiefs of Uncle Gus his shirt. If you do that then you won't have cause to grumble about the postal service if the packages do not get there until after December 25.

The Post Office Department is just as anxious as you are to get your gifts and cards to their destinations before the holiday. That is their job and they'll do it if you will cooperate. Check the final mailing dates for the various states so that you will be sure to have your things in the mail in plenty of time for delivery before December 25.

Of course, it's just as important to shop early as it is to mail early. Along the shopping line we would like to suggest that you spend some time looking in your own Belleville stores for gifts. Oh, you don't think you can buy what you want here, eh? Well, in many cases that's where you will be wrong. Not only will you be able to get just what you want here but you won't have to risk your life getting crushed in a shopping crowd jam and you will probably find that you can purchase the articles just as reasonably if not for less than in some of the stores in the bigger cities.

The local stores offer a wide variety of Christmas gifts and merchants are now fully prepared and stocked to help you with your shopping problems. In our desire to progress and go forward, helping our merchants to grow and prosper is one of the most important points. By supporting them at this time, the best buying season of the year, we will be doing a good turn.

Help Tuberculosis Campaign

Each year at this time the Belleville-Nutley Tuberculosis Association makes an appeal for financial support through the sale of Christmas seals. This is the only method that the Association has for securing the funds to carry on its most valuable and beneficial work. Last week nearly 3,300 sheets of Christmas seals were sent to local people. Before they cast them aside or reject the appeal for aid, we trust that all of these people will pause and think of the importance of this work.

The continuous fight against tuberculosis is one of the most important battles waged year in and year out throughout the nation. The misery and suffering of its victims is most pitiful. No less heart-rending is the burden which it places on many of the families of these sufferers. One of the amazing facts about the fight against tuberculosis is that in most places it has been a campaign that has been waged solely on a private basis dependent on the help of the public for support. Here as in many places it is not supported by the municipality in any way.

It is more dependent for its success on private benefactors than almost any other form of welfare or public health work. Solely, through the money contributed through the sale of seals by the people of Nutley and Belleville, the Association has been able to employ a nurse who daily goes about doing good.

The work of the Association is not alone that of helping those who have been afflicted with the disease. Its first objective is to prevent it. The Association holds three clinics here each month and this year has had under observation or care 267 local residents.

In the past the Tuberculosis Association has performed excellent service to this community and Nutley and we should do our part in helping it to continue this effort.

Might Be Helpful To Many

We talked the other day with a young man who is in business for himself. He has made quite a success of it after several years' work during which he has been forced to skimp and save. By the time next June rolls around it is most likely that he will be called for service in the Army under the Selective Service Act. He is not grumbling about the fact that he has to devote a year of his life to his country, but he is concerned about what may happen to his business during the year that he is in the service.

Perhaps, as he points out himself, he is worrying needlessly, since he may not be accepted because of some physical condition. However, that is unlikely. It would be most beneficial to him, he explained, if he could take his physical examination now and know that about six months hence he would be called for duty. It won't happen that way. He will probably be called for duty one week and notified the following week that he must report within the next few days. But, if he were examined within the next month or so, he could set his business in order and place it in the hands of some responsible person so that he could be sure that it still would be going when he returns from his service in the Army.

We could not help but think that the case of this young man must be multiplied many times throughout the nation. Numerous hardships have arisen through conscription and we must all bear our share of the load in a national emergency. But, how helpful it would be if some of the unnecessary difficulties could be ironed out. This is one that we think could, but maybe we do not know enough about the Selective Service routine and facilities. Still, we believe that young men who are giving a year's service to their country during the best years of their lives, should be given every opportunity that is possible to make sure that that year is not going to set them back too much when they return to private life.

LETTERS

From Frederic W. James
1 Essex street
To the Editor of The News:

Please record my protest against the pending Loitering Law. I object to it because the law prohibits needful and necessary actions, and grants to our rulers powers that should not be given them. Whether by inadvertence or by design, half the activities of our daily life are plainly forbidden by its fantastic verbiage. Not only are these prohibited actions harmless in themselves — they form the very texture and pattern in which our life is woven, and interference with them is an intolerable invasion of both common-law and constitutional rights.

