STATE EDUCATOR TO SURVEY PLANS FOR NURSERY

Federal Security Agency Must Approve Facilities For Federal Aid

Dr. Fred Beach, consultant on school services for the Federal Security agency with offices in New York, has referred the inspection of Belleville's planned facilities for a child care center to Thomas Durell, state assistant commissioner of education.

His report will be submitted to Beach for final approval before formal application for Lanham funds may be made by the board of education. Assurance was given Ruel Daniels school board district clerk and Defense Coordinator Ronald Brunner last week by state board of education officials in Trenton that Belleville is eligible to apply for funds as far as the number of children in need of supervision is concerned.

However, some doubt exists on whether the present toilet facilities and rooms planned will be considered adequate by the inspector. The playground in school No. 10 has been offered by the board of education to the child care committee of the defense council for use as a day nursery for the two to five year old children of women working in industry. Plans for additional plumbing and kitchen facilities amounting to nearly $2,000 have been made by the board of education and these are to be considered by the inspector.

An Alternative

If they do not meet requirements set up for applications for Federal aid, an alternative could be the use of the Recreation house, some officials have said. The board of education has not yet passed a resolution in favor of applying for the Lanham funds although it has indicated that it would supervise such a project. It is now understood that the board of commissioners could apply for the federal aid in the event that the board of education fails to do so.

The federal grant would provide the cost of all of the equipment up to $1,000 and 50 percent of the operating cost. In either event the board of commissioners would be asked to underwrite the remainder with town funds. Since the commissioners have not yet been approached on their attitude toward the proposed child care center the eventual financing of this solution to the child care problem is still open to conjecture.

The child care committee has been attempting to set up a day nursery for the children of working mothers for the past two years. Various surveys have been made. The last which was made was the completion of the school social questionnaires. These were sent home with the school children, indicates that the mothers of 32 children between the ages of two and five years would avail themselves of the facilities if they were established. This more than meets the minimum requirements for application for Lanham funds. The Lanham act also stipulates that before and after school care must be provided for school age children and 87 of these were shown by the survey to be in need of such supervision.

Kids Embark On First Of Weekly Tin Can Collections Today

The kids' tin can salvage drive officially got under way today when elementary school pupils bring their first bags full of flattened tins to receptacles placed in the schools. It will be the first of weekly collections from their own and neighbors' homes and will supplement the customary monthly pickups which have been abandoned because of the de-escalation of help in the Public Works department.

Barrels, contributed by the Walter Kidde company will be emptied by the Public Works department once a week.

The Defense council members at their meeting Monday night also discussed the possibility of a contest among students of their school, with the greatest number of pounds of tin collected per student as the goal. Should such a plan meet with the approval of the principals of the public schools, weekly totals would be announced as an incentive to the drive.

Last week, the Westinghouse Lamp company gave the drive an added spur by placing a barrel for tins outside the company cafeteria. Other industrial concerns, who would be willing to aid similarly in the collection of the precious metal, are strongly urged to follow suit.

Children have been cautioned to wrap the tins in brown paper to prevent cuts and bruises. Tin cans should, of course, have their labels removed, their tops and bottoms cut off, and the cans themselves should be flattened before sending them to the scrap heap.

Malaria, Not Japs, Took Toll On This Marine Raider

Cpl. Michael Bonagura, Guadalcanal Veteran, Home On Leave

One of Belleville's own heroes, after sick leave from the United States Naval Hospital at Bremerton, Washington, arrived here Tuesday with orders to take an assigned station at the Brooklyn Navy Yard for the duration of the war. Malaria, acquired in Pacific combat was the only enemy this fighting Marine could not send down for the count.

A varsity football and baseball player at Belleville High School, Michael J. Bonagura, son of John Bonagura of 79 Mt. Prospect avenue, enlisted in the Marine Corps on June 17, 1940. After his boot training at Parris Island, and further training at Quantico, Va., the young Marine, now only 21, was sent on maneuvers to Quantico Bay, Cuba.

Back to Parris Island on orders as a drill instructor, the declaration of war sent him overseas until June of 1943.

Marine Raider

Corporal Bonagura was trained on islands under bombardment, as a Marine Raider, the American equivalent of a British Commando. Even to a finely trained athlete, the rigors of hand-to-hand combat, judo, and commando technique, seem rugged. It wasn't too tough when put to the test.

"Japs as fighters must not be underestimated," said Corporal Bonagura in the Times office Tuesday, "the quicker we can get this thing over the better it will be for us." After ten and a half hours one day of hand-to-hand combat on Bloody Knoll from August, after a bitter contest from August to the end of November, the Marine Raider knows what he is talking about.

CHURCH WOMEN IN DAY PROGRAM

Celebrate Armistice Day On Thursday At Wesley Methodist

An interdenominational service known as World Community day will be held next Thursday in Wesley Methodist church at 2 o'clock. Its purpose is to unite all Church Women and its message their responsibility for a just and lasting peace. The order of services is contained in a booklet issued by the United Council of church women and its message will be interpreted by Mrs. Edward M. Dodd of Upper Montclair.

Plans were made in October when representatives of all local Protestant churches met with Mrs. R. C. Whitfield at her Rossmore place home. Mrs. Marshall Whitehead, Mrs. H. W. Winkelman of Grace Baptist church; Mrs. R. C. Gardner and Mrs. Harry Wortman of Fews Church; Mrs. Walter G. Price and Mrs. C. E. Stout of Belleville Reformed church; Mrs. Edgar M. Compton of Wesley Methodist church; Mrs. A. B. Ross and Mrs. Oliver Chapin of Montgomery Presbyterian church and Mrs. Frederick Idenden of Christ's Episcopal church were present. It was later decided to form a choir of two members from each church for the Armistice Day program.

Mrs. Dodd is the daughter and granddaughter of missionaries to Iran. She spent her childhood to the age of sixteen in Persia where her father was principal of a missionary school for boys. She was graduated from Vassar college in 1915 and taught French for several years in Watertown High school after which she moved to Pasadena, Calif. Mrs. Dodd went to Turkey for a year after which she returned to Pasadena to teach French. She became a student secretary for the National and Foreign Women's boards of the Presbyterian church in the United States.

At the time of their marriage in 1922, Dr. Dodd, formerly a medical missionary in Iran, had been made medical secretary for the Board of Foreign Missions. The couple prepared a book, "Mecca and Beyond," a study on the Moslem world, which was published in 1937.

Mrs. Dodd is now vice-president of the Newark Presbyterian society. She has also been director of the department of International relations of the Upper Montclair Woman's club for two years. In 1942, she led the worship services at the National meeting of Presbyterian women. These were later published under the title "Spiritual Preparedness for Such a Time as this."

Preparing Mrs. Dodd's talk will be topics which cover the price of war and peace, the fact that promises will not produce and enduring peace, the dangers of complacency, economic interdependence and the new World Order. The belief that a supreme responsibility rests with the Church and Church members is the dominant theme of the discourse. At its conclusion the audience will vote on two questions involving post-war developments.

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVANCE

Legion And Veterans Will Have Program In High School

The annual Armistice day observance conducted by the local American Legion post and the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be held next Thursday evening in the High school auditorium at 8:30 o'clock.

An unusual program, it will feature noted musicians and talks by Mayor Williams and Harry Wood-Nealley, president of Eastwood-Nealley corporation and president of the Belleville Foundation. Speech's address will be entitled "Failure after Victory".

Miss Josephine Rossi, operatic soprano who is appearing at the Mosque, Newark, in Bizet's opera, "Carmen", on Sunday, will include on her program a composition, "Pierret" by Eli Schanes. She is a graduate of the Juillard school of music and is a teacher of piano and voice with studios in town. Peter Koustas, a high school student and member of the high school band and orchestra who appeared in the Foundation concert last June, will also give a trumpet solo.

