BELLEVILLE, N. J., FRIDAY, APRIL 5, 1957

Taxpayers Pick Name "Citizens Tax Council" For New Organization

Group Headed By Arthur Bloemeke Changes
Name After Foiled In Incorporation Attempt
Under Old Name Ruled Already In Use

Belleville was assured of having at least two citizen taxpayer groups to work for economy in municipal spending as the result of action last week. The group which had previously been operating under the name of Belleville Taxpayers Association, under the direction of Arthur Bloemeke, decided to seek incorporation papers under the name of the Citizens Tax Council of Belleville. The action came after it had been discovered that there was an inactive, but legally alive, group in town with the old name and further that another new group had sought incorporation papers using the same name.

Members meeting at the Citizens Tax Council were advised by their attorney that the name they had previously been using was unavailable because of the older group which had been started in 1952.

The new Citizens Council will now be operating locally, along with the group headed by William Vechione, which is seeking state approval this week to use the name Belleville Taxpayers Association. Both groups claim to be non-political and interested only in keeping the local tax rate as low as possible.

Also at last week's meeting, the new organization elected Bloemeke president, a position he had previously held informally before the incorporation. Others elected were Louis Donato, vice president; Edward Pendegast, secretary; and Christie Albanese, treasurer. Six trustees were also elected. They are Emil Ciolek, Arthur Pico, Chris Albanese, Albert Sage, George Turtulillo, and Louis Donato.

In addition to the election of officers, members also selected committees to attend Town Commission and Board of Education meetings. The committees will carry vouchers and report on the results of the meetings. Other committees will be set up to look after the business of the organization.

In connection with the proposed plan to make the business areas around Town Hall, the Council indicated it would be opposed to any plan in the future to place a parking lot in the area. The plan to make a parking lot in the area would supposedly pay for the lot, the organization said.

Bloemeke said the lot was not necessary as it was passed over the reports were delivered to the Clerk's office. "he continued, "Serious questions however, remain as to why those reports were not filed within the time limit prescribed by state law which is 20 days after each general election, he asked.

"Carry can never satisfactorily explain such irresponsibility, Vechione charged."

TWO LOCAL GROUPS SEND DONATIONS TO CLARA MAASS

Beisler-Wiedman Co. And Belleville Rotary Make
Gifts To Equipment Fund

The Clara Maass Memorial Hospital in its drive for funds to provide equipment for the new hospital, last week received two local group contributions. Among the contributions were those of the Belleville Rotary and Beisler-Wiedman Company, Inc. of Belleville, each of whom made contributions of $100 to the equipment fund.

Also reported was a check for $100 from the Women's Club of Bloomfield. This money, most of which was raised at a card party and fashion show sponsored by the Club earlier this month, is to be used to purchase equipment for a four-room, John P. Kidd, president of the Belleville Hospital, and the Belleville, in accepting the check from the Club on Friday, congratulated them on their charitable and civic activities and pointed out to them that this new hospital was to be situated that it would be a beneficial service to the residents of Bloomfield.

Mr. Alice Mattingly, Chairman of the Ways & Means Committee, and Mrs. J. R. Reynolds, General Chairman for the bridge, are deserving of special commendation for their untiring efforts to make the affair the success it was, added.

Another contribution in the form of a check for $1000 was received from the Lutheran Church of the Holy Trinity. The money was for the construction of a new hospital in Belleville.

Rotary Club Donates To Hospital Equipment Fund

Robin Palmer, president of the Belleville Rotary Club, announced that the club, by a vote of its members, decided to contribute $100 to the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital Equipment Fund. The money will be used to purchase two two-bed pediatric rooms, as all other rooms in the hospital will be marked with the name of the donor.

Previously Rotary gave $2,500 to the construction of the Clara Maass Hospital in Belleville.

Chief White Asks Help In April Cleanup

Fire Chief Harry T. White reminds local residents that the fire department would start its annual spring tour of inspections next week in an attempt to eliminate possible fire hazards in town. The inspections will include private dwellings and places of business and industry, he said.

The department's inspections will build up to a climax with the town's annual Spring Cleanup Week set for later this month.

Chief White said, "Good housekeeping is one of the sure ways to keep fire from harming your home and your family."

If you wonder how "fire wise" you are when it comes to home cleaning, see how much of the chief's special Spring Clean-up questions can answer. Yes to:

Do you regularly dispose of trash and rubbish?

Do you keep the ground around your house free of grass, weeds, trash and dried brush?

Do you keep your home tools, machinery, motors and appliances serviced and clean?

Do you replace all worn or frayed electric cords?

Are your matches kept in a safe place out of reach of children and do you have plenty of ash trays?

Do you cooperate with charity drives for paper and trash, salvage your cast-off clothing, furniture, etc., or contribute it to rummage sales?

Do you have your chimney and heating system cleaned at least once a year?

Poll Reveals Commissioners Favor Of Parking Area

Parking Authority Suggested To Carry Out Project While Not
Adding To Public Tax Burden

In an informal poll taken among Belleville Town Commissioners this week, it was disclosed that all in favor of some action being taken to provide off street parking facilities for merchants in the area surrounding the Town Hall business district. However, all five qualified their support for such a plan with the provision that no additional expense be incurred by local taxpayers to carry out the project.

