VISITS WITH COMMUTERS—Congressman Robert W. Kean, Republican nominee for United States Senate, is greeted at Jersey Central Railroad station Tuesday morning during "Operation Coffee Cup" by C. Kean Coffee Hour at Station Among Campaign Highlights

The Republican campaign in Cranford continued in full swing this week, one highlight being the appearance of Congressman Robert W. Kean, candidate for United States Senate, on the eastbound platform of the Jersey Central Railroad station to greet some 200 local commuters Tuesday morning.

Many of the commuters took advantage of the opportunity to meet Congressman Kean personally and discuss the issues of the day. C. Van Chamberlin, candidate for Township Committee, was on hand to greet the commuters with the Senate candidate. Also present were Mayor John L. Brennan and members of the Township Committee.

Coffee and doughnuts were served by a committee under co-chairmanship of Mrs. Clarence E. Ogden and Mrs. Alfred Duemmler.

Republican candidates spoke at a meeting sponsored by the Republican campaign committee at the home of Miss Mamie Cox, 201 High street, recently.

James P. Duffy, campaign chairman, spoke in support of the candidacies of Congressman Robert W. Kean, running for United States Senate, and Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer, seeking reelection.

Freeholder Ernest S. Hickok spoke for the Republican freeholder candidates, himself, Freeholder Richard P. Hatfield and A. Donald McKenzie.

Also addressing the meeting were Register Charles L. Bauer and Surrogate Charles A. Otto, both seeking reelection, and C. Van Chamberlin, candidate for Township Committee.

The Walnut Civic Club held a Candidates' Night meeting at Veterans' Memorial Home last week at which Republican Municipal Chairman James P. Duffy spoke on behalf of Congressman Kean; Richard P. Muscatello spoke on behalf of the candidacies of Congresswoman Dwyer, Register Bauer and Surrogate Otto; Mr. McKenzie spoke for the freeholder ticket, and Mr. Chamberlin ap-

Cornerstone laying ceremonies for the new Bloomingdale Avenue School, which opened in September, will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning in the school auditorium, Dr. Clark W. McDermith, superintendent of schools, announced today.

Election Day was chosen for the ceremonies so more fathers can attend, Dr. McDermith stated. Pupils representing the Student Council and all grades will participate.

The program will open with singing of "Faith of Our Fathers" by the audience and reading from the Scriptures. John Heruska, a member of the Student Council, will deliver the welcome. Invocation will be by the Rev. Arnold J. Dahlquist, pastor, Calvary Lutheran Church.

Richard Matus, also a member of the Student Council, will introduce guests. Greetings will be given by Mayor John L. Brennan, Channing Rudd, president of the Board of Education; Dr. William H. West, county superintendent of schools, and Dr. Clark W. McDermith, township schools superintendent.

Democrat Candidates Speak Here

Col. Jack B. Dunn of Westfield, Democratic congressional candidate, speaking at the American Legion Casino Saturday, deplored the current demonstrations of hatred resulting in the bombing of Jewish temples and other houses of worship along with the racial tensions involving negroes in some Southern states.

He stated that "a better understanding of the religious beliefs and a knowledge of the cultural background of all minority ethnical groups would make us better people and help eradicate racial and religious intolerance which is a result of ignorance and the prejudices of our forebearers."

Col. Dunn also stated that there are still 275,000 unemployed in New Jersey — 18,000 in Union County alone — according to the latest report of the State Employment Service, and added that this figure did not include countless thousands of unemployed not registered with the service or working part time. He described this unemployment as a direct result of "the recession brought on by the Republican tight money policy."

The meeting was sponsored by the Cranford Citizens' Committee

BPW Hears CD Leader

Union County is far ahead of other counties in the state in Civil Defense, Col Howell L. Hodgskin, deputy coordinator of Civil Defense and Disaster Control for Union County, told members of the Business and Professional Women's Club Monday at a dinner meeting in the Coach and Four Restaurant. Miss Leona Pendorf, chairman of the national security committee, was in charge.

Declaring that Russia has compulsory Civil Defense with everyone putting in 23 hours of training a month, the speaker said this nation's Civil Defense program has been stepped up since sputnik.

Col. Hodgskin explained that this county has three emergency hospitals of 200 beds each, strategically located, which can be expanded to 2,000 beds each. More than 500 persons have been trained for mass feeding and every municipality has a Civil Defense plan which is now being reduced to written form. He urged residents, for their own safety, to find out the CD plan in their community, and learn about first aid and home preparedness. He said the welfare division will welcome volunteers.

Mrs. Dell Lacey was elected to membership on recommendation of Mrs. Dorothy Bowers, membership chairman. Miss Patricia Phillipee reported on attending the Community Council meeting on the water problem which she attend-

Voter Apathy Seen Problem Facing Both Political Parties

"Voter apathy seems to be a major problem to both political parties on the state and local level," Mrs. Charles Redden, voters' service chairman of the Cranford League of Women Voters, said in commenting on an article that appeared in a metropolitan newspaper last week. The roving reporters who covered the New Jersey pre-election campaign found many did not know there was to be an election, and others were prepared to elect a governor.

"The voters' service committee and other members of the league have made strong efforts to inform Cranford residents concerning the coming election," continued Mrs. Redden. "Information on local, county, and state candidates has been compiled and widely distributed in town.

"A meeting was arranged by the league so that Cranford residents could meet the local, and county candidates. Before the registration books were closed, the usual registration drive was conducted in the first district and registration information was supplied as broadly as possible to help all eligible voters to be able to vote in the elections of November 4.

"In the light of last week's article, we again remind all registered voters in Cranford to cast their votes next Tuesday," Mrs. Redden concluded.

Anyone who wants a copy of the candidate sheets can get one at his church or through any civic or veterans' organization as well as at the Public Library.

Commuters will receive copies

Taking UN To Community Topic at Seminar

"Taking the UN Back to Your Community" was the topic of an address by Clark Eichelberger, executive director, American Association for the United Nations, heard Tuesday by residents of Cranford who have been attending a five-week seminar at the United Nations, sponsored by the Cranford League of Women Voters.

"Recent public opinion polls show that the American people overwhelmingly support the United Nations. The public 'climate' toward the UN is good," stated Mr. Eichelberger in the session held at the World Affairs Center. "However, the time has now come when we must enter the second phase of our work, which is to take the issues before the UN back to the people.

"This is where non-governmental organizations such as the LWV are of such great value. The people must be made to feel that they are part of these issues—that they are part of their government and their government is part of them."

Mr. Eichelberger went on to say

Announce Closings For Election Day

Local banks, municipal offices and the Public Library will be closed all day Tuesday because of Election Day.

Public schools will be open Tuesday, but St. Michael's School will be closed and there will be no classes for either day or evening session students at Union Junior College.

Police Chief Lester W. Powell reported it will not be necessary for motorists to put coins in parking meters on Election Day.

Business will be conducted as usual at the Cranford Post Office.

Drive Nears $50,000; Fund Heads Confident

The two-thirds mark was within close reach this week in the United Fund drive as the campaign entered its fourth and final week. A total of $48,797 had been reported by drive leaders toward the $75,000 goal.

The last week's two successful report meetings brought expressions of confidence from Clarence L. Fritz and Meredith S. Conley, campaign chairmen, and sparked high enthusiasm among district managers at two unusual report meetings.

Last Thursday night's reports were turned in by district leaders at their homes as they were visited by a cavalcade of top United Fund executives and representatives of the 12 United Fund agencies. A public address speaker, searchlight and police escort added color to the procession as it covered all of the town's 19 districts in two fast-moving hours.

At Monday's report meeting, held in United Fund headquarters, district managers were greeted by top officials of all 12 fund agencies. Determination and enthusiasm ran high as the benefitting agencies expressed their willingness to assist in the conclusion of the drive and campaign leaders pledged their efforts to push past the $75,000 goal.

Still another unique report meet-

Two Trustees Not Seeking Reelection

Two of the three members of the Board of Education whose terms expire in February have indicated their intention not to be candidates for reelection, it was revealed as the screening committee of the Joint Civic Committee for Encouraging Candidates for the Board of Education held its first meeting Monday evening at the home of its chairman, Mrs. John Silliman of 504 Casino avenue.

They are H. Raymond Cowperthwaite and Albert E. Johnson. Mr. Cowperthwaite is completing his second full term as a board member. Mr. Johnson, who is completing his first term as a trustee, has informed the Joint Civic Commitee that the travel requirements in his business make it unwise for him to continue as

Town's Protective Services Described for Adult School

The various forms of protection provided for Cranford residents were described at the fourth session of the "Our Town" course of the Adult School Tuesday evening. The session, called "On The Alert," was held at the Municipal Court.

Civil Defense and Disaster Control plans and organization were described by Director G. Holmes Williams, Jr. Three steps to survival in a defense emergency, he related, include preparation for family emergencies, such as keeping available a first aid kit, flashlight and emergency food and water, preferably in the family car; availability of a radio to listen to the Conelrad station at 640 and 1240 on the dial, and informing oneself about safety and shelter.

Mr. Williams said that a 200-bed emergency hospital plan had been set up by the group, whose office is in the Livingston Avenue School.

Fireman Edward E. Reade, representing Chief Bernard A. Doyle, described the personnel of the Fire Department as consisting of a chief, deputy chief, three captains and 17 firemen. The equipment, fire alarm system and number and location of fire hydrants also were discussed. The cost of each false alarm is $150, the speaker remarked, to say nothing of the unnecessary danger to the firemen involved.

Police Chief Lester W. Powell took the class on a tour of the headquarters building, which he described as hopelessly inadequate. To the observation of one of the class members that there was not even a sprinkler system in the building, the chief merely gave wry assent.

Chief Powell declared that we have about one half the number

Township Committee Seat Local Stake in Tuesday Vote

Cranford voters on Tuesday will be asked to choose between C. Van Chamberlin, Republican, and John P. Fitzgerald, Jr., Democrat, for a three-year term on the Township Committee, and also will have an opportunity to indicate their choice in contests for a United States senator, a congressional representative, three freeholders, a county register and a county surrogate.

In addition, they will be asked to vote on two public questions, one calling for a bond issue of $45,850,000 to finance projects aimed at a long-range solution of the state's water problems and the other providing for a constitutional amendment that would permit use of an $18,000,000 public school fund to guarantee school district bonds.

Mr. Chamberlin, a building contractor with offices at 15 Alden street, came to Cranford in 1937 as general superintendent of construction on Cranford High School and has resided here since then. A native of LaPorta City, Ia., he was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology with an architectural degree.

He has built St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Westfield; Lutheran Sunday School, Cranford; First Baptist Church Sunday School, Westfield; Community Methodist Church, Roselle Park; Union County Savings Bank, Elizabeth,

Public Questions Explained

Presented below are explanations, prepared by the Cranford League of Women Voters, of the two public questions which will appear at the top of the ballot in next Tuesday's General Election.

The purpose of the referendum on "the fund for the support of free public schools" is to improve the marketability of all district bonds and make possible lower interest rates. This amendment, if passed, will change the present constitutional provision on this fund to permit its use to make interest payments on, or to buy the bonds of, local school districts as provided by the legislature.

The referendum will appear as Public Question No. 2 at the top of next Tuesday's ballot, and its passage will permit New Jersey school district bonds to compete with those of comparable districts in neighboring states.

At present, except for large or particularly well-known districts,

Public question No. 1 will provide two reservoirs to meet the need for adequate year-round water supply in the northern metropolitan area of the state. One will be a 55-billion gallon storage reservoir at Round Valley near Clinton in Hunterdon County, into which excess water will be pumped from nearby rivers and from the Delaware and Raritan Canal during periods of high flow. The other will be a 10 billion gallon "compensating" reservoir at Spruce Run in Hunterdon County, which will be used to maintain a steady year-round flow for the length of the Raritan River and its South Branch, to provide a dependable supply for public and private users — water companies, industries and farms. It will mainly benefit the Elizabeth, Bound Brook and New Brunswick areas.

The act will permit the development of the entire Raritan River basin, which now yields only one-fifteenth of the water the Passaic River basin does, though the basins

Pay Request Talks Slated

The Township Committee will meet with representatives of Locals 52, PBA, and 37, FMBA, following the next regular meeting on Monday, November 10, to discuss the request of the two groups for increases of $500 for each member of the police and fire departments for the coming year, it was learned yesterday.

Members of the two locals voted unanimously to ask the governing body for pay boosts because "the steady rise of the cost of living, which is at an all-time high, makes it impossible for members of the police and fire departments to properly maintain their families on their present fixed income."

