Municipal Budget Cited As 'Extremely Sound'

KENILWORTH — Borough officials were praised for submitting "an extremely sound" municipal budget showing a decrease in the local municipal purposes tax rate for the fifth consecutive year, at a public hearing on the 1963 budget in Borough Hall on Tuesday night.

The budget, calling for appropriations totaling $732,209 and an estimated tax rate of $9.46 per $100 of assessed valuation, was adopted unanimously by the Borough Council.

Praise came from Fred J. Stefany of Irvington, borough auditor, who pointed out that the tax rate for local purposes which the borough council has control over is lower than it was 10 years ago. Mr. Stefany added that he knows of no other town in this area which can boast this feat.

The council approved the budget calling for a total increase of only four points. Included in this increase is a 15-point rise in local taxes, a four-point decrease in the municipal budget and a seven-point decrease in regional school requirements.

Mayor William J. Ahern, Jr., noted that this increase does not include the county taxes, which show a tentative additional rise of 18 points. Mayor Ahern added that he will definitely appear before the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders at their meeting tonight to protest their budget.

"If it were not for the county tax rate," Mayor Ahern stated, "the Kenilworth tax rate would remain approximately the same."

Mayor Ahern also commended Mr. Stefany for the excellent job he has done in investing money from Kenilworth in interest-bearing accounts, noting that investments earned $39,000 last year.

The council introduced an ordinance for the purchase and installation of an intercom system and short wave radio system for use by the police department at a cost of $15,500. Councilman Mascara noted that this is being done to conform with federal government regulations.

Passed on final reading was an ordinance establishing angle parking on the North side of the Boulevard between North 22nd Street and Michigan Avenue, making the Bloomingdale Avenue extension.

Regional Bus Stop Changed

KENILWORTH — Commencing tomorrow, the Regional High School bus will pick up students at Seventh Street and Boulevard instead of at Eighth Street, Police Chief Edward Stupak reported this week.

Chief Stupak said the change is being made in the interest of traffic safety, since the stop at Eighth Street has conflicted with the operation of the traffic light there and resulted in traffic tieups.

The change was decided upon after a study of the situation and with the approval of the authorities at Jonathan L. Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, and Mrs. Mary Burn, operator of the student bus program, Chief Stupak reported.

The proclamation points out that the fund has been established for the aid of college-bound students on the basis of character, scholarship and need, and that the project "is being carried out on a purely voluntary basis with no remuneration of any kind whatsoever for those working for it."

The mayor also praised the "dedicated and constructive work of the fund committee, and the worthiness of the cause."

In presenting the plaque, Mrs. Roy E. Krasnoff of Cranford, chairman of the chapter's citizenship award committee, cited Mr. McGevna's "truly remarkable record in laboring unselfishly for civic betterment."

Former Mayor Max Berzin, who appointed Mr. McGevna Borough Clerk 19 years ago, was present as was former Mayor Walter E. Boright.

Mayor William J. Ahern, Jr., stated that Mr. McGevna richly deserves the award and ordered the wording of the citation written into the minutes of the regular Borough Council meeting which followed.

GARWOOD — Councilmen Edward W. Piekarski and Jules J. Lusardi, the two Republican members of the Borough Council, revealed this week that because of pressure of personal business they will not seek reelection this year. Both are completing their second three-year terms as councilmen. Mr. Piekarski served as president of the council in 1960.

Announcement was made by William J. Gilbert that he will seek the Republican nomination for his second four-year term as collector-treasurer.

Mr. Gilbert, son of former Councilman William W. Gilbert, is a native of Garwood and a graduate of the local schools, Jonathan L. Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, and Pace College, New York. He served with the Navy in World War II.

Breath of Spring Felt in Garwood At LL Tryouts

GARWOOD — The first signs of spring came to Garwood on Saturday afternoon. Although there was still snow on the ground and ear muffs and mittens were the uniform of the day, 52 boys attended the "spring" tryouts of the Little League.

Put aside for the moment were the ice skates and sleds. Instead of the snow ball aimed at the high silk hat, the horseshoe was now being aimed at the catcher's mitt.

Under the supervision of Player Agent William Durow and President Joseph Humonik, the boys limbered up their pitching arms, batting stances and ability to shag flies and scoop up grounders. For the most part from the Minor League, they were trying out for the 1963 openings in the Little League.

The tryout committee, consisting of Ario Bucciarrelli, Ernest Dias, Angelo DiMario, William Patten and Charles Greaves, was assisted by members of the operating personnel.

School Programs Honor Washington At Assemblies

GARWOOD — The fourth grade class of Mrs. Margaret Torjesen of Franklin School presented a George Washington program at the school last Thursday.

Betty Schroll conducted the opening exercises, and "The Life of Washington" was presented by Penny Troiano. Joe Hidi, Sally Di Majo and Cecilia Cosmano offered a poem entitled, "Washington."

Poems, "The Cherry Tree," and "Man of Destiny," were recited, respectively, by Ann Miccio and Susanne Duckett. The class sang two selections, "George Washington" and "The Three Sisters."

Mrs. Glenn Crawford's seventh grade class at Lincoln School also presented a program, "George Washington Serves His Country," last week.

Anne Valenti portrayed the teacher in a classroom scene with students planning a Washington program. Students were Cathy Eschle, Helen Cluba, Marianne Manfreda, Gary Bucciarrelli, Dan Gunre, Gary Kamin, Don Ballinger, John Dugan, Tom Lawler, Betty Batich, Janet Bardick and Renee Troiano. Renee served as narrator for the play.

Act 2 pictured the Continental Congress, and characters included Gary Bucciarrelli, Don Ballinger, Dan Gunre, Louis Kleeman, Gary Kamin and John Worobetz. Washington's Headquarters at Valley Forge featured Act 3, and the players were John Worobetz, Richard De Guitis, Vincent Di Cristoforo, Bill Kinson, George Williams, Louis Kleeman, John Deroditta and George Miller.

Act 4 took place at Mt. Vernon with characters John Dugan, John Worobetz, Diane Schroll, Neil Todd and Lynn Lawson.

In conclusion, the vignette was danced by Janet Bardick, Cathy Eschle, Karen Gill, Renee Troiano, Diane Schroll, John Worobetz, Lynn Lawson and Neil Todd. Debbie Siday recited "America for Me," and Christel Nordhausen read a selection, "The Day Washington Was Almost Shot."

WALTER B. LEWIS

Joseph Fuentes was seated for his second three-year term as a trustee, and David T. Williams was sworn in as a new member, also for a three-year term. Charles C. Craig, who was named to the board in October to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Wehrum's resignation, was installed for a one-year unexpired term. Mr. Craig previously had served two three-year terms on the board and (Continued on Page 6)

Underpass Completion Deadline Now May 1

Triпка, grade crossing elimination chairman, at Tuesday night's Borough Council meeting. The original completion deadline was March 1.

Chairmen Told in Drive By Red Cross

GARWOOD — Mrs. Victor L. Nemeth of 679 Willow Avenue has been appointed Garwood resident chairman for the Red Cross fund drive to be conducted here during the month of March, it was announced this week by Mrs. F. W. Archer, Garwood representative on the board of directors of the Cranford Chapter of the American Red Cross, which also serves Garwood and Kenilworth.

Mrs. Nemeth, long active in community affairs, currently is serving as president of the Garwood Woman's Club.

