FROM WHERE I SIT (Continued From Page One) in customs, events and moments of yesterday. Bellevillites of today are interested in the scenes depicted in the pages of the Times-News of days gone by. That is why I am anxious to get Mr. Ghinocchio into the frame of my mind and down and put what he remembers and knows of the Belleville of the past in paper for publication in the T-N.

SPECIAL REQUEST—Police Chief Spat goes to Honolulu with the chiefs who will leave Newark Sept. 15, for a meeting at the annual conference of the International Association of Chiefs of Police in Hawaii. I should like to carry my regards to Charlie Chan and his numbered sons, who are mentioned in the "Charlie Chan stories"—this is, when I had time to read anything other than my newspaper, the Times-News.

SEQUEL The column of last week elicited one reply. The item which drew a letter to this department was my comment on the protection of street crossings along Washington Ave. by patrolmen in Newark. The traffic lights in operation. The letter, from Thomas B. Sciarullo, of 65 Lake St., sounded somewhat caustic to me. I hid behind my anonymity in town offering no comment. I was not sure of the facts which you have been around these parts a while will know whether or not the traffic lights were in operation. My point was that I was extremely interested in reading your observation of "one and sometimes two policemen regulating traffic, even though the crossings were protected by traffic signals."

Several months ago the Silver Lake and Sub sections had policemen walking the beat. That was several months ago. Now we have none. It would be well of you to inquire of our beloved Director of Public Safety why these men were taken away. Was it appropriation for several undesirable remarks made by several citizens of this area which prompted the removal of police men on the beat? If the aforementioned is true, why do we have no reason for taking the men away? Election time is very near and it is not surprising the arrival of policemen walking the beat again for a few weeks.

ANOTHER SEQUEL. Hardly had I set my "foot" inside Town Hall Monday morning when I was jumped on for the snub in this column last week about the out-of-town births occurring at Clara Maass Memorial Hospital late in August and early September. "Don't you realize," chided my "chaper-omner," "that the fame of Belleville is such that many mothers come from many distant places to have their babies here?" I WON'T BE FORGOTTEN. In a conversation with friends, I Golden, of letters-to-the-editor and Board of Commissioners—The Belleville Times-News has a very interesting fact about a man I was, unfortunately, never to meet; the late Mr. Charles Golden, a resident of the Times-News newsroom, also knew, he was a lifelong resident of Belleville and attracted considerable attention through his articles in the Times-News during the early days of our town. I doubtably, had my share of conversations with Mr. Golden, who remained with us longer, I should have met him in my getting-acquainted talks with him. The question, would have derived much pleasure and benefit from talking with him. Mr. Golden pointed out that the late Mr. Albert's son, Clark, made quite a name for himself as a bicycle rider and ice skater, and also that his daughter, "Tick," cut a pretty caper on the ice.

"Mr. Alvey will be missed," said Mr. Golden, "by all who knew his friendly and interesting personality, who left an indelible mark upon Belleville's historical annals, about which he wrote so often with a pen as bold as that of a chronicler and raconteur extraordinary." Mr. Golden was a member of the Old Guard Organization of which the late Mr. Alvey was a member and a former director. His passing brings heavy sorrow to Bellevillites who knew his worth.

SOMETHING NEW IN MAPS. New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Garden State Parkway, has just issued a new map of the parkway. It may be available at "toll" booths by the time you read this. It is a colorful piece of work and has one innovation: it might be called an "upside down" map, in that it is showing a clear picture of the road south as motorists actually travel it. It is a map of the parkway, which is a road around from the usual north-south position to find out how the road is really used. THE 50-man midnight shift seemed undecided Tuesday night Monday's demonstration, were also refused admittance. Some walked out, but some remained at work. Capt. Marino De Mattia, in charge of a 12-man Ciffon police detail at the plant, Tuesday night, said he was assisted by the guards in any way. His men were at the plant, he said, to prevent trouble and assist in traffic duty, long before some of the demonstrators and intimidated workers by their presence.

