Yum, Yum! Jersey Peaches Ready for Market Next Week

By MARY M. ARMSTRONG

Especially this year it is well worth while to can peaches. With food prices generally high and the crop short in some states, canned peaches are not likely to be a bargain in the stores. But homemakers can can their own with considerable saving.

Many homemakers in Union County are taking advantage of special loads of choice tree-ripened peaches. These peaches, which are of good canning varieties, are arriving in the county from selected orchards on August 16. The cooperation of Volunteer Food Preservation leaders, the State Marketing Specialist, the County Agricultural Agent and two farm market stands have made it possible for members of Home Demonstration groups to get these quality peaches.

And canned and frozen peaches are especially delicious when choice fruit is used. Whether you can them well depend on your equipment and the family's patience. Even when freezing facilities are available, some families like to have both canned and frozen peaches on hand for different types of dishes.

A bushel of tree-ripened peaches makes 18 to 20 quarts when canned. Homemakers attending the canning demonstration in the Court House last Tuesday estimated that pint jars of home canned peaches would cost them about fifteen cents each. This means a considerable cash saving for their effort as well as more flavor appeal.

If "tree-ripened peaches" are available to you, sort your peaches carefully, grade them according to size and ripeness. Use the ripest ones first, and allow the others to ripen a day or two if necessary.

First steps in canning are peeling and cutting. Place peaches in wire basket, lower into pan of boiling water just long enough to loosen skins. Then dip into cold water, cut in halves, peel and remove the pits.

The easiest way to can peaches is to pack them in the jars cold, cover with hot syrup and process. The syrup should come to within one-half inch of the jar top. The lids should be fully or partially sealed according to the type of top. The processing time is 20 minutes for pints and 25 minutes for quarts.

Peaches may also be pre-cooked in syrup and packed hot. Heat the halves in syrup made from equal quantities of sugar and water for 5 minutes. Pack carefully into hot jars and fill with syrup. Seal according to the top and process in a boiling water bath 15 minutes for pints and 15 minutes for quarts.

To prevent the top peaches in the jar from losing color, add one-half teaspoon of powdered ascorbic acid (vitamin C) to each jar top of jar. This adds additional food value as well as preventing the color fade, but in no way acts as a preservative.

To freeze peaches satisfactorily, a tv-o-ripened ones are necessary. The skins should slip off easily, but if they don't, the peaches will have to be plunged in boiling water for 15 to 30 seconds depending on how ripened they are until loosened. Immediately be sure to prepare the day before, and keep in the refrigerator. Slice enough peaches to fill several cold quart jars into a bowl containing 1 liter of cold sugar syrup. Using a slotted spoon, fill cold jars with peaches to within 1 inch of top. Cover with cold syrup and add one-half teaspoon ascorbic acid to each quart jar. Force out air in top of package and heat seal.

Services for Capt. Rider

Marine Reservist Killed as Airplane Nosed Over in Norfolk

Largely attended funeral services were held Saturday at Gray Memorial, 12 Springfield avenue, for Capt. John Rider, 29, formerly of 124 Elm street, a member of the Marine Corps Reserve and a veteran of World War II, who was killed last Wednesday in an airplane crash at Norfolk, Va. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rider of Washington, D. C.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Robert G. Longaker, pastor of First Presbyterian Church. There were many floral pieces. Interment was in Arlington Memorial Park, Arlington, with the Rev. Mr. Longaker read the committal prayers. Military services, conducted by Cranford Post, American Legion, accompanied the body here was Lt. Andrew Yates, also a captain in the Marine Corps Reserve, who stood guard.

Capt. Rider was fatally injured when the motor of a plane failed on the take-off and the plane nosed over. Another reservist in the plane at the time was critically injured.

The former Cranford resident was employed as a towerman at the Norfolk civilian air field. A native of Virginia, he served as a Marine pilot and instructor during World War II and was stationed in Hawaii, China and other overseas areas.

After his discharge, he took a G.I. course and received an instructor's rating. He was employed as a flight instructor at Westfield Airport for some time. He also attended Union Junior College while residing in Cranford. Before leaving for Norfolk, he had been employed by Curtis Wright at the Willis Air Lines, with headquarters at Teterboro Airport.

He was returning to Norfolk last May, Capt. Rider and his wife, the former Pearl Beilyer of Cranford, visited Mrs. Rider's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Edgar, at the Elm street address.

In addition to his wife and parents, he is survived by three sisters in Norfolk.

Westfield Still Has Designs On Our UJC

The Westfield Rotary Club revived the campaign to move Union Junior College to Westfield, with a debate at its luncheon meeting yesterday.

Although speaking on the negative side of the question, Rotarian Julian Junior College would be an asset to our community," Clarence B. Smith, Westfield realtor, proposed that the present Westfield High School building and adjoining Washington school house be used after the new high school is built.

Mr. Smith said the real question is not the advisability of UJC locating in Westfield, but whether or not Wychwood is the desirable location.

The high school site, he said, would provide a campus and ample parking space and would not deprive the town of ratables. He pointed out that the Wychwood property would be the college's to sell with the college situated on the Bristol estate.

The matter has been dormant since the special meeting of the college trustees last month at which announcement was made that the trustees had reached no decision and on investigating further. Most local observers believe that when and if a move is made it will be to some other location in Union County.

Chief Schindler left for Clark with the masks immediately upon receipt of word that the fire was in progress. The utility truck and its crew were sent for by the chief when the fire had progressed to a stage warranting their use, it was reported. The Cranford firefighters returned to fire headquarters at 4:50 p. m. The fire, which swept the complete section of the Clark plant, caused damage estimated at $250,000.

Registration at Township Rooms

Adm. E. D. Stanley Registrar for Draft Starting August 30

Registration for 18 to 25-year-old Cranford men under the new Selective Service Act will be held in the township rooms from August 30 through September 18, it was announced today. In Garwood young men will register at the Borough Hall, while Kenilworth men will register at Borough Hall, Roselle, or Second District Court, Union.

Final arrangements for local registration places were made at a meeting of mayors of western Union County municipalities in Plainfield last night. Cranford and Garwood are covered by Draft Board 44, which has its headquarters in the Plainfield City Hall.

Following issuance of a request that the mayors name registrars for their communities, Finance Commissioner John V. Nostrand, who represented Mayor George E. Osterheldt at the meeting, the mayor being on vacation, announced that Adm. E. D. Stanley, U.S.N. retired, will serve as registrar for Cranford, and Mayor L. Thomas Daub of Garwood declared that Borough Clerk Walter McManus will act as registrar for that borough.

Two other draft boards have been established for Union County. Board 42, which includes Kenilworth, and Board 43 have their main headquarters in the Elizabeth Armory.

President Truman in a recent proclamation called on all male citizens and residents of the United States who have passed their eighteenth birthday but not yet reached their twenty-sixth birthday to begin registration at 8 a. m. August 30.

President Truman fixed ten age classifications and gave these dates for registration, between 8 a. m. and 9 p. m. in this country, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands:

1. Those born in 1922 after August 30 will register on Monday, August 30.
2. Those born in 1923 will register on August 31 or September 1.
3. Those born in 1924, register on September 8 or September 2.
4. Those born in 1925, register on September 4 or September 7.
5. Those born in 1926, register on September 8 or September 9.
6. Those born in 1927, register on September 10 or September 11.
7. Those born in 1928, register on September 13 or September 14.
8. Those born in 1929, register on September 15 or September 16.
9. Those born in 1930 before September 19, 1930, register on September 17 or September 18.
10. Those born on or after September 19, 1930, will register within five days after their 18th birthday.

President Truman's proclamation urged all employers to give their workers sufficient time off to register on the proper day.

Each eligible man was instructed to register in the area in which he has his permanent home or in which he may happen to be on the day of his registration.

