*All the world's a stage,
And all the men and women merely players.
They have their exits and their entrances;
And one man in his time plays many parts,
His acts being seven ages . . . . .
. . . . . the whining school-boy, with his satchel
And shining morning face, creeping like a snail
Unwillingly to school.*

SYNOPSIS OF THE PLAY

THE SENIOR CLASS

IN FOUR ACTS

Attention all theatre goers! A new play has just been nominated for the Pulitzer Prize of 1939. Critics acclaim "The History of the Senior Class" as the most original play of its kind ever to play on a New Jersey stage.

It is for the benefit of those who were unfortunate enough to miss the premiere, that we attempt to familiarize them with some of the outstanding highlights of the spectacular story. Scores of dramatic scenes are scattered throughout four acts.

First nighters, hurry to your seats now, for the first act has begun. Why, I recognize that building! It's Belleville High School and the afternoon session has just started. See the Freshmen? They managed to find their classes all right; that's half the battle won. I wonder how they like to walk home in the dark. Oh look! I just saw William Davis. Something tells me that he'll be elected president once they get organized. With that born politician Gerard Ferrara as vice-president, Shirley Bitz as treasurer, and Alyce Hart as secretary, that Freshman class ought to go far, especially when they have such excellent class guides as Mr. Norman Cotter and Miss Rose Friedman.

I imagine this class will pick Christmas time for their social dance of the year, for they believe in celebrating the holidays. They know fairly well just what to do from now on, so we'll leave them on their own for the rest of the school year.

There will be a brief intermission between the acts. You know even actors have to rest between performances.

Here we are again, back in our seats, settling down to enjoy the second act of this delightful drama.

Can this confident Sophomore class be the timid group of last year? That is what a year of experience does for a person. They intend to do big things this year. The first job they gave their approval to was the new modernistic addition to our High School.

I see a strange figure in the seat of president. Why it's Nicholas Zuzzio! The offices are all changed this semester. Charles Feeney is vice-president, Shirley Bitz is secretary, and Gerard Ferrara is treasurer. There are even three class guides—Miss Blanche McDonald, Miss Regina Brennan, and Mr. George Reinke. This class has a knack for giving successful dances, judging from the favorable comment made after their Sophomore Hop.

Intermission again. I can hardly wait to find out what happens in the next act.

Curtain! Curtain! Third Act. There is a familiar face. It's Gerard Ferrara again, only this time he's president and has Norman Crowther by his side to lend support as vice-president. Patrick Tortorello has become secretary and Ralph Lilore is the treasurer. Mrs. Ethel Kapp, Miss Linnea Andrea, and Mr. Paul Jones are active guides. In fact the whole class is active. They sold candy at the basketball and football games, sold pennants to loyal football fans, and sponsored the novelty dance of the year, "The Junior Big Apple". And to top off their activities, they gave the never-to-be-forgotten Junior Prom.

The fourth and final act is the most exciting one. Can I believe my eyes? Is that a Victory Dance that our Seniors are participating in? Now I know! It's the dance we held in celebration of the Bloomfield-Belleville football game. Dances all seem to come one right after another. First the Hallowe'en dance, then another football dance, and the Senior Varsity dance in honor of the basketball team.

Remember the Christmas card that I sent you? Well, it was one of the cards that the Seniors were selling at Christmas time.

My, these Seniors are ambitious! They even undertook to present a play within a play entitled "The Ghost Train".

Jerry as president deserves credit for inspiring and backing the class in its many ventures. Our Senior class was indeed lucky to have selected such cooperative persons to fill the offices this year. They were very good managers—Patrick Tortorello, our vice-president, Alyce Hart, our secretary, and George McKay, treasurer.

Our act wouldn't be complete without a bow from such notable producers as Miss Alma Gray, Miss Elsie Sandford, Miss Gregoria Condon, Miss Thelma Wiedman, Mr. John Taggart, Mr. Paul Jones, Mr. Charles Dufford, Mr. Edward Glaspey, and Mr. David Fulcomer.

Now that our last act has ended, don't be afraid to let your tears fall. We all feel the same melancholy loneliness. Confess, aren't you a wee bit sorry that it had to end?

IN THE CAST

Edith Gimbel—because of her ability to entertain her friends and leave them in a fog as to her state of mind.

Louis Stefanelli, I and II—because of the trouble we had in distinguishing them. We solved this by tagging them with a number.

Patrick Tortorello—because he can "jitter" not only on the dance floor but on the football field as well; hence one wonders whether he will be in a position to catch the baton on its way down.

Grace Meade—because she is the proud possessor of the brain that we all would like to have.

James Salmon—because of the way that he manages to elude the women. The strain, however, has been too much for him, so he is slowly giving way to a pert, blonde senior.

John Monaghan—because of the perfected manner he has acquired in getting an invite, or in other words, "crashing" the gates of parties.

Lois Rafter—because of the commotion she created when she first appeared on the field in that "eye-catching" attire.

Dolores Mazzeo—because of her different voice which it seems has lingered from childhood.

Ernest Hansell—because of the astounding results in drumming obtained by his Gene Krupa technique.

Mildred Booth—because of her constant readiness for athletics by always having her gym suit very close at hand.

Marie Fitzsimmons—because of the deep devotion felt by her for a certain male warbler with the initials J. L.

George McKay—because of his inimitable style of taking the high jump.

Jane Horgan—because of those hair styles she occasionally creates.

Dorothy Holland—because of the amazing effects she produces in her dancing.

Raymond Tenpenny—because of the captivating smile which reveals those "Tooth Paste Ad" teeth.

Eleanore Heim—because of the support and loyalty she has shown for her beloved orchestra of Benny Goodman.

Frank Bridge—because of his gentlemanly conduct towards the women. May I borrow your jacket, Frankie?

Doris Kopsky—because of the skillful way in which she handles a bike.

William Crisp—because of his escorting the fair sex home at noon hour.

Lucille Kirby—because of her saying the "right thing at the wrong time" and vice versa.

