Chamber of Commerce Told Image of Cranford Glowing Ever Brighter

"The image of Cranford is glowing brighter and brighter," Mayor Edward Gill told more than 60 members and guests at the annual dinner meeting of the Cranford Chamber of Commerce Monday night in the Coach and Four Restaurant.

The mayor declared "there is a new spirit among merchants and townspeople" and reported that nearly every store in the business center that was empty a year ago now has a tenant or will have as soon as the current lease expires or renovations are completed.

The mayor indicated the paving of the triangular parking lot in back of North Ave. stores did much to spark the change in the downtown business spirit. Almost immediately, he said, stores in the area began rebuilding or renovating.

The mayor's talk was among the highlights of the annual meeting, at which Isidor M. Gross, president of Multi-Amp Corp., was reelected president of the chamber for a second term.

Other officers for the coming year are: Vice-presidents, Herbert Mason of Bell's Pharmacy, reelected, and Milton Barnett of Barnett's Wines and Liquors; secretary, B. S. Willoughby of B. S. Willoughby Real Estate Co.; treasurer, Edwin M. Lewis of Union County Trust Co., also reelected.

Directors include Boris Bergen of Bergen Camera, William Corey of New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., Dr. W. W. Jordan, M. S. Pringle of Technical Wire Products, Channing Rudd of Suburban Trust Co., Charles M. Ray of the Citizen and Chronicle, and J. W. Skerratt and R. W. Smith, retired.

The Township Committee presently is working on a revision of the zoning ordinance which will bring the code up to date and put parking in both the business and industrial areas in proper perspective, Mayor Gill stated. He asserted this should be "shot in the arm" for both business and industry in the community.

The speaker declared Cranford has a police department in which residents can have absolute trust and a fire department that is at peak efficiency. He said the township recently obtained a Civil Defense operational center at a very low cost and most of this was paid by the federal government.

The mayor referred to the municipal swimming pool as "one of the finest things that has happened in Cranford" and commended a chamber member, Robert M. Crane, for his leadership in this project. Mr. Gill said the township plans to keep talking to youth and will "keep the lines of communication open with them."

He reported permits have been issued for 41 new dwellings this year with cost estimated at $1 1/2 million. The township's bookkeeping system has been automated, the township's road system is in excellent condition, many of the township's flooding problems have been solved and there is a "good political climate here" for business and industry. He revealed the township plans to issue an annual report at a cost of about $1,500.

The mayor said the township also is working on a personnel ordinance which will define each township job. He reported the police department is now a part of the Union County police radio hook-up which enables speedy

Plan Holiday Decorations Competition

The Cranford Jaycees will sponsor a Christmas decorations contest for both homeowners and businessmen, it was announced this week by Dr. Frank Krause, president.

In the residential division, which will be confined to doorway decorations, awards will be made in the following three categories: Most religious, most artistic and most artistically illuminated.

One prize will be awarded for the best commercial decoration in a place of business or office building.

Judging will be done by a panel of leading citizens, clergymen and township officials.

Entrants should submit their names and addresses to Thomas Victor Sabeh, 45 South Ave., W., or Dr. Krause, 501 Springfield Ave. The contest deadline is midnight December 25.

Play Interrupted By Two Events, One 'Blessed'

Although opening night on Friday passed without a hitch, the Saturday night performance of "The Miracle Worker," senior play at Cranford High School, was beset with two uncheduled events. The first, although premature, was joyous; the second was realistic but not a part of the script.

Princess, playing the part of Miss Helen Keller's pet dog, performed admirably on Friday; however, on Saturday she went into confinement and delivered a litter of six puppies. Although the blessed event was premature, mother and brood were reported as doing very well.

Classical Music Scheduled For Turkey Day Half-Time

The music will be classical and will include operatic excerpts as the Cranford High School Marching Band presents this season's final half-time show during the traditional Thanksgiving Day game with Thomas Jefferson of Elizabeth at Memorial Field.

According to Robert M. Yurochko, instrumental music teacher and band director, Thursday's performance will be the most difficult ever attempted by the band.

The opening number will be "Die Meistersinger Fanfare," by Wagner, followed by "The Triumphal March" from Verdi's "Aida." Prelude to Act II of "Lohengrin," by Wagner, will be the third selection.

The finale, excerpt from Tschai-kowsky's "1812 Overture," will feature the concert kettle drums, a large bass drum and chimes. Those orchestral instruments have never been used before in a half-time performance. A Spanish cannon and fire batons will add to the excitement.

Junior Miss Pageant Finalists Announced

The finalists in Western Union County's Junior Miss Pageant were announced this week by the Cranford Jaycees. Scheduled for December 2 at Cranford High School, this second annual staging will include the following high school senior girls:

Christine Baldwin, Jeanne Donnelly and Diane Zier of Cranford; Kathryn Boshier, Andrea Lambrinides, Virginia Vigilanti, Cindy Newman and Kathleen Zoller of Westfield; Eleanor Goeller and Jeanne Sienicki of Scotch Plains; Linda Herrgott of Mountainside and Jeanne Brown of Berkeley Heights.

The pageant is being staged by the Cranford Jaycees under the chairmanship of Charles and Nancy Galiszewski. The goal of the pageant is "to select the girl who best exemplifies the image of Junior Miss, a girl who is quickly recognized as youthful, refreshing, confident, pleasant, poised, promising and for her years accomplished." The girls will be judged on their poise and personal appearance, talent, scholastic achievement and the results of a personal interview and discussion with the judges. The girl selected as Western Union County's Junior Miss will receive a $250 scholarship award and will represent the area in the New Jersey Junior Miss Pageant in Elizabeth in late January, competing for a $1,000 scholarship award.

Tickets for the pageant may be obtained from the Jaycees or from Mr. Galiszewski, 2 Denman Pl.; Thomas McCloskey, 356 Lincoln Ave., E.; Charles J. Stevens, Jr., or the contestants. Proceeds of this pageant will be used to conduct the Jaycees' program of youth activities and community development.

Park Commission Duplicity Charged On Riverside Drive

David R. Hammel of 630 Riverside Dr. in a letter to the Union County Park Commission has charged the commission with "duplicity" in connection with the proposal to deed to the township an 1,100 foot right-of-way from the end of Riverside Dr. to Kenilworth Blvd.

New Impetus Seen by Fund Toward Goal

Announcement this week that the Enjay Chemical Co. Division of Humble Oil and Refining Co. had been authorized by its Houston, Tex., headquarters office to go full speed ahead with employee solicitation for the Cranford United Fund at the local Enjay office was seen by Charles M. G. Wilder, industry chairman, as "giving us the needed extra spurt to go over the top."

The fund currently has exceeded 92 percent of its goal of $95,000 for 14 participating agencies.

Earl L. Shea, general campaign chairman, pointed out that workers in the residential division, headed by John Duryee and Victor Dennis, also can have a lot to do with whether or not the goal finally is reached.

Returns reported at a meeting in the Municipal Building on Sunday brought the total pledged by the residential division to $24,048.10. The division goal is $28,500.

Results by districts were reported as follows:

District 1, $91; 2, $1,051; 3, $1,407.75; 4, $1,220.50; 5, $689.50; 6, $366; 7, $1,731.88; 8, $1,315; 9, $659.50; 10, $896.50; 11, $346.

District 12, $1,493; 13, $829.91; 14, $1,456.55; 15, $186; 16, $2,100.50; 17, $2,248.50; 18, $1,828.50; 19, $1,789; 20, $1,990.

Albert Gessler, chairman of the Special Gifts committee, one of the divisions having reached its goal, agreed to be one of the clean-up captains in the residential division.

"My team of five members will be ready to go into any district and assist in making the neighborhood calls," he said.

Chairman Duryee urged others to offer their services by telephoning the United Fund office at the Municipal Building.

Final report meeting for the res-

Mr. Hammel charges that the commission "let the citizenry believe it was only reacting to a request from Cranford for the roadway, while in reality the Park Commission itself had offered the right of way to the township."

He notes that his position is based on an announcement at last week's Township Committee meeting by Mayor Edward K. Gill that the Park Commission itself initiated the request last April. The offer of the land was refused by the township at last week's meeting because of provisions in the commission's offer which would commit Cranford to pave and improve the road extending from Riverside Dr. to the Boulevard.

Mr. Hammel declares the commission previously had stated itself as "unalterably opposed to the taking of Watchung Reservation or other park lands for highway purposes," and he suggests that "this apparent reversal of policy in offering land for road purposes should be investigated."

Following is the text of Mr. Hammel's letter:

"In a public statement at the Cranford Township Committee Meeting on November 14, 1967, the Mayor of Cranford refused the Union County Park Commission's offer of the extension of Riverside Dr. to Kenilworth Blvd. At this time the Mayor also made public the fact that the original request for this park land last April was initiated at the suggestion of the Union County Park Commission itself. A copy of the Mayor's statement as it appeared in the Cranford Citizen and Chronicle is enclosed.

"I have followed this situation closely since last April, and was one of the signers of petitions from 20 communities attempting to 'help' the Union County Park Commission protect this park land

First Sunday Gambling Raid Conducted Here

In what was described as the first Sunday gambling raid in the history of the Union County prosecutor's office, Prosecutor Leo Kaplowitz and Police Chief Matthew T. Haney led a group of county and local detectives at 1:15 p.m. Sunday on a visit to Curley's Sweet Shop at 669 Raritan Rd. which resulted in the arrest of the proprietor, Irwin Sklon, 42, of Linden, on charges of bookmaking and maintaining premises for the purposes of gambling.

Chief Haney reported he had placed the store under surveillance soon after he became chief at the start of this year. Feeling local men were known, he then requested the prosecutor to supply county detectives and they had been investigating in recent months, he said.

Confiscated in Sunday's raid,

Local Soldier Wounded in Vietnam

Pfc. Basil A. Miliano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bacilio Miliano of 619 Raritan Rd., is recuperating in an evacuation hospital in Vietnam, from bullet wounds in the jaw, chest and left arm suffered in action in Vietnam on November 1.

In a recent letter to his parents, he reported that he is coming along all right but expects to be in the evacuation hospital for two months and then in a hospital in the United States for another month or two before he finally arrives home.

His letter also told of having a chat with Joe DiMaggio during a recent visit to the hospital by that member of the Baseball Hall of Fame.

