Group to protest proposed project

By Jackeline Leon
Staff Writer

UNION — Opposition to plans for the construction of a bank and pharmacy on North and Morris avenues in Union continues, and to make their officials aware of their concerns, members of the Concerned Citizens of Union County will congregate at Ursino Park to voice their dissatisfaction with the plan.

Members of the Concerned Citizens of Union County invited freeholders and members of the Hillside Township Council and Elizabeth City Council to gather today at 1 p.m. near a new sign that was recently erected in Ursino Park by the county.

The group wants to see the parcel of land remain as open space, but Kean University, the private owner of the land, accepted a bid to have a CVS Pharmacy and a Commerce Bank built there.

According to Paula Borenstein, one of the group's leaders, the proposed plan would exacerbate already troublesome traffic at the intersection. She said the new sign only clarifies that the land should not be developed.

"This helps to make people aware that the parcel they want to develop is contiguous with the parks," Borenstein said.

Communications director for Union County, Sebastian D'Elia, said the land is part of Hillside, Union and Elizabeth.

"The land is part of the county parkland, the Elizabeth River Parkway," he said. Part of the property is privately owned by Kean University. "A big chunk of it is owned by Kean." The county had made an offer to purchase that private land from Kean back in 2006.

"They (Kean) went with the higher bidder," D'Elia said. He suggested that if the county would've acquired the land, it would've been added to the existing parkland. The sign that was placed in the park replaced one that was reportedly taken down accidentally. "At this point, that land has nothing to do with the county."

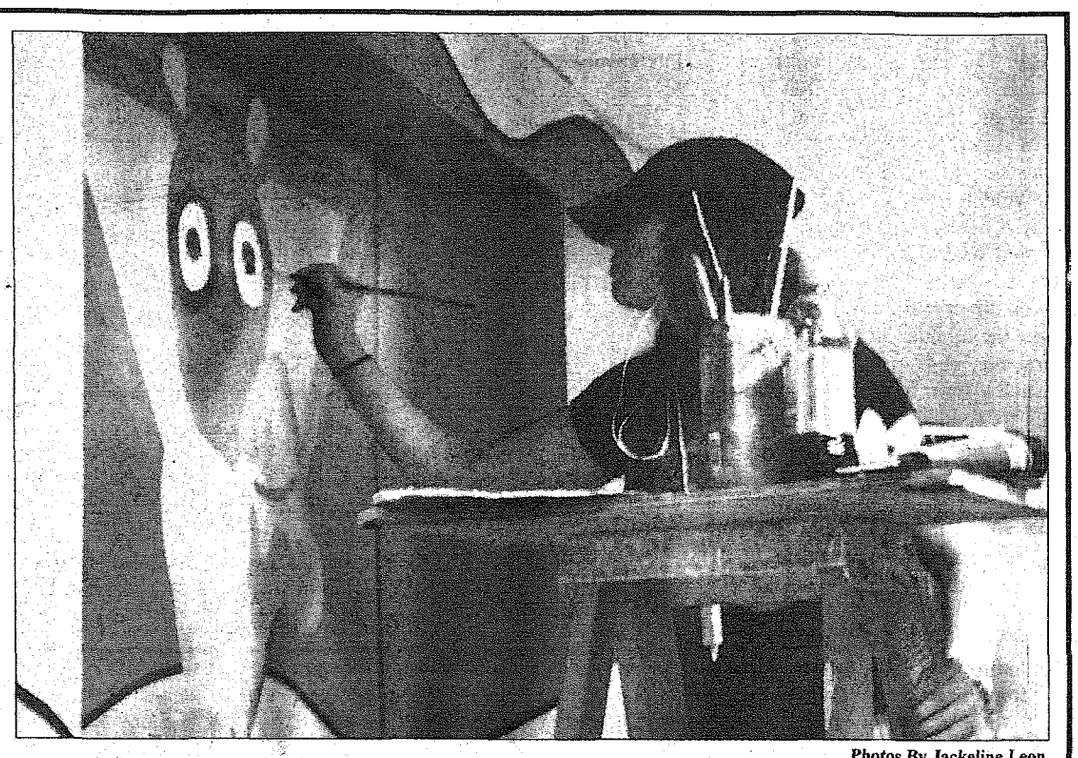
Halls get a facelift

Paint brightens Harding's hallway

By Jackeline Leon
Staff Writer

KENILWORTH — Harding Elementary School has been getting a burst of color in every hallway for the last several weeks thanks to enthusiastic volunteers comprised of teachers, parents and staff.

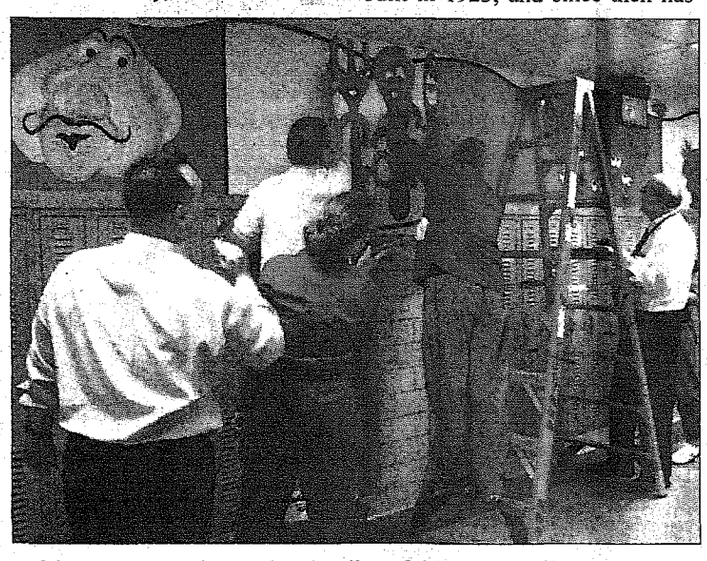
Several teachers, staff members and parents have been pooling their talents to create a more whimsical and friendly environment at the school which for years, featured a Smurf-like blue color.



Photos By Jackeline Leon

A volunteer paints a picture of Arthur the Aardvark on a wall in the hallway of Harding Elementary School in Kenilworth. The new paint job replaced the solid, blue walls that greeted students before the overhaul.

Every Tuesday and Thursday since February, the halls have been coming alive with color. Harding Elementary School was built in 1923, and since then has never undergone a creative overhaul — until now. Students enter the school eager to see the progress.



Volunteers gives the walls of Harding Elementary School in Kenilworth a colorful, new paint job.

The halls along the first and second floors of the building are now embellished with a gameboard theme which commences with the tagline "Your Education Starts Here."

Some say that by utilizing a variety of vivid colors and adorning selected "gameboard" squares with characters from popular children's books and television shows, the halls appear more inviting.

First grade teacher Leslie Bedford was the originator of the "gameboard" idea. She said she was inspired after seeing a similar design on another school's Web site.

"All of a sudden, it is as if the school has come alive with a new sense of pride and excitement for learning that is contagious," Bedford said.

Almost $4,000 was provided to the school by the Parent Teacher Organization. The donation was used to purchase necessary art supplies for the project.

Tina Lynaugh, president of the PTO, said the efforts at the school are always worth supporting.

"The walls have been so dull and drab for years," physical education teacher Jeff Kaltreider recalled.

Custodians at the school also put in their part by priming the walls and painting on the base coat. Two parents Robert and Gina Cesaro have been cited as instrumental in the development of the project. Robert outlines characters on the walls and Gina fills them in with paint.

R&D efforts expand

Schering to boost drug research

By Jackeline Leon
Staff Writer

KENILWORTH — Despite expected job cuts, pharmaceutical company Schering-Plough Corp. is looking to the future by increasing investments in its research and development base.

Technological upgrades in recent years have doubled and sometimes tripled the company's potential to conduct product research and analysis.

By manipulating protein structure, scientists are able to create compounds capable of fighting diseases.

Schering scientist, Timothy McGahan, said new technology has facilitated compound analysis which greatly helps, given the hundreds of thousands of compounds which never make it to the final stages of research.

"About 51,000 to 100,000 compounds are tested daily," McGahan said.

He said nearly $3 million has been spent on equipment in his laboratory alone, which features a dust-resistant ceiling, robotic arms for speedy sample processing and HEPA-filtered sampling areas.

Researcher Cory Strickland said it costs approximately $1.4 billion to get one compound through research to its final stage — marketing.

He added that it can sometimes take up to 14 years to reach the final stage.

Jobs in research and development are not expected to be affected by the anticipated job cuts at Schering-Plough. Earlier in April, nearly 5,000 jobs were expected to be cut. Some say the job cuts may not be as extensive as first predicted.

"As we noted earlier this month, reductions will begin this quarter, but we do not have details to share at this time regarding the number of reductions at individual sites," Rosemarie Yancosek, executive director of corporate communications, said.

Hollie Gilroy, director of communications at the Healthcare Institute of New Jersey, said the job cuts would probably range from 500 to 1,000.

"It may not be all that bad as originally expected," she said.

Gilroy stressed that New Jersey has a unique talent pool from which to draw, calling the state "the medicine chest of the world."

"When the jobs are lost, they are not necessarily lost," Gilroy said. "Those employees are highly marketable people."

With a gradually aging population in the United States, the company looks to continue investing in efforts to conduct geriatric research.

Helping other kids 'sleep tight'

By Jackeline Leon
Staff Writer

ROSELLE PARK — Andrew Weaver may look like an ordinary 7-year-old, but the Roselle Park resident keeps busy with sports, boy scouts, a girlfriend and his own "company" — a charity he calls "Beds for Kids."

In a discussion with his mom about children with less material possessions, he discovered that he had an entrepreneurial spirit and a desire to spark change.

"I wanted to start a charity," Andrew said. "My mom told me some kids sleep on the floor and I wanted to do something about it."

In order to raise money for bed furniture and bedding, Andrew collected cans, crushed them and took them to a recycling center for money. His mother, Elaine, said the process was a long one.

"We told him if he worked hard, we would pay for the sheets," Elaine said.

She said recycling would only raise a small amount of money at a time and both she and her husband, Eric, helped their son meet his goal.

Elaine, a nurse at Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside, said she approached the Union County Division of Social Services with Andrew's idea and asked if there were local families that needed assistance.

One family in Elizabeth had lost their beds because of a bug infestation which forced them to get rid of the furniture.

"Some children were sleeping on the couch and one had to sleep on the floor," Elaine said.

When Andrew heard about the family, he knew he wanted to help them.

Neighbors and members of his Boy Scout troop pitched in by donating cans and metals such as copper and brass to be recycled.

Last week, after eight months of fundraising, Andrew was able to present a child in that Elizabeth home with a brand new bed frame, complete with a box spring, a mattress and a set of sheets. The bed was purchased at the Westfield Sleep Center.

The manager of the store, Dominick DiPalma, said Andrew and his charity impressed him.

"I think it's amazing for a 7-year-old to have a sense to think of others besides himself is pretty amazing," DiPalma said. "His heart is in the right place and if he'd like to continue doing this I would look to help him in any way I can."

Andrew Weaver

Elaine and Eric said their son's donation cost about $200 and they ended up having to assist in purchasing the bed, because not enough money was raised by recycling cans alone.

Andrew is optimistic, however, and has no doubt that his "company" will grow.

"I figure I'm a kid, so I should help other kids," Andrew said.

He said that in addition to becoming a veterinarian and an exopaleontologist, he would like to expand his charity's reach, and said he knows just how to do it.

"I'm trying to get my friends into it," Andrew said brightly.

"He's just a good kid with a good heart," Elaine said.

She said her son's efforts may create a snowball effect: "Now that child (in Elizabeth) will be able to sleep better and do better in school and maybe when he's older, he'll remember this and do something nice for someone else."

If members of the public would like to donate or help Beds for Kids, they can contact the Weaver family at 908-241-7687 or eka613@aol.com.

Keeping classes in touch

Alumni Channel, a Web provider of online alumni communities for schools and other nonprofit organizations, announced that Hillside Catholic Academy of Hillside is relying on the company's online community to develop closer relationships with its alumni.

Michael J. Butchko, principal of the school since 2004, made a commitment to begin implementation of the Alumni Channel for the school's online alumni community. Hillside Catholic Academy is a coeducational Catholic elementary school that opened its doors on July 1, 2004, through the merging of Christ the King School in Hillside and St. Catherine's of Sienna School in Elizabeth.

The Web site will be home to Hillside Catholic, Christ the King, and St. Catherine's graduates across the United States and worldwide. With the schools of Christ the King and St. Catherine's having been closed, Butchko said he wanted to give alumni a place to "call home." The site will also cultivate stronger bonds among alumni that will lay the foundation for fundraising in support of critical programs such as scholarships and the endowment, Butchko said.

HCA needed a technology solution that would enrich its existing Web site while avoid costs associated with direct mailings. This would enable the foundation to provide an interactive, customized experience for each visitor, including opportunities to connect with each other, view school and class events, and eventually make online donations.

To this end, Hillside deployed the services of Alumni Channel for online community building, Butchko said. The school now has a single point of entry that allows alumni to self-maintain their profile information which can then be used for communication fundraisers, events and campaigns.

"Schools and foundations face a real challenge in keeping connected with alumni who, after graduation, scatter throughout the world," said Chris Gehringer, president of Alumni Channel. "Hillside Catholic Academy is taking a leadership position in how it uses technology to give its alumni — regardless of whether they live in northern New Jersey or the Far East — an easy way to stay involved."

Police collect items for Marines in Iraq

The Kenilworth Police Department is conducting a drive to collect goods to send to a Marine Unit in Iraq.

Kenilworth resident Joe Zagorskas, 26, is a Marine sergeant who grew up in Kenilworth. Recently, he contacted Police Chief William Dowd asking if certain items could be shipped to him in Iraq for his platoon. As a result, Dowd has organized this drive to take place from today, through May 8.. Items can be dropped off at Police Headquarters at any time of the day during this time period.

Items being requested are non-melting snacks such as beef jerky, trail mix, cookies, dried fruit and rice crispy treats.

Also, instant green tea that the soldiers mix into their water, sunblock and foot powder. Zagorskas has also requested white socks as the soldiers go through tremendous amounts of socks because of the sand and weather.

The Kenilworth PBA and Kenilworth Silver Card Association has offered to pay for the shipping costs associated with this project.

Dowd said the drive is only for a week because the last time a drive was organized for the victims of Hurricane Katrina, the department was overwhelmed with goods for those victims because of the generosity of Kenilworth residents and businesses.

"What better way to support our fighting troops in Iraq, then to send needed goods to our soldiers, especially when it has been requested by one of our own," Dowd said. The chief also praised the PBA and the Silver Card Association for their generous offer to cover the shipping.

Borough Council to discuss roads, curbs

A special meeting of the Kenilworth Borough Council will take place Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the courtroom, located on the second floor of borough hall, 567 Boulevard, Kenilworth.

The purpose of this special meeting is to confirm curb assessments on the following roads:

• Commonwealth Road;
• North 21 Street from Washington Avenue to Monroe Avenue;
• Halsey Street from North 12th Street to North 13th Street;
• Sherwood Road from Wilshire Drive to Pembrook Drive;
• North 24th Street from Center Street to Washington Avenue;
• Roosevelt Lane from Lincoln Drive to Lot 3 in Block 99;
• North 15th Street from North 14th Street to Lafayette Avenue;
• Commonwealth Road from Park Drive to new construction limit;
• North 22nd Street from Oak Street to Monroe Avenue;
• Pembrook Drive from Sherwood Road to new construction limit;
• Dorset Drive from Boulevard to Epping Drive;
• Union Avenue from Bloomingdale Avenue to Faitoute Avenue;
• 25th Street from Passaic Avenue to Richfield Avenue;
• Summit Avenue from Michigan Avenue to the dead end;
• 12th Street north of Sheridan Avenue;

Notice of assessments have been sent to all affected property owners. Formal action will be taken during the meeting.