THE 42 processors later withdrew their petition, and the union demanded the company withdraw its action. The hearing began September 9, was adjourned September 10 and petitioned Tuesday, when the processors sought NLRB permission to reinstate their original petition. FT&R Walkout (Continued From Page One) Tuesday night, 3,000 Local 447 members, met in the Continental Ballroom, Newark, and approved the leaders' decision to remain out until suspensions and firings are lifted. A company spokesman said: "We consider this to be an illegal strike in violation of the contracts presently in effect between the company and the locals. We plan to bring legal suit against the persons responsible for this situation. Our pension plan will remain in effect, but the plant is open for the other workers to return."

The union describes the situation as "a spontaneous reaction by the workers to the company action of suspending and firing workers and the posting of plant guards and Ciffon police to prevent their return to work. There is no strike and no picketing," the union maintains. "According to the union, all workers reported for the morning shift Tuesday and found a supervisor, a plant guard and a Ciffon policeman stationed at each gate. Suspended and fired workers were pointed out by supervisors to the plant guards, who refused to admit them to the plant. When news of the company action reached workers already at their jobs they walked out in protest on the day, the union said, 450 afternoon shift workers also walked out when some of their number, who had been involved in the 50-man midnight shift seemed undecided Tuesday night Monday's demonstration, were also refused admittance. Some walked out, but some remained at work. Capt. Marino De Mattia, in charge of a 12-man Ciffon police detail at the plant, Tuesday night, said he was assisted by the guards in any way. HE MADE A HOME

Modernized Heating Unit
With One Modernization Loan after Another
Installed downstairs Bathroom
New Driveway

Last fall a man made a $100 repair loan at the Peoples National Bank to fix up his heating unit. Later he borrowed again to install a downstairs bathroom. He had previously put in a driveway with a repair loan. In fact, with the help of modernization loans from year to year he had made his home attractive and livable.

The cost of a modernization and repair loan is reasonable. See your contractor for the cost, and see us for the financing. Bank borrowing is cheaper.

P.T.A. Sets Oct. 12 As Date For Kiddie Carnival & Fair

The Parent-Teacher Association of School Nine on Ralph Street will hold its first Happy Kiddie Carnival and Family Fair Saturday, Oct. 12, from 11 A.M. to 3 P.M. at the school playground. Mrs. Walter Saunders is general chairman of the event and is being assisted by Mrs. Robert McMinis, who is secretary of the P.T.A.

The Kiddie Carnival will include several rides for the children and improvised games where they can try their skill to win a prize. The refreshments booth should be a popular corner, with hot dogs, soda and ice cream being served. There will be gifts for the parents. Other booths will include a "white elephant" table, Christmas card booth, gift table, home-baked goods and souvenirs booths.

The committee has sent leaflets home to the parents asking for donations and contributions and is also asking them to work on the affair.

In the event of inclement weather the carnival and fair will be held the following Saturday, Oct. 19.

Mrs. James Lee, president of the P.T.A., has issued an invitation to the general public to attend.

Serving on the committee with Mrs. Saunders and Mrs. McMinis are Mrs. Harry Winfield, publicity chairman; Mrs. Lee; Mrs. Daniel McCarthy, Mrs. D. Macaluso, Mrs. Nelson Morrell, Mrs. Robert Zeiss and Mrs. Allen Carrott.

Mrs. Bank is a graduate of St. Michael's High School, Newark, and prior to her marriage was employed as a secretary with Westinghouse Electric Corp., Bloomfield. Her husband, a graduate of Radio Electronics School, Baltimore, Md., is affiliated electronically with communications in the Navy and is stationed in the Canal Zone, Central America, where the couple will reside.

is no substitute. It is an activity that provides worthwhile training and get-togethers for its members and at the same time is an asset to the community, because the products of the movement are a credit to Belleville.

The inspiration and satisfaction that comes from helping youth is something that cannot be realized until an individual has participated in a youth project.

Here is a golden opportunity for any woman who enjoys working with girls not only to lend a hand to a worthwhile cause, but also to enjoy the deep satisfaction of being part of an organization that is alive, beneficial and truly American.

For many, many years volunteer women have aided the Girl Scout organization by their assistance as leaders in Scout troops, but many, many more volunteers are needed to carry on the worthy organization.

Will the women of Belleville open the doors to their hearts and be of service to their community, and at the same time be happier people because of this new experience?

Navy and currently in Japan; a daughter, and two other sons, Gene, Robert and John, live at home.

