Exchange Student Enjoying 'A Jolly Good Time' Here

"I'm having a jolly good time in Cranford," Judith Valentine, Cranford High School's first foreign exchange student, said this week. In just one brief week, Judy has been enrolled in her classes at the high school and already is participating in the school choir and the young people's choir at Cranford Methodist Church. She also hopes to join the Suburban Symphony Orchestra as a violinist.

While she is in Cranford under the American Field Service program, Judy will live at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer J. Hall of 310 Prospect Ave. Deborah Hall, a fellow member of the senior class at the high school, is her AFS "sister." Her address in her native England is: The Shelling, Nightingale Lane, Chalfont St. Giles, in Buckinghamshire. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian R. Valentine, and she has left two sisters and a brother at home.

Judy was introduced officially to the student body at an assembly held in the high school on Monday. Last week she was welcomed at a party held in her honor by representatives of the Student Council and of the local AFS chapter sponsoring her visit. Mrs. Norman H. Brubaker was hostess. David Naylor, faculty adviser of the Student Council, also introduced her to the members of the Cranford Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon.

The arrival of the student ship, the Seven Seas, was delayed two days because of heavy seas. Judy says there were over 800 AFS students aboard. The majority of them were returning after a summer spent overseas with the Americans Abroad program. The rest were foreign students arriving to spend a school year in America.

Clean-Up Nets 40 Debris Loads First Two Days

Cranford homes and yards have to be cleaner after this week, Township Engineer P. J. Grall remarked yesterday in reporting results of the first two days of the fall clean-up program.

More than 40 loads of debris were picked up Monday and Tuesday. Items placed at the curb ranged from old washing machines to television sets, furniture and bric-a-brac, and one family put out a piano.

The engineer reported scavengers were taking all of the items they could handle, and the large items were being carted away in eight public works trucks. The PW trucks are being loaded with two front end loaders, one working on either side of town.

The clean-up will continue through Saturday with pickups being made only on regular garbage collection days, Mr. Grall emphasized.

Chamber of Commerce Golf, Dinner Tuesday

The Cranford Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual golf and dinner outing on Tuesday at the Twin Brooks Country Club, Watung. Golf will start at 1 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m.

A highlight of the program will be the presentation of the Hedenberg-MacBean Trophy to the winner of the golf tournament. This will be the first year for the trophy and it will be awarded annually thereafter.

Roy MacBean, chairman for the event, announced that reservations may be made either in foursomes or individually.

Flooding Caused Here By Five-Inch Rainfall

With the two-day downpour having dropped more than five inches of rain on this area by last night, the swollen Rahway River was over its banks throughout its length in Cranford and flooding was widespread as storm sewers backed up and overflowed with no place to discharge their water.

Board Hires 3 Teachers, Psychologist

At a meeting Tuesday night in Lincoln School the Board of Education hired three new teachers, a psychologist and teacher aide and accepted the resignation of Dr. Frank E. Bachkal, administrative assistant to the superintendent of schools, who had only just been hired.

The new teachers are as follows: Leroy Cooper of East Orange, who will teach elementary school instrumental music at a salary of $5,700. A 1964 graduate of Central State College, Wilberforce, Ohio, he has worked as a music teacher in the Newark public schools since his graduation.

Mrs. Susan Magod of Elizabeth, a former Cranford teacher, who will be a substitute for Edward Otto at Hillside Avenue Junior High School. She will be employed from September 7 to December 31 of this year, or until Mr. Otto's return, at an annual salary of $5,900.

Mrs. Camille McNally of 21 Wadsworth Ter., has been assigned to Mrs. Marion Eschenauer's sixth grade class at Cleveland School. Her salary will be at an annual rate of $6,500. She is also a former Cranford teacher.

The psychologist is Norman Pope of 322 Springfield Ave., who will begin his duties on October 1. Mr. Pope received B.A. and M.A. degrees from City College, N. Y., and has completed 30 additional graduate credits at Rutgers. He is presently employed as coordinator of professional services at the Occupational Center of Union County and was previously employed with B'nai B'rith Vocational Service of Northern New Jersey and the Federation of the Handicapped, New York. He also served two years in the Army Medical Corps from 1951 to 1953. His annual salary will be $8,700.

The teacher aide is Mrs. Doris McGrath of 225 Retford Ave., who will work an hour a day in the lunchroom of Livingston Avenue School at an hourly rate of $1.50.

Dr. Frank E. Bachkal of North Plainfield had been working as administrative assistant to Superintendent of Schools Dr. Clark W. McDermith for only a week when he announced his resignation to accept an associate professorship at Newark State College, Union.

Dr. McDermith expressed sorrow about losing Dr. Bachkal since the superintendent considered him well qualified for the position.

The board also accepted the resignations of Mrs. Concetta Lupo, secondary school English teacher, effective June 30, 1966, due to pregnancy; custodian Arthur Pulins, effective September 30; Richard Lewis, effective September 19; and Thurman Morgan, effective September 19; and that of Mrs. Mary Ryles, matron, effective September 15.

The board's referendum proposal, which will call for the rehabilitation or replacement of Cleveland and Sherman Schools, came up for discussion when Fred Lund of 104 Columbia Ave., expressed concern about the effect the project would have on the tax rate.

Board President Bernard Litwak said board members have not decided what will be submitted for voter approval and thus had no cost.

Accidental Fire Alarm At St. Michael's School

A false fire alarm was inadvertently touched off by a janitor sweeping up Tuesday afternoon in St. Michael's School. School officials immediately called fire headquarters and only one truck responded to reset the alarm. A new box, No. 1515, has been installed at the parochial school which is connected directly to fire headquarters.

The department also responded to an alarm yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. I. Pasquale, 18 Raleigh Ave. An electric meter on the side of the house developed a short circuit. No property damage was reported, according to Deputy Chief Bernard Fleming.

First Passenger Train Travels Route Jersey Central Commuters Will Follow When Aldene Plan Begins January '67

Railroad history was made here at 2:05 p.m. Friday as a Pennsylvania Railroad Budd Car train eased down the Aldene Plan spur from Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks to the Jersey Central main line and proceeded to the Cranford station.

This was the first passenger train to traverse the route that Jersey Central commuters will travel to Newark and New York when the long-awaited Aldene Plan finally goes into effect in January.

Under this plan, Jersey Central passengers will travel to and from New York via Pennsylvania Railroad tracks in Newark, using tracks of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, Pennsylvania Railroad and Port Authority Transport Hudson (formerly the Hudson Tubes), rather than CNJ's present Jersey City Manhattan ferry route.

Passengers in the history-making two-car train were members of the New Jersey Press Association on an inspection tour of the facilities of four area railroads sponsored by the NJPA's associate membership committee and arranged for them by the Associated Railroads of New Jersey.

Friday's trip from Newark to Cranford and back again demonstrated that trackage and switching links for the Aldene Plan are all in place and ready for use, but it was explained to the history-making passengers that there are still a number of factors holding up actual implementation of the plan.

The earth-fill for the 2,100-foot-long ramp connecting the CNJ and LVRB at Aldene has been in place for a year, so it was well settled, and the spur trackage was laid in August, but the signal system is not yet ready for use, so it was necessary to operate the newspapermen's special through the use of train orders. Incidentally, this was the first passenger train to travel the Lehigh Valley section of the route since that railroad discontinued passenger service five years ago.

Other reasons why Aldene Plan service cannot be put into use right now include: 44 new air conditioned cars being purchased by PATH to handle the Jersey Central commuters have not yet been delivered; a car storage yard in Harrison for sidetracking of these cars during non-rush hours is still under construction, and engine service facilities being installed on the CNJ main line at Raritan are not ready yet.