Harding School gets an artistic overhaul

Both have a passion for art and met each other in art school.

"Its just a passion of mine that grew," Gina said. Gina offers her artistic services to the general public and said she does murals in residences.

Teachers say their students have been happy with the results so far. "Every day there is a new character and it's a surprise for them," first grade teacher Janette Razon said.

"No matter how little the difference is, the students see it," pre-kindergarten teacher Angelo Marinaro said.

"It's great to see community members that may have gone to this school, come here and are happy about it," Principal Kathleen Murphy said. Several members of the group say they have become closer to each other because of the team effort involved in the project.

"The camaraderie between the staff has really taken off," fifth grade teacher Richard Paolercio observed earlier this week.

"It's a nice way to end the school day," second grade teacher Allen Lee said. "It's also great that we get to see a lot of parents of the students and interact with them."

The group expects to finish their art project by the end of the year. Murphy was very grateful to the volunteers for their determination.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH
DR. DONALD ANTONELLI
CHIROPRACTOR
IS IT REALLY ARTHRITIS?
If you have an arthritic-like condition and it's not getting any better, maybe you should find out if it really is arthritis.
The word "arthritis" comes from the Greek "arthron", meaning joint, and "itis", which stands for inflammation. In other words, arthritis refers to inflammation of the joint. Maybe you've been taking medication for joint pains and wonder why you're not getting relief. Or maybe you're resigned to the fact that you'll be taking medication for the rest of your life.
But if an examination shows that the affected joints are not inflamed, the problem may be that the joint is not functioning normally. When you receive the treatment you need, the joint may return to its normal function, and the pain may be relieved or eliminated.
No one wants to suffer from the pain of arthritis. On the other hand, if examination shows you don't have arthritis, treatment is available to correct the condition and hopefully end the pain and discomfort.

Woman arrested for hit-and-run

By Toniann Antonelli
Managing Editor

ROSELLE PARK — It took a quick-thinking motorist, a cell phone and a police pursuit to apprehend a Roselle Park woman who left the scene of a hit-and-run accident, after injuring another woman.

Jennifer Melchione, 36, of Colfax Avenue was arrested Saturday after she allegedly sideswiped a pick-up truck while driving her 1997 Ford Escort on the 200-block of Locust Street at 9:54 a.m.

According to Roselle Park Detective Manuel Jimenez, Melchione struck the vehicle, as well a as a 26-year-old woman who was entering the truck, which was parked on the side of the roadway. The victim was seriously injured when she was pinned between her vehicle and Melchione's. The suspect then fled the scene.

The victim, whose name is not being released, was transported to University Hospital in Newark. According to reports, her injuries were serious, but non-life threatening. As of Monday, she remained hospitalized.

"Witnesses say Melchione never stopped, although her vehicle sustained major damage, breaking the passenger side window and the passenger side mirror falling off and remaining at the scene of the crash," Jimenez said.

The detective said a witness who observed the accident let his passenger out of the vehicle to assist the victim. The driver then followed Melchione in his vehicle, while his passenger spoke to Roselle Park Patrolman James Cantrell, who responded to the scene. The man told Cantrell what he and the other witness observed. He then used his cell phone to contact the other witness, who was still following Melchione.

The witness spoke to Cantrell as he drove and repeatedly tried to get Melchione to stop driving. As Cantrell spoke to the witness via cell phone, he relayed the information regarding Melchione's location to Police Dispatcher Carmen Wilson.

"Wilson then relayed the information to Patrolman Anthony Mascaro and Elizabeth Police, giving constant updates of their location," Jimenez said.

Jimenez said Mascaro, with the assistance of Elizabeth Police, was able to apprehend Melchione at the intersection of Erico and New York avenues in Elizabeth.

During the course of an initial investigation, Melchione was found to be in possession of a hypodermic needle.

Jimenez said Melchione is being charged with leaving the scene of an accident involving serious bodily injury, possession of a hypodermic syringe, careless driving and failure to report accident involving serious injury.

"Additional charges may follow pending blood analysis results," Jimenez added.

The identity of witnesses is still being withheld.

Melchione was transported to Union County Jail in Elizabeth in lieu of $7,500 bail.

Robbery thwarted on Westfield Avenue

Roselle Park

An Elizabeth man was arrested for robbery Tuesday at 3:39 a.m.

Patrolman Richard Gaylord was on patrol on the 400-block of East Westfield Avenue when he was flagged down by a 43-year-old man. The officer further observed a second man standing behind the victim.

The second man was identified as Luis Anacol, 19, of Elizabeth. The investigation revealed that Anacol ran up from behind the 43-year-old victim while he was walking along East Westfield Avenue. Anacol allegedly attempted to forcibly take the victim's jacket. The suspect also attempted to punch the victim in the face.

Anacol was arrested by Gaylord and charged with second degree robbery. The suspect was then transported to Union County Jail in Elizabeth, where bail was set at $65,000. The victim was not injured as a result of this incident.

POLICE BLOTTER

Union

Newark resident, Aldolfo Solersano-Romero, 26, was arrested Sunday for possession of controlled dangerous substances.

The arrest took place early Sunday morning at Weber Park, 850 Rahway Ave.

• An accident involving an overturned vehicle occurred Sunday on the 1000-block of Vauxhall Road and resulted in injuries.

The vehicle flipped over after hitting a utility cable. All of the passengers freed themselves from the vehicle before crews from the Union Fire Department arrived.

One person was transported to Overlook Hospital's Union campus due to injuries. A summons was issued for careless driving.

• A Hillside juvenile was arrested Sunday night in the area of Vauxhall Road and Robert Street for alleged possession of marijuana.

The juvenile was originally stopped for driving a vehicle with non-functioning headlights. He was issued a summons for operating a vehicle while unlicensed and possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

• On Saturday, Roselle resident Matthew Goordman, 32, was arrested for possession of controlled dangerous substances.

Goordman, who was stopped on Lehigh Avenue at 3 a.m., was issued a summons for careless driving, according to reports.

• Newark resident Farreed M. Norman, 48, was arrested Saturday at 6:57 a.m. for alleged possession of controlled dangerous substances and drug paraphernalia.

Norman was apprehended on Route 22 at Greely Avenue North. Upon further investigation, authorities discovered Norman had several aliases and his real name is actually Theodore L. Clark. It was also discovered that he had active crime warrants out of Newark, Edison, Fanwood and Plainfield.

• Union resident Michael Novellino, 26, was arrested Friday for possession of controlled dangerous substances and intent to distribute within 500 feet of a park.

Novellino was arrested on the 2200-block of Alpine Avenue.

Police, FBI release picture of robber

The Kenilworth Police Department has released two surveillance photos of the suspect linked to an armed bank robbery in the borough on April 8, at Wachovia Bank.

The suspect is described as a black man in his late 30s or 40s, approximately 6 feet tall, with some facial hair.

He was also observed carrying some type of over-the-shoulder briefcase or bag, according to police.

The suspect fled the area on foot. He was captured on surveillance videos crossing the Boulevard at 19th Street and running north on 19th Street into the parking lot behind Associated Foods, where he was again caught on surveillance video leaving the area.

Kenilworth detectives and the FBI are pursuing several leads in the case.

Anyone with information can contact the Special Agent Steven Grassie at the FBI's Newark Bureau at 973-792-3207 or Kenilworth Detective Sgt. Tim Dowd at 908-276-7037.

Teachers will be honored by foundation

Members of the community are invited to the annual reception to honor recipients of Township of Union Education Foundation grants.

This year's cocktail and dessert reception will take place May 15 at Schering-Plough Corp., located on Morris Avenue in Union, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The Education Foundation is also selling raffle tickets for a drawing that will take place May 15 at Schering-Plough.

The first prize is a 47-inch Vizio Galleria television, donated by Investors Savings Bank. The second prize is a gift basket and certificate valued at $150, donated by Whole Foods and the third prize is a "basket of cheer" donated by local realtors, valued at $125. Those who wish to enter the raffle must be at least 21 years old. Tickets may be obtained at Union Center National Bank, 2455 Morris Ave., Union; Barry's Auto Center, 39 Milltown Road, Union or by calling Evelyn at 908-964-1476 or Barbara at 908-687-5743.

The Education Foundation is also selling tickets to Lord & Taylor's Westfield Benefit Bash on May 6. With the purchase of a ticket, supporters receive a 15 percent savings pass to be used all day throughout the store, valid on cosmetics and fragrances, and a 20 percent coupon good on one special regular or sale priced item. Both discounts have virtually no exclusions. Contact Sue at 908-851-9869 for tickets.

Eight is enough

The seven members of the Hillside Township Council have been outnumbered — by their attorneys.

In recent years, the Township Council has retained the services of at least eight attorneys for everything from health, to research to development and planning. Other towns appoint attorneys for various boards, but in Hillside, not every appointment seems warranted.

The gaggle of attorneys are earning anywhere from $125 an hour on an as-needed basis, to about $65,000 per year, based on their agreements with the township — is it any wonder taxpayers are facing a 6 percent budget increase? Granted, there are other budgetary factors involved, but such wasteful spending doesn't make sense. One attorney, for example, was hired on an as-needed basis in case a conflict-of-interest arises with the regular township attorney. Another was hired as a legislative research officer — whatever that is.

On top of it, Mayor Karen McCoy Oliver made a rare appearance at a Township Council meeting last week, for the first time in more than a year. Her attendance wasn't merely an attempt to be part of the meeting, but to appoint a new township attorney of her choosing. The mayor arrived with Maplewood attorney Marc Garfinkle in tow to replace Christine Burgess, whom she appointed last year, but then pushed to resign. The council refused to accept the resignation and Burgess continues to handle cases for the township. The council also refused to approve Garfinkle as its new township attorney.

State law gives the mayor the right to make an appointment, but the law also makes the mayor's appointments subject to council's approval and oversight. Therein lies the problem, and McCoy Oliver has threatened to take the council to court if her appointment isn't sworn in to replace Burgess. Welcome to Hillside politics.

The mayor's decision to appear at a meeting after an 18-month absence and then try to invoke her legislative authority is, itself, cause for question. It's difficult to understand how a mayor who doesn't attend meetings or regularly take part in local government can effectively govern a town or earn the respect of her fellow elected officials and local taxpayers.

The ongoing feud between the mayor and council is an embarrassment to the town. Appointments of attorneys and other officials are routinely made and rejected in this political war, and the residents who elected these men and women to serve them are the ones caught in the crossfire.

Whether or not Burgess finally gets to resign and Garfinkle takes over, the council should look to pull a few sharks from the tank. Not all of their services seem warranted and the taxpayers don't need the extra financial burden.

How to eliminate mosquitoes from UC

With the warm weather almost upon us, one of the negatives is the influx of mosquitoes in the area. Union County has started its annual program in its war against the mosquito population.

There are approximately 20 different types of mosquitoes in the Union County area, but the county is targeting specifically the Asian tiger mosquito or the forest day mosquito, that is common in urban areas.

While mosquitoes are an obvious summer time picnic nuisance, they also have been the carrier of the West Nile Virus, the deadly disease that has been more prevalent outside of the county, but there have been cases here as well.

Union County Bureau of Mosquito Control looks for potential breeding spots from March to November. But the county is asking you for help in controlling the growth of the mosquito population including the following:

- Clean and chlorinate swimming pools, and remove water that collects on pool covers.
- Dispose of cans and plastic containers while also turning over empty flower pots, toys and any object that can hold even small amounts of water.
- Remove old tires, a favorite breeding place for mosquitoes.
- To prevent trash cans and recycling containers from collecting water, keep tight lids on them, drill holes in the bottom, or store in an enclosed space.
- Clean roof gutters regularly.
- Turn over wheelbarrows.
- Change water in birdbaths every three days.
- In landscaping, fill in low areas where water collects.
- Drain and clean out grills and grill covers.
- If ornamental ponds and fountains are in use, ensure that the water is constantly circulating. Also, stock ponds with larvae eating fish such as minnows, goldfish and mosquito fish.

There are also 30 traps throughout Union County that help the bureau identify places where mosquitoes are breeding rapidly and target them for larviciding.

In addition to taking these steps, the county is asking residents to report any problems with mosquito breeding in your town by calling 908-654-9834.

LOCAL LANDMARK — The Revolutionary War Cannon, mounted on a Civil War carriage, is a familiar landmark for those traveling through Union Center. The cannon was placed at the 'triangle' at the junction of Stuyvesant and Elmwood avenues in 1905. The British cannon was discovered in Wade's Pond, where it was stuck, 50 feet below the First Presbyterian Church of Connecticut Farms.

Comments in Kenilworth; quiet in Cranford

Seems To Me

By John Bury

Looking to inform myself about the budget process, last week I attended the Cranford Township Committee meeting to see how they worked.

Unfortunately, they weren't ready and the budget resolution was pulled, but it did offer me an opportunity to see how Cranford runs itself as compared to the Kenilworth Borough Council, which held its meeting the next day.

Both meetings were sparsely attended with about 20 audience members to start. However, in Kenilworth, everyone stayed out of interest whereas in Cranford, we ended with about four of us civilians — including two kids who looked like they were doing research projects, one old guy — not me, who looked like he'd been dumped there while the family went to a restaurant and another old guy — me, this time, who luckily brought reading material.

Cranford easily had more pomp. After an invocation, the flag salute included a parade of six scouts, who left with their guardians after their mission. There were also proclamations read for Arbor Day, Clean Energy Month, Silver Star Banner Day, and Keep Kids Alive: Drive 25 and plaques were dispensed to a bunch of people involved, who also left with their guardians after they got their loot.

With that out of the way, there was only one public comment which involved the transfer of a liquor license from a taproom to an Irish pub and the new owner, with his lawyer, was greasing some wheels. Those guys stayed, but only out of politeness.

Anyone looking for stories, as two reporters there doubtlessly were, would have to satisfy themselves with some bridge needing repair and the county balking. It occurred to me that they could try giving out those plaques to the scouts, who might be able to rig up something with the bridge.

They discussed the budget but just to say to look for a 9 percent increase. Here's where it hit me. Don't Cranford people care? Being a regular on cranfordtalk.org, I see all the whiners who claim to be from Cranford, coming up with about 20 complaints a day about some issue in town that irks them. Where were they?

Contrast that to Kenilworth's meeting the next day, where you had the same routine matters to get through but, come the public portion, there were issues brought up by people who seemed to believe that this governing body could help them.

A petition was presented to change parking rules to help small businesses off the Boulevard. It was brought out that the signs in DiMario Park, warning against unleashed dogs, were too small, that driveway restrictions should be changed and that some hedges in the borough are over the 4-foot limit. Not Earth-shattering stuff and probably of interest to only a handful of people each, but that should be enough. Those people came to the meeting believing their concerns would be addressed.