A. W. Bowling, Jr., president of the Magnus Chemical Co., Inc., is local chairman for the industrial phase of the campaign. The Red Cross Canteen service at the recent fire at the Magnus plant afforded an example of one of the many ways in which the Red Cross serves the community.

"Last month, the wife of a Garwood serviceman came to the Red Cross for help," Mrs. Archer related in announcing plans for the coming Red Cross Month campaign. "She was desperate for money, and was given what she needed. This type of service is not publicized, but it is one of the many reasons for the drive for March."

March 12 Hearing Date For Salary Ordinances

GARWOOD — Public hearings on three proposed ordinances which would provide salary increases for various borough employees and salaries of $750 a year for the mayor and $500 each for councilmen will be held in the Borough Hall at 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 12.

A legal advertisement in last week's newspaper stated incorrectly that the hearings would be held this Saturday.

Town Projects Discussed

GARWOOD — Discussion as to what form the town-wide project proposed by the Garwood Woman's Club should take was held at a meeting of the club's committee on community improvement last Wednesday at the home of the club president, Mrs. Victor L. Nemeth of 679 Willow Avenue.

Mrs. Edward Moustak, a past president, was selected as chairman and Mrs. Richard Nead as secretary.

With the Center street overpass of the Jersey Central Railroad nearing completion, several ideas were advanced in this area, such as landscaping of the necessarily steep grade, and improvement and painting of the passenger station.

A new Borough Hall to include a library and room for public meetings was discussed, and, failing this, construction of a separate building for a library.

Other suggestions were a tree planting program in the town center which might also be carried out throughout the town and a thorough clean-up of the brook, to include landscaping and general beautification of its entire length.

These ideas will be discussed further at a meeting of the committee with Mayor I. George Casabona and members of the Borough Council's building and grounds committee in the Borough Hall at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

A letter is being sent to local organizations requesting their views on the borough's primary needs. Individuals also are requested to pass on their ideas to members of the committee, including Mrs. Nemeth, Mrs. Nead, Mrs. William J. Gilbert, Mrs. Lawrence Ditzel and Mrs. James Marano.

Three Den Mothers Honored At Pack 78 Annual Dinner

Three den mothers of Cub Pack 78 were honored at the pack's annual Blue and Gold dinner held recently at the Cranford, New Jersey, home of Mrs. Mary O'Malley, Mrs. Leona McCarthy and Mrs. Kay Porter, three of the four den mothers who recently received the Catholic Den-Mother's Award at St. Hedwig's Church, Elizabeth.

Mrs. Porter also received the Den Mother's Award from the scouting office. Mrs. O'Malley and Mrs. McCarthy had received similar awards a year ago. The awards require three years' service as a den mother in addition to special courses and meetings.

Cubmaster Paul Roettker accepted the new charter for the pack from Neighborhood Commissioner Bert Jenkins. Entertainment was provided by Miss Grace Howell, who demonstrated the art of glass blowing, and showed how she makes miniature multicolored novelties of glass.

George Hayeck, toastmaster, introduced these guests: The Rt. Rev. Msgr. William B. Donnelly, pastor of St. Michael's Church; Richard Rampolla, cubmaster of Pack 178; William Stickle, scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 78; Howard Smith, scoutmaster of Troop 178; John Sorrentino of Explorer Post 78; Ed Kowalski, institutional representative, and Commissioner Jenkins.

Two cubs, Nicholas LaForge and Norman Hoglund, were graduated to Boy Scout Troop 78, and three others, James Giordano, James Holian and Peter Orzai, were advanced to the Webelos den.

Den chief awards were presented to James Porter, Edward Bergen, Edward Wolf, James Stickle and Douglas Hall.

Forty awards were presented to the following cubs: William Babson, Charles Bacon, Harry Coe, Dennis Connelly, Frank Dooley, Edward Dreyer, David Driscoll, Paul Eckhardt.

Need for Parent Cooperation Cited At Scout Dinner

The importance of parent cooperation in scouting was stressed by Union County Commissioner Roy D. Irving at the annual father-and-son dinner of Boy Scout Troop 79 held recently in Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church. The speaker also said the father-and-son relationship during the years covered by scouting is particularly important.

More than 45 fathers, scouts and scouters enjoyed the dinner prepared by the Mothers' Club of the troop.

Donald Nann, committee chairman, outlined plans for the Jamboree to be held in 1964 at Valley Forge, Pa. More than 48,000 scouts from throughout the world are expected to participate in the 10-day camp.

Additional comments were offered by Assistant Scoutmaster William Bucher, who attended a Jamboree at Valley Forge, and by Commissioner Irving, who has attended several Jamborees during his years in scouting. A film of the 1957 Jamboree at Valley Forge was shown.

A bouquet of flowers at the head table was presented by Mrs. Agnes Mackenzie in memory of all scouts of Troop 79 who have passed away. Tables were decorated in red, white and blue and accented by replicas of merit badges awarded in scouting.

Telephone Office Manager Transferred to Woodbridge

Charles T. Reilly of Livingston, manager of the Cranford business office of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. since January, 1962, has been transferred to Woodbridge, where he will serve in a similar capacity, it was announced today.

Mr. Reilly has been active in the Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce while in Cranford.

Kenneth Hampton of Eatontown, attached to the Elizabeth division office of the telephone company, has been placed in charge of the local office temporarily, it was announced.

Mr. Hampton formerly was with the Summit district office in Union before going to the Elizabeth division office. He has been with the telephone company for 17 years.

A former member of the Board of Education in Eatontown, Mr. Hampton is a member of the Lions Club there and is a member of the Explorers. He is a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School and Pingry School, Elizabeth, and He spent two years after high school graduation privately studying piano, voice, organ and becoming familiar with other orchestral instruments.

Inducted into the Army, he found the opportunity to study at the Conservatory of Music in Paris, France, where he had been stationed when the war ended.

There he studied conducting with Louis Forestier, as well as piano.

His tour of duty in the European Theatre found Mr. Sozio with an Army Air Corps medical detachment, where during the day he performed medical duties for over 40 paraplegics. During his leisure hours he volunteered to create musical shows, and involved many of the enlisted men in recreational pursuits that helped them forget the horrors of the war around them.

Mr. Sozio pays tribute to his understanding wife and family (which now numbers four children) by telling how they have patiently continued to "educate" him through the Dalcroze School of Music, Juilliard, Union Theological Seminary where he earned his master's degree in Sacred Music, and now Columbia University.

"Our oldest son Peter (age 11) came with my degree from Juilliard."

Also accompanying the degree were honors and the Dalcroze award for excellence in conducting.

Equipped not only with recognized skill as a conductor, Mr. Sozio possesses a polished singing voice. He has sung with Fred Waring, the Robert Shaw Chorus, and had the thrill of appearing under Toscanini many times in Carnegie Hall and on recordings. Mr. Sozio is credited also with founding the Bach Cantata Guild of New York, a choral and orchestral group which won favorable reviews for many Town Hall concerts.

His past also includes five years of teaching at New York University and one year at the Washington University in St. Louis. While in Missouri he appeared in concerts with the St. Louis Symphony and did the musical arrangements for two television shows. In 1956 he arranged and directed a choral recording for Columbia under an Epic label titled "The Story of Christmas," which became a best seller.

