Dog Tag Check Starting Monday

Dog owners who do not have 1968 tags for their canine pets by Monday may find themselves paying a $5 fine in Municipal Court as well as securing their new licenses, township officials warned this week.

The annual house-to-house canvass by police to check on unlicensed dogs is expected to get underway next week.

The township clerk's office reported a rushing business in dog licenses during the past week with more than 400 having been issued. This brings the total for the year to 1,755 out of an estimated dog population of about 2,000.

CEA Votes School Budget Endorsement

The Cranford Education Association has unanimously endorsed the 1968-69 school budget, it was announced today by Irwin L. Billet, president.

"All-in-all, we feel the board members have done a good job and we call on all voters to support it," Mr. Billet said. "This budget supports the existing educational program and provides some additional staff members to provide an even better program."

Mr. Billet said the association was conservative in its demands this year, particularly because of the spirit of cooperation shown by the Board of Education.

The president of the association said he is especially pleased that the board has provided greater increments for teachers with experience, which he said will help the school system retain and recruit more experienced teachers.

"Our turnover rate is down and we have attracted more experienced people because of improvements in the salary guide for experienced teachers," Mr. Billet said.

The association president said he shares the concern of some board members that the new starting salary of $8,400 may not be high enough to meet the competition of other nearby school districts.

Mr. Billet said the association is "disturbed" by some proposals to reduce even further the funds allocated for library books, textbooks and audio-visual materials.

"We are not for pie-in-the-sky proposals," Mr. Billet said. "We want the best possible educational services for our community. Therefore, we support this budget and urge all citizens of Cranford to support it."

Raises Between $1,078 and $1,878 Slated for School Administrators

Salary increases ranging from $1,078 to $1,878 for public school administrators and supervisors are under consideration by the Board of Education. The new salaries would range from a high of $25,000 for the superintendent of schools to a low of $9,499 for one of the helping teachers.

In a statement released today, Board President Robert P. Biunno said that if the increases are granted, salaries here "will still be within the average range in nearly all cases" when compared with those paid in eight comparable school districts, "even if the other communities were to abandon salary increments or improvements next year."

Current administrative salaries in Cranford are generally below average for the nine districts, Mr. Biunno noted, despite the fact that local administrators have served an average of 26 years.

Communities included in the study were Scotch Plains-Fanwood, Linden, Union, Plainfield, Summit, Westfield, Elizabeth and Rahway. Basis for the information was the Research Bulletin of the New Jersey Education Association dealing with administrative salaries paid in 1967-68.

Mr. Biunno said only two superintendents in the other eight communities (Continued on Page 2)

Gessler General Chairman For 1968 United Fund Drive

Robert M. Crane, president of the Cranford United Fund, announced this week that Albert M. Gessler of 448 Orchard St. will serve as general chairman for the fund's 1968 campaign.

A resident of Cranford for 25 years, Mr. Gessler has been a worker in United Fund drives for the past two decades, including service as a residential district chairman for many years. He served as Golden Gifts chairman in the 1967 campaign and was special gifts chairman in 1966.

Active in the Boy Scouts for over 20 years, including service as scoutmaster, Explorer adviser and district chairman, he joined the United Fund board as Boy Scout Representative. He holds the Silver Beaver, highest award made to an adult scouter.

Mr. Gessler is a senior research associate of Esso Research and Engineering Co. He joined Esso following his graduation from Cornell University in 1942 with an A. B. degree in chemistry. During his years with Esso he has worked with synthetic rubber, especially Butyl rubber, and more recently with ethylene-propylene rubber.

He holds 27 United States patents and has published 18 technical papers in his field.

Mr. Gessler is a member of the American Chemical Society and serves as a director in the society's rubber division. He also is a member of the New York Rubber Group, of which he was chairman two years ago.

Three candidates from a field of seven will be elected to the Board of Education in Tuesday's annual school election. Voters also will take action on the 1968-69 school budget, which calls for an increase of $525,693 in the amount to be raised by taxation.

Budget items to be voted on include $4,087,967 for current expenses and $23,500 for capital outlay.

Of the seven-board candidates three are incumbents seeking reelection to their second three-year terms. They include Robert Biunno of 805 Springfield Ave., director of admissions at Rutgers University, Newark; George Rubine of 10 Crescent Pl., vice-president of Hudson Iron and Metal Co., Bayonne, and James Williams of 1 McClellan St., industrial engineer with Hillside Metal Products, Newark.

The remaining four candidates are: Mrs. Charles Preston of 109 Hampton St., a housewife; Malcolm Savage of 597 Brookside Pl., vice-president and trust officer of the First National Bank of Middlesex County; George White, Jr., of 534 North Union Ave., associate professor in the Seton Hall University School of Education, and George Morton, Jr., of 19 Woods Hole Rd., local attorney.

The first six candidates mentioned have been endorsed by the Joint Civic Committee for Encouraging Candidates for the Board of Education. Complete biographies of all seven are provided in the December 14 and January 11 issues of the Citizen and Chronicle.

The polls will be open from 2 to 9 p.m. in the following polling places: General Election Districts 1 and 15, Sherman School; Districts 2 and 10, Walnut Avenue School; Districts 3 and 14, Cleveland School; Districts 6 and 14, Livingston Avenue School; Districts 7 and 16, Cranford High School.

Also, Districts 8 and 12, Bloomington Avenue School; Districts 18 and 20, Roosevelt School; Districts 5, 11 and 13, Lincoln School, and Districts 17 and 19, Brookside Place School.

Explanation Of Budget Hikes Given by Biunno

"The 1968-69 school budget is an attempt by the Board of Education to maintain a quality school system without an undue financial burden on our taxpayers," Robert P. Biunno, board president, said today.

"Despite these efforts, the budget we have proposed increases the amount to be raised by local taxation by $595,000," Mr. Biunno said. "We fully appreciate what this means to our residents, since we, too, pay taxes."

The board president said a major portion of these increases are mandated by federal or state laws or other factors over which the Board of Education has no control.

Mr. Biunno said the increase in local taxation for schools is caused by two factors: 1. higher appropriations primarily for improvement of teachers salaries, and 2. a drop in revenues caused primarily by a drop in state aid.

Sixty-nine percent of the 1968-69 budget is allocated for instructional purposes, Mr. Biunno said. The budget provides $3,746,434 for instruction, including salaries of teachers, principals, supervisors of instruction, librarians, guidance personnel and supporting office (Continued on Page 5)

35 Men Attend Fitness Clinic At Brookside

More than 35 persons participated in the Cranford YMCA's Fitness Clinic Saturday at Brookside Place School and many either registered or indicated their intentions of taking the Physical Fitness Course which began last night at Orange Avenue Junior High School.

The clinic Saturday began at 10 a.m. and continued until 1:30 p.m. with persons scheduled every 15 minutes. Five appraisal stations were manned by volunteer leaders of the 'Y' and Robert Rule and Tom Thrallkill, directors of physical education at the Newark 'Y' and Westfield 'Y', respectively.

Each participant received a "take home" sheet which included a summary of his test results and a copy of his record was maintained by the 'Y' for use during the fitness course. While these records are the individual concern of the participant, general test results disclosed many basic weaknesses that could be easily corrected by a progressive program of calisthenics and running.

Two Orange Ave. Students Selected for All-State Band

Raises Between

munities are paid less than Cranford's.

Only Cranford's two junior high school principals have salaries above the medium, the board president continued. He pointed out however, that both have more than 20 years' service and both have more responsibilities than most junior high school principals.

Cranford's highest paid elementary principal has the 14th highest salary among the 73 in the nine communities, and Cranford's lowest paid elementary principal has the lowest salary in the nine towns.

"This study points up the need for salary improvements in this important area," Mr. Biunno said. "Recruitment in this area is extremely competitive. Any salary increase the Board of Education may provide for them next year will certainly be deserved."

The proposals under consideration were prepared by the staff at the request of board members to determine what salaries administrators would get if current salary policies were continued, Mr. Biunno explained. He said funds have been provided in the 1968-69 school budget to implement current policies, but no formal action has yet been taken.

Under the proposals, the largest increase would be granted to G. Frank Zimmerman, director of business and plant operations, who now earns 19,248 on a 12-month basis. His new salary would be $21,128.

Dr. Clark W. McDermith, the school superintendent and the only other administrator employed on a 12-month basis, would receive an increase of $1,400 for a total salary of $25,000.

Boosts of $1,731 are earmarked for Anthony J. Terregino, director of supporting services, and Richard G. Wagner, principal of Orange Avenue Junior High School. Employed on an 11-month basis, they would each earn total salaries of $17,782.

