THIRD WAR LOAN CAMPAIGN OPENS HERE TODAY

ARP May Undertake House-To-Door Canvass For Subscriptions

Belleville is geared for the opening today of the United States Treasury's third war loan drive in which not only this town but every town throughout the nation will be combed for individual subscriptions that are expected to meet the largest goal yet attempted—$15,000,000,000.

In addition to the Peoples and First National Bank, the DeWitt Savings and Loan, and North Belleville Building and Loan associations and the Post Office will be issuing agents.

Mayor Williams announced last night, the appointment of Mrs. H. B. Fredericks of 23 Montgomery place, chairman of the women's division of the drive. A gold star mother, her son was one of the early casualties in town when his ship was torpedoed in the Gulf of Mexico.

There are seven issues of government bonds available, the popular Series E, F, and G and the Tax C Treasury notes. Most in demand for the individual buyer is the Series E non-negotiable discount bond in which three-fourths of the face amount is paid with maturity in 10 years. Series F and G are also non-negotiable with a 12-year maturity date and may be purchased by individuals and organizations. F requires a payment of 75 percent of the face amount while G requires full payment since it is an interest bearing bond.

The Treasury bonds available in either coupon or registered form have two and one-half percent interest rates. The two percent matures in 1953 and may be called in 1951, while the two and one-half percent matures in 1969 and may be called in 1964. Another type of government security generally for use by large corporations is the seven-eighths percent one year certificate of indebtedness available September 15 with a call date of September 1, 1944.

Opening Ceremonies

The Capital theatre will launch its drive this evening with an opening speech by Mayor Williams and ceremonies by the American Legion. Members of the American Legion auxiliary will pass through the audience to take pledges and will also man the war bond and stamp booth in the lobby for the duration of the drive. Miss Laura Webb of Joramond street, young war worker, who saw her brother in a newsreel at the Capitol recently as a survivor of the torpedoing of the "Selenia" will also take part in the program.

The drive chairman, Phillip Dettbach and his liaison officer Lawrence Keenan will meet tonight with Acting Defense Coordinator Roland Brunner, ARP Chief Edward Cantwell and his deputies to request the assistance of the air raid precautions group in the house-to-house canvass. If the assistance is granted, Brunner will be in charge of the house-to-house solicitation which will probably start next week.

The coordinator's office in town hall will be central headquarters for the drive, and will receive reports every two or three days not only on the ARP progress from the zone leaders but also from all their participating divisions, including the issuing agents, the industrial committee, the institutional division and outside banks which are reporting local purchases.

War Emergency Radio Service Of Council Seeks License

A license is being sought from the Federal Communications Commission by the war emergency radio service of the Belleville defense Council. Members in the meantime continue to meet weekly on Wednesday evenings at Grace Baptist church where they perfect themselves in the Morse code and other details of broadcast and reception.

Ben Pudney is secretary and organizer of the service which, when perfected, will be able to contact all civilian defense branches in town even though an air raid cripples telephone service. In the event of congested telephone wires the service can also be useful.

Volunteers, who are interested or all experienced in radio, are being sought by WERS to replace members who have entered military service. Pudney, Harry Tice, chief operator or Miss Ruth Topping, secretary should be contacted by anyone willing to join the work. Miss Louis Howells is in charge of publicity.

A 5-Year-Old With Right Idea

Little Abraham Korn, five years old, of 196 Washington avenue has two uncles in the Army and seems equally devoted to another "uncle" whom he has never seen. He insists on investing his gifts of money, including a recent one of five dollars, in savings stamps. His mother, Mrs. Abraham Korn, heard him last week in earnest argument with his seven year old neighbor, who thought he should buy at least a few toys, defending Uncle Sam's need for financial support. The little boy is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Jansen, whose son, Pvt. Israel Rosen has been stationed with the field artillery in Fort Bragg, N. C. since April.

Corbett, American Tag Official, Instructor In Rutgers Course

C. H. Corbett, American Tag company executive, is among the instructors of the production control course which will be sponsored by Rutgers University. This tuition-free instruction will be offered in Bayonne, Camden, Dover, Elizabeth, Hoboken, Jersey City, New Brunswick, Passaic, Paterson, Teaneck and Trenton. They will open in mid-September and meet once a week from 7 to 9 p.m. Any individual employed in production control departments or production supervision in war plants, who has been graduated from high school is eligible for the course.

Routing, planning, scheduling, expediting, stores and other phases of production control are taught by executives of many major New Jersey plants representing textile, drug and machine industries, to mention only a few. Rutgers will organize in plants themselves where fifteen or more persons desire instruction. Mr. Corbett was instructor early this year in a similar course sponsored by the university at the Leslie company in Lyndhurst.

Carmine Visits Michael After 23 Years In Nebraska Internment Camp

The playful fancies of the war gods perform strange magic. One of the results of their whims is the recent reunion of an American prisoner of war, late from the North African campaign, with his brother, Carmine Rossi of 416 Belleville avenue.

Knowing that Michael, an old warrior of the Ethiopian and Spanish battles was in the present conflict, Carmine was however, astounded to receive a letter from him postmarked the Scotts Bluff internment camp in Nebraska, a little over a month ago. The recent trip that he and his wife, Mary, took to see the 10 year old they had left at home in Italy 23 years ago, was an unnecessary reassurance that Michael so far, is pleased with his fate.

Michael who had tagged at Carmine's heels like an annoying puppy at their home in Borgia, needed no clue to his brother's identity. Overwhelmed with the meeting, they spent the weekend in happy reminiscence of the Capanzaro province in Calabria where the rest of the family still resides.

The veteran of three wars at 33, who has garnered medals, a thigh wound and a decoration with a chevalier cross by Franco with his credit, has two children, one is to get word to his wife and three children still living in Borgia that he is safe and well. The other is to get them to America, away from a country that has changed, unimaginably,

Allied Gains Placing More Names On War Lists

Soldier Reported Killed In Action; Sailor Missing On First Sea Trip

With the news of every fresh gain for the Allies in wresting valuable positions from the enemy in their relentless march toward Axis strongholds, come fresh casualty lists, regrettable yet accompanying price of victory.

Reports of two of Belleville's boys, one killed in action, the other missing, added to the score of our already listed heroes of the War department. They are Staff Sgt. F. Raymond Wyckoff Jr., 28, of 481 Union avenue, reported killed in the North African area, and Seaman 1/C Donald B. Hartley, 20, son of American Legion Commander and Mrs. Alonzo Hartley of 51 Mertz avenue, reported missing on his first trip at sea.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyckoff received the telegram from the War department on Saturday evening. Promoted in May or June to his present rank, Raymond's was the first name to be placed on the honor roll at Wesley Methodist church, since he entered the service in the first draft contingent to leave town in January, 1941. His name will be the first to bear a gold star on the honor roll, also, his parents observed yesterday, if the telegram is confirmed.