Laws regulating conduct should be framed with greatest interest and care, so that while embracing only and particularly the acts complained of, they do not forbid other acts that by no stretch of reason could be called criminal or offensive. This care has not been taken; it has not even been contemplated. Nowhere does the ordinance define, describe or limit one single offense for prescription. Instead it lumps together seven distinct peccadillos in language equally descriptive of the most innocent diversions, and forbids both peccadillos and diversions alike. Let us see.

Less than a year ago the Supreme Court held in the Thomas case that the municipality must permit assembly in public places. Now this law is of force to us, flatly and without exception forbidding any assembly in any place. Under it, apparently to prevent drunkenness, Presbyterians may not meet in Fawcett Church, nor children in any public school, nor even the City Fathers in the Town Hall.

By this grotesque statute we are forbidden to receive company in our front parlor or to watch the world from our front windows. We may not sit on our porch of a summer evening nor pause to mop our brows while cutting the grass. All these things are assembling or loitering in the front of a building.

Can't Go Any Place

Nor may we loiter in any street or public place in any parked automobile or other vehicle. By these Utopian arrangements I cannot drive my wife to the store and wait while she is shopping. If I wait in the car I am loitering in a parked automobile; if on the sidewalk I am loitering in the street; if in the store I am loitering in the front of a building. Presumably the only place I may wait is in the back of the store. Baby carriages too are to be forbidden as being the other vehicles in which persons loiter. Are our squaws to carry their papooses slung on their backs in the old American way?

No more may parades gather on Greylock Parkway, or townsfolk line the streets or watch from their windows as the bands blare down the avenue. The streets must be as empty as if

Bids for the new high school addition were found to be $38,317 more than the estimated cost. School officials sought to lower for Lady Godiva, with no one assembling or loitering in streets and public places, at the corners of streets and in the fronts of buildings. Let us be grateful that we are still allowed to look out of our back windows.

Furthermore it seems we may not address comments to any person in the street, not even to our closest relations or dearest friends with whom we may be walking, but must pass in silence like Trappist monks. Nor may Officer Smith admonish traffic offenders through that nice loud speaker he bought for him, for this would be uttering loud language to persons in public places.

Belleville can now look forward to a successful football season, it being illegal to obstruct or interfere with persons carrying footballs and lawfully being up on a public place — to wit, Clearman Field, though to prevent immortality police officers are forbidden to obstruct the escape of prisoners lawfully detained in the police station.

This insane gibberish is the law as now advertised. Unless Belleville citizens move quickly to prevent it, it will become a real law, enforced or not according to the whim of officials sworn to enforce it. No one in Belleville wants this. If new laws are needed let them tell us clearly what is forbidden, and draw them with some respect for the few shreds of liberty that are left us.

For there will be no freedom under our flag when we may not even stop on the street and greet our friends, or call out for help when we need it.

by Meador Wright

The future attitude of the Willkie Clubs in Essex is causing considerable anxiety in Clean Government circles. For a number of reasons these clubs have tended to be anti-Vanderbilt from the start. When they first began to be formed Vanderbilt was the leader of the Thomas E. Dewey group within the state. The Willkie movement was to a certain degree a revolt against Dewey. True, it soon grew beyond that point and became a nationwide program for the nomination of Willkie against the field. But here in Essex, Dewey was the man to beat and Vanderbilt was Dewey's first lieutenant. Naturally in trying to head off Dewey, pot shots were taken at Vanderbilt. Furthermore, a number of people antagonistic to Vanderbilt became early leaders in the Willkie clubs. Donald J. Smith of Montclair, while he had had no dealings with Vanderbilt, also became rather cold toward the Short Hills lawyer. Mrs. Agnes Jones Gifford was true.

Truce Soon Disappeared

During the heat of the Presidential campaign when both Vanderbilt and the leaders of the Willkie clubs were working tooth and nail to defeat Roosevelt the earlier antagonisms were forgotten. But once the campaign was ended — this truce likewise disappeared. What the future attitude of the clubs will be to Vanderbilt is uncertain but it is not likely to be too friendly. Much will depend upon how receptive Vanderbilt is to the renomination of Willkie. Most of the club leaders want Willkie to be the nominee in 1944 and are actively working to that end. They believe his showing against the invincible Roosevelt entitles him to another attempt.