Pianist will be Raymond Young of Newark, who appeared in recital at Town hall last year and is the winner of the National Federation piano contests in New Jersey. He has also appeared extensively in New York as well as throughout New Jersey. Verna Holly, a young soprano of town will also lead the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

The High school orchestra will give selections under the direction of Mrs. Alice Wagner and Charles Watson will lead in community singing. The Legion and the colors and the invocation will be given by the Rev. Peter Dec. Veterans will advance and retire by the Rev. Gannon, chairman of the committee on arrangements, will extend greetings and the program will close with the salute to the flag and benediction by the Rev. J. M. Kelly.

More Men Needed For Basses In Combined Choirs

Continuing their Monday evening rehearsals the Combined Choirs will meet at Wesley Methodist church next Monday at 8:30 to sing under William Haney with Arthur Ackerman at the piano.

More basses are needed and it was suggested that some of the members of the former Belleville Glee club would enjoy singing with the choir group. Since there will be approximately seven more rehearsals, any men who would like to take part in the program are urged to be present next Monday.

Ambulance Corps Appointment

L. M. McCloskey, ambulance corps chief of the Defense council, has announced that Lt. Michael Giannetti formerly of Casualty station No. 4 in school No. 10 has been appointed captain of casualty station No. 5 in school No. 4 to replace Capt. Henry August who has resigned because of pressure of business.

New Attendance Officer On Job

Robert Schneegas of town, new attendance officer appointed this year by the board of education has taken over his duties, Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmer has announced. He will check delinquency and attendance records for children from kindergarten through the 12th year in high school. Schneegas replaces Charles Speed, who was attendance officer until last year.

WILL VISIT WOMEN AT WAR JOBS IN LOCAL FIRMS

Women's Recruiting Chairmen Will Relate Their Findings

The campaign to recruit women for war industries is gathering momentum under the chairmanship of Mrs. Herbert Schmutz who is still busy spreading the "get a war job" plea among women's organizations. She and her co-chairman Mrs. C. D. Van Sickle will visit the Isolantite plant next week to study working conditions at first hand. They have also been invited to see women at production tasks at the Walter Kidde company.

Mrs. Charles McCarthy who is in charge of the mobilization of womanpower in Hudson, Essex and Bergen counties, will speak this afternoon at a large tea to be given by Mrs. Schmutz at her home on Rossmore place for about 40 mothers of men in service, when their aid will be enlisted.

Encouraging results have been obtained from the presentation of the plea at the meeting of the Areme chapter, Order of Eastern Star last Monday night, since several calls have been received from women interested in taking war jobs. Mrs. Schmutz has also written to the ministers of all the churches asking them to interest the women's church groups in the drive.

Mrs. Schmutz said yesterday that in New Jersey state sources of birth record data can be had in the office of the Registrar, Bureau of Vital Statistics, State Department of Health, Trenton. Records arranged by cities and counties began in 1848 but they were not indexed until 1901. The fee is one dollar. If the year is unknown 50 cents additional for each year to be searched is required.

When an applicant is turned away by a war industry in the Newark industrial area because of the lack of proof of this kind and reports at one of the war headquarters he or she is sent to one of the offices of the United States Employment Service, where a declaration of citizenship is made out.

Sometimes an industry will require an affidavit. Usually a declaration is sufficient. This declaration includes Section II, Chapter 440, Public Law, 671, 76th Congress, Third Session, which sets forth the penalties for an alien obtaining employment on secret, confidential or restricted government contracts by willful misrepresentation while seeking such employment. One of the two witnesses to the declaration must be an Army or Navy procurement, factory or plant representative.

Just Interested In 4 F's, Sweetie Says, As Recruiting Lags

In an interview early Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Boice, 58 Prospect avenue, Chief Petty Officer Sweetie expressed disappointment at the hesitation apparent among Belleville dogs to join the War Dog's Club.

"It is a lack of patriotism, I am sure," said Sweetie, first local dog enlistee, a seven year old Boston Bull terrier, "as much as a misunderstanding deliberately fostered by interests, shall we say, unfriendly to Dogs for Defense."

"I am not," she emphasized, "recruiting dogs for actual war work. The dogs I want to see are the 4F's. Small dogs, less than 18 inches high, or old dogs who are not acceptable for active service, can still do their part."

Any owner who wishes to make his dog a Private or Seaman may contribute $1 to the War Dog Fund, $5 will make him a Sergeant or a Chief Petty Officer. Commissions begin at $10 and $100 will bring your dog the title of General or Admiral. Robert Boice, "Sweetie's" owner, will take enlistments at 2-21-35. The fund is used to defray the cost of educating and shipping out war dogs used by the Army and Navy.

"Remember," said Sweetie, as she waved The Times reporter out the door, your dog will stay home with you, and still have a part in the war."

Lutheran Church Plans Armistice Service Sunday

An Armistice Day program will be held Sunday evening in Bethany Lutheran church at 8 o'clock. Pastor Willard Borchers will speak on "The Price of Peace". Miss Katherine Haffner will be accompanied in vocal solos by Miss Laurel Milne, organist. At this service will be representation of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion and their auxiliaries. This is the customary religious service of these organizations held each year on the Sunday preceding Armistice Day. They are held in a different church each year.

YOUNG TYCOONS CHOOSE PRODUCTS THIS WEEK

Some Will Be On Sub-Contracts To Local Industrial Sponsors

Representatives of the six Belleville industries sponsoring Junior Achievement groups have arranged to meet with the youthful tycoons in the High School auditorium this week. The series of conferences is planned to make final arrangements for the operation of the group headquarters at 562 Washington avenue. The appointment of stockholders will be announced at the close of the meetings.

The Belleville Junior Contractors, through officials of the Walter Kidde company, have announced their board of directors. Under the leadership of President William Hartley, vice-president Keenan, Treasurer Betty Lou Turner, and Secretary Marion Caskey, the company is mapping its plan of operation. Other members of the Belleville Junior Contractors are Shirley Cohen, Beatrice Glaser, Lillian Tobia, and Eleanor Vincenti.

The young company meeting Monday will manufacture under subcontracts from the Walter Kidde Company, according to adult advisors Joseph Rambo, Harry Mann, H. S. Soutar, and Kent R. Kostikyan.

Second of the juvenile companies to organize Tuesday evening was the Belle Chemical company which will be sponsored by Resistoflex corporation. Officers were elected in the high school and the presidency went to Nan Chesley. No vice-president was named; but Betty Armstrong will be secretary and Irma Iannelli, treasurer. Other company members are Robert Kanouse, Robert Rame, Giacico Maffia, Alvin Outel and Lee Simpson.

The new soap-imregnated steel wool will be produced by the youngsters operating under the guidance of the Resistoflex Company. Steven Sinding, Fred Thiemann, Joseph Gentile, and Glen Cole are the official advisors for Tuesday's meetings.

Christmas Toy Rush

The rush of Christmas toy production will be met by all-out cooperation from the junior organizations sponsored by Richard Thompson, Russell Kearney, Charles Zindle, and William Gibson, from Eastwood - Neally; Aolph Kurth, Tod Payne, John Priolo, and Harry Corbett from the Wallace and Tiernan company. This seasonal activity will be aided by the joint efforts of groups under the leadership of John Ericson and Harold Atton of Bart Laboratories, and S. Nagel and James Tullio of Viking Tool.

After the pressure of holiday business lessens, other subcontracts for war manufacture will be awarded the junior companies. Plans are also under way to sponsor a "give joint," and a junior broadcasting company, according to Edgar S. Peierls, committee chairman.

FORMER OWNER OF TIMES DIES

Johnson Foy, Ex-publisher Of Nutley Sun, Editor Here For 7 Years

Johnson Foy, owner and publisher of The Belleville Times from 1928 to 1935, died Saturday night in St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, after an illness of six weeks.

Mr. Foy, whose home was at 236 Grant avenue, Nutley, was for 23 years editor, publisher and publisher of The Nutley Sun, until its purchase by Russell D. Hay, a Utica, N.Y. newspaper man, who has also published The Belleville Times for the past three years. He purchased The Times from Wallace and Tiernan incorporated in January, 1940.