Salaries and increments of others employed for 11 months would be as follows: Dr. Charles J. Post, principal of Cranford High School, $18,775, up $1,718; Vincent F. Sarnowski, principal of Hillside Avenue Junior High School, $17,906, up $1,593; Fritz Brown, assistant principal at Orange Avenue, $13,389, up $1,476; Henry Doscher, assistant principal of the high school, $14,906, up $1,284; and Burton Man-del, assistant principal at Hillside Avenue, $14,018, up $1,412.

The following salaries and increments would be paid to staff members employed on a 10-month basis: Philip Cea, principal of Brookside Place and Cleveland Schools, $11,446, up $1,345; Miss Irene Gilbert, principal of Livingston and Walnut Avenue Schools, $15,806, up $1,321; Mrs. Ruth S. Janovsk, principal of Lincoln and Sherman Schools, $15,540, up $1,344; Thomas Tipaldi, principal of Bloomingdale Avenue and Roosevelt Schools, $14,160, up $1,404.

Also Mrs. Marica Lallis, director of curriculum and instruction, $18,990, up $1,510; Miss Beatrice Warner, coordinator of special services, $15,288, up $1,328; Dr. Anne V. Baffey, coordinator of language arts, $14,051, up $1,187; Gabriel A. Massaro, assistant director of curriculum and instruction, $12,907, up $1,377.

Also William G. Martin, director of health and physical education, $14,294, up $1,185; Joseph Gallucci, helping teacher at Lincoln and Sherman, $9,499, up $1,177; Mrs. Geraldine Houskeeper, helping teacher at Livingston and Walnut, $11,584, up $1,184; Mrs. Ruth Kurtz, helping teacher at Bloomingdale

Variety of 4-H Clubs Keep St. Michael's Students Busy

Students at St. Michael's School have been participating in a number of 4-H clubs which meet in the school from 2 to 2:45 on Friday afternoon once a week.

There are 13 clubs and a newspaper, "The Monitor," led by six faculty members, Rev. Joseph V. Derbyshire, and 18 women volunteers. St. Michael's is the only school in the state to hold the club periods during school hours, according to Virgil Widmer, Union County 4-H agent.

There are two arts and crafts clubs. The Rembrandts have 20 members led by Mrs. Patrick J. O'Donnell, assisted by Rev. J. Saunderson. The second club, led by Sister Adrian, has not chosen its name. It has 20 members and Mrs. A. J. French is assistant leader. Father Derbyshire is assistant to both clubs and teaches lettering.

The debating club, the Round Table, has 23 members. Mrs. Paul Curcio is leader, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Specht. Members are all boys.

The Busy Ducks are 12 girls led the 11 girls in the knitting club, called Odds & Ends. Mrs. Eugene Walsh and Mrs. John Leonard are assistant leaders.

The science clubs are for boys and are led by James Cifrodella and Joseph Hand.

The newspaper has a staff of boys and girls led by Sister Ruthanne.

There are two sewing clubs, 30 members combined. The Touch and Sews are led by Mrs. John J. James, assisted by Mrs. William Sorber and Mrs. S. D. Laico. The Tailors are led by Mrs. Eugene Maloney, with Mrs. Leroy Bowman and Mrs. Patrick Walsh as assistants.

The boys and girls selected their own names for the clubs, elected officers and take care of all correspondence with the 4-H office. The leaders use 4-H booklets and materials wherever possible to help achieve their long-range goals of improved character development and good citizenship.

The exhibit includes several oil paintings, including a small boy and his dog on a hill, an old wheel-barrow and a study of three men's heads. It also contains several combined charcoal, pen and ink and oil painting illustrations including one of an old house and another of a dead grouse. The display contains seven abstracts including one framed paint rag.

The youthful artist is one of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fischer of 10 Balmiere Pkwy. His youngest sister, Miss Linda J. Fischer, is a note taker at the Kenilworth Office.

Your Garden

By Your Rutgers Garden Reporter

Think Bigger
Let's say the handyman in your family is tired of building squirrel-proof bird houses and cat-proof dog houses. Wouldn't he like to graduate to something more ambitious? Like a frost-free greenhouse?

Your Rutgers Garden Reporter has a plan with clear drawings and easy-to-follow instructions that could help to keep any backyard at the street corner between May and Spring.

The result would be a rigid frame, plastic covered greenhouse about 10 by 10 feet.

The estimated cost of materials is $35 to $40 for framing, $20 to $210 for plastic covering, $15 to $30 for the foundation, $75 to $125 for a heater, and $50 to $75 for benches where you'll grow your plants.

Just Ask
A horticulturist and agricultural engineer at the University of Illinois wrote the circular, "A Simple Rigid Frame Greenhouse for Home Gardeners." Your College of Agriculture arranged to get a supply for New Jersey gardeners who may be interested.

Also available is another Illinois circular with suggestions for building greenhouses, from a little one that attaches to a sunny window right on up to a barn-size one that's big enough to start a plant business in.

This second publication also has a lot of good stuff about where to locate a greenhouse. It compares the different kinds of plastics, tells about heat needs, and suggests plants suited to greenhouse growing.

Your county agent may not have these, so if you're interested, just send a card to Garden Reporter, College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, Rutgers University, New Brunswick 08903 with your name and address, and "Greenhouse."

Orange Avenue School Band To Perform for Principals

The only junior high school band to perform at the 52nd annual convention of the National Association of Secondary School Principals in Atlantic City will represent Orange Avenue Junior High School.

The 83-member band, under the direction of Alfred F. Patterson, will perform on Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Convention Hall Arena. About 10,000 principals from throughout the United States are expected to attend the convention.

On Monday evening, four Cranford students will perform with the All-State Band in Atlantic City, and six others will perform with the All-State Chorus. Richard Muth and Alan Dolid of Cranford High School and Robert Zobel and David Owens of Orange Avenue Junior High School are members of the All-State Band, while the All-State Chorus members, all students at Cranford High School, are Richard Wagner and Bruce Kent, tenors; Robin Warrington, Wallace O'Brien and Jeff Morris, baritone, and Sue Koch, alto.

The Orange Avenue Junior High School band also will participate in a band festival on February 23 at Trenton State College.

Two members of the band made the all-state band, and seven were selected for the Region II band.

Band rehearsals are held for a half-hour every day during school hours. Seventh and eighth graders have from one to five periods of lessons a week. Thirty-six members of the band are taking private lessons, and 44 of them are in the flute, brass choir, stage band and woodwind ensembles.

The band is composed of 34 tenth graders, 18 ninth graders, 12 eighth graders and 19 seventh graders. The players include 27 girls.

Mr. Patterson, who has conducted the Newark Symphony Band and the Union County Symphony Orchestra, was trombone soloist with the Suburban and Union County Symphony Orchestras. He studies trombone with Roger Smith, first trombonist with the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra. A teacher in Cranford for eight years, Mr. Patterson earned a bachelor of science degree at New York University and a master of arts degree at Trenton State College.

Explanation Of

Continued from Page 1): personnel, and all materials and other expenses of instruction, including textbooks, library books, audio-visual materials and teaching supplies.

The other 31 percent of the budget covers all capital outlay, debt service (mortgage payments), summer school, community services, student body activities, fixed charges, plant maintenance, plant operation, pupil transportation, attendance and health, and administration.

Mr. Biunno said the $3.7 million for instruction includes about $400,000 to provide salary increments and improvements for employees and to create nine new teaching positions. The total also includes funds to implement an agreement with the Cranford Education Association. The major improvement provides for increasing the minimum salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree from $5,900 to $6,400 and for increasing the maximum salary from $10,000 to $10,700. The package agreed to by the board and the association would cost an estimated $212,500 to implement.

The board president said six of the new teaching positions are authorized to reduce the heavy teaching load of 20 teachers in the school system. The budget also provides for an additional remedial reading teacher, a learning disabilities specialist and a guidance counselor.

The $3,766,434 proposed for instructional purposes in the 1968-69 school year is 78.2 percent of the current expense portion of the school budget, Mr. Biunno said. This compares with a national average in 1967-68 of 78.4 percent.

Mr. Biunno said the salary improvements proposed for teachers are designed to attract high quality teachers to Cranford and to keep those teachers who are now in the school system.

"The competition for good teachers becomes more severe each year, and we must remain competitive if the most important segment of our school system — our classroom teachers — is to remain at a high level," Mr. Biunno said.