Vanderbilt, may or may not concur in this attitude. After all, Dewey was his first love. He is more likely to urge caution in an early endorsement of Willkie. Dewey's chances of winning the nomination in 1944 depend largely on the success he has in the preliminary contest in New York State. If the young district attorney does not get some administrative experience the same objections will be made against his candidacy four years hence as were raised with such decisive effect last summer.

To get serious consideration for the presidency, Dewey must first be elected governor of New York and make a good administrative record. An alternative to this would be similar service as mayor of New York City. There does not seem to be other alternatives in view. The administration at Washington is likely to see that Dewey does not get consideration for a national post that would provide a suitable background for 1944.

Will Wait Until 1942

Vanderbilt will likely wait until after 1942 to see how Dewey for alleged extravagances and other causes. Signers of the letter asking for use of the hall were John S. Price, W. H. K. Davey, George Williamson, Richard P. Scaine, Jr., John Hudson and John Burns.

Directs Concert At School

Ralph Errolle

Symphony and Chorus Will Appear at High School

Ralph Errolle's Group Will Sing and Play Next Week at School Assemblies; To Offer Selections from Famous Operas

Students in the high school will have a musical treat a week from tomorrow when Ralph Errolle brings his Essex County WPA Opera Ensemble and Orchestra to Belleville to play in two assembly programs. A sixty-piece symphony orchestra and a chorus of forty-five voices will introduce the students to some of the best music from famous operas. The assemblies are scheduled for 1:20 and 2:10 in the afternoon.

The musical organization has grown from the old Essex County Opera Company and was formed seven years ago in Montclair by Errolle, a former tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Since 1935 it has been a part of the music project of the WPA and has presented 350 concerts throughout New Jersey and seventy-five performances of opera in Newark.

Since its inception more than twenty solo singers have been developed and trained for private enterprise and more than 150 vocalists have learned their profession as chorists. An additional forty persons have received staff training as conductors, coaches, stage directors and in the clerical and library forces.

Robert W. Allan is administrator of the Works Progress Administration and Frederick Rocke is state music supervisor. This project under the sponsorship of the New Jersey Department of Education of which Dr. Charles Elliott is president. The group's program here will be:

Opening Chorus, "Carmen"..... Bizet
"Cavalleria Rusticana"..... Mascagni
Chorus and Orchestra
In the second assembly program "Here At Thy Feet" from "Il Trovatore" will be substituted for the Quartette from "Rigoletto" and "Caro Nome" from "Rigoletto" will replace the "Jewel Song."

Louis Gent Hit By Auto Driven By Bloomfielder

Louis Gent, sixty-seven, of 230 Belleville avenue was reported in "good" condition yesterday in the American Legion Memorial Hospital, North Newark, where he was taken Monday night after he was struck by an automobile at Mt. Prospect and Grafton avenues, Newark.

He was reported to have suffered a possible skull fracture and internal injuries. According to police, the driver of the car was Charles Leonard of 40 Norwood place, Bloomfield.

DOGS

by Laurence Torley

Since most famous people have been dog lovers, history is filled with interesting anecdotes about "man's best friend." At times, dogs have changed the course of history, according to S. Boehm, whose article "Dog Lore Through The Ages" appears in the December issue of the American Kennel Gazette, official magazine of the American Kennel Club. He writes, in part:

"It was a Newfoundland which fished Napoleon out of the water when, on his flight from Elba, he slipped, unnoticed by any of his entourage. The dog was, subsequently, taken to Paris. After the deatue fall of the emperor, it finished its days, so far as I know, on the estate of an Austrian nobleman."

"Richard Wagner, the greatest of all musicians... simply could not live without dogs. The great master's life was not an easy one, until in his later years he found, at last, recognition. But whatever happened to him... a dog was always with him."

"Toward the end of his life, Frederick the Great once held an important military review in Silesia, a weighty enough for many diplomats to be present. Lafayette among them. While watching the maneuvers, despatches began to arrive for the King, who read them and without comment put them in his pocket... more and more came... the entourage and foreign diplomats began to wonder what political complication had arisen..."