Although Foy retired from newspaper work five years ago because of poor health, he could not remain inactive and for the past year and a half was head of the publications department which he organized at the W. L. Maxson corporation, a New York engineering firm.

He was a member of the Nutley draft board, a charter member of the B.P.O.E. 1290 and of the Nutley Lodge of Masons. He was a member of Yonkath country club and was well known in golfing circles as a tournament player. He collaborated in writing a golfer's handbook.

Rev. L. Harold Hinrichs of Grace Episcopal church in Nutley conducted the funeral services Tuesday from the Stratt Funeral home there and burial took place in Vail Memorial cemetery in Parsippany. Surviving is his wife, Mrs. Olive Bray Foy of Nutley.

Citizens' Committee Will Discuss Elected School Board

The newly organized Belleville Citizens' committee will meet in the Recreation house Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock to discuss the advisability of having an elected board of education. Members of the present board are appointed by the Mayor for a five year term.

Rotarians Take Bombing Flight Over Enemy Zones

Lt. John Antonik Gives Vivid Description Of Missions

Antonik about the large proportion of enemy losses and asked him to verify them. This he did, citing an instance when a squadron of 24 bombers was attacked by 100 enemy fighter planes and shot down 55 of them with a loss of only three bombers. This, he explained, was due to the potency of the flying fortress with its gunfire. Guns mounted in numerous positions are able to fire constantly from all sides and shoot out the smaller planes.

He was also asked about precision bombing and assured his listeners that it was not only possible, but also practiced. A building, he pointed out, if it has only one corner shot off may be quickly repaired and go on with "business as usual". The bombs, however, are applied in such a way that the entire building is destroyed and the mission is carried out regardless of obstacles. His squadron, he said, had been cited several times for this type of precision bombing.

When asked about the quality of the German flyers, Lt. Antonik replied that they are extremely capable and so recognized by our own men.

Can't Understand Strikes

The bombardier will report next week to Atlantic City where he will receive orders for his next assignment. Questioned by a reporter previous to his address at the Rotary meeting, Lt. Antonik indicated that American fighting men in areas such as the one he has just left find it hard to grasp the labor strikes and production difficulties we encounter here. In the comparative luxury of this country is also hard for them to imagine anyone being disgruntled over rationing and other inconveniences. He indicated that while the fighting men were grateful

SCRAP PAPER WILL BE COLLECTED ON NOVEMBER 13

This Will Be First Of Monthly Pickups To Alleviate Actue Shortage

"Stop burning your old newspapers." "Save all bits of paper; don't throw them away in the wastepaper basket." These are the admonitions given by the Defense Council to the residents of Belleville, as the waste paper drive gets under way next Saturday, November 13.

Three trucks, with the possibility of a fourth, have been volunteered to scour the municipality in the hope of a record haul on the first monthly pick-up. Two trucks and the services of four men have been offered by the Beiser-Weidmann company, paper dealers; another by John Resnitti, tow scrap dealer; while still a fourth truck may be provided by Joseph Raaser, transportation committee member of the Defense Council.

Brown wrapping paper is especially needed, as well as cardboard cartons. Townspeople are urged to flatten all cardboard, however, since the more pressed the paper is, the higher the tonnage the trucks will be able to carry off to the International Paper Company in Bogota. In addition, residents are asked to save all scraps of paper, flatten them out in a paper bag and press them between old newspapers.

Monthly Collection

This new paper collection plan has been arranged by Charles Nutt, head of the paper drive, and Robert Sutherin, salvage committee chairman, in local effort to alleviate the acute paper shortage throughout the nation which is fast becoming a serious problem. The Defense Council plans to have such collections once a month, at which time the trucks will pick up the paper at the curbs and haul it off the same day to Bogota.

Due to the manpower shortage in the lumber country out west, the United States and Canada will only be able to produce three-fourths as much paper this year as last. On the other hand, the demand for the uses of paper far exceed the supply. Inasmuch as metal, glass, and plastic containers are not really available because of other shortages, many commodities are being wrapped in paper.

The army, too, fights with paper. For instance, "Y-boxes" in which food and ammunition are sent to service men overseas, consume over a half million tons of paper alone. The Army will use this year for containers alone half as much paper as all the magazines combined.

Industrial concerns, retail stores, newspaper plants, printing and publishing houses are already economizing under agreement with the War Production Board. The paper available for magazines and newsprint has been cut twice. But the real job of conservation and salvage can only be accomplished with the help of the public. So save your paper, flatten it, and leave it on the curb to be picked up by the trucks on Saturday November 13.

Get Service Stripes For Duty At Casualty Station No. 2

Service stripe awards were given to ambulance corps members of the Defense council stationed at casualty station No. 2 in school No. 3 last week at a meeting at the Recreation house.

L. B. McCloskey announced that certificates and chevrons went to all who have completed their training and one stripe was given for each 25 meetings attended by the members.

Lt. Stanley Stemple, Lt. Louis Lempert and Lt. Albert Benz each received certificates only since they are officers. Those who received the certificates and service stripes are Miss Ruth Chappe and Mrs. Hilda Cooper, three each; Miss Ruth Hess, Miss Thelma Ford, Miss Marjorie Haslam, James Anderson, Jr., Harry Holzhauser, and James Fisher, two each; Mrs. Virginia Wayne, E. H. Marcuson, Wesley Decker, Michael Pomoco, James Powers, Alexander Ross, Harris Riggs and Miss Helena Church, one each.

TOWN FOLLOWS STATE IN G.O.P. LANDSLIDE

Edge Gathers In 1,599 Majority Although Vote Was Light

Typical of the clean sweep throughout the state, Belleville voters went predominantly Republican in Tuesday's general election, giving Walter E. Edge, the majority by 1,599 votes over the Democratic candidate, Vincent Murphy, Mayor of Newark.

Although political dogsters rightly professed the outcome before the polls were opened, it was not expected that the question of the constitution revision would go over with such a landslide. Those voting yes to the proposition that the 100 year old document be rewritten and submitted to the voters for their approval at the next general election in 1944 numbered 2,126 to 439 against the proposal.

The vote on the who's was light, however, with only 5,450 going to the polls out of 11,656 registered voters. The Republicans gathered the rest of the slate for the office of freeholders and assemblymen.

Voting was heaviest in the third ward where 1,430 pulled the lever for Edge compared with 480 favoring Murphy. Edge led in fact, in all wards, with his next highest vote in the second ward where he polled 926 to Murphy's 564. The fourth ward gave him another large majority with 712 to his opponent's 494. The first ward rallied with the lightest turnout, giving the Republican Governor-elect 368 votes to Murphy's 297.

Harry Machette, chairman of the local Republican committee said last night that he wished to thank Belleville voters publicly and members of the county committee as well as the many friends who so generously gave their time so that "Belleville could share in the grand victory of Governor-Elect Walter E. Edge and the Republican ticket."

ARMY-NAVY TESTS NEXT TUESDAY

Qualifying Exams Will Be Given At The High School At 9 a. m.

Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmer today urged high school seniors in their last term of school and recent high school graduates to take the Army-Navy College Qualifying Tests, A-12 and V-12 next Tuesday promptly at 9 a. m. in Room 105 at the High School.

"Many young men privileged to enter the Army Specialized Training program will eventually become commissioned officers in the Army," Superintendent Parmer said. "Most of those accepted for the Navy College program will eventually become commissioned officers in the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard. This is an excellent opportunity for every ambitious boy, regardless of financial status, to attend college in order to make his most effective contribution to the war effort."

The purpose of the test to be given at the Belleville High school at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning is to aid the services in the selection of prospective candidates for training to become specialists, technicians and officer candidates in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard. The test takes two hours and is designed to measure the aptitude and general knowledge required for success in the college programs. All questions are of the "best answer" type in which the candidate is to select the best or correct answer from several choices.

