

MRS. MC CORKLE RESIGNS FROM FEDERATION

Gives Up Positions With
Welfare And C. S. B.
On Doctor's Orders

Mrs. Lester E. McCorkle of 134 Forest street this week resigned her positions as executive secretary of the Welfare Federation, trustee of the Community Service Bureau and from the case committee of the latter organization. She took the action, her letters to the heads of the organizations said, on the advice of her physician and because of illness in the family.

W. Douglas Clark, Jr., president of the federation, yesterday announced that he had appointed John S. Charlton of 589 Union avenue to fill the vacancy until the regular elections in February. Clark also stated that four trustees will be elected at that time. Philip Dettelbach and Edward G. Naumann resigned last week because of the press of business. Miss Greta Kinnealy resigned because of illness in her family, and Floyd Bragg because he has moved out of town.

Mrs. McCorkle became a trustee of the federation in February 1937 and became executive secretary two years ago. She was co-chairman with Walter G. Price of the house-to-house division of the Community Chest drive in 1938 and the following year headed the division alone. She has handled the duties of publicity chairman for the federation and never missed one of its meetings.

$200 More

Clark said yesterday that approximately $200 had been added to last week's total of $14,598.72 contributed or pledged to the 1940 Chest drive. At last week's meeting it was decided to award each of the six participating agencies about 85.7 percent of their requests. He said that the quota of each contribution was raised according to the following table the first figure represents the amount requested by the agency and the second the amount tentatively allotted:

THREE PROBLEMS BEFORE BOARD

Trustees Will Study Teacher's
Salary Scale, Stadium
and Dale's Report

The Board of Education has shifted its December meeting to Tuesday instead of the regular Monday next week. The change was made to give members of the board an opportunity to hear the Community Christmas Carol Festival at the high school Monday night. Three major items of unfinished business are still on the school board's docket but it is not known whether any of them will be discussed. They are the Turf Bog situation, the recent report on the school system by Dr. O. P. Dales and the more recent demand of the Teachers' Association for a change in the system of deciding teachers' salaries.

Not a single word from any town official has been forthcoming on the ultimate disposition of the Turf Bog since Mayor Williams made a brief non-committal statement after a closed conference with the school board several months ago. The board has given no indication as to whether it received whatever proposal he had to make at that time favorably or not.

Dales made his report to the board at its November meeting and in it stressed the importance of the foundation of a junior high school here. He suggested the transformation of School No. 8 into a junior high by adding five or six rooms and shifting the lower-grade pupils to other nearby schools. The board promised to study the report and possibly take some action on it at a future date.

The teachers are seeking the abolition of the "merit system" as a basis for salaries and the substitution of the "automatic raise." This would eliminate the arbitrary evaluation placed on a teacher by the administrator who judges the teacher's work in the classroom. This question is also ready for discussion whenever the board decides to drag it out.

King Association To Hear About Draft Board Work

John P. Dailey of 188 Division avenue, chairman of the local Selective Service Board, will discuss "Policies and Functions of the Draft Board" Saturday evening at the regular meeting of the Joseph King Association at 14 Washington avenue.

A Standard Oil Company motion picture on the new Pennsylvania super-highway between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg "as it is" and the motoring public and defense will also be shown.

Forged Letter Fails To Halt Grant Of Liquor License

Commission Gives Club Permit to St. Anthony's
Athletic Club, Throwing Out "Objections;"
Address Causes Speculation

A fraudulent attempt to block the application of St. Anthony's Athletic Club for a club liquor license for 370 Lake street boomeranged Tuesday night and the license was granted nevertheless. The Commission received a letter of protest signed with the name of Louis F. Gintella as president of the club. Gintella was present at the meeting and denied flatly that he had written the letter and instead publicly endorsed the application. The letter was declared a forgery when Gintella signed his name before the commissioners and the two signatures were found to be entirely dissimilar. Another letter objecting to the granting of the license was also discarded because "it amounted practically to an anonymous letter." The signer refused to permit his name to be made public even though she stated that she had two sons under twenty-one who belonged to the club.

Gintella is not an officer of the club. The president, as listed in the advertised application, is Rocco Libertelli of 64 Franklin street. It is not known who wrote the fraudulent letter, but he spelled the name "Gintella."

Another slight argument arose over the correct address of the club. The routine report of Police Chief Spatz declared that there is no 370 Lake street, for which address the application was drawn. Actually, it was declared, it should be 370 North Tenth street. The latter thoroughfare is so named in Newark and runs north into Belleville. When it reaches No. 387 it suddenly becomes Lake street at a point inside the Belleville line.

Neighborhood Club
Edward J. Abromson, attorney for the club, pointed out that the organization was chartered in 1921 and has been active ever since. There are at present forty-seven members. Two members each of five families and three members of two families belong to the club, which makes it "the nearest club, we have seen yet," according to the Mayor. All of the members live in the immediate neighborhood.

When it came to a vote, Williams and Commissioners Clark and Noll voted affirmatively. Commissioners King and Waters, noted opponents of more liquor licenses in the town, were both absent.

Local Conscripts Assigned To Fort Dix Posts

Four of the eight Belleville men who left two weeks ago for the conscript army at Fort Dix have been given their assignments. The commanding officer of the 44th Division announced yesterday.

Lucian A. Bailey of 125 Bell street has been assigned to Company E, 114th Infantry. Placed in the 113th Infantry are Kenneth H. Bedford of 33 Perry street, Company B; Anthony P. Marrone of 88 Dow street, Company K; and Joseph S. Nowakowski of 232 Mill street, Company L. Frederick J. Vogel of 22 William street will leave today for the fort.

Members of the first drafted contingent this week wrote to thank the American Legion for the pens presented to them. Said the note: "We are well started on our army life. They have been taking it fairly easy on us up to now, but we received our uniforms today and are beginning to get down to routine. 'We have become somewhat separated since arriving but those of us who are still together feel that we are speaking for the whole group in expressing our appreciation for the fine send-off. We all hope to get home for Christmas.'"

Alumni Supper Dance Bids Close December 23

The final date on which reservations for the first annual supper dance of the High School Alumni Association can be accepted has been moved to December 23, Harvey Nielsen of 20 Bach street, chairman of the committee on arrangements, announced yesterday. The date had originally been set for December 19.

The supper dance will be held in Frank Dailey's Meadowbrook on the Newark-Pompton turnpike at Cedar Grove, December 27. Bobby Burns popular Scotch rhythms will be the featured musical attraction for dancers.

Nielsen and Miss Anne Donovan of 98 Liberty avenue are in charge of an escort bureau set up particularly for this affair. They reported yesterday that they had already received several calls for the service.

Aloysius Welsh's Ordination Set For December 20

Aloysius Welsh, son of Mrs. Mary Welsh of 152 Washington avenue, will be ordained December 20 to the priesthood at the Catholic University in Washington, D. C. He will celebrate his first solemn high mass in St. Peter's Church here two days later. A reception will follow in St. Peter's Hall.