The statement, presented to the Township Committee this week,

Set Hearing On Tavern Complaint

Township Committee will conduct a hearing on November 19 into charges that Donadase, Inc., trading as The Lodge, sold beer to two minors on October 5, it was announced at Tuesday night's meeting of the committee.

According to a police report, Patrolman William F. Crissey has charged that two minors, Rudolph Buontempo, 9 Moeh street; and Albert W. Christensen, Jr., 2 Park street, both under 21, were served beer in the tavern. Township Attorney Donald R. Creighton will prosecute the charge.

Referred to the public safety committee was a petition from 15 merchants on South and Walnut avenues asking that the committee rescind the recently-enacted ordinance prohibiting parking along South avenue between 5 and 7 p.m. Public Safety Commissioner Nicholas S. LaCorte announced that a new traffic count has been made and that a meeting of merchants along both North and South avenues will be held within the next two weeks to discuss the problem with them.

Sidney Scher, proprietor of Scher's Drug Store, 102 Walnut avenue, declared that merchants in his area do not favor the resolution presented at a recent meet-

Dinner Climaxes Cranford 'Flo Dwyer Day'

END OF A BUSY DAY — Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer is shown at dinner in Chi-Am Chateau, Mountainside, which concluded round of events sponsored by Cranford Republican campaign committee and other local Republican organizations as "Flo Dwyer Day" was observed by Cranford last Thursday. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. Dwyer, Carroll B. Quaintance, toastmaster, and C. Van Chamberlin, Republican candidate for Township Committee; standing, James P. Duffy, local Republican campaign manager, and James F. O'Brien, Republican municipal chairman. —Photo by A. G. Vogel

At a dinner last Thursday, climaxing "Flo Dwyer Day," about 200 Cranford residents heard Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer declare that much of her activities in the 85th Congress were directed toward "improving educational facilities and strengthening the financial position of senior citizens."

Mrs. Dwyer was guest of honor at the dinner held at the Chi-Am Chateau, Mountainside, sponsored by the local Republican campaign committee in conjunction with the various Cranford Republican organizations.

"Both the young and the old have a particular interest in fighting inflation, in keeping the value of their dollars steady," the congresswoman declared. "Younger people need a fighting chance to get started in life, and inflation could defeat them before they get settled. Older people, generally on lower, fixed incomes, need protection from a lessening of their purchasing power.

"The cost-of-living increase in social security payments, for which I voted, was an important step in this direction.

"A major advance in enlarging educational opportunity was made with the passage of the National Defense Education Bill, which I

CD Exercise Success Told

Director G. Holmes Williams announced this week that last Thursday's "Operation Pre-Attack" exercise involving the Cranford and Roselle Park Civil Defense units was highly successful.

For the exercise, it was assumed that in an accident on the main line tracks of the Central Railroad of New Jersey west of the Lehigh Valley overpass, due to sabotage, Lehigh Valley cars had fallen on a Central Railroad passenger train.

Police cars were dispatched to the scene near the old Aldene station and the Civil Defense directors from both municipalities were notified and proceeded to the scene.

After Auxiliary Police and Public Works and communications equipment had been called into play and Checkpoint 36 at Route 28 and the Garden State Parkway had been activated, traffic control was effected.

Medical, First Aid and Red Cross units were then directed to the scene to take care of Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts who, acting as casualties, had been previously tagged for proper handling.

A hospital had been set up in Aldene School in Roselle Park, to which the "injured" were moved, and the Cranford First Aid Building was designated as a mortuary to which the "dead" were taken.

The disaster scene and traffic were subsequently restored to normal, after which all personnel proceeded to Aldene School for refreshments provided by the welfare units.

Director Williams also announced that an exercise, separate from the "Operation Pre-Attack" incident, was effected by the Rad-Ef Team of the Cranford CD organization in connection with the state-wide observance.

Two Local Men Elected to Board Of Youth Service

Two residents of Cranford were elected to the board of directors of the Youth Consultation Service at the annual meeting last week. They are Richard Johnson of 7 Green court and Robert M. Harmon of 21 Berkeley place. Mr. Johnson is a communicant of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Roselle, where he is serving as a vestryman. He is employed as general manager of the Hexacon Electric Company.

Mr. Harmon, a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Cranford, is with the methods analysis department of the Shell Oil Co. in New York. His interest in youth work is exemplified by his service as a former cubmaster of the Boy Scouts and his efforts in starting a junior fellowship in the local church.

Mrs. Harold C. White of 109 Holly street was reelected secretary of YCS and Walter E. Cooper of 109 Miln street was renamed as treasurer.

YCS, although sponsored by the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey, serves the community on a nonsectarian basis and is dependent on the residents and churches of the area for support. Philip L. Turner, executive secretary, reported that 134 families had been aided in the first nine months of 1958, an increase of 15 over the total served last year. The region including Westfield, Cranford and Rahway is the primary source of the agency's caseload, he reported.

This is not the case in Russia, he said, where at a recent meeting of delegates from the AAUN and its Russian equivalent, it was found that there are few chapters of the organization and public opinion on the UN is guided by organizations that are government-controlled.

In closing, Mr. Eichelberger reminded his audience of Human Rights Day, December 10, and urged all organizations to meet to discuss and assess attitudes on human rights.

Attending from Cranford were Mrs. S. R. Christensen, Mrs. B. B. Kott, Mrs. Clark McDermith, Mrs. F. L. Schartenberg, Mrs. Bertram Michaelson, Mrs. Nathan Rodstein, Mrs. E. L. Water Referendum

This act will establish for the first time state-wide long-range planning to meet water supply, conservation and recreation needs. It provides for a 10-year geological study of the large underground water stores in south Jersey, as well as water-shed studies of surface water resources. The reservoirs and surrounding lands may be used for recreation purposes—swimming, fishing, camping and boating.

The method of financing this program will require no new or additional taxes. The state will issue bonds, and the act provides that both the principal and the interest will be paid off by selling the water wholesale to public and private companies who will retail it to their customers. Piping and treating will be done by the companies.

This act appears as a referendum on the ballot because it is necessary to have public consent for placing the State's credit behind these bonds. State funds will not be used to pay for this program. The bonds and interest will be paid off by the people who use the additional water made available by the program. The state already has a waiting list of companies wanting to buy the water.

This water bill is bi-partisan legislation; it passed both the State Senate and Assembly without a single dissenting vote from either party. It has the support of public and private organizations, professional, religious and labor groups, taxpayer associations, planning boards, industrial, agricultural and conservation interests throughout the state. More than 500 statewide, county and local organizations have combined to endorse it through the Statewide Committee for the Water Referendum.

School Bond Question

New Jersey bonds do not meet as favorable a response from bond buyers as do those of our neighbors. This is largely due to past practices, particularly during the 1930's, when some districts defaulted, and also to a lack of legislative safeguards such as those adopted by a majority of states.

Bond buyers look for state legislative measures in evaluating bonds from little-known or fast-growing districts. Passage of Public Question No. 2 will improve the outlook here.

Legislation has already been passed which implements the proposed constitutional amendment by providing that in the event that the moneys available from School Building Aid Funds should prove insufficient for the purpose of meeting the payment of principal and interest on local school bonds, the moneys and income of the $16 million Fund for the Support of Free Public Schools may be used for that purpose.

Public Question No. 2, is a state financial measure to improve and equalize opportunities for education. It proposes no additional expenditures of State funds, but merely requests authority to broaden the use of a public school fund which was originally created by the framers of the New Jersey Constitution in 1817 and was continued in the present constitution.

There is no known opposition to this referendum question, which is actually a constitutional amendment, and here in Cranford, the Board of Education, the Township Committee and PTA's, as well as the League of Women Voters urge you to vote "yes" on this question.

Army Missile Development Described for Lincoln PTA

A discussion of the development of Army missiles, with emphasis on their employment and deployment, was presented by Lt. John T. Gleason, a member of C Battery of the Second Missile Battalion at the Livingston Nike Base, as guest speaker at a meeting of the Lincoln PTA at the school Tuesday night.

Lt. Gleason, who is the son of Mrs. Gertrude Gleason of 176 North Lehigh avenue and the late John T. Gleason, Sr., also showed a film entitled "Nike for the Defense of America." A question-and-answer period followed. Refreshments were served.

Plans for a used clothing sale to be held in the primary lunchroom from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., next Thursday were made at a PTA board meeting at the school last week. Mrs. Edward Keane, chairman for the sale, announced that apparel in good condition is wanted as well as rubbers, boots, skates and scout uniforms.

The membership chairmen, Mrs. G. L. Dixon and Mrs. Adolph Bauer, reported a total of 430 members to date. A door-to-door campaign has been planned in an attempt to make it 100 percent.

Mrs. Frank Konopack, Christmas project chairman, announced that a puppet show is being planned for the children and candy will be given to the teachers.

Mrs. Richard Ernst, special project chairman, reported she plans to obtain an exchange student from Columbia University to visit the school to speak to the children of her country and its habits. The other special project will be to purchase folding tables for the school, she added.

The teas held at the school to acquaint the mothers with the school curriculum were very successful, it was reported by Mrs. Robert Gwilliam and Mrs. Bernard Litwack, classmother chairmen.

This year the junior high schools will share in the elementary scholarship, it was announced. The amount of the scholarship will be increased $50 to a total of $200.

A certificate has been given to the organization for obtaining 25 subscriptions to the National PTA magazine, it was reported by Mrs. Joseph Masino, publications chairman.

Miss Beatrice Warner, principal, addressed the board concerning the needs of the school and its students and how they are being met. She stated that good teachers and textbooks are of primary importance. Teachers' needs are discussed with her, Miss Warner related, and she in turn passes them on to the Board of Education. They are then included in the overall township school needs and placed in the budget.

The board was requested to alert the parents to the fact that they should become more aware of the left side of the report card. Personal and social growth marks are as important as academic marks, Miss Warner declared.

Open house will be held on Thursday, November 13, from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. If there are any problems concerning a child, they are not to be discussed at this time, it was announced. An appointment should be made with the teacher for a conference at a later date.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Joseph Mysiak, president.

Facts About the United Nations

In connection with the observance of United Nations Week here during the week beginning October 24, Mrs. C. G. Albury, chairman for the local observance, presented the following questions and answers on subjects pertaining to UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization:

Question — Specifically why should international action be necessary to wipe out illiteracy?

Answer — There are more than a billion people who cannot read, and more than half the world's children have no schools. It would be absurd to assert that the eradication of illiteracy all over the world is a "UNESCO goal." Dozens of governments and scores of private voluntary agencies are tackling the job — and many of them were doing it long before UNESCO existed. But UNESCO is making a significant and essential contribution in its development of fundamental education and in the help it can offer to nations who are building their first system of mass education.

Question — What is fundamental education and what does UNESCO have to do with it?

Answer — In 1946 UNESCO put a small group of experts to work to determine the minimum fundamental education needed by a man to cope with life in his environment. They set themselves the task of developing a simple and effective system of teaching the three "R's" of living. The result is described as fundamental education — an emergency fill-in until formal school systems can be established.

There are now more than a hundred independent fundamental education projects in countries like India, the Philippines, Peru, and Nigeria. In these, for example, reading and spelling are subordinated to schooling in the essentials of hygiene, nutrition, and agriculture. There are, further, two regional demonstration centers, one for Latin America and one for the Arab nations. Their function is to train teachers in the techniques of fundamental education. National fundamental education projects are associated with UNESCO and with each other through a UNESCO clearinghouse which helps them exchange information, materials, and consultation services. This exchange is especially important in a field which is barely out of the experimental stage and in which novel applications of some of the oldest principles of education are being tried.

Finally, UNESCO conducts "operational" activities which include survey and advisory missions, the development of new materials, and pilot projects.

Question — What is UNESCO's role in primary and secondary school development?

Answer — Admittedly, fundamental education is a "hard way" expedient to make up for the lack of schools yesterday. What about tomorrow? UNESCO has given aid to over 40 nations trying to build new school systems or reorganize and strengthen outmoded ones. Here again, UNESCO could not undertake to build the hundreds of thousands of schools which will be built; nor will these schools be built because UNESCO said they should; nor will there be uniform "UNESCO school systems." There is no such system. The job is being done, and will be finished, by Bolivians for Bolivians, by Cambodians for Cambodians, by Pakistanis for Pakistanis, and so on.

Because these nations requested help, UNESCO is supplying certain technical skills. Its teams, however, may supply something of the spirit which will make these schools successful. Its experts are saving these nations time and costly mistakes. One thing is certain — not one of these nations, working alone, could have marshaled the variety and quality of technical advice which the UNESCO pool can supply.

