TESTIMONIAL FOR O'NEIL SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

Dinner-Dance To Honor Popular Manager Named "Citizen Of The Year"

A large crowd is expected to attend the testimonial dinner-dance being given tonight to honor Edward O'Neill, who has been selected "Citizen of the Year" in the Times-News sponsored competition. The affair is taking place at Parillo's Restaurant and is scheduled to get underway at 7:30 p.m.

O'Neill became Belleville's first outstanding citizen for the past year when he won the contest conducted in December by this paper. Friends of O'Neill are planning the affair to further honor the popular Little League baseball and football manager.

McQuiken announced that Walter McQuiken will serve as Master of Ceremonies for the affair. Foster is a former member of the Board of Education and has been active in the Belleville Old Men's Association. He is also a former member of the Bachelor Club baseball team in the Essex County League.

Rev. Francis Ignacino, of St. Peter's Church, will deliver the invocation. Mayor Badowsky, Padula and other town commissioners are expected to attend the affair to honor O'Neill.

Groups sponsoring the affair are anxious to have as large a crowd as possible attend, so that all diversified interests in town may be represented to pay their respects to O'Neill. At the event, a gift will be presented to O'Neill in recognition of the distinction, and he will also be awarded a plaque formally designating him as "Citizen of the Year."

TULLY URGES ALL TO HAVE VACCINE

No polio by next summer! An awesome potential that is the aim of all concerned with the polio epidemic in this country. And this objective can be accomplished if, and this is a big if, everyone under 40 years of age will arrange to have their first shots of Salk anti-polio vaccine now.

This is the opinion voiced by March of Dimes leaders throughout New Jersey and is emphasized by James J. Tully, Jr., chairman for Belleville, when he said, "An attack of paralytic polio is a tragedy, but it can be avoided by the unprotected, because we have the means at hand to prevent such an attack with injections of the Salk vaccine spaced at proper intervals as recommended by medical authorities."

Tully continued, "Recently released information on polio casualties for 1956 indicates the uncertainty of polio incidence for any specific area as long as large numbers of our people are without the protection afforded by the Salk vaccine."

He cited figures from several states showing that in Massachusetts, where an epidemic of polio occurred in the fall of 1955, the incidence there was nearly 4,000 cases in the state for that year. In 1956, with greater use of the Salk vaccine, there were 11 cases. In New York, 1955-1956 cases in the state for 1955-1956 were 1,239, annually. Illinois, where an epidemic broke out in 1956, had nearly 20 per cent fewer polio cases than the five-year average, despite the fact that there was a serious outbreak of polio in Chicago last summer.

Robbers Get $1,700 In Friday Afternoon Holdup

Two men assaulted a payroll clerk inside the Lindro Dress Company, 200 West Hudson, on Friday afternoon and escaped with almost $1,700 Belleville police said.

According to Detective Harry Windfield, the clerk, Jerome Smith, 26, of 164 Sussex Avenue, North Arlington, was returning from a bank across the street when he was attacked in the hallway of the building at 200 West Hudson Avenue.

Smith said the two men grabbed the bag containing the payroll roll to a green car and drove away. He could not give descriptions of the men, Windfield said.

Windfield also said Smith was unable to say if either man was armed. He told police he saw no weapon during the brief encounter.

REV. PETRELLI DIES WEDNESDAY

Rev. Giuseppe Petrelli, of 36 Charles Street, died February 13, at the age of 80.

Rev. Petrelli began his career as a brilliant lawyer at the age of 20. After several years he gave up his practice as a lawyer and journalist of one of Italy's largest newspapers.

He moved to the United States in 1901, to enter the ministry. The religious call weighed heavily upon him, for at his birth his mother, who died shortly thereafter, had vowed to God that if he would spare her sickly son, she would dedicate him to the ministry, which she did.

Acclaimed as Christian classics by religious leaders of many faiths, these books have reached the four corners of the globe. Early in his ministry he gave away his vast inheritance to the poor and needy, and continued to live in poverty and self-negation. Belleville Rotary Club Joins In Anniversary Celebration

Belleville was linked today with more than 9,200 other cities and towns on the six continents, as the Rotary Club of Belleville observed the 52nd anniversary of the founding of Rotary.

The first Rotary club was organized in Chicago on February 23, 1905. With ideals of fellowship and service, Rotary clubs have come to have a membership of 439,000 in most of the nations of the world.

President of the Belleville Rotary Club, Lubin Palmer, Jr., stated that the local club was organized in 1922 and now has a membership of 36, including six honorary members. He listed as two of the club's major projects money raised for the Clara Mass Hospital, both for the erection of the building and its furnishing, and summer camp for boys and girls at Greenwood Lake, jointly sponsored with the Lions Club.

