CITIZENS COUNCIL URGES MAYOR TO ACT ON PLANNING

Calls On Padula To Obtain Commission Approval; Tells How Board Should Be Set Up

The executive board of Citizens Tax Council of Belleville has submitted to The Times-News for publication the following copy of a letter sent by the Council to Mayor Isadore J. Padula in which it repeats its approval of the creation of a Planning Board, as stated in a letter to the editor printed elsewhere in this issue of The Times-News, and sets forth how it would like to see such a Board established and what it thinks a Planning Board could do.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

The executive board of the Citizens Tax Council of Belleville has submitted to you a letter on record as favoring a Planning Board for our town. We feel, however, that it should be a non-political, non-partisan board. It should not be appointed by the Mayor or the Commission. We also feel that it should not be appointed or backed solely by The Belleville Foundation. We have the utmost respect for the Foundation, but believe a Board such as this should be appointed, composed of and backed by Belleville citizens.

We do not have $300,000 to play with or anything like that amount in our treasury. But we do have and we want it far more important than dollars, the enthusiastic support of a great many of our citizens.

We do not believe that a parking lot is the solution. One can park a car in the middle of the day on the night and find parking places within three blocks of any store one might wish to visit.

Most of our main shopping center is composed of one and two-story buildings.

ANOTHER CHURCH IS BROKEN INTO

For the third time in less than two months, a Belleville Church has been the prey of a destructive individual or group bent on causing damage to a House of God. This time the victim was Grace Episcopal Church, 1000 N. 10th Street, between 10th and 11th Streets, and Overlook Avenue, over the Thanksgiving weekend.

A door and screen were broken and bags of cement and lime thrown on the bowing walls of the church, causing considerable damage. This is the second time within two weeks that the church has been broken into. The first was during a meeting of young people, when someone stole the refreshments that were to be taken.

Christ Episcopal Church of Washington Avenue was damaged considerably about two months ago when it was broken into. An attempt to rob St. Peter's R. C. Church on William Street was made about a month ago.

POLICE, D.P.W. DO BIG JOB ON STORM; TWO WOMEN HURT

Heavy Snow, Traffic Jams Keep Both Departments On The Go Around The Clock

Belleville was turned into a massive traffic jam as the 24-hour snow storm piled upwards of 13 inches of snow on the area, clogging roads, making hill streets almost impassable and delaying home-bound commuters for hours.

The fall, which started Tuesday night, continued throughout the day and into Wednesday night until 10, leaving motorists stranded on roads and streets.

The storm, leaving to be the earliest in years, set a new record for the date before it ended. A massive minor accident was reported to the police department during the period. Chief George K. Spatz called in 16 traffic patrolmen to do extra duty in keeping traffic moving or unsnarling traffic jams.

The Department of Public Works, under the direction of Administrative Assistant Hugh Hyde, was on duty more than 24 hours, being called out at 2 A.M. Wednesday morning. The 28 employees, mowing nine pieces of town equipment and two rented pieces, cleared the 63 miles of streets in Belleville by 6 A.M. Tuesday morning.

Continuously hampered by cars parked over-night in the streets, the DPW was able to make only one run many streets, thus opening up one lane on many of the thoroughfares.

"Uterior Motives"

Not Benign Action, Mayor Padula Says

Tells Manufacturers He Is Working For Good Of Town In Advocating Redevelopment And Bringing Different Segments Together

"You and I," Mayor Isadore J. Padula told the gathering of industrialists at the 26th annual dinner of Belleville Manufacturers' Association at For-Hills Restaurant Tuesday evening, "can appreciate the fine progress Belleville has made. Its record from Colonial infancy to our present atomic period has been one of courageous advance, despite through wars, the depression and period of mass unemployment, all of which had a terrific impact on Belleville."

Mayor Padula, who has been a speaker at Association meetings since he took office, not only because of his top position in the municipal government set-up but also because, as Director of the Department of Revenue and Finance, he has an intimate knowledge of the financial structure and position of Belleville, followed his opening words with a warning that "there comes a time in the life of a community when the time has come when it must take the form of redevelopment."

The speaker indicated that Belleville has reached its bounds and that further progress "must take the form of redevelopment."

The Mayor referred to his sponsorship of a recent meeting of commercial property owners and merchants, saying his purpose was to show ways and means of securing Belleville of obtaining its proper quota of the town's share of the tremendous purchasing power to be noted throughout the country.

"I have heard," stated Mayor Padula, "that my efforts were labeled as 'politics'."

In the light of Webster's definition of "politics" — "the art of government, or the administration of public affairs" — the Mayor said he was not condemning the label.

He then added: "I stand before you, twenty-one years of age, and I have accepted the label of 'politics' for many years."