A graduate of Cranford High School in 1966, Pfc. Miliano entered the Army in March and left for Vietnam on August 20. He served in Co. D, Battalion 14, in the 25th Infantry of the First Division in Vietnam.

Pfc. Miliano is recuperating from bullet wounds in the jaw, chest and left arm suffered in action on November 1.

Million Dollar Library Proposed For Union College

A special faculty committee has recommended to the board of trustees of Union College the construction of a library building containing 40,000 square feet and costing about $1,250,000.

The report was submitted by Prof. George P. Marks III of Roselle Park, college librarian and committee chairman. The faculty committee's recommendations were referred to the board of trustees' building and education committees for review.

Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president, told the trustees a library is the college's "most urgent need." He said a library might be combined with the need for additional faculty and administrative facilities. Dr. MacKay pointed out that several classrooms are now being used for administrative purposes, because of a lack of office space.

With the start of the new academic year, Union College opened a new $1 million Science Building, and in the spring opened the William Miller Sperry Observatory.

Dr. MacKay said the Arthur L. Johnson Memorial Library in the Nomahegan Building is already too small for the present enrollment of 1,500.

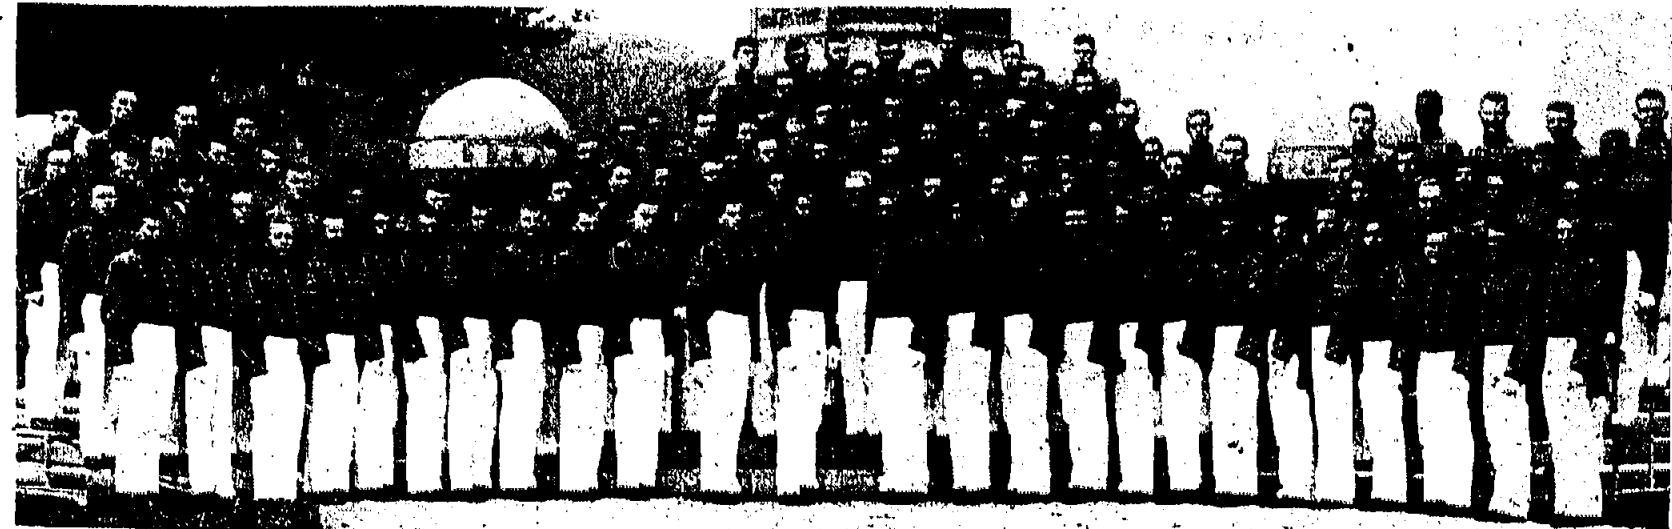

"We'll soon be out of space for more books in our present facilities," Dr. MacKay commented.

The Union College president said the lack of library space has been temporarily relieved with the opening of a science resource center in the new Science Building.

Prof. Marks said a new library building should contain seating for between 400 and 450 students, and

PTA Presents Shade Trees To Walnut Avenue School

Ceremonies marking the presentation of nine shade trees to the Walnut Avenue School by its PTA took place last Wednesday. The trees, purchased with funds raised through the school fair, movies and cake sales, are expected eventually to provide needed shade to seven classrooms on the school's southern and western exposures.

To commemorate the occasion the Student Council presented a short play, "Trees Are Not Just Trees," to the student body, parents and invited guests: Dr. Clark McDermith, superintendent of schools; Mrs. Marica Lallis, director of curriculum and instruction, and Dr. Anne Bailey, coordinator of language arts.

At the conclusion of the assembly, the students sang "When We Plant a Tree," after which they and their guests went outdoors to witness the planting of one of the trees.

During the planting ceremony, Mrs. Henry Greenstein, PTA president, presented the trees to Miss Irene Gilbert, principal, after thanking the students and their parents for the support of PTA projects which raised the required funds. Miss Gilbert in turn presented the trees to Student Council President Karen Foss with the hope that the students would take pleasure in watching their growth.

The trees, seven Norway maples and two sycamores, were selected by a committee consisting of Mrs. Thomas Ford, Mrs. Leonard Silvers, and Mrs. Elroy Inohall, chairman. Student Council members who took part in the play were: Barbara Ostrove, Karen Foss, Michael Lerner, James McCoy, Michael Banks and Patricia Taberski, with Jerold Fensterman as announcer.

Stolen Car Chase Ends In Co. Park

A 17-year-old Plainfield youth led Cranford police on a chase up Springfield Ave. in a stolen car Sunday night, and then on foot into Echo Lake Park in Westfield, where he was finally taken into custody.
The chase began at South Union and South Aves. at 7:30 p.m. when Sgt. George W. Kane recognized the license as that of a stolen vehicle and gave chase in a police car.
He was joined on Springfield Ave. by Lt. Henry Polidoro in another patrol car. The fleeing vehicle failed to negotiate a left turn from Springfield Ave. into Kenilworth Blvd. and spun completely around.
When Lt. Polidoro stopped his car in front of the vehicle the driver rammed it into the police car, causing damage to the right front fender and headlight, and then jumped from the car and fled.
The lieutenant and Sgt. Kane gave chase, but the youth escaped into a wooded area behind County Park Dr. At this time police in other communities were notified of the situation by the county police radio hookup.
About 10 minutes later, Westfield police informed Cranford that they had seen the man in the Echo Lake Park area. Patrolman Leonard Miller was sent to the scene and at 8 p.m. took the youth into custody near the clubhouse of the Echo Lake Country Club. He took the prisoner to Westfield police headquarters, where he was released to the Cranford department.
The prisoner was sent to the Union County Juvenile Detention Center to await Juvenile Court action.
Chief Haney commended Sgt. Kane for his alertness in recognizing the car, which had been reported stolen in Plainfield at 4:05 p.m. He also praised Lt. Polidoro and Patrolman Miller for their efficient police work in assisting in apprehension of the youth.

What's so special about watches, anyway? They're made up of mainsprings and hair-springs. Balance wheels. And a lot of other delicate mechanisms. It's those things that make a watch run. Be it fast or slow. Or maybe not at all. So why give someone an ordinary watch? You could give an Accutron® timepiece instead. Accutron has no hairspring. No mainspring. No balance wheel. They've been replaced by a tuning fork. The tuning fork does everything ordinary watchworks are supposed to do. Measure time. Only it does it more accurately. By vibrating 360 times to a second. And sending the hands around the dial so precisely, we can guarantee monthly accuracy to within a minute. About 2 seconds a day. Could a gift be more perfect?

The Beautiful You
By FRANK INGRASSIA

When Caesar's legions brought back their fair-haired captives from Northern Europe, their dazzling beauty intrigued Rome and started a new trend in beauty culture. Hair was lightened with saffron, red arsenic, and ashes of plants.

The practice of coloring the hair, however goes back even further than that — to the Egyptians who dyed their hair with indigo. Born of the twin drives of superstition and envy, hair coloring evolved from a tortuous, technique for altering appearance no matter what the cost to the health, to an art in which we realize that beauty is served only when the health of your hair is also served.

Many of today's products enhance your beauty not only by adding glamorous color, but also by contributing to good hair condition. At Martin-Frank we feel these modern products may open a whole new world for you. So, come on in, the color's fine!

TEACHER-ASSISTANT EXHIBITING — Ronald Czebrowski of 31 Burchfield Ave., a graduate of Cranford High School serving his junior practicum requirement there for Montclair State College as a teacher-assistant, is shown with one of his oil paintings now being exhibited at the local school.

Art Exhibit at High School By Former Student There

Ronald Czebrowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Czebrowski of 31 Burchfield Ave., a junior at Montclair State College, is presenting a one-man art exhibit at Cranford High School which will continue until Friday, December 1. Mr. Czebrowski was graduated from the local high school in 1965 and has returned this year to fulfill the junior practicum requirement. He is a teacher-assistant in the art classes of Burton Longenbach, head of the Cranford schools' art department.

Included in Mr. Czebrowski's exhibit are seven oil paintings and some work in ceramics. The number of oil paintings can be explained by Mr. Czebrowski's enthusiastic comment: "Painting is my favorite."

In addition to assisting Mr. Longenbach in the classroom, Mr. Czebrowski has worked with students on poster painting and display. The recent student exhibit seen by the public at an open house was directed by Mr. Czebrowski.

Mr. Czebrowski's exhibit has been enthusiastically received by the student body and serves as an inspiration to those who are in the art department at this time and who wish to do further work after they graduate from high school. Mr. Longenbach said, "Mr. Czebrowski was an excellent student at Cranford High, and he is a talented young man who has the potential to be an outstanding teacher."

In an interview with a student reporter, Michael Goldberg, Mr. Czebrowski said:

"Cranford High School gave me an excellent background in art. The school prepared me very well for my studies at Montclair State College." He added that he would like to return to Cranford High School for his actual practice teaching experience.

The exhibit in the center foyer of Cranford High School is open to the public.