World Wide Program

President of the club, Lubin Palmer, further pointed out that the Rotary activities throughout the free world are based on the same general objectives as those of the Belleville club, the development of a world-wide understanding, the betterment of communities, leading boys and girls into good citizenship, the promotion of high standards in business and professions, and the advancement of international understanding, good will, and peace. He said Rotary seeks to bring all people together and to avoid all which separates them.

In furthering the program of world understanding, the Rotary clubs through their international organization set up Rotary foundation fellowships, for which students who wish to do advanced study in various countries may apply. The fellowships average $2,500 each, and more than 900 have been awarded in the past ten years to students from 60 countries.

Rotary is endeavoring to foster better international relations by increasing the personal contacts which the nations of the world have with each other.

Wisniewski Going Strong For Upsala

Cocaptain Al Wisniewski, of the Upsala County basketball squad, is quickly coming to the end of an outstanding basketball career. The 6'4" senior has only five more games remaining before the record book closes.

This season Wisniewski is second highest in two departments. In total points he has scored 95 field goals and 78 free throws for 268 points and a 14.1 average, placing second behind Joe Gasparini with 302 points. In rebounds he is also second, trailing Richard Monnigall, averaging 12 per contest.

Wisniewski, a graduate of North Arlington High School, has proved most effective around the keyhole and along the end line. In addition to his prevalent one handed jump shot, Al scores on a one hand set shot, and an occasional hook shot. Many of his points are also scored on taps. He has good hands and a fine sense of judgement, using the backboard effectively. Despite his average basketball height, Al outplays taller opponents by his maneuverability and court know how.

Al Wisniewski.

The Belleville resident started his varsity career for the Vikings in the 1955-56 season when he totaled 244 points as the squad finished with a 12-8 record. His 1955-56 season was the outstanding one, when he established a new individual high score for one game against Paterson State Teachers with 43 points. This total aided the club in netting a new game total of 113 points. At the end of the season, Al had garnered 432 points, one short of the record for a single season set by John Magee, new freshman coach at Upsala.

With five games remaining on the season's schedule, Al has one more chance to end the record books. He needs only 56 more points to be the charter member in a 1,000-point club at Upsala. It is quite certain that he will accomplish this goal, needing only a 11.2 average.

His services will be missed next year with no adequate replacement being seen. His ability to move smoothly around the key-hole with his height will leave a pair empty sneakers next season.

County League To Be Stronger

The Essex County Baseball League will be stronger than it has been in a good many years with the announcement that Montclair's Gary Anderson will be managing a team in the semi-pro loop this summer. In a startling series of changes it finally came about that Anderson will take over the Montclair entry in the eight-team league and Bill Manning, long one of the bulwarks of the Essex circuit, will move over to accept the reins of West Orange.

It is expected to become official when the Essex County League holds its first organizational meeting of the year on Sunday. Representing the Belleville Riders again will be manager Bill Murphy.

While the news that Anderson will be active in the league perked up the semi-pro circuit, that Essex County League was saddened by the death last weekend of its president, Vic Arnold. A resident of West Orange, Arnold had long been one of the greatest supporters of semi-pro baseball in the area. He served as president of the Essex County League for 22 years. It is expected that Harry Zing, Montclair Vice president, will be elected to the post at Sunday's meeting.

The news that Manning will take over West Orange came as quite a surprise since he has been piloting Montclair teams for the last 25 years. The heavy-set popular mentor has done much for the league but has never been able to manage a pennant winner, which is probably news to many an Essex County follower. Manning managed teams that have always been in the running for the title but the Montclair entry has always had to settle for one of the first division slots.

At West Orange, Manning will succeed Joe Dwyer and it is expected that Bill will try to take as much of his Montclair players along with him. The West Orange players of last year will probably be named free agents.

As for Anderson he needs little introduction. The Montclair High School coach has a record of success that stretches a mile long. You can be sure that with Anderson at the helm the caliber of the league will skyrocket. And with Manning taking over the cellar dwelling West Orange job, the outlook for a stronger brand of ball in that part of the county appears much brighter.

With Anderson taking over the Montclair post, he is changing the nickname of the team from the B.B.'s to the Athletics. Anderson is the area's most successful City Athletics and will receive help from that direction although the squad will not be known as a "rookie" team. It was Anderson who last year signed former Nutley High baseball stars Bob Cacciarrelli and Pete Codella to professional baseball contracts with the A's organization.

Montclair Defeats Bellboys In Essex County Tourney

Mounties Hand Local Cagers 65-39 Setback In Saturday Game To Close Out Season

by Dave Thaler

Belleville was eliminated from the Essex County Tournament by Montclair, Saturday night, when the Mounties overpowered the Bellboys, 65-39. The game was a huge disappointment for an SKO crowd which had expected to see the Blue and Gold make a game of it.