"Government and economics are inseparable," said the speaker, "and I believe that government and refuse to lend the strength of government for the promotion of private enterprise in the interest of the community as a whole."

When a town becomes inflexible it is in a deep depression. It has a bad case of hardening of the arteries," Belleville must keep in step with its neighboring communities which are giving serious attention to development and redevelopment or be left behind.

Mayor Padula described as "unfortunate" the common concept that many citizens know as much about schools, taxes, health, etc., as the experts in these fields.

Little League Grid Play Nears Season's End; Coaches Lauded

Belleville Football Little League has just completed its third playing season. This has been a season of the tightest competition yet in the League. As in the past, the coaches have done a remarkable job of taking their boys from "this is a football" to smoothly performing teams with a good knowledge of the basics and intricacies of the game, plus an understanding of sportsmanship.

At the close of the season the lightweight Division wound up with the Kiwanis, Lions and Varsity teams. The Jolly Cleaners won the championship. The Elks Club team, which never did obtain a win, played a great series under the leadership of Coach J. J. Tiedale.

Because of two rain-outs the Heavyweights have a game and a half to go to decide their closing situation and there is every possibility that they may end with a tie.

The Jolly Cleaners have a first position clinched with their schedule concluded and a 4-2 record. The Recreation Bears and Federal Industries, in their game called at half-time because of rain when the Federals were leading 7-0. Should the Bears pull this game out tomorrow, Saturday, when they meet to finish their game, they will become co-champions of the Jolly Cleaners. If, however, the Federals hold their lead and emerge the winner, the Bears will have to bow to the Recreation Tigers to clinch their co-championship.

"IT WAS A NICE TRY, BUT..." seems to sum up public opinion about competitive cars attempting to equal the styling and features of the Swept-Wing 58. They tried to get as low, but had to lower the roof to do it. (Less headroom, same high, boxy, cooped-up look.) Their windshields got smaller, while ours got bigger. Most of them still don't have Total-Contact Brakes to assure smooth, even, safe stops when needed. Nor do they offer push-button Torque-Flite, the proven automatic transmission, and Constant-Control power steering that works full time — not part time as some other systems do. And Dodge no-way, no-dip Torsion-Air is standard equipment. (Bus-type air springs offered by some cars cost well over $100.00 extra.) So compare all the 1958 models with Dodge. We think you'll agree: Other cars are catching on, but they can't catch up.

Girl Scout Troops Continue Activities; Leaders Needed

Mrs. John Travers, leader of the newly organized Brownie Troop 99 which meets at School Eight, visited "The Land of Make Believe" at Hope, N.J. Sunday, December 1.

Among the girls who made the trip were Lynn Armstrong, Mary Anne Albers, Judith Berg, Doreen Bradley, Betty Bordonaro, Sharon Davis, Dorothy Fern, Carol Frances, Laura Johnson, Janet Pappageall, Janet Robertson, Laura Ruppel, Patricia Shaw, Virginia Travers, Dorothy and Georgette Ucholi and Cathy Zell. Acting as chaperones were Elsie and Marilyn Ucholi, and the Mesdames W. Albert, Peter Bordonaro, J. Robertson, L. Johnson, C. Pappageall, V. Travers and R. Travers.

At the first meeting of Girl Scout Senior Troop 19 at the Reformed Church, Main Street, Miss Veronica Sudzinski was elected president of the group. Other officers are Oliva Schlecker, vice president; Grace Rapp, secretary and Thomas Hamilton, treasurer.

As part of their Christmas program, the scouts are making carols, pins and earrings which will be on sale within a few days. Orders may be placed with the troop president, Miss Sudzinski, by telephoning LYnnmouth 9-7093 or with any Senior Scout.

Mrs. A. Verhaegh is leader of the troop.

Intermediate Troop 9, under the leadership of Mrs. Verhaegh, meets at the Reformed Church and is actively engaged in badge work. In addition to their regular scouting activities, the girls have engaged in several social affairs including a Halloween party, a Court of Honor and a Christmas party, Tuesday, December 10.

Officers of the troop include Nancy Webber, treasurer; Barbara McGuire, secretary; Rosemary Ayers, reporter, and Nancy Morrell, Alene Springer, Carol Leahy and Angela Machado, patrol leaders.

Intermediate Troop 2, accompanied by their leaders, Mrs. M. Mianian and Mrs. A. Ciesla, attended the Flower Show and Branch Brook Greenhouse Friday afternoon, November 15. Those who made the trip were Mary Connolly, Dorothy Dolan, Lynn Elsie, Joan Hoffman, Gail Kenworthy, Mary Lloia, Jo-An Miazga, Carol Thies and Diane Southwell.

Mrs. Alfred Moore, public relations director of Belleville Council of Girl Scouts, is again making an appeal to the women of Belleville to volunteer their services as Girl Scout Leaders.