Showing concern for his family in his letters home, he said little about his experiences. His usual admonition was "Don't worry, I'm all right." He did reveal however, that he had been in the battle of Tunisia having landed with the first invasion force in North Africa in November of last year. His last letter dated August 5 stated that he was in Sicily and added the familiar admonition about concern for him.

The Staff Sergeant had been with Mario Morano, well-known golfier, who was reported killed in action at Tunisia during that campaign. He later confirmed the report for Miss Anne Petrosiano of town, a friend of Marano's when she wrote to him for information, since both were in the same company.

A graduate of Belleville High school in 1933, he was employed by the Prudential Insurance company of Newark before entering the service. After induction at under a Hitlerian flavored rule. A Welcome to the internment camp for which he has nothing but praise his brother, Carmine, related yesterday, voiced the attitude of the majority of Italians when he said that the faster Italy trades Germany for Allied occupation, the happier the country will be. Mussolini is still given due credit for his accomplishments, however, prior to the formation of the Axis team.

As a Top Sergeant in the cavalry, Michael was in the reeling force during the North African invasion and was taken by American troops at Bizerte (Continued on Page Six)

Carnival Ordinance Redressed For Another Inspection

The old carnival ordinance many times proposed and never passed, designed to place prohibitive restrictions and fees on carnivals and circuses coming into town, has been revised again by Town Attorney Lawrence Keenan, and is being sent in two alternative forms to the town commissioners for study.

Proposed and rejected over a year ago, it originally provided for a $30,000 bond and a daily license fee of $1,000 while the company is in operation within town limits. It came to light again over a month ago when the American Legion sought to bring a carnival into town as a money making venture. Since that time its restrictions have been studied so that it will not prevent churches and other local organizations from running their usual affairs.

NEED 696 WOMEN IN 'APRON BRIGADE' FOR WAR PLANTS

That Is Belleville's Quota In Drive For 50,000 By January 1

Belleville is now a part of the "tri-county apron brigade," with its quota of 696 women to be recruited for work in war industry, set by the Community Manpower Mobilization committee. No idle chatter, this number from this community must be met by housewives, mothers and grandmothers, the committee declares, if the area is to escape being labeled as critical.

Major Howard J. Lepper, Area Director for the War Manpower commission, publicly has confirmed the overall need for a total of approximately 50,000 women workers in the tri-county area, stating that Essex county's part in the recruitment campaign depended largely upon the ability of factories to absorb women recruits in great volume.

CONSIDER HIRING DRIVE DIRECTOR

Budgets Will Be Presented Again For Council And War Fund Groups

A joint meeting of the boards of trustees of the Belleville Community Chest and Council and the Belleville War Fund will be held tonight at 338 Washington avenue. Complete attendance of both bodies is hoped for, according to Paul deHagara, chief executive of the Community Chest, as those who have been on vacation will have an opportunity to inspect the budgets submitted by local agencies which will participate in the November drive and that of the Associated Catholic Charities which the membership has tentatively voted to accept into the drive this year.

This will be the second special meeting within the past month. Other urgent considerations are the installation of a paid campaign manager and the acquisition of an independent office and a paid executive to conduct the year round business of the Community Chest and Council. Collection of pledges made at the time of a fall campaign, if not properly executed, can substantially reduce the ultimate amount of the drive. The allocation of funds has also become more complicated with the increased number of participants.

The New Jersey State war fund has extended an invitation to deHagara and a delegation of representatives to attend a labor rally for war fund participation at Essex House in Newark, Tuesday evening. Labor and industry management and executives of New Jersey's individual Community Chests and war fund committees will be represented.

Walker Grabs Another Title For The Nereid Boatmen

Mid-State Senior Singles Is Fifth Crown He Has Taken This Season

Al Walker, Nereid Boat club's spectacular claim to fame, who this year has rung up national and international lightweight sculling championships, added to his titles over the weekend by copying the senior singles championship at the Middle State Regatta on the Schuylkill in Philadelphia.

Walker, a yeoman in the Navy who by virtue of his station in New York is the only Nereidian available this year, to row under club colors defeated four rivals and won by five lengths in the mile and a quarter race. He led the invasion of out-of-town scullers who for the first time in many years, gained major honors in an important Philly regatta.

Starting fast he pulled out in front to row away from Harold Finigan, the Malta B. C. sculler, Philadelphia's best bet. Al Gallagher, national singles sculling champion of the Penn. A. C. R. A. was absent and did not defend his title gained in 1942.

This victory brings the total to five, garnered by Walker for the Nereid boatmen. At the beginning of the season, after weeks of nightly rowing practice on the Passaic, he took the Metropolitan sculler singles on the annual De-

Parmer Challenges Opponents of Liberal Arts; For Teaching of 'Resourceful Citizenship'

Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmer has released the following statement by the Educational Policies Commission which is composed of the National Education and the American Association of School Administrators with offices in Washington, D. C. It presents a challenge and a pledge to teachers and students not only here but throughout the country, to preserve an "unbreakable national unity" in this school year as America enters on the second phase or offensive stage of the war.

When the schools opened in September, 1942 the outlook was dark on all fighting fronts. As the schools open in 1943 the United Nations have assumed these offensive.

We have successfully met the first test of this war. The dictators declared that this great democracy could not learn quickly enough to unite and fight. The citizens of "decadent" democracies, they said, could never match the efficiency of the "master races" of totalitarian states. That boastful arrogance has been proved false. We have won some important battles. We have beaten back the immediate threat.

Now we face the second test. It is a much more exciting test than the first. Will we now that the immediate danger to ourselves has been reduced, maintain for the long pull ahead an unbreakable national unity, a clarity of purpose, an untiring spirit for the next offensive? The casualty lists grow longer; the wounded begin to fill our hospitals; the annoyances and deprivations on the home front increase. Will we maintain the pace? Will we steadily increase it as time goes on? Will we be so clear regarding the purposes for which we fight that we will discover and reject the spurious "peace offensive" that may begin at any time? Will we and our Allies maintain mutual confidence and complete cooperation? If a major setback befalls us, will we grit our teeth, rally our forces and start all over again? Will we conduct a national election in the midst of war without subordinating the national welfare to partisan advantages? Will we be able to solve our domestic problems,—inflation, rationing, manpower, relationships among all the races, all the creeds, all the different economic

Kids Prefer Diplomas To Jobs As Drop Of Only 50 Is Recorded

The usual counting of noses took place yesterday in all the elementary schools and the high school as youngsters reported for their first full day of school work in classrooms that had been empty during the weeks of summer vacation.

Concerned principally with the high school enrollment as an indication of prevalence of the 16 year old's preference for war jobs, Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmer said yesterday that the first day showed a normal fluctuation of 50 in the registrations, with 30 less students in the total enrollment of 4,729 in all the schools, as compared with last year.