About the future, Mr. Sozio talks of launching a Suburban Symphony Chorus. Over seventy people already have indicated an interest in joining.

"We hope eventually to have 150 voices," Mr. Sozio exclaims. "Their first appearance will be at our spring concert when we will do the Alexander Nevski scores. The overwhelming battle scene, alone will make your hair stand on end!"

His face lights up again as the architect.

The real dream of the future? To see the Suburban Symphony Society develop into a foundation embracing chamber and choral concerts, recitals, dance, and other visual arts—a true cultural center.

The proper home might well be Union Junior College in Cranford where the idea is already capturing the imagination of the enthusiastic planners of the Campus Center.

The firm impression one gets upon meeting Mr. Sozio is that his dreams come true.

Nature Notes

The big birds over Nebraska and Kansas.

Whoopie are held in such high regard that big corporations have changed plans at great cost to make their survival more certain. In the Aransas area, one major oil company moved a fair-sized facility to make the area acceptable to the feathered visitors from the north.

A branch of the Canadian National Railways was originally planned to go through Wood Buffalo Park to tap the vast zinc and lead deposits near Great Slave Lake. Nineteen additional miles of railroad are being constructed to avoid disturbing the whoopie.

The reason for the marked decline in population of the whooping crane is crystal clear—it is the destruction of habitats by man. The Illinois marshes at the southwest tip of Lake Michigan where the whooper once nested are now occupied by the sprawling city of Chicago. Lakes in northwestern Minnesota are now popular summer resorts.

The sloughs of northwestern Iowa have been drained for growing corn and hogs. Other former nesting sites are now rich crop lands. These strange creatures require vast isolated areas in which to breed.

Readers' Reports
At least one red-winged blackbird has reached Cranford from the south. This fellow with scarlet epaulets is one of the first arrivals of 1963. He is the vanguard of many more to come. Mrs. F. H. Washbourne of Cranford placed spotted him in her back yard on February 9.

IN GERMANY—Army, Pvt. James E. Washbourne of Cranford recently departed from Fort Riley, Kan. with other members of Headquarters Company of the First Infantry Division's 28th Infantry for a six-month tour of duty in Germany as a part of Exercise Long Thrust VI. Pvt. Washbourne, an engineer in the company, entered the Army in July, 1962, and completed basic training at Fort Dix. The 19-year-old soldier, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Matlaga, live at 16 Lincoln avenue, west, attended Cranford High School.

The concert will be sponsored by the Friends of Union Junior College with the proceeds going toward furnishing the theatre and music room in the college's new Campus Center. Susan Starr and Kenneth Amada, internationally-recognized pianists, will be the guest artists.

The Standard of Happiness

THE demand for happiness is greater today than it has ever been, but the supply often seems limited and unsure. Throughout the world, people are striving long and hard to obtain a fuller measure of satisfaction and well-being. Most are not as successful as they would like to be because they have a questionable standard of happiness. A lasting sense of well-being can never be measured in terms of wealth, leisure, or power. One can never gain happiness by simply acquiring or expending the means for personal ease and contentment. Genuine happiness is the result of more selfless, meaningful activity.

The essentially spiritual nature of this activity is set forth in the teachings of Christ Jesus. Some of those who came to the Master here come to him having a certain status in the society of his time. They had land, wealth, and powerful friends. But his joyful words and mighty acts made them understand how poor they actually were and pointed to their lack of that inner strength and well-being which give purpose and meaning to life.

For all who would listen, the Master raised a standard of happiness far above material comfort and affluence. By parable and precept, he taught that true happiness is derived from God, the source of all goodness. He taught that happiness is not dependent upon possessions, friends, or material conditions.

And he taught that this happiness can be brought into daily experience. "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you," he told the multitudes (Matt. 6:33). He later said, "These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full" (John 15:11).

To put personal happiness first in one's life is to guarantee failure. It is only when one puts God first that lasting joy is found. This activity is marked by giving rather than getting, by a standard of thought and action that is spiritually progressive.

In an age when the opportunities for leisure and personal pleasure have been magnified a thousandfold, the danger of a false standard of happiness would seem to be obvious. But many are slow to see the danger. Mistakenly, they pursue the flames of personal gratification, unaware of a more lasting source of well-being. The result is a sharp sense of restlessness, which tends to rob both work and leisure of meaning and satisfaction.

Mary Baker Eddy, who discovered and founded Christian Science, pointed out the seriousness of such misguided efforts in "Miscellaneous Writings." She says (pp. 9, 10), "A false sense of what constitutes happiness is more disastrous to human progress than all that an enemy or enemy can obtrude upon the mind or engraft upon its purposes and achievements."

The fullness of joy promised by the Master is available to us here and now, but only as we follow his example. Only by seeking a clearer perception of God and His goodness, and of man as His image and likeness, do we find true happiness. The real measure of happiness is the amount of lasting joy one is able to bring to others.

The emptiness of happiness that is rooted in material limitations and subject to the changing tides of human opinion is becoming more apparent. Disappointed in the expectation that certain people, places, or possessions will inspire lasting joy, growing numbers are seeking a higher standard of well-being. As they progress, they gain respect for the good in themselves and in others.

As Mrs. Eddy writes in her Message to the Mother Church for 1962 (p. 17), "Happiness consists in being and in doing good; only what God gives, and what we give ourselves, and others through His tenure, confers happiness; conscious worth satisfies the hungry heart, and nothing else can."

A practical standard of happiness is established. This standard lifts one's prospects far above material hopes or fears and presents a sense of happiness that is untouched by strife or limitation. The happiness this standard presents is available to each one as he understands and expresses God's goodness. The fullness of joy promised by the Master is always able to supply the receptive heart with enduring satisfaction. —The Christian Science Monitor

Five Lenten Sermons Set By Lutherans

"Knowing What I Believe," will be the general theme of the series of five Lenten sermons to begin next Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. at Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church. It has been announced by the Rev. Arnold J. Dahlquist, pastor.

The series is planned to give a better understanding of the doctrines of Christianity, and the sermons will be based on material found in five Fortress Books, using the book titles as sermon titles.

These books are written in language that is readily understandable by authors who are well known in their fields. It is the intention that each book be read in advance of the appropriate sermon. At the conclusion of each service, the Rev. Walter Wagner, pastor, will lead a discussion on the sermon and the book.

The sermons and dates are: "What the Bible Can Mean for You," March 6; "Man: In Whose Image," March 13; "Every Man A Priest," March 30; "Predestination," March 27; "Life After Death," April 3.

Services of Holy Communion will be held Sunday morning at 8:15, 9:30 and 11 a.m. At 9:30 and 11 o'clock, there will be identical sessions of Sunday church school. There will be babysitting in the church house for children under 3 years of age at 11 o'clock.

The Senior Luther League discussion on "If I Were Running the Luther League," will be held at 7 p.m.

The Christian Education Committee will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The Intermediate choir will meet Tuesday at 7:15 p.m., and at 10 that morning the cancer sewing unit of Lutheran Church Women will meet.

The church choir will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. and the senior high choir at 7 o'clock. Mid-week Lenten vespers will be at 8:15 p.m.

This afternoon the junior choir will rehearse at 3:30 p.m., Boy Scout Troop 84 and the Primary Department staff will meet at 7:30.

Girl scouts will meet at 3:30 p.m. Friday, Cub Pack 84 will meet at 7:30 p.m., and the Junior Department staff at 8 o'clock.