Health Board Activity Told

The Board of Health approved two food licenses at its meeting in the Municipal Building Monday night. Licenses were granted to I. Dudley Edge of Orange, owner of an establishment at 110 North avenue, west, and to Harry Riley, new owner of White Crystal of Cranford, 471 South avenue, east.

Health Officer John F. Kunze reported 49 births, 22 deaths, and issuance of 15 marriage certificates in September. He also reported three cases of whooping cough and one of measles.

Mr. Kunze's report also listed 38 food and drug inspections, 20 complaints investigated, 14 inspections for environmental sanitation, and nine visits for quarantining of dogs.

Six plumbing permits were issued, according to the report of Plumbing Inspector William Gourley, in addition to the investigation of four complaints, and 28 inspections were made.

The report submitted by Mrs. William Barnaby, public health nurse, showed 220 home visits, 20 demonstration baths for infants, and the delivery of 13 birth certificates.

Reds Backing School Tax, HNS Is Told

The Communist threat to human freedom and religion was discussed by Judge Milton A. Feller at the annual communion breakfast of the St. Michael's Holy Name Society Sunday at the Cranwood, Garwood.

A record turnout of 290 men received communion at St. Michael's Church and then went to the Cranwood for the breakfast.

Judge Feller said the Red attack on the Roman Catholic Church was manifested through the martyrdom of Hungarian Cardinal Mindzenty. He asserted that the real threat to the United States lies in Communist-sponsored attempts to obtain legislation taxing parochial schools of all religious denominations.

Should such legislation become reality, he said, it would impose a staggering blow on the presently overburdened school systems and would "devastatingly succeed" in eliminating religious teaching to the youth.

The second guest speaker, the Rev. Thomas Fahey, director of athletics at Seton Hall University, discussed the role of the Pope in the church. He said the new Pope is "the new St. Peter on earth, and is heir to the graces and honors established by the first Vicar of Christ almost 2,000 years ago."

Mayor John L. Brennan spoke briefly. Other township officials introduced included Township Committeemen Nicholas St. J. LaCorte and Ira D. Dorian, Police Chief Lester W. Powell, Tax Assessor Edward Markowitz and Postmaster Arthur F. Metz.

The Rev. Mark J. Dooley, spiritual director, thanked the honored guests and concluded the program with a prayer.

Joseph Daly, president, introduced Donald Smith, breakfast chairman, who announced the record attendance. The guest speakers were presented by Frank Pfaff, toastmaster.

Floraphile Club Reports Arrangement Sale Success

The dried flower arrangement sale held October 11 on the grounds of the First Aid Building by the Floraphile Garden Club was a success, Mrs. Fred P. Huston, Jr., chairman, reported.

The announcement was made at a recent meeting of the club at the home of Mrs. J. B. Warrington, 15 Kensington avenue.

Fifty-five arrangements were put on general sale together with 40 miniature arrangements which had been made by children of the members under the supervision of Mrs. William Foppert.

Thirty special orders were filled in advance of the sale by Mrs. Clifton Stockberger, co-chairman, and her committee. Most of these arrangements were made in the customers' own containers to correlate with existing color schemes.

Mrs. Huston thanked the members who had participated in the workshops and those who had collected material during the summer and who had dried flowers and treated leaves.

The children who worked under Mrs. Foppert's direction were Barbara Mitchell, Janet Brubaker, Susan Huston, Marsha Nevalls, Carol Christensen, Susan and Jean Riha, Charlotte Charles and Barbara and Patricia Foppert.

Proceeds from the sale will be applied toward any further planting found necessary at the First Aid Building and also toward a planting at one of the new schools.

Set Hearing

ing by the Cranford Business Association which requested that the restriction be changed from 5 to 6 p.m. for both North and South avenues.

Mr. Scher said the situation is entirely different on South avenue and asked that it be considered separately from the North avenue petition. He asserted that there is not as much traffic on South avenue; that the street is wider, and that the parking ban is harming merchants in that area and driving business out of town.

Request for the change of the name of Christopher street to Shadowlawn drive was made by W. P. Schmal, developer of Chestnut Hills Estate. The request was referred to the township engineer and attorney for study and report.

The township exchanged township-owned lots 1, 2, and part of lot 3, block 430, on Windsor place for eight parcels off Orange avenue owned by Marvin V. Scanlan and known as lots 974 to 977, inclusive, in block 760, and lots 1035 to 1038, inclusive, in block 748. Lot 52 in block 55 on Retford avenue was sold to Pat Maffiore of 4 Retford avenue on his bid of $125 with the restriction that it may only be used in conjunction with adjoining lot 51, which Mr. Maffiore now owns.

Adopted on final reading was an ordinance providing for the paving of Brookside place from Orchard street to the Garwood line as a general improvement. Estimated cost is $15,000, of which the state will contribute $10,266. Township Engineer P. J. Grall was authorized to advertise for bids for the project as soon as plans have been approved by the State Highway Department.

Also adopted on final reading was an ordinance vacating portions of Marsh and Dorchester streets. The paper streets, Mayor John L. Brennan explained, are required for school purposes.

A request from the Borough of Roselle for financial assistance to help fight the installation of towers by Public Service Electric and Gas Company for high-tension wires was denied. Mayor Brennan said the committee is in sympathy with Roselle's problem and that Township Attorney Donald R. Creighton has cooperated but that the problem which faces Cranford is not or will not be so acute as to affect local property values. He said Cranford will urge the Legislature to pass necessary laws to control such future installations.

Referred to committee of the whole was a letter from Rekemeier Flowers, Inc., North avenue, west, questioning whether the vacant lot opposite their store is in the business zone and whether its use for the sale of Christmas trees each year is in violation of any local statute.

Patrolman John P. Korsch was advanced to second year patrolman, effective November 1.

Announcement was made that the next meeting will be Monday evening, November 10, because of Veterans Day on November 11, the regular meeting night.

All three Republican freeholder candidates addressed a meeting Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buschold, 113 Pine street. Mrs. James F. O'Brien spoke for Congressman Kean and Mrs Dwyer. Mr. Chamberlin also spoke at this meeting. There were 16 guests present.

On Monday evening, approximately 20 persons attending a meeting at the home of Miss Pearl Ivey, 2 Hayes street, heard talks by Mr. Duffy in support of Congressman Kean and Mrs. Duffy for Mrs. Dwyer. Also speaking here were the Republican freeholder, surrogate, register and Township Committee candidates.

Mrs. O'Brien and Mr. Chamberlin are scheduled to speak on behalf of the entire Republican ticket at a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Hemphill, 7 Johnson avenue, at 8:30 this evening.

was especially gratified to vote for and speak for on the House floor. The provision for better science and foreign-language training equipment in high schools and colleges, the special training programs for teachers of these subjects, and the college loan program will contribute directly to improved quality in American education and are designed to encourage schools and colleges to move ahead more rapidly on their own."

The dinner honoring Mrs. Dwyer was combined with the traditional Candidates' Night of the Cranford Republican Club. Richard P. Muscatello, Elizabeth attorney, spoke in behalf of Congressman Robert W. Kean, candidate for U. S. Senate. Freeholder Candidates Richard P. Hatfield, Ernest Hickok and A. Donald McKenzie, Register of Deeds Charles L. Bauer and Surrogate Charles A. Otto spoke briefly in their own behalf, as did C. Van Chamberlin, candidate for Township Committee.

Earlier in the day, Congresswoman Dwyer attended a coffee party at the home of Mrs. W. J. McCullough, 2 Berkeley place; a luncheon at the home of Mrs. James P. Duffy, 1 Sylvester street; and a tea at the home of Mrs. Alfred Fricke, 115 Centennial avenue. At each event a large number of guests heard Mrs. Dwyer discuss the issues of the campaign. She also toured the local shopping center and visited the Good Government trailer which was in Cranford last week.

In a brief talk at the luncheon last Thursday, Mrs. Dwyer proposed a Congressional study of the problems of the tri-State New York metropolitan area with emphasis on the high cost of commuting in and out of New York City. She said she will propose the Intergovernmental Relations Subcommittee of the House, of which she is ranking minority member, make the study "a priority concern" of the 86th Congress convening in January.

The Union County Congresswoman said such a study could "focus national attention and appropriate Congressional action on such problems as the regulation of commuter transportation by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the questionable New York State practice of taxing out-of-state residents."

She stressed that "the commuter—especially the person commuting from New Jersey to New York and back again—is fast becoming one of our country's most discriminated-against minorities. Not only must he pay New York State income taxes, and be denied even the benefits accorded New York residential taxpayers, but it is becoming daily more expensive, more uncomfortable and more inconvenient for him even to reach this scene of discrimination."

Town Protective

on our police force that is recommended by the FBI and the State Police Chiefs' Association. He said that traffic is the major police problem in Cranford. There is no longer a foot patrol in residential areas of town, because 75 percent of the department's time is required to handle traffic, he added.

Magistrate Charles J. Stevens of the Cranford Municipal Court seconded Chief Powell in declaring prevention of traffic violations that lead to accidents to be more important than catching offenders after they have broken the law.

Describing the workings of his court, Magistrate Stevens related that only parking fines and court costs stay in town (and these more than pay costs of court), while all other fines are paid to the county.

The history of the court was related from its inception in 1921, when Charles P. Buckley was appointed police recorder of the Cranford Police Court. Before then, court matters were handled by justices of the peace. The justice had no fixed salary and only received a fee when the defendant was found guilty.

Magistrate Stevens explained that the present Cranford court is part of the New Jersey court system. No cases are heard in the local court of juveniles under age 18, unless they are duly licensed motor vehicle operators.

The magistrate said that the present court system seems to be adequate for the Township's present needs.

Next Tuesday's class will take up the public school system in town. Mrs. Nathan Rodstein will be chairman and Mrs. Norman Goldsmith will be moderator for a panel which will include Dr. Clark W. McDermith, superintendent of schools; Mr. Herbert R. McCullough, secretary of the Board of Education since 1927, and all members of the board, who will describe their responsibilities in terms of their committee chairmanships.

James E. McGovney, completing his first term on the board, has not yet announced his intentions about running again.

The screening committee reported that it will submit to its parent group within the next several weeks a list of names for endorsement as candidates for the three posts to be filled at the school election in February.

Additional proposals of candidates for the board will be welcomed by the committee, it was announced. Such proposals should be sent to Mrs. Silliman.

Drive Nears

ing is set for tonight. District managers will report to drive leaders in front of the United Fund progress scoreboard at Warner Plaza, just east of the railroad underpass at North Union Avenue. An aerial searchlight will illuminate the area as reports are made from 8:30 to 9 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

Workers and district managers were urged to turn in as many cards as possible tonight to get set for the final cleanup that is planned for next Monday night.

Monday's meeting produced the largest single total recorded from residential areas in one evening, more than $7,000. Spearheading the reports were District 18 under Henry Smithers with $1,276 and District 17 under Frank Mullin with $1,232.

An additional $181 from Mrs. John Nostrand's District 16 put her beyond the $3,500 quota set for her District with a total of $3,550.

Front-running district throughout the campaign, workers in the 16th were praised by Mr. Fritz and Mr. Conley for the carefully organized and aggressively conducted campaign. Mrs. Nostrand indicated that although her drive is nearing completion, she expects further returns to push her substantially past the quota.

District 2, under Mrs. Paul Christman, is next closest to fulfilling its quota, lacking just $151 of its $2,000 goal.

Also past its goal was the campaign among local business firms headed by E. Calvin Shire, which has contributed a total of $3,670. New contributions of $50 or more were added by: Goldberg's Men's Shop, $100; Bibby's Coach and Four, $50, and Breen's Liquor Store, $50.

Local and out-of-town industry also passed its $3,000 goal, reaching a total of $3,045. Under chairman Victor Shaheen 40 firms have been successfully canvassed, with a recent $450 contribution by New Jersey Bell Telephone Company helping to push the total beyond the goal. Mr. Shaheen also reported that the contribution of Boyle Midway Company, previously reported at $250, had been $350.

Total reported for the starters' group, with its campaign almost complete, has reached $9,151, according to Chairman Robert M. Crane. Well past its original goal of $8,500, the starters' group is now shooting at a $9,200 figure it set for itself when it became apparent its original goal had been set too low to make a real challenge.

Following the Monday evening reports, United Fund officials and agency representatives agreed that there was every prospect of a prompt attainment of the campaign goal, through an energetic follow-up program. Cooperation of all agencies was promised in helping campaign workers complete all outstanding calls, and then reviewing the calls that had not been made or the contacts that had been overlooked during the campaign itself to obtain any supplementary amounts needed to go over the top.

