Local Candidates Give Views On Maintaining Town Beauty

Maintaining the beauty of Cranford came under discussion last Wednesday night as the Cranford Junior Woman's Club sponsored a Candidates' Night in cooperation with various local garden clubs and the Jaycee-ettes. A group of over 60 interested residents heard the views of the Republican candidates for Township Committee, John Pfeiffer and John Vassallo, and those of Democratic candidate Burton Goodman. Mr. Goodman's running mate, Warren Praster, was not in attendance.

The Republicans led off the opening remarks by recounting the town's heritage of natural beauty and praising those groups which have been involved in safeguarding these natural assets. In keeping with their pledge to pursue a more positive course of action in this area, Mr. Vassallo outlined the creation of a special Cranford Beautification Committee.

This committee, he said, would be made up of local landscape architects, amateur naturalists, garden club representatives, and community "activists" and would work closely with the Township Committee. The Republicans said they felt that this "unified effort would give impetus to this vital area."

Mr. Goodman, in stating his party's views, proposed the establishment of a local Conservation and Shade Tree Commission together with the erection of a greenhouse which would serve the needs of the town. He also favored giving the Recreation Department broader responsibility to include park maintenance.

Mr. Goodman in his opening talk criticized the incumbent Township Committee for failure to obtain federal funds and charged laxity in enforcing local ordinances.

Questions from the floor, handled by Mrs. Hugh Delano, followed the preliminary remarks by the candidates.

Mr. Pfeiffer was asked to define the difference between the Republican-proposed "committee" and the Democratic idea of a "commission." He replied that the committee would be a volunteer group of qualified individuals who would be recognized by the Township Committee as the community's voice on town beautification.

A commission, Mr. Pfeiffer asserted, is a more legal unit with authority to own property, levy assessments and generally possess more power. He felt that such authority "would not be in the best fiscal interests of Cranford and its taxpayers."

When queried by a local resident on the cost of forming the Democratic-proposed commission, Mr. Goodman said that "$20,000 would only be a drop in the bucket."

"You've got to spend money to save a deteriorating house," he said.

In expressing the need for more funds to finance such activities as the Green Acres program, Mr. Goodman was critical of the town for not being more responsive. Mr. Vassallo, who cited his professional knowledge of available federal funds, challenged Mr. Goodman on Cranford's eligibility for such assistance.

The Democratic plan as presented by Mr. Goodman contained the following six points:

1. The formation of a Cranford Conservation and Shade Tree Commission composed of non-salaried members of the committee charged with the preservation and maintenance of our natural assets, including parks, river banks and playfields.
2. To apply for federal funds that are available for the purpose of urban beautification such as the Green Acres Program.
3. Cooperation with the Union County Park Commission with a special eye towards improving county owned land along the river.
4. The strict enforcement of the ordinance relating to no-dumping in the river.
5. The creation of "vest pocket parks" on undersized publicly owned land through-

No Class Suspensions At Union College

Student groups at Union College are being encouraged to plan appropriate programs next Wednesday, which is being marked on many campuses as a protest against the Vietnam War, but classes will not be suspended that day, it was announced by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president.

"We urge and encourage our students to mark this day in positive, constructive ways, and we pledge our assistance and our resources for all appropriate educational activities that will foster a better understanding of our commitments and of our involvement in Southeast Asia," Dr. Iversen said. "It is encouraging to hear that our Student Council has begun in an orderly way to plan for the proper observance of this day."

Dr. Iversen said students will be free to attend or not to attend scheduled classes "as their own conscience and judgment dictate." He said faculty members have been urged to assist students in planning appropriate educational activities and to join in the discussions.

The Day Session Student Council voted to support the Vietnam Moratorium and appointed a committee to organize a teach-in, peace rally or other activities.

Earning a second bonus of $75 for exceeding 400 new subscriptions, the College Women's Club of Cranford ran its profits for its scholarship fund to $2,974.40 in the subscription drive it is conducting for the Cranford Citizen and Chronicle.

A total of 115 new and 279 renewal subscriptions were turned in by College Women's Club members during the past week, and the club also benefited from 11 new and 260 renewal subscriptions turned in at the newspaper office.

During the first three weeks of the six weeks campaign, a total of 414 new and 2,240 renewal subscriptions have been received.

Mrs. Warren D. Sechrist, general chairman of the drive, expressed the thanks of the College Women's Club to those residents who have cooperated not only with the house-to-house phase of the campaign but also by mailing in their subscriptions to the newspaper office. She noted that the club receives full credit for all subscriptions paid during the drive period regardless of whether picked up by club members or sent to the newspaper office.

The chairman again appealed to College Women's Club members to complete the coverage of their assigned territories as quickly as possible. She also urged all members to submit reports to their captains by this weekend, regardless of whether they have completed their calls.

"We know some of our members have not made their calls because of illness or being away, but we are hopeful these areas will be canvassed during the coming week."

Renovation Plan Changes Causing CHS Dept. Close Subject of Investigation

Advise Issuance Of Gray Memorial Addition Variance

The Board of Adjustment following a hearing Monday night recommended approval of a variance to permit construction of an addition to Gray Memorial Funeral Home at 12 Springfield Ave. with the condition that the applicants, Crabel Associates, Inc., withdraw all litigation connected with previous plans for the property.

Action on the board's recommendation must now be taken by the Township Committee, which meets next Tuesday night.

Previous action by the Board of Adjustment in denying Crabel Associates a variance to build an apartment house on the property at Springfield and North Union Aves. was upheld in Superior Court this year. At that time it was ruled that the company should be permitted to raze the present funeral home, fronting on Springfield Ave., and construct a new and larger one fronting on North Union Ave.

The new application seeks permission to construct a 30-by-8.8-foot addition in the rear of the present building which would house a third funeral parlor and an extra sitting room.

The zoning board ruled Monday night that withdrawal of the original application and litigation must be done by stipulations satisfactory to the board attorney, Harry V. Osborne, Jr.

Adjournments were granted for hearings on the application of Dr. Frank W. Krause for a variance to permit the Southern Club to use a house owned by him at 30 Springfield Ave. as a residence for bachelor members of the club, and on the application of the Sun Oil Co. for a variance to permit subdivision of land at 407 North Ave.

Decision was reserved on the application of Mildred M. Jagan for a variance to permit operation of a beauty salon at 320 North Ave., E., Cities Service Oil Co. to renovate and add a third bay to a service station at 475 North Ave., E.; Mr. and Mrs. Murray L.

CHS Student Council Plans Student Government Revision

The Cranford High School Student Council has initiated a program for revision of the system of student government at the school aimed at giving all students a greater opportunity to make their views on school issues known, it was reported this week by Stephan DeMico, council president.

At a recent assembly, officers and committee chairmen of the council presented the following three-point program upon which they plan to base their operations this year:

"Relations — Between all factions in and out of the school system for better understanding of student and adult views.

"Communication — To extend the relations program in positive ways that might make easier the understanding of a student or administrative representative's rationale.

"Finance and Service — To manage the flow of money in and out of the Student Council treasury and to provide charitable services to needy groups in the immediate area."

A discussion of ideas and proposals for the revision program took place at a recent open meeting between members of the Student Council's executive committee and a number of interested students. In a second Student Council-sponsored assembly, the executive committee studying revision (com-

Suburban Symphony Society Launches Membership Drive

The Suburban Symphony Society of New Jersey is observing its annual Symphony Week from October 6 through October 12, with the opening of the drive for subscriptions to the 1969-1970 concert season.

Music Director Henry Bloch, in observing the opening of the subscription drive, said, "The lifeblood of an orchestra depends as much on community support, manifested as an appreciative audience, as it does on the players." Without an audience, the artistry and effort of the musicians is wasted. If there is anyone in Cranford who has not heard the Suburban Symphony," continued Mr. Bloch, "they should take advantage of the subols within the reach of all."

Mr. Bloch emphasized the outstanding quality of the guest artists who will perform with the Suburban Symphony this year. Miss Elizabeth Marshall will be featured in the "Piano Concerto No. 2 in G minor, Opus 22" by Saint-Saens in the opening concert Sunday, November 2. Junior and Senior finalists in the New Jersey Federation of Music Clubs' Concerto competition will occupy the guest position at the second concert on Sunday, December 7. The Masterwork Chorus will join the orchestra on Sunday, April 19, 1970 in the German Requiem of Johannes Brahms.

Steinbach of 10 Ramsgate Rd. has stressed the urgent need for a successful subscription campaign. The current financial problems besetting the nation affect the Suburban Symphony as well, he said. In spite of rising costs, the board of directors has kept the price low and has retained the reduced student rate.

To encourage subscribers, the society has made arrangements for a 10 percent rebate for subscriptions sold by anyone working within a religious or charitable group with the proceeds of the rebate to the particular group. Deferred billing has also been arranged for both subscriptions and the membership in the "Friends of the Suburban Symphony."

Applications for subscriptions and for membership in the "Friends" have been incorporated in a brochure detailing the concerts. The brochure is available through campaign workers, many local business establishments or from Mr. Steinbach.

Discussion of New Book on Agenda for College Women

The College Women's Club of Cranford will present the linguist, author and teacher, Mario Andrew Pei, as the speaker at its initial fall meeting on Monday at 8 p.m. at Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Pei, will discuss his recent book, "The America We Lost." Mrs. W. Jonathan Miller, Jr., president, will preside.

Born in Italy, Professor Pei came to the United States in 1908 and was educated in New York. He began teaching at 17 as a grade teacher at St. Francis Xavier grammar school, while continuing his own education. He currently is professor of Romance Philology at Columbia University.

Dr. Pei is recognized as one of the foremost authorities on language. During World War II he created a 37-language course in "War Linguistics" at Columbia and collaborated with the OSS and OWI to prepare linguistic projects connected with the war effort.

His book, "The America We Lost," is his first venture into the field of politics and economics and offers his consideration on the differences between the America he found in 1908 and what he feels is true today.

Mrs. Forrest H. Blanding, program chairman for the meeting, will introduce Dr. Pei. The hospitality chairman is Mrs. John F. Fast.

