FOREWORD

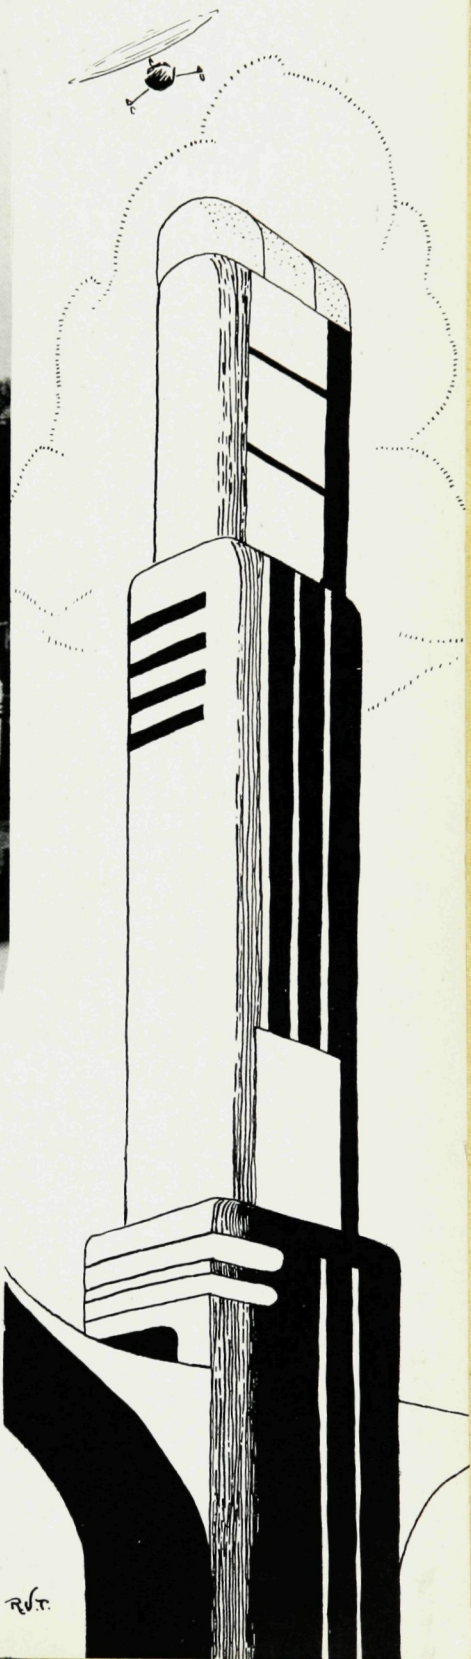

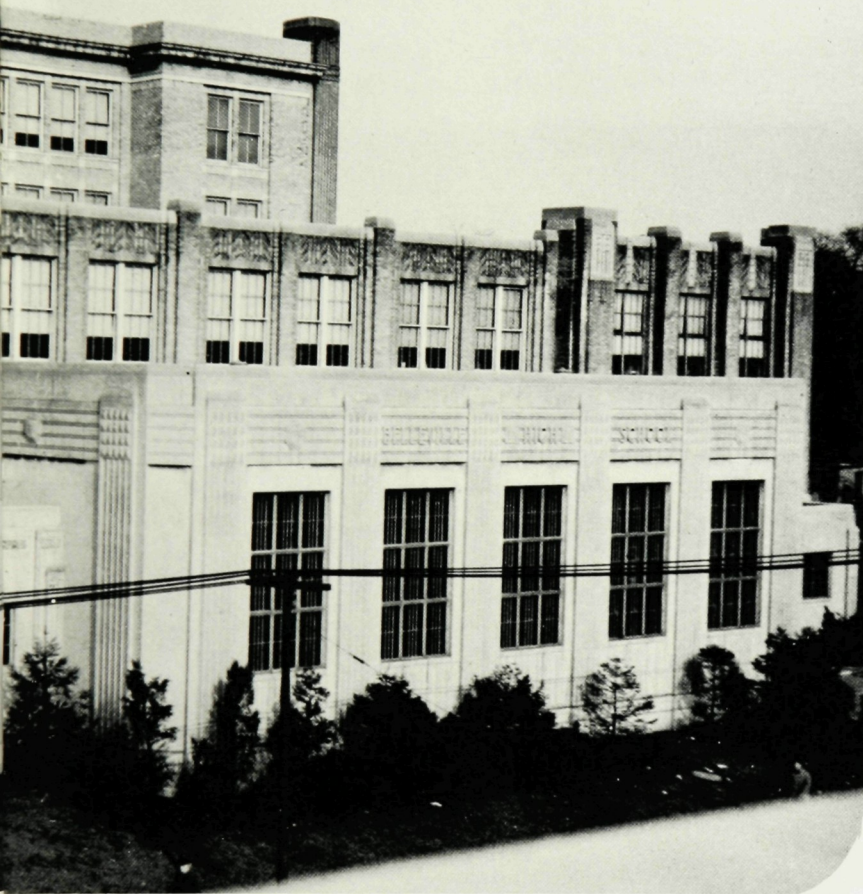

We, the Senior Class of 1947, are the fiftieth group to graduate from Belleville High School. We have come a long way from the first little group which pursued their high school studies under the "tin roof" down on Cortlandt Street. We look back on this class with humble pride and respect, for by their efforts we have the present and through our efforts we hope to build the future. We are about to enter a world involved with the problems of the aftermath of war. Ours shall be the responsibility of tolerance and understanding for only through these shall we be able to build a future world of lasting potency.

And so it is with hope and sincere faith we look into tomorrow—the future.

DEDICATION

In our good old school days Miss Thelma Weidman is a typical English teacher, glasses and all, but after three-thirty we find her in Room 113 where she becomes our busy "Moad" advisor. For over ten years she has helped give us "out-of-this-world" yearbooks, devoting her time and energy to the planning for graduating classes a memoir of their school days.

You may be sure Miss Weidman never spends a dull evening, for you might find her reading a gory mystery, making her clothes or "slinging the hash" in her bachelor apartment.

On a nice week-end she hops into her Oldsmobile and buzzes across the state to her home in the country along the Delaware River. After donning her old slacks she may be found working in her gardens, fishing for bass or sunnies, or attending country antique auction sales to buy furniture or old milk or ruby thumb print glass.

We, the fiftieth class of Belleville High, dedicate this book to Miss Thelma Weidman in tribute to one who has served us well.

Our PRINCIPAL

It is surprising sometimes how little we actually know about some of the people we see every day in the halls, in the classrooms, or behind that formidable desk in the inner office. Sometimes outward appearances are such beliers of the true person. So it is with Mr. Kittle.

Would you ever think that he is a member of a poker club and boasts at playing a "swell" game; that he is a sport enthusiast, interested in fishing trips to Canada, in boating, or in watching football and basketball games? When he is not working at school or attending some sport event, he may be found digging in his garden.

From all this, one can see that here is a man who really enjoys living life and who can laugh at the right time and at the right jokes and play as hard as any of his students.