Although late vacationists may account for a percentage of the drop at the high school from 1,454 to 1,419, Parmer indicated that undoubtedly some 16 year-olds have permanently forsaken their studies for pay checks.

Included in the high school figures are 30 who have registered for the work-school schedule arranged for those who wish to continue in war production while finishing their course. Periods have been so arranged, he said, that they may take a full schedule either in the morning or in the afternoon, leaving the other half of the day available for jobs.

New Collection Of Baubles Arrives From Pennsylvania

Thanks were extended last week to Belleville persons, who have contributed and are contributing to the victory jewelry campaign by the New York chairman, Mary Greaza of the Twelve Night club, theatrical organization which has sponsored the drive in the East.

At the same time a consistent number of baubles was brought in and placed in The Times of Tuesday by Mrs. Fred Wise Bethlehem, Pa., daughter of Mr. A. A. Buckley of Tiona who started the campaign here and through whom it was introduced to Bethlehem residents. The five-week-old collection amounted to 110 pounds and drew to the window of a Bethlehem department store where it has been displayed for the past ten days. It will later be forwarded to New York together with local contributions. The campaign is still in progress.

Mrs. Moore came to New York before the baby's birth from Eldorado, Arkansas, where her husband was previously stationed as a civilian employee of the Army Ordnance department.

The transport in which Mrs. Moore and Donald travelled could not land at Pittsburgh on a scheduled stop due to weather conditions and was forced to return to Harrisburg, Pa. The following morning they went on to Kansas City and the remainder of the trip was made by train as precedence had to be given to military passengers.

ried Saturday in that city to Robert W. Quinn. Twelve guests were present.

Deetjen of 28 Clearman place. TERESA MILLER RECENT BRIDE

Marriage To Pfc. Harold Weeks Took Place Thursday At St. Peter's

Miss Teresa Elizabeth Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller of 166 Cedar Hill avenue, and Pfc. Harold Walter Weeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weeks of Kearny, formerly of Belleville, were married Thursday afternoon at four o'clock in St. Peter's Church by Rev. John S. Nelligan. A reception for the two families followed at the Miller home.

Miss Virginia Margaret Miller attended her sister and Vincent Callahan of Kearny acted as Pvt. Weeks' best man. Mr. Miller gave his daughter in marriage. The bridal gown of white satin with net overskirt was made in princess style, with shirred bodice and Miss Miller wore a three-quarter length veil draped from a coronet of orange blossoms. White roses and lilies of the valley were her bouquet. Miss Virginia Miller's French blue moire taffeta gown of similar style was worn with a small pink hat of plumes and net and she carried pink roses.

Miss Miller was graduated from Belleville high school and is with the Monoservice company in North Newark. Pvt. Weeks is a Kearny high school graduate and has been in the Army nine months. He is stationed with an engineering division at Camp Maxey, Texas.

After a short honeymoon, he returned there Sunday night. His bride will remain with her parents.

PRESSURE COOKERS ARE DISTRIBUTED

Will Be At The High School, Silver Lake And Stadium

Announcement was made last week by the nutrition committee of the Defense Council, headed by John B. Hewitt, that three pressure cookers had been obtained and delivered to the Municipal Stadium where canning headquarters were established this summer in the Welfare Federation offices. Gas ranges were connected there and it was hoped that group canning would be held there this season.

However, this week, one pressure cooker will be taken to the high school where it will be used in the home economics department and one will be delivered to the Silver Community house so that women in that area may have the use of it. Mrs. Mary Sheldon, new home economics instructor in the high school, will include canning early in the high school program and students who furnish their own produce and jars will, of course, have the results to contribute to their families' preserve closets. Mrs. Sheldon also proposes to give aid to mothers of the students who may be interested in further canning help or demonstration. She will meet any group of women in the high school after school hours for this purpose. Arrangements should be made in advance.

Mrs. Thomas Jackrell, canning chairman of the nutrition committee, will assist Mrs. Sheldon if the need arises for such demonstration. Mrs. Jackrell should be contacted also by anyone desiring the use of the third cooker which will be housed at the stadium but which can be borrowed by an individual for use at home. Mrs. Jackrell can be reached at Be. 2-4260-M.

Discussing the canning situation this week Mrs. Jackrell expressed satisfaction that she had been consulted so frequently by telephone this summer with canning queries even though the hoped for canning bees had not been in demand. It is obvious to her that considerable "preserving" has been done by Belleville women who are now at work on the peak crop of tomatoes and late crops of string beans. She has had many inquiries too, about the canning peaches which, although they are scarce and costly are being put in jars by many women. Most of them feel that factory canned peaches will not be plentiful and that housewives will not be able to budget their points to obtain them.

"DO YOU Really Mean It?"

"You say you're not a war worker. You don't buy planes or guns? You can't go in the army? You don't want to do something to help buy the war effort? Do you really mean it, Mister! Listen!

"See that Marine fire five cartridges. A school-boy bought those cartridges with his Savings Stamp. He's doing something!

"One of our destroyers just sank a Japanese battleship, chasing it a mile. Listen, Mister! He bought a fifty-cent War Stamp out of her pocket. She paid for the fuel oil which ran her for a mile. She sank that sub.

"See that soldier defending his position with his rifle. His dad put that rifle in his hands. He bought a fifty dollar War Bond.

"That man over there with ten thousand dollars worth of what he did when he bought those War Bonds. He fired a thousand shots at enemy aircraft gun.

"A bullet just glanced off the helmet of a soldier. You say the helmet saved his life? He bought it with fifty ten-cent War Stamps. They saved his life!

"You want to help? How many lives will you save today, Mister?"

MEMORIAL FOR MRS. ALEXANDER

Women's Republican Club Pay Tribute To Deceased Member

A memorial program in honor of the late Mrs. Julia K. Alexander will occupy the major portion of the program this afternoon when members of the Belleville Women's Republican club hold their initial fall meeting at the Woman's clubhouse.

The board of trustees will convene at 1:30. At two o'clock Mrs. John F. O'Brien Jr., founder and honorary president, will address the general membership in tribute to Mrs. Alexander who had completed the first of a three year term as president when she died in mid-July. Also a charter member and holder of various offices in the club, Mrs. Alexander was active in Republican county circles and was a member of the Belleville Woman's club.

Mrs. David Sundheimer, Mrs. Alexander's predecessor in the club's major office, will deliver an original poem in the latter's honor; Mrs. W. K. Davey will read a prayer and Mrs. Edward Rochau will sing the hymn, "God's Other Room."

Miss Esther P. Adams, first vice-president, has found it impossible to assume the presidential office to complete the unexpired term. Election of a new president will be held at the October 14 meeting. Mrs. Ruth Fredericks, legislative chairman, expects to present a representative of Walter E. Edge at that meeting.

At the conclusion of today's program plans will be made for a card party to be held this month at the home of Mrs. Arthur Maycr, assistant recording secretary. Refreshments will be served today under the direction of Mrs. Frances Satz, hospitality chairman.