Commissioners King, Waters Hors de Combat

Two members of the Commission were hors de combat when time came around for Tuesday night's meeting. Commissioner Waters was laid up recovering from a minor operation and Commissioner King was bedded with a trick knee that would not stay in place.

Because the next regular meeting night falls on Christmas Eve, the meeting has been changed to December 23 at 7 o'clock.

POLICE ARE AFTER HIT-RUNNERS

Three Accidents In Week;
One Driver Nabbed
In Keary

Three hit-run drivers had police on the go last week but one was later picked up in Keary. Robert P. Smith of 243 Greylock parkway told police late Wednesday night that, as he drove out of Branch Brook park onto North Sixth street, another car sideswiped him and did not stop. Smith noted the license number and turned it over to the police with the comment that the other driver "appeared to be intoxicated." Two hours later Ernest Smith of 122 Maple avenue, Keary, was picked up in that town as the driver of the car. Charges were not pressed, however.

Morris Eglavitch, forty, of 429 Peshine avenue, Newark, reported shortly before four Saturday morning that he stopped in front of 242 Washington avenue to discharge two passengers and his taxi was sideswiped by another car that failed to stop.

A few hours later Vaul Benson reported that his car had been struck by a hit-runner in Washington avenue. Teletype alarms were sent out on both of the accidents.

Thomas J. Osborne of 76 McKinley street, Nutley, and Michael DeMeo of 74 Hudson avenue, Brooklyn, were said to have been the drivers of vehicles which figured in an accident at Main and Rutgers streets. Osborne's car, owned by Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company of Newark, had to be towed away after the collision with DeMeo's Mack truck.

Tuberculosis Seal Sales Down

Sales of tuberculosis Christmas seals declined considerably during the past week, according to an announcement made yesterday by Health Officer Berry who heads the local drive. The fund collected $528.50 last week and only $263.75 this week. The total to date, however, is more than $100 ahead of 1939's $676.85 at this time. This week's collections:

|           |          |
|-----------|----------|
| Thursday  | $85.25  |
| Friday    | 61.50    |
| Saturday  | 57.50    |
| Sunday    | 6.00     |
| Tuesday   | 45.50    |
| Last week | $528.50 |
| Total     | $792.25 |

Basketeer Champs of '03

Discovered in the files this week was this old picture of the Belleville Catholic Club basketball team which won the state lightweight senior championship in 1903-04. Everybody had a nick-name and was known only by that, it seems, except John L. Sullivan, whose name was sufficiently like the first heavyweight champ to stand by itself. In the picture are (standing, left to right) Manager Harry "Boney" Smith, Sullivan and Assistant Manager Bernard "Rotey" Martin; middle row, Paul "Shifty" Scharfenberg, John "Dorey" Flynn and Harry "Pickles" Brickell; bottom row, Martin "Tubby" Maher and Hugh "Mickey" Welch. The picture was taken in the rear of St. Peter's old school by John Brown, brother-in-law of Harry "Stoney" Machette, town Republican leader.

Of the eight men on the team, only two still live in Belleville. Flynn is a sergeant on the police force, Sullivan is assistant custodian of Town Hall. Smith lives in Pittsfield, Mass.; Scharfenberg and Brickell are in Newark; Maher is a Union City policeman, and Martin and Welch are dead.

Expected To Be Reelected
Tonight At Red Cross
Annual Meeting

Frank L. Chambers of 60 Perry street will probably be re-elected chairman of the Belleville Chapter of the American Red Cross tonight when the chapter holds its annual meeting and election of officers at the Woman's Club, 51 Rossmore place. Chambers is the choice of the nominating committee.

The committee has named B. Thomas Aitken and William J. Horgan as vice-chairmen; Russell K. Rose, treasurer, and Mrs. Thomas W. Fleming, secretary. No opposition is expected to develop at the meeting.

Deetjen as vice-chairmen; Miss Doris Scharfenberg, first aid; Frederick B. Handon, home service; Mrs. William H. Williams, Junior Red Cross; Miss Eileen Lynch as vice-chairman; Mrs. Harvey B. Thompson, production; Horgan, publicity, with Miss Vivian Kilpatrick as vice-chairman.

Fleming, Breunlich, Deetjen, Handon and Sanford.

GREYLOCK HOME SOLD BY TOWN

Former Owner Not Buying
For Himself, Say
Commissioners

The town-owned property at 35 Greylock place was sold to Anna Gaito of Keary for $308.48 by a resolution of the Commission Tuesday night despite the allegation by Mayor Williams that he was "confident that the former owner is not buying the property for himself." The Commission was told by Town Attorney Keenan that the present occupant of the house, Joseph Citterella, claimed that the Kearny woman is his daughter.

Thomas C. D'Avella, attorney for Citterella, told the Commission two weeks ago that the man had owned the home for forty years before losing it for delinquent taxes. He at first offered $200 but raised the price to cover the back taxes owed the town. He said that Citterella now wanted to buy the property back. The Mayor, after stating that "it is a shame we have to be detectives and are not given all the facts" by such applicants, declared that he had reason to believe that Citterella did not intend to retain ownership. He did not amplify the charge other than to say that the man is at present on relief and to wonder where "he could lay his hands on $208."

Hewitt To Investigate

The Commission decided to ask Overseer of the Poor Hewitt to make a thorough investigation into Citterella's assets. Nevertheless, the board passed without opposition a resolution selling the property.

Total sales approved amounted to $2,158.48. The others were: 100-102 Baldwin place to the A. L. Holding Company of Belleville for $500.

104-106 Baldwin place to William J. and Patrick J. Barrett of Belleville for $500.

57-63 Watessing avenue, Silver Lake, to Pasquale Long of Belleville for $700.

18 Greylock avenue to Joseph Coppola of Belleville for $150.

Authorized for public sale were properties at 59 Magnolia street for a minimum of $150 and 72-74 Continental avenue for $500.

More Recipe Books At News Office

Although The News has already distributed free of charge more than 350 recipe books published by the United States Department of Agriculture, there are still about 100 remaining. They may be had without charge by calling at The News office at 328 Washington avenue.

The books will be given out on a first-come-first-served basis and probably will not be reordered when the present supply is exhausted.

LOT MAY SOLVE PROBLEM

Mayor To Confer With Bank
To Find Van Houten
Parking Solution

The possibility that the 10,000 square foot lot south of the People's National Bank may be converted into a parking lot to relieve the problem of parking in Van Houten place was opened up by Mayor Williams Tuesday night in reply to another vehement objection by Sidney Brown of 45 Van Houten place.

Brown appeared before the commission for the third time, this time armed with a petition "signed by every house except two in Van Houten place between Washington and Hornblower avenues." Brown seeks an ordinance prohibiting parking on the south side of the street between the Avenue and High street.

