'90 CHS graduates to frolic at post-ceremony pool party

Cranford High School seniors can spend their graduation night swimming, listening to a disc jockey, making ice cream sundaes, getting hypnotized and winning color television sets or hundreds of dollars in cash.

Where can all this take place?

At the second annual graduation night party at the Centennial Avenue Pool Complex.

The substance-free event will begin at 9 p.m. following graduation earlier on the evening of June 21 and run until 3 a.m. Designed to keep graduates happy, safe and free of drugs or alcohol, the party is sponsored by the Cranford High PTA, parents of seniors and the Common Sense organization.

Project Graduation is helped this year by a $1,500 federal grant. Supporters include local merchants, community members, Township Committee, Board of Education and police, fire and recreation departments. Chaperones and members of the decoration committee are parents of high school juniors.

Drawings for door prizes will be held every half hour with prizes ranging from VCRs and CD players to gift certificates and $100 cash. Food will be plentiful and breakfast will be served.

Tickets are $15 and must be purchased in advance. Only graduating seniors may attend. Checks should be made out to the PTA of Cranford High School and sent to the school.

Eileen and Peter Skarecki are general chairmen. Other volunteers are: Margaret Smith, secretary; Barbara Penschow, treasurer; Mary Louise Davenport, donations; Ed Davenport, publicity; Rosemary Cleese, refreshments; Joanne Downey and Doris Larsen, entertainment; Judy Rosenberg, memories; Monica O'Brien, door prizes; Renee and Nick Lettier, chaperones; Sonja Kokie, decorations; and Sherry Lange, phone committee.

School board targets fiscal, academic concerns as goals

The Cranford Board of Education carved out an ambitious agenda for the upcoming year during a goal-setting meeting May 31. The board came up with 11 areas it wants to investigate this year. This was synthesized from a list of 32 concerns voiced by board members.

Although the school board never formally agreed on the Township Committee's suggestion for a consultant for a management study, the board last week targeted cost effectiveness as a goal. The board will investigate cooperative purchases with the town as a money-saving effort and also will look into costs for a management consultant through the New Jersey School Boards Association.

Other fiscal goals include a partnership between schools and business, and looking for other income-generating projects such as better utilization of Lincoln School.

In addition to the traditional areas of academics, athletics, curriculum and guidance department review, the board will look at its communication with the public and might do a survey to determine the public's perception about the effectiveness of the board's communication efforts.

With the formula for state aid funding about to undergo changes in Trenton, the board decided it should review its budget process in light of anticipated reductions in state aid over the next few years.

Other goals include the impact of "non-traditional" family units on the school district and the need for long-range planning. Board president Ellen Heller said the board is not drafting separate goals for schools superintendent Robert D. Paul this year, but will enlist his efforts on the board's goals.

Retailers sponsor 'best dad' contest for area youth

The Cranford Chamber of Commerce's retail division will sponsor a "best dad" contest for area children. Each child is invited to write a short letter (maximum 100 words) stating why his or her father (or surrogate dad) is the best in the world.

The contest is divided into three age groups: kindergarten through fourth grade, fifth through eighth, and ninth through 12th grades. The name of the child, address, telephone number and father's name must be included. The deadline for entries is June 13 at 5 p.m.

One child in each category will win two tickets to a Mets baseball game, including limousine transportation to and from the game. Letters may be deposited at any participating retail division store.

For further information, call Meryl Layton at the Cranford Bookstore, 276-0390.

Good signs

Personal commitments are paying off. For years members of the Cranford Police Department have been addressing crime from a prevention standpoint, especially among youth. Now we see good signs in juvenile delinquency statistics. Offenses are down 29 percent and the number of juveniles taken into custody has decreased 37 percent, according to the department's annual report.

The lines of communication are open between police officers and community young people because of numerous after-hours relationships such as sports programs run by the Police Athletic League. The juvenile division has organized constructive, chemical-free activities. The Explorers group for teens is one example. Bicycle safety projects are another. Police participate in peer development sessions at Cranford High School, explaining their position as citizens, not foes.

Also, the growth of drug use has been stunted. The department's high visibility and strict enforcement of narcotics laws are acting as deterrents. According to the chief, all divisions assist in the fight against drugs. They give lectures and seminars at schools and to other youth groups and support the county's Defenders Against Drugs program aimed at kindergarten through third grade.

This positive, non-threatening approach to law enforcement serves the community well.

Summertime and the old gang

Last week as I drove up Springfield Avenue on a beautiful day the smell of fresh cut grass lingering in the air brought back memories of summer when I was growing up.

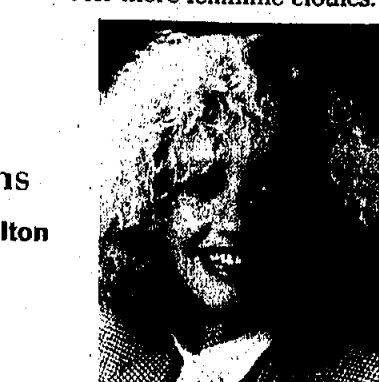

For a few moments I was back on the street I grew up on and I was 12 again. I can remember that summer as if it were yesterday. It was the last summer before I became a teenager. I had not "discovered" boys yet and boys had definitely not discovered me. There were no pressures, just the simple joy of being a kid. The thrill of hearing the Good Humor ice cream truck bell, running through the sprinkler on a hot day, running behind the mosquito spraying truck (what did anyone know about toxic chemicals back then), racing into the house for a drink and always finding the ice cold glass pitcher filled with Welch's grape juice (I never remember it being empty), playing Hide 'n' Seek or Red Light, catching lightning bugs in a glass jar, and sitting on the front porch watching a summer storm light up the sky were some of the ways we spent our time.

Playing was our life. We played from early in the morning until the "family call" was heard. Each family had one, and like homing pigeons, when we heard our call we raced home. As the evening grew later, one by one you would hear the calls. "Bob-bob-bob" or "Yo, Joe" or the ever popular whistle. Our family call was two short and piercing whistles issued by my father. Our response to this signal was so automatic that if Mom called us home we never heard her.

Television existed, despite what my daughter thinks, but it was hardly the focus of our life. Except on Thursday. On that night all normal activities were suspended in order to watch "Twilight Zone." We sat for one-half hour—measurably. Even the ringing of the Good Humor truck bell could not entice us.

Amazingly we never ran out of new and inventive ways to spend each day. The friendship shared by the neighborhood kids was a devoted one...oh we had our moments, but they were fleeting. Every morning we sat on one porch or another discussing what we would do "that day." Being the only girl in a neighborhood of all boys I easily fell into being one of the boys. It never faded me. Being a part of the "gang" was how it had always been. Unfortunately, that summer was the end of the old gang as I knew it. I was about to turn 13 in September and life as I knew it would never be quite the same. By the following summer I had become for all practical purposes—a girl. Being a teenager was my main focus. I became very conscious of how I looked and quickly cast aside my "tomboy" attire of cut-off jeans and a T-shirt for more feminine clothes.

Shenanigans
By Cheryl Moulton

Slipping coke with my friends replaced playing baseball and catching lightning bugs. Although we all acknowledged one another, the line had been drawn. More than once I caught the look of betrayal on the face of one of my old cohorts, and I missed the times we had.

I took a drive to my old neighborhood last week and little has changed. The "woods" at the end of the street where we played wagon train were replaced by houses. The two maple trees Dad planted the day I was born towered majestically above the tiny Cape Cod house. The street seemed so much shorter, the yards so much smaller. It was early evening as I headed back up the street, and I could almost hear the Good Humor truck bell and Dad whistling for my brothers and me to come home.

As I turned the corner and drove away it occurred to me that pieces of our lives continue to influence us...bringing back the comfort and security of a time when life was easier. Summertime...a time to remember...a time to reflect.

Diligence commended

To the Editor:
Recently, a very polite and apologetic police sergeant came to my door to ask if I owned any dogs. When the barking stopped, I admitted to owning the two little creatures at my feet. Although I am generally very good about veterinary and licensing rules, I had neglected to renew their tags this year. I received a summons and subsequently had to pay late fees plus a fine to license my pets.

Appreciation to Kings

To the Editor:
As the teacher of the gifted and talented art program at Lincoln School in Garwood, I would like to express my appreciation to Kings Super Market in Garwood for opening its doors to my young students.

It goes without saying that my students benefited greatly from their drawing experience. We walked to Kings, drawing boards in hand, not knowing what to expect. We were greeted warmly and allowed to sketch anywhere in the store. My 13 students captured bright red roses, jars of baby food, rows of fresh fruit, and

Troubled academic environment

To the Editor:
Last month I wrote a letter about how bad the educational system is getting, and how the community needs to get together and attend the school board meetings. Although the community feeling has picked up somewhat, and showing more strength and unity, we still have a lot further to go. More and more people have opened their eyes to real problems that surround the system, and are staying aware.

The academic environment of Garwood is troubled. The State Report Card has illustrated our students' poor mathematics and reading scores. Teachers, in general, seem frustrated. There are also stories of eighth graders having sub-par preparation for high school entry, compared to other eighth graders in surrounding communities. Stories such as these are more than mere rumors. One of the major reasons that school systems, in general, get overrun by chaos, is that the parents tend to give up or get involved only at home. They just let the administration run the rest of the show. If you come to the meetings, you can listen and formulate your own ideas and reactions to something very vital to the rest of your life. The impression you get is quick and tells you something is not right. At the moment, the board is not providing the full answers to its school community.

For the past three to four months, I've attended all the meetings. I'm sensing things getting worse in the classrooms, but, at the same time, the board is feeling the pressure of our involvement.

There have been rumors circulating around town that one of the board members may be leaving because he is moving out of the district. This may shed new light. Frankly, I don't believe that anyone knowingly contemplating a move out of district should have any further say on vital issues concerning our children, since his interests are no longer in this town. But, be that as it may, if and when he resigns his seat, there will be a vacant, unexpired term that has to be filled. With this in mind, I sent a letter, in application, to the board president expressing interest in the position should it become available. With

Generous

To the Editor:
The members of Post 335 Veterans of Foreign Wars of Cranford wish to thank the people of Cranford for their most generous support of our 1990 annual poppy sale. The money so derived will be placed in a dedicated fund and it cannot, by VFW law, be used for any other purpose than to aid veterans and their families, visitations and parties for hospitalized veterans, memorial services for deceased veterans and support of the VFW National Home.

It is only through the generosity shown that these goals can be met making everyone who contributed part of the overall program.

Help appreciated

To the Editor:
A letter of thanks is due the Cranford Police Department and Cranford First Aid Squad. Cranford has been my home for more than 60 years and I have always loved living here. In the past few years I have had cause to be proud of our First Aid Squad and our Police Department. Our family is deeply grateful for the help given us during Mr. Fisher's illness.

Police Department stunts growth of drug use in '89

By Joanne McFadden

Using high visibility patrols and strict enforcement of narcotics laws in conjunction with new initiatives in drug awareness education, the Cranford Police Department was able to stunt the growth of drug use in the municipality during 1989.

According to the annual police report, the department recorded 262 arrests of narcotics violators, a slight increase over 1988 in which 258 arrests were recorded. The use of high visibility patrols in drug-free school zones was marked. A record 717 patrol incidents were recorded in kindergarten through third grade.

The patrols provided "a visible deterrent and were an important weapon in narcotics enforcement in Cranford," wrote Quertin.

All divisions of the police department assisted in the enforcement of narcotics laws, explained Quertin. Under the direction of Capt. Harry Wilde, the department conducted several seminars and lectures for schools, community organizations and local businesses throughout 1989. In addition, the department continued to participate in the Defenders Against Drugs program, coordinated by the Union County prosecutor's office, geared at children in kindergarten through third grade.

Zoning board separates Edgar St. application into three

By Irving Dickman

The problems posed by a partially built rear-deck-a-side stockade fence erected at 309 Edgar St. without the required variances proved so complex Monday night that at the urging of chairman Richard Johnston the Cranford Zoning Board of Adjustment agreed to break them down into three issues to be acted on separately.

Even though the deck being finished by Richard and Carrie Mumford will be less than a foot and a half from their side property line when it is completed, that problem posed little difficulty for the board, and the deck was given unanimous approval. Board member Roman Chapelsky conceded that the deck is not in conformity with the township ordinance, but noted that because of the location of the lot, a "peninsula" with three street frontages, on Edgar Avenue, Riverside Drive and Venetia Avenue, "there is doubt that anything will ever be built on the adjoining property. It is not infringing on any neighbor, or on the neighborhood."

A report by the township's Development Review Committee (DRC) noted that the two most serious violations created by the erection of a six-foot-high stockade fence on the applicant's property were that "a solid fence is not allowed within the flood fringe area," because of the dangers it poses; and that "the fence along the rear yard and side appears to be located on township property." In addition, the fence had been built to two three feet forward of the rear building line, also a violation.

Board members recalled the major flooding in the Riverside Drive area when two dams failed in 1973, but agreed that a repetition was unlikely to occur. In the end they voted 5 to 2 to permit the stockade fence, with the proviso that it must be elevated six inches above ground level, to allow passage of water.

However, Johnston noted that on the question of the fence's location, the board could "make no approval nor grant any relief with regard to fencing which exists on township property," pointing out that is not within the jurisdiction of the zoning board. He recommended that the applicant seek relief instead from the Township Committee to provide screening and safety for his property.

Relatively little discussion was and one-half years after the EECF, the Port Authority has released figures which show an increase of almost 15 percent in Newark delays and a greater delay figure for the New York airports.

The FAA and the Port Authority refuse to address the problem created by placing too many air lanes in too narrow an air space, according to Margaret Doogan of the local airplane noise committee.

When the FAA initiated the new flight patterns in February 1987, the agency cited decreasing flight delays and fuel consumption as the goals of the plan. The expanded East Coast Plan. The Port Authority released statements quoting decreased delays of 30 to 40 percent at Newark Airport and similar decreased figures for Kennedy and La Guardia. Now three required before the board gave unanimous approval to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krow to add a second-story bedroom over their garage located at 115 Elm St. The applicants noted that they needed the space for their two growing boys, and in view of the fact that the addition is to be canclevered board members agreed that the encroachment was relatively innocuous.

At its earlier workshop session, board members were given copies of an appeal filed by attorney David J. Kinnear on behalf of Robert and Janice Haddad against a March 5 board decision. By a 7 to 0 vote, board members upheld a ruling of township zoning officer John Gall concerning the Haddads' property at 451 Normandie Pl. that "the shortest distance between the side lot is to be canclevered board members agreed that the encroachment was relatively innocuous.

Kean conference to address ECRA regulations, liabilities

Avoiding "potentially crippling environmental liabilities and complying with environmental regulations will be the subject of a half-day conference to be held next Thursday at Kean College."

The conference, sponsored by the Union County Economic Development Corp. and co-sponsored by the Westfield law firm of Farer Siegal Fersko, will be held from 8:30 a.m. to noon. Admission is free with advanced reservations, which can be made by calling 627-1166.

The conference is aimed at business owners, managers and business advisers who must make sophisticated decisions about how to protect their businesses from environmental liabilities and how to comply with the maze of federal and state environmental regulations," said Maureen Tien, president of the Union County Economic Development Corp.

Among the topics to be covered are the state's Environmental Responsibility Act, known as ECRA, compliance with air and water pollution control laws and development of liability avoidance programs. The conference's technical program was developed by Richard Ersson, an attorney in Farer Siegal Fersko's environmental department.

"The environmental liabilities can be devastating," says Ersson. "Unfortunately, many business people seek advice only after the damage has been done."

Woman injured in collision at Monroe and 19th Street

A 36-year-old Kenilworth woman was seriously injured last Thursday after the car she was driving collided with a car at the intersection of Monroe Avenue and N. 19th Street.

Edith Tiernan of N. 23rd Street was traveling west on N. 19th Street at 11:30 a.m. when she allegedly disregarded a stop sign and collided with a car driven by Robert Reed Jr., 36, of Newark. Mrs. Tiernan was issued a summons for failing to obey a stop sign.

Reed was not injured but Kenilworth firemen used the jaws of life apparatus to free Mrs. Tiernan from her Mercury Cougar which had been hit on the front driver's side. The Kenilworth First Aid Squad took her to Overlook Hospital.

In a telephone conversation Tuesday, Mrs. Tiernan said she was driving on N. 19th Street and was sure that she had come to a stop at the intersection of Monroe Avenue.

Council weighs new rule to force members to accept chairmanships

By Peter Wamsteker

Republican Councilman Joseph Rego's refusal to serve as chairman of the Department of Public Works since his appointment last January has caused members of the Democratic-dominated governing body to seek an amendment to Borough Council bylaws.

In the next few weeks councilmen are expected to consider an amendment that would require elected officials to accept the title of chairman of a given committee or otherwise resign from Council.

The proposed amendment comes at a politically tenuous time for both Democrats and Republicans. While the primary elections for each party were uncontested Tuesday, Rego's refusal to serve as chairman is bound to be an issue as the November election approaches. Rego is running for mayor to fill the unexpired term of former Republican mayor Joseph Benintente who resigned last January because of illness.

Rego repeatedly has stated that his appointment to chair the public works committee was a "political ploy" by the Democrats to put him in the "hot seat" for the year. And for some time it appeared he was correct because by refusing to accept the assignment, he forced the governing body to call a special meeting each time the committee wanted to discuss DPW business.

At the request of DPW superintendent Frank Plummer, Rego decided to work with the committee but still refusing to accept the title of chairman.