It was announced definitely, however, that the Aldene Plan will go into effect shortly after the first of the year. Schedules and fares are expected to be submitted to the Public Utility Commission for approval next month.

While at the Cranford station, the touring newspapermen inspected one of about 140 passenger coaches which the Jersey Central is rehabilitating — a new window

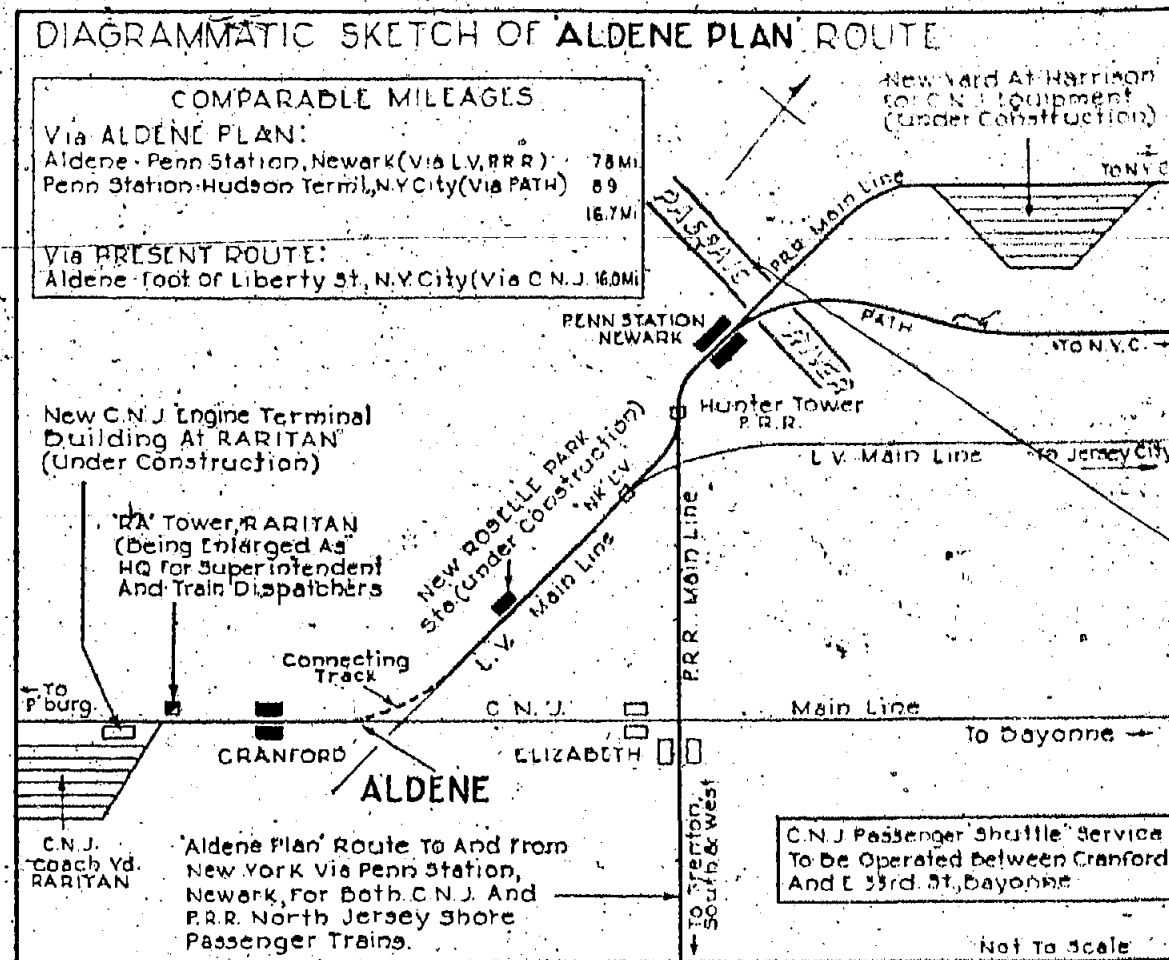

Recreation Ballet Classes Scheduled Again

Ballet classes, sponsored by the Cranford Recreation Department under the direction of Robert Shupin, will again be offered to children in Cranford, ages 6 to 10. Classes will be held every Monday from 4 to 6 p.m. at St. Michael's School.

The program, an introduction to ballet, will be based on the first two grades of the "Ballet in Education" — Syllabus of London's Royal Academy of Dancing. The curriculum will include barre and center practice, theory, national dances, mime and music. Mrs. Doris Garrity, ballet instructor in the RAD syllabus, will teach the classes, accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Ruskin.

Approximately 50 applicants will be accepted and divided equally between the primary grade at 4 p.m. and grade 1 at 5 p.m. Children 6 and 7 years old are eligible for the primary class, and those 8, 9 and 10 years old will be accepted for grade 1. Because of the popularity of these ballet classes, students who took lessons last year will not be eligible this year.

Applications may be obtained (Continued on Page 8)

new wainscoting, repairs, painting, etc. — for the new service. The car displayed was one of about 40 which are being converted for "push-pull" operation.

Under the Aldene Plan, a considerable portion of passenger service — particularly during morning and evening rush periods — between CNJ mainline stations (such as Raritan, Somerville, Bound Brook, Plainfield, Westfield, Cranford) and Penn Station, Newark, will be a "push-pull" type of operation utilizing conventional diesel locomotives and the specially equipped rehabilitated coaches.

In push-pull operation, there are two sets of locomotive controls — one in the locomotive and one at the end of the car at the other end of the train. The locomotive re-

Week's Weather
UIC Meteorological Station
HAROLD DUFFICE, Meteorologist

Rainfall yesterday through 8 p.m. totaled 4.98 inches, bringing the total for the week to 6.55 inches. This week's precipitation includes 1.43 inches last Thursday, 1.42 today, and 4.98 inches yesterday.

Temperatures this week ranged from a high of 78 degrees on Sunday to a low of 39 degrees on Friday. During the week, 35 degree days were recorded — the first of the heating season which began on September 1.

A year ago precipitation totaled only .08 inches as warm and mostly cloudy weather prevailed. Temperatures ranged from a maximum of 89 degrees to a minimum of 56 degrees. No degree days were recorded, so the total for the heating season remained at 13. Very thick fog occurred in the early morning hours of September 20 (Continued on Page 8)

Campaign Manager Named By Republican Candidates

Edward K. Gill and Irvin I. Kent, Republican candidates for Township Committee, announced this week the appointment of Robert W. McArthur of 725 Willow St. as campaign manager.

Mr. Gill noted that Mr. McArthur has been active in Republican politics and campaigns serving as a committeeman in his own district for the past four years, is a former trustee of the local Republican Club and is now assistant Republican municipal chairman.

Mr. Kent added that Mr. McArthur has worked on various phases of previous campaigns and is therefore well qualified to manage their joint campaigns.

In accepting the appointment, Mr. McArthur said: "I am particularly pleased to work for the election of Ed Gill and Irvin Kent because they represent an exceptional team for Cranford's Township Committee."

"Ed Gill brings the experience of previous service on the committee to the team. His familiarity with activities and programs already under way allows him to speak about many issues and explain his position on current matters."

"Wynn Kent brings a fresh viewpoint, a proven analytical and financial background in business which will help him to make a substantial contribution to our Township Committee."

"This blend of talent, experience and qualifications for management of our community makes this one of the best and most dynamic teams ever offered to the voters of Cranford for their acceptance on Election Day, November 8."