Mr. Schiekram is associated with Ford and Industries, Belleville. Mrs. Schiekram is a member of the Rosary Society of St. Peter's and of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart, Catholic Daughters of America.

In the past two World Wars, a few enemy subs slipped in but they did little damage.

As long as we have our advanced bases overseas, on Okinawa as in Europe, we will not be at a total disadvantage during the several years it may take us to get our own intercontinental ballistic missile in quantity production.

We do have, right now, a medium-range missile upon which mass production is just starting. It can reach any enemy target from our advanced positions with more accuracy than an intercontinental missile. That makes it imperative that we keep those advanced bases.

Values Of Bases From an American overseas base, or in British or NATO hands overseas, a medium-range missile will reach as far as a Russian intercontinental missile could reach. It is more accurate than an intercontinental missile. That makes it imperative that we keep those advanced bases.

Moreover it could carry a heavier nuclear charge and would be more accurate. This is one reason why the Army is urging that NATO and British forces be supplied with United States medium-range missiles.

Meanly, Washington is alert to the prospect that nations harboring American bases the same kind of "missile blackmail" that it died against Britain and France during the Suez crisis.

The objective would be to frighten NATO countries, by talk of nuclear deactivation, into closing out the American base.

Bread Basket And Arsenal France, Britain, Turkey, Spain and our other allies and friends who have granted us the advanced bases we now occupy know that in any new war we must, once again, be their bread basket and their arsenal.

Neither their factories nor their farms will be allowed to function. They will be wholly dependent upon American production.

One Man's Opinion

For First Time In Our History We No Longer Are A Privileged Sanctuary; We Are A Vulnerable "Front Line" Trench In Next War

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

The greatest single basic element in the strength of the United States, during both World Wars I and II and since, was that we could not be reached by enemy weapons delivered under their own power or carried by ships or planes. That privileged and invulnerable sanctuary no longer exists and if war comes again we must realize that we will be in the "front line" trenches.

Even if we refuse to accept Russian boasts at their full face value, we must not discount the facts that the Soviet Union has jet planes which can and have reached our shores and that it has tested an intercontinental missile.

Nor must we blind ourselves to the fact that the Soviet Navy, leaning heavily on the new rocket technique, is right now, for the second time in 18 months, holding maneuvers in the Arctic, off the Murmansk Coast, directly across from the wide-open reaches of our own continent.

As long as we have our advanced bases overseas, on Okinawa as in Europe, we will not be at a total disadvantage during the several years it may take us to get our own intercontinental ballistic missile in quantity production.

the Syrian crisis the old concept of an arms balance between the Arab States and Israel has all but disappeared.

Upsetting Delicate Balance This, in the long run, may prove to be the most important result of the present race for bases between the Soviet Union and the United States in the Middle East.

Already American weapons are flowing into Jordan. More American arms are scheduled for Turkey, Lebanon, Iraq and Saudi Arabia, Washington's other allies in the Middle East.

Arab leaders who a few years ago had to scratch hard to buy a few tanks, now find arms of all kinds being pressed upon them by the two great power centers of the world.

Chiefly disturbed at this is Israel, whose spokesmen claim that the primary aim of all Arab leaders remains the destruction of Israel, and that ultimately the weapons now pouring into the Arab world may be used against the predominantly Jewish state.

Centuries-Old Hatred This concern is shared by some Western diplomats, who report that already nationalists in some Western Arab countries are saying privately that the new arms never will be used by Arab against Arab, but only against Israel.

As though to underline Israel's concern, Samir Rifai, Foreign Minister of Jordan, whose o country now is a major recipient of American arms — declared this week that Israel is a far greater threat to Jordan than is Syria.

So far the damage being done to the Arab-Israeli arms balance overruled in Washington by the need felt to bolster Syria's pro-Western neighbors against a Soviet offensive or military thrust from Syria, dominated by pro-Soviet leftists in the Syrian Army and political life.

In this situation observers now are asking: Will the Syrian crisis slow up into war?

Syria itself almost certainly will not attack its neighbors, it is believed. At the very least such attack would bring down upon Damascus the overwhelmingly superior forces of Turkey, Iraq and Jordan.

The Soviet Union also, it is felt, would not want to see the present Syrian coalition — useful to Moscow as a channel for Communist subversion in the Middle East — wasted in a losing war.