HUGH D. KITTLE

SENIORS

CLASS

In September, 1943, our little band landed on this planet. The name of our home for four years, we found, was Belleville High. In order to keep things running smoothly, we elected a governing body which consisted of Allan McAllister, president; Richard Cherin, vice president; Joan Bramhall, secretary; and William Donovan, treasurer. Our adviser was Miss Olga Nelson. Our principal was Mr. Burt Johnson, a newcomer to our little community. Our football coach also saw action for the first year, for Mr. Chapman replaced Larry Gates, who went into Uncle Sam's Navy. Bloomfield, our ancient rival, fell victim to our football team which finished the season with five wins and three losses. Under the leadership of our officers, our Christmas Dance became part of the social whirl of Belleville High. Our basketball team had a good record, winning twelve while dropping four. As a product of noon-time dancing, the B-Hive was established in our fair school. Another first was the National Honor Society in the school. Belleville was made a chapter of the National Honor Society of secondary schools. The tapping assemblies will be remembered for the suspense they created. The whole town read about our exploits in the "Belleville Times" in a column devoted to our activities. We contributed to the war effort by purchasing grasshopper planes through the sale of war bonds.

We earned a brief reprieve from our trials and tribulations. This reprieve took the form of a two months' vacation.

After our short vacation, we returned to the work of our Sophomore year. We promptly elected a new governing body. Our new officers were Allan McAllister, president; Jack Meyer, vice president; Nancy Fried, secretary; and George Moyes, treasurer. Our advisers were Mr. Harold Dufford and Miss Helen Hollberg. Our basketball team again won twelve games, this time dropping seven. Our big dance was the Sophomore Hop, as always. 1945 was a year of many firsts. The Student Council got its start in Belleville High. This was the answer to our dreams of student government. In the spring of '45 we elected Fred Kirms to the presidency of the first Student Council. The problem of school traffic was solved by a Traffic Committee composed of student monitors. We published a newspaper fittingly named "The Blue and Gold." This paper was a great contribution to journalism and its publication astounded the literary world. In May Germany surrendered, giving us just cause for rejoicing. With such a year behind us we were ready to adjourn for a two months' vacation.

Just before we came back for our Junior year, we had another cause for celebration. The end of World War II had come in August.

After our return to school in September, we elected our new class officers. They were Lloyd Irving, president; Shirley Crisp, secretary; Nicholas Hagoort, treasurer; and Joseph Santiglia, vice president. Our advisers for this trying year were Miss Mary Dye, Miss Olga Nelson, and Miss Mary Bond. Mr. Wische will remember this year as the one responsible for some gray hairs, as most of the basketball games were decided by a margin of a very few points. We managed to gain an even split for the season with a record of nine wins and nine losses. We cannot forget the football team of this year, for they vanquished our old rival, Nutley, by a score of 7-6. This year will also be remembered for the spirited Student Council election during which we elected a member of our class to be president of the Student Council in the following year. After much campaigning by both sides, Joseph Bergen won a close victory over William Niebuhr. The Junior Prom was a big affair, being held in Newark in the Terrace Room to the strains of music by Richard Himber. We hope that this experiment was a success. With another year behind us, we again tore free of our bonds and escaped for two months.

We returned in September, this time for our last year of toil. Our class officers for this final year were William Niebuhr, president; George Moyes, vice president; and Shirley Sanford, secretary-treasurer. This student government carried us through our first dance, the Senior Winter Dance. This year, as in years past, we turned salesmen to sell Christmas cards. Our basketball team made up for our poor football record (one win and nine losses) by winning nineteen out of the twenty-three games and being placed second in the Essex County Tournament. With all this glory came our silver trophy as a runner-up in the county tournament. Our class held the distinction of being the fiftieth graduating class and this "Monad" is the product of our class. The Senior Play, "Life of the Party," played to packed houses. Under the Student Council student government reached a new high with the assistance of our principal, Mr. Kittle, who had returned from the Navy in our Junior year. The year went fast and we found graduation rapidly approaching. Our year ended with our trip to Rye Beach and our Dinner Dance with, of course, our commencement being the all-important happening of our final year. If you would learn more of our final year, read on.

The Life of Our Party

That Senior Play! Hmm-m, yes, now that I think back all those treasured incidents so wonderful to recall come tumbling back.

There was never a dull moment at the rehearsals for the performers. The title, "The Life of the Party," was quite descriptive of the goings-on. You could not help but have action for all the members of the play were really and truly "characters."

Remember how Miss Collins used to tell Winnie to shake Bill a little harder and tell

Bill to put a little more fear on his face? I laugh when I think of the two Snazzy's, Francis and Bill. How hard they practiced to get that punch just right that was to be given to Bill France. All you had to do was call Francis "Bruiser" and he would get red all over just thinking how he demonstrated his right hook to the public. (Gosh, that really surprised you, didn't it, Bill?) When Pat McGinnis threw that vase at Stuff Charles Collier (Art Weber) the audience had the same reaction as they used to have in those old time plays. You know, booing the villain and clapping for the heroine. It was a funny thing about those guests at the party, Norma and Phyllis; no one seemed to hear a word they said.

The make-up committee over in Room 212 under Mrs. Hutchinson and Miss Schellhase's direction had their hands full with "Ducky." It seemed no matter how hard they tried to make her ugly, her natural beauty kept showing through. They finally gave it up as just a plain, hopeless case and let nature take its course.

The sound effects men were quite frantic when the door chime casing came off while slap-happy Mike (Bill France) was ringing the door bell. It caused such an uproar the second performance that even the cast forgot themselves and giggled.

Mr. Hughes' (David Rue) frantic running around trying to get everything to run just right was continued behind stage. Dave was really "Papa" to the cast in real life. His excellent performance and those versatile eyebrows of his were some things that will always be remembered by all.

Jean's Cinderella act, Amy's cheerleading, Teddy's girls (Dottie, Sally, Mary Rosalie, and Hope), the tough officer Lipscomb, Mrs. Hughes' social ambitions, Ruth's mixed-up life, Tommy's mind over matter attitude, along with Mrs. Coates' fainting spells and Sally's ready tears, are characterizations by a cast that did one of the best jobs ever presented by the school.

When the orchestra under the direction of Mr. S. Peck played "Stradella" between the acts, the audience was very appreciative. It was no wonder that their attention was held for the orchestra performed very well.

The Senior Play had many new additions to the regular plan followed. For instance, this year for the first time, the grammar school students attended a matinee performance of the dress rehearsal. Their response to it gave all the cast more confidence in their actions. There was also a critic from a New York paper present. And, of course, we must not forget that even the looker-on in the very last row could hear everything with the loud speaker arrangements.

One of the truly great additions to the high school is the new dramatics teacher, Miss Frances Collins, who directed the play. Under her skillful direction the performance blossomed out in a remarkable show of excellent acting. We must not forget that Mr. Henry, Mr. Diehl, Mrs. Hutchinson, Mr. Babb, and Miss Schellhase helped to make it a great success.

THE MONAD

Editorial, Business, and Typing

Adviser Mr. Schultz, Norma Rinaldi, Adviser Miss Weidman, Shirley Sandford, Thomas Walsh, Nick Hagoort, Hugh Murphy, Richard Westover, June Platner, Josephine Forte, and Adviser Mr. Levan.