Juvenile Charged With Using Torch On Bicycle, Car

A 13-year-old Cranford boy has been released in the custody of his parents to await Juvenile Court action on charges that he set fire to a car and burned the tires on a bicycle with a torch. It was reported by Police Chief Lester W. Powell this week.

While on patrol in a radio-car on Spring Garden St. at 2:10 a.m. on Saturday, September 10, Patrolman Peter Vergalla observed three youths who left a bicycle in the middle of the road and fled. When he stopped to investigate, he found that the tires on the bicycle had been burned and then discovered a fire in the back of a car parked in a nearby driveway.

The patrolman extinguished the blaze with equipment from the radio car and also notified fire headquarters. Damage to the car was estimated at $50.

Subsequent investigation by Patrolman Vergalla and James Washburne and Detective Thomas R. Benton led to arrest of the 13-year-old who is alleged to have used the torch on the bicycle and car.

French Exchange Student Shows Slides at Jr. High

French students at Orange Avenue Junior High School recently learned about France from a native Frenchman. Yves Gresse, an exchange student from Drone, France, who stayed with Mr. and Mrs. John Gosinski of 503 Orange Ave. from August 17 to September 11, visited the school and showed slides which he had taken.

Most of them were of southern France and they included scenes from Paris and Aix-les-Bains, a university town where many American students can be found. Yves spent a whole day at the school and presented his program to six different classes.

The 22-year-old visitor was described by his hostess, Mrs. Gosinski, as "delightful" and "unassuming" and one who spoke "beautiful English." She said he "wore himself out" lecturing to the six classes but was glad to do it. As for Yves' opinion of the students, he called them "wonderful" and "well-behaved."

Yves, a graduate of the Maison des "Arts et Metiers" in Paris, where he studied mechanical engineering, is now an apprentice at the John Deere Manufacturing Co.

To Your Health

By RON SOBELSON

Four thousand years of medical history is speckled with charming stories of men coming to the right conclusion for the wrong reasons.

Although physicians as far back as Hippocrates had prescribed derivatives of willow for the relief of pain, nothing much was made of it until the nineteenth century. In the 1870's, a Scottish doctor, T. J. MacLagen, became obsessed with a theory that nature provided for ailments caused by a local climate with remedies indigenous to that climate, and tried salicylates found in swamp willows for the relief of rheumatism. Since the symptoms on which salicylates are effective for pain, fever, and inflammation, this triple attack on rheumatism spurred the medical world to develop efficient methods of producing the drug. Last year, Americans consumed thirty million pounds of acetylsalicylic acid, the grandchild of those early salicylates, and doctors prescribed it for a wider variety of ills than they did any other medicine.

So the next time you pick up a bottle of aspirin, and we hope it will be at Bell's Pharmacy, you might think of the odd circumstances under which it was developed, and of the men who by reading potential value in the results of tests they had scoffed at, gave us one more tool in the never ending defense of your health.

UJC Science Building Fund Swelled $6,000 by Singer Co.

The Singer Co. has pledged $6,000 to Union Junior College's $1 million science building campaign, it was announced today by Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, UJC president.

A check for $2,000 was presented to Dr. MacKay by Carl W. Broeker, Jr., of 208 Scherrer St., general manager of the Consumer Products Division of the Elizabeth company.

"I wish to express our feeling of indebtedness to the Singer Co. for this splendid evidence of support and confidence in our college," Dr. MacKay said. "We pledge ourselves to be worthy of your confidence and to assist as much as we can in extending the educational opportunities for the young men and women of this part of New Jersey."

Dr. MacKay commended Donald P. Kircher, president of the Singer Co., for his "great and influential" interest in the problems of higher education. Mr. Kircher serves as president of the New Jersey College Fund Association, which includes Union Junior College among its 12 members.

"In the 30-year history of Union Junior College, many Singer employees and their children have launched their college careers at Union Junior College," Dr. MacKay noted. "Traditionally we have had close ties with such important area industries as the Singer Company — a relationship we feel is beneficial to both groups."

Dr. MacKay said he is encouraged by the large number of area businesses which have come to the support of Union Junior College in its current campaign to raise $1 million for the new science building now under construction.

The science building will be completely electrically-heated and air conditioned. It will contain six classrooms, five science laboratories, two large lecture halls, science resource center, student research center, greenhouse, 14 faculty offices, and other facilities. It will enable Union Junior College to increase its full-time enrollment by about 300 students.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nye of 10 Richmond Ave. are at home after vacationing for several days in Carbonate and Clark's Summit, Pa. They also visited Binghamton, N. Y., where they were guests of Mrs. Nye's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Basyk. They were accompanied by their son, Kenneth.

Socials

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pipala of 6 Keith Jeffries Ave. have returned home after spending several days at Seaside Heights and Atlantic City. They were accompanied by their children, Debbie, Alice and James.

Mrs. John Ryerson of 215 Retford Ave. entertained recently at a coffee party for her new neighbor, Mrs. M. Durner of 211 Retford Ave. About 18 neighbors attended.

Mrs. Otto C. Weber of 121 Columbia Ave. entertained at bridge on Monday evening. Guests were Mrs. John Lamparter, Mrs. Robert Brooks, Mrs. A. H. Preuss, Mrs. F. S. Greenwald, Mrs. Dorothy Beach and Mrs. Frederick Ahn.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Kelly of 709 Springfield Ave. will attend the Army-Holy Cross football game at West Point this weekend. Also attending will be their son, Patrick, and Miss Mary Ellen Rooney of Minneapolis, Minn., who will be coming up from Georgetown University in Washington, D. C., for the game. Their son, Terry, and several friends also will attend from Holy Cross. It is expected that their son, Thomas, will see action in the game.

Fined $50 On 2 Charges

Chester Rozmierski of 30 Spruce St. was fined $25 for no registration in possession and $25 for no license in possession by Magistrate Charles J. Stevens in Municipal Court Monday evening. He failed to answer earlier summons.

Other area residents penalized were: Josephine Jolas, 415 Walnut Ave., $15 for failure to make repairs to her vehicle; Donald L. Nash, 16 Lincoln Ave., $14 for speeding; Thomas Boyle, 24 Mansion Ter., $4 for failure to keep right.

Also Amos A. Gordon, 21 Brown Ter., $30 for careless driving; Wayne W. Bender, 6 Beeler Ave., $10 for passing on the shoulder; and George A. Playle, 352 Retford Ave., $15 for parking in a restricted zone.

By the end of the 1950s, the Union County Health Association reports, the health services industry rose from fifth-ranking employment field in the nation to third place. By the end of this decade, it may well rank first, ahead of agriculture and construction.

SINGER GIFT — Carl W. Broeker, Jr., of Cranford, general manager of the Consumer Products Division of the Elizabeth Plant of the Singer Co., presents check for $2,000 toward company's pledge of $6,000 to Union Junior College's $1 million science building campaign. Mr. Broeker is presenting the check to Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, UJC president. In the background, is the science building now under construction. It is scheduled for completion in time for UJC's 1967 summer session.

McGrath Expresses Concern About Expense of Anti-Poverty Program

Kenneth A. McGrath of 3 Normandie Pl. told Township Committee last week that taxpayers should be concerned over the anti-poverty program. While the initial township appropriation for the Day Care Center is only $5,700, he said his amount undoubtedly will grow as other projects are added.

Mr. McGrath also questioned the location of the Civil Defense Operations Center under the Central Railroad on Centennial Ave., asserting that it is one of the most vulnerable locations in the township.

He also urged the governing body to join with other communities in obtaining an injunction against the New Jersey Highway Authority in event the Senate passed legislation permitting them to take over the section of the Garden State Parkway through Union and Middlesex Counties.