It was pointed out that at this time a little less than two-thirds of the residences in town have been reported, and that a quick clean-up of outstanding pledge cards was expected for the reports tonight and next Monday.

Agency representatives attending the Monday night meeting were: From Cerebral Palsy, Mrs. Elfie L. Scheldeler; from the Visiting Nurse Association, Mrs. Margaret McCullough and Mrs. Muriel L. Marshall; from the Union County Psychiatric Clinic, William Palmatier; from the Sister Kenny Foundation, Al Schmitt and Mrs. C. O. Hocke.

Also, from the Retarded Children's Association, J. C. Mascuch; from Union Council, Boy Scouts of America, Harlon W. Drew; from Washington Rock Girl Scout Council, Mrs. H. L. Whiteknight and Miss Shirley H. Clair; from American Red Cross, James F. Kervick and George H. Bates.

Also, from Homemaker Service, Inc., Mrs. Marion Hanson; from Union County Mental Health Association, Miss Doreen Toffy and Mrs. C. L. Silver; from the Cranford Welfare Association, Charles Tripp, and from Muscular Dystrophy, Joseph B. Howard and Mrs. John Goscinsky.

Guess who...tags
these leather-tops 29.95

Off with the mask and . . . who but Koos? And you know, tagging tables like these 29.95 IS quite a trick (not to mention a treat for your budget!) . . . because, in every detail, they masquerade as mahoganies that cost at least $20 more! Take their hand-padded leather tops, for instance . . . not just square, but the costly rounded shape you find on custom tables . . . patiently hand-tooled in 24 kt. gold! And look at their "better table" design. There's a circular cocktail, bookcase table with antique grillework, drum with drawer . . . even a beautiful drop-leaf cocktail that opens to 47½ inches! But come see all eight tables for yourself! You'll agree. You can't disguise the fact that Koos has the biggest table buys! P. S. . . . Look for exciting unadvertised specials throughout Koos 4 stores, too!

Your Vote Will Help the Majority Rule In Next Tuesday's Important Decisions

Next Tuesday, voters of Cranford will go to the polls to help choose a United States senator, a member of Congress from the Sixth District, a register of deeds and mortgages, a surrogate and three members of the Board of Chosen Freeholders, elect a member of the Township Committee and vote on two important state-wide public questions.

For United States senator, Congressman Robert W. Kean of Livingston, Republican, is vying with former Congressman Harrison A. Williams, Jr., of Westfield, Democrat. Because of Mr. Kean's vast experience, which includes 20 years in Congress, we believe he is the most able candidate in the field to succeed New Jersey's veteran senior senator, H. Alexander Smith.

During his campaign, Mr. Kean has stated that "we should be conservative in dealing with the people's money and liberal when dealing with the people's welfare." His record proves that these are not just campaign utterances. He has worked unceasingly to broaden the social security program and to increase the benefits under this federal program. He has been a staunch advocate of economy in government, has fought to keep taxes down and to prevent increases in the cost of living. His long legislative record is one that has brought credit not only to New Jersey but to the nation. His election next Tuesday will give the Senate an able and experienced legislator.

Seeking reelection to the Sixth District Congressional seat is Florence P. Dwyer, Republican, of Elizabeth. She is being opposed by Jack B. Dunn, Democrat, of Westfield. Mrs. Dwyer's diligent work and faithful attendance during her first term in Congress has won her the praise of colleagues in both Houses. An able legislator before she went to Washington, by virtue of her [illegible] the New Jersey Assembly, the [illegible] trict congresswoman [illegible] above average record for [illegible] maker. Despite her [illegible] Dwyer has [illegible] constituents in [illegible] and surrogate in Charles L. Baier, Jr., and Charles A. Otto, Jr., respectively. Both have served efficiently and we see no need to change. Their Democrat opponents are James J. Delaney and Eugene J. Kirk, respectively.

For the Board of Chosen Freeholders, we fail to note where the county gained anything but political bickering by the election last year of three Democrats. For years, under Republican freeholder boards, Union County has had one of the most efficient county governments in the state. We urge the reelection next Tuesday of Director Richard P. Hatfield of Fanwood and Ernest S. Hickok of Summit, together with the election of an able young lawyer, A. Donald McKenzie of Union, all Republicans. Their Democrat opponents are Frank T. Cuchie, Elizabeth; John V. Donohue, Roselle, and Thomas G. Dunn, Elizabeth.

For Township Committee, C. Van Chamberlin, Republican, and John P. Fitzgerald, Jr., Democrat, are vying for the three-year post. In Mr. Chamberlin, local voters have an experienced local businessman. He has resided in Cranford for 22 years and has served the community on various committees, through his service club and other organizations. His educational background, his mature judgment and his vast experience make him our top choice for the local government post.

The first of the two public questions concerns the issuance of $45,850,000 in state bonds to research, acquire, construct and develop much-needed water supplies, while the second will [illegible] present constitutional [illegible] ing the fund [illegible] lic schools [illegible] fund [illegible]

Letters To The Editor

Cranford, N. J.

Editor, Citizen and Chronicle
Cranford, N. J.
Dear Sir:

We taxpayers like to get our money's worth. Two years ago we gave Mrs. Florence Dwyer a job to do; now is the time to check on her performance.

Mrs. Dwyer has given us full-time, week-long Congressional representation. In two years, she has missed only one session of Congress; she has publicly declared her position on every issue. She spends her weekends right here in the county, learning and dealing first-hand with the problems of the people she represents. Her constituents, regardless of party, means or race, receive her help in immigration cases, passport applications, veterans' problems—all the everyday situations where their relations with government are confused by red tape.

Mrs. Dwyer bring to each problem the quick, analytical mind of a man, coupled with the warm, understanding heart of a woman. She has supported legislation against obscene literature, for expansion of educational facilities (including our own Union Junior College,) for scholarships and loans for needy students, slum clearance, Civil Rights, and tax deductions for the care of children while the taxpayer is at work. She has consistently backed efforts to improve hospital facilities, out-patient care and assistance for veterans. She supported a special program to help obtain suitable housing for older people.

Mrs. Dwyer's approach to unemployment was equally direct and practical; she personally went to work to obtain contracts for Union County industry.

Our Congresswoman is the most accessible representative we have ever had—never too busy to talk on the phone, keeping in constant touch with her Elizabeth office, continuing her open house meetings for all comers, reporting regularly and publicly in this very newspaper on her stewardship.

In view of all this, it seems to me that we taxpayers are getting a terrific bargain in service. This service is personal, energetic, practical, immediate and intelligent. The concrete proof is in Mrs. Dwyer's record; the human evidence is in the hearts of those she has helped. Let's keep Mrs. Dwyer working for all of us.

Sincerely,
DORIS L. [illegible]
(Mrs. J. M. [illegible])

During a recent Show and Tell period William Miller showed the group a sweet potato which he hoped they would plant. The pupils are most interested in this idea and are looking forward to watching the potato vine grow. The class also enjoyed observing a pet turtle brought to school by John Crowley.

Grade 2

Children of Miss Joan Pederson's second grade have been discussing different aspects of safety. The theme which they chose for this unit is, "We Like to Keep Safe."

Also displayed are the safety folders made by Gerald Bross, Patricia Beadle, Richard De Groat, Michele Diamond, Donna Susan Higgins, Susan Kleiner, Harold Laughlin and Eugene Schanker.

Thought for the Week

By RABBI SIDNEY D. SHANKEN, Temple Beth-El

Every monotheistic religion has this in common: The proclamation that "man is not alone." That we are constantly in the Presence of the Divine Being. The individual is exhorted to strive to realize this every moment of the day. God is not only in the House of Worship at appointed times, on our invitation, but "His Glory fills the Universe (Psalms 72.19)."

Prayer is an invitation to God to make His presence manifest in our lives, and thereby to make His influence felt in all our actions. He is everywhere—but He is felt only when we strive to be aware of His Presence. This is all important, for we act differently when we can feel Him. This explains the plea so often iterated in Scriptures: "Hide not thy face from me." It means: Let me not become so callous that I do not feel Your Presence.

Do we feel His Presence when we act unjustly to our fellow man? Can we hurt anyone in the presence of the King of Kings? Can anyone slink in the night to destroy a House of God and imagine that his cowardly act goes unseen from God's eyes by the darkness? No one who feels Him could justify such an ignoble act. Everyone who witnesses God's presence is moved to indignation by this violent desecration of a house that bears His Name.

There is a Jewish legend concerning the "Wailing Wall," the only surviving part of the Holy Temple in Jerusalem which was destroyed by the Romans in 70 A.D. Why did this section survive the holocaust of the burning and deliberate pillaging of the Roman Legions? The legend explains that the heavenly hosts witnessing such hatred of man against his brother that he could vent his rage even on a House of God, wept and the tears enveloped the stones to make them impregnable. The faith of that Temple has survived beyond the 2,000 years since its destruction.

So, when we weep for man's inhumanity, our faith moves us to act along with God's Presence.

Article Tells Sidewalk Window Success

Edwyn M. Lewis, assistant treasurer of the Union County Trust Company and assistant manager of its Cranford office, is the author of an article in the October issue of Burroughs Clearing House, magazine for bank and financial officers, describing success of the Cranford branch of the bank in lessening lobby congestion by installation of sidewalk windows.

Following a detailed description of solution of problems encountered in setting up the bank's first sidewalk window three years ago, the article relates:

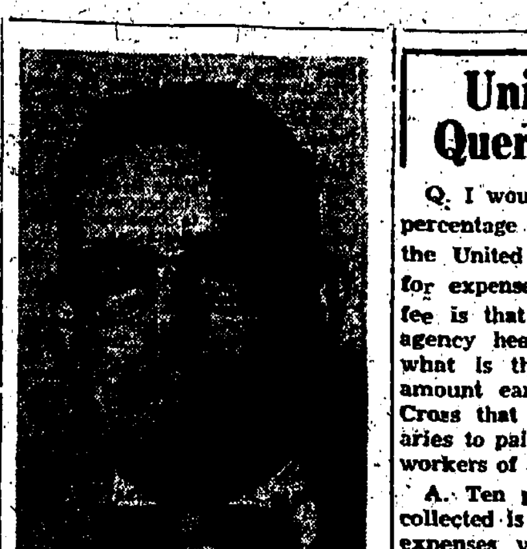
"Well-planned publicity helped assure the success of the window from the opening day, and we almost immediately noted a decrease in the number of customers in our lobby.

"While transactions slackened somewhat at the outdoor facility with the advent of winter, a certain amount of customer traffic held steady throughout the winter months.

"When spring returned, activity began to increase both at the sidewalk teller and in the lobby. Upon investigation, we found that we were enjoying a surge of new business. Many of these accounts were from outlying communities, and from people in those areas who had driven through Cranford and become acquainted with the sidewalk window.

"Once more the lobby took on that congested look and the sidewalk teller line took on added length. With our initial experience behind us, we placed a second unit into operation in the place of a second plate glass window at the branch.

"Lobby traffic once more flows freely, and employes and customers alike seem much happier with our expanded service. Thus, we have not only speeded service, but attracted a considerable volume of new business. What of the future? No promblem. We have six more plate glass windows."



EDWYN M. LEWIS

Mr. Lewis' magazine article, entitled "Adding Customers and Service Through Sidewalk Windows," was an outgrowth of a thesis which he wrote as part of the requirements for his graduation at the New Jersey State Bankers School of Public Relations in Princeton.

United Fund Query Answers

Q. I would like to know what percentage of money collected for the United Fund will go strictly for expenses and how much the fee is that is being paid to the agency heading the drive. Also what is the percentage of the amount earmarked for the Red Cross that will be paid in salaries to paid officers and salaried workers of that organization.

A. Ten percent of the money collected is allocated to costs and expenses, very low compared to other drives of the same size. No agency is involved in the direction of the campaign. A professional individual has been retained for 10 weeks at a fee of $2,500 to serve as director. Of the Red Cross allocation, 45 percent stays in Cranford and one-quarter of that goes to salaries. Of the remainder used nationally the largest amount goes for disaster supplies and equipment.

Q. The Red cross is an agency with salaried workers. Do any of the other 11 agencies listed have salaried workers also? If so I would like to know the percentage of the funds used for other than actual charities used by other organizations.

A. All 12 agencies use the services of one or more salaried workers, although in every case the number of volunteer workers and leaders is far greater than the few trained specialists or service personnel employed. The United Fund has a complete picture of the budgets of each of the agencies participating in the drive, and will be glad to review those facts individually with any citizen. The answer could not be given in the space available here without being utterly misleading. Please call A. S. Taylor at BR 6-1307.