Age Limits

Those between 17 and 20 years of age who designate Navy preference and qualify in the test may be selected for the Navy College program. They serve on active duty, in uniform and under military discipline and receive the pay of the lowest enlisted grade.

Seventeen-year olds who designate Army preference and qualify in the test are offered military scholarships in the Army Specialized Training Reserve program. They receive training at a selected college on inactive duty until the end of the term in which they reach their 18th birthday. At that time they are placed on active duty and sent to an Army installation for basic military training after which, if still qualified, they are placed in the A.S.T.P.

Those between 18 and 22 who qualify and designate Army preference are earmarked for special training. (Continued on Page Two)

Two Department of Justice economists, G. P. Comer and F. E. Berquist, have prepared a study on postwar production policies which urges the WPB "to decide upon a program of conversion, industry by industry, lay all the cards on the table as soon as strategy will permit, and let the public know the plans." They suggest that it may be advisable to "freeze" 1942 models of consumer products for a stated period after the war to avoid the scramble and delay that would be involved in rushing new products onto the market.

of six feet six inches; weight proportional to height; minimum visual acuity of 20/200 correctable with glasses to 20/20 in each eye; normal hearing (15/15) in each ear for whispered voice.

Requirements for the Navy College program, which includes Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard are: minimum height five feet five and one-half inches and a maximum of six feet four inches; weight proportional to height; minimum visual acuity of 18/20 in each eye, correctable to 20/20; normal color perception; twenty vital serviceable teeth, including four opposed molars, two of which are directly opposed on each side of dental arch, and four directly opposed incisors; normal hearing.

In addition to being morally and physically qualified applicants for both the Army and Navy programs must possess officer-like qualifications, including proper appearance.

Further details in regard to the test scheduled for Friday are available at the offices of the superintendent of schools and all high school principals who have copies of the booklet, "Qualifying Test for Civilians," for distribution.

WOMEN OF BELLEVILLE You Can Shorten the War!

Our boys can't win battles unless they have the tools of war to fight with, and they're not getting enough of them — quickly enough. Our war plants haven't the manpower to turn out the production for invasion. Women hold the answer. Women must take jobs — either in war work — or in an essential civilian occupation which will release a man or woman for a job in a war plant. YOU can help. You don't have to be experienced. You can work full or part time. Apply today to War Job Headquarters at 136 Washington Avenue, a few doors south of the bank. The need is urgent. It calls for immediate action.

News of Those In Service

George J. McNally, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McNally of 11 Howard place, was included among 200 aviation cadets who were given special recognition at Colgate university's recent commencement exercises after completing work in the university's Naval Flight Preparatory School at Hamilton, N. Y. McNally has reported for continued training with the War Training Service unit at Loras College, Dubuque, Ia., where he will receive his first flight instruction. A 1940 graduate of Belleville High school, he attended New Jersey State Teachers College, Montclair, before joining the Naval Air Corps.

Gilbert F. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown of 351 Little street, has reported to a Tennessee Naval Aviation Ordnance school after a furlough here with his parents. He enlisted in the Navy on September 8 and recently completed his boot training at Newport, R. I. He holds the rank of Seaman, First class.

Mr. and Mrs. George Michel of 126 Birchwood drive, are busy these days keeping up with the activities of their two attractive daughters, both members of the Women's Army Corps. A press release from Camp Butner, N. C., tells of an emergency blood transfusion which helped save the life of George Gren, proprietor of the Monticello Cafe in Dunham, who is seriously ill in the Watts hospital. The donor was Pfc. Claire Michel Mack, previously a two-time blood donor to the Red Cross in Belleville. She is the wife of Sgt. Frederick Mack of the 309th Infantry, 78th Division, also assigned to Camp Butner. Cpl. Rita L. Michel, the elder of the Michel's two daughters in the WAC, is at home in Belleville on a week's furlough from Fort Hamilton in Brooklyn.

George Kondreck was graduated last week from the Naval Air Technical training center in Memphis, Tenn. with the rank of Aviation Machinist's Mate, third class. He entered the Navy on March 8 and had his boot training at Newport, R. I. Kondreck is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kondreck of 143 Ralph street and was with the Belleville Laundry company before entering service. He was graduated from Belleville High school in 1942.

Sgt. George C. Dust, an Army Air corps ground mechanic, was transferred to Drew Field, Tampa, Fla. two weeks ago from an Oklahoma City field. In the Army one and a half years, he previously spent eight months at Seymour Johnson Field, N. C. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Dust of 13 Maier street who recently visited their son in Oklahoma. Sgt. Dust is accompanied by his wife, the former Miss Laura Hunt of 27 Parkside drive.

Troth Is Told

Miss Hilda F. Rothblatt of New York City and Toronto, Canada have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Hilda Flexner Rothblatt, to Dr. Seymour Taffet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taffet of 379 Union Ave.

The prospective bride is the granddaughter of the late Dr. J. A. Flexner of Louisville, Ky. She is a graduate of the Lincoln School of Teacher's College and the University of Michigan.

Dr. Taffet graduated from Albion college and received his M.D. from the University of Michigan. On the completion of his internship at the Newark City hospital in January, he will serve as a First Lieutenant in the U. S. Army Medical Corps.

Bride-Elect

St. Peter's church will be the scene Sunday afternoon of the wedding of Miss Johanna Parise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Parise of 347 Main street, and Pvt. John Zaccane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zaccane, of 142 Franklin street. The double ring ceremony will be performed at 4:30 after which a reception will be held at the home of the bride-elect.

The bride will be given in marriage by her father and will have as maid of honor her sister, Miss Christine Parise. Other attendants will be Mrs. Columbia Corbo and Miss Mary Elizabeth Fritts of her town, Miss Christine Fresaloni of Union and Miss Livia DiLeo of Newark. Joseph Zaccane will act as his brothers best man and Nicholas Guerrero of Montclair and Leonard Iannia of this town will usher.

Miss Parise's satin gown has been made with a beaded bodice. She will wear a long tulle veil draped from a beaded crown and will carry white roses centered with an orchid. Her sister's ice blue satin gown with chiffon skirt will be worn with a flower crown and matching short veil. The bridesmaids will wear similar pink gowns of celanese and chiffon with fuchsia headresses. All attendants will carry red roses.

The couple attended Belleville High school. Miss Parise is with the Viking Tool and Machine company. Pvt. Zaccane entered the Army nearly two years ago. He is stationed at A. P. Hill, Va. and will return there at the conclusion of the couple's short honeymoon.

INSIDE NEW YORK

"THERE is a saloon on upper Broadway," writes George Jean Nathan, "called the Oasis whose juke box contains one item billed so: 'Five minutes of silence for a nickel.' You drop in your nickel and enjoy the five minutes of welcome quiet in which to drink in peace. The item, the boss tells me, does a land-office business."

To complete the Insides of this place, that place, and the other places, Mr. Nathan gives the readers of the November issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine the Inside New York, which seems to have been overlooked as a place where many interesting things happen.

George Jean Nathan takes you round the town, with a lowdown on the high spots, and with highlights on things not usually covered by the New York snoots. He gets around. "There are more supreme lulus, take my eye for it, running the elevators in the Chrysler Building, hat-checking at the Stork Club, Morocco and Monte Carlo Beach, and working as stenographers and telephone girls in the General Electric Building, for example, than you'll see in a month's steady round of all the musical, shows and floor shows in town."

What's new in New York, is the theme of this metropolitan tour. It's refreshingly unusual.

MAGEE WARNS AGAINST HIGH PEDESTRIAN TOLL

Continue To Be Greater Menace Than Any Other Type Of Fatality

Declaring that too many pedestrians display pack-horse behavior in an age of rapid transit, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Arthur W. Magee said today that this widespread indifference to highway hazards is responsible for the continued high pedestrian death rate in New Jersey.