Public Safety Commissioner Edward Gill explained that township and Civil Defense officials have been planning for the emergency operations center for the past four years and the location under the railroad had been approved by both state and federal officials to which Mr. McGrath quipped "it sometimes helps to have a non-expert opinion."

Mrs. Rachel Brantley expressed appreciation to the committee for providing leadership in adopting the day care center program as recommended by the local steering committee.

James Harrington, chairman of the latter committee, also commended the governing body for their response to the recommendations of the anti-poverty committee. He asserted the local commitment is small compared with budgets of other governmental agencies and expressed the hope that the proposed program will help get to the root of a community problem and help to alleviate it.

Harold Snyder purchased a lot on Lincoln Ave. for $8,000 which he will use with an adjacent lot to form one building lot.

A Cranford High School graduate, Dr. John D. Baldeschwieler, is the 1967 winner of the American Chemistry Society's award in pure chemistry. Announcement was made last week at the 152nd annual meeting of the ACS in New York.

The award, which consists of $2,000 and a citation, is given annually to a scientist under 36 who has shown unusual merit for one on the threshold of his career. Alpha Chi Sigma Fraternity sponsors the award.

The 32-year-old Dr. Baldeschwieler, now a chemistry professor at Stanford University, has been hailed by a colleague as "a truly outstanding young man who can bring the most sophisticated techniques to bear effectively on important chemical problems."

The former local man received the award for pioneering research in nuclear magnetic double resonance (NMR), conformation of biomolecules in solution, and ion cyclotron resonance spectroscopy.

Dr. Baldeschwieler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Baldeschwieler of 17 Central Ave., who presently are on a trip to Greece. He was graduated in 1951 from Cranford High School, where he was president of the National Honor Society, the associate editor of the Golden C, active in sports, and other school clubs.

(Continued from Page 1) figures. The board has not yet decided whether to replace or rehabilitate the two schools. Mr. Litwak promised that details would be made public as soon as a specific program has been developed. A question was also asked by a member of the audience about a proposed master landscape plan for the two junior high schools. Dr. McDermith said he would present a concrete proposal at a later meeting.

One improvement each school is getting for sure is a sign. The board authorized $1,000 for the construction of name signs 2 feet high and 24 feet long, which will resemble the one at Union Junior College. S. Robert Christensen was the only board member to vote against the proposal, arguing that the money could be used for educational improvements.

First Drunkometer Test Refusal Here Under New Law

Cranford on Saturday became the first community in which a motorist suspected of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages refused to take a drunkometer test as required under the new state law which went into effect that day.

Robert J. Guiditta, 30, of 304 Center St., Garwood, was arrested at 3:05 a.m. Saturday and charged with drunk driving, failure to observe a traffic signal and leaving the scene of an accident.

Pol. Chief Lester W. Powell said that the Garwood man refused to submit to a drunkometer test and that the Division of Motor Vehicles would be so informed.

Under the new law, such refusal results in an automatic suspension of driving privileges and possible license revocation.

Chief Powell said Guiditta was involved in a collision with a car driven by Peter J. Conte, 22, of 282 Bloomingdale Ave. As a result of the accident, Bonnie Breaks, 19, of 37 Georgia St., was treated by Dr. Edmond Kassouf for cuts of the hand due to broken glass.

Don Guertin, director of Esso's analytical research division, where the local scientist works, called the new process "an extremely significant accomplishment."

"There are no other satisfactory techniques for this molecular weight range at the present time. While this has been worked out in theory before, to our knowledge Boyd is the first person to apply the technique," Mr. Guertin said.

That's the most an Accutron timepiece will gain or lose in one month's time. And Martin Jewelers will be happy to put it in writing. Accutron looks like a watch. But it isn't. It doesn't have a mainspring, a hairspring or a balance wheel. In all our years as expert jewelers, we can safely say, Accutron is the most revolutionary timepiece ever presented at Martin Jewelers. The heart of an Accutron is a tiny electronic tuning fork which splits seconds so precisely that it will not gain or lose more than 2 seconds per day. In fact Martin Jewelers guarantees accuracy within 60 seconds a month. Just one darn minute.

Rosary Communion Breakfast To Mark 25th Anniversary

The 25th annual communion breakfast sponsored by the Rosary Society of Saint Michael's Church will be held on Sunday morning, October 2, at the Lynn Restaurant, Elizabeth, immediately following the celebration of the 8 o'clock mass in the church.

In honor of this silver anniversary, an invitation has been extended to all members' daughters who have reached high school age. This will be the first mother-daughter communion breakfast to be held by the society and will acquaint the young ladies of the parish with the functions of the society, both spiritual and social.

Plans for this affair were completed at a meeting last week in the school auditorium. Mrs. Frank Dooley, chairman, announced that tickets may be had by contacting Mrs. Alfred Frigola, Mrs. Eugene Forst or Mrs. Emil D'Andrea. Tickets also will be available after all of the masses this Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Krause, chairman of a fashion show to be held on November 7 at the school, outlined her committee's plans. Featured will be sportswear, evening wear and furs. Tickets will be available at the October meeting. Mrs. Patrick Callaghan, Jr., is co-chairman.

Mrs. Frank Pratt, representative to the Mount Carmel Guild, expressed appreciation to Mrs. Leo Sullivan, Mrs. Richard Stevens, Miss Eleanor McElwee, Mrs. V. J. Zisch and Mrs. Frank Turley for knitting sweaters and mittens for needy children of the Archdiocese of Newark. She gave special recognition to two teenagers, Patricia Turley and Eileen Watkins, who knitted and sewed for these children during the summer.

Reminding the members that gloves, mittens, hats, sweaters and layette items are urgently needed and that the guild provides the materials, Mrs. Pratt asked that anyone interested in participating in this work contact her immediately. She also announced that dolls to dress and stockings to fill are now available in preparation for the Christmas season. Stockings may be filled for children and adults.

Mrs. Pratt also announced that retarded children may be registered for classes in religious instruction this Saturday at Saint Joseph's School, Roselle, at 10 a.m. The children will be prepared for the receiving of the sacraments of Holy Eucharist and Confirmation.

The hospitality committee presented a skit during which gifts were awarded to several persons in the audience by the hostesses. Mrs. John Pfanne, chairman, plans special surprises at each meeting during the year. She was assisted by Mrs. Theodore Chamberlain, Mrs. Robert Kiley, Mrs. Eugene Walsh, Mrs. Paul Roetker, Mrs. Thomas Poulson, Mrs. John Morrison, Mrs. Eugene Roche and Mrs. C. Eugene Dohn.

Rev. Joseph V. Derbyshire, assistant pastor, addressed the group. He spoke on the power and need of prayer in our daily lives, asking: "If you forget God—who is there to turn to?"

the controls in the car which is now the head end of the train. Control lines running the length of the train make this possible.

Push-pull operation eliminates the need, at destination, for switching the locomotive from one end of the train to the other, a time-consuming procedure. In service under the Aldene Plan, it will enable a single set of equipment to make two round trips during commuter rush hours between mainline points and Newark.

The new route under the Aldene Plan will provide for the first time direct rail service to downtown Newark from the densely-populated corridor centered on Somerville, Plainfield, Westfield and Cranford. Jersey Central passengers may change at Newark to PATH's improved and modernized rapid transit service to proceed to Hudson Terminal in downtown Manhattan or to the main line service of the Pennsylvania Railroad direct to Pennsylvania Station at 33rd St. The CNJ shore trains operating over the New York and Long Branch Railroad also will be routed to Newark under the Aldene Plan.