Montclair jumped out to a 4-0 lead and was quickly tied at 4-4 when Tom Candura and Ray Kimple sunk two foul shots apiece. The Mounties then rolled up eight straight points, and were never challenged thereafter.

Belleville had everything go wrong. Tom Candura, third high scorer, notched but few points. Jack Cullen, second man on the scoring list, failed to score. Only Dom Klein played a good game. The big junior managed to rack 14 markers and give a good showing. The rest of the Bellboys conceded it a lost night.

By the time the fourth quarter was being played, both teams had thrown in their suds, and the game at least was more even.

This time it wasn't the Haines boys who ruined the Blue and Gold. It was a 57 set shot artist by the name of Ray Festa who decided the Bellboys' fate.

According to Coach Jitty Wische's strategy, which might have worked if the change, the boy that was allowed to shoot was Festa. Very rarely can a high school player sink a long set with consistency, and Festa had not been a big scorer for the Mounties. He chose this game as the one to get hot in, though, and was the big in the Blue and White's opening spurt.

Candura, who was supposed to play down the other end of the court, was only able to do it for a brief time. He had to come back and help stop Festa.

Also, the Blue and Gold was badly undermanned under the boards. It was almost impossible for them to pull down as many rebounds as their opponents. They're too small, and they proved what a disadvantage that is Saturday night. Montclair had too much height.

For three Bellboys the tourney loss was the last game. Ray Kimple, Candura, and Charley McFadden will be lost through graduation this year, but the remaining nine players will be back. Basically the same team will be fielded next year, and a good year is a must. The Bellboys wound up in the red ink at 1-3 at their worst record in concerned, the first time that has happened to a Belleville team in its history. The junior on the team will be looking for a chance to tone for that dubious distinction.

WEIGHTLIFTERS WILL COMPETE

On March 9, Belleville's entire team will compete in the New Jersey A. A. U. Weightlifting Championships in Woodbridge.

Robert E. Cook, Superintendent of Recreation and Weightlifting Coach, says that the boys are in good shape and should bring home at least a few trophies.

As we mentioned last week, everything possible is being done to get this year's Little League on the right foot. In order to allow the managers of the respective teams to get organized early, applications have already been sent out. Any boy is eligible who will have reached his eighth birthday but will not have reached his 13th birthday by August 1. These applications call for the name, age, weight, and parental approval. They should be filled out accurately and completely and turned in as soon as possible. Upon receiving the applications the Little League will sort them out, giving each unit (one Little League team and two farm teams) a certain number of boys to work with. Every boy will be placed on a team unless it is felt that a boy's baseball ability is insufficient to the point where it would be hazardous for the boy to participate.

If you have ever attended a Little League game, you may have noticed that there are a few features about the game. First of all, the playing field is decreased by 1/3 of the size of a regular diamond. The playing

MISS WORTHINGTON TAKES GIRLS' LEAD

In last Wednesday's Recreation Teen-Age Bowling, Nancy Worthington swept into the lead in all divisions of the Girl's competition. By posting a 139 Nancy now holds the girls' high game, girl's high average of 130, girl's high two game series with 121-139 and high total for her, Louise Carroll is 297-343. Nancy having posted a 121 high game and for high average, Judy Anderson holds second with her 115. Susan Bade is in the runner-up spot for total pins.

In the Boy's Division, Tom Reid posted a 181 which puts him in the lead in all divisions except high game which is held by Ben Brown with his 185. Reid now boasts a 175.2 average at the half-way point of the league, a 187-170 high game series, and a 187-170 pins in front for high total pins. Don Colaninno, Ken Brown and Ray Mastandrea are the principle threats to Tom's high average and the competition tightens with each evening's bowling now.

SUSAN BADE WINS FENCING CROWN

The Recreation Girl's Fencing Club held its Annual Championship Tournament Monday at the High School. Susan Bade went through the Round Robin Tournament undefeated to become the 1957 Girls Fencing Champion.

Joanne Reville took second place honors by defeating Karen Sullivan 6-4. Karen had previously defeated Bonnie Claire Cook in a very tight bout which finally ended in 5-4 putting Bonnie in the fourth place.

Every one of the four leaders may well be proud of her showing in the tournament because all of their bouts were very close. For instance Bonnie Cook who wound up in fourth place fought second place Joanne Reville to 5-4 and Karen Sullivan fought first place Susan Bade to 5-4 final. Even the bout between Karen and Joanne was ended at 5-4 for Joanne.