This refusal has compelled some councilmen and Democratic party leaders to find a way to make an elected official accept the title of chairman.

Already borough attorney Bradford Bury has been asked to research when state law considers an office vacant.

According to the municipal vacancy law, an office can be declared vacant "upon the refusal of the mayor or member of the governing body to qualify or serve."

In the case of Rego, the issue is no longer one of whether or not

Voters endorse party choices in primary

Democratic and Republican voters endorsed their candidates for mayor and Borough Council Tuesday in uncontested primary elections.

In unofficial election returns, Phyllis Baldauchini, Democratic candidate for mayor, earned 245 votes while Republican candidate Joseph Rego polled 147 votes.

Democratic candidates for Council, Eugene Pepe and Andrew Felder, received 224 and 221 votes respectively. They will face Republicans John Brede, who earned 141 votes, and Sam Cavallaro, who tallied 149, in the Nov. 6 election.

District results for the Republicans saw Ronald Mack and Constance Conrad receive 20 and 19 votes respectively in district 1 while in district 2, Thomas Gilligan earned 23 votes and Bernice Gilligan earned 22.

In district 3, Richard LoForte earned 25 votes and in district 1 while in district 2, Thomas Gilligan earned 23 votes and Bernice Gilligan earned 22.

In district 3, Richard LoForte earned 25 votes and in district 1 while in district 2, Thomas Gilligan earned 23 votes and Bernice Gilligan earned 22.

School year ends June 13

School lets out for the year at 1 p.m. next Wednesday at Harding School.

Morning pre-kindergarten and kindergarten classes will be held from 8:35 to 11:05 a.m. and the afternoon sessions are scheduled 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Graduation exercises will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the school auditorium. Parking for graduation will be available from 6 to 10 p.m. in the rear of the school.

Parents should notify the school office if their children will be transferring from Harding School to another school so that transfer forms can be processed.

Summer reading treasures

Reading Pleasures and Deep Sea Treasures is the theme of the summer reading club at the Kenilworth library this year. The program is open to all children in pre-school through eighth grade.

The reading club will kick off June 16 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The event will include refreshments for children and adults, children's films, and small prizes for children who register. More information about the reading club is available from the children's librarian at 276-2451 or by stopping at the library.

Soccer registration

Boys and girls in grades 2 to 8 who are interested in playing soccer in the fall should call Debi Fennes, 241-9042, or Dianne Manasso, 276-6993, for registration information.

Seton grads

Two Kenilworth residents, Tracey Dorst and Rebecca Scorese, graduated June 3 from Mother Seton High School, Clark. A total of 89 students received diplomas from Sister Regina Martin, principal.

Regional schools summer classes slated at Brearley

The regional high school district will offer its summer school program again at David Brearley High School.

Classes will begin June 27 and run until Aug. 2, except July 4. Students may accelerate their academic progress by taking original credit courses, although these will not be counted toward students' class rank. Students also may take review courses or enroll in enrichment programs. All courses are provided free to residents of the six municipalities in the regional district who are under 21 years of age.

Regional district residents of all ages also may sign up for free evening programs including a musical theater workshop at Brearley, a vocal music program at Jonathan Dayton High School in Springfield, a fine arts workshop at Arthur L. Johnson in Clark and a crafts program at Gov. Livingston in Berkeley Heights.

Brochures, detailing the programs are being distributed to students' homes and are available in the schools. Registration will be open until June 25 and late registration for summer school will be accepted at Brearley at 9 a.m. June 27 on a space available basis.

Original credit, review and enrichment courses will run from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and special courses will be conducted at times to be announced. Further information is available from summer school director George Cuzzolino at 272-7500.

Florio proposal would wipe out state aid to local schools

controls, radon and testing for lead, and what Paul calls "no deviation" by the teachers' association from "9 to 9 percent increases in many years."

According to state figures, Cranford received $5.1 million in state monies for fiscal 1991 and is pegged to get the same amount in fiscal year 1992. Garwood will retain status quo state aid of $620,000, Kenilworth stays at $1 million and Union County Regional will remain at $8.3 million. This aid would under the plan be phased out over the next four years. Paul said $2.75 million of the $5.1 million figure is not aid, but state payment of pensions and Social Security for district employees.

Special education and transportation aid are excluded from the foundation basis of the plan and are funded separately. Cranford would be entitled to $1.5 million for these purposes in fiscal 1992, Garwood $179,000, Kenilworth $347,000, and Union County Regional $1.8 million.

Court upholds Florio plan

Tuesday's decision by the N.J. Supreme Court declaring the current system of educational funding unconstitutional is expected to strengthen Gov. Florio's proposal to eliminate state aid to the state's wealthiest districts.

The court ruled in the landmark Abbott vs. Burke case that the current funding formula contributes to a disparity between more affluent towns and the state's 28 poorest school districts. The decision will eliminate the concept of "minimum" aid, which has been paid to all districts regardless of wealth.

The "foundation formula" devised by the Florio Administration would direct state aid on the basis of property wealth and the wealth of a community's residents. For the school year starting July 1, 1991, the formula would distribute $4.4 billion throughout the state. That is $1 billion more than Florio seeks to parcel out in the fiscal year starting July 1 this year.

He envisions the difference coming from an increase in the state income tax.

Florio's proposed formula establishes a foundation level of $6,200 as the minimum amount that the administration feels should be spent to give every public school elementary pupil a "thorough and efficient education." The cost of education in grades 9-12 was found to be a third higher. The $6,200 foundation level covers grades K-5, rises to $6,820 for grades 6-8 and to $8,246 for grades 9-12.

"Transition money" in 1992 will enable districts to maintain the 1991 aid level. That amounts to $1.4 million for Cranford, $59,000 for Garwood, $752,000 for Kenilworth and $4.4 million for regional district. The transition aid will be reduced by 25 percent each year for four years.

Under the formula, the state aid per pupil in Cranford would remain at $1,711 this year and next, at $1,519 in Garwood and $1,739 in Kenilworth.

The formula does not include a "cap" on local spending, enabling a community to tax itself as its citizens desire for education above the foundation guarantee.

Only six of the 21 districts in Union County would receive new aid under Florio's formula: Elizabeth, Plainfield, Rahway, Hillside, Roselle, Roselle Park and Union.

The Florio package faces heavy scrutiny in the legislature. Some leaders like Sen. Matthew Feldman, chairman of the Education Committee, have lodged criticism of the plan. He said suburban districts would be hurt. The New Jersey Education Association and the New Jersey School Boards Association are both displeased with the prospect of shifting the responsibility for teacher pension and Social Security contributions from state to local districts.

Twelve teachers reappointed

Twelve non-tenured Garwood teachers have been rehired for the 1990-91 school year. They include Joseph Ascone, Teresa Cahill, Cynthia Checchio, Marion Dimpel, Mary Ann Jones, Donna Legg, Lois Mariano, Valerie Neher, Dolores Pulaski, Francine Schick, Wendy Secola and Dolores Sharkey. The school board approved their reemployment at the May 29 meeting.

The board will conduct an evaluation of business administrator Louis Cirangelo in June and vote June 26 on whether to rehire him. The board voted April 30 to put Cirangelo's reappointment on hold pending another evaluation. He would gain tenure if rehired.

Conmen steal cash from woman, 80

More than $1,000 was stolen from an 80-year-old woman last Thursday afternoon after two men entered her home through the roof of her house was on fire. According to police, two white males in their late teens to early 20s approached the Spruce Avenue resident to tell her that the roof of her house was on fire. Police said the men barged their way into her house and told the woman not to call police because doing so would cause a short circuit, possibly aggravating the fire. One of the men walked up to the victim's bedroom while the other walked in and out of the house carrying bundles of cash, according to the report.

Woman is guilty of shoplifting

Natalie Williamson, 27, of Plainfield pleaded guilty in Municipal Court June 4 to shoplifting five cartons of cigarettes worth $42.50 from Pathmark in December 1982. She was sentenced to four days in jail.

Cash is stolen from local bar

An undetermined amount of cash was stolen from a local bar early Tuesday morning. Police received a call at 4 a.m. from a cleaning man who found the front entrance door of Garwood Rest on South Avenue open. The burglary may have occurred between 2 a.m. and 3 a.m. on the south side entrance after the door was forced open shattering the lock. The cash register and numerous drawers and cabinets were opened. Police are awaiting a full inventory list from bar owner John Chinchear.

Three teachers have not been rehired: Roberta Hollander, full-time Spanish teacher, will not return. The board is considering changing the position to a combination Spanish and general elementary teacher, and Hollander only is certified to teach Spanish. Other teachers not reappointed are Myra Blank, home economics, and Rosemarie Uptegrove, language arts.

Interviews slated for school chief

The school board will interview 10 candidates for superintendent of schools during three closed meetings over the next week. The 10 have been recommended by the board's consultant from the New Jersey School Boards Association from a pool of 25 applicants. The board will narrow the field to several finalists who will be invited back for another interview.

Dolly receives GOP write-in nomination for mayoral bid

Former Councilman Tom Dolly was nominated to run for mayor on the Republican ticket in Tuesday's primary election. He received 25 write-in votes. He will face Democratic incumbent Georgiana Gurrieri in the Nov. 6 election.

The Republican Municipal Committee was unable to come up with a mayoral candidate in time for the April 12 deadline for the primary election. Dolly, who served on the Council from 1985 to 1987, has seven days to decide whether to accept the write-in nomination. He declined to seek re-election in 1987, saying he wanted to take a "breather" and indicated he might return to politics.

Gurrieri, who is completing a four-year term as mayor following 12 years as a councilwoman, received 83 votes Tuesday for the official nomination. Her running mates, incumbents Paul DeVenuto and Dennis McCarthy, polled 80 and 81 votes respectively. Republican nominees for the two Council seats are former Councilman

Walter Maszczak and Andrew Rossi, who polled 77 and 80 votes respectively.

In the contested election for the Democratic freeholder nomination, local voters endorsed the regular party slate of Fred Eckel, Joseph Suliga and Jeffrey Maccarelli over nine other contenders. They received between 63 and 67 votes apiece while the challengers received from one to seven votes here.

The highest vote getter here was Christine Todd Whitman with 94 votes. She is the Republican candidate for the Senate who will run against Sen. Bill Bradley. He pulled down 64 borough votes. Congressional incumbent Matthew Rinaldo polled 83 borough votes while his opponent, Democrat Bruce Bergen, received 73 tallies.

Only 182 of the borough's 2,200 registered voters cast ballots in the primary. There are 587 registered Democrats and 391 Republicans.

Board of Health to vote on cat licensing ordinance

By Rosalie Gross

Garwood may become the first area municipality to enact a cat licensing ordinance as a rabies protection measure. The borough Board of Health introduced an ordinance last month that would require all cats to be inoculated against rabies and wear a license tag. The board will conduct a public hearing on the measure and take a final vote at its meeting June 20 at 7 p.m. in Borough Hall.

Health officer Robert Sherr, who serves Westfield, Fanwood and Mountainside in addition to Garwood, said he has recommended that all these municipalities enact a cat licensing ordinance.

Garwood pupils improve scores on basic skills test

By Kimberly Bridge

"There were more children in the 90th percentile this year than there have been in the last four years," said acting superintendent Walter Boright at an informal gathering of parents Monday. The meeting was held for parents wanting to know more about the results on the Iowa Test of Basic Skills, which pupils took in April. Results were sent home to parents Monday.

Commenting on pupil progress, Boright said this "standardized test is only one indication and should not stand alone." He added that methods such as report cards, teacher observations, class discussions and parent conferences are also important indications of pupil progress.

An item analysis sheet for each pupil is given to the teachers to tell what type of question was answered wrong on the test, not just a certain subject. The sheet also tells the level of difficulty of the question. These analysis sheets are used by teachers to determine where each child is weak and what he or she can accomplish more easily, thus determining what the teacher needs to reinforce in the curriculum.

In general, pupils scored very well in the test's five categories of vocabulary, reading, language arts, work study, and mathematics, said Boright.

Although vocabulary and reading skills were on the lower side of the scale, they were still good, said Boright. "I feel comfortable saying the children's scores have improved in many areas in the continuing interest of the community," he mentioned, adding that 31 youngsters scored in the 90th percentile in math.

The overall test scores will be made available in several weeks after the Board of Education reviews them.

will conduct a public hearing on the measure and take a final vote at its meeting June 20 at 7 p.m. in Borough Hall.

Health officer Robert Sherr, who serves Westfield, Fanwood and Mountainside in addition to Garwood, said he has recommended that all these municipalities enact a cat licensing ordinance.

Garwood, so far, is the only one that has taken the initiative. He said the other three towns have been placed on a rabies alert by the state. Sherr said this means that a rabies outbreak has occurred within 25 miles of these towns.

He said he wants Garwood to "take the steps to be set to deal with it." He said rabies is carried by raccoons and skunks, which come into greater proximity to household pets in suburban areas rather than rural ones. He said the outbreak of rabies generally slows down in the summer, but the steady advancement could hit this area "as early as the end of the year or as late as the fall of next year," Sherr adds, that "there's no way to contain it."

Under the proposed ordinance, cats over six months of age must be vaccinated and licensed annually. The licensing tag must be "securely fastened or displayed."

Cat owners would have 10 days from the time of acquiring a cat or the cat reaching six months of age to apply for a license. The fee would be set at $9.20 for each un-neutered cat and $6.20 for neutered cats.

Sherr said he has no idea how many cats there are in Garwood. Approximately 400 dogs are licensed. He added that the ordinance would force people to take responsibility for neighborhood felines that they may feed, or else these animals would be picked up as strays.

Proceeds of the licenses would be used to collect stray cats and provide rabies clinics. The fine for violators could be as high as $500.

Either the Board of Health or Borough Council has the power to enact a cat licensing ordinance. In this case, the governing body bowed to the five-member board.

CHANGING OF THE GUARD: Lt. Stanley B. Cembrola, left, is sworn in to his new rank by Mayor Georgiana Gurrieri while Police Chief Warren Opie holds Bible. Cembrola, a 19-year veteran who has received numerous commendations, takes over for Lt. Robert Froat who retired April 30.

A trip to Jai Alai in Milford, Conn., is planned June 20 at a cost of $25, which includes transportation, lunch and entrance fees. The bus will leave at 8:30 a.m. and return at 7 p.m. Reservations are being accepted for a trip to Washington, D.C., Sept. 7 to 10 at a cost of $265, including breakfast and dinner daily. Space is available on trips to Bally's Park Place July 11 and Aug. 8. Call Roman Popiel, 276-2849.

Linda Swannons will be the new chairman for the Walnut Avenue shop. Elaine Callaghan of Cranford along with Judy Shunway and Dorothy Douglas will return next season to oversee a staff of more than 100 volunteers from the Junior League. Consignment merchandise will be accepted again in September.

Drama group sets year-end picnic

The drama department of the Wednesday Morning Club will conclude its program year with a picnic Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. for its 23 members at the home of Catherine Porter on Edgewood Road. Ruth Mysiak is coordinator for the luncheon which will be catered by department members. New department chairmen Charlotte Swinton and Ellen Hunt will discuss plans for the program year to begin in October. A production of Paper Mill Playhouse is scheduled.

Junior Club donates books on environment to library

The Cranford Junior Woman's Club has donated several books about protecting the environment and special conservation projects to the Cranford library. Conservation chairman Laurie Lubin said the books describe simple, effective ways for adults and children to become more aware and involved in their environment.

Several members are assisting the library staff with its inventory this month.

Department chairmen have been appointed. They are: Janice Bottino, art; Laurie Lubin, conservation; Denise Gesumaria, drama; Theresa Koellner, music; Elaine Puma, education; Laura Gardner and Patty Welch, home life; Robin Kachmar, international affairs; Janet Rocco, membership; Kathleen Prunty, public relations; and Ellen Mindlich, public affairs.

Edith Cogan, president of Project Home, will explain the organization at the club's June 13 meeting at 7:30 p.m. Call 272-0028 for location. The club will sponsor a December holiday house tour, "Home for the Holidays," to benefit Project Home.

Natural dying methods to be shown

Creating dyes from natural materials will be demonstrated Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. at Miller-Cory House Museum, 614 Mountain Ave., Westfield. Volunteer Mary Salmon will prepare a dye-bath and explain how New Jersey's early families added color to their clothing and homes.

Also a skilled spinner, she will dye wool from sheep recently sheared at the museum's annual sheep-to-shawl day. Costumed docents will guide visitors through the restored farmhouse, which served as a private

Scottish games slated at Bonnie Brae

The fifth annual Bonnie Brae Scottish games will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the school's Bernards Township campus in West Millington. The event will benefit the 74-year-old residential school for troubled boys. Highlights will include highland dance, piping, and Celtic harp and fiddle competitions. Scottish country dance demonstrations, foot races and field competitions such as tossing the caber, throwing the sheaf, hammer and weight. Other attractions are sheep herding, singing, story telling, and traditional Scottish foods and imported items.

Drunk driving arrests rise, setting record high for year

By Joanne McFadden

Drunk driving arrests by Cranford Police skyrocketed to 158 during 1989, a 74 percent increase over 1988's 91, setting a new record high, according to Police Chief Robert Guertin.

State Police arrested another 25 on the Garden State Parkway and one driver was charged by Union County Police within Cranford boundaries, bringing the total number of infractions heard in Cranford court to 184, said Guertin.

In 1988 there was a total of 121 DWI arrests, 91 by the Cranford Police and 30 by State Police. The decade's annual average for Cranford Police is 63.