To accommodate these additional passengers, PATH is leasing and improving the present PATH-Pennsylvania Railroad Joint Service facilities between Newark and Jersey City. The Joint Service now carries about 20,000 passengers each weekday to and from Newark. Under the Aldene Plan, about 10,000 daily Jersey Central passengers would be added to the current passenger total at Newark.

When the Aldene Plan is put in effect, Jersey Central also will run a shuttle service along the present main line tracks from Cranford to Elizabeth and Bayonne, with trains running every half-hour during rush hours and once an hour the rest of the day. This project also has included the construction of a new passenger station and elevated platform on the Lohigh Valley in Roselle Park and elevation of a portion of that railroad's main line to permit the elimination of three grade crossings in Roselle Park and Hill-side.

The special train left Pennsylvania Station in Newark at 10 a.m. on Friday and took the newsmen first to PRR's piggyback facilities at Kearny, the world's largest. Here, members of the Associated Railroads of New Jersey displayed the most modern freight equipment in operation to serve New Jersey industry.

Next stop was the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad's marine operations at Hoboken, where freight of all types is stored and loaded on barges to be towed to ships in New York, Newark and Elizabethport harbors.

After luncheon at the Holiday Inn in Newark, the train made its trip over the Aldene Route, then returned up the connecting track to PRR's main line for a trip over that railroad's 150-mile-an-hour high-speed experimental section of track between New Brunswick and Trenton.

Enroute, they traveled at speeds up to 84 miles an hour over the last 21 miles where the new welded rails have been laid. The conventional rails will be replaced between New York and Washington with welded rails which come in sections up to 1,400 feet long and makes for smoother, quieter rides. At Trenton the group inspected four experimental cars built for the Department of Commerce in developing high-speed rail service on the 226-mile Pennsylvania line between Washington and New York.

The experimental cars have been operated at speeds up to 132 miles an hour on the 21-mile stretch of main line track between New Brunswick and Trenton.

The first phase of faster passenger service will be inaugurated in October, 1967, at speeds up to 110 miles an hour. Trains will leave Washington and New York hourly and Philadelphia and New York on the half hour throughout the day and evening. The number of daily trains, speed and conventional, will be increased from 66 to 96.

Running time between New York and Washington, allowing for four intermediate stops, will be reduced to less than three hours, about 50 minutes less than the present schedules. Greater reductions are contemplated as the demonstration project continues and the speed of these trains is increased. The Pennsylvania Railroad hopes that they can attain operating speeds of 150 miles an hour by 1970.

In addition to faster travel, additional savings in time will be made by limiting intermediate stops between New York and Washington and by quicker loading and unloading of passengers through sliding doors at the same level as station platforms. This will permit passengers to step directly into the new cars and will expedite the handling of baggage. New high level platforms will be built at Wilmington, Baltimore and Washington. The other stations the new trains will serve — New York, Newark, Trenton and Philadelphia — already have these conveniences.

Fifty new self-propelled electric coaches will be built for this service. They will be permanently coupled into two-car units, to operate in trains from 2 to 20 cars, depending upon requirements for volume during peak-hour use. Specifications call for stainless steel, air conditioned cars 85 feet long, specially insulated for noise reduction and engineered for a smooth, comfortable ride. Of the 50 units, 20 will be 80-passenger coaches, 10 will be 34-passenger parlor cars and 20 will be 64-passenger snack-bar cars, with electric food service bars.

Nussbaum Concertmaster For Suburban Symphony

The appointment of Irving Nussbaum of 30 Henley Ave. as concertmaster of the Suburban Symphony Orchestra of New Jersey for the 1966-67 season was announced today by Mrs. Gus Cohen, president.

"We are overjoyed that Mr. Nussbaum, who is recognized as one of New Jersey's outstanding musicians, has agreed to join our orchestra as concertmaster for the coming season," Mrs. Cohen said. "Mr. Nussbaum will bring great strength and musicianship to our orchestra."

Mr. Nussbaum also will be concertmaster this season for the sixth consecutive year of the Colonial Little Symphony of New Jersey under the direction of Nicholas Hansanyi, as well as concertmaster of the Opera Theatre of New Jersey.

A graduate of the Juilliard School of Music with a bachelor of science degree, Mr. Nussbaum holds a master of arts degree from Columbia University.

In June, 1949, he gave his debut recital at Carnegie Recital Hall in New York, after which he accepted a position in the first violin section of the famed Cleveland Orchestra. During the following two years with the Cleveland Orchestra, he played under such eminent conductors as George Szell, Bruno Walter and Dmitri Mitropoulos, and performed numerous solo recitals in surrounding communities.

Mr. Nussbaum, however, did not limit his education to music. He also is a graduate "magna cum laude" from New York University with a bachelor of science degree in accounting. In his junior year, he was elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, national honorary society in the field of commercial studies. In June, 1958, he was appointed a certified public accountant by the State of New Jersey.

Mr. Nussbaum is associated with Maidenform, Inc., as chief accountant for domestic and foreign operations.

Aldene Plan Part of Railroads' Program For Improved Passenger, Freight Service

The Aldene Plan, about which there has been much talk and at times apparently not too much action since it was first proposed by the State in 1960, came into more definite focus as an accomplished project soon to go into effect when the first passenger train was run over the proposed new route for Jersey Central Railroad commuters on Friday.

Under the Aldene Plan, Jersey Central passengers will travel to and from New York by way of Pennsylvania Station in Newark, using tracks of the Lehigh Valley Railroad (reached by way of a new spur rising from the Jersey Central main line at Aldene), Pennsylvania Railroad and Port Authority Transport Hudson (formerly the Hudson Tubes), instead of via CNJ's present Jersey City-Manhattan ferry route.

The passengers in Friday's history-making train were members of the New Jersey Press Association on an inspection tour of the facilities of four area railroads arranged for them by the Associated Railroads of New Jersey. Their trip from Newark to Cranford and back again (made in a Pennsylvania Railroad Budd Car train) demonstrated that trackage and switching links for the Aldene Plan are all in place and ready for use, and they were assured that the plan finally is scheduled to be put into effect in January of 1967.

At the Cranford station the touring group inspected one of some 140 passenger coaches which the Jersey Central is completely renovating for use on the Aldene Plan route, and in Newark they viewed a prototype of an additional 44 new air conditioned cars being purchased by PATH to handle the Jersey Central commuters.

It was explained that the new service cannot be put into use right now for several reasons, including the facts that signal installations are still to be made, the required new Path cars have not yet been delivered, a storage yard for the new cars being constructed in Harrison is not complete and engine service facilities being installed on the CNJ main line at Raritan are not ready yet.

When the Aldene Plan does go into effect, Jersey Central commuters will have a choice of three destinations in New York instead of the present one (Liberty St.), for when they reach Pennsylvania Station in Newark they will be able to take a PATH train to downtown Hudson Terminal, use the PATH midtown service with stops at 23rd and 33rd Sts. or ride a Pennsylvania Railroad main line train to the new uptown terminal at 33rd St.

The new route also will give Jersey Central passengers from Cranford and west of Cranford a direct service into Newark, and a shuttle service will be maintained with trains every half-hour during rush hours and once an hour the rest of the day to Elizabeth and Bayonne.

Their trip to Cranford gave the touring newspapermen a first-hand view of what the Jersey Central is doing to provide the public with a new and improved transportation service while at the same time reducing its passenger losses and eliminating the high-cost ferry operation between Jersey City and Liberty St. in downtown Manhattan.