Mrs. George W. Chase, the club's senior representative to the Joint Civic Committee, will explain the purpose and functions of the organization and request members to submit names of individuals who could be nominated as candidates for the Board of Education. Additional copies of the organizational chart prepared by the Recent Grads group of the club will be available at the meeting.

Drum, Bugle Unit In Morristown, Summit Parades

The Patriots Drum and Bugle Corps started their fall season of parades Saturday by participating in the annual kick-off parade for the 1969 United Appeal campaign fund in Summit. The corps represented the Union County Cerebral Palsy unit. The same afternoon the Patriots led the Morristown Fire Department in an annual firemen's convention parade.

Starting on Saturday, October 18, the corps will hold their annual door-to-door fund drive. Last year the corps raised $1,800, which helped to purchase a complete set of chrome horns.

Vincent P. Flanagan, business manager, reported the corps' expenses during the past year amounted to $10,016.70, and income totaled $10,348.88, giving the committee a reserve of only $332.18. He explained that the Patriots are still a "baby unit," and that once the corps enters competition, expenses will double.

Thomas Walker, personnel manager, announced the corps has openings for boys and girls 10 years old and up, in both drum and bugle sections. Instruction in horn or drum is provided free and uniforms are supplied. There also are a few openings for girls interested in joining the color guard.

Any youngster wishing to join the Patriots is asked to bring one parent with him on any Thursday night between 7 and 9 p.m. to the Cerebral Palsy Center, 216 Holly St., where practice sessions are held.

Two Operas Slated to Benefit Music Club Scholarship Fund

The Musical Club of Westfield, presently assisting five Cranford High School graduates with their musical education, will present two one-act operas on Friday and Saturday evenings, November 14 and 15, at the Terrill Road Junior High School in Scotch Plains to benefit its scholarship program.

Each year, the scholarship finance committee, aided by club members, raises funds to finance one or more scholarships for worthy and talented students.

Presently pursuing their studies with scholarship assistance from the club are the following, all from Cranford:

John Adams, a voice major in his junior year at Oberlin Conservatory; Catherine Fuss, in her first year at Shenandoah Conservatory; Robert Grube, an organ major in his third year at Rutgers University; Barbara Maucione, a first-year student at New York University; and William Stief, who is continuing his piano studies at Catholic University in Washington, D. C.

The operas to be presented next month are "Wings to Icarus," recently composed by Jon Belcher, followed by "Amelia Goes to the Ball," by Gian-Carlo Menotti.

Local artists will be featured in both operas.

Chief Haney Continuing as Dean Of County Police Training Academy

Police Chief Matthew T. Haney of Cranford has agreed to continue as dean of the Police Training Academy sponsored by the Union County Police Chiefs' Association, his proffered resignation because of the pressure of other duties having been unanimously rejected at a recent meeting of the association.

At the last township meeting, Mayor Gill had extended an invitation to all local candidates to meet with him and familiarize themselves with local affairs.

Mayor Gill explained to the Republican candidates the operation of the teletype in broadcasting stolen car reports and state-wide crime reports. Capt. Burr covered such subjects as narcotics, burglaries and the operation of the daily patrols.

Mr. Pfeiffer expressed keen interest in the law enforcement programs and asked for a police department that is "second to none in Union County."

As a member of the Board of Education, Mr. Vassallo said he was particularly interested in the police crossing guard operation and the other measures taken to insure the safety of school children.

Both candidates assured Capt. Burr, who was acting for Chief Matthew T. Haney, of their full support and their interest in a strong law enforcement program.

Record Turnout Expected for GOP Fund Raiser

The dinner will feature an address by Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew, who is visiting the county to support the candidacy of Congressman William T. Cahill, the Republican candidate for governor. The head table will include, in addition to Vice-President Agnew and Rep. Cahill, U. S. Senator Clifford P. Case, Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer, Charles D. Stapp, county finance chairman, Richard G. School, county chairman, Mrs. Joan P. Geer, county vice-chairman, and Bernard M. Shanley and Mrs. Katherine K. Neuberger, national committee members.

Training Program In Astronomy Not All Work

Teachers attending the astronomy in-service training program at the Sperry Observatory discovered that it is not "all work and no play."

A change from lectures was provided on Saturday morning when the teachers reported to the observatory. Dressed in comfortable clothes, they participated in scientific activities that they can bring back into their classrooms.

The astronomy and space science course is being held for teachers from schools in Essex, Middlesex, Morris and Somerset counties. It is financed by a federal grant under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary School Education Act.

The course is based on curriculum materials developed by a team of teachers from the Cranford public and parochial schools. This team was represented on Saturday by Mrs. Joan Jackson, Miss Patricia Kristofferson and Miss Rosemarie Noto from the Cranford schools, who acted as consultants for the elementary level.

The secondary level was directed by William Bucher of Madison High School and Newark State College, assisted by Dr. Edwin H. Cooper of Madison High School, Joseph Petrucci, science teacher at Hillside Avenue Junior High School, and Daniel Mataga of the observatory staff.

First Aid Squad Gets 83 Calls In September

Cranford First Aid Squad answered 83 calls during September, including 51 emergencies, according to Captain William O'Donnell. Transportation accounted for 28 calls, service calls totaled four and parades in Linden and Springfield rounded out the month's activities.

Members rendered a total of 300 man hours of service and the ambulances travelled a total of 1,299 miles. Most of the calls last month were to Rahway Hospital. Accidents accounted for many of the calls and the squad utilizes the service of the nearest hospital, unless requested otherwise by the patient.

New members accepted in recent months are progressing in first aid courses and are expected to complete initial training shortly. Captain O'Donnell appealed to residents who may be available for daytime duty to contact him or President Carl Schauer for an application, even if they will be available only one or two days a week.

Electrons, electronic devices to summon members when a call is to be answered, are expected to be available to members before the end of the month. The devices are portable and may be used in members' cars.

Delegates will attend the New Jersey First Aid Convention in Atlantic City October 17-19.

Mrs. Krol assisted by Mrs. Al-

A dinner party also was given by Mrs. Krol and Mrs. Lies at Mrs. Krol's home in Lavallette to celebrate the mid-point in the bridge session. High score prizes for the weekend were awarded to Mrs. Lies, Mrs. Krol, Mrs. Popiel and Mrs. Nagle.

Mrs. Mauter, Mrs. Popiel and Mrs. Motto planned the musical entertainment program following the dinner party. Mrs. Battle, the club's bridge director, discussed the various problem bridge plays encountered during the year and conducted the symposium.

Wednesday Club Speaker Deplores Loss of Old Houses

To many people, "a house is a house is a house," to paraphrase Gertrude Stein. But to Harry Devlin of Mountaintop, a house is a form of art influenced by environment, geography, necessity, individuality and the trend of the times.

"Some of the finest forms of architecture are in the State of New Jersey," he told members and guests at the Wednesday Morning Club tea last Wednesday in Fellowship Hall of Calvary Lutheran Church.

"However, we have not been careful to preserve our heritage," he continued. "Each year many irreplaceable examples of early American and mid-Victorian houses fall into disrepair either through neglect, disinterest, or to make room for a super-highway."

How to arouse the public to the danger of losing this heritage has been a matter of deep concern to Mr. Devlin. It came to him that perhaps the best way would be through illustrated books for children, since architecture is a form of art least difficult for children to understand. (Mr. Devlin has seven children of his own).

This was the incentive that led him to write "To Grandfather's House We Go." The book is illustrated with Mr. Devlin's own paintings, uncluttered with superfluous trees, shrubs and surrounding impediments, and delineated against a blue sky, a rosy sunset or winter snow. Thus he has preserved the pure lines of the architecture depicted. Written especially for children, the book has met with wide appeal to children of all ages.

Mr. Devlin's new book, "What Kind of a House is This?" is being published October 15, and continues the illustration of historical homes, especially in New Jersey.

Mr. Devlin displayed his original paintings for this book. He is now working on his third book in this series, "Going, Going, Gone."

Mrs. Paul Buonaguro, program chairman, introduced the speaker. Mrs. A. R. Mirante, president, announced that the Wednesday Morning Club would be hosts at the Sixth District fall conference on October 28 at the Shackamaxon Country Club.

Chairman for the tea was Mrs. D. R. Creighton, assisted by Mrs. T. V. Albert, Mrs. J. W. Appar, Mrs. R. Cowperthwaite, Mrs. R. T. Puckey, Mrs. M. J. Seavy, Mrs. W. G. Trometter, Miss Johanne deWolff and Mrs. Leon Perenz.

Mrs. G. J. Paredes, Mrs. D. A. Rudkin, Mrs. C. G. Ward and Mrs. E. M. Staiger poured.

The music department met yesterday at the home of Mrs. T. G. Benson, 28 Tulip St. Mrs. H. S. Allen presented the program.

A planning meeting of the literature department will be held today at the home of Mrs. E. C. Fortenbaugh, 111 Holly St., at 1 p.m. Mrs. W. T. Eppler will be co-hostess.

The current affairs department will open its season with a luncheon at the Suburban Golf Club, Union, on Tuesday. Mrs. H. F. Young is in charge of arrangements.

sisted in the follow-up investigation.

The youths were released in the custody of their parents pending Juvenile Court action.

Union College Parents' Day

Parents' Day will be observed at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Union College. It was announced by Prof. Elmer Wolf, acting dean.

Parents of all day session freshmen and students enrolled in the nursing program are invited to attend.

The annual event is scheduled to give parents an insight into college life, as their children are experiencing it. Academic standards are discussed with an emphasis on areas in which parents can help their children get the most out of their college education. Prof. Wolf explained. Social and athletic programs and guidance and counseling facilities will also be reviewed. A tour of the facilities and an informal reception in the gymnasium will be included in the program.

Class Mothers' Tea Held At Livingston Avenue

A class mothers' tea was held yesterday by the Livingston Avenue PTA in the school auditorium to give the teachers and class mothers an opportunity to meet.