The survey of thinking among Commissioners was the result of the recommendations submitted by the Town Parking Commission at last week's Commission meeting. The group proposed at that time that a parking lot for approximately 160 cars be built in the area bounded by Washington Avenue, Rutgers Street, Valley Street, and Belleville Avenue. Although the committee was specific as to location, they made no definite recommendation as to how the project should be financed.

As presented, the parking lot plan suggested that the project be carried out in three phases. The first step would be to acquire a vacant lot fronting on Valley Street. The second step would be to acquire an entrance, the rear 60-foot portion of adjacent lots facing on Washington Avenue would then be acquired to give a total parking area of 60 by 260 feet. If this proves successful, the committee suggested that the project be expanded to include at least three and possibly four lots presently occupied by vacant lots on Valley Street. A ramp would connect the two portions of the lot. A total of 160 cars could park in each section.

Mayor Isadore J. Padula said he has no doubt that merchants need parking facilities. However, he added, there are pros and cons to the question. Some people might be opposed to the project because it might raise the tax rate. He said there was a chance of setting up a parking authority which would be independent of the town. This would place the operating and maintaining basis, the Mayor said. The parking lot would have to be on a long-term basis even if the town were to be expanded to include the lot, he said, but the initial outlay would be considerable.

Commissioner Kenneth D. Smith said he has felt all along that more parking is needed. This seems to be the way to go, he said, but the whole idea must be self-supporting. A parking authority was recommended by him as the best possible solution. This authority would be set up as a separate entity, he said, and would have a plan in mind.

RED CROSS DRIVE STANDS AT $10,000 AFTER ONE MONTH

Peter Wendell Appointed
Local Disaster Chairman
By Dr. Frank Durkee

Officials of the Belleville chapter of the American Red Cross this week stressed the urgent need of topping the quota set for this year's fund drive. Chapter chairman Dr. Frank M. Durkee pointed out that the long series of national disasters have seriously depleted the reserve of available cash for the organization's use. He added that if the Red Cross were to continue with their varied services, immediate cash was needed.

Meanwhile, campaign chairman Dr. Frank M. Durkee placed the amount collected in this year's drive at near the $10,000 mark. He said the contributions were coming in slowly, but that he had hopes of the drive picking up some momentum. He urged all volunteer workers in the drive to contact their areas as soon as possible so that the drive might be concluded.

Dr. Durkee also said that the drive would be extended indefinitely until all prospects for topping the goal have been exhausted. The drive has a quota of $25,000 and was to have concluded at the end of March.

At the same time, Dr. Durkee announced the appointment of Peter Wendell, of 174 Malaga Avenue, as Disaster Chairman for the local Red Cross chapter.

Martin Bucco's "Voluntary Tongue" Speaks Volumes

Martin Bucco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Bucco of 53 Preston Place, this town, is in Taos, New Mexico, where he lives the good life. Here's a guy who travels, writes, lives. Let him talk poetry down in his smile about publishing a volume of poetry in this day and age ("like dropping a feather down a gorge of the Grand Canyon and waiting to hear the echo"), but you know he's enjoying every minute of it.

Processed as a fine lyric style, even in a casual letter, Bucco has had a 48 page volume of poetry published, which is due to emerge Monday or thereabouts. The descriptive material informs us that this is "A vigorous expression from a poet of the Silent Generation", and the book is appropriately, therefore, entitled "The Voluntary Tongue."

Bucco was 11 years old when he was introduced to Belleville and Greylock School No. Five simultaneously. He subsequently graduated from Belleville High School in 1948 having been senior class president, honor student, member of the National Honor Society, and a member of the National Future Teachers Association.

He went from there to Rutgers Newark College for a year, and then to the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, where he was graduated from Highland University, Las Vegas, New Mexico, in 1952. There he majored in English, journalism, minor in Education, and worked as a reporter for the Associated Press, and as a writer for the "New Mexico Times" and "Albuquerque Journal".

He is now in Taos, New Mexico, where he is editing the campus newspaper, reporting for the Associated Press, and as a writer for the "New Mexico Times" and "Albuquerque Journal".

The young priest, the had to stop and think before he remembered he was only 28 years old; himself, is a product of parochial education. But he didn't feel the call of his vocation until he was out of high school and working.

As a matter of fact, he recounted, "I was asked in my senior year, whether I considered the possibility of priesthood, and I said 'No'."

"I am happy, although I don't know why God chose me to be a priest," he said.

"I am a servant, one to whom much has been given, and through God, I am able to give."

Priesthood, as it developed, is a family vocation, since Father Wickens' brother, Father Paul, was ordained with him. "That was the biggest day in the history of our family. I always said our parents were so proud that there had to be two priests for them."

Last fall Father Wickens said that he was a priest of the future.

SPOTLIGHT on SPORTS

by Bob Gorlin

Bellboy Crew Headed For Good Season

If all goes well 1957 may be a banner season for the Belleville High School crew. Although veteran crew coach Bill Bennett isn't saying too much at this time, you can tell that there is a definite air of optimism among the oarsmen.

It won't be long now before the Blue and Gold will get their first taste of actual competition. The opening race of the 1957 campaign will be contested tomorrow afternoon with Belleville playing host to the Columbia University lightweight on the Passaic River starting at 2 o'clock.