He bases his claim on the contention that parking on both sides of the street presents a very definite safety hazard, particularly in snowy weather. "The street is narrow — thirty feet wide — and has a slight crown. Commissioner Clark pointed out that the police have handed out many tickets there for parking without lights. 'Only on my request,' Brown retorted. He claimed that the police did not go near the street to give out tickets without having been called by him for that purpose."

Commissioner Noll told Brown that "the bank and the Elks Club have to have some place for their patrons to park. They pay considerable taxes."

"They do not pay as much as the other homes on that street," declared Brown.

Court Clerk Handon, who was present at the conference, said that both the bank and the Elks had protested to the Police Department that the current drive for parking without lights "is driving business away."

Commissioner Clark said he would have white parking lines six feet from the curb laid down immediately and hand out tickets for leaving cars outside the lines. He pointed out that that will leave two nine-foot lanes for moving traffic in the street. The Mayor will confer with officials of the People's Bank with a view to converting the vacant land into a parking lot.

Vice Ordinance Tabled Until Next Meeting; Called Too Vague

Dr. O. Bell Close and F. W. James
Enter Objections; Commission
To Study Future Bills

The proposed "loitering; vice and immorality" ordinance was tabled for two weeks when it came up for final hearing Tuesday night. Objections, voiced in letters to the Commission from the Rev. Dr. O. Bell Close of Fawcett Memorial Presbyterian Church and Frederick W. James of 1 Essex street, centered on the charge that the bill was too broad in its wording and scope. The first sign of opposition to the ordinance came last week from James in a letter to the editor of The News. Dr. Close used the missive as a basis for his sermon at his church Sunday morning. He is understood to have conferred with several of the commissioners and on Tuesday wrote his letter to the board. The three commissioners present at the meeting agreed with the objections and, after laying the matter on the table for two weeks, declared that it should be a general policy of the board to receive copies of all proposed ordinances several days in advance of their first reading in order to study them closely. Town Clerk Florence R. Morey was instructed to make copies of the letters and give one to each member of the board for study. "I will entertain a motion," the Mayor said, "to lay the matter on the table for two weeks or under the table for four years."

James' letter cited two sections of the New York City ordinance on the subject:

"No person shall encumber or obstruct any street or other public place by loitering or lounging in or about the same to the annoyance of the passers-by."

"No person shall make, aid, countenance, encourage or assist in making any unusual or improper noise, riot or disturbance in any street or public place to the annoyance or inconvenience of travelers or persons residing adjacent thereto; nor shall any person use any profane, obscene or vulgar language in any street or public place."

Enough For Us
"It seems to me," James concluded, "that these two sections combined with a section stating the penalty would meet our present needs." He suggested fines of $5 to $25 "instead of the exorbitant sums now stated, which, judges, if they had any sense, would hesitate to impose."

Dr. Close's letter said:

"You have heard me say publicly what I have often said privately. 'Belleville is unusually fortunate in its Board of Commissioners. Perhaps no other citizen has peered you with fewer stones and more flowers. You know that I am your friend. The fact that you do so many things well increases my surprise at your proposing to enact such an ordinance as the one purporting to prevent 'assemblies' upon publicly-owned property."

"My opposition to the measure is, in part, as follows:

"1. No self-respecting community in the United States would obey it.

"2. If honestly and successfully enforced, it would increase the very evils, which you claim in the title, you would prevent."

"3. It violates every known law in applied psychology.

"4. No sociologist of repute could be found who would give the measure his approval.

"5. In my judgment the most serious thing about it is that it would label a whole multitude of young people in our community, who are clean, because a few are unclean."

Boys Stay Alone?

"We are gregarious animals. While those parents who think they can afford it 'gang up' at the show and the night club, where will their boys of sixteen, eighteen and twenty assemble? Do you expect them to stay at home alone? Do you think it wise to drive groups of boys and girls from our well-lighted front streets into the dark back alleys?"

as such? Does any mother consider her girl safe alone or with a single companion or with a group of happy, healthy young people on our well-lighted streets?"

"Last night several hundred old objector 'ganged up' in front of the high school and waited an hour for doors that were bolted against us because the required policeman did not show up to 'keep us straight.' With your proposed ordinance we would have overflowed your jail."

In that paragraph Dr. Close was referring to the crowd, of which he was a member, that had to wait outside the high school Monday night for the doors to open for the regular games of the Church Basketball League.

Worse Than Coddling

"The only thing worse than coddling a boy is condemning him. Of course, your ordinance does not and cannot specify boys as such, but they are, primarily, your objectives. Recently sixty boys stood in a line before me. Not one of them would admit that he ever drank intoxicating liquor and fewer than five ever smoked. I challenge you to line up sixty men with a better record."

"But you say, 'These were selected boys.' They were not. I

Christmas Carol Festival At School Monday Night

More Than 200 Will Sing In Combined Chorus
Under Direction of Mary Elizabeth Compton;
Second Year For Affair; John Meade, Soloist

Belleville's second annual Community Christmas Carol Festival will be held Monday night in the high school auditorium. Miss Mary Elizabeth Compton, director of the chorus which is expected to number more than 200 voices, will raise her baton on the first number at 8:30. An organ prelude played by Peter J. Edwardson will precede the concert. The final rehearsal of the chorus will take place tomorrow night at 8 in the high school.

The body of the chorus will be made up from the choirs of Wesleyan Methodist, Christ Episcopal, First Presbyterian, St. Peter's Catholic and Bethany Lutheran churches. The rest of the chorus will be composed of the Women's Club Choral, Belleville Glee Club and High School Glee Club.

The three independent singing groups will also sing several numbers by themselves. The Women's Club Choral under the direction of Reuel Lahmer will render his own "Lullaby Lullay" and "Down in Yon Village" by Niles. Arthur E. Jacobus has chosen "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming" and "Ring Out, Wild Bells" for the Belleville Glee Club. They are numbers which were particularly successful at the glee club's concert Monday night.

The High School Glee Club, which is directed by Mrs. Alice Wagner, will give selections by Handel, Lutin and Victor Herbert as its part in the program. The combined junior choirs of several churches under Mrs. Anna Bunnell will also sing several carols.

Meade Is Soloist

John William Meade will be the guest soloist, giving the concert an all-Belleville flavor. He has selected "Just for Today" and "O Holy Night." He will also the incidental solon in "The Birthday of a King."

Invocation and benediction will be given by the Rev. Willard H. Borchers of Bethany Lutheran Church and the Rev. Walter J. Church of Grace Baptist Church respectively. One of the compositions on the program, "Rosa Mystica," will be conducted by its composer, Miss Roberta Bitgood of Bloomfield. The audience will participate in the singing of several of the better-known carols.

The community festival was inaugurated last year by several members of the Woman's Club under the leadership of Mrs. Lloyd C. Nunn, who is also chairman of the committee on arrangements again this year. The purpose of the affair, which is a private enterprise, is to raise funds to help Christmas baskets for needy families. There is no admission charge but a silver collection is taken up for that purpose. The proceeds are turned over to the Community Service Bureau.