Mrs. L. A. Koh and Mrs. Norman Harvey were the chairmen. The annual open house program for parents will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Miss Irene Gilbert, principal, will introduce the staff, and the parents will be invited to visit the classrooms.

Mark Egan Home After Mouthpiece Swallowing Scare

Mark Egan, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth F. Egan of 201 Orange Ave., returned home in good condition yesterday from Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, and it must be reported here that he did not perform the feat of swallowing his plastic mouthpiece during Pop Warner Football League practice at the Walnut Avenue School field Tuesday afternoon.

Mark passed out when he was hit in the adam's apple and suffered a spasm of the windpipe. His father, who was at the field, probably saved his life when he put his fingers down the boy's throat and restored breathing. It was thought at first that Mark might have swallowed the mouthpiece, but it later was found on the field. The boy was taken by police to Rahway Hospital and later transferred at the request of his parents to Muhlenberg, where he remained overnight for observation.

CHS Student Council

Questions relating to specific suggestions were entertained in the latter portion of the program. Plans now call for a referendum election in the near future to determine one final proposal. It is believed that the final steps in this program will have been completed by mid-October.

"Under the advisement of Mr.

Rabig, the Student Council has thus far begun a drive for bringing together the factions in the community," the council president said. "It intends, with a new system of government, to formulate a better means by which all students may make their own views known."

Student Council officers in addition to President DiMico are: Scott Baron, vice-president; Nancy Rae, secretary, and Warren Schmaus, treasurer.

Committee chairmen include:

Linda Cuddeby, student activities;

Joanne Shamey, student relations;

Kenneth Orgel, elections; Sandra Selby, curriculum; Gary Olds, ways and means, and Jacqueline Wessels, publicity.

Memorial for

(Continued from Page 1) business and telephone numbers. At a recent meeting after a silent prayer for Rev. Mr. Hopper, President Frigola voiced the sentiments of the entire club when he said: "Lion Hopper will be truly missed for his semi-annual visitations at Easter and Christmas. At these solemn times, he would deliver a soul-stirring spiritual message to his fellow Lions."

'Let Us Vote' Unit Steps Up Campaign

For more than three months, members of "Cranford Let Us Vote" have been campaigning here to lower the voting age from 21 to 18, according to Robert Weiss, president.

Because of the absence of the older members of the group, presently attending college, new officers have been appointed to direct the organization towards its final goal. These include Missy Thomson and Lynn Miller as co-presidents and Judy Dickman as secretary.

"Cranford Let Us Vote" is an entirely student-directed group and is a local chapter of a nation-wide student movement, it was pointed out.

Anyone of high school age with an interest in L.U.V. and a desire to see the November referendum adopted may obtain further information from Miss Lynn Miller or Miss Thornton.

Mrs. Osborne Re-elected

It very rarely happens that eyeglasses actually flatter a face, therefore, choose your glasses with great discretion and good taste. You should choose eyeglasses according to the shape of your face; rectangular, round or oval. Always try them on while observing yourself both full face and profile in the mirror. Try to stay away from glasses that are heavily ornamented. They only draw more attention to the fact you're wearing spectacles. You can still have attractive frames without all those imitation diamonds and other such fancies. Give your eyes the most beautiful look you can by selecting carefully the eyeglasses that best suit you.

Local Girl Joins ROTC

A petite 20-year-old Rider College coed, Miss Jean Ann Sarnowski, 20, of 27 Hampton Rd., had a yearning to discover for herself what military life is all about, so she joined 78 male students in Rider's Army Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

Jean, daughter of Vincent F. Sarnowski, superintendent of Cranford public school, and Mrs. Sarnowski, says she became interested in learning about the Army after looking at some ROTC literature and talking about the program with the regular Army officers directing the Rider unit.

"I needed a general studies elective course and noticed the military science courses in the catalog," she says. "I inquired about the program and Lt. Col. (Jack) Mayer said he'd welcome me."

Jean says she also was motivated by her older brother, Tom, who is an Army specialist fourth class serving with the 23rd Division in Vietnam.

Now that the pert brunette has joined the Rider ROTC unit, she's set out in earnest to at least act like one of the boys.

She's been drilling and marching regularly with the unit although she confesses, "I really have no idea what I'm doing."

Jean also was the first Rider student to sign up for the college's rifle team, which will compete this winter with teams from other ROTC units and with Philadelphia college teams. She's done some firing with a .22 calibre rifle but admits she's not very proficient.

Uniform also presents a problem for Jean, who is barely five feet tall. She'll eventually be outfitted with a WAC-type uniform for drilling and will be wearing a pair of oversized fatigues for range firing and other training activities.

Jean actually falls into the "non-enrolled" category with the Rider unit. It means she has no future military obligation although she could be in a favorable position for a WAC commission should she decide to join up after graduation.

Right now Jean says she'll settle for a sampling of military life while otherwise sticking to more typically feminine pursuits.

A junior at Rider, she is majoring in marketing and hopes to become a fashion buyer.

Renovation Plan

section in Trenton together with Dr. William West of Cranford, Union County superintendent of schools, were requested to inspect the department. This they did and ordered it closed, concurring that it was unsafe and unworkable.

Dr. West suggested that the department be changed back as close as possible to the plans as approved in Trenton late last spring and that application then be made for permission to use the facilities.

The change approved by the local superintendent involved the switching of the electronics and woodworking shop areas, it was learned. The woodworking department with all of its equipment had occupied the larger area and, during the summer, it was jammed into much smaller quarters with some equipment placed against a safety exit.

When the changes were made, cutoff switches also were ordered installed to comply with the current state school building code which was not in effect when the present building was opened in 1938. The electrical work is underway this week and is expected to be completed today or tomorrow.

Dr. West, it is reported, had given permission to use the industrial arts rooms as of last Monday but said that none of the machinery could be used until the cut-off switches were installed. Because of workmen in the area, high school supervisors have delayed the return of pupils to the department until today.

It is understood the local schools also will be required to file application with the state for use of sub-standard facilities for the industrial arts department after the changes have been completed.

Mr. Goodman criticized the Republican proposal for a mayor's advisory committee on beautification as a "feeble gesture." He stated that a commission with quasi-legislative powers and well-defined responsibilities could actually take steps to remedy problems.

He added that conservation commissions have been authorized to enable legislation and all municipalities have been encouraged by the state to establish them.

Free Nursery School

ing a meeting last spring on the opening of a day care center in Elizabeth.

"I felt that with a certified school, you wind up charging people, and the ones who need it the most can't afford it," she said of the Elizabeth venture.

So she decided to try establishing a free nursery school in Cranford.

Mrs. Bowles took her idea to Rev. John R. Dexheimer, pastor of the Methodist church, who agreed to help with the project, and then a steering committee was organized.

A list of families who might benefit from the school was provided by Mrs. Arthur Lennox, executive secretary of the Cranford Welfare Association.

The school now is operating at capacity and has more than enough help, Mrs. Bowles reported.

The lead teachers, all of whom have had experience teaching in elementary schools, are Mrs. Rudolph P. Gibbs of 208 High St., Mrs. Thomas Kehoe of 4 Hillside Pl. and Mrs. Gerald Ashfield of 20 Herning Ave.

Serving as assistant teachers are the following: Miss Patricia Slozar, 12 Algonquin Dr.; Miss Mamie Cox, 201 High St.; Mrs. James Waterson, 9 Herning Ave.; Miss Kitty Codella, 111 Orange Ave.; Mrs. James Robbins, 519 Claremont Pl.; Mrs. Robert Seavy, 28 Tuxedo Pl.; Mrs. Russell Davis, 109 High St.; Mrs. John McKenna, 17 Herning Ave.; Mrs. William Anderson, 6 Hillside Pl.; Mrs. Humberto Schifini, 401 Manor Ave.; Mrs. Robert E. Smith, 2 Madison Ave.; and Mrs. Walter Weitzel, 307 Prospect Ave.

Others on the staff include: Dr. W. Larch Fidler III, 19 Holly St., physician; Mrs. Frank Morris, 112 Retford Ave., nurse; Mrs. Henry Smithers, 19 Herning Ave., secretary and transportation chairman; Miss Cox, treasurer; Mrs. James Wyatt, 388 Centennial Ave., supply chairman; Mrs. William Holzapfel, 101 Orange Ave., registrar; Mrs. Marcus Hamilton, 15 Buchanan St., assistant registrar, and Mrs. Maxfield Tuttle, 2 Fiske Ter., music teacher.

The number of students assigned to each of the 11 public schools is as follows: Cranford High School, 7; Hillside Avenue Junior High School, 7; Orange Avenue Junior High School, 4; Bloomingdale Avenue School, 3; Brookside Place School, 4; Cleveland School, 2; Lincoln School, 1; Livingston Avenue School, 8; Roosevelt School, 6; Sherman School, 3; Walnut Avenue School, 5, and special services, 1.

In addition, there are 10 juniors from Jersey City State College, a sophomore from Seton Hall University and 17 freshmen from Seton Hall who have been assigned to observe classroom activity.

The observation by freshman students will take place during the first semester, with three students assigned to Livingston Avenue School and two students to each of the other seven elementary schools.

The program is designed to give students a view of both city and suburban schools. Cranford is participating with one other suburban community, Florham Park, and two cities, Plainfield and Newark.

In the middle of the first semester, students who have been observing in Cranford will go to Plainfield and Plainfield observers will come here.

CHS Students Win Merit Scholarship Commendations

Letters of Commendation honoring them for their high performance on the 1969 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test have been awarded to 16 students at Cranford High School, Dr. Charles Post, principal, announced today.

The commended students are: Robert Bernstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Bernstein, 115 Pawnee Rd.; Allen Burton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Burton, 56 Spruce St.; David Clausnitzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Clausnitzer, 201 South Union Ave.; Craig Foltz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Foltz, 4 Roger Norton Pl.

Harvey Greenberg, son of Mrs. Marcy Nadel, 37 Hemlock Cir.; Bette Kowalski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kowalski, 312 North Union Ave.; David McCormick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormick, 4 Woods Hole Rd.; Janice Roman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Roman, 48 Rutgers Rd.; Peter Rudoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Rudoy, 1 Sheldahl Dr.; Judith Schartenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schartenberg, 425 Orchard St.; James Seavy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Seavy, 26 Tuxedo Pl.