"Abruptly, the King broke off the review... ordered his carriage... drove posthaste to Potsdam, which, of course, consumed several days. The despatches had notified the King of the serious sickness of his favorite dog... The King hurried home, but came too late. Little Biche was dead... The King refused to see anybody for several days."

Nabbed For Drunken Driving After Hit-Run Crash

Edward Reimers, fifty, of 191 Leslie, Newark, will answer charges here of drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident. He was nabbed Friday by Joseph Mazetto of 287 North Belmont avenue after a chase which ended at Grove street and Watessing avenue, Bloomfield.

Mazetto told police that Reimers hit the Mazetto car which was parked near the intersection of Frederick and Franklin streets. When the Newark man failed to stop, Mazetto jumped into his own car and gave chase. He took him to Bloomfield police headquarters where he was pronounced intoxicated and unfit to drive.

Other accidents of the week: Andrew Plikto of 159 Hillside avenue, Nutley, was declared fit to drive by Dr. Martin M. Meehan after he had hit the parked car of Ann DeSpirito of 595 Orange street, Newark. The car was parked in Union avenue a few feet north of Lloyd place. Plikto's car had to be towed to a garage.

Mrs. Josephine Ruffino, sixty-one, of 110 Columbus street, Bloomfield, escaped serious injury Saturday afternoon when she was struck by a car said to have been driven by M. George Rich, forty-three, of 36 Lindbergh street, Bloomfield. Rich said the woman stepped from behind a bus which had stopped at Franklin street and North Ninth street, this town, to discharge passengers. Rich took her to Columbus Hospital for examination.

Cupka of Bloomfield Sunday evening. Miss Elizabeth L. Axtell of 81 Hornblower avenue has been pledged to Delta Zeta sorority at Ohio State University.

Mrs. Joseph Bowden of Greylock parkway was hostess Monday evening at bridge to Mrs. George Horvath, Mrs. Eugene Berry and Mrs. Fred Schweitzer of this town.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Gross and sons Melvin and Richard of Jorammon street and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Iznitz of May street motored to Philadelphia Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schreyer of Smallwood avenue accompanied by Miss Helena Sundheimer of Ralph street and John Glancy of Newark attended a performance Saturday at the Century Theatre in New York of "It Happened on Ice." They dined at Leon and Eddie's.

Mrs. John Harvey of Belleville avenue was hostess Tuesday afternoon for the executive board of the Woman's Guild of Montgomery Presbyterian Church.

Belmoir Street Man Faces Drunken Driving Charge

George Henderson, thirty-nine, of 28 Belmoir street will appear before Recorder Smith Monday morning to answer charges of drunken driving arising out of an accident Sunday night in which he is said to have crashed into a car parked in front of 125 Union avenue.

Henderson is said to have been driving north on Union and to have swerved to the left side of the street into the automobile owned by Leo J. Werner of 240 Belleville pike, Arlington. Both cars had to be towed to a garage. Officers Ray Demgard and Roy Hilton arrested Henderson and took him to the office of Town Physician Martin M. Meehan who pronounced the man "intoxicated and unfit to drive." He was released in $250 bail.

Schneckenberger Is Chosen Bicycle Club Leader

Robert Schneckenberger was elected president of the Belleville Bicycle Club last week at its annual meeting. The other new officers are Martin Corbo and Paul Wille, vice presidents; Paul Muller, secretary; and Joseph G. Kopsky, treasurer. Appointed to the publicity committee were Corbo and Raymond Frate. Trophies for outstanding success during the year were presented to Muller and Joe DeBacco. Medals went to Frate, Wille, Corbo, Tom Guarino, Phil Castle, Eric Friedal, Ed Littig, Frank Miserindino and Tony Branco.

Three Belleville Gridders Will Clash In Sunday Battle

Three of Belleville's outstanding players in the North Jersey Football League will face each other for the second time Sunday when the league champion Camptown Pros lineup against an all-star aggregation made up of the best from six other teams. The kickoff is scheduled for 2:15 on the Irvington High School Field.

As usual the Camptowners will have George Zoppa of 34 Roosevelt avenue in the center spot. Zoppa is one of the mainstays of the Irvington eleven and was selected on the all-league team again this year.

Charles "Bud" Holloway of 15 Hornblower avenue, the flash of the Nutley Iron Dukes' backfield, will carry the mail for the All-Stars.