Candidate Information Going to Homes Tomorrow

Cranford's school children, both in the public school system and St. Michael's School, will be returning home tomorrow with copies of a candidates' information sheet on the seven candidates for the Board of Education.

The sheets, paid for and distributed by the League of Women Voters of Cranford, contain biographical information on the candidates and their answers to a league-posed question on areas of board work in which they feel they could best serve.

The sheets will be distributed to the school children on a one-to-a-family basis and are printed on blue paper for easy spotting. Mrs. Robert Summerville, the league's voters' service chairman, urges all registered voters to "avail themselves of the information therein, and come to the polls on Tuesday."

"School Board elections are poorly attended though they are extremely important," Mrs. Summerville said. "Housewives seem hesitant because of small children but the league can think of no more effective way to instill a sense of responsible citizenship in our future voters than to take them to the polls."

Additional sheets may be obtained at the Public Library, the banks, the municipal clerk's office and at various local stores.

PTO Presenting Board Candidates This Evening

The Cranford Board of Parent Teacher Organizations will sponsor a "Conversation With the Candidates" in the Hillside Avenue Junior High School auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight. The public is invited to this informal discussion program.

The seven candidates for the three vacancies on the Cranford Board of Education to be filled in next Tuesday's election will give brief summaries of their qualifications. The candidates include Robert P. Blunno, George A. Rubin and James Williams, incumbents, and Charles Preston, Malcolm Savage and George White, Jr. Carter Porter, vice-president of the board, will discuss the proposed budget and answer questions. Mrs. R. G. Strobl, PTO president, will introduce the participants. Mrs. A. R. Mirante, special events chairman, will serve as moderator. Representatives of all the PTA's will attend.

The Beautiful You

Of all the tools in your beauty arsenal, it's probably your eye makeup that provides the most fun for you. Who isn't tickled and delighted by all the line and color effects that can be conjured, genie-like, from those tiny kits. And besides the beautiful things you've let us see, you've probably at times stood before your mirror after creating a weirdo winner and asked, "Are you ready for this yet, World?"

But as appealing as these effects can be, and as much fun as they are to do, there are other things, things dull to talk about, that can either make or force you to fake that beautiful, bright-eyed look. They are the basic elements of eye care.

You can negate all that special time and talent you spend by reading too long in improperly directed light. If for beauty's sake you squint rather than put-on your specs, you're serving neither your sight nor your beauty, and of course what girl doesn't know how insufficient sleep can neutralize the finest beauty care. You also should be particularly careful in cleansing and creaming the area around your eyes, using the special mild products designed for this very tender skin.

Local Clergy To Address Peace Group

A panel discussion by five local clergymen representing major faiths will highlight the meeting of Cranford Citizens for Peace at the Methodist Church on Monday, February 19, at 8:15 p.m.

Members of the panel are: Rev. L. Robert Duffy, St. Michael's Church; Rev. George H. White, Jr., First Baptist Church; Rev. Robert Bizzaro, Trinity Episcopal Church; Rabbi Sidney D. Shanken, Temple Beth-El; and Rev. Edwin P. Williams, Cranford Methodist Church. They will discuss "What Can We Do For Peace?" The panel discussion will be followed by questions and "colloquy" from the audience. Admission to the meeting is free and the public is invited.

Cranford Citizens for Peace is a newly-formed non-partisan organization that seeks, by education, community discussion and democratic process, to end the war in Vietnam. In announcing the panel discussion by the community's religious leaders, Herman Lieberman, president of the local peace group, declared:

"Our meeting on February 19 is intended as the first in a series of community dialogues on the Vietnam war. Each day the war continues, more people suffer, more people die — American boys as well as Vietnamese men, women and children. In a land that cherishes peace on earth, good will to men, the war in Vietnam is above all a challenge to the religious community. We hope that our religious leaders will provide us with the spiritual insight needed for the speediest possible peaceful settlement of that tragic conflict."

convinced that economic power in the hands of a few led to that crash and was determined then to follow what I believed the best method of preventing a recurrence of such a situation."

He set up the Forward America Publishing Guild, Inc., in Cincinnati, which soon became the public relations division of the National Federation of Independent Businesses, which has headquarters in San Mateo, Calif.

Mr. Wimmer is in favor of capitalism. He says the American way of life is the "only way to preserve freedom in the land."

"The basis of capitalism is the widespread independent ownership of farm, home and business enterprises wherever practical and possible, with local control over local affairs in government," he contends. "America became the greatest nation in the world because it gave more people and more places an opportunity to participate as individuals in the production of goods and services."

"Capitalism is the best system ever devised, because it has made more somebody out of more nobody than any other system."

He describes his political philosophy as that of a "radical conservative."

"I want to eradicate those things that are bad and conserve those that are good," Mr. Wimmer declared.

He also is the author of more than a dozen hour-long television plays produced by major networks.

Among those serving on the committee with Prof. Fishtein is Prof. Farris S. Swackhamer of Cranford, chairman of the chemistry department, who writes a monthly syndicated bird column and the "Nature" Notes column which appears in the Citizen and Chronicle each week.

The four artists were Cynthia Barnett, soprano; Karen Wilson, mezzo-soprano; Gary Glaze, tenor, and Matthew Murray, baritone, all under the direction of John Ryan. William Nix, manager of the Metropolitan Opera Studio, was narrator.

Arias sung were from "The Barber of Seville," "Carmen," "Faust," "Porgy and Bess," "La Boheme," "Così fan Tutte" and "Rigoletto."

Other programs this year, all arranged through the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, will feature drama and ballet.

He received the DFCs for extraordinary achievement in aerial flight. While participating in an attack on an occupied enemy airfield in April, 1967, the citation relates, the lieutenant "dropped his bombs with deadly accuracy to deal a major blow to the enemy's war-making capabilities."

Then on a mission last July, Lt. Bean "disregarded devastating ground fire and his own personal safety to bomb a heavily defended military storage complex deep in enemy territory."

The lieutenant's Air Medal was for "his outstanding airmanship and courage on other combat missions."

Your Vote Important in School Election To Help Insure Decision by Majority

Another school election, featuring a record budget for the 1968-69 school year and a choice of seven candidates for the three vacancies on the Board of Education will be held Tuesday with polls open from 2 to 9 p.m.

As most residents are well aware, the nation, the state, the community and the local school system are in the midst of a spiraling inflation. No one is particularly enthused these days about the higher cost of anything — particularly taxes.

Higher salaries for everyone from the custodian and the starting teacher right up to the superintendent account for the bulk of the budget increases. These increases, totaling $400,000 for the school staff of about 295 persons, are again the result of the inflationary trend. To put it another way, if Cranford fails to meet the salary competition of schools in surrounding communities, we will not have many experienced teachers left on the staff here within a year or two.

Of the proposed budget of $5,314,932, voters will be asked to approve the raising of $4,467,094 by taxation. This represents an increase of $525,694 in the amount taxpayers will be asked to contribute.

The board wisely decided at the last minute to bond the $96,000 for fire detection equipment to be installed by state order in all buildings before September. A special election later this spring will seek voter approval on this item. It is unfortunate that steps were not taken earlier as suggested editorially by this newspaper to make possible the submission of this item next Tuesday without the additional expense of a special election.

The board will borrow $40,000 for transportation of private school pupils during the current year to help lighten the burden on taxpayers this year. A similar $40,000 item for the coming year is included in the proposed budget. These items also are the result of state legislation, and give a small inkling of some of the mandated items the local Board of Education has to wrestle with along with higher salaries, higher Social Security charges and higher pension and insurance costs.

Out of a total population of more than 28,500, there have been very, very few opposed to the finalized school budget. Some of the minority, however, have been vocal — but without offering constructive alternatives.

As we have mentioned in past years, there probably never has been a budget put together that couldn't be cut somewhere. We have confidence that our Board of Education and professional school staff, fully aware of the many eyes watching their daily operations, will exercise prudence and economy in all expenditures during the coming year.

We strongly recommend a "yes" vote on the school budget next Tuesday.

Township residents are fortunate to have seven qualified candidates—including three incumbents — seeking the three vacancies on the Board of Education. With the many hours involved in regular and workshop sessions as well as special meetings, it seems almost a miracle that the Joint Civic Committee was able to field a full slate. They not only did that, but also interested three additional candidates to offer voters a choice, and a seventh candidate filed after the JCC slate was in. We believe the board will be in excellent hands regardless of which three of the seven are chosen next Tuesday.

