

Commissioner Joseph King, 71, Succumbs Wednesday Morning

Director of Public Affairs Here Has Been Member Of Board Of Commissioners Since 1934; Has Also Served As County Freeholder

Funeral services will be held this evening for Commissioner Joseph King, who died early Wednesday morning in Mountsides Hospital. Services will be held at 8 p.m. at the William W. Irvine and Sons Funeral Home, 276 Washington Avenue.

Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, will officiate. Burial will follow Burial will be Saturday in Glendale Cemetery.

Mr. King had been a patient at Mountsides Hospital since December 10 when he suffered a heart attack. He would have been 72 years old on January 25.

A commissioner in Belleville since 1934, Mr. King was director of the Department of Public Affairs, a position which he held for all but a few years of his term in office. He had also been a former Essex County Freeholder from Belleville.

Mayor Isadore J. Padula represented the feelings of many townspeople when he said Wednesday afternoon that Mr. King's death came as a severe shock. He referred to Mr. King as the "dean of the commissioners" and a "wonderful and dedicated man who had accomplished much for the community."

Being Public Career
Mr. King, who resided at 28 Malone Avenue, was for many years prominently identified with Essex County Republican politics and various Belleville municipal offices. He began his public career in May of 1908 when he was appointed to the Essex County Board of Freeholders to fill the unexpired term of the late Edward Rial. The following November he was elected to a full three-year term.

As a county freeholder, he served as chairman of the improvement committee and supervised construction work at all county owned buildings, including the building committee at the Essex County Isolation Hospital here in town. In 1937, Mr. King was named by the Board of Freeholders as a member of the County Board of Public Works.

In Belleville he was elected to head the Public Affairs Department when he was first elected.

SMITH INSTALLED AS KIWANIS HEAD

The Belleville Kiwanis Club held their installation of officers at Tuesday's luncheon at the City Club. The new president, Dr. Frank Juliano, was installed by the club's past president, Dr. Edward J. Padula. The club's first vice president is Dr. Charles Tedesco, first vice president, Herman Eitel, second vice president, Dr. Robert W. Chapin, and Dr. Robert W. Chapin, secretary, Dr. Robert W. Chapin, and Dr. Robert W. Chapin.

One new director was elected to a three-year term to fill out the year's term. He is Mrs. Ruth Sanders, who will replace Richard Howe who resigned his directorship because he is moving from Belleville.

Seven directors now serving, whose terms expired this year, were also re-appointed for the year's term. They are George Tolo, Mrs. Victor Hart, Rev. Chapin, Rev. Chapin, Rev. H. E. Gordon, Mrs. Henry Lewis, and Henry Lewis.

There's an old saying which goes: "Educate a man and you educate an individual, educate a woman and you educate a family." A lady who has this in mind at all times is Mrs. Louis Sussman, of 66 Van Rensselaer Place. Currently serving her second term as national president of the National Women's League of the United Synagogue of America, Mrs. Sussman has spent much of her time in furthering the ideal that a religious background is necessary in enabling the individual to function well as a citizen.

The League consists of a total of some 100,000 women in all parts of the country, in Canada and South America. During the course of the year, Mrs. Sussman spends approximately three months in touring the country, becoming acquainted with many of these women. On her agenda for this year are visits to Trenton, Montreal, North Carolina, Cleveland, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Alberta, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Toronto.

She plans to arrange my schedule so that I do not away from home for too long at any one time, she said. "I wouldn't want my family feeling that I'm gone after all they have done for me."

Two Children
The Sussman family consists of Mrs. Sussman's husband, a lawyer and CPA, whose offices are in Jersey City. The Sussman youngsters are Ruth, a freshman at Barnard College, and Michael.

DEWITT SAVINGS STATES SUCCESSFUL YEAR COMPLETED

Dividends Now Computed At Three Percent Interest Rate, Cantwell Explains

DeWitt Savings and Loan Association, of 463 Washington Avenue, has just completed one of the most successful years in its 15-year history. Edward P. Cantwell, Executive Vice-President, announced last night that dividends totaling $22,240 were distributed to savers during 1956 and that assets of the institution have reached $11,271,000.

Cantwell said the dividend payments represent earnings on savings and are currently calculated at the annual rate of three percent.

The 643 savers using the facilities of DeWitt Savings and Loan Association, Cantwell reported, placed $2,408,282 in savings with the Association during the last 12 months. He said this brings the total savings held to $9,855,401.

During 1956, Cantwell continued, a total of 179 new home mortgage loans were granted in an amount of $1,627,800. He said this meant that 1,500 families in Belleville area were now being helped on the road to debt free home ownership by the Association's insured mortgage loan program.

DeWitt Savings and Loan Association's home financing aid, Cantwell said, were a part of New Jersey's Savings and Loan Associations second largest year in this respect. Statewide, he reported, some 45,000 individuals borrowed $400,000,000 to buy or build homes, or refinance existing mortgages.

The withdrawal of many lenders from the home financing field during 1956 threw a greater burden on the savings and loan associations such as ours, because that is our principal business.

PADULA APPOINTS BERRY TO POSITION

Commission To Appoint Permanent Successor

As an emergency measure, Mayor Isadore J. Padula yesterday named Eugene J. Berry, town health officer, to head the department of Public Affairs. He was appointed to succeed Commissioner Joseph King, who died Wednesday.

Padula said he selected Berry because he has served in the department 32 years and is thoroughly acquainted with its operation.

The Mayor said, "In deference to Commissioner King, I think it is only proper to make no permanent appointment to the post for at least 30 days." He also revealed that Commissioner Harry Sullivan concurred with this view.

Since two votes are already committed to no action, a permanent appointment is impossible for the time being. However, Padula affirmed that Commissioner King's successor would be appointed by the entire body of Commissioners.

He said he has no idea who the successor might be.

$2,312,893 School Budget Approved By Board Of Education For 1957-'58 Term

Local Tax Ratables Listed At $59,726,352 By Assessor Clark

Net Valuation Shows Increase Of $8,118,900; Household And Veterans Exemptions Placed At $1,920,000 For Large Increase Over 1956

Belleville's net taxable valuation for 1957 has been computed this week by municipal tax assessor Arthur W. Clark at $59,726,352. The tax ratables, including second class railroad property, is the figure upon which the local tax rate for 1957 will be based.