The Woman's Desk

by PEGGY PATTERSON

Hardly one of the worthwhile periodicals which come to our attention today is lacking an entreaty on the part of some educator, business man or social expert for a revolution in our educational system which will fit our youth for the business of living. Do you, as a mother or guardian, miss these fine articles because you are too busy concocting nourishment for your children or providing them with abundant clothing and accessories? It is essential that your child's diet be as rich as your means permit so that his mind and body will reach their highest level of perfection; equally important is the requirement that no child be made conspicuous by faulty dress or grooming if his psychological balance is to be maintained.

But there is one item which overshadows both of these, renders them rather ineffectual indeed, and that is the prime decision of what your child's occupation in life will be and how every false step in the steady climb toward this goal can be eliminated.

Mothers, occupied with the cares of the home and pre-occupied with dreams of success for their offspring, can do a great deal to make a new day dawn in this almost untouched field—the great link between preparation for a task and securing the outlet for the practice of this task. First step is the abandonment of all false standards. The profession or job for your boy is the one for which he is eminently fitted—and no other. If neither he nor you have any idea what this is by the time he is ready to enter senior high school it is, first time for you to discover exactly what opportunities there are, and second, make tentative selections entirely without prejudice or personal preferences.

Choosing The Right Road

It is not good enough to decide that John would derive the most self-gratification some day from a lofty white-collar position or that Mary would be the most successful a professional on which career a pension. Suppose you strain every point to achieve this end and then, because of the inevitable over-crowding which eliminates automatically all but the loftiest one per cent of the applicants for such occupations, John and Mary spend the five or ten most productive years of their lives vainly trying to make a readjustment which will allow them the simple security of earning a living. Forced to take such a detour they will invariably never strike the main highway of life for which they were intended.

Parents, from our observation, are lulled into a false sense of security soon after a child is enrolled in the first stages of his public or private education. They relinquish a great deal of the responsibility to a mythical group designated as "they" and evidently meaning the educational authorities. This attitude often persists even through college years when by virtue of contact and force of personality the pedagogues are expected to strike the chord in John and Mary which will resound forever to their eternal success.

From the sponsors of education parents next relinquish their children to the great group of industrialists and professional people who employ the populace. Again "they" are supposed to step into the breach and offer the young people stamina and guidance and somehow to bridge the awful gap which goes between the nonentering, too generally educated youth and the skilled worker which he must become.

Is it any wonder that a scheme based on such methods of pure accident fails? Is it any wonder that the rift ever widens between empty jobs and empty-handed youth? John and Mary are aware of this situation and even in their own town are making strides toward overcoming it. One group of young people has invited addresses by business and professional men of the town in order to acquaint themselves with the requirements and possible advantages of each occupation.

It has also been our privilege to see young high school students anxious to enroll themselves in any agency which endeavors to secure part time physical employment for them. Menial tasks do not deter them and although pocket money may be their initial aim, the act of gainful employment benefits them in numerous ways which they are quick to see.

If these young people show a desire to be self-sustaining, whose support should they have more strongly than their own? If the illusive "they" on whom you have depended while you absorbed yourselves in the strictly personal needs of your children have not been able to fill the bill should you not look around for more constructive provisions?

The question of a Junior High School in town is a pertinent example. Is such a school to be considered merely from a standpoint of increased tax burden or a building in which to house the superfluous school population? Not if you are well-informed and wise. This type of school is one of the finest types of insurance for success that you can give your children—one that pays annuities and does not bring a chance reward at the end of a long lifetime of struggle.

Properly conducted, it should incorporate all the features of vocational training and guidance which your children sorely lack. It liberates them earlier in life (at the close of the sixth school year) from the dependent methods of the usual grammar grade and starts them on the road toward assuming responsibility; responsibility of going from class to class and bearing on time; experience with forum discussion and an utterly different type of recitation program in which each feels himself a contributing factor to the success of the whole lesson.

Mainly it should offer a wide program of vocational courses at the very age when decision for the future is most likely to be made. In other words, your child should be exposed to as many forms of outlet for his ability and talents as it is possible for you to provide. Can you get this advantage for him? Most certainly, if only you will inform yourselves enough to be convinced that it is the greatest single contribution toward his future well-being—and then convince other people!