"Year after year," said the Commissioner, "there are more fatal pedestrian accidents in New Jersey than any other type of traffic accident, even including the common collision between two or more vehicles. It is the most serious phase of the accident problem, yet we find a surprising lack of official interest in pedestrian welfare."

Stating that during the first nine months of the year there were 471 traffic fatalities, of which 263 or 56 per cent were walkers, Commissioner Magee knows of no other instance where life is held so cheaply. He feels that if officials will devote as much attention to pedestrian behavior as they do to the driver, many lives would be saved and the traffic accident problem, instead of being the major headache of government officials, would soon become a minor one.

Citing total traffic deaths during the nine months period, Commissioner Magee said that this year's toll of 471 was 100 less than the same period of 1942, a decrease of 17 per cent. Four counties, Cumberland, Essex, Middlesex and Monmouth all reported increases in fatalities and one county, Gloucester, came through with no change over last year's toll. The other 16 counties reduced their traffic deaths.

On Final Congressional action on a 1943 tax bill hangs the fate of several other vital problems, such as the increase in the Social Security tax, the question of reforms in the Contract Renegotiation Law, and the problem of contract termination policy.

Another bitter showdown fight on the Capitol horizon is that between organized farm groups and the Administration over the question of subsidies, with the former determined to oppose the latter's subsidy program in any form.

WOMEN... WILL YOU BACK HIM UP?

High School Navy Day Program

Lt. A. P. O'Neil spoke to the Belleville High School students at the Navy Day assembly last Friday, on the training, and requirements needed to become an aviation cadet.

Following the playing of "Anchors Aweigh" by the High School orchestra, two technicolor pictures were shown. The first, "Eagles of the Navy," pictured the training of a naval aviation cadet; and the second, "Battle of Midway," depicted the naval air force in action at the battle of Midway.

Although the Council realizes that the station may never use this equipment, it was felt that this first request by the communications group deserves this grant for the splendid work they have been doing. Twenty licensed operators are qualified to operate the emergency station, as well as the police and firemen who are acquainted with the working of the set. The station is, at present, only equipped to operate on A.C.

LETTERS

Writes In Favor Of Activities Of Citizens' Committee

from J. Alden De Ronde 195 Holmes street To the Editor of The Times: The Belleville Citizens' committee has done some good work and made several recommendations which, if carried through, would improve certain conditions within our city.

Aiming in the right direction is the recent suggestion of the committee to make the board of education an elective body. Generally speaking, it always has been elective in-as-much as it has been appointed by an elected official.

The committee is on the right track, but in order to leave no loopholes to cause future trouble their proposal should read somewhat as follows — "Action to terminate the existence of the present board of education as an appointed body and replace it with a similar board to be directly elected by the citizens of Belleville."

Too many atonage-dispensing politicians who are entirely unqualified to comprehend the position of parents are given the authority to appoint those with whom the parents must work in the interests of our future citizens.

The complete divorce of our educational system from all political dependence or influence appeals to any unbiased person. The Citizens' Committee deserves the support of those who are concerned about the present and future of Belleville.

SCOUTS HONOR MARY TRAVERS

Memorial Service Opened Girl Scout Week Activities

Sunday, October 31, the birthday of Juliette Low who founded the Girl Scouts organization, opened Girl Scout week in this town and was the occasion in Belleville Reformed church of a memorial service for Mary Travers. Mary, a member of Intermediate Troop 9 sponsored by that church, died at the age of ten a year ago.

Outlining Girl Scout week activities yesterday Miss Baun pointed out that emphasis on a different phase of scouting is allotted to each day of the week. Attendance at church on Sunday is followed by homemaking day on Monday when each girl strives to do something above her accustomed household duties or otherwise aid members of her family. Tuesday is citizenship day; Wednesday, health and safety day; Thursday, International friendship day; Friday, arts and crafts day and Saturday, out of doors day.

Window displays are always a part of Girl Scout week and Intermediate Troop 9 has made as the subject of their ten Girl Scout laws. In the window of Harvey Thompson's Real Estate office on Washington avenue they have posed small dolls garbed in scout uniforms to illustrate the maxims that a Girl Scout's honor is to be trusted, that she is loyal and her duty is to be unselfish and help others. The rules also state that a girl scout is a friend to all and a sister to every other girl scout, that she is courteous, a friend to animals, cheerful, thrifty and obeys

Community Service Bureau Tells of Past Year's Work

Cost Of Living, Fatherless Families Were Some Of Problems Solved

An account of the current activities of the Community Service Bureau, one of the participating agencies in the War and Community Chest.—Ed. Note.

This year of 1942 and 1943 was the year when hundreds of Belleville boys left their homes to go into the armed forces. Early in this year the Government decided that the country could take bad news and the casualty lists began to appear. Our town has had its proportionate share of casualties and heroes.

This was a year when small businesses closed their doors, leaving dusty, vacant shops. New businesses, directly war connected, sprang up and older industries expanded beyond belief on Government contracts. It was next to impossible to get cooks or housekeepers, typists, sales clerks or handymen. Young people who would normally finish high school took factory jobs at high wages.

The W. P. A. went out of existence and the Municipal Welfare Department reported the lowest number of families in its history, receiving home relief. In spite of all the efforts to curb inflation the cost of living marched steadily up, until in May, 1943, it was nearly 23 percent higher than before Pearl Harbor. In Belleville, according to studies made by the Defense Council, the number of women working in 24 major manufacturing establishments nearly doubled.

All these things, inevitable in a war, have put a great strain on family life in our town. During this second war year the number of families applying to the Community Service Bureau for help was slightly higher than the previous year. The Bureau has always offered its services to any troubled family or individual regardless of color, race or religion. Of the 126 families receiving some type of service in the first half of this year 73 were Protestant, 42 were Catholic, 10 families had mixed marriages and 1 was Jewish. There were 70 married couples and 56 families in which there was only one parent due to such causes as the husband being in service, desertion, divorce or death. In these 126 families there were 255 children under sixteen in whom the agency was interested.

Who Were They? Who were these people seeking help in what is undoubtedly a period of war prosperity, with money in swift circulation and jobs available to practically everybody?

They were some of the most steady and skilled of our industrial workers. With wages and even jobs frozen, these workers have been caught between the millstones of tax deductions and the mounting cost of living. Mr. A., for instance, could barely provide for his family of six on his $35 weekly salary as a machinist in a shop making nuts and bolts. But when he learned of an opening in an aircraft plant, where with a short training period he might qualify for a job at $90 a week, his employer certified to the War Manpower Commission that he was essential and he was frozen in his lower paid job.

There were white collar workers whose margin of savings and security is always reduced in a boom period. Mr. B., 45 years old, section manager in a department store was finding impossible difficulty in stretching his $45 weekly salary to meet the needs of five people. If he takes a better paying war job, involving retraining, he will sacrifice seniority laboriously acquired through twenty years with the store and his prospect of a pension. And where will he be two or three years hence, when the factory goes back to a peace basis and he is close to fifty? His children are all under fifteen.

And many came to us because of the family income, even with the allotment, to a bare subsistence.

How to meet the cost of living has been one of the chief problems brought to us, and our case workers have spent a great deal of time with wives and mothers planning how to stretch wages to cover family needs. When temporary financial assistance has been given, it has been necessary to increase the allowance for food nearly 30 percent over a year ago. This has been a year when fatherless families made up an unusually large proportion of those appealing for advice and assistance. To separations caused by death, desertion, divorce, illness, now are added those due to fathers being absent in the armed forces or employed far from home. Wives of absent husbands must become father as well as mother to their children. Yet many mothers are obliged to work outside the home, limiting the time and attention they can give their children.

Typical is the young mother with one child, who receives a soldier's allotment of $62 a month, barely above the subsistence level. Young Mrs. P., prepared for her husband's induction into the Army on Saturday by getting a stenographer's job for the following Monday. Her earnings plus the allotment would provide for her and nine month old Doris, and for her widowed mother, who would keep house and take care of the baby. All worked nicely for a month until the grandmother developed a serious heart condition requiring continuous care. Mrs. P. had the choice of hospitalizing her mother or placing Doris and continuing on her job. Her mother fiercely resisted going into a hospital on the score of expense and separation from her daughter and grandchild. And of all things Mrs. P. did not want to place her baby, "who looks just like her father and is all I have left now!"