Rec Bicycle Rollers Sizzle As Riders Prep For Meets

In Saturday's Indoor Bicycle Races at the Municipal Stadium, Belleville's young riders had the bike rollers sizzling all morning and records fell. Besides shooting for the handsome trophies to be awarded at the end of the series, the Club is grinding for the Metropolitan Bicycle Roller Championships to be held next month. The girls, in particular, look very strong for the event.

Jane Wittek rolled three tenths of a mile in 26 seconds flat to post a first in the girls' series. Mary Jane Richter was second in 27.5 and Pat Groch third in 28.3.

In the Boy's Midget Division, Pat Ugaro won in 27.7 while being pressed by Bobby Florendino who finished second in 29.7. Joe Groch nipped John Richter by 0.2 to take third.

Johnny Littig who is sweeping the boy's Intermediate class, turned in a creditable 25.9. Joe Littig seems to be letting temperaments get the better of him and failed to finish his three tenths of a mile.

Ralph Transe won in the boy's Junior Division over the half-mile distance and Ed Littig, Jr. was second. This class will have strong challenge next week in the persons of two new entries Roger Bray and Bob May. Riding an underdog, or three tenths mile, Bray rolled a great 23.2 and Bob May turned in a 26.2. Next week at the half-mile these boys will not be on the heels of Transe and Littig.

Leaders in the total series are as follows: Girls Midget Division—Phyllis Gnoffetti, 28 points; Pat Groch, 24 points; Jane Wittek, 22 points; and Mary Jane Richter, 20 points.

In the boy's Midget Division after the sixth week, Pat Ugaro leads with 34 points followed closely by Bobby Florendino, 31 points. Johnny Richter has 15, and Joe Groch has four.

Leading the boy's Intermediate is John Littig with a perfect 40.

High School Pupils Hear Agricultural Agent Speak

James Gearhart, Essex County Agricultural Agent, spoke to a group of juniors and seniors interested in agriculture as a vocation. Gearhart described the many different types of jobs in agriculture today. He also mentioned the training necessary to enter these jobs. According to Gearhart, some jobs in agriculture pay as high as $20,000 a year. A question and answer period followed his talk.

Five programs are one of several arranged for Belleville High School students by the Education Committee of the Belleville Kiwanis. Robert Laterza is chairman of this committee.

Belleville Represented At Cranford Adult School

Twenty-five communities, including Belleville, are represented at the current spring semester of the Cranford Adult School.

Other communities represented are Garwood, Kenilworth, Union, Westfield, Fanwood, Mountaingle, Plainfield, Elizabeth, Summit, Rahway, Roselle Park, Springfield, Linden, Winfield, Newark, East Orange, Colonia, Maplewood, Duran, Iselin, South River and Carteret.

In making the announcement today, Gerhard V. Kellner, registrar, said the school has an enrollment of 430, a new record for a spring term. The previous mark was 410 set at the first spring semester in 1954.

Two Local Men Receive Public Service Awards

In recognition of the completion of ten successive years of bus driving without a chargeable accident, 159 Public Service Coordinating Transport operators throughout the state have been presented with certificates for their outstanding records. This is the largest number to have attained this record in any one year. The presentations were made in the respective divisions of the company by the division managers.

Two local men are among the drivers receiving the award. They are George Maxwell, of 545 Franklin Avenue, and Howard Smith, of 24 Newark Place.

Meets With Berry

Wednesday, a different subcommittee met with Eugene T. Berry, deputy in the department of Public Affairs. A later appointment has been made with newly appointed Commissioner Robert C. Gruhn to delve into more details of his department's budget. Meeting with Berry were Albert Sage, Britt Wright, Frank Siegler, William Panter, and William Mielch.

Yesterday another subcommittee composed of Ralph Casale, Pat Pastore, Mary Matranga, and Joseph Caroni met with director of Parks and Public Property Elmer S. Hyde.

On Tuesday, two remaining committees will meet with Mayor Padula and with director of Public Works Kenneth D. Smith. Meeting with the Mayor will be George Turzello, Pat Pastore, Gerard Vig-

Frank Kane and Albert Ma- nusick. Meeting with Smith will be Frank Calabro, Alfred Boer- ner, Christ Albanese, and Frank Wilson.

President of the Association Arthur Bloemke said that his group is trying to approach the national level and find out the truth of the situation. "There is much to still don't know," he said. "We must get more facts first."

He said there were two alternatives: "Either the queries will be answered satisfactorily, or if not, those specific points will be pushed further."

Rutgers, a Doctorate of Education from Rutgers, and twenty-five years of experience in public and college education, worked for his maintenance and improvement of curriculum and instruction in our schools.

His work procedures include classroom visitation, consultation with teachers, teacher workshops, committees, publications and programs.