Board 44, which includes the Garwood and Cranford area, was the last of the county's three boards to obtain headquarters. This board was given free space by vote of the Plainfield City Council on August 16. The board which will serve Cranford has had a number of organizational difficulties, which began with the necessity of selecting a successor to James U. Duff of Plainfield.

Following settlement of the problem of where the board would have its headquarters, there followed the resignation of another of its members, William F. Doyle of Summit. Mr. Doyle pleaded pressure of other duties in his letter of resignation to Col. Edgar N. Bloomer, state director of Selective Service. He pointed out that he accepted the appointment with the proviso that he was relieved when organization of the board had been effected.

To establish the quorum required by law, Harvey Rothbert of Plainfield, one of two government appointments assigned to the board, agreed to a request by Col. Bloomer that he become a regular member of the board. Assistant Prosecutor Carroll K. Sellers of Cranford is the other government appeal agent assigned to Board 44.

At the organization meeting of Board 44 on August 9, Donaldson S. Wean of Plainfield was elected chairman, pending confirmation of his appointment as a member to succeed Mr. Duff. Later this month, Mr. Wean's confirmation not yet having been received, Mr. Rothbert was appointed acting chairman of the board until Mr. Wean becomes a member.

New Parcel Post Service Recalls Early Beginnings

The advent of speedier nationwide-worldwide air parcel post service Sept. 1 brings back to minds of old-timers the introduction of similar surface operations 35 years ago. It was in 1913, according to Postmaster Arthur F. Metz of Cranford that parcel post first made its appearance in the United States.

The service at that time was established primarily to aid farmers and hamlets, located off the beaten paths in expediting their products to market and, in turn, receiving sorely needed goods from larger cities. However, mail order houses and other establishments were quick to realize its value.

Transportation facilities in those days were still slow and tedious. Motor-driven vehicles were few and the roads which they traversed were frequently impassable. Too, trains were giving off more sparks and smoke than speed. There were no commercial planes in those days either, and only the foolhardy vistioned the rapid approach of the Air Age.

Then it took days to transport parcel post packages across the country. Some parcels were forced to go by virtually every available conveyance before they reached their destination—particularly to the more remote sections.

From that modest beginning, parcel post has grown to become an integral cog in the far-flung American postal operations. Its annual poundage, keeping step with the progress of transportation, has soared from a few million to billions of pounds of assorted commodities.

Still determined to employ the fastest means of transportation to move the mails, the Post Office Department will add the link necessary to give the United States the world's most highly specialized doorstep delivery service with the launching of the new nationwide-worldwide air parcel post, said Postmaster Metz.

Recently he had been employed as a guard at the Alloy Steel Products Company plant in Linden.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Harold Kelly of Linden and Mrs. W. J. Beam of Irvington; three sons, C. Norman Norloff of Roselle Park, who is employed in the counting room of The Citizen and Chronicle; Oscar W. Norloff of Garwood, and Walter C. Norloff of Union, and a sister in Norway.

Mrs. Josephine Kauffmann

Mrs. Josephine M. Kauffmann, 86, widow of George Maxwell Kauffmann, believed to have been the oldest living native of Cranford, died on August 10 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. Martin Sorensen, in Freehold. Private funeral services were conducted on August 13 at Fairview Cemetery, Westfield, where interment took place.

Mrs. Kauffmann resided in Cranford until the time of her marriage when she moved to Freehold, where she lived for many years. She made her home with her daughter in Freehold for the past 10 years. Mrs. Kauffmann was a member of the First Presbyterian Church here, and later was active in church work in Elizabeth.

Surviving in addition to her daughter are a son, Henry V. Kauffman; a grandson, William H. Richardson of Hightson, and a brother, William H. Bindenberger of Cranford.

Mrs. Pauline Gurzynski

Mrs. Pauline Gurzynski, 75 years old, of Norristown, Pa., died Monday evening at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley F. Grayson of 45 Henley avenue. Mrs. Gurzynski had returned Sunday night from Hope, where she had passed the summer while her son was director at the Cranford Boys' Camp.

In addition to her son here, she is survived by another son, Raymond, of Norristown, and by four grandchildren.

The body was taken Tuesday to Catasauqua, Pa., where funeral services were conducted this morning. Interment was in the family plot.

To Ship Fudge

Homemade fudge may be shipped successfully if it is poured, while warm, into a tin pan which has been lined with several thicknesses of waxed paper. Leave sufficient paper to cover top and fudge may be lifted off by means of this top paper. The recipient who cuts the candy finds it fresh as when packed.

Pepping Up Cottage Cheese

Eland flavor of cottage cheese can be pepped up with skillful seasoning. Onions, herbs like parsley and sage, chopped olives and pimento, green pepper, celery and tomato are all tasty with the cheese. Any of these combinations could be used to make sandwiches or salads.

North Carolina Cotton

Production of cotton in North Carolina during 1947 totaled 433,000 bales of 500-pound gross weight. This is 12,000 bales more than was produced from the 1946 crop.

Maroons Win Softball Playoff Opener

The Maroons, wh.. finished first in the regular season schedule of the Men's Softball League sponsored by the Cranford Recreation Committee, defeated the Indians by a score of 16 to 1 at Memorial Recreation Field Tuesday night in the first game of the play-off schedule. A crowd of more than 500 people watched the contest.

Other play-off games scheduled for Memorial Field include: Tonight, Maroons vs. Indians; tomorrow night, Town Tavern vs. Old Timers; Monday night, Maroons vs. Indians, and Tuesday night, Town Tavern vs. Old Timers. The two teams winning two out of three games will be rescheduled to play a final elimination contest of best three out of five games, and the winning team will be awarded a trophy. Game time is 6:30 p. m.

The Town Tavern, looking for a possible tie with the Old Timers for second place in the regular season schedule were sadly disappointed when the Maroons toppled them and the First Baptists managed to eek out a tie to prevent the Town Tavern from sharing second-slot honors.

There also was a battle between the Lodge, CYO and the Royals to decide who would be entrenched in the cellar. The Royals beat the Lodge some time ago and downed the CYO during the past week to put the CYO "down under."

Scores during the past week were: Indians 6, Lodge 3; Royals 10, CYO 7; Town Tavern 10, First Baptists 10.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Four shots make up a simple, yet delightful, picture story. Sequences of this type are easy to make, can give added interest to your albums.

Simple Sequence Stories

ONE of the surest ways of adding interest to a snapshot album is to interspersé your usual snaps with simple shots in sequence.

Such picture stories are as easy to make as any other shot—easier sometimes since you determine your exposure only once for two, four, or six pictures. Often they tell a story which no single shot alone can tell.

Today's four shots, for example, need no word of explanation—the story's in the pictures. And while each snap is itself a pleasing picture, all together catch and hold your interest in a way no one alone would. Even the fourth shot, taken just after the balloon had burst, gains appeal from the build-up which the preceding snaps provide. Sequences of this sort are strictly up to you, the picture taker. Equipment makes no difference. All that is needed is imagination and the same care you use in making any successful snapshot.

And any number of situations lend themselves to this treatment. A child blowing out the candles of a birthday cake, a group of children toasting, other children building a snowman, mother preparing Sunday dinner.

The snowman sequence could begin with two children pushing a snowball, continue as the ball gets bigger, go on with a second, smaller snowball being placed atop the giant one. Then there's the shot of the children carefully place bits of coal for their snowman's eyes, put an old hat atop his head, and finally, as the windup, a final shot showing your two snow builders crouched behind their snowman, snowballs in hand, threatening to pelt the picture taker.

A coasting sequence might begin with a shot at the top of the hill, the last man on the toboggan composed to shove off. A second shot showing the toboggan in full flight follows in order, then a third shot of it leveling off at the foot of the hill. And, as a final punch, a shot of the tobogganers tipped over in the snow, its passengers thrown off and sprawling.

