CRANFORD HIGH SCHOOL
CRANFORD - NEW JERSEY

Foreword

Our four years of high school now completed, we, the class of nineteen hundred and thirty-five, wait upon the eve of graduation. Saddened by the thought of separation from our school days and the many happy hours spent together in Cleveland High, we yet look eagerly forward to our first taste of the life for which we have been so long preparing.

Dedication

To MISS LUCY O. TEAGUE

whose thoughtfulness and leadership have guided us throughout our high school years, we, the class of nineteen hundred and thirty-five respectfully dedicate this, the fourth issue of the "Golden C."

Acknowledgements

THE Senior Class wishes to express its gratitude to the following people and organizations:

The Parent-Teachers' Association, which has aided our class in many ways.

The College Club of Cranford, which has been of great service in helping our undecided classmates choose the school which they wish to attend next year.

The merchants who have helped make this annual possible by giving us their advertising.

The underclassmen of C. H. S. who have rendered immeasurable assistance to us by helping make our class functions successes.

And all the people and organizations who have presented scholarships or prizes to the members of the graduation class.

Class Song

For four short years we've lingered,
Within thy rooms and halls.
We leave thee, Alma Mater,
But still we hear thy calls.

We can't forget the pleasure
That we have known with thee;
Thy ways we will remember,
Thy standards always see.

Before us have gone others,
Who held thy banners high;
And may we like them honor,
Thy name until we die.

Our four short years are over;
They bound us, made us friends.
We'll always sing thy praises;
Thy glory never ends.

JOHN MANNING '35.

Class History

THE Class of 1935 was first seen struggling through a maze of legs which supported the upperclassmen. The object—to find their names on the bulletin board which was by the side entrance. After they had disentangled themselves and had become adjusted to the exhausting life of high school students, they began their destined work, just as every other class has done and probably always will do, by electing their class officers. They were President, Howard Goodman; Vice-President, Robert Harris; Secretary, Jessie Crumback; Treasurer, Louis Kramer. These officers have the distinction of being the last freshmen class officers, because since then classes have not been organized until the sophomore year.

When it was our turn to belittle the Freshmen, we chose as Chief Belittler, Virginia DiFabio; John Pavelka as her assistant; Treasurer, Howard Goodman; Secretary, George Reusch. These officers, however, had jobs other than belittling. They presided over class meetings. During one of the more or less tempestuous would-be discussions, the class chose as its colors, crimson and gray; the flower, crimson rambler; motto, "Not School, but Life."

In our Junior year, we elected George Reusch to reign supreme and gave John Manning control of the gavel in event of the former's absence. Robert Harris managed the finances, and Howard Goodman wrote the minutes. Our Junior Sub Dance was successful socially—if not financially. We were very proud of the fact that we won the Junior-Senior Debate and incidentally, five dollars. Though the first place medals went to Seniors, the medal for second place was won by Wade Poston of our team. The Junior-Senior Dance would have been the most successful dance of the year financially if there had been tickets instead of bids.

Our Senior year, better known as the most important year of high school, the year of leadership, the year of—any other intricate phrase—started with the usual formalities of electing officers. They were President, John Pavelka; Vice-President, Joseph Matteson; Secretary, Vincent Lusardi; Treasurer, Robert Harris. Someone apparently put a spell on these people, however, for two of them resigned before the year was over. The secretaryship was given to Constance Nelson, and Margaret Robertson became the new Vice-President. A program consisting of a dance and basketball game carried us well along the road to financial security. The Senior Sport Dance, which the Senior mothers sponsored, also helped us toward this goal. We expect to hear the members of our debating team speak in Congress some day, as they were the first team in several years to win the Junior-Senior Debate for two years in succession. Our Senior Play, entitled "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," by Jerome K. Jerome was the crowning success of the year.

Quod est faciendum.

Class Prophecy

Time: 1945

Scene: Grand Central Station

Ralph Fairman (Train announcer): Special train coming in from San Francisco on track five—Special train—San Francisco—track five—(as the train draws near, David Swarts is seen at the throttle, and Howard Arnesen, the fireman, jumps off. Conductor George James opens the door of the train, and Senator Goodman steps to the platform amid cheering crowds. Vincent Stabile's City Service Band strikes up "True Pals" in welcome).

Porter (Walter Williams): May I take your bags, Senator?

Goodman: My secretary, Mr. Harris, will take them. What's that crowd over there? (He is interrupted by the loud voice of John Pavelka who is in a policeman's uniform and standing in the center of the crowd.)

Pavelka (pulling Horton Emory out from under the train): Come on out from there. What's the big idea bumming rides any way?

Emory (in old clothes, shakes Pavelka's arm from his shoulder and dusts himself off): Aw—come on take it easy. I came all the way from San Francisco because I heard Anne Radlinski opened a new night club on Forty-fifth street.