Girl Scout Council Reports On Season At Kin-Ly-Spec

74 Girls Enjoyed Facilities, Many Given By Concerns And Individuals

In a report prepared this week for the Belleville Girl Scout Council, of which Mrs. Elmer S. Hyde is commissioner, Mrs. Leroy Long, camping chairman, listed receipts and expenditures and gave an analysis of camp enrollment and costs for the six weeks period during which the newly-named cabin in South Mountain reservation was occupied. Camp Kin-Ly-Spec housed a total of 74 girls and three directors during that time. As some of the girls remained in camp longer than one seven-day period the number of camping weeks amounted to 106.

Scouts and Brownies paid $8 a week, non-scouters $9. The food costs amounted to $7.98 a week per camper. Other expenses were those of transportation, supplies, maps, etc., camperships for junior counselors and salaries of director and assistants.

More than $230 of the financial intake was accounted for by donations of which $200 from the Eastwood Nealley corporation was used for salaries. In addition to donations of funds, acknowledgment is made in Mrs. Long's report to local concerns which furnished materials for the extensive crafts program. Scrap leather from Federal Leather company, cardboard and paper for book binding from Clark and Hammer, incorporated, lineoleum scraps from Congoleum-Nairn, incorporated and paper from Sweeney Lithograph company were among them. Abbott's Drug store and the Rivoli Drug store contributed supplies for the first aid cabinet as did Dr. Anna R. Schults.

Individual assistance was forthcoming from Miss Mary Anderson, who helped with micrographing; Mrs. A. G. Betterton with refrigerator and other house-keeping; John Kilpatrick, who loaned archery materials; Miss Emily Schmetter, who sent the campers homemade jellies; Miss Myrtle Schmetter, who proposed the funds of the defunct Belleville Women's Athletic club for the purchase of a permanent archery set and target; Mrs. Larry Gates, who purchased a camp chair and Harry G. Specht of Eastwood Nealley corporation, who donated prizes and miscellaneous equipment.

A bank balance of more than $30 remains to the camping committee. Mrs. Long concluded her report with a letter of appreciation in which she said "The camp committee of the Belleville Girl Scout council, together with the Girl Scouts, desires to express publicly its appreciation and thanks to the persons and companies listed for their donations and assistance. "It is chiefly through their efforts that our Camp Kin-Ly-Spec enjoyed such a successful season. The camp committee also extends its thanks to the directors, Miss Virginia Charlton and the Misses Betty and Jean Goode; to the leaders, Mrs. M. W. Bennett, Mrs. J. M. Snyder, Mrs. Robert Sutherland, to the mothers, Mrs. A. W. VanDusen and Mrs. William Boyd, who served as relief directors; to mothers and council members who accompanied the scouts on the bus to and from camp each week; and to those who served at Girl Scout headquarters, 400 Washington avenue, accepting camp registration.

"Without this assistance it would have been impossible for the camp committee to have had such a satisfactory camp season."

HARTLEY FLAYS BUREAUCRACY

Tells Rotarians Of Intent Of Eastern Block On Gas Question

Addressing the noon meeting of Belleville Rotary club yesterday at Forest Hill Field club, Rev. Fred A. Hartley, Jr., Republican congressman, stressed the point that the recent demands for investigations instigated in Washington by him and his associates on distribution of gasoline and fuel oil in the East, were based on a desire to assure this section of the country its just share for essential driving and home and factory heating—and not to obtain extra gasoline for pleasure travel.

The blame for the low value of gasoline coupons in the East, Rev. Hartley laid at the door of "divided authority" in the ranks of OPA. Contradictory statements, he pointed out, resulted in prejudiced opinion with regard to the need for gasoline here. He assured his listeners that the transportation bottleneck has been broken; insisted that some railroad facilities which might be used are not at work and further showed that if supply depots at the source of these transportation facilities had been properly stocked, enough gasoline would now be flowing East to make an A coupon worth 4 gallons of motor fuel.

Congressman Hartley substantiated these remarks by telling his listeners that Canada, which receives 80 percent of her gasoline supply from the United States, has an allowance for motorists which is twice as great as that of Eastern motorists, and no driving restrictions.

Not To Divert From Army The speaker strenuously stated that his group had never intended that any gasoline should be diverted from the Armed forces and asserted that "no congressional group could divert one drop of gasoline, if it wanted to". His intention was merely to equalize the supply available for civilian consumption.

Hartley criticized other OPA functions, particularly rent and textile control and said he felt that the principal reason for inefficiency was due to the fact that executives chosen for their control had had no experience in the businesses to which they were assigned.

He urged his audience to express its feelings to representatives in Congress, saying that "Election can cure any defects in Congress; but it can't cure the appointment of a bureaucrat. Use your ballot".

Underlining the observation that if we risk lives for the preservation of freedom we are also challenged to preserve the deep springs from which it flows, Parmer concluded by observing that the war will be won. "It is not too great a task for this great nation to prepare for the future," he stated, "at the same time that it meets the demands of the conflict."

Boyd A. Hartley, 51 Mertz avenue, Belleville, is studying at the University of Pennsylvania under the Navy V-12 program which has been established at a number of colleges and universities throughout the country to train officer candidates. Hartley, who holds the rating of apprentice seaman, attended Belleville High school before he became a member of the V-12 unit at the University of Pennsylvania.

been amply demonstrated, will receive the largest allocation in the first group. United Seamen's service and War Prisoner's aid complete the classification. Relief for occupied countries, particularly food and medical supplies, will be extended through the second group which includes such agencies as British War Relief society, United China Relief, Russian War Relief, Queen Wilhelmina Fund, Greek War Relief association, Polish War Relief, United Yugoslav Relief Fund, U. S. Committee for Care of European Children, French Relief Fund, Norwegian Relief, Belgian War Relief society and the Friends of Luxembourg.

The greatest amounts for unoccupied areas are destined, in order, to reach Russia, China and Great Britain. Medical, clothing, money, support for hospitals, nurseries and children's homes are included. Only food and medical aid can effectively be distributed now to the occupied lands.

Refugee Relief trustees is the organization in the third classification which will be financed to help governments handle the refugee problem. Safe refuge here will be the job of the U. S. Committee.

The total national goal is $125,000,000. Largest item is $61,227,000 for the U. S. O., the "home away from home" for America's fighting men.

Myterious Benefactor Gave Kids Daily Sprinkling

Youngsters of the William street firehouse vicinity put away their bathing suits last week when the daily showers provided at the firehouse came to a close. The street was closed to traffic daily for the shower period which got under way between 1 and 1:30 p. m. Firemen on duty alternated in supervising the shower which was made available, according to them, by "a friend." It was estimated that hundreds of children, between the ages of three and 14, romped through the welcome spray during the past two months.