Catechetical instruction will be held Saturday morning at 9:30, and the Girls' Mission Club will meet at 1:30. The Intermediate Luther League swim party will be held at the Westfield YMCA at 7:15 p.m.

Lenten Services To Begin Sunday For Presbyterians

The Rev. Dr. Robert G. Longaker, pastor, will open his series of Lenten Sunday morning worship services at First Presbyterian Church under the theme of "The Sign of the Cross." His message this Sunday at both the 9:30 and 11 o'clock worship services will be "The Way of Suffering."

The Senior High Fellowship will have a program in the sanctuary at 7 p.m. Sunday in which the senior high youth choir will take part. Their guests will be the youth of the Episcopal and Methodist Churches. There will be a social hour in Fellowship Hall following the worship service.

Adults interested in uniting with the church will meet with the Rev. Milton B. Eastwick, associate pastor, and Dr. Longaker in the Junior Room at 7 p.m. Sunday, and on three consecutive following evenings.

The opening of the Lenten School of Faith will be on Monday. Two courses will be offered from 7:55 until 8:45 p.m., "The Fine Art of Worship" by Dr. Longaker and "What Does the Bible Have to Say to the 20th Century" by Mr. Eastwick. From 9 until 10 o'clock, there will be two more classes, "Ye Are Complete in Him," a Bible study of the Epistle of Paul to the Colossians, and "A Study of Paul's Letters to the Church at Corinth," by Mr. Eastwick. Mrs. Connie Miskelly is dean of the school. There will be a fee to cover cost of materials, and registrations will be taken Monday evening.

The prayer group will meet in the Junior Room at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. Troop 79 will hold a Court of Honor and Parents' Night at 7:30 in the old gym.

The Kindergarten Department will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday at 1 o'clock. At 6:45 p.m., the Communicants

Special Lenten Services Offered at Baptist Church

The board of deacons of Cranford Baptist Church has announced plans for a series of special Lenten services to begin on March 17 and continue each Sunday at 7:30 p.m. through April 14. The Rev. Frank M. Rossi, pastor, will be the speaker and will be assisted by the deacons in other parts of the service.

The Men's Fellowship of the church recently purchased an extra large screen to be used whenever educational films are shown to the congregation. They also made plans recently to form a Men's Chorus under the direction of James Edmonds. The purpose of the chorus will be to assist with music at the evening services now under way in the church. Last week, nine members of this group attended a Communion breakfast at the First Baptist Church of Union. The next meeting of the group will be March 20 in the church.

The Women's Mission Society has sent a donation to the Fortieth Anniversary Committee honoring Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave, a former Baptist missionary who has worked in Burma for 40 years.

Throughout his years of service as a medical missionary, Dr. Seagrave has dreamed of a thousand-bed hospital and clinic where medical services could be given to all who seek it. The Fortieth Anniversary Committee's purpose is to provide that hospital in Dr. Seagrave's honor.

The missionary offering received in the Sunday School and church last week amounted to $68.53. Significant about this offering was the fact that it had wider circulation throughout the Sunday School than any former missionary offering received in the church. Other contributions are expected to be given next Sunday when the emphasis will be concluded.

A church newspaper, "The Oracle," was printed for the first time this past week and distributed to the congregation. As a regular monthly publication of the church, it will bear all the items pertaining to the church program plus personal notes about the activities of boards and committees and the members of the church. The paper will be distributed the last Sunday of each month. Copies will be mailed upon request.

The Board of Trustees announced last Sunday that a contract for the construction of a baptistry in the church chancel has been completed. Work is scheduled to begin next Monday, and will be completed in about two weeks. The installation will make available facilities in which candidates for church membership can be baptized by immersion on profession of faith in accordance with the church's beliefs. The first baptismal service is planned for Easter Sunday evening at 7:30.

Class will meet in the Junior Room with Dr. Longaker and in the Junior High Room with Mr. Eastwick.

The Margaret Greene Association will hold an executive board meeting in the Junior Room this morning at 9:30. The Board of Deaconesses will meet at 11 a.m., following preparation of the Presbyterians for mailing. The Long Range Planning Program Committee will meet in the minister's study at 7:30 p.m. with the chairman, Frank Vanderslice.

Dear Sir:

Once again the Board of Education budget has slipped under the noses of the taxpayers practically unnoticed. The apathy of the taxpayer at the polls leads one to wonder if universal suffrage is ever worth the trouble. However, the worst is presumably yet to come so now is the time to review the recent budget to see what we can expect in the future.

The popular cliché seems to be: "We want the best educational system money can buy." This slogan is a hoax on the taxpayer. We want the best school system we can afford. From the recent analysis of tax trends in the Citizen and Chronicle it appears that education (or rather educators' expenses) is getting out of hand. I submit that a 33% increase in salaries (1963-64 over 1961-62) versus a 4% increase in enrollment is a fantastic increase.

Since percentage increases can be misleading, consider the cost of education per pupil.

School Year	Expense/Pupil
1961-62	$411
1962-63	$438
1963-64	$511

This is an increase of 25% in expense, not counting debt service or capital outlay. I wonder if any taxpayer in Cranford expects a 25% increase in pay over this two year period. Obviously the school board is striving for the best educational system money can buy but I'm not certain Cranford can afford it. I would like to drive a new Cadillac but must settle for an old Chevrolet.

Where can we economize? One place is the average class size where the Board has set 27 as their goal. Classes of 50-60 (which were common when I attended grammar school) are obviously too big. Is 33-35 unreasonable? I don't think so.

Fantastic percentage increases in certain other areas point the way to further economies:

Item	Percentage Increase
Instruction, misc. expenses	91%
Insurance and Judgments	81%
Heat	42%
Textbooks	38%
Operation, salaries	31%

How the Board can justify a 90% increase in sundry instruction expenses staggers the imagination. I hope no reader is so naive as to suggest Federal Aid as an answer. This is simply deferring the problem to a morass of red tape from which we will never extract ourselves. The taxpayer must face up to reality. Is a 25% increase in cost/pupil reasonable? Can he afford $10,000 a year increase in sundry expenses? This is not a call for cuts in teachers salaries — here we do need the best that money can buy. But, a good teacher can teach in a barn and educate a man. It's the fat and frills which need cutting.

Irresponsible charges circulated in handbills are of no help. The taxpayer needs more than one week to see the budget before the public hearing. He also needs a night or a Saturday to see it if he cannot make it 10 to 4. Two hearings should be held for the benefit of those who travel. Also the budget meeting is not the place for teachers to air their complaints. If they have any, a separate meeting should be held. The budget hearing is for the taxpayer, not the teacher.

Sincerely,

James A. Gallagher

Whooping Cranes

The Fish and Wildlife Service recently reported that the normal fall migration period for the whooping crane has passed. Only 32 of these great birds are on the wintering grounds in the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge. This is six less than the group that started north in the spring of 1962.

Besides the 32 whoopers at Aransas, there are seven birds in captivity. Six are in the zoo at New Orleans, La., and the seventh at San Antonio, Tex.

It is probable that the whooping crane was never very abundant. Robert P. Allen, former director of research of the National Audubon Society, estimates that the population in 1869 numbered about 1,300. In 1912 there were 89 migrant birds. The number fell rapidly, reaching a low of 19 in 1938.