Don't Cranford people have similar problems? Are they intimidated to speak out? Do they think their concerns are too trivial or that their elected officials can't be counted on to give them anything but lip service? I haven't attended enough Cranford meetings — or Kenilworth meetings for that matter — to judge how representative my first impressions were but after the second night, I was proud to be from Kenilworth.

One last thing that came out at the Kenilworth meeting. There will be a collection of items to be sent to Iraq. If you have any spare non-melting snacks, instant green tea, sun block, foot powder, or white socks you can drop them at the Kenilworth Police Department between today and May 8.

John Bury is a resident of Kenilworth.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Residents helped those in need

To the Editor:

This is an open letter of thanks to the many people who pitched in to help the needy of Roselle Park during this spring.

I want to thank the Roselle Park Public Schools, the Community United Methodist Church, and to all the residents of Roselle Park for their generous donations to the Casano Community Center food pantry.

A special thanks to Roselle Park Girl Scout Leader Linda Kennedy and her troops. The Girl Scouts generously assembled, beautifully decorated and donated holiday baskets so that needy Roselle Park families could celebrate the spring holy season with a holiday meal complete with all the festive "goodies."

Another very special thanks to Roselle Park Girl Scout Junior Troop 349 leader Sue Green and her girls and Roselle Park Cub Scout Pack 116 Leader Dominick DiLillo and his boys who worked diligently on April 12, the day of the Cub Scout Pack 116 food drive. Through their coordinated efforts, food was collected sorted, and put away in the Casano Community Center Food Pantry.

Please remember there are constantly needy families in our area. There is a food pantry maintained at the Casano Community Center all year, so contributions of canned and nonperishable food are always welcome.

Again, to all who donated food, candy, money, time, toys, and gift items — a sincere thank you from me and those families you have helped not only during this spring, but all year through.

Story paints an inaccurate picture

To the Editor:

I was incredulous when I saw the headline of "Teachers fear for their safety at UHS."

Having been a part of Union High School as both a teacher and a student in four different decades, I thought I might contribute my perspective to the situation. To even hint that some climate of fear pervades the school is the grossest misstatement I have ever read in this newspaper.

Six security guards patrol the building and do an excellent job at maintaining order. But even more impressive is the students' behavior themselves. We have no groups pitted against one another, ready to do battle. There is no "Chestnut Hill Posse" as in the 1980s, or halls reeking of marijuana smoke as in the 1970s. Kids come to school ready to learn, and teaching professionals meet them in their classrooms, eager to help these kids achieve their goals.

The students, on a whole, get along with one another and not only take advantage of an expanded curriculum; there are more AP courses at UHS then ever before; but also enjoy an array of after school activities as evidenced by the recent student-faculty basketball game, monthly "open mic" nights in the school library and other events too numerous to mention. It is a stimulating, nurturing and sometimes noisy environment full of energy and promise.

When disciplining students, the best approach is to consider the Golden Rule. Treat others as you wish to be treated. Speak to them one on one to make then aware of their transgressions. No one, not anybody, enjoys someone screaming in their face. The normal turn of events when this occurs is an escalation of emotion. What starts as a trivial matter becomes two angry people, both unwilling to budge or lose face. And I cannot believe that a substitute teacher, who is suing the Board of Education to gain our tax dollars from a "slip and fall," has the gall to complain about the district as well.

One fact of life is that students will try to take advantage of substitute teachers. By no means do I condone this, yet this reality exists everywhere, in any school. The exaggerations in the article "every teacher is leaving or retiring early" are utter falsehoods. Another "expert" quoted in the story is allegedly the assaulted substitute's daughter. She does not even attend UHS, so I fail to see how her input has any credibility whatsoever. She is quoted, "It's terrible when you don't want to live in the town you work in."

A very simple solution awaits. Move! I have been teaching in Union for 24 years. My kids attend two different public schools in town and I have every intention of bringing them to Union High. I want my kids to realize life as it is, not in some cocooned environment. Union High is a great place!

When professionals use discipline in a restrained, but assertive manner, and seek to cultivate relationships with all students, rather than hysterically berating, them then positive results will ensue and there will be no need for nose to nose confrontations. Someone once said that the world is just a giant mirror.

You get back exactly what you give off. To say a place is "out of control" might be that individual's reality, but it is the furthest thing from the truth as to the overall picture of Union High. We are teaching, the kids are learning. Now let's get back to business and not let one person's inadequacies and eccentricities create a false portrayal of Union High School.

Teens are just too young to drive

To the Editor:

In the Sunday paper, I read of two separate incidents of teenagers dying horribly in car crashes.

Whenever a tragedy like this happens, we read in the paper of family members, friends and usually the school principal praising the deceased as "a wonderful human being." But no one seems to care that these truly mindless, stupid tragedies are happening again and again with nothing being done. Our teens are dying on the road faster than we can bury them. And the people who say that nothing can be done are the worst of all. There's a lot we can do, but as it involves a little sacrifice and self-denial, we don't want to hear it. It might interfere with our quest for pleasure.

A 17-year-old is too immature to drive. Period. An automobile is a powerful machine and handling one takes skill and training. Some of the blame must go to the TV ads that show cars speeding. Ever notice that every single TV ad for a car has the vehicle going at a highly exaggerated rate of speed? The impressionable teens see this and think its "cool" to speed. Parents are also to blame. It's the height of callous stupidity to buy a 17-year-old kid a $30,000 car. By doing so, they encourage the teens to show off in front of their peers. How? By speeding. Look how fast I can go. And then when the speeding teens crash and lie by the roadside in pieces, the parents are looking for someone to blame.

A 17-year-old should never drive. They should raise the driving age to 25 and give the teens years of training to handle an automobile. It might be a drag, but better than dying at 17. Cars should be made so that they can't exceed 55 mph. Nobody but the police, ambulances and firefighter needs to drive faster than that. Driving a car is simply beyond the maturity and common sense of the average 17-year-old.

Indulgent parents "reward" their teens with a new expensive car and they can hardly wait to get behind the wheel and speed. One of the boys recently killed had to die alone and broken on a lonely road in the dead of night. Aren't you getting tired of funerals for speeding teenagers, grief counselors and teary-eyed eulogies from classmates who must try to understand the concept of sudden death? I sure am.

Mystery author to visit library

The book discussion group of the Kenilworth Public Library will welcome New Jersey mystery author Jeffrey Cohen on May 27 at 7:15 p.m. in the library's activity room.

Cohen will join the members of the group for a discussion of "Some Like it Hot Buttered," the first title in his new "Double Feature Mystery" series featuring theater owner, Elliot Freed.

As described on the book's back cover, "The dead guy in row S, seat 18, is no joke...death by popcorn was the cause. Poisoned popcorn. To the chagrin of the local police, Elliot takes to his bike to start his own investigation. A growing attraction to a beautiful detective, the discovery of a DVD pirating operation, and one missing employee later, Elliot's still waiting for the punch line. But this one might knock his theater — and Elliot — out for good."

Mixing humor with mystery, Cohen has been referred to as both "the Jerry Seinfeld of mystery writing" and "the king of the zingers" and the New Jersey setting of this story is an added bonus for local readers.

Participation in the book discussion group is free and open to all members of the general public, age 18 and older, including people who reside in communities other than Kenilworth.

Copies of the book are available for checkout at the library's circulation desk and non-residents should inquire about ways that they may be eligible for borrowing privileges at the Kenilworth Public Library. Because space is limited, preregistration is required.

Raising awareness

Washington Elementary School third-graders Carina Kubis, left, and Jonathan Mota, both junior ambassadors for autism awareness, stand in front of the bulletin board they helped decorate in an effort to raise awareness about autism. Other Union students contributed by creating ribbons and puzzle pieces to decorate the board.

EVENTS

Woman's League plans trip to casino

The Women's League of Temple Beth Ahm Yisrael, 60 Temple Drive, Springfield, is sponsoring a bus trip to Showboat Hotel and Casino in Atlantic City on May 25.

Members of the Sisterhood of the former Temple Israel of Union are now members of Women's League. The bus will leave the Temple Beth Ahm Yisrael parking lot at 9:30 a.m. and will return at 7:30 p.m.

A mini breakfast will be served on the Vanderhoof bus, with a movie on the return trip. A Showboat comp card or photo identification is needed to collect the bus bonus. Call Roz at 908-964-7840 or the temple office at 973-376-0539 for reservations and information. Seating is limited and early reservations offer a better selection of seats on the bus.

Church to host fish fry

Connecticut Farms Presbyterian Church in Union will host it's second annual fish fry Friday, with a contemporary music service immediately following.

Special guests at the contemporary service will be the Union High School Gospel Choir Club.

The fish and chips dinner will be catered by the Argyle Restaurant and will take place from 5 to 7 p.m. Chicken will be available also.

The contemporary service will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will feature the First Friday Band as well as the Union High School Gospel Choir Club. There is no admission to the service and everybody is welcome.

"We're looking forward to an exciting evening," said guest worship leader Jesse Branson. "We hope to have a big crowd that night."

Connecticut Farms Church is located at the corner of Stuyvesant Avenue and Chestnut Street in Union. For information, call 908-688-3164.

EMU pasta dinner in memory of Apuzzio

Kevin Apuzzio was a young Union man who made the ultimate sacrifice on April 11, 2006, in the line of duty while fighting a fire in Franklin Township.

Apuzzio was a student at Rutgers University studying criminal justice and also volunteered for East Franklin Volunteer Fire Department as a crew chief. Apuzzio was also a member of Union Emergency Medical Unit as a certified EMT.

The members of Union Emergency Medical Unit will be hosting a pasta dinner on June 13, at the Knights of Columbus on Jeanette Avenue in Union. The theme of the dinner will be a "Friday the 13th", Halloween itinerary.

The event will take place from 7 to 11 p.m. and there will be a 50/50 raffle available. This fundraiser is being used as a scholarship program in honor of Apuzzio, for students who plan to further their education. Interested individuals who will be attending this event should call the squad at 908-687-3373 or visit www.union.emu.com.

JWI will host theater trip for 'Kiss Me Kate'

Elaine Ratner, president of Jewish Women International's Batim-Union Chapter, has announced a planned trip to the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn on Wednesday, for a matinee production of "Kiss me Kate."

INFLAMMATORY BOWEL DISEASE IN CATS

Inflammatory bowel disease (IBD) encompasses several chronic gastrointestinal disorders in cats. It occurs because the cells that line the digestive tract become inflamed. IBD can affect cats at any age, but it is more common in cats that are middle aged and older. The most common symptoms are diarrhea and vomiting. If a cat has these symptoms, it is highly recommended that the owner call a veterinarian immediately, as the cat can get dehydrated if it is not treated. Nausea and vomiting can indicate other conditions, as well. The veterinarian will perform several tests to find the cause of the symptoms, possibly including blood cell counts, a test for feline leukemia, and a test for feline immunodeficiency virus.

If you notice symptoms such as diarrhea and vomiting seek professional care for your pet immediately. At T.L.C. PET DOCTOR, we can provide you with information regarding inflammatory bowel disease in cats, and what treatment and medicines may be useful to your pets. If you have questions regarding IBD and your cat please feel free to ask us. We want to help you. We are located at 1326 Stuyvesant Ave., Union, and our phone number is 908-686-7080. We will always do our best to keep your pet healthy with the most up to date care.

P.S. Although a "cure" for feline IBD is not generally possible, it can often be managed with diet and medicine.

Pageturners to read Betty Smith novel

The next meeting of the Hillside Public Library's Pageturners Book Club will be May 29 from 6 to 7:45 p.m.

"A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" by Betty Smith will be discussed. The classic coming-of-age novel tells the story of Francie, a young, sensitive 11-year-old who struggles to survive in turn-of-the-century Brooklyn. Francie is able to take the best parts of her poverty-stricken work and move into the future of her dreams in the poignant story. New members are always welcome. Call Susan Lipstein at 973-923-4413 for information.

Group to novels

The Union Public Library Book Discussion Group will meet at 7 p.m. on the following dates:

• May 14, "My Sister's Keeper," by Jodi Picoult.

• June 18, "Madame Bovary," by Gustave Flaubert.

The library is located at 1980 Morris Ave, Union. For help in obtaining copies of the book, call the Reference Department at 908-851-5450.

Start communicating

A new program will continue at the Roselle Park Veterans Memorial Library.

The program, "Come Sign and Dance," will take place every Monday from 1:30 to 2 p.m. and is designed for young children ages 6 months and older.

Combining sign language with upbeat songs, the program is a way to start communicating with your child. To register, or for additional information, call the Children's Room at 908-245-2456.

Film festival will close with Hindi film in May

On Tuesday, at 2 and 7 p.m, the Union Public Library will show "Water," a film in Hindi, and the last in its Spring International Film Festival.

When filming began, angry fundamentalist mobs allegedly burned the sets and threatened the director's life. The film challenges ancient Hindu customs about widowhood that declare women half-dead after losing their husbands.

In 1930s India, 8-year-old Chuyia becomes a widow before she is even able to meet her husband. She is faced with three choices: join him on his funeral pyre, marry a younger brother, or go into an Ashram — refuge — with other widows to live a life of self-denial to atone for the sin of losing her husband.

Owing to its controversial nature, the film was banned in India and Pakistan. It was nominated for an Oscar as Best Foreign Language Picture and won the Freedom of Expression Award from the National Board of Review.

Admission is free, and the film has English subtitles. Light refreshments will be provided. The library is located at 1980 Morris Ave. For information, call 908-851-5450.

Books on the go

The Hillside Public Library has announced that the library is now offering Playaway — the first self-playing digital audio book — adding the innovative format to the existing audio book collection.

Half the size of a deck of cards, Playaway is the easiest way to listen to a book on the go and, with no tapes or CDs, can hold as little as two or as much as 80 hours of content on each unit. Using clearly marked buttons, Playaway gives listeners the ability to move back and forth within or between chapters and alter the speed of a narrator's voice. Playaway has a universal headphone jack that works with almost any type of headphone or mobility accessory.

Because Playaway's format is friendly for listeners of all ages, every patron can enjoy the new format. The Library's collection includes "The Secret Life of Bees," "The Zookeeper's Wife," and "Flyy Girl" for adults and "The Face on the Milk Carton," and "The Kid Who Ran for President" for younger readers.

For more information, contact the library at 973-923-4413.

Get 'hooked' on yarn

Kenilworth Library presents a program called Hooked on Yarn for needlecraft beginners.

The program is a Wednesday afternoon series of children's knitting and crocheting classes for beginners. It will continue through May 21.

The classes will be conducted in the library's activity room from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., and will be taught by Kenilworth resident Helen Wagner. This program is free and open to children ages 6 and older.

Preregistration is required because space is limited.

For information, call the library at 908-276-2451.

FBI agent will address AARP

The AARP Union Chapter 4026 will meet on May 8 at the Union Senior Center, 968 Bonnel Court, Union, at 12:30 p.m. FBI Agent William Monks has been asked to speak and his topic will be elder abuse.

First Vice President Rose Partesi has taken over the job of president due to the death of Jim Sylvester, who died on March 21. Jim was very active in the AARP. In addition, he ran a soup kitchen in Elizabeth for the elderly and homeless.

May 8 has been set aside for Operation Shoebox, where specific items previously listed will be brought in by members to be shipped to our troops fighting overseas. Don't forget to bring in nonperishable food for the local food bank.

On May 12 and June 9, members will form carpools and go to the Veterans Administration Nursing Home in Lyons, Somerset County, where they conduct bingo games every month, except July and August.