It will be stiff competition for an opening race but Bennett doesn't believe in wasting any time. "I would rather have the boys go in head first instead of gradually getting their feet wet." The popular crew mentor has had only two weeks to get his varsity rowing charges in condition to race the more experienced college lightweight. But as Bennett told me last night, "If the boys can give a promising showing, then I know we will be more than able to hold our own once we get into the meat part of the schedule."

Bennett wasn't saying so but you could tell that he was thinking ahead to the National Schoolboy Rowing championships which will be held in Washington, D.C., in late May.

This could very well be the year that the Blue and Gold could go all the way and grab off the lion's share of the marbles at the Nationals.

Will Bennett Add A Second National Award?

Why such an optimistic feeling among the Belleville crew this year? Well, it's quite simple. A year ago Bennett's boys finished in second place in the National Rowing championships and narrowly missed capturing the title by inches. Only a mishap in the boat prevented Belleville from claiming its second national crown.

Now to get down to the real reason for predicting a highly successful season for the Bellboys. From that crew which finished in second place a year ago there are no less than seven veterans returning.

To say the least, that is a fairly good nucleus to start the season with. This year's varsity crew is practically an all-senior array with only one "junior" managing to break into the probable lineup. The varsity eight will average about 180 pounds, which is a good bit heavier than in usual years. To make a quick comparison, arch rival Nutley, which is also piloted by Bennett, will probably weigh in at about a 160-average. That 20-pound difference is a very important factor when it comes to competing in a rugged one-mile race.

Striking the Blue and Gold against the Columbia lightweight will be Dave Denzler. The coxswain will be Bill Ellis and stationed at the bow will Bob Metcalf.

The remainder of the lineup will probably be as follows: Dick Abbott, No. 7; Jim Elting, No. 6; Al Hilla, No. 5; Bill Kintzing, No. 4; George Macuso, No. 3; and Dom Colaninno or Bill Lamb, No. 2. Of that group the only junior is Abbott.

Interest in crew in Belleville reached a fever pitch this year with no less than 97 candidates working out daily on the Passaic. That is a huge total to turn out for any one sport and is the largest group that Bennett has ever been greeted with since he organized crew as an inter-scholastic sport back in 1942.

Fifteen years ago the Blue and Gold crew enthusiast,

Bellboy Oarsmen Meet Columbia In Opener Tomorrow

Coach Bill Bennett Names
Five Veterans To Row As He Seeks Weight And Power

by Dave Thaler

Crew will be the first of the three major spring sports to begin its campaign this year. The regatta season will get underway tomorrow when the Blue and Gold oarsmen encounter the Columbia Lightweight on the Passaic River.

The Bellboys will be in the new shell which was recently purchased. It arrived during the week, ahead of schedule.

The name of the shell is to be announced by the judges of the shell-naming contest held in Belleville High School.

Five Veterans

Coach Bill Bennett will have five veterans rowing in his shell, besides his veteran coxswain, Bill Ellis. The lettermen are Jim Elting, Dom Colaninno, Al Hilla, Richie Abbott, and Bill Kintzing. With the exception of Abbott, all are seniors. These boys are big, and the rest of the crew will also have left. That's where the accent is this year, and Bennett's early manipulations have been in an attempt to get as much power into the shell as possible. He has been using an unusually heavy boat in doing so. His one problem is getting the boat to ride well. An excess of weight often causes the boat to ride poorly, which it had been doing during the first few weeks of practice.

This is supposedly the year for Belleville. They have an over abundance of talent. Besides the five veterans there are eight JV's who are capable of pulling a variety out. The shifting may continue after the season has begun, for the difference in the rowers is not that great.

Columbia, the Blue and Gold's opposition tomorrow, is always tough. The Lions edged the Bellboys in the final strokes of the race last year. The weather conditions at that time were poor, and the teams may be in for that same type of weather tomorrow.

In trying to show up the weaknesses of another man is apt to put a few of his own on display.

who receives no remuneration, started with two singles. In 1945 two 4's were added and in 1946 Belleville graduated to an eight-oared boat for the first time. Since that early beginning crew has been enjoying a steady increase in popularity.

Bennett also has charge of a 63-member group from Nutley High so you can see that the area around the Nereid Boat Club and the Passaic River is really jumping.

Rec Cyclists Score Big Win In Met. Championships

Friday a group of Belleville boys and girls ventured out to Westbury Long Island to compete in the Metropolitan Bicycle Roller Championships. This very strong club, were all in great shape as a result of their competing in the weekly races run by the Recreation Department at the Municipal Stadium since December, coach Robert E. Cook said.

The first to score was 10 year old Bobby Florendino, who took third place in the boys Midget division. The liners nearly dropped their watches as they realized that her time not only was tops in the girls' class but that it also bettered all of the boys' time. Fatty Groch and Bonnie Cook also came through in a blaze of glory to take second and third places respectively for Belleville.

It was Jane Wittek racing in the girls' Midget division who really put the focus of the entire crowd on the Belleville contingent. The liners nearly dropped their watches as they realized that her time not only was tops in the girls' class but that it also bettered all of the boys' time. Fatty Groch and Bonnie Cook also came through in a blaze of glory to take second and third places respectively for Belleville.