Mrs. Moore stated that there are still several troops inactivated because of lack of leadership. Several hundred potential girl scouts are being deprived of scouting because their troops remain closed.

A recruit mother who has a girl eligible for scouting would volunteer.

Mary: "Thanks for doing the living room."

Harry: "Think nothing of it, my pet. With these electric do-dads, housekeeping's a cinch!"

Mary: "Says who! But anyway it's a joy to have the use of automatic appliances."

Harry: "Gas, too, is a big help. Since the heir put in his appearance that water heater has been a real comfort."

Mary: "Even though we pay Public Service more each month, it's worth it. We do much more with electricity and gas since we started housekeeping."

Harry: "That's why Public Service says, 'Electricity and Gas do so much and cost so little.'"

WANTS POLICE DEPT. FOR LACK OF ASSISTANCE

Editor, The Times-News:
Having been a lifetime resident of Belleville, I am sure I have found it necessary to call on Belleville Police Department only once for assistance. Both times they have utterly failed to provide adequate assistance. Yet this is the point that they are underpaid. I believe that for the incompetent and inefficient service that is being given the taxpayers of Belleville, they are actually overpaid.

The trouble lies not in any political corruption but just old-fashioned laziness for which there is no place in an expanding community such as ours. What our police department needs is not a cleaning up but a cleaning out. Let us have a department that has the aptitude and willingness to assume duties that require more effort than the routine direction of traffic.

HYDE WILL GET THIS WRITER'S VOTE FOR RUTAN-ESTATE STAND
Editor, The Times-News:
Many "political observers"

seem to feel that Commissioner Hyde is committing political suicide with his recent stands on the county park and the gasoline station, both involving Rutan Estates. There is some question of what "bait" he will use to lure voters from the estimated 100 voters in the Rutan development.

As for me, I wonder how many people feel as I do, admitting that Commissioner Hyde for not voting against future elections, instead serving the people who elected him in the last one. What is one vote he will be sure to have in the next election.

I just want to be sure that when the name of our fair town is changed to "Rutanville" that someone like Commissioner Hyde, with the courage of his convictions, is in Town Hall to make the vote 4-1 against it.

Anybody feel as I do? Anybody for Hyde-and seek the ulterior motives?

CITIZENS TAX COUNCIL WANTS PLANNING BOARD

HYDE WILL GET THIS WRITER'S VOTE FOR RUTAN-ESTATE STAND
Editor, The Times-News:
Many "political observers"

of necessity be somewhat higher than the shops with larger turnovers. Neither is the situation due to a lack of parking facilities, as so many seem to think. One can walk down the avenue almost anytime of the day or night and find available parking space within three blocks of any shop one might want to visit.

The Citizens Tax Council of Belleville does not have $300,000 to play with or anywhere near that amount in its treasury. But we do have and we deem it far more important than dollars the enthusiastic backing of a great many of our citizens. These are the people who make or break the shops in our town.

We believe that a Planning Board should be of the people, by the people, for the people of Belleville. We would like to see as a first step, the Board of Commissioners legally sanction the establishment of a Planning Board.

We feel, however, that the Planning Board members should be free of politics and should not be appointed by the Commissioners.

We are contacting all active civic groups in town, requesting that they send delegates to meeting to be called in the near future. This group should select a Planning Board from among the leading residents of Belleville.

GOLDEN WRITES AGAINST PRESSURE GROUPS, PLANNING BOARDS
Editor, The Times-News:
Any assault upon the press is generally regarded as a cardinal sin which politicians "shy away from" like the hot plague. Rather than antagonize the scribes, who often get away with murder in imposing their own views upon their help, readers, to tongue-in-cheek attitude is espoused that is equivalent to cowardice. I feel any person presenting himself to the public as either a public official or an aspirant to public office is obligated to disabuse the citizens of any slanted opinions which might be derived from his own bias. Many times prominently proclaimed in news publications.

Too many false impressions are derived from distorted, irregular newspaper "pundit" copy which only presents a one-sided story—the reporter's bias. Many times, notwithstanding their sincere intention to sponsor what they regard as needed reforms, their writings are predicated upon limited knowledge of complicated issues they are either unacquainted or barely familiar with.

S. E. Lieberman, news editor of The Times-News, a veteran newspaper man, has been in town short while. He expresses the feeling "the business elite of the area in this locality is deservingly unfamiliar with the news."

Ralph E. Heinzen, publisher of the paper and his own writes in another article, pressure groups are not interested in what is best for the town as a whole. They are concerned with their own special interests, even if it means creating more taxation. The boss is right.

Surely, we need a local Chamber of Commerce and a Better Business Bureau, too. We feel the need to encourage our merchants, but we want them to lend their shoulder to the wheel also. They must attempt to help themselves, not expect to be subsidized by already over-burdened taxpayers' dollars.