Since this graduating class is the fiftieth to leave Belleville High School, the "Monad" staff found themselves with the problem of deciding on some original yet interesting theme. For a time things looked rather gloomy until they suddenly decided that the future held more for them than the past. And so work really began at that point.

The staff had already been partially elected a year ago while they were members of the Junior class. This was done to avoid the last minute rush. So in October the group met every Monday evening in Room 113 to put out a book that would be "tops." But seemed that no matter how hard they tried time fled and they were just as rushed as any other year.

With a list of three hundred fifteen prospective graduates, more than the past two years, scheduling for the Senior pictures was no easy task. Then write-ups were continually getting lost or never coming in. Along came the Senior Play. Three of our members had leads in that and were frequently rehearsing during our regular staff meetings. With the rising prices in printing, our "Monad" group had their financial troubles, especially since they wanted an extra attractive cover. Even our art staff seemed more than a little worried when ultra-modern pictures had to be drawn. One must not forget those ad-getters who walked miles for a little square in the back of the book.

But with all the difficulties, Hugh Murphy and Josephine Forte and their staff put out a book that they think you will like.

Not only did the "Monad" staff work hard, but our faculty advisor, Miss Weidman, carried her share of the burden, too. If it were not for her untiring efforts, we would never have completed it. We also wish to thank Mr. Schultz for his help in supporting the business staff, Mr. Levan for his suggestions, and Mr. Diehl for his criticism and planning of the art. Each of them spent time and effort to make our project a success.

Art and Sports

SENIOR SENATE

President, William Neibuhr

The senate started the year off with the Victory dance, which was followed by the sale of Christmas cards. The whole class was busy getting money in while Miss Gray and the senators had headaches keeping money and receipts straight. Tradition was broken when the regular Hallowe'en dance was changed to an old clothes, Sadie Hawkins Day dance. The senators had a breather between the November dance and the February Valentine dance.

A new idea was incorporated here, too, with a ceremony in which the king and queen of hearts were chosen. More money to collect! This time it came in the form of Senior Play tickets.

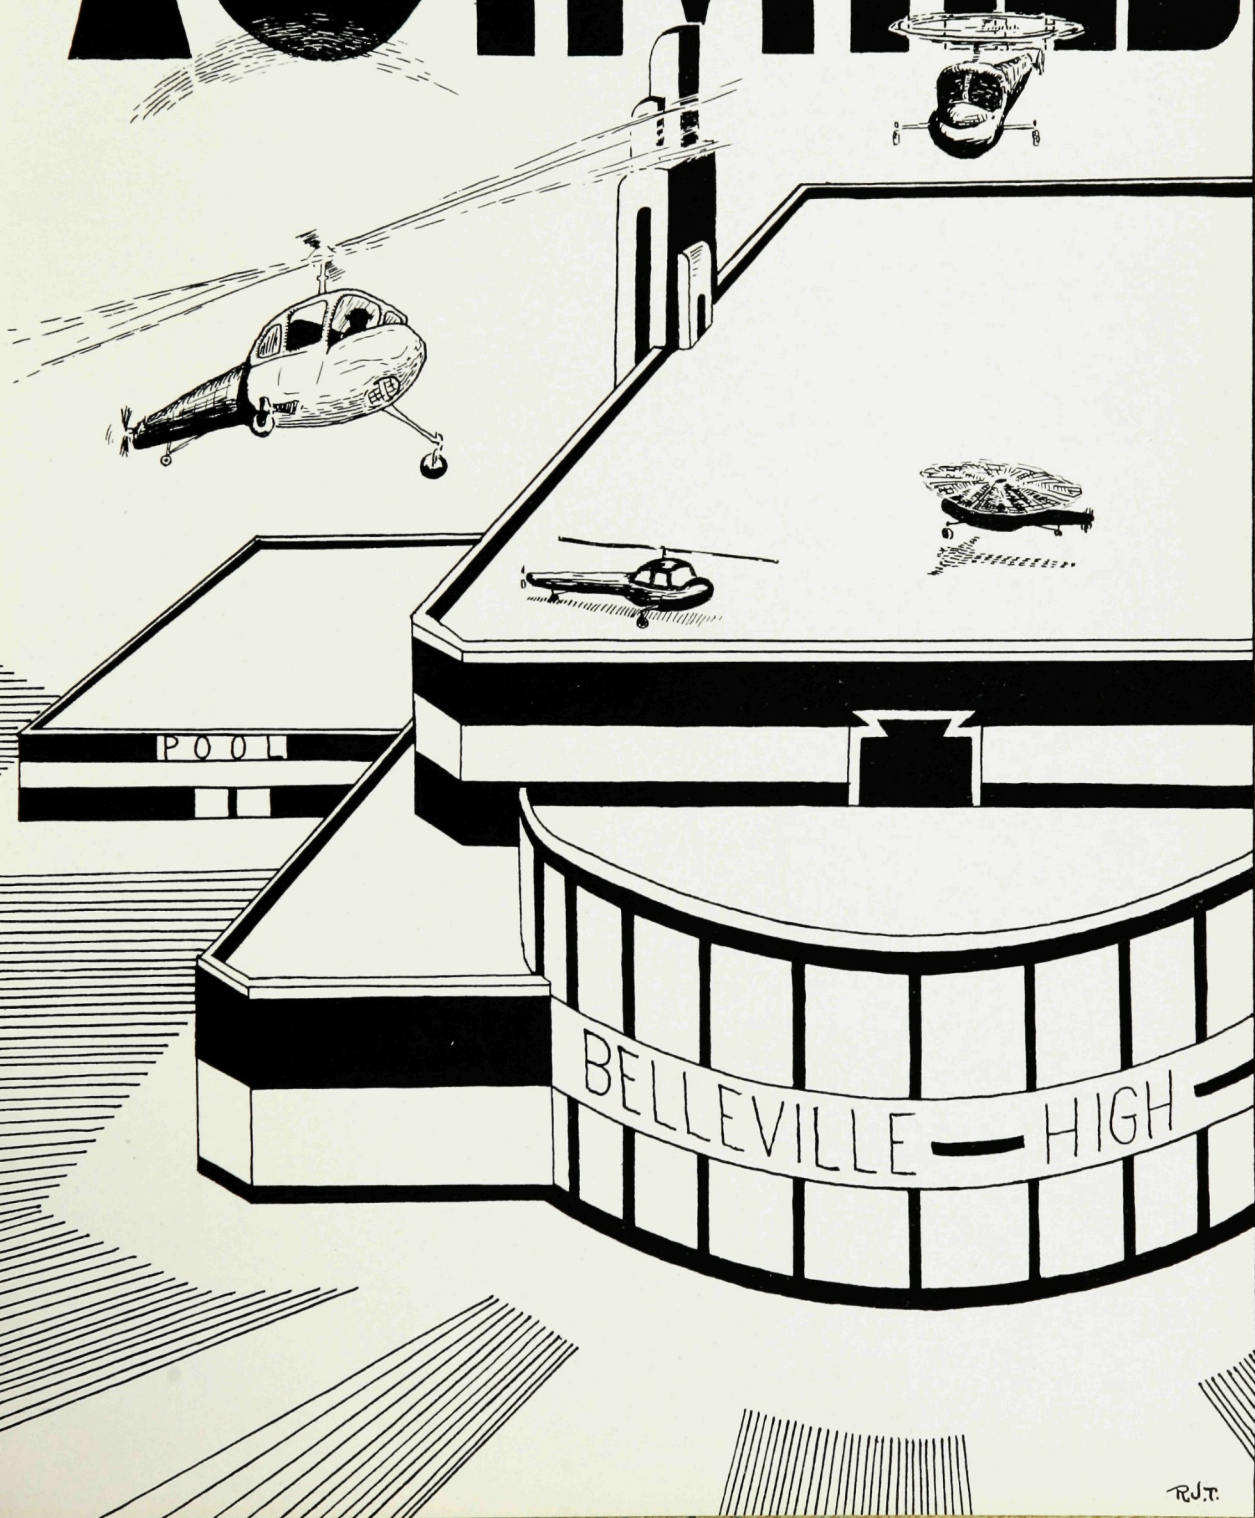

Despite the rising costs of our necessities, the Senior Class kept financially on the top, bringing in more money on Christmas cards and dances than many of the other previous classes.