Laurie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith, 434 Manor Ave.; Michael Totten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Totten, 30 Greaves Pl.; Jay Trent, son of Mrs. Barbara Trent, 318 Relford Ave.; James Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wright, 204 Hampton St.; and Robert Zabal, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Zabal, 11 Normandie Pl.

Dr. Post stated that these students are among 39,000 others in the United States who scored in the upper 2 percent of those who will graduate from high school in 1970. They rank just below the 15,000 semifinalists announced earlier this month by the National Merit Scholarship Corp.

Although these students advance no farther in the Merit Scholarship competition, Dr. Post said their names are reported to other scholarship-granting agencies and to the colleges they named as their first and second choices when they took the test last February.

Area Real Estate Conditions Cited By Howland

Economists and so-called financial experts should take the time and effort to check the actual area real estate market place before jumping to conclusions and painting an unrealistic picture of the home mortgage market in New Jersey, according to G. E. Howland, Jr., president of the Cranford Board of Realtors.

"While mortgage funds are not as plentiful as we would like them to be," Mr. Howland stated, "mortgages are being granted to qualified buyers."

Prospective home purchasers or those seeking to sell real estate should not become frustrated or disenchanted by what they read as to the condition of the money market, he said.

"Sales are being made every day of the week in the Cranford, Clark and Garwood area, and now is a good time to buy or sell real estate," he continued.

Mr. Howland cautioned that those who seek to generalize about real estate conditions lose sight of the all-important fact that homes are an extremely localized commodity and conditions may well vary from area to area.

The realtor leader pointed out that when conventional money sources become tight there are always the alternate federally guaranteed or insured programs available.

The Cranford Board of Realtors is one of the 39 local boards in the 3,000 realtor member New Jersey Association of Realtor Boards and the 90,000 realtor member National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Strengthen Partnership With Local Newspaper

The current observance of National Newspaper Week once again stresses the importance of the printed word in our world today.

We have many other media for communication in this modern age, including radio, television and disc or tape recordings; but they are all dependent to some extent upon the printed page to supplement, enlarge or explain their message.

The spoken word is fleeting and also can be deceiving, for it puts the listener at the mercy of the speaker's eloquence or persuasiveness. The printed word, however, permits you to turn back a page at your leisure to reflect on its message and calmly draw your own conclusions on the basis of the facts presented.

Our large daily newspapers today are faced with the problem of cutting through 20th century complexities to orient readers to their world and help them understand the bewildering array of events that pour in upon them as a result of today's "information explosion." And between the news of far-away events of this world and outer space and that of the suburbs and rural communities where millions of people live there is an "information gap" which our weekly newspapers try to bridge.

Eighty percent of this country's 10,000 newspapers are weeklies published in rural, small city and suburban "hometown" communities, and they are as much or more a part of the fabric of American life as their big city brothers, because their news pattern concerns close-to-home interests: Proceedings of local government, projects of local clubs, victories and defeats of hometown athletic teams, school and church activities, local boy or girl makes good, births, deaths, engagements, weddings and so on and so on.

In addition to the news of local happenings, the hometown newspaper also keeps its readers informed on what local merchants are doing to help supply their everyday needs. In a small community, everyone knows that Mr. Jones has a store in their town, but they also like to see what specials he has to offer in his advertisement for the current week.

One aim of Newspaper Week is to bring newspapers and their readers closer together and to point out to readers the partnership for mutual benefit that exists between them and their local newspaper.

Readers need newspapers, and newspapers need readers — and the subscription drive being conducted for the Citizen and Chronicle this month by the College Women's Club for benefit of the club's scholarship fund affords an excellent opportunity for you to strengthen the partnership between you and Cranford's newspaper, while at the same time helping local students further their education, by starting or renewing your Citizen and Chronicle subscription now.

Suburban Symphony Among Cultural Assets

This week also is being observed as Symphony Week in Cranford, with the Suburban Symphony Society of New Jersey, which makes its home here, opening its drive for subscriptions to the 1969-70 concert season.

Featured this season will be three concerts in the auditorium of Cranford High School. Miss Elizabeth Marshall will be the soloist in Saint-Saens' Piano Concerto No. 2 in G Minor, Opus 22, at the opening concert on Sunday, November 2; junior and senior finalists in the New Jersey Federation of Music Clubs' concerto competition will occupy the guest position at the second concert on Sunday, December 7, and the Masterwork Chorus will join the orchestra on Sunday, April 19, in the German Requiem of Johannes Brahms.

"The lifeblood of an orchestra depends as much on community support, manifested as an appreciative audience, as it does on the players," Music Director Henry Bloch said in urging support of the symphony drive. "Without an audience, the artistry and effort of the musicians is wasted."

Leonard Steinbach of 10 Ramsgate Rd., subscription chairman, also has stressed the urgent need for a successful campaign to help insure continuance of the symphony's cultural contribution to life in Cranford.

As one more way of showing "Pride in Cranford" and its many cultural aspects, we urge general support of our local symphony and suggest especially to those who may not yet have heard the Suburban Symphony that they take advantage of the current subscription drive to find out how much musical pleasure they have been missing.

'Once Proud Casino -- A Dilapidated Wreck'

415 Casino Ave.
Cranford, N. J.
October 6, 1969

Dear Sir:
In the lengthening shadows of a beautiful October Sunday afternoon, I took a walk. After admiring the results of my own efforts on the lawn and shrubs, I strolled down Casino Ave. toward the town. The track once home of the area's famous "big game" hunt, the track which once was a place of great excitement and interest, now stands as a dilapidated wreck. Since we had had this recent rain, English Village looked up with its brick ivy-clad walls and an aura of well-attended comfort.

Then, came the corner of Casino Ave. and Riverside Dr. There stands the once proud Casino — a dilapidated wreck of its past glories and a sorry eyesore for all to see. And, emblazoned above the front entrance, the words "Casino" are written in large, faded letters. The sign should be as plain as day. I know that there has been much controversy as to what is to be done with this property. I further realize that it costs money to do anything, including tearing down the building. It seems to me, however, that the owners could at least cut the hay which was once a lawn and that the American Legion would be well advised to remove this sign.

This property as it now stands does nothing but detracts from a Cranford in which we all share and should regard with pride.

Query on Interpreting Sex Education Poll

22 Doering Way
Cranford, N. J.
October 4, 1969

Dear Sir:

Your editorial suggesting that the school board poll the people whether there should be formal sex education was a sane note in a frequently not-so-sane controversy.

However, unless it were carefully done, it could be just as misleading as the survey as to a school building program. Perhaps more so, because of the emotional content.

It is well known that on any issue, the "aggressors" will go to the polls aggressively, while those "for" an issue normally are not so highly motivated. Should, then, the board recognize a simple majority of those voting as the voice of the entire community, or should it say in advance that it would take a 3:1 "against" vote to be meaningful?

Also, a referendum would not be asking those most affected by the decision — the students. The cultural environment in this country has changed so much in the last 20 years that it is very difficult for voting adults to know what kind of education will best prepare our non-voting young people for the even-greater changes ahead. I do know that their education should be different from that experienced by those who have raised all the fuss about our sex education program.

LSD: Will It Turn You On -- Or Turn on You?

No drug has caused more controversy, with the possible exception of marihuana, than the strange compound known as LSD.

Is LSD dangerous? Definitely yes, says the National Institute of Mental Health, federal agency focus of a new nationwide attack on the abuse of dangerous drugs and narcotics.

Hospital and other medical studies show that LSD can cause panic, paranoia and accidental death.

Reactions to taking LSD range from worry, panic and depression to severe mental derangement.

Days, weeks, even months after a dose of LSD has been taken, the things the user thought that he saw and felt may recur in his mind and make him fear he is going insane.

The physical effects LSD can produce are far from pretty.

Eye pupils dilate, hands and feet shake and tremble uncontrollably, palms turn cold and sweaty, the body shivers and turns chilly, goose pimples pop out, breathing is irregular. There is loss of appetite and nausea, and the pulse and heart rate rise, as does blood pressure.

LSD is short for lysergic acid diethylamide. A man-made chemical first produced in 1938, it was accidentally discovered in 1943 to produce bizarre effects on the mind when a Swiss chemist swallowed some LSD while working in his laboratory. He had strange sensations and felt as if he were flying.

Despite this soaring start, LSD was little explored in following years as far as definitive pharmacological studies in man were concerned. The weird compound lay around, studied by some drug researchers but ignored by most. Then the wave of far-out experience seekers washed up a few years ago.

LSD became the darling of the darts. It was claimed to give you great feelings and increase many capacities, like sex and creativity.

None of this has proved out. In fact, the reverse may be true. But many fables and fallacies like these have spread about LSD. The following facts come from research, not from fantasy and rumor.

Studies have shown that LSD is more harmful to the body than alcohol, and it can cause heart failure, stroke, and other serious conditions. It can also cause long-term mental damage.

talent; rather, the works are poorer when done "under the influence."

Worse, LSD is dangerous. It can cause panic (fear of losing one's mind), paranoia (suspicion that "they're after me!"), mental derangement and accidental death.

It has been called the most powerful drug in the world. No wonder: 25 micrograms is an amount almost invisible to the naked eye. Yet this amount will produce an effect in most people.

Classed as a hallucinogen and psychedelic — which mean mind-affecting or mind-altering — LSD is a member of a group of drugs which include other compounds like marihuana, peyote, mescaline, psilocybin, DMT and STP.

Except for government-approved use for research, LSD is illegal in the United States. Because LSD is dangerous when not used for careful research under close medical supervision, it is closely regulated by federal and state laws. These provide stiff penalties for illegal production, sale, other disposition, and, in some cases, for possession or use.

Because more knowledge is needed about this powerful compound, broad-scale research is underway to learn fully about its chemistry, animal and human effects, and whether it can have any medical or other real values.