For information about the club's next two trips, call Shirley at 908-289-6770. The trips will be to Showboat Casino in Atlantic City on May 20 and June 24.

On June 5, there will be a trip to the Renault Winery in Egg Harbor, Atlantic County, for a family-style, all-you-can-eat luncheon, including wine sampling. Participants will then go to Showboat Casino for a five-hour visit. For information, call Bea at 908-687-3394.

There will be an election of officers for 2008-09 in May. An installation luncheon will be conducted on June 11 at the Galloping Hill Caterers in Union, from noon to 4 p.m., with music and dancing. Entrees include chicken francaise, prime rib and salmon. Call Eleanor Sautter at 908-688-2121 for reservations.

There will be no chapter meetings in June, July and August. The Chapter's annual holiday luncheon will take place Dec. 3 at the Galloping Hill Caterers.

To help bring the membership records up to date, Eleanor Sautter has asked that everyone bring in an address label from either the AARP Bulletin or the AARP Magazine.

In order to join the local chapter, an individual must first be a member of the National AARP. Prospective members are welcome. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

David Brearley honors March students, staff of the month

The David Brearley High School student of the month for March is senior Jesse Boyden.

Boyden is a member of the National Honor Society, Bears in Business, and is a DARE Role Model.

An accomplished athlete, Jesse is a captain of the football team as well as the wrestling team. He recently earned the title of state champion in wrestling for his weight class. He is a four-time county champion and holds multiple regional and district championships as well. Boyden is also one of the few Brearley wrestlers to achieve more than 100 career wins on the mat.

The David Brearley High School teacher of the month is Janice Marsili. Marsili's passion and desire to teach her art students never goes unnoticed, according to school officials.

Marsili's students say they find her fun and interesting and always learn a lot from her. One student said, "she is the best art teacher and she loves every moment of it."

The David Brearley Middle School student of the month for March is Victoria Giamella. Giamella is described by her teachers as being a diligent and hardworking student. Her hard work has earned her a 100 average in her algebra class. Giamella not only has time for her academics, but has also volunteered her time in the school media center. Her quirky sense of humor give many laughs to both her classmates and her teachers.

The David Brearley Middle School teacher of the month is Joseph Capizzano. Capizzano is described by his students as being an energetic and enthusiastic teacher. His high level of enthusiasm benefits his physical education classes, where he can always be found participating alongside his students. Students have said Capizzano's welcoming personality makes him a "people person." His students say they always find comfort in knowing he is always willing to help.

Capizzano not only gives his time to physical education classes, but can be found coaching winter track as well as baseball.

Janusz Naumiuk has been selected as the staff member of the month for March. Naumiuk Naumiuk is a member of the school district's maintenance staff. His knowledge in carpentry, plumbing and electrical help keep the operation of the school buildings running efficiently. Naumiuk is very dependable and willing to give 110 perfect, according to school officials.

Drug company will continue research

"Parkinson's, Alzheimer's, cardiovascular disease and cancer are all linked to old age," Gilroy said. She said she was encouraged by a compound currently in the later phases of research, which may aid in combating Parkinson's.

"Schering-Plough, like all pharmaceutical companies, is interested in discovering and developing drugs for unmet medical needs that will benefit all consumers," Yancosek said. "At Schering-Plough, the focus of the reduction will be in the United States, with a higher percentage in New Jersey."Yancosek explained that the pharmaceutical company employs 55,000 people worldwide, with 17,000 employed in the United States and more than 8,000 employed in New Jersey.

"Headquarter cost will be a primary focus," Robert J. Bertolini, executive vice president and chief financial officer for Schering-Plough, announced during a media conference call earlier in the month.

The global headquarters located in Kenilworth is expected to see the majority of job loss along management lines.

In addition to major job cuts, there are reductions in travel expenditures. The company is also planning to review its sales and marketing investments. There may also be a gradual reduction of facilities around the world.

Chief Executive Officer Fred Hassan said that an expected 10 percent reduction in jobs is expected in order to meet a projected goal of $1.5 billion in annual savings by 2012.

The Opacity Funeral Home, Kenilworth, handled the arrangements.

Israeli Army vet to speak at Temple

Temple Beth Ahm Yisrael, 60 Temple Drive, Springfield, will sponsor the One Family Fund Sabbath at services on May 9, at 8 p.m. in the main sanctuary.

Members of the former Temple Israel of Union are now members of Temple Beth Ahm Yisrael. Services will be led by Rabbi Mark Mallach and Cantor Richard Nadel. The guest speaker will be Uri Lerner, a highly-decorated Israeli Army veteran in the war in Lebanon against Hezbollah. Lerner was wounded during that war.

A Negev resident, he and his family have been under a constant barrage of missiles launched from the Gaza Strip by Palestinian terrorists. He will share his poignant experiences with those in attendance. Congregants and the public are welcome to attend. Refreshments will follow.

For information, call the temple office, from Monday to Friday, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. at 973-376-0539.

The One Family Fund is an Israeli philanthropic organization that helps victims of terror through networking and monetary donations. This organization was founded by the Belzberg family in response to a 2001 Palestinian terrorist attack on a Jerusalem pizzeria that killed 15 people. The organization says it has distributed $12.2 million to more than 2,200 victims and families of victims since its founding. Among the group's donors is soccer star Ronaldinho. Last year, the Brazilian forward was part of a star-studded Barcelona team that played for a "Peace Team," made up of Israelis and Palestinians. The aim of the match was to foster understanding between Israelis and Palestinians through soccer.

Future activities that will take place involving the members of Temple Beth Ahm Yisrael and their guests will be Yom Ha'atzmaut/ Israel Independence Day Family Program on Sunday morning, the Women's League General Meeting on Monday at 8 p.m., Women's League participation in Lord & Taylor's Westfield Bash, on Tuesday, a Yom Hazikaron/ Israel Remembrance Day on Wednesday, and the Men's Club meeting on May 12 at 6:30 p.m.

The Women's League will also be sponsoring a trip to Atlantic City's Showboat Hotel and Casino on May 25 at 9:30 p.m. For information on this event, call Roz at 908-964-7840.

Have a spot of tea this Mother's Day

Liberty Hall Museum at Kean University will host a Mother's Day Afternoon Tea on May 11, from noon to 2 p.m. in Liberty Hall's Carriage House overlooking the picturesque rose garden.

This year's annual celebration will explore the life of Lucinetta Halsted Kean, the longest living matriarch of the Kean family and one of the most-powerful hostesses in Washington D.C. during the early 20th century.

Guests will hear stories of the frequent gatherings hosted by Kean in Washington D.C., with some of our nation's most influential politicians, captains of industry, military leaders, and diplomats.

Notable guests included Theodore Roosevelt, John D. Rockefeller, Alice Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Eleanor Roosevelt, Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Brearley baseball: triple play

By Jeff Cummins
Staff Writer

Years from now, Ben DeVito, Jimmy Stafford and Tom Mannix will remember something about the 2008 Brearley baseball season that might even stand out more than a state championship.

For juniors Jimmy Stafford, Tom Mannix and Ben DeVito, the big moment came during last Thursday's home game vs. New Providence.

With runners on first and second and no outs in the top of the fifth and the score tied 4-4, right fielder DeVito caught a fly ball, with the runners attempting to tag up. DeVito then threw to cutoff man Mannix, the second baseman, who then threw to third baseman Stafford.

Stafford then tagged out the runner trying to go from second to third and then threw the ball back to Mannix at second, who tagged out the runner attempting to go from first to second.

Granted, few things are more memorable than a state championship, but a triple play happens very rarely. Most players will go their entire careers without taking part in a triple play, so it's the sort of thing that will stick out in a player's mind.

For Brearley 12th-season head coach Joe Capizzano, it was the second triple play he's coached at the helm of the Bears. The first came during his first season in 1997.

"That's the second time it happened for me here as a coach," said Capizzano, who played college baseball at Southern Connecticut State after graduating from Brearley in 1988. "I've never had one as a player in college, high school, Little League or anything."

Brearley won the game 5-4 to improve to 6-2. The Bears then came back to win at Dayton 9-7 last Friday to begin this week with a 7-2 record.

Brearley was scheduled to host Roselle Park Tuesday.

During the triple play, the players involved didn't immediately recognize the significance. They were too caught up in the moment, which they had to be, just to make the play.

"I wasn't thinking about it at the time, it was just instinct," Mannix said. "I said, 'He's going' and Jimmy threw the ball back to me and I made the tag. Everyone was screaming when we got back to the dugout and we just realized that we turned a triple play."

The play was memorable primarily because it was so unlikely.

"It didn't even start in the infield," Mannix said. "The ball was hit to right field. You could never expect something like that to happen."

Mannix has been involved in numerous big plays in high school, having played on an undefeated North 2, Group 1 championship football team in 2006, on a pair of state-caliber wrestling teams his first two years and on the boys' basketball team this season.

This has to be one of the most memorable plays of his high school career.

"It's got to be right up there with the best of them, though not as much as the 2-point play by Verona we stopped," Mannix said, referring to Verona's 2-point conversion attempt against Brearley late in their 2006 North 2, Group 1 final at Giants Stadium.

Brearley stopped Verona on the play and held on for a 21-20 win, capturing its first state championship in football since 1991 and becoming the first-ever team in Union County to finish a season 12-0.

"That play was for a championship," Mannix said. "Hopefully, we'll get to play for a championship in baseball soon."

Senior righthander Chris Laudati was the winning pitcher, tossing the first six innings.

Mannix came in to pitch the seventh and earned a save.

RP's Postadan exels in UCT boys' tennis event

By Jeff Cummins
Staff Writer

PLAINFIELD – Dan Karlin gave tennis enthusiasts a glimpse of the coming years at last week's Union County Tournament boys' tennis competition at the Donald Van Blake courts.

Karlin, just a sophomore at Dayton, took defending two-time first singles champion Ryan Krueger of Scotch Plains to three sets before Krueger pulled out a 6-3, 2-6, 6-3 win. Karlin then topped junior Ray Postadan of Roselle Park 6-3, 6-0 to finish third at first singles.

Senior Kevin Shallcross of Westfield ended Krueger's two-year reign as first singles champion, beating the fellow senior 6-3, 6-2 to capture his initial first singles title. Shallcross defeated Krueger 6-4, 3-6, 6-1 in Westfield's 5-0 win at Scotch Plains back on April 9. He also defeated Krueger in the second singles final in 2005.

Krueger, who did not compete in the UCT the last two years, enabled Westfield to win all five positions. The Blue Devils, undefeated and ranked No. 1 in the state, did not lose a set the entire tournament and finished with a perfect 100 points.

Karlin helped lead Dayton to a surprising second-place finish as the Bulldogs totaled 68 points. Dayton began the week with an 11-1 record and only a loss to Group 3 Scotch Plains by a 3-2 score on the road April 14. The Bulldogs will be challenging for next month's North 2, Group 1 championship.

Karlin left an impression of what the next couple of years could look like. No, he didn't beat the Lehigh-bound Krueger, but his progress over the last few years has been very impressive.

"We've played each other four times over the last two years because we have regular season matches and we face each other in the county tournament," Karlin said.

"Last year in the county tournament I kind of pushed him a little bit, too, and this year I was hoping to get even further."

Karlin's progress this season means that he and Thompson will be the favorites to make next year's first singles championship match.

Dayton easily outdistanced third-place finisher Scotch Plains, which finished with 51 points. Bulldog senior Mario Grant finished second at second singles, falling to Thompson 6-2, 7-5 in the final.

Postadan excelled at first singles, falling to Shallcross 6-1, 6-1 in the semis. He beat Pat Stewart of Oratory Thursday.

"I did well," Postadan said. "In our match (against Stewart) during the season, I won 6-1, 6-3 and this time I did a little better, winning 6-0, 6-2. I didn't let up any of my shots. I think I warmed up well.

"I felt strong right from the start and I ended it. My strength was that I was coming to the net a lot. I like coming to net to volley and when I was chip and charging, he couldn't really get the low balls and he would just pop them out."

Johnson's second and third singles players were both upset in the first round. Senior Mike Keenan lost to Scott Leyden of Scotch Plains 6-1, 6-1 at second singles, while senior Luke Ginocchio lost to Matt Zalenski of Union Catholic 7-6 (7-3), 6-2 at third singles.-2, 6-2.

Sidewinders 9, Bats 8: Michal Chmielowiec went 3-for-3, with two doubles and two RBI. Joseph Fox walked three times and scored two runs, while Bobby Sloane and Shamar Sims pitched well for the Sidewinders.

Union Rams Blue Claws 7, Bats 4: Jeannie Padden and Jason Wild reached base two times for the Blue Claws. Matt Pavick struck out nine in four innings. Daniel Plaza, Michael Jacoby and Justin Beckett hit safely for the Bats.

Brearley comes back in the 7th

Baseball bests Bulldogs

By Jeff Cummins
Staff Writer

SPRINGFIELD – Jimmy Stafford had helped to dig a hole for Brearley, so it was only fitting that the junior led the varsity baseball team on the climb back to victory.

With Brearley trailing by two runs entering the final inning, Stafford led off the top of the seventh with a long double to center field that sparked the Bears to a five-run frame as Brearley came back to top Dayton 9-7 last Friday in a Mountain Valley Conference-interdivision clash at Ruby Field.

Brearley began the week with a 7-2 record and two-game winning streak. The Bears were scheduled to host Roselle Park Tuesday and today are scheduled to play at Technology at 4 p.m. and tomorrow at Metuchen at 4.

Dayton began the week at 4-6. The Bulldogs were re-scheduled to host Union Catholic Monday, a game that was probably rained out.

There's a good chance that Dayton will be playing a Union County Tournament preliminary round game today. The UCT was to be seeded Monday night.

The irony is that both teams suffered from the same malady in this game. The hitters on both teams were very eager and swung early in the count, often lunging for pitches and leaving themselves in poor positions to hit the ball.

Brearley, sparked by Stafford's leadoff double, finally corrected that mistake in the top of the seventh and that proved to be the difference in the game. Stafford and junior center fielder Cory Stryker both had doubles and sophomore third baseman Dom Vitale added an RBI-single as the Bears seized control of the game.

"That's been something I've been preaching to them for the past couple of weeks," said Brearley head coach Joe Capizzano, now in his 12th season at the helm. "Sit back and wait. Keep your weight back and your power is back. If you're lunging for the ball, your power is gone.

"We needed to focus, be patient and wait for our pitch."

Capizzano's point was not lost on his players, who eventually came around to his way of thinking. Along the way, senior shortstop Chris Laudati pulled a line drive that landed just foul deep down the left field line. The sheer power of Laudati's drive, despite the fact that it was foul, illustrated Capizzano's message: Good things come to those who wait – and keep their weight back.

"We all had our weight out in front and our first base coach told me to just relax and stay back and drive it up the middle," Laudati said. "I told everyone on the bench to do that before we started hitting in the seventh and that's what we did."

Dayton had much the same problem, though the Bulldogs cured it, temporarily, in the bottom of the second inning. After going down 1-2-3 in the first inning, the Bulldogs had 11 at-bats in the bottom of the second, producing four singles, three walks, a hit batsman and six runs as they took a commanding 6-2 lead.

The Bulldogs were poised to blow the game open on third baseman Alex Popoloni's RBI-single, but then senior shortstop David Steinman was thrown out at the plate trying to extend Dayton's lead.