In the girls' Juvenile Division, the Recreation team came racing right back for another big win with Mary Jane Richter taking first place and Joann Thalmeyer, Ralph Trassane, Belleville's Junior Champion, then carried on by taking a second place in his class against some of the best cyclists in the east.

All of the Recreation Team behaved like the champions they are," reports Cook. "They showed their true sportsmanship by remembering to shake hands with their vanquished rivals and by their exemplary conduct."

Belleville's future prospects in cycling are excellent in that Ralph Trassane will again be eligible for the Junior class, Jane Wittek, who will become a Juvenile, bettered the winning time of the girls' Juveniles this year in winning the Midgets. Mary Richter and Joann Thalmeyer will still be Juveniles next year and Fatty Groch will add her speed to the girls' Juveniles. Bonnie Cook who is only 10 years old will be able to repeat in the Midgets and should carry on there for Jane Wittek, Joe Groch who is only 9 years old should be the speedster in the boys' Midgets next year. Joe, despite his youth, showed very well in this year's Metropolitan.

Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde said that he is intensely proud that an activity of his Department has produced these champions.

The entire town of Belleville has suddenly broken out like spring forsythia with a baseball enthusiasm that is beyond description. Everyday as soon as school is closed there is no open area in the entire town on which some little boys, in groups ranging from 5 to 50, are not actively engaged in our national pastime.

This enthusiasm, for our national pastime, can be found to a minor degree in practically every town throughout the county and state but, I am sure no municipality experiences the enthusiasm that is shown in Belleville this year. This enthusiasm is, I believe, creditable to the excellent Recreation program under the Commissionerhip of Elmer Hyde and the professional direction of Bob Cook. As a team these two men can sit back and enjoy the fruits of their labor.

We mentioned that there is a degree of enthusiasm in the playing of baseball for these young people, but the excess of enthusiasm in Belleville is due to the fact that every little boy, when he reaches the age of 8 and through his early teens, has a place to go. From 8 to 12 he can go to the Recreation Department Farm League and if he possesses superior ability, the Belleville Little League; after 12 to 16 he can go to the American Legion baseball or B.S.S. & County ball. The magnitude of the accomplishment of all of the men associated with recreation activities for the town of Belleville is tremendous, so tremendous that it can only be fully understood if one were to become interested.

Last Saturday, your writer was down at the stadium and many young boys wanted to know, "Where do we try out?" The applications that all of the boys have filled out have been distributed among the eight organizations, each organization composed of the Little League managers and coaches and the Recreation Department Farm League managers and coaches. By combined efforts each of these groups will schedule a time and a place for their try outs and notify every boy. If by April 15 any boy who filled out an application is not notified he should make that fact known to the Recreation Department by calling PL 9-3142.

Red Cross In Action Home Service Volunteers Work Around The Clock

It is 12:30 a.m. The phone rings. A Red Cross home service volunteer answers. It is the Red Cross Field Director from Texas calling to verify the death of the father of a serviceman. The volunteer telephones the family, learns the facts and reports back. Within one-half hour, the R. C. O. has the necessary information and the serviceman is granted emergency leave. A serviceman stationed overseas receives a letter from his wife saying she just can't manage since school opened. She has to take her 12-year-old son who had to go to Newark Hospital for treatment several mornings a week. Her 6-year-old child has just started school and has a cross a highway coming home at 11:30 and there is the lunch to get ready and the baby, etc. She's a nervous wreck and wants her husband to come home. The Red Cross field director sends a wire to the chapter. The wife is visited and told that the Red Cross Motor Service will take the boy to the clinic in Newark. This relieves the situation and the wife can stay at home, take care of the baby, prepare her lunch and then go to meet the child coming home from school. A wire is sent off to the Red Cross field director and another problem which looked insurmountable is solved.

A Veteran who is receiving 10 percent disability, has been having very severe headaches. His doctor thinks they are the result of service-connected disability, so he wants his claim reopened. He is willing to give Red Cross the CYO To Have 14th Annual Communion Breakfast, April 7

The Essex County CYO will hold its 14th annual Communion breakfast in the Elizabethan Room of the Hotel Essex House on Passaic Sunday, April 7. It has been announced by Rev. Thomas E. Davis, CYO director. More than 400 youngsters and adult advisors, the leaders of the youth program in the county's 72 parishes, are expected to attend. The breakfast will be preceded by a Mass at 9:15 a.m. at St. Columba's Church in Newark. In announcing the breakfast, Father Davis said "It is our hope to emphasize the religious purpose of CYO work and to deepen the spiritual motivation of CYO activities."

Power of Attorney to act for him, so the wheels begin to turn and the R. C. Field Director at the V. A. takes over to expedite the case. These are just a few of the cases Red Cross in Belleville is handling every day, twenty-four hours a day, because when the chapter is closed some volunteer is on duty at home, night, weekends, and holidays.

Blue-Bird's Return

When winter's cold tempests and snows are no more,

Green meadows and brown-furrowed fields reappearing, . . .

Oh then comes the blue-bird, the herald of spring!

And hails with his warblings the charms that it brings.

While spring's lovely season, serene, dewy, warm,

The green face of earth, and the pure blue of heaven,

Or love's native music, have influence to charm,

Or sympathy's glow to our feelings is given,

Still dear to each bosom the blue-bird shall be;

His voice like the thrillings of hope is a treasure;

For, through bleakest storms if a calm he but see,

He comes to remind us of sunshine and pleasure!

