

The Quill...

Last November Governor Richard Hughes was elected by an overwhelming majority of the electorate and for the first time since both the Senate and the House of the Legislature were given a clear and substantial Democratic majority.

These results followed a colorless campaign paled by the "pink fink" issue of a professor at Rutgers. Unfortunately the question of a broad-based tax, be it income, sales, lottery or off track betting, was never brought properly before the people for a decision. No less authority than State Treasurer Kervick has stated that no new tax is needed at this time. The State completed its last fiscal year with a $40 million surplus. The Republican gubernatorial candidate, Wayne Dumont, the eminently qualified chairman of the State Tax Policy Commission insists that the soundest answer to our problems is a state sales tax. On the other hand, Governor Hughes and such groups as the League of Women Voters insist that an income tax is the best answer. We believe there is merit in each of these arguments but that the kind of tax we are going to pay should be decided by the people who are going to pay it. We support a referendum next November. In any event, however, we do not believe that Governor Hughes or the Democratic party have been given a mandate to impose on us an income tax.

Since the Governor will not give us a referendum, he should at least try to determine the people's wishes - and not force a pet idea down people's throats. We have not forgotten his $750 million bond issue - and we hope he won't forget the people.

Next Tuesday is Election Day - and we wonder how many residents even know it. On that day ten delegates will be elected to represent Union County in what may well be the most important decision affecting the future of our state - and indeed our country. The Reapportionment Convention will begin March 21 - but your responsibility begins Tuesday by electing the men who best represent how you want to be governed from now on. In this county the Democrats and Republicans are running a combined slate - with names of party members alternated in alphabetical order. Get out and vote on Tuesday!

The Clark conspiracy trial of Councilman Hejselbak and four other Democrats has gotten off to a sorry start.

In challenging 33 prospective jurors both prosecution and defense have stressed their objection to having anyone seated as a juror who is well versed in politics.

"Do you know who Jay Stemmer is?" was a frequently asked question implying, of course, that a Republican who knows his chairman's name could not fairly judge the guilt or innocence of Democratic office holders. This is indeed a sorry state. Others may disagree, but as for us, we believe the best juror is one who votes in all elections, who knows the name of both Mr. Kinneally, the Democratic Chairman, and Mr. Stemmer, his Republican counterpart, and who cares enough about his community to know the workings of both political parties. We have a constitutional right to be tried by our peers and we like to think our peers are good Democrats, good Republicans and well informed Independents.

We need help! With our expansion and the growing number of "Patriot" subscriptions we need another girl to help with all the details of getting out a weekly paper. We want someone to help with classified and circulation billing. We promise not to make her answer when readers call up to "comment" on items in the Quill. If you're interested give us a call at 388-0600 - and we'll make a date to see you.

We realize that if the publicity director of a club is doing a good job - he wants to get wide-spread coverage for his stories. And we agree. But OLD NEWS IS NO NEWS so we just can't carry what's already been printed a day or so earlier somewhere else. All we ask is that we carry the news on the same day or before other papers. We give hometown news first consideration - and we'd like to feel that hometown organizations give us the same. After all, nobody wants to read old news.

Clark Patriot To Conduct Tax Referendum

Speakers at Monday evening's Southwest Civic Association meeting differ in their ideas of the "best broad-based tax" but agree that the proposed tax will be decided in Trenton...civic and service organizations discuss which tax will affect their members most-homeowners wonder how much more they'll have to pay no matter whether they have a sales or income tax...and all over the state citizens discuss "what the politicians will do" about imposing on them a new tax.

Having discussed the matter editorially in "The Quill" we feel that the residents of Clark have the right to be heard on this matter. We are conducting a referendum - we want to know how our readers feel about the proposed taxes.

We urge each resident to write to your state legislators and make known your views. (A list of names and addresses appears on page four.)

But in order to most accurately measure the opinions and weigh the comments of Clark residents, we ask readers to fill out and return to us the clipping below.

Sub-totals on the tax question will be announced next week. Deadline for submitting your vote is March 9.