During the all-day tour they also inspected the Pennsylvania Railroad piggy-back facilities at Kearny (the world's largest), where they saw a display of the most modern freight equipment in operation for service to New Jersey industry, and the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad's marine operations at Hoboken, and were taken on a ride over the PRR's 150-mile-an-hour experimental section of track between New Brunswick and Trenton.

Richard C. Klein, president of the New Jersey Press Association, in announcing plans for Friday's inspection tour, emphasized the intense interest of the association in railroad problems in New Jersey. He pointed out that in 1958 the NJPA sponsored a seminar on commuter rail operations which was quickly followed by enactment of state contract payments to passenger-carrying railroads and, in 1960, by announcement of the Aldene Plan.

The association's in-depth study of actual rail operations in the critical areas of the state on Friday gave the members a heartening picture of the practical cooperative steps being taken by the railroads to insure our state of improved service in both passenger and freight categories.

Heads of Both Parties Call for Yes Vote On Convention Plan for New Legislature

The chairman of New Jersey's two major political parties today endorsed the Constitutional Convention's plan for a new Legislature and called for "solid public endorsement of New Jersey's new legislative structure so our state can move forward on the basis of equal representation in Trenton for each citizen."

Robert J. Burkhardt, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and Webster B. Todd, chairman of the Republican State Committee, joined in the bi-partisan statement "in order to emphasize that political rivalry should play no part in the important public decision that is to be made on Question No. 1 on the November 8 ballot."

They noted that both parties shared equal representation at the Constitutional Convention which deliberated 13 weeks last spring in devising the new plan which won overwhelming approval of the 128 delegates.

The plan, which is intended to comply with the United States and New Jersey Supreme Courts' ruling that members of the Legislature must represent substantially the same numbers of voters, provides for a 40-member Senate from 15 constituencies. The constituencies are composed of individual counties or groups of smaller counties. Senators are to be elected at-large from within these areas.

The Assembly will be composed of 80 members. The multi-member Senate areas will be divided into smaller Assembly constituencies, each of which is to elect two members.

Chairmen Todd and Burkhardt pointed out that the plan combines the basic viewpoints of the Republican and Democratic parties. The Republicans had sought single-member constituencies for the election of both senators and assemblymen and the Democrats wanted members of both houses to be elected at large from within counties or groups of counties.

"Under our democratic system of government, most real accomplishments are the result of accommodation of differences," said the chairmen. "This plan represents such a result. While neither party triumphed, the result has positive meaning for all the people of New Jersey."

"Under the plan, each House of the Legislature will represent distinct constituencies. This is aimed at resulting in the checks and balances that mean stability in government. Hopefully, neither party will start out with a built-in advantage in elections. Thus, the people will have the last word."

"The plan also provides a self-executing procedure to revise Senate and Assembly constituencies after each Federal Census in order to assure continued equitable representation."

"Therefore, we are issuing this joint call for a 'Yes' vote on Question No. 1 so that New Jersey can move with assurance to a productive future."

Nature Notes

By FARRIS B. SWACKHAMER

"Ivory-billed woodpecker. A very large woodpecker, larger than a crow, male with a flaming red crest, female with a black crest. Known by its superior size, ivory-white bill, and large white wing patches visible when the bird is at rest."

"Roseate Spoonbill. A pink wading bird with a flat spatulate bill. When feeding, the bill is swung rapidly from side to side."

"California condor. Much larger than turkey vulture; adults with extensive white under wing linings toward fore edge of wings. Head yellow or orange."

These are three quotations from the Peterson Field Guides. Certainly the birds don't belong to the same family, live in the same habitat or look anything the same in the air. What then, is the connection among the three? All three are good candidates to follow the passenger pigeon and great auk into oblivion. One probably already has. All three, results of millions of years of evolution, may disappear in our lifetime.

In the case of all three, the National Audubon Society was alerted and took similar action. The first step in saving any threatened species is to learn all there is to know about the individual. So an outstanding ornithologist was assigned to each study and in due course a report was issued. These reports make interesting reading to the amateur or professional conservationist.

In 1942, a report on the ivory-billed woodpecker by James T. Tanner was published by the Society. In the same year one appeared authored by Robert Porter Allen on the roseate spoonbill, and in 1953, Carl B. Koford's "The California Condor" was made available.

It was in the 1930's when it appeared that the largest woodpecker in North America was in danger of extinction. Tanner spent three years in the swampy forests of the southeastern United States gathering every scrap of information available on the big bird. As we look back, we can say that this study came too late in all probability. There hasn't been a professional sighting of the ivory-bill in some years but conservationists cling to the slim hope that some still live.

Allen actually lived among the spoonbills for months at a time during the preparation of his study. Fortunately efforts to save the spoonbill were in time, and you can see them if you have the opportunity of visiting the Gulf Coast on vacation.

Koford was trained both as a biologist and as a forester, was familiar with the country and the people near the condor's rocky crags and possessed writing skills to match his technical background. Three years were spent in the investigation that went into the report. During the time in the field, over 3,500 pages of notes were taken and 350 still photographs of condors and their habitat were made.

The original supply of these reports has long been exhausted and they were only available from rare book dealers at inflated prices. Now they have been reprinted in paperback form by Dover Publications, Inc., 180 Varick St., New York, N. Y. 10014. If there is a bird watcher on your Christmas list, these books would make ideal gifts at $2 apiece.

Your Garden This Week

By YOUR HUTGERS GARDEN REPORTER

How's Your View?

How's the view from where you like to sit in your back yard? Or front yard?

Full of amazing stuff that you'd rather not look at and the neighbors say you go around with your head in the clouds because you're always looking straight up?

Maybe you need some kind of screen. Of course a tightly woven fence may provide an instant barrier, but a screen of plants may bring more lasting happiness. Not to mention neighborly relations.

Dod Lacey, extension home horticulturist, discusses living screens in the current issue of the Garden State Beauty Digest.

For Success With Screen

He offers some practical suggestions, such as these: Choose trees and shrubs that are easy to maintain. Plants that need frequent spraying, pruning or watering may disappoint you.

Evergreens are ideal because they do their work of screening all year. However, you can expect quicker growth from some of the deciduous trees and shrubs when they are young.

Or why not use a combination? If you have room, plant flowering shrubs in front of the evergreens.

If a fence is your choice, add some beauty and interest by planting vines.

Before you buy plants, give your nurseryman all the details you have about your situation, such as soil type, drainage and exposure to winds.

The Beauty Digest is published at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science. If you'd like to read Mr. Lacey's article and other information in it, just ask your county Extension Service office for a copy. Or write Editor, Beauty Digest, at the college in New Brunswick.

Is Your Child A Sociable Being?

By MADEL G. STOLTE
County Home Economist

"No, you can't have it." "I'm going home." "I won't ever come back again."

Hearing these quotes day after day, have you wondered whether your child would ever become a friendly, sociable being? Have you ever thought that you may tend to notice the unfriendly acts more than the friendly ones?

Studies of children's behavior have found that these unfriendly sounding words are the child's first clumsy attempts to be friendly. Children must learn to be friendly — they are not born sociable. They use whatever skills they possess at the time.

Some child study leaders who observed children's behavior have classified the different approaches a child uses as: Affectionate — patting and holding hands; Friendly — smiling, helping or offering a gift; Neutral — looking at or watching; Unfriendly — teasing, snatching, interfering with others, play; Hostile — hitting, biting, kicking.

Friendly approaches were used almost half of the time, the study group observed. Unfriendly and neutral approaches are used on occasion. The hostile and affectionate approaches were found to be used least often.