According to Guertin, the increase "is a direct result of our proactive patrols, our DWI enforcement programs, special weekend patrols, and our quarterly sobriety checkpoints."

Some of the local arrests stemmed from road checkpoints set up in the most likely places and hours for drunken driving as determined by police computers. The drunk driving checkpoint program, started in 1988, consisted of setting up in a fixed location and checking a predetermined number of vehicles or ones with specific violations. During three such checkpoints, 972 vehicles were stopped and given informational packets. Of that number, 387 were directed into a second checking area where the operators were checked for vehicle credentials and sobriety. Of this total, six persons were arrested for driving under the influence, five persons for narcotic offenses, two for outstanding traffic warrants, and one for under-age possession and use of alcohol. In addition, 47 summons were issued for various traffic offenses.

Currently there are 15 local officers certified as breathalyzer operators which resulted in 240 tests. Of those, 208 were positive; 32 were negative. As a result of 1989 tests, 107 arrests were made for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

In addition, another 51 subjects were arrested who either refused to take the breathalyzer tests, were charged based on blood samples by medical personnel, were charged with driving under the influence of narcotics based on urine samples, or were charged with allowing another person to operate a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or narcotics.

Total reflects a dramatic increase over 1988.

When in Jersey, do as Jerseyans do...pay through the nose

By Frank J. Korn

Tom Kean had it all when it came to our state slogan. What he meant to say was "New Jersey and Your Wall...Perfect Together." This fact dawned on me rather compellingly on my recent return from a brief sojourn to Cape Cod. Let me backtrack a bit to paint the scene for you:

My wife, Camille, and I had spent that last morning of truly romantic vacation ambulating through the stender streets of historic, picturesque Provincetown, charmed by its miniature town square, its 19th century architecture, and its ship-lined harbor. A brilliant spring sun warmed us as we strolled. Gentle April zephyrs stirred the dark waters of Cape Cod Bay.

At a cozy coffee shop on Main Street a curly, red haired waitress exhorted us to be sure not to depart the area without venturing out to nearby Race Point for the spellbinding panorama it offered along with a good chance of spotting a whale or two. Heeding her good counsel, we drove a pair of miles to the tourist parking area at Race Point whence we picked our sandy way on foot to the summit of the highest dune to take in the celestial sights.

Out there, on the breezy northern tip of the Cape, we felt oh so wonderfully small amidst the sky and sea and space. Three hundred miles from our beloved Kenilworth cottage, I stood there lost in reverie until I sensed a soft tug at my elbow. La Bella Camille was gently reminding me that it was high noon and time to sing that old Italian favorite "Arrivederci, Che Peccat".

In our spanking new, stunning blue Toyota Corolla we descended from the rugged, primitive, pristine beauty of the coastal highlands along a constantly curving road flanked by wind-sculpted sand hills, out on to Route 6 West. Reaching the midway point on this cross-Cape highway, we detoured a few miles into the picturesque hamlet of Chatham where at a small deli we assembled a brown bag lunch for the long odyssey remaining. Munching on provolone and prosciutto and pane (bread), and listening to a cassette of Rachmaninoff's Second, we motored past towns with names like Brewster, Yarmouth, Hyannis, and Sandwich, over the Sagamore Bridge to the mainland and on to Plymouth of pilgrim fame.

Through Massachusetts we drove unimpeded by traffic lights or any other man-made gadget, and in another hour, reached the border of tiny Rhode Island. This state also greeted us clearly with another lovely, immaculate, air-fined, six-lane highway with a generous grassy center island. After a pit stop at an orange-armed Howard Johnson's we soon approached the top of Connecticut, whose fine free-of-charge Turnpike led us through Groton and New Haven and Stratford and Greenwich into the Empire State. Up and over the stately Tappan Zee Bridge we coasted through New "Yawk" towns of White Plains and Nyack, on to the real world of New Jersey where an enormous sign, expressed welcome by our handsome governor, Jim Florio himself. At this juncture the good times rolled. In truth, I do not have the verbal skills to convey to you the joys that awaited us down the home stretch. But I shall try, nonetheless.

Up to this point we had journeyed 275 miles, through four states, "all on the house." But in order to enter our own native state we had to: a) negotiate an endless bumper-to-bumper line, by pass through a "toll plaza" (read "barrier") and c) fork over 35 cents. Six, just six, miles later it was another "plaza," another bumper-to-bumper approach to it; and another 35 cents.

My mental computer shifted into high gear. If we had to shell out 35 little ones per every six miles through Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York, the return from Provincetown would have topped us for a cool 17 and a half bucks. If we had had to queue up every 10 kilometers, the trip, I figured, would have taken 17 and a half months. At the end of the holiday season you will often hear harried parents muttering, "Thank God that Christmas comes but once a year." At this point I distinctly heard Camille moaning, "Thank God New Jersey comes once every 50 states."

Burning rubber out of Plaza II, we sped, all of nine unencumbered miles to the next Maginot Line where we waited. And waited. And waited—to make yet another deposit. At Hillside, eight miles down the obstacle course known grandiosely as the Garden State Parkway, another one-armed bandit that never pays off awaited us.

A thought came suddenly to mind: a quarter of a century ago, President Kennedy stood on a bunting-decked podium at the grim Berlin Wall and exhorted us to the beleaguered people: "Ich bin ein Berliner." I began to imagine him returning today to a platform overlooking one of our loathsome "plazas" to utter similar words of compassion to the beleaguered people of the Garden State: "Ich bin ein New Jerseyan."

Just a couple of years ago President Reagan stood tall at the Brandenburg Gate and exhorted his Soviet counterpart: "Mr. Gorbachev, tear down this wall." Not long afterwards, like Jericho's, it came tumbling down.

Would that Ron, someday soon, undertake a similar mission to New Jersey and repeat his performance with a slight revision, to wit: "Mr. Florio, tear down these toll gates, unh, plazas."

The spastic stop-and-go, go-and-stop pace of the final 25 miles had left us in such a toll-shocked state that upon getting off at Exit 138 and turning left onto Kenilworth Boulevard, we found ourselves anticipating another "gochie," that is to say, another toll plaza. But, heavens praised, we made it all the way to Dunkin Donuts at the intersection of Michigan Avenue without dunking another dime and quarter. Surely, we bunting-decked podium at the grim Berlin Wall and exhorted us to the beleaguered people: "Ich bin ein Berliner." I began to imagine him returning today to a platform overlooking one of our loathsome "plazas" to utter similar words of compassion to the beleaguered people of the Garden State: "Ich bin ein New Jerseyan."

Kristin Pagurek to attend state citizenship seminars

Kristin Pagurek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pagurek of Cranford, has been chosen by the Village Improvement Association to attend the Girls' State Citizenship Institute June 18 to 21 at Douglass College. She will attend sessions on civics and government in the annual program sponsored by the N.J. State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Kristin, a junior at Mother Seton High School, is a member of the National Honor Society and was secretary of the sophomore class. She has appeared in the school play the last three years and has been a member of the Mother-Seton bowling and soccer teams. She was co-chairman of the junior prom and works on the school newspaper. Kristin participates in the youth ministry at St. Michael Church.

College senior travels around the world in semester at sea

By Peter Wamsteker

College students interested in studying abroad should talk to Cranford resident Dean Saltzman.

Saltzman, 21, a senior at the University of Rhode Island, traveled to a number of ports around the world on the SS Endeavour this spring as part of a Semester at Sea sponsored by the University of Pittsburgh. And he loved every minute of it.

"I met more people and saw more places than I could ever have thought of," he said. "We spent an average of five days in each country and took classes on the ship. But most of my learning came from experiencing the cultures of each country."

Morocco, Yugoslavia, the Soviet Union, Turkey, Egypt, India, Malaysia, China, Taiwan and Japan were among the countries he visited.

The trip began in the Bahamas where a converted cargo ship dubbed "The Floating Campus" took him, and nearly 400 students from around the United States, to Casablanca, Morocco, where he visited three of the four imperial cities. He was awestruck with the contrast between the king's palaces and the abject poverty of the country.

Next stop: Bravick, Yugoslavia where a hike up the coast bordering the Adriatic Sea led to a memorable night in a bed and breakfast hotel with a group of friends.

"We met a lady while we were waiting around looking for a place to stay and somehow she knew we were looking because the only English words she knew were bed, breakfast and shower," he said.

Moscow, the third stop after arriving at the port of Odessa, was described as dreary and a little behind the times.

"I had heard they were 20 years behind us but I never really believed it until I saw it," he said.

Still, the visit did have its cultural highlights, he added. A visit to St. Basil's, the Kremlin and Lenin's tomb were all very exciting and being part of the largest non-violent political demonstration

MEMORIAL GARDEN: Dean Saltzman tours the Chiang Kai-shek memorial garden in Taiwan.

Two days in Egypt had him climbing the ancient pyramids and riding camels. A visit to a museum which housed King Tut's jewels also made quite an impression.

From Egypt, the group embarked on a 12-day jaunt sailing through the politically volatile Suez Canal while playing volleyball on the ship.

It was in India where Saltzman says he had his most rewarding experiences. "I visited an orphanage in Madras which was very moving. Inside, I learned that girls were not as desirable as boys for adoption because they could not work in the fields; so at least 90 percent of the children there were girls and about 10 percent were children with abnormalities," he said.

"We were encouraged to hold and hug the children and we left donations, candy and balloons."

While in Malaysia, Dean and several of his friends spent three days in Taman Negara, a national park rain forest which was accessible only by traveling for three hours on a boat. While there, his group explored bat caves and swam in natural swimming holes.

Other memorable stops included five days in Hong Kong where he saw a Vietnamese refugee camp and enjoyed a sumptuous Passover seder.

His trip concluded with stops in Taiwan and Japan where he visited the memorials of Chiang Kai-shek and victims of Hiroshima.

Happy to have made so many friends and for having experienced the diverse cultural differences, Saltzman said he has a new found appreciation for living in the United States.

"There is a lot you take for granted here, that you appreciate more when you return," he said.

MIDEASTERN CHICKEN

This is an old family recipe. Measurements are approximate, and depend on the cook's preference.

2 lb. chicken, fryer or broiler, cut up
1/4 c. lemon juice
1/4 c. butter or margarine
1/4 to 1/2 c. oil
salt and pepper (to taste)

Mix all ingredients except chicken. Cut slits in the chicken to allow marinade to penetrate. Arrange chicken in baking dish and pour marinade over it. Marinate the chicken in refrigerator for about 4 to 6 hours, turning occasionally.

Bake in hot oven uncovered at 350 degrees, basting occasionally. Bake until really tender when pierced with a fork (about 45-60 minutes). When done, remove to a platter. Remove tails from liquid in pan (if any is left over) and serve over midedestern rice (recipe at right). I sometimes make a double portion of marinade so I have juice left over.

MIDEASTERN RICE

1/4 lb. chicken giblets (optional)
2 c. uncooked rice, long grain
1 c. medium onion, chopped
1/4 c. butter or margarine
4 1/2 c. chicken broth or bouillon

1 t. cinnamon
1 t. allspice
1/2 t. garlic

Cover giblets with water and boil until tender. Remove froth as it forms. Remove giblets and reserve the broth. Chop giblets and set aside. Rinse rice if necessary and drain.

In a large pan, saute onions in butter until limp. Add rice and continue sauteing for a few minutes until slightly golden.

Measure the giblet broth and add enough chicken broth or bouillon to measure 4 1/2 cups. Add to pan. Add seasonings and cover. Bring to a boil and cook for 20 minutes on medium heat. Add nuts, raisins and giblets. Stir mixture and simmer for 10 minutes or until rice is done.

Put on platter, surround with midedestern chicken and spoon leftover liquid from chicken (if any) over rice.

DEMOCRATS FOR CRANFORD Carolyn Voller and John Jordan are the winners of Tuesday's contested Democratic primary for Township Committee nomination.

Vollero, Jordan win primary

Kessler said Tuesday night after the election, "I would welcome an opportunity to be chairman of this Democratic committee." He also said the Democrats for Cranford "knew how much Carolyn Vollero had done for the party and resented she had been thrown off the organization line." After the election, Vollero and Jordan said, "We are elated by our victory. We always believed in the Cranford Democrats and we are glad to see that they believed in us. We now hope to bring all Democrats together for the fall campaign. We look forward to a positive issue-oriented campaign against our Republican opponents."

Trivelli said he believed the Democratic party would pull together now that the election was over. He said he would continue to help with the party and would support Vollero, Russo was unavailable for comment.

Town asks Hartz to cooperate with down-zone proposals

By Cheryl Moulton

The preliminary draft ordinance to down zone the South-west Gateway became a major part of Monday's meeting called by Hartz Mountain Industries regarding development of the former Beecham site. The township asked Hartz to cooperate in an effort to avoid problems with the 31-acre Walnut Avenue property.

Harry Pozyci, land use attorney hired by the township, commented Hartz for becoming "use sensitive." He stressed, however, if the company intended on implementing changes to the Walnut-Raritan intersection it was to their advantage to work with the township to see how the improvements align with the draft ordinance. He suggested Hartz not file its application for a week and work together with the township to avoid having to make "adjustments," at a later date if the improvements do not meet the proposed draft ordinance requirements.

Walter Smith, vice president of property development for Hartz, said he had not seen a copy of the draft ordinance and suggested the proposed ordinance "really affects only one area of town." He explained the company had studied the traffic impact of the proposed development "enough to know if we could improve traffic flow." He also said there was an obligation of any developer to make sure there is not an unsatisfactory traffic impact.

Smith remained adamant on moving forward with the application, despite intervention by Mayor Ed Force, who indicated the intention was to meet "on some middle ground" with Hartz. He asked Smith if there was "any possible way we could sit down and see how close we are" to avoid "controversy midstream."

proposed changes to the intersection but was told by Smith this information would be available when the Hartz application went before the Planning Board. Pozyci said the township was "not suggesting Hartz wait until the new ordinance was in place, but certainly a week's time would allow everyone to see if the proposed plans were in compliance."

Earlier in the meeting Smith said, "We have a deal in place," explaining the actual signing of the agreement with Summit Trust Co. would take place later this week. Smith's facilities here in Cranford would be an operation center and not corporate headquarters as originally announced by Smith. Summit would utilize 125,000 square feet of the existing building, with approximately 10,000 square feet devoted to mainframe computer space. A 75,000-square-foot, two-story building over a storage area is planned adjacent to the northern end of the existing building (heading toward Cranford). A total of 304,500 square feet would be utilized.

Smith held firm, telling Force, "We have never shied away from discussions before, and obviously you can change your ordinance, but I'm not going to hold up the application process." Force, in an effort to convince Smith to meet the township half-way, told him, "If we can eliminate the mumbo jumbo and get down to bare bones there may be some middle ground we can meet on, and we can say the heck with the new ordinance." The mayor said he felt Hartz had shown "good faith" with the revised plans and he wished to eliminate putting an ordinance in place that could cause problems. He said Hartz may comply now with the draft ordinance but without seeing the traffic improvements he could not comment.

Smith said when their application came before the Planning Board the proposed plans for traffic improvements would be a part of their proposal. While not relenting, he did ask if he could take a copy of the draft ordinance to review and call the mayor at the end of the day. He told Force the procedure to process an application, appear before the planning board and wait for their decision was a long one and they did not wish to delay the application. He also stated the revised plans were a "reasonable development of the property."

Although Smith did not concur initially with Pozyci and Force's suggestion they meet on "some middle ground," he did however relent later in the day and agree to the township's request.

YESTERYEAR: The intersection of North and N. Union avenues on a 1935 night, except for the cars, resembles today's downtown.

Young family moves westward to Cranford for better environment in '30

This is the first in a three-part series of reminiscences by former Cranford resident John Harford.

In the late 1920s living conditions were poor in Jersey City. With a family of four sons (I was the fourth) to rear, my parents, Tom and Jen Harford, were anxious for a more promising environment. They looked west to the New Jersey countryside and with the family took regular house hunting excursions. Roselle Park? Maybe Westfield.

Eventually they located a house at 507 Elm St., on the south side of Cranford, just off Centennial Avenue. It was 1930 and the country was in the beginning of the Great Depression which was going to get much worse. A steady job was truly a blessing. My father, a World War I veteran, was a motor vehicle inspector for the state.

A year passed and the Harfords moved to 18 Broad St., a few blocks away. They were to remain there for 32 years. The youngest and fifth child, a girl Mary Jane, was born on August 7, 1935. My earliest recollection of Cranford was of a very comfortable country township with an ethnic population. Broad Street was a collection of rather small, clean-cut and sturdily built houses framed by magnificent silver maple trees.

Centennial Avenue, not far away, boasted a German grocery store, Specht's; a Jewish confectionery, Redfield's; an Italian shoe store, Crisanti's; and a German bakery, Jung's. All plied their trade well. Anton Specht had two sons, Henry and Joseph, and a daughter, Gertrude. All were friends of the Harford family. Around the corner at 400 Elm St. was the Tomasulo family. They had two attractive twin daughters, Jane and Joan, and a third daughter, Michelle. South on Broad Street was the Finch family—of English descent. Their son, Dave, became a good friend.

On Stratford Terrace, one block away, was the Enright family with six children. The four girls were Blanche, Doloretta, Bernice and Pat, dark haired and beautiful. I had a secret crush on Pat Enright for years but she was too old for me.

Mrs. Enright was my first sale on a new magazine route and I never forgot it. Bill "Goony" Enright played baseball, and was something of a hero. The youngest, John, became a close friend. If I were to label him I would have to call him "Mr. Cranford."