Student News

Seniors Take Aptitude Tests

Today all seniors at the high school are taking aptitude tests in their home rooms. These are part of the guidance program planned by Earl W. Seibert, vocational director. He will use the results of these tests in counseling students on their aptitude for college or business.

Next week personality tests will be given to students in the salesmanship classes, although all seniors may take them. The purpose is to provide objective information about the pupil. Problems of strength and weakness in personality, of changes that might be made, and of fitness for certain occupations will be discussed.—B.C.

Kreisner For Frosh Dance

Harold Kreisner and his orchestra will furnish the music for the Freshman Dance which will be held in the new gymnasium December 19. The Freshman Senate announced this week that prizes will be awarded for the four best posters using the dance as their subject. The contest is under the direction of Norman Cotter of the faculty.—I.B.

Camera Club Meets

The second meeting of the newly-formed Camera Club of the high school was held yesterday with the new officers presiding. After the business meeting, Kodachrome slides of the New York World's Fair were shown. These were taken during the summer by some of the members.—A.R.

Bowling Club Organizes

The Bowling Club of the high school was reorganized this week for its second year of activity under the direction of Miss Margaret M. Leahy and Paul Jones of the faculty. Boys and girls will meet on Wednesday and Thursday respectively. Miss Leahy aroused the interest of the feminine contingent in the sport last year by making a gym project of it. The boys' club has been formed for several years.—M.B.

J. R. C. Sponsors Christmas Collection

The Junior Red Cross this week began a drive in high schools for discarded toys which pupils no longer use. The toys will be repaired and readied for distribution by the home rooms. After being wrapped in Christmas packages, they will be taken to needy children in Soho Hospital.

Even the busiest wives and mothers long to entertain and be entertained in this invigorating pre-holiday whirl. Although there often isn't time for leisurely bridge games how about indulging your friends in a cozy afternoon tea, especially when you know that they have put in a strenuous shopping day? As a change from coffee or tea for the backbone of your refreshments try the following delicious, heart-warming concoction:

Mocha
1 square chocolate
3 or 4 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
3 cups freshly made coffee
whipped cream

Melt chocolate in double boiler, stir in sugar and salt; add milk gradually and cook for 5 minutes. Add hot freshly-made coffee (made slightly stronger than usual) and beat with rotary egg beater until frothy. Serve with whipped cream.

Luxurious and hearty accompaniment to this beverage is Banana Spice Cake:
2½ cups sifted flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1½ teaspoons cloves
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup shortening
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups mashed ripe bananas
(4 to 5)

Sift dry ingredients together twice. Beat shortening until creamy; add sugar gradually continuing to beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time and beat well after each addition. Stir in vanilla. Add flour mixture alternately with bananas. Beat until smooth. Bake in 2 greased layer pans in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for about 25 minutes. Put together with boiled icing and decorate with nuts if desired.