The 1957 ratables just released show an increase of $8,118,900 over the 1956 figures, Clark said. Of the total increase, slightly more than $6,000,000 is due to the recent property revaluation undertaken by the J. M. Clemmings Associates. Approximately $1,500,000 of the total increase in ratables is attributed to new building in town.

Clark said that there have been new developments and new factories during the past year, although the largest part of the new building is in the construction of residential dwellings.

The increase represented by this year's jump in town ratables is greater than the increase registered last year when approximately $1,800,000 was added to the town's tax rolls.

Lower Tax Rate
Mayor Isadore J. Padula, director of revenue and finance, predicted that Belleville would probably have a tax rate below $7 for the coming year based on the ratables presented to him by Clark. "It will be possible to slash the tax rate below the $7 figure if the city departments can keep their spending on a level with last year, and if school and county expenses do not mount too sharply," he stated.

The Mayor said that Belleville is in good shape for the coming year and should continue to be for the next several years. He pointed to the big savings in tax bills that would be coming to those property owners who had their assessments lowered or to those that remained the same. He added that the total increase, even for those properties whose assessments were raised, would not be too great because of the drastically reduced tax rate.

Gross Ratables
Although the current tax rate is based on the net valuation, Clark also listed Belleville's gross ratables before any exemptions and deductions. The total value figure represents the total value of land, building, and personal property in town, Clark said. The increase in the gross ratables over 1956 is $8,236,500.

In spite of the large growth of gross ratables, Clark explained the amount of exemptions permitted by law also increased, so that the net ratables did not show as large an increase. Clark said the exemptions increased $117,600 over 1956.

He listed the total amount of exemptions for household items, veterans, and widows at $1,920,000. Exemptions for household

BAND HAS OPENINGS FOR NEW MEMBERS

Municipal Band Plans Concert During March

The Recreation Department announced this week that there is room for more musicians in the Belleville Municipal Band. Adults who have musical training are especially encouraged to come out and get in the swing again. The band is designed primarily for Belleville's citizens who may have laid down their instruments after leaving school. It is felt that a Municipal Band will offer these people an opportunity to again enjoy their music and at the same time contribute to the cultural development of the community. Last year, which was the first for the band, three concerts were presented and were warmly received.

Band practices are held weekly at the high school on Wednesday evening starting at 7:30 p.m. This would be an excellent time for new members to join, in order to take part in a concert planned for the month of March.

Admission to concerts is by ticket only but the tickets are free. Anyone wishing to be placed on the list for free tickets may do so by calling the Recreation Department.

Band Director Herbert Matfick has made it a practice to offer one hour concerts which start at 8:00 p.m. His selections are charmingly diversified and include light classical and sentimental numbers plus the traditional band numbers. The Recreation Department recommends that all who enjoy music make an effort to attend the March concert and that they place their names on the list to receive tickets as soon as they can.

King

Mr. King was a commissioner in 1934 and was re-elected in 1938 and 1942. In July, 1943, he was transferred to the U.S. Army Safety Department following the death of William D. Clark. He returned to the Public Affairs Department after his re-election in 1946 and retained the post after the campaign in 1950 and 1954.

Leading Republican

He was regarded as one of Belleville's leading Republicans and played an important part in all of the party's campaigns here. Mr. King had been a member and member two terms of the Belleville Sinking Fund Commission.

Mr. King was a member and past president of the Belleville Rotary Club. He was a charter member and trustee of the Belleville Welfare Federation and had been active in Community Chest work. The commission was a 32d degree Mason, member of Belleville Lodge, and also of Salem Temple of Newark.

Born in England

He was born in England Jan. 23, 1885, and settled in Belleville after his military service in 1910. His wife, the former Miss Margarette Minion, is a daughter of the late Robert G. Minion, member of Belleville Town Commission.

In his native country, Mr. King served an apprenticeship as a joiner or carpenter and when he went to Belleville spent his first year working as a carpenter for the late Daniel Melis, Belleville builder. In 1911 he and James L. Davidson of Belleville formed the building concern of Davidson & King.

They were responsible for construction of many of the finer type of homes but in recent years had relinquished their interest in some building and concentrated on the real estate and insurance business, with offices at 414 Washington Ave.

World War I Work

Following entry of the United States into World War I, Mr. King and Mr. Davidson offered their services to the United States Shipping Board, which had decided to build homes for its workers in the United States Shipping Board Corp. Mr. King was placed with the Tidewater Building Co. of New York contractor for a large number of houses near Collinswood. He supervised construction of 1,000 houses on government-owned property there.

Returning to Belleville, the pair resumed the partnership of Davidson & King. The commission went to Detroit as assistant superintendent in charge of construction of General Motors Corp. office building. Late in 1920 he returned to Belleville and resumed his partnership with Mr. Davidson.

Mr. King also wrote a book "The Book of the Month" for the Book of the Month Club. He was a member of the Belleville Independent Press; a brother, William King of Belleville, and a grandson.

was now appointed to a full term as director.

At the same time, it was announced that this year's Community Chest drive had raised $29,500. Campaign chairman Raymond Williamson said there was still some money outstanding in pledges and that other contributions were expected to swell the final total somewhat. He emphasized that the figure released did not represent a final campaign total. Goal for the drive had been set at $34,722 and leaders were hopeful of reaching the quota since it represented the bare necessities of the participating agencies.

The Chest budget committee will meet Monday to decide how much each of the seven participating agencies will receive. Since the drive fell short of its quota, each of the agency's financial requests will be reduced proportionately. The agencies will be notified of the money allocated to them after approval by the directors and any appeals from the decision will be received later.

Cantwell said, "The money to build homes must come from savings and it still takes the combined savings of six to eight individuals to finance the building or purchase of a single dwelling."

"With the continued inflow of savings here, the Belleville Savings and Loan Association," Cantwell concluded, "we expect 1957 to be another record year both in earnings and savings for the association. The financing of additional dwelling units."

Public Utilities Commission, Smith said.