Q. Since so many men are employed by companies in Union County and must contribute to the respective places of employment regardless of residence, wouldn't it be a good idea to join another community such as Elizabeth and benefit from the many large industrial contributions?

A. Cranford would tend to lose its identity, and its local service agencies theirs by going into a larger drive. And it would be a dangerous risk since generally suburban communities such as Cranford are more successful in their drives than larger industrial cities. Although many employees are required to contribute at work, they generally are aware of this beforehand and can plan to share their giving between the community where they work and the community where they live, allocating their contribution between the two as they see fit.

Each child will receive his own library card on which will be recorded all the books he reads for fun. The children will also discover how to use books and how the librarian can help us.

Dawn Ricany has planted some flower bulbs. She is watering them and watching them grow. Soon she will make a report to the class on their progress.

WALNUT AVENUE SCHOOL

Grade 2

Pupils in Miss Joan Jarman's second grade class are studying about the four seasons.

Each child has made a booklet showing pictures of the seasons. Many new words have been added to the children's vocabulary notebooks during this science unit.

The following children's booklets are being displayed in the classroom: Charlotte Paumi, Judith Trezza, Susan Sofman, Karen Pomerantz, Jeffrey Yacker, Thomas Marantz and Barry Weinstein.

Grade 4

Boys and girls of Miss Geraldine Pfarrer's fourth grade have recently been engaged in a practical arts project to supplement their study of Mexico. While studying the cultural contributions of the Azects, the last of the tribes to reach the Valley of Mexico, several students read about a scientific expedition which resulted in the unearthing of a large stone carving of a head found near LaVenta, Mexico.

This interest prompted others to try to duplicate these stone carvings by using sand molds and plaster of paris. The following children have completed projects: Cecilia Pinel, Patricia Baldi, Christopher Fuller, Corilyn Pollock, Allan Miller and David Suplee. Materials for the project were generously contributed by many other class members.

The class recently welcomed a student teacher from Jersey City State College who will be with it during October and March.

Grade 6

Miss Barbara Fickenscher's sixth grade boys and girls are nearing the completion of a unit of work on the ancient Egyptian civilization. The children enjoyed many interesting experiences during the study of this subject. They made a mural from cut paper depicting Egyptian costumes. They made Egyptian head dresses from paper sculpture.

In addition, individual research was done by each student in the area of his or her particular interest and a report was then presented to the class. Nancy Becker and Gail Munkel were interested in learning about the Egyptian religion. Max Schloff, Roy Littlehales and Michael Della Rosa did research on the ancient cities of Egypt. Stephen Dickstein and Steven Russell studied about trade and transportation.

Michael Nadelman, Leon Fleischer and Donald Jackson learned about the geography of Egypt. Douglas Eaton studied about the ancient Egyptian [illegible] Carol Cree and [illegible] felt that [illegible] would be an [illegible] study. [illegible]

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 100

The girls of Troop 100 started off their year at the home of their leader, Mrs. T. B. Wasserbach, 425 South Union avenue, by electing Cathy Kaiser and Mary Jane Saam, patrol leaders; Lorelee Pelicano, scribe; and Toby Robinson, treasurer.

A schedule of meeting places and programs was given to each girl. The girls decided to start work on the Garden Flower Badge. At the next meeting, Mrs. H. Robinson demonstrated flower arranging and helped each girl make an arrangement to take home.

Other meetings have been spent learning Girl Scout songs and on further study of flowers. On October 2, the girls met at the home of Mrs. L. Pelicano, where they worked out plans for their cook-out, which took place in Unami Park on October 9. Each girl had an assignment in either fire making, cooking, clean-up or games.

Mrs. John Korba was hostess to the troop at their last meeting. Assisted by her husband, she showed the girls how to tie square, bowline, clove-hitch, sheepshank and sheepbend knots. The girls sang the newly learned Girl Scout songs and were served refreshments of coke and cookies.

First-Hand Data on First Aid Given Pre-School Mothers

The Cranford First Aid Squad building was the scene of the first fall meeting of the Roosevelt PTA pre-school mothers last Wednesday night.

Mrs. G. F. Zobal, chairman of the group, opened the meeting and introduced Edward Rouvet, president of the squad, who then talked on the first aid care of young children in home emergencies.

Mr. Rouvet covered such subjects as poisoning, falls, artificial respiration for children, convulsions and similar subjects.

He stressed the point that anyone who needs the First Aid Squad, or a doctor, in an emergency, should immediately call the Cranford Police Department.

For poisoning cases, Mr. Rouvet advised the women to call WOrth 4-3800 in New York City. This is the Poison Center and is open 24 hours a day for the purpose of instructing people on what antidote to administer for any type of poisoning.

Mr. Rouvet also showed the group the squad's two ambulances and demonstrated some of the emergency equipment carried, explaining the squad is available to townspeople any time of day or night, seven days a week.

He also mentioned that, should the need arise, such articles as crutches, wheel chairs, hospital beds and similar equipment can be loaned to residents of Cranford.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Harold Enstrom, Mrs. Eugene Sommers, Mrs. Thomas Denlin, Mrs. Arnold Goodhart and Mrs. Donald Glesser.

Studio Recital Held For Piano Students

The piano students of Mrs. Lawrence M. Tucker held their first studio recital of the season Saturday morning at her home. Musical games were played and refreshments were served.

Solos were played by Brenda Conley, Barbara Tucker, Ellen Fraites, Stephanie Tristram, Chris Carlozzi, Eileen Boerner, Cynthia Phelan, Kathleen Novak, Holly Martens, Christine Tully, Dorothy Ann Craft, Jay Felz, Barbara Felz, Claude Grady, Barbara Washburn, Barbara Jane Smith, Mildred Gessler and Trena Craft.

Those unable to attend the recital that morning were Richard Salher, Stephanie Morrison, Christine Matteson and Valerie Martin.

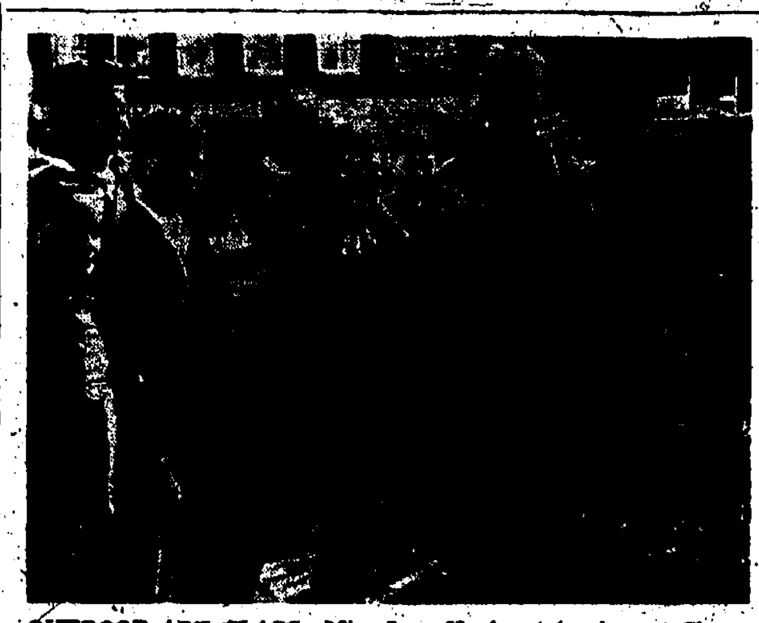
Cake Sale Slated By Walnut PTA

Home cooking will prevail at the Walnut Avenue PTA cake sale to be held in the faculty room of the school starting at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. The public is invited to attend.

Mrs. Leo Pollack, ways and means chairman, and her committee request all mothers to take their cakes for the sale to school on Monday and leave them in the faculty room between 2 and 4 p.m.

Mrs. Harold Rothbard, president, and Mrs. Marvin Katz, program vice-president, spent three days at the state convention in Atlantic City. Mrs. Michael Battaglini, Mrs. Maurice Fuller, Mrs. Kenneth Morris and Miss Irene Gilbert, principal, also attended conferences at the state convention last Thursday.

500 Attend Art Exhibit; Reveal Winners



OUTDOOR ART CLASS—Miss Joan Kaul, art teacher at Cleveland and Sherman Junior High Schools, lectures group of her students on fine points of a portrait by Mrs. Charles Merwarth of 367 South Union avenue, treasurer of the Cranford Creative Art Group, sponsor of recent sidewalk exhibit.

Winners in the tenth sidewalk art exhibit held recently by the Cranford Creative Art Group, as selected by more than 500 visitors in a popular vote, have been announced by Mrs. Frank O'Connell, 400 Manor avenue, exhibit chairman, and Mrs. Gonzalez, 112 Herning avenue, co-chairman.

Twenty-eight artists had on display 60 pictures in oil, watercolor and pastel in a wide variety of styles.

Adults and children cast separate ballots to determine the picture most popular with each group.

Winners by adult vote were: First prize, "Lynn," a portrait in pastel by Mrs. H. F. Hellegers of 106 Herning avenue; second prize, "Frenchman's Bay-Bar Harbor," a seascape in oil by Mrs. Lawrence Holland of 306 Springfield avenue; third prize, "Dreamy Valley," a landscape in watercolor by Mrs. Walter Doerr, Westfield.

Winners by children's vote were: First prize, "Frenchman's Bay-Bar Harbor;" second prize, "Jim," picture of a horse in watercolor by Mrs. Georgia McLaughlin; third prize, "Teddy," picture of a dog in oil by Mrs. A. W. Scheller of 3 Shawnee road.

Seventh and eighth grade pupils from Sherman and Cleveland Junior High Schools were the most numerous visitors at the exhibit. They are members of the classes of Miss Joan Kaul of 4 Burchfield avenue, art teacher at the schools.

Ten of the pictures from the exhibit are now on display at the Coach and Four Restaurant in Cranford.

Mrs. O'Connell and Mrs. Gonzalez were assisted throughout the day by members of the Cranford Creative Art Group who acted as hostesses.

Bremner Chapter Holds Initiatory Rites for Seven

Robrt Davis, senior councilor, announced that the car wash sponsored by the chapter was a great success. Paul Irslinger, editor-in-chief of the chapter's publication, the Bremner 'Beacon, announced that the publication was ready for distribution.

William Cartwright, representative of the acting member for the state of New Jersey, conveyed the greetings of the acting member to the chapter; Donald Atcheson, state senior councilor, brought the greetings of the State of New Jersey Council's officers.

Hints Given on Improving Young People's Study Habits

Helping children to improve the speed of their reading and giving them a purpose or motivation to study are two of the most important things parents can do to aid their youngsters in becoming better students, Leslie Martin, counselor, of East Orange, told members of the Rotary Club at their luncheon meeting last Thursday in the Methodist Church educational building.

He urged parents to follow behind the classroom teacher by going over their children's papers, encouraging them to be neat in their work, have good study habits and above all see that their youngsters know how to read properly.

He said there are many tests today which can be given to children to help determine the line of endeavor for which they are best suited. He pointed out that 40 percent of college graduates do not stay in the field for which they trained five years after graduation.

Mr. Martin advocated the teaching of typing in the elementary grades and said every student should know how to type because it aids in getting better grades in school, improves their spelling and makes for neater work.

He also said students going to college should have a fast note-taking shorthand and suggested a course which could be learned in four days. He advocated speed reading for college students to help them keep up with the volume of outside reading required in most college courses.

"It's never too late to give help to a student or even an adult," the counselor concluded, pointing out that he has aided people in their late 60s in finding the occupation in which they would be most happy. He was introduced by Charles Hill.

Vice-President Vincent Sarnowski presided. Dr. Edward M. Coe, president, and Mrs. Coe and Past President and Mrs. P. J. Grall represented the club at the annual district Rotary conference at The Inn, Buckhill Falls, Pa., last Wednesday and Thursday. Past President and Mrs. Arthur K. Burditt attended the Wednesday sessions at the conference.

Print, Color Slide Contests Held by Club

A black and white print and color slide competitions for members were held as the Cranford Camera Club met Monday evening in the Educational Building of Cranford Methodist Church. William Schnarr, president, conducted the business session.

Winners in black and white were: Frank Dickert, Jr., first; Irving Wilner, second; William Schnarr and Howard Tappen, third.

In color, the winners were: Mrs. E. L. Baldeschwieler, first; R. J. Patton and Mrs. Baldeschwieler, second, and Frank Dickert, Jr., third.