Victor Tesone—because of his vivid impersonations, especially that of Coach Smith.

Frances Sheldon—because of her increasing admiration towards Carl Hubbel.

Clara Lombardi—because of the snappy animation she puts into cheerleading.

Nicholas Burde—because of his hidden talent for playing the piano which he has concealed for ever-so-long.

Helen Lowenberg—because she's everybody's friend.

Ralph Lilore—because he is the living example of brains and athletic ability combined.

Blossom Huizer—because of her cool headedness (in spite of being a Dutchman).

Chester Kuchinski—because of his promptness in being at "the" corner when a certain Miss appears.

Margaret Findlay—because of the form she displays when bowling.

William Entrekin—because of his true-to-life portrayal of an Englishman.

Helen Baer—because of her resemblance to a certain Broadway entertainer.

Alice Fischer—because of those touching farewells. “Parting is such sweet sorrow.”

Leonard Willette—because of the seven awards he captured in the Scholastic Art Competition.

Gloria Apicella—because of just being herself.

Robert Bangert—because of his swiftness of foot and remarkable record of running the mile.

Margaret Pelz—because of her beautiful blond hair which is the envy of all of us. Quite a natural attitude.

Norman Crowther—because of the way he manages to “get around.”

Shirley Kintzing—because of her versatile dramatic ability to tackle any part at any time.

Lucille Skinner—because of her success in sticking to her one and only for over a year which is more than some of us can say.

Wilbur Cameron—because he was responsible for that old adage coming true, “Somebody took the shirt right off his back.”

Edith Daw—because she has helped to beat the old warpath nightly on Washington Avenue.

Alice Hart—because she has excluded the male sex from her thoughts throughout high school. Good for you.

Gunga Din—because he has constantly answered the call “Water” to the parched throats of our baseball team.

John Gardella—because he wore an overcoat a few sizes too big for him and got away with it.

Betty Morgan—because of that “oomph” she puts in her dance-floor capers. You’ve got something there, Betty.

Estelle De Larkey—because we have yet to see her sweet disposition marred by anger.

Thomas Gray—because you can’t beat an Irishman; they know all the answers.

Marion Johnston—because of the outstanding style of blues singing that’s all her own.

Howard Byles—because of the number of girls who have become infatuated over him, despite the fact that he is shy.

Gladys Schneider—because of her constant companionship with her “Uncle Fritz”.

Robert Martin—because of the way he glides through his shorthand assignment in nothing flat.

Mary Reilly—because of the publicity she has gained for Belleville. Who doesn’t know Mary?

Jerry Ferrara—because of his convincing leadership of the Senior class.

Robert Ward and Robert Reeves, incorporated—because of their new sensational baby-minding business.

Robert Gibler—because he has the biggest heart in the world.

Teddy Debrowski—because of accomplishing big things for such a little boy on the baseball team.

Fischer Hudson—because he’s Belleville High School’s jitterbug.

Jean Rowley—because of her unsurpassable German translations.

Robert Kastner—because of his screaming need for “Gillette”.

Frederick Mase—because of those nifty clothes, especially the blue sweater!

William Prophet—because of his hit-and-miss sense of humor. Mostly miss!

Bette Memmott—because of her tricky way of wearing clothes.

Charles Feeney—because of his many broken promises. How about it, Feeney?

Albert Zuzzio—because he’s last, but not least in the heart of a Junior.

CLASS OF 1940

The show must go on! After the colossal 1939 production, what of the future? Keep your seats, ladies and gentlemen, for the next big feature is soon to begin. Its stars have been rehearsing these past three years, and they are all ready to step into the leading roles next September when they return as Seniors.

As a matter of fact, we hear that they have been presenting a little drama all their own, off in the wings, but well within sight and hearing of a large and interested audience. They took over the new addition to the building for additional stage room, and the increased head room has given them ample opportunity to develop their skill.

As officers for their Freshman year they chose Herbert Tolton as president; Edith Frey, vice-president; Frances Hoover, secretary; and Jean Payne, treasurer. Their special coaches that year were Miss Rose Friedman and Mr. Norman Cotter. The feature scene of their first performance was a Christmas dance that made class history.

Came their Sophomore year and the "Hop," which was their real bid for favorable press notices from the entire school. Their class officers that year were Darrell Zink, president; Edwin Gorman, vice-president; Edith Frey, secretary; and Stanley Litts, treasurer. Their advisers were Misses Myrle Allen, Blanche McDonald, and Olga Nelson.

This year has been the dress rehearsal for the big performance. They have become polished actors, ready to go on when the curtain is rung up. They have been coached for their parts by Miss Linnea Andree, Mrs. Ethel G. Kapp, and Mr. Carl Criswell. They have provided production funds by selling candy at football and basketball games. They staged a dance number in the early part of the year, which was a suitable preview of the Junior Prom, held on May 19, which used the World's Fair effectively as its theme. All this, plus the leadership of a group of officers comprising Stanley Litts, president; Robert English, vice-president; Margaret Cocks, secretary; and Lucille Gallagher, treasurer, forecasts a final performance next year that promises to be super-colossal.

CLASS OF 1941

A year ago last September an eager and ambitious group of youngsters entered the classrooms of Belleville High. Under the leadership of Miss Allison and Mr. Cotter they staged a very successful Freshman dance, the first and only affair put over in their first year of high school. The election of officers turned out the following results: president, Harry Hannon; vice-president, Jack Malcolm; secretary, Jean Peterson, and treasurer, Betty Jane Fisher.

Last September when the same group returned to high school, they were no longer Freshman youngsters, but rather a grown-up group of boys and girls of the Sophomore class. On the twenty-eighth of April they held the annual Sophomore Hop to the music of Hal Breeze and his Blue Horizon Orchestra.

The very able and willing class advisers for the year were the Misses Myrle Allen, Blanche McDonald and Olga Nelson.