Smith feels the opening of the street would give the town a connecting link between the Route 21 freeway and Washington, Union, and Franklin Avenues, and eventually with the development of the Plunge Farm area on the other side of the Third River. Ultimately it would serve as a connecting link between Route 21 and the Garden State Parkway, he added.

goods jumped $40,000; veterans' and widow's exemptions were up $76,700, due largely to the increased number of veterans now making their homes in Belleville; and an additional $150,000 was lost in personal property due to companies such as Radio Shack, U. S. Rubber, Insulated Circuits, and others moving out of Belleville.

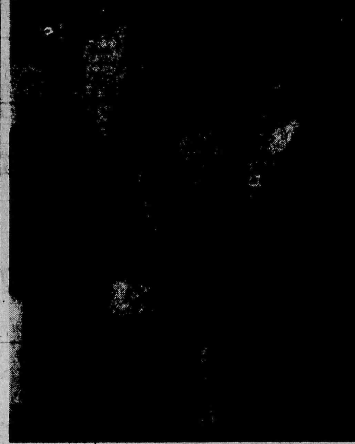

Berry

However, the name of Attorney Robert C. Grubin has cropped up in discussion of the various possibilities. It was learned today that Grubin, who ran for Commission in the 1954 election, placed seventh in the balloting. The sixth place candidate, former Mayor James J. Tully, is no longer a resident and is not eligible for the post. Grubin garnered more than 4,000 votes in the last election. There has been no official confirmation of the possibility of naming Grubin to the post, however.

Padula said Berry was named a deputy director of the Public Affairs Department in 1950, but he was not sure if the appointment was still in effect.

Receives Long Service Award

Cornelius Conroy (right), of 39 Preston Street, Pennsylvania freight conductor, receives the congratulations of R. E. Blosser, superintendent of transportation of the railroad's New York Region, after he had been presented with the 50-year gold lapel button by Blosser. He has lived in Belleville thirty-two years and entered the employ of the Pennsylvania on January 21, 1907 at Trenton. He has been a conductor since July 18, 1916 having previously worked as a yard master at Meadows Yard in Kearny, and in several other positions.

The Conroy's brother, John E. Conroy of North Newark, is an engineer in the Pennsylvania's passenger service between New York and Washington, having worked for the railroad for forty years, and John's son, John E. Conroy Jr. of Elizabeth, has worked for the Pennsylvania as an engineer in freight service since 1939. Conroy also had a second brother, the late Michael Conroy, who was also a Pennsy engineer in freight service until his death about ten years ago.

ment was still in effect, since Berry was not re-appointed after the last election. However, Padula said he would appoint Berry a deputy director if the prior appointment is not in effect.

Items connected with the measure.

Would Be Tabled

The Mayor said that the new procedures will end the "practice of having measures introduced before the commissioners have a chance to study them." In the past, he said, he has been following the rather dubious procedure of passing on resolutions as presented, without having been fully informed on the issues involved. Padula said in a letter to his fellow commissioners he said later that commissioners had agreed informally to accept the suggestion.

Budget

Teachers' salaries also account for the largest single increase over the previous budget. According to provisions made in the budget for a proposed new teacher's salary guide, more than $70,000 will be added to this category. Part of this figure will come from surpluses and Thomas stressed that the figure was well below the $100,000 figure which had been estimated in the budget. The new guide calls for $300 across-the-board raises for 600 of which was scheduled with the remaining $100 representing wage boosts.

The only other major increase, also in the current expense account, is for the largest portion of the increase.

proportion, is in the amount of money set aside for the education plan. The figure jumped $22,100 this year to a total of $16,000. However, it was explained that this sharp rise was brought about by new state laws to which the local board must adhere.

Most other categories held their own this year, with reductions prevalent in many phases of the budget. Board members expressed the opinion that the budget was cut as close as possible with no unnecessary spending. They are optimistic about the final approval of the voters in next month's election.

had 15, a sophomore at Belleville High School. "Ruth plans to become an actress," her mother said. "We realize that it's a difficult kind of life, but it's what she wants." The youngster, however, isn't sure of his future plans, but thinks he might follow in his father's footsteps.

Blind Tribute

Mrs. Sussman, a native of Boston, came from a family of ten children. "I started as a secretary, but my employer, who had no use for an aptitude for accounting, so I arranged for me to study at night College at night. I used to spend all my money sending packages of food to people less fortunate," she admitted.

One of the greatest tributes ever paid to her as a human being came from a woman in Norristown, Pa. Mrs. Sussman asserted, "As we sat in her living room this week, we listened to a record of the voice of a totally blind woman Mrs. Sussman had met while conducting a public speaking course as part of her League activities. As a result of that course, the woman had gone on to becoming a professional book reviewer. She described Mrs. Sussman as 'a brilliant person with poise, warmth and understanding.'"

One of the most active women we have ever met, Mrs. Sussman, in addition to her League activities, finds time to contribute to the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York, where she is a member of the board of directors and associate national planning chairman; a member of the executive council of the United Synagogue of America; on the executive committee of the National Jewish Welfare Board; and locally a member of the Belleville-Natley chapter of Hadassah, of which she is a charter member, and the Sisterhood of Congregation A. A.

Brill Work

Her work on the executive committee of the Jewish Braille Institute of America has given Mrs. Sussman a great deal of personal satisfaction. Recently, she appeared on the "Eternal Light" radio program, on which a dramatization of the story of blindness was featured. Mrs. Sussman delivered a three-minute closing address.

Mrs. Sussman's second term of office as president of the Women's League will end next year.

Being the kind of person who thinks ahead, she is already making plans for the type of activity which will take up most of her time then. She has decided that leadership training will be her next major project. "I love to see timid women blossom into leaders in their communities. That gives me tremendous satisfaction," she said.

There were many more interesting topics discussed with Mrs. Sussman, such as her trip to Israel three years ago, and how her name happened to be on two Belleville residents included in "Who's Who in World Jewry." There just wasn't time. This busy lady had several more people to see before lunch.

Miss Armstrong Tells Of Troth

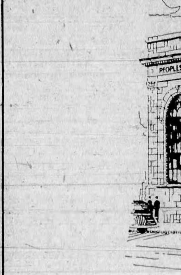

Something of a celebrity this week is Mrs. Edith Williamson, of 120 Rutgers Street. The lady competed on a television panel show last week and won herself a nice week-old thoroughbred cocker spaniel puppy, a year's supply of dog food and a brand new sewing machine.