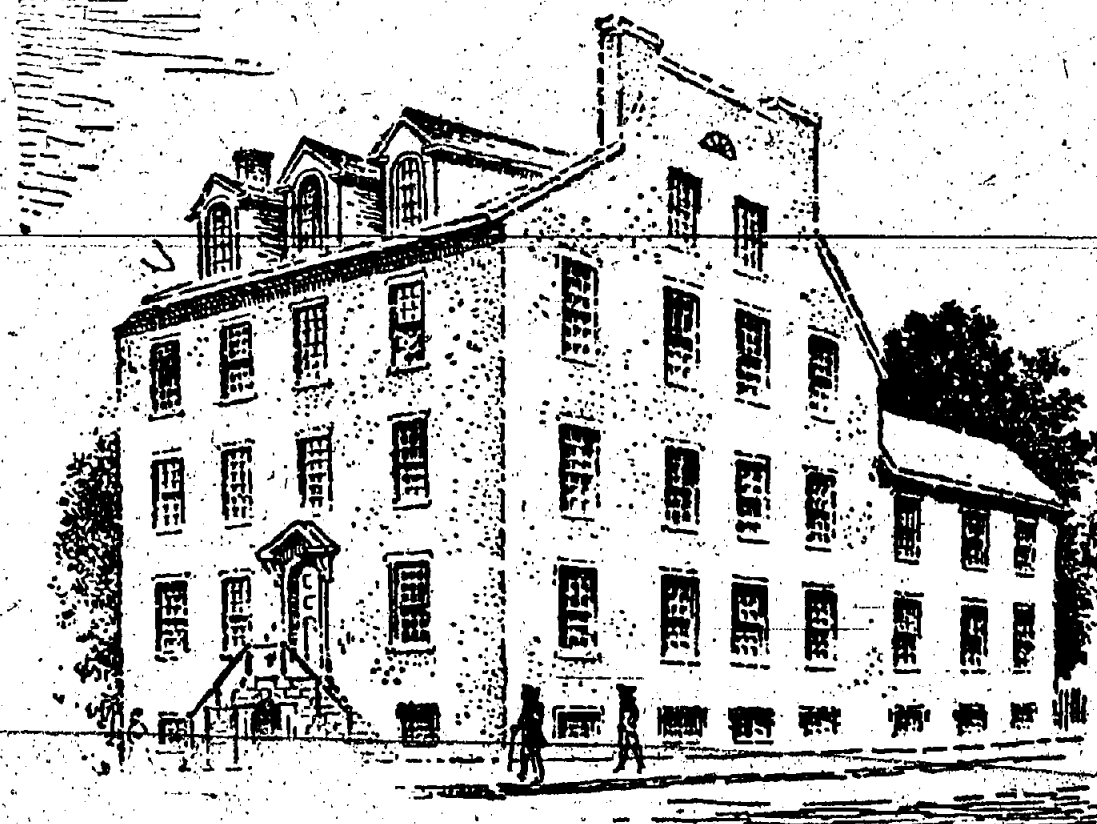

No young whoopers were seen on the wintering grounds this year. Hopefully, there will be some next winter. This is the first time since 1954 that no young have returned to Aransas. In 1961, five young were produced; there were six in 1960, two in 1959, nine in 1958 and four in 1957. If this last flock is to survive, young must be raised in those nests in the wilds of Canada's Northwest Territory. There is a good chance that more young will be born in the future, however. Cranes of similar species have lived in captivity to ripe old ages of 35 and 40 or more. It is believed that they retain the ability to reproduce past their thirtieth year. Josephine, the captive female that had produced four surviving young through 1961, is known to be at least 23 years old. She resides in the Audubon Park Zoo at New Orleans with her mate, Crip. The average longevity of cranes in the wild, however, probably is considerably less than 20 years.

This tallest of all American birds is satiny-white with black wings tips. The legs are black, bill olive-yellow, and the face is red. The search for the whoopers' northern breeding grounds is a fascinating detective story that took 10 years to write. Planes, helicopters, canoes and shank's mare all played a part.

The families breed in the vicinity of the Sass, Klewi and Nyaring Rivers in Wood Buffalo Park, Northwest Territory, Canada. The winter is spent in the Lone Star State's Aransas Refuge. About 15 to 20 days are required to make the trip. The route takes

SITE OF CONGRESS SESSION — The French Arms on southwest corner of Second and King streets (now State and Warren streets) as it appeared in 1784, when Congress met there briefly and voted to make Trenton the national capital. From "A History of Trenton" by the Trenton Historical Society.

Tercentenary Tales

Trenton Had Only Brief History As Capital City of United States

James Madison of Virginia advised friends in a letter written October 13, 1783, that Trenton "is to become the future seat of the Federal Government." Nothing, he said, save "a conversion" could save the dignity of the South.

Virginia delegates to the Continental Congress, then temporarily convened in Princeton, vigorously protested the choice of Trenton. Why, it would be nothing but a sacrifice of good southern interests to sordid "New England commercialism," they argued.

Every northern state (or eastern state, as Madison called them) from New Hampshire to Delaware lined up in Trenton. The backers had considerable logic on their side. Trenton in 1783 was nearly the geographic mid-point of the 13 disunited states.

Nevertheless, southern power prompted Elbridge Gerry of Massachusetts to rise on October 20 to win approval for alternating sessions of Congress between Annapolis and Trenton until permanent buildings could be built somewhere. New Jerseymen fumed, and poet Francis Hopkinson of Bordentown likened such government to "a pendulum." Congress went to Annapolis anyway.

Trentonians settled down to await the day when the pendulum must swing northward. The honor of having Congress in town brought a patriotic glow, and good estimates indicated that Congress would be worth at least $10,000 a month in extra trade.

Trenton in those days numbered not more than 100 buildings arrayed along seven or eight dirt streets. Second (now State) street dwindled down into a lane through an orchard to the west. King (now Warren) street intersected Second and ran to Front street, the direct route to the Old Barracks where Hessians had lived during December of 1776.

Anticipation swept through the village in 1784, when stages from Annapolis brought news that Congress would arrive in town on or about November 1. Tavern owners, boarding house proprietors and shopkeepers mentally calculated the unquestioned delights of having congressmen in town.

Legislators approved leasing the old Stacy Potts home for use of the President and advanced money for improving the French Arms Tavern on the southwest corner of Second and King (State and Warren) streets for use of Congress.

New Jersey went all out to make the French Arms a reasonable facsimile of a national capital. The tavern's "long room" was repapered, repainted and repainted, and a platform was erected between the two great fireplaces on the south side of the room. Thirteen new tables, each covered with green cloth, and 48 new Windsor chairs were provided.

Sadly, for a state verbally dedicated to bring Congress to Trenton, the federal lawmakers encountered brisk local competition when they sought to rest their weary heads. Nearly all desirable rooms were occupied by members of the State Legislature, convened in Trenton at the same time so they wouldn't miss a thing.

Congress naturally decided to get its business done with quickly and get out of town, but members remained long enough to consider again the business of the national capital.

The competition for comfortable beds didn't completely prejudice Congress against New Jersey. On December 23, members overrode Southern opposition and voted $100,000 for federal buildings, to be erected in "a district not less than two, nor exceeding three, miles square on the banks of either side of the Delaware."