In this instance the Bureau is giving the young mother temporary financial aid so that she can stay at home and look after her family responsibilities while plans are being worked out to secure a special allotment for her mother's support.

There were many such women—wives of men in service—who came to the Bureau with problems much like this, rendered the more difficult by the fact that our town seriously lacks facilities for care of pre-school children.

Family Trouble Problems of family relationships have bulked large—as mothers have left their homes to take war jobs, fathers have followed war jobs to distant cities and adolescent children are experiencing the heady excitement of big easy wages.

Mr. N., for instance, went last January to Seattle on a ship building job averaging $90 a week. For two months he sent part of his pay to Mrs. N., and the two children who were to follow him west if the job looked

SCOUT OFFICIALS MAKE PLANS

General Discussion Will Include Membership Drive, Winter Camporee

A combined meeting of the commissioner's staff and Scouters' Round Table of the Belleville Boy Scouts will be held Tuesday evening at Belbosco, scout camp on Second River in the vicinity of Plenge Farms. The camp, formerly known as Camp Carragher, received its new name on October 3 at the conclusion of the scout's fall camporee there.

The name was chosen in a contest to which all local troops contributed suggestions during the two day session. Troop 338 of Christ Episcopal church, of which Robert Bartholomew is scoutmaster, compounded the name from syllables which represent Belleville Boy Scout Council.

John S. Charlton, Belleville district commissioner, will preside at the discussions Tuesday night. His staff will meet at 7:30 to report on troop visitations, reassignment of units and activities for the first of November and December remain. Included in the plans for immediate attention are those to increase membership in scouting here, training courses for leaders, a winter camporee, preparations for the 1944 camping season at Camp Mohican, rank advancement and outdoor activities among the troops and troop committee reorganization.

Contribution To War

The recognition of scouts in the Armed forces, troop service such as the delivery of defense or local emergency bulletins, and the collection of waste paper and fats will be given further consideration as the scout's contribution to the war effort. Along these lines Charlton has also indicated a review of the scout's messenger service, dispatch bearers and emergency mobilization under the local defense council. Cooperation with the Community Chest and War Fund drive will be arranged. The staff conference will end with a period of questions and original problems submitted by members.

Troop committee, scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters and councilors will meet with Charlton in the second hour of the conference when the discussion so far outlined will be duplicated to a certain extent. Also to be considered is Green Bar training (for patrol leaders and their assistants and scribes of the various patrols which constitute a troop) and a winter swimming program, probably at the Friendly House pool in Silver Lake.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served at the outdoor fireplace after the meeting. Improvements to the camp this summer included repairs and refurbishing of the cabin and the installation of sanitary and kitchen facilities. It is used by scouts under the supervision of the Recreation department of which Edward Lister is supervisor.

Parents At A Loss

Parents have come to us with worries about their children. The young son who has taken a job, often at a high wage, and is using his earnings for a fling he has not had before, and which he knows may be his last; the teen age daughter who is "running wild after the uniforms."

Illness, always a disrupter of family security and never more frightening than in war time—brought many families to us. The over crowded hospitals, with acute illness and accidents at their doors, have been forced to send home chronic cases before their term of care was completed. Families, confronted with the problem of what to do with a diabetic, or cardiac or elderly ill person, have asked help in making plans.

Men, rejected by Selective Service because of physical defects, have asked help in getting these conditions corrected so they could serve. Soldiers, discharged from the service for mental or physical disability, and now facing the problems of adjusting again in civilian life, have sought counsel at the Bureau.

Concrete Ways Of Helping

Assistance in getting vocational guidance, clinic or hospital care, psychiatric treatment; in sending children to camp and in finding daytime care for children and homes for the aged; advice on budget problems; financial aid to tide over a critical period, or the interim between jobs—these are some of the simple, concrete things our workers do every day to help people.

Impressively more important is the opportunity which the person in trouble has to talk out all his perplexities and worries to a sympathetic, understanding and objective listener who has been specially trained for this work. Thus he finds out for himself what he really wants to do and relieves himself of the heat and tension which he has created in his struggles and which have blocked him from seeing clearly and acting. With released energy he can pick himself up and go ahead again.

How Many Boys From BELLEVILLE

Won't Come Back?

NOBODY knows the exact number. Nobody. But—

The number who do come back—on their own two feet instead of in a flag-draped box—will be in exact proportion to the job we do here at home.

For every minute that we can help shorten the war will mean more lives saved. (213 Americans were killed in the final day of the last war, and 1,114 were wounded before the 11:00 o'clock Armistice took effect.)

Now one way all of us can help shorten the war is to tighten our belts and buy more War Bonds. Yes, still more. And . . .

If you think you're buying all the War Bonds you are able to, imagine—for a minute—that it's after the war . . .

. . . you're standing at the station . . . a bunch of home-town boys, still in uniform, climb off the train . . . one of them kisses his wife and grabs his kid in his arms . . .

. . . and then he turns to a young woman beside them, a girl who looks like his wife's sister, and you overhear him say . . .

"Catherine, I don't know how to tell you how sorry I am . . . it's such a shame about Joe . . . it makes me sick all over when I think how he'd be here today if the war had only ended a week sooner."

Think it over. Can't you buy a few more War Bonds to help end the war that week or month sooner? Sure, it may mean giving up something, but what's that compared to what they're giving up?

And remember, always—the money you "can't spare" may spare a soldier's life!

MECHANICS FOR REPAIR UNITS ARE NEEDED BY NAVY

Those Who Qualify Will Be Rated High As Chief Petty Officers

Skilled mechanics may obtain petty officer ratings in a new branch of the Navy, Ship Repair Units, which will handle refitting of man-of-war and other vessels all over the world, Third Naval District headquarters announced yesterday.

Since the start of the war, many thrilling and dramatic chapters in salvage work have been written by Navy men, and the new Ship Repair Units will provide organized contingents to put into operation the latest methods of damage control, repair and salvage.

Huge floating repair shops already are operating in various theaters of sea warfare, restoring to service vessels which otherwise might be lost, and the new Ship Repair Units will man these. Men experienced in a wide variety of trades are needed for the units. Men who qualify for the new units will be rated as high as chief petty officers, depending on ability and experience. Pay will range from $78 to $126 per month, to which will be added 20 per cent for overseas duty. Quarters, food, transportation, uniforms and other benefits are provided.

Those Who Are Wanted

Men with experience in the following trades are wanted: blacksmiths, boatbuilders, carpenters, metalsmiths, crane operators, molders, Diesel mechanics, divers, electricians, motor mechanics, lathe operators, refrigerator repairmen, fine instrument and optical repairmen, pattern makers, powdermen, riggers, riveters, shipfitters, steel workers, welders, sailmakers, shipwrights, fire controlmen, radio engineers, and radio mechanics and repairmen.

Men in critical man power areas are not solicited for enlistment in the Ship Repair Units, but men of draft age (18 to 38) are eligible, provided they are in JA classifications or are released by their Selective Service Boards. If found qualified for ratings, men of draft age will be assigned to Ship Repair Units through voluntary induction.

Men from 38 to 50½ also may enlist in the new units. If found qualified, they will be accepted with ratings by voluntary enlistment.

To obtain ratings, applicants must present letters of occupational reference from employers covering trade experience. They also must pass the Navy physical examinations.

Applicants may call at the New York Recruiting Station, 333 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y., or any other Recruiting Station. Having scrapped the Treasury's $10,500,000,000 tax program, which it at no time seriously considered, the House Ways and Means Committee is leaning toward a "no tax increase" revenue bill. Boosts in individual rates have been rejected, and indications are that the same treatment will be accorded corporations.