"It is hoped that working mothers especially will take advantage of this opportunity to acquaint themselves with the professional care available," a spokesman for the club said.

Persons who may wish to attend but have no means of transportation are invited to call Mrs. Marcus Hamilton of 15 Buchanan St., who will arrange transportation. Refreshments will be served by the club.

New Impetus

(Continued from Page 1) Identical district is scheduled to be held at the Municipal Building between 8 and 9:30 p.m. on November 29.

Residential captains have been requested to return their work books not later than December 2, on which date a wrap-up meeting is held at the Municipal Building at 9 a.m.

Divisions having reached their goals to date include: Commercial, Charles Post, $8,878; board of directors, Robert M. Crane, $4,010; Special-Diamond-Golden, Mr. Gessler, $21,000; public schools, Vincent Sarnowski, $3,610. Industry expects to hit its $28,000 target by the end of the week, Chairman Wilder reported.

Golden Gifts donors this week included: Board of Directors, George W. Morton, Jr., Wednesday Morning Club, Charles M. G. Wilder. A Diamond gift was reported from Mrs. N. J. Stork.

Employees of the local IBM office pledged an additional $1,500, making a total of $4,500.

First Sunday

(Continued from Page 1) Chief Haney said, were a quantity of slips indicating betting activity on sports events, and some cash. Amounts were not revealed to facilitate further investigation.

Mr. Sklon was arraigned in Municipal Court here before Magistrate James T. Leonard of Garwood and released in $5,000 bail pending preliminary hearing.

Chief Haney reported that when he and Prosecutor Kaplowitz and Capt. A. Frank Burr of the local department walked in the front door of the store a number of patrons were partaking of soda and ice cream and the proprietor was in a phone booth.

Others participating in the raid and assigned to cover the rear entrance were Detective Sgt. Michael F. Fedroff and Detective Stephen D. Schlapak of the Cranford Police Department and, from the prosecutor's office, Lt. Robert Ward and Detectives Richard Mason, Richard Lazarro and Egbert Haines.

Chief Haney said he decided Sunday was a good day to conduct the raid because of an element of surprise and the fact that many football games were in progress.

Park Commission

(Continued from Page 1) from being split by a busy paved thoroughfare. I feel entitled to know why the Park Commission allowed the public to believe that not only the Township of Cranford, but indeed, a private builder had been responsible for initiating this request. In fact, I was present when the Commission made a plea for assistance from the public to prevent the Watchung Reservation from being split in the same manner by a highway. I further feel entitled to know why the Union County Park Commission wants to 'give away' land belonging to the whole county to one community in the first place.

"Such an action, and there can be no doubt of the intention of the Park Commission's resolution of October 23, 1967, to have a paved thoroughfare divide this woodland, is especially perplexing in view of the Park Commissions stated position regarding other highways through Park properties. It appears that the Park Commission's public statements in such matters have little bearing on the private commitments underlying these actions. Such duplicity should be investigated.

"Perhaps now that a sweeping change has been made in New Jersey's political climate by the last election, it is time for some investigation into why the Union County Park Commission appears so anxious to divest itself of some of its land. Especially while publicly espousing the position of guardians of our county parks and woodlands.

As attached is a Park Commission Bulletin publicly claiming to favor the maintenance of parklands inviolate, while indeed, it now comes out, that privately, they asked Cranford to relieve them of some of it. This bulletin shows the Park Commission to be 'unintentionally opposed' to relinquishing park properties for roads and highways.

"An explanation of this 'double standard' position is sorely needed, in view of the more conservative position taken by the Park Commission on requests for land by other communities in the past for uses of more truly public interest. Perhaps all these towns should get their requests in now while the Park Commission seems to find itself with an excess of land. By copy of this correspondence to their local newspapers I shall inform them of this opportunity."

Million Dollar

(Continued from Page 1) should have a capacity for 100,000 volumes. He said the faculty library committee recommends that space also be provided for periodicals and microfilm, audio-visual aids, a language laboratory, speech room, circulation desk, card catalog and bibliography area, large reference room, technical services, receiving area, 40 faculty offices, faculty reading room, reserve reading room, lounge area, library staff room and librarian's office.

Classical Music

As drum major, John Kurdilla will lead the band. Robert Ward, a junior who will be next year's drum major, will assist John, who will lead the band through difficult midwestern pattern drills, similar to those used by the Michigan State Band.

This past summer, John Kurdilla, William Yaeger, who plays the trombone; Henry Zielinski, who plays the trumpet; Jayne Kurisko, captain of the flag twirlers, and Kathy Mazzeo, captain of the twirlers, studied with Michigan State Band Director William Moffitt.

Besides baton and flag twirling, girls form a color guard squad, captained by Joan Simoons. The three girls who will twirl fire batons on Thanksgiving Day are Kathy Mazzeo, Linda Guempel and Susan Sassi, all seniors.

The Marching Band has 86 members including girls in the color guard and in twirling. About 15 different instruments are played. Band members must be able to devote time — at least three one-hour sessions for practice every week. The week before school began, there was a five-hour session every day.

Despite the many hours of practice during the high temperatures of the summer and the freezing temperatures of winter, "Lady Luck" seemed to forget the effort the members have put into the band. Injury after injury plagued the band, leaving many members behind to "warm the bench." Weak legs, torn knee cartilage, broken ankles, are only a few examples. And when the temperature fell to below freezing last Wednesday, trumpet valves stuck, trombone slides froze and the band could hardly practice!

Besides being involved in the Marching Band, many instrumental music students belong to the Concert and Stage Bands. Last year, five students represented Cranford in the New Jersey Region II Band, and Alan Dolid (oboe) and Richard Meth, (saxophone) held seats in the All-State Band. This year try-outs begin December 16. Fifteen students will be trying out.

Play Interrupted

The first unscheduled incident was handled very well by Princess Understudy, Blaze, owned by Lori McKenna. Tom had trained Princess, owned by Mrs. Robert Holland of Westfield, for her role. On Saturday she trained her own dog, Blaze, as a replacement for Princess.

Miss Hughes was treated by Dr. Watkins F. John for a cut which required stitches. In the true tradition of the theatre, the show went on, Blaze performing like a trouper, and Miss Hughes, with temporary bandages, starting until the final curtain.

He touched on the new Day Care Nursery, opened recently in Calvary Lutheran Church, to aid mothers in less privileged families to supplement their family income by leaving their pre-school children at the nursery while they go to work. In some instances, the mayor reported, it has removed families from relief rolls and also helped youngsters to get a better start in school.

The mayor introduced Finance Commissioner Wynn Kent, Public Works Commissioner Malcolm S. Pringle, Public Safety Commissioner Charles G. Siegfried and Township Clerk J. Walter Coffey, who were guests of the chamber.

Building Inspector C. Van Chamberlin reported building permits issued last year totaled just under $8 million while this year the permits should be near the $5 million mark. Among major projects underway or recently completed are the D. O. Evans' motel-office building complex, United Auto Workers office building, Graber-Rogg, L. J. Wing, Granger, Apollo and Kaiser Aluminum buildings, as well as the new nursing home in the office-building zone.

In the commercial district, former Mayor Chamberlin reported new stores are underway at North Union Ave. and Alden St.; George W. Appar has purchased the former Kurtz Market and has renovated and remodeled the building into two modern stores; Goldberg's has acquired an adjacent store and made it into an attractive addition; Cranford Radio has expanded into the store next door; Barnett's expanded their store about a year ago; Bergen Camera is expanding upward, and the Sportsman's Shop is expanding through the former Montini Shoe Shop to Alden St.

All of the land in the Industrial Park has been sold, Mr. Chamberlin reported, and several industrial concerns there are now considering additions. Some already have made them he added.

Police Chief Matthew F. Haney reported his department has made excellent strides during the year, particularly in its dealings with youth, in improving the image of the department and in its public relations. He declared the department's morale is up and said he believes his men are doing a fine job.

However, he added, "running a police department is not a one-man job and the cooperation of the public is essential." He said a radio patrol car has been added in Industrial Park to give better protection in the area.

Mr. Bergen, reporting for all chamber committees, said that owners of buildings backing on the triangular parking lot in the business center have agreed to start shortly to repair and spruce up the structures. He said this was a result of close cooperation between the owners, township officials and the chamber.

He noted the chamber had been the driving force during recent years in effecting off-street parking in the business district which has resulted in the start of a "general uplift and facelift" of the district.

Mr. Bergen also noted that the chamber spends hundreds of dollars annually on holiday decorations, which will be further supplemented this year with many new decorations and displays. He thanked Mr. Willoughby for heading this project.

Norman Roden, chairman of the chamber's spring dinner to be held March 5 at Shackamaxon Country Club, announced that Ed Wimmer, vice-president of the National Federation of Independent Businesses, will be guest speaker. Mr. Wimmer has addressed many national groups and also has spoken before the Congress of the United States.

President Gross explained that one of the functions of the chamber is to help attract local and out-of-town residents to the township's business center and have them do business in Cranford. He said he believed the chamber had made great strides in this direction during the past year and that additional plans are underway to do more in this direction in the future.

Christmas Seals Brighten Holiday Picture

Another sign of the arrival of the year-end holiday season was the delivery to area homes this week of the annual Christmas Seal letters seeking funds to support continuation of the fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

The picture of the problems caused by TB and other respiratory diseases such as emphysema, chronic bronchitis and asthma is a sombre one, but that picture is brightened each year at this time by the message of hope conveyed by Christmas Seals as they begin to appear on holiday mail and packages.

Designs on the 1967 Christmas Seals are original and new, as is the case each year, but this year there is another difference, too. The former Union County Tuberculosis and Health League has joined with the Monmouth and Hudson County TB Leagues to form the TB-Respiratory Disease Association of Central New Jersey. Alfred A. Vonderaas of Kenilworth has been named president of the new association, and members of the board of directors include Robert M. Crane of Cranford, a former president of the Union County unit, and Dr. Charles L. Lomack of Garwood.

The consolidated organization has pledged to add to the achievements which have been made since the public first started to fight tuberculosis with Christmas Seals way back in 1907. A letter accompanying the 1967 Christmas Seals reports that the present tuberculosis programs will be continued (last year alone, 650 persons in the tri-county area became sick with TB for the first time), and that because of problems emerging with the changing times, "we must initiate new programs which were never heard of in 1907."