The news reporter is attempting to stir up a hornet's nest in urging the merchants to help officials to turn over the key to the town treasury to get what they want, he had better give consideration to the fact that Belleville Commissioners are chosen to represent all segments of our population, not merely merchants. He should acquaint himself with the fact that public officials that yield to pressure groups. We like to feel decisions are made upon merit and moral principle, not force and threat of political reprisal.

I shall never subscribe to the political fact-finding policy of weighing votes to decide issues. If government was conducted in this fashion in other communities, Mr. Lieberman covered in the past, let them wallow in that subject environment. We suggest not encourage such pernicious practices here.

Belleville problems should be solved by fair and honest historic propaganda, not plaintive publicity pouring out the pen of an over-appeal newsmen looking for a headline.

Wherever more money is made available for government spending the spendthrift tendencies notoriously characteristic of wasting the taxpayers' money come into vogue and taxes skyrocket.

Our officials are supposed to stay within their budgets. How could they justify a $250,000 taxpayers' gift to a handful of merchants, mostly chain store owners, for out-of-towners, who would like nothing better than have our already-bled-white taxpayers shell out to provide them backing?

Any pressure group drive is rigged from the start. . . . Special favors for special interests is its motto. Let any decision be those of our elected officials should hold off from these unnecessary and expensive propositions until it has been proven that our own administration cannot function and govern as efficiently without increasing the tax burden upon the home-owners.

Commissioners should prove their inability to govern with efficiency and economy, then there may be another solution and that is to elect Commissioners who can.

We must steadfastly refuse to be high-pressured into taking ourselves so that special interests may force themselves at our expense.

These are not alone my sentiments; they closely reflect the views of Mr. Heinzen as expressed in an editorial in his Nutley paper which appeared recently and applied to other types of pressure groups, equally objectionable. They are harmful wherever they are. Let's not encourage their existence.

BIKE CLUB STARTS; OFFICERS ELECTED

The Recreation Department's Belleville Bicycle Club started its 1957-58 season Saturday, Nov. 30, with an organizational meeting. All of last year's champs will be with the club again and look forward to a good season. The club extends a welcome to all boys and girls to attend Saturday's meeting at the Municipal Stadium at 12th & A. M.

Robert Woodman, club director, supervised the election of officers. Jane Wittek, who was last year's girls' midge champ, was elected president. Pat Ugars, last year's boys' midge champ, was elected vice-president, and Mary Jane Richter was chosen secretary-treasurer. Richard Farnam was chosen boys' team captain and Ed Groch was chosen girls' team captain.

Any boy or girl in Belleville is welcome to join in the weekly races at the Stadium. Competition is divided into various age groups for fairness. Handicaps trophies will be awarded to the winners in the various divisions. These trophies have been donated annually by the Bicycle Institute of America.

TWO SETS

The same day, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pignatello, of 223 Walnut Street, Montclair, brought in their two sons for surgery. Actually they brought in only their elder son Joseph, age eight. Tuesday morning for an appendectomy. While Joseph was on the way to the hospital, his younger brother David, age 4½, developed a pain in his tummy, so the doctor ordered him into the hospital also—for an appendectomy.

The two sets of brothers occupied adjacent rooms in the pediatric wing of the new hospital.

All five boys have returned to their homes.

L. Sussman, Belleville Man, Elected To Office In Z.O.A.

At a general meeting of the Greater Newark District of the Zionist Organization of America Tuesday, Nov. 26, Louis Sussman was elected vice-president for the coming year. Mr. Sussman, who lives in Belleville, was president of the Belleville-Nutley District for several years before it was merged with the Greater Newark District.

Mr. Sussman stated that one of the objectives of the organization is to re-enlist all former members and to increase active membership in the Belleville and Nutley area.

Among the aims of the Z.O.A. are the improvement of cultural and political relationships between our country and Israel.

Israel has consistently proven itself to be a true and reliable friend of the United States in the Middle East, and in these difficult times such friendships should be recognized and nourished," said the new vice-president of the Greater Newark District.

Vincent Paleodano, 39, of 15 Memphis Avenue, had his driver's license revoked for 45 days by State Director of Motor Vehicles Frederick J. Gasser Jr., according to an announcement by Director Gasser's office on Nov. 21. Given as the reasons for the suspension were three improper passing and three speeding convictions.

What Police Rookie Does To Become A Good Officer

The following article was prepared by Police Officer Glen R. Spatz of Belleville. Chief Spatz, in submitting the item for publication, pointed out that he regards police work as a noble profession and that a rookie should be trained just as a young man is prepared to enter his other profession. The chief is most enthusiastic about the courses set up by the Association of Police Chiefs of Essex County, about which he writes here, and, as he says, he hopes the Association's efforts will expand into other New Jersey counties.