Alexander Wilson (1766-1813)

Postscript

D. Louis Tonti, the executive director of the Garden State Parkway, would go to any end to avoid having to remove the disputed tollgate at Belleville Avenue. Instead of doing the simple thing and relocating the tollgate at Route 3, Tonti would close the Parkway to local traffic at rush hours, thus denying the very purpose for which the highway was built.

Fight Against Cancer Needs Your Help Now

Success in the fight against cancer depends on the whole-hearted support of every one. The Essex County Chapter of the American Cancer Society is one of the spearheads in the attack through its programs of education and service but the front-line is occupied by the thousands of scientists who are working under grants of the Society in the search for the cause of cancer, man's ruthless enemy, which in 1955 claimed the lives of 9,806 men, women and children in New Jersey.

The research attack on cancer is the greatest and costliest undertaking in medical history. The problem of cancer is so broad and so profound that virtually every branch of science is engaged in the task so far has eluded the best efforts of highly trained minds. However the results have been such that each day brings forth the hope that a solving of the puzzle of cancer cells will soon be accomplished but funds are needed to hasten that day.

Since its organization, the American Cancer Society has felt that one of the best weapons against cancer is education. And the activities of the various county chapters throughout the nation are beginning to reap results. Latest statistics show that, as a result of public education, alerting the people to the dangers of cancer, and improved treatment, one in three persons who are victims of cancer is now being saved. This means that about 150,000 persons are being saved but another 75,000 could be saved annually from cancer by early diagnosis and treatment.

The Essex County Chapter needs your help to expand its educational program. Give to the Cancer campaign now.

One Man's Opinion

U. S. Reliance On UN As Instrument Of Our World Policy Faces Re-Study As Hammarskjöld Returns From Egypt

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

Twenty years ago the world was just as troubled by political turmoil as it is today. It was a divided world; dictators at both ends of an "iron axis" plotting against the free democracies. There existed a League of Nations but without United States membership or support. The League was to fail miserably as an instrument of peace in the crisis of 1939 — and to die.

In its place, in a world just as troubled today but with different dictators plotting against the free democracies again, we have the United Nations. This time there is a difference: the United States gave its moral support to the UN which it had denied to the League of Nations.

United States reliance on the UN as both an instrument of peace and of U.S. policy faces, therefore, a severe test as UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld returned to his desk this week from Cairo.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, having risked all on the General Secretary's mission and on his ability to reach an acceptable agreement with Colonel Nasser, are hopeful — as they say.

It must be obvious that the United Nations will stand or fall on the success or the failure of the Hammarskjöld mission and on his ability to produce a solution not only of the Suez Canal problem but also of the problems of Gaza and the Gulf of Aqaba.

Failure of his mission could only weaken the UN, and such a failure would, almost inevitably, force a reconsideration in Washington of our entire world policy. If the UN is not strong enough to force respect of its demands, then it is not strong enough to serve as the major instrument of American foreign policy.

And it's time we find out, Washington feels.

On the continent of Europe, too, the governments of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg are taking stock of their situation — as they do in between the two great power blocs, the Communist to the East and the United States. Among themselves they have a common language of 160,000,000 — more people than live in the United States.

Together On Paper

Their conclusion is that the old treaty of Article 17 of the United States of Europe is still just that — a dream. Those members were all, at one time, members of the defunct League of Nations. Hitler's Germany was thrown out of the League for its attack on Czechoslovakia, and West Germany, like the five others, holds membership in the League.

But the capital of Italy won

Six Nations To Act As One

The above map shows in black the six West European nations which have just formed an economic mutual aid bloc and an atomic pool.

the right on other grounds to be the scene for this historic meeting.

No one fought more tenaciously for the ideal of European unity than Italy's Alcide De Gasperi, former Premier of Italy, and Count Carlo Sforza, ex-Foreign Minister.

Quelling Old Rivalries

And no country has held greater belief in the possibility of success in laying the foundations for economic unity than Italy under the impelling drive of its present Foreign Minister, Gaetano Martino.

But now that the old walls of suspicion and obstruction have been surmounted and the foundations for a new road ahead have been laid, what is next?

The signatures upon the treaty signify that the ideal of a union of the economies of the six countries concerned has been accepted in principle. There are still many, however, an immense task, after the individual parliaments have given their approval of translating principle into practice. No one, certainly not the leaders of these six nations who have undertaken this act of faith, minimize the practical and technical difficulties ahead.

No magic wand was waved at Rome which made the complexities disappear, complexities which result from national economic and political differences which have molded the economies of the six countries into their present tangled form.

For instance, there are the complexities of national custom and exorbitant duties of general taxation structures.

There is also the problem of labor within the common-market area, its chronic unemployment problem may be solved. There is a possibility that through the stimulating given by a domestic market of more than 160,000,000 within one autonomous economic unit, Italy's industry and agriculture can develop so that it is standard of living will catch up with that of its partners.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

Recent articles in your newspaper and others concerning the activities of Mr. Art Bloemke have reached such a distorted state, that there is a definite need for clarification at this time.