This is another part of the national attack on abuse of narcotics and dangerous drugs of all kinds. On the educational side, newspapers, magazines, radio and television are enlisting in the fight in a new campaign to provide everyone with accurate information. For a free folder or facts about LSD, write: NIMH, Box 1080, Washington, D. C. 20013.

Turning The Pages Back

5 Years Ago

Two 14-year-old Cranford boys were arrested after admitting that they broke 94 windows in the Hillside Avenue Junior High School, Police Chief Lester W. Powell reported. Damage was estimated at $800.

The Board of Education accepted "with deep regret" the resignation of William Knox, board member for three and a half years. Mr. Knox had been appointed technical assistant in President Johnson's Office of Science and Technology.

The Cranford Adult School opened its 16th annual fall semester with 459 persons enrolled in 27 courses, it was announced by Dr. Kenneth Iversen, president-director.

Eight hundred volunteers were seen as the key to a successful United Fund campaign by Robert M. Crane, general campaign chairman.

Projects for aiding the potential dropout in the Cranford public school system were outlined at a workshop meeting of the Board of Education.

10 Years Ago

The Board of Education announced selection of a 44-acre site on Orange Ave. near Roosevelt School for the proposed new senior high school. The site was 80 percent township owned and could be acquired quickly, Mrs. G. Holmes Williams, board president, said. The board had considered virtually every sizable plot of land in the township for the site and had rejected one off Hillside Ave., one at Livingston Ave. and another at Memorial Field.

Neighbor-to-neighbor solicitation for the 1969 Cranford United Fund started, it was announced by Clifford D. Silver, campaign chairman. The goal was $82,000 for 13 agencies.

Vice-president Richard Nixon was the leading presidential candidate in the view of 668 students polled at Union Junior College. He outpolled Senator John Kennedy (D-Mass.) by a nearly two to one margin in a competition with six other presidential hopefuls.

15 Years Ago

Seven local organizations voted to join the Joint Civic Committee for Encouraging Candidates for the Board of Education. They were: Rotary Club, Junior Service League, Colony Club, VTA, Taxpayers' Association, Ladies' Auxiliary to Capt. N. R. Fiske Post 335, VFW, and Cranford Post 212, American Legion. The new organization was to be composed of representatives of non-political, nonsectarian, nonsectarian and non-professional and non-professional groups having broad interest in Cranford.

Commenting on curfew ordinances in neighboring communities, Police Chief William A. Fischer declared that conditions at the time did not warrant the establishment here of a curfew for juveniles. He reported that the record of juvenile offenses in Cranford was less than in many other towns of the same size and population.

20 Years Ago

Six girls, delegates to the Blair summer conference, told of their experiences at the first fall meeting of the Margaret Greene Guild at the First Presbyterian Church. They were: Carol Blackman, Marilyn Grant, Neva Lee Jamison, Judy Peterson, Barbara Sloat and Aletta Thomson.

Following a second public hearing, Township Committee adopted an ordinance by a 4-1 vote providing for a municipal dumping ground and regulation of its use. The ordinance, together with a new Board of Health ordinance, was to give over-all control of the dumps and refuse collections. Chief objection of the ordinance was the necessity for a permit and payment of a 50 cent fee for dumping one conveyance load or a fee of $10 a year for local residents.

25 Years Ago

Conditions in Cranford slowly returned to normal as local residents and road department and utility company crews succeeded in cleaning up most of the wreckage left in the wake of a hurricane, the worst storm to hit the community and neighboring areas in the memory of long-time residents. Cranford lost nearly 500 trees in the three hours of the wind's fury — many of them century-old oak and maples.

Two Cranford men and a former resident were ordered to report for induction into the armed forces, it was announced by L. B. Hazzard, chairman of Selective Service Board 5. They were: James W. Fly of 11 Alden St.; Robert E. Gilbert of 9 Balmere Pkwy., and Philip R. McGinnis of Washington, D. C., formerly of Cranford.

30 Years Ago

Registration for the second annual Adult Education School had started at Cranford High School, it was announced by Mr. Moses A. Craig, director.

Cranford Hall Sanitarium, located in a 25-room residence designed in the style of an English country home, was opened with Dr. M. M. Davison of Roselle Park as medical director, Miss Dora M. Barnes, superintendent, and Robert M. Rubenstein, manager. The home had been built by the late Charles E. Kaitenbach on a 12-acre estate bordering the Rahway River between South and Lincoln Aves.

35 Years Ago

Five local Republican organizations had banded together under the leadership of the Municipal Committee to form a Joint Republican campaign committee, Mrs. Mabel S. Lovell, municipal chairman, reported. Organizations were the Cranford Republican Club, Women's Republican Club, Italian-American Republican Club, Cranford Colored Republican Club, the Municipal Committee and Syrian-American Republican Club.

Announcement was made that Charles Kurtz, secretary and treasurer of the Citizen and Chronicle for seven months, had sold his interest in the newspaper and printing business to John K. Cloud, vice-president and editor of the firm.

Nature Notes

Special to the Citizen & Chronicle
By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER

Several months ago we commenced a birding tour down the Garden State Parkway beginning at the New York State border. The trip was a slow one with a host of stops where there was an opportunity to watch members of the avian kingdom at work and at play. Now, as fall migration begins to taper off, we've reached the end of our journey. Only one side-trip remains before we spill off the end of the Parkway onto the tip of our state. A left turn at Exit 10 leads to Stone Harbor, a town that hosts birders from all over the world to see its sanctuary.

Last year 135,000 watchers came to watch 6,000 egrets, herons, ibis and their kin on that 26-acre plot of thickets along the Ocean Drive. It's the only municipally-owned sanctuary in the world outside of one in Tokyo. The federal government recognized the sanctuary in 1966 when the National Park Service formally designated it as a registered National Landmark.

The sanctuary is filled with our feathered citizens spring, summer and fall. Common and snowy egrets are the most abundant birds. Yellow-crowned night herons and their black-crowned cousins have increased in number in recent years. Glossy ibis were unheard of north of Florida until about a decade ago, but now there are several colonies along the middle Atlantic coast. One of these is at Stone Harbor. Louisiana herons fly by once in a while and an occasional cattle egret appears.

Rather than going back to the Parkway at Exit 10, drive south from the sanctuary and across the two bridges. In between these lie a number of tide pools and wet flats where herons feed. As an added dividend in early fall, you see eight or 10 varieties of sandpiper that nest in the Arctic and drop in for lunch along our coast during their southward journey. Some even arrive during late July.

After crossing the two bridges, turn right at the traffic light a couple of tenths of a mile down the road. This will bring you back to the Parkway. Turn south to Cape May. There are many opportunities for the birder here. The most interesting to me is a ranch which borders Sunset Blvd. where there is always a good chance, except in winter, of spotting a cattle egret or two. They spend most of their time near the cattle, letting their big friends stir up the insect population of the meadow so they can snap them up. Often you'll see an egret perched on a cow's back. The egrets resemble so many big chickens in a barnyard. After 11 o'clock in the morning, you can have a cup of coffee and a hamburger at the Outpost while you watch.

During migration, particularly in fall, you can see thousands of birds piling up on Cape May Point as they pour down the Atlantic Flyway. Some feed there until they have stored up enough food for the over-water trip and others turn north along the shore of Delaware Bay until the river narrows so they can cross easily.

Lily Lake is a good spot to see a variety of water birds. The species vary from year to year but a Canada goose or two are almost sure to be there.

As you leave the southern tip of the state, if an hour or two of the day still stretches ahead, drive north for a few miles along the shore of Delaware Bay. Some days not a bird is to be seen there, but on others, particularly after a storm, there is an avian buffet on the shore. You can see a variety of birds, including gulls, terns, and other shore birds. If you can stand the heat, you can see a variety of birds in any season of the year. Have a good trip.

Courses Scheduled for St. Michael's Adult School of Religious Education

Rev. Alfred G. Curran, pastor of St. Michael's Church, has announced the formation of the second Adult School of Religious Education, to open on Wednesday, October 29, at 8 p.m. in St. Michael's School.

The adult school again will present a series of courses aimed at creating an understanding of the church in today's world.

Sister Geraldine Marie, principal of St. Michael's School, will direct the adult school and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joyce will serve as coordinators.

The program will offer a selection of nine courses. Each course will be conducted by members of St. Michael's faculty and guest instructors, and will run for four weeks.

Sister Geraldine has announced the following courses and instructors:

"The Early Church: Input and Output," Rt. Rev. Msgr. Henry G. J. Beck, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Lyndhurst; "Prayer," Rev. Richard Liddy; "Liturgy," Rev. John Meehan, urban coordinator of the Newark Abbey (Benedictine); "Contemporary Moral Theology," Rev. Richard J. Hallinan; "Sacraments," Rev. Denys Hennessy, O.S.B., dean of theology at the Benedictine Abbey in Morristown; "The Changing Church—What is the Church?" Rev. Roy J. DeLeo of the parish (seniors in high school are requested to take this course).

"Scripture," Sister Mary Clare, O.S.B., instructor at Seton Hall University; "Psychology for Everyday Living," Sister Mary Alice Smith, O.S.B., of the parish school; "The Child's Learning Process," Dr. Jane Hobson, Dr. Lee Mountain of the parish, and Sister Joanne, O.S.B., of the parish school.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Curcio are compiling a brochure to be mailed to all parishioners. A registration form will be enclosed. Registration may be by mail or at the church, after masses, on Sunday, October 26. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Low will be in charge of registration, assisted by Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Novello.

Registration is open to all adults and high school graduates in the community.

Social Action Unit Plans 'Community Awareness' Series

"Nobody Waved Goodbye," a film dealing with the problems facing two teenagers when the girl becomes pregnant out of wedlock, is scheduled to be shown as the first in a series of "community awareness" programs planned by a sub-committee of the Interfaith Social Action Group.

The public will be invited to the admission-free showing on Wednesday, November 5. Following the film there will be a discussion and analysis led by Burt Kupferer, speech coordinator of the West Orange Board of Education.