There is real danger, however, that Syrian agents, some of them Arab nationalists, some undercover Communists, may be able to undermine popular support of their governments among the people of Lebanon, Iraq, and Jordan. All three latter governments are considered to be too pro-Western by many of their peoples.

The gravity of the subversive threat from Syria was pointed up by recent Lebanese Governmentings.

assertions that a state of near emergency existed around Lebanon's oil pipeline terminals at Tripoli and Sidon, because of subversive activity by Syrian agents.

So far it is clear the Syrian Government has given its neighbors no real excuse for an attack upon Syria, nor are conditions considered ripe for the direct application of the Eisenhower Doctrine.

The military aspects of this doctrine can be applied only in the event of an attack upon a Middle Eastern country by a Communist or Communist-dominated state. That contingency has not arisen, nor is it considered likely that it will.

This a major purpose of present American arms shipments to the Middle East, it is believed, is to strengthen the hand of friendly governments against subversion from within.

In the wake of this situation the time-honored pattern of an Arab-Israeli arms balance has disappeared, with nothing firm emerging to replace it.

RECOMMENDS PARK COMMISSION MONEY BE USED FOR COUNTY GARBAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM

Editor, The Times-News: With the raging controversy over a proposed Third River park...

ture prospects of the now conventional method of disposal prohibitive. An alternative must soon be found...

Recognizing the advantages available to the county, with its vast resources and engineering personnel...

The County Park Commission functioning independently of the County Board...

The 1957 budget request of the Essex County Park Commission totaled $1,850,908.02...

SEVERAL QUESTIONS ASKED ABOUT PROPOSED PARK PLAN

Editor, The Times-News: My comments are pointed towards the contemplated park proposal.

At a first glance one must have respect for the opinions of Mayor Facella and Commissioner Hays...

True, the Park Commission only deals in parkland, but nothing prevents the Freeholders from saying at budget time...

The 1 1/2 million dollars there could be earmarked as a county project of any nature.

The ever-increasing cost of garbage disposal in conjunction with a few rigid state regulations covering such dumps, makes fu-

Jews throughout the world will assemble in their synagogues on the eve of Sept. 25 to begin their Jewish holy day, Rosh Hashanah, in prayer.

Rosh Hashanah, which literally means the "head of the year," begins the Jewish New Year and the ten days of Penitence, which will conclude with Yom Kippur.

The Jewish people again will heed the call of these awesome and majestic days, a call for self-examination and meditation on the true meaning of life and its struggles, which in turn will yield a stronger faith in oneself, in God and His Commandments.

The Jewish New Year is known by three distinct names: Yom Haden, The Day of Judgment; Yom Teruah, "The Day of the Sounding of the Shofar"; Yom HaZikaron, "The Day of Remembrance." These three names denote the deep significance of the Holy Days. These are the days when the Shofar calls us to repentance and a return from our mundane thoughts to thoughts of religious significance. These are the days of remembering that we are the children of the Almighty and it is unto Him that we must call.

The prayer book for the High Holy Days is replete with penitential prayers. On these days of introspection, we are mindful of our wrong-doings to ourselves, to others and to the community. The prayers of repentance aid us in amending our ways and thus becoming better individuals, enjoying the world that the Almighty created for us.

During these days of penitence each Jew looks upon himself as one in the overall picture of the world. His prayer is that the Almighty should grant everlasting peace unto all mankind, for Thou are the God of peace; and may it be good in Thy sight to bless all Thy children everywhere at all time with Thy peace."

Temple Menorah, Bloomfield Has Holy Days Seats Open

Temple Menorah, 936 Broad St., Bloomfield, announces that seats are still available for the High Holy Days services of Rosh Hashanah, Wednesday evening, Sept. 25, at 8:30; and Thursday morning, Sept. 26, at 10. Also for Yom Kippur, Kol Nidre Friday evening, Oct. 4, at 8:30, and Sunday morning, Oct. 5, at 10, with children's services at 1 P. M.

Temple Menorah urges residents of Belleville who have not as yet made plans for their observance of these holidays to avail themselves of its facilities.

For information, contact Ralph Meyers, 22 Byrd Ave., Bloomfield, EDison 8-5665, or Phillip Cooper, 50 Golf Road, Bloomfield, EDison 8-2724.