Referred to are programs to fight emphysema, chronic bronchitis, asthma and other lung diseases. The letter points out that deaths in the tri-county area caused by these diseases last year numbered 1,405. In addition many more thousands of persons were hospitalized or lost days of work, and many were forced into early retirement because of respiratory diseases.

There has been much progress in recent years in the drive to eradicate tuberculosis and control respiratory diseases, but there is still much to be done. Your purchase of Christmas Seals will help provide the funds needed to carry on the necessary programs of detection, treatment, rehabilitation, education and research.

A Thanksgiving Message

Prepared by the Christian Science Committee on Publication

How can anyone put his heart into "Thanksgiving" when there's so much violence and grief in the world?

It's not a new question. The Bible tells of good men who struggled hard for an answer.

It is what they found: The times of greatest trouble are the times when men need the spirit of Thanksgiving most of all.

Gratitude in the midst of "good times" and material prosperity comes all too easily, and is apt to be superficial.

When forced to look more deeply into life — to find a more unselfish love and other riches of spirit — only then do we begin to discover the real meaning of Thanksgiving, to see more clearly man's constant debt to God for everything that is truly good.

This kind of thanksgiving, when challenged by adversity, only grows stronger.

Treachery and tyranny were closing in on him, the Bible says, but Daniel "prayed, and gave thanks before his God, and awoke before him."

In the middle of a raging storm at sea, with the ship he was on about to be smashed on the rocks, Paul "took bread, and gave thanks to God in presence of them all."

Whether faced by hungry multitudes or standing before the tomb of Lazarus, Jesus first gave thanks.

In the sublimest example of all, on the night before his crucifixion, during the darkest hours the world has known, Jesus "took the cup, and gave thanks" — and then invited those who were with him to share in his life.

The basis of his thanksgiving, as he indicated often, was a deep and constant acknowledgement of his imperishable unity with God — something that filled his being and governed everything he did.

He expected that we, too, would feel it — would say "our Father" because we really had to, because we saw it was so.

Isn't this the only basis for thanksgiving? Material blessings just don't go around. Tables are empty, and sometimes a chair is empty.

But there is always a reason for thanksgiving. It's built into the structure of things, and it never changes. We catch clear glimpses of it when we're moved by compassion, reaching out in totally unselfish love. Then we know ourselves better — and our neighbor. And thanks flows out.

Perhaps what it comes down to is this:

To give thanks to God really means to give ourselves, our hearts and minds. This is only giving back what we owe to Him in the first place. But we must consciously give ourselves to God in order to know the blessing of what it means to be His sons.

"Simply asking that we may love God will never make us love Him," wrote Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of Christian Science; "but the longing to be better and holier, expressed in daily watchfulness and in striving to assimilate more of the divine character, will mould and fashion us anew, until we awake in His likeness."

The prophet Malachi summed it up:

"Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

Nature Notes

By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER

In August, 1962, Gardner D. Stout, former chairman of the executive committee of the National Audubon Society and currently a trustee of the American Museum of Natural History, and Robert Verity Clem, a remarkable young artist who likes to paint bird portraits, were sitting on the beach together on Monomoy Island on Cape Cod. It was there they hit on the idea for "The Shorebirds of North America."

Stout became the editor of this delightful volume; Clem painted the spectacular portraits; Peter Matthiessen wrote the series of essays describing the shorebirds' lives, and Dr. Ralph S. Palmer prepared the semi-technical species accounts featured in the appendix.

Matthiessen grew up on the New England coast. It was there he met his first shorebirds, an acquaintance that was to give rise to an enthusiastic affection for these habits of beach and wetland. He spent years studying them, traveling to their breeding grounds in the Yukon and along the Arctic Coast and to their winter homes in South America. It was his suggestion that the book be a sustained essay rather than the familiar but sometimes monotonous vignettes of individual species. His work appeared in part in "The New Yorker" under the title "The Wind Birds."

Clem's superb paintings were done in opaque watercolor, reflecting both the beauty of the sun's last rays shining on a remote beach and the woodcock's shadowy world. To be sure the portraits were true characterizations of the feathered subjects. Stout and the artist traveled for four years, going from California to Texas to New Jersey to study shorebirds.

"Ninety percent of what I do," says Clem, "is observing; looking at birds for countless hours through binoculars or telescope."

This book is a monograph, containing the most up-to-date scientific material for the serious student as well as reading for the weekend birder during the long winter evenings.

What is a shorebird? The introduction to the book describes them as "the American counterpart of the British 'wader' — a group that consists mainly of sandpipers and plovers, but also various of their relatives. . . . As the term implies, most of them, at least on migration or in winter, frequent the beaches and mudflats of the seashore; a few are inland, or even upland, birds." Gulls and terns, pease and ducks, are not included in the classification.

The volume is one I treasure above almost all of the books about birds in my library: "The Shorebirds of North America," edited by Gardner D. Stout, published by the Viking Press, New York, $22.50.

Letters to the Editor

5 Venetia Ave.
Cranford, N. J.
November 20, 1967

Dear Sir:
Following is a copy of a letter being sent to Cpl. Richard Nyce in Vietnam in connection with the letter signed by him which appeared in the November 16 issue of the Citizen and Chronicle:
Dear Corporal Nyce:

As a resident of Cranford and a member of the congregation of Trinity Church, I found the letter from you to the editor of the Cranford Chronicle most distressing. It is a sad commentary that we must be reminded by our own troops in Vietnam that they require our 100 percent support.

As one person who is a firm supporter of the U. S. Marines in Vietnam and opposed to the action suggested in the "Negotiation Now" petition, as well as to the support our church has given such a petition, I would like to comment on the matter.

In any discussion of the moral issues of the war, we must accept the fact that the one overriding moral consideration which our country must face is the correct use of its power. If we are to survive as a nation and a civilization, we must be willing and ready to use force to protect it from those who threaten to corrode it from within or destroy it from without. Since we have seen fit to send troops to fight in Vietnam, we must accept the responsibility for the support of those troops to the best of our capabilities. Anything less than our utmost support for these men is a highly irresponsible and immoral attitude.

As to the "Negotiation Now" petition and the "peace movement" with which it is associated, it is clearly an irresponsible attitude for the nation to take, designed to meet Hanoi's objectives rather than our own.

By this time I am certain that most of us are aware that very few of the leaders in the "peace movement" and "Negotiation Now" are genuine pacifists. A genuine pacifist rates peace first among all values and is ready to sacrifice everything, including his own life, to the cause of peace. However, the current peace movement has become coordinated with various social and political protest movements having little to do with the cause of peace.

It is particularly interesting to note the double standard for peace which is held by the various "peace" organizations. Their movement in general, has been quick to demand peace from the French paratroopers, not from the Arab FLN terrorist; from the U. S. Marines, not from the Viet Cong; always from the police but never from the demonstrators.

Unfortunately there are genuine pacifists who have become dupes and aids in this "peace" movement, which has little to do with genuine peace, but is designed to force a U. S. pull out of Vietnam — and hence a communist victory. We must recognize these activities for what they are. Certainly the signers of this petition must recognize the danger of an unconditional bombing halt, as well as the dubious motives of the "peace movement." As long as we as a nation continue to respect the role of the "privileged sanctuary" whereby the communists are to be safe in all areas which they have won, such as North Vietnam, and free to probe at will wherever they find a weakness in our defense, with no risk of counter attack, the communist expansion will continue.

Clearly we have not as yet devised an answer to communist political warfare. Certainly not through any of the activities of the "peace movement." Sooner rather than later we Americans must demonstrate to the Communists our firm resolve and Will to Win. Then — perhaps we will have peace!

Sincerely,
John P. Agee

Dear Sir:
On behalf of the senior class at Cranford High School, I would like to thank the community for the support given our senior play, "The Miracle Worker." Specifically, I would like to express my appreciation to you for the coverage given our play and to the service clubs of Cranford who allowed members of the class to attend their meeting.

MS Service Organization Local United Fund Agency

Rev. John Gene of Nutley, a multiple sclerosis patient, issued a call on December 25, 1949, to form a league for the future service of multiple sclerosis patients. The first meeting was held at the parish house of Grace Episcopal Church in Orange. On February 3, 1950, Rev. Benjamin Axleroad, Jr., from Trinity Cathedral in Newark, was appointed acting chairman until the election of the first president.

The members, composed of MS patients, their families and friends, called their group the North Jersey Multiple Sclerosis Club and became incorporated on August 23, 1951. From the beginning the club has been a non-profit group headed by officers who serve without pay. The organization dedicates itself to helping those afflicted by the disease and to serve as a social outlet for many who, self conscious because of their inability to walk normally, or because they had to be carried, hesitated to leave their homes. Doctors have called it a unique example of group therapy.

Interest in the club quickly mounted. The United Commercial Travelers of America donated the first wheel chair. It was loaned to a disabled patient. Encouraged by this initial generosity the club raised funds by dues and donations for another wheel chair. Through a series of card parties and by the salvaging of old clothing enough funds were raised to open a clinical center early in 1954. It was equipped with whirlpool tank, exercise tables, mats, circulators, and other equipment. In 1957, a mobile unit manned by a physical therapist and nurse was sent to give therapy to the residents unable to travel to the clinic.

Because of the club's increased breadth and service its name was re-incorporated in 1959 as the Multiple Sclerosis Service Organization of New Jersey.

The devastating effects that multiple sclerosis inflicts stirred the organization in 1957 to assume the responsibility of erecting a MS nursing home. This institution is especially designed to provide medical care and nursing needs exclusively for MS patients.

In April, 1963, the first nursing home for MS patients was opened in Chester. At present, there are 31 resident patients and a long waiting list. In November, 1964, a rehabilitation center wing was added to the facility for the resident patients, but by January 30, 1965, the demand for out-patient service grew to a point where a free clinic was inaugurated to serve the patients in that area on an out-patient basis.

Simultaneously the clinic in East Orange grew to a point where a second therapist became necessary to fill the requests for therapy. This facility was open five days and two nights a week and was scheduled to capacity.

In July, 1966, as a result of projected planning, the East Orange clinic was closed and the group's mobile unit was abolished. The closing of the East Orange Clinic enabled MSSO to concentrate its efforts to help more MS patients by utilizing the Chester facility and having the same registered therapists service for the patients. Contractual agreements have been made with Visiting Nurse Associations throughout the state by MSSO for home treatments thus enabling more comprehensive coverage throughout the state.