He still lives on Cranford Avenue and knows every conceivable personality connected with the town. "Dimp" Enright and I double dated, did the Jersey Shore together and had a lot of fun. A favorite pastime was to take dates to the Meadowbrook on the Newark Pompton Turnpike in Cedar Grove on Sunday afternoons. Their radio broadcasts were famous. Many well-known dance bands played there. Among them were Glenn Miller, Sammy Kaye, Gene Krupa, and a German played special requests for us one afternoon. On Lawn Terrace, one block over, lived the Dolan family. A daughter, Betty, was in my grammar school class at St. Michael's and a son, Leonard, became a good friend, fishing companion and eventually fire captain in Cranford.

Looking back in time

In the early '30s a popular locale was the Railway River with its illustrious history and plethora of activities. If you lived in Cranford you learned to ice skate or you missed the fun. A focal point of river athletics was Droscher's Dam at High Street and Lincoln Avenue. This spot had historical significance all its own.

There was a mill adjacent to the dam. During Revolutionary times it was owned by the Williams family and they used it to manufacture woolen blankets. It was changed to a sawmill by James Vresland who married a

Williams girl

Later it was sold to Severn Droscher who used it to manufacture razor honing stones, combs and scissors. The mill building still stands today. I spent hundreds of hours trout fishing at the dam which was a popular spot on the opening day of trout season. For years there was a natural island just below the spillway creating a "Huckleberry Finn" type of atmosphere. We would camp on the island and chase the elusive trout. Two favorite companions were Dave Finch and Leonard Dolan. I was rather heartbroken when I visited the spot in last fall. It was little more than a mud hole, and had been sadly neglected. As a boy, to me it was the famous Batterkill River and Yellow Breeches Creek of trout fishing fame all rolled into one.

A very inexpensive date was to go ice skating on the Railway River. The Canoe Club was a general meeting place. At Droscher's Dam we built a fire and roasted hot dogs and marshmallows. There was "Sonny" Farr,

Former Cranfordite returns to visit boyhood hometown

By John J. Harford

It was a rare privilege that I enjoyed several years ago in the fall—the prospect of visiting my old home town of Cranford. A favorite aunt who lived in Plainfield was ill. My 92-year-old father was in a senior condominium in Paramus. Why not spend an overnight in Cranford and visit both? It had been more than 28 years—a long time. A few phone calls and it was set.

During the visit I had dinner with an old friend John Enright who still lives in Cranford. We dined at The Office on South Avenue—originally a pub called "The Lodge" in the 1930s and '40s. In our conversation that evening an idea spawned. Why not write about the events of pre- and post-World War II Cranford? It could evoke some pleasant memories and historical data.

Gathering the background information became a hobby. Strengthened by some old books and high school annuals, I put together a series of articles. Most of the material comes from memory but there are three individuals who assisted a great deal.

Enright researched old microfilms at Cranford Library. His help was invaluable. Joseph Duff, a former resident, now head baseball coach at the U.S. Naval Academy, furnished data about the '30s and '40s. In particular, his references to athletic events and personalities put an authentic flavor to my material. Addie Hall Vogel of the Cranford Historical Society sent me facts and figures about Cranford's history.

I am indebted to these three old friends. Their assistance was most appreciated. If there are any omissions or inaccuracies they are strictly my fault.

Finally, I would like to extend a challenge to some enterprising individual from the CHS Class of 1945 to put together a 50th class reunion in 1995. With health permitting, I promise to attend. My kindest regards to all Cranford friends and associates. Come visit Pittsburgh—indeed a livable city.

John J. Harford was a resident of Cranford from 1930 to 1952 through the Depression and World War II years. He lived on the south side and graduated from high school in 1945.

His graduation from Notre Dame University in 1951, and settled in Pittsburgh where he is an insurance broker with his own company. He married a Pittsburgh girl, the former Barbara Donahue, and they have six sons and two daughters. Old friends may contact him at Harford Associates, P.O. Box 11475, Pittsburgh, Pa., 15238-0875.

Papa feels like a kid again at Yankees reunion

By Joe Rafferty

For a few days Joe Papa felt like a kid again, reliving all the days of watching his boyhood heroes, seeking out precious autographs, collecting baseball cards and following his favorite team — the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Ironically, Papa, who lives in Cranford, echoed those great memories of the past at the 1961 New York Yankees Reunion at Trump Castle in Atlantic City May 11. Yes, the Yankees, the rivals of his revered Dodgers during the '50s and '60s.

"I was so thrilled with the whole thing," the 53-year-old Papa said. "I was a Dodger fan all those years, and the Yankees always killed us. But I loved those guys. They're still my favorites."

Papa spent three days at the Yankees' reunion, chatting and talking with some of the old time greats. Among the stars were, of course, Mickey Mantle, Whitey Ford, Yogi Berra and manager Ralph Houk.

The Cranford resident received an invitation to the event, which culminated with an all-star cocktail party May 11. There also was a baseball card and memorabilia show.

"All the players were friendly and cooperative," Papa said. "They were willing to take a picture and sign an autograph. They appreciated it."

"And the guys were asking you where you were at the time," Papa added. "What were you doing when (Jackie) Robinson stole home, or (Roger) Maris hit his 61st home run? It was stuff like that that made the whole thing so interesting."

Papa felt like a kid again, talking about America's favorite pastime, baseball. The players and the fans even talked about salaries, past and present, and some of the bitterness about today's million dollar contracts.

Some of the other players at the reunion included Moose Skowron, Bobby Richardson, Bob Cerv, Johnny Blanchard, Ralph Terry, Luis Arroyo, Tom Tresh, Al Downing and Bob Turley. That storied club defeated the Cincinnati Reds in the World Series in '61.

During that season, Mantle blasted 54 home runs and team-mate Maris eclipsed Babe Ruth's record by clouting 61.

"Everyone in the media made it seem those two were enemies," Papa said. "They reported the two were constantly fighting. But one of the players that was there at the reunion told me that couldn't be further from the truth. In fact, he told me that when Maris finally broke the record Mantle cried, not from disappointment but from sheer joy and happiness."

"And of course, Mantle had a shot at breaking the record, too," Papa added. "But in the final month of the season he got sick and was given the wrong medication. So, instead of missing a couple days, Mantle missed two weeks, which made a big difference."

The Cranford resident even posed with Mantle, Berra and shortstop Tom Tresh. But he had to figure for a photograph with the legendary Yankee outfielder.

Papa also recalled talking to pitcher Johnny Sain, who held Jackie Robinson to an 0 for 3 day while hurling for the Braves. "He got a kick out of it that I remembered," Papa said.

But the biggest kick was the fact that Papa was a Dodger fan. The Yankees chided the Cranford resident about his Dodger allegiance.

"I asked Berra if Robinson was safe on his steal of home," Papa said. "He said, 'are you kidding?' We really joked about that one."

"We were like kids," Papa added. "The whole thing brought back so many memories. I grew up with so many of these players. It was nice to relive everything again."

Carrea dashes to 800 title

Brearely High's James Carrea was in a class all by himself Saturday. The senior athlete outdistanced all other competitors in the 800-meter event at the Group I Track and Field Championships at Frank Jost Field in South Plainfield.

Carrea sprinted to a winning time of 1:56.22 in the 800, finishing a full two seconds ahead of his nearest rival, Haddon Township's Kirk Earney. Already this season, Carrea has won the Union County, Mountain Valley Conference, North Jersey, Section II, Group I and now Group I championships in the 800.

The senior competed in last night's Meet of Champions in South Plainfield, capping off a marvelous senior season.

"I'm glad I made it," said the relieved Carrea, who finished third in the 800 at the state indoor track and field Meet of Champions in February. "I think I can run faster than 1:56. I want to make my final race worthwhile. I haven't been pushed all season. You don't have to run 1:51 to win Group I."

On Saturday, Carrea had the seventh fastest time in all four group races. The quickest time of 1:51.61 was turned in by Newark West Side's Ernesto Perez, who shattered the existing record of 1:52.2.

"And of course, Mantle had a shot at breaking the record, too," Papa added. "But in the final month of the season he got sick and was given the wrong medication. So, instead of missing a couple days, Mantle missed two weeks, which made a big difference."

The Cranford resident even posed with Mantle, Berra and shortstop Tom Tresh. But he had to figure for a photograph with the legendary Yankee outfielder.

Papa also recalled talking to pitcher Johnny Sain, who held Jackie Robinson to an 0 for 3 day while hurling for the Braves. "He got a kick out of it that I remembered," Papa said.

But the biggest kick was the fact that Papa was a Dodger fan. The Yankees chided the Cranford resident about his Dodger allegiance.

"To win the 800 at the Meet of Champions, James would have to run the race of his life," head coach Jim Hagan said. "As long as he runs a good race, I'll be happy. If he doesn't run his best, then I'll be disappointed. The big thing, though, is that he hasn't been pushed all season. So, I think his time might be a bit faster in the finals."

"A second or third and I'll be happy," Carrea said. "It was third in the indoors, so I believe I have a shot at placing."

Carrea also anchored Brearely's 1,600-meter relay team, which also featured Victor Verno, DeVang Muchhala and Jason Fennes, that finished third with a school record 3:30.76, breaking the old mark which was set at the Penn Relays in April.

"I am very pleased with the whole season," Hagan said. "There are no sour grapes. The kids did their best, and it was a pleasure coaching them."

Cranford High's Mike Gachko and Chris Sharo capped off great senior seasons at the Group-III meet in South Plainfield.

Gachko finished sixth with a time of 2:00.0 in the 800. Eastern's Michael Shemansky took the event with a winning mark of 1:54.32.

Sharo competed in the javelin and high jump. The senior threw 164-10 in the javelin but missed the finals by three feet, and in the high jump Sharo didn't clear the opening height of 6-0.

The 1,600-meter relay team of Frank Halter, Mike Burke, Gachko and Sharo finished 12th overall with a time of 3:37.

Junior Maggie Morrow and sophomore Kristi White represented Cranford III event. Morrow ran in the 1,600-meter race and finished in 5:31, which was good for ninth place. White participated in the high jump but couldn't make the opening height of 4-10.

Olympic meet held at Memorial

The Cranford Jaycees and the Recreation and Parks Department will hold the 1990 Olympic Track and Field meet at Memorial Field Saturday. Registration will take place at 8:30 a.m. and the competition will begin at 9 a.m.

Boys and girls, between the ages of 8 and 13, who live in Cranford, are eligible to participate. The events are divided into three categories with all events programmed for both boys and girls. All competitors will receive a T-shirt.

The minor division (ages 8-9) includes the 50-meter dash, softball throw, running long jump, 200-meter run and high jump. The junior division (ages 10-11) consists of the 100-meter dash, softball throw, running long jump, 400-meter run and high jump. The senior division (ages 12-13) includes the 100-meter dash, softball throw, running long jump, 400-meter run and high jump.

For further information, call the Recreation and Parks Department at 709-7283.

Bears win fourth straight

The Brearely High baseball team won its fourth straight game, knocking off New Providence, 6-5, Monday afternoon in Kenilworth. The Bears, who have won 14 of their last 17 ball games, possess a 16-8-1 record.

Mike Archibald delivered the key blow, a two-out, single in the bottom of the seventh inning, which scored the game-winning run. Don Dayon also slammed a pair of triples to spark the Bears' attack.

Brearely held a 5-2 lead heading into the top of the seventh when Ernie Schmidt smacked a bases-clearing double for New Providence (16-8), which advanced to the Group I championship Saturday.

The Bears beat Roselle Park, 6-5, Tuesday afternoon in Roselle Park.

Tim Kaufmann went the distance to earn the victory for the Bears. The right-hander allowed five runs on seven hits, struck out three and walked one in notching his first varsity win.

Head coach Ralph LaConde's club scored one run with two outs in the top of the first. Jeff Barr walked, moved to second on a passed ball and scored on an infield error.

The Panthers tied the score at 1-1 in the bottom half of the inning and went ahead 3-1 with a pair of runs in the second.

Brearely cut the lead to 3-2 in the top of the fourth when Chris Carey singled, advanced to third on consecutive passed balls and scored on Barr's RBI double.

But Roselle Park stretched its advantage to 4-2 with a single run in the bottom of the fourth.

The Bears exploded for four runs in the top of the fifth, though. Three straight singles by Don Sampeet, Don Dayon and Peter Accomando filled the bases. Chris Parkhill brought home the inning's first run on a sacrifice fly and Carey and Barr followed with RBI singles. The final run scored on an infield error.

Carey went 2 for 4 with an RBI. Barr went 2 for 3 with a pair of RBIs and Parkhill walked for a school record 27th time.

Coaching spots open up in PAL

The Cranford Police Athletic League is looking for football coaches for the 1990 season. If you have a football background and are interested in coaching youth football, ages 9 to 14, the PAL is interested in you.

The PAL has three division teams that play in the Suburban Youth Football League, a 10-team league with teams from surrounding towns.

A coaches clinic will begin this week. Practice will begin September 1 and games will kick off at the end of the month.

If interested, please contact Chuck Archdeacon during the day at 272-5922.

Tennis talk

By Frank Hogan, U.S.P.T.R. U.S. Prof. Tennis Registry

The backhand drive is the most common and useful backhand stroke. It is hit with a low-to-high swing, imparting top spin on the ball and enabling the player to clear the net by a good margin — at least three to six feet — and still allowing the ball to land safely inside the baseline.

Turn your wrist about 90 degrees to the left. When you have the proper backhand grip, the palm side of the base knuckle of your right forefinger will be on the top flat of the handle. The "V" formed at the base of your thumb and your forefinger will be over the center, or slightly left of center, of the top left bevel on the handle. The index finger should be extended on the handle and the right thumb should be curled around the handle. Beginners will find it helpful to have the right thumb across the back of the handle, but this habit, once acquired, is not easily broken.

For beginners and lower level intermediates, the backswing is completed when the shoulders are parallel to the sideline and when the racket is pointing toward the back fence. Once you have developed a real steady backhand, you can coil back another 30 to 45 degrees — up to 60 degrees if you are an advanced player. This will give you additional power and you still will be able to see the oncoming ball by turning your head all the way to the right and looking over your right shoulder. At the completion of your backswing your left hand remains on the racket but should slide down until it touches the right hand.

At the completion of your backswing you should adjust your feet so that you will be in the right position to make a perfect stroke. Then with your weight on your rear left foot, you should step forward with your right foot and at the same time lower your racket and bend your knees.

As you swing forward to the point of contact, you take your left hand off the racket as it passes your left thigh and you straighten your right knee and meet the ball at about waist height, or a few inches lower, at a point about six to nine inches in front of your right toe. If you have the proper grip, your racket will be perpendicular to the ground at point of contact. Continue swinging your racket through the point of contact in an upward path straight toward the target and ending up straight ahead pointing to the sky. As you enter the hitting area, you should tighten up on your swing, your arm should be straight — no bent elbow — and your wrist should be firm. Your forward swing is all from the shoulder; do not attempt to get any power from the elbow or the wrist.

For a beginner, there is practically no shoulder turn on the forward swing. For all levels, the shoulders and up almost parallel to the sideline. At most, the shoulders should open up perhaps 15 degrees past the point of being parallel to the sideline. As Vic Braden says, "you should hide the logo." This means at the completion of your backhand follow through your opponent should not be able to clearly see the logo on the front of your shirt.

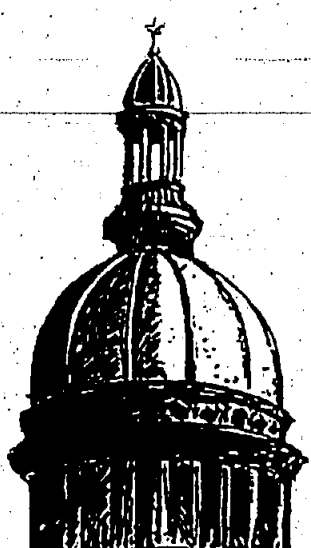

Among the most common backhand faults are a failure to change to a backhand grip, failure to keep the left hand on the racket until it passes the left thigh on the forward swing and contacting the ball with a bent elbow to the rear of the proper contact point.

For a two-handed backhand, the right hand should have an eastern backhand grip and the left hand should have an eastern forehand grip. The backswing ends with the racket facing the rear fence, the contact point is opposite the right toe and your shoulders should turn to the right and end up facing the net at the completion of your follow through. If you have a two-handed backhand, you should show your logo at the completion of your swing.

Next: When and how fast to move your feet, use of the left hand and more.

RVSA to be first in N.J. to end ocean dumping of sludge

The Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority (RVSA) will become the first New Jersey sewerage authority currently disposing its sludge in the ocean to initiate a land-based sludge disposal system. Six authorities in the state, including RVSA, are required to cease all ocean dumping of sludge by March 17, 1991.

"RVSA has entered into agreement with ENVIRO-GRO, a sludge management firm based in Maryland, to remove the RVSA sludge, and sell it for reuse," said Richard Tokarski, RVSA executive director. RVSA will dewater the sludge on site before its removal. This treatment process will allow the authority's on site dewatering facility to be used for the first time since its construction in 1986. The $7.4 million facility, financed largely by state and federal funds, was intended to be used as an alternative to ocean dumping, but changes in New Jersey's landfill and incineration policies prevented its use until now. "Projections call for us to begin reducing our ocean dumping by 15 wet tons of sludge per week," said Tokarski. "By July 1, that number should increase to 150 wet tons per week and should be at 315 wet tons per week by Oct. 1, 1990. With this schedule, we will cease all ocean dumping by March 17.