It all began last Wednesday when Mrs. Williamson went to see the NBC morning program "The Price is Right." She was picked out of the audience, and asked to drop in again on Thursday to appear on the show. Mrs. Williamson agreed, and immediately sent a wire to her sister and brother-in-law who live in California. The two sisters had a son each other in years, and Mrs. Williamson had never met her brother-in-law. She figured this would be a good way to get the family together on Thursday at 11 a. m. Mrs. Williamson appeared on the program.

The show, which is MCD by commentator Bill Cullen, features four contestants who are asked to bid on what they think each item to them is worth. The one closest to the right price, wins the prize.

"The only trouble is that I already have a sewing machine," so I'll just have to sell this one,"

Mrs. Armstrong, also a daughter of the late William Armstrong, attended Douglas College and is with Ditto, Incorporated, of Newark. Mr. Carlson is a

Our Roaming Reporter:
Europe Has Learned To Live Gaily Amidst Its Ruins

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Schenck
Find Differences Between
Farmer Enemies Disappearing

By Cornelius F. Schenck

After meandering across Europe on an eight-month holiday, I came to the conclusion that you live twice as long in the same number of years in European lands. Life moves at a much more leisurely pace, comparable, in real life, to the difference between the bicycle and a 250 cc. automobile. People have time to be polite and, as a rule, they are. We found that even in a war-damaged Germany where they bear no grudge against America.

No comment on European transportation would be complete without at least some mention of the ubiquitous bicycle and motor scooter.

Of course Holland is the country where the bicycle reigns supreme and everybody rides, from the Queen and important government officials down to delivery boys of every type.

It is literally true that between five and six o'clock in every city of Holland, street intersections are turned into "two-wheeled Times Squares". They simply move in waves.

Mothers carry their small children on the handle bars or in a separate seat over the rear wheel and frequently there will be two children on the same bicycle. Kids in their long dresses are frequently seen riding motorcycles or scooters and one day in Gouda I even saw a motorized wheel chair.

During our eight months stay in Europe Mrs. Schenck and I were privileged to visit ten different countries, going from the northern tip of Norway to as far south as Naples in central Italy.

Since we travelled almost entirely by local means of transportation, namely train or bus, and always second class, we had an excellent opportunity to rub elbows with the people of the various countries and to appreciate if not always to enjoy the conditions under which they travel.

Except for one overnight trip in Norway we always travelled in the daytime in order to see something of the country through which we were passing. Furthermore, we tried to land at our destination early enough to find accommodations for the night.

Since much of the time we travelled in winter, the weather was not ideal. Only twice in Scandinavia did we travel in railroad cars that resembled those in the states. All others were the conventional compartment type, seating six persons in a first class compartment and eight in second class with the passengers facing each other.

First class compartments could be readily distinguished by their plush covered seats, while the seats in second class had either imitation leather covers or none at all. First class compartments could also be distinguished by the absence of passengers, no matter how crowded it might be. Second class, for Europeans, almost without exception, all travel second class.

Furthermore, they don't depend on dining cars. For the most part in not a few cases the trains do not carry diners. Families and individuals alike bring their food with them and when necessary supplement this with beer, wine or coke (never water) purchased at the train stops.

Those depot vendors, who sold quite a variety of wares, were life savers when, as occasionally happened, we discovered that the expected diner was not added to the train.

We had heard much about crowded trains in Europe but we never appreciated what this was really like until we started traveling in Italy. Even if we could board the train half an hour before departure time there was no guarantee that seats would be available.

By the time the train pulled out every seat would be occupied, and a couple of boys would be jammed with passengers and suitcases. On some of our trips it was next to impossible to make one's way out of one car and into another.

Many times we wished they had redesigned the train steps which actually more nearly resembled ladders. Empty handbags these steps are not too hard to negotiate but with a couple of children, a crowd getting off and another impatiently waiting to get on the train and you can appreciate why we Americans prefer to travel in a comfortable automobile with the bags safely stowed away in the trunk compartment.

Well, they may have been crowded and sometimes hot but too comfortable. They all ran on time. This was literally true all over the continent and speaks well for the management of the railroads.

We carried away very pleasant recollections of the trains and buses on the continent. Courtesy and helpfulness were the rule everywhere and especially in the Scandinavian countries. There the passengers were made enough to easily accommodate two or three goodsize baby carriages.

When a mother gets on or off the conductor or conductress steps off and gives a hand with the carriage. Older women also receive the same courteous attention.

Days are welcome on trains and buses just like regular members of the family. In fact this is true in hotels and restaurants also where it is not uncommon to see them comfortably reposing under the dining room table or strolling around the lobby.

Crossing international borders never presented any problem other than showing our passports to the numerous immigration officials who were always extremely courteous. Never were we questioned about currency or asked to open our bags.

It was not until we stepped off the ship in Hoboken that we realized there was such a thing as a customs inspection. Actually it was easier to travel through ten different European countries than it was to enter our own homeland.

Most cities on the continent have a so-called "room finding service" located at the central station for the purpose of obtaining accommodations for strangers either in a hotel or with a private family. All places required with these bureaus must meet certain standards and regular inspections are made to insure compliance.

Our lodgings with private families proved most interesting and in two instances have resulted in friendships that we cherish very highly. Our hotels were usually of the smaller class and by American standards lacked many of the refinements and luxuries to which we Americans are accustomed.

For instance we soon learned not to take elevators for granted even when there were three or four flights of stairs to be climbed. In these hotels the price of the rooms goes down the higher one has to climb.

In the smaller establishments a waitress often takes the place of the bell boy and cheerfully lugs heavy bags up to your room, and then doesn't even wait for a tip.

Elevators for the most part are of the self-service type but are small by American standards and frequently will comfortably

FIGHT ON POLIO

French Are Still Worried
To Care For More Than 200 Essex County Cases

James J. Tully, Belleville March of Dimes chairman, said today that the organization is particularly concerned over the lag in vaccinations in 1956 among teenagers and young adults. He said good progress had been made with the vaccinations of infants and children of grade school age. But he warned that unless high school and college students avail themselves quickly of protection with the Salk anti-polio vaccine, the heaviest percentage of future polio cases may afflict these latter groups.