Above all, Tuesday's election should represent at least a majority of township voters, and hopefully many more. Too often a vocal minority controls the public schools, one of the community's most important assets, while the silent majority remains away from the polls. Let your vote be counted next Tuesday on both the budget and in the selection of three members of the Board of Education for the coming three years.

If You Need a Willing Worker, the Answer Is YES

The Cranford Youth Employment Service this week issued a reminder to local residents and businessmen that YES office in Sherman School has a complete file available for supplying teenage help to fill a variety of jobs. Prospective users of this service are assured that the quality of help available is of the highest calibre, since it is YES policy to call and get an evaluation of the performance of the employee it supplies.

YES has a roster of some 400 energetic young people who are available on short notice. They stand ready to perform sundry tasks such as snow shoveling, indoor painting, typing, tutoring, baby sitting and mending. You name it and YES can supply a worker to fill the need.

Cranford YES is proud of its record of continuing growth and increasing popularity among local civic groups. Many organizations have taken advantage of the opportunity to have a YES representative speak at their meetings on the aims and accomplishments of this project for the benefit of local youth.

The YES office is staffed entirely by volunteer workers and there is no charge for its services. Contributions are welcome; of course, to help cover the cost of such things as office supplies and telephone service.

You can help in this worthwhile endeavor to provide gainful employment for the teenagers in our community by contacting the YES office, open Mondays through Fridays from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., when you have need for a willing worker to fill a temporary or part-time job.

Your Garden This Week

By Your Rutgers Garden Reporter

Weed Control By The Yard

Here's a new wrinkle for saving work in your garden. It's weed control by the yard.

You may appreciate this if you've had any experience with chemical weed control. First of all, you have to buy the correct chemical to kill the weeds that menace your flowers or ornamentals.

Then you have to be willing to follow all the directions and cautions you find on the label, often in small print. Mix the stuff in something you won't use for anything else. Keep a separate sprayer for weed control chemicals. Don't let the spray drift to plants you don't want to kill. And more.

Only Takes A Little

All this is not necessarily because the stuff is so poisonous, but because a little goes a long way. And it can get out of control, even when you're sure you're doing everything right.

Scientists and manufacturers have been worried about this ever since chemical weed control came in. Then researchers with the U.S. Department of Agriculture tried treating cloth with weed control chemicals, and they found an inexperienced person could use it with accuracy, safety and convenience.

No more mixing, separate containers, spraying. Just cut a piece of the special cloth to fit the area to be treated and go fishing.

The cloth, depending on its weave and texture, eventually breaks down in the soil and disappears.

If several manufacturers now testing the treated cloth like it and think you may buy it, your garden supply store may some day have what looks like a dry-goods department.

Letters to the Editor

41 Roger Ave.
Cranford, N. J.
February 3, 1968

Dear Sir:

The Board of Education of Cranford deserves the confidence and thanks of the voters. They have struggled hard with conscience and budget. The task before them was not an easy one; the problem of financing transportation of non-public school students and installation of fire detection systems could not be detected but had to be solved in the best possible way for the taxpayer and educational system. This accomplished, I encourage every citizen to get out and vote "YES," we support the educational budget.

Respectfully,
Liz Lee

P.S. Thanks to the Citizen and Chronicle for an explanation of "New Rates."

Dear Sir:

On January 31, the Cranford Board of Education adopted a revised 1968-69 school budget which originally called for the largest tax levy increase in the history of Cranford—$681,694.

Independent Colleges Enroll 1/2 of Higher Education Total

The 15-member institutions of the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in New Jersey, including Union College in Cranford, have enrolled this semester nearly half of all the men and women attending institutions of higher education in New Jersey. It was announced today by Dr. William H. McLean, president.

These institutions have enrolled 39,280 students this semester, while 10 years ago their combined enrollments totaled 35,424 — a 27 percent increase. In the same 10-year period, their combined enrollments in graduate schools jumped from 3,737 to 9,284 — an increase of 149 percent.

These statistics are included in a brochure, "New Jersey's Independent Colleges and Universities; Your Other Stake in Higher Education," published by the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in New Jersey.

"A healthy diversity of ideas, a vibrant interplay of divergent philosophies; that's what makes higher education in New Jersey so vital — so alive," according to the association. "New Jersey's 15-member Association of Independent Colleges and Universities is dedicated to maintaining this great resource while serving an ever increasing number of New Jersey students."

"It is because of this tradition that our young people have the freedom to select an institution in the light of their own orientations, their interests, and their ambitions — one that is closest to their own outlook. Only in this context can a student choose the college or university which seems most likely to enable him or her to achieve maximum potential. Diverse opportunities available in all our colleges and universities preserve a student's freedom of choice and guarantee that every student will be given his best chance to become the mature and responsible person nature equipped him to become." Dr. McLean said. New Jersey residents make up an overwhelm-

In an apparent attempt to win voter approval of the proposed budget, the board announced that the amount to be raised by local taxation had been reduced by $156,000. However, it should be noted that this budget "cut" represents an actual expenditure reduction of only $20,000. The remaining $136,000 represents a deferral of expenditures to a later period — not a reduction.

This budget calls for expenditures totaling $5,314,932, and to suggest that it could only be cut $20,000 begs the question: How can it be cut by at least an additional $150,000, and without in any way affecting the quality of the present educational program?

The Cranford United Taxpayers stands opposed to this budget.

Consequently, we hereby recommend to all economy minded Cranford voters and taxpayers that they vote no on February 13.

Cranford voters were to elect three members of the Board of Education from a field of five candidates in the annual school election. They were incumbents Gus A. Gutierrez of 55 Livingston Ave., and Bernard Litwack of 18 Mendell Ave., Mrs. B. G. Gillespie of 210 Elizabeth Ave., Robert H. Seavy of 26 Tuxedo Pl. and Earl L. Shea of 508 Linden Pl. Voters also would be asked to approve local-school taxes for the 1963-64 year totaling $2,680,801, including $2,635,001 for current expenses and $25,800 for capital outlay.

Mayor Nicholas S. LaCorte formally tossed his hat in the ring for the Republican nomination for General Assembly. He was completing his seventh year as a member of Township Committee and his second year as mayor. Another local Republican, Public Affairs Commissioner Wesley N. Philo, announced he would be a candidate for the GOP nomination for reelection to his second term on Township Committee.

The amount of taxes paid by local taxpayers for municipal purposes had decreased 19 percent over the past seven years, Finance Commissioner Farris S. Swackhamer told members of the Republican Club. "In 1956, this would have cost the owner of a $20,000 home $138. This year we estimate it will cost him only $112," the commissioner said. He noted, however, that the tax share for county and local school purposes, had increased over the same period.

Burglary cases in Cranford totaled 38 during 1967, representing an increase of 30 percent over 1961, according to the annual report of Police Chief Lester W. Powell. Over-all statistics in the report showed a slight increase in criminal activity during the year, but they also revealed a like increase in cases solved, the chief pointed out.

The Mothers' March for funds to support the National Foundation's fight against birth defects, arthritis and virus diseases resulted in a collection of approximately $2,200, with some returns still to be made, it was reported by Edward J. Shaheen, local March of Dimes chairman, and Jerry F. DeRosa, co-chairman.

The Army satellite development headquarters under Dr. Werner von Braun was at Huntsville.

Kenneth Estabrook was elected president of the Cranford Young Republican Club; Miss Joanne Getz, vice-president; Miss Betty Owen, secretary, and William A. Davis, treasurer.

Nature Notes

By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER

The first day of spring and the first spring day are not the same. A vast gulf separates the two in time and space. The former is a mathematically second of a particular minute of a particular day, the precise instant when the sun reaches the celestial equator, the vernal equinox of the ancient astronomers. The latter is the day when our familiar feathered neighbors who have gone south for the winter first think about the return journey, finding a mate and raising a family.

The first day of spring is the 21st of March. The first spring day is early in February. What determines the first spring day in the minds of migrant birds? The poet describes the phenomenon as a young man's fancy lightly turning to thoughts of love. The ornithologist knows it as photoperiodism.

swallows swirling over the saw-grass, thousands and thousands of the white-breasted birds skimming low, darting high ... Just south of the Florida line they'd met another, the first wave of robins; "For miles on end we could see robins all about us."

Scientific explanations for migration point the way but haven't, as yet, drafted a universally accepted chart of the reasons. No one theory explains all the vagaries of the feathered population's migratory instincts. Ornithological journals abound in accounts of experiments on the subject. The only recurring factor seems to be photoperiodism, "the response, as affecting growth, reproduction, etc., of a plant or animal to the length of exposure to light in a 24-hour period." In other words, some birds start south when the days begin to shorten and return north when they begin to lengthen.