ACTIVITIES

FRESHMAN SENATE

Vice President Marie Bruno, Adviser Mr. George Lees, President Jane Cooke, and Treasurer Lee Griffith.

THE BAND

During this second year of reorganization under Mr. Peck, the Band started taking the shape it once had. Maneuvers and marching were taught by the school's new assistant, Mr. Herbert Mattick. The group played at all home football games and at pep assemblies. The membership this year rose to forty-six. The officers were James Thompson, president; Doris Kistner vice president and librarian; and Claire Coria, secretary.

Barbara Meyer, our pretty drum majorette, was largely responsible for the Band's splendid performance on the field. Not only was our Band pleasing to the ear, but to the eye as well.

At the conclusion of the football season it converted over to concert season and played in the annual Spring Concert.

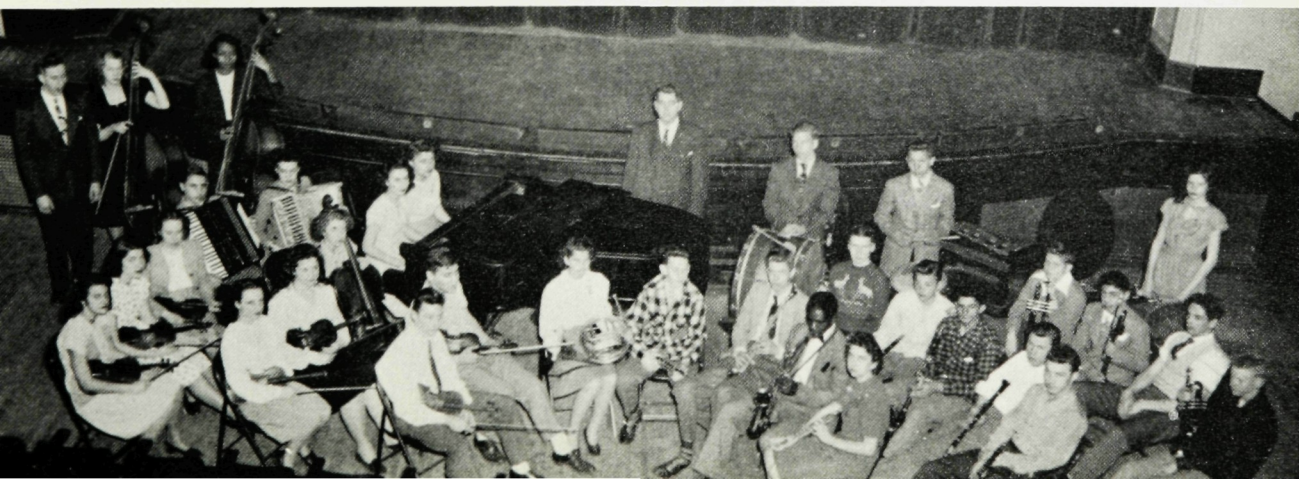

ORCHESTRA

The Belleville High School Orchestra, which is under the direction of Mr. Samuel Peck, was guided by its active president, Donald Havas and its vice president, Robert Seiler. Both were members of the New Jersey All-State Orchestra. Other officers who helped were Janne Smith, librarian; and Doris Kistner, secretary and assistant librarian.

This group, which boasts of thirty-four members, was seen and heard at nearly all the assemblies. They played interludes at the Senior Play and symphonic music at the annual Spring Concert. They also spent many hours practicing with the Seniors in preparation for graduation exercises.

The Orchestra members did an excellent job on many difficult pieces. Among these are: "In a Persian Market," "Stradella" (an overture), and "Artists' Life."

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Belleville High can really be proud of the Girls' Glee Club. This group of girls work together through the year to bring enjoyment to those who listen. This year the membership is the largest in Belleville High's history.

These eighty-five girls, under the direction of Mr. Samuel Peck, rehearse every Thursday and Friday during third period. The music which they sing is mostly semi-classical although there have been quite a few popular selections sung. Some of them were "The Man I Love," "My Heart Stood Still," "All the Things You Are," and "The Indian Love Call."

The Glee Club has performed at many programs this year, the Annual Spring Concert being one of the most outstanding. Officers this year were Doris Cohen, president; Elizabeth DiSturco, vice president; Jean Luciani, secretary; and Barbara Bozeat, librarian. Norma Lehmann and Doris Cohen act as accompanists.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

The Boys' Glee Club is an organization but two years old, yet it is growing steadily. Although the school has not seen much of them, they are very active and can really harmonize. The boys claim the reason for so few appearances is their shyness. The boys pick their own selections. Popular songs of a few years back and American folk songs are their favorites.

The officers who served with president Donald Bell are Bob Struble, vice president; Thomas Gilmore, secretary; and John Kaldy treasurer. The club plans to expand next year and hopes the male population of Belleville High will become interested and join them.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

The A Cappella Choir is a very active organization in Belleville High and its forty-five members are proud to be part of it. They have performed in many of the assemblies during the school year. The songs the choir sing vary a great deal. Their repertoire consists of Negro spirituals, classical, and popular songs. Many of Fred Waring's arrangements for choral groups are used to the delight of the school body. The officers elected at the beginning of the year are Joseph Morelli, president; Doris Kistner, vice president; Edna Walker, treasurer; Audrey Ramé, secretary; and Marion Giannetti, pianist.

Mr. Peck as director, teacher, and conductor has developed the talent of its members and succeeded in making the choir one that is appreciated by all.

GRAND MUSIC COUNCIL

The presidents of the various musical organizations combined to form the Grand Music Council. This council governs the musical activities of the school, meeting every Monday morning in Room 202 with Mr. Samuel Peck, music director. They have been responsible for such musical programs as the Metropolitan Guild's visit and plans to attend the opera and concerts.

President of the council is Donald Havas; vice president, Joan Riley; secretary, Doris L. Cohen; and treasurer, Robert Seiler.

ASSISTANT LIBRARIANS

These girls have forfeited their study hall to become student assistants in our library. Their duties consist in taking charge of the desk, admitting students, checking books in and out, and keeping everything in order on the shelves. They also help their fellow students who are unable to find suitable reference material. This little group works very hard and deserves a great deal of credit for their co-operation and help to Mrs. Violet Poynter.