Clark Realtor Participates In Union Junior College Science Building Campaign

The Cranford Board of Realtors recently presented a check of $1,000 to Union Junior College towards its $1 million Science Building campaign.

The check was presented to Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, UJC president, by E. William Fisher of Clark, president of the Cranford Board of Realtors, which serves Cranford and part of Clark. Also participating in the ceremony was Edward J. Shaheen, a co-chairman for Cranford in the advanced gifts phase of the college's campaign and a past president of the realtors board. "We are indeed grateful for this gift from the Cranford Board of Realtors for our Science Building campaign. We recall with pleasure the memorial gift of a library conference room from the realtors board in our Silver Anniversary Development Fund campaign in 1958. It is significant that in both of our campaigns our local realtor board was among the first to contribute," Dr. MacKay said.

In presenting the gift to Dr. MacKay, Mr. Fisher expressed the hope that "many individuals and organizations in Union County will follow our example and support this campaign." "Our association with Union Junior College has always been a good one, and we want to show our appreciation to the college and to the community. We greatly appreciate the important role of education for all of our young people," Mr. Fisher said.

The two-story Science Building will contain five laboratories, six classrooms, science resource center, student research center, 14 faculty offices, and two large lecture halls. The Science Building will enable Union Junior College to increase its fulltime, Day Session enrollment by about 35 per cent or 300 students, Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, UJC president, said.

Union Junior College has been awarded a federal grant of $307,000 for the science building under the new Higher Education Facilities Act. The campaign's goal is to raise an additional $700,000 to make the science building a reality, Dr. MacKay said.

Little League To Schedule Tryouts Saturday

Registration is over and it's "batter up" for the Clark Little League.

Due to revisions in the agenda, the new schedule for tryouts includes: the Western region of the township is on deck this Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and the Eastern region will hold tryouts March 5 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

"Stragglers" of both regions (Eastern and Western) will be held on March 12 from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.

The place for the tryouts has been changed. They are now scheduled indoors at the Arthur L. Johnson regional high school in the girls' gym.

Boundaries which establish the east and western regions have been redesigned. The western region now extends to the western side of Central, Brant and Westfield Avenues.

together to review it with him. "After a line-by-line presentation by the mayor, we decided to organize as a fact-finding body to ascertain from council whether the budget - proposed first by the mayor and introduced with changes by council, meet the needs of Clark for the coming year.

"We plan a meeting with council to get their views on the planned budget. After discussing it with the governing body, we plan to prepare a report - which we will submit to council making our recommendations on the proposed 1966 outlays, with the hope that council may consider them before adopting the budget.

"Our concern is for the most effective and efficient use of public funds within the framework of economy," chairman Truss stated. It was reported that the budget review committee would be open to additional interested citizens who wished to serve.

While the committee was organizing to study the proposed budget, Mayor Maguire released a statement in which he said that "Clark government cannot operate effectively and efficiently" unless certain items are reconsidered and included in the budget.

In particular, the Mayor described the elimination of the sewer cleaning equipment in the Department of Public Works and Engineering request. "The loss of $14,000 required to purchase a catch basin cleaner and sewer rodding machine means that the township cannot reduce flooding to which many sections of town are subjected during heavy rainstorms," the Mayor said. "The time to correct the situation is now," he continued. "The doubtful benefit of the fraction of a point saving in the tax rate will be more than offset by the inconvenience and expense to which many householders will be subjected if clogging sewers cannot carry off storm water," the mayor

When no one can get to work... an amazing number of telephone operators do.

They'll walk for miles when nothing on wheels can move.

Why do they do it? Because they know they're needed. They know the whole community is depending on them for telephone service. Especially in times of emergency.

At the phone company, we call their attitude the "spirit of service." Maybe it sounds old-fashioned. But it's real. And we're proud of it. Just as we're proud of all the operators who help make your telephone service something that you can always rely on.

The Question Before Us

When the Founding Fathers created this great Republic, in their wisdom they developed a magnificent new system of checks and balances not only among the several branches of government, but within the legislative branch itself and between the federal and the state systems, all to assure a balance of powers as against a concentration of powers such as preceded the independence of this nation.