Students Get Working View Of Free Enterprise System

The economics class of Cranford High School recently participated in a program arranged by the Americans for the Competitive Enterprise System, a non-profit organization interested in increasing economic understanding among young people. The purpose of the three-part program was to enable the students to relate abstract economic theory to a specific industrial practice.

The program began with a film shown detailing parts of the free enterprise system. The following day, the class, led by Harry Lawrence, took a tour of the Buffalo Tank Division of the Bethlehem Steel Corp., located in Dumellen. The tour was conducted by John Hornbeck, who showed the students the production, technical and general services departments. This was followed by a question-and-answer period conducted by the chief engineer, head of the technical department and head of the general services department.

Following this, a representative of the Buffalo Tank Division visited the classroom, at which time there was a discussion of employment opportunities, foreign competition and the role of government in private enterprise.

This is the second year a Cranford High School economics class has participated in this program, and Mr. Lawrence hopes the program will continue in the future.

A study of management and labor, culminating in a three-day visit with business officials of the Sunshine Biscuit Co., was concluded recently by Mrs. Lydia Polglase's sociology students. Arranged by ACEE, the study planned to acquaint high school students with the organization and problems of management and labor. Of particular interest to the students were the topics of automation, job security, employment practices and contract negotiations.

A film on "United States Economy" was shown and discussed at the high school by David Jones, the ACEE representative. When the class visited the Sayreville plant of the Sunshine Biscuit Co.,

Individual badges were awarded to Carol Thorston, Mary Ushay, Diane Gallagher, Jean McGee, Jane McGee, Theresa Madonia, Ann Chapman, Andrea Galuppo, Karen Clark, Margaret Ahimovic, Marie McGurk and Jeanne Cleary.

A LOOK TO THE FUTURE

BY YOUR BOARD OF EDUCATION

A school budget is really a look into the future. It means determining 18 months in advance what will be required to serve a projected number of school-age children to prepare them for a complex new world. We must provide today what these young people will need to live in the uncharted world of 1988 and beyond.

Budgeting is simply a forecast of things we think we will need to serve the 6,300 children who will be in our school system, beginning September of 1968. Much of this forecasting is, of course, based on previous experience. But much of it is based on assumptions which may or may not materialize.

Much of this budgeting is really done by others: the state which requires us to educate all handicapped children, to provide transportation for non-public school children, to pay our teachers a minimum salary, or the federal government which dictates an increase in Social Security payments, or other school districts which raise teachers salaries and force us to do the same if we are to attract and keep the best teachers.

With these factors in mind as well as the tax burden all of us must bear, we have come up with a budget which will continue our school system at its present educational level, which meets all our commitments required by law and previous policies, and which keeps the burden on our taxpayers at a reasonable level.

About 70 percent of the entire budget is devoted to instructional costs.

We have provided an additional $400,000 to provide salary increments and improvements for all employees, including our 395 teachers, principals, supervisors of instruction, librarians, guidance personnel and supporting office personnel.

The budget provides funds to increase our minimum teachers' salary from $5,900 to $6,400. These improvements in the teachers' salary guide are designed to keep our school system competitive in attracting and keeping high quality teachers.

Six new teaching positions are included to reduce the heavy teaching load of 20 of our teachers, and funds are provided for an additional social worker, a learning disabilities specialist, and a guidance counselor.

Since an up-to-date school system requires modern textbooks, periodicals, audio-visual materials and library books, we have provided funds for them. This budget includes about the same amount of money in these areas as we are spending this year.

We will be spending a slightly smaller percentage of our entire budget for instruction in the next school year than we are spending this year despite the substantial increase of more than $400,000.

We realize it takes more than teachers to operate a good school system. Among the more important of these assistants are our custodians, matrons, and maintenance men. They have the vital tasks of keeping our 11 school buildings open and ready for use at all times and of protecting our large investments in these structures.

The new budget being presented to our taxpayers contains salary improvements for thirty-eight custodians, three matrons, and two maintenance men. It also provides for hiring three additional custodians, and an additional full-time maintenance man.

The national average for plant operations and maintenance is 12 percent of the total budget. We are budgeting only 8.3 percent of the entire budget for these services—and this is 3 percent less than this year's percentage.

This budget also provides funds for administration, attendance and health services; transportation, student activities, community services, summer schools and fixed charges. Fixed charges are things like pension payments, Social Security and insurance. They are another good example of costs over which the school board has no control. They are mandated by outside agencies, but we must provide the funds.

Another example of a mandated increase in this budget is transportation. A new state law requires us to provide transportation for non-public school students to schools within 20 miles of their homes. This mandated item will cost us $40,000 next year.

The amount you are being asked to provide by local taxes for the 1968-69 school year is higher by about $525,000 more than for the 1967-68 school year because of two factors: 1. the appropriations to run the school system are higher, and 2. our revenues are lower.

Our appropriations are up primarily because of the need to provide salary increments for all teachers, salary improvements for teachers and other personnel to remain competitive with other school districts. And the addition of nine new teaching positions. These cost slightly more than $400,000.

A jump of $40,000 is caused by the new state law requiring transportation for local children attending non-public schools.

Our revenues are down because our unappropriated balances are about $15,000 smaller than a year ago, which has the same effect as losing that much revenue, and our state aid next year is $58,401 less than for the current year.

This means our local taxpayers are being asked to provide about $525,000 more for the 1968-69 school year. This is an increase in the amount to be raised by local taxation of 10.8 percent.

In our budget deliberations, every effort was made to keep the burden on our local taxpayers in mind. We have put off the payments of this year's transportation of non-public school children, for example. This money will be borrowed after April 1 (with the state paying the interest costs). And we will ask you to approve later this year a bond issue of $90,000 for fire detection system for all our schools, which is required by regulations of the State Education Department.

These steps were taken to limit the tax burden in 1968, but these costs will, of course, have to be faced in the future.

Drama Club Cast Announced For 'Once Upon a Mattress'

A romantic old fairy tale will turn into tongue-in-cheek fun when "Once Upon a Mattress" opens at the Cranford Dramatic Club on February 16 under the direction of Dr. John A. Olson, with George W. Morton, Jr., assisting him and Mrs. S. B. Hill on the book.

As the original story had it, there was a prince who traveled far in search of a real princess to marry. But finding none without fault, he came home without a bride. One spring night a maiden came to the castle and said she was a real princess, though she did not look like one as her clothes streamed with rain.

That she got soggy from a rain-storm in the original fable didn't especially add to her character, so the authors of this musical version have her enter drenched, because she had swum across the castle moat.

Following how "shy" she is, Joyce Owen, as the stilette Cinderella, sets out to prove how tenderly she has been reared, in order to win the heart of Prince Dauntless the Drab, victim of royal momism, played by Joe Vitullo.

Mrs. Owen was seen onstage last year in "The Women" and the year before in "Kiss Me, Kate" and Mr. Vitullo's recent plays include roles in "Sunday in New York," "The Glass Menagerie" and "Kiss Me, Kate."

The diabolical Queen Aggravain, played by Gerda Czyborra, determines to test Wifred's questionable claim of royalty. This will be Mrs. Czyborra's first major role. She previously appeared in productions of "Dracula," "Pirates of Penzance" and "The Women."

Unable to utter a word, the King, played by Bill Duncan, will keep him from feeling left out of things as the others rehearse their lines, director Olson has given Mr. Duncan a script—one hundred blank pages.

The soggy princess finds herself allied with the minstrel, a casual philosopher, played by George Val Beer, and the kingdom's wily wizard, Dick Keppler.

Eager to help, too, are the knights and ladies of the court who are unable to marry until a mate has been found for their outcast prince. Phyllis Barmak and Ed Kowalski play two desperate lovers, and the conspiring court members are Fran Massa, Elnora Skillman, June Colas, Jen. Dunnan, Helen Gallant, Peg Ruff, Sue Chandler, Carol Sliker, Mike Stanton, Bill vonBulow, Bob Pells, Bill Finnegan and Bob Scherer.

Linda Herman will be the gaily-feathered Nightingale of Samarkand, and Arlene Costanza will play the page.

The box office at the theatre, 78 Winans Ave., will be open every evening, Monday to Friday, from 7:30 'til 9:30 through the run of the show. Performance dates are: February 16, 17, 23 and 24 and March 1 and 2.