Detectives Solve Lamonica Theft In Three Hours

It took Belleville's efficient detective force about three hours to clear up the disappearance of 500 pounds of melted lead and 100 pounds of copper screen wire reported by Anthony Lamonica of 26 North Eighth street.
The theft was reported Saturday morning and by noon had been solved by Captain Leighton and Detective McGinnis with the arrest of a Belleville boy of fifteen who implicated two Newark boys. The trio, all minors, are said to have admitted the robbery.
Entrance into the garage in which the metal was stored was made by breaking a picket fence in the rear of the Lamonica property and tearing the handles of the doors, which were chained together, from their roots.
Leighton and McGinnis went through a routine investigation, rounding up several known hoodlums of the neighborhood until they came to the one whose story seemed suspicious. Further check resulted in a confession. The metal was not recovered, however, and is believed to have been sold before the boys' arrest.
Nicholas J. Terrill of 127 Chestnut street reported the theft of a storm door valued at $8 from his porch some time during Saturday night.

Robert Metz, Sledding Victim, Reported Recovering

Six-year-old Robert Metz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Metz of 42 Mt. Prospect avenue, was reported yesterday as "in a favorable condition" and recovering from injuries received last week as Belleville's first victim of sledding accidents this year.
Robert was sledding in a lot near Leslie terrace. Charles Mohr, twenty-five, of 350 Joralemon street, driver of the car which struck the lad, said that the boy came out of a pathway which was hidden by shrubbery and sledded out into the street.
Both car and sled swerved to avoid the other but the boy hit his head on the bumper of the car. Mohr took him to the American Legion Memorial Hospital, North Newark, where seven stitches were taken in his scalp.

How Much More Can We Do?

"Feelers" have been sent out on the advisability of this country giving financial aid to England. There is no doubt that the great majority of American people believe that we should help the British in their battle as much as possible. But, the question of financial aid brings up a sore point. Many cannot forget the billions that Great Britain owes this country from the last World War and they also remember the carping references to "Uncle Shylock" which drifted across the Atlantic several years ago when the proposition of paying something on the old debt was put straightly up to John Bull.

Just how badly does England need the money? How much further can we go in giving aid to Britain without becoming an open ally? These are the questions being asked and the administration in Washington must know the answers before any commitment can be made. There must be more told than Lord Lothian's remark that England needs money badly. The English must reveal the exact state of their affairs, telling where they believe they are heading before the officials in Washington can present the proposition to Congress.

Lending more billions to England when this nation is having its own troubles determining how the national defense bill is to be paid is a major problem. Congress must be presented with a convincing argument before it will act. The question of the repeal of the Johnson Act is likely to be the most important news in Washington this winter. Perhaps this may be safer and wiser than direct aid to Great Britain.

Cooperating With The Holiday Bureau

An important part of Christmas is giving help to those who are less fortunate. Many organizations make it a part of their annual program, while hundreds of individuals feel that they have received greater joy out of the season by making it a happier time for some needy family. Unfortunately, there is frequently needless duplication. Some families get two or three Christmas baskets. Some children get more toys than they can appreciate while other youngsters get none. This situation has been made increasingly worse by those who deliberately go out and seek as much as they can get for nothing.

Everyone who gives is well meaning and has made some effort to do his part. Therefore, every effort should be made to see that the most has been made out of what has been given. In other words, stretch the Christmas giving as far as it can go. The Community Service Bureau, the town's leading welfare organization, is well acquainted from experience with the problems that frequently arise with Christmas giving. In the past they have made an effort to avoid duplications in giving through the Holiday Bureau. It has been re-organized once again for this season.

If you are interested in having the contributions or gifts which you wish to make perform their greatest good, won't you report what and to whom you have given to the Holiday Bureau? They do not ask you to consult them so that they may name to whom you should give, although they will be glad to provide you with names of needy families. But, they want the name of the family you are helping so that some other organization or individual will not help the same family. At Christmas time we want to spread cheer as much as possible and by cooperating with the Bureau you can help to achieve this goal.

Relief Is Still With Us

Frequently we have commented that relief was a permanent problem which could no longer be viewed as an emergency. In spite of the fact that it has been with us for more than eight years, there are those who have chosen to take the viewpoint that — like a cold — it would eventually pass. In dwelling on this all-important question, it has repeatedly been our argument that relief was here to stay and that a permanent organization and financial arrangement for its support should be made.

This week Charles R. Erdman, Jr., director of the State Municipal Aid Administration, released a report on relief costs for this year and a general sketch of the relief picture in New Jersey as it is today. On the surface, Mr. Erdman's remarks have an optimistic note — one which would indicate that the old headache is not as bad as it used to be. A compilation of relief costs in all municipalities in the state shows that about four per cent less was spent in October than in September, Erdman reports. This is a continuation of the downward trend which started in January. The pick-up in private industry and an increasing emphasis on the national preparedness program are held responsible for this change.

However, lest local administrators should think that they may be nearing the end of the relief problem, Erdman quickly points out that figures from eleven of the state's twenty-one counties show that there was an increase in costs during October. Furthermore, in spite of the supposed pick-up in private industry, more people applied for relief in October than in September because of their loss of private employment.

We have argued on several occasions that no matter how much business may prosper, there will always be a relief problem. For various reasons, there will always be a certain number of people who, either because their trade has died out or is operating with a minimum of help or has been cut through the use of labor-saving machines, cannot secure steady employment.

This state and many others can look forward to a permanent welfare problem which should not be ignored or neglected. At the present time there are more than 110,000 people who are dependent upon the state and municipalities for at least partial subsistence. There are another quarter of a million on WPA, which certainly must be recognized as a form of public relief. How long will WPA keep up? That is the question which puzzles and bothers every public welfare administrator. In these days with ever surprising changes in governmental functions, it is difficult to tell what may happen. Potentially, there are another 250,000 persons who on a moment's notice may be flung back on the municipalities and state for support. Therefore, instead of relief costs heading down there is ever present the possibility that they may go shooting sky high.

We cannot escape these problems or put them off until the time when we may suddenly be faced with an emergency. A definite year-in and year-out system and formula for handling relief with a cooperative plan existing between the municipalities and the state should be put into operation. A definite problem is confronted in caring for 110,000 people. It becomes ever greater when it is realized that this may overnight be swelled by another 250,000. And, let us not forget that this increase in private employment, due principally to the speeding up of the national preparedness program, is not likely to be permanent.

Bad Month For Accidents

The holiday season, when all of us want to be filled with joy and happiness, is close at hand. We want nothing to occur which will mar or sadden it in any way. That is why we take the time to urge every motorist and pedestrian to be cautious, particularly those who are in the cities which are in the midst of the shopping rush. December is one of the blackest months when it comes to automobile accidents and fatalities, according to State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Magee.