Such simple picture stories are fun to make and mean more fun when you look at them later on. There is recall a day in the snow, day after a two weeks' vacation at Groton, N. H. day dinner. —John van Gulder

Boy Bitten by Dog

John A. Hall, 2½ years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hall of 16 Heinrick street, was bitten near the left eye on Tuesday by either the Hall family dog or the dog of Ralph Della Serra of 10 Heinrick street, it was reported this week by Cranford police. Patrolman Joseph J. Kovacs notified both families to keep their dogs confined for 10 days.

Radiophones For Trucks

Many truck operators are making good use of radiophones in their business. One Chicago firm, for example, operates a fleet of 1,000 vehicles, several of which are equipped with the unit. When calls for pick-ups are received, the phone equipped truck nearest the place of pick-up is intercepted and the second pick-up quickly completed.

Accepted, subject to public sale at the next meeting, was an offer of $1,000 from the board of trustees of the Cranford Methodist Church for lots 17, 18, 19, block 53, on Lincoln avenue. The trustees also will deed to the township a five-foot strip of the above three lots together with a similar strip along the entire parcel they own on Lincoln avenue for the purpose of widening that street.

Also accepted, subject to public sale, was an offer of $200 from Mrs. Jennie Santone, Linden, for lots 666 and 667, block 519, located on McKinley street, as was an offer of $100 from Angelo Condi of Elizabeth, for lots 6 to 10, inclusive, block 44, located on Garden street. A restriction will be placed in the deed of the latter specifying that no building may be constructed on lot 10.

An offer of $318.62 for the tax sale certificate covering lot 14, block 205, was tentatively accepted from Mrs. Mary Kish of Linden, providing he will permit a deed restriction that no dwelling will be built on the lot. The parcel adjoins his property at 422 Orchard street.

New fire hydrants were authorized installed at Lexington avenue and Iroquois road, Buchanan and Algonquin streets, Garfield and Moen streets, and Park Terrace 282 feet from Park street.

The Winfield Mutual Housing Corporation was granted permission to use the municipal dump once or twice a month under supervision of Cranford's township engineer for disposal of sludge and other debris taken from their storm sewers.

A 1,000 lumens light was authorized installed on Elm street at Stuff street, and a 2,000 lumens light was authorized restored on the pedestal in Balmiere parkway.

M. T. Matthews of 20 Indian Spring road urged that the Independence Day fireworks display be continued at Memorial Recreation Field because of better visibility and better seating facilities than at the Brook Section of Nomahegan Park, where displays formerly were held. Mayor Osterhelt explained that this year's display was held at the Recreation Field only because of the dedication program straightened out. On confirmation of Mr. Wenn's appointment, Mr. Rothberg will resign as the chairmanship and membership and revert to his duties as appeal agent.

Draft Board 44 embraces Cranford, Garwood, Westfield, Clark, Winfield, Plainfield, Fanwood, Mountainside, New Providence, Borough and Township, Scotch Plains and Summit.

It has been indicated that initial draft procedure under the new act will be simple. Registrants will be required to sign only one card giving rudimentary information. After the cards are sorted and distributed to the proper boards, registrants who are not exempted will receive questionnaires to fill out and return to their boards.

To assist prospective draftees in filling out these forms, draft boards will appoint supervisory boards. Names of these supervisory boot families to keep their dogs con- Names of these supervisory boards will be sent along with the questionnaires.

Men reaching the age of 18 after the preliminary registration period from August 30 to September 18 will register at the headquarters of their local boards—in the Plainfield City Hall, for Cranford youths, that is.

Earlier this week it was reported that President Truman ordered deferment of all husbands and fathers from the peacetime draft. He also ordered deferment of all men in industry whose jobs are necessary to the national health, safety or interest.

President Truman directed that in classification of draft registrants there shall be no discrimination because of race, creed or color, or because of membership or activity in any organization.

The first Army call for men is expected in September, and the first draftees probably will be inducted early in November.

All men 18 through 25 must register for the peacetime draft. Those 19 through 25 are subject to call for 21 months' service unless deferred. The 18-year-olds may volunteer for a year's training and thus escape being drafted later.

Progress on Sewer Unit

State Legislation May Be Sought in Forming Authority

Plans to seek passage of state legislation to assure eligibility of present members of the Rahway Valley Joint meeting to become members of the proposed Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority, were revealed at a meeting of the sewerage commission in the township rooms last Thursday night.

Under the agreement now being prepared as a preliminary step in establishing the authority there will be nine members of the authority when formed, one to be appointed by the governing body of each of the nine municipalities parties to the contract, who need not be members of the governing bodies of the respective municipalities.

Question was raised by Mayor L. Thomas Daub, of Garwood, as to whether a member of the commission, retiring from municipal office this year, could be appointed to the authority in view of the fact that he had had a part in the formation of the authority.

Robert F. Darby, the commission's counsel, said the Mayor's question called for careful consideration. It was pointed out that in view of the expansion program at the sewerage disposal works to be undertaken by the authority it would be advantageous to have as members of the authority those who are conversant with the problems.

In order that eligibility could be assured, Mr. Darby said, it is all probability would be advisable to seek passage of state legislation.

Draft of the agreement was revised setting $150 as the maximum remuneration a member may receive for attendance at meetings in any one year, payable on the basis of $10 a meeting.

It also was agreed that in the issuance of bonds by the authority, approval by resolution should be obtained from the governing bodies of two-thirds of the nine municipalities.

All of the municipalities with the exception of Rahway had indicated they would approve the agreement. Councilman George F. Bertell of Rahway announced that Rahway was to have a committee meeting this week to discuss the agreement.

It was pointed out that in order to form the authority this year, parallel ordinances must be adopted by all municipalities, with action to be delayed not later than October. Should unanimous agreement be arrived at prior to the September meeting, a special meeting will be called, it was said.

Louis J. Fenimore, chief engineer at the disposal works, was authorized to attend the annual convention of the Federation of Sewerage Works Associations in Detroit in October. He was allowed a maximum of $150 to defray expenses.

Roger C. Aldrich, chairman, conducted the meeting.

Matters of Interest To Veterans

(The following digest of current developments of interest to veterans is presented under sponsorship of Capt. Newell Rodney Fiske Post 335, VFW.)

Disabled Veterans

Public Law 877, just signed by President Truman, grants additional compensation to veterans who have a service connected disability of not less than 60 percent (including both war and peacetime disabled) and who have dependents. Effective September 1, 1948, to obtain such compensation, the veteran must obtain and submit the following documents to the Veterans' Administration Regional Office: Marriage certificate bearing the impressed seal of officiating clergyman or other person authorized by law to perform marriage ceremonies; birth certificates of child or children bearing impressed seal of issuing authority. Parental dependency must be established in affidavit form. Delay in establishing relationship may mean delay in obtaining increased benefits. Veteran's full name, address and veteran's administration claim number should be placed in a conspicuous place on each document. If one of the servicemen's organizations is your power of attorney, turn documents in to their service officer or send direct to V. A. Regional Office.

Vocational Study

Going to school may not be the best way to solve your work problem. Perhaps home study, work experience, or some other substitute for formal classroom work is what you need.

In your shop or office there are certainly some outstandingly successful individuals. Ask their advice. Perhaps the key to their job success is also the key to yours, and, if it is finally determined that schooling is what you need, ask about school quality.

Remember that schools (privately operated, profit making schools) are in business to make money. There's nothing wrong with this, of course, so long as they give their students top-quality instruction which actually fills their needs. All schools may not be giving this quality instruction. So, let's adopt the theory that the proof is:

What the school in question has done for others who attended it. Are its graduates respected as skilled workers? Did their schooling help them advance on the job?