This system has served us well, and I daresay beyond the fondest hopes and dreams of the Founding Fathers.

But now it has fallen to the members of this Congress—to the legislatures now sitting in the several states—and to the people of this great Nation—to preserve and continue the system embedded into our Constitution. The checks and balances we cherish as our American heritage today stand challenged as never before in the one hundred and eighty year history of this Republic. The concept of representative government has come face to face with the gravest Constitutional issue ever to confront us.

I refer to the strange contention that the people cannot be trusted to vote on the composition of the state legislatures which govern them.

Behind this facade of distrust for the will of the people lies peril to our economic system, peril to our political concept of fair representation, and peril to every principle we value as a free people.

By judicial decree, the federal system in effect has been struck down. The traditional balance of one house based upon population apportionment and one house based upon area representation has been invalidated. The seeds of destruction have been planted which, if allowed to flourish, will destroy our traditional concept of assuring the small and the weak and the minority a forum in which to be heard. The very value of the universal franchise within a democracy has been jeopardized.

For if we apportion our states solely on the basis of population, the control of our states surely will be vested in the hands of the selfish few who can control the greatest blocks of votes within the few greatest cities, be they party functionaries, labor leaders or other self-servers who are in no way responsible to the will of the people.

And if these political and big city labor leaders control the cities and the legislatures—with no option left to the people to correct abuses—then they will control the apportionment of Congressional districts, the selection of delegates to our national political conventions, the exercise of election laws themselves, appointments by Governors respectful of concentrated power, the functions of regulatory agencies, and the whole spectrum of state legislation, including taxation, welfare, banking, interest rates, labor law, housing, education, transportation and highways, marketing, utilities, water, air pollution, construction, public ownership, and a host of other subjects influencing every business, every farm, every jobholder and wage earner in this country.

When that day arrives—as it surely will if the people are left no recourse in the composition of their legislatures—our long and largely successful struggle to rid our political system of political bossism will indeed be lost. And on that day, the Republic we love will be critically sick.

And so I say, down the road paved with distrust for the people, to the devil with the rights of minorities, lies a concentration of political power far more devastating than any against which our forefathers rebelled. At the end of this road lies concentrated power in the hands of a few self-serving manipulators to control the legislative and executive branches of our state and federal governments, to distate the destiny of the American Republic—and voiceless voters.

These would-be bosses today champion the “population” cause. Why? Because behind its ring of fairness they see control of state legislatures falling into their hands. Yet these same “champions” already say the people can’t be trusted whenever many of us in the Congress say, let the people decide.

This is an issue the people themselves must decide. Instead of locking state legislatures into a permanent, inflexible apportionment, we say let the people of each state choose once every ten years between alternative plans, whether they want to apportion both houses of their legislature on a population basis, or whether they want to apportion one of those two houses on a geographic basis in the traditional way.

That is what the proposed amendment would do. There is nothing mandatory about it, except to give the people the chance to make a choice—the very chance that would be denied them by those who now talk so glibly about one-man, one-vote.

We fought this battle last year, and we came within a very few votes of securing the two-thirds vote needed to move it through the Senate. We will fight the good fight again this year. I am here today to tell you we will not only move it through the Senate, we will pass it through the House and into the States for ratification.

We are taking this cause to the people. We say to them, this is your chance to be heard on the most fundamental issue ever to confront you. We are willing to trust them, which our opponents are not, because we draw upon a deep well of faith in the people. We believe in our hearts that the people have a great, common dedication to preserve representative government in this Nation.

The above is a Guest Editorial in a series which will present current comment from local, state and national figures. It was written by Senator Everett Mc Kinley Dirksen.

Red Cross To Begin Fund Drive On Tuesday

The Rahway-Clark Chapter of the American Red Cross will launch its annual fund campaign in Clark on Tuesday night when Miss Ethel Henson, chapter chairman, called “one of the most crucial years in the national organization’s post-World War II history.” March is traditionally Red Cross month.

