Quaker Burial Ground.

The Quaker Burial Ground in Lower Squantum was established on February 21st, 1778, when the Friends-meeting House was erected. The three-fourths of a acre parcel was originally property owned by Patterson Cook, George Parker, Obadiah Williams, Obadiah Tilton, Britton White, Benjamin and Peter Corlies, were the first trustees of the Friends meeting. The old building stood on the north-erly side of the Mingamokone Brook, and has long since been removed.

The Burial Ground is now entwined in a cloverleaf on County Road No. 547 and only 100 feet South of Interstate 195 in Howell Township.

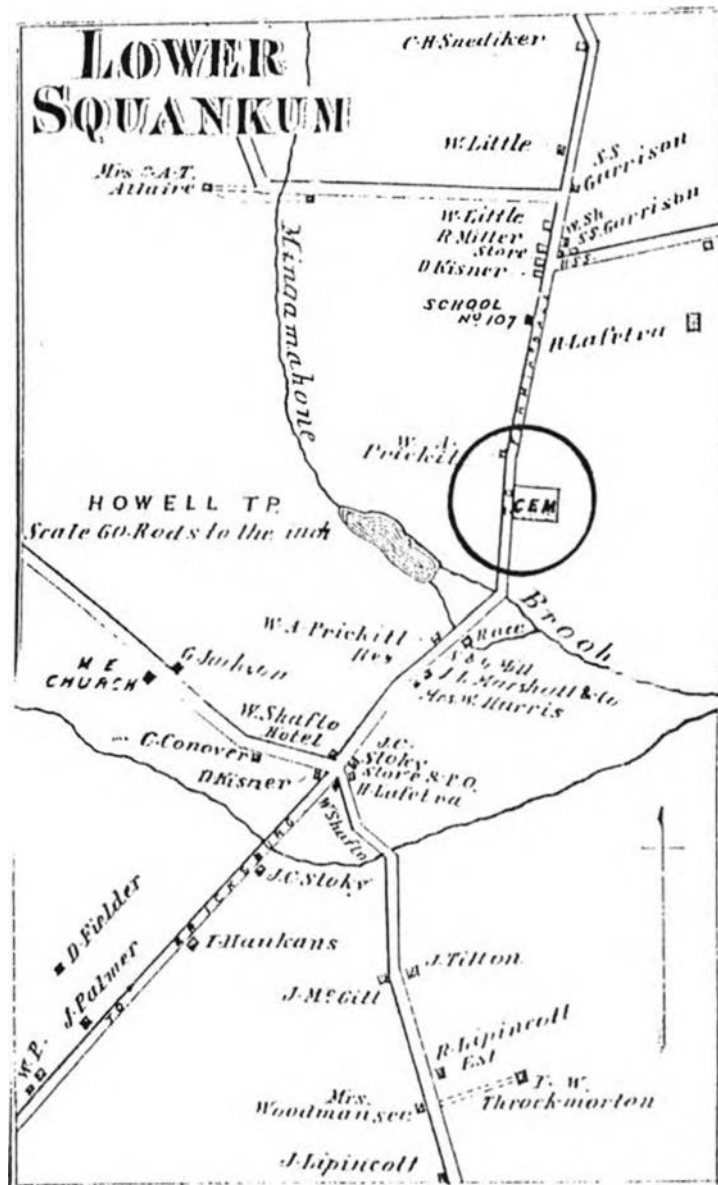

Although established in 1778, the earliest marked grave that is legible is that of Gemimah Schenck, wife of Amos Boreen, who died June 4th, 1823, Aged 40 yrs. 4 mo. & 4 days.

Between the years of 1915-1916, the Cemetery was compiled by George Castor Martin. Mrs. Martin compiled 28. Cemeteries in the Monmouth County area, that were published for Historians and Genealogists.