AUDIO-VISUAL HELPERS

This group calls themselves the "212" boys. We would venture to say that they are the busiest little group in the school because they and their adviser, Mr. Joseph Grosch, devote a lot of their own personal time to showing films to the students besides helping in all other sound or recording activities. They see that audio-visual programs are planned for teachers and that such projects are carried out. The valuable aid they receive while helping us will be of great advantage to them in later life.

DRAMATICS CLUB

The worthwhile purpose of this organization is to promote interest in the drama. That is why you see them, under the direction of Miss Collins and president Sophia Liskowicz, in their own dramatic workshop in Room 304. Their Christmas and spring plays were enjoyed by all when they were given in the assembly. Besides entertaining us, the group attended several Broadway performances to study and enjoy first class acting.

CHESS CLUB

Belleville High's Chess Club meets every Tuesday afternoon under the guidance of Mr. Nova Babb. The chess team, which has been in action for the past two years, has progressed favorably. Last year it ended with a record of two wins and two losses. This year they have won, lost, and drawn against a powerful Rutherford team. The club is composed of Larry Landry, Richard Fodor, Karl Pinto, Richard Maise, David Rue, Allan Holzman, and other subs. Larry Landry has proved to be the most outstanding player this year.

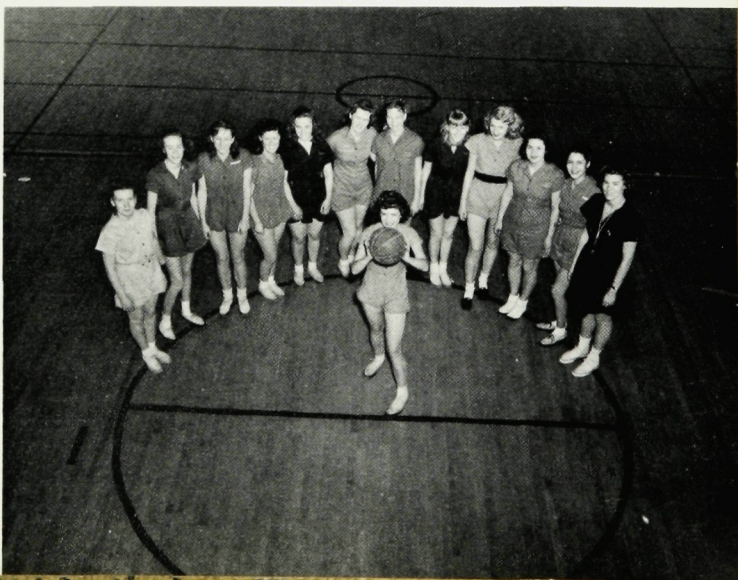

RIFLE CLUB

Organized shortly after Christmas by Mr. Arthur Benson, the Rifle Club is the first of its type in Belleville High. Robert Stephens was elected president, assisted by vice president Anson Baker and Richard Maise, treasurer. The club has enrolled in the National Rifle Association and is awaiting confirmation of its membership to that organization. The fourteen members hope to use the stadium for practice and will begin training shortly after school.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

In October the Girls' Basketball group was organized under the supervision of Miss Harriet Kane with Rita Jacobson captain elect. Its purpose is to give the girls interested a chance to develop various skills and techniques and to play organized basketball with various schools. The club meets once and sometimes twice a week to practice and learn advanced basketball. Games have been played with North Arlington, Nutley, and the women faculty members. It is hoped that the club will play a wider range of schools next year.

STUDENT COUNCIL

This year the student government group undertook many activities for the betterment of the school and was quite successful with all of its projects. At the football stadium, the Council set up its own refreshment concession which was run entirely by members. Conditions at the football games were improved; signs were put up on the main streets directing people to the stadium and a cheering section was roped off at the stadium to give the cheerleaders more support. Under the auspices of the Student Council, the Noon-Time Dance Club was started, a clean-up project was instigated, and hall patrol arrangements were bettered.

B-HIVE

This year, the B-Hive was very successful under its new control, the Student Council. The chairman of the committee was Joseph S. Bergen and the secretary was William J. Donnelly. These two, together with Robert A. Fitton, were in charge of the records.

Money from ticket sales was utilized in the purchase of several hundred records, and the B-Hive was always in possession of the latest releases. The system of requests and dedications over the public address system was new this year.

From the treasury came the funds to supply three dances with music by Lloyd Schaffer without additional cost to members.

STUDENT HALL PATROL

The Student Hall Patrol has been in operation for only two years, yet it has been one of the most important outgrowths of the Student Council. It is the duty of the patrol to keep the stairways and halls free from congestion and therefore is run similar to a police force. It has a chief, Martin Barone, and five captains. Each captain is in charge of a certain floor and under him are student patrolmen. This group works in collaboration with the Noon-Time Dance Club by posting members of the patrol at the various doors to collect tickets and to keep things peaceful. They also keep the halls clear during lunch periods, help out during performances, or aid in any other necessary way. The patrol owes much of its success to its faculty adviser, Mr. Ralph Correll.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

That busy little group that you see in Room 304 every once in awhile is the Assembly Committee. They are hard at work trying to produce good programs for the school. Under the direction of Miss Collins several excellent programs were produced. This committee plans the assemblies, makes all arrangements and then, after finding students for the opening exercises, presents those performances which are well liked by the school at large.

NOON-TIME DANCE CLUB

Another milestone has been reached and another brick has been laid in our ever-growing foundation of student government. This is the Noon-time Dance Club. Tickets were sold for a nominal fee which entitled the bearer to participate in dancing in the girls' gym. As this organization is a non-profit plan, the money was used for the purchase of new records. The club is run by co-chairman Robert Davis and Marty Barone with the assistance of Eileen Carpenter, Anna Lee Richardson, Joan Oshwald, Anna Wastog. Miss Kane, Mr. Correll and Miss Riggio are the faculty advisers, whose help has made the group a success.

BOWLING CLUB

A few times this year you undoubtedly saw a lot of confusion at the office after the sixth period. As you might have guessed that was Mr. Lehner's gang going out to bowl a match. Although the girls had a fifty-fifty season, one win and one loss, the boys only won one and dropped three.

Despite the fact that the club is for bowling only and run informally the officers are: president and treasurer, Nelson Shaw; vice president, Nick Hagoot; and secretary, Betty Chalfont.

The girls' team beat Caldwell in their first home match, but then were nipped in a return match. The boys lost their first game to Verona by nineteen pins, but soon avenged this defeat in their return battle. The boys then lost two matches to Caldwell. During the competition Shirley Vimenti's 145 game was high for the girls while Leo Kileen's 199 was tops for the boys.

RECREATION CLUB

The Recreation Club was organized in September and reached a membership of twenty-five girls. Phyllis Smith was elected president and Rosemarie Bojczak, treasurer.

The club met every Thursday in the girls' gym for recreational activities. The main purpose of the organization is to promote activities that the girls can use when they leave school.

As a part of their program each member joined the Y.W.C.A. in order to include swimming as a sport. One of their trips included a swimming party to the Hotel St. George. This was followed with dinner and a tour of Radio City Music Hall.