BY POLICE CHIEF G. R. SPATZ

In 1933 the police chiefs of Essex County formed an association to be known as the Association of Chiefs of Police of Essex County.

One year later, with the cooperation of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Board of Education, the Vocational Schools of the County of Essex, the Association started a police school which today is recognized as one of the best in the United States.

Through the co-operation of the New Jersey State National Guard, the Police Academy is located in West Orange, New Jersey. Through the co-operation of the Essex County Board of Freeholders, a police training program is now being conducted at the Essex County Civilian Defense headquarters building in Livingston.

The president of the Association of Chiefs of Police appointed a group of police chiefs to be known as an educational committee. One of the duties of this committee is to be known as the chairman; the rest of the group is split up into three smaller committees, each headed by a sub-committee. It is the duty of these sub-committees to prepare or arrange and conduct a police training program in various types of police work, such as basic police training. This program is for young men just entering the police profession.

Another program is advanced police training. This program is for policemen, other than rookies, with a few or more years of experience. Another program would be known as specialized training. This program is for policemen interested in such subjects as fingerprinting, photography, etc. A course in basic training has been concluded at the Police Academy. This was the seventh course in this training since the school started and the class was graduated on Nov. 15.

At the civilian defense headquarters building in Livingston there is a five-day course for superior officers being conducted. The subjects being covered are police administration, development of leadership, problems of a police chief, planning for future problems, organization within a department, command and control of personnel, management, welfare of personnel, public relations, disposition of juvenile offenders, reporting by a chief, jurisdiction of the various levels of training programs and police responsibilities in major disasters.

Also in the police school there is a course for superior officers or patrolmen who would like to become instructors. This is a five-day course and it is conducted by faculty members of the vocational schools system. This is a splendid course and it really is an education to a policeman.

In January 1958 the sub-committee on basic training plans to start another course in basic police training. It is estimated that 60 young policemen will attend. This will be the largest group in any of the classes. As a rule the policemen who attend these classes are down to 20 or 25 men, making it easier for the instructors and the students. So far approximately 240 or 250 young policemen have graduated from the basic police training course.

The course of study at the basic police training school is comprehensive, covering both theory and practice of good police work. Offered the students are fingerprinting, organization and operation of courts, how to present a case, criminal law, the various types of crime, duties of the police, traffic rules, regulations, procedures.

How to make an arrest, how to go about search and seizure, how to investigate, how to interrogate, self-defense and prison control, operation of a detective bureau, use of firearms and nightstick, use of identification records, public relations, police-community relations, juvenile aid, civil defense, auxiliary police, how to cooperate with the several other municipal agencies,

A. M. BUDD RETIRES FROM PRUDENTIAL

Arthur M. Budd, of 81 Pennock Place, Belleville, retired last week from The Prudential Insurance Co. after more than 45 years.

For the past seven years, Mr. Budd has been assistant director of agencies in Prudential's Motor Vehicle Department, which has offices in the Empire Building and directs the activities of district agencies in New York City and Westchester County.

Earlier, he was regional manager English, etc., etc.

The New Jersey State Police conduct a police school for basic police training at Sea Girt. It costs each municipality sending policeman to this school $60 per policeman for room and board. The instructors are state troopers. One of the faults with this school is that it is too far away in the event of an emergency in the policeman's municipality it would take the policeman too long to get back to his municipality to be of any help.

We of the Municipal Police Administrators Association of Essex County is co-operating 100 per cent in this police school.

One of the Association of Chiefs of Police of Essex County are very proud of this police school and we hope that it will spread to other counties where there are no county police schools at the present time.

ator of agencies in Ohio and West Virginia and before that manager of agencies in Canada. He joined the company in Newark as a mail boy in 1912.

He will be honored at a dinner Monday, Dec. 9, given by managers of agencies in his region at the Hotel Taft in New York City.

Mr. Budd is a World War I veteran.

He is a member of Belleville Lodge, No. 108, F. & A. M., Wesleyan Methodist Church and Belleville Rod and Gun Club. He is married to Muriel Hendricks of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Budd plan to travel, starting this winter, with a trip to Florida.

This Is For You

Belleville Chamber of Commerce is in process of being re-organized, reactivated, built up to the strength and vigor a Chamber of Commerce should enjoy.

This rejuvenation treatment will be given the Chamber at a mass meeting in Town Hall Monday evening, Dec. 9. A steering committee, formed informally last week in order to get the ball a-rolling, will start the meeting, point the way it thinks a Chamber should proceed and then let those present take over.