There is no way in which we could make the Yuletide season more joyous than to cut down greatly on the number of accidents. Prevent tragedies which would sadden not only the homes of those who are injured or killed, but the homes of those who may have been responsible because of some momentary thoughtlessness. Whether ing the street during the month, let us all be careful and alert to avoid accidents. Walkers just as much as drivers have a responsibility.

In the past month or so we have been alarmed at the number of drunken drivers who have been apprehended by the police. There is no more serious motor vehicle offender or public menace than the drunken driver. At the moment he is not responsible for his actions but there is no telling what harm may be wrought before he returns to normal. The season is at hand when some of us feel that an important part of the celebration is to become filled with the holiday cheer inwardly as well as outwardly. If you happen to be in this group, we trust that you will enjoy yourself heartily, but don't drive. You are a potential menace not only to yourself but to the

MUSICAL REVIEWS

Glee Club Concert

The combined glee clubs of Belleville and Nutley entertained Monday night in the high school auditorium for about 850 and, generally speaking, we mean entertained. There were a few spots that drew merely a polite applause; but there were many others that brought a spontaneous ovation that was heart-warming. It took nearly half the program for the chorus to get used to the auditorium which, acoustically speaking, leaves a great deal to be desired. Sound is so deadened by the numerous beams and the jutting of the balcony and so utterly destroyed by the heavy curtain and drapes all around the stage that it is difficult to see why any group should attempt anything of this kind without first building a reflecting shell around it.

Lura Stover was in excellent voice but her choice of songs was unfortunate. The slow melodic songs fit her fluid voice well but an audience can get too much of a good thing. Miss Stover has excellent tone quality and unusually good diction; she is blessed with a nice stage presence. Her best of the evening was the solo work in "O Holy Night."

First Group Flat

The first group of glee club numbers fell dreadfully flat, principally, as we said before, of the unfamiliarity with the hall. The men stood too far back on the stage and their voices did not come across the footlights well.

The second group started off with one of the best numbers of the evening, "Laughing" by Franz Abt, which brought the first real response from the audience.

The tenors were weak — or the basses strong — in the "Hallelujah Chorus." For difficult music it was well done, however, but we were disappointed. The final selection before the intermission is supposed to be the big one of the evening and, although no one can deny that "Hallelujah" is big, there was nothing different in its interpretation to warrant its inclusion in a Belleville Glee Club program. It was, we thought, below the standard set by "The Highwayman," "The Pilgrim's Chorus" and others of recent years.

We liked the idea of devoting the second half of the program to Christmas music but would have liked to see a few more of the real favorites included. "Break Forth" was good, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" draggy.

Evening's Hit

The hit of the evening and the thing that made the entire evening worth-while was the final group, "Ring Out, Wild Bells" was excellent. The bell effect on the repeat chorus was particularly effective.

"The Shepherd's Story" was dramatic and well done. "O Holy Night" as usual was the tops on the program. The applause was spontaneous and effusive and even the repetition of the second verse did not satisfy most of us in the audience. More familiar numbers, not only in the Christmas section but scattered through the entire program, would have been advisable. The vast majority of the audience had never heard any but the two final numbers previously and somehow one cannot become too enthusiastic over something one does not know.

Summing up we enjoyed the affair and were willing to make proper allowances for things we did not like too much. The evening had that "nice atmosphere" which is present at all Glee Club concerts. The club should be commended; it makes an outstanding contribution in the town to culture and social life and is the only self-supporting musical unit of its kind in Belleville.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

by Meador Wright

The year 1940 has been a memorable one in New Jersey politics, but how decisive must yet be proved. For the first time in more than two decades Democrats are looking elsewhere than to Mayor Hague for their cue on leadership. As has been the case for many years, Republicans are looking in no one direction. Power within the G.O.P. is widely scattered. There is not a Republican in the state with any semblance of party leadership.

The next few months will decide Hague's status in the new scheme of things. Up to now Charles Edison is an enigma. No one knows what he will do. But he is in a position to oppose Hague successfully if he wants to. This is important. No other Democratic governor has been in that position for a generation. By temperament, also, Edison doesn't like to take orders.

But more than opportunity and temperament is involved in this tug-of-war between independence and subservience. The logic of events prompts that Edison travel in the former direction. If Edison is rated even a partial "yes-man" to Hague his political career is as complete as though this were an epitaph rather than an analysis. The Hague technique of political control has been thoroughly discredited. Apologists for Hague will say that this discredit is in the nature of that suggested by the adage about giving a dog a bad name and hanging him. But the important thing in this thesis is not the justice or injustice of Hague's bad name but the bad name itself.

Few men have ever entered a new sphere of public service with the eyes of the nation so intently focused on them as Edison. It is not an exaggeration to say that all America is asking this question: "Will Edison be an independent governor like Woodrow Wilson or will he take orders from a political boss?"

SCHOOL NO. NINE PLANS CAROLS

70-Voice Chorus Will Sing Old Christmas Favorites; Play On Program

The annual Christmas carol program of School No. 9 will be presented next Thursday evening at the Ralph street school. The boys' and girls' glee clubs, a combined chorus of seventy, will sing traditional carols.

Included on the program are O Come, All Ye Faithful; Joy to the World; Softly Dawns; Deck the Halls; Holy Babe; Christmas Bells; Rise Up, Shepherd; Little Town; Christmas Tree; Sleep, Holy Child; Away in a Manger; Angels from the Realms; and Silent Night.

"Holy Babe" was written especially for the glee clubs by Miss Kathryn Conklin, who directs the group. "Rise Up, Shepherd" is a new carol, a Negro spiritual of great depth and beauty. The choir members, pupils from grades six, seven and eight, will wear red and white gowns which were made by former choristers of the school.

Present Play

A play, "The Frolic of the Christmas Toys," will be given under the direction of Miss Violet McLaughery and Mrs. Estelle Kesner and will have as its setting Santa Claus' workshop. The large cast includes children from the four lower grades. The characters will be portrayed by the following children:

Starred In Capitol Feature

It's Claudette Colbert and Ray Milland in a scene from one of Paramount's new dramatic successes, "Arise My Love," which comes to the Capitol screen on Sunday for a three-day run. The associate feature is "Cherokee Strip" with Richard Dix and Florence Rice.

Recipe Column

One activity without which Christmas preparations would be incomplete for most of us is the making of Christmas cookies and candies to be gaily wrapped and distributed to our most intimate neighbors and friends. Often this is the most appropriate gift one can make, and when the containers are useful baskets or pieces of glassware it is also a highly satisfactory token. One should, however, take care to select recipes which are simple enough so that a quantity of goodies can be made without too much effort. The following are representative:

Ginger Snaps

1 cup molasses
1/2 cup butter
1/2 teaspoon soda
3/4 cups sifted flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 to 2 tablespoons ginger
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Heat the molasses to the boiling point, and pour it over the fat. Add the sifted dry ingredients to the molasses and fat. Use ginger to suit your taste. Mix well and make into a long roll as large around as the cookies are to be. Wrap this roll of dough in waxed paper and put in a cold place to chill for several hours or preferably overnight. When ready to bake slice very thin with a sharp knife and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until lightly browned. Store, or pack for gifts, in tightly covered containers.