MSSO also loans all types of prosthetic devices to any diagnosed MS patient free of charge upon request.

The development of Cranford's Industrial Park and municipal aims for the future were discussed in a program entitled "Looking Ahead for Cranford" at a meeting of the Cranford Junior Chamber of Commerce. Among the speakers were Tax Commissioner Howard Leary, who told of the rapid expansion of the community through a program under which industry paid 40 percent of the town's taxes. H. Raymond Kirwan, public safety commissioner, outlined some of the accomplishments for the future, which included completion of the central business area parking project and rejuvenation of the area itself, road improvements and bus service improvement. Mayor Nicholas S. LaCorte pointed to a building to be constructed off the Garden State Parkway by International Business Machines, which would bring a minimum of a million dollars in ratables. "In gaining these many new ratables," the mayor declared, "we have not lost our town's residential character."

Roderick W. Smith, a long-time resident of Cranford and active in civic affairs, was slated to be elected president of the Cranford Chamber of Commerce at the chamber's annual dinner meeting. Other nominations were: Charles J. Pfost and Dr. Clark W. McDermith, vice-presidents; Harold J. Spies, secretary, and Martin D. Tittman, treasurer.

Practical expressions of Thanksgiving spirit by Cranford organizations and individuals took the form of providing 12 baskets containing complete Thanksgiving dinners, a large collection of clothing and 2,000 cans of food for distribution among needy local families, it was reported by Mrs. Arthur G. Lennox, executive secretary of the Cranford Welfare Association.

A community service of Thanksgiving was to be conducted at the First Presbyterian Church, with Rev. Milton B. Eastwick, associate pastor, delivering the sermon.

A total of $54,538 for the 1962 Cranford United Fund was reached at the final collection night for the drive. This represented 61 percent of the goal of $89,000. Channing Rudd, campaign chairman, said the door-to-door campaign had been concluded but that solicitation would continue through the mails.

"If I Don't Try"

Little Johnny would seldom play games with other children. He wanted to be with them, but when they started an active game he slipped to the sidelines.

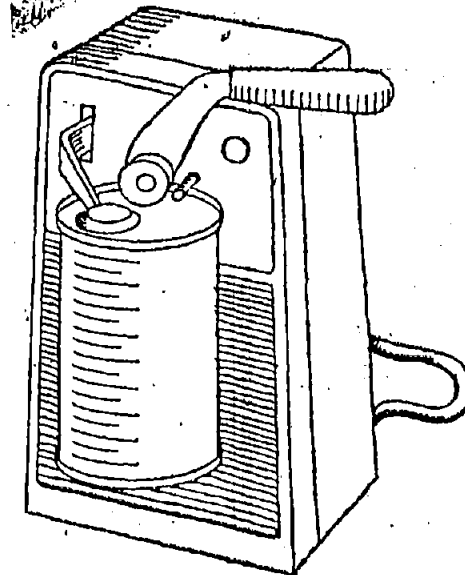

Johnny's parents noticed this and became greatly concerned. They questioned him, but got no response. They urged him, they scolded him, but it only magnified his withdrawal from the other children.

His father, an active man, became most upset. What was wrong with his son? His hopes for Johnny centered around sports. He saw his son as the quarterback on the high school football team someday.

Father really became upset when Johnny refused to try out for the Little League baseball team. Dad had planned to get involved himself with the activities of the league. But his son wouldn't even try.

There was a man-to-son talk, and the truth came out. Johnny blurted: "If I don't try, I can't fail. All you want is for me to be the best, and I am not the best. I (Continued on Page 3)

Symphony To Present Free Family Concert

The Suburban Symphony Society of New Jersey will present a free family concert on Sunday, December 3, at 3 p.m. in the Cranford High School auditorium. The concert will feature the famous story, "The History of Baber the Elephant," with music by Francis Poulenc.

Guest narrator will be Paul Tripp, well known for his work on children's television shows. He was host on the top-rated show, "Birthday House," on NBC, and starred in and produced "On the Carousel" for CBS. In addition, he created and produced "Mr. I. Magnation," which he starred in on CBS for four years.

The symphony, under the direction of Henry Bloch, also will play other selections which tell a story through music. These will include excerpts from Haydn's "Clock Symphony," "Ballet of the Chickens in Their Shells," from Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition," "The Flight of the Bumble Bee," by Rimsky-Korsakov, and "Hungarian March," by Berlioz.

What was the reason for this burst of truth? It could be that Johnny's parents were overly critical. Maybe they made him feel that he couldn't do well.

Or perhaps father had talked too much about what he himself, could do. The standards were too high for Johnny to attain.

Maybe Johnny had been over-protected and had developed insecurity. If he had never been permitted to make a decision, he might find it difficult to muster courage to do so.

Children must have an opportunity to make decisions. A parent can encourage a child to do well, but the standards should be in keeping with the child's ability.

Dear Sir:

The members of College Women's Club of Cranford have just completed another subscription drive for the Cranford Citizen and Chronicle, from which the entire profits go into the Eleanor Sprole

Scholarship Fund. The results of this year's drive were most exciting as we earned over $4,100.00 from the drive itself and added another $327.50 in donations from friends and non-working members.

One of the most interesting aspects of this biennial drive, apart from the monetary gain, is the opportunity to call on all the residents of Cranford and acquaint them with our program. We thank them for their friendliness and support. Often new members have been brought into the club through these contacts.

We are also grateful to you and all the members of your staff at the Chronicle office who have worked so closely with us during the past two months. We especially thank Miss Marian Schmitz who worked many extra hours checking, recording and processing the nearly 4,000 subscriptions brought in by College Club during the drive.

Very truly yours,
J. Marie Seavy

Schedule Winter Viewing Sessions At Observatory

Public viewing sessions on Friday evenings at the Sperry Observatory at Union College will continue throughout the winter, it was announced today by John Shea of Westfield, vice-president of Amateur Astronomers, Inc.

Mr. Shea said the public viewing sessions in the past have only been scheduled during the spring and summer, but the opening of the Sperry Observatory makes observations practical throughout the year when there is clear weather.

The sessions will begin each Friday evening at 7:30 and are open to the public, Mr. Shea said.

In addition to using the 12½-inch reflector and six-inch refractor telescopes, persons attending will be able to make use of smaller telescopes set up by members of Amateur Astronomers, Inc.

Mr. Shea emphasized that public viewing sessions will only be held on evenings when there is clear weather. He said the programs are open to children as well as adults.

Amateur Astronomers, Inc., and Union College operate the Sperry Observatory jointly.

Big Crop of Flies Bugs Housewives

Houseflies are terrible this year in many parts of New Jersey. And so are cluster flies, green "blowflies," yellowjackets and wasps.

Rutgers entomologists can't tell precisely why the fly nuisance is worse this year, unless it's the continued warm weather following a damp summer that makes conditions right for breeding.

Anyway, the housewives who like to be neat and tidy are going to excuse the expression — "bugs" about the whole thing. Conditions are so bad in some places that the girls are using their vacuum cleaners to pursue the live flies and clean up the dead ones.

Many industrial and municipal buildings are having a rough time of it, too.

Louis M. Vasvary, an entomologist at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, says the only answer is "exclusion" — keep 'em out.

Dr. Vasvary suggests strips of sticky masking or cellophane tape around all openings to a building, especially on the shady side. These openings include the edges of storm windows as well as the pulley openings on the inside of windows.

Flies seem fairly large but they can crawl through cracks as small as an eighth of an inch, and most windows don't fit tight enough to keep out a fly that really wants to get in, he says.

Cold weather should bring relief from the problem.

Local Students Named To Pingry Honor Roll

William L. Fidler of 12 Hampton Rd., an 11th grade student, has been named to the first honor roll at the Pingry School, Hillsdale, for the first marking period.

Named to the second honor roll were Joseph Fraites of 18 Spring Garden St., an eighth grader, and Francis Slawson of 415 Casino Ave., a seventh grader.

Note Paper Sale Benefit Project For Brain Injured

The sale of note paper in five local stores is the sole money raising project of the Cranford Junior Woman's Club to support the state project this year. The entire proceeds will go to the New Jersey Association for Brain Injured Children.

The Association, founded in 1960, is supported by physicians, psychologists and educators, to help neurologically-impaired children through research and rehabilitation. Children with this type of brain injury must have entirely separate, and different training from retarded children, and with such training, can become mature, useful and happy members of the community.

The goal of the New Jersey Association is to awaken the public to the need for more and better special classes in public education.
Mrs. Robert Shimkus, Cranford Juniors' state project chairman, announced the following stores where orders may be taken: Bell's Drug Store, Cranford Bootery, Shapiro's Department Store, Cranford Meat Market and Trabenbach's Feed and Seed Store. Fascination of Ancestor Hunting Told by Wednesday Club Speaker

Researching one's family beginnings can be an interesting, fascinating and revealing hobby, Mrs. Kathryn Tolbert Smith told members and guests of the Wednesday Morning Club last Wednesday at a Philanthropic Tea in Sherlock Hall, Mrs. Smith gave the audience several tips on finding ancestors in her talk, "Have You Lost An Ancestor?"

Mrs. Smith said a good place to begin looking for New Jersey ancestors is the library in the State House in Trenton. The researcher will find volumes of deeds, wills, church records, historical proceedings and genealogical records at his disposal, indexed according to years, volume and pages. Reading an early New Jersey will is a first lesson in early English and old Dutch.

A will can be a good starting point for locating ancestors. It tells where the maker lived, when he died, the date the will was made, the names of children, spouse and other relatives. Mrs. Smith told the members most families in early America owned some property which was bought, sold or inherited and all deeds carry names, dates and places to work from.

Church records are good sources. Many are now found in libraries of consolidated towns. The church records contain listings of births, marriages and deaths. Mrs. Smith cautioned the members not to overlook old books on the history of the various towns or the importance of maps.

"Ships' lists can be a gold mine for tracing ancestors," Mrs. Smith said. They are complete in that they give names, ages, who came with the party, including indentured servants, the name of the ship, points of embarkation and debarkation. These can be found in the archives building, Washington, D. C.