Await Monad Bids

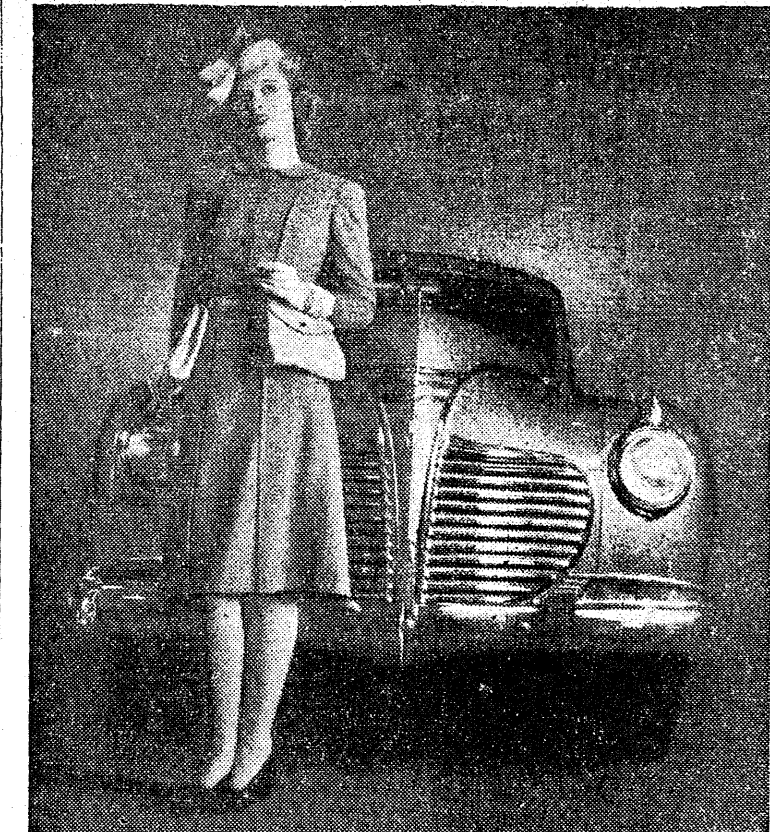

Announcement of the 1941 staff of The Monad, high school year book, is expected to be made Monday. For the past week many seniors who are trying out for positions on the staff, have been making up rough drafts of their conception of what the book should look like. The drafts will be studied by three of the teachers who will then appoint the staff, including the editor-in-chief.

The teachers of the English Department who will make the selections are Miss Gregoria Condon, Miss Thelma Weidman and Edward Glaspey. David Fulcomer is in charge of the business department. Selections for the staff will be based on originality, general character, personality and writing ability.—B.C.

Represents Freshmen

Miss Jane Stanton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard E. Stanton of 469 De Witt avenue, a member of the high school Class of '40, represented the freshman class of the College of Our Lady of Good Counsel at the student council induction ceremonies recently.

Attractive Daytime Dress

Flame wool makes this simple dress which wears a pocket belt of antique leather; stockings, gloves and tiny feathered hat echo the light shade.

Many Have Donated Books For Soldiers At Camp

Bellevillites have donated 150 books and more than 500 magazines to the collection which will be turned over to the soldiers at Fort Dix, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Shattuck, librarian, revealed yesterday. The drive was inaugurated locally several weeks ago.

The books and magazines are on many varied subjects: novels and business, sports, adventure, westerns, news, geographic. A letter was sent to each church in town last week asking support for the drive. Books may be left at the Public Library at any time.

PERMANENT OPENING

Permanent position for women over 35 who can work at least 25 hours weekly. Write Box No. A-240, The Belleville News. Give particulars.

Aliens Have Three Weeks Left To Register

There are but three weeks left in the registration period for aliens. After December 26 non-citizens still unregistered will be liable to a fine of $1,000, six months in prison, or both.

The alien registration law was passed last Spring and since then hundreds of thousands of aliens have gone to their local offices to sign their names, fill out the questionnaires. Belleville aliens are required to register at the Newark post office.

Delegates to the County Committee meeting this evening at 137 Broadway will be Mrs. Joseph L. Kolinsky, Mrs. William L. Lebaugh, Mrs. Edwin R. Ackerman and Mrs. Joseph J. Huemer. Unit No. 10 of Newark will be hostess.

Mrs. Huemer Is Re-elected Head of Church Group
Mrs. Joseph J. Huemer of 179 Cedar Hill avenue was elected president of the Ladies Aid Society of Redeemer Lutheran Church of Newark for the sixth successive time at the annual meeting of the organization Monday night.
All other officers were also re-elected. They are Mrs. Charles Kruck of Newark, vice-president; Mrs. Oliver Felmy of Newark, secretary; Mrs. Elmer Matson of Nutley, treasurer, and Mrs. Paul P. Arndt, wife of the pastor, chairman of the floral fund and visiting committee.
Mrs. Huemer is also a past president of Belleville Post 105, American Legion Auxiliary, and is at present serving her fifth term as treasurer of that body. She has been a delegate to the Essex County Auxiliary for six years; she was community service chairman in 1938 and preparedness chairman in 1939 for the county organization.
Reports on the recent parish bazaar and turkey supper were handed in by Mrs. Huemer, who was chairman of the affair. Plans were also made for a Maggi demonstration at the parish house at 100 Grafton avenue, Newark, December 16 at 1:00, and for a luncheon on January 15. A Christmas party was held after the meeting.