Future plans call for modification of the dewatering plant to allow the addition of lime and other materials to the sludge after it is dewatered. This will enlarge the market potential for the treated sludge product, since lime-stabilized and chemically fixed sludge products can be used both in landfills and as cover material in land reclamation. The sale of the sludge product for reuse lowers the cost of disposal from $130 per wet ton to a final cost of approximately $82 per wet ton. Land-based disposal is roughly three times the cost of ocean dumping.

Taxpayers in the towns serviced by RVSA already have begun to pay the increased costs since this was part of the 1990-91 budget. The charges assessed on most towns increased in some instances by as much as 30 percent. RVSA's treatment facilities serve more than 250,000 residents as well as 3,500 industrial and commercial customers. Member municipalities are Clark, Cranford, Garwood, Kenilworth, Rahway, Roselle Park, Springfield, Westfield and Woodbridge. The facilities also serve Winfield, Mountainside and parts of Scotch Plains.

Postmaster asks pet owners to help protect carriers

With the arrival of warmer weather, Cranford Postmaster William Schaefer has asked dog owners to help protect letter carriers, utility workers and other citizens from the dangers of dog bites.

"Nationally, more than 2,000 letter carriers were bitten by dogs last year," said the postmaster. "In recent years, the public has responded to our plea to keep their pets restrained. We have seen a decline in bites nationally," he added.

"Dogs are territorial by nature, and even the most gentle pet will bite if it feels its domain is threatened by the presence of a carrier or other person. With a little care, a pet owner can not only protect their carriers, but his or her pet and pocketbook too," Schaefer continued.

The Postal Service protects its carriers from dog bite hazards. In situations when a pet owner fails to restrain a dog, mail delivery will be interrupted to the residence or, in some cases, to entire neighborhoods. The Postal Service also seeks to recover carrier's compensation damage and provides counseling to carriers who have been bitten and who wish to seek legal action against the dog owners.

"If the pet cannot be kept behind a secure fence, the owner should restrain it with a secure leash or tether or at least keep the pet inside the house during the usual hours carriers are making their rounds," Schaefer said.

"We try to do our part by stressing awareness of dog bite dangers to our carriers, but we rely heavily on the support of the community to help us end these painful and costly injuries," he added.

Cable executive receives award

Bruce LaRose of Cranford has won the Cable Advertising Association of New York's first Richard Stahlberger Award. LaRose is director of local programming and advertising sales for Suburban Cablevision.

He was recognized as a pioneer in cable advertising, helping to shape the industry's development through the 1980s. He previously was a publisher and owner of an advertising and marketing communications firm.

The Stahlberger award will be presented annually to a cable system employee who has demonstrated outstanding insight and leadership.

Cali wins Developer of Year award

Cali Associates of Cranford has been named 1990 Developer of the Year, Division I, by the New Jersey chapter of the National Association of Industrial and Office Parks (NAIOP).

The award, open to firms that have constructed more than a million square feet of commercial or industrial space between 1985 and or that control more than three million square feet of space, was presented during ceremonies at the Year Gala.

Cali Associates has developed millions of square feet of commercial and residential properties throughout the state and is a six-time winner of the association's New Good Neighbor Award.

April temperatures swing 69 degrees

April saw extensive swings in temperature from a high of 93 degrees to a low of 24 degrees, according to Union County College's cooperative weather station.

A high of 93 degrees was recorded April 27, which fell just three degrees below the record for April, set in 1976 when a 96-degree top temperature was recorded.

Disposal sites for hazardous wastes

The county will provide a means to dispose of hazardous household waste Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the parking lots of Ciba-Geigy Corp., Summit, and Merck, Rahway.

A licensed chemical disposal firm has been hired to collect the wastes. Residents are encouraged to bring small quantities of materials such as paints, cleaners, automotive products and pesticides to be disposed of properly. Old smoke detectors, which contain radioactive materials, also will be collected.

Materials will be accepted only if they are in their original container with a label indicating contents. Unknown or unidentified materials, explosives, radioactive materials other than smoke detectors, Silver or 24.5-T will not be accepted.

ENVIRONMENTAL TIP
Find other uses for materials you normally toss in the garbage. Empty bread bags and butter tubs make excellent, reusable containers for school lunches and leftovers.

Specialists say recycling grass clippings can minimize costs of disposal

The following advisory from the Rutgers Cooperative Extension is by Peter Strom, associate professor of environmental science, and Henry Indyk, specialist in turfgrass management.

Since refuse disposal costs have increased dramatically, and some landfills no longer accept grass clippings, many individuals and governmental agencies are seeking alternatives for disposal of clippings. During the maximum grass growing period, the refuse load in some New Jersey suburban communities may contain nearly one-third grass clippings. Collected clippings become anaerobic rather quickly because of their high demand for oxygen. After becoming anaerobic they emit very unpleasant odors. Therefore, grass clippings (in quantity) are difficult to handle and to process.

From our own experience with the handling and disposal of grass clippings and discussions with others such as lawn care professionals, we suggest considering the following methods to reduce land filling.

Return to lawn
It is desirable to leave grass clippings uncollected on the lawn so that they are recycled, contributing to soil organic matter and supplying part of the fertilizer needs of the lawn. Adopt a mowing schedule to keep clippings short enough to filter through growing grass and not remain as a mat on top of the lawn. Research and experience indicate that only one-fourth to one-half of the grass length should be removed during mowing. Never allow the lawn grass to double its height between mowings. This approach not only eliminates collection and disposal problems, but also can contribute to improvement of the lawn. Clippings are not a cause of thatch in lawns. Rather, thatch is formed primarily from a dense accumulation of grass roots and stemmy material.

Garden mulch
Grass clippings can be used as a garden mulch. To minimize any tendency to protect AME lugs, clippings should be dried in the sun for a day prior to being used in this way. Clippings can be spread on garden soil to check weed growth, reduce soil splashing, moderate soil temperatures, etc. As a precaution, do not use grass clippings from herbicide treated lawns until after two grass cuttings have been made.

Soil Incorporation
Clippings can serve as a source of organic matter for soil improvement when incorporated into the garden.

EXTENSION SERVICE: Leonard Storch of the county extension service helps Mary Ellen Sweeney at the Cranford Avenue community garden. He is supervising for township youth. The master gardener also mans the service's gardening hotline.

Backyard composting
Grass clippings can be composted, particularly when incorporated into backyard leaf compost pile. However, grass has a high nitrogen content, a much higher demand for oxygen than leaves, and a tendency to mat, thereby greatly reducing the passage of oxygen. Composting piles containing grass clippings thus readily become anaerobic. This, in turn, can produce strong, unpleasant odors. These odors are particularly noticeable when the pile is disturbed.

Because of these problems, grass clippings should not be composted alone, but rather mixed with composting leaves. The partially decayed leaves which now (six to nine months after leaf fall) have a low demand for oxygen to reach bulk agent permitting more oxygen to reach the grass. Grass, which is high in nitrogen, will provide a more rapid decomposition of the remaining leaves as long as it remains under aerobic conditions. Grass clippings will also contribute to a better end product (higher nitrogen content) than that obtained from composting leaves alone. One must be aware, however, that an excess of damp grass in the pile will soon become anaerobic, produce very unpleasant odors, and reduce the rate of decomposition. The objective is to keep the material aerobic.

The resulting compost can be used as soil amendment, as a mulch for gardens, flower or shrub beds, or as potting medium.

Clipping reduction
The amount of grass clippings can be reduced by avoiding excessive lawn fertilizing and watering. Neither should be reduced to the point where the lawn deteriorates. Using a fertilization program in which major emphasis in fertilizing the lawn is in the fall season rather in the spring can be effective, not only in reducing the amount of clippings produced, but also in contributing to a better lawn. Assistance with these procedures can be obtained from the Rutgers Cooperative Extension office in Union County, 233-9366.

Fertilizing and watering above the requirements of the grasses may be more detrimental than beneficial to the lawn. One of the effects is increased production of clippings. Judicious and proper use of fertilizer can provide an attractive lawn with reduction in the costs, effort, susceptibility to disease, and amount of clippings produced.

VIA presents scholarships to three students of nursing

The Cranford Village Improvement Association has presented $500 nurses' scholarships to Michelle Gemmell, Katherine Daniels and Eileen Fay, all of Cranford.

Mrs. Gemmell, who has two children ages 4 1/2 and 1, is a student at Muhlenberg Regional Medical Center School of Nursing. She hopes to remain at Muhlenberg in the labor and delivery area.

Mrs. Daniels, a mother of four ranging in age from 14 years to 21 months, attends Elizabeth General Medical Center School of Nursing. She worked for 10 years as a nursing assistant in a Cranford geriatrics facility. Upon completing her course, she will work for a year in the medical-surgical unit at the hospital and will specialize in geriatrics or a special care nursing facility.

Through a donation from Mary Ann Albert, an honorary member of VIA, who donated $300 for a nursing scholarship in memory of her mother, who also was a VIA member, the club was able to give a third scholarship to Mrs. Fay, a mother of four ages 22 to 14. She attends Elizabeth General Medical Center School of Nursing. A licensed practical nurse, she has worked in the oncology unit at Rumlens Hospital and for eight years at Rahway Hospital in pediatrics. She was on call for Center of Hope Hospice and works in Rahway Hospital's surgical intensive care unit.

Nursing instructor attends workshop

Gerdia Cuyabarro of Cranford, a nursing instructor at Elizabeth General Medical Center, attended a workshop recently in Athens, Ohio, on advanced computer technology and its application in nursing education.

Instruction was provided by the Fuld Institute for Technology in Nursing Education, a non-profit organization. More than 400 of the nation's 1,400 nursing schools are members of the institute.

The workshop focused on interactive computer technology which provides students with a sense of life-and-death decision-making without the use of actual patients.

Obituaries

Edward Dehmer

Services will be held June 16 at 11 a.m. at Hollywood Cemetery, Union, for former Cranford resident Edward Joseph Dehmer Jr., 77, who died May 27 in Humana Hospital, Sebastian, Fla., after a brief illness.

Mr. Dehmer had owned and operated Dehmer's Flower Shoppe for 45 years before retiring. He was a veteran of World War II and a member of the Treasure Coast chapter for the American Merchant Marine Veterans.

Born in Newark, he lived in Cranford and Old Bridge before moving to Roseland, Fla., eight years ago. He was a member of the Cranford Rotary Club and First Aid Squad.

His wife, the former Mary Costello, died in 1979. Surviving are a daughter, Barbara of Roseland; two brothers, Will of Vero Beach, Fla., and Robert of Kona, Hawaii; and two granddaughters.

Memorial contributions may be made to Treasure Coast chapter of the American Merchant Marine Veterans, P.O. Box 6034, Vero Beach 32961-6034.

Alice Albert

A memorial service will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at Zion Lutheran Church, 18th & Blvd., Barnegat Light, for former Cranford resident Alice Wakefield Albert, 79, who died Sunday at Southern Ocean County Hospital, Manahawick, after a brief illness.

Born in Cranford, Mrs. Albert moved to Barnegat Light in 1969. She was a member of Azure Chapter 87 of the Order of Eastern Star and the Barnegat Light branch of the American Association of University Women.

She was a 1932 graduate of Douglass College.

Surviving are her husband, Leroy, a son, Robert W. of Lansdale, Pa.; a daughter, Virginia, of Cape May; a sister, Cora Leonard of Cranford; five grandsons and a great-grandson.

Arrangements were by Bugbee-Riggs Funeral Home, Ship Bottom.

Rose Czarnecki

Former Cranford resident Rose Potempa Czarnecki, 75, died May 27 at Delaire Nursing Home, Linden, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Czarnecki had been a nurse's aide in the area for 11 years before retiring 14 years ago. Born in Elizabeth, she lived in Cranford before moving to Westfield 26 years ago. Mrs. Czarnecki was a parishioner of St. Adalbert

Church, Elizabeth, where a funeral mass was offered May 30.

Her husband, John, died in 1962. Surviving are two brothers, Mitchell Potempa of Berkeley Heights and John Potempa of Sparta, N.C., and a sister, Adele DiBenedetto of Elizabeth.

Arrangements were by Krowicki-McCracken Funeral Home, Linden.

Maritime terminal is topic of resident's master thesis

Sharon Sommerlad Keenan of Tulip Street recently earned her master's degree in historic preservation from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and State University. The subject of her thesis was the Central Jersey Railroad Maritime Terminal in Jersey City. She holds a bachelor's degree in interior design as well.

Mrs. Keenan, who grew up in Cranford and attended its public schools before transferring and graduating from St. Thomas Aquinas High School, was a member of the Cranford Gators swim team and a coach swimmer.

Mrs. Keenan became interested in the railroad terminal while disporting at Liberty State Park with friends from college. The 100-year-old landmark was part of an elaborate ferry-transport system that provided transportation across the Hudson River and connected with other major railroad companies to provide service throughout the country. The terminal served as a starting point for immigrants and their trek to the West as evidenced by the presence of an immigrants' waiting room in the ferry house. Originally designed in 1889, renovated in 1914 and closed during the 1930s, the terminal is a National Historical Landmark.

Mrs. Keenan is writing a book on the history of the terminal and its impact on the growth and development of New Jersey and the nation's westward expansion.

Ida Buis

Born in Ollersdorf, Austria, she came to the United States in 1922. She lived in Cranford and New York before moving to Westfield in 1946.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Hospice Fund of the former Diamond Expansion Bolt Co., Cranford, before retiring in 1964.

Ethel Sahlin

Ethel Dowling Sahlin, 84, of Cranford died Friday in Overlook Hospital.

Born in Jersey City, Mrs. Sahlin moved to Cranford in 1948. She was a member of the Village Improvement Association.

Mrs. Sahlin had been a controller with the Commercial National Bank in New York City for six

Anna Cushner

Anna Paul Cushner, 96, of Cranford died Friday at the Cranford Hall Nursing Home after a long illness.

Mrs. Cushner had been a bookkeeper for the Simmons Manufacturing Co., Elizabeth, for 20 years, retiring in 1945.

Born in Rhine, N.Y., she lived in Cape May, Elizabeth and Newark before moving to Cranford

Two Catholic parishes gain assistant pastors and deacons

By Joanne McFadden

St. Joseph Catholic parish will receive new parochial vicar (assistant pastor) June 16. Both also were assigned deacons last month by Newark Archbishop Theodore McCarrick.

The Rev. Robert Quigley, 57, succeeding the Rev. George Clyde, will offer his first Mass in his new assignment at Garwood's Church of St. Anne June 17. His last assignment was as parochial vicar at Church of the Madonna, Fort Lee, where he concentrated on working with the elderly and the homeless. In addition, he focused on several programs at the parochial school offering pre-kindergarten to eighth grade.

This is Quigley's second tour in Union County having served previously at St. Mary's Church, Elizabeth, for 18 years. There he was a religion teacher and athletic director at the high school. "I'm looking forward to coming back to Union County. I'm excited about my new assignment and will decide on my focus after seeing the needs of the parish," said Quigley.

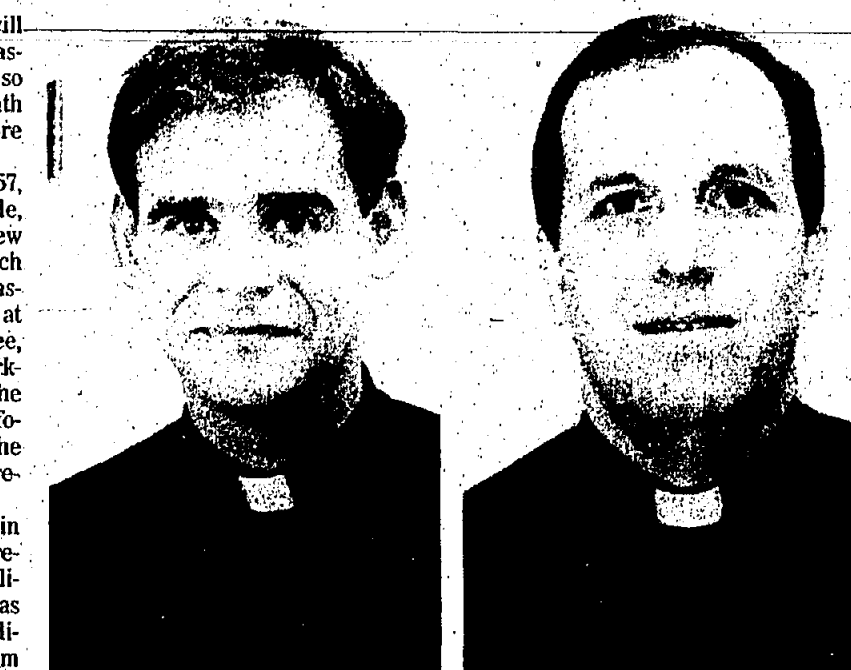

Quigley, who was born and reared in Newark, attended Seton Hall Preparatory School and University of South Orange, and graduated from Immaculate Conception Seminary, Mahwah. His first assignment was at Our Lady of Mount Carmel, Newark. Then he went to St. Paul's, Greenville, Jersey City.

The Rev. W. Gerard Sogliuzzo will offer his first Mass at St. Michael Church also June 17, after being reassigned to the parish from Our Lady of the Lake Church, Verona.

Sogliuzzo, who was born and reared in Hoboken, was responsible for several youth groups at his last parish and as moderator of the sacramental program charged with administering baptism, First Communion and confirmation instruction to children and their parents.