W.A.C.'S SERVE WITH GROUND FORCES

Help Train And Equip Soldiers For Battle, Capt. Robb Says

Strange as it may seem, women of the Women's Army Corps are now serving to a great extent with the Army Ground Forces, that division of the Army which instructs and organizes men for combat operations.

The fact that large numbers of women are needed by this part of the Army to train and equip soldiers for battle, was revealed today by Capt. Jean D. Cobb, head of WAC recruiting in this city, who says local candidates may be assigned to such work.

"WACs are now serving with all branches of the Army Ground Forces except tactical units," she stated. "They are doing their job well as is proven by the requests we have received for more WACs to go on duty with the force."

"Openings awaiting local WAC recruits in this branch of the Army include those for chemists, clerks, technicians, reporters, drivers, women for post headquarters work and many other jobs."

Capt. Robb pointed out the importance of equipping and getting to the front as fast as possible, all men recently included.

"The offensive is on in Europe and other fronts. Women of Belleville can help their country and win the war sooner by joining the Women's Army Corps today, she said.

The recruiting office for the WAC in Belleville is located at the Post Office Building in Newark. Questions will be answered and applications for enrollment in the WAC received there.

Need For Boy Scout Leaders

The Boy Scout movement offers an educational program which aims at the achievement of character values through voluntary work and the consciousness of citizenship through service. Each year a new crop of youngsters reaches 12 years of age, that point at which they become eligible for scout training. Like a cavalcade this goes on year after year, and the interest in scouting grows.

The program in Belleville has a great potential value to the hundreds of boys who would find interest in its character building activities if proper leadership could be found. Belleville scouts are fortunate in having their own camp site in the former Camp Carragher grounds. Few districts have such a spot around which to base their educational program. Yet with these advantages the scout program still lacks that vitalizing influence which comes with a large and enthusiastic leaders' group.

The same small nucleus of men continues to shoulder the burden year after year. It is not easy to understand how parents knowing the value of the broad training in community service that scouting gives, can fail to take an active part in its direction.

In these war days when democratic principles and practices are imperiled throughout the world, scouting gives an opportunity to learn democratic action through its service to others, and through the democratic principles practices in the individual patrols and troops. It is vitally necessary that youth today continue to receive this training in democratic living and government, for in the years just ahead, it will fall to them to give leadership to the form of government to be established when we win the peace.

The principles of scouting should be made available to all Belleville youth. This can only be accomplished by an intensified interest on the part of adults in the community who are willing to give of their time in the molding of the adults of tomorrow.

Against Socialized Medicine

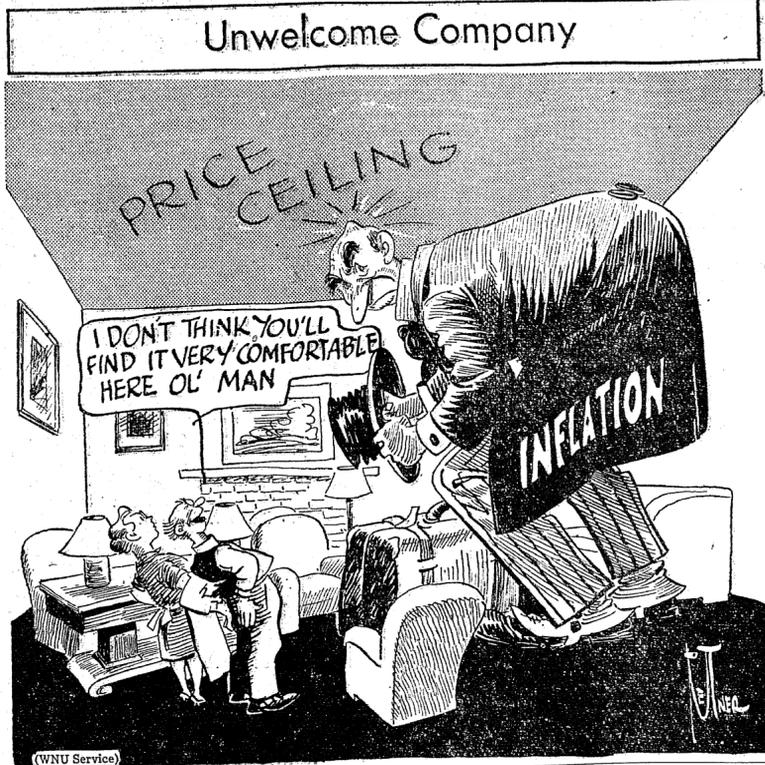

The war emergency program at the high school designed for high school boys and girls who are continuing in their new found jobs in war production is designed to help them complete their education and in no way as an encouragement to these teen-age youngsters to believe that working in industry is of more importance than finishing their secondary education, school officials said this week.

Because it is aware of the shortage in manpower in local industries, the board of education has put into operation a complete four hour schedule for both morning and afternoon, so that these youngsters who are being retained by industry may do their bit in war production. However, in making this necessary concession to the war effort, educators here and throughout the country where the demand is apparent, have expressed the fear that this new and substantial income the kids are experiencing will persuade them to forego working toward their high school diplomas. Local industrialists have also expressed this concern and are retaining the kids on the premise that they continue their studies.

The importance of completing at least their secondary education cannot be over-emphasized to these fledglings who may understandably be unwisely influenced by the disproportionate size of the pay checks they are now receiving. The temptation to make money for the moment may well overshadow concern for the future when the country is no longer at war and millions of soldiers return, with greater experience and the advantages of well learned trades supplied by government instruction. Kids of today can't be expected to weigh maturely, their position then, if they forsake their education for their present pay checks.

Parents of these adolescents can do much toward easing the problem which is not yet showing any great proportions. Especially those kids who find the going less than a "snap" should be made to realize that much of the post-war activities must of necessity rely on their shoulders as the adults of the coming generation. When the war is over it is reasonable to expect that there will be strong competition and those who have failed to take complete advantage of at least their high school education will find the going tough. When the present demand for workers eases, many may find that business, college or vocational school training is barred to them because they had not foresight in completing their high school education. The world of tomorrow will demand men and women well equipped to tussle with new and now unheard of problems. Judgment is needed now, in preparing fledglings for their place in that world. Parents as well as educators and industry can do much to advise them.

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville Times.

by Meador Wright

The Republican victory Tuesday was the most sweeping since Dwight W. Morrow was elected to the United States Senate in 1930. True, W. Warren Barbour got near the same majority in 1938 as did Walter E. Edge this year. But Barbour's victory was something of a fluke in that his opponent, William J. Ely, turned out to be the worst political dud in the recent history of New Jersey, save only David Baird and James H. R. Cromwell. The victory Tuesday was an Edge victory as well as a defeat for Vincent J. Murphy. The Republican party swept everything. The average Assembly vote was far more Republican than in 1938 when it topped the Democratic vote by only 38,817 ballots.

Sweeping as the Republican majority was, it presented fewer surprises than most elections. Newspaper columnists as well as Edge lieutenants called the turn in practically every county with remarkable accuracy. My own guess, while falling somewhat short in the total, indicated correctly the trend in the various counties. What almost everyone miscalculated was the sentiment in favor of constitutional revision. Judging from the sentiments expressed by the political leaders of both parties in the various counties, it seemed to me that defeat of the referendum was inevitable, and my belief was shared by practically every person with whom I talked. That the people voted as they did merely shows that in final analysis the so-called bosses have very little control over the voters of New Jersey, save only in Hudson county. And even in Hudson the vote in favor of a new constitution was practically as high as in Essex if measured on a per capita basis. Hague got 130,225 voters to mark "No" for the referendum, but in doing this he stirred up 42,789 to favor it. The favorable vote in Essex with a population nearly 50 percent larger was only 77,631.