Description Of New Emergency Vehicle Pennants

The new emergency vehicle pennant for all emergency motor vehicles, when operating during the "red" period of the public air-aid alarm, required for display, in addition to the present "Emergency Motor Vehicle card" will be mounted in an up-right position at the forward left side of the vehicle so as to be visible from both sides of the vehicle without obscuring the vision of the driver. It should be mounted on the front bumper near the left headlight so that it will be visible at night.

The emergency vehicle pennant is all white material in the shape of an equilateral triangle with sides approximately 18 inches in length and has in the center, the prescribed basic insignia of the Office of Civilian Defense, entirely in red, and approximately 6 inches in diameter.

These will be issued to those who are now holders of the emergency vehicle cards and will facilitate much better identification for those vehicles that are entitled to move and should move during an "alert".

Joseph Colucci Jr. of 29 Franklin street, will return home from the Beth Israel hospital on Saturday afternoon and appendectomy. Miss Mary Rogazzo of 34 Belmont avenue, had as a week-end guest her cousin, Miss Alice Gregory, of the Bronx, New York.

and social groups that make America? We have shown that we can start quickly; now we must show that we do not quit too soon.

The teachers and the students in our schools, like all the rest of the population, must this year continue, day in and day out, to give to their wartime duties an immediate and absolute priority in time, attention, personnel and funds over any and all other activities. They must teach and study better than ever, work harder than ever, give of themselves more generously than ever. They must refrain from petty complaints. They must buy war bonds and stamps to the limit. They must avoid all forms of waste in the use of materials, food, clothing, time, and money. They must above all learn to maintain a strong and intelligent loyalty to the principles for which this nation is fighting.

Without such contributions made by the million teachers and the thirty million students in our schools the outlook for victory would be considerably darkened or delayed.

There must be no slackening of effort at home as long as our men are fighting abroad. The Commission, therefore, invites the students and teachers of America to join in the following pledges:

As Students: We will remain in school, attend regularly, and learn all we can, to make ourselves effective in the service of our country, remembering that this war calls for many skilled services on the battle front and at home.

We will safeguard our health and keep ourselves physically fit, so that we may be strong to perform our duties, remembering that preventable illness is a serious handicap to full wartime efficiency of the nation.

As Teachers: We will provide a program of education and recreation for all youth, which will encourage them to continue in school and protect them from anti-social influences, remembering that they need to satisfy their desires for adventurous action and to feel that by continuing in school they can constantly grow in ability to render national service.

We will foster the physical and mental health of children and youth, and see that remediable defects are promptly corrected, remembering that the duties and strains of war require strong bodies and healthy minds.

Working Together: We will faithfully observe all regulations designed to prevent inflation, conserve materials needed for the war, and secure a fair distribution of civilian goods, remembering that the strength of democracy lies in willing cooperation for the common good.

Over and above our duties as citizens and our responsibilities as members of the school, we will seek and find additional opportunities to serve our nation and our community, remembering that small acts, when multiplied many times, may save lives, relieve suffering, and hasten the hour of victory.

We will be alert to the defense of our schools and homes against enemy attack, remembering that military authorities have warned us that air raids are still possible and that the lives and property of others may depend upon the vigilance of each one of us. We will strive to grow in our understanding of democracy, in our loyalty to democratic ideals, and in our practice of the democratic way of life, remembering that every day many Americans are giving their lives so that freedom may not perish from the earth.

We will keep ourselves informed on public affairs and seek to be unbiased in our judgments on public questions and the actions of public officials, remembering that freedom of speech should never be used for the sake of selfish or narrowly partisan interests.

We will continue to teach, to study, and to learn the principles on which a just and lasting peace may be built, remembering always that we fight in this war to create conditions under which peace may prevail and freedom may flourish.

We will stay in this fight to the finish, and not relax our efforts one split second before it is won.

delay in receipt thereof must necessarily be expected to prevent possible aid to our enemies. Please do not divulge the name of the ship or station.

Hopeful that their 20-year-old will still "turn up" unharmed, Mr. Hartley said last night that the family had last seen Don, a sea man in the U. S. Naval Reserve, just four weeks ago. He had been stationed at Noroton, Conn., where he was taking a course in signaling toward a radioman's rating, and had received weekend leaves just about every fortnight. He called his mother and dad shortly after that to tell them he was sailing one afternoon, on his first voyage. That was the last word they have had of him until receiving the War department message last week. Don was graduated from Belleville High school in 1941 and was employed by Wallace and Tiernan, incorporated, until called in to service in November, 1942. He took his boot training at Sampson, N. Y., and took a radio and signal course at Bedford, Pa., before his assignment to the Noroton base. He has a brother, Boyd, 18, who is training to be a pilot in the Naval Air Corps at the University of Pennsylvania. Boyd was graduated from Belleville High school in the June class in 1942 and was also previously employed at Wallace and Tiernan.

last spring. He spent a short time in Algiers before being transferred to an internment camp in England where he stayed for a month prior to coming here.

The Scotts Bluff camp is a large one, Carmine says, and is composed entirely of Italian prisoners of war about 15,000, he estimates. All with specified jobs assigned them. Michael is an operating room assistant in the hospital there. They have a limited amount of liberty, many athletic and social facilities, although they receive no allowance. That is a small matter, Carmine says since the only things they could possibly want would be cigarettes and money for a couple of occasional beers. These small needs are anticipated for the most part, he said, by relatives of the prisoners, just about all of whom seem to have a cousin or an uncle somewhere in the country.

The Rossi's have one other brother, also a soldier, from whom they haven't heard for a long time, and their mother, now 73, still lives in Borgia, Michael, who has a pleasing tenor voice, is anxious to see his two nieces, Josephine, who has made her operatic debut, and Anne, presently employed at the Prudential Insurance company, in Newark. This, Carmine thinks, may be arranged as a sort of Christmas gift to Michael sometime around the holidays.

are women available for war work. I know they will apply. Hundreds of Belleville women are working now in war industries. Most of them, I believe, are doing this work because they want to help our boys on the fighting fronts. The money they are earning comes in mighty handy. Some of them are providing a war bond nest egg for the future when times may not be so good. But their primary reason, I feel sure, is because they know the nation needs workers just as urgently as it needs fighting men. "So I appeal to those men in less essential jobs to transfer, if possible, to essential war work. I appeal to the women of our town, if they are in a position to do so, to get war jobs. I might point out to them that many war jobs are almost of the same type as the house work to which they are accustomed.

"A call to arms" has been sounded. It is a direct and challenging call—a call which no able-bodied man or woman over the age of 18 can disregard."

BADGY—is U. S. war slang describing a service man who enlisted while under age. Any citizen in the United States can enlist his money in the war. Buy an extra $100.00 War Bond in September.

Here's what we mean when we say—

"HELP WANTED!"

HELP WANTED

Without their radio, these survivors of a torpedoed ship have small chance of being rescued from the tortures of a lingering death at sea.