Congress further authorized a three-man commission to build "in an elegant manner, a federal house for the accommodation of Congress and the executive officers thereof." They could also build a President's house and assorted buildings for government departments — all elegant provided everything cost not more than $100,000.

Trentonians counted their capital before the bricks were laid, and property values soared. Already the tide had turned. George Washington might have retained sentimental memories of a Christmas in Trenton, but in February, 1785, he wrote to President Richard Henry Lee of the Continental Congress from Mount Vernon:

"By the time your federal buildings on the banks of the Delaware . . . are fit for the reception of Congress, it will be found that they are improperly placed for the seat of the empire."

That lofty opposition just about ended Trenton hopes. Congress in September, 1785, refused to appropriate the $100,000 approved the previous December in Trenton. Southern sentiments had so influenced Congress that only New Jersey and Massachusetts voted in favor. Four years later, Elias Boudinot of Elizabeth vainly tried again but only four votes backed his bill for a capital on the "banks of the Delaware."

The pendulum had stopped beside the Potomac River, never to swing northward again.

Benefit Concert by Suburban Symphony A Major Musical and Cultural Event

A major musical and cultural event for Cranford is scheduled for Friday evening, March 15. We refer to the benefit concert to be presented at the Mosque Theatre, Newark, by the Suburban Symphony of New Jersey under the direction of Peter Sozio.

The concert, featuring Susan Starr and Kenneth Amada, duo-pianists, is being sponsored by the Friends of Union Junior College to raise funds to help furnish the music room and theatre in the college's new Campus Center building.

It is indeed appropriate that the Friends of Union Junior College, under the dynamic leadership of Mrs. Bedford H. Lydon, the college, and the Suburban Symphony of New Jersey, which makes its headquarters in Cranford, should join forces for this event. This cooperation sets the pattern for an increased cultural program for our community.

With the opening of the new Campus Center building with a 450-seat theatre, music and art rooms and other facilities, Union Junior College will be in a position to become the cultural as well as educational center of our community, providing facilities for all the performing and creative arts.

In the center of a state called by a prominent educator, "a cultural desert," Cranford can become an oasis of culture and enlightenment.

Already hundreds of Cranford residents are involved in making the March 15 concert one of the major musical events of the year in New Jersey. Hundreds of persons have signed up as patrons, dozens of local businesses and industries have purchased advertising. Many others are aiding in numerous ways from assisting with publicity to manning the concert headquarters.

The concert is more and more developing into a community-wide effort. While the college and the orchestra are bound to gain from this support, it is primarily Cranford as a community which will benefit. This is a community which has gained a reputation for its friendliness and community spirit, as evidenced by the annual Cranford Days and other events.

For those of you who do not yet have your tickets for the March 15 concert, they can be purchased at the concert headquarters, 111 North Union avenue, from any member of the ticket committee, and at the development office at Union Junior College. Tickets also are on sale at the box office of the Mosque Theatre.

Cranford residents will be doing themselves, Union Junior College and the Suburban Symphony of New Jersey a great favor by attending the benefit concert on March 15 in the Mosque Theatre, but most of all they will be proving once again the great community spirit in our hometown and its appreciation of the cultural aspects of life.

Red Cross Program Needs Your Personal Support

The Cranford Chapter of the American Red Cross, which also serves Garwood and Kenilworth, will join with 3,600 other chapters throughout the nation and with members of the International Red Cross family throughout the world in observance during March of the 100th anniversary of this world-wide volunteer army of mercy.

It was in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1863 that the Red Cross movement began. During the ensuing century, the red cross on a field of white has silenced guns in a multitude of battles. By international treaty, the Geneva Conventions, this neutral symbol shelters wounded and ill combatants, those caring for them, those taken prisoner and those whose homelands have been occupied by enemy forces.

In peace, it is the universal symbol around which we rally to aid and comfort the victims of earthquakes, floods, storms and other natural disasters.

Volunteer workers of the Cranford Chapter of the American Red Cross provided services in a wide variety of categories during 1962 as follows:

Nurses' Aides, 37 volunteers serving 1,055 hours; entertainment, 52 volunteers serving 175 hours; Motor Corps, 61 volunteers serving 390 hours and covering 3,516 miles in 260 trips (not counting local pickups and individuals using their own cars); Canteen, 42 volunteers serving 124 hours at 13 functions;

Gray Ladies, 86 volunteers serving

2,178 hours at two hospitals; Home Service, 7 volunteers serving 6,576 hours on 95 cases (80 in Cranford, 8 in Kenilworth and 7 in Garwood); staff aides, 9 volunteers serving 41 hours; Blood Bank, 65 volunteers serving 280 hours in Cranford and 20 volunteers serving 78 hours in Elizabeth.

During the centenary celebration, the Red Cross is giving every adult the opportunity to join and contribute to such services, thereby making it possible for the American Red Cross to continue its proud slogan: "Always There—With Your Help."

Donald M. McGinnis of Cranford, membership chairman for the local chapter, is in charge of the drive to be conducted in this area during the month of March. Since the Cranford United Fund did not attain its quota in last October's campaign and hence was not able to apportion enough funds to cover the full requirements of the chapter for 1963, the Red Cross has been given permission to conduct a special letter campaign here. There will be regular annual drives in Kenilworth and Garwood during Red Cross Month.

Although charged by Congress with specific responsibilities (to aid members of our armed forces and disaster victims), the American Red Cross relies solely upon our voluntary support. Red Cross Month will afford you an opportunity through financial support to help assure that, whenever it is needed, the Red Cross will be there, and you can further demonstrate your belief in Red Cross aims by contributing your personal time and talents to the program of the local chapter.

Another Sozio Dream Coming True In Symphony Concert at Mosque

There's a certain magic related to the date of March 15 for Peter Sozio.

That's the night when he'll direct the Suburban Symphony of New Jersey at a benefit concert in the Mosque Theatre, Newark, sponsored by the Friends of Union Junior College.

This will be the largest and most important appearance in the three-year history of the Suburban Symphony. Mr. Sozio, who is regarded in many music circles as New Jersey's leading choral director, will show musical New Jersey his talents as a symphonic conductor.

Under Mr. Sozio's dynamic leadership, the Suburban Symphony has made rapid strides as one of New Jersey's leading community symphony orchestras. Many plays with the orchestra acknowledge they joined the fast-growing Suburban Symphony because of Mr. Sozio's talented conducting.

Although the Suburban Symphony has been busy in its three-year history playing more than a dozen concerts, the March 15 appearance is the "big" opportunity for the orchestra and for Mr. Sozio.

"I feel like an architect who can see the plan even before the building is up," Mr. Sozio said as the state's fastest growing symphony continued its rehearsal for the approaching concert March 15 at the Mosque Theatre. "Sometimes starting at an empty lot takes faith and courage," the dynamic maestro said. "But already in our early rehearsals I see the completed building. It's exhilarating. This is the compensation of being a performing musician."

Mr. Sozio's present musical career includes teaching instrumental music at Jersey City State College, conducting the Oratorio Society of New Jersey, serving as minister of music of the Wyoming Presbyterian Church in Millburn, and working energetically toward his goal of making the Suburban Symphony the leading community symphony in New Jersey.

A typical day for him begins when he leaves his home at 390 Wyoming avenue in Millburn for morning teaching duties in Jersey City, an afternoon spent at Columbia University working toward his doctorate degree, then back to Montclair for an Oratorio rehearsal before arriving at Union Junior College in Cranford for an evening rehearsal of directors' meeting of the Suburban Symphony Society of New Jersey.