"The group selected this film because of its relevance to the contemporary problems of the generation gap," it was reported at a meeting last week at the home of

Gerard Paradiso of 22 Beech St. at which plans for the series were announced.

The location for the film showing will be announced.

Petitions Ask Second Pool

Two petitions will be presented to Township Committee at Tuesday night's meeting urging a second municipal swimming pool, it was learned yesterday.

One petition contains the names of 50 residents presently on the waiting list for membership in the existing pool who "want a second municipal pool and would be willing to join one located anywhere in town," and the second petition contains names of 62 families who feel a second pool would be desirable.

A covering letter expresses the hope that the petitions "will help speed the planning and building of a second municipal pool in Cranford."

"We feel the petitions reflect the feelings of the majority of Cranford residents and hope the mayor will press ahead with construction of a second pool facility, which possibly would include year round facilities and not be restricted to three months of summer use," the letter adds.

The signatures were collected by Mr. and Mrs. Luiz Cunha, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pells, Mr. and Mrs. William Wright, and Misses Allsen and Jill Petrichella.

Junior League Provisional Course Tour of Port

The provisional class of the Junior League of Elizabeth and Cranford took part in a tour of Elizabethport recently.

Attending from Cranford were Mrs. George W. Chase, Mrs. Paul A. Curcio and Mrs. Benjamin F. Newswanger III. Also participating were two former residents, Miss Susan Bonham and Miss Rhoda Fisher of New York City.

Andrew H. Campbell, vice-president of Container Ring Co., Inc., pointed out many of the city's industrial and commercial conditions, noting that Port Elizabeth, with its available filled-in land, has been the natural outlet for much of New York City's trade.

An overview of the city's historical background was presented by R. Mason Kirkland, proprietor of "The Scene," Elizabeth, who conducted the provisionals on a tour of Belcher Mansion, former home of Royal Governor Jonathan Belcher and a later New Jersey governor, Aaron Ogden.

On Tuesday the provisional class visited the headquarters of the AJLA (Association of Junior Leagues of America) in New York City.

New Officer Slate Installed By Kiwanis Club

Commuter Crisis McDonough Topic In Area Talks

"Let's not make new promises until the old ones are kept."

This was the position expressed by Assemblyman Peter J. McDonough, Republican candidate for reelection, as he discussed the commuter crisis in the area last week.

"One of the great challenges facing the next governor and the next Legislature is to solve the commuter crisis which directly or indirectly affects all of us," Mr. McDonough said. He added that the solution lies in establishing priorities and then "sticking to them."

"Before we attempt to solve the transportation problems of the whole northeast with such things as a new jetport, let's solve the transportation problems of the people of Union County," he said. "I'm not suggesting there is no need for a fourth jetport. I am saying it ranks no better than fourth in priority."

The assemblyman pledged to resist the expenditure of great sums of money in "new and sophisticated transport facilities" before we "get our money's worth from the investment we already have in our commuter railroads, highways and bus systems."

"Let's make them convenient and comfortable to use, instead of being a challenge to use," he said. "Before we concern ourselves with establishing new air corridors, let's concern ourselves with the sorry state of our surface corridors."

Trailer Serving as Temporary Office For College Head During Construction

The Biblical adage, "The first shall be last, and the last first," is being applied with a new twist at Union College this year.

Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president, recently gave up his presidential suite of offices to occupy a lowly trailer. His former offices will be used by the expanded student counseling staff until a new administration building, now under construction, is completed.

To the suggestion that a trailer was not dignified enough for the office of the college president, Dr. Iversen replied:

"Relocation of my office will be least disruptive of the college program. I would not like to put students in the position of having to leave the building to seek counseling."

"And," he added, "since I will not ask any staff member to suffer an inconvenience that I myself am not willing to accept, the simplest and fairest solution to our temporary space problem was to move my office into the trailer."

However, Dr. Iversen points out, he is not suffering any deprivation in his new office. The trailer is air-conditioned, attractively paneled with vinyl floors and adequate lighting. The unit most recently housed the Union College information center on wheels, which toured depressed areas in Union County this summer to bring information and counseling to students and adults on higher educational opportunities and how to apply for them.

The trailer will be official headquarters for the college president until the completion of the $700,000 administration building, which is anticipated to be in January.

The 17,000-square-foot building will provide offices for all administrators and their staffs as well as offices for faculty members. This will free nine classrooms now being used for administrative purposes and will enable Union College to enroll about 200 additional full-time students over the next two years.

Attends Seminar

Mrs. Paul W. Selby of 210 Beech St., financial aid officer, represented Union College at a seminar on federal student financial programs last week at Rutgers University, New Brunswick. The seminar was one of six conducted by Region Two of the Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Goodman, Praster Favor Second Swimming Pool

At a meeting of the Democratic Campaign Committee at the home of Harold Seymour, campaign manager, Burton Goodman and Warren Praster, candidates for Township Committee, proposed construction of a year-round swimming pool and multi-purpose recreational facility which could include provisions for ice skating.

In making known their position, the Democratic standard bearers pointed out they were reflecting community opinion as indicated by two surveys conducted in recent years by the Cranford Jaycees and the Cranford Democratic party. As in the case of the original pool, this new facility would be self-liquidating, and not create an additional tax burden, and add to the value of real estate in the community, the candidates claimed.

"Once again," said Goodman and Praster, "we are taking the initiative as past Democratic candidates have done in making specific proposals for action. While we propose taking concrete steps to satisfy the needs of the community, the Township Committee under Republican leadership does nothing but conduct feasibility studies on questions whose answers are already clearly indicated. Certainly the Township Committee ought to recognize the need for a second pool when our present pool is overcrowded and over 1100 families are on a waiting list which stretches out for almost five years. Perhaps now that we have made a specific proposal, the Township Committee and the two Republican candidates will tag along behind and echo our suggestions as they have always imitated the innovative ideas proposed by Democratic candidates, but possibly this is too much to expect since several years have not as yet gone by."

"While we realize that our two opponents are not on the Township Committee, there has been little about their campaign that would lead any observer to believe that they possess the boldness of leadership and imagination required by our times. They are content with merely projecting an image of comfortable complacency and mouthing empty rhetoric entirely devoid of specific substance. They pose for staged photographs, designed to give the impression of action, attempt to bask in the reflected glory of incumbent Republican officeholders, and simply refuse to come to grips with the issues. Costly red, white and blue brochures devoid of content and programs for action can never substitute for creative leadership," the candidates' statement concluded.

Speeding Suspension
Suspension of the driver's license of William B. Hawks, 24, of 509 Centennial Ave., for 80 days, effective as of August 10, under the 60-70 excessive speed program, was announced this week by Motor Vehicle Director June Strelecki.

Dawley Painting Exhibition This Month in South Orange

A one-man show featuring 40 recent oil paintings by Joseph Dawley of 13 West Holly St. was opened to the public on Saturday at Heritage Arts, South Orange.

Mr. Dawley is an exponent of Americana and his paintings reflect his interest in this country, its people, landscape and memories through still lifes, portraits and scenes. His style, acclaimed by critics and collectors alike, is most akin to the realism and subtlety of the High Renaissance.

Only 32, his talent as a realist has been increasingly recognized. This year alone he was accepted and shown in three major nationwide exhibitions, winning top prizes in two of them — Anonymous Portrait Award at the Academic Artists Association Springfield (Mass.) Museum Show and the Collins Portrait Award of the Hudson Valley Art Association in New York State.

Coming to New Jersey in 1961, Mr. Dawley left behind a reputation, not as a realist, but as a semi-abstractist. A native of Dallas, Tex., and a graduate of Southern Methodist University, he won the university's top art award, two show prizes at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, and, after two one-man shows, was on his way to becoming one of the Southwest's top modern painters.

Mr. Dawley is a member of the Academic Artists Association, Inc., American Artists Professional League and the Hudson Valley Art Association.

The exhibition is open to the public at Heritage Arts, 24 First St., South Orange, Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. through the month of October.

Two-Year College System Subject Of MacKay Talk

Union County's new two-year college system were explained to members of the Linden High School PTA Tuesday night by Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, executive director of the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education and president emeritus of Union College.

Joining Dr. MacKay in describing the new two-year college system in Union County were Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president of Union College, and Dr. George Baxel, superintendent of the Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains.

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Anna M. Grygotis of Linden, a long-time PTA member and leader in Linden, Union County and New Jersey, and secretary of the coordinating agency.

The coordinating agency has contracted with Union College to provide university-parallel programs and with Union County Technical Institute to provide college-level technical and occupations-oriented programs. The plan provides for students in the college-level programs at Union County Technical Institute to earn credit and Associate in Applied Science degrees through Union College.

Union College and Union County Technical Institute jointly will provide all the educational services associated with a community college.

Sex Education Critic Appears On Television

Mrs. Ann Balsamo of 30 Hillcrest Ave., outspoken critic of the Board of Education's proposed elementary school family living program, had a chance to present her views on television recently when she appeared on the David Susskind Show over Channel 5.

Participating with her in a discussion of "Sex Education and Parents" were two other sex education opponents and three who were in favor of teaching the subject in school.

Mrs. Balsamo's views were shared by Mrs. R. L. Preston of Westfield, an officer of the Concerned Citizens and Parents of Union County, and James McKeenna of Flushing, N. Y., a lawyer.

Those expressing general support for sex education included Mrs. Walter Wiener, of Deal, who teaches the subject; Mrs. Richard Steeg of Norwalk, Conn., where the program begins on a volunteer basis in the 11th grade, and chemist Robert Megraw of Parsippany, which is about to begin a kindergarten through 12th grade program.

Elementary School Curriculum Head Tells PTA Goals

Mrs. Ruth S. Janovsk, director of elementary curriculum and instruction, returned to Sherman School recently to participate in the first PTA discussion program of the school year.

At the request of Mrs. Erick Rollman, president, Mrs. Janovsk, former principal of Sherman and Lincoln Schools, took the opportunity to review some of the goals of PTA, reminding her audience that never should the national and state congresses overshadow the needs of the local community.

Mrs. Janovsk also noted that a good working relationship between the school principal and PTA president, as well as the executive board, was of importance for the success of PTA.