Qualifications For School Board Members Cited

The Citizens' Committee for the Re-election of Robert Biunno, George Rubine and James Williams to the Cranford Board of Education today released the text of a letter mailed to officers and past officers of Cranford organizations. The letter reads as follows:

"The Educators Encyclopedia has set forth the following qualifications for membership on a Board of Education:

"1. A member of a Board of Education must be a person of integrity, and one who is not only willing but able to devote whatever time is necessary to matters pertaining to the operation of the school district.

"2. Members of the Board of Education must be individuals who can work as a team, not as free-lance agents. They must be willing to abide by the decisions of the majority of the board members and cooperatively confine their activities and actions to established board policies.

"3. They must be persons who the members of your organization for their reelection."

"Harry Baron, chairman of the committee, said he felt all voters should put the above qualification test to candidates of their choice on election day.

He also stressed the importance of all qualified voters going to the polls on February 13 to vote for three candidates of their choice, and he declared that "if this is not done, the destiny of the public school system headed by an elected Board of Education will be left in the hands of a minority of the citizens in the community."

Rotary Club Hears Talks By School Board Candidates

Six of the seven candidates for the three vacancies on the Board of Education in Tuesday's annual school election outlined their conceptions of the "proper function of a Board of Education" in talks before the Rotary Club of Cranford last Thursday in Marisa's Restaurant. Board President Robert Biunno, seeking reelection, was unable to attend because of a prior commitment.

Mrs. Charles Preston said the board should set policy and the superintendent should carry it out. Ideally, she said, the superintendent, professional school staff, school board and community should work together in handling school problems.

Mrs. Preston declared the Board of Education here has submitted "unrealistic budgets." She suggested formation of a budget review committee, composed of business people and townpeople, to go over the tentative budget after it has been prepared by the superintendent and the professional staff and before it is submitted to the voters.

George W. Morton, Jr., said some communities are considering changing to an appointive board because of the small turnout at elections and the cost of holding elections. He said some elective boards are becoming "rubber stamps" for the school administration. The candidate urged that the school board be in better contact with the community. Mr. Morton declared that "Cranford wants quality education and will pay for it if they are convinced they are getting it." He later stated he favored an elective board so that school matters would be kept out of politics.

George Rubine, seeking reelection to a second term, likened the superintendent of schools to the executive branch of the federal government, the Board of Education to the legislative branch and the public to the judicial branch. The incumbent told of increased costs in all areas of education and asserted that the quality of a community is related directly to the quality of education.

"Public education has been one of the great forces in this country—one which can help keep the country great," Mr. Rubine concluded.

Malcolm Savage said the duties of the Board of Education are to develop and constantly improve the school program, personnel and physical facilities. He said it is necessary to maintain two-way communication with the public at all times. He said a school board is dealing with man's two most prized possessions—his loved ones and his pocketbook—and he added that he was not sure in which order of importance.

George White, Jr., likened the Board of Education to the board of directors of a large corporation. The product—education—is not an easy one to measure, however, he declared. He said most corporations would want someone with an intimate knowledge of the business serving on the board. As a former teacher here, he said he possessed this knowledge. He said he is concerned with what can be done in the present system to prepare students to fit into the world of tomorrow. He declared he would "very much like to be a part of helping to shape a quality educational program to fit youngsters for the 21st century."

James Williams, also seeking reelection, asserted that a Board of Education needs to be concerned with the development of a budget that will support quality education. He noted that dollars are very important right now, pointing out that the cost of educating a child from kindergarten through 12th grade here comes to about $10,000. And then college or other advanced training is beyond this. He declared that the local school board "never again will deny the public their right to know" what is going on in the schools or about the schools.

Past President Ita D. Dorian, chairman of the Joint Civic Committee for Encouraging Candidates for the Board of Education, arranged the program. He said next Tuesday's election is important to every resident and urged a large turnout at the polls.

President Edwyn M. Lewis presided. The club will have a joint luncheon today with the Rotary Club of Westfield at Cranford Methodist Church.

Damage Suit Filed In Fatality Case

William R. Ducean, Jr., of 4 Berkeley Pl., filed a damage suit in Superior Court in Elizabeth on Friday in connection with the death of his daughter, Marcia, following a two-car collision on May 6, 1967, in Westfield.

Children's Shelter One Year Old

The Union County Children's Shelter, located on the grounds of Runnells Hospital, Berkeley Heights, is marking its first anniversary this month. Until the agency started, the Board of Freeholders had purchased care for abandoned, evicted, abused or neglected children at Jabot Memorial Home, Elizabeth, on a limited basis. Realization that more extensive facilities were required led to establishment of the present shelter.

In the first year, 207 children were cared for and the average population ranges from 15 to the shelter's capacity of 24. Mrs. C. F. Hansel, Jr., of Cranford, is a mem-

Home Arts Class at CHS Has 'Demonstration Baby'

Mark Gynes, 22-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gynes of 6 Rogers Norton Pl., joined Mrs. Cora Foltz' home arts class at Cranford High School as a "demonstration baby" recently. The class has been engaged in a unit of work on the care of children from infancy to early childhood.

Mark, accompanied by his mother, willingly demonstrated his expectations of child care. He was fed, entertained with stories, played with, and otherwise cared for by various members of the class. Mark had forgone his usual afternoon nap so that his schedule would coincide with the one at the high school.

While many aspects of child care were discussed and demonstrated by Mrs. Foltz and Mrs. Gynes, it was unanimously agreed by the class that the one on which babies thrive best is the love that is given and shown them.

School Budget Goes To Voters Tuesday

KENILWORTH — Voter action on the proposed $724,594 school budget for 1968-69 will highlight the annual school election here on Tuesday. There is no contest for seats on the Board of Education.

The ballot will list $537,484 as the amount to be raised by taxation for current expenses and $1,960 for capital outlay.

Adding the levy for debt service, the total tax is $800,852, an increase of $40,608. This would result in an 11-point hike in the tax rate.

Total appropriations are up $46,047 over the current year. Major increases are for teacher salaries, plant maintenance, fixed charges and transportation costs, with lesser hikes provided for administration, attendance and health, plant operation and capital outlay.

The four unopposed school board candidates are Mrs. Shirley LoBianco of 26 N. 12th St., a housewife, and former Harding School PTA president; Dominick W. Chango of 215 N. 12th St., a sales manager with Allied Equipment Co., Bayonne; Robert Krepin of 33 Park Dr., an employe of Hyatt Heller Bearing Co., Clark; and Gabriel V. Pierre of 62 Birch Ave., manager of the Central Avenue Bus Line in Union City and Jersey City.

Mrs. LoBianco and Mr. Pierre are incumbents. She is seeking reelection to her second three-year term, and he is seeking election to a two-year unexpired term after being appointed to the board last year to fill a vacancy. The other two candidates are running for three-year terms.

Incumbents Dory Himpele, board president, and Chester Lewis are not seeking reelection.

The polls in Harding School will be open Tuesday from 3 to 9 p.m.

Jack Dunn, league president, stressed that this will be the last opportunity for boys to sign up. All registrants must be between the ages of 8 and 15 as of July 31, and each must be accompanied by a parent.

Seek Leader For Local Pioneer Boys

KENILWORTH — The Kenilworth chapter of Pioneer Boys of America is seeking a permanent troop leader, it was announced by David W. Crookall of 24 Sherwood Rd., Pioneer senior field marshal.

"The only requirements for a troop leader are that he enjoys the opportunity to work with boys," Mr. Crookall said. "Anyone can apply for this position and will be given basic training before taking over the troop duties."

The local troop, sponsored by the Kenilworth Jaycees, has a membership of 18 boys between the ages of 8 and 21. Meetings are held Friday nights at 7 at Kasbarian Hall or at the Harding School gymnasium, which is open on the second and fourth Fridays of each month.

Activities now being planned include an overnight camping trip, winter hike, bicycle trip and court of awards.

Adults serving on the committee in charge of the group are: Thomas O'Brien, chairman; Gus Davis, Jaycee representative; Ludwig Rottman, Jr., Walter Knowles, and Mr. Crookall.

WALTER E. BORIGHT, JR.

Boright, Jr. To Perform With Met

KENILWORTH — Walter E. Boright, Jr., of 42 N. 20th St. has been selected to perform with the Metropolitan Opera Co. in "I Am the Way" at New York City's Lincoln Center on Palm Sunday, April 7.

A member of the "I Am the Way" cast for about three years, he last appeared in the opera last October in Lancaster, Pa., portraying the disciple Matthew. He will play the same role in the upcoming performance, opposite Jerome Hines, author of the work and well-known basso with the Met. Mr. Hines will appear as Jesus Christ, on whose life the opera is based.