Pavelka: How did you find that out?

Emory: Don't you read Dorothy Reel's gossip column in the "Snappy News?" Anita Colineri, the famous torch singer is there tonight.

Pavelka: Well, well, guess I'll go with you. But come on, I've got to take you to the station now. COME ON, I said. Don't try to give me the slip. (As the two leave Lester Winn and Elsie Gunderson, from The Cranford Citizen come hurrying into the station.)

Gunderson: I don't see the Senator. We'd better ask information. (They ask Marie DiFabio at the information desk.)

DiFabio: There's the Senator standing over there. (Gunderson and Winn rush over to him.)

Gunderson: Ah, Senator, I'm a reporter from The Cranford Citizen. Have you a few words to say?

Goodman (clearing throat): I owe all my success to Cranford High School. (There is great commotion in the station as Peter Billias with his band from the Cranford Diner, rushes in and plays "True to the Gold and Blue.")

Goodman (standing very erect): Ah, certainly, certainly. (Curtis Cullin who is a sweeper, brushes up against the Senator.)

Cullin: Pardon me, but you'll have to move, I have to sweep here.

Goodman (very much upset): Harris, get me a taxi. (Buddy Born comes in wearing a taxi uniform.)

Born: Taxi! Taxi!

Goodman: All right—where's my valet. Oh, there you are, Webb. We'd better get on to the Waldorf. The Mayor is giving me a dinner tonight and I must be ready. (As they leave, Winn and Gunderson step over to the three song-birds, Jeanette Bonhag, Justine Frank, and Helen Ronnlund who are sauntering about.)

Gunderson: Have you any statements—

Frank: It's so thrilling to be back in New York. We've just finished making an all singing picture in Hollywood. We think Hollywood is simply wonderful and really—(loud arguing voices are heard and Norma Westervelt and Yemna Mokarzel walk by). Oh, my dear, have you heard, Eleanor Force is getting a divorce, and Norma and Yemna have taken the case. They are having quite a bit of trouble, for you know Eleanor's husband—they are interrupted by Josephine Shaffer and Marion Crocket who are wearing nurses' uniforms).

Shaffer: Has anyone seen Jimmy Kress around here?

Gunderson: Jimmy Kress? Why I'll have to get an interview.

Crocket: No, he's a tooth and nail specialist, and one of the best in the country, but he's so interested in automobiles and mechanics that we can't keep him at the hospital. He's scheduled for a very important operation, and we must find him.

Three Songbirds: Goodness, let's all look for him! (Everyone is excited and moves about frantically. A loud voice is suddenly heard, and Helen Cole steps out of the mob.)

Cole: As president of the Wig Maker's Association, I'll handle this. Calm yourselves everyone. Kress has been traced to the station, I believe. Where's the headwaiter in the restaurant here? Oh, there you are Mr. Conley. Will you ask your cook, if he has seen anyone?

Conley: All right, I'll ask him. Willie Ganschow should know if anyone does. He's a great cook.

Cole: I'll look in Washington's Bootblack Parlor, maybe Kress is there. (A voice sounding much like Huff, that famous crooner, is heard from the crowd.)

Huff: Kress loves corpses. I'll bet he's at Ellsworth Wilson's morgue.

Hibson (who has rushed wildly into the crowd): Oh, what a plot for a novel. Have I told you about my newest? It's all about Jessie Crumback, the actress, who after going to Florence Bracken's Theatrical School, succeeded in spite of Helen Grozan's ominous horoscope. (Marie Binder who is wearing a Salvation Army uniform and playing her violin interrupts.)

Binder: Please help the poor—(Hibson screams and stalks away tearing her hair).

Siefert (the telegraph operator): I have just received a telegram saying that Kress has been found in Dorothy Wolf's Employment Agency. He was trying to get a job as mechanic for Volckman, the trans-Mars pilot.

Huff (again yelling from crowd): Who found him?

Siefert: Lawrence Foege, the secret service detective.

Fairman: Washington flier—leaving on track seven in three minutes—Washington flier—track seven—three minutes. (Ralph Sternenberg hurries into the station and bumps into Maurice Decker who is also running for the train.)

Decker: Why don't you look where you're going? Well, if it isn't Ralph, where are you bound?

Sternenberg: I'm heading an expedition to South America to search for Mary Burton, the missionary. She's lost in Patagonia.

Decker: What a coincidence! I'm going to Washington to take out a patent on my new invention. Maybe you've heard of it—the new non-skid roller skate. Ruth Travers has been making it popular in her exhibitions at Madison Square Garden.

Fairman: Train leaving on track seven—track seven—(Sternenberg and Decker board the train).

THE END.