Look at what you have at home—twice over, Mrs. Smith emphasized. An old picture may have a location either embossed or written on it. Look at the publisher's date of old school texts; this will give the researcher an approximate age of the individual who used the book. Look over grandma's treasured glass, it may reveal the section of the country an ancestor lived in and of course the lucky ones who have an old family Bible have a fine source.

Mrs. Smith, a graduate of Syracuse University, lives in Rumson. She was named to "Who's Who of American Women" in 1963. Her many memberships include the Society of the Descendants of the Mayflower, the Daughters of the American Revolution, New England Women, Pennsylvania Historical Society and the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society.

Members of the Crane's Ford and Westfield chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution were the special guests of the Wednesday Morning Club.

In keeping with the program topic, there was a display table of old family Bibles, one dating back to the 1600's, a family album, samplers, pictures and letters. The table was decorated with pictures of dried flowers made by members of the home and garden department.

Mrs. W. H. Old, membership chairman, introduced Mrs. Walter Thorn, a new member of the Wednesday Morning Club.

The speaker exhibited a number of door decorations, centerpieces and small table decorations to emphasize this point.

Noting that the Union County Unit of the New Jersey Association for Retarded Children "has been at work in our community since 1949," Mayor Tiller urged local residents to "give support and understanding" to the association's program "which will strengthen and enrich the lives of the mentally retarded."

School Board: Recount in Kenilworth Scheduled for Monday

KENILWORTH — The Board of Education has gone on record in favor of the continuation of present school district lines and local control over education.

The endorsement, in the form of a resolution, was sent to the governor, senators and assemblymen from Union County, chairman of the education committee of the Senate and Assembly and the State Federation of District Boards of Education.

Dr. Carl L. Marburger, state education commissioner, has recommended a breakdown of traditional school districts and a merging of suburban and urban school systems to achieve integration. The commissioner's remarks became a campaign issue in the recent election.

"The meaningful innovations in education for the past 50 years and more are a product, not of the large city school districts, but of the smaller districts," the school board resolution stated. "The larger school districts have been recently devoting much time and effort in providing greater autonomy for each school or group of schools within the large district, which is precisely what we have now in our district and districts beyond the cities."

The board also asserted that "we have depended on local control to keep schools sensitive to the needs and wishes of the people in each community" and that "family cohesion is fostered by positive local leadership and autonomy."

"There is no guarantee," the board pointed out, "that the elimination of local control will solve pressing social or academic problems."

Set Court Appearance For Fugitive

KENILWORTH — John L. Faines, who Thursday night led police of Kenilworth, Garwood and Cranford on a high speed chase through the three towns, has been released on $200 bail and is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court here Monday night.

Kenilworth police charged the 23-year-old resident of 220 N. Ninth St. with reckless driving, and Garwood police charged him with driving on the revoked list, and disorderly conduct.

Faines began driving at a high rate of speed at 10 p.m. on Oak St., Garwood, after seeing a Garwood police car. Pursued by Garwood Patrolman Warren Ricks, he drove from Oak St. to Cedar St. and then to Brookside Pl., Cranford. From there he turned onto Harvard Rd. then to Springfield Ave. and Kenilworth Boulevard.

Cranford and Kenilworth police were alerted by the Union County police radio.

After speeding through the business district of Kenilworth, the fugitive was finally cornered in a traffic jam at Boulevard and 26th St. by Kenilworth Patrolman Donald Tisch.

Police said Faines told them he

Sellout Allegation 'Absurd,' Councilwoman-Elect Says

KENILWORTH — Mrs. Mary J. Kelly, Democratic councilwoman-elect, said this week she was "shocked and appalled" by assertions of the Republican Campaign Committee that there may have been a sellout of her candidacy by the Democratic party.

She referred to a statement printed in last week's Citizen and Chronicle in which the Republican Campaign Committee, in called for a recount, pointed out that Mrs. Kelly outpolled her running mate, Councilman Frank Mascaro, in every district but the fourth. From this, the committee concluded there was either an error in vote tabulation, or bullet voting in the fourth district for Mr. Mascaro and a sellout of Mrs. Kelly because of worry that the councilman would lose his seat. Mascaro went on to win the election by only 63 votes over GOP candidate C. William C. Gutekunst. Labeling the allegations of a sellout as "absurd," Mrs. Kelly declared that the Democratic victory was a united effort.

"In view of the Republican success throughout New Jersey and particularly in surrounding municipalities, the Democrats in Kenilworth are justly proud of their victory here," the councilwoman-elect said. "Only the concerted efforts of everyone involved in the Democratic campaign could have achieved these results."

"Mayor Ahern, Councilman Mascaro and I campaigned long hours and worked hard as a team, and it was disturbing to me to read that the Republicans were speculating that anything but Democratic unity prevailed."

"I fail to see what can be ac

3 interesting ideas on where to place your new Trimline® telephone

On the side of a cabinet in a crowded kitchen. Just place it where you can reach the handset. Pick up the phone... and the lighted pushbuttons come to you.

On a lower shelf of a table. You save space on the table top. And there's another advantage to this new phone: to make a second call, you just tap the recall button.

Under a shelf or kitchen cabinet. With a Trimline phone, as long as you can reach the handset, you can use the pushbuttons. And the cord is 18" longer.

The ingeniously designed Trimline phone can be put in places that weren't practical for phones before. The Touch-Tone® push-buttons have been incorporated into the handset. You don't have to see the phone base to make a call, and the Trimline wall phone fits almost anywhere.

Each Trimline phone costs just pennies a day. There's no extra charge for color. And if you want Touch-Tone service, the additional Touch-Tone charge covers all phones on your line.

Think about your own home. You may think of several unusual but handy spots to place Trimline phones. To order yours, in either wall or table models, just call your Telephone Business Office.

Also available with standard dial in new compact design.

Mrs. Kelly concluded her statement with a swipe at Republican Councilman Albert J. Simmenroth, Jr., who served as GOP campaign coordinator.

"Mr. Simmenroth, the spokesman for this group, should concern himself with using the talents of the many worthwhile Republican people in town instead of attempting to explode the harmony demonstrated by the Democratic party in Kenilworth in the election of November 7," she said.

NEW EQUIPMENT INSTALLED — Pictured above are three of several new machines installed recently by Blue Ribbon Cleaners, 100 North Ave., Cranford, as part of renovation program marking the 40th anniversary of the founding of the firm. At left is a silk and knit steam finisher; in center is a shirt body press machine, and at right is a 100-pound petroleum drycleaning machine. The firm, started in Newark, has been located in Cranford since 1941 and presently is operated by Nathan and Martin Rappaport, son and grandson, respectively, of the founder.

Modernized Blue Ribbon Cleaners Celebrating Fortieth Anniversary

GARWOOD — As a feature of its 40th anniversary celebration now underway, Blue Ribbon Cleaners, 100 North Ave., has completed the modernization of its plant with the installation of some of the newest equipment in the industry. It was revealed this week by Nathan Rappaport of Hillside, president, and Martin Rappaport of Clark, secretary.

The new equipment includes a 100-pound petroleum drycleaning machine, regarded as the "Cadillac of the industry." The National Institute of Drycleaning recognizes petroleum solvent cleaning as the best method yet brought out for drycleaning. The firm also has a silk and knit steam finisher, which will not stretch silk or knit garments out of shape and which also is used in the finishing of fragile dresses.

A shirt body press machine, part of a complete shirt finishing unit, is one of the newest of its type on the market and is designed to completely finish a shirt with a mini-num of handling. A new conveyor system also has been installed to speed delivery of finished garments to the counter in the plant store and eliminate customer waiting.

The firm was founded in 1927 as Morris Rappaport and Son at 545 South Orange Ave., Newark. Morris Rappaport also was one of the two original partners of the Co-operative Wholesale Drycleaning plant which still is one of the state's largest cleaning plants today.

Nathan Rappaport, a son of the founder and current president of Blue Ribbon, joined the firm in 1934. His son, Martin Rappaport, a grandson of the founder, has been with Blue Ribbon since 1960.

The company was incorporated in 1934 and chain stores were opened in Essex, Union, Hudson and Passaic Counties to bring low prices on drycleaning to residents of the area based on large volume.

The chain operation grew rapidly and it soon became necessary to seek larger quarters, Mr. Rappa-port recalled. In 1941, Blue Ribbon moved to its present location in Garwood to serve its chain operation, which had grown to 40 stores. The concern employed more than 175 persons at the peak period in its operation.

The company introduced another innovation in 1938 when it became one of the first plants in the state to take in and process in its plant both flatwork laundry and shirt laundry. This continues to be an important phase of its business.

Mr. Rappaport said it was noted that the trend in the drycleaning and laundry field was to high quality. It was realized that Blue Ribbon could not offer high quality with a high volume chain store operation. The company then decided to dispose of its stores and remodel its plant store in Garwood to meet the public demand for quality.

The firm presently employs 17 full- and part-time skilled workers, all of whom are members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, Local 278. Several of these employees have been with Blue Ribbon for many years.

Mr. Rappaport noted that two members of the firm, Aaron Feinberg and Martin Rappaport, have received national awards for their prowess in spotting garments — or rather in removing spots from garments.

Both of the firm's officers are working members of the staff and they may be found almost daily operating any one of the several machines in the plant. And it's not unusual to find them in the plant before opening time in the morning or turning the key in the door after the last customer or employee has left at night.

Cranford, Jefferson Meet Tomorrow in 26th Turkey Day Tilt

Visitors Hold 14-11 Edge In Series; Cougars Need Victory for Winning Season

By JOSEPH KLUEPFEL
Cranford High School's varsity football team will face Jefferson High School of Elizabeth at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Memorial Field here in the twenty-sixth annual Thanksgiving Day clash between the two county rivals. The visiting Teejays hold the edge, 14-11, in the long series which dates back to 1940. Only one contest ended in a tie. There was no game in 1946.

Tomorrow's game also will mark the last appearance in Blue and Gold uniforms for 18 senior members of this year's Cougar squad who will be striving to turn their present 4-4 record into a winning season with a victory over the Minutemen.

Jefferson, which has a 2-6 season record, will be playing without the services of any seniors who have been benched. It is reported, in a disciplinary action. Cranford will have Ron DeLonge going at fullback instead of Glen Liming in a last-minute lineup switch.