The existence of a Chamber of Commerce has been recognized. Edward Lititz, secretary of the Chamber, has taken an important part in the re-organization program since its beginning. The membership of the steering committee assures no domination of the Chamber by the mercantile segment of Belleville. This means that this is no merchants association being formed or re-formed; it is an effort to revive interest in an all-inclusive Chamber of Commerce.

Here is an organization you and every other resident of Belleville and every man and woman who earns his or her livelihood in Belleville can and should join. Its requisite for membership is as simple as it is all-embracing: an interest in the welfare and progress of Belleville.

A Chamber of Commerce offers a forum broader than that of any other group for the expounding of ideas for the betterment of our town. Here anyone may air his opinions on any subject affecting the welfare of Belleville.

By having divisions for the different elements of our diversified population, the Chamber of Commerce should attract professional men and women, industrialists, residential and business property taxpayers, merchants, tradespeople, civic-minded individuals.

The broadness of a Chamber of Commerce's scope cannot be exaggerated. Its potential influence for the good of the community cannot be over-estimated.

The meeting room in Town Hall Monday evening should be crowded to capacity with as representative a gathering of Belleville men and women as ever has assembled in one place here. And everyone present should take an interested and prideful part in setting up a large and strong Chamber of Commerce.

Honesty Is The Best Policy

The long-winded, tortuous, hired engineers' report with which the New Jersey Highway Authority sought, at last week's conference with interested Essex towns, to explain why it refuses to open the tollgate at Belleville Avenue to allow traffic out of the Essex Plaza tolltrap is a condemnation of the Authority's methods and its mentality. It smells strongly of dishonesty.

Boiled down, the report simply says that the Authority cannot right itself with the law because it would lose money. No question of moral responsibility, no question of the wording of the Act of Legislature which created it, no question of right or wrong — merely a question of money.

It is obvious from this sorry demonstration and from past experience that the Authority has no intention of opening the Hoover Avenue ramps as an outlet for traffic caught in the tolltrap, nor has it any desire to help relieve the tragic traffic congestion at Bloomfield Avenue.

The only alternative is to force the Authority to comply with the law. This can be done in one of two ways: either by a taxpayer's suit or by an act of Legislature. The Nutley Sun calls upon Senator Donald C. Fox and the new Democratic Essex County Assembly delegation to introduce a bill in Trenton which will force the Authority to comply with the intent of the law and eliminate the tolltrap by building a northbound exit ramp and a southbound entrance ramp at Belleville Avenue.

By its own report, the Authority estimates the cost of the two ramps at $2,200,000 — which, obviously, is grossly exaggerated. It also estimates the cost of opening one wicket in the tollgate to allow the exit of cars by the Hoover Avenue ramp at $390,000. Commissioner John Lucy and Supt. of Public Works Dudley Shepard reply that they will be glad to do it for $150.

As the Nutley representatives pointed out, there is need of but one free wicket, cut off from the rest of the tollgate by stanchions or chains and leading only and directly to the Hoover Avenue ramp. They pointed out that Hoover Avenue is a county road and its widening and upkeep to insure traffic safety is a problem for the county and not for the Authority.

Yet the Authority argued against the use of the Hoover Avenue ramp by insisting that Hoover Avenue cannot handle the increased flow of traffic. It is obvious that the Authority's hired engineers are guessing and merely looking for a convenient argument against doing something the Authority does not want to do.

Typical of the grand manner in which any Authority functions with other people's money is the argument advanced in the Authority report that to open one free wicket, the extreme barrier in the existing tollgate, it would be necessary to rebuild the entire tollgate from end to end.

The Essex toll plaza was originally designed for 18 lanes. It now has 12 lanes open, six in each direction. You can go there whenever you want, in or out of rush hours, and you will find that almost never are all twelve wickets open. During the middle of the day, one can find, often, only six gates open.

In its report, the Authority predicts that because of the normal increase in traffic it will be necessary to open two more lanes — even though it does not use all twelve now. Therefore, it argues, none of the fourteen could be spared as outlets for traffic headed into the Hoover Avenue ramp. Instead, the Authority says it would be necessary to widen the shoulder and build two new lanes, cut off from the rest of the tollgate by a permanent barrier. The cost of the construction of those two segregated lanes would, the Authority estimates, be $305,000 and the cost of two new through lanes, to increase the capacity from 12 to 14, would be an additional $35,000.

What unadmitted nonsense for an Authority to submit for serious study! As the Nutley representatives made clear, the shoulders exist, the wicket exists, the ramp exists. With ten or twelve rubber stanchions, the cost of which would be less than $150, the exit lane could be marked off and Hoover Avenue could drain off much of the congestion from the Bloomfield Avenue ramps.