Presently his office is producing a publication of an arithmetic curriculum for kindergarten to third grade with teacher guides to follow for each grade.

As can readily be observed, Dr. Durkee does a lion's share of mental work. His antidote for a possible overdose appears to be a royal helping of physical endeavor. Dr. Durkee painted his house during his last summer vacation—for relaxation apparently.

His other hobbies, apart from reading, run to do-it-yourself work on auto and home, and enthusiastic spectator interest in football, baseball and basketball.

Of his chosen profession, he says in part, that education is a team job carried out by parent and teacher. The parent's job and that of the family is to provide a warm understanding background for the child as an individual, with plenty of room for free discussion and some mistakes. He said a good relationship should promote independent activities on the part of the individual, should give him the confidence, strength and resources to enable him to become more and more independent.

"The teacher's job and that of the school is to provide an opportunity for academic learning coupled with the element of group living. There is a development of the child's capacity to take freedom, and use it without abuse as a mem- ber of society," he stated.

Parents and teachers together form a true picture of the whole child. His concept of them in turn, should be of an ability and willingness to guide, rather than a desire to dominate, he pointed out.

Dr. Durkee has this to say as chapter chairman of the Steel Cross: "With the help of an excellent board of directors, the many Red Cross volunteers, office secretary, and the executive director, Belleville Red Cross is operating on a sound and efficient basis. Local demands, such as the opening of Clara Maass Hospital in June, and national demands, such as Hungarian Relief and disaster relief for West Virginia, Virginia, and Kentucky, make the financial needs of Red Cross greater than any time since the Korean War. Right now many workers are needed to make the house to house canvass, so that no worker will need to cover more than one block. Red Cross neighbors helping neighbor and our town will rally to its support."

Dr. Durkee, a resident of 45 Van Hook Place, claims a wife, Marie, active in the Steel Cross, where she has been newly named where she has been newly named to the dean's list, a son, Frank Jr., in electronic section of Marine Air Group, and another daughter Linda in the fifth grade of School Eight.

In all, the face of an educator, a community citizen, and of a person, Dr. Durkee's is one that Belleville should be proud to recognize.

Battery "B"

The usual hours for drill is two hours per week, but the Sunday drill will be for eight hours for which the officers and enlisted men will receive two full army day's pay, for their performance of duty, the lieutenant said.

Maintenance of motor vehicles at the Belleville unit is supervised by SFC Lewis S. Oakley of Clifton, a veteran with many years service. His motor shop will also be open for public inspection.

Training films covering various phases of training in addition to classes given by unit noncommissioned officers will be another feature for the public's viewing.

Li. Biviano advises men who have a military obligation or those who are approaching call to list in the battery prior to April 1. By doing so he would be deferred from selective service and the six months active duty for training provided he performed his military duties satisfactorily.

A permanent duty position as an administrative and supply technician is open in the battery.

Applicant must become a member of the National Guard and possess the following qualifications. Must be furnished with an armed service record including payrolls. For an interview call Plymouth 9-3699 and ask for Lt. Biviano, or call at the site in person. Hours daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Wednesday and Thurs- day evenings 7 to 10 p.m.

Second Conductor

The sound modulations are inscribed on the lacquer surface with a delicate cutting stylus. Through a system of amplifiers and other sound controls, the sound engineer can regulate the quantity of the master recording. Deficiencies in volume or bass or treble or other special effects, can be added to the master recording by the engineer in this step. In effect the sound engineer is practically a second conductor, since he can often turn a mediocre performance into an excellent finished recording.

In a completely chemical process, the second step towards the finished product is accomplished. This is putting a silver coating on the lacquer master record. The record staff members in its positive form, with the grooves and ridges in their original position.

Master Matrix

The third step involves making the master matrix, which is a negative record—that is, the grooves and ridges appear in the reversed position from the original. This matrix is made by an electrolytic process, which produces a solid nickel form.

The next step sees the formation of the mother matrix or mold, which is made by electroforming from the master nickel matrix of the previous step. This is an exact duplication, but is copper with a nickel facing.

The final step is the formation of a solid nickel stamper, also made by an electrolytic process. This is a negative mold from which the actual records are made and many stampers can be made from the mother matrix for purposes of mass production.

The actual records are made from the stamper, in what appears to be a huge warlike iron. A stamper for each side of the phonograph record is clamped onto the top and bottom of the wafer-iron-like presses. A small square of vinyl plastic is laid in the center of the press, the grids are closed, and under terrific pressure the finished record is stamped.

Huge Pressure

For the standard 12-inch record, a square of vinyl plastic weighing six ounces is used, which measures about eight inches square. However, over 10-inch records, smaller 45 rpm records, and 16-inch transcription records can be made from the same presses.