Mr. Boright, who combines his musical activity with a career as a councilman here and a teacher of social studies and English at the Charles H. Brewer School, Clark, was graduated from Newark State College in 1966. While there he was active in many musical and theatrical organizations, appearing in productions of "Carousel," "South Pacific," "Down in the Valley," "Marriage of Figaro," "The Magic Flute," "The Fantasticks" and others.

He had the leading role in the musical, "Morningtown," written by Lanny Ross, when it was premiered at Newark State, and received personal direction from Mr. Ross.

The 23-year-old tenor also sang at the New York World's Fair and appeared on television two years ago with his wife, the former Pamela E. Zarddecki of Linden. The couple performed a duet on the "Ted Mack Amateur Hour."

In addition, they have sung before civic, political, social and charitable organizations and at church services and weddings. One of their performances was presented before the ambassador from South Vietnam when he toured this area in 1965.

Rgl. Budget Voted Down In Garwood

The regional school budget was voted down by Garwood residents in Tuesday's regional election and narrowly missed defeat in Kenilworth. Over-all, however, it was passed by voters in the district's six towns.

The total vote was 897 in favor of and 466 against the current expense item of $4,689,199 and 675 in favor of and 480 against the capital outlay item of $96,133. Voter turnout was 1.85.

In Garwood, voters rejected the current expense item 188-38 and the capital outlay item 189-34. The turnout was 228, heavy for a regional school election although less than 9 percent of the 2,549 registered voters. A year ago only 90 borough residents turned out and they approved the budget by a substantial margin.

In Kenilworth, the wto budget items squeaked through by votes of 25-21 and 24-22, respectively for current expenses and capital outlay. A scant 46 residents voted out of 4,293 registered. This compares with a turnout of 45 last year and votes of 37-3 and 38-5 in favor of the two items.

Among the other communities in the district, Mountainside, Berkeley Heights and Springfield approved the budget and Clark defeated it.

Total appropriations amount to $6,628,523, with an increase of $860,457 in the tax levy.

Heart Fund Goal Set for Borough; Seek Volunteers
KENILWORTH — A goal of $1,800 has been set for the Kenilworth portion of the Union County Heart Association's annual fund drive this month, it was announced today by Mrs. Marie Moscaritolo, chairman.

Seven Candidates Seeking Three School Board Posts in Garwood

GARWOOD — Borough voters will name three members of the Board of Education for three-year terms from a field of seven candidates and also take action on the proposed budget for the 1968-69 school year at the annual school election next Tuesday. The polls will be open from 3 to 9 p.m.

The trustee candidates include two incumbents, Howard J. Troeber of 307 Hemlock Ave., completing his first three-year term on the school board, and James Scanelli of 422 Locust Ave., who was elected to a one-year unexpired term last February.

The other board member whose term is expiring is Arthur D. Desch of 339 Speland Ave. He is not seeking reelection.

Also seeking election to the board are Robert C. Featherstone of 306 Century St., Robert A. Nicholas of 639 Myrtle Ave., Robert S. O'Hara of 224 Second Ave., Herman F. Pfeifer of 123 Winslow Pl. and Richard J. Polidore of 224 Locust Ave.

Statement by Board Urges Approval of School Budget
GARWOOD — A statement explaining increases in items in the proposed budget for the 1968-69 school year and declaring that "if our budget is defeated, it will be most difficult to make any substantial reductions which in our view will not be harmful to Garwood, its citizens and children in the long run" was issued today by the Board of Education.

Following is the text of the board statement:

"We, on the Board of Education, are genuinely concerned with the fact that the budget and the local tax levy are going up by substantial amounts. However, our position in this regard is certainly not unique, and having spent considerable hours in allocating amounts to the various accounts, we see little alternative than what has been proposed.

"The greatest portion of our increase is due to teachers' salaries. There has been much publicity given to the status of the teacher, not only on the local level but throughout the county, state and even the country.

"In Garwood, the starting salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree is $5,750. The Board of Education proposes to increase this to $6,200 for 1968-69. The maximum (Continued on Page 2)

Meeting Wednesday
GARWOOD — The Borough Council session regularly scheduled for Tuesday night will be held at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday next week because of the school election on Tuesday.

South American Missionaries Speak at Presbyterian Conference

GARWOOD—The fifth annual Missionary Conference held by the Garwood Presbyterian Church, which began last night with a discussion of "The Divine Breath," will continue its program through and including Sunday evening.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Rev. Harry Peters of Valencia, Venezuela, will show slides depicting the work on the field. The new General Mission Interpreter for the Synod of New Jersey, he holds a Th. M. degree from Princeton Theological Seminary and has served in Guatemala, Chile and Venezuela.

Rev. Mr. Peters, who engaged in evangelistic work and teaching, served in Chile as secretary for the Missionary Fellowship and as executive secretary of the Venezuela Mission. He was the mission's delegate to the first conference of Presbyterian Churches of Latin America held in Brazil in 1955. Before coming to the Synod of New Jersey, the Peters' lived in Valencia, a rapidly-growing city of a quarter-million inhabitants, where Rev. Mr. Peters was pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

Tomorrow evening "Vietnam Profile," a motion picture produced by Dr. Bob Pierce for World Vision, Inc., will be shown at 8 p.m. at the Garwood church. This just-completed film is a sound-color documentary which takes the viewer through war-torn Vietnam, portraying the drama of God at work in the midst of war.

Dr. Pierce spent the major part of the last two years in Vietnam producing this film and at the same time established his organization's vast relief program there. The people, aboriginal mountain tribespeople as well as the Vietnamese themselves, are seen. The film shows actual combat scenes, follows missionaries and Vietnamese Christians in their faithful and often heroic labors for Christ while depicting the ministries of a typical U.S. chaplain.

World Vision, Inc., with its international headquarters in Monrovia, Calif., cares for over 20,000 orphans in 20 countries. It has launched an all-out aid program in Vietnam, building refugee centers, providing crutches and wheelchairs for war amputees, distributing countless thousands of relief packets and supporting war widows as well as blind students, orphans and other needy children.

Saturday's Missionary Conference presentation, beginning at 8 p.m., will feature Rev. G. Chalmers Browne of Recife, Brazil, who will narrate a slide program on the work in Brazil. Rev. Mr. Browne, son of Presbyterian missionaries in China, spent his early life there. A graduate of the College of Wooster in Ohio and Princeton (N. J.) Theological Seminary, he is married to Pauline Landes, the daughter of Presbyterian missionaries in Brazil.

Pastor of the Salineville Presbyterian Church, Ohio, for four years, he became a missionary in 1944 in Chehshien, China, where he engaged in rural evangelism. When political conditions in that country compelled him to leave, he was transferred to Brazil in 1950. There he traveled over a wide area to many small towns and isolated farms conducting worship services, Sunday Schools, Bible schools and youth conferences.

He became interested in the field of literacy and in recent years has spent much time and effort in this work. He is pastor of the congregation at Recife and his wife and daughter have been active in the Sunday School.

Both Rev. Mr. Browne and Clifford Greene of Cochabamba, Bolivia, will speak to the Sunday School at 9:45 on Sunday morning. Mr. Greene will be the guest speaker at the Sunday evening service finale which will begin at 7 p.m. A feature will be a service with the Jungle Aviation and Radio Service (JAARS) of the Wycliffe Bible Translators. Mr. Greene builds and services radio equipment which enables the home base to maintain communications with the translators in isolated areas.

Statement by Board
for this same individual is now $9,700, which may be reached in 15 years. The Board of Education proposes to increase this maximum to $10,400.

"What is the effect of these proposals in terms of increments to our teachers? On a percentage basis, this amounts to a raise of about 9 percent for each teacher.

"A major factor influencing our salary guide is its relation to those in other communities with whom we must compete for the services of a teacher. In our case, it is not good, despite the fact that we have made a conscious effort to improve our position, within reasonable limits.

"Our proposed starting salary of $6,200 is lower than Berkeley Heights, Clark, Cranford, Elizabeth, Hillside, Linden, Mountainside, New Providence, Rahway, Roselle, Roselle Park, Scotch Plains, Springfield, Summit, Union, Westfield and Winfield. The story is the same with our proposed maximum, except there is one more community to add — Kenilworth.

"Whatever advantages there may be to teaching in Garwood, those are not enough to permit the Board of Education to continue a salary scale which will not attract teachers with the qualifications necessary to provide Garwood children with a sound education.