Golden Bars

3/4 cup shortening
2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
3/4 cup chopped walnut meats
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
Melt the shortening in the saucepan in which batter is to be mixed. Remove from the heat and stir in remaining ingredients, first sifting flour, baking powder and salt together. Spread in a shallow pan which has been lined with waxed paper after greasing. Bake in a moderate oven of 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until the surface will spring back when lightly pressed. Cool and cut into bars.

Sylvester F. Courter

Sylvester F. Courter of 19 Linden avenue died Friday at his home of a heart attack at the age of sixty-four. He had lived in Belleville twenty-one years, moving here from Arlington where he was born.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Louis T. Smith and Mrs. John W. Johnston of the Linden avenue address; a brother, Frederick of Newark; a sister, Mrs. Hattie Kingsland of Arlington; and a grandchild.

A solemn mass of requiem was offered Monday morning in St. Peter's Church and interment was in the church cemetery.

Exclusively YOURS by Bill Mays

FROM all I hear and see this is going to be the greatest New Year's Eve in a long, long while. By greatest, of course, I mean there will be more people out spending more money. The clubs have already taken hundreds of reservations. At one of the better spots, there is at this moment not a table available, and bies have been put in to the management for possible cancellations.

Now that sounds good, when just before election you heard some people say that things would go to wrack and ruin unless Mr. Willkie was elected. One of the nice things about this coming New Year's Eve is that not a single club owner has jacked up prices, even though they know they are going to run at capacity. So take a tip and get your table early, and don't let them put you at the one back of the pillar with the rubber plant.

EXCEPT for the cafe-lounge the Robert Treat, as usual, is completely booked. In West Essex we suggest The Well, West Caldwell. In the mountains to the south we like The Condon, Northfield road, Livingston. If you want something intimate and cozy The Blue Door, Route 10, East Hanover, is your bet.

—OO—

FIRST, of course, we have Christmas to take care of, and if you have not gone through the Busch & Sons store at Newark's Broad and William streets, you have not seen anything in the Christmas gift line. There are some 20,000 items of merchandise. Out of them you can rest assured, is just the one you have been looking for.

—OO—

WE are so filled with the holiday spirit we feel we should remind you about Alderney ice cream cakes for Christmas dinner. They come in all sizes, with your favorite Alderney flavors, and the lettering can be whatever you suggest. If you know Alderney ice cream (and please don't tell us you don't) you can appreciate what a delightful surprise the Alderney cake will be when the already surprised youngsters put down the toys long enough to eat. Just call the Alderney offices, Market 2-3000, a few days in advance. You'll write us thank-you notes if you try one of these cakes.

ASIDE to (Miss) Helene Schroeder: You probably have reference to what is now The Well, West Caldwell, and we are sure if you liked it then you will be greatly impressed by the improvements there . . . A. H. Fuller: The Robert Treat was opened in 1916 as a member of the United Hotel Chain, and it still is . . . J. J. O'Brien: I agree with you 100 per cent. I will write something on your suggestion in the next column or so. —Adv.

The Bicycle Curse

While high schools are giving theoretical and practice courses in automobile driving their students, and those of the grade schools, are endangering their lives every day by inexpert manipulation of another form of locomotion which is much more common to them—the bicycle. Hardly a day passes during which the careful observer in a suburban town does not witness a near accident involving a young bicyclist. Without waiting for tragedy to teach its terrible lesson or for other municipalities to set the pace, why cannot the people of this town undertake a constructive program destined to prevent accidents which would already be numerous except for the saving element of chance and the vigilance of the motorist? It is one of the few projects of which we can think that does not necessitate the formation of elaborate agencies or the enactment of involved legislation.

There is no child, especially a boy, who does not long for a bicycle at that stage of his development when the desire for traveling independently of his family and friends asserts itself. It is his first approach to the freedom which the adult gains in the use of an automobile as against the restricted modes of travel such as buses and trains. There, unfortunately, the simile seems to end; for, while the man pays the penalty for his convenience with eternal vigilance and submission to regulations in driving his car, the boy uses his bicycle with the complete abandonment of a bird on the wing.

Furthermore, the very youngster whom some may excuse for his laxity on the grounds of his youth, is not too young to appreciate the subtle hold he can exert on his elders by his mere presence on the street on a bicycle. Anyone who doubts this should contemplate the relentless, unyielding back of a boy who wheels his way on the smooth edge of the pavement while the drivers of two cars travelling toward each other literally tremble to enter his vicinity.

Waiting For Bikes

The person who has waited with patience for the passage of numerous cars along the highway before he can pull away from the curb and is suddenly prohibited from so doing by the leisurely approach of a cyclist, who will hold him in abeyance just long enough for another stream of cars to appear, will also appreciate what we mean. There is, too, the case of the pedal-pusher who travels well up on the street until a stretch of curbside appears where no cars are parked.

Should you be backing your car into this space, presumably with the utmost caution, you will suddenly find that he has swerved as close to the curb as possible and evidently expects you to halt diagonally, and in danger of oncoming traffic, while he completes the circuit of the empty space and skims past your front fender and into the roadway once more.

These are not evidences of thoughtlessness. They are rather a combination of the desire to try the wings of power, which comes when ones elders are forced to exert caution or cause death, and an utter lack of that sense of obligation which is the greatest traffic cop of them all. The issue, therefore, is clear. Young cyclists must first be convinced that they have a definite fee to pay for the privilege of sharing the streets and highways with the motorist and pedestrian; and then the mechanics of collecting this fee must be set up.

Because we believe heartily in this cause we would like, at a slightly later date, to bring you some very concrete suggestions for undertaking a crusade in its behalf. Will you, in the interim, count the number of times that you catch your breath and say, "Children shouldn't be allowed to use bicycles on these main thoroughfares!"

Christmas Music

Christmas holidays bring song to the lips of many who are musically inarticulate the rest of the year. They bring a nostalgia for melody and oftentimes the thought that it is a shame to indulge so little in this priceless diversion. How much greater is the shame, therefore, when we do not give our children an opportunity to cultivate the "listening" habit. For, although it turns out that the majority of us are not creative in the field of music, all characters are deeply enriched by association with it.

Apropos of these thoughts comes the suggestion that we plan a gift of music to our children which will insure a more or less permanent source of joy and satisfaction. A phonograph, as good a one as you can afford, if you do not already possess it, is an ideal gift with its accompanying records. Its chief merit over the radio is the opportunity of selection.

After the trial and error method begins to function naturally with even the smallest child, his preferences will indicate his taste. With this as your guide you can supply his needs. This is an important point for, while it may sound like over indulgence, it is nevertheless true that children will develop a much greater love for music when they can listen to those selections which most please their senses. In fact insistence on the opposite order of things will often turn a child away from music.