Hear what the graduates have to say before you decide on any given school for yourself. When you succeed in locating a good school, one that is recommended by leaders in the field for which it trains, veterans and one that has helped people you know get ahead, careers and select the courses you wish to take. Many a privately operated school has plenty of "frills" on its letterhead and boasts of "diplomas" all. So why not carefully select the course which will do you the most good? Take courses which your employers and leaders in your field consider the most helpful to one in your line of work. Skip those which will not pay off on the job.

If you are working and plan to go to school part-time, prepare for some real sacrifice and inconvenience. Combining a job and school work is no easy proposition. By carefully scheduling your time, however, you can make things less difficult.

Investigate the employment prospects in the field for which you plan to train under the G. I. Bill. Not the possibility of a depression or other economic trends, but the picture as far as the number of skilled workers needed versus the number available and in training. Make this investigation a must regardless of school advertising which alleges great opportunity in a given field.

Under recently enacted legislation, training under the G. I. Bill will be "just for fun" is out.

To protect you against enrolling in a course for which VA will not be able to pay the bill, a system of authorizations by VA Regional Offices has been established. Under this system, beginning July 25, 1951, to some years ago.

You have until July 25, 1951, to start your G. I. Bill education. You have until July 25, 1956, to complete your G. I. Bill education.

During the next few years, you may find a real need for some formal education under the G. I. Bill. If you use up your benefits now, you may regret it later. -

All you have to do is send a certified or photostatic copy of your discharge, with a copy of VA Form 9510, to the VA Regional Office having jurisdiction in your area. VA will compute the education time coming to you, note it on the form and return it.

You take the form to the school you wish to enter and hand it in when you register. The school notes on the form that you are actually in attendance and sends it back to VA.

• The Boys' Camp

The Cranford Boys' Camp, located on Silver Lake, near Hope, closed the most successful season in its 20-year history last Sunday. A total of 235 boy weeks was accommodated during the seven-week season, out of a possible 245 boy week capacity.

In the Cranford Boys' Camp, this community has an asset worth many times the original investment plus the funds spent recently in renovating and improving its facilities.

Operated below actual cost, the camp offers a pleasant, healthful outing to scores of local youngsters who might otherwise be deprived of this vacation. That the boys enjoy their stay at camp was evidenced in a recent report of Stanley Grayson, director at the camp this past season, who stated that four boys tearfully greeted their parents when they came to call for them at the conclusion of their camping period—the boys wanted to remain for a longer time!

Parents and friends who have visited the camp this past season, as well as the campers, are loud in their praises of the renovated Cranford Boys' Camp. Here is an asset of which every one in the community can be proud. It is a project in which every resident can participate, too, during the seventh United Fund Campaign drive in October. Your generous donation to this fund will help continue the operation of the Cranford Boys' Camp next year and in the years to come.

• The Record Improves

New Jersey's traffic accident death record during the first seven months was 10.5 per cent below last year's toll for the same period, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Arthur W. Magee announced today.

There were 296 fatalities this year as against 331 in 1947, a saving of 35 lives.

The most favorable phase of this year's improvement has to do with pedestrians, the Commissioner said, adding that of the 296 total fatalities, 137 have been persons afoot whereas at this time last year there had been 178 pedestrians killed in accidents. The saving in pedestrian lives has been 41, or 23 per cent.

"It speaks well for the general public when a state like New Jersey, which normally has one of the highest pedestrian death rates in the country, can reduce its pedestrian fatality toll by 23 per cent," added Mr. Magee. "A full measure of credit goes to the public, the men, women and children who appear to have developed an appreciation of highway hazards and are demonstrating it by more careful walking and crossing. Motorists, too, appear to be showing greater consideration for pedestrian rights."

• Save The Birds

Elsewhere in today's issue is an interesting feature story on unusual birds to be found in and near Cranford. The article is by Mrs. T. D. Anglemyer, a resident of Cranford and long an authority on this subject.

Whether or not one is a lover of nature, there are few persons who fail to get a genuine thrill from watching beautiful birds, such as those described in Mrs. Anglemyer's article, either in flight or as they hunt for food on Nomahegan Lake or on the Rahway River.

Her article points up one very important fact—that local residents, and residents everywhere, should do everything possible to help preserve bird life, lest some of our most beautiful species become extinct.

"With righteousness in the heart, there will be beauty in the character.

"With beauty in the character, there will be harmony in the home.

"With harmony in the home there will be order in the nation.

"With order in the nation there will be peace in the world."—Confucius.

Survey Shows Changes In Accident Causes

Styles change in accidents, as well as in clothes.

This is shown in the 1948 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook published by the National Safety Council.

The figures show falls were the commonest type of fatal accident 35 years ago, with railroad accidents running second.

Last year, motor vehicle accidents topped the list, falls were a second place and railroad accidents had dropped far back down the list.

Here are the major types of fatal accidents in 1913 and in 1947, as shown in "Accident Facts." They are listed with the worst killers first, and on down the scale:

| 1913 | 1947 |
|---|---|
| Falls | Motor Vehicle |
| Railroad | Falls |
| Drowning | Burns and scalds |

Boxer Club Show

The New Jersey Boxer Club will hold its second Sterling Silver Plan C Sanctioned Match Show at the West Orange Armory this Sunday. Judging will start at 1:30 p. m. Entries will be taken at the show from 11:30 a. m. until starting time. Sterling silver trophies will be awarded to winners in the following classes: Puppies, six months and under nine months; puppies, nine months and under 12 months; novice, and open. John F. Moffett of 200 North avenue, west, Westfield, is chairman of the show committee.

YOUR GARDEN This Week

Keep the cultivator going in the garden, if you did not much. Weeds are usually not much of a problem at this season if they have been kept down from early spring, but tillage kills them so fast as the seeds germinate and keeps the soil loose for water to enter readily.

It is important to thin plants to proper spacing, especially at this season when rainfall is apt to be deficient, although if it keeps up as it has, we shall have no fear on this score.

Now is a good time to start your compost pile. Put on it everything except plants with diseases like corn smut. Spread a little fertilizer and lime on each six-inch layer and you will produce valuable manure. You may even use fine twigs that have been pruned from shrubs.

Oriental Poppies are now in about the right stage (the new shoots appearing above ground) to divide and reset at once. The roots are very brittle, so handle carefully.

Delphinium seed of this year's crop should now be in the store. Seeds sown now will produce plants for spring bloom.

Set out a few corms of Saffron (Colchicum) and Autumn Blooming Crocus. These, set within a week or two, will produce blooms without any leaves in September or early October. The leaves will come next spring.

Keep the duster going with rotenone, dust to keep down aphids, cabbage worms and Mexican bean beetle. Use sulfur on roses, delphiniums and lilac for preventing mildew.

If you have pole beans, be sure to give them liquid fertilizer once in two weeks to keep them in production. Now is the last call for making cuttings of geraniums, begonias, fuchsia to give good blooming plants with winter.

A detailed bulletin showing how a compost pile is made will be sent free on request to Agricultural Extension Agent, Court House, Elizabeth 4, New Jersey.

Clippers Avenge Only League Loss

Blank Roselle Stars, 5-0; Three More Wins Would Cinch Co. Title

By JACK SAVERCOOL

Continuing their two-game lead over the second-place Westfield Hawks, the Cranford Clippers avenged their lone defeat to Union County League competition by blanking the Roselle Colored Stars, 5-0, last Sunday at Memorial Field. About 600 people watched Joe Koons register his seventh straight triumph without a loss. Joe scattered four Roselle hits while Cranford gathered six off the offerings of Van Chavis. Koons was in charge of the situation in two of the three innings he pitched himself out of a hole and was never in trouble again.

Joe Duff was held hitless to lower his batting average below .300.

Johnny Nooke and Paul Hoglund gathered four of Cranford's six hits.