"Many of the budgetary items are fixed by law and/or are relatively inflexible. For example, our contributions to state and Federal pension programs have increased, and there has been a sizeable increase in the cost of education and transportation of atypical children. These are a few of the items over which we have little control. Maintenance of our buildings and grounds is another costly item, and it would be imprudent, if not unsafe, to try to effect any large economies here.

"If our budget is defeated, it will be most difficult to make any substantial reductions which in our view will not be harmful to Garwood, its citizens and children in the long run. Consequently, we urge you to cast an affirmative vote for our budget on February 13. Garwood needs your help."

Westfield Edges Cougars 54-52, Roselle Catholic Romps 71-45

By CRAIG SNYDER
Despite a tremendous rally in the closing minute, Cranford dropped a 54-52 decision to Westfield here Friday night to go into third place in the Watchung Conference standings and then bowed 71-45 to a strong Roselle Catholic team here Tuesday afternoon.

The Cougars, who had won six consecutive games, are now in a three game losing slump, but still trail Westfield and Scotch Plains by only half a game.

Trailing 54-45 with 48 seconds to go, Jay Haddad and Ron Schwartzbach tallied successive markers to cut the deficit to five points with 21 seconds remaining. Haddad was fouled. He made the first of a one and one situation, missed the second and grabbed the rebound and was fouled again with 12 seconds showing on the clock.

Westfield took a 73 lead in the opening quarter but Haddad and Bill Miller brought the Cougars back to a 19-19 lead at the close of the period.

Wrestling Team Drops Decision To Rahway 25-23

Cranford High School's wrestling team lost a close decision to Watchung Conference rival Rahway at the victors' mat Friday by a 25-23 score. Thus, the Cougars grapplers four match win streak was ended by the once-headed Indians.

Once again undefeated Jeff Valentin led Cranford by recording the Cougars' only win. Jim Farrell continued his winning streak and raised his record to nine wins and one loss. In a tightly fought heavyweight match Herbster of Cranford and Ingram duffed to a 2-2 tie.

Senior Hockey Club Team Breaks Even

Cranford Hockey Club's senior skaters broke even over the weekend, losing to a powerful West Point, N. Y., aggregation, 7-1, on Saturday and walloping the Mountain Lakes Hockey Club seniors, 7-1, on Sunday. The local team now sports a 13-6-1 season record.

Three of the local hockey clubs suffered defeats at West Point Saturday. The PeeWees bowed 5-1 with John Giordano making the lone Cranford tally. The juniors dropped an 8-3 decision. Joe Gaspari played an outstanding game for the local club and scored two goals. Bill Hogan made the other Cranford tally.

The senior club was up against the strongest opposition of the season. Playing an outstanding game for the West Pointers was Jay Kelly, son of the varsity hockey coach for the Army, who is rated as one of the outstanding scholboy performers in the area.

Rutgers Hockey Mentor Lauds Coach Bob Crane

Bob Crane, coach of Cranford Hockey Club teams for the past decade, was paid high tribute this week by Geoffrey Gould, Rutgers hockey coach, who said the local hockey mentor "keeps developing good hockey players every year."

And Coach Gould should know for no less than three players on the current Rutgers team hail from Cranford and got their start in the sport with local teams, and two former Rutgers team members were from Cranford.

Ruce-Angelback of Cranford is left wing on the Scarlet team while freshman defenseman Kevin Billet is in third place in the team's scoring race. Bill Foreman, right wing for Rutgers, is one of two seniors who have spent four years with the club and is another alumnaus and a former star of the Cranford Hockey Club.

Dudley Chase played for the Rutgers Club before going to the naval academy and Bob O'Reilly, a former star defenseman for Cranford, is another former Rutgers team member.

Hockey at Rutgers is very much like it is here—operated on a club basis. The university aids to a small extent financially, but players purchase much of their own equipment and take ice time, particularly for practice sessions, whenever and wherever they can find it. Currently, they work out three nights a week at Princeton's Baker Rink and use the Ocean Ice Palace in Brick Township and the Princeton Day School rink for home game centers.

Coach Gould is assistant to Robert P. Biunno, director of admissions at Rutgers and president of the Cranford Board of Education. Mr. Gould probably hears even more about Cranford from Mr. Biunno than he does from his Cranford hockey team members.

Present Task Force Report On Respiratory Diseases

Are we a society slowly choking ourselves to death? The New Jersey Tuberculosis and Health Association states that on the basis of various health surveys, up to 14 million persons in the United States suffer from some form of respiratory disease.

The association says the problem is so serious that the United States Public Health Service and the National Tuberculosis Association have made specific suggestions for immediate action and long-range planning to treat and rehabilitate the thousands of citizens who are disabled every year from respiratory diseases.

Their proposals are presented in a report titled "Task Force on Chronic Bronchitis and Emphysema." Their recommendations stem from reviewing the causes and effects of these diseases. The study said there is overwhelming evidence these illnesses occur most often in cigarette smoking men, over 45, who live in urban areas.

"There were 30,641 deaths in 1964 attributed to emphysema, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, asthma or chronic interstitial pneumonia," the report states. "These chronic respiratory diseases were designated as contributory causes for an additional 50,000 deaths in 1964. The number of deaths attributed to emphysema and chronic bronchitis, the most numerous category of chronic respiratory diseases, is doubling every five years."

The Task Force Report points out that emphysema is the second most frequent diagnosis among workers becoming eligible for disability pensions.

The following recommendations are made for a program designed to contribute to the eventual control and improved management of these diseases:

1) Research—Expansion and acceleration of basic, epidemiologic and clinical research in chronic bronchitis and pulmonary emphysema are strongly recommended.

2) Cigarette Smoking—The prevention of a major portion of future chronic bronchitis and its complications can be accomplished by a drastic reduction in cigarette smoking. To implement this goal it will be necessary to work toward the ultimate rejection of smoking as acceptable social behavior and in the meantime to use available methods to discourage the use of cigarettes.

3) Air Pollution—More effective controls of air pollution must be instituted. Specific programs will be determined by local conditions. Devices and techniques are available for control of motor vehicle emissions and fly ash and sulfur compounds from fuel combustion, and should be installed.

4) Screening Programs—Carefully planned demonstrations and epidemiological studies in which populations are surveyed for evidence of chronic bronchitis and emphysema are encouraged in order to understand the natural history of these conditions and the effect of medical care.

5) The Task Force strongly recommended the development and support of pulmonary function laboratories, respiratory care units, home-care programs and rehabilitation programs, including social services, vocational counseling, physical therapy and inhalation therapy.

6) Personnel and Training—Doctors and nurses must be provided with specialized knowledge in order to care for RD patients. There is also a critical need for trained social workers, occupational and vocational therapists, physical therapists, inhalation therapists and many others.

The state tuberculosis association which conducts the annual Christmas Seal Campaign, reports that funds raised will be used to help finance RD programs, in addition to supporting tuberculosis control programs.

Accidents Down Green Pennants At Two Schools

Cleveland and Roosevelt Schools were not eligible to fly their Green Pennants for 30 days recently.

Students from both schools were involved in automobile accidents, William H. Martin, coordinator of health, physical education, safety and athletics, reported.

One boy was hit by a car while crossing in the middle of a block with a school guard only a block away. Another boy was crossing the street about 50 feet from the crosswalk and darted out behind a parked car. The third boy was waiting to cross a street when the school bell rang and he impulsively ran into the side of a car.

"There are a number of safety group-lessons to be learned from these accidents," Mr. Martin said. "Cross only at street crossings and not in the middle of the block; do not dart out into the street from behind a parked car; cross at crossings that have guards whenever possible; obey the guard at all times, and it is better to be late than to be sorry."

Budget Support Voted

UC Adding Education Course

Union College will add a course in educational psychology to its curriculum to enable students to transfer more easily into teaching training programs in four-year colleges and universities, it was announced today by Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president.

Dr. MacKay said a recent survey showed that 30 percent of all the liberal arts majors at Union College were interested in careers in education.

Union College now offers one education course, "Development of Educational Thought." This course was instituted several years ago in an effort to help Union College graduates meet the freshman and sophomore year requirements of New Jersey's state colleges.

"By providing these two education courses, we will enable our students interested in careers in education to enter our four-year colleges and universities as juniors without making up these courses in the summer or going an additional semester," Dr. MacKay explained.

The new educational psychology course will emphasize those aspects of psychology which most immediately apply to teaching, Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, dean, said.

"This course will be concerned primarily with a critical analysis of the learning process, its theoretical foundation and its application," Dr. Iversen said.