He explained that of the 44 million in the nation receiving protective shots up to mid-November last year, 30 million were 19 years of age and under—most of whom were teen-agers and adolescent mothers. Perhaps more significant was the fact that 23 million in this category had received two shots and were on their third or booster shot recommended for seven months after the second. With all three inoculations, properly spaced, the vaccine affords protection up to 90 percent among those receiving it. He said it is an encouraging fact that there has been no known cases of paralytic type of polio in Essex County among those receiving their third, or booster, shot—a valuable indication of the potency and protective value of the Salk vaccine.

Despite the recognized value of this preventive of polio and the fact that it is readily available for all, there are still millions of unprotected persons in this country. To stanch preventive action by the public and health authorities, the sum of 10 million dollars is included in the National Foundation's budget for 1957.

Of Holland, where I am afraid it will be a long time before the German people will be at all welcome.

In Germany the people were extremely industrious, very friendly to us, and gave no evidence of being interested in any way in militarism. The memories of the war, the prison camps, and privations are still too vivid for them to want any repetition in the foreseeable future.

Surprising enough we encountered comparatively little bitterness among the various peoples of Europe with the one exception

Freeholders Plan Contest
For An Essex County Flag

The Essex Board of Freeholders announced this week a competition among pupils of the 8th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades of public, private and parochial schools for a design for an official county flag.

The competition among school children closes on April 1. Published rules call for designs to be submitted on illustration board, 12 by 20 inches in size. The designs are limited to four colors and each competitor is limited to two entries.

Pupils are encouraged to use symbolism in creating the design which should suggest some unique feature of Essex County or its history. All designs must be original and each competitor must submit details of the competition when schools reopen next week.

A committee consisting of Freeholder Edith Reinhard; Ralph M. Lodi, director of art education in the Newark schools; Miss Helen M. Ferguson, art supervisor in Cedar Grove schools; Miss Pauline Johnson, art teacher at Clifford Scott High School in East Orange; Herman A. Martorana, art instructor at Bloomfield Junior High School; and Dr. William S. Twitchell, County Superintendent of Schools, has drawn up the contest conditions.

Nine other counties in New Jersey have already adopted flags created by students or historians embodying local regional pride. Freeholders will award a $50 U. S. Savings bond at a public ceremony to the winning artist whose design is selected to become the official flag of Essex County.

March of Dimes campaign. A large part of this sum is earmarked for the purchase of vaccine, if necessary, to assure protection to those families unable to pay for it.

"We knew the job was not finished," Tully said, "it was for this reason that the theme of 1957 March of Dimes has been made: 'Let's finish the job'; but we did believe that polio was definitely on the ropes and that perhaps we had witnessed the last epidemic of polio in the future outbreak that hit Chicago last summer."

Tully urged a generous response in the current March of Dimes drive for funds, because he said, "although there was a marked reduction in the number of new cases in 1956, caring for the more than 200 cases currently needing aid in Essex County, including those from last year and the years before, is costing considerably more than in previous years."

Mrs. William J. Long, chairman of the local Mothers' March of Dimes, has announced that a tea will be held for all members, who have worked on the drive, on Monday at the For-Hills restaurant in Newark. The tea will begin at 4 p. m.

Cagers Win Fourth Game By Beating Seton Hall, 71-68

Pirates Pull To Within One Point Of Bellboys After Uphill Battle From 22 Point Deficit

By Dave Thaler

Playing three quarters of tremendous basketball, and then staving off a fourth period rally by Seton Hall, Belleville registered its fourth win of the year, 71-68, Tuesday.

The Blue and Gold held a 22 point edge going into the final period, but their three top rebounders—Ray Kimble, Charley McFadden, and Dom Klein—went out on fouls in the next three minutes.

Unable to control the backboards, as they had for the rest of the game, Belleville saw that huge lead shrink to one point before pulling the game out of the five. Jack Cullen, with 32 points, and Dom Klein, with 21, were the big guns for Belleville. The entire team hit on 52 percent of its shots all evening, as compared to 34 percent for the Hall. But the Pirates finished with 44 of their 56 shots in the final quarter to make a real game of it. The Hall had made more than three of their 18 foul shots in that period, they might have won.

Red Hot

Belleville was red hot in the first two periods, and Seton Hall was having an off night. The Hall scored first and only, but Dom Klein put in a jumper to give the Bellboys a lead they would never relinquish. Belleville counted 44 of their 56 shots in the final quarter to make a real game of it. The Hall had made more than three of their 18 foul shots in that period, they might have won.

They really went to work in the second stanza. Five Bellboys scored in the second period, with Klein and Cullen leading the way. Cullen had only four points in the first quarter, and he was making up for lost time. Meanwhile, Klein had the ball at midcourt, and the crowd was thinking of records.

Belleville held a fifteen point lead with five seconds remaining in the half. With one second to go Bob Valero, Blue and Gold forward, had the ball at midcourt, and a Pony Piffle hanging all over him. Valero shot, and then watched the ball bank high off the boards and into the net. Belleville had a 17 point bulge.

That's the way things went for Belleville all night. Klein cooled off, but Cullen just took up the slack and more. He scored 14 points in the third quarter, and continued with Kleins six minutes. Belleville stretched the lead to 22.

Ray McFadden, Kimble, and Klein fouled out in rapid succession. Seton Hall began to control the boards and the lead shrank.

Within One Point

Cullen kept scoring, but the Hall came within one point 49-48, with less than a minute to go. Then Frank D'Angelo came through with his only basket of the night, which was also one of the most important. With 30 seconds left D'Angelo drove in and left the score at 71-68. The Hall never put the climax to their rally. It died right there.

Tonight Belleville takes on Montclair in what should be a beauty. Probably no two teams could be closer, but the pick here is Belleville, because of the death they have acquired over the past week, and the same depth which the Montclair lack.

If Belleville doesn't revert to form and play a bad game after their cool performance, as has been the pattern all year, they're going to make a lot of trouble from here on in.