“The heavy expenditures for victims of Hurricane Betsy, the greatly increased service to the military in Viet Nam, and the normal expansion of activities make it essential that our chapter and every chapter go over the top in our campaigns,” Miss Henson said. The residential goal in Clark has been set at $6,000. Michael Posnock, of 5 Tudor Drive, is chairman of the residential solicitation as well as over-all drive chairman. John Boyle, of 67 Colonial Drive and James Flood, of 65 Liberty Street will act as co-chairmen of the industrial division. William E. Kulp of 68 Grove Street will head the business division.

The funds will be used in Clark to defray the costs of chapter services and to support nation-wide and world-wide programs, such as Services to the Armed Forces and Disaster Services, in the 1966-67 fiscal year, Miss Henson said.

Dear Editor:
On behalf of the Board of Education I wish to express my gratitude for your support which I believe was one of the vital factors contributing to our recent success in passing the Clark school budget. Without your help and that of other interested groups it is doubtful the public would have been sufficiently aware of our needs. I believe an informed public will continue to support the sound educational policies of our school system.

We shall make every effort to fulfill the confidence expressed in us by the public and will continue to supply our children with the best possible education at a reasonable cost.

CLARK TEACHER PARTICIPATES IN AVIATION WORKSHOP

James A. Gibney of 208 Gibson Boulevard, a teacher at Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, is among 80 educators from the state who was participating in an “Aviation for the Science Classroom” workshop series at Newark State College.

Mr. Gibney, who holds an A.B. degree from Susquehanna University, Pennsylvania, majored in history and geology. In addition to teaching earth science and general science at Johnson Regional, he is also varsity line coach.

Dr. Mervin K. Strickler, chief of the Aviation Education Division of the Federal Aviation Agency, was the keynote speaker at the opening session. Subjects discussed included aviation and education, aerodynamics, aircraft design, and the development of aircraft power.

The second session considered aircraft instruments, meteorology and aviation, and school and youth activities in education. The third and concluding workshop included a tour of operations and facilities at Newark Airport and a flight to the New York Air Route Traffic Control Center, Ronkonkoma, N. Y.

May Maguire also criticized the elimination of a surveyor and draftsman and reduction of secretarial help for the office of the township engineer and said that “there is little point in having a full-time Engineer if we are going to force him to type his own letters and do his own filing.” The Mayor noted that “if the budget as proposed, is adopted it will not give a true picture of Clark’s expected expenditures for the year and will force additional emergency appropriations to keep some of the effected departments functioning for a full year.”

The reasons for Cadillac's overwhelming popularity are numerous. Among the most important are its advanced engineering and meticulous craftsmanship. Cadillac's styling and luxury are renowned for dignity and good taste. Its alert performance and handling rival many sports cars. UNION COUNTY TRUST ANNOUNCES 4% ELECTRONIC PLAN

A new savings plan featuring "Instant Interest" to be known as the "Electronic Savings Plan" has been announced by Raymond W. Bauer, President of Union County Trust Company. Interest will be compounded and credited quarterly at the rate of 4% per year from the day of deposit.

The new service is currently being programmed for the bank's computer and will be offered to the public beginning April 1. "An additional advantage of 'Electronic Savings,'" according to Mr. Bauer, "will be the customer's ability to make his deposit at any teller's window at any of our eleven banking offices."

The savings passbook is replaced by deposit receipts, eliminating the necessity of using only special savings teller's windows where passbook posting machines are located.

Regular passbook savings will be continued at the present 3-1/2% interest rate, but present customers may convert to "Electronic Savings" at any time and receive full credit for interest earned to the day of transfer.

"We are uniquely proud of this service," Mr. Bauer added. "Not only because it represents effective use of modern electronic equipment, but it enables us to provide both faster service and a higher rate of interest to savings account customers."

Transistor Use Demonstrated

The applications and value of transistors in our modern day society, were demonstrated to members of the physics and chemistry classes of Rahway High School by J. Howard Evans, a representative of the Bell Telephone Company in a program entitled "The Science of the Semi-Conductors". Alex A. Busse, Jr., Curriculum Coordinator arranged the program.

Students witnessed the transmission of sound over micro waves and concluded that having a miniature F-M broadcasting set that would fit into your hat or shirt pocket, would be the greatest.