Cougar Coach Merl Jones said the current season "has been a disappointing one for him and his team." He praised his "squad for their hard work and said without a few bad breaks "it should have been one of the best seasons in several years."

He noted that Mark Detering, who played two years on both offense and defense, was unable to participate this season because of a bad leg injury sustained last winter while skiing. Paul Lasinski was injured in a pre-season scrimmage and has not played all year, while Steve Holleran has been out since the Clark game, but may see some action tomorrow. Another stalwart sidelined by injury was Mark Nordstrom, starting fullback.

Last year's clash between Cranford and Jefferson was one of the most exciting in the series with Roy Knauer passing for three touchdowns and going over for two TD's on quarterback sneaks to give the Cougars a last-minute 34-32 victory in one of the wildest contests played by the two schools. The victory gave Cranford a 7-1-1 mark, which was the best for CHS since 1935.

Knauer has thrown 19 touchdowns in his two years on the varsity and has run for seven other scores.

Mike DePre will start on defense tomorrow and Gary Kamin will be at right guard. Kamin has placed kicked his last six extra points and has 25 points after touchdowns and one field goal in his two years on the varsity.

Ken Munkel, a fine senior backfield man, is a doubtful starter in tomorrow's contest because of a bad ankle. Coach Jones may call up Henry Hearn from the junior varsity to replace Munkel. Hearn has been top scorer for the JV's and is a real speedster.

Nolan has caught touchdown passes in his last four games and is regarded as one of the best ends in the county.

Tomorrow's contest could become an aerial battle for the visiting Minutemen have encountered difficulty this season in gaining much yardage on the ground.

DeMolay Keglers End Season in Second

Bremner Chapter, Order of DeMolay, wrapped up second place in the final standings of the 7th District DeMolay Bowling League Sunday when it took three straight at Jersey Lanes from Veritas Chapter of Roselle.

Concluding the season with an overall 15 and 9 record, the Bremner keglers moved from the cellar position in 1966 to the runner-up slot this year, behind Loyalty Chapter of Union.

Seeing action on this year's Bremner squad were Jeff Corcione, Brian Dennis, Steve Jones and Chuck and Ted O'Brien, all of Cranford; Ron Hess, Randy Severs, Rich Cheota, and John Whittle, all of Clark; and Dave Balough and Jim Lewis, both of Garwood.

Bremner will again field a team in the DeMolay district basketball tourney. The 1966 Bremner quintet made a strong showing and is expected to place high in this year's competition.

Minks in Second in St. Michael's League

The Minks won two games during the past week in St. Michael's Bowling League and moved into second place, a game behind the leading Beavers.

Other high series were: Ruth Burke, Lynx, 439, including games of 151 and 150; Pat Baumart, Beavers, 421, including a 154 game; Marie Molozzi of the Minks, 418, including a 157 game; Adele Waslewicz, Lynx, 414, including a 154 game; Rose James, Minks, 413, including a 151 game; Joan Correnti, Sabes, 407, including a 159 game; and Charlotte Tucelo, Sabes, 406 series. Other high games included a 166 by Ann Walsh, Beavers, and 150 by Ruth Schroetter, Minks.

Perfect Season Almost Habit for Coach Bob Hicks

Coaching football teams through undefeated seasons is becoming a habit with Bob Hicks of 9 Richmond Ave., head football coach at Wagner College on Staten Island.

He guided the Seahawks to a 9-0 record Saturday with a 13-0 victory over Upsala College at East Orange. His Wagner team compiled a 10-0 record in 1964.

The local football mentor's two other undefeated teams were at Juniata College, his first head coaching assignment, where he guided his eleven to 8-0 records in 1954 and 1955.

Since taking the helm at Wagner six years ago, when he also became a Cranford resident, Coach Hicks' Seahawks have compiled a 34-19-2 record.

The local resident, a graduate of Penn State where he played end, participated in the 1948 Cotton Bowl. His team played to a 13-13 tie with SMU. His 1955 Juniata team played Missouri Valley to a 7-7 tie in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

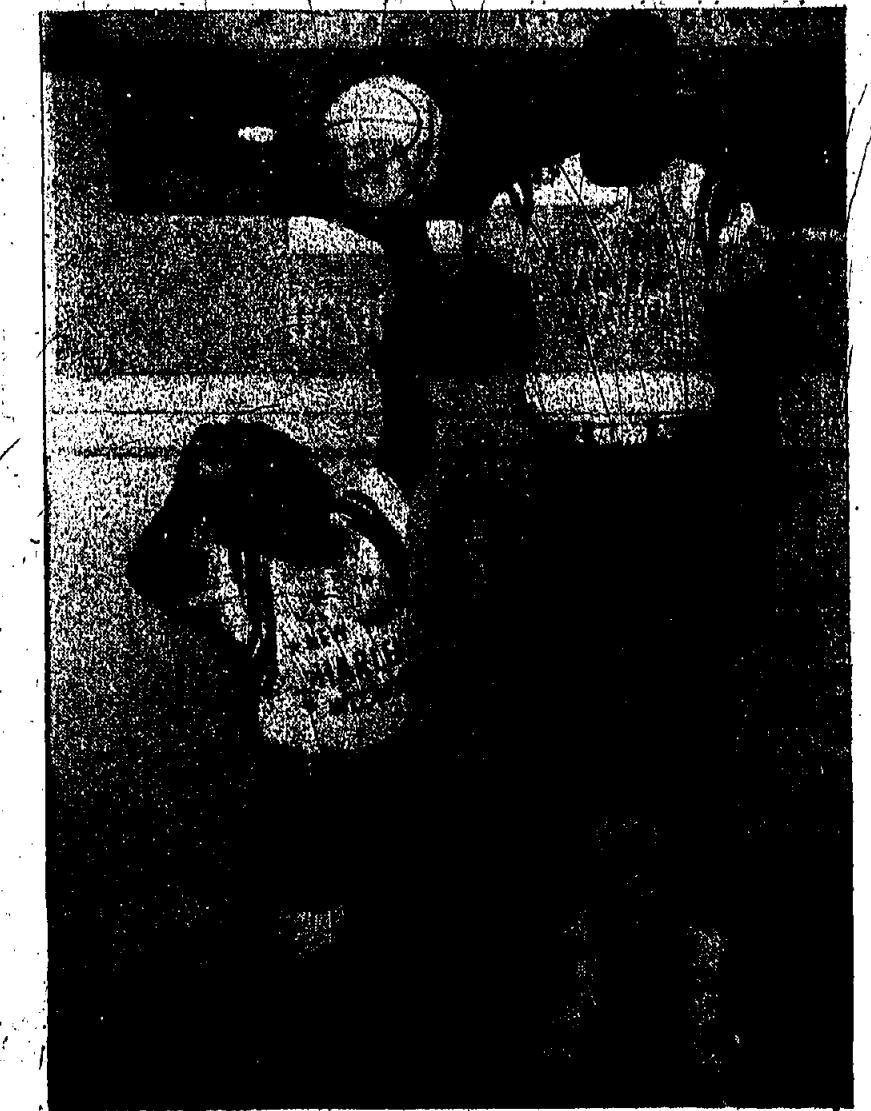

Coach Hicks' hopes for a return engagement in the Tangerine Bowl were dashed Monday when Westchester accepted a bid for the second consecutive year.

A native of Lancaster, Pa., Mr. Hicks served as assistant coach at Albright and Muhlenberg prior to taking the Juniata post. From there he was at DePaul University, Greencastle, Ind., for three years. He spent the 1959 to 1961 seasons at the University of Detroit as assistant coach prior to coming to Wagner in 1962. His 11-year overall record is 66 victories, 33 defeats and 5 ties.

Coach Hicks is married and has a 12-year-old daughter, Melissa, a seventh grader at Orange Avenue Junior High School, who is one of Wagner College's most faithful rooters.

The winner of the contest will be crowned at the annual Christmas Candlelight Supper on December 21.

Best Wishes to All For a Happy Thanksgiving

TO PLAY HERE DEC. 1 — Bobo, Jr., a midget, and LeRoy Wright, 6-10, former All American at the College of Pacific, who will perform here with the Harlem Wizards on December 1 when they meet the Cranford Public School faculty in an exhibition game at the high school gym. The event is under auspices of the Cranford Boosters' Club.

Basketball Buffoonery Here Dec. 1

The Harlem Wizards will play the Cranford faculty in an exhibition basketball game Friday night, December 1, in the high school gym. The game is under sponsorship of the Cranford Boosters' Club.

The Wizards, in operation only a few years, are giving the Harlem Globetrotters a "run for their money" in basketball buffoonery. The Wizards are gaining steadily in renown as an entertaining group. Not only do they have a first rate comedy routine, but they also boast many superb basketball players.

A half-time attraction features the Little Wizards; a group of young boys who put on a dazzling display of dribbling and ball handling. These youngsters have appeared on television and will provide a real treat for local youngsters.

Playing for the Cranford faculty will be Robert Belle, Glenn Allinger, Ray White, Joseph Matticola, Robert Yurochko, David Naylor, Herbert Farrell, Vincent Sarnowski, Warren Pinto, Kenneth Sekella and Charles Messing.

Featured for the Wizards are Bobo, Jr., a midget, and LeRoy Wright, 6-10, an All American at the College of the Pacific. Varsity Wrestling Coach Herb Farrell says he "just can't wait to jump center with Bobo, Jr." John Fox, the referee who toured with the Globetrotters for eight years, will toss up the ball to get the game underway. A limited number of tickets will be sold prior to the game, at reduced prices. These will be available at the three secondary schools and from the physical education instructors at the elementary schools.

Maffey Twins on College Cross Country Teams

Gene and Paul Maffey, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Maffey of 34 Birchfield Ave., who starred as trackmen for Roselle Catholic High School, are continuing their progress this year as college freshmen.

Gene, a University of Pennsylvania freshman, placed seventh in the Columbia Invitational Freshman Cross-Country Championships recently at Cortland Park, New York, as Penn swept to the team title. He had an outstanding dual meet season, never finishing lower than sixth as Penn won six of 10 dual meets.

"Gene's a hard worker," according to his coach, Jim Tupper, "and the work is paying off. He's a real fine boy." The local runner also participated Monday in the Freshman IC4A Championships, also at Cortland Park.