Sogliuzzo holds a master's degree in divinity studies from Immaculate Conception Seminary and is a doctoral candidate at St. Mary's in Baltimore. He was ordained in 1979. Before entering the seminary, Sogliuzzo was employed at Prentice-Hall in Englewood Cliffs for 10 years.

His hobbies include travel and cooking. During his priesthood, he has served as chaplain for PBA

ON THE TEAM: Deacon Steven Brosk, left, is a new member of the pastoral team at St. Michael Church while Deacon Joseph Ferraro is new at the Church of St. Anne.

Local 81, Knights of Columbus in Caldwell and the Italian Association of West Essex. In addition he is a past president of the West Essex Heart Association and the local welfare board. In addition, Sogliuzzo is a member of the Kiwanis Club.

Deacon Steven Brosk, 33, the first deacon assigned to St. Michael's in recent years, and Deacon Joseph Ferraro, 38, now of St. Anne's, were ordained as deacons in March and are expected to be ordained into the priesthood in November.

Both deacons will be reassigned in January. Co-sponsored by the Archdiocese of Military Services, Brosk will be assigned to the Air Force after three years with the archdiocese.

College students in tri-town area earn awards, diplomas

Jason David Rabbino of Cranford has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa at George Washington University.

Chris Rowe has been named to the dean's list for the second semester of his freshman year at Shippensburg (Pa.) University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rowe of 18 Wadsworth Ter.

Thomas James Wagner of 316 Lincoln Ave. has been named to the honor roll for the spring semester at East Carolina University, formerly of Garwood, was on the Rutgers College dean's list for the fall and spring semesters. She is the granddaughter of Eugene Cohen of Garwood.

Two Kenilworth residents, Joseph P. Rehberger and Louis Pasarella, have graduated from Albright College, Reading, Pa. Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Rehberger of 45 N. 9th St., majored in accounting. He was vice president of the Accounting and Business Association, participated in the men's basketball program and was on the dean's list. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. Louis, son of

Pupil takes gifted course at college

St. Michael's School fourth grader Rebecca Dolan of Cranford recently completed a 10-week course at Montclair State College in mock trial, the justice system and problem solving analysis.

The courses were offered by the American Foundation for Gifted and Talented Youth to pupils in the upper fifth percentile of their class and in the 95th percentile on standardized tests.

Rebecca received a certificate of completion May 21 at Montclair State. She is the daughter of William and Deborah Dolan of Lexington Avenue.

'Graduation' set for kindergartners

The Cranford Child Care Center will graduate its first kindergarten class Sunday morning.

The center which is a ministry of Cranford Alliance Church, is in its fourth year and opened a full-day kindergarten this past September. Nine kindergarten youngsters will "graduate" in a ceremony during the church's 11:15 a.m. worship service. The class will sing "I Can Promise." Joyce Segalla is the teacher with Bethany Harris assistant.

Mouth-watering Experience

What a mouth-watering experience this has been! Every day when I opened the Cookbook '90 envelopes I had to think thin.

We had everything from the person who Federal Expressed her 13 prize hopefuls to the gentleman who had written his own cookbook and included some personal anecdotes with his recipes, which by the way afforded us with many chuckles and nostalgic moments. We have tried to include a few of same.

Due to such an overwhelming response we've had to limit the number of recipes printed in the cookbook from those people who sent in more than one. However, all recipes were judged for the contest and will be printed in the various newspapers throughout the year. Since Forbes employees could not enter the readers' contest we had one of our own. You'll find those in the cookbook and the various newspapers throughout the year also.

Cookbook '90 is designed to entertain and share readers' recipes. Errors may occur in ingredients, quantities and procedures despite our careful editing. Please study the recipes carefully before preparing dishes.

At any rate - after checking out all these wonderful recipes I've decided I "may" go back to cooking. That's not a promise, Ken!

Appetizers

Italian Style Stuffed Cherry Peppers

Terry Sica
South Bound Brook, NJ

- 1 jar cherry peppers
- 2 small cans anchovies
- 1 clove of garlic
- 1/2 bunch Italian parsley
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1 1/2 to 2 cups Italian bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup milk or more to moisten until bread crumbs are smooth and soft.

Clean out the seeds of cherry peppers (throw seeds away)

Chop very fine 1 clove of garlic, parsley and anchovies

Soak bread crumbs in milk then pour olive oil into mixture and mix

Then pour parsley garlic and anchovies into same bowl and mix good. Now you are ready to stuff the peppers. Take stuffing and push into peppers tightly. Chill until ready to serve and serve with fresh Italian bread.

Spinach Balls

Carol Stomber
So. Plainfield, NJ

Similar recipe from Janet Bereznt, Peapack and Mary Shemeta, Manville

- 2 pkgs. frozen chopped spinach- cook and drain dry
- 1 large onion chopped fine
- 4 beaten eggs
- 3/4 cup melted butter
- 1/2 tsp. garlic powder
- 1/2 tsp. thyme
- 1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese
- 2 cups stuffing crumbs

Mix everything up and chill for 1 hour

Make small balls- bake at 350 for 15 min. Do not brown too much on bottom.

May be frozen. Reheat in microwave or regular oven.

Carrot Balls

Pat Habig
N. Plainfield, NJ

- 2 medium carrots, shredded
- 8 oz. cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts
- fresh parsley, finely chopped

Mash the carrots into the cream cheese. Roll into 1 inch balls. Mix parsley and nuts in a flat dish. Roll carrot balls in parsley and nut mixture. Serve chilled.

Appetizers

Cold Vegetable Pizza

Sandra Jankowski
Somerville, NJ

- 2 cans (8-10 count) Pillsbury Crescent Rolls
- 1 pkg. (8oz.) cream cheese, regular or light, softened
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise, regular or light
- 2 cups shredded sharp cheddar cheese
- 1/2 tsp. onion powder or to taste
- 1/2 tsp. dill weed or to taste

Assorted chopped vegetables: tomatoes, green peppers, black olives, carrots, celery, etc.

Preheat conventional oven to 350 degrees. Spray pam on large cookie sheet (11x17 inches). Press rolls onto sheet to form a crust (like pizza). Bake for approx. 10 min. or until just golden brown.

Mix cream cheese, mayo, onion, powder and dill and spread evenly over warm crust. Spread assorted vegetables on top of cheese mixture. Top with layer of shredded cheese.

Refrigerate about an hour. Cut into 2 inch pieces and watch disappear.

Chinese Asparagus

Laura O'Neill
Cranford, NJ

2 lbs. asparagus cut into 2" pieces on slant. Boil at 2 min. rinse in cold water.

SAUCE:

- 2 tbs. sesame oil
- 3 tbs. soy sauce
- 1/2 tsp. sugar
- 10-12 drops hot oil (Szechuan)
- Mix and pour over asparagus
- Add sesame seeds on top.

Sausage Balls

Miss Mary Shemeta
Manville, NJ

- 1 lb. Italian sausage
- 1 lb. sharp cheddar cheese
- 3 cups Bisquick
- 3/4 cup water

Remove meat from casing and cook until pink is gone. Drain and cool completely. Add cheese, Bisquick and water. Roll into 1 inch balls. Place on cookie sheet and bake in hot oven at 400 degrees for 15-20 minutes.

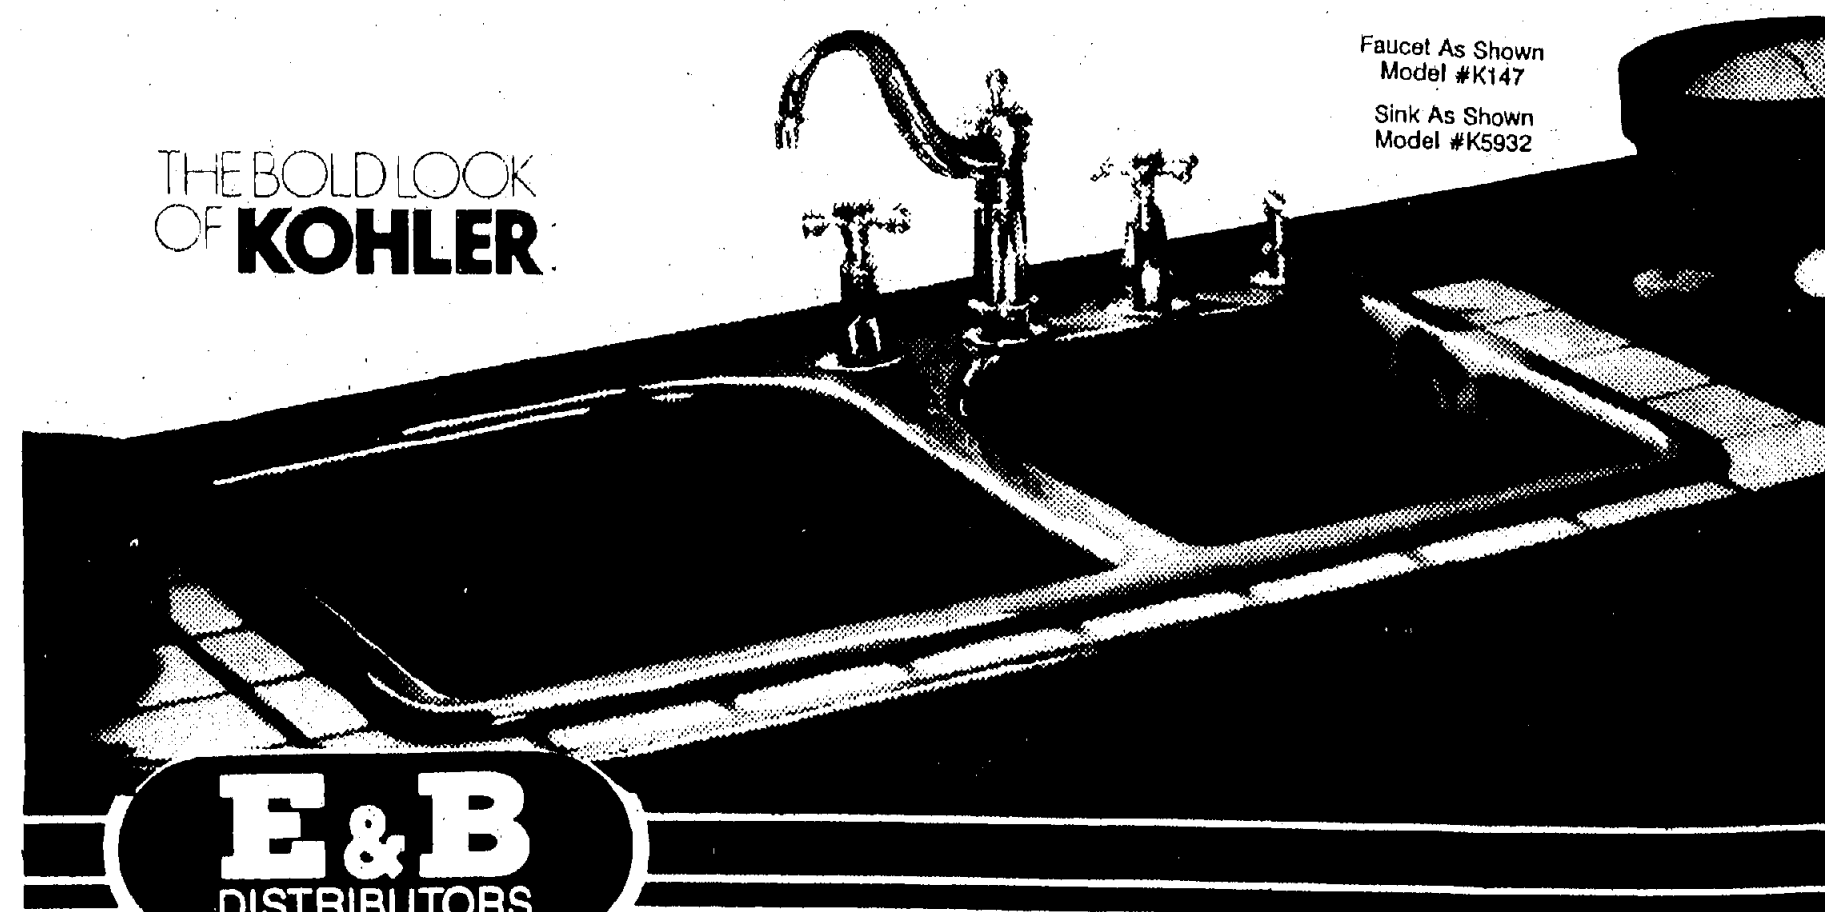

Can be frozen in single layers and then put in plastic bags. Preheat at 375. Can be prepared ahead of time and frozen

Appetizers

"Gratin" of Sealegs Saint Barts

Janice Maikisch
Belle Mead, NJ

- 10 servings
- 1 cup milk
- 2 jalapeno chilies, minced
- 1 bouquet garni (thyme, bay leaf, parsley stems)
- salt and freshly ground pepper
- 2 cups soft fresh bread crumbs
- 1 lb. sea legs, squeezed and patted dry
- 1/4 lb. bacon, cut into 1/4 inch pieces
- 3 tbs. minced onion
- 3 tbs. snipped fresh chives
- 3 tbs. minced fresh parsley
- 1 tsp. minced fresh thyme
- 1/4 cup butter
- 2 tbs. fresh lime juice
- Dark Rum (optional)

Combine milk, half of minced chilies, bouquet garni and salt and pepper to taste in heavy small saucepan and bring to boil. Reduce heat and simmer 15 min. Cool completely, strain into bowl. Add bread crumbs and let soak 15 min. Squeeze bread crumbs dry; transfer to bowl. Stir in sealegs.

Fry bacon and remaining minced chilies in heavy small skillet until crisp. Remove using slotted spoon and drain on paper towels. Stir bacon, onion, and herbs into sealegs mixture.

Melt butter in heavy medium skillet over medium-high heat. Add sealeg mixture and saute until brown, about 10 minutes. Blend in lime juice and rum to taste if desired.

Preheat oven to 300F. Butter 10 scallop shells or small baking dishes. Divide crab mixture among prepared shells. Arrange on baking sheets. Bake until heated through, 10 min.

Zucchini Appetizer

Laura O'Neill
Cranford, NJ

Preheat oven to 350

- 1 Clove garlic minced
- 1/2 cup minced onion
- 1/2 cup Parmesan cheese
- 3 cups thinly sliced zucchini
- 1/2 tsp. salt and pinch of pepper
- 1/2 tsp. oregano
- 1 tbs. parsley
- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 4 eggs slightly beaten
- 1 cup bisquick

Mix all ingredients well. Spread in 9x13x2 pan or pie plate (greased). Bake for 45 min. Cut into bite size pieces.

Appetizers

Pepperoni Bread Italiano

Terry Sica

- 1 large pizza dough (can be bought at Pizzeria)
- 1 stick of pepperoni
- 1/2 lb. Provolone cheese
- 1/4 cup Romano cheese
- 1 egg white

Cut and cube pepperoni stick into very small pieces. do the same with Provolone cheese.

Roll out pizza dough to form a round circle as if you were making a pizza. Place the pepperoni and the Provolone and Ramano cheeses in a bowl and mix. Pour mixture onto pizza dough. Spread completely over dough, pressing lightly.

Starting from one end, roll dough over pressing lightly and continue until completely rolled. Then take egg white and beat it. Next brush egg white on finished end of roll to hold it together press end to hold. Place on a greased cookie sheet.

Bake at 375-400 for approx. 45 min. or until brown. Keep in mind that oven temperatures may vary. Can be served hot or room temperature.

Jared's Sesame Chicken

Jared Liebowitz
Somerset, NJ

- Vegetable Oil
- Cup all purpose flour
- Cup sesame seeds
- 2 tsp. each-seasoned salt & chopped parsley
- 1 tsp. each-garlic powder & fresh black pepper
- 1 can (12 fl. oz. Beer)
- 2 lbs. of chicken cutlets-cut into 1" pieces

- Dipping Sauce: Apricot-Mustard Sauce
- 1/2 cup Apricot Preserves
- 2 tsp. Soy Sauce
- 2 tsp. Dijon Mustard

Pour oil into large skillet-no more than 1/3 full. Heat over medium heat to 375F.

In medium bowl, stir together flour, salt, sesame seeds, parsley, garlic powder, and black pepper. Then stir in beer until blended completely. (Batter should be thick)

Dip chicken pieces, a few at a time, into batter. Lift out individual pieces with tongs, gently shaking off excess batter. Carefully add to skillet. Fry, stirring, 3-5 min. until golden brown. Drain on paper towels.

Sauce: In small bowl, combine with apricot preserves, Dijon Mustard & Soy sauce. Blend completely.

Place chicken on serving tray. Garnish with parsley and serve with apricot/mustard sauce. Should have 8 servings. Great hot or cold.

Clam Dip

Jean Dudash-Ovsiew
Piscataway, NJ

1/4 lb. butter or margarine (1 stick)
1 medium onion, chopped
6 cloves garlic, minced
1 tbs. lemon juice
1 can clams, chopped or minced
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs tabasco sauce to taste mozzarella cheese, grated
Parmesan cheese
Italian bread

Melt butter in saucepan. Add onion and garlic; saute until transparent. Remove from heat and stir in clams with juice, bread crumbs, lemon juice and tabasco sauce. Spread in a pyrex pie plate or shallow baking dish, sprinkle with grated mozzarella and parmesan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15-20 min. Serve with thinly sliced Italian bread. Dip may be assembled ahead, frozen unbaked, and baked at a later date.