Regarding her new role in the Cranford school system, Mrs. Janovsk explained the structure of her department and the function of her staff which includes chairmen in the areas of math, science, language arts, social studies, music and arts.

In such a framework, the articulation of the elementary grades, K-6, is a continuing process of development, ever vigilant in the improvement of the quality of instruction, the assessment of needs and selection of appropriate materials, constant examination and evaluation of programs, as well as motivation and direction of school personnel, she said.

The vaccine will be available to all children from pre-schoolers to eighth graders and will be administered at Lincoln, Washington and St. Anne's Schools. Time schedule for the clinic will be announced later.

Questionnaire cards and consent forms are being sent home with all school children and should be returned as soon as possible so that the amount of vaccine required can be determined. ## Jaycees Hear Story of Drug Research Thefts

GARWOOD — "The theft of millions of dollars in American drug research secrets and attacks on our patent system are threatening economic progress and may pose a serious health danger," Edward Ruffing, a representative of Lederle Laboratories, a division of American Cyanamid Co., warned in addressing a meeting of the Garwood Jaycees at Bay Leaf Memorial Home Tuesday night.

Speaking on "Piracy — 20th Century Style," Mr. Ruffing told how research secrets and patent information are stolen from American industry and sold to foreign manufacturers.

He said this means that by being able to bypass research costs and the financial risks involved in creating and marketing a new product, foreign firms are selling these products at "dumping prices."

The speaker declared there was serious potential danger because there are those who succumb to the temptation to buy at the lowest wholesale prices, regardless of quality.

"Few of us can feel comfortable in knowing that medicines on drugstore shelves, in hospitals, or in our home medicine cabinets may have gone through the hands of international or domestic buccaneers who change labels, who adulterate and who bootleg products through the United States customs," Mr. Ruffing said.

Paul Cited as 'A Great Pope' At Rosary Anniversary Event

GARWOOD — "The voice of Jesus is very strong in the world today — it is the voice of Paul — a great Pope who is under such travail," remarked Very Rev. Msgr. John F. Davis. He addressed about 200 persons who attended the silver anniversary communion supper of the Rosary Altar Society of the Church of St. Anne held Sunday at the Cranwood.

The guest speaker, who is the assistant director of the Society of the Propagation of the Faith in the Archdiocese of Newark, reminisced about his first visits to St. Anne's while he was a curate at Holy Trinity Church, Westfield, some 20 years ago.

His talk centered mostly around the problems in the church today, and he concluded by saying: "If the enemy tries to destroy the church he will find it is built on rock — you are that rock."

Mrs. Peter Stragusa, spiritual development chairman, was toastmaster. The pastor and moderator, Rev. John A. McFale, also spoke briefly.

Among the guests were: Rev. Robert J. Rischmann, assistant pastor; the nuns who staff St. Anne's School, and honorary members of the organization. Those in attendance were welcomed by the president, Mrs. William J. Cesarz.

Interment was in the family plot.

Mr. Beylon, a process worker at the refinery for the past 23 years, was burned when a fire broke out at 12:20 a.m. last Thursday in a storage tank containing a million gallons of gasoline.

He was taken to Alexian Brothers Hospital in Elizabeth and from there to St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, where he died at 5:10 p.m. the same day.

Assembly Candidates Speak Here

KENILWORTH — Assemblymen Herbert Heilman and Charles Irwin, incumbent Republican candidates; Joseph Locascio, Assembly candidate from District 9A, and Freeholder Harry V. Osborne were guests at a recent coffee hour in honor of the local Republican candidates. Hostesses were Mrs. Russell Gillet and Mrs. Stanley Arszal.

Commenting on flooding conditions in the county, Assemblyman Heilman noted that a "seed" bill has been introduced in the legislature to provide funds for a county-wide program.

"The feeling in Trenton is that any problem that involves two municipalities should be the county's concern and anything involving two counties should be the state's concern," he said.

Assemblyman Irwin, who introduced the bill, explained that it would authorize $500,000 to begin engineering studies and some of the preliminary work.

In answer to questions about Route 278 and the Mancuso Report on school consolidation, the two assemblymen pledged to work to keep them "dead issues."

Candidate Locascio spoke of the similarity of problems in Linden and Kenilworth, asserting that both communities are plagued by "one party control, inadequate planning and sporadic buying."

Freeholder Osborne, who is running for reelection, reported on the educational programs for county residents at Union College and Union County Technical Institute.

Borough Council candidate Charles Scheuermann charged that the Democratic candidates were spreading a false rumor claiming the Republicans are opposed to a municipal pool.

"Our position is that a pool is definitely desirable in the community. Our primary concern, though, is that it be paid for by the members with no expense being passed on to the taxpayers. We are greatly concerned about the 'games' that have been played with this issue and definitely feel it should not become a political issue," Mr. Scheuermann said.

The other council candidate, C. William Gutekunst, spoke on the need for thorough planning of projects and making purchases of supplies and equipment "only after all of the facts have been gathered and analyzed."

William E. Conrad, Jr., mayoral candidate, charged that there are "numerous areas where it is more than obvious we have not and are not getting full value for the money being spent."

There were 75 guests at the coffee hour.

Juniors are urged to see their counselors to register and receive the bulletin of information. A fee of $2 is charged for the PSAT.

The program for pre-school children will be conducted in the Harding School gymnasium from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Parents of pre-school children may obtain questionnaires at the health office in Borough Hall.

GOP Candidates Offer to Furnish Copies of Minutes

GARWOOD — Councilman Charles J. Horbacz and Richard Polidoro, Republican candidates for Borough Council, announced this week that they are willing to furnish copies of any council meeting minutes to anyone who feels that these minutes are being "misquoted."

The following statement was issued by the GOP candidates:

"We have attempted to air as many of the local issues as possible so that the people will be well informed on the record of the present Democratic administration. We will continue to do this for the remainder of the campaign.

"The information we are publishing is factual and reflects the position taken by both parties on many issues during the year. In doing this, we have used the official council minutes as a source for much of our information.

"If anyone questions the credibility of these facts, we are willing to supply them with the copies of the minutes involved, or they can see them at the Borough Hall any time during the day.

"These minutes are approved by the mayor and council at each meeting, and if there are any questions regarding their accuracy it should be questioned at that time. In absence of any changes, we have to assume that the minutes are correct and everyone is in agreement with them.

"It is well to remember that usually when people have no good answers or rebuttals, they rely on the old worn-out cliché that they are being misquoted."

Cranford High School Has Special Program For the Development of Skilled Craftsmen

In the accompanying photograph, Anthony Mascaro, one of 11 students enrolled in Cranford High School's newest course, "Cooperative Industrial Education," is seen working at his part-time job at the Multi-Amp Corp., 61 Myrtle St. An electronics panel assembler trainee, he is supervised jointly by his high school teacher and the plant supervisor.

Like other boys in the program, Anthony attends four academic classes at the school in the morning, and participates in on-the-job training in the afternoon. Included in the morning classes is a work-related one taught by the supervising teacher.

The new course is an outgrowth of the industrial arts major which was started several years ago. According to Dr. Charles Post, principal, one or more of the ingredients that go into the making of a course — content, personnel, facilities, pupil interest — was missing, and the course was discontinued in favor of developing a work-study program.

Last year impetus given by the industrial arts board-staff committee brought to being the "Cooperative Industrial Education" course for the young man interested in becoming a skilled craftsman.

Course objectives are prescribed by the New Jersey State Department of Education, as are the qualifications of the teacher. Student interest, as explained by Dr. Post, is typified by conscientious and enthusiastic young men like Anthony, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Mascaro of 113 South Union Ave.

When asked his opinion of the course, Anthony said:

"I think it is fine. Because of it I can get my high school diploma learn about the world of work, learn a trade, and earn money all at the same time."

He confided that one of his greatest impressions of the world of work was that of his supervisor at Multi-Amp.

"He supervises me, but there is more to it than that," the student said. "He manages to say something to me every day either about the job or about something else, but whatever it is, he makes me feel like a person."

Anthony's one objection to the course is the double period of work-related study. He would prefer only one period a day so that he would have more time in his schedule for an additional subject. Dr. Post added that pupil evaluations such as this will be considered as the course evolves.

The personnel ingredient to which Dr. Post referred was supplied by Roy Daniels, a veteran of 22 years of teaching in Cranford. A graduate of the high school, Mr. Daniels returned to his alma mater after serving in the Army and earning a bachelor's degree at Newark State College. Dr. Post said that Mr. Daniels brought to his job the certification requirements of teaching experience, varied industrial experience, courses in vocational guidance, and certain personal attributes. He holds a master's degree in administration and guidance earned at Rutgers.

"Mr. Daniels," Dr. Post added, "is the kind of teacher who voluntarily taught seven classes a day (the normal schedule consists of five) so that no student would be deprived of taking the mechanical drawing course which he was teaching. He brings to his new assignment the same sincerity of interest, competence and personal attributes demonstrated so well in his former one."

Other students and employers participating in the program are: Paul Arlunas, nurseryman with Williams Nursery in Westfield; Steven Benford, mechanic trainee with the Holt Machinery Co.; Eugene Carsey, auto body repairman, Cranford Body & Fender Works. Dennis Carter, with the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. as an office assistant; John Folk and Harold Geiser, machinists, PEM Machine & Tool Co.; Richard Garcia, veterinarian's assistant at the Fanwood Animal Hospital.

Richard Lutkenhouse, cabinet-maker, Fred Manke, Inc.; John Palmer, Robin Printing Co., as a printer trainee, and Richard Van Cora, sheet metal worker, Construction Specialties, Inc.

IMITATION IS THE GREATEST FORM OF FLATTERY

Here's Why —

Item: The Republican candidates in their current platform promise liaison between the Board of Education and the Township Committee.

FACT: In 1966 the Democratic candidates originated the idea of the Liaison Committee. In 1967 and 1968 it was promoted by the Democratic candidates in their campaigns. Now, Mr. Vassallo, a member of the Board of Education for the last three years, has taken that proposal for his Township Committee campaign literature. If this item is so important to Mr. Vassallo, why hasn't he acted on it during the last three years? Could it be he now needs the votes?