New officers were chosen to fill the places so capably occupied the previous year. This new group are doing just as well, so we expect even bigger and better things when next year they enter high school as Juniors. The four leaders of the class turned out to be: president, Ferdinand Wascoe; vice-president, Gwendolyn Schultz; secretary, Betty Jane Fisher; and treasurer, Harold Ross.

The president of the class, Ferdinand Wascoe, moved shortly after the election of officers, leaving the position to be filled by the former vice-president, Gwendolyn Schultz.

CLASS OF 1942

The 1942 class arrived with a noise. They ranged from two to four feet in height and had all the fifty-seven varieties. After looking each other over they elected these officers: president, Shirley Fritsch; vice-president, Donald Cocks; secretary, Doris Eleder; and treasurer, June Skinner.

The faculty members assisting the class are Miss Louise Carrell and Mr. Norman Cotter.

One of the best represented dances of the year was the Freshmen Christmas dance. My what memories!

Already this class is noted for advertising brief cases, getting gossip around the school, proving to outsiders that text books are in use in B.H.S., starting crazy fads with no meaning, and just being natural "Freshies."

We hope that the ensuing years will be as successful and happy as this first one.

THE BAND

"Tune up; time!
Everyone in position!
Lois, are you ready?
O. K., go!
Rush, rush on down the field—"

Yes, you've guessed it. It's Belleville's greatest high school band.

New instruments, handsome uniforms, and a very attractive drum major—our own Lois Rafter. What outfits! They consist of caps, capes, white pants for the boys and skirts for the girls. The caps are blue with a gold braided cord while the capes are blue and gold. It has often been said that clothes do not make the man, but these uniforms certainly do help to create atmosphere. Lois had a very appealing outfit, consisting of white boots, a perfect swing skirt, a white satin blouse, and a good looking cape. All in all our band is a mass of beauty when marching down our own Clearman Field or any field.

The band got off to a good start under the leadership of Mr. Rosenzweig. They played at all our football games, at various assembly programs, and other school affairs. We have always been proud of this organization, but this year we are more excited over it than ever. Their new songs are very melodious, and they "hit" them off at first start.

Our "twirlers," Pat Tortorello and his little brother, are quite a two-some. They have an act that holds the crowd's attention. You've got to hand it to them—they're great!

INTERLUDES BY THE ORCHESTRA

THE ORCHESTRA

It is but a few minutes before the curtain goes up on our drama of school life. The audience is expectantly waiting, yet passing the few remaining moments in renewing acquaintance or recounting bits of gossip. Somewhere in the front of the assembly auditorium there is a bustle, followed by the vague tuning of violins, the murmur of a horn and a deeper rumble of sound from the drum corner. Miss Walters, the orchestra leader, comes into view. The audience relaxes, content to hear what the musicians and the instruments have to say. There is a noticeable pause and in one accord sound bursts forth.

Thus it has been during assembly periods and the Senior Play; thus it was during the spring festival in celebration of National Music Week; and thus it was at the commencement program.

If the audience were to look closer they would note Carol Carswell and her clarinet, both of which have been present at the four big county and state functions sometime during the past three years. There is William Prophet, an outstanding player on the trumpet, who has performed at several county and state programs. Lillie Albert, Geraldine Miller and Harold Kreismer were selected to represent Belleville in the Essex County High School Orchestra. On closer inspection one can observe shining new instruments purchased from the proceeds from the Music Festival given on May 10 by the music clubs of the high school.

The music has ceased. Now suppose we were to come closer, join the group while they are chattering, and listen in on individual conversations during the few minutes of intermission. We would find that this organization has been meeting every Thursday and Friday afternoon during the sixth and seventh periods, that there are seventy-two members when all are assembled and collected from odd corners of the building, that excitement runs high in the group. They are to journey to the World's Fair on June 2, to give a concert there. Lillie Albert became concert mistress and has led the organization several times. There is a general feeling of friendship and cooperation which is the foundation of a unit giving not only the orchestra great pleasure, but those who listen.

AND INCIDENTAL SONGS BY

THE GLEE CLUB

THE GLEE CLUB

Not unlike other years, the Belleville High School Glee Club got off to a good start for the 1938-39 season. Because of the students' enthusiasm and the desire to become members, the Glee Club became extra large. This made it necessary to continue the plan adopted by the preceding Glee Club. The organization would have to be divided into two groups: one to meet on Monday and Tuesday; the other on Wednesday and Thursday.

Every member of the Glee Club had an opportunity to show his talent when a voice test was given. This was done, mainly, to see what kind of voice the student had, and it also gave the teacher a chance to see who was capable of doing solo work.

Once organized, it wasn't long before the club was hard at work practicing sight-reading, learning the various terms used in music and, most of all, how not to flat or sharp.

Christmas was the first opportunity for the Glee Club to show us what they had really accomplished. At this time they presented "The Alleluia Chorus" from "The Messiah" and several other familiar Christmas carols. It was at this time that the school had the pleasant surprise of hearing the Glee Club sing accompanied by a new Hammond Organ, which was played by a guest organist. This was a thrill which I am sure none of us has forgotten.

The best girl singers of the Glee Club formed a choir which has entertained at many assemblies and Parent-Teacher Association meetings. Several of the club's soloists have entertained at various assemblies and other school affairs.

Immediately after the Easter vacation, the students settled down to serious work on their Tenth Annual Spring Concert. This concert was the club's largest project of the year. The theme of the concert centered around the World's Fair, and was plainly of interest to everyone, for on this eventful evening the auditorium was crowded.

BACKSTAGE INTERVIEWS

THE MONAD CLUB

Early in November a group of ambitious, literary inclined boys and girls assembled in Belleville High School auditorium to discuss plans for the 1939 version of the Monad. Thus the Monad Club came into being.

The objectives of this embryo staff were to acquaint Mr. Glaspey, Miss Weidman, and Mr. Fulcomer with those who were to become the future major staff of the "Monad," and last but not decidedly not least, to lay the first cornerstone in the building of the 1939 year book; in other words, start the wheels grinding and decide what was to be within the covers of our book before starting the actual work.