"Of course," Mr. Sozio explains with an unruffled calm, "this is typical of a Monday. Wednesday would be different because I go home for dinner."

He sits, despite the harrowing commuting problem his day represents, an apparent study in relaxation: A large man comfortably reclining in an undersized college classroom chair, legs lightly crossed, an animated smile representing the only wrinkles in his facile face.

He talks of his past and his future dreams with equal enthusiasm.

The past was always music ori-

Township Committee introduced and passed on first readings compromise ordinances providing for the metering of 270 spaces in four off-street parking lots and calling for the resurfacing of 200 spaces for Cranford residents in two off-street lots under a windshield sticker plan. One of the proposed ordinances called for the appropriation of $14,500 for the metering of the North Union avenue parking lot adjacent to police headquarters, the easterly half of the lot at South Union and South avenues, the area along the northerly side of the Central Railroad and the parking lot at the southerly entrance to the railroad. The companion measure called for designation of the Springfield avenue lot and the westerly half of the South Union and South avenue lot as non-metered areas available to local residents only.

H. Raymond Kirwan of 311 Stoughton avenue, a past president of the Cranford Young Republicans Club, revealed that he was "giving serious consideration" to seeking the Republican nomination for Township Committee, after Public Affairs Commissioner Roy D. Irving announced that he would not be a candidate.

The Board of Education announced that Mrs. Ruth Janoyik, supervisor of elementary education, would handle the duties of the office of superintendent of schools following the retirement of Dr. Howard R. Best on March 31 and until the superintendency was assumed by Dr. Clark W. McDermith on June 1. Dr. McDermith was serving as superintendent of schools in Passaic.

Miss Barbara Suarez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Suarez of 13 Pittsfield street, had been named by her fellow students at Cranford High School as Cranford's DAR Good Citizen for 1958, for her qualities of dependability, patriotism, initiative, service, work habits, social adjustment and leadership.

10 Years Ago

Mayor Fred P. Andersen and Public Safety Commissioner Clarence L. Fritz announced that they would seek the Republican nominations for reelection to three-year terms on the Township Committee. While there had been rumors that there might be a contest for the GOP nominations, the simultaneous announcement by the two incumbents was expected to narrow the field considerably, with the possibility that the two might not have any opposition in the primary. Both were credited with being strong vote getters.

More than 400 volunteer solicitors were to begin their house-to-house campaign to raise $16,047 in the 1958 fund drive of the Cranford - Garwood - Kenilworth Chapter, American Red Cross. Paul O. Dunham, executive chairman of the campaign, expressed confidence of success of the appeal early in March.

15 Years Ago

Although the early organizational work had to be carried out under the most difficult conditions in many years, preparations for the 1948 Red Cross fund drive in the Cranford - Garwood - Kenilworth area were completed in time for the marking of Red Cross Sunday. It was announced by Frederick P. Andersen, general chairman. The 1948 quota was $9,580 as compared with $5,700 the previous year.

Returns in Cranford's 1948 March of Dimes drive for funds for the fight against infantile paralysis had reached a total of $2,761.82. It was announced by William D'Arcy, local chairman. This figure, Mr. D'Arcy pointed out, was only $106 short of the 1947 record high collection of $2,868.

Morton, Siegfried

Six children, George, III, 11; Patricia, 9; Steve, 4; Karen and David, 3; and Chris, 2.

Mr. Siegfried, a resident of Cranford for seven years, is an associate engineer in the testing laboratory of Public Service Electric and Gas Company, Maplewood. He has been with the company for 15 years.

He is a graduate of Columbia High School, Maplewood, and Newark College of Engineering. He served with the Air Force in Korea from 1950 to 1954.

Mr. Siegfried currently is chairman of the Heart Fund campaign here and is a member of the Cranford Democratic Club, St. Michael's Church, and an associate member of the Institute of Electrical Engineers.

He is married and has four children.
Mr. MacMahon pointed out that neither Mr. Morton nor Mr. Siegfried has formally accepted the screening committee's selection but that he expects such a statement within a few days.

"We are delighted with the abundance of qualified persons the Democratic party has attracted for consideration as candidates," the municipal chairman declared, adding that he believed "almost any selection would have been acceptable." He expressed the hope that the entire organization would rally behind Mr. Morton and Mr. Siegfried as the party's candidates for Township Committee.

Members of the screening committee were: James Grindrod, 7 Cranford terrace, chairman; Edward J. Ward, 12 Blake avenue; Phil F. Henahan, 12 Hampton street; Mrs. Herbert Baldwin, 50 Elm street; Nicholas Manfredi, Jr., 303 South Union avenue; Mrs. Benjamin Burke, 14 West Holly street; John H. McCandless, 114 Centennial avenue; Mrs. Anne M. Maltis, 211 Holly street; Leslie P. Glick, 34 Wadsworth terrace; Salvatore V. Maglio, 741 Walnut avenue; Mrs. Edward Baranski, 304 North avenue, east; J. Henry Verneault, 21 Park avenue; Rachael C. Brantley, 178 Garden street; and Mr. MacMahon.

Other business conducted at Monday night's meeting of the municipal committee included appointment of the following: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Innocenti, Riverside drive; third district committeeman and woman; Thomas Ford, 9 Roger Norton place, tenth district committeeman; and Mrs. Charles Siegfried, eleventh district committeewoman.

Officers had assured municipal officials that their recent fund drives had been successful and they had sufficient funds with which to operate. However, in the event the squad required funds the Township Committee stands ready to make such monies available because of the important service rendered by the squad.

Edward Gill, president of the Cranford Taxpayers' Association and a Republican candidate for Township Committee, declared the budget presents "excellent financial planning for the township. He inquired as to whether any study has been made of salaries of municipal employees to make certain they are comparable to those paid in other nearby communities. Commissioner Swackhamer replied that such a study already is underway and should be completed by summer.

Former Finance Commissioner J. Howard McAteer described the new budget as "sound and efficient."

and next year probably will be the most difficult because of the impact of new capital expenditures for schools, municipal building and library. After that, providing the township's industrial park is fully developed and additional commercial retailers are attracted to the business center, the burden on the residential taxpayer should be lightened, he said.

Mr. Morton also questioned a $6,500 increase in the "other expenses" item for legal service. The mayor explained about $2,000 is for a brochure being prepared by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to advertise the industrial park, and the remainder is for commissions on land already sold but on which the township has not closed title, as well as for commissions on other property to be sold.

It also was explained that the township will endeavor to examine and present marketable titles to as much township-owned property in the industrial zone as possible this year so as to shorten the time between the sale of the property and the construction of factories. Township Attorney Donald R. Creighton reminded Mr. Morton that the legal item included a sum for expert witnesses and other costs involving a suit instituted against the township during the past year by Mr. Morton.

Frank DiTullo, Jr., 206 Pawnee road, asked about an appropriation for the First Aid Squad. Mayor LaCorte said that the squad of date to be chosen. The third concert in the 1963-1964 series will be announced after the close of the membership campaign.