Greater protection of equipment to rectify, modulate, amplify and oscillate reduces our world to a much smaller place through efficient communications systems, was demonstrated to the students. This could in turn permit a faster and more open exchange of ideas.

4 Generations See Baptism Of Lewis Monzo At Trinity

Lewis Anthony Monzo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Monzo of 27 Frieda Lane, Colonia, and grandson of Councilman-at-large and Mrs. John Gallo of 472 Orchard Street, Rahway, was baptized Sunday at Trinity Methodist Church in the presence of four generations of the family, represented by Mrs. Marie Petersen, Great Grandmother; Mrs. Bertha Gallo, Grandmother; Mrs. Linda Monzo, mother and baby Lewis and his sister Laura.

Lewis wore the dress which his great grandmother made for her daughters and which had been handed down so he was the third generation to wear the garment. The dress is of very fine lawn, hand-embroidered, with short yoke edged in fine lace. The slip was of similar material and also hand made by his great grandmother.

Lewis was further adorned with his father's baby ring which had been saved for just such an occasion. Another interesting note is the fact that this was the third generation of the Gallo family to be baptized at Trinity Councilman Gallo having been baptized there also.

Mr. and Mrs. Monzo entertained the family at a buffet following the church services. Among the guests were Donald

Rahway To Play Woodbridge In State Tourney

Dave Arnold's Rahway Indians will open their quest for the State basketball title against Woodbridge High School on March 4 in the South Plainfield High School gym. The game is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. The local squad dropped a thriller to a strong Roselle quintet in their opening game of the Union County Tournament last week by the margin of a single point. Practicing diligently since the defeat, the Indians expect to do better against a Woodbridge team which has played a tough schedule but has had a mediocre season.

The team which gets by in this tourney game will be pitted against a strong Linden combine which has shown the way so far in Union County this season. This game is scheduled to be played on the South Plains High School court, March 8, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Y Basketball Schedule Heavy For Next Month

The Men's House Basketball League of the Rahway YMCA, now in its fourth season, will hold an important meeting for business purposes at the YMCA, 1564 Irving Street, tonight in the Physical Director's Office, at 8 p.m. George Hall, Chairman of the Basketball Committee for the Physical Department Committee, will preside.

Members of the following teams are expected to attend to represent their groups: Rodney Robertson of the Sox, Rudolph Brauchle of the Red Triangles, Bob Johnston for Johnston's Aces, Leo Petchovs for McGann's Stars, Ted Saverberg for the Teacher's Five, Ronald Rogers of Roger's Rockets and Rodney Robinson of Rodney's Team.

The League has been operating since early January with the following results through February 18:

WON	LOST
Rodney's Team	2 0
McGann's Stars	1 0
Johnston's Aces	1 1
Red Triangles	3 2
Teacher's Five	1 2
Roger's Rockets	0 3
Sox	0 1

Games scheduled this week include the Red Triangles - Sox game on Friday.
League play will continue through February and March with the top four teams meeting in a play off, individual and team trophies will be awarded the winning team. Champions of past seasons include the Gulton Industries team in 1963 and 1964, Langton's Rebels in 1965.

The Rahway YMCA Varsity basketball team with Frank Krupowicz, Coach, will play two games this week traveling to Asbury Park on Wednesday to face the Shore Area YMCA in a Northern New Jersey YMCA League Game, and entertaining the New Brunswick YMCA Varsity in Rahway on Friday at 8 p.m.

The YMCA High School Boys team will play the New Brunswick YMCA boys team at the local YMCA Friday at 7 p.m. and Coach Bill Cladeks team will be seeking a fourth win in six games with YMCA teams of the area.

Twirling Teams Will Compete In Trenton Festival

The Recreation Department's twirling teams will compete in the ninth annual February Twirling Festival at the War Memorial Building at Trenton, New Jersey, this Saturday. The group under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Cannon, Miss Lillian McCandless and Miss Noreen Powell will leave by bus from the City Hall at 8:00 a.m.