If by chance you happened to catch a glimpse of a Monad Club member secretly wending his way up to a senior to ask that senior mysterious questions and you wondered what the member was up to, bear this in mind: this was the very first assignment of the club. The senior was being interviewed for a biography which now appears near his name in our yearbook.

Miss Weidman and Mr. Glaspey were fairly swamped with scattered bits of biographies and I do mean scattered, but after all is said and done, three hundred and twenty biographies have been safely printed in our book. Whew!

Another one of our jobs was to gather intimate snapshots from here and there. Well, evidently you boys and girls are camera shy or backward, for the pictures came in at first so slowly that we could count them on our fingers. Hurrah! Mr. Fox rushed to our aid with his ever faithful camera and thus came our flow of pictures. Have you seen yourself yet?

This is the first year that a venture was taken to form a club which was to be a branch of the family tree, so to speak, that would work hand in hand with the Monad Staff and relieve the latter of a lot of work.

Cooperative members are credited for this success. Now we can gaze upon our product, the 1939 Monad, with pride.

This seems to be the year for experiments. An editor-in-chief no longer reigns supreme on the Monad Staff. Instead, in her place rule four girls, Frances, Gladys, Jane, and Eleanore, who compose the Editorial Board which in reality is four co-editors.

The Monad advisers conceived the idea that four heads should be better than one, and since experience is the best teacher, they combined their wits and then things began to happen! Did you ever try to get four women to agree? We'll let the subject drop there. They really made it their business to pull together and they did.

With Blossom and Frances as Circulation Managers and Grace Weiss at the head of our Advertising Department, our literary crew set to work. You can judge the results for yourself by glancing through our book from cover to cover.

Once a month for four months our agents relieved students of twenty-five cents in cold cash, and believe me it was a job to get six hundred and sixty students to part with cherished earnings. Every afternoon found Blossom and Frances, deep in silver, frantically endeavoring to keep records straight.

Three rousing cheers are well deserved by our group of vigorous typists who struggled with our final papers. Thank you, Elvira Biondi, Michael Coppola, Margaret Findlay, Marie Fitzsimmons, Marion Johnston, Robert Reid, Lucille Skinner, and Kathleen Tucker.

Those attractive sketches throughout our book that you admired are from the pen of our talented artist, Leonard Willette. Yes, the very one who won first prize in the Scholastic National Art Contest.

THE PLAY WITHIN THE PLAY

"THE GHOST TRAIN"

A hush falls over the audience, the lights dim, and the curtains part for the final performance of "The Ghost Train". This, of course, is the best Senior Play yet to be produced by any Senior class. Backstage, the atmosphere is tense, as members of the cast respond to their cues. After weeks of work by members and teachers of the Senior class, at last we're in the home stretch without having one serious mishap.

On stage, the play progresses rapidly. In quick succession, our friends "out front" marvel at John Walsh's self-control while arguing with his wife, played by Gloria Loesser with convincing realism, and smile in sympathy at the plight of Dot Newton and Bob Stivers, newlyweds who must soon part because of Bob's business. They gasp at Steve Petro's vivid description of the "Ghost Train" and roar with laughter at Bill Entrekin's truly funny portrayal of a vacuous, foppish Englishman. Shirley Kintzing receives her share of applause for her accurate, though untrue, picture of a fussy old maid. Swiftly the play reaches its climax as Sam Cocks and Martin Byrnes—the villains of the piece—plot dark and sinister misdeeds with their beautiful accomplice, Mildred Gannon, and are foiled by Bill Entrekin, who is actually a Scotland Yard detective. John Rapp, Jerry Ferrara, and Pat Tortorello with true official brusqueness aid in capturing the gang and the curtains close on the final scene with everyone, including the audience, in a happy frame of mind.

No Senior Play would be complete without a bit of reminiscing, and we lost no time before doing our bit.

This year, as usual, Miss Rush had to make the same oft-repeated and quite futile request to "please stay in character, off-stage and on." Also as usual, we had our own scene stealer, this time Bill Entrekin, who had even

There's a serious side to our memories too. We can't forget that we owe the success of our play to Miss Rush, our director; to Mr. Chapman, in charge of the sound and lighting so vital to the play; and to Mr. Saunders, Mr. Henry, and Mr. Diehl, who designed and executed our scenery. Our sincere thanks go to all of these and to Miss Kietzman and Mr. Diehl, in charge of makeup; Miss Brennan and Miss Andree, who had charge of the costumes; Miss McDonald and Miss Kelleher, who secured properties; Mr. Bitterman and Mr. Fox, who supervised business activities and publicity; Miss Gray, who provided ushers, and last but not far from least, our student director, Estelle DeLarkey, and her assistants, Beatrice Berkowitz, Alice Hart and Doris Stalter.

GIVE OUR PLAY THE CLASSICAL TOUCH

THE NEW JERSEY FORENSIC LEAGUE CLUB

This national league, which has members all over the country, was organized to give its participants practice in speaking before large audiences; by entering contests in debating or extemporaneous speaking, and by taking active parts in plays. The members planned to meet every Wednesday and decided to have dues of five cents.

The league members have been very active with Shirley Kintzing representing Belleville High in a Humorous Declamation Contest; Beatrice Berkowitz speaking in an Extemporaneous Speech Contest; Lorraine Housman entering an Original Oratory Contest, and Tina Berliss sent to participate in a Dramatic Declamation Contest. Several of the members also had parts in a play given in the Newark University. Bill Entrekin and Lorraine Housman were chosen for one team, while Daniel Keating and Beatrice Berkowitz were selected to be on a second team, to be sent to the Montclair State Teachers College to participate in a lively debate.

The alert members of this league elected the following officers: president, Martin Byrnes; vice-president, Jacqueline Snedeker; secretary, Alice Hart; and treasurer, Doris Stalter.

THE DEBATING TEAM

We, the Debate Club of Belleville High, are going to prove to you our worth. We are a group of fellows and girls with pep, vim and vigor, who think we know how to really win a debate and attract an audience.