Judges for the evening, guests of the club, were Mrs. Raymond Gallagher of Carteret, George P. Devlin of Colonia and Leo J. Holle of Elizabeth.

Next meeting of the club will be held at the Methodist Church at 8:15 p.m. November 10. Visitors are welcome.

At Newark Meeting

W. M. Wheaton of 49 Nomahegan court and J. T. Gaynor of 130 Herning avenue attended a dinner meeting of the Newark Chapter of the National Association of Accountants at the Robert Treat Hotel last Thursday at which Russell Allen, education director of the Industrial Department, AFL-CIO, spoke on "A Labor View of Company Financial Statements and Other Communications."

Goals of Courses Outlined By High School Instructors

Referring to English as a "vocational subject" and to social studies as a "tool for modern living," members of the Cranford High School English and social studies departments addressed the High School PTA recently in the school music room.

Frank Ramsey, head of the English department, pointed out that English is a vocational subject which must be studied and mastered if one is to be a success in a vocation or profession. He stated that there is much current interest in acceleration for academically gifted children and that the first results are now available on students, now in college, who have completed Cranford's accelerated program. He said they are "comforting reports."

Miss Geraldine Weinblatt, speech class instructor, stated that the goal of the course is not to sponsor future orators but to prepare students for a better opportunity to participate in business and social circumstances. Pupils, she said, are taught to think on their feet, to organize their ideas, to pay attention to diction, posture and the art of conversation.

Michael Glennon explained that the extensive reading program, which requires students to read a minimum of eight books selected from a guide list, teaches the student to be a better reader and introduces him to good books. He urged parents to provide the proper atmosphere for reading in the home.

Frank Spada told of the intensive reading program which revolves around books read in class to provide a student with an opportunity to share his reading experiences with other members of the group. The purpose is to teach the student to judge good books for himself and to read to the fullest of his individual capacity.

Miss Jane Mumford said that the English department also is concerned with the need to develop the writing ability of students—mechanical as well as creative. Exercises are provided, she said, in letter-writing, report writing and original composition.

Miss Mary King stated there still is need for instruction in spelling. Correct spelling, she said, requires visual memory, practice, proper pronunciation and knowledge of spelling rules.

Stuart Goldblatt, acting head of the social studies department, stated the aim of social studies as an effort to develop an understanding of the political, economic and social world in which we live. He said students are offered courses in United States history, world history which includes ancient history, and modern history.

Edward Otto discussed the problems of democracy course, which encourages the student to do library research, to participate in wide-awake discussions, and to attempt to determine the course of events. He said the course aims at inculcating the art of suspended judgment—the mark of intellect and good conscience.

Seymour Weiss likened history to a "tool for modern living." It provides, he said, the historic evolution of our world. Students study present-day governments and societies, he stated, and then attempt to trace their origins.

A question-and-answer period followed the discussions.

The program was arranged and introduced by Mrs. John D. El-Koury. Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Roy Bair.

Mothers Told Parents' Role In Scouting

A talk on what is expected of parents in scouting was presented by William Caddle, troop committee member, as the Mothers' Club of Boy Scout Troop 80, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church, held its first meeting at the church last week.

It was announced that members of the troop earned 80 badges at Camp Winnebago, Union Council camp at Marcella, during the summer. A letter was read from the camp chaplain commending the troop for its excellent camp spirit.

Arthur O'Brien spoke at the meeting on Indian Lore. The club voted to donate money for the purchase of a tent for use of the leaders.

Mrs. William Knox presided and announced appointment of the following committees: Mrs. Reginald Lingerfeldt and Mrs. Arthur O'Brien, refreshments for the Coup Council to be held tonight; Mrs. Jay Gross, chairman for the Family Night dinner slated for February 6, and Mrs. Homer Fischer and Mrs. Robert Millar, refreshments for the cubs' Christmas party.

PTA Leaders At Bloomingdale Attend Conclave

Mrs. W. C. Hamilton, president of Bloomingdale PTA, and her vice-president, Mrs. H. R. Carlson, attended the State Congress of Parents and Teachers in Atlantic City last week. The theme of this 58th convention was "The Challenge of Change."

On Thursday evening, Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Carlson attended the banquet in Convention Hall and on Friday morning the general meeting at which the Union County PTA Chorus entertained. Two special conferences they attended bore the titles, "Crises in N. J. Education" and "Suppose Every Child Could Read."

Mrs. Norman Kliener, membership chairman, reports that the membership drive is under way and the association is aiming for an all time high.

Last week's bake sale, held at Baron's Drug store, was the "biggest success to date," reported Mrs. Fred Loeloff, chairman of ways and means.

Classroom 'Ghosts' Haunt College Admissions Officers

Halloween is a festive occasion for most of us, but to college admission officers it offers only a memory of ghosts—not the spooky kind children dream about, but unfilled classroom seats reserved for students who fail to show up after being accepted.

While these ghosts haunting college admission officers do not exist, they are a major problem facing American higher education today, according to Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, dean of Union Junior College.

This problem, Dr. Iversen said, is caused by high school students who file applications with several or many colleges and are accepted by more than one of them.

"The unfortunate part," Dr. Iversen said, "is that they fail to tell the colleges they don't plan to attend they are not coming. Space is reserved for them, but the seats remain empty, although the college had planned on the students being there."

To get around this situation, many colleges have found it necessary to accept 50 percent more students than they can handle, Dr. Iversen explained.

"This forces admissions officers to be crystal ball gazers," Dr. Iversen said. "If he guesses right, the college has a proper number of students for its faculty and facilities. If he's wrong, there are either too many students or too few—and either way the admissions officer and the college are in trouble."

Dr. Iversen suggests that high school guidance personnel assist in this problem by counseling students on what college they could expect to get into.

"High schools could also be of service to all colleges and universities by advising their students to inform institutions of higher learning of their intentions," Dr. Iversen said. "It is the only courteous and proper thing to do."

Union Junior College, Dr. Iversen said, has been fortunate regarding "ghosts." Only 14 percent of all students accepted did not register this semester. This is an increase, however, of nearly 50 percent over the "ghost" rate the previous year, Dr. Iversen pointed out.

"It comes as a ghostly thought, but the situation is likely to get worse before it gets any better as a result of the enrollment pinch facing us," Dr. Iversen said.

Battle for Council Positions Highlights Election Picture

KENILWORTH — Contests for two seats on Borough Council highlight interest in Tuesday's General Election here.

Borough Councilmen Frank Mascaro and Raymond Blydenburgh, Democrats, are being challenged by Republican nominees Nunce Zampaglione and James J. Carell. Republican leaders are hopeful of defeating at least one of the incumbents and adding another GOP member to the governing body. Only one Republican, Councilman Ernest Vardalis, now serves.

Polling places will be open at five locations in the borough from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. The locations are: First District, Harding School, Boulevard; Second District, Fire House, Washington avenue; Third District, Veterans' Center, South 21st street; Fourth District, Veterans' Center, South 21st street, and Fifth District, McKinley School, Boulevard.

Completing Second Term

Mr. Mascaro, the council president, is completing his second three-year term. Chairman of the police and fire committees, he is employed by Volco Brass and Copper Co.

Mr. Blydenburgh is serving his third year as chairman of the council's finance committee. He is a former member of the Board of Adjustment. Mr. Blydenburgh is employed in the auditing department of the Jersey Central Railroad at its Jersey City offices.

Assistant sales manager with the Chemical and Rubber Corporation of America in Newark, Mr. Carell is Republican county committeeman in the First District. He is a former vice-president of the Kensington Civic Association.

Mr. Zampaglione, a long-time Republican party worker, is a timekeeper at the Hyatt Bearing Division of General Motors Corporation, Clark. He is a former Republican municipal chairman and is active in Kenilworth Post 2230, VFW. He was the first World War II veteran to assume the commandership.

The races for U. S. Senator and Sixth District Congress Representative are also creating interest here. In the Senate battle, Rep. Robert W. Kean, Republican, is facing former Rep. Harrison A. Williams, Jr. for Congress, Rep. Florence P. Dwyer, Republican incumbent, faces the challenge of Col. Jack B. Dunn.

Also facing the voter Tuesday will be choices for register, surrogate and three seats on the Board of Freeholders. Register Charles L. Bauer and Surrogate

Republican Leader Disputes Democrat Progress Claims

KENILWORTH—Democratic controlled government in Kenilworth during the past year has shown "no progress whatsoever," James Flynn, borough Republican chairman, stated at a recent meeting of GOP campaign workers.

Mr. Flynn urged all Republicans and independents to work for the election of James Carell and Nunce Zampaglione, Borough Council candidates. He said they will "act as executives of the over $12 million corporation that is Kenilworth for the good of all."

Democratic claims of progress, Mr. Flynn said, are incorrect. "Mayor Boright has done nothing new and constructive, but has followed in the minutest detail, programs established by his predecessors, who were Republicans."

Labeling recent ordinances "petty and non-constructive," Mr. Flynn called for a codification of the ordinances for better operating procedure in the conduct of borough affairs.

The good financial condition of the borough, Mr. Flynn said, "is a carry-over of Republican administrations." The tax lien program was begun many years ago under a Republican administration and the borough auditor, a GOP appointee, has had much to do with the borough's good financial status, he added.

Mr. Carell and Mr. Zampaglione, in a joint statement, said they feel confident the people of the borough will "favor us with their vote of confidence on Tuesday."

The Republican candidates said

American Legion Post Organizing, Issues Invitation

KENILWORTH—A new veterans' organization is being formed in the borough, Councilman Frank J. Mascaro announced today.

Councilman Mascaro is organizer and temporary chairman of Post 470, American Legion. The group now has 17 members on the rolls and invites any borough veteran who is interested in joining to attend an organization meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in Borough Hall.

The new organization, Councilman Mascaro said, is being organized principally to serve ex-servicemen who did not go overseas. The VFW, which has a strong local post, limits membership to overseas veterans. Councilman

Nothing Further Now On Expansion Project

GARWOOD—Following a review of actions of the past year and a half leading up to the current proposal to remodel the former property of Deremer's Builders Supply Co. at the rear of Borough Hall for borough use, Mayor Edward H. Tiller announced at Tuesday night's Borough Council meeting that "nothing further on this proposed expansion program will be done unless it meets with the approval of the citizens and taxpayers, after further study, investigation and public hearing."

Mayor Tiller declared he felt it necessary to reply to references by local Democratic candidates to "hasty building plans" and pointed out that action to purchase the former Deremer property and enter into a contract with an architect to draw up plans for remodeling of the buildings thereon was initiated back in 1957 by the then Democratic - controlled Borough Council.

"On October 14, 1958," the mayor continued, "at a public hearing held on an ordinance to carry out the actions initiated by the Democratic-controlled council, citizens and taxpayers present, as well as others, made known to your present mayor and council their opinions concerning the spending of money for that purpose and your present mayor and council referred the ordinance back to the building and grounds committee for further study"

The proposed ordinance referred to, passed on first reading September 23, would provide for ap-

Health Board Investigating Poor Housing

KENILWORTH—The Board of Health has begun a crackdown on overcrowded and sub-standard housing in the borough, Mayor Walter E. Boright announced at Tuesday's Borough Council meeting.

Mayor Boright said he advises landlords of local tenement houses to institute "a definite plan of action" to improve conditions as soon as possible. He said one member of the Board of Health told him he was "appalled" by conditions he had seen in some local housing.

The mayor emphasized that the sub-standard housing represents only a small percentage of the homes in the borough. "Conditions here are generally quite good," he stated.

Councilman Peter Patuto, representative on the Board of Health, said he agrees "wholeheartedly" with the mayor's statements and will work with the board in seeing that conditions are improved.

A letter was authorized to be sent to the Board of Freeholders, asking county financial help for Roselle in its fight against high tension wire towers through that borough. A request from Roselle for aid from Kenilworth in the legal battle was turned down because there is no appropriation in the budget for such a use.

In answer to an appeal from Mayor F. Edward Biertuempfel of Union, council passed a resolution requesting extension of a state deadline for setting up new garbage disposal methods. The present deadline is March, 1959, and the resolution asks that this be changed to July 1, 1960.

The new state regulation requires that municipalities adopt either the land-fill or incinerator

Mayor Lists Improvements, Calls Ken-Acres Tax Aid

KENILWORTH—A resume of improvements made in the borough during the past year was given by Mayor Walter E. Boright in an address which highlighted a meeting of the Kenilworth Democratic Club last Wednesday evening at the Kenilworth Inn.