Dessert for a Holiday Dinner

THE conversational service was chosen for the dessert course of this holiday dinner. The hostess will chat with her guests as she cuts the golden brown pumpkin pie. Coffee will be made at the table with a beautiful electric coffee urn.
The centerpiece is an old-fashioned fruit compote holding shining apples and oranges topped with frosted grapes (see recipe). Sprays of holly grace the base.
Wrap in several layers of waxed paper and store in a tightly covered container for several weeks.

Golden Fruit Cake

1 cup seeded white raisins
1 lb. candied citron
1 lb. candied orange peel
1 lb. candied lemon peel
1 lb. candied grapefruit peel
1 lb. shredded cocoanut
1 cup chopped, blanched almonds
2 cups bread flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1 tsp. lemon extract

Wash raisins and drain well. Slice candied peel. Combine raisins, candied peel, cocoanut and chopped almonds in a large bowl. Mix and sift dry ingredients over the fruit. Mix thoroughly. Cream butter, add sugar gradually and then the beaten eggs. Add flavoring and the flour and mix alternately with orange juice. Pour the mixture into one large or three small pans which have been greased and lined with waxed paper. Bake at 300 degrees for 2 to 2 1/2 hours, according to size. Yields 3 lbs. baked cake.

Frosted Grapes
Select a large, firm bunch of red or blue grapes. Brush with a mixture of one tablespoon of water to one egg white, beaten but not bubbly. Dust lightly with granulated sugar. Allow to dry. Arrange on mirror or plate as table decorations or use as garnish for Plum Pudding or Fruit Cake.
Note: One tablespoon water, one egg white sufficient for 3 bunches of grapes.

Will your Christmas tree shimmer with lights? You can put as many as ten double strings on a single circuit.

Plain Pastry

3 cups pastry flour
1 cup shortening
1 tsp. salt
Cold water

Cut in shortening and mix with as little water as possible. Toss on lightly floured board. Roll out, place in pie plate. Chill thoroughly before baking.
Makes two one-crust or one two-crust pies.

Old Favorite Pumpkin Pie
1 1/2 cups cooked, strained pumpkin
1 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. cloves
1/2 tsp. allspice
1/2 tsp. ginger
3 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups milk
scalded

Mix pumpkin, sugar, salt and spices. Add eggs and scalded milk. Chill. Roll out pastry and fit onto a 9-inch pie plate. Chill. Pour filling into pastry-lined pie plate and bake at 475 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes or until a silver knife inserted into center of filling comes out clean.
Fold preserved ginger or orange marmalade into whipped cream and serve with pumpkin pie.

Rich fruit cakes require low temperatures and a long period of baking to develop their flavor. They are at their best when allowed to ripen before they are cut. When the cakes are baked, remove from the pans, cool on a wire rack.

Library Notes
Among recent additions to the non-fiction department at the Free Public Library are:
New Jersey, a guide to its present and past, compiled and written by the Federal Writers' Project of the N. J. W. P. A. This is an account of the history of the state, including essays on music, art, theater, racial and national groups, and labor. There are sketches of the twenty-one principal cities and descriptions of motor trips and descriptions of summer and winter resorts.
We shall live again, by Maurice Hindus, a story of Czechoslovakia and its people. The author presents this country as one of the most highly advanced nations in the world. Mr. Hindus, present during the Czechoslovakian crisis, feels that the Czechs will rise again and go back to their democracy and humanitarianism.
The world's great letters, a collection of love letters, historical communications, literary correspondence, and so on, edited and selected by M. L. Schuster. This book contains the letters of many of the outstanding figures of world history from ancient days to our own time.
New books recently added are: Non-fiction — The Bottle-necks of business, Arnold; The complete book of progressive knitting, Duncan; You can enjoy music, Kaufman; From many lands, Adams; Why England slept, Kennedy.

"God, the Only Cause, and Creator" is the Lesson-Sermon subject for Sunday, in all Christian Science Churches and Societies.
The Golden Text is: "Every house is builded by some man; but he that built all things is God."
Among the Lesson-Sermon citations is the following from the Bible: "O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches."
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "It is generally conceded that God is Father, eternal, self-created, infinite. The great I AM made all 'that was made.' Hence man and the spiritual universe coexist with God."