Class Will

We, the class of thirty-five,
 Strong and happy to be alive,
 Sound in mens, and sound in corpus,
 Firm in purpose; naught can warp us,
 Hereby ordain, give, grant, allot,
 Bestow, bequeath, supply all that
 We mention in this document
 As our last will and testament:

From the Seniors:

1. To Mr. Clement: Senior Annual Staff leaves a surprise at graduation.
2. To Miss Mifflin: A class that will read every one of the "Yale Chronicles."
3. To Mr. Quaintance: A Solid Geometry class of 50 girls.
4. To Mr. Hamblen: The words of "La Cucaracha."
5. To Miss Welch: A finger-print chart.
6. To Mr. Loveland: A piece of rubber chalk.
7. To Mrs. Breck: Permission to ride her Austin on the sidewalk.
8. To Miss Whitacre: A library with non-removable books.
9. To Miss Teague: A class that can say "oui-oui" instead of "whee-whee!"
10. To Miss Anderson: Ability to appreciate Senior composition masterpieces.
11. To Mrs. Borden: A French Club which is not invested with a keen enjoyment of gastronomical pleasures.
12. To Miss Mathews: A Senior pupil who knows that Shakespeare didn't write Chaucer.
13. To all study hall pupils: A rear mirror to see when Miss Whitacre is coming.

The Senior Play

"THE PASSING OF THE THIRD FLOOR BACK" written by Jerome K. Jerome, was the title of the annual production of the Senior Class given on March fifteenth and sixteenth. It was well received by a most appreciative audience. Its success was largely due to the very capable direction of Miss Alice Mathews and an unusually talented cast.

THE fall of the year 1933 found the present Junior Class wandering about the halls of Cranford High School as Freshmen. The first year we spent in figuring out schedules, getting used to our respective teachers, joining particular clubs in which we were interested, and following the regular routine of the school day.

At the beginning of the second year, 1934, we became alive to the fact that what we needed most was class organization. The outcome of the election of class officers was that Cyril Dadd was appointed President; Arthur Brown, Vice-President; Betty Albury, Secretary; and Frank Sprole, Treasurer.

Our third year found us really getting down to business; and, so far, it has been our most successful year. A good deal of credit goes to our class sponsor, Mr. Loveland, who impressed upon us, from the first, the great need for co-operation between class members and officers; and we have, by this means made a success of every event which we have sponsored. We are proud to say, that due to the hard work of the Dance Committee, our dances, one of which was the very important Junior-Sub, were all financially and socially successful. A profit, hardly expected, was made on the Junior-Sub. The Junior-Senior Dance, which we presented to the Seniors late in the year, was one of our greatest triumphs.

THE Class of '37 did not organize until its Sophomore year in order that its members might come to know each other better before binding themselves together into a formal group. An Executive Committee has held several meetings where matters pertaining to the class and school are discussed, and has offered much valuable advice which can be well used in later years.

Freshman Class

THE Freshman Class, which this year entered the school with greater numbers and smaller statures than any other year, is not yet organized.

National Honor Society

Sponsor: MR. CLEMENT

“TO create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote leadership and to develop character in the pupils of the school” are the aims of the National Honor Society.

The members of this society are chosen from the first quarter of the Junior and Senior classes. Fifteen per cent of the class is chosen, five per cent in the Junior year and ten per cent in the Senior year. The members are outstanding not only in scholarship but also in character, leadership, and service.

The keystone and the flaming torch compose the emblem and symbolize the aims of the society, and the initials C. S. L. S. stand for its four qualifications. The members of the present Senior class elected in their Junior year are:

THIS year the annual Junior-Senior Debate was won by the Senior Class, upholding the affirmative side. They were awarded the silver cup and a five dollar check from the Parent-Teacher Association. A gold medal donated by Mr. Wesley Stanger for the best speaker of the debate was presented to Jean Bargas. The Subject debated was, "Resolved: That Federal Aid Should Be Given to Education."

In varsity debating the Senior team met Somerville, North Plainfield, and Dover. These were lost by close decisions. The Junior team won from Union and North Plainfield High Schools, losing to Somerville.

THE Public Affairs Club is organized for the double purpose of studying national and international problems of the day, and of presenting these problems orally. The Club thus is a class in public speaking.

This year the group made a survey of important American magazines in order to determine their content and worth for students of current affairs. Interest was also expressed in the problem of war and the question of American neutrality in the event of European conflict. In this connection the club carried on correspondence with various senators and representatives.

THE French Club has had a very full and varied program. A French play, "La Faim est un grand Inventeur" was presented for our students and those of the Rahway High School. The Rahway Cercle Française presented their play "L'Homme qui épousa une femme muette" for the French students of C. H. S.

A Breton festival of music and pageantry marked the Christmas meeting which several eminent guests attended.

A medieval party at which all the members were in costumes of that period was a great success. Everyone enjoyed eating with his hands.