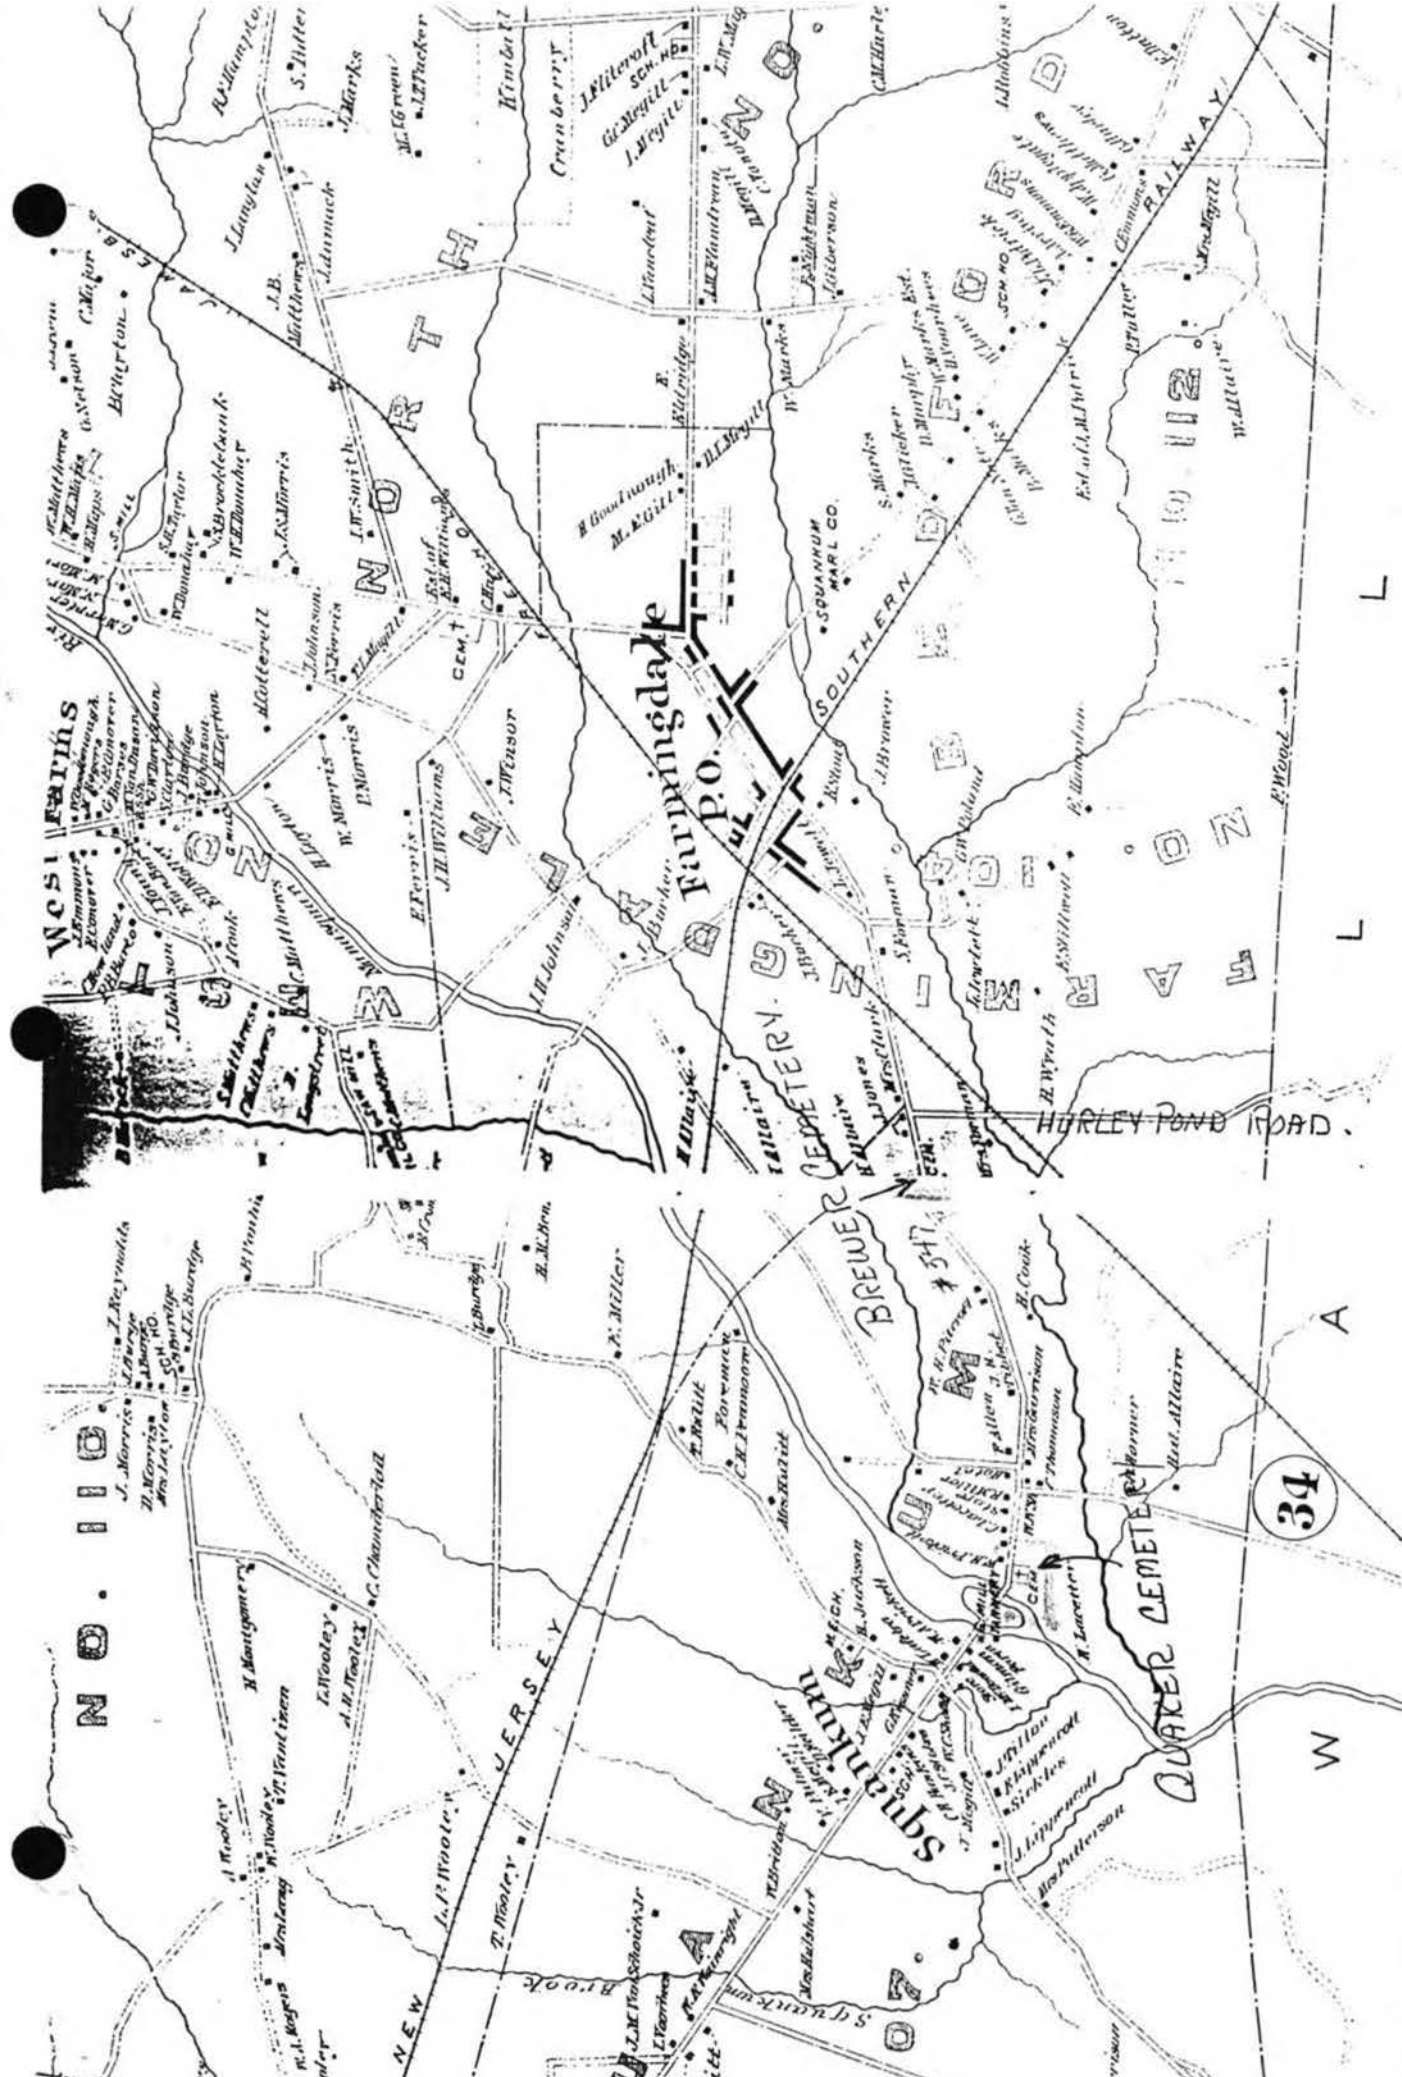

At the end of Martin's listing, he made the following comment.,

"The majority of the graves in this Cemetery are un-marked and many indicated with cedar Posts only."

This Cemetery was also compiled again in July of 1991 by Robert L. White.