The debate club, under the direction of Mr. Fox has had varsity debates with Rutherford, Hillside, and Bayonne. They also debated four times in the state tournament.

Members of the varsity team were Lorraine Housman, Beatrice Berkowitz and Daniel Keating. The alternates were Joe Cassidy, Alice Hart, Doris Stalter and Jean Gosninsky. The freshman squad consisted of Charlotte Barber and Robert Boice.

The subject that was debated for the season was "Resolved: that the United States should form an alliance with Great Britain." One of the biggest highlights of our season was an assembly debate between two young prospective lawyers from John Marshall College of Law in Jersey City and two representatives from the Universities of Sydney and Melbourne, Australia.

INTERNATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL ARTISTS' SOCIETY

It is a mark of distinction and a great honor to be elected to this society which honors those people who work diligently and skillfully in their several fields. In order to be elected to membership, the candidate must fulfill the following requirements: first, achieve junior standing; second, earn a scholastic rating at the time of election in the upper third of the class; third, attain outstanding achievement or recognition in one of the four arts: music, drama, painting or sculpturing.

The International High School Artists' Society was sponsored and founded by a group of outstanding artists as a means of creating interest in, stimulating appreciation for, and giving recognition for outstanding achievement in the fine arts.

The officers are president, Edith Frey; vice-president, Wesley Konrad; secretary, Alice Hart; treasurer, Mildred Gannon.

The present membership includes: music—Kenneth Chewey, Lucille De Trolio, Hazel Ellsworth, Edith Frey, Karl Goetttert, Alice Hart, Marian Johnston, Wesley Konrad, Sadie Lynas, Herbert Mihlon, Theodore Niewiadomski, Jeanne Shetlick, and Doris Stalter; art—Astrid Carlson, Virginia Flannery and Mildred Gannon; dramatics — Harvey Fort, Shirley Kintzing, Estelle De Larkey and Mildred Gannon.

THE CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club was organized under the direction of Mr. Spotts with the assistance of Mr. Fox, a new member of the faculty this year. The purpose of the club is to instruct amateur photographers in the technique of photography, developing and printing of pictures, and ways of obtaining the best results from any camera at their disposal, using the many modern devices which change photography from a haphazard hobby to a science.

To accomplish this the Camera Club met several times at night in the school and experimented with developing and printing to get practice in these fields. The club made and experimented with a pinhole camera to demonstrate exactly how a more complicated camera works.

As encouragement for taking pictures around the school, the members were promised that the best candid shots were to be printed in The Monad. The more experienced members were allowed to take the pictures of the faculty for this Senior publication.

The club felt that it needed only one officer, a treasurer, and elected Margaret McIlvrid to that office.

THE STAMP CLUB

"Give me that stamp and I'll give you this one." That was the cry heard when the Belleville High School Stamp Club was first organized.

The weekly meetings are held under the capable guidance of Miss Sandford. Student officers are president, Eldon Kunze; secretary and treasurer, Dorothy Hansen.

For awhile a great deal of trading of stamps was carried on with the Chatham High School, New York. Many individual exhibits were displayed in the school library as well as a combined exhibit of European countries, showing by means of a map the countries from which the stamps came.

The regular meetings were ended by a social meeting where refreshments were served and perhaps a few more stamps exchanged.

The study and collection of stamps proves to be a very interesting hobby to all members of the Belleville High Stamp Club. There are many rare specimens from foreign countries among the collections of the members of this club.

THE CHESS CLUB

Another year has seen the Belleville Chess Club advance under the supervision of Mr. Norman H. Cotter, its sponsor. Much new blood had been added since the club's start last year. These beginners had to be taught the fundamentals of the game.

A new experience to the members of the club was playing chess teams of other schools. These matches were apt to end at the appearance of a janitor's head in the door and the stentorian warning, "If you're not out of here in two minutes, off go the lights." But barring all incidents of this nature and various slips of the fingers while moving chessmen, the club fared very well in these contests.

On every Monday and Thursday when there is a club meeting, a great deal of activity ensues because matches are arranged among the members—proficiency in the game largely depending upon practice.

The following officers were elected: Arnold Dalzell, president; Leonard Atkins, vice-president; and James Baird, secretary-treasurer.

THE HOSTESS CLUB

The Hostess Club consisted of about twenty girls who were interested in cooking, sewing, entertaining, and a number of other things. Under the very able guidance and supervision of Miss Huff and Miss Carrell, the club has achieved many things.

As officers of the group, the members chose the following: president, Grace Weiss; vice-president, Grace Meade; secretary, Marjorie Ings; and treasurer, Adele Kleinknecht.

Blossom Huizer acted as chairman of a program committee which consisted of Margaret Mallinson, Gwen Schultz, Doris Knapp, and Jean Robinson. The object of the committee was to outline the activities to take place at each meeting. Other members of the club were Bernice Huyler, Jane Horgan, Evelyn Squier, Muriel Crowther, Mabel Baun, Elvira Biondi, Pat Neary, Kathleen Tucker and Adele Tortorello.

The club has learned to make candy, cookies, and fancy sandwiches which they made for their Christmas party and for an afternoon tea. When the club was first organized, they undertook the study of introductions and later of serving. Other activities accomplished included decorating tables, making favors, sewing, having discussions, and serving tea to the faculty of the high school during a meeting.

The main activity of the club was a fashion show held in the school auditorium. Members of the Hostess Club modeled the clothes with the aid of a few of the sewing students. The show was a success, and the girls that made up the audience enjoyed it very much.

Two of the club's representatives attended the first conference for the Student Home Economics Clubs which was held in Bloomfield High School on April 22.

THE BACHELORS' CLUB

A certain group of boys visited the domestic science room after school one day and became so enthusiastic about the pots and pans that they decided to organize a Bachelors' Club.

This organization elected the following officers: president, Thomas Leonard; vice-president, George McNally; secretary, John Rhodes; and treasurer, John Oldham.