Dayton first-year head coach Mike Passe praised Steinman's aggressiveness, hoping that it spreads throughout the team.

"It was an instinct play," Passe said. "He was being aggressive. The last thing I'm going to do is fault a kid for making an aggressive mistake.

"To be quite honest, I wish more kids would be aggressive about trying to get something they want. He made a read and the first baseman recovered nicely and made the throw, but I could see what he was thinking there. He was trying to kick them when they're down, so to speak."

After its highly-productive second inning, Dayton reverted back to swinging early in the count. The Bulldogs don't lack for talent and senior catcher Alex Neubauer's moon-shot triple to center field in the bottom of the seventh was evidence of that.

Dayton's Achilles heel is that the Bulldogs sometimes need to make better decisions. A couple of better decisions here and there and their 4-6 record (as of the start of the week) could easily be 7-3.

"These kids have the potential to do good things," Passe said. "They just have to realize it. They have to realize that we put ourselves in situations all season long to compete and win and maybe we thought a game or two was our turning point, but we have to be consistent down the stretch. Once these guys get a taste of winning a little bit - and they like that feeling - hopefully that will kind of snowball going forward."

Brearley already has that feeling, despite the fact the difference between the two teams is merely decision-making, not talent. The Bears look forward to the Union County Tournament, but they're more focused on the Central Jersey, Group 1 playoffs, with the cutoff date eight days away on May 9

NOTES: Brearley was first supposed to host Johnson April 4, but the game was rained out. Then the game was rained out again on April 19.

The MVC squads from different divisions tried to play again this past Saturday in Kenilworth, but the game was rained out for a third time.

According to Brearley's schedule on www.highschoolsports.net, the game's next date is to be announced.

Union boys' track impresses at relays

After beating host Plainfield 83-48 April 22 at Hub Stine Field, the Union boys' track team excelled at last Saturday's Penn Relays in Philadelphia and also the Randolph Relays.

Union's 4x400-meter relay team placed third in its race in 3:25.74 and earned medals at the Penn Relays. The team consisted of Bayaan Oluyadi in 50.1, Stefaun Whitehead in 51.9, Yannick Jones in 50.3 and Jamal John on 53.4.

Union placed fourth out of 17 teams at the Randolph relays, finishing with 58 points.

The Farmers had four teams finish first and two more third.

Union won the 400-meter relay in 45.55 behind Peter Brouton in 11.7, Isaiah McLean in 11.2, Lamar Taylor in 11.7 and Andre Highsmith in 10.9.

Union captured the 800-meter relay in 1:34.35 behind Brouton in 23.6, McLean in 23.2, Zakee Govia in 24.8 and Highsmith in 22.7.

Union was first in the long jump with a total of 54-9 behind Anthony McLean at 19-3, Michael Bingham at 18-3 and Jaleel Reddick at 17-3.

Union also placed first in the triple jump at 113-8 behind A. McLean at 40-2, Bingham at 38-6 and Reddick at 35-0.

The high jump group was third at 16-8 behind A. McLean at 5-8, Martin Prokopovich at 5-8 and Stanley Pluviose at 5-4.

The javelin unit was also third at 407-4 behind A. McLean at 141-10, Prokopovich at 137-10 and Keith Wycko at 127-8.

Against Plainfield, Ellison Lucien was first in the 100 in 11.1, while Kevin Paiva was first in the 1,600 in 5:04. Union swept the 1,600, with Mike Dores second in 5:06 and Manny Martis third in 5:08.

Dempsey Ramalhosa was first in the 3,200 in 11:07 and Jacklin Petion won the shot put event with a throw of at 42-5.5.

A. McLean won the javelin at 144-6, while Afolabi Omole won the long jump at 21-6 and also the triple jump at 43-4.25.

Union swept the long jump, with Whitehead second at 20-9 and Elijah Lee third at 20-1.

Jamal John was second in the triple jump at 43-1.25.

Stepping out

Members of The Deirdre Shea School of Irish Dance, above, will be hosting its fifth annual Shea-Jennings Feis Saturday at David Brearley High School, 401 Monroe Ave., Kenilworth, at 8:45 a.m. Doors will open at 8:30 a.m. Many Irish vendors will be also be on hand to sell Irish gifts.

Plans include, bank, pharmacy

A resolution was passed in Elizabeth in December. Last month, Hillside officials passed a similar resolution opposing the plan to build a CVS and a bank. The matter was then taken by the group to Union on Jan. 22.

Mayor Clifton People Jr. heard the opinions of the members of the Concerned Citizens of Union County, but declared that neither he nor the members of the committee were at liberty to speak on the matter because it is currently in litigation.

For months, the group has been canvassing the area to gather petitions in order to appeal the decision, which was made by the Union Zoning Board on Dec. 7, 2007.

"We have upwards of 500 signatures," Borenstein said.

The group has the support of the Elizabeth Garden Club and the Union County Historical Society and its board of trustees.

"Our members urge that this parcel of open land be incorporated into the adjoining Elizabeth River Section of the Union County Parks System, as the highest and best use of the property," Elizabeth Garden Club President June Ford said. "Across the street is The Phil Rizzuto Park with playground equipment, running tracks and ball fields. Our limited open space must be preserved for future generations."

According to the Union County Historical Society, the property was once owned by William Livingston, New Jersey's governor during the Revolutionary War. It was later passed on to his descendants in the Kean family. Additionally, part of the land was once the Ursino Reservoir — a recreation area made popular during the turn of the 20th century.

"At a time when the need to preserve and protect our rapidly disappearing open spaces, historic or otherwise, is appreciated more than ever, the preservation of this particular site must be considered a matter of the highest priority," President of the Union County Historical Society, Alan Zimmerman said.

"Moreover, we do not need yet another bank and drugstore, especially at the cost of increased traffic and its concomitant hazards, as well as the desecration of a historically significant plot of land."

Union Township Committeeman Joseph Florio said Kean decides what to do with the land because they own it and the plans were formally approved.

"I'm not sure if anything can be done at this point because it's been approved by the board," Florio said. "The planning board was aware of it and the town of Elizabeth was aware of it."

He said the township cannot decide what gets built and what does not when the land is privately owned.

"Whether we personally agree or disagree the land should be kept that way, we didn't own that property," Florio said.

Kean has been developing the corner where Liberty Hall exists on Morris Avenue and is expanding its campus in the area.

Complaints were filed last year by residents in the nearby Mary Alice Court townhouses regarding noise and dirt from the construction.

On May 19, members of the Concerned Citizens of Union County plan to appear at a Kean University Board of Trustees meeting to make their opinion known there as well.

Study may help eliminate cancer

The American Cancer Society is looking to New Jersey residents to play a direct role in improving the lives of future generations by participating in an historic study.

The society will be signing up volunteers for its Cancer Preven-tion Study 3 at two locations: Relay For Life of Roselle Park High School, 185 West Webster Ave., Roselle Park on June 7 from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. and Relay For Life of West Orange High School, 51 Conforti Ave., West Orange on June 20 from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The study, which will enroll a diverse population of half a million people across the United States, will help researchers better understand the lifestyle, environmental and genetic factors that cause or prevent cancer, and will further efforts to eliminate cancer as a major health concern for future generations.

Roselle Park and West Orange are two of more than 110 enrollment sites currently scheduled for 2008, nearly double the number of sites that took part in 2007.

Participants must be between the ages of 30 and 65, must never have been diagnosed with cancer, and must be willing to make a long-term commitment to the study, which simply means filling out follow-up surveys at their home periodically.

To enroll in the study, individuals will be asked to complete a brief, written survey, provide a waist measurement, and give a small blood sample at the relay enrollment site, in addition to completing a baseline survey at their home. For the first time in more than 50 years of conducting these kinds of studies, the ACS is making it possible for participants to complete their baseline and follow-up questionnaires online.

"This is a once-in-a-generation opportunity for Americans to participate in lifesaving cancer research," said Eugenia E. Calle, American Cancer Society director of analytic epidemiology, who is overseeing the study. "While we have been conducting these types of studies for decades, our world-class research department can only study new and emerging cancer risks if members of the community are willing to become involved."

"This study is a unique opportunity to use the power of Relay For Life to rally the community in the fight against this disease. Individuals who come to this event to enroll for CPS-3 directly support the society's mission to reduce the burden of cancer," Robin Kraft, director of Relay For Life events said.

Researchers will use the data from CPS-3 to build on evidence from a series of American Cancer Society studies that began in the 1950s and involved hundreds of thousands of volunteer participants. The Hammond-Horn Study and the two previous Cancer Prevention Studies have played a major role in understanding cancer prevention and risk, and have contributed significantly to the scientific literature and to the development of public health guidelines and recommendations.

Those studies confirmed the link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer, showed that obesity increases the risk of several cancers, and linked aspirin use to a lower death rate from colon cancer. The current study, CPS-II, began in 1982 and is still ongoing. But changes in lifestyle and in the understanding of cancer in the more than two decades since its launch make it important to begin a new cohort.

The Relay For Life events in Roselle Park and West Orange will be the only times CPS-3 will be enrolling in Union and Essex counties this year. While initial enrollment takes just 20 to 30 minutes, the study is expected to produce benefits for decades to come.

Police offer tips to avoid scams

Each year, many citizens incur serious financial losses, some of which may even be responsible for the loss of life savings because of unscrupulous repair scams and other types of cons designed to part hard working individuals from their money.

Union Police Department's Crime Prevention Unit reminds residents to follow these tips to avoid becoming a victim of these seasonal crimes.

• Do not be charmed by offers of bargain home repairs. Deal only with companies or individuals that you have used before, or use recommendations of a trusted neighbor or friend.

• When you are working in the yard, keep all doors locked, even though you may be only a few feet from your home. Do not be lured into conversations with people you do not know while you are outside your home, gardening or doing yard work. Individuals will often try to occupy your time and get your attention at the door, while another individual enters the home to acquire money and valuables.

• Citizens are also cautioned to beware of persons who may be posing as utility or cable company employees.

These employees will always display their identification. Generally, utility companies will schedule service calls in advance.

UNION COUNTY

WORRALL NEWSPAPERS | WWW.LOCALSOURCE.COM | THURSDAY, MAY 1, 2008

The top tier

Kelly Hatfield has a formula to determine the top tier of candidates in the crowded Republican primary for the 7th Congressional District nomination.

She refers to the County Organization lines —she has Union, opponent Leonard Lance has Somerset and Hunterdon and Kate Whitman Annis has the tiny portion of Middlesex— as the test.

There is an argument that having the coveted party line, and the endorsement of GOP top guns like County Chairman Phil Morin, Assemblymen Muñoz and Bramnick and a host of local officials could be a boost for the Summit Republican.

Left Out

By Frank Capece

Hatfield calls her 15 years of experience on the Summit City Council as being "on the front line." From a party perspective she appears to be courting the conservative base who votes in primaries.

She proclaims "government overspending has led to deficits and an increasing national debt." She says a "3/5 majority vote requirement for any new taxes will make it harder forCongress to raise taxes."

She may have a money problem.

Politifax the weekly newsletter for political junkies reported last week that in money raising Whitman Annis raised $434,000, Lance $294,000 and Hatfield trailed with $106,000.

Hatfield seeks to make up the money difference through door-to -door campaigning and plain hard work. She sees the issues of taxes and the debt we are leaving our kids as those most on the minds of voters.

There is an engaging campaign style on her part. She knows how to battle. Her father was an Irish cop. She was in the first graduating class including women at Fairfield University. Later she got a PHD in Microbiology, from NYU. Hatfield speaks glowingly about her husband and the three adult kids they "successfully launched."

The campaign advisers use Dr. Hatfield in the fliers. She seems more comfortable answering to Kelly. There is some pandering in the campaign. They released a statement supporting "suspending the tax on gas and diesel fuels from Memorial Day to Labor Day as worthy of consideration by Congress."

Her pro-life position may turn out to be tough to defend if she gets the chance to oppose the likely Democratic nominee Linda Stender. Stender with no contest has already raised one million dollars and came within a hair of defeating incumbent Michael Ferguson two years ago. Hatfield says she is ready for the race recently stating that "she is the candidate best suited to take on and beat tax and spend Linda Stender in the fall."

Hatfield points to a recent state Senate race in Monmouth County where Democratic Ellen Karcher outspent her opponent $2.6 million to $477,000 and still lost the election.

Last weekend Hatfield spent time at various community clean ups in municipalities. She said a fundraiser in Morristown was successful. There is a friendly almost bubbly aspect to an interview with Hatfield. She refers to herself as a "fighter" and a "worker bee".

The worker bee is battling the Lance's and Whitman's both icon names in the state's hierarchy. It's probably a feather in the state party's cap that the daughter of a cop, who worked her way through college and graduate school, is competing with the landed gentry who have the money for fancy cable ads.

It should be quite a battle.

FAA plans could raise aircraft noise

By Katherine Paster
Staff Writer

Massive flight cancellations and delays, aircraft inspection lapses and exposed cover-ups are among the plethora of controversies that have kept the Federal Aviation Administration under a microscope in recent weeks.

For local residents, problems with the FAA may hit closer to home within the next year, as widespread opposition of the controversial Airspace Redesign Plan has yet to curb the FAA's plans for the future.

In Essex and Union counties, the FAA has begun to alter flight patterns over residential communities in its effort to add incremental capacity to the area airports, which includes elimination of long-established noise-abatement procedures.

Despite ongoing litigation from a number of state, county, local governments and opposing organizations, the FAA implemented south bound flight departure last December in the first of four planned phases of the Airspace Redesign Plan at Newark Airport.

"The two procedures implemented southbound tend to stay over the turnpike so it's not much of a deviation from the early procedure," said Robert Belzer, president of the New Jersey Coalition Against Aircraft Noise, one of the organizations that has filed suit against the FAA. "The next phase is scheduled for the fall, and will be a lot more stuff coming."

According to Belzer, the departure route changes made thus far mainly impact parts of the City of Elizabeth, which stands to experience even more aircraft noise if the FAA goes ahead with additional alterations in airspace routes.

"There are a lot of changes that have yet to be implemented that will impact Elizabeth," warned Belzer. "If and when they do, I expect a very adverse reaction because they will be flying planes over people who are not used to it at all."

While the minor changes in south-bound departure headings out of Newark Airport have yet to render a dramatic increase in aircraft noise in surrounding neighborhoods, opponents of the plan remain wary that changes planned for the future will hit local residents hard.

The principal new departure track that could impact this area is the "fanned" northbound departure procedure, which would short-cut the existing noise abatement procedure and send traffic over southern Essex County and northern Union County at a lower altitude.

"We believe they're going to a full implementation of the northbound fanning procedure, which will render a huge hit in the Ironbound section of Newark," said Belzer. "I think that anyone that is currently in the northbound departure tracks in Essex County can expect the noise to be worse."

The next four phases of the Airspace Redesign Plan is slated to begin next fall, though it is possible the implementation of the northbound fanning procedure will be delayed until 2009 due to technicalities in the FAA's planning process.

"The phases of the implementation are likely to occur over the next few years," said Belzer. "They could literally expand the departures at any time, and expand the flight patterns at anytime."

At least 11 separate lawsuits challenging the airspace redesign plan have been filed in appellate courts in Washington, Philadelphia, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey on behalf of dozens of communities and organizations throughout the region.

Union County has also filed suit against the FAA, as numerous municipalities including the City of Elizabeth will see spikes in noise and air pollution.