The following girls will compete in the individual events: novice solo, Kathy Pekarsky, Lisa Stone, Karen Krisak, Peggy Corridon, Debbie Ward and Connie Bieljeski. Pat Stone and Noreen Powell will be entered in the fancy strutting. Duets will be the twins Mary Jean and Maureen Thorn.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, foreman at the Carteret plant, won the money for suggesting a method for saving water in the plant's processing operation.

Junior High Has 4 Wins, 2 Losses

The Little Indian wrestling team from Rahway Junior High School completed their season with a 4-2 overall record. The team lost its two final matches of the season after winning its first four. The losses were to both Scotch Plains Junior High Schools by scores of 25-22 and 28-23.

Coach Delmonaco said that the boys had a hard time maintaining their wrestling weights towards the end of the season because of a three week lay off in the schedule. If matches were scheduled during that time there would have been a good chance for the junior high team to finish the season with an unblemished record.

Five of coach Delmonaco's starting wrestlers will return to the team next year because they are only in the eighth grade. Some of the freshmen will enter the state A.A.U. championships to be held at Rahway High School in March.

Better Equipment Aids Competitor

Why are pro football quarterbacks so "pass-happy"? Why are the 4-minute mile and the 16-foot pole vault but memories of the past?

Equipment, that's why. At least that's the suggestion of Al Hirschberg, writing in the current issue of Petroleum Today.

Without taking anything (or too much) away from the abilities of today's athletes themselves, Hirschberg gives part of the credit - or blame - for the recent wave of broken sports records to our modern sports equipment.

The noted sports columnist and author points to these factors as helping to bring about the change in sports performance:

Football - a smaller, lighter, cylindrical ball, easier to grasp, throw and catch; lighter protective equipment, enhancing speed and mobility.

Baseball - today's plastic helmets enable batters to dig in at the plate with a least a semblance of security, thus encouraging them to hit for the fences.

Track - cinder tracks are on the way out; new synthetic tracks are faster, bouncier, easier on the feet.

Field - in pole vaulting, the fiberglass pole, whose resiliency gives a whip-like thrust. Other sports similarly affected, he reports, include golf, boating and surfboarding, fishing, archery, and bowling.

Of course, you can't blame the athletes for using the new equipment, Hirschberg observes. But any oldtimers who long for the "good old days" can blame the oil industry - he says - (and the tongue perhaps is in the cheek).

It's the oil industry that has produced the petrochemicals or, as Hirschberg describes them, the "multisyllabic chemicals" which make the new equipment possible.

"The equipment is going to get better and better," he predicts, "the athletes are going to work harder and harder, and the records are going to fall faster and faster."

He's not complaining, though. This same future, he admits, is going to mean continuing excitement for athletes and spectators alike, heightened competition, and - oh, yes - more business for the sports writer.

Your Garden This Week

How can you tell when your house plant needs water?

One way is to press your dry fingertip on the top of the soil. If soil particles stick to your finger and the surface of the soil is springy, the plant probably does not need water.

Or you can give your plant the done-cake test. Stick a toothpick into the soil. If it comes out clean you'd better water your plant.

Then there's the "listen" test. Rap the side of the pot with your knuckles or a stick. A dull sound means the soil is moist. A hollow sound is the signal that your plant needs water.

You learn from experience how much water any plant needs in a particular location. One that's in bright sunlight or near a radiator naturally will need more frequent watering.

How you water can make a lot of difference. A light watering every day may just moisten the top layer of soil while the body of the soil deeper in the pot stays dry.

One way to avoid this is to water from the top one day and from the bottom the next.

Usually it's best to saturate the soil ball. When water runs out the drainage hole your plant has had enough. If you discover the soil is extremely dry, place the pot in a pail of water and keep it there until air bubbles no longer rise.

But no matter how you water your plant, never allow it to stand in deep water more than an hour. Longer soaking invites root rot because the water keeps air from getting to the roots.

Business Scene
Hotel executives, who certainly should know, say the mid-sixties have witnessed a real slowing-down in convention whoopee. Today, the hotelmen say, conventions are nearly all business. Oh, there still is a certain amount of conviviality, but most of the "sideshows" are out.

Perhaps the biggest reason for the new look in conventions is the growing habit of bringing the wives. Another is the fact that today's convention sessions quite frequently begin with breakfast meetings.