A trip to New York and a visit to Westfield to see a very famous Guignol were also enjoyed. At the other meetings, games in French, puppet shows presented by the first-year French students and movies of various parts of France were enjoyed.

THE Dramatic Guild, under the direction of Miss Arthur, has been an active organization during the year. It has presented a play in assembly as well as a series of monologues. Several members attended a conference of dramatic clubs at New York University. The club has endeavored to be critical in selecting and criticizing plays. Skits and one-act plays have been offered to the club for corrections and suggestions. The group enjoyed seeing a professional performance in New York.

HOCKEY again proved to be the favorite supervised sport of the girls. The Seniors for the second year carried off the honors in the inter-class tournament.

Basketball practices were very well attended throughout the winter. The Seniors, captained by Aileen Cullen, were victorious in all the games they played.

The interest in tennis has been increased this year by beginners' tennis classes. The spring and fall tournaments afforded a chance for many good matches.

The introduction of bowling to the after school schedule met with great approval. Some girls became quite proficient.

The following chart illustrates the great variety of activities offered and the number of girls participating in each one.

Football

Coach: J. S. WEEKLEY

Manager: GEORGE D. JAMES

THE graduation of '34 took quite a few veterans from our football squad, leaving a comparatively light team. However, what looked like an undefeated season received its only set-back when the Blue and Gold eleven bowed to Hillside in a closely-fought battle. But this defeat was amply compensated for by the unexpected victory over Carteret who had been headed for the State Championship. Thus Cranford avenged the defeat given them in '29 when they themselves seemed set for the crown.

The schedule was as follows:

Cranford.....	0	Glen Ridge	0
Cranford.....	6	Rover	0
Cranford.....	13	Roselle	7
Cranford.....	6	Roselle Park	0
Cranford.....	7	Rahway	3
Cranford.....	6	Union	6

Ice Hockey

Coach: MR. QUAINANCE

Manager: SAM ANDERSON

THIS young sport made a fine showing, coming off victorious in most of its hard-fought ice battles. Home games were played upon the Rahway River which made an excellent Hockey field.

Basketball

Coach: J. S. WEEKLY

WHEN almost on the verge of victory in the State Finals, the Cranford Quintet bowed to Bogota, 28-24, in a slow, dull battle. This seems to be becoming a regular Cranford practice. On the whole, however, the season was considered remarkably successful.

Baseball

Couch: MR. COFFEE

Manager: ROBERT BOLTE

THIS team, in the early days of baseball, seems to be coming into fine form. The schedule is as follows:

April 18—Carteret, away.
 April 20—Alumni, home.
 April 23—Chatham, home.
 May 6—Linden, home.
 May 7—Millburn, away.
 May 10—Roselle Park, away.
 May 14—Hillside, home.
 May 17—Summit, home.
 May 24—Roselle Park, home.
 May 27—Linden, away.
 June 4—Chatham, home.

Track

Coach: J. S. WEEKLEY

Manager: PETER BILLIAS

THE heavy men as usual are very good, and the light-weights are coming nicely. This year's team will bring out the best mettle of the High School.

SCHEDULE

Saturday, April 27—Penn Relays.

Wednesday, May 1—Dover, home.

Saturday, May 4—Princeton.

Saturday, May 18—Union County.

Saturday, May 20—Plainfield Rotary.

Saturday, June 2—State Finals.

Tennis

Coach: C. B. QUAINANCE

Manager: HOWARD RATH

THIS year's tennis team has received a great set-back due to the fact that two veteran players of last year's crack team, who were expected to return, have been lost. Philip Porcella remains the only experienced man; but under the able tutelage of Coach Quaintance, the team will do its best to preserve last year's outstanding record.

SCHEDULE

May 3—Hillside, away.
 May 7—Roselle, away.
 May 9—Metuchen, away.
 May 13—Millburn, home.
 May 15—Summit, away.
 May 23—Roselle Park, home.
 May 27—Millburn, away.
 May 30—Metuchen, home.
 June 4—Roselle Park, home.
 June 7—Hillside, home.
 June 10—Woodbridge, away.
 June 13—Woodbridge, home.

SCHOOL AND COLLEGE PRINTERS

THE ART OF PRINTING

The invention of printing from movable types, made in Holland near the middle of the fifteenth century, was the most significant invention of civilized man. The priceless jewel of knowledge, which for centuries could be the possession of only a privileged few, was made available to all by the development of printing. During the last five centuries printing has progressed not only as the spreader and preserver of knowledge and culture, but also as the finest of the graphic arts.

We take pride in turning out artistic printing. Our plant represents the last word in modern equipment, skillful craftsmanship, and dependable service.

You regard your yearbook as the reflection of your school; we regard it as a sample of the art of printing.

Our specialty is distinctive printing that both you and we can be proud of.