Gorgonzola Cheese Dip

Robert E. Rosa
Edison, NJ

8 oz. pkg. of cream cheese
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 tsp. onion juice
2 tbs. salad dressing
4-1/2 oz. Gorgonzola Cheese

Combine all ingredients in a bowl and beat with an electric mixer until well mixed. Check for strong taste and creamy consistency. Add additional salad dressing, one tablespoon at a time, if the taste is too strong. Mix well. Serves 8.

Cheese Stuffed Mushrooms

Terry Sica
South Bound Brook, NJ

20 large mushrooms
3 1/2 oz. of Philadelphia Brand Cream Cheese
1/2 lb. Blue cheese
6 scallions
1/2 cup butter

Clean mushrooms and pull out the stem so you have a nice clean hole to put the stuffing in. Take your stems and chop them up finely along with the whole scallions. Sauté mushrooms, stems and scallions in 2 tbs. of butter for about 5 min. Take out and put into a bowl. Then take your mushroom caps and sauté them in butter until they shrink down and all the water drains out from the mushroom. Now take your cream cheese and blue cheese and mash them together until very soft and creamy. Then put cheeses into the bowl with your sautéed stems & scallions mix until smooth. Put mushroom caps on a cookie sheet and broil until cheese turns light brown. Serve hot.

Appetizers

Crab Mold (Dip)

Heidi Maples
Bedminster, NJ

1 8oz. cream cheese
1 can Cream of Mushroom soup
1 envelope Knox Gelatin
1 cup mayonaise
1 cup diced celery
4 green onions (chopped)
1 cup or can Crab Meat garnishings
Dissolve cream cheese and mushroom soup in a pan over warm heat.

Separately add gelatin to 3T. cold water, stir until dissolved. Add gelatin to mixture in the pan. Add the remaining ingredients.

Pour mixture into a mold. Cover and refrigerate overnight to allow flavors to mix. Remove from mold. This is very light in color, some garnishing is needed. Serve with crackers.

Bourbon Franks

Helen R. Stransky
Dunellen, NJ

1 bottle catsup (14oz.)
1 cup Bourbon
1 cup dark brown sugar
2 pkgs. Frankfurters (16oz.) cut into 1 inch chunks

In large saucepan mix all ingredients except frankfurters. Cover and simmer at least 2 hours, stirring occasionally. (Can be made ahead to this point. Cover and refrigerate up to 24 hours)

At serving time reheat sauce until hot add frankfurters simmer 5 min. Serve in chafing dish. Makes 64 appetizers.

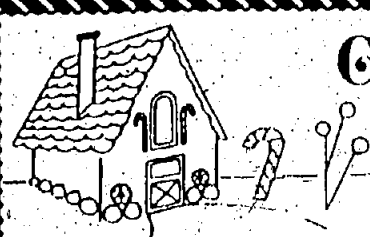

If you've never tried these, DO. Makes a great hit at parties and they are so easy.

Ensalada Nacho Dip

Fran Domitrowski
South Bound Brook, NJ

8 oz. cream cheese
8 oz. taco sauce (I use hot) chopped lettuce
1 tomato, chopped
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1/4 cup sliced olives
Nacho chips

Mix cheese and sauce. Spread in pie plate. Cover with lettuce. Add tomato, leaving a border of lettuce. Add cheese, leaving a border of tomato. Repeat with olives. Serve with warmed nachos.

Impossible Spinach Pie

Teresa Boutillette
Somerset, NJ

- 1/2 cup sliced onions
- 2 cloves garlic, finely chopped
- 1 tbs. margarine or butter
- 1 pkg. (10oz.) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and drained
- 1/2 cup cottage cheese (can use Light n' Lively)
- 1 cup of shredded mild cheddar cheese
- 1 cup of shredded swiss cheese (can use no salt cheese)
- 1 cup milk
- 1/2 cup Bisquick baking mix
- 3 eggs
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3 tbs. grated parmesan cheese
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg

Heat oven to 350. Grease pie plate, 9x1 1/4 inches. Cook and stir onions and garlic in margarine in 10 inch skillet until onions are transparent, 2-3 min. Stir in spinach. Layer spinach mixture, cottage cheese, and 1/4 cup each of cheddar and swiss cheese. Repeat spinach mixture, cottage cheese, and 1/4 cup each of cheddar and swiss cheese. (1/2 cup cheddar and 1/2 cup swiss)

Beat milk, baking mix, eggs, lemon juice and pepper until smooth, 15 seconds in blender on high or 1 min. with hand beater. Pour into plate. Take the other 1/2 cup of cheddar and swiss cheese and place on top. Sprinkle with Parmesan and nutmeg.

Bake until knife inserted in center comes out clean, about 35 min. Cool 5 min. Garnish with sliced ripe olives (if desired)

Poor Man's Shrimp Cocktail

Robert E. Rosa
Edison, NJ

One of the joys of camping is the people you meet and the exchange of ideas and custom. On our 1978 vacation at Schroon Lake, NY the first without our children, we met a family from a town near Albany that camped next to us. Each night, I purposely made a little extra food so they could try different things they had never tried before. In return, they invited us over for Poor Man's Shrimp Cocktail. At the price of shrimp today, you can understand why it is called that. He and his son were avid fishermen and each morning, early, they would go out on the lake. Some days they were successful in catching perch and used this with shrimp cocktail sauce in lieu of shrimp. A firm white fish is required. You clean, fillet and cut the fish into 2 inch squares and boil in salted water for 3 min. as you do the shrimp. Drain and chill and dip in cocktail sauce the same as the shrimp. It is delicious. We used a soft fish such as flounder, once, but it broke up into small bits.

Fresh Basil Appetizer

Barbara Seelig
Bedminster, NJ

- 1 Bu fresh basil
- Approx. 8 oz. fresh mozzarella- Part skim or whole milk
- 1-2 cans rolled anchovies with capers
- 1 jar roasted peppers

Wash, drain and dry basil. Cut cheese into thin slices, smaller than basil leaves. Cut roasted peppers into pieces slightly smaller than cheese.

Open and drain anchovies.

To assemble layer: 1 basil leaf; 1 slice cheese; 1 piece pepper; 1 anchovy-some can be made without anchovies. Place on favorite serving dish. Garnish with additional Basil or fresh parsley.

Spinach Hors d'oeuvres

Miss Mary Shemeta
Marville, NJ

- 1 large pkg. Pepridge Farm filing
- 2 pkg. chopped spinach
- 1 cup parmesan cheese grated
- 6 eggs (beat)
- 1 cup margarine melted

Mix together and make balls. Bake at 400 degrees 20 min. or until brown

Salads

Italian Show-Off Salad

Terri Barile
Belle Mead, NJ

- 1 lb. of cooked tortellini
- 1 lb of cleaned/cooked, medium size shrimp
- 2 small jars of artichoke hearts (drained)
- 1 can of pitted, black olives
- 1 pkg. of cured sun-dried tomatoes
- 1-8 oz. pkg. of mozzarella (cubed)
- 2 large, ripe tomatoes cut-up
- 2 large cloves of finely chopped garlic

Add all ingredients to a large bowl. Add one jar 8 oz. of Italian dressing

Add to your own taste the following: salt, ground pepper, fresh or dried Parsley, fresh or dried Basil, fresh or dried Oregano

After tossing the salad well add one or two table-spoons of parmesan cheese

Serve with a bottle of your favorite burgundy and a crusty loaf of Italian bread.

Roberto's Salad Dressing

Laura O'Neill
Cranford, NJ

- 4 eggs
- 1/4 Teas salt
- 1/4 Teas pepper
- 1 Teas chopped parsley
- 1 cup grated Parmesan
- 2 cloves chopped garlic
- 1 oz. lemon juice
- 1 two oz. can of anchovies
- 1 cup olive oil

Break eggs into blender and add all other ingredients, except oil. Blend while slowly adding one cup of oil until mixture is the consistency of a Caesar dressing. Toss with Romaine lettuce.

Seven Layer Salad

Ruth Sjogren
Somerset, NJ

- 1 head lettuce
- 1/2 cup celery (chopped)
- 1/2 cup green pepper (chopped)
- 1/2 cup onion (chopped)
- 10 oz. frozen green peas cooked & drained
- 1 pt. Miracle Whip
- 2 tblsp. sugar
- 4-6 oz. sharp cheddar cheese (grated)
- 8 strips bacon crumbled (or real Baco-bits)

Tear lettuce into bite size pieces and place in a shallow bowl. Layer next 4 ingredients over lettuce in order given. Combine sugar with Miracle Whip and spread over lettuce mixture as you would frosting. Top with cheese and bacon. DO NOT TOSS. Cover and refrigerate 8-12 hours or overnight. The sugar causes the onions to weep and this with the Miracle Whip makes the dressing. Lettuce stays crisp for days.

Heavenly Salad

Janice Maikisch
Belle Mead, NJ

- 1 box lemon gelatin
- 1 box orange gelatin
- 1 #2 can crushed pineapple
- 3 small cans mandarin orange sections
- 1 large pkg. miniature marshmallows
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1/2 cup chopped pecans (optional)

Combine boxes of gelatin. Add 1 cup boiling water. Add juices of pineapple and mandarins. Stir in fruit and marshmallows. Mold and refrigerate.

Topping

Whip one half pint of heavy cream. Add one cup mayonnaise and spread over top of salad. Decorate with grated cheese, nuts and cherries. Serves 8-10

Salads

Shirley Delnegro
Scotch Plains, N.J.

- 1 pkg. Chicken Rice-A-Roni
- 1 bunch green scallions-chopped
- 1 green pepper-chopped
- 25 green olives with pimento-chopped
- 2 jars (6 oz.) marinated artichokes-sauce juice

Cook Rice-A-Roni according to directions. Cool. Add vegetables. Toss juice from artichokes with 1/3 cup mayonnaise & 3/4 tsp. curry powder until blended. Add to rice mixture and stir until well combined. Chill overnight. Serve cold. Serves 6-8.

Tortellini Vinagrette

Barbara Seelig
Bedminster, NJ

1 lb. frozen Tortellini, cooked according to pkg. directions

Make Vinagrette

Whisk together 1/3 c. balsamic vinegar and 1 T. dijon mustard.

Slowly whisk in 1 cup garlic olive oil*

*to make garlic olive oil, soak one or two cloves of garlic in olive oil for a few hours.

Marinate tortellini in garlic vinagrette for a few hours, as long as possible.

Add:

- 1 head broccoli, cut into small florets
- 1 red onion, cut in half and sliced thin
- 4 carrots coarsely chopped in processor
- 4 celery ribs coarsely chopped in processor
- 1 can black olives, drained and thinly sliced
- 1 cup coarsely chopped Italian parsley

Bermuda Dressing

Robert E. Rosa
Edison, NJ

In 1983 we attended a convention in Bermuda. This was my first visit to the island and we motorbiked, sailed and swam, but every evening we ate at one of the famous restaurants that were part of the South- ampton Princess Hotel complex, where we were stay- ing. The house dressing in the Imperial Room in the main hotel was like a creamy Italian but distinctive enough to be very different. We were very fortunate to obtain the recipe from Mike Tan, the Chef Garde- manger, but it was for 7 gallons. I broke it down to grams and converted it to known measurements to produce a quart. Here it is. Delicious!

- 4 cups salad oil
- 6-½ oz. white vinegar
- ¾ cup onions, chopped
- ½ cup green peppers, chopped
- ¼ cup celery, chopped
- ½ cup parsley flakes or equivalent fresh
- 1 egg
- 2 tsp. white pepper
- 2 tsp. oregano
- 2 tsp. thyme
- 2 tsp. sweet basil
- 1-¾ tsp. garlic powder
- 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- ¼ tsp. Tabasco sauce
- 1 tsp. salt
- 4 tsp. water

Combine all ingredients in a food blender until very fine and smooth. Chill. Makes approx. 1 quart. 150 cal./serving. Serve over any type lettuce.

Caesar Salad

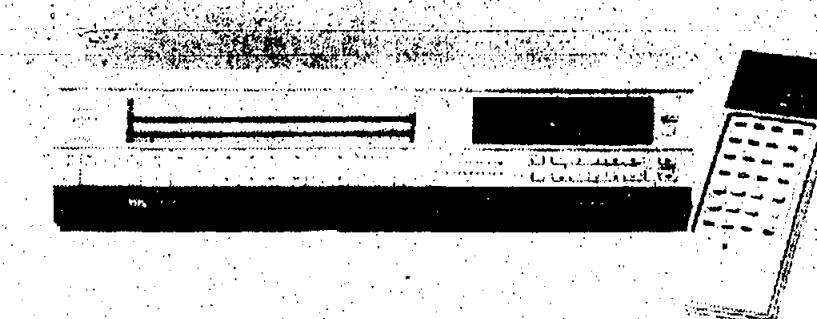

Muriel J. Smith
Somerville

- ½ c. oil
- 6 anchovies
- 1½ tsp Worcestshire Sauce
- ½ tsp dry mustard
- 1 clove garlic, chopped
- freshly ground pepper
- Boil 1 egg 1 minute.

Break head of romaine lettuce into edible pieces; rub wooden bowl with garlic; toss lettuce with dressing. Add:

- egg
- ¼ c. lemon juice
- ¼ c. grated cheese
- 1 c. croutons
- Mix well.

Main Dishes

Chicken Wrapped in Phyllo Pastry

Carole Kass
Morganville, NJ

- 2 onions, chopped
- 4 garlic cloves, minced
- 1/2 lb. butter
- 1 lb. mushrooms
- 1/4 c. minced parsley
- 2 tbsp. flour
- salt and pepper to taste
- 1/2 c. vermouth
- 4 whole boned chicken breasts, quartered
- 16 phyllo leaves
- bread crumbs
- 4 tbsp. oil
- 1/2 c. melted butter

Saute onions and garlic in butter until transparent. Add mushrooms and cook a few minutes. Add parsley and cook 1 minute. Add flour, salt, and pepper and stir. Add vermouth and cook until thickened. Set aside. Saute chicken breasts in oil until brown. Place phyllo leaves on a damp cloth. Cut leaves in half. With pastry brush, brush one leaf with melted butter, sprinkle with bread crumbs and place another leaf on top. Butter again. Place chicken on leaf and place spoonful of mushroom mixture on top of breast. Roll up like an egg roll. Put in waxed paper and freeze. Continue with remaining chicken breasts. When serving, brush with melted butter and bake on cookie sheet at 350 degrees for 40 minutes. Turn once. Serves 8.

Tri-Color Pasta with Seafood

Linda Nelson
Somerville, NJ

- 3 large garlic cloves, chopped
- 1/4 c. virgin olive oil
- 2 c. sea scallops
- 12 jumbo shrimp
- fresh basil
- 1-1/2 c. heavy cream
- salt, pepper; to taste
- 3 egg yolks
- romano cheese, grated
- 1/2 c. feta or ricotta ensalada cheese, cubed
- 3 tbl. butter
- 1 lb. tri-color pasta

Saute garlic in oil. When browned add uncooked scallops and shrimp. Add one-half tsp. basil and pinch of salt and pepper. In mixing bowl blend cream and egg yolks. Add to shrimp and scallops. Add 4 tbl. grated cheese, plus feta or ricotta ensalada, and butter. Simmer until thickened. Serve over cooked pasta; sprinkle with coarsely grated romano cheese. Serves four.

Main Dishes

Marinated Stuffed Flank Steak

Barbara R. Seelig
Bedminster, NJ

One 1-1/2 lb. flank steak cut through into two thinner slices

Marinade:

- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. freshly milled pepper
- 2 tbl. good quality olive oil
- 2 tbl. good red drinking wine (preferably the same wine you will drink with the entree)
- 1 tsp. fresh thyme

1 clove fresh garlic, crushed
Marinate meat at least one hour, preferably overnight.

Stuffing:

- 3/4 c. freshly made bread crumbs
- 1/4 c. freshly grated parmesan cheese
- 6 scallions, chopped
- 1 red pepper, finely chopped
- fresh parsley to taste, chopped, Mix together.

Place half the stuffing on each piece of steak. Roll jelly-roll style and tie. Can now be returned to marinade, frozen or cooked. Grill 10-15 minutes turning at least twice. Can also be cooked in a very hot oven for 15-20 minutes. Slice into pinwheels, place on warmed platter; serve with Mushroom Wine Sauce.

Mushroom Wine Sauce:

- 1/2 lb. mushrooms, sliced
- 1 tbl. butter
- 2 tbl. flour
- 1 tbl. shallots, minced
- 1-1/2 c. beef stock
- 1/4 c. red wine
- 1/4 c. sherry
- 1 tsp. parsley, minced, salt, to taste
- freshly ground pepper, to taste

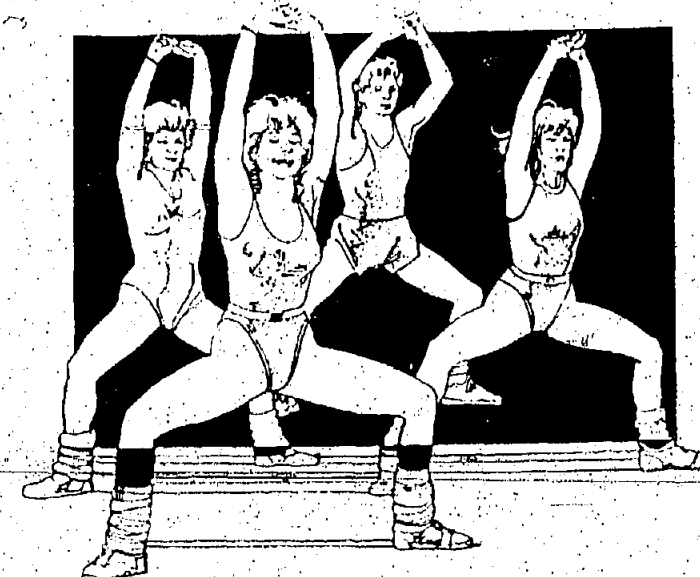

Saute mushrooms in butter. Sprinkle with flour and shallots. Gradually stir in beef stock, wine and sherry. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce bubbles and thickens. Add parsley, salt and pepper.