Mayor Boright said the borough is in "better financial condition at present than at any time in its history." He added that many major improvements have been made in recent months, listing them as storm and sanitary sewers, rebuilding of roads, curbings, playground and recreational development, elimination of blighted areas and clearing up of all but 20 tax lien properties.

"We have succeeded in developing what will be one of the finest industrial sections in the area, the Ken-Acres Industrial Park," Mayor Boright said. "When completed," he stated, "these new industries will help supply the revenues which will insure a balance for the increasingly heavier financial responsibilities of the borough, particularly due to required expansion of the Regional High School system and the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority."

The mayor stressed the need for continuing economy on the part of all officials concerned with administration of public affairs. "Only by the closest scrutiny of expenditures can property taxes be held within reason," he said.

Mayor Boright closed with an endorsement of the re-election bids of Councilmen Frank Mascaro and Raymond Blydenburgh "in order to insure the continuance of Democratic policies of honest, efficient and economical government."

Col. Jack Dunn, Democratic Congressional candidate, recommended support of the water referendum. He said its passage will "insure all of us in Union County an adequate water supply and will promote new industrial growth, which means more jobs and prosperity."

He said there are 225,000 unemployed in New Jersey, 18,000 of whom are in Union County.

Freeholder candidates Frank T. Cuchie, Thomas G. Dunn and John V. Donohue strongly urged a Vocational School that will accommodate students from all sections of Union County.

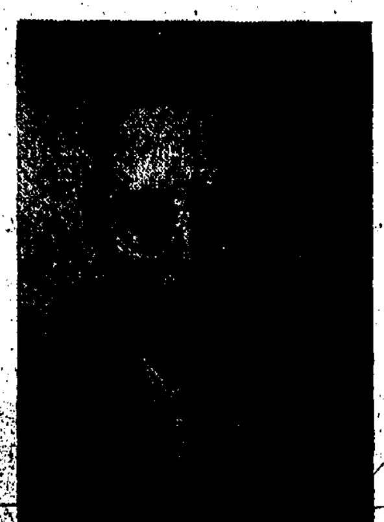
MAYOR EDWARD H. TILLER



OLIVER W. DAVIS

GARWOOD—Interest of Garwood voters will be centered next Tuesday on the race between Republican Mayor Edward H. Tiller, seeking reelection, and Democrat Oliver W. Davis, past president of the Board of Education, for a two-year term as mayor, and the contest for two three-year terms on the Borough Council. There are 2,526 borough residents eligible to vote in the election.

Running on the Republican ticket for the two Borough Council posts are Councilman John J. Saland, seeking reelection, and Recreation Supervisor Dante A. Costa.

Democratic candidates for Borough Council are former Councilman I. George Casabona and Frank Wanca of 252 Third avenue.

Mayor Tiller served as street commissioner of the Borough Council from 1952 through 1954. Defeated for reelection in November, 1954, he was returned to the council for his second three-year term in the November, 1955, election. He resigned as a councilman on January 1, 1957, to accept the office of mayor to which he had been named in the November, 1956, election.

During his terms on the council, he served as a member of the Inter-Municipal Water Committee and as Garwood's representative on the Union County Advisory Water Committee. He was chairman of the historical committee for the borough's 50th anniversary celebration in 1953. Mayor Tiller is employed as a supervisor by E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Co. in Newark.

Urge 'Yes' Vote Tuesday On Questions

GARWOOD — "Yes" votes on both public questions to appear on the ballot in Tuesday's General Election have been urged on borough residents by local officials.

Mrs. John Teuscher, president of the Board of Education, today called attention to the fact that the board at its last meeting went on record as favoring the proposed constitutional amendment concerning school bonds.

A favorable vote on the water referendum has been urged by Mayor Edward H. Tiller and other borough officials.

Mrs. Teuscher explained that the school bond proposal would permit funds for the support of free public schools to be used to meet payment of principal or interest on local school bonds. Such a guarantee, she said, would improve the credit standing of

For Your Health and Your Welfare

Vote "YES" for the Water Referendum

The Water Referendum, which will be on your ballot on November 4, deserves your support. A "Yes" vote means water security for you.

The people of New Jersey need to have an abundant supply of water all twelve months of the year. You want enough water for the health and welfare of every member of your family. Water is a vital factor in New Jersey's economic progress; it is a necessary advantage to the state's industrial growth.

Here are the main reasons why you should vote "Yes":

First, the Water Referendum offers a practical solution to New Jersey's immediate need for a greater water supply.

Second, New Jersey needs additional water storage as well as water supply. This plan would provide storage in reservoirs, for use during dry periods of surplus water which falls during rainy periods.

Third, this is a thrifty solution, since the proposal pays for itself . . . without a single penny of new or additional taxes.

This is a vital problem which must be solved now. To have water security without new or additional taxes . . .

Vote "Yes" for WATER SECURITY on November 4

propriation of $27,500 "for the purpose of financing the cost of alteration and improvement of two borough-owned buildings to be used as an addition and annex to the Borough Hall for municipal offices."

Speaking from the floor in response to Mayor Tiller's remarks were Oliver W. Davis, Democratic candidate for mayor, and former Council President I. George Casabona, seeking reelection to the council.

"We were in accord with purchasing the property and hiring an architect," Mr. Casabona said in reference to his part in the earlier action on the matter as a member of the council, "and we are not against a building program. What we do say is that we are against a building program at this time when things look bad for the future."

Mr. Davis reiterated points made in previous communications to the local governing body, including need for preliminary study by a citizens' committee and referral of the matter to the people in a referendum before taking final action.

Bids on the proposed remodeling project received at the meeting were referred to the mayor and council, Borough Attorney Bernard Steiner and Architect E. M. Galloway. Mayor Tiller explained that the bids had to be received as they were advertised for before decision to hold up action on the project was [illegible]

He said the owner seemed very receptive to an offer to accept three other lots of the same size in the same general area and will come to Garwood to inspect the land available.

"It appears now that the last obstacle will be overcome, at least by the end of the year," Mayor Tiller remarked, "and the borough will be able to go ahead with definite plans for this area to become a park and recreation area in which the Garwood Little League will be a participant."

Mayor Tiller again urged local citizens to write to their state representatives asking defeat of Assembly Bill 115, which would result in the creation of a metropolitan rapid transit commission. He said operations of the proposed commission would result in an increase of 10 to 12 points in the local tax rate. Mayor Tiller is chairman of the mayors' executive committee of the Inter-Municipal Group for Better Rail Service.

Council approved Mayor Tiller's appointment of Ralph Miccio as a school guard because the present group is under-staffed due to illness.

An appeal to local residents to refrain from pushing leaves out to the curb was issued by Street Commissioner John Lombardo. He said this practice results in plugging up of culverts during rainstorms.

Mayor Tiller announced that the next regular meeting of the council will be held at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, November 12, because the borough offices will be closed November 11 in observance of Veterans' Day.

The school board president added that passage of the referendum for this purpose would result in no extra cost to the taxpayers, since it refers to an already existing fund.

Passage of the water referendum would mean authorization of a bond issue of $45,850,000 to finance construction of new reservoirs at Round Valley and Spruce Run in Hunterdon County, to launch several research and development programs in preparation for subsequent steps in a long-range development program, and to acquire land in other sections of the state so that subsequent reservoirs can be built.

It has been pointed out that passage of the water referendum also would mean no extra taxes, as the project would be self-liquidating.

Cougars to Face Undefeated Park

Undefeated Roselle Park will furnish the opposition at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Memorial Field as Cranford High School's football team takes to the field in its final home contest of the season.

The Parkers promise to make it difficult for Cranford to win two in a row. On Monday, they scored a 26-0 victory over a reputedly tough Bernards eleven for their fifth straight win.

Park will also be out to avenge last season's 21-12 Cranford victory which broke an undefeated streak. Most of the Panther stars are back and with the additional year of seasoning are tougher still. Quarterback Bob Lelli, a passing wizard, and halfback Joe Donnelly are the backfield standouts. Lelli's favorite passing target is Donnelly, who scored the first two TD's Monday.

Coach Grayson said Park is a "good solid team, strong on both offense and defense." But, he said, Cranford could be the spoiler again in the Panthers' pursuit of the Group 2 sectional state title if the locals play up to their potential.

Cranford seems to be over a series of "nuisance injuries" and Joe Peters, star tackle, is back. "Barring injuries which would force use of inexperienced reserves, we should be able to take this one if we play up to the standard of our last two games," Coach Grayson stated.

MOST VALUABLE ATHLETE —Bob Davis of Cranford, a senior at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O., has been awarded a trophy as the most valuable athlete at the university for 1958. Principally a quarter-miler, he has compiled the phenomenal record of winning 63 of the 65 track events in which he has participated. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Davis of 130 Oak lane.

Gloria Enz hit the maples for a 179 game as Enz took three from Garwood Recreation. Tom's Shell Service defeated Garwood Beverages, two games to one. Crestwood Gardens took two from Pete's Barber.

Other high games: Mary Stanko, 175 and 167; Peggy Castaldo, 170; Evelyn Lawler, 160 and 163; Millie Frey, 162, and Marie Hartung, 160.

Boys' League Meeting Set

The regular monthly meeting of the Cranford Boys' Baseball Leagues, Inc., will be held Monday evening at the Casino at 8:15 p.m., Kenneth Weeman, president, announced today.

Further plans for expanding the major leagues, and the coming awards night affair, will be discussed along with other regular business. The proposal to add two teams to the National and American Major divisions was passed at the October meeting.

As in the past, Mr. Weeman stated, the ideas and discussions put forth at the league's fall and winter meetings are both necessary and fruitful toward carrying out a successful season the next year.

It is hoped, he added, that fathers of team members and interested persons, as well as managers and coaches, will attend the monthly meetings as often as possible.

Four Marks Maintain Three-Game Pin Edge

Mrs. Roy Brinkerhoff led the Four Marks to an odd-game victory with a 166-144-138—448 series Thursday at Roselle Lanes. The win kept the Marks' three-game league lead intact.

The second-place Four Jewels held their own as Mrs. Jack Ewing led in a two-game victory with a 470 series composed of games of 182, 178 and 111. Mrs. Betty Church of the Strikettes had games of 167, 146 and 110 for a 423 series mark.

The standings:

CHS Strikes Early In Defeating Hillside, 26 to 14, for First Win

By HOWARD ARNESEN

The pouring rain failed to stop a determined Cranford High team from scoring a 26-14 victory over Hillside Saturday at the Comets' field. Pete Andersen, Ron Maloney and Mickey Taliaferro were outstanding in the Cougars' initial victory of the season

The Cougars streaked to a 20-0 lead and their defense was surprisingly good while holding Hillside to only 12 yards in the first half.

The Comets were rocked back on their heels in the opening minutes on a pitch-out pass from Maloney to Jack La Grace which brought the ball down to the Hillside 15. The Blue and Gold were stalled on the 13 but they regained possession of the ball on downs. Three plays later Maloney passed into the end zone to Taliaferro for the first score.

Lawrence Recovers

On the kick off that followed, Hillside fumbled and Bob Lawrence recovered on the 13 to put Cranford in position for its second T.D. From the 9, Andersen rifled one to Maloney to net the six points and Taliaferro kicked the extra point.

In the second period, Cranford drove 64 yards, sparked by Frank Pargiello's running. Andersen hurled a pass to Taliaferro on the 5 and he went over from there. Mickey, back to attempt the extra point kick, took a bad pass from center and ran it over for a lead of 20-0.

Hillside started to make some headway in the third period and finally broke the ice after a march of 54 yards. The scoring play was a one-yard plunge by Dan Studney and he then ran for the extra point.

Maloney Cuts Loose

The Cougars took the kick off on the 20 and began to march. The key play was a 47-yard run by Maloney.

The play which netted Cranford its final six points was a 17-yard aerial from Andersen to Taliaferro.

With less than a minute to go, Hillside scored on a three-yard plunge by Sandy Linzer. The play which set up this tally was a pass covering 60 yards. Stanley ran for the extra point.

The Cougars' records is now 1-4 but they are 1-1 in the Watchung Conference, which puts them in third place behind Clark and Park, whom they play next week.

Rain Cancels Jayvee, Frosh Football Games

Heavy weekend rains cancelled the Junior varsity and the freshman football games Saturday. The Jayvee team was to play Hillside at 9:45 in Cranford.

The freshmen were scheduled to play Rahway at 10 a.m. in Rahway. The latter contest was put off until Tuesday, but wet grounds then forced Coach Bill Martin to cancel it entirely.