Turkey Losses

Pullorum disease is responsible for a large share of death losses in turkey poults.

Clippers Grind Out Victory In Rutgers Drilling

Forty-nine candidates for the Rutgers University football squad started College Heroes Jr. Hardy at Sea Girt yesterday and were down to three weeks of intensive pre-season practice in preparation for a gruelling nine-game campaign which opens September 25 against Columbia's Lions in New York.

The Scarlet hopefuls, led by a contingent of 20 returning lettermen, will engage in twice-daily drills and evening meetings during their stay here at the summer camp of the New Jersey National Guard. They will return to the campus in New Brunswick on September 15, the day before fall classes open at Rutgers.

With his starting lineup returning intact from last season, Harman rates his squad as strong and perhaps stronger than that of last year which rolled to eight straight wins after dropping the season opener to Columbia. Replacing departed reserve strength looms as one of the Scarlet mentor's biggest problems.

The weakest spot in the lineup as far as substitute strength is concerned, is at quarterback where All-Eastern Frank Burns of Roselle Park is all alone. A freshman, Mike Pennucci, of Orange and a junior, Harold Smith, of Matawan, are being groomed to work behind Burns. Neither have previous varsity experience.

Elsewhere, the line-up is two deep with Captain Ed Kinsella, who may be shifted from tackle to guard, the only position in this county's league. Kinsella is a member of the All-Union County All-Star aggregate, which includes 46 players.

Table Tennis Club Formed; Matches Sought

Seven Cranford boys, all under 15, have organized a club known as the Orchard Park Table Tennis Club and have scheduled flashy matches with other clubs in this county's league. Jerry Ardolino is manager of the club.

Play was to begin this week, with the finals scheduled for September 4. All matches will be decided on the best two out of three games. Thirty-two girls have signed up for the tournament.

Sue Lackey drew a bye, and other first round drawings were as follows: Aletta Thompson vs. Cynthia Halvorsen, Ann Gilder, sleeve vs. Elaine Schneider, Nancy Goodman vs. Alice Schacht, Lois Schacht vs. Judy Peterson, Gail Brinkman vs. Ann Duff, Barbara Putscher vs. Sue Clement, Mardy Berry vs. Mary Lib Coffee, Marilyn Grant vs. Johanna Holdroid, Patty Grell vs. Muriel Schatt, Janice Richmond vs. Joan Karaffa, Myrna Yothers vs. Marilyn Mears, Carol Lovell vs. Mathy Howard, Patty Langille vs. Betty Lords, Ann Coffee vs. Barbara Krieger, and Joyce Davis vs. Dot Preston.

The qualifying round of 18 holes of medal play will be held on Monday, September 13, and match play will be continued in flights during the following week. Club handicaps will be used for play in the seeded flight.

Awards will include a gold medal for low qualifying round, championship trophy for winner and suitable award for runner-up, and prizes for winner and runner-up in each flight.

The tournament is open to women residents of Union County qualifying as amateurs and not members of private clubs.

They are anxious to play team matches with other groups of the same age. Matches may be arranged by contacting the club's pro shop or Manager Jerry Brand.

State Chamber Approves Bond Issue

Mentioning first the grant-in-aid program for the construction of New Jersey's state college buildings, and the bond issue to finance it, and the New Jersey Rural Electrification Authority, the Chamber of Commerce of New Jersey has issued a statement urging that the state bond issue be approved and that the REA be continued.

The bond issue is scheduled for the November ballot. It was passed by the Assembly, 52-0, on March 29, 1948, and by the Senate, 19-0, on April 5, 1948. It is the first bond issue to which the Chamber has given its approval since the Chamber was reorganized in 1947. The State Chamber recommended the bond issue in the belief that the construction of additional facilities for the state's college system is necessary if the system is to carry out the purposes for which it was established. The Chamber also believes that the bond issue is necessary if the state is to carry out the provisions of the Constitution of 1947 which provides that a number of the state's colleges shall be free institutions. The Chamber has also endorsed the bond issue because it believes that the state's college system has been neglected by the state for many years.

At Governor Driscoll's request the Chamber has also endorsed the proposed bond issue for the construction of veterans' housing. The Chamber believes that a number of the projects proposed by the Governor are necessary and that the bond issue is necessary if the state is to carry out the provisions of the Constitution of 1947 which provides that a number of the state's colleges shall be free institutions. The Chamber has also endorsed the bond issue because it believes that the state's college system has been neglected by the state for many years.

At Governor Driscoll's request the Chamber has also endorsed the proposed bond issue for the construction of veterans' housing. The Chamber believes that a number of the projects proposed by the Governor are necessary and that the bond issue is necessary if the state is to carry out the provisions of the Constitution of 1947 which provides that a number of the state's colleges shall be free institutions. The Chamber has also endorsed the bond issue because it believes that the state's college system has been neglected by the state for many years.

Public School Calendar for 1948-49

The program appearing in the appended school calendar for the 1948-49 school year is the final result of the combined suggestions, requests and criticisms of faculty members and members of the administrative staff and Board of Education, according to Dr. Howard E. Best, supervising principal of schools.

Originally a tentative work sheet calendar was distributed to each teacher with the request that any criticisms or suggestions for the improvement of the plan be submitted to the building principal. The results were tabulated, and the final calendar which appears below was adopted subject to the authorities of the Cranford Board of Education.

The only specific requirement made by the Board to the teachers in considering the schedule was that a minimum of 185 days to be taught during the school year. The Board of Education has decided that a minimum of 180 days will be required for the 1948-50 school year, Dr. Best reported.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

A low camera angle makes this shot a good example of what can be done in picturing action.

Carnival Capers

OF hands I know of nothing more difficult for me to do than drive past a carnival without stopping to look at the exit, take a turn or two on the ferris wheel, or try to knock down a pyramid of bottles with my failing fast ball."

But for the picture taker a carnival has eyes more to offer. For there are countless picture subjects everywhere on the midway. And all the fun of such an affair can be captured on film.

A ready camera, imagination, and an eye for good subject matter are all you need to make a fine carnival picture story. Watch for the interesting shots—a barker extolling the merits of his tent show, a child eating spun cotton candy, a couple riding the ferris wheel.

None of these shots are unusual, perhaps. But that's where imagination comes in. Take today's crap, for example. It's a first rate effective picture—taken when the cage was high in the sky—than a shot of the same subject would be it taken with the cage near the ground. The low angle makes the picture.

Imagination also played a major part in another excellent carnival picture I saw recently. It was a night shot, a time exposure of several seconds' duration. The camera fan who made the picture had been intrigued by the streaks of light traced in the darkness by an ulcar rotating about a shaft. So he had set up his camera firmly, opened his shutter and let the lights trace a pattern of ovals and circles on his negative.

These are merely a few hints, of course, for pictures you might try. The big thing is to try them. For there's no question that you will find dozens of picture possibilities if you go to a carnival with your camera loaded and ready to shoot. And, in shooting them, you will find you learn as you go along. The pictures you get from your camera and your skill in using it both increase the more you make use of it.