In order to practice and improve his social skills, remember, your child needs opportunities to be with other children his own age. The nursery school and/or kindergarten have been found to be the best test grounds. They furnish a natural practice ground, if not a battle ground, for today's 3- and four-year-olds, according to child study specialists.

In the next 5-10 years, medical leaders estimate the nation will need 70,000 more doctors, 130,000 more professional nurses, 125,000 more practical nurses, 138,000 more medical technologists, 30,000 more dietitians and 19,000 more medical social workers — to cite just a few of the 700-odd career possibilities in the health field. Ask the Union County Health Association for information about job and training opportunities for health careers.

Turning the Hagen Mark

5 Years Ago

The atmosphere was tense as Cranford residents gathered around a launching pad on the Post Office plaza to watch the blast-off of Rocket Ship Big Dig I on a trip to the moon. Mayor C. Van Chamberlin and Commissioner Nicholas St. John-La Corte were on hand to offer best wishes to rocket designer Stuart W. McFadden of 29-Algonquin Dr., who hoped to send his masterpiece as far as the planet Jupiter. The 15-foot long aluminum ship had one passenger — a three-year old ring-tail monkey named Tiny.

Unlike Cape Canaveral rockets, the purpose of Big Dig I was to launch the 1961 Cranford United-Fund Drive, which had the slogan Big Dig. The rocket would be positioned on a flag pole according to the amount of contributions received. Lowest on the pole was the moon plateau which represented 25 percent of the $86,059 goal, and the highest plateau was Jupiter, which represented 100 percent. Campaign chairman was Boris Bergen.

Dr. Clark W. McDermith, superintendent of schools, was to leave on a month's educational trip to the Soviet Union, where he would visit the cities of Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev. He and 31 other school administrators also planned to stop at Copenhagen, Denmark; Helsinki, Finland; Warsaw, Poland, and Berlin, Germany.

Voter registration in Cranford was to pass the 12,000 mark, Township Clerk J. Walter Coffee predicted.

A survey of existing recreation facilities for youth in Cranford was to be made by newly appointed members of a citizens committee, Roderick W. Smith, chairman, reported. Members were J. Walter Coffee, township clerk; W. G. Dexter, Mrs. M. Thomas DiCarlo, Mrs. Harry V. Osborne, Jr., and Shaeley W. Smith. The committee was formed after a petition signed by 341 young people and adults, asking for a full-time recreation director to help supervise social and athletic activities and to aid teenagers in securing summer employment, was presented to Township Committee.

An eight-room addition to St. Michael's School was planned for construction "within a year or so," the Rev. William E. Donnelly, pastor of St. Michael's Church, said. Enrollment at the school

The former Grant School building at Holly St. and Springfield Ave., leased from the school system for the preceding nine years by Union Junior College, was to be sold at auction by the Board of Education. The board of trustees of the college was planning to meet to consider the possibility of purchasing the Piny School property in Elizabeth.

Testimony was expected to be concluded shortly in the suit by 13 Cranford property owners to have Superior Court Judge Frank L. Cleary set aside a township zoning ordinance changing a 34-acre tract, south of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, from Residence A to industrial zone.

Alternate routes to and from Rt. 4 Parkway to relieve Springfield and Centennial Ave. from carrying the full brunt of increased traffic were suggested by Harry R. Heins of 10 Hampton Rd. in a letter to Township Committee. He suggested that northbound traffic from the parkway be rerouted over North Ave., E. Fairview and Michigan avenues, Kenilworth, to Route 29 and that southbound traffic from Route 29 to the parkway be routed by way of Springfield Ave., Broad St. and Central Ave., Westfield, to Route 4.

A seven-man committee to study housing conditions here for returning World War II veterans, was appointed by Mayor George E. Osterheldt. The group was to compile an up-to-date listing of veterans in need of housing. Members were N. F. Foster, chairman of the Board of Adjustment; H. K. Haskins, chairman of the Planning Board; Charles M. Ray, Rotary Club; Clarence Fritz, Lions Club; VFW Commander John White; Legion Commander Joseph Sharkey, and G. Nelson-King, American War Dads.

With the slogan, "Give Once for All Five," more than 325 volunteers were to begin a canvass to raise $14,000 in Cranford's fifth United Fund Campaign, to benefit Boy and Girl Scouts, Visiting Nurse Association, Welfare Association and Boys' Camp, Louis H. Zepfner, executive chairman, announced.

In one of the township's lightest primary elections, votes were cast by only 1,241 persons, less than 20 percent of the total registry. Albert B. Caldwell, unopposed for the Republican nomination for reelection as tax collector, led the ticket with 672 votes, followed by Fire Commissioner Dudley J. Croft with 929 and Finance Commissioner Frederick G. Sykes with 918. Judge Carroll K. Sellers, unopposed for justice of the peace, compiled 808 votes. In the Democratic primary for Township Committee, Frank A. Weidnicht polled 106 votes to 107 for his running mate, James C. Maloney. Edward J. Penntfeather, unopposed for the Democratic nomination for tax collector, received 107 votes.

Township Attorney Carl H. Warkinski and Township Engineer T. J. McLaughlin were to represent the township at a hearing planned by the Board of Public Commissioners concerning elimination of Walnut and Lehigh Valley railroad crossing. The Civic and Business Association, which had taken a leading part in the campaign for elimination of the crossing, was to be represented by its president, Walter E. Cooper.

Aptitude Testing Deadlines Told At High School

Cranford High School students have until tomorrow to register for the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, Charles Litten, guidance department chairman, announced. Students may register in the guidance office for the test, which will be administered at Cranford High School on October 22. Mr. Litten said juniors who are considering college or any form of post-secondary training should take the PSAT for guidance purposes. The fee is $2.

"Seniors who are members of the National Honor Society and interested in applying for a National Honor Society scholarship must take the PSAT and indicate on the answer sheet that the test is being taken to qualify for the scholarship," Mr. Litten said. "No other application is necessary or accepted."

Mr. Litten reported that Saturday is the deadline to register for the American College Testing Program which many southern and mid-western colleges require. This test will be given on October 15. Mr. Litten advised students to check catalogs of colleges in which they are interested to determine if the ACT is required.

Mrs. Marica Lallis, director of curriculum and instruction, said the purpose of the visits will be to assist teachers in the implementation of the new program and to answer questions in connection with individualized reading techniques in such areas as the independent work period, the teacher-pupil conference, room organization, and records.

Dr. Veatch conducted a workshop last spring for second grade teachers.

On September 29, Dr. Veatch will visit Roosevelt, Brookingsdale

Avenue and Brookside Place Schools. Her itinerary on October 6 will be Sherman, Livingston Avenue and Lincoln Schools, while her schedule for October 13 includes Walnut Avenue and Cleveland Schools.

UJC Freshmen Told They Will Be First to Use New Science Building

Members of the Class of '68 will be the first to use the $1-million Science Building and the William Miller Sperry Observatory now under construction on the Union Junior College campus, Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president, told 350 freshmen at an orientation program last week.

Dr. MacKay told the freshmen the Science Building, which will be the first fully air-conditioned, electrically-heated college structure in the state, will be completed in time for use during the next summer session. He said the observatory is scheduled for completion early in 1967.

"You are now in college and you are expected to act like men and women, and not boys and girls," Dr. MacKay told the freshmen. "This is a collegiate institution in every respect of the meaning of that word."

Dr. MacKay told the freshmen they are privileged to be in college, because they were selected from among more than 2,000 applicants.

"You are a personification of the college itself. You are Union Junior College to the community, other colleges and your home, and we ask you to act and dress accordingly," Dr. MacKay said.

Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, dean, spoke on the importance of motivation for success in college.