The total pressure exerted in the presses is about 100 tons for a 12-inch record. This means that about 2,100 pounds of pressure per square inch is being used. In addition to the huge pressure, a temperature of about 300 degrees is maintained to keep the plastic soft and workable.

The pressure is obtained by using hydraulic fluid, while steam maintains the high temperature needed. Compressed air is also used in the process.

Water Cooled

After the record has been formed, it is cooled by water, and put on a trimmer where the excess material is cut off from around the edges. The complete operation takes about 30 seconds. The label record in the forming process when it is molded right into the record.

The press operator gives each record a preliminary inspection for flaws and they are then passed to the inspection line where they are given a closer scrutiny, polished and placed in sleeves. They are then stored for shipment.

The local plant has 14 pressing machines on its assembly line and is contemplating expansion in the near future. Although no definite figures are available, the company of records produced daily when the presses are in full operation, they maintain the capability of satisfying the needs of quite a few music lovers.

Rodino Immigration Proposal Favors Italy

Congressman Peter W. Rodino, as one of 30 legislators who spent many months studying immigration matters, has submitted to Congress an omnibus bill to revise the U. S. immigration laws in favor of four Mediterranean countries — Italy, Greece, Spain and Israel — as well as Nationalist China to the detriment of Great Britain and Germany.

Rodino's bill eliminates the theory of national origin as the basis of immigration in favor of a formula which would establish a 15 per cent limitation on any individual country and would give preference to applicants on a basis of family unification, occupation, national interest, resettlement and refugee asylum.

Under the existing immigration law, Britain has a quota of 65,361 but seldom uses more than 5,000 a year. Italy, on the other hand, has a present quota of 5,645 and, according to the 10th District Congressman, needs the allowance of 37,500 which the 15 per cent limitation would allow.

Published in "Record"

The "Congressional Record", this week, published the following statement by Rep. Rodino to explain the purpose of his omnibus bill:

"The overall annual quota for all peoples, everywhere, seeking entrance into the United States would be fixed, under the bill I proposed, at 250,000 each year.

"The figure, of course, is larger since spouses and minor children of American citizens would be permitted in addition to the 250,000. A further addition to the 250,000 will be parents of United States citizens and professors of academic schools.

"These 250,000 would be distributed among five classes of people without regard to any census count in the United States, without regard to where the immigrant was born or to his citizenry.

"The one limitation with reference to country is that no more than 15 percent of the annual allocation could be issued to inhabitants of any one single country.

"Under the present law, Italy is allotted an annual quota of 5,645. In keeping that number in mind, we must also keep in mind that the entire 5,645 must be of Italian origin, so that if a thousand Italians emigrate to Australia, for example, and then wish to emigrate further to the United States, that thousand is subtracted from the total.

"Under the new proposal, Italy could be allotted, if all the 5 categories were filled, as high as 37,500 per year. Certainly Italy's population composition is such that her people could fill each of these categories within the 15 per cent limitation.

"Of all the countries in the world, I believe that Italy's population, native citizen, or resident can more fully reach into all of the five classes than any other national unit."

Marble Memorial

There he sits—the great statesman—brooding, history in his eyes, the states around him. He is planted firm as his intentions for the union, and his hands hold men together.

He is the nation's conscience, lonely, lonely—

Winds blow around him through the long nights. But he will wait and visitors will come—from nine to nine they always come—and look at him and recognize their hearts in this marble—massive as his words.

Need For A Decision

The Meyner budget is no better and no worse than the Eisenhower budget. Both are too inflated. Neither is a model of efficiency in government financing. They merely prove that political pab and waste is bipartisan.

It is our contention that New Jersey could and should balance its budget and raise the matching funds it needs to enjoy its full share of the federal highway appropriations without increasing the State's tax on gasoline from four to five cents. Nothing in this budget has changed our mind and we continue convinced that the needed matching funds can be taken out of surplus without upsetting the budget if the State's expenditures of $344,726,999 for the fiscal year 1957-58 are trimmed by the Legislature by only 7 per cent.

It is our contention, too, that the responsibility is that of the Republican majority in the legislature. Obviously, a Democrat governor with only minority support in the Assembly and State Senate, is at the mercy of the Republican majority.

The reason why the Republican majority must be held to its responsibility is that this is only the beginning of the State-federal joint highway plan. New Jersey's two-year requirement, in order to get $5 million dollars in federal road money, is $40,804,776. But that is only the beginning.

The federal-state highway plan is a long-range one. It will continue for 15 years. If it is financed once by increased gasoline taxes and not from budgetary income, then it will be financed the easy way every time thereafter and our motorists will be taxed off our roads between now and 1970, when the 15 years end.