'Safe Driving Speed' Variable Depending Upon Conditions
By DR. HERBERT J. STACK
Director, Center for Safety Education, New York University
(This is the first in a series of 10 articles on street and highway safety, written by nationally recognized accident prevention specialists and published by this newspaper in the interests of greater traffic safety.)
Three out of every ten motorists involved in fatal accidents drive within the clearly illuminated distance ahead. Cut down speed when the road is slippery.
2. Never slow down suddenly, except in an emergency.
3. Use the speeds of other motorists as a guide on busy highways. Keep up with traffic, but don't drive much faster or slower than the average speed.
4. Passenger comfort is a guide to a reasonable, maximum speed under normal conditions. Never drive so fast that passengers feel uncomfortable.
5. Look well ahead continually while driving, and keep a close watch for hidden hazards.
6. Approach intersections and other hazardous points at a speed which will permit full control of the car.
Conscious of the part they must play in reducing accidents caused by speed, federal, county, state and municipal authorities are carrying out studies to determine postwar maximum safe speeds for congested highways and less heavily traveled rural roads.
Engineers are continually designing new highways which allow for safe, traffic speed. This will do away with the need for much posted speed zoning, as will also the elimination and reconstruction of many especially hazardous intersections, curves and underpasses.
A public education program is under way, emphasizing the disastrous results of excessive speed, the meaning of speed signs and the best means of adjusting driving to varying conditions.
All of these programs are of value. But they will be of little avail—many more motorists and pedestrians will die in 1948 and in the years to come—unless every driver remembers that his mind, not his foot, must motivate the gas pedal.

Byron Pictures Still Winning In Contests

By WILLIAM SEELAND, JR.

Although he will be 70 in September, Percy C. Byron of 16 West Holly street has not lost the knack of winning photography prizes. In a major photographic contest held recently in New York under the sponsorship of the Remington-Rand Company, Mr. Byron walked off with four out of the thirty major prizes, it was learned this week.

Mr. Byron captured one of the first prize awards for an interior engine picture entitled "The Dust of the Smoking Room." An exterior view of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, taken at night, won a third prize for the Cranford photographer, and a picture of a ship hurtling its bow through a huge wave, called "Bone in the Teeth," was also good for a third prize for Mr. Byron. A shot of the great Italian liner "Rex" took a fourth prize for the Holly street man.

The contest was conducted on a large scale, open to photographers all over the United States and Canada. Mr. Byron's winning pictures, along with those of other prize winners, will be exhibited in camera clubs throughout both countries.

In his younger days one of the foremost photographers in Rosy York, Mr. Byron has been winning prizes in photograph contests for many years. He is from a family in photographic experience—with close to 50 years of experience between them. In a few years right, Mr. Byron was preceded by his father in the picture-taking field when he started out with a camera as an amateur. He was made 62 Deepens trip in his duties with the Remington Rand Company, as well as a superior photographer and is credited with the invention of flashlight powder. Mr. Byron's son, or Mr. Byron was connected with the French and other lines for many years in the capacity of a field photographer.

Even before his father's time, Mr. Byron's family was connected intimately with photography. Four generations of the Byrons have followed the profession, and members of the family operated the same business in the same part City for 62 years. Mr. Byron gave up the shop in 1932 when the wanton shortages and curtailment of steamship travel made the action necessary. He is employed by the Art Photo Company, Newark.

Mr. Byron lives with his wife and daughter, and three grandchildren at 18 West Holly street, his daughter, Mrs. Dougla A. Clayton and three grandchildren, Clayton and Robert Francis, and a girl, Louise Annette. The Byrons belong to Cranford Grange, have lived the profession, and members of the family operated the same business in the same part City for 62 years. Mr. Byron gave up the shop in 1932 when the wanton shortages and curtailment of steamship travel made the action necessary. He is employed by the Art Photo Company, Newark.

Mr. Byron lives with his wife and daughter, and three grandchildren at 18 West Holly street, his daughter, Mrs. Dougla A. Lane, is the mother of two boys, Clyden and Robert Douglas, and a girl, Louise Annette. The Byrons belong to Cranford Grange, have lived here for many years, and have many friends in the community.

Returns After Visiting Relatives in Italy

Returned recently from his first trip to his native Italy in 26 years is Fred Petrozeli of 254 South Union avenue.

Mr. Petrozeli spent most of his time in Italy visiting his parents, brother and sisters in Avellino. While in Rome, he visited Angelo Caruso, brother of Joseph Caruso of 110 Retford avenue, proprietor of Caruso's Barber Shop.

The whole trip took only 10 days. Mr. Petrozeli flew both ways. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Petrozeli, he visited his brother, Pasquale, and five sisters, Emily, Jane, Dominick, Maria and Florence, in Avellino.

Mr. Petrozeli is employed by the National Gypsum Company, Garwood.

Friendship Tea for Presbyterian Women

The Woman's Association of the First Presbyterian Church will hold a Friendship Tea on Wednesday afternoon, September 15, for new members of the association, it was announced this week. All women of the church have been invited to attend.

The Rev. Robert G. Longaker, pastor, who returned this week from vacation, will preach at the 11 a. m. service. The fall schedule of church activities will be resumed after Labor Day.

Boy Scouts In Conservation

Every year millions of seedlings are planted by Boy Scouts, working with experts. Many conservation agencies—federal, state and volunteer—count upon Boy Scouts and with accomplishments, because of thousands of years; trees every year.

Church Broadcast

The "Gift of God" is the subject of a Christian Science radio program to be presented over Station WNBC Sunday morning from 10:30 to 11. This program is approved by the Christian Science Board of Directors.

Germans' Paved Streets

Paved streets were first tried out in Rome 2,500 years ago when an emperor recognized the need for efficient transportation facilities.

Grange Notes

Orange and grapefruit tecco green on rough-lemon rootstock usually become larger and come into bearing earlier and consequently produce larger crops than they grown on sour-orange rootstock. Also, on rough-lemon rootstock the fruits average slightly larger and have a little coarser texture and thicker rinds, but contain somewhat less juice on the basis of weight. Eating quality is not quite so high as that of fruits grown on sour-orange rootstock. The latter usually contain slightly higher amounts of total solids and total acid than those grown on rough lemon.

Crow Repellent

Pop corn is injured seriously by feeding it with crow repellent, Experiments on pop corn by the University of New Hampshire extension service showed a difference of between 65 per cent germination with no treatment and about 63 per cent germination in seed treated with crow repellent. On the early basis, seed treated with crow repellent showed a loss of 2 per cent than the untreated seed. On the other hand, the crow repellent actually protected the corn seed from injuries soil fungi.

"Old Elm Club"

Maryland's historic nicknames, the Old Line State, derives from that long disputed earliest known "The Maxon and Dixon line." Every mile and each 5th, which was established in 1763, is a "crown stone", with the arms of Calvert on the south side and those of Penn on the north.

Obituary

Willard E. Crocheron

Willard E. Crocheron, Jr., 38, of 460 North Union avenue, station master at the Liberty street terminal of the Jersey Central Railroad in New York City, collapsed and died at South and South Union avenues while returning from work at 5 p. m. Saturday. Death was attributed to coronary thrombosis induced by the heat.

Mr. Crocheron had arranged to have met his wife, who was shopping. She was overcome by shock when she learned of her husband's death.

Born in Jersey City, Mr. Crocheron had lived in Cranford seven years. He had been employed by the railroad about 20 years, serving for the past 16 years as station master. Previously he had worked as a captain on the Jersey Central's steamships, the New Brunswick and the Sandy Hook. He was a member of Newark Aerie, 44, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Funeral services were conducted at the home Tuesday night by the Rev. H. W. Kugler, Lutheran minister of Elizabeth. Interment was in the family plot yesterday morning.

In addition to his wife, the former Miss Marie Kootin, Mr. Crocheron is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Crocheron, Sr., of Jersey City, and two sisters, Mrs. Viola Kerrinis of Jackson Heights, N. Y., and Mrs. Doris Stelman of Jersey City.

Mrs. George J. Uhrle

Funeral services were conducted Friday evening at Memorial Funeral Home, Plainfield. Interment was at Clover Leaf Memorial Park Cemetery, Woodbridge, Saturday morning.

A native of Hoboken, Mrs. Uhrle lived in Plainfield 23 years before coming to Cranford nearly two years ago. She was a member of the First Methodist Church in Plainfield.