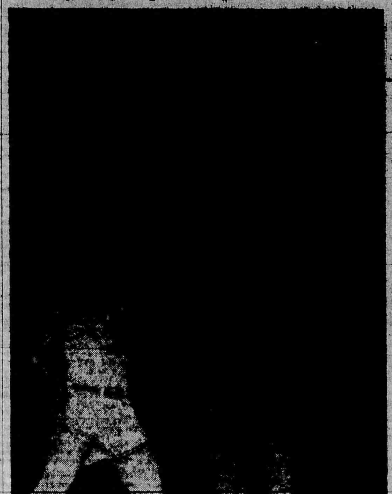

Police Department Pistol Team Beats Livingston

The Belleville police department pistol team last week by a score of 1158 to 1145. The Livingston squad is last year's Essex County champions. Scores of the four local policemen in last week's match were James Pindar, 294; Nick de Harava, 291; Rush O'Toole, 290; and Fred Ringer, 288.

The local team competes every Saturday with other county pistol teams. In all, there are 14 teams in the league.

Going Up For Two-Pointer

Jack Cullen, Belleville high cager, is shown going up for a quick two-point shot in last week's loss to Bloomfield by a 72-51 score. Cullen has outnaced Bengal defenders in action above.

ACES ON TOP IN JUNIOR LEAGUE

The Aces set back the Hornets 37-30 last Saturday morning to take the first place spot in the Recreation Department Junior Basketball League.

In what was a tight game for three quarters, the Aces were out from 23-20 at the beginning of the fourth period. Then Freddie Lowack set for three successive field goals to make it 29-20 and the Hornets could not catch up.

Richie Nisavocia led the Aces with eight and Marty Higgins had nine for the Hornets.

The Warriors gained a second spot berth when they ripped the Excelsiors 20-18.

Ronnie SanFilippo topped both clubs with eight and Ed Newsome and Gary Nabeaux had six apiece for the Warriors.

The Invincibles remained in a tie for second place, setting back the undermanned Hawks 20-9 in a one-sided contest.

League standing to date is as follows: Aces, 2-0; Hornets, 1-1; Invincibles, 1-1; Warriors, 2-1; Hawks 1-2 and Excelsiors and Wings 0-2.

Numerous Records Set In Rec Weightlifting Contest

The Belleville Barbell Club ran a series of weightlifting contests last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and records fell like autumn leaves.

Vincent Catalano had a field day setting six standards. Vincent, who weighs 100 pounds and is 13 years old, lifted 115 pounds in the press, 102 in the Olympic snatch, 135 in the bench press, 50 in the dumbbell swing, 275 in the dead lift and an excellent 85 in the two arm lift lifting this year.

The club's middle-heavy champion, Joe Serritella, is in great shape and training hard as the bantam champ Bob Sargent. Jim Gartlan looks like an excellent featherweight prospect and Tony Gardina looks like the man to fill the lightweight vacancy left by Bob Castelli who is now in service.

Belleville's team will taste their first competition this year when they travel to Philadelphia for the National Novice Championships.

Jim Gartlan, lifting in the featherweight class, established four new town records with his 171 pound bench press, 40 pound dumbbell swing, 260 pound dead lift curl, and 112 pound two arm curl.

One of the most outstanding lifts of the contest was the 177 pound press made by Tony Gardina who weighed only 141 pounds himself. This lift of 36 pounds over bodyweight was really great and indicates that Tony will go far in the sport of weightlifting. Robert Cook, director, stated.

In the dumbbell swing, a fast one-arm lift, 140 pound Al Scaglione tied Tony Gardina with a tremendous 80 pound lift and became the contest winner because he weighed one pound less than Tony.

Members of the No. 9 School PTA were entertained by members of the Recreation Weightlifting team, and motion pictures of the Recreation Football Little League at their Father and Son night on Tuesday.

Superintendent of Recreation Robert E. Cook discussed some of the fifty-two activities conducted by the department. In particular, he discussed the Football Little League and served as commentator during the showing of the film.

Following the film the weightlifters took the stage. Lifters who participated were featherweight Jim Gartlan, lightweight Tony Gardina, middleweight Guy Caprio, middleweight Joe Serritella and Bob Cook, heavyweight. Jim Gartlan did a pullover of 75 lbs., a curl of 112 lbs. and a dead lift of 260 lbs. He weighed 127. Tony Gardina, who weighs 141 lbs., did a one arm dumbbell swing of 80 lbs., demonstrated the chest pull with 140 lbs., and did three presses with 175 lbs. Guy Caprio, who weighs 167 lbs., did the curl with 135 lbs., a high pull with 100 lbs., and a supine bench press of 215 lbs. Jim Serritella demonstrated the three Olympic lifts doing a press of 260 lbs., a snatch of 235 lbs., and a clean and jerk of 285. Bob Cook did a one hand snatch with 125 lbs., a sit-up with 265 lbs., three deep knee bends with 420 lbs., and five dead lifts with 60 lbs.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of Little League Managers will be held Monday evening at the Recreation House. It is planned that this be a baseball clinic meeting. Eddie Berinski, our high school head coach, is going to be the guest speaker. Berinski has been invited to attend this meeting so that he may enlighten the Little League Managers on the most current methods of instruction so that the teaching methods employed during a boys Little League career will agree with those that he will be subjected to when he enters high school athletics. All of the Little League Managers and anyone interested in either managing or coaching in the Farm League, or the Little League, is invited to attend this clinic.

To supplement Berinski's talk, slide sound films have been made available by the Recreation Department. These films cover every phase of baseball instruction concerning the why's and where's of the layout of a ball field, proper methods of throwing, fielding, base running, batting, pitching and catching. The films have been reviewed and are devoid of all unimportant details and details strictly with the subject matter. They are published by the Athletic Institute of Chicago in collaboration with many of our well known college and professional coaches. They should do an excellent job.

After the meeting these films will be available to all the managers of both the Farm and Little League as a teaching aid to their boys.

The Little League Managers meeting is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. and the clinic meeting will be started at 8 p.m. The period between 7:30 and 8 o'clock will be devoted to further organization of the liaison between the Farm League and Little League as to how boys will be brought into the Little League this year. In the past there has been much criticism as to the methods that were in use. If there is anyone who has a suggestion, that would like to be offered for consideration, his presence at this meeting is desired. This is a tremendous job and needs the cooperation of everyone so let's all mark our calendar for Monday evening, January 14 at the Recreation House on Jaramela and Garden at 7:30 p.m. See you then.