The members are Charles Butler, Jack Clark, Thomas Gray, Bob Kastner, "Duke" Lister, Jack Malcolm, Dick Matt, Harry Mueller, Charles Schleckser, Joe Sullivan and Leon Tierney.

Under the expert guidance of Miss Huff these boys are learning evaluation of foods, selection of foods in restaurants, problems of etiquette and the actual making of candy, cakes, cookies and pastries.

In a few cases the cooking mastered by these boys is better than that of girls. We hope it will always be that way. In the event that the boys get married, of course, defeating the purpose of the Bachelors' Club, they will have the same knowledge of foods as their wives and be a great help to the latter.

Boys, we'll wager you look prettier in your stiff aprons, puttering around in those little kitchens, than the girls. We hope that we'll have the opportunity to taste this so-called delicious cooking before school closes.

From the members we learned that Charles Schleckser said, "We made fudge and cakes and roasted chicken. If the food is burned we throw it out, but this happens very seldom." (Believe it or not). Then "Duke" Lister remarked, "We learn all about the kitchen and how to do dishes. We also learned etiquette at the movies and in restaurants and the proper setting of tables."

The boys, who will rejoin the club next year, hope it will increase and be better all around. We wish you the best of luck and lots of success.

SODALITAS LATINA

The Latin Club was formed in January. It is made up of all the students from the Latin classes. It meets every two weeks from 2:50 to 3:30 in the afternoon.

Its officers are consuls, Leonard Atkins and William Trier; quaestor, Jacqueline Snedeker; scribe, Marion Butler; and tribuni, Joseph Triano, Howard Wilson and Isabelle Armstrong.

The club meetings are opened with the Lord's Prayer, the salutation of the flag and Latin songs spoken and sung in Latin.

The programs depicting Roman life and history are presented by students from different classes. These programs consist largely of dramatizations and original papers. Students are assigned to look up certain material and then to report on it during the meetings. Some of these deal with the Roman family life, three periods of the Republic, the Age of Augustus, and the decline of Rome. Another was the study of a funeral ceremony in the Roman age.

THE NUCLEUS SCIENCE CLUB

The Nucleus Science Club, under the direction of Mr. Norman Corter, has made rapid strides this past year. During the meetings they have used the microscopes to a great advantage. Many members have made reports of unlimited interest on various subjects. The most interesting of all their activities are the trips that they have taken. A field trip to Branch Brook Park afforded an experience directly within the realms of nature. They also visited the Newark Museum which had a special exhibition on insects. On January 28, they went to the Museum of Natural History in New York City, enjoying the interesting and educational exhibitions for a full day.

During the year the special subjects and projects that they have devoted considerable time to dealt with the lives of great men of science, and the study of bacteria, foods, trees, leaves and fish.

The object of this club is threefold: first, for the enjoyment of its members; second, to further their interests in the most essential and the most fascinating subject of our day; and third, to extend their interests to friends and other people with whom they come in contact.

THE SECRETARIAL CLUB

The Secretarial Club consists of a brilliant group of forty-five students, each of whom has won at least one Gregg Award for shorthand. It is one of the most beneficial and active clubs in the school. The main purpose of the organization is to acquaint its members with the problems in the field of business and industry. Not content with regular meetings, the club serves refreshments in the domestic science room once a month. These meetings are especially well enjoyed by all, and the club turns out in full force.

The officers of the club are president, Dorothea Schetlick; vice-president, Frank Bridge; secretary, Marie Capanear; treasurer, Wesley Konrad.

The club has sponsored two afternoon dances, has had debates on current problems, has entertained a speaker, and has done many other interesting things. One of the greatest accomplishments of the club was the publishing of the "Secretarial Gazette." The staff consisted of Marjorie Ings, editor; assistant editor, Kathleen Tucker; poetry editor, Eleanor Lewis; sports editors, Estelle De Larkey and Frank Bridge; art editors, Dorothea Schetlick and Jane Horvath; gossip editor, Margaret Pelz; business manager, Sadie Lynas; shorthand department, Grace Rawcliffe.

Thanks to the great help and guidance received from Mrs. Snedeker, the members have really learned something while having fun.

THE BANKERS

"Has everyone banked? Well, what are you waitin' for?" This is the familiar Tuesday morning chant at Belleville High School. Tuesday morning is the time when the teachers and students bring their hard-earned pennies. Why? To march up to the banker and watch the old bank book balance grow.

All the classes push and pull to make everyone bank. Then the class is presented with a lovely little banner with 100% on it in big bold letters. Once they get those banners, why, there's no holding them; they keep it all year. I believe the school had to order some new ones this year because the banking has been so successful. The members of practically every class have been bursting with pride at one time or another because their class had reached the top.

But, this is not the most important thing! The students of Belleville High School are beginning to realize the value of banking their pennies, nickels, dimes and frequent dollars. The money banked always comes in handy to buy—but, why list the many things? A high school student can always use the money so neatly tucked away in the bank.

Mr. Blair has supervised the banking this year and certainly has made our campaigns successful. He has gained the full support of the faculty and the students. A grand and glorious spirit of competition has found a definite place in our school banking.

Our homeroom bankers send the money and an accurate record to Mr. Blair and he, in turn, sends the deposits from the entire school to the First National Bank where it is kept for future needs.

Our successful banking has made our Student Bankers very responsible. They must check and re-check the deposits, for it is necessary to be very accurate. Two Student Bankers are elected to represent each homeroom. Their job is to take the deposits, mark them in the bank books and make a record for the bank.

THE CHEERLEADERS

It was around September twelfth when a notice signed by Mr. Paul Jones read: "Anyone interested in cheerleading meet in the auditorium at 2:50 today."

There were more students present than were expected. Mr. Jones had a very hard time in choosing the most enthusiastic boys and girls to be this year's cheerleaders. So, the rehearsal began with "Chich-a-laka" and went through the cheers. When all was completed, Mr. Jones made his choice. They included the "old timers"—Eddie Soleau, Clara Lombardi, and Margo Hyde—and Shirley Bitz, Frank Bridge, Harvey Fort, Frances Coeyman, and Gloria Loesser, who were "new at the game."