The Government Accountability Office is also examining the FAA's redesign, and will release a report investigating the plan's environmental impacts on the region and determining whether the agency followed appropriate procedures in redesigning the airspace.

In December 2005, the FAA proposed a redesign plan for the New York/New Jersey/Philadelphia metropolitan area its efforts "to increase the efficiency and reliability of the airspace structure and Air Traffic Control system while maintaining safety."

The airspace redesign involves a 31,000 square-mile, five-state area with a population of 29 million residents.

Twenty one airports are included within the project, with a particular focus placed on air traffic operations at five major airports: Newark Liberty International Airport and Teterboro Airport in New Jersey; John F. Kennedy International Airport and LaGuardia Airport in New York; and Philadelphia International Airport in Pennsylvania.

Students get lessons in outdoor classroom

By Katherine Paster
Staff Writer

Hundreds of students, environmentalists and officials from across Union County flooded the Elizabeth Marina on Friday, where the New York and New Jersey Harbor was transformed into an outdoor Earth Day classroom.

Touch tanks with marine life, interactive pollution displays, water quality testing and rain gardens were among the stations set up along the waterway, providing more than 150 students with hands-on environmental education.

"This annual Earth Day event shows City students the direct impact they have on the environment," said Elizabeth Mayor Chris Bollwage. "All the partners work on impressing (the students) that our every day actions have consequences that affect our air, water and soil."

The fifth annual Earth Day event, hosted by the Arthur Kill/Elizabeth River Watershed association, offered interactive stations manned by a variety of environmental and academic professionals including the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the U.S. Coast Guard, New York University and Kean University.

"After participating in this great program students have a better appreciation and understanding of how we coexist with our environment and how they can make a positive impact," said Bollwage.

To kick off the event, students boarded an Army Corps vessel to sail on the Arthur Kill Channel for the first time. While on the boat, students were taught about the history of Shooter's Island, the types of habitats in the Estuary and discussed ways to improve the watershed.

"This Earth Day event is a great opportunity to educate and energize students about the New York/New Jersey Harbor Estuary," said Joseph Seebode, the Army Corps' New York District Deputy Engineer for Programs and a Cranford resident. "Our hope is that by the end of the event, students and residents will have a better understanding of the connection between land and water, and how these areas are crucial to the environmental quality and economy of the region."

The Army Corps of Engineers takes a group of area students for a ride on the Elizabeth waterfront where they made stops to examine various ecological activity. Inset, students from Ronald Reagan Academy in Elizabeth examine shellfish.

Back on dry land, students made their rounds to the various stations set up along the dock to learn about the importance of Earth Day through interactive education.

"Participants had the opportunity to speak openly with experts in biology, engineering and archaeology so they can better understand the rich history of the harbor and its current environmental condition," said Seebode. "At the same time they had an opportunity to view marine life and ongoing port activities."

Students from Elizabeth Public Schools, Benedictine Academy, Mabel Holmes Middle School, Monsieur Antao Academy, Albert Einstein Academy and St. Patrick High School took part in the morning Earth Day celebration, mainly learning about the affects of pollution.

"Environmental educational workshops like Earth Day are tangible manifestations of a year round commitment to environmental education and stewardship within our watershed school consortia," said Michelle Doran McBean, CEO of Future City Inc.

The 2008 Earth Day event was a success resulting from a cohesive partnership between the Elizabeth River and Arthur Kill Watershed Association with Mayor Bollwage, the Elizabeth Marina, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Kean University and the offices of Senator Robert Mendez, Congressman Donald Payne and Congressman Albio Sires.

"The reason why this process is so successful is because for more than six years the various agency partners have made an actively collaborated with the community creating complementary environmental education and stewardship programs for the Arthur Kill/Elizabeth River watershed communities," said McBean.

A week filled with volunteering in the county

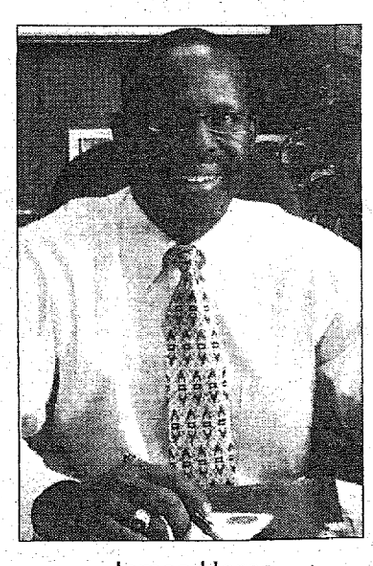
By Katherine Paster
Staff Writer

Lending a hand at local food banks, hospitals and town clean-ups are among the many options available for Union County residents who are looking to give back to their community during this year's National Volunteer Week.

As of Monday, the United Way of Greater Union County kicked off its first annual round of programs commemorating National Volunteer Week, partnering with various companies and non-profits to provide a helping hand in community-based organizations throughout the county.

"For the United Way, it's really important that we provide folks with a hands on experience with how community agencies work," said UWGUC CEO James Horne. "I think it's great that people can have a first hand understanding of the issues that are facing non-profits."

More than 150 volunteers from United Way partner companies like Schering-Plough, Comcast, Linde, Lexis-Nexis and HRH Insurance were among the groups who rolled up their sleeves to give back to Union County communities this week, taking part in activities such as outdoor spring clean up for non-profit organizations and parks, painting, and working with the elderly and disabled.



James Horne

"This is a great opportunity for us to give back to the communities where we work and live," said Carl Timpanaro, President of HRH in New Jersey.

While National Volunteer Week is not an event established by the United Way, the regional community-service organization chose to commemorate the occasion by providing its affiliates with numerous opportunities to give back to the community.

"The United Way of Greater Union County is committed to increasing resources available throughout our community," said Horne. "We are definitely focused on financial resources, but human resources are just as important to the agencies we serve.

Employees from Schering-Plough rolled up their sleeves at the Community Foodbank of NJ on Monday, when the first of four National Volunteer Week events was held in Hillside.

The professional volunteers worked in the Foodbank warehouse, where they helped to sort, repack and label salvage food products and household goods for distribution to member charities.

"When choosing our volunteer activities we looked at what non-profits' needs are, what the interest of the volunteers were in the companies and tried to match that up wherever we could," said UWGUC spokesman Dalton Laluces.

Linde employees offered their volunteer services to the YWCA-EUC of Westfield, where they worked diligently on outdoor clean-up and planting, and organizing the facility's basement.

"The non-profits benefit because they have an opportunity to get individuals to provide services that they would normally have to pay for, so this is a clear benefit to their financial bottom line," said Horne.

Volunteer activities continued throughout the week, with employees from Lexis-Nexis pitching in at Runnells Specialized Hospital. On Wednesday, the volunteers engaged senior-citizens and special education students with games of bingo, arts and crafts projects and good conversation.

While the non-profits and the people they serve will benefit greatly from the additional volunteer services provided throughout the week, United Way officials believe that individuals on both sides of the community service will benefit from the first-hand experience of giving.

"I think it's a benefit to people who volunteer because it helps them to think they are helping to improve the quality of life in our community and having a direct role in that work," said Horne. "If we can provide resources to community based organizations that's great, and we plan to continue to provide that resource as much as we can in the future."

The week will conclude with a town-wide clean-up day this Saturday in Roselle Park, where Roselle Park residents will work at various locations to spruce up their home borough.

For those interested in volunteering, a pre-work meeting will be held at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday at Borough Hall, located at 110 East Westfield Avenue in Roselle Park.

For more information on the United Way of Greater Union County and upcoming volunteer opportunities, call 973-353-7171, or visit www.uwguc.org.

COUNTY NEWS

Discuss immunization rules for this year

Union County's school and health department nurses and other healthcare professionals are invited to attend a symposium entitled "2008 Immunization Regulations and You" which will be held at The Westwood, 438 North Avenue in Garwood on May 8.

The objective of the symposium is to inform school and health department nurses as well as other healthcare professionals of the new 2008 immunization requirements for school admission effective this coming September 1 and to provide an update on vaccine information for the community at large.

The evening's program will be presented by Dr. Patricia Baron. Two professional development hours have been granted from the New Jersey Department of Education/Office of Program Support Services. The dinner will be at 5:30 p.m., followed by the lecture. Union County school and health department nurses and other healthcare professionals who are interested in attending should RSVP by May 2 by contacting Deana Saba at Runnells Specialized Hospital by phone at 908-771-5709, via fax at 908-771-9654 or by e-mail at dsaba@ucnj.org. Seating is limited.

Learn about kids nutrition

Mothers & More will host a meeting about nutrition for children on Wednesday. Maurya Farah, of Children's Specialized Hospital, will address many nutritional and feeding issues parents face with their children.

Mothers & More is a non-profit organization dedicated to improving the lives of mothers through support, education and advocacy.

The Union County chapter holds meetings on the first and third Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m. at the Cranford United Methodist Church, Room 23, located at 201 Lincoln Avenue in Cranford. New members are always welcome.

For more information, call Lori at 732-388-4390 or Katy at 908)-272-4881.

Check out basket making at museum

On Sunday, between 2 and 4 p.m., the art of basket making will be featured in a program at the Miller-Cory House Museum. The museum is located at 614 Mountain Ave., in Westfield.

The handicraft of basket making produced items that were not only practical, but also beautiful and elegant in design.

Costumed docents, dedicated to bringing the past to life, will conduct tours of the restored, fully furnish house. In addition, members of the museum's Cooking Committee will demonstrate the skills and techniques used in 18th century open-hearth cooking, using authentic recipes and seasonal foods. Taste treats will be offered for visitors to sample.

The Miller-Cory House Museum is also available weekday mornings for tours for school or other groups, as well as after school for Boy and Girl Scout groups. All tours must be arranged in advance.

For information on tours, Sunday programs, or volunteer opportunities at the museum, please call 908-232-1776 weekdays between 9 a.m. and noon.

Register for summer youth baseball

The Union County Baseball Association invites young baseball players – boys and girls – ages 8 to 15, to register for its Summer Youth League baseball teams.

Sign-ups for the summer league will be held at the Warinanco Park Boat House in Roselle on four Saturdays, beginning May 10 and continuing on May 17, May 31 and June 7, from 9 a.m. to noon each day.

All games are played in Warinanco Park. For more information call 908- 789-3686, or visit the Union County Baseball Association Website at www.ucba-nj.org.

Hike Sierra Trail at Trailside

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders offers a guided educational hike along a section of the Sierra Trail in the Watchung Reservation from the Trailside Nature and Science Center in Mountainside on May 17, from 9 a.m. to noon.

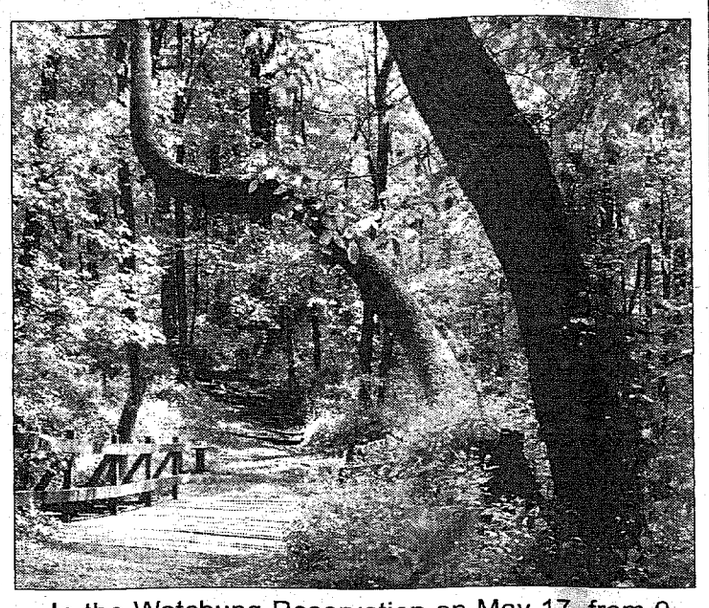
"May is a beautiful time to explore the Reservation and enjoy the sights and sounds of spring and the great outdoors," said Freeholder Chairman Angel G. Estrada.

The Watchung Reservation is the largest protected area of land in Union County. Its scenic 2,060 acres offer a variety of habitats for plants and animals.

Join a Trailside park naturalist on a hike along a portion of the Sierra Trail to learn about the diversity of flora and fauna living in the reservation.

Explore mixed hardwood forests surrounding Trailside and Watchung Stable as well as wetland areas at the headwaters of Lake Surprise.

Please dress for the weather and bring water, a snack and an interest in and love for the outdoors. Sturdy hiking shoes are highly recommended. The hiking pace will be moderate.



In the Watchung Reservation on May 17, from 9 a.m. to noon, adults ages 18 and older are invited to take a hike along a portion of the Sierra Trail. Pre-registration is recommended as space is limited. Call 908-789-3670 or visit www.ucnj.org/trailside.

Pre-registration is recommended as space is limited.

Trailside Nature and Science Center is located at 452 New Providence Road in Mountainside and is a service of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

For more information about this workshop or other activities at Trailside, call 908-789-3670 or visit us on the Web site at www.ucnj.org/trailside.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Everything is OK with this family

By Bea Smith
Staff Writer

It takes a theatrical family to inspire families of all ages to to attend a stage musical, such as "Oklahoma!"

That theatrical family, led by Juan Pineda of Scotch Plains, who has acted professionally for 12 years and appeared in Broadway's "Miss Saigon" for six years, will play an intricate part in the success of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical opening May 2 at the Cranford Dramatic Club.

"We're a real team, my family and I," said Pineda the other afternoon. "This is my first ever time as a director of a major musical, although I have directed our non-profit opera company. My brother, Fausto, who also is a choreographer, is my co-director, and he's also a dancer. My wife, Valerie Pineda, whom I met during the Broadway run of 'Miss Saigon,' is our music director. My sister, Patricia Pineda, is the assistant director. We like to keep it all in the family," he laughed.

Pineda indicated that there are about 35 people in the show, from age eight to the 60s, "and we all work very hard together and we get along. We are all excited because 'Oklahoma!' is the kind of show to see as a family. You know, this is one of the 10 best musicals of all times. It's going to be a great experience for everyone."

His family also works with him on his non-profit opera company called The Little Opera Company, and it has already staged two operas at the Cranford Dramatic Club. "The CDC is a community-oriented company and a great locale for our shows. I've directed many of our operas and summer shows there"

He indicated that "my family has a lot of things going in the performing arts. We have been with the opera company for six years, and we're hoping to make our home at the Cranford Dramatic Club." Pineda also gives private voice lessons in his spare time.

How did the idea of directing such a huge musical in Cranford come about?

"Some years ago," Pineda recalled, "I appeared in the title role of 'Jesus Christ, Superstar' at the Cranford Dramatic Club. Actually, the CDC had always shied away from such a large production for years because 'Oklahoma!' is such a big show. But the producers, Judy Chandler and Liz Howard, always wanted to do 'Oklahoma!' Currently, however, they thought this was the right time. So, they contacted me to direct the musical. I was very flattered when they asked me. And," he chuckled, "they knew what a great team my family was. They agreed that in order to bring my creative team to the production, they knew it happened to be my family. They also knew that we had been working with the New Jersey Workshop for the Arts in summer programs for several years."

He added that they are adding two shows with his company, The Pineda Conservatory for the Arts, at the CDC for young people.