"You must do the job yourself. No one will do it for you," Dr. Iversen said. "We are here to help you, but only you can do the job."

Prof. Hermann J. Blefeld, chairman of the academic evaluation committee, told the freshmen what is expected of them academically.

Arne Hook of Rahway, president of the Student Council, presided at the orientation sessions in the Theatre of the Campus Center.

Yom Kippur Celebrations Begin Friday

The Cranford Jewish community will begin its observance of Yom Kippur, the holiest day in the Jewish year, with services beginning at Temple Beth-El at 6:35 tomorrow evening.

Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, is begun with the cantor's singing of the most famous of Jewish prayers, the Kol Nidre. The prayer asks for release from vows and promises of the past and future made under duress and sets the theme for the Day of Atonement services to be held on Saturday, starting at 9:30 a.m. and ending at sundown.

The Yom Kippur service is one of confession and a request for forgiveness of all mankind for sins of the past. A strong unity with the past is noted in the memorial (Yizkor) service as prayers are offered for the peace of the departed. Yizkor services will be held at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday.

Jews spend the whole day of Yom Kippur at the synagogue, fasting, praying and liberally responding to charitable appeals. The long service is ended with the traditional single, steady blast of the shofar (ram's horn).

The worshippers then return home. The fast is broken. There is eating, drinking and rejoicing, thereby indicating that the Jews are confident they have obtained mercy.

Methodist Women Busy Preparing For Bazaar

Too early to think about Christmas? Not for members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Cranford Methodist Church. Work has been going on all summer in preparation for the Christmas Bazaar to be held on Friday, December 2, in Randolph Hall.

The fund-raising project will offer a variety of articles for sale which are suitable for Christmas gifts. These include new and used jewelry, candles, aprons, doll clothes, flower arrangements, needlework and Christmas decorations.

During the summer members of Circle 6 have been busy making items for their booth. Mrs. Donald Thomas and Mrs. Peter Jansen have had a number of meetings at which time bridge tables were made. Other members of this circle have been working on Christmas paper weights with Mrs. William Knox and pine cone wreaths with Mrs. G. Leslie Griffiths. To delight the children, Mrs. George McDaniel and her committee have been decorating Santa Claus lollipops.

Candle making is being done by the members of Circle 7, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Weber. Members have been collecting materials to be used and plan to have a workshop meeting at Randolph Hall on Wednesday in order to start the actual making of the candles.

Mrs. Robert Isinger, bazaar chairman, announced that there will be a workshop on Wednesday at Randolph Hall from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. Members of Circle 3 plan to start making decorative household and personal items, including bathroom and kitchen accessories, laundry bags, tote bags, place mats and various knitted and embroidered articles.

"Reality" is the subject of this week's lesson-sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

The ways in which spiritual reality is revealed will be studied in several Bible passages, including these verses from Exodus and Galatians: "Behold, I send an Angel before thee, to keep thee in the way, and to bring thee into the place which I have prepared . . . We through the Spirit wait for the hope of righteousness by faith."

A corresponding passage from the denominational text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, gives this definition of angels: "God's thoughts passing to man; spiritual intuitions, pure and perfect; the inspiration of goodness, purity, and immortality, counteracting all evil, sensuality, and mortality."

CRANFORD METHODIST
Rev. John R. Drexelmeier, Pastor.
Rev. Richard L. Wilson, Associate Pastor.

Five hundred copies of the newly published Methodist Hymnal will be dedicated Sunday morning during services at 9:15 and 11 a.m. at Cranford Methodist Church. Lewis J. Laird, chairman of the commission on worship, reports that all but approximately 50 copies of the 784-page book, which includes 530 hymn texts and 402 hymn tune harmonizations, have been donated by members and friends of the congregation, most of them in memory of relatives and acquaintances.

Authorized by the General Conference of the Methodist Church in 1964 as the denomination's official hymnal, it replaces a hymnal that has been in use since 1935. Nearly three-million copies will be printed to be distributed among Methodist churches.

Among the hymns which have been included are many of those written by Charles Wesley, a large selection of the always popular "gospel" hymns, plus ancient hymns from the ecumenical church, early American folk hymns and spirituals, and some hymns from China and Nigeria. In addition to the hymns, the volume contains a thoroughly revised section of aids to worship, a true Psalter replacing the former responsive readings, and the revised services of baptism, confirmation and holy communion.

The Sunday services will be devoted to the introduction of the hymnal and will be built around the singing by the congregation and choirs of almost a dozen hymn selections depicting the several seasons of the Christian year. Mr. Laird, the Rev. John R. Drexelmeier, pastor, and James R. Lenney, organist and director of music, will join in planning the services.

On Sunday evening, the Young Adult Fellowship will meet at 8:30 for bowling. The Senior Youth Fellowship will meet at the parsonage at 9 Dorchester Ave. as the guests of Bonnie Drexelmeier. Tax Planning Saves Money, Speaker Tells Rotary Club

KENILWORTH — Tax Planning is very important when one makes out a will, Robert J. Pinto, trust officer of the National State Bank, told members of the Kenilworth Rotary Club at their meeting last Wednesday.

Speaking on the topic "The Importance of Financial Planning of One's Estate Under a Will," Mr. Pinto pointed out that if a husband leaves a $200,000 estate outright to his wife and she in turn leaves it to their children, the total federal estate tax cost can exceed $36,000. With skillful planning, however, the tax can be reduced to less than $10,000.

"It should be noted that the area of financial planning and the federal estate tax is a very complex one, and the advice and counsel of an attorney is an all important measure in embarking upon any problem of distribution," said Mr. Pinto. "For the uninitiated individual to attempt a program of estate planning without the counsel of his attorney or by attempting to use some form booklet would be extremely dangerous."

The speaker, who holds degrees from Loyette College, Seton Hall University Law School and the Kennedy School of Financial Planning, previously served as administrative assistant to the senior vice-president of the Fiduciary Trust Co. in New York City. He has spoken before various service clubs and has served as a panel member on several estate planning seminars.

ALBERT SIMMENROTH, JR.

Jacqueline Kennedy Among Special Guests Invited to Premier of Memorial Series

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy is among the special guests who have been invited to attend the premier performance of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Series to be presented here, it was announced this week by the producer, Joel Geller.

The opening concert on October 15 will feature Meredith Willson and his wife, Rini, in a program titled "The Music Man and His Missus." Mr. Willson is a long-time favorite of stage, radio and television audiences, and his musical comedy, "Music Man," won accolades from New York theatre critics and enjoyed a long run on Broadway.

Mrs. Willson, a lyric soprano, will assist her husband in the musical portions of the program, and Mr. Willson also will demonstrate his talents as a story teller and expert on "small town life as he remembers it in Mason City, Iowa, his home town.

Others appearing "in concert" during the series will include Richard C. Hottelet, CBC news analyst, who recently returned from Vietnam and who will present a report on what he saw and experienced there. Mr. Hottelet will appear on December 3.

Featured in a February 11 performance will be Vincent Price, a stage, screen and television actor who also has gained world-wide recognition as an art connoisseur and collector.

Once—and only once—each year, Elizabethtown slashes deep into normal Gas Dryer prices. The reasons: to move out lots of bright new Gas Dryers... and to get you Waltzing Through Washday quickly, automatically! Gas really does make the big difference and costs much less, too. Matter of fact, in an independent survey conducted recently in this area, OPINION RESEARCH CORP. found gas dryers preferred 2 to 1 over electric dryers. No wonder. A whole new generation of "permanent press" garments iron themselves in the gentle heat of a gas dryer. And results are even cleaner, brighter, more convenient than outdoor drying.