Most valuable of all is the possibility that regular "listening" will inspire the child to produce music himself on the instrument to which he becomes most attached. To this end select records with wide appeal.

Strong rhythm which inspires marching and dancing movements is recommended by those who have made a study of this matter. Music which is not sad but rather the sweet, clear melodies of Mozart, Haydn or Schubert please young children. Music, in general, which tells no particular story, to which you have tried to attach no particular meaning is an admirable selection. The imaginative powers of the child are his most effective music instructors.

Above all, let this Christmas gift be the beginning of a routine of music wherein a few selections are played daily, preferably at a certain hour, until the habit is formed. For obstreperous moments when the children desire active participation records of comic operas and American folk songs are suggested. Good record supply houses will aid you in your selection.

Hints That May Be Helpful With Christmas Shopping

Saturday Shopper Runs The Gamut of Gifts at All Prices With Suggestions for Buying For Every Member of The Family

Magazines, whole sections of the Sunday papers and columns of the dailies have been set aside for suggesting startling and unusual Christmas gifts. It is really quite superfluous for us to add to these copious lists; but for the shopper who is now awakening to the anxious realization that there are certain gifts she cannot postpone buying any longer, we would say that there is much comfort in the fact that the crowds are milling around the same counters which usually are the center of attraction at this time. In other words, an unusual and pertinent gift must be planned long in advance. Often it comes as the result of a chance remark dropped by the recipient months before Christmas.

If this is the fortunate case, the gift should have long ago been purchased while the inspiration was new. If not, the most acceptable gift for anyone, man or woman, is an object of personal adornment, preferably something in which he cannot indulge himself; but something sufficiently substantial so that you may count on its constant, pleasurable use.

To go with the gala and yet practical night ensembles we so fully described to you previously are numerous house slippers and bedroom slippers. Scarlet velvet, lined and bound with the ever popular and toasty white rabbit's fur, makes a luxurious backless sluff. Simulated leopard in a velvety weave makes a toehold wedge slipper with accents of brown. For sturdier wear there is a trim suede slipper in gaiter style for a snug fit. Most unusual is the thick sole outlined with rope. Also in gaiter fashion are snug, tailored corduroy slippers in numerous colors. Prices range from $1.95 to $2.95.

Women Like Gloves

Any woman will enjoy gloves of some sort. To make her black winter furs sparkle get her a pair of washable lambskin gloves in Christmas red or green. If these are not apropos select one of the soft citrons, blues, purples or the icing shades of pink and aquamarine. At $3.95 they are an excellent investment as they

Don't Forget Pearls

Although the counters in the large shops which are devoted to rhinestone pins, clips and lapel ornaments with colored baguette and enamel accents are so crowded lately that it is almost impossible to approach them, it is to be hoped that lots of you will remember pearls when buying jewelry for a lady. Their soft available in clips and pins deslatery never fails and they are signed gracefully. Necklaces which are interrupted on either side with golden ornaments set with baguettes are different and lovely.

Men, too, if we are not mistaken, enjoy personal gifts more than those smoking accessories and other objects d'art which are gradually absorbed into the home atmosphere. For them there are strictly tailored bathrobes in solid color flannel with the faintest sign of contrast in narrow grosgrain binding. Rich maroons and blues reign and prices begin at about $8.00. Lounging robes have a discreet satin all over design against a rich, dull surface making them look like a jacquard material. Lapel facings and belts are plain satin and colors, of course, are deep and subdued. The short luxurious smoking jackets have a rich touch in the matching lapels of velvet. A casual navy gabardine robe we noticed is pin striped in scarlet. Gaiter type severely plain corduroy house slippers are a good accompaniment for any of these.

Sophistication

The sophistication of this charming black rayon taffeta dress is just sufficiently subdued for the very young miss by the frivolity of its gold striped apron which can be tied on at will. Its flaring pockets add zest.

will inspire the child to produce music himself on the instrument to which he becomes most attached. To this end select records with wide appeal.

Scholarship Advisory Committee To Help School Students

Members of the Alumnae Advisory Council of New Jersey College for Women, of which Mrs. Charles H. Berle of 11 Stevens road, this town, has been named a member, have offered their services to high school students in need of information regarding college scholarships. The scholarship committee at New Jersey College for Women has set March 1, 1941, as the final date on which scholarship applications will be accepted and detailed information regarding scholarships has been sent to each member of the Alumnae Advisory Council. Mrs. Berle and other members of the council will be glad to answer questions by telephone, letter or personal call.

St. Anthony A. C. Plans Yule Party For Youngsters

St. Anthony's Athletic Club will hold a Christmas party for the Children of Silver Lake in St. Anthony's Church auditorium December 22 at 4 o'clock. Tickets will be distributed to the children at their homes. There will be games, entertainment, refreshments — and 1,500 pounds of candy. Pupils of the Bob Cole School of Dancing will entertain.

Louis Gintella, chairman of the committee on arrangements, is assisted by Angelo Ziccaro, Anthony Alvino, Joseph Granesco, Jerry Petrucci, Pat Pocollo, Albert Aliverto, Carmen Fuselli, Charles and James Grant.

Striped Shirts Are Vogue

Stripes of varying widths in one tone seem to be making the most popular shirts at the moment while neckties and cravats cut quite a dash with sprawling creamy figures on dark backgrounds. These become more likeable with observation and should be dandy against plain white shirts. For the more conservative the small, geometric designs on burgundy, navy or dark green backgrounds are plentiful. Matching scarves with solid color borders are an added harmonizing touch.

For sports, active or spectator wear, men's jackets are especially appealing in the pile fabrics lined with gabardine. With a simple zipper closing they rely for style on the excellent fabric and cut and are free from any but discreet slit pockets. Worn over plain turtle or V-neck sweaters in soft shades of blue or green they are especially effective. Imported woolen socks in bold big blocks of burgundy and blue, brown and green, scarlet and gray continue as favorite gifts for men. Prices start at $2.50. Plastic glass belts are as light as a feather and acceptable with many types of suit. Initialed silver buckles add to their style and the price will be agreeable at $2.00. Match the belt with a wrist-watch strap for extra thoughtfulness.

For other than wearable gifts men will like the fabric covered cigarette cases with three chunky initials across one corner. There are rich in black with chrome or golden frame. The horsetail motif seems to be sounding loud in accessories such as stirrups, book ends mounted on polished wood; a lovely desk clock framed in an inverted stirrup; or a gleaming oblong cigarette box with the figure of a red-coated hunter putting his horse over a jump mounted on the cover.

For the man who likes to see his favorite books on display the solidity of clear glass book ends is acceptable. Rearing horses and sturdy elephants are favorite subjects. From $4.00 up these are lovely gifts. For the very personal touch there is a small tooled leather case which opens to reveal on one side studs of your choosing and on the other a picture of you in a rich little velvet edged frame.