It has been very amusing to read that Mr. Bloemke is supposed to be associated with and aiding in the political campaign of a certain candidate. The sincerity of this man is unquestionable and these unfounded remarks that he is grouping together with other citizens in this town and pointing out to the municipal residents how they can save money on their tax bill is going to be considered political then one must assume that a new type of politics has been born. Every taxpayer, tenant and industry would be enjoying these savings today.

If the Town Commissioners had adopted the economies presented by Mr. Bloemke at the recent budget hearing.

On the basis of hypothesis, let us visualize that Belleville has been blessed with a commissioner having ideas of a Mr. Bloemke. Just imagine saving $10,000 on the Town Budget. . . . No more free telephones and expensive car allowances. . . . Landlords could keep rentals down instead of raising them as they are presently doing. . . . People would not be forced to sell their homes as it has been reported at present due to the ever increasing taxes. . . . Town industry would enjoy greater profits because their taxes would be lower. . . . A realistic tax rate would attract good industry to the town of Belleville.

In other words, Belleville would become a good town to live in for home owner, tenant, and industry.

May I conclude by proposing that the critics of Mr. Bloemke would do well if they initiated and adopted his very actions and thoughts. The net result would be a Better Belleville For All Concerned.

Yours truly,
Carl J. Vurtelle

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

Commissioner Sullivan's policy when I claim for discipline in his department, which will assure all citizens proper service by the personnel of this firm. He respects my contention that three police cars and six officers are inadequate night protection for a community the size of Belleville, with over 35,000 population.

The commissioner has an ample reserve of manpower to afford much more adequate and efficient protection than is now available. Proper utilization and assignment of this force would enable dealing the night patrol without increasing the size of the department. The Belleville Taxpayers' Association outlined how this should be done.

Mr. Sullivan turned a deaf ear to these constructive recommendations of civic minded citizens and taxpayers. Why? It is because he, the commissioner, is playing the type police that he feels will benefit himself, by getting the solid support of the town's cops and firemen in the next election by "going along" with their "go along" policy. Belleville's police and fire personnel is today, made up of first-class men with the mission of serving the community selflessly and courageously. The body of men which constitutes the nucleus and foundation of our protection and safety want to go into politics. Too often, in the past, they, against their will, have been involved in the confused arena of local politics in which they are impartial. Public servants should be excluded. Any department or office infected with politics is impaired and hampered from performing at its peak efficiency.

Commissioner Sullivan's first responsibility as an elected official of the community, is to the people of that community, not to any special group or faction which he might anticipate exploiting for political advantage of election time. He intimates that he is a member of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, a secret organization, and his Department. This violation could lead to its deterioration.

The efficient manner in which he is "on the ball," will see his obligation to the public with an open perspective. He will, in their, all their, best interests. He will concern himself more with doing his present job in the most efficient and practical manner, regardless of future political considerations or whose "boss" he may find it necessary to tread upon.

When Commissioner Sullivan starts shouting politics, he should reflect briefly and evaluate, if he will, what activates many of his administrative policies which are so contrary to the expressed recommendations of dissatisfied taxpayers.

Respectfully submitted,
James R. Golden

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

We wish to thank the police department and the fire department for the wonderful cooperation and patience their men gave us in our efforts to have the town of Belleville known as a Belleville taxpayer. We find this victimized member of society is, and long has been, sought after by those of political bent.

The measure by the press that have groups bearing the name, Belleville Taxpayers Assn., are functioning at the same time, tends to confirm the desire of those interested in governmental activities in attracting that harassed prey of the politicians, the taxpayer.

The News story, brings out the obvious schism within the ranks of the presently active group. Little is left to the imagination as to what might have occurred the rift. It does give off the odor of politics with a town hall background.

Town tax collectors, generally are circumspect fellows. Avoiding involvement in political controversial matters. It seems peculiar Mr. Friedman should have motivated the incorporation application of Mr. Miskind when the paper describes a member of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, whose standard bearer is the town commissioner.

If the purpose of the whole strange move, which Mr. Bloemke called a "surprise" attack, without his knowledge or consent, was to settle the Belleville led taxpayers group, obviously, the scheme backfired. Bloemke appears more firmly entrenched with the rank and file membership while the other faction takes on the role of an ostracized splinter group tied closely to town hall. The sought after taxpayer went so far that town hall atmosphere. They'll resent the apparent sabotage maneuver.

James R. Golden

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

I had the privilege of addressing the Belleville High School student body at an assembly program last evening, where Mr. Herman Wisne, your retiring basketball coach, was honored. I would be remiss if I did not tell you something of my experiences with Mr. Wisne.

We grew up together and learned to play the games that youngsters participate in. Jitty always was a hard worker and a real player who sought perfection in everything he did. He attended college with him where I watched his blossom into an outstanding athlete.

He then taught and carried with him to Belleville High School. In the past two decades his record speaks for itself.

Belleville has been fortunate to have such a man for a coach and teacher. I sincerely hope that the Board of Education has bigger plans to use the abilities of this fine gentleman.

Senator Dumont Says:

"I Know Meyner Can Be Defeated"

Should Know Because He Did It In Democratic Warren County

By Ralph Heinzen

Governor Robert Meyner is a tough opponent to beat but he can be beaten. The man who says so is State Senator Wayne Dumont, Jr., the first Republican since 1878 ever to have been elected to a full term in traditionally Democratic Warren County. The man he beat, in 1941, was his Phillipsburg neighbor, Bob Meyner.