SIX FOR CHS—Mickey Taliaferro, talented Cougar end, catches pass fired by Pete Andersen in the end zone for first Cranford tally in the initial quarter of Saturday's game against Hillside. Cougars won, 26-14. Mickey scored three TD's and two extra points, one on a kick and one on a run.

The remainder of the top ten finishers follow: Fourth, Frank Adase, Roselle Park; fifth, Guy Borges, Cranford; sixth, Al Ritter, Cranford; seventh, Ray Gardner, Park; eighth, Bob Mack, Park; ninth, Bill Knox, Cranford, and 10th, Al Dickerson, Cranford.

In Tuesday's meet, Union runners took the first nine places. Bob Burgess of the Cougars placed 10th.

Booters Bow To Irvington By 3 to 0

By DON DRUMM

The booters of Irvington High whitewashed the Cranford High soccer team, 3-0, Friday.

Irvington scored all three goals in the first quarter of the contest, which was played in Irvington. Phil Gerson assisted George Lipka in the first score, and Myron Hersh and Harold Altshuler booted the others.

Cranford held the opposition scoreless for the final three frames, no mean feat against a team which has won eight games against only one loss and one tie. Cranford has won one, lost seven, and tied one, but has held back some powerful opponents from lopsided scores.

The Cranford-Clark soccer game scheduled for Tuesday was called off because of wet grounds. The tilt was to be played at 3:45 at Memorial Field.

Cranford will play its final two games of the season tomorrow and Monday, weather permitting. Tomorrow's opponent is Hillside, and the game is slated for Memorial Field at 3:45 p.m. On Monday, the Cougars travel to Linden for a contest with Linden. The Tigers defeated the locals, 2-1, on September 30.

Bundle Days Collections End Today

The clothing collection at Cranford High School will end this week. Bundle Days end today. This the last call for Bundle Days Clothing Collection.

Children in many parts of the world—including underprivileged areas of the United States—await the response to nationwide Save the Children Federation Bundle Days Clothing Collection, Miss Ella Haver, Junior Red Cross chairman, stated.

This year the need for clothing in our own Southern Mountains is especially acute, because of floods and unemployment. Donated clothing should be sent to school this week by students or brought to school directly in bags or cartons.

"Students are very enthusiastic about the Clothing Collection and parents and friends are urged to cooperate with them in bringing their total collection to a high point," Miss Haver said.

Blankets and sheets, in addition to good, used winter and summer garments for children, babies and adults are urgently requested. Low-heeled shoes and overshoes are especially needed.

Each year, thousands of children are enabled to attend school in the Southern Mountains by the distribution of clothing through SCF Clothing Centers where clothing is made available at low prices to a poor but proud people who prefer not to accept free clothing. However, to those who cannot afford to pay, clothing is made available without charge through County welfare and attendance officers.

In addition to its use in the Southern Mountains, clothing is stockpiled for free distribution to victims of disasters at home and overseas. In years past, SCF has rushed clothing to stricken areas in the United States, Algeria, Austria, Finland, Germany, France, Haiti, Israel, Italy, Korea and Mexico.

The Donated Clothing Program is an important part of Save the Children Federation's overall work which also includes the sponsoring of babies, children and schools in the United States and in 13 countries overseas, and the initiating of village self-help projects for children in this country and abroad.

United Fund Drive Nears 75% Mark

United Fund totals hit $55,953 at Monday's report meeting as the campaign entered its final week. This is just under 75 percent of the campaign goal with slightly more than 75 percent of the town's homes reported, according to campaign officials.

Monday's report meeting was the lightest to date in the campaign, with only nine of the 19 districts reporting. Election-eve activity and high school open house made a dent in the usual turnout and kept the total from reaching its normal size, according to Clarence L. Fritz, campaign chairman.

Managers of the 19 districts will report tonight and make plans for a complete close-out of their canvass by next Monday. Mr. Fritz urged that every effort be made to bring in the pledges of the remaining quarter of the town, which could very well put the drive well within reach of its goal, he said.

A special mop-up squad of agency representatives and Lions Club members will then undertake to cover the parts of town that have not been contacted in order to finish the campaign.

Mr. Fritz pointed out that some parts of town have unavoidably been missed, an almost inevitable result in an organization of over 500 workers. Any citizen not reached, he said, may mail his contribution to United Fund headquarters at 338 Walnut avenue, or wait to be contacted by the mop-up squad.

In the last week's reports two additional districts joined Mrs. John Nostrand's 16th in beating their quotas. District 2, under Mrs. Paul Christman, reached $2,184 against a quota of $2,000. District 7, under Mrs. Richard Bradfield, hit $1,939 against a target of $1,500. All three pace-setting districts are in the Western group headed by Ray Kirwan, which has reached $19,249 of its overall $21,780 quota.

Largest dollar total in any district, however, has been attained in district 18 of the Eastern group, headed by Henry Smithers, which has hit $3,853 and seems certain

Mayor Cites Existing Use Zone Clause

Provisions of Cranford's proposed new zoning ordinance, scheduled for introduction and public hearing early next year, would not become retroactive upon passage of the measure, Mayor John L. Brennan explains in a statement issued for publication this week.

Following is the mayor's statement:

"A number of meetings have been held for the purpose of analyzing constructively Cranford's proposed zoning ordinance. At these meetings various policy decisions were reached based on our experience and we believe the new zoning ordinance will be very beneficial to Cranford. Present at these series of meetings, which are still continuing, have been the members of the Planning Board, the Board of Adjustment, the Township Committee and department heads.

"Recently I discussed the proposed parking section of the zoning ordinance. This week some comments are set forth concerning the "Non-Conforming Use" section. That section of a zoning ordinance dealing with non-conforming uses is one of the least understood by the average layman. A non-conforming use is defined in Cranford's proposed zoning ordinance as "a use which is lawfully exercised within a structure or on land at the time of adoption of this ordinance, or any amendment thereto, and which does not conform with the regulations of the zone district in which

Public School Administrators 'Our Town' Course Speakers

"We Invest in the Future," a study of Cranford's public school system administration, was presented at the fifth session of the "Our Town" course of the Adult School last Tuesday evening.

Mrs. G. Holmes Williams, vice-president of the board of education, compared the American method of local control of education with that of England, where the citizen has no word in the selection of the board or in the choice of curriculum. Local control is what makes the American system what it is, the speaker declared. Here in Cranford, Mrs. Williams related, a popularly elected school school board sets school policy, acting as a team and never individually.

With policy set by the board, it is the responsibility of the school superintendent to carry out policy, Mrs. Williams said, but the board

Chamberlin Margin 1,406; County Posts to Democrats

Union County's courthouse in Elizabeth, long one of the state's Republican strongholds, will be taken over by the Democrats after next January 1.

In Tuesday's balloting, three Democratic freeholder candidates won to give their party a 6 to 3 edge on the Board of Freeholders, and they carried their candidates for surrogate and register of deeds and mortgages into office with them. It will mark the first time in the county's history that the freeholder board has been under control of the Democrats.

Key to the Democratic victory in Union County was the personal popularity of Harrison A. Williams, Jr., of Westfield, who garnered 93,561 votes in his successful bid for U. S. Senate. His Republican opponent, Congressman Robert W. Kean of Livingston, received 72,251 votes in the county. Mr. Williams won throughout the state by a plurality of more than 88,000 votes.

The only bright spot for county Republicans was the victory of Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer, GOP incumbent, who defeated Col. Jack B. Dunn of Westfield, Democrat, by 7,310 votes. Mrs.

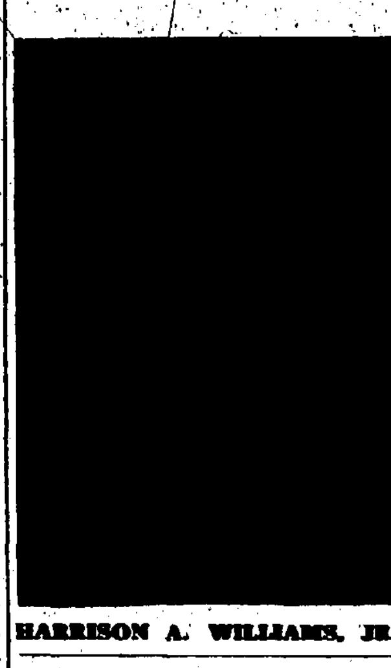
C. VAN CHAMBERLIN



HARRISON A. WILLIAMS, JR.

(A complete tabulation of Tuesday's vote will be found on page eight.)

Carrying 14 of the 19 local districts, C. Van Chamberlin, Republican, was elected to a three-year term on the Township Committee in Tuesday's General Election. He defeated John P. Fitzgerald, Jr., Democrat, by 1,406 votes as local residents gave pluralities up to 2,965 votes to the GOP candidates. Mr. Chamberlin will take office on January 1, succeeding Public Affairs Commissioner Roy D. Irving, who was not a candidate for re-election.

A total of 9,301 voters or 75 percent of Cranford's 12,304 registered voters participated in Tuesday's election.

Both the water and school bond public questions were approved here by wide margins. The water bond issue won here 6,305 to 700 while the school bond question carried by a vote of 5,179 to 1,155. More than 2,000 voters did not ballot on the water issue and about 2,700 failed to register an opinion on the school bond question.

Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer, Republican, seeking re-election to her second term, led the GOP ticket locally with 5,986 votes to 3,021 for Col. Jack R. Dunn, her Democrat opponent. Mrs. Dwyer led in every district except the eleventh where she trailed Col. Dunn by 32 votes.

Congressman Robert W. Kean, Republican, received a plurality of 1,469 votes here over former Congressman Harrison A. Williams, Jr., Democrat, in the Senatorial race. Mr. Kean polled 5,173 votes to 3,704 for Mr. Williams.

Republican candidates for surrogate, register and the Board of Freeholders were given pluralities, ranging from 2,267 to 2,577 votes.

Mr. Chamberlin, who received 5,162 votes, piled up his widest margins in the third district, his home district, where he led by 268 votes; the eighteenth, where he was given an edge of 260 votes; and the sixteenth, where he led by 259 votes.

Mr. Fitzgerald, Jr., who polled 3,756 votes, led his Republican opponent in the second, eleventh, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth districts. His best margins were in the eleventh, where he led by 101 votes and the fourteenth, where he edged Mr. Chamberlin by 93 votes.

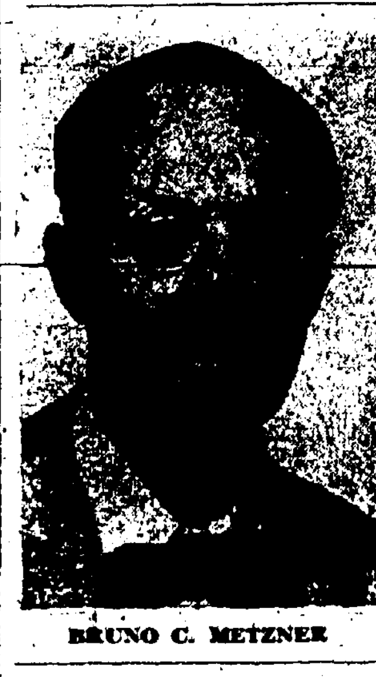
Language Saved His Life, Teacher of Russian Relates

A man whose knowledge of the Russian language helped save his life 40 years ago is conducting a Russian language course Tuesday evenings at Cranford High School for 51 juniors and seniors, each of whom is a "peer" according to the instructor.



BRUNO C. METZNER

Bruno C. Metzner of 807 West End place, whose knowledge of languages isn't confined to Russian, can read a dozen other languages. The non-credit course is being given on a club basis with Mr. Metzner providing a mimeographed text until he can find a suitable beginner's textbook. Starting with the printed alphabet, the linguist will concentrate next on the written characters. He declares Russian is a relatively simple language.

It was during the Bolshevik Revolution when the local man came close to death. As a German soldier at the close of World War I, he was serving on patrol duty on the eastern front. At that time volunteer formations were organized to hold the line against the Russians, who in turn were forming the Red Army.

A Russian bayonet almost finished his life when the German patrol was caught by Russians in a trap. Mr. Metzner dived into a ditch, crawled, and as he did his overcoat bunched up. A bullet whipped into his coat, fortunately through the bunched portion. In Russian he asked, "Why did you shoot?" and he turned over in time to have a bayonet rip through his arm. However, lying on the ground and wildly attempting to fend off the bayonet with his arms, he reached into his pocket and threw out his wallet to the attacker. This, and the fact that he spoke Russian, apparently saved his life. Wounded, he was taken prisoner and eventually landed in a prison camp in Moscow.

Born in the Russian city of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, Mr. Metzner, who was a German citizen there, studied mechanical en-