Other outside activities have included horseback riding, roller skating, and bicycling. The girls have organized tumbling groups and badminton teams. The tennis groups organized in this group have competed with outside organizations.

The Junior Red Cross is represented by two members from each home-room. From this group Frank Forte is chairman, Florence DiSturco is assistant chairman, and Joan McFadden is sophomore chairman.

During their annual roll call membership, $69.66 was collected. Other activities include sending gift boxes to European children. Mr. Babb's room received an answer and a group picture from Greece. The group made party decorations and boxes for candy and nuts for the Veterans Hospital. An afghan is being knitted for the Navy.

Jean Ramig, freshman representative, has been chosen as one of the delegates to the Red Cross Convention to be held in Cleveland while Joan McFadden has been elected alternate.

JOURNALISM CLUB

The Journalism Club was organized early this year by a group of eager girls for two definite purposes: first, to provide an opportunity for students interested in journalism to learn the fundamentals of news writing; and secondly, to supply the citizens and parents of Belleville and the students of the high school with important news about the school's activities in the local pages of "The Belleville Times," which is published weekly on Thursday. Their little column bears the heading "B.H.S. News."

The club has met each Friday afternoon in Room 114 under the guidance of Mr. Carl Hensinger to discuss news writing and to assign news stories to its members. When assignments were completed, a discussion was held as to their value and improvement.

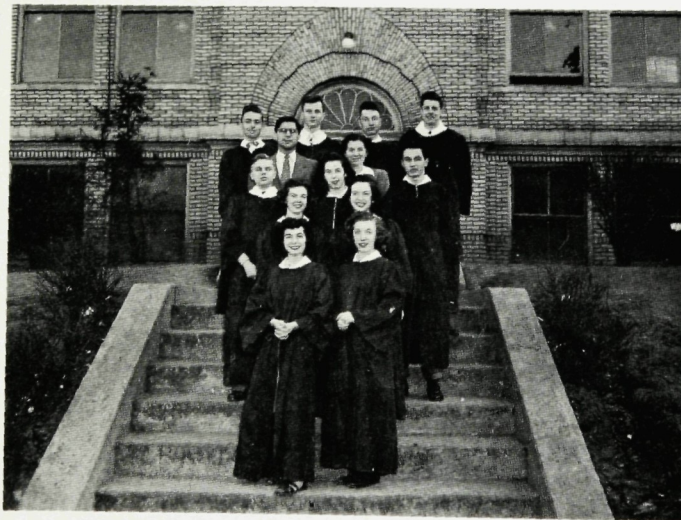

THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

This organization was introduced to Belleville High School three years ago in order to give recognition to students who displayed outstanding scholarship, leadership, service, and character. The Belleville chapter is one of more than 3,000 similar chapters throughout the country.

The twelve members in the picture were nominated as working members at the end of their junior year. They have talked to the Freshmen home rooms about the society, made Honor Society posters, and planned their induction ceremony, which took place in February. At this ceremony these students became full-fledged members. Another ceremony will be held in May. This will be a tapping out ceremony, in which outstanding seniors will be inducted directly into the society.