The major point which the Authority seeks, conveniently, to forget is that is no legal right to collect tolls at the Essex Plaza from motorists seeking to use the free section of the Parkway between Belleville Avenue, in Bloomfield, and Central Avenue, in Irvington. It must either provide an exit lane between Belleville Avenue and the tollgate or it must create a free wicket and let the trapped cars out at Hoover Avenue. It's as simple as that.

Yet the Authority argues that is cannot think of waiving the 25-cent toll on cars passing through the tollgate to reach Hoover Avenue. It might, under considerable stress and strain, consent to cutting the tolls to 10 or 15 cents. Why doesn't Senator Fox, or the Essex Assembly delegation, tell the Authority the facts of life — that you cannot cheat forever.

The Authority is unwilling to cooperate. It must therefore be put against the wall. It must be compelled by law to build entrance and exit ramps between Belleville Avenue and the tollgate. Otherwise the law which provides for free use of the Parkway between specified points in Essex County would be in daily violation.

Since the Authority flaunts its dishonesty, it must be taught that honesty is the best policy.

Time Is Running Out For France To Meet Algerian Demands For Political Self-Dependence, Or Face Revolt

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

Time is running out in North Africa. The day is near when France will face a political alternative: either to grant Algeria some degree of independence, or to cut off a North African Federation friendly to the West, or to face the necessity of waging an all-out war against the Moslem land which since its conquest by Marshal Bugeaud, in 1840 has been incorporated in the Republic of France, the same as any French province.

Such a war would risk stirring up the enmity of every Arab land from Tangiers to the Red Sea — including, of course, the pro-Russian rulers of present-day Syria and Egypt.

It is a strange quirk of history, incidentally, that France is involved, today, in one of the great struggles of history only because a Moslem ruler, the Dey Musseini, slapped a French Consul, Deval, with a fly whisk during a discussion of a deal in shady wheat, in April, 1824. To avenge the insult to its consul, Paris ordered armed intervention and after an unsuccessful three-year naval blockade of the Algerian coast had to order a punitive army to land.

For an army that had been trained by Napoleon, Algeria was no match and since more than a century the relationship between France and Algeria had proved mutually profitable until, after World War II, old Arab nationalism, provoked by Pan-Arab agitators, provoked an Algerian demand for independence.

The Algerian problem is more complicated than most of the problems of Africa because Algeria is not a French colony. Algeria's relations to France are somewhat like Alaska's relations to the United States — only even closer. The Algerians are regarded as French citizens, and the central government in Paris.

Algeria is divided into three political departments: Bone, Algiers and Constantine, which are equal, for administrative purposes, to the departments of France which comprise the French Republic.

In reality, however, the Algerian native is a second-class citizen. He has little to say about French governmental policy. His status is little above that of any other native. Unhappy, poor and deprived, he has been an easy victim of Pan-Arab agitators, while the more fortunate Arabs of Morocco and Tunisia resisted stubbornly because they had something to defend.

Along Barbary Coast
The great blow is to combine those three distinctly Moslem peoples — Moroccans, Tunisians and Algerians — into a North African Federation. There is no doubt that that is one of the major purposes of the present visit to this country of the Sultan of Morocco, who stands to head the coalition if it can be created now.

The United States finds itself once again opposed to France. For obviously selfish reasons the United States does not want the new Moslem Federation in North Africa to come under the moral leadership of Colonel Nasser — hence under the red star of Moscow.

We want the federation of North African Moslem people to be dependent upon us and to align itself with us politically and morally.

We can look back 150 years to the day when our young country sent an expedition force of sailing frigates to take reprisal on the Barbary Coast pirates, the same Moslems of the African shore lands.

Three Barbary Coast States In Union

The above map shows the three Moslem states of French North Africa which are seeking federation. They once comprised the Barbary Coast, a haven for pirates who preyed on shipping in the Mediterranean and forced the young American Republic, more than a century and a half ago, to send frigates to shell them into compliance with our order that American shipping must be left alone.

The parties to tackle the question from a different angle without the need for an abutment, M. Bourguiba is offered to integrate Algeria into a North African federation which then would establish a link of interdependence with France.

To achieve this aim, Tunisia and Morocco have announced their readiness to give up part of their newly acquired sovereignty. Thus all parties most directly concerned with the Algerian question would make the necessary sacrifice for its solution.

The new federation would be linked closely with the West and, M. Bourguiba said, it might favorably consider joining the projected European common market. It also would work wholeheartedly with the United Nations.

Independent Tunisia finds itself in the paradoxical situation of having an ill-equipped army of 6,000 strong while the Algerian National Liberation Front conducts the underground struggle against France with an army estimated at 60,000.

At times, Algerian nationalist fighters "overflow" into Tunisia in such numbers that there are far more Algerian than Tunisian nationalists, who oppose any negotiations with France prior to a recognition of independence and to encourage the moderates who would be satisfied with genuine negotiations under way without preliminary conditions on either side.