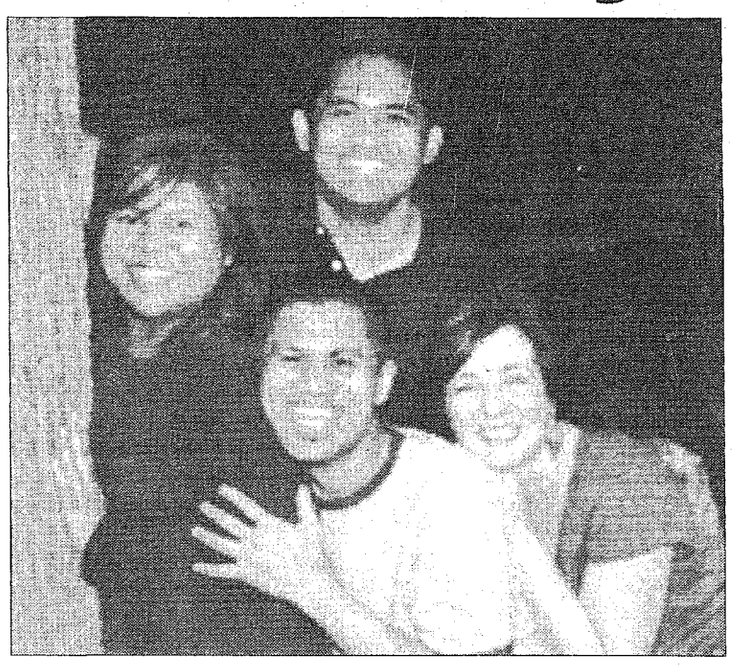
Pineda likes working with a large cast, the principals and the ensemble. The leading roles are played by Chris Grimm as Curly, Connie Chandler as Laurie, Kevin Kessler as Jud, Michael Miguel as Will, Alison Acquafredda as Annie, Joel Redmoudt as Ali, Sam Rosalysky as Andrew and Maureen Monroe as Aunt Eller.

"My brother and I are used to working with a large group of people," he said. "Thirty-five people are a lot of people, but it works out. We've been in rehearsals and right now, it looks great. The more people we have, the more opportunity we have to be be creative. We always see it as a positive. We have more to work with."

Pineda reiterated, "We have a wonderful cast. The members all got along during rehearsals. And you know," he said pensively, "it makes my job and my brother's job easy. We have worked long, long hours, usually from five to seven hours a day; now that we're getting closer, it's a full day. And would you believe — they're having a great time — which means more energy."

The director stated that "We really set out to have a cast that was very diversified in age. And we ended up with a really great cast. Many of them come from far away, and many have full time jobs. But they give so much of themselves to their various roles."

"Oklahoma!" will run weekends from May 2 through May 17, with a special Mother's Day matinee on May 11. Just the thought of a family entertaining families, and mothers in particular, is, to Pineda, "a really great experience."



"Oklahoma!" will be performed at the CDC Theatre located at 78 Winans Avenue in Cranford at 8 p.m. on Fridays, May 2, 9, 16, and Saturdays, May 3, 10, and 17, and 3 p.m. on May 11. Tickets for Oklahoma are on sale now. Reserve your spot at www.cdctheatre.org or by calling 908-276-7611. 'Cat on the Hot Tin Roof' sizzles in Summit

By Bea Smith
Staff Writer

Unless a director and her group of actors are extremely familiar with the intricacies of Tennessee Williams' life and his controversial plays, they would be completely lost in their attempt to interpret his works.

Not so, however, with director Joann Scanlon. She found a way to bring Williams' play, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" to a scathing reality; with a fine cast that seems to know how to reach into the heights of the playwright's emotions and thrust them at an audience.

And that's exactly what they all did on opening night April 25 at the Summit Playhouse's 291st production.

The award-winning play, staged more than 10 decades ago on Broadway. and then turned into a fantastically successful movie, in 1958, starring Elizabeth Taylor, Paul Newman and Burl Ives, is set on a huge southern fertile farm in July.

It seems its wealthy proprietor, Big Daddy, who is unaware of a diagnosis of stomach cancer, is about to celebrate his birthday. He is bombarded by a family, whose members are at odds with each other, many of whom are zealously awaiting the inheritance of his property.

One son, Brick, a proverbial athlete, who has gone on a "jumping, drunken rampage," and has broken his leg in the process, has his own problems with his anger, due to his closest friend, Skipper's relationship with Brick's provocatively beautiful wife, Maggie, and Skipper's ultimate suicide.

Brick is the only one, who is not interested in his father's property. He has, in fact, managed to drunkenly defend himself against his loving wife's attempts to seduce him. Maggie, who appears most of the time on stage in revealing underwear, describes herself as a cat on a hot tin roof, who is truly in love with her husband.

Tennessee Williams' Cat on a Hot Tin Roof continues at the Summit Playhouse. The play will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday and May 9 and 10 at 8 p.m. with a Sunday matinee at 2 p.m. , which is a signed performance. A.J. Liana, left, and Lynn Langone of Cranford star in the play.

Then there is Big Daddy's older son, Gooper, a devious lawyer, who is so anxious to give Big Daddy heirs, and therefore inherit his property, that he and his anxious wife, Mae, have produced five kids, with another one on the way. Unfortunately, Big Daddy, hates the obnoxious brats.

Big Mama, who also is unaware of the true prognosis, tries to keep the family together, to bring some segment of peace to a disjointed bunch. However, she is repelled by her husband and merely tolerated by the rest of the family.

The principal cast offers an authenticity to the Williams play with strong, acting talents, a rare professionalism and true southern accents that would make Williams proud. Lynn Langone is marvelous in the title role of Maggie, the Cat. In attempting to straighten out her marriage and retain her husband's love, her explanations of her association with Brick's unfortunate, homosexual-type best friend, ring true.

A.J. Liana, a husky, handsome hunk of a man, plays Brick with an emotionalism rarely seen on a contemporary stage.

Hank Barre as Big Daddy, a boisterous, complicated, angry man, gives an explosive performance. Diane Gilch as Big Mama is absolutely wonderful in a difficult role.

Mark Szabo who plays Goober, is equally wonderful as the henpecked, selfish lawyer-son of Big Daddy. Bridget Burke Weiss is annoyingly splendid as Mae, as she voices opinions that are completely ignored.

The others in the cast are completely convincing. They include John Becker as Doctor Baugh, Ed Schroeder as Reverend Tooker, and the five youngsters, Samantha Ord Feher, Max Gerber, Zoe Heard, Julia Heckelman and Alexandra Della Sala.

The setting is the big bedroom of Maggie and Brick's, where all the action takes place. It is bright and appropriate for all the goings-on, thanks to J. Guerdon Mayfield and Rhoda Roper.

"Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," will run at the Summit Playhouse Thursday, Friday and Saturday and May 9 and 10 at 8 p.m. with a Sunday matinee at 2 p.m. , which is a signed performance.

"Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" in Summit is a whale of a play that actually simmers, performed with excellence and true feeling.

It is a real tribute to the memory of Tennessee Williams.

HOROSCOPE

This week:

ARIES, March 21-April 20

Aries, there's so much in store for you this week that it's simply too much to even wrap your head around right now. Rest up when you can and enjoy the moments.

TAURUS, April 21-May 21

Rather than shrink into the crowd, as you're apt to do sometimes, Taurus, you need to assert yourself in a positive way at work. You'll earn more respect from peers.

GEMINI, May 22-June 21

Gemini, birthday wishes are right around the corner and you're gearing up for as much fun as possible. But remember that you have to save some attention for serious matters, too.

CANCER, June 22-July 22

Cancer, it's important to have a sense of humor, but don't make jokes at the expense of others. A sharp tongue could land you in trouble on Wednesday.

LEO, July 23-August 23

You're caught off guard this week, Leo, and that's a good thing. It's not wise to plan every moment of your life because sometimes the best things can happen unexpectedly.

VIRGO, August 24-Sept. 22

What seems like a great idea at first, Virgo, quickly dissolves into something you'd want to avoid in the light of day. Things aren't always what they seem, so keep an eye peeled.

LIBRA, Sept. 23-Oct. 23

Libra, you expertly turn something that could have been a blunder into something to your benefit. Your people skills will help you to avoid a mishap, but it won't always be that way.

SCORPIO, Oct. 24-Nov. 22

Slow down, Scorpio. It's remarkable how many things you can accomplish if you take them one at a time. Multitasking is overrated, especially this week.

SAGITTARIUS. Nov. 23-Dec. 21

Sagittarius, there's much more to being happy than just putting on a good show for others. You have to examine your inner thoughts and feelings and get in tune with yourself first.

CAPRICORN, Dec. 22-Jan. 20

Getting ahead isn't as important as feeling satisfied and proud with what you are doing, Capricorn. So don't worry if you haven't yet caught up with your timeline for success.

AQUARIUS, Jan. 21-Feb. 18

Aquarius, a resolution to get in shape is met with mixed results from friends and family. But making any strides to be healthy is a step in the right direction at this time.

PISCES, Feb. 19-March 20

Others are in awe of your cheery disposition, Pisces. No one can get you down this week. And believe that some will certainly try.

Famous birthdays:

May 4 - Lance Bass, singer, 29-years-old.

May 5 - Danielle Fishel, actress, 27.

May 6 - George Clooney, actor, 47.

May 7 - Tim Russert, journalist, 58.

May 8 - Melissa Gilbert, actress, 44.

May 9 - Steve Yzerman, athlete, 43.

May 10 - Paul "Bono" Hewson, singer, 48.

Behar gives her view on The View

By Jackeline Leon
Staff Writer

Comedian Joy Behar, the vivacious red-head seen daily on the non-stop show "The View" is set to grace the stage of the Union County Performing Arts Center in Rahway on Saturday.

The Brooklyn native set aside some time to get local readers better acquainted with the woman behind the entertainer.

Q. Where did you get your ideas for your comedy shows? Do many come from personal experience?

A. Much of my stand-up comes from my life,and that includes my life on TV. I also like to talk about social and political ideas.

Q. What is the most shocking interview you have seen on The View and why?

A. Nothing shocks me. We have had some fun over the years with guests like Danny DeVito, for instance, and occasionally there have been tense moments.

Q. Do you have a say in who gets interviewed on The View and if not is there someone you think the ladies of The View should interview that has no been on yet?

A. We all have input, but the bulk of the bookings are decided without us. I would like to have Mel Brooks on the show, also Woody Allen.

Q. You've written books, done stand-up, acting and co-host on The View. Which has been the most challenging and which has been the most rewarding?

A. I also had a radio show, which I love. No makeup, no hairdo issues. Stand-up is the most difficult, but also the most rewarding because it is a solo job. The View is by far the least difficult as I have my "sister" to pick up any slack.

Comedian Joy Behar

Q. How do you prepare for a comedy show and The View? Do you prepare the same way for both or does it differ?

A. The preparation for both is similar in that I read a lot of news and magazines and then talk about them, but The View changes every single day.

Battery Theater tryouts

Battery Factory Theater will hold auditions for "Children of Eden" on Tuesday and May 8 at 7:30 p.m.

Auditions will be held at SOPAC, 1 SOPAC Way, South Orange —behind the South Orange Train Station.

The show runs July 11-20. Wear dance or comfortable shoes and clothes that you can move in.

Call 973-325-0795 for more information.

The roles to be cast are: Father, Adam, Eve, Cain, Able, Seth, Noah, Momma, Noah, Japheth, Ham, Shem, Aphra, Aysha, Yonah, Young Cain, Young Abel, Snake. Additionally, an ensemble of strong dancers and/or singers are needed. Adults and children age 6 and up will be considered.

Bring a photo and resume. Please prepare a song with sheet music in your key. An accompanist will be provided.

UC employees take home arts awards

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders will recognize local artists and present awards at a reception on Tuesday at the Seventh Annual Exhibit and Contest for County of Union Employees and Their Relatives. The reception and awards ceremony will begin at 5:30 p.m. at the Elizabethtown Gas Company, located at Liberty Hall Center, 1085 Morris Avenue in Union Township.

Presented in partnership with the National Arts Program, the exhibit offers County of Union employees and their families an opportunity to display their art work. The exhibit will be open weekdays from May 6 to June 2, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

"The Freeholders share the goal of the National Arts Program to reach as many people as possible of all ages, offering them a chance to show their creations," said Freeholder Chairman Angel G. Estrada. "We invite the public to view this exceptional artwork."

Three prominent artists and arts professionals are judging the show: Elisa Kessler-Caporale, Gail Holy and Ben Venezio.

Elisa Kessler-Caporale creates sculptural baskets and demonstrates basket weaving throughout the tri-state area. She teaches locally at County Teen Arts Programs, senior centers, after-school programs, the Morris and Newark Museums, and was a guest artist at the Discover Charter School in Newark. Kessler-Caporale has a B.A. in Art History from Western College for Women, Oxford, Ohio, and was a design assistant for Harcourt Brace Jovanovich Publishers after graduation. She was a volunteer at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City and worked on children's programs for their centennial year. She exhibits in juried shows throughout the United States and recently won a sculpture prize at the Visual Arts Center of New Jersey in Summit. She was awarded First Place for Professional Crafts in the Union County Senior Art Show and went on to win First Place in the State Senior Art Show in 2007.

Holy received her M.Ed. in Art Education at the Tyler School of Art, Philadelphia, and studied painting and art history at Rutgers University.

Holy taught studio art at the high school level for five years in New Jersey public schools. She currently teaches a variety of art education courses at Kean University in the Department of Fine Arts, and is a field supervisor who observes student art teachers in the classroom.

Holy has had a number of careers in the arts field, including a position as a curatorial assistant for the Mary H. Dana Women Artists Series at Douglass College, and as a Senior Director for the Universal Music Group in New York, where she managed the copyright division and licensed MCA copyrights for use in film, advertising, television, and video. Her recent work-in-progress is a series of artists' books.

Ben Venezio has pursued the art of photography for more than 40 years through camera clubs and art association activities. He started in 1968 with the Union Camera Club and joined other clubs over the years, becoming president of the Cranford/Millburn Club and later president of the Camera Naturalist Club in Basking Ridge, named Best Camera Club in the Country in 2004 by Nature's Best Magazine. Over the years he has won many awards, including top slide honors six times and runner-up three times from the New Jersey Federation of Camera Clubs. His photography has been written about many times in the Star-Ledger and other newspapers and his images have been shown in galleries throughout New Jersey and published in calendars and Nature's Best Magazine.

Venezio was awarded a citation from NJFCC in 2000 for his years of work in judging, presenting photography programs and for his efforts in promoting photography.

The National Arts Program currently runs 81 annual programs reaching 450 cities in 43 states. The program was conceived by Leonard E.B. Andrews, an art collector, publisher, business executive and journalist "for the encouragement and development of artistic expression."

The aim of the National Arts Program is to provide an uninhibited opportunity for people to present their talent, at whatever level, in a free, public exhibition.

The National Arts Program is sponsored by The National Arts Program Foundation of Malvern, Pennsylvania. To learn more about the program, visit www.thenationalartsprogram.org .

Additional support for this event is provided by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, Department of State, a partner agency of the National Endowment for the Arts.

Hear Handel's anthems at St. Paul

It is Sunday evening at 7 p.m., St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Westfield and you — along with an audience that fills the church to capacity — are witnessing the St. Paul's Church Choir's 22nd Annual Spring Concert.