Public Service has faith in New Jersey's future.

In fact, our capital expenditures between now and 1965 could exceed one billion dollars to meet anticipated demands for electric and gas. For example, we expect that our electric system load will have increased to about four million kilowatts by 1965, which is double the load in 1955. Our customers who heat their homes with gas increased by 270 per cent since the end of 1950. All of this means that New Jersey is growing... and Public Service is growing along with this great state. Industrial development is vibrant; urban redevelopment is shown in the "face-lifting" as seen in many New Jersey areas, particularly in Newark; residential sections continue their healthy population growths. The years ahead hold great promise for New Jersey and for Public Service. We are dedicated to fulfilling that promise.

AANJ Proposes Five Point Blueprint For Traffic Safety

A blueprint to reduce the traffic toll in New Jersey was sketched out today by the Motor Club of America (AANJ).

Bernard Burstein, MCA Safety Director, said the program basically concentrates on the driver, the unknown factor in traffic safety. By embarking on the programs, Burstein declared, the state could substantially lower its annual toll of 800 traffic deaths plus 50,000 injured in motor vehicle accidents. He warned that the trend in traffic accidents today indicated another million vehicle deaths and some 60 million injuries by 1980.

"Every day that New Jerseyites fail to take active measures," Burstein warned, "many more needlessly killed or injured persons in high way accidents throughout the state."

The MCA outlined a five-point program. It called for: 1. Uniform high school driver education courses designed to indoctrinate students with proper driving attitudes. 2. Adequate driver licensing procedures. Before an applicant gets a learner's permit, he should show evidence of having completed a high school classroom course or its equivalent, take a psycho-physical test to determine possible driver defects and show he has a knowledge of motor vehicle laws through written test. Road tests of 15 minutes duration should be given on an appointment basis whenever the applicant feels he is ready for it. 3. Re-examination of all violatively to stop, or at least slow down, the march of death on our highways. And each year we pay billions for insurance, billions for damages—but not one cent for accident prevention. The time has come to act now."

4. Rehabilitation courses for drivers who show no improvement after having been processed at the accident prevention clinic. 5. Consistent "all-out" educational attack on the causes of accidents, designed to reach all New Jersey drivers and thus enable them to recognize their own driving deficiencies so that they may eliminate them.

Burstein said, "Leaders in highway safety and psychologists in traffic accidents prevention unanimously agree that a program such as this can directly ease the motor vehicle toll."

"No program, however," said Burstein, "has any effect unless it's converted into action. Lip service and good intentions never have halted deaths or injuries on the highways. With a fantastic carnage facing us daily, we still take the attitude that we can do little individually or even col-

Stillness in the House

After the summer staccato of children's voices, the silence in the house lies deep, lies vast and profound. The work of the house is done in a pool of stillness. And the shape of thought grows clear as the voice of sound.

I walk through silence and it swells and pulses around me. And I recall the wonder of quiet I knew before I took part in the children's summer being. And the crowded hours flocked and circled and flew. The summer was a mobile of people and of speaking. But that mobile stops, and the stillness curves again. Like a velvet curtain round me, and the petals of silence unfold with the fullness of blossoms in a warm rain.

Town Mourns Death

Of Commissioner King

Belleville mourns the death this week of the dean of its Town Commissioners. The untimely death on Wednesday of Commissioner Joseph King saddens the hearts of all town residents, regardless of political affiliation, because the Commissioner truly belonged to Belleville and to every person residing in town.

For the past 22 years, Mr. King served the town unselfishly and with a dedication that brought him close to a major portion of the town's populace. His record number of consecutive years of service to his community is testimony to the esteem in which he was held by his fellow men.

Mayor Isadore J. Padula summed up simply, but poignantly, the sentiments of all Belleville when he said that Mr. King was a wonderful and dedicated man who had done much for the community. What greater monument can be erected to the memory of any man than to continue to live in the hearts of his friends and associates by the good he accomplished during his lifetime?

It was not alone in the field of politics that Mr. King's abilities were recognized. Aside from his service as an Essex County Freeholder and Town Commissioner, he held numerous high offices in banking and investment circles, which are further lasting tributes to his highly respected business acumen and industry. The numerous civic and welfare groups in which Mr. King actively participated have also benefited by his uniring devotion.

In paying our respect to this quiet, unassuming man who knew how to get a job done, we can only say that Belleville is a better place in which to live because of the unselfish efforts of Joseph King.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

Mayor Isadore J. Padula's comment, when advised of Commissioner Joseph King's regrettable demise, echoes the sentiments of all Belleville. The Mayor's words that Mr. King was a "wonderful and dedicated man who had done much for Belleville" will be repeated often by those who reflect the achievements of the deceased dean of the local governing body.

Joe King, lacking much of the ostentation and lustre of many officeholders, nonetheless through dint of his recognized integrity and conservatism, commanded the respect of his Board colleagues and electorate alike. Proof of this is furnished by his being returned to office as town commissioner over an uninterrupted span of 22 years.

Not alone in the field of politics was Mr. King's abilities recognized. The varied exalted offices held by him in banking and investment circles pay lasting tribute to his highly renowned business acumen and industry.

Monuments of enduring tribute to the contributions to a community which he helped build are the Essex County Isolation Hospital erected during his term, as a County Freeholder and the new modernized De Witt Savings and Loan Association, constructed under his administration as president, an office he held at the time of his passing this week.

As the sands of time run out, as it must for all men, the accomplishments of great and humble alike are reckoned upon the basis of their contribution to their fellowmen. Belleville is a better place in which to live be-

Cause Hon. Joseph King passed

Among the other great attainments of Mr. King, too frequently ignored, was his ability to rise above the handicap of being foreign born and to have demonstrated the workability of our American concept of democracy. Mr. King's splendid life as a gentleman, parent, citizen and public official may well serve as an inspiration to all who would dedicate their efforts to serving others. His passing will create a great void in the hearts of all interested in Belleville's growth and welfare.

Respectfully submitted,

The statue is annually brought to each church in the county by the CYO for the purposes of promoting devotion to the Blessed Mother under her title of Our Lady of Fatima. Parishes which are host to the statue schedule special devotions during the week in answer to her request. The statue annually is rededicated by Archbishop Thomas A. Boland at the CYO Youth Rally for Peace in May.