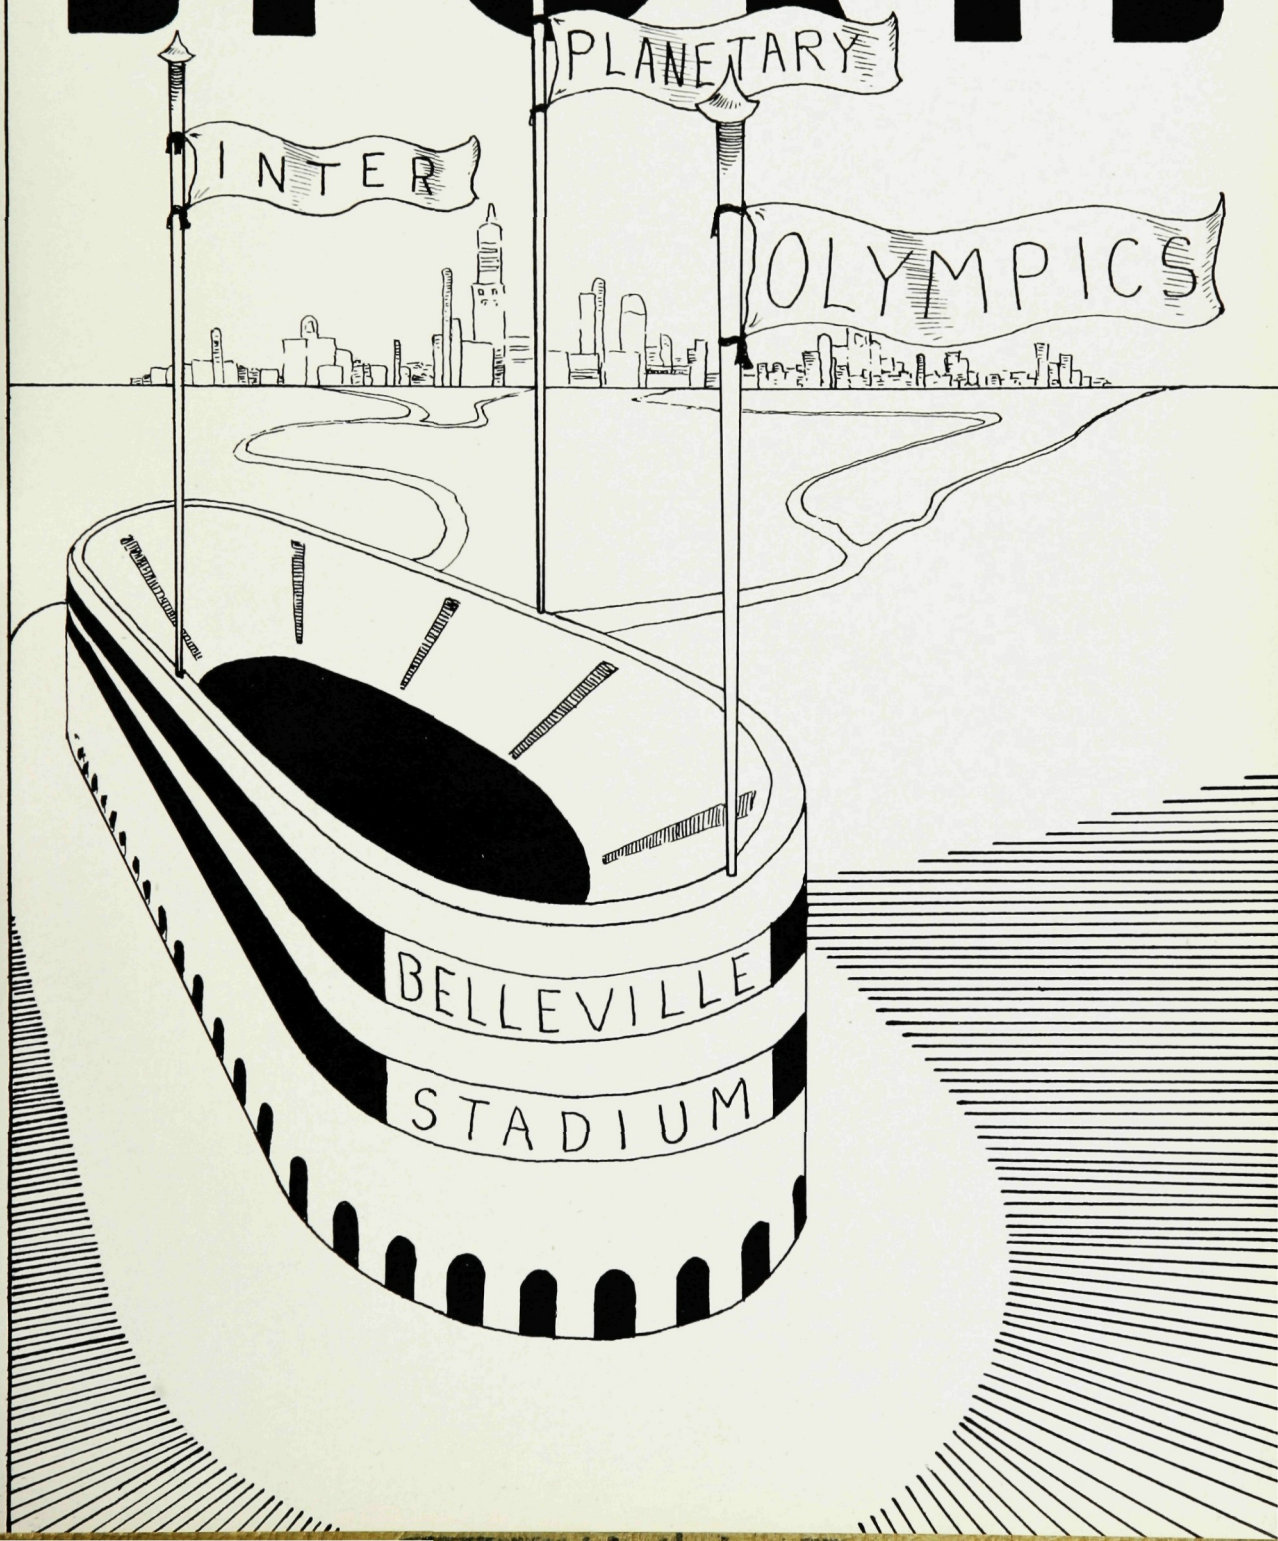

The officers are: president, Robert Seiler; vice president, Marie Zurlo; secretary, Doris Wright; treasurer, Josephine Forte.

SPORTS

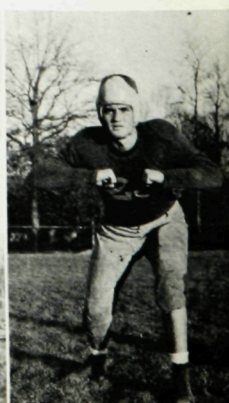

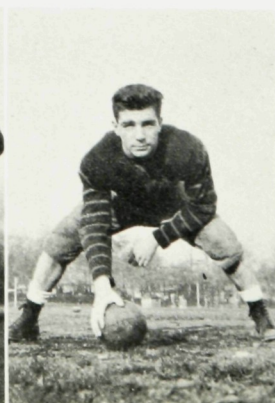

FOOTBALL

A small, light Bell Boy team took the field this year with a tough ten-game schedule. The season opened with a 7-0 defeat by a strong East Orange team. Despite lack of drive and weight the team made themselves felt with their undying spirit. They never stopped fighting until the last gun.

Perhaps the most exciting game of the season was with Irvington. We lost 14-13. What a game! The Bell Boys looked good—plenty good. They were hitting hard and running fast. At the fourth quarter we were out in front 13-7 and it looked as if we had them as time was just a matter of seconds. Belleville kicked off with an enthusiastic roar from our cheering section. Our first win seemed evident. Irvington received the long punt and ran the ball right around right end for a touchdown. Every Bellevillite heart sank with despair, but we clung to the hope that we might end with a 13-13 tie. That was not to be, as our opponents converted for the extra point and thus climaxed a thrilling game.

The Bell Boys almost had a win against Thomas Jefferson, but that game ended in a 0-0 tie. We also tied Kearny and Bloomfield 0-0 and 7-7 respectively. Our two biggest defeats were at the hands of two power-house teams, Passaic and Barringer.

The season ended on Thanksgiving day with a 25-0 win over Bloomfield Tech.

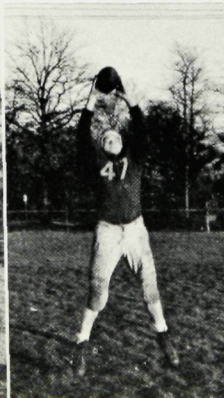

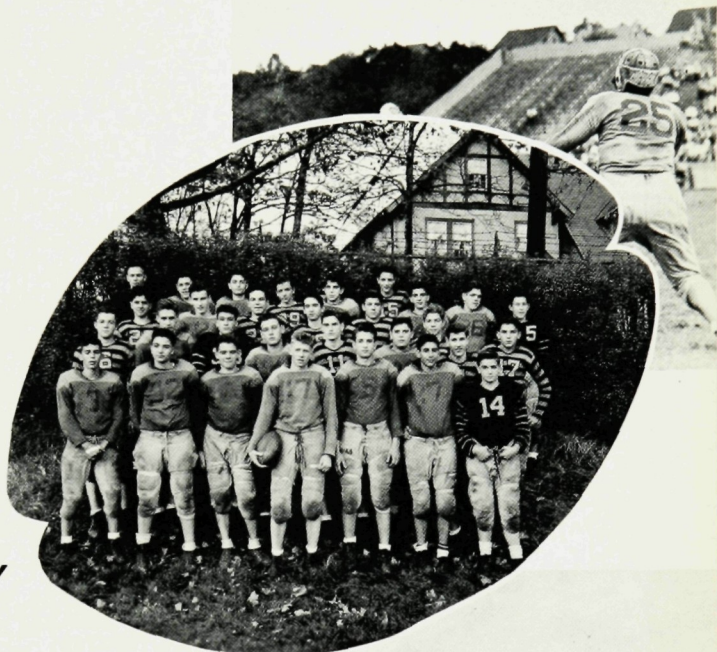

The line included Humbert Costelli, Ed Heimrich, Joe Guardabascio and Herky Heimrich as ends; Charles Macaluso, Joe Grande, Felix Appicella, and George Stickle as tackles; alternating centers, Bill France and Joe Cancelleri; Lou Vitelli and Angelo Tabaldo as guards. The backfield consisted of Joe and John Distasio, Don Smith, Bill Naturale, and Luther Van Pelt.

A great deal of credit goes to the coach, Bill Chapman, who so ably coached our team, and Walter Nedoma, student manager, and his assistant, Charles O'Neill.

JUNIOR VARSITY TEAM

The object of the Junior Varsity football squad is to teach freshmen, sophomores, and juniors the fundamentals of football. Their training is essentially the same as the Varsity, but the most important factor that is drilled is teamwork. This is done so that they can fill in on the varsity squad. They gain actual playing experience in games with the Jay Vee teams of the nearby schools. Although they played older and more experienced fellows this past season, they had a record of four wins and three losses.