The only alternative Bourguiba had to rejecting arms from either France or the United States or Britain was to obtain them from the Soviet Union.

There is evidence that the Kremlin had reacted favorably to a preliminary request by the Tunisian Government and that the United States and Great Britain were anxious to intervene before the deal was closed, even though it was distasteful to France.

A usually well-informed source insists that M. Bourguiba had set November 25 as a deadline for Western arms deliveries and that during such delivery he would have signed an armament agreement with Czechoslovakia, under negotiation for some time, thus following Egypt and Syria into Moscow's tent.

How Communists Won China Is Told Students

The ability of the Chinese Communists to unify the "provinces" of China is the reason for their success in that country. This was the point stressed by Ralph E. Heinzen, foreign correspondent for The New York Times, as he spoke before the Junior and Senior Classes of Belleville High School Monday, Nov. 25.

Mr. Lieberman, who was interned behind the Bamboo Curtain for a short time after the Communists gained control of the mainland, explained the circumstances which existed before, during and after the Chinese civil war, showing how the situation was a favorable one for the Communists.

The Chinese people, under the government of Chiang Kai-shek, were divided, their loyalties belonging to smaller units rather than to the state. The infamous war lords, who were eliminated by the Communists, had more power than the state. Chiang's minority was a strong national government and unify the Chinese people under one government allowed the Communist faction to develop until it was strong enough to gain control.

Once it did take over, China was given a face-lifting. Mr. Lieberman stated. The Chinese were first indoctrinated toward Communism, and then the entire structure of the country was changed. Associations for every conceivable purpose were formed and, for the first time, the Chinese people "belonged" to something.

The speaker explained the advantages and disadvantages of the Communist regime as affecting China. He told of the different attitudes of the Chinese people toward their new government, how some feel suppressed by the government while others are proud that for the first time they have a strong national government. The areas of brainwashing, political opposition, religion and the standard of living were covered by Mr. Lieberman.

After his talk, the correspondent was questioned by a panel composed of four students. The students, all of them Seniors,

Belleville, Teaching Here Famed Fencer, Resident Of

Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde announced this week that Walter Hauber has accepted the position of instructor in the recreation girls fencing program.

Mr. Hauber, who has been a resident of Belleville 20 years, resides at 410 Belleville Avenue. He has a truly wonderful background in the sport of fencing. Robert E. Cook, Superintendent of Recreation, said that, although Mr. Hauber was rather reluctant to talk about his personal achievements, he finally dug out some of the facts.

Starting at the age of ten years and taught by his European (Swiss) trained father, Walter Hauber has built a considerable list of achievements in his chosen sport. Canadian born, he won the championship of the Province of Quebec before coming to New Jersey and becoming a citizen of this country.

Since his removal here he has fenced at New York Athletic Club and has participated in every national championship for the past 15 years, never finishing out of the first 15. He worked with the 1948 and 1952 Olympic squads and also helped to train the U.S. Pentathlon teams for many years. Among numerous titles he has won are N. J. state champ in saber and epee (this several times), divisional champion, All-Eastern epee champion, the McConnell trophy and the International epee championship of 1948, which he won without losing a bout.

Mr. Hauber, while fencing at New York Athletic Club, earned the distinction of defeating two world champions: Captain Harold Oliva of Mexico and Baron Von Drenckenberg of Sweden. Currently Mr. Hauber is instructor of fencing at Fairleigh Dickinson University. His other interest include shooting and skiing.

The girls fencing program is conducted by the Recreation Department at the high school each Monday evening from 7 p.m. to 8:30 and is open to all Belleville girls of high school age.

Since his removal here he has fenced at New York Athletic Club and has participated in every national championship for the past 15 years, never finishing out of the first 15. He worked with the 1948 and 1952 Olympic squads and also helped to train the U.S. Pentathlon teams for many years. Among numerous titles he has won are N. J. state champ in saber and epee (this several times), divisional champion, All-Eastern epee champion, the McConnell trophy and the International epee championship of 1948, which he won without losing a bout.

Mr. Hauber, while fencing at New York Athletic Club, earned the distinction of defeating two world champions: Captain Harold Oliva of Mexico and Baron Von Drenckenberg of Sweden. Currently Mr. Hauber is instructor of fencing at Fairleigh Dickinson University. His other interest include shooting and skiing.

The girls fencing program is conducted by the Recreation Department at the high school each Monday evening from 7 p.m. to 8:30 and is open to all Belleville girls of high school age.

Starting at the age of ten years and taught by his European (Swiss) trained father, Walter Hauber has built a considerable list of achievements in his chosen sport. Canadian born, he won the championship of the Province of Quebec before coming to New Jersey and becoming a citizen of this country.