000 water main dilemma?

4. How much is this park going to cost the Belleville taxpayers?

5. Are we making good use of our present park area?

6. How much will the town lose in ratables, considering it's own acreage, land from the Kottan Estates and any other property in this area?

7. Could this area be utilized for a shopping center or a light industry, such as an insurance company, which would certainly bring a substantial revenue to the town treasury?

8. There are many ways that the county could use this money to good advantage, such as:

1. Develop the present Belleville Park by constructing a swimming pool, enlarge the play area, erect tennis courts and make a picnic area.

2. They could build a county incinerator, as pointed out by James Golden.

3. Develop one section of the hospital ground area into a playground for the children living in that section of town.

It is my belief that the Essex County Freeholders should use this money in a wise and fruitful manner. Combating juvenile delinquency and relief for the over-burdened taxpayer are my suggestions.

"Can You Guess How Many Tickets I Punch a Year?"

"Ten thousand? Fifty thousand? Nope... it's closer to a hundred thousand tickets a year," says John F. Breslin, one of your New Jersey neighbors who's been a railroad conductor for 37 years.

"Of course, behind every one of those tickets is a person who's on his way to something pretty important to him—his job or a business appointment, a vacation or family visit. In traveling back and forth across the state I get the idea, speaking to my passengers, that the railroads make a big contribution to their lives—getting them where they want to go when they want to go."

34,000 New Jersey men and women and pay them $147,000,000 a year—most of which is spent in New Jersey.

Your railroads are well aware of the big role they play in New Jersey's economy. And they know it's bound to get bigger. They're planning optimistically for the future—but their plans are being held back by a crushing tax burden... imposed by an antiquated tax system. Your railroads want to pay their fair share of taxes. But today, New Jersey's railroad taxes are disproportionately high.

Ironically, these taxes that are placing such a staggering load on your railroads—and thereby jeopardizing the economic progress of New Jersey—actually amount to only a tiny fraction of the State's total tax revenues. That's why many of New Jersey's leading citizens are saying that modern tax reform is needed—tax reform that will strengthen both New Jersey and its railroads.

John's always been a good man at figures. Another of his calculations goes something like this: Since your New Jersey railroads carry 150,000 people daily on business and pleasure travel—over the course of a year, more than 50 million individual trips are taken... 50 million tickets punched!

And that's only the beginning of the big job your railroads do in New Jersey. New Jersey's prosperity is based on the smooth day-to-day functioning of its farms, factories and businesses—and your railroads deliver the vital raw materials, goods and products that keep them humming. In addition, your railroads supply jobs for 34,000 New Jersey men and women and pay them $147,000,000 a year—most of which is spent in New Jersey.

Accident Sends Boy To Hospital For 24 Hours
 Four-year-old Kenneth Potomz, of 66 Newark Ave., spent 24 hours in Columbus Hospital, Newark, following an accident Monday afternoon, Sept. 16, in which he received abrasions of the right arm and elbow.

SEVERAL LOCAL GIRLS AT CALDWELL COLLEGE
 Several Belleville young women are among the students in the new Freshman class at Caldwell College for Women at Caldwell, N. J. They include Miss Arlene Haganard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Haganard, of 16 King Place; Miss Louise M. Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Carroll, of 22 Rockwood St.; Miss Felicia Magnifico, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Magnifico, of 18 Overlook Ave.; Miss Rita Shiel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert V. Shiel, of 68 Hoch St., and Miss Sandra Buccico, of 68 Beach St.

According to the Belleville Police Dept. records, Dennis was playing in Frederick St. when he ran into the path of a car being driven south along that street by Basil Palma, 21, of 12 Frederick St. After being struck by or running into Palma's car, the youngster was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Another new student at the college from Belleville is Miss Olga Schneider, daughter of Mrs. John Frederick Schneider, of 24 Berkeley Ave., who is a Sophomore at the school.

Activities at which the Freshmen were guests this week included a picnic luncheon given by the Sophomores, followed by a guided tour of the campus by the Juniors. Another social event was a luncheon given by the Juniors, followed by a program, "What to Know About Caldwell."

The traditional Junior-Freshman "Baby Party" was held last night on the campus.