The new cheerleaders had good qualities, including vim, vigor, and grand voices. But, too, a couple of them needed a polishing-up. Either the voice was squeaky, motions too vigorous, or something else was the matter. In spite of it all, Mr. Jones turned out a great group of cheerleaders and a lot of noise, which is very important in this field of work.

Well, our football season began on September 23 with Barringer as our visitors. It was a great day and our cheerleaders, acting very energetically, went into their first day's work. Clara, their captain, began with "Belleville says hello." It was grand to see cheerleaders with such enthusiasm. Shirley, being very natural and pert, was off to a good start. Our "old-timers"—Margo, Clara and Eddie—were at their best; Frank and Harvey had all their faith in good old vim and vigor—not girls—and Frances and Gloria were coming along fine.

All we can now say is, "Congratulations to a grand troop of cheerleaders, and may Mr. Jones turn out as nice and cooperative a group in the years to come."

PIGSKIN REVIEW

FOOTBALL

Again this year Belleville High entered the football season with an unusually light team. Belleville has finally arrived at the decision that the heavier and bigger their opponents are, the more points on the score board for the Belleville squad.

This year Bud Hollweg and Al Zuzzio, as co-captains, proved a great asset to the team.

Now for a little peek here and there into some of the outstanding games of the season. As an opener Barringer happened to be our opponent. Although Barringer outscored us by 14-0 the team was not outplayed. It seemed that they had one good man that Belleville couldn't get hold of, but outside of that the Bellboys did a fine job.

This year Belleville played an excellent game against Bloomfield, our favorite opponent. Even though the outcome was 0-0, the entire game was exciting. Every minute the spectators were on the edge of their seats, while the band played and the cheerleaders did their best to let the boys know that the entire town of Belleville was with them.

Another outstanding game of the season was with Irvington. The boys on the squad had not forgotten what Irvington did to us the year before and thus made up for it this year. The two most impressive moments came when Bud Hollweg grabbed the ball in mid-air and ran ninety yards for our first touchdown. In the fourth quarter came the other jolting surprise when right halfback, Ed Slavin, ran off for sixty yards behind the most brilliant blocking by the other members of the squad that any Belleville spectator has ever seen.

Two weeks later Belleville went over to West Orange and lost by 13-12, a game that was outstanding in performance even though the score board was against us.

They say that there are many queer things in the world, but I don't believe any one could have seen anything queerer than when Belleville played Good Counsel. Do you remember how it poured that day and all the "Zebra" fans donned their raincoats and rubbers and brought out the old umbrella and slid down to Clearman Field to watch their team with mud-packed faces and soaked jerseys slide over the goal line into a puddle to win by a score of 25-0? It seemed that every time the Bellboys scored, the rain would come down harder than ever. Wet weather was a signal for team work and when team work is needed, Belleville is "Johnny on the spot."

To end the football season Belleville met South Side on Thanksgiving morning and played to a scoreless tie. The Belleville spirit was willing but the weather was against us.

Thus we came to the close of a great football season with a grand football squad. Everyone likes to watch an honest and clean-cut team, and Belleville High School gives us just that.

Much credit for the team's good work must be given to our coach, Frank Smith, and assistants, Herman Wische and Wilho Winika. Another member of the coaching staff was John Daly, a former graduate of Belleville High School, who proved to be a great aid.

At the All-Sports Dinner in April sweaters were awarded to Edward Hollweg, Lawrence Thoma, Philip Bruno, Thomas Whittemore, Donald McAleese and Joseph Frunzi.

COURT SCENES

BASKETBALL

The Belleville High School basketball squad enjoyed an excellent season this year, winning thirteen ball games and losing only four.

Coaches A. K. Mac Bride and H. Wische are to be congratulated for their fine work. Serving as managers were Charles Feeney and William Smith. Hugh Kittle, Jr. piloted the freshman team to a successful year.

Coach Mac Bride brought the boys out early this year and had them practice hard the extra weeks. This was to compensate for the handicap in height which the coach knew he had to make up. Fans can tell you that this certainly met with success as the team didn't lose a game played on the home court.

One game that all Bellevillites were glad to see won was against our traditional rival, Bloomfield. It was a close game all the way but Belleville pulled out in front far enough to win by 30-29.

Adolph Paul and Jack Clark were co-captains this year. Paul put in a good season, and when all the scores were piled together he came out second highest in Essex County at basket shooting. Paul Hannon and Pat Tortorello gained recognition in the All-State choices.

The local Junior Varsity aggregation, although they did not come through with as many victories as the Varsity, had many players that promise to show first team talent next year. The Junior Varsity received, for the first time, recognition in the form of J. V. letters.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

Did you by any chance listen in to a homeroom conversation before school or during cafeteria periods and overhear a group of boys arguing about who was the best "shot" they had or the best guard? Whom were they talking about? No one else but that homeroom's basketball team. These boys were "side-liners" expressing their opinion over who might be the champion players in that particular homeroom.

This is but one of the episodes that occurred during the intramural basketball matches which were held after school.

Only boys who had not received a Varsity or Junior Varsity basketball letter were allowed to participate. Altogether forty teams with ten players on each were entered in the tournament. Finally, after weeks of eliminating for class champ, the winners were: Freshmen, Room 10; Sophomores, Room 109; Juniors, Room 202; Seniors, Room 302.

A new idea was worked out for the final tournament, called a handicap championship. The Freshmen and Seniors played. The former had an eight-point handicap and won. Then the Sophomores and Juniors played. The Sophomores with a five-point lead won. Finally the last battle came up. The Freshmen and Sophomores played, the Freshmen having a three-point handicap. The Freshmen won, becoming the school champs by a score of eleven to eight.

WHERE EVERY SCENE IS A "HIT"

BASEBALL

"Take me out to the ball game; take me out with the crowd . . ."