The time to settle this matter, once and for all, for the 15 years to come, is now. Otherwise, the temptation to keep piling up State taxes on gasoline will prove irresistible.

Whitewash Only Smears

The Orchard committee of the Clean Government Republican trustees got out the whitewash brush and while taking a stroll at Louis Auerbacher, Jr., whose appointment as "secretary" to Essex County's legislative delegation and its chairman, Assemblyman Dominic A. Cundari, provoked the inquiry, it sought to hide everything behind a coat of whitewash. The whitewash, alas, in this case, only served to smear the issue.

It is not with a whitewash brush that Clean Government can keep its standard clean. Clean Government must be clean in action and in personalities as well as in name. It is regrettable that the Orchard committee lost its courage when it set down to write its report. Clean Government could have won the appreciation of many hundreds of thousands of Essex Republicans if it had had the courage of its convictions.

The issue is not whether Auerbacher had the right to go on the State payroll for $3600 a year. The report of the Orchard committee says that since Auerbacher gave back to the State the money he received, all is hunky dory. It isn't though. For one thing, it doesn't answer the question why we should elect 12 Essex Assemblymen if one "secretary" can tell them what they can and cannot do, how they must vote and what bills they may or may not introduce.

Instead of trying the old whitewash dodge, Clean Government should clean house and all connivers should be thrown out.

One Man's Opinion

Red China Reminds Moscow that She is Poaching On Peking's Preserves In Trying To Move Into India And The Far East

By Ralph Eric Helzen

On the surface Peking and Moscow are co-partners at opposite ends of a communist axis. Under the surface, in reality, there is a deep area of friction, a clash of ambitions and intentions which in the consultations coming up between President Eisenhower and the delegates of Britain, France and West Germany, we may decide to exploit.

Our governmental intelligence believes that as time passes, Communist China will become the greatest challenge to Moscow's world hegemony—not the Western Democracies. With the largest reservoir of unskilled labor and a tremendous mineral wealth, China needs only the tools of education to become eventually the furnisher for the vast populations East of Suez.

There is intense irony in the situation. Communist China needs plenty of economic assistance and industrial equipment from the Soviet Union. Moscow is supplying that equipment. In return, Peking is consolidating its own hold on the Communist regimes in North Korea and Outer Mongolia, perhaps eventually in North Vietnam. Moscow is being eliminated from any major "say" in the Asian satellites.

Looking Decade Ahead
This, our intelligence sources suggest, must be causing the rulers in the Kremlin to wonder what kind of demands Communist China will make on the Soviet Union when it really has built up its own industrial and military and modernized armaments. Is a traded industry because it maintained a realistic tax rate. If we continue this blind attitude of raising the tax rate annually, this town will lose its attraction for industry and doubt exists whether it could attract even home owners.

It is the civic duty of all residents to make this a larger and better community. Industry, Home Owners and even Tenants should contact the Mayor and the directors. Urge them to reduce the town budget and present a lowered one at the March 5 meeting. It will take courage and determination. Possibly, it would hurt a few friends. But, in the long run, we all gain.

To my positive belief, that this BUDGET CAN AND SHOULD BE REDUCED.

A "Disgraced Taxpayer"

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

On Monday, February 11, the ordinarily complacent taxpayers of Belleville stated a little show of their own, which, will, at least should, give the honorable town commission something to think about. While it is unfortunately true, since the taxpayers in the end will probably benefit little, if anything in actual cash relief on their tax bills, one can nevertheless not underestimate the indirect value of this expression of resentment and protest, by an aroused citizenry.

The "idea" of any town could would most likely not remain the same, if they were expressed as a commissioner. I expect they have always one eye on elections, which could write "funds" to their ride on the heavy train, and transform their sweet dream into a nightmare of profound despair. In the case of the Belleville Commissioners, it would most likely require not too much of an intelligent effort on their part, to see the handwriting on the wall.

The same old bedtime stories of excuses, and camouflage of real issues have lost their charm and effectiveness. Even the most indifferent taxpayer will get tired of hearing the same old fairy tales, telling him why "economy" is not possible. Economy is a must, or the taxpayers will have to walk around in their bathing suits, if this spending and tax raising keeps up.

The mayor states, that he cannot raise or lower taxes. This is not quite true. He was elected the spokesman for the entire commission, and with some aggressive, intelligent leadership, he has also other than strictly legal means at his command. "Public opinion" is a mighty ally. It has more power than the law of the land, and almost as much as the ten commandments. With the proper publicity, few men can afford the luxury to have it as an enemy. The mayor could do more than just stating "What can I do?" I have no doubt, if he is in need of some point, that there are many in the town well qualified to oblige him with good advice. "A man always always better than failure without it."