"This should be the year when the Republican Party takes back control of New Jersey's administration, adding the Governorship to its majority control of the State Legislature and winning the State Executive and Judicial branches," Senator Dumont told the Times-News in an exclusive interview during a visit this week to Trenton.

TULLY URGES ALL TO GET SALK SHOTS

Seven Polio Deaths In New Jersey Last Year

James J. Tully, Belleville March of Dimes chairman, today said that, "According to figures issued last week by the New Jersey State Department of Health, the more Salk shots a person gets, the less likely he is to get polio. There were seven deaths in New Jersey attributed to poliomyelitis in 1956, but none among those who had Salk vaccinations. Furthermore, the very few cases among those who had received three shots, none had any paralysis."

He further stated that among those who had received no vaccine, the incidence of polio was high, and among these cases the rate of paralytic cases was also high, amounting for 63 per cent of those afflicted in this category.

Tully again urged everyone under 50 to secure their shot quickly as time is running out for those unprotected to receive some measure of protection this year. He said that the polio season in past years has usually started in early July in this area, but there is no guarantee that it will not start sooner.

Tully declared that many large business and industrial firms in this area, as well as nationally, are arranging to have their employees receive Salk anti-polio vaccine shots. In some cases the shots are to be administered free of charge and in others are offered at cost.

Local Man Fined $100 For Giving False Alarm

Magistrate Edward J. Abramson last week gave a three year suspended jail sentence to James Barriello, 35, of 85 Newark Avenue, and fined him $100 for sending a false alarm from a fire box at Newark and Naples Avenue.

Barriello was spotted pulling the alarm at 9 a.m. on March 2 by patrolman Thomas J. Dunne. He pleaded innocent and was placed on probation for one year.

Four Local Students Earn Junior Achievement Praise

Sixteen teen-agers from Hudson and Essex County High Schools, operating in the Junior Achievement movement as a local group called JAICA, won first prize as "Best in Group" in a contest sponsored by Junior Achievement of Schenectady, Inc. for the originality, salability and competitive worth of their product—utility and car stencils. They competed with groups from 25 cities from Maine to Virginia.

The winners were: Gail Arnold, Barbara Hogan, Lois Huelo and Ernest Molnar, Belleville; Tom Schober, Joan Karash and Charles Haas, Bloomfield; Joel Bernstein and Linda Farrell, West Orange; Sandy Goldberg, Paul Smith and Lois Solinger, Nutley; Mary Meier, Kenney; Tom Scirella, Lyndhurst; Martha Cypriotti, Central High School, Newark, and Mike Ritz, of Weequahic High, Newark.

The basic purpose of the Junior Achievement movement is to teach teen-age youth the American way of business. In reaching this broad objective, the groups are required to establish and operate a business; select a product; process and package it; and merchandise the product through means best suited to the project. The JAICA unit sold the stencils on a door-to-door campaign.

RALPH A. VARA JR. COMPLETES COURSE

Ralph A. Vara, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Vara, of 27 Grove Street, recently completed an eight week course at New Jersey State Police School. He was one of 20 Motor Vehicle Inspectors graduated from the school from an original starting class of 41. Vara is a graduate of Belleville High School and the University of Wyoming. Newark College of Engineering and Newark State Teachers account for ten former Belleville pupils.

BELLEVILLE GRADS WELL REPRESENTED IN SCHOOLS, JOBS

According to a survey made by Samuel Shiffrin, Guidance Director, 95 of last year's 249 Belleville High School graduates are continuing their education. A breakdown reveals that 72 are attending four-year colleges, and 23 are attending three-year nursing schools, technical schools, and miscellaneous institutions of higher learning.

A further breakdown of the figures reveals that 47 boys and 48 girls are continuing their education. There are 45 boys and 84 girls occupied variously in office positions, distributive occupations, trades and industry. Five girls are married, of this class and there are 20 boys in military service. Only one boy and one girl are listed as merely unemployed.

Of the students who are continuing their education, there are seven who are staying at home as Fairleigh Dickinson University, and two former pupils who have traveled as far as Miami University and the University of Wyoming. Newark College of Engineering and Newark State Teachers account for ten former Belleville pupils.

He has successfully completed, includes instruction in law enforcement, procedures, accident and criminal investigation, use of equipment for testing drivers, public relations, self defense, and firearms.

The class was sworn in recently in induction ceremonies attended by Attorney General Grover C. Robinson, Jr., and Motor Vehicle Director Frederick J. Gassert, Jr., who later officially appointed them.

The new inspectors will fill vacancies caused by retirements. Gassert said they "will help us expand and improve the present drivers' license examination system and will relieve the congestion at some of the larger examination centers."

SCHOLARSHIP AT NEWARK ACADEMY

Announcement came this week from the Newark Academy Board of Trustees, through its President, Dr. Stuart Z. Hawkes, of the institution of an annual, full-tuition eighth grade scholarship, open to members of the Robert Treat Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Robert M. Butler, Headmaster of Newark Academy and chairman of the Leadership Training Committee of the Robert Treat Council, asks interested seventh grade scouts to write of him at Newark Academy, 215 First Street, Newark, for applications and testing dates. Each boy who competes for the scholarship is asked to send a recommendation from his Scout Executive and from his school as well as a transcript from the school. The winner of this newly instituted scholarship will be announced June 1, 1957.