No wonder the crowds have been packing the stands at Clearman Field when Belleville High School has such a remarkable baseball team that it started off the season with three victories out of four starts.

Good hard hitters with plenty of baseball knowledge are responsible for our team's record. Bob Gibler with those three-base hits is one of our outstanding stars. Other thrills are provided when Ralph Lilore, George McKay, and Pat Tortorella come up to bat. Peter Torre may make a four-base error and Stanley Litts may be bumped on the head, yet the game goes on just the same.

Our pitching has been well taken care of by Lester Dunham, Norman Crowther, Russell McDermott, and Jack Avazier. Howard Byles—the captain—Joseph Sullivan, Peter Torre and John Clark all did their part to assist the Bellboys whenever needed.

Undoubtedly the man behind the baseball team whose supervision has led our team to victory is Coach Smith, a man who knows everything there is to know about baseball.

Boys will be boys, so you'll never fail to find one or two of the baseball players having a little fun in the locker room by tying up their mate's clothes with strings before or after a game. If a fellow finds his shirt or tie missing, nine times out of ten it can be found under the shower.

Good clean fun of this kind, cooperation, determined spirit and quick thinking have done a lot to make our baseball team of 1939 what it is today.

AND A LONG, SUCCESSFUL "RUN"

TRACK

Easter vacation had come and gone, and close on its heels came spring and its attendant sports. Among them was track, a sport which each year is receiving more and more attention. Coaches Wilho Winika and John Taggart sent out a call for material and received it in large quantities. Alack and alas, this material had a decided greenish tinge, as it was composed largely of boys who had yet to feel the cinders beneath their feet. However, our coaches, assisted by several former Belleville High track luminaries, set out to build a team that would make up in effort what it lacked in experience. Among the veterans whom they planned to use as a nucleus were Bob Bangert, a miler whose time is rapidly improving; Ed Hollweg and Howard

Cullen, star dash men; and Harry Mueller, a quarter miler. Some of the new boys shaped up surprisingly well. A few of these were Jerry Breininger and Bob McLaughlin, milers; Ed Dyson, a half miler; and Wally Elliott, hurdles. That these boys were well on their way to, at least, a moderately successful season was shown by the easy manner in which they won an early meet with Arts High of Newark. The squad had a hard schedule facing it, but all the boys were out to win.

A "STRIKING" GROUP WHICH BOWLS

OVER THE AUDIENCE

BOYS' BOWLING TEAM

"Let's get going fellas. We'll take care of them just like we took care of the others." That was most likely the main idea that ran through this high-spirited group of fellows as they went out to win their last bowling match before closing the season. But the truth is stranger than fiction, for the odd part of this is that they came through as they prophesied—yes, they were victorious.

The team has remained undefeated in all inter-scholastic competitions since its origin last year. Incidentally, it is the only athletic organization in the school that has never been faced with defeat. How's that for a record? Don't you think they deserve a hand? This club consisting of ten members has forced its way to the top entirely on its own. It is not recognized by the Athletic Council as an official sport; therefore, they have financed all expenses with the aid of the school.

Our bowling team has found it rather difficult to arrange matches with other schools. You ask why. Well, it's as plain as can be. Other teams are afraid of our mighty five.

To determine who was to occupy a position on the Bowling Team, the candidates held an elimination contest among themselves. The winners received the honor of being on the first team.

Their excellent record is undoubtedly due to the fact that they have such a splendid coach as Mr. Paul Jones and Manager Edward West.

GIRLS' BOWLING CLUB

A call for Bowling Club members was sent out early in the new year. This notice was answered by as many girls as boys so two separate clubs were formed. Never before in Belleville High has there been an organization of bowling for girls.

The girls' club started late in January and bowled every Tuesday afternoon for a while at the Grace Baptist Church in Belleville but later shifted their locale to Ferrara's in North Newark.

The girls' club members who took an active part are Clara Boniface, Frances Coeyman, Margaret Findlay, Alice Hart, Jane Horgan, Helen Lowenberg, Jean Robinson, and Miss Margaret Leahy. They were aided by Mr. Paul Jones.

The girls had no previous experience and so anything could be expected to happen. Sometimes it was rather dangerous to be near them as the ball would just as well go backwards as roll down the alley. Of course, too, the gutter got plenty of use. Also a couple of them dug the skin off their hands from holding the ball with the wrong fingers. It was a trifle hard to get accustomed to holding such a heavy ball with two fingers. It is needless to say that a good time was enjoyed by all.

FOR A HORSE”

THE RIDING CLUB

Through winter's cold and summer's heat one can always find the members of the Riding Club along the canal path which leads from the Pearlbrook Riding Academy. Neither rain nor snow can stop these girls. We find bucking broncos or school-horses—anything that is a horse. Our experienced riders can do anything with either type. And I must say that the girls have done wonderfully well under the supervision of Miss Leahy and other members of the faculty.

“Giddap!” “Whoa!” “Hi Yo, Silver!” “Oh I’m scared!” are a few of the sounds coming from our riders. Some of you girls surely did take a beating. Now, don’t be embarrassed. Admit it.

The club has many active members, and then, of course, there are some who are inactive through no fault of their own. How many of you had to eat from the mantelpiece or be excused from gym work because you were too stiff to move? And remember the first ride? Thrilling, wasn’t it? The horse walked practically all the way and if he did start up—Whoa! Whom should we feel sorry for? The girl or the horse?

Well, anyhow, we all had loads of fun and won’t ever forget our trips to Garret Mountain even if some of us were afraid to ride in the dark.

The president of the Riding Club is Gladys Schneider. Under her we have Ruth Dettlebach as vice-president, Constance Hamilton as treasurer, and Jacqueline Snedeker as secretary.

Riding keeps one physically fit and, weather permitting, the girls ride once or twice a week.

Our thanks go out to Miss Leahy for her supervision and to Mr. Mitton for his assistance in teaching the girls the art of horsemanship.