The able coaching of Nova Babb will make many of these boys eligible for the varsity teams of the future.

BASKETBALL

A historical season came to a close as our basketball team rolled up nineteen wins out of twenty-three games. Entering the first Essex County Tournament, the Bell Boys gained a runner-up spot, losing only to Orange after having defeated a strong Central High quintet only a day previously. After playing major teams consistently, wearing out the boys and bringing home a trophy, the coach finally cancelled the game with Kearny.

George Moyes, Mike Tortorello, and Gene Glancy displayed extraordinary accuracy in dropping them through the hoop while Bill Lombard, Don Smith, and Stu White were assigned the task of taking the rebounds.

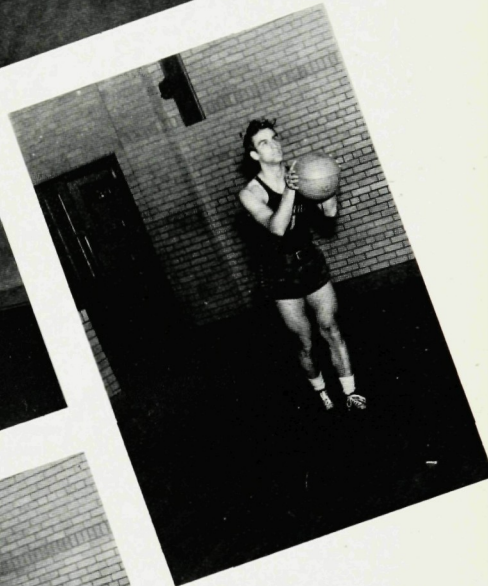

Much of the credit for the team's brilliant record must also go to Coach Herman Wische, who constantly drilled the boys in their offensive and defensive assignments. He has certainly earned the title of one of the state's better coaches.

Gene Glancy was chosen on the all-county team for his great playing ability while George Moyes and Mike Tortorello also received proper recognition.

J.V. Basketball

The Junior Varsity under the guidance of Coach Bill Chapman compiled a magnificent record of twenty wins and only four losses.

The freshman team was directed by Herman Knuppel.

BASEBALL

Losing only three games in their regular season, the 1946 baseball team was invited to the Greater Newark Tournament for the second successive year. The Bell Boys disposed of their opening opponent, Montclair, in short order, but were defeated a few days later by a powerful Asbury Park nine.

Under the guidance of Coach Frank Spotts, the Bell Boys presented a powerful pitching staff which included Roy Hunt, Herman Lubertazza, and Lou Vitelli. Behind the plate was the state's best receiver, Tony Grecco, whose powerful hitting led the Bell Boys' offensive punch. Frank Takash starred in an infield with Joe Cancellieri, Frank Coccozza, Porky Doner, and Paul Simpson. In the outer pasture were Rocco Cerami, Pat Tenterelli, Don Smith, and Henry Petrin.

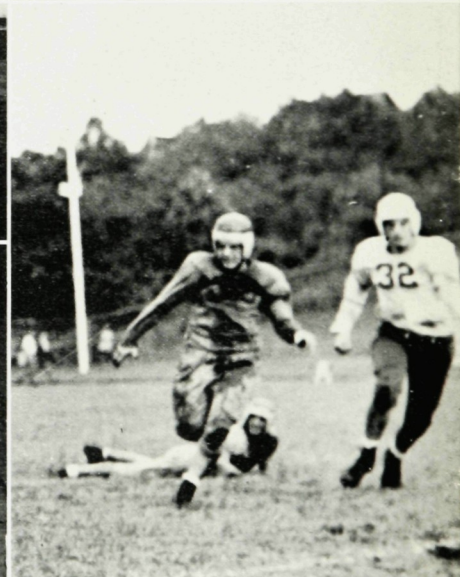

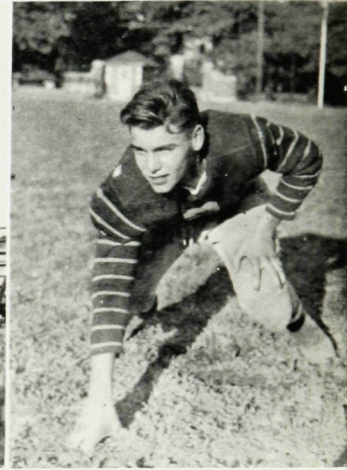

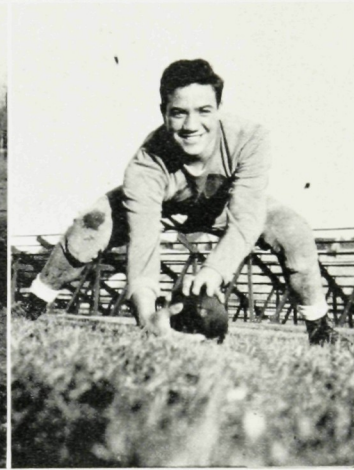

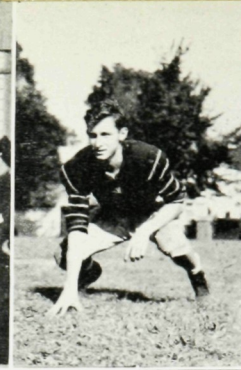

CHEERLEADING

Organized cheerleading played a large part during our football and basketball season. The cheerleaders this year have organized themselves under the capable leadership of Joan Vincent, their captain, and Miss Kane, the helpful faculty adviser. The eight girls on this squad represent one of the finest groups Belleville has ever had.

The applicants were chosen in accordance with their rhythm, gestures, and personality. They carried on in true traditional style through all kinds of weather to cheer on our fine teams and also give us the type of organized cheerleading we can be proud of.

Now let us take this well organized machine apart and view each individual's talents that blended so well. Joan Vincent, our captain, was the pretty miss with vim and vigor, definite assets for a good cheerleader. She had good judgment for capable leadership. Our co-captain, Madge "Skippy" Reigler, is the girl with the new ideas. Madge is a senior whom we are really sorry to see go. Phyllis Tagliatello is the squad's atomic bomb while Claire Reynolds might be considered the baby doll of the outfit. Here is a girl, that Louise Campbell, who defies the law of gravity. Our little Mildred Danduone can sing as well as cheer. Last, but not least, is Ginny Lanning, one of the most sincere workers in the organization.

Who is the
"Voice with a Smile?"

A GIRL very much like you—perhaps she lives on your block or went to your school. She's friendly, wants to get ahead, and takes pride in a job that counts in her community.

She dresses well, too, on a salary that is the highest in telephone history. Yes, she likes it here—the interesting work, the pleasant surroundings, the feeling of working with young people like herself.

You will like it here, too. And your Vocational Guidance Director can tell you how easy it is to become a "Voice with a Smile" after you graduate. Ask her today.

New Jersey Bell Telephone Company

You'll never forget it

You'll always remember the day—the day you shed the designation "Student" for the more impressive sounding "Alumnus" or "Alumna".

There are other things to remember, too—things like this quote of Benjamin Franklin's—

"If a man empties his purse into his head no man can take it away from him; an investment in knowledge always pays the best interest."

You have made that investment. Continue to make it.

REMEMBER—

The Future Belongs to Those Who Prepare For It.