John Hvasa To Speak At CYO Communion Breakfast

John Hvasa, of Somerville, a prisoner of the Communists in Czechoslovakia for five years, will be the featured speaker Sunday, when the Essex County CYO holds its 14th annual Communion breakfast at the Hotel Essex House on Fashion Sunday.

A special guest at the breakfast will be Floyd Patterson, of Brooklyn, heavyweight boxing champion of the world.

The breakfast will be held at 10 a.m. following a CYO Mass to be offered at St. Columba's Church, Newark, at 9:15 by Rev. Thomas E. Davis, Essex County CYO moderator.

Senator Dumont

There is a big difference of six years in age between the two men, Meyner, at 48, being the older. But there has been a strange parallel in their lives.

They both attended the same school, Lafayette College, Meyner graduating from its law school in 1930 and Dumont in 1935.

They live in the same town, Phillipsburg, and on the same side of the street. Their law offices are only 100 feet apart.

Once graduated, both served their clerkships in the same law office in Phillipsburg under Sylvester C. Smith, Jr., then the Warren County Prosecutor and now the chief counsel of "Prü" living in West Orange.

They are both married and the name of each man's wife is Helen.

When Meyner went into service as a Naval reserve officer, Dumont, as president of the Senate, moved into the Capitol and sat at the Governor's desk. When Meyner went courting out to Oberlin, Ohio, and when he went there to get married, as when, the Summer before, he went to the Democratic convention in Chicago and then to Paris, Dumont sat in for him in the Governor's chair.

Phillipsburg, the setting for all this rivalry, is the big town of a county of 60,000, mostly farmers. There are other towns, like Washington, with 5,000

Hackettstown, with 3,500, and Blairtown with a thousand but, year after year, Warren County has been in the Democratic column.

It took courage for a Republican to run for office in Warren County, but Dumont ran against Meyner for the vacant Senate seat in 1944 and lost. Meyner won that election by a margin of 481 out of 17,000 votes cast.

They ran again in 1951 when Dumont challenged Meyner for second time. It was an even tighter race, but the Republican won by 68 out of a total of 22,000 votes. It had been three-quarters of a century since Warren County had chosen a Republican to sit in the State Senate.

Meyner lost that election because he lost his temper. Dumont recalled as he recited the events of that upset during his visit to the Times.

"As I know him, Meyner can 'blow it out' but he cannot take it. I had challenged him to a whole series of debates and we had it starting with the Farmers Fair. We held the last one that night before election, in the Slovak Club hall in Phillipsburg, a Democratic ward in a Democratic town.

Meyner lost his temper during the debate and got extra abusive that night. It went down badly with the crowd and Meyner lost enough votes that night to lose the election the next day because I beat him in the whole county with only 68 to spare.

As a consequence, Meyner has his good points. His speaking technique has improved with his television appearances and he is a hard worker. He is publicity conscious but he may use it too much for his own good.

He has his weak points, too, and the worst is that he has a thin skin and cannot stand criticism. He fails to take a position on many issues, as in the case of the Chimney Rock bond issue, providing for a dam and reservoir in 1965.

"He has a way of going over the heads of local Democratic leaders in not following their recommendations for patronage and their responsibility in the hierarchy of the party."

Senator Dumont, who has strong views on both a State

Income Tax, and a State Sales Tax, both of which he stubbornly opposes, is also disturbed by the confusion resulting from the recent State Supreme Court decision confirming lower court rulings that would oblige the reassessment of all property in New Jersey at "full value" within a period of grace of two years.

In action taken in Trenton, this week, Senator Dumont moved for amendment to the State Constitution, by referendum, to require the application of the Constitutional "standard of value" in reassessing, by counties, instead of on a statewide level.

"The Constitution does not require assessing at 100 per cent of true value; that is a provision of a 1948 law which can be changed by legislative action."

Senator Dumont said in his interview here.

"The Legislature, seeking to find out what the Constitutional requirement really was, referred the problem to the State Tax Policy Commission with instructions to report back no later than December 1, 1967. In its resolution, the Legislature set that date for the final report but the commission could, if it is ready, file an interim report."

Senator Dumont is hopeful that or legislative action, during the two years grace period, it will be possible to avoid property reassessment on the tax rolls of the State's 660 municipalities at full value.

ARMY BROADENS RECRUIT PROGRAM

Sergeant First Class William Hyde of the U.S. Army Recruiting Station at 1006 Broad Street, Newark, has announced a broadening of Army enlistment program and is now accepting applicants for enlistment in the National Guard and U.S. Army Reserve, at all regular Army Recruiting Stations in the state of New Jersey.

Under the current policies, men desiring to enlist in the U.S. Army Reserve, have various options available to them for a specific types of enlistment. These options range from a six month active duty tour with the remainder in Reserve units in hometown areas, to a two year active duty tour with the regular and remaining time in local reserve units. Age limits have been increased to permit men up to age 40 years to apply for the six month program.

The National Guard enlistment program is basically the same as applies to the Reserves, except that an additional enlistment opportunity is available for men between the ages of 26 and 30 years.