HELP WANTED

Hospital transport arriving in time to save these critically wounded men can only be called by radio.

HELP WANTED

Without supplies landed by transport planes called into action by radio, these fighting men will never survive.

HELP WANTED

The beach head has been established and the main landing force must be notified so as to be able to land on schedule. Radio insures the success of this venture.

HELP WANTED! Human lives—the lives of our sons and brothers and husbands—depend a great deal on radio, sound and electronic equipment. Help is urgently needed to make the equipment our armed forces must have for victory. That's why this appeal is addressed to you. Will you join RCA in helping to make the radio equipment called for on the many battle fronts of this war? Working conditions are pleasant. There are training programs for those with no experience. Pay is good. There are sick benefits, group life insurance, medical attention. A restaurant with good food is available. We have even provided a swimming pool, recreation center, music while you work—all to attract you. You may have part time work if you wish. Won't you call in person today and see if you can't arrange to do your part to help bring victory sooner? Persons in war or essential activity not considered without availability statement.

The Red Cross Home Service Brings Solace To Many

Active In Smoothing Family Troubles; Giving Service Here And Abroad

Consolation to the families of servicemen who are reported missing or prisoners of war is the home service division of the American Red Cross which has an intricate system of communications by which they trace the missing and a thorough organization which is in weekly contact with the war prisoners.

Local example has another letter from Pvt. Lawrence Russo, interned in Italy, in which he tells his mother, Mrs. Mary Russo of 293 North Belmont avenue of the "wonderful job" the Red Cross is doing over there. "We get food parcels every week," he said in his last communication, "and believe me, we have good meals from them." Overjoyed at receiving five letters from "mom," he is now asking for pictures of "everyone."

So that the workings of the local home service committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Louis A. Noll, may be better understood, its functions are outlined by the chairman, since every Red Cross chapter has a basic obligation toward service and ex-service men and women and their families. Each home service committee mobilizes chapter and community resources to give individual assistance. In this way the home service constitutes a continuous chain linking a multitude of chapter and branches with their area offices, and national and international headquarters.

Inquiries are requested to learn about the welfare and whereabouts of individuals whose location is not known. The acceptance of an inquiry imposes upon the American Red Cross the duty of obtaining whatever information is available and of reporting back to the inquiry.

Messages are 25 word letters, of a strictly personal nature, to persons whose location is known. Red Cross service in handling messages is simply one of proper channeling, in order that the messages may go through to the persons to whom they are addressed.

After Other Means Fail

It is important to understand clearly the distinction between inquiries and messages, and it is a basic Red Cross policy not to duplicate existing facilities for service. Consequently, if the regular postal channels are open, these must be utilized, with one exception. If repeated efforts to establish communication with an individual have failed, inquiries, not messages, will be made to establish whereabouts.

Closely associated with the home service in the chain of services to the armed forces in military and naval welfare service. This unit of the national organization has responsibility for all Red Cross activities in military and naval posts, stations, camps and hospitals, and in offices of the Veterans Administration.

National Red Cross field directors serve at each Army, Navy and Marine Corps station and camp in the United States, insular territories and offshore bases. To these are referred service men who are disturbed by personal or family problems. When the field director learns of family difficulties which are troubling a man he seeks the help and advice of the home chapter. In turn, a chapter in working with a service man's family communicates with the field director when there is a need for consultation with the man or for obtaining information concerning him.

Among other activities — helpful to the military, to the men, and to their families, the field director is the channel through which commanding officers request chapter verification of illness at home and reports on home conditions needed in deciding questions of furlough, discharge.

Program At Hospitals
At all Army and Navy general hospitals, the American Red Cross maintains a program of social service and recreation work under the direction of Red Cross field directors, who are professionally trained medical or psychiatric social workers. These Red Cross field directors by writing to the home chapters secure information from the family and other sources to aid physicians in diagnoses and treatment. They also send to the home chapter information necessary for interpreting to the family the hospital reports and recommendations regarding a patient and his medical, employment and recreational needs after discharge. Members of Mrs. Noll's committee are Mrs. George Paul, Mrs. Kel Bamford, Mrs. Harry Nees and Mrs. Anthony LaPara. Mrs. LaPara is a sister of Cpl. Michael Tortoriello, prisoner of war in the Philippines.

78TH DIVISION HOLDS REUNION

Jerry Kamen Chairman Of Reunion Committee For Weekend Event

Several thousand veterans of the 78th (Lighting Division) will gather at The 312th Infantry memorial home, 620 High street, Newark this Friday to Sunday, for their annual reunion. This get together will mark the 25th anniversary of the opening of the St. Mihiel offensive, a drive in which the 78th participated.

The principal speakers will be Rev. Harold Thomsen of Little Falls, N. Y., who served as a private in the 310th Infantry of the 78th and Father John Farrelly of Nyack, N. Y., Chaplain of the 303rd Engineers.

Regimental Reminiscences
Jerry Kamen, 303rd Engineers of Belleville, is general chairman of the reunion committee. Among the local men also serving are Louis Negravel 303rd Sanitary Train and Carsten Bruns, 312th Infantry.

The program will open Friday evening with a series of regimental reunions. Saturday a full day of entertainment will be provided. Sunday's session will open with the annual election of officers and business meeting, and will be followed by a memorial service. In the afternoon there will be an old fashioned chowder party, supplemented by music and entertainment.

Mayor Harry Thoutot of Union City will exhibit drawings of the fourteen stained glass windows which have been installed in the 78th Chapel at Fort Dix as a memorial to commemorate the memory of the 78th men who were killed in service or have since died.

ORDER PENNANTS FOR DEFENSE CARS

Those Driven During Air Raid Alarm Must Show New Identification

Authorization was given at the Defense Council meeting last week for the purchase of approximately 400 pennants bearing civilian defense insignia for the use of all emergency motor vehicles to operate during an air raid alarm.

Defense Council Chairman Everett Smith said that according to a communication from State OGD Director Leonard Dreyfuss, all emergency motor vehicles will be required to display this insignia after September 15.

Only those persons who now hold the Emergency Vehicle cards which are displayed in the right hand corner of the windshield or those who are eligible to receive them in the future will be permitted to have the pennant.

Under the new ruling, Emergency Motor Vehicles will be required to have both the emergency cards and the pennants. Dreyfuss said, will permit easier identification of vehicles by the air raid wardens and auxiliary police. The latter have complained that the emergency cards in the windshields could not be seen at night and resulted in the continual stopping of automobiles permitted to move.

The pennants are being manufactured by the State Use Division of the State Department of Institutions and Agencies and will be ready for distribution to local Defense councils during the latter part of August. Dreyfuss pointed out that all vehicles are permitted to move during the "blue" period of an air raid alert. However, only those cars bearing the pennant and emergency card will be permitted to move during the "red" period.