Church of Christ, Scientist

"God the Preserver of Man" is the lesson-gospel subject for Sunday, in all Christian Science Churches and Societies throughout the world.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding. . . . He keepeth the paths of judgment, and preserveth the way of his saints." (Proverbs 2:6,8.)

Among the lesson-sermon citations is the following from the Bible: "For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king; he will save us." (Isaiah 33:22.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, confers upon man enlarged individuality, a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansive love, a higher and more permanent peace." ### Some folks still can't believe their eyes

GOING over Buick dealers' reports on our 1941 models, we find an unusual thing happening.

Time and again cars come in for the usual inspections with an extra note of instructions—"Please check the gas gauge needle."

Even after hundreds of miles, people mistrust their eyes when they see its snail-like pace from the Full mark toward Empty—they don't see how it's possible for a car as big as Buick to go so far on so little.

But it does—and for good reasons.

The whole FIREBALL engine was designed and built to get the most good out of modern gasolines.

And the simple secret of Compound Carburetion is that it keeps your engine running on its most frugal diet for all normal driving—and provides full feed only when you need, want and call for the lift of extra wallop.

Meantime even the gears are helping save money—for the regular high gear in a Buick gives you the economy of the so-called "gas-saving" top speeds you hear about.

The big thing is, of course, that this is no small car that's setting these economy figures. There are all the room, size, impressiveness, comfort and downright thrilling performance you expect from a Buick.

So it isn't because the needle's out of kilter that it goes down so slowly. It's simply because it's in a FIREBALL Buick.

Who wouldn't like a Gift from your Gas Range?

A PACKAGE of homemade candy — A box of cookies — a Christmas cake — a plum pudding. What better gift could you give your friends? There's nothing stereotyped about it. It's personal and shows that time and thought have been given to it.

In order to make these delicious gifts you should have a good gas range. That's more than half the secret of successful baking and cooking. Cakes should be baked at the exact temperature, icing boiled to the split second. There is no need to guess with a Certified Performance gas range. These ranges have features that make them superior to old style ranges — correctly insulated, automatically heat controlled ovens — ovens and top burners that give a wide range of heats. All burners light automatically. Broilers have smokeless broiling pans. Prices from $99.95 cash, installation included. Terms — small sum down, small sum monthly.

Standard Courts Necessary

One of the biggest drawbacks of the present-day high-powered basketball is the disparity in the size of various courts. When a team is put on a strange court, the chances are about five-to-one that it will be a different size than the one on which they have been practicing at home. Some are much larger, some much smaller; but you can bet your boots it will be different. Now we believe the time has come for the State Athletic Association to take a firm hand and try to clear up a situation which should never have been allowed to happen. The state fathers should make every attempt to allow nothing but standard-sized courts for interscholastic competition.

The case at hand is typical. Emerson High plays its home games (and incidentally gets in all its practice) in the Robert Waters grammar school which has a court set down in the center of the stands similar to and just about the size of a surgical amphitheater in a small hospital. Al McBride figured the court was at least ten feet shorter than the floor in the local high school.

Now, when you put a team on a floor like that when they have been used to something a wee bit larger it takes them at least half of the game to get the feel of things. Usually the home team puts the game on ice by that time. Somehow set shots just don't seem to set and follow-ups are followed too much and land out of bounds.

Then a few weeks later the team might have to trot out into something like Dickinson's huge barn in Jersey City where you couldn't recognize your own brother on the other end of the court. Here your set shots will all fall short and, when you start dribbling in and feel that you have already run half-way to Hong Kong, you look up and see that basket another hop-skip-and-a-jump away.

It is easy enough to fix the oversized courts by simply drawing new lines. But it is probably asking too much to ask some schools to rip out a few walls to add a couple of feet to their floor—at least at the present time. But schools with undersize courts could, to some extent, play their games on neutral courts.

The state A. A. recommends high school courts forty by eighty. The Belleville court is the proper width but even here it is four feet short of the suggested length. Yet there are few courts on which the locals have to play which are as long as this one. McBride estimates the Emerson floor at thirty-five by sixty or thereabouts.

In order to be considered for the state championship, football teams have to conform to certain rules and one which is never disputed is the size of the gridiron. Why, then, should the great disparity in basketball courts be permitted?

Ice Skating Rink At Turf Bog Ready This Weekend

The new ice skating rink at the Turf Bog was flooded for the first time yesterday to "see if it would hold water," according to Town Engineer Sheehan. The test was reported satisfactory and the rink, which is 150 by 300 feet, is expected to be flooded permanently this weekend.

The area is over the seven tennis courts at the Bog. The town has constructed a concrete curbing around the space and will install four 500-watt floodlights there for night skating. Sheehan will use the wooden forms from the curbing to build a wind-break there.

Meanwhile, Commissioner Waters reports that the town's snow removal equipment is in good shape and the Public Works Department is ready for any heavy fall. Four new plows have been purchased, bringing the number which can be thrown into the work to seven. The new equipment cost $825.

HARRISON HIGH NEXT OPPONENT FOR BELLBOYS

Play Tuesday Night At Harrison Court; Team Has New Mentor

A new coach with a veteran team will entertain the Bellboys on the Harrison High School basketball court Tuesday night. This is Fred Shields' first year of coaching anywhere and the Blue and White quintet is a decided question mark in the Jersey court picture.

Shields, who is only twenty-seven was one of the stars at Panzer College several years ago. He will field a team which he claims averages five feet ten in height, although the Bellboys will be skeptical until they see them. The locals still remember the so-called "five-nine" outfit put on the floor by Emerson Friday night.

Shields will start Terry Kavanaugh and Chet Pogorzelski at the forward positions, Jim McMahon at center and Walt Bagbuzinski and Jack Marciniak in the guard spots. McMahon, Kavanaugh and Bagbuzinski are all veterans and the last two are all-state soccer players. The two newcomers had considerable experience last year on the junior varsity.

The Blue Tide has had only two weeks of practice so far, according to Shields, and will open their season Saturday night against North Plainfield. The Belleville-Harrison game will be played on the latter's court at 223 Hamilton street, which is very little larger than Emerson's two-by-four and has a ceiling that is considerably lower.

A WORD TO THE GENTLEMEN

About The Ladies

In your office a telephone sits at your elbow all day long. It saves you many, many steps each day and you use it constantly to go places and get action in and out of town. Think for a moment how inconvenient it would be if you had to walk a considerable distance every time the telephone rang, or you wanted to make a call.

Now, how about your wife at home? How many times a day does she have to hurry up or downstairs to answer the telephone? If she is giving the baby his bath, must she go downstairs and leave him unprotected or just let the telephone go on ringing? If she is alone at night, is there a telephone handy at her bedside?

There's an answer to these questions for every man's wife. It's an extension telephone that would save weary steps, give her more time to enjoy life and give her and the baby protection and security at all times. For a few cents a day.