Gene's twin brother, Paul, a fourth classman at the U. S. Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo., is a member of the academy's cross-country freshman team which competed against the Canadian Military Academy in Vancouver, B. C., recently.

Mystery, Humor Combined In 'Catch Me If You Can'

By BARBARA FLORENCE

"Catch Me If You Can," which opened last week at the Cranford Dramatic Club, is a mystery by Jack Weinstock and Willie Gilbert. Or perhaps mystery-comedy would be a better description. It's funny, that's for sure. It's also mystifying, with more surprises per square inch than Aunt Fanny's Afghan. You might call it a mysterious comedy of suspense, with farcical overtones. But whatever you call it, it adds up to an evening of good entertainment.

The first round of applause must go to the stunning set, a posh Catskill retreat with wood-paneled walls, stone fireplace and gorgeous mountain vista beyond tall windows. Charming Early American furniture and wall decorations, aglow in the mellow stage lighting, contribute to the air of rustic affluence. And presiding over the whole with sleepy-eyed condescension is an enormous moodshead, a sign round his neck saying, "Welcome home, darling."

On stage as the curtain opens is Daniel Corban, half of a pair of honeymooners currently inhabiting this heavenly hideaway. The "darling" of the sign refers to his wife, whom he seems to have lost. And that is all that can be divulged of the story in order not to spoil your fun.

Director Ron Randall has deftly led his cast through a plot that twists and turns like a Catskill bridle path. The pacing is crisp, the dialogue witty. After a certain amount of exposition in Act I the stage is filled with action and suspense.

John Dix, who will be remembered as the inane son-in-law, in last season's "Never Too Late," plays Corban. It is a difficult role, one which must display steadily mounting tension, and Mr. Dix sustains the characterization well, progressing through the various stages of worry, frustration, exhaustion and panic to the final climax.

As a foil for the edgy and sometimes hysterical Corban, we have Inspector Levine, the unharried, methodical, wisecracking detective, whose straightfaced jokes would be the envy of any standup comic on the Borscht Belt. Carl Peterson creates a real three-dimensional portrait of Levine, displaying a nice flair for the humorous throw-away line.

Jack Crane, who played the bombastic father in "Never Too Late," once again shows his versatility as an actor. He portrays Father Kelleher, the vacuously smiling priest, whose pious manner occasionally takes on an ominous undertone.

In this play Claire Beer abandons the "dumb blonde" image she created in several former roles. As Elizabeth Corban she is most certainly a blonde, but dumb she is not, as Inspector Levine would say. In fact, the brisk, attractive and very determined Mrs. Corban seems at first to be the ideal wife. Very soon, however, her character reveals a second, more threatening side.

Jack Papp as Sidney, proprietor of Sidney's Sandwich Shoppe, adds another to his gallery of hilarious eccentrics. With the look and strut of a baffled but well-meaning penguin, he elicits laughter the moment he pokes his head through the door. Suffice it to say, when Mr. Papp is involved even murder can be funny.

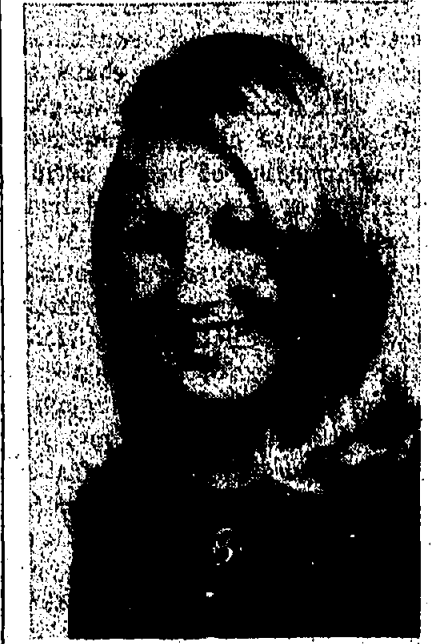

Dottie Strahlendorf makes the most of her brief bit in the third act. From her Twiggy eyelashes to her fishnet stockings she is a vision of empty-headed loveliness.

In true repertory fashion, M. Nobel Anderson, who has had many leading roles in CDS, confines himself to the small but effective part of Mr. Parker, Corban's boss. At the point in Act III when things seem totally confused, Mr. Anderson's strong entrance adds still more confusion and more humor to the general melee.

And when, with one last quirk of its crazy-quilt plot, the play reaches its final curtain, the audience is left somewhere between a gasp and a guffaw. Mr. Randall and his actors have held our interest throughout.

"Catch Me If You Can" will run for two more weekends. Information may be obtained by calling the box office any night between 7:30 and 9:30.

STUDYING IN PUERTO RICO—Miss Bette Kisner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman M. Kisner of 7 Henley Ave., flew from Kennedy Airport on Sunday night to Puerto Rico where she will spend a five-week field period in connection with her studies at Keuka College, Keuka Park, N. Y. In her senior year majoring in nursing, Miss Kisner is assigned to a Presbyterian mission in San Sebastian, Puerto Rico. She will return to Cranford on December 23 to spend Christmas and New Year's with her family, reporting back to Keuka on January 8.

PERSONALLY Speaking

This year marks the fiftieth anniversary of the Russian Revolution. It began in March of 1917 with the women of Petrograd marching in protest to the czar, Dai khab, "Give us bread," went through a period of genuine attempt at democratic reform, and culminated in November of that same year with the coup of the Bolsheviks under Lenin.

PERSONALLY Speaking

The cruel irony is that Lenin had no part, had risked nothing, in the March overthrow of the oppressive Czarist regime. He simply waited in exile until the many factions participating in the revolution had dissipated their strength in endless bickering, and, without so much as a thank you, devoured the chestnuts pulled from the fire by those who had risked everything. Devoured also were the political freedoms the Russian people had in view, if not in their grasp, for these few short months.

PERSONALLY Speaking

The lesson is clear. A democratic center which cannot join to fight oppression from the right without aiding oppressors on the left, or vice versa, fight oppression from the left without aiding the oppressors on the right, usually ends up with the stronger, and, therefore, the worse of two evils.

Authority on Herbs Speaker For Garden Club of Cranford

"Gourmet Gardening and Cooking" was the subject of a talk given by Miss Marjorie McNally to the Garden Club of Cranford last week. Mrs. Jonathan E. Miller of 312 Orchard St. was hostess to the group.

Miss McNally, a lecturer and author, lives in Montclair and has worked in herb gardens there for 10 years. She especially enjoys herb gardening because the herbs can readily be shared with friends. In addition to their textures and aromas, herbs produce blue, white and red blossoms that can be used in arrangements.

She pointed out that herbs have been grown since earliest times for medicinal uses, for seasoning, as ornamentals, for dyes and for fragrance. She gave tips on planning an herb garden, such as sinking herbs in pots into the ground to contain them in a small space. Miss McNally asserted that an herb garden is not usually bothered by insects and needs little pampering.

In cooking, she declared, if one can taste an herb in a dish, then too much has been used. She urged the club members to discover which herbs they liked best and to use them in their cooking. She stated that it was not necessary to season every dish in a meal. She ended her talk by listing herbs which especially enhanced various dishes.

Mrs. William T. Knox, president, conducted the business meeting before the program. She announced that Mrs. J. E. Miller has been named by the board as interim first vice-president until the return of Mrs. W. S. Craft, who expects to be away about six months.

Mrs. F. T. Maxon, Jr., Christmas show chairman, gave a report on the progress, being made in the preparations for the show to be held December 6 and 7 at Sherlock Hall.

Mrs. Robert C. Simons, horticulture chairman, gave tips on grooming plants to be displayed at the show. She explained that leaves should be washed gently by hand with water and detergent and that pots should be scrubbed clean.

Mrs. Charles A. Boilod, conservation chairman, who attended a recent course in landscape design at Rutgers University, told about the "cluster living" method of conserving land whereby communities are planned to make best use of the existing features of the landscape.

Mrs. E. H. Miller was chairman of the tea committee. Assisting her were: Mrs. C. V. Rosencrantz, Mrs. R. L. Tomlinson, Mrs. G. L. Griffith and Mrs. C. B. Schaefer.

Coup Council For Troop 80

Troop 80, Boy Scouts of America, held its traditional "Coup Council" ship Hall of the First Presbyterian last Thursday evening in Fellowship Church with council chief Bill Guinther presiding. George Weisgerber, chairman, opened the program and scoutmaster Richard E. Dolsen explained that Troop 80 scouts advance from rank to rank through the "Coup Council," an Indian ceremonial custom.

Norman J. Goringe, assistant scoutmaster, explained that the purpose of achieving merit badges is to develop worthwhile interests, scoutcraft hobbies, opportunities for personal growth, citizenship participation and preparation for later life. It also develops a high code of honor, self reliance, team work and concern for helping other people. Merit badges were awarded to the following scouts: Jeff Brooks, Peter Caddle, John Charles, Jim Fisher, Steve Goringe, Ron Gousman, Bill Green, Mark Henne, Douglas Jester, Dave Kirlin, George Kirlin, Kevin Nowaskowski, Glen Prinz, Bill Ridley, Bob Segar, Jim Seavy, Tom Seavy and Eric Weis-

Second class awards were made to Curt Jester, Willie Wightman, Doug Krogman and Tom Checkko. Bob Segar, Mark Henne, Eric Weisgerber, John Charles and Bill Green received first class awards. The Star Award was given to Dave Kirlin and Tom Seavy while Glen Prinz received the Life Award.

Hurdon Hastings, district scout executive, presented the Eagle Scout Award to George B. Kirlin. Rev. A. J. Dahlquist, pastor of Calvary Lutheran Church, assisted in the presentation. Letters of congratulations from Sen. Clifford Case and Gov. Richard Hughes to Scout Kirlin were read.

An outstanding attraction of the evening was the presentation of three Indian dances which were narrated by Jeff Miller. The dances, performed by members of the dance team, were the Devil Dance, which illustrates the conflict between good and evil spirits; the Buffalo Dance, which portrays the importance of the buffalo to the Indian and the Eagle Dance, symbolizing the path of a new scout through the scouting ranks to the Eagle Award.

The program closed with an announcement that Troop 80 will make a tour of Washington, D. C. on December 9 and 10. While there they will stay at the Naval Station Barracks in Arlington, Va.