All four of Handel's Coronation Anthems are being performed by the Choir, in concert with players from the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra. St. Paul's Episcopal Church is located at 414 E. Broad Street. Andrew C. Hamersley, rector.

For directions, telephone 908-232-8506 ext. 10.

Concert starts promptly at 7 p.m, so plan to be there early to get a seat.

Imagine yourself in Westminster Abbey, London, England. It is June 2nd, 1953, and you — along with TV viewers around the world — are witnessing the coronation of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, age 25. The music is stately, wonderful. You are especially moved by Zadok the Priest, the first of four Coronation Anthems composed by George Frederick Handel.

Well, okay, maybe you and many other music enthusiasts were too young —or not even born— in 1953 to watch the young Queen's coronation and hear the music of Handel played. Hopefully, however, there is nothing to stop you now. In addition to the Biblically inspired Coronation Anthems — parts of which have been played at every English monarch's coronation since Handel composed them in 1727.

You will see and hear St. Paul's magnificent organ, with its four manuals, 55 pipe ranks, and 114 digital voices. Guaranteed, the depth and breadth of sound on this magnificent instrument will blow you away.

Concertmaster Brennan Sweet will preside over NJSO's string section. Most recently, Sweet was acting concertmaster with NJSO for the stunningly beautiful world premier performance of Darryl Kubian's 3-2-1 for Electric and Acoustic Violin and Orchestra. Sweet is featured as violin soloist in the Adagio for Organ and Strings

As for Concert Conductor Charles M. Banks, it can be said with certainty —if past concerts are any indication— that he will lead his May 4th singers and instrumentalists to peak performance. The Minister of Music at St. Paul's since 1986, Banks holds a special place in the hearts of all who know him, his good works and his performance skills as church/concert organist and conductor of the choir.

UC Division of Aging comes to your town

The Union County Department of Human Services, Division on Aging, will bring its Outreach Services Program for senior adults to Garwood, Elizabeth, Clark and Rahway during the month of May.

Division on Aging staff will assist seniors with information and help in applying for a variety of government assistance programs, including gas and electric support —LIFE LINE, pharmaceutical assistance —PAAD, and home energy assistance —HEAP.

There will also be screening for Supplemental Security Income —SSI— eligibility, and information about the Senior Health Insurance Program —SHIP.

"The Freeholders of Union County encourage elderly, isolated individuals from throughout the county who meet eligibility requirements to apply for vital services through our outreach program," said Freeholder Chester Holmes, liaison to the Union County Advisory Council on Aging. "These services can supplement the basic needs of the isolated elderly and sustain or improve their lives."

"Our staff will conduct private interviews on request," Freeholder Holmes added.

The Outreach Services Program will visit the following locations:

• May 1, from 1 to 2 p.m. at the Garwood Seniors, 415 South Avenue —Fire House Building, Garwood.

• May 7, from 11 a.m. to noon at the Elizabeth Towers, 315 West Grand Street, Elizabeth.

• May 15, from 12:15 to 1:15 p.m. at the Clark Seniors, 430 Westfield Avenue —Clark Municipal Building, Clark.

• May 20, from 10 to 11 a.m. at the Rosegate Senior Housing, 555 East Hazelwood Avenue, Rahway.

• May 22, from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Peterstown Community Center, 408 Palmer Street, Elizabeth.

• May 29, from 11 a.m. to noon at the Elizabeth Center Apartments, 815 Pearl Street, Elizabeth.

For further information on the Outreach Services Program and other programs offered by the Union County Division on Aging, call the division's toll-free number: 1-888-280-8226.

Taxpayers: "Where's my refund"

Taxpayers who have filed their federal income tax returns and are expecting their refunds can use the Internal Revenue Service's online tool, "Where's My Refund?," to check on the status of their refunds.

"Where's My Refund?" is fast, easy, safe and convenient. Nearly 9.7 million taxpayers have checked the status of their 2007 federal income tax refunds online, up about 18 percent over the same time period last year.

Approximately 75 percent of all New Jersey filers are expected to receive refunds this year.

To get to personalized refund information, taxpayers should be ready to enter their:

• Social Security Number —or Taxpayer Identification Number.

• Filing status —single, married filing joint return, married filing separate return, head of household or qualifying widow—er.

• Exact refund amount shown on their tax returns.

Taxpayers can check on the status of their refund seven days after e-filing a return. For a paper return, check four to six weeks after mailing the return.

"Where's My Refund?" also includes links to customized information based on a taxpayer's specific situation. For example if "Where's My Refund?" shows that the IRS was unable to deliver a refund, a taxpayer can change his or her address online. Taxpayers can avoid undelivered refund checks by having their refunds directly deposited into a personal checking or savings account. Last year, 3,646 New Jerseyans had undelivered refund checks returned to the IRS.

If 28 days have passed after the IRS says it mailed a refund check, "Where's My Refund?" enables taxpayers to initiate a trace.

Taxpayers without internet access can check the status of their refunds by calling the IRS Refund Hotline at 800-829-1954.

Some scam artists are sending phony emails, including those relating to "Where's My Refund?", to trick individuals into revealing personal financial information that can be used to access their financial accounts. People who want to access the genuine IRS Web site and the "Where's My Refund?" feature should go directly to the IRS Web site by typing the address, www.irs.gov, into the address' line of their Internet window. The only genuine IRS Web site is IRS.gov.

Dates set for paper shredding

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders announces the schedule for the mobile paper-shredding program. Accurate Document Destruction Inc. will bring the mobile paper shredder to the designated sites throughout Union County. This year, four additional dates have been added. All events run from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., rain or shine.

"We are very excited to offer this service to our residents again this year. The program began last year and it was well received by our residents," said Union County Freeholder Chairman Angel G. Estrada. "This service helps our residents eliminate clutter and fight identity theft. It is also a cost effective way to assist the county's recycling efforts; this program ties in nicely with our other Go Green Initiatives."

There were six mobile shredding events held in 2007. More than 600 participants came out and 34,409 pounds of paper were shredded. The shredded paper was recycled which saved more than 275 trees. Ten events will be held this year, with one coordinating with Arbor Day. The 2008 dates are as follows:

• May 8, Westfield Pool, 713 Cumberland St., Westfield.

• May 14, Orange Avenue Pool, Orange Avenue, Cranford.

• June 26, Union County Vo-Tech, 1776 Raritan Road, Scotch Plains.

• July 23, Rahway City Hall, City Hall Plaza, Rahway.

• September 18, Linden Recycling Center, 2 Donaldson Pl, Linden.

• September 27, Lucent/Alcatel, 600 Mountain Avenue, New Providence.

• October 7, Warinanco Park, St. Georges Avenue, Roselle.

• November 1, Schering Plough, Galloping Hill Road, Kenilworth.

All Union County residents are eligible to use the program. Participants are asked to properly prepare their documents for shredding. All papers should be removed from envelopes and loose. Documents should not be bound. Residents are asked to limit the amount of shred materials to 3 bags/boxes of important documents.

Pesticides are needed to keep the environment safe

"In a perfect world, there would be no insect and rodent pests," said Leonard Douglen, executive director of the New Jersey Pest Management Association. "One prediction for 2008 is that everyone runs the risk of experiencing a pest problem. We will all continue to read and hear that pesticides are a greater threat to health than the pests, and that is just not true."

Citing the book, "It's Getting Better All the Time," by Stephen Moore and Julian L. Simon, a study of the greatest trends of the last 100 years, Douglen quoted a section on health which reads, "The health of Americans improved in many ways during the 20th century that can only be described as miraculous. Death and infant mortality rates plunged; life expectancy rose by 64 percent; and almost all of the killer diseases throughout human existence were conquered over the course of the century."

"Part of the reason the health of Americans has improved so dramatically has been the careful, proper use of pesticides to control nature's massive populations of insect and rodent pests. Americans rightly assume that, whether they are in a supermarket, a hospital, a school, or a restaurant, it will be pest-free. Given the capacity of pests to reproduce, that is a miracle in itself, but it is also a tribute to an unsung army of pest management professionals who are at work ensuring that the pests don't get the upper hand," Douglen said.

Douglen took aim at "the various special interest groups that benefit by frightening the public about the use of pesticides."

"These groups raise millions of dollars with their fear campaigns, but ultimately they are putting everyone at risk in their endless quest to ban pesticides. No modern society would last very long if they succeeded," he said.

In an article by Joseph Bast, published in the December edition of Environmental & Climate News, the author writes, "Age-adjusted cancer rates in the U.S. have been falling, according to the National Cancer Institute, since the early 1990s, even while the generation that was most likely to have been exposed to pesticides has reached retirement age."

"A connection between pesticides and cancer is the most familiar charge leveled against their use, but Dr. Bruce Ames, a University of California biochemist, has demonstrated that we consume 10,000 times more naturally occurring potential carcinogens than man-made pesticide residues, by weight, and yet these natural carcinogens pose no health threat because their amounts are so small," said Douglen.

The public, said Douglen, is rarely told of the many benefits from the proper use of pesticides.

"The most obvious benefit is protection against the many pests that spread disease from cockroaches to rats. Keeping the mosquito population in check insures against malaria, a disease that kills 5 million Africans every year. Here, in the U.S., we have seen the West Nile Fever spread from the East to the West coasts in the last few years, and the threat of Lyme disease continues as well."

Property, too, is protected. More property is lost to the predation of termites every year than the combined total of those lost to fires and floods," said Douglen.

People have every right to protest if a local school is overrun with vermin or if cockroaches are found in its cafeteria. The same holds true for their favorite fast-food establishment or restaurant," said Douglen. "Why would they then support the many efforts to ban the use of these beneficial chemicals, pesticides that would insure a pest-free environment whether it was in their schools, their community parks, or anywhere else people gather for work or play?"

In one sense, 2008 can be pest-free," said Douglen.

"New Jersey is home to some of the best pest management firms in the nation and the association has worked closely with the Department of Environmental Protection and other agencies to ensure that the highest standards of licensing and certification exist. Having one's home or workplace inspected for signs of an infestation is a wise precaution to keep it pest-free," said Douglen.

The association and its members are affiliated with the National Pest Management Association and can be reached at www.njpestcontrol.com/nj where information about common pests and a directory of member firms are also available.

Before buying a car for your teen, lay down rules

Sweet 16 signals "vroom, vroom" for many youngsters, yet the road to freedom comes with a lot of financial responsibility. Just how much may surprise teens and parents alike.

Mike Sullivan, director of education for Take Charge America, a national nonprofit credit counseling agency, says the cost of a car is only part of the picture.

"Additional insurance premiums for a young driver can put a financial strain on parents who are living paycheck-to-paycheck," he said. "Premiums for another vehicle can be very high, especially when the primary driver is a new, young driver. Even if the teen driver doesn't have his or her own vehicle, there is still the added cost of gas and maintenance on the family vehicle from the additional use."

According to the 2005 Autoextra.com "Kids' First Car Survey," 76 percent of students aged 16 to 22 have their own cars. About 54 percent of those students paid $10,000 or less for their vehicle. Sullivan says some teens may need help putting that cost into perspective.

"Many students work minimum wage jobs. It would take more than 1,900 hours of work, an entire year at a full-time job, just to purchase a $10,000 car on that wage," he said.

Sullivan describes five "must-discuss" financial issues for parents and their teens who want a chance to get behind the wheel:

• Regardless of whether you buy used or new, it's important to do your research and shop around for the best price. Keep in mind that the total price of the car is generally higher than the ticket price. Consider gas mileage and maintenance costs as you make your decision. Don't forget to call your insurance agent to get quotes for coverage on the vehicle before you buy; the differences in insurance cost for different vehicles can be surprising. If you decide to buy used, research prices in the Kelley Blue Book. The Web site, www.kbb.com, allows you to compare new and used car values by make and model. Lower miles on used cars are better if you plan to resell and you may still be covered for some maintenance under the warranty. You also need to research how the previous owner treated the vehicle. You can do this by requesting a report from www.carfax.com. When making a deal, get everything in writing, you don't want any surprises that could force you to pay out even more cash for repairs or new parts. It is always a good idea to have a trusted mechanic look over a used car before you buy.

• Car loans are an effective way to build credit, yet most companies will require a co-signer for teens, because the age group generally lacks credit history and collateral. If the loan is in the teen's name and the teen can't afford to make the payments, the person who co-signed is responsible. Parents and their teens need to discuss who will make the payments and the importance of making payments on time in order to avoid negative credit ratings for both the teen and the co-signer which can, in turn, prevent both parties from qualifying for credit cards and other loans.

• The United States has been battling record gas prices for more than a year. Lengthy commutes to school or work can suck up cash quickly. Sharing your ride and the costs of gasoline with other commuters can lighten the burden. The type of vehicle you drive is only part of the gas mileage equation; good gas mileage is also dependent upon proper maintenance. Low tire pressure and improper oil levels decrease gas mileage, which can cause you to shell out even more money in gas. Regular maintenance is vital to keeping the car in good condition for years to come, so be sure to include the costs of maintenance in determining your car budget. In order to avoid unnecessary or "trumped up" car maintenance costs, be a well-informed consumer. Read your car manual to better understand required maintenance. Establish a relationship with a mechanic if possible for regular maintenance. Get several bids for any major repairs and check with the Better Business Bureau and related agencies before you turn your car over to just any auto repair shop.

• Shelling out $2,000 for insurance a year isn't uncommon for teens with their own cars, and that figure could already include discounts for good grades and driver education courses, which are musts for teens who want to get behind the wheel. If a teen will be sharing the family car, there is the option of being added to a parent or guardian's existing insurance policy. Regardless, it won't be cheap. Piggy-backing off an adult's policy can cause the premiums to double, depending on your location. Insurance rates will rise if a teen owns a high-performance sports car, or a vehicle that lacks safety features. Young males also pay more per year than their female counterparts. Choosing a higher deductible will lower insurance premiums but if a teen gets into an accident, they will be forced to pay much more money out of pocket to get the problem fixed.

• One little ticket can lead to huge financial burdens, especially for young males who are more likely to get into accidents, according to the insurance industry. Excessive speeding or reckless driving can cause premiums to soar hundreds of dollars a year. While one ticket may be covered by defensive driving school in some states, insurance companies may drop drivers with multiple tickets and/or accidents.

Shop smart buying for a teen

By Mark Maynard
Copley News Service

Whether shopping for a new or used vehicle for a teenager, here are a few dos and don'ts from the editors at www.KBB.com:

• Do your homework before you buy anything.

• Check safety ratings, crash test results and rollover ratings.

• Do a side-by-side comparison of the top three vehicles you are considering. Comparisons are available at www.KBB.com, www.Edmunds.com and other online consumer automotive sites.

• Don't buy a car for your teen without driving it yourself.

• If you are considering a used vehicle, have it checked out by a local and reputable service shop or mobile mechanic.

• If the car will be bought from an individual, print the private-party value from www.KBB.com as well as Kelley Blue Book's 27-point vehicle Condition Quiz to take with you. These items will help you determine the "actual" condition and value of the vehicle.

• Always check a used automobile's vehicle identification number using a service such as www.Carfax.com, a pay site that will give a summary of when and where the vehicle was bought and how many times it changed hands, and warn of possible odometer rollback, salvage title, etc.

• Don't let your teen talk you into buying a vehicle you are not comfortable with.

• If you are a teen, do your car research before you meet with mom or dad to show them you are responsible and ready for a car.