As far as I know, the town commission has, but should not have, the exclusive right to raise taxes, and by the same token it could also lower them. We will probably never see the day when they would do that, but why it cannot be done, is for me, to guess and far from know, they were willing to talk you dead, dumb and blind, and in the end you would know as much as you knew before. "Nothing!"

Real tax relief will never come to this town unless the commission government. It will be at best a steadily increasing, more expensive run around and whether this survey was correct in every form and manner.

My property was visited by the appraiser who spent approximately three hours in the house and the result is a fat note in my tax bill. While he was in the house he inquired whether I had a cellar. He took a fast look. After he departed, I was surprised when he asked such a ridiculous question since I have eight cellar windows which are visible from the exterior of the building. This oddity leaves much doubt in my mind that this firm employed engineers, estimators and construction experts to do this survey.

(Note: We were so informed by Mr. Tate at the high school meeting.)

Then we have the local industrial firm which received a substantial assessment reduction. This property is a choice location. Does it not appear odd that a large corporation would be paying more than its share of taxes all these years and not take legal action to correct this mistake?

It is noted with interest, that our esteemed Mayor wrote an article in a local newspaper on this tragic situation. Mayor Padula states, "I have no power to raise or lower taxes without voter's volition." A question: "Can the good Mayor review his budget with a fine tooth comb and come up with a reduction for the March 8 hearing?"

The Mayor speaks, "By confining our own first of all praises, we at least knew the score from beginning to end." Does that mean that a local firm would have confessed this?

"WE"? How about Joe Taxpayer, does he know the score? The Mayor, "The first half tax bills were drawn up, using the new assessed valuation." By using the 1956 high tax rate of 7.81, we paid a higher amount of money for the first half. Was it supposed at this time to create a surplus in the town treasury? How much is this amount and does the Mayor intend to do with it?

Our Mayor, "I realize that any increase in a tax bill serves to dislocate one's family budget, temporarily at least." A comment, if you please: Our rate has been climbing at a dizzy pace for the past few years. We have received nothing to show for this extra charge. Our school system is stagnant. What major improvements justify this rate? Where has all this extra money been used?

I hear a cry for a new Junior High school which is supposed to cost each home owner about one hundred dollars more. It is his tax bill. When it reaches a saturation point or is it the intention of some people to keep on adding to the tax rate until we are forced to move at a financial loss?

Having been a resident of this town for thirty-five years, I have seen it grow in stature and respect. It has always at

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the many friends, both known and unknown, who supported my candidacy for the Board of Education. It was very gratifying to find so many people giving so freely of their time and efforts, many not even being asked but doing so voluntarily. I am sincerely grateful.

One of our local papers said that I fought hard to retain my seat on the Board, some of my friends resent this. I will just say that evidently the person who wrote that hasn't seen me fight. I tried to conduct my campaign with the dignity that I feel should accompany elections to Boards of Education and not like a political election. It has been asked how I expected to win without spending money? I answer, I was offering to give a service to the town not to buy a seat on the Board. I spent $25 for cards and I consider even this should be unnecessary. A member of the Board of Education holds an unsalaried position and gives freely of his time and mental abilities and Belleville should indeed be grateful to such people.

The people of Belleville, however, must wake up to the fact that they now have an elective Board of Education, and to keep it truly elective and not politically controlled, they must choose the people they believe most capable of serving them, and then go out and vote for them even in the most inclement weather. The people can only be heard when they raise their voice in this way.

Violet F. Rockau

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

Analysis of the school board elections result clearly sustained the prestige of the Belleville Conference. Despite factional dissension centered around the group's president, the conference decided to vote handily. The resounding victory establishes the value of the conference to the community. It is well that communal interests may be cogently expressed through such a body.

Mr. Rubino's win over Mrs. Rockau was sufficiently close to demonstrate the strength of both candidates. The Conference endorsement may have proved the deciding factor.

The newly constituted Board will benefit by the talents and fresh views of the winners. It, likewise, will sustain a recognized loss in losing its lone female member. Mrs. Rockau has served conscientiously and well. Her wealth of experience gleaned from dedicated service in school activities will be missed. To the lady's credit must be observed her pledge, solemnly made, that her talents and services will ever be available to further Belleville's educational progress. Those assigned the responsibility of directing our educational plant will benefit from her generous offer.

The closeness of the budget approval vote indicates taxpayer concern over expenditures. They are becoming increasingly "cost" conscious when it comes to their pocketbooks. This should impress the school board to be chary in the future spending policies. Perhaps the saddest note of the election was the small turnout of voters to participate in so important a plebiscite.