Surviving in addition to her husband are two daughters, Mrs. Harry P. Messemer, Jr., of the Roosevelt avenue address, and Mrs. Edward H. Mahn of Plainfield; a granddaughter, a brother, John C. Schmidt of West Orange, and two sisters, Mrs. Christine Hansen of Montclair, Calif., and Mrs. Henry Byrne of Bloomfield.

Funeral services were conducted at Gray Memorial, 12 Springfield avenue, Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Bessie Stevens of Rosalie Park, Christian Science reader. Interment was private.

Born in Berea, Ohio, Mr. Merrill lived for many years in Cleveland, where he was employed as a household appliance engineer. He resided in Cranford a year before moving to Elizabeth in 1946. He was a member of Arcana Lodge, F. & A. M., of Crestline, Ohio.

Resumes At Temple

Rabbi Taxon Returns After Holy Land Visit And Lecture Tour

Having returned recently from a lecture tour through the Middle West, Rabbi Jordan I. Taxon has resumed his duties at Temple Beth El. The congregation will hold a welcome home party in his honor at the temple on Sunday evening, September 12.

Rabbi Paul Steinberg, who served of Temple Beth El during Rabbi Taxon's absence, is now leading a newly organized congregation in the Bronx, N. Y.

Rabbi Taxon had been on a year's leave of absence from his charge here in Cranford, granted to permit him to pursue his studies abroad. He left last September for post graduate work at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, but his period of study was cut short because of unsettled conditions in the Holy Land, and he returned to this country in April.

Rabbi Taxon studied in Jerusalem under the Mendel Tennenbaum fellowship awarded to him on his graduation from the Jewish Institute of Religion in New York in June, 1947. During his stay in Palestine, he described the historical occurrences he witnessed in several letters published in The Citizen and Chronicle.

During his lecture tour this summer he spoke among other places in Columbus, Ohio; Chicago, Ill., Louisville, Ky., and Memphis Tenn. While continuing as rabbi at Temple Beth El, he plans to study at Rutgers University this fall to complete requirements for his degree of Doctor of Education.

Sunday School will reopen at the temple at 9:30 a. m. on September 12. A series of weekly children's services will begin at 11 a. m. on Saturday, September 11. The Men's Club will hold its reorganization in preparation for the new season at 8:30 p. m. next Wednesday.

Temple Beth El is making preparations for the organization of the Jewish community of Winfield and Clark. There will be a meeting to further this project at the Winfield Community Center next Tuesday night.

Leaf Worms Attacking Oak and Elm Trees

Oak leaves in this area showing signs of dying off are the victims of the oak saw fly, which attacks the trees in the worst stage of its evolution, chewing up the leaves, especially toward the tops of the trees, it was revealed this week by County Agricultural Agent Fred D. Gaman. Mr. Gaman said the pest has been prevalent in Essex County for several years but is making its first appearance in Union County this summer.

Although the infestation in this area is not in the epidemic stage it can become serious if not curbed, the agricultural agent said. A thorough spraying of the trees with a DDT solution is the most effective remedy, Mr. Gaman said. He added, however, that power equipment is necessary, as the pests are out of the reach of ordinary spraying equipment.

Mr. Gaman related that the saw fly worms eat the tissue of the leaves, retarding the normal development of the tree.

The leaves of many elm trees in this area are also turning brown and dropping off. The agricultural agent explained that this is a result of the activities of the worms of the elm leaf beetle, known as canker worms. One brood of these worms appears in the spring and another during August. The ravages of these pests have reached an extent that makes it practically impossible to do anything about the matter this summer, Mr. Gaman said.

Measles Epidemic

Wartime research has produced a host of new and highly potent weapons for measles control, many of them actually or potentially dangerous to man and other forms of life, and most of them inadequately tested. Before these powerful chemicals are used they should be carefully studied by research workers to determine whether they are safe to use, in the opinion of Dr. W. H. Martin, of Rutgers university.

Main Cause Of Obesity Is Overeating

(The following article is contributed as a public service by the Medical Society of New Jersey and the Union County Medical Society. Questions should be addressed to the Medical Society of New Jersey at vee West State Street, Trenton, 8, N. J.)

We usually think of the fat man as a jolly fellow. In any event we expect him to laugh with us when we make little jokes at his expense. But this condition, which the doctors call obesity, is not really funny at all. Other things being equal, obesity shortens one's span of life. Moreover, fat people have an extra tendency toward developing degenerative diseases of the heart, kindeys, gall bladder, and joints, as well as diabetes, varicose veins and apoplexy even cancer.

Recent studies of obesity have shown that only an insignificant number of overweight people have become that way because of poorly functioning glands. In the great majority of cases—some doctors say as much as 93 per cent—obesity is caused by simply overeating.

It is extremely hard to make rules about this matter of eating. In the first place, people differ widely in their energy requirements. Two thousand calories may be enough for one and much too much for another person. Then again, the type of life we lead, the physical demands or lack of them, have a bearing on what would be for us a "normal" diet.

Still, one can say that in the vast majority of cases when a person is steadily, consistently gaining weight, chances are he is overeating. Businessmen who are short on exercise but long on entertainment and rich foods are often inclined to overeat. Even in underprivileged families, children often overeat because they have to patient must in turn cooperate by eat almost anything available and truthfully and frankly revealing there is a tendency for them to all the facts about his manner of concentrate on inexpensive, high life, his worries, his ambitions calorie, starchy foods. and those seemingly insoluble who have too much leisure time The use of drugs in the treatment of overweight is extremely limited and should only be indicated under the guidance of a physician. Some drugs may be indicated to correct a disease condition that indirectly leads to a person's overeating. Some commercially advertised drugs may actually be extremely harmful unless prescribed by a doctor after carefully studying the case. Of course, the trouble with many people is that they dearly love to reduce but they can't cure to put up with any effective reducing regime of treatment. They not only want their cake and eat it too, but they want to avoid all the well-known consequences!

Many people who are engaged problems that most of us have in monotonous work and others one form or another.

Attain Honor Rating At Carnegie Institute

Word was received here this week that two students from Cranford were included on the honor list at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa., for the semester which ended last June. They are Harold E. Noeller of 310 Manor avenue, a freshman, who was graduated from Cranford High School in 1942, and V. Harold Modder, a junior, who was graduated from Cranford High School in 1941.

Both young men saw service in the armed forces after their graduation here. Placed on the honor list at Carnegie are those students who have had an average of B plus or better in all subjects.

Cars Damaged In Collision Here

The only traffic accident reported over the week-end in Cranford involved the automobiles of Mrs. Ruth H. Merle, 31 years old, of Phillipsburg and Willie Elazer, 30, of 30 Osborne place, which collided Sunday at 3:25 p. m. near the corner of South Union and Lexington avenues, according to the police report.

Both vehicles were damaged but no injuries to the occupants of the auto occurred. Because many residents were away for the week-end police said, traffic was exceptionally light in the town Saturday and Sunday.

Spray to Control Pests

Walls and rafters of barns, unfinished attics and storerooms may be sprayed with a water-dispersible DDT spray, made by mixing 12 tablespoons of 50 per cent DDT wettable powder in one gallon of water. This spray leaves a visible deposit of DDT, which will be effective for several months in killing insects which crawl over it. The water spray is effective on unfinished surfaces such as rough wood, porous plaster and cement. For finished attics closets and other rooms of the house a five per cent DDT solution is preferred, because the deposit it leaves is invisible and nothing is marked or stained by it. It should be used with caution because it is inflammable.

Sprayed Tomatoes

Trials conducted by the Dutch District agricultural experiment station have proved that spraying tomato plants with a copper fungicide greatly increases the quality of the fruit was improved.

Everybody's Project

Realization that the reopening of school is less than a week off brings different thoughts to the minds of different people. The reaction of one local resident recently was expressed to us as follows: "Soon the girls and boys will be trooping down Eastman street to the high school, and those of us who use this street will find it strewn with paper bags, cellophane wrappings, small cartons, ice cream sticks and often slices of buttered bread or even whole sandwiches."