The hotelmen have another comment on today's conventions. They themselves are happy because there are so many of them, and they spend considerable time and effort in lining up conventions for their individual hotels many years in advance.

One evidence of the growth in number of conventions is the rush to build convention centers in towns outside New York and Chicago.

Treating duodenal ulcers by gastric freezing fails nine times out of ten, reports the American Medical Association. Although gastric freezing does not often cure the ulcer, the AMA says it does have one remarkable effect on patients: It improves their emotional state. In some cases, painful symptoms disappeared even though ulcer-causing secretions of hydrochloric acid remained high.

Natural hot water isn't rare. There are about 5,500 thermal spring (naturally heated spring waters) locations around the world, reports the U. S. Geological Survey. About 1,350 are in North America, 500 in South America, 700 in Europe, 1,300 in Asia and 400 in Africa. Iceland itself has more than 500; the West Indies about 65; Java, 150; Philippines, 90; and New Zealand, 70.

Oil from crabs, a new crop developed in U. S. Department of Agriculture research, shows promise as a lubricant in continuous casting of steel. It keeps the hot metal from sticking to molds and cracking them. Oil and meal obtained from crabmeat seeds were marketed for the first time last year. Unknown in the U. S. six years ago, crabmeat will be grown in many Western and Midwestern wheat areas. Crabmeat oil also shows promise as a source of chemicals for use in nylon, plastics and waxes.

Dry ice does its job, then disappears. Unlike most solids, which must become liquids before they can become gases, dry ice, which is solid carbon dioxide, changes directly from a solid to a gas. It's this unique property of sublimation that makes dry ice so useful and versatile, says Cardox, Chicago.

Merck Sales At $300 Million Set New Record

Merck & Co., Inc. reported recently that its sales in 1965 exceeded $300,000,000 for the first time.

Earnings, research expenditures and capital expenditures of the pharmaceutical and chemical firm also were at higher levels than in any previous year.

Henry W. Gadsden, Merck's president, attributed the increased sales to new products of the company's research introduced during the year and to gains by established products. Among new products, the greatest contribution to sales was made by 'Indocin', a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory agent for treatment of arthritic disorders.

Another new product introduced during the year in the United States was 'Triavil', a combination of 'Elavil', a Merck antidepressant, with a tranquilizer supplied by another company.

Abroad, the company introduced 'Edercin', a new type of diuretic. Mr. Gadsden said the company hopes to introduce it in the United States during 1966.

Consolidated net sales for the year totaled $331,962,000, a 16% increase over the 1964 figure of $286,705,000. Net income after taxes was $59,598,000 or $1.84 per share of common stock, up 33% from the $44,867,000 or $1.39 per common share posted in 1964.

Mr. Gadsden said the company spent $32,610,000 on its research programs in 1965, believed to be the largest amount spent by any pharmaceutical company on research and development in any year.

World-wide capital expenditures, including expansion of research facilities at the company's Rahway, N. J., headquarters, were $20,200,000.

Merck today completed its acquisition of the assets and business of Metalsalts Corporation, of Hawthorne, N. J., Mr. Gadsden said. Merck's agreement to acquire the assets and business of Metalsalts was announced early last month. Its principal products are industrial chemical specialties used in control of fungi and bacteria in the paint, textile, paper, and agricultural industries.

Fourth-quarter sales were $87,971,000, compared with $72,080,000 for the fourth quarter of 1964. Net income after taxes for the quarter was $16,031,000, or 49¢ per share of common stock, as compared with $9,879,000 or 30¢ per share in the last quarter of 1964.

BEST OPPOSED TO STATE INCOME TAX
Leonard E. Best, chairman of the Citizens Action Committee for a Sales Tax, declared in a forum for the Union County AFL-CIO Council, that a withholding tax increase would not be critical for high-income people, "but if you take $3 more out of $95 take-home pay, it hurts." Among the points favoring a sales tax Mr. Best declared that the sales tax would not punish the hard work of 700,000 New Jersey families in which there is more than one wage earner, usually husband and wife.