T. Vanderbilt who control the actions of many of the legislators from the larger counties. These men must not use the present opportunity to provide political strength for themselves or their organizations. The Essex leader's record in matters like this is an honorable one. But there is the danger that the Vanderbilt and other leaders, both in Essex and outside, will breed suspicion and prevent a united Essex front. Extreme tact as well as civic rectitude is required of Vanderbilt if this danger is to be averted.

Actual leadership of the legislature, however, will devolve on the broad shoulders of Edge. The constitution that they will write will be his political monument. He can retire in 1947 as a reform governor of more local stature even than Woodrow Wilson or he can retire merely as a successful Republican politician. The opportunity is truly gigantic. Great decisions will be in the making, in New Jersey as well as the rest of the world, during the coming year. The first of these took place Tuesday. The majority of nearly 127,000 was a mandate from the people to Edge to accomplish great things. Small accomplishments will not suffice.

In Favor Of Referendum

But what surprised observers most was the sentiment in favor of revision in the smaller counties. Instead of opposing the referendum as was expected, these smaller counties voted on an average of two to one in its favor. In doing this they presented a clear mandate to their legislators to work for a real revision. Whether these men representers from counties representing less than 15 percent of the population of the state have an absolute veto on any change submitted to the voters next November—will heed the mandate or follow their old game of political horse trading and nest-feathering remains to be seen.

If they don't it will be hard to indict the citizenry of these counties, for this year it authorized an honest change in the fundamental law of the State. Writers like myself owe these voters an apology, however just is our indictment of the miserable scoundrels who have misrepresented them so often. The eyes of New Jersey will be on the senators from these 11 smaller counties who constitute a majority in the upper house. They can redeem themselves for past errors, or they can call down on themselves the eternal infamy of the decent voters of their own counties as well as the rest of the state.

"Hey Bill, Keep 'em Talking"

"O. K. Buddy"—answered the telephone lineman. "Count on us—and good luck to you all."

The telephone cable network in New Jersey which Bill Telephone builds and maintains is standing up well to the test of today's tremendous telephone calling. For many months little or no cable has been available to enlarge the system and Bill's wartime job now is to keep the cables we have in the best possible working order.

Like thousands of other New Jersey people, the Bill Telephones—that means linemen, repair men, installers and central office experts, have sons or relatives or friends in the service. They know how much the war job being done at home means to the boys 'out there' and how much the home job depends on the telephone. They're doing their part "to keep 'em talking"—to speed the day of Victory.

"There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit." (Romans 8:1) Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" include: "Christ is the offspring of Spirit, and spiritual existence shows that Spirit creates neither a wicked nor a mortal man, lapsing into sin, sickness, and death." Heads Bazaar

Rev. James J. Owens

The war has left its effect on the annual bazaar of St. Mary's church, Nutley, to be held Friday and Saturday, November 19 and 20. Conducted for three days in past years, Rev. James J. Owens, pastor and general chairman, announced it would be cut to two days this year because of gasoline rationing and the war-working and voluntary activities which are keeping many of the parishioners busy.
Missing will be some of the booths which have been features of previous bazaars. There will be no grocery booth, but many St. Mary Victory garden growers are contributing fruits and vegetables they canned to a special booth at which they will be sold.
As was the case last year, replacing the awarding of an automobile, will be war bonds. The bazaar will be open Saturday afternoon for the children.
Those assisting the Rev. Owens, and in charge of the booths are: Wallace Fitts, turkeys and chickens; Mrs. Raymond Dacey, miscellaneous; Mrs. Helen Mull, sheets and pillow cases; Edward Finn, blankets; Mrs. Gregory Bergin, beverage basket; Miss Rose Simon, candy; O. B. Weakland, cigarettes; Mrs. Morris Yarborough, flowers and garden products; Mrs. Edward Kizzolo, dishes; Mrs. Andrew Teagle, cakes; Christopher Trautvetter, and John H. Lucy, amusements; Lawrence Torley, fishing rods and dogs; Mrs. James Smith, refreshments; Mrs. Harold Moore, toys. Archie C. Barbata and Robert O'Loughlin will serve as cashiers.

Various activities will be undertaken including a neighborhood military block dance.
The service flag, now containing 123 stars, will be flown for the second time Armistice day morning at the association's Honor Roll at Mill and Harrison sts. More Than 60 War Prison Camps Located In Europe news is published there and serves as a great morale builder. Some prisoners devote their spare time to duplicating copies of these little newspapers which are otherwise posted on bulletin boards.

A sport center or club in a German camp is described by the Red Cross delegates as having over 800 members. Ping Pong tables are in almost continuous use. Dart boards and room for fencers are also provided and a boxing ring is the pride of the outfit. Prisoners carve their own trophies from wood. Matches in most sports such as baseball, soccer, basketball and football are played once a week. Sporting goods has been shipped into these camps by the Y.M.C.A. through the American Red Cross and the International Red Cross committee.

Practically every letter from prisoners of war in these European camps expresses more anxiety to know the status of those at home than worry over the writer's own condition. Many men mention the Red Cross packages which are designed to be received by them weekly and contain cigarettes and chocolate, 10,000 special Christmas packages were sent to the European prison area.

Favorable Condition

The International committee reported favorable conditions in a typical German camp in May, 1943. Five American cooks were working in the kitchens where meat, vegetables, bread, salt, oleomargarine, potatoes, marmalade, cheese and sugar were the staple foods. Some Americans were being paid for work in an agricultural detachment. Two letters and three postal cards were sent out each month by each prisoner. Sanitary conditions and treatment in the hospital of another camp were found satisfactory.

In general, the Red Cross urges next-of-kin to wait for labels before mailing packages to prisoners of war. The labels will state what the packages may include. Labels for two packages of tobacco, cigars or cigarettes and one package of miscellaneous articles are sent out for European prisoners every two months. Five pounds of books may be sent without labels each month; these must be sent by a bookseller, and not marked or addressed by the individual ordering them. Cheap editions are recommended. Letters, no more than two sides of one sheet for European camps, should be sent regularly. They should be typewritten or clearly printed.

The fact that Red Cross packages are safely received is proved by mention of them in many letters from Americans imprisoned. One soldier wrote his father to donate his next allotment check to the Red Cross as "they are really doing a great job."

The desire of the imprisoned men to continue or commence some branch of education has led to the establishment of universities among themselves with those who were teachers, or otherwise skilled, lecturing. Some examinations from home schools have been sent in and, the prisoners having completed them, have been mailed to the schools for correcting through the medium of the International Red Cross Committee. It is hoped to establish courses of the Armed Forces Institute, through which many of our servicemen are continuing their education, in prison camp and 7,000 textbooks for this purpose were shipped to Geneva.

Although officers have more time for study because they are not required to work as are enlisted men, even the latter attend lectures before breakfast or after supper.

Pfc. John Klump In Hospital For Malaria Treatment

Pfc. John T. Klump, who enlisted in the Marine corps in July, 1942 and served in the Pacific area until a short time ago, has arrived at a Naval hospital in Oakland, Calif.

The nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gordon and Mrs. Matilda Bargey of 4 Smith street with whom he made his home before joining the Marines, he was born here, was graduated from the local high school and worked for the Breeze corporation in Newark in civilian life. He has a sister, Miss Mary Klump, a high school student. Pfc. Klump hopes for a furlough after his dismissal from the hospital where he will undergo treatment for malaria.

It was he who voluntarily wrote Mrs. A. A. Buckley, chairman of the Baudouin for Buddies drive in Belleville, that he had witnessed the arrival of some American jewelry in the Pacific and the joy of the natives as they were rewarded with it for their inestimable services to the Armed forces.

"They literally danced for joy," said Pvt. Klump again in a letter received yesterday by Mrs. Buckley. Even in the hospital he follows the "baubles" distribution with interest and sent Mrs. Buckley a clipping from a California newspaper which showed a sailor inspecting a large wooden box of beads and trinkets.

The collection has been temporarily halted with a final contribution of school No. 7 and a box of jewelry from Hever Products company where Mrs. Kay Clark assembled the collection.