We have a feeling, however, that as a result of a new civic consciousness developing in Cranford students, the fears of that resident of the Eastman street area will not be realized this year.

Activities of the students themselves — for instance, in their "Crime Does Not Pay" campaign at the high school last year — have been calculated to arouse in them an interest in keeping their school and their community as neat and clean as possible. It is hoped that there has been no letdown in this attitude during the summer months, and that Cranford students will show a continued consideration for the rights of others in the community, from the very first day of the new term.

Children of elementary school age who have participated in playground or camp activities during the summer have received valuable training through a "Clean Up Squad" plan which is reported to have worked very successfully. Continuation of such a plan during the school months, with members of such squads authorized to "police" school buildings and grounds, would be a good idea. The children would enjoy it, and the resulting neatness would benefit the whole community.

Parents have an opportunity in the few remaining days before school began, to recall to the minds of boys and girls the importance of habits of neatness on the part of each individual, and teachers should take over and continue the campaign by suggestion and example once school doors swing open again. The Student Council at the high school also can lend valuable aid by getting off to an early start on organization of the older students in a campaign aimed at neatness in school and community.

And the townspeople themselves would do well to make sure they are setting a proper example for the students to follow. Community cleanliness must be everybody's project if it is to succeed.

Time For Reason

At first glance, the statement by safety authorities that speed is the Number 1 cause of highway deaths and injuries has a far-away sound of no particular immediate significance.

The picture of an America gone speed-crazy has been exaggerated by cartoonists ever since the "flapper" days following World War I, and a good many people will find it hard to believe that our highways are a teeming chaos of careening speed-demons. As a matter of fact most of us, in the course of a day's driving, have encountered one or two insanely reckless speeders, seldom more. Certainly the proportion is nothing like one out of ten. What, then, is all the shouting about?

A careful analysis of what safety experts mean by "speed" clears up the mystery, although it affords us little cause for complacency. Far from relieving us of personal responsibility in the matter, we find the finger of accusation pointed directly at Mr. and Mrs. Average Motorist.

For if speed means, as we learn, not only such clearly dangerous speeds as 60, 70 and 80 miles an hour, but also speeds of 40, 30 or even 20 miles an hour under adverse conditions, then in effect the tragic toll of highway accidents means that a substantial proportion of us are lacking in good judgment.

That is a harsh indictment. It hits us in a very tender spot — pride in our native American commonsense.

As a nation, we are individualistic and proud of it. We are proud of our freedom of choice, freedom of initiative, freedom to make our own decisions. But we hope that the Number 1 highway killer is not due to our inability to exercise good judgment, but rather to our ignorance of the conditions affecting safe driving speeds. Let us set about correcting this ignorance and thus halt the killing.

Alcohol will preserve anything but health, happiness, and secrets.

The way the Soviets keep on yapping makes the American people see Red.

YOUR GARDEN This Week

It is not too early to start planning cover crops in your vegetable garden. Rye and hairy vetch sown in late August or early September will keep the soil protected in winter and will add valuable organic matter in the spring. Vetch will increase the nitrogen supply of the soil.

Transplanting of cauliflower and endive and succession sowings of evergreen can be done from now until the middle of October. It can be started as soon as growth stops and the new leaves take on a dark green color. Early plantings results in well established plants that can start right off in the spring.

This is the season also to make a new lawn or renovate the old one. Late summer or early fall sowing will be done readily and the morning service and sermon will be held at 11 a. m. Regular spring sowing. The cool weather of September and October encourages growth of grass.

Order your bulbs for fall planting. If you are planning to set Nicodemus Lilly (Lilium candidum) out them in as soon as possible as they can make the roots to grow before the winter.

Cucumber beetles will continue serious until frost. Rotenone dust will keep these under control, as it will aphids on tomatoes and cabbage family, cabbage worms, and mato worms. Mexican bean beetle and corn borer. Squash bugs also will be a pest. If you can get a pyrethrum dust or spray, use this. However, pyrethrum applications of rotenone or nicotine dust will hold them under control.

A feature of the 9:30 service Sunday will be the dedication of two hymn boards and a handillumined panel board, presented in memory of Charles G. Albury and his son, Lt. Albury, Jr.

A German-make .32 calibre automatic, which had changed hands several times without explosion, but four men in trouble. The Clippers got this run back in their half of the seventh, when Jones led off with a single. Baldwin flied out to center, Jones holding first. Cranford missed on opportunity to score in the eighth when Beadle led off with his second hit of the day. Paul Hoglund also singled putting men on first and second. Ray Morran scrutinized the number on 3 pitch. With men on second and third, and one out, Jim Harford grounded out to first and Jones grounded out to short to end the game.

The Braves led the game in the fifth inning when they scored a run on singles by Lanza, Beadle and Hoglund. Cranford tied it in the seventh. Lanza walked to start the inning. ## Essex Wins Over Union

Clipper Men Account For Lone Run of Co. Nine in All Star Tilt

The Union County Baseball League's All Star team was defeated by the Essex County League All Stars by a score of 6-1 at Cameron Field, South Orange, last Saturday afternoon. This marked the second time Union had been stopped by Essex during the three-year inter-county series. This year's return contest will be played at Memorial Recreation Field here at 6:30 p. m. on Tuesday, September 14.

Getting 12 hits from four Union pitchers, the Essex All Stars took a 2-1 lead in the third inning, scored one run in each of the fourth and ninth innings and rapped things up tight with two more in the seventh.

The lone Union run was scored by Joe Lanza of the Cranford Clippers in the third inning. Lanza doubled, was advanced to third on a sacrifice by Joe Bonomo, Essex pitcher, and went home on a single by Johnny Mellon of Cranford Clipper men, Lanza getting his double and Ito Baldwin a single.

Lanza was catcher for the All Star squad and Koehr and Ray Morran were among the pitchers used by the Union County team. Other Clipper players who saw action were Duff at shortstop, Baldwin at second base and Harry Jones at first.

It is understood that the original Union County All Star squad will be used in the field before the first game of this year's two-game series, will be cut further to about 20 men before the second game.

In the ninth. He was robbed of a base hit on a beautiful play by Comrie, who made a back-hand stop of a smash hit over second. His throw to first was just in time to nip Ito. Nozito and Duff singled putting men on first and second. Lanza grounded to Comrie, who trapped Duff and threw to first for the game-ending out and a nice double play.

Lists Grid Schedule

Cranford H. S. Opens At Linden on Sept. 28; Practice Session Held

Candidates for Cranford High School's football squad began practice yesterday in preparation for the 1948 season, which will open with a game in Linden on Saturday, September 25. Other game dates were announced by Coach J. Seth Weekley as follows: October 2, Regional, home; October 9, North Plainfield, home; October 16, Rahway, home; October 23, Hillside, away; October 30, Roselle Park, home; November 6, Roselle, away; November 13, Scotch Plains, away, and November 25, Thanksgiving Day, Thomas Jefferson, in Elizabeth.

Scotch Plains is a newcomer on the Cranford schedule this year, replacing Woodbridge.

There was an encouraging turnout as candidates met at the high school yesterday morning, but Coach Weekley said he could not announce the list of this season's squad until he received results of physical examinations conducted by the school doctor on Monday, Tuesday and yesterday.

Opening practice consentrated on passing and handling the ball. Preliminary instructions and suggestions were presented to the candidates in a brief talk by Coach Weekley.

The outlook is for a lighter and it is hoped—faster team this year. It is expected that Cranford will put a stronger eleven on the field this season than in 1947, when injuries removed eight regulars from action.

Home football games this year will again be played on the old Walnut avenue field, the turf on Memorial Recreation Field not being ready yet for such use.