Cranford Faces Clark Saturday After 28-2 Loss to Westfield

After seeing their own mistakes prove costly last Saturday against Westfield, Cranford High School's varsity football team has been drilling diligently this week in preparation for Saturday's encounter with Clark at 2 p.m. at the Clark field. Both teams will enter the contest with 1-1 records with Clark having lost to Westfield and defeated Springfield, 20-6, last Saturday.

The Cougars made four costly mistakes in the first half of last Saturday's battle with the Blue Devils at Memorial Field here and went down to a 28-2 defeat.

Cranford's loss can be attributed to two fumbles, a pass interception and a punt which wound up a yard in back of where the kick was made.

Westfield recovered a Cougar fumble on their 14. Three plays later MacCloskey took a pass from Monmlinger and scored from 13 yards out. Knoblock, who kicked all four extra points, converted.

On the next series, Cranford punted poorly and Westfield took over 26 yards from the end zone. It took the Blue Devils eight cracks, but Jackson punched in a score from four yards out.

A Westfield interception on the 42 and a 27-yard return to the 15 set Westfield up again in the second period. Six plays later Knoblock cracked over from the 1. Knoblock, who accounted for 16 points, capped a 10-play, 30-yard march by Westfield before the half ended after the Blue Devils recovered a fumble.

The Cranford defense stiffened in the second half and kept the Blue Devils contained, allowing them only one first down. John VanBrunt accounted for Cranford's two points in the final quarter when he tackled Knoblock in the end zone for the safety.

Coach Norm Koury reported his team should be at full strength for Saturday's encounter with Clark and said Bob Reynolds, junior quarterback, who has been out of action since early in the season with a fractured leg, is walking around again and may resume light drills within several days.

The Cougar coach said Saturday's contest with Clark will be a "tremendous challenge." He termed the defending Watchung champions as "a large, strong, well-trained unit."

Clipper Pee-wees Win 14-0, Midgets Bow to Kenilworth

By WILLIAM CARTER

Apparently the news of this being an era of offensive football has not reached the ears of Coach Norm Muldrow's Clipper Pee Wee team. Last Sunday in Kenilworth they recorded their third consecutive shutout and after four games have allowed only 14 points for an average of 3.5 per game.

This strong defensive unit completely smothered the Kenilworth Jets, who never penetrated Cranford territory. Let by Dave Heins, Mike McCarthy, Chuck Stevens, Nick Cicchino, Gary Becker and Bob Hahn, the defense set up one touchdown in the 14-0 triumph.

Clovis Camargo produced the first Cranford TD when he made a long punt return and then hauled in a 24-yard pass from Skeets Sheehan. Bob Vici plowed into the end zone for the two extra points. This was the only score in the first half.

The final Clipper score came early in the fourth quarter, after Bob Hahn stopped a fourth down try by Kenilworth on the Jets 22. After a short drive, Sheehan sneaked into the end zone for the touchdown and made the final score.

Mark Egan ran well for Cranford and Clovis Camargo added an interception with four minutes left. The win left the Pee-wees in second place in the league standings behind Linden. Kenilworth was undefeated prior to the game with a 2-0-1 record.

The Cranford Midgets squad of Jerry Madden continued to run into tough luck, losing 20-0. It was their third consecutive shutout loss. The Kenilworth Jets capitalizing on the all-around brilliance of Bob Barnes, and Cranford mistakes, romped to a three touchdown first half lead.

Barnes took the game's opening kickoff and raced 75 yards for a 6-0 Jet lead. A 31-yard pass play from Barnes to Infantino and a 51-yard aerial to Ed Stevens were the Kenilworth scoring plays in the second quarter. The Cranford attack was also pass-minded as John Bayata filled the air with footballs, all to no avail. Bayata hit on eight of 19 for good yardage but no touchdowns. Performing well on defense for the Midgets were Barry Ryan with an interception, Fitzpatrick and O'Brien with fumble recoveries, and Kevin Quinn and Bob McMahon.

Next Sunday the Clippers return to Memorial Field here to face Union at 1 p.m.

Local Students Aid New York Giants

Richard Mack and Donald Miller of Cranford completed their part-time duties as student assistant managers—with the New York Football Giants last Friday. The boys, both freshmen at C. W. Post College in Brookville, Long Island, have been serving with the team since the Giants began training at Post College three weeks ago. They had heard that the New Yorkers needed local students to aid in various activities connected with practice, equipment, etc., and sought the jobs.

"Yes, it was a good experience and getting to be friends with the players was the best part; some of them are really great guys," said Richard, a first year marketing major.

"What I liked is that for the first time you could see these men as human beings rather than faceless helmets and jerseys," added Donald, who is majoring in sociology.

Richard and Donald have been friends since the third grade at Walnut School and now are roommates at college.

Dig and Delve Club to Hold Card Party

Mrs. Harold Johnson and Mrs. Frank Doyle have announced final arrangements for the 14th annual card party of the Dig and Delve Garden Club. The affair will be held at Sherlock Hall of Trinity Church on Thursday, November 13, at 8:15 p.m.

Mrs. Rowland Tudor and Mrs. Henry Henskamp are ticket co-chairmen, and Mrs. Paul Ruopp and Mrs. P. J. Walsh, Jr., are in charge of prizes. Tickets may be obtained from any club member.

The October meeting of the club was held last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Coons, 34 Normandie Pl. Mrs. Tudor served as co-hostess and Mrs. Doyle prepared an autumn arrangement which was taken to Brookside Nursing Home the following day.

Mrs. Frank Krause, club president, conducted the business meeting and announced that the following members would provide flower arrangements at the Public Library during the month of October: Mrs. Donald Smith, Mrs. Thomas Leahy, Mrs. Edward Burke, Mrs. Tudor, Mrs. John Mattison, Mrs. Edward Sabatino, Mrs. John Thompson and Mrs. Philip Mulligan.

Mrs. Smith reported that a junior garden club was being formed and would meet for the first time on October 14 at the home of Mrs. Mulligan. The initial program for the juniors will be a short garden tour at the home of Mrs. Krause and a project in pressed flowers.

Mrs. Albert Hogan, horticulture chairman, thanked club members for their care of the herb wheel at the Cranford Historical Society during the summer. She announced that the wheel now contains 14 varieties of herbs, which club members will "harvest" and dry later in the fall. A new wagon wheel will be placed in the ground in November.

Mrs. Thomas Dooley, community research and projects chairman, reported on a meeting presented by candidates for local office on civic beautification.

Mrs. John McCarthy and Mrs. Arlynn Ellis have been appointed chairmen of an open standard flower show to be presented by the club at Cranford United Methodist Church on May 14 and 15.

A bulb sale for club members was conducted by Mrs. August Barberi and Mrs. Thompson.

Following the meeting Mrs. McCarthy directed a workshop in making Christmas angels to be used as table prizes at the card party.

Guests for the evening included Mrs. Leon Lukaitis, Mrs. George Keenan and Mrs. John Irwin.

Sunfish Pond Hikes Slated

The Lenni Lenape League and the Union County Hiking Club have scheduled hikes this weekend to Sunfish Pond in Worthington State Park along the Delaware River.

The league is trying to call the public's attention to its belief that present plans for increasing the size of Yard's Creek Reservoir will result in contamination of Sunfish Pond and Dunnfield Creek with Delaware River water, thereby changing the character of both these natural outdoor attractions.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Vogel of 719 Willow St. will lead members and guests of the Union County Hiking Club on a 12-mile hike to Sunfish Pond on Saturday. They will hike the Appalachian Trail from Millbrook Rd. along the ridge to visit Sunfish Pond and Yard's Creek Reservoir. The hikers will meet at West End Ave. and Route 22, North Plainfield at 8:30 a.m. The Lenni Lenape League will conduct its "Fall Foliage Hike-Pilgrimage" this Saturday and Sunday (rain dates October 18 and 19). Hikes will begin either on Route 80 just beyond Delaware Water Gap or at the Worthington State Park picnic area. A shuttle service between the two starting points is being provided for those who wish to inspect the entire area.

Point System Penalty

Suspension of the driver's license of Anthony D. Maggio, 21, of 741 Walnut Ave., for three months, effective as of August 6, under the state's point system, was announced this week by Motor Vehicle Director June Strelecki.

Speeding Penalties

GARWOOD — Driving license suspensions under the 60-70 excessive speed programs announced by Motor Vehicle Director June Strelecki this week included the following from Garwood: John W. Reinhardt, 18, of 346 Locust Ave.,

30-day suspension effective as of September 22, and Shirley Ray, 36, of 218 Second Ave., 30-day suspension effective as of September 23.

There is expert opinion that most people with heart or lung disease who get along well at sea-level, can tolerate altitudes of 7,000 or 8,000 feet without serious effects, says the Union County Heart Association.

Local Hadassah Members Going To Convention

Mrs. Henry Ricklis of 437 North Union Ave., president of Roselle-Cranford Hadassah, and Mrs. Jess Bernstein of 115 Pawnee Rd., convention chairman for the Northern New Jersey Region, will be among those attending the 55th annual convention of Hadassah, to be held in New Orleans, La., Sunday through Wednesday.

The local Hadassah unit will receive the annual membership and life membership awards at the convention. They will be presented to Mrs. Ricklis.

"The Story of a Dress," a film strip narration, will be presented at a Hadassah meeting at Temple

Beth-El at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday. In the film, students at the Alice Seligsberg Vocational High School in Israel are depicted studying various phases of the fashion industry. Hadassah supports vocational education programs in Israel.

German measles infection during the early months of pregnancy is a major cause of brain damage in the unborn child. Through its research foundation, United Cerebral Palsy has supported studies which now make the likelihood of a safe, effective vaccine against German measles a reality within the next few years. (The United Cerebral Palsy League of Union County allocates 25 percent of its funds to support the scientific research that will ultimately find a way of preventing cerebral palsy.)