He asked all local Defense councils to instruct the auxiliary police that vehicles are not to be stopped during the "blue" period. He said motorists had complained that in some communities the air raid wardens and auxiliary police halted all traffic on the sounding of the "blue" alarm.

INSULATION NOW WILL SAVE FUEL

Three Percent More Homes Weather-proofed Will Divert Needed Coal, Oil To War

More than 44,250,000 gallons of oil and more than a million tons of coal can be released for war, if only three percent more homes heated with these fuels are completely weatherproofed before next winter, according to a study by the Federal Housing Administration.

of the houses in the country are still not weatherproofed. Can Save Fuel
The FHA study shows that a home-owner or tenant can keep warm next winter with about 60 percent as much oil or about two-thirds as much coal if he prepares now to install storm windows, caulk and weatherstrip cracks, and insulates walls and ceilings. Savings in fuel will repay the cost of complete weatherproofing in five to ten years, depending upon the size of the house and the kind of fuel. FHA is insuring three-years loans up to $2,500 for this purpose, and both the Federal Reserve restriction on consumer credit and the War Production Board limitation on the use of critical materials specifically exempt weatherproofing from their provisions.

Let's get it over quick. If you can thread a needle you can help win the war now—not tomorrow when thousands of sons, husbands and sweethearts have lost their lives. Take a job—part time or full time. Take a job.

time job, take a job of any kind. You may be releasing your neighbor for a war job.

The Third War Loan Starts

The starting gun for the United States Treasury's Third War Loan drive was heard around the nation today when well-organized committees in every city, town and hamlet put machinery in motion to raise the largest quota yet asked—$15,000,000,000.

Since the two-fold object is not only to finance the largest undertaking in history, but also to curb inflationary tendencies, this will be a much more relentless campaign than those which have preceded it. Because it is aimed at the average individual in order to get his surplus money out of competition for scarce commodities, subscriptions from banking institutions are being refused until the end of the official drive. And the well-organized campaign under the local committee, to persuade Bellevillites to scrape the bottom of the money creak, is a three-way affair. In addition to increased pay-roll deductions for the purchase of war bonds in local plants, the banks are calling upon their depositors and the defense council is cooperating in providing volunteers for the house-to-house canvass.

Regardless of what the individual has given before, he is asked to give much more this time. It's part of the home front responsibility that must be shouldered by those "behind the men behind the guns."

Remember To Drive Carefully

With school days beginning once more, motorists as well as book-toting youngsters will have to start learning last year's safety lessons all over again. A nationally known safety leader has pointed out that accidents to children reach one of the year's highest peaks during the fall months. The importance of motorists' cooperation is apparent when it is shown that one out of every three youngsters between 5 and 14 years of age who meets death through an accident dies in an automobile accident.

Children going back to school are returning to what at first is an unfamiliar routine. Many of them have not been over the route to school twice during the whole summer.

A good many motorists during the summer have a tendency to disregard "slow" signs near schools. They have to be re-educated each fall to the necessity of being constantly alert for children in those areas. Kids have a tendency to act first and think later. And their actions are quick and spontaneous. They forget. Drivers must not.

That Telephone, Again

Talkative folks who still use the telephone in lieu of a weekend visit wouldn't tolerate such verbosity if they were running a company faced with a tremendous increase in wartime volume of business to be handled with peacetime equipment and an unsolvable man and womanpower shortage thrown in for good measure.

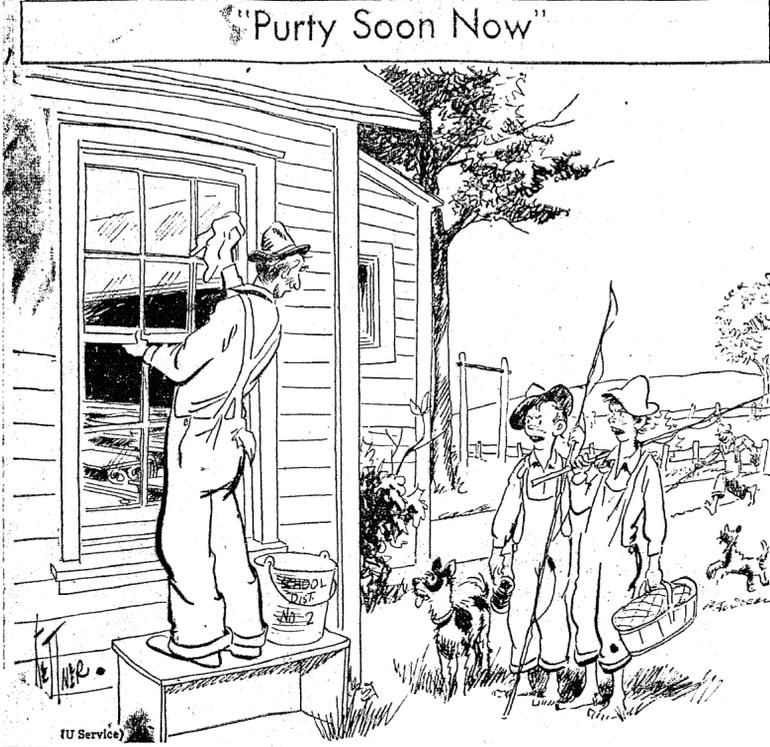

But on the theory that the customer is always right—or nearly always—the New Jersey Bell Telephone company in the privacy of its own offices distractedly tears its hair and hopelessly hunts for a panacea for its present dilemma which it knows of course, cannot be found without the sympathetic cooperation of the public.

We heard from one who knows, this week, something of the problem the communications company faces by day and is haunted with by night. We heard for instance, that it takes 63,000 calls to build a Liberty ship, and 12,000 to build a bomber. We won't go into the necessity of all these messages at the moment. We could speculate on a possible inefficiency within organizations that require all that verbosity if we were sure that we, ourselves might not have a few stones pelted in our direction.

However, we can point out the obvious fact that Liberty ships and bombers and military and government calls regardless of redundancy have the edge on our usual preoccupations voiced over the Bell system. The calls made by servicemen even if they are only for half-convincing assurance that Mabel and Emmy Lou still have them labeled as first in the heart parade, should, if we have a glimmer of understanding, remind us that the postmortem on last night's bridge session can wait until that defense council or Red Cross meeting.

Putting it squarely Belleville has behaved pretty well. This however, is a timely reminder that we should think twice before calling any number. The cinch can still be tightened on our present restraint, to guarantee good, fast service of a medium that is irreplaceable in an emergency.

We urge you to check with our Business Office on the telephone situation in the locality to which you plan to move, even if it is another section of the community where you now live.

Canning Pears and Plums
Although few Jersey-grown pears and plums are on the market, homemakers who have access to trees of their own will most certainly want to harvest every bit of fruit. For besides being good canned, both fruits can be made into delicious preserves and jellies.

Canning Pears

Pears should be picked when they are full size but before they have begun to turn yellow. If the ripening takes place in storage, likelihood of bruising is lessened.