One Man's Opinion

Kremlin Concludes That "Too Much Freedom" On Its Part Led To Reversals In Poland And Hungary - - - So Corrects Its Ways

By Ralph Eric Helazen

The news out of Soviet Russia is, to say the least, confusing. Last month they were tearing down and melting statues of Joe Stalin. Today, they are singing: "For He Was A Jolly Good Fellow." Even a Russian has trouble knowing whether to cheer or to jeer Stalin. The satellites don't even try to understand. They concentrate on hating Tito because that is the trend in Moscow.

Such confusion within the Kremlin is good. So good, in fact, that many are now predicting the collapse of communism and its Kremlin dynasty. No less an authority than George Kennan, former U.S. Ambassador to Russia, regards this moment as the "beginning of the end" of the Soviet empire. We do not share that optimism but we do feel International Communism has been hurt in Warsaw and Budapest.

Recent reports of riots and upheavals in the Soviet Union itself have not yet been fully confirmed and documented. But enough has been reported by the Soviet press and admitted by the Kremlin to indicate not only a smoke but a fire. Mass demonstration by university students, genuine labor strikes, work stoppages and public criticism of the Hungarian leaders are all part of the pattern of revolt within the Soviet Union.

Can we count on more of the same? Can we look forward to the day when the Russian people will turn on their masters and bite the hand that has never really fed them? In this "One Man's Opinion," the answer depends upon whether the power struggle between the Khrushchev and Molotov factions continues or comes to an end.

When Stalin was undisputed master of the U.S.S.R., there was no riot, no uprising, no open declarations against his rule. The upheavals of the moment, both in the satellite countries and within the Soviet Union, have been made possible by the power struggle set off by Stalin's death.

As long as that struggle continues - especially in its pro and anti-Stalin form - there is a good chance that the current ferment in the U.S.S.R. will grow more severe, leading to the ultimate downfall of the entire communist system.

The significant question is whether the personal ambitions and lust for power of the part of the Soviet rulers still prevent them from getting together in order to put down, once and for all, any dissent and disunity within their own country.

Must Keep Iron Hand

It is hard to see how Molotov and his pro-Stalin faction can fail to make Khrushchev and his followers realize the folly of their anti-Stalinist policy. By this time they must all know what Stalin knew all along: the dictator cannot give any enslaved people a little freedom - that you cannot loosen the chains by a single link without facing demands for more and then, finally, for complete freedom.

The world is witnessing a race against time. If the Molotov group succeeds in convincing the Khrushchev faction of the folly of an anti-Stalinist policy, or destroying Khrushchev and his followers, there will still be time to prevent the current upheaval in the Soviet "empire" from spreading. Should the Molotov side win, we can be certain that every vestige of liberalism will be abandoned and that Russia will withdraw behind big, too powerful to stop. It has not yet reached such proportions. Only time and the character of the Soviet rulers will tell.

Consulting Satellites

The Kremlin is still busy with its consultations and the East German Communist Government, headed by Herr Otto Grotewohl, the Berlin Premier, is now in Moscow. Peking's Premier Chou En-lai arrived back in Moscow for a few days. When all those talks are ended, we can look for some decisive action.

When the Soviet Russian Communist party does clarify its new policy, later this month, we can look for an end to the witch burning in Moscow. The Chinese Communists seem to have won out over the Khrushchev faction and they may impose their formula that "Stalin's mistakes take second place to his achievements."

It was in the second half of December after the recent plenum of the central committee of the Communist Party, that Soviet policy took a new turn.

Its common denominator seems to be greater militancy on all fronts - toward the United States and Britain, toward Poland and Yugoslavia and toward foreign Communist parties.

Paris - Peking Axis

Defenders of monolithic party unity, from Paris to Peking, have closed their ranks. In fact, a Paris-Prague-Pankov-Peking axis of a new kind of militant communism has come into being.

The originally liberal-sounding "socialist commonwealths" declaration on October 29 is being interpreted restrictively. It now has become clear that the omission from this declaration of a pledge of ideological non-interference was a carefully calculated maneuver designed to cover the Kremlin's iron determination to defend the supremacy of the Soviet party over all other parties regardless of diplomatic relations of equality among "Socialist" or "Communist" states.

Basis Of New Policy

Moscow's new militant policy is believed to have been in the making for several weeks. It first came into the open in the keynote speech of Mikhail G. Sukov, party presidium member, on the anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution and the death of Lenin, December 20 and 24, while the party's central committee was in session. The following appear to be its highlights:

1. A sharper attitude toward the United States, Britain, and France combined with warnings and denunciations of spies, saboteurs, etc., leading up to another vigilance campaign which, in turn, would call for a strengthening of the state security apparatus.

2. A redefinition of "proletarian internationalism" as the duty of the workers of all lands to support and defend countries already on the path of socialism. There can be no "national communism." This is aimed at Warsaw, Budapest and Belgrade.

3. "Dictatorial" of the proletariat" exercised by the Communist Party remains the basis of all socialist regimes. The party, not the state, must be supreme. The Poles and the Yugoslavs currently take the opposite view.

4. Absolute superiority of large-scale collective agriculture and need for socialization of the countryside have been re-emphasized.

5. As the party with "superior" experience in social construction, the Soviet party sets the example and is actually the leading party, according to the new policy. There can be no "coexistence among parties"; they must form a firm front of revolutionary forces connected by undivided unity... conscious discipline, a common aim. Otherwise "there will be a sum total of parties proceeding along lone paths," wrote Pravda on December 23.

6. Yugoslavia has been told to stay in line or face the consequences.

Red China's Politburo Chairman Mao Tse-tung's virtually unqualified support has strengthened the Kremlin in its relations with the people's democracies. Since Mao formerly held different views in many respects, the Soviet leaders apparently either were able to confront Peking with new facts or must have paid a substantial price for the Chinese reversal.

The new facts are believed to be recent Soviet reports about a more active United States policy in Asia and a sober appraisal of the political and economic danger inherent in the Polish and Hungarian situation.

Deliveries from both these latter countries were to contribute greatly to Communist China's rapid industrialization. Their pre-emptive now is bound to drain Soviet resources which otherwise would have been available to Red China.