The drive will open formally at 7:30 p.m. Monday, with a dessert meeting for board members, captains and workers at the Howard Johnson Restaurant in Clark. Under the leadership of Mrs. Gilroy and Mrs. Anderson, campaign captains are Mrs. Carl Fink, Mrs. Gus Cohen, Mrs. J. D. Prior, Mrs. J. B. Warrington, Mrs. Robert Collins, Mrs. B. C. Arts, Sciences Must Work Together, Engineers Told by UJC President

The arts and the sciences must work together to stamp out divisions within our culture, Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president of Union Junior College, said Saturday night at the Chi-Am Chateau in Mountainside.

Dr. MacKay's comments were made upon receiving the annual citizen-of-the-year award from the Union County Chapter of the New Jersey Society of Professional Engineers. The chapter presented its engineer-of-the-year award to Acting Mayor David Truckess of Summit, a power development engineer with Bell Telephone Laboratories.

"We face a critical decade — a reaction with a rendezvous with destiny," Dr. MacKay said. "It behooves all of us who seek and desire a world of freedom to speak out against tyranny of all kinds." "The UJC president added that individual freedom and education are inseparable.

He expressed his appreciation to the society for honoring him as citizen-of-the-year.

"This honor really goes to the cause of higher education, but I'm very happy for this recognition," Dr. MacKay said.

Frank Lehr of Summit, society president, who was master of ceremonies, described Dr. MacKay and Mr. Truckess as "men of nobility and humility." He said the society was proud to honor both.

Thursday of multiple sclerosis at the Irvington Nursing Home in Irvington. He was afflicted with the disease in 1950.

He went to Canada, changed his age and became a lieutenant in the Canadian Royal Air Force while still in his teens. He was later shot down and wounded in an aerial duel but reached his own lines.

He was superintendent of planning layout in a civilian capacity with the Office of Emergency Management in Washington, D.C., during World War II.

Mr. Palmer was born in Jersey City and lived in Rhinebeck, N.Y., where his father bred horses. He became an expert rider and polo player.

He became a partner in Herbert-Spencer, Ltd., New York printers and publishers. Some time later he operated his own business with his wife, Mrs. Henriette Mahoney Palmer.

Days Reduced

The school calendar was reduced from 185 days this year to 183 days next year due mainly to a two-day delay in the schools' opening in September. Schools will open on the Monday following Labor Day, September 9, instead of the Thursday following Labor Day as has been done in the past. Dr. Clark W. McDermith announced this is being done in order to give the staffs more time to get organized in the new junior high buildings.

President Gus A. Gutierrez set March 19 as a tentative date to have the architects for the Orange avenue and Hillside avenue junior high schools, explain the progress on the junior high schools and give a report on renovations for the present high school. The reports will follow a short business meeting by the board and will begin at approximately 9 p.m.

President Gutierrez presented a seven point program stating the projects which will receive special attention by the board and staff during the coming year. The following are the seven objectives: "Review, refine and advance the five-year plan developed for 1963-68.

"Develop a five-year program for compensation and in-service development of the instructional staff, with suggested time schedule and approximate cost for its implementation."

"Outline a five-year capital program of school plan rehabilitation and improvement with suggested time schedule, priorities, alternate proposals, and approximate cost."

"Explore possibilities for modernizing and making more efficient school business procedures in such areas as budget development and control, purchasing and payment for goods and services, and storage control and distribution of supplies and equipment."

"Develop a plan for periodic evaluations of achievements in the total school system in those areas known or assumed to be closely related to quality and efficiency."

"Seek ways to increase the board's involvement in affairs relating to public education at the county, state and national levels."

"Develop a more effective and comprehensive program for effective communication and co-operation among the Board of Education, staff, Township Committee and residents of the community."

Henry Boardman noted in his report that the class standing of graduates becoming teachers in the Cranford public schools might be checked more closely in the future due to the increased emphasis on scholastic excellence and increased attention on recruiting teachers. Dr. Clark W. McDermith, superintendent, stated that many of the schools which send information about their graduates do not include class standing but a check will be made on the feasibility of this suggestion.

President Gutierrez presented a public service certificate to Bernard Litwack, former board member, in recognition of his services to the board from 1960 to 1963.

In answer to several queries of local citizens to Mr. Knox about the new athletic team setup, Dr. McDermith stated that senior high teams will be made up from grades 11 and 12, junior varsity teams will consist of combining athletes from the 10th grades of the Orange avenue and Hillside Avenue schools and freshman or junior high teams will be separate for each school; that is, there will be one team from the Orange avenue school and one team from the Hillside avenue school.

The American Seating Co. of Grand Rapids, Mich., was awarded the contract for 1,572 auditorium and lecture room seats at a cost of $41,124.72. Solomon's Sport Shop of Elizabeth was awarded the athletic supplies contract at $2,183.88 for tennis, spring track and baseball. A change order purchase of rubber baseround around the base of the walls in the new schools was approved at a cost of $1,452.

The board approved the following new teachers: Mrs. Shirley Feldman of Union, elementary teacher; Mrs. Dolores Sugalski, 230 North avenue, west, secondary school English; Miss Harriet Tannenbaum, Linden, elementary teacher; Mrs. Ann Honig, 309 Stoughton avenue, home economics on secondary level, and Miss Deanna Siegel, Roselle, elementary.

Randolph Wilson was approved by the board as a custodian for the balance of the school year.

The board will meet tomorrow night in a closed work session to discuss redistricting plans and any decisions reached will be confirmed at the next public meeting on March 5.

With each returning year, higher joys, holier aims, a purer peace and diviner energy should freshen the fragrance of being.

Senator Williams to Speak At Annual C of C Dinner

U. S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr., of Westfield, will be guest speaker at the third annual dinner of the Cranford Chamber of Commerce on Monday evening, April 1, at the Scotch Plains Country Club. It was announced this week by Roderick W. Smith, chamber president.

Senator Williams, a Democrat, was elected to the Senate in November, 1958. He is a member of the Senate committee on labor and public welfare, chairman of the Senate subcommittee on migratory labor, a member of the Senate banking currency committee and acting chairman of the Senate subcommittee on securities. He also is a member of the committees on small business and aging.

The annual chamber dinners have attracted large turnouts of local business, professional, industrial and civic leaders. Raymond F. Male, state commissioner of labor, was speaker at the first dinner and last year U. S. Senator Clifford P. Case of Rahway, a Republican, was speaker.

Boris Bergen, general chairman, announced that tickets will go on sale this week and will be available at the Suburban Trust Co., Union County Trust Co., Cranford Savings and Loan Association and Cranford Citizen and Chronicle.

An effort will be made this year, Mr. Bergen said, to get leaders of local women's groups to attend the annual chamber dinner and business leaders have been urged to bring their wives.

The other victims, all released after treatment at the hospital, were: Patricia Kammler of 403 Casino avenue, multiple facial lacerations; Nanette Goodhart of 325 Casino avenue, multiple contusions; Margaret Brennan of 320 Casino avenue, lacerations of the left eyebrow, and Linda Bork of 449 Central avenue, multiple contusions.

After treatment at the scene by Dr. James J. Daubert, the injured were taken to the hospital in the First Aid Squad's two ambulances. Police Chief Lester W. Powell reported yesterday that the cause of the accident had not been determined. He said the boy had picked the girls up in the town center and was driving them home at the time of the accident.

An investigation was conducted by Sgt. Matthew Haney and Patrolmen Leo Schultz, Gerard Haney and John Thimons.

The car had to be towed from the scene.