Canning Plums

Plums, which have just become ripe, are even easier to can than pears. One bushel weighing 56 pounds will yield about 30 quarts.

Process the partly sealed jars (seal covers with a metal disc completely) in a boiling water bath for 20 minutes. At the end of that period, tighten all loose jar tops.

Some homemakers prefer to shrink their fruit by cooking it in the hot syrup for five minutes before packing the jars. After the fruit is arranged in the sterile jars, cover it with the hot syrup, and seal for processing according to the manufacturer's directions for the type cover. These hot-packed plums need to be processed only five minutes in a boiling water bath. Finish sealing all jars which were only partly sealed for processing.

The vegetable show was divided into classes and the judges, William Plenge, chairman of victory gardens here, Anthony Vuona and John Costello, had difficulty selecting the winner in the tomato class. William Richardson was finally chosen for first place; John Lind, second; David Van Dusen, third.

Three boys whose string beans won them prizes were, in order, Thomas Carr, James Lampman and Harold and Charles Crane. William Durkee exhibited the finest green pepper and John Armstrong topped the home canned goods class with wild cherry jelly. Everybody had a chance to pass on the excellence of this product when Mrs. William Armstrong served crackers and jelly to the cubs after the showing.

John took second prize in the flag contest when he submitted a copy of the Greek flag and George H. Jammer, third prize, for his handpainted Nicaraguan flag. Games and races were held while the judges were making selections and in the final six man relay race the team of David Van Dusen, William Richardson, Joseph DePiro, John Lind, William Durkee and William Findley won war stamps.

Another United Nations contest will be conducted at the regular meeting of Pack 350 this evening in Fewsmith Church.

How Did Your Garden Grow?

By Dr. Charles H. Connors,
N. J. College of Agriculture

Plans for next year's Victory Garden will be based upon experience of this year. Where new land in soil or weeds was plowed under, failure to grow well was often the result of not enough lime, not enough fertilizer or selection of a fertilizer material that was not balanced, and, in many areas, not enough rain.

Another cause of failure was careless planting. Seeds were planted too deep. If planted when the soil was wet, the filling soil was packed so hard that the seedlings could not get through the crust.

And then there was the failure to thin seedlings. The inexperienced gardener dislikes to pull up and throw away healthy seedlings. Yet, when he comes to the harvest of carrots, for instance that have not been thinned out at the proper time, he will find them smaller than he expects. They will be pressing against each other so that they are lopsided. The roots may even be twisted together. It is advisable that recommendations as to spacing be followed if good crops are to be obtained.

Recommendations as to planting distance are based on experience. The remedy is to sow seeds sparsely and then thin out plants to stand the proper distance apart. Beans spaced one inch apart will not yield as much as beans spaced an average of three inches apart, because of greater competition for moisture and nutrients.

Perhaps the tomatoes, to be allowed to spread on the ground, were planted too close together. The consequence is a matting of plants in the row as a result of too much growth. This prevents sufficient sunlight from reaching the fruit. It would be better to throw plants away or give them to a neighbor rather than to plant more in a space than the soil can support properly.

In a light, sandy soil, unless there is opportunity for adequate watering, spacing should be wider than on a heavier soil. One lesson we need to learn, then, is to treat superfluous plants as weeds and to get rid of them as we would get rid of weeds.

three "legs" instead of a straight root? This may be the result either of too shallow digging or because of an acid subsoil. Careless digging may result in only three or four inches of tillable soil. The tap root of the carrot may not be able to penetrate the hard soil underneath and divides. If the subsoil is very acid a similar effect might result because roots of vegetable crops will not grow well in acid soil. The remedy, of course, is to dig deeper next time. The soil should be turned over to a depth of at least eight inches. The roots of all vegetable crops will range deep if conditions are favorable. With deep rooting comes better resistance to drought.

Anything that may break the tap root, such as careless thinning, may cause this trouble. Some inexperienced gardeners took literally the expression "plant in hills." In some lands, especially where the soil is apt to be wet or frequent rains may occur, the practice of planting on an elevation may be advisable. However, by hills is really meant in a group. For instance, it is often a practice to plant cucumbers or other members of the same family in hills. Good results are obtained if the soil is dug out and some well manure is substituted at the bottom of the hole. This can be more easily practiced in a hill than in a row. So, two or three plants can be supported in this area with adequate spacing of hills for development. It is wise to plant corn in blocks of several adjacent rows. If only one row can be planted, better pollination will occur if it is planted in hills so that two or three plants are growing together instead of being set in a straight line. But the number of plants to a given area should be about the same. If the corn would be thinned to 15 inches in a straight single row, when planted in hills, the hills should be spaced three feet apart.

If plants are set in an elevation that is, on a hill, they are apt to suffer in dry weather, as the hills will lose moisture more rapidly. In good garden soil in our climate, level culture will give the best results. The only exception to this is potatoes, where hilling is practiced to protect the tubers. If not hilled, the tubers will be exposed to light, then they will turn green and the quality will be impaired.

We need ten million more work hours per month to bring our war production schedules up to scratch. Mothers and housewives, who have given so much, can give their ultimate effort now by taking part time jobs.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
PROCLAMATION

"This has been a year of accomplishment on the road to victory." We have driven the Axis before us. We have produced miracles in our factories. Virtually all of this has been achieved with our manpower and a ready reserve of womanpower.

Current headlines in the newspapers please us all, but even though Rome has become a stepping stone for Allied military operations, it still is a long way to Berlin and Tokio.

Today, there is a grave manpower shortage in the counties of Essex, Hudson and Union. In fact, womanpower is depleted. Greater womanpower must be enlisted. Women in all walks of life must recognize that they are an integral part of the effort if we are to get the war over — and get it over soon.

Yesterday, our women gave America their husbands, sons and sweethearts. Today, I ask them to take up the fight themselves.

Vital war production in the three northern New Jersey counties of Essex, Hudson and Union is seriously behind schedules.

THEREFORE, I, CHARLES EDISON, Governor of the State of New Jersey, do hereby call upon each and every woman in or near the area to recognize that this is a personal emergency — one in which she can play a glorious, patriotic role by qualifying herself for some form of paid employment immediately. All work is war work.

I call upon the Mayors of all communities within the area to recognize and act to alleviate this employment emergency.

I call upon business leaders, labor leaders, ministers of the gospel, educators, and all citizens of the affected area to recognize this employment emergency and to lend their aid to the program undertaken by the tri-county Community Manpower Mobilization Committee, which already has thirty-two local recruiting centers, known as "War Job Headquarters" in operation and expects to boost the total to forty-five or fifty.

Patriotic women in the three counties, I am confident, will respond in this employment crisis as their fighting men already have responded.

GIVEN, under my hand and the Great Seal of the State of New Jersey, this twenty-fourth day of August, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-three, and in the Independence of the United States the one hundred and sixty-eighth.