Diet Tuna Delight

Gayle Skolky
Piscataway, NJ

- 1 6-1/2 oz. can solid white tuna in spring water
- 2 tbl. or to taste, dieter's low fat mayonnaise
- 1/2 box frozen chopped broccoli
- 1/4 c. fresh scallions

Prepare broccoli on stove (or in microwave: put entire box on paper towel, puncture holes in top, cook on high for 6 minutes). Drain water. (Use only half.) Drain excess water from tuna. Add mayonnaise, broccoli and scallions. For best result let sit it refrigerator for full flavor. Serve cold or heated.

Family Night Casserole

Robert E. Rosa
Edison, N.J.

This recipe was so called because it was one of those dishes you served to your family when you were not trying to impress anyone. However, I once had a party at the house for about twenty clients and friends, and I decided it was delicious enough to serve and could be partially cooked ahead of time and then finished the night of the party, saving a lot of last-minute effort. It worked out well and I would do it again. In fact, it has become a standard with all four children at their homes.

- 1 8 oz. pkg. of elbow macaroni
- 1/4 c. margarine
- 1 c. coarsely chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1 can (11 oz.) condensed bisque of tomato soup (undiluted)
- 1 1/2 c. dry cottage cheese or ricotta (or 16 oz. container)
- 1 c. dairy sour cream (8 oz. container)
- 1/2 c. chopped green pepper
- 1/4 c. chopped green onion (scallions)
- 1 tsp. seasoned salt
- Garnish (Optional)
- 2 tbl. margarine
- 1 medium onion thinly sliced
- 1 medium green pepper, 1/4 inch thick rings

Cook the macaroni as the package directs, but the lowest number of minutes, if there is a range of minutes, or subtract two minutes if there is only one time noted. Drain in a colander.

While the pasta is cooking, melt the butter in a large hot skillet and saute the onion and garlic until golden—about five minutes. You may have to reduce the heat. Add ground beef, salt and pepper, and saute until beef is browned—about five minutes. Add tomato bisque soup, mix well, and remove from heat. Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

In a medium bowl, combine cottage or ricotta cheese, sour cream green pepper, onion, and seasoned salt; mix until well blended.

Place half the macaroni in a three-quart casserole, spread evenly with cheese mixture and top with remaining macaroni. Pour meat sauce over the macaroni, spreading evenly.

Make Garnish: Melt margarine in skillet and saute sliced onion and pepper rings until onion is golden—about three minutes. Arrange on top of casserole. It looks nice but I seldom do it.

Bake casserole, covered, 40 minutes or until bubbling hot. Makes 8 servings.

Main Dishes

Boneless Pork Strips

Mrs. John Ewertsen
Branchburg, N.J.

- 6 Pork chops (boned and cut into 3/4 inch strips)
- 1 tbsp. oil
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup fresh chopped sweet red pepper
- 1 tsp. chopped ginger
- 16 ounces pineapple juice
- 4 ounces sliced water chestnuts
- 1/4 pound sliced fresh mushrooms
- 1/4 cup dry sherry
- 1 cup chicken broth
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1/3 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 2 tbsp. corn starch

"Woostie," salt and pepper, garlic powder to taste.

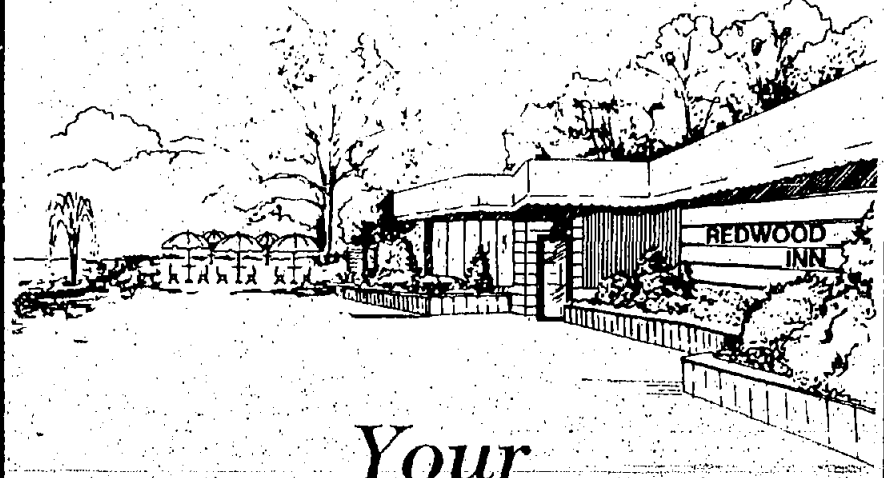

Brown pork strips for several minutes until brown over high heat. Remove from pan. Saute' mushrooms, green peppers, onion for several minutes. Add all other ingredients except corn starch. Cook for 3 minutes. Add meat strips and cook for 3 more minutes. Can be held at this point. To serve, heat until it starts to bubble, add corn starch which water or chicken broth has been added. (about 1/2 cup) and blend to mixture. Serve with rice.

Shrimp and Lobster Sauce

Fran Domitrowski
South Bound Brook

- 1 lb. shrimp, shelled and cleaned
- 2 tbl. sherry
- 2 tbl. cornstarch
- 1/4 c. water
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1 tbl. soy sauce
- 1/4 tsp. sugar
- 1 c. chicken broth
- 4 tbl. oil
- 1/2 lb. ground pork
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 scallion, chopped
- 2 slices ginger root

Combine shrimp and sherry and one-half tbl. cornstarch. Combine remaining cornstarch with water. Mix soy sauce, sugar and chicken broth. Heat 2 tbl. oil in wok on high. Add 1 slice ginger root. Stir. Add shrimp before oil starts to smoke. Stir 2 minutes until shrimp are pinkish. Remove shrimp. Add remaining oil, ginger root and garlic. Stir, add pork and soy sauce mixture. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 2 minutes. Return shrimp. Stir in cornstarch mixture and scallions. Stir until sauce begins to thicken. Remove from heat and stir in egg. Serve over cooked rice.

Main Dishes

Herb Stuffed Chicken Breasts with Supreme Sauce

Shaun Maree Kennedy
Hillsborough

6 lg. chicken breasts; boned, split
salt, pepper to taste
1/4 c. onion, finely chopped
3/4 c. butter, melted
2 tbl. parsley, finely chopped
1/2 tsp. rosemary
1/2 tsp. basil
1-1/2 c. packaged stuffing mix
1/2 c. boiling water

Cut through thickest part of each breast to form a pocket. Season with salt and pepper. Saute onion in one-half cup butter; mix with parsley, herbs, stuffing mix and water. Fill pockets with mixture; secure with wooden toothpicks. Place in shallow roasting pan; brush with remaining melted butter. Bake one hour in 350° oven. Serves 6.

Supreme Sauce:

1/4 c. butter
1/4 c. flour
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. white pepper
1/2 tsp. paprika
2 c. milk
1/2 c. chicken broth
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tsp. lemon juice
2 Tbs. ripe olives, chopped

Melt butter in heavy pan, blend flour and seasonings. Gradually add milk and chicken broth. Cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Beat eggs and add small amount of sauce to egg mixture, along with lemon juice. Return to sauce, stirring over low heat, cook two minutes. Do not boil. Serve over chicken, garnish with olives.

Lazy Daze Meatballs

Grace Felton
Manahawkin, NJ

1 lb. chuck chopped
1/2 tsp. minced dried onions
1/2 tsp. dried parsley
1/2 c. bread crumbs
1/2 c. grated cheese
1/3 c. water — if dry, add more water salt, pepper
1/8 tsp. nutmeg
oil for frying

Form into small balls. Brown in fry pan with a little oil. Remove from pan and drain on paper towel. Add

1 can cream of mushroom soup
1/2 can water
Stir until blended. Place meatballs in pan and simmer 10 minutes. Add water to gravy when reheating.

Main Dishes

Stuffed Fish Fillet

Jeanette Mackie
Middlesex, NJ

8 fish fillets
1/2 lb crab meat, fresh or canned (Clean if canned.)
1/4 c. margarine or butter
1/2 c. mushrooms, chopped
1/4 c. scallions, chopped
1/4 c. parsley, chopped
2 tbl. mayonnaise
1 tbl. bread crumbs
dash of sherry

Saute mushrooms and scallions in margarine. Add crab meat; remove from heat. Add parsley, mayonnaise, bread crumbs and sherry. Mix well. Lay a fillet (flounder) in buttered casserole. Place a mound of mixture in middle. Take a second fillet, cut a long slit down the middle, but not to edges. Place on top of mixture; open slit to expose mixture. Continue with remainder of fillets. Serves four.

Top casserole with the following:
3 tbl. melted butter or margarine
3 tbl. lemon juice
1 tsp. savory

No Hot Chili

Toby Ann Apgar
Bridgewater, N.J.

2 pounds hamburger
1 10 ounce can tomato soup
1 8 ounce can tomato sauce
3/4 cup chicken broth or water
1/4 cup margarine
4 medium mushrooms, sliced
1 medium green pepper, chopped
2 medium onions, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 tbs. worcestershire sauce
salt and pepper to taste
1 19 ounces can kidney beans
1 pound elbow macaroni
Garnish - parmesan cheese

In a non-stick 11 inch skillet, melt margarine. Add the green pepper and onions, cook until slightly soft. Add the mushrooms and garlic. Cook briefly. Remove the ingredients from skillet, leaving the fat behind. Place the hamburger in the skillet, cook until the red disappears and is crumbly. Add the vegetables, tomato soup, tomato sauce, broth or water and worcestershire sauce. Salt and pepper to taste. Let simmer slowly for 30 minutes. If sauce becomes too thick, add more liquid, if sauce is watery, cook until thickened. Add the kidney beans and cook 5 minutes longer.

Cook elbow macaroni according to package directions. Rice can be substituted.

Serve in bowls, garnish with parmesan cheese.

Dad's Clam Chowder

Submitted by Jeanette Mackie, daughter of Frank Sykes
Green-Brook, NJ

At least 1 dz. large chowder clams
Heat in oven, remove from shell. Save juice from oven pan. Blend clams in blender until creamy. Put juice and clams in container until vegetables are cooked.

Cut or dice the following fresh vegetables: carrots, onions, potatoes, celery; and large can of tomatoes.
Cook or simmer one half with small amount of water.
Blend other half in blender and save.

Add to cooked vegetables: thyme, pepper to taste.
(Do not add salt until chowder is done.) Crisp small pieces of bacon in fry pan. Add to vegetables with as much bacon fat as you prefer. When vegetables are cooked, add clams, clam juice and blended vegetables. Simmer about 10 minutes. Add extra water if necessary.

Spaghetti Pie

Patricia Kotyuk
South Bound Brook

Crust
2 c. cooked thin spaghetti
2 oz. grated parmesan cheese
1 egg, beaten
1 tbl. plus 1 tsp. margarine, softened

Filling
¾ c. part-skim ricotta cheese
2 tsp. margarine
½ c. diced onion
½ c. green bell pepper
½ lb. cooked ground beef, crumbled
1 c. canned whole tomatoes, drained and chopped; reserve liquid
2 tsp. tomato paste
3 oz. mozzarella cheese, shredded

To prepare crust: In medium bowl combine all ingredients for crust. Grease a 9-inch glass pie plate, spread spaghetti mixture over bottom and up sides of plate to form a crust.

To prepare filling and pie: Preheat oven to 350°.
Carefully spread ricotta cheese over bottom of crust
and set aside. Saute onion, pepper until translucent.
Add beef, tomatoes, reserved liquid and paste. Cook, stirring until mixture is slightly thickened and thoroughly heated. Spoon mixture over ricotta cheese and bake until pie is thoroughly heated, 20-25 minutes. Sprinkle pie with mozzarella cheese and bake until cheese is melted and just begins to brown, about 5 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand 5-10 minutes before cutting in slices.

- 3 cups cut up cooked chicken
- 1½ cups chopped celery
- 1 med onion chopped
- salt & pepper to taste
- 2 tbl lemon juice
- 4 oz. cubed cheddar cheese
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 8 oz. crushed potato chips
- 4 oz. cut up cheddar cheese
- ½ cup sliced almonds

Preheat oven to 350°. Combine first 7 ingredients in 2 or 2½ qt. casserole. Bake 45 min. Combine potato chips, cheese & almonds. Sprinkle on top of baked casserole. Bake 10 min. longer.

Mexican Lasagna

Ginny Kramer
Dunellen, NJ

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 (12 oz.) jar Thick and Chunky Salsa
- 6 tostada shells or halved taco shells
- 1 c. refried beans
- 1 c. dairy sour cream
- 4 oz. cheddar cheese, shredded (about 1 cup)
- shredded lettuce for garnish

In skillet, brown beef; drain. Stir in ½ cup salsa. Spread ¼ cup salsa in 10-inch pie plate. Top with three tostadas or halved taco shells. Top with half each of beans, meat mixture, sour cream and cheese. Repeat layers; cover with foil. Bake at 350 ° for 30 minutes. Top with lettuce, remaining salsa and additional sour cream. Makes 6-8 servings.

Hungry Person Spanish Rice

Velina Marie Reksten
Somerset, NJ

- 3 c. rice, uncooked
- 1 28 oz. can crushed tomatoes, puree or sauce
- 1 28 oz. can whole tomatoes in tomato sauce
- 1 c. onions, chopped
- 2 red or green (or one each) peppers, chopped
- 1 tbl. chili powder
- 1 tsp. garlic, crushed
- pepper
- hot sauce (I like Trappay's)
- cooking spray

Cook rice according to directions, without butter. Spray large fry pan. Saute onions and peppers over medium heat a few minutes. Mix in cooked rice. Add both cans of tomatoes. Sprinkle chili powder and garlic over mixture, blend well. Add pepper and hot sauce to taste. Cook over low heat about 50 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes 6 huge low-fat servings.

Main Dishes

- 6-8 whole chicken breasts split and skinned
- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 2 cups Italian bread crumbs
- 3/4 cup grated parmesan cheese
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 1 clove garlic minced
- 1 tbsp. salt (optional)
- fresh ground pepper

1. Melt butter in small skillet
2. Combine crumbs, cheese, parsley, garlic, salt and pepper.
3. Dip chicken in melted butter, roll in crumb mixture and arrange in shallow casserole.
4. Drizzle the remaining butter over the chicken, cover and bake in a 350 degree oven for one hour or until tender. Uncover the last 1/2 hour. Serves 8.

Main Dishes

Chi/Mex Spicy Noodles

Chad Reiber
Cranford, N.J.

A spicy turkey dish, combination of Chinese and Mexican cooking. This dish will serve 2-4 people.

- Bake in 350 degree oven for 1/2 hour.
- 1 pound turkey breast
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1/4 tsp. garlic powder
- 1/4 tsp. chili powder

Cut up into thin slices and dice.

- 2 stalks celery
- 2 carrots
- 1 small yellow onion
- 1/2 cup of mushrooms
- optional: 1/2 cup broccoli or cauliflower

Add with vegetables.

- 1/8 tsp. cumin
- 1/4 red pepper flakes
- 1/8 tsp. ground ginger (fresh if available)
- 2 dash hot sauce

Cook in microwave, high for 6-8 minutes. Vegetables should be crunchy but not hard. Add a half a medium tomato, diced after cooking and cover.

Steaming the vegetables can be substituted.

Take turkey out of oven and cut into small pieces.

In a bowl mix.

- 1 1/2 cup chicken broth
- 1/4 tsp. crushed red pepper
- 1/4 tsp. chili powder
- 1 tsp. corn starch
- 1/8 cup of soy sauce

In a large skillet incorporate the meat with the vegetables. Add the chicken broth mixture. Cook 3-5 minutes or until the broth becomes thick.

Spoon over a bowl of steaming hot Vermicelli.

Chilled Corned Beef Loaf

Shirley DeNegro
Scotch Plains, NJ

- 1 sm. pkg. lemon flavored gelatin
- 1 c. boiling water
- 1 bouillon cube or 1 c. meat stock
- 1 tbl. grated onion
- 1 tbl. worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 tsp. paprika
- 3 c. corned beef, finely chopped
- 1 tbl. mustard
- 1 tbl. mayonnaise

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water and add meat stock, worcestershire sauce and paprika. Chill in refrigerator. When slightly thickened fold in corned beef, onion and mustard. Turn into tray and allow to stand 2 hours. Cut in squares and serve on lettuce with a tbl. mayonnaise on each plate.

Toasted Baked Potatoes

Evelyn Minichino
Bound Brook, NJ

Peel potatoes and brush them with melted drippings (bacon or butter fat). Roll potatoes first in a mixture of bread crumbs, salt and pepper, then in beaten egg, then, again in the bread crumb mixture.

Bake in a covered casserole in a hot oven 375-400 degrees F. for 1 hour or until potatoes are tender.

Onion Soup Chicken Casserole

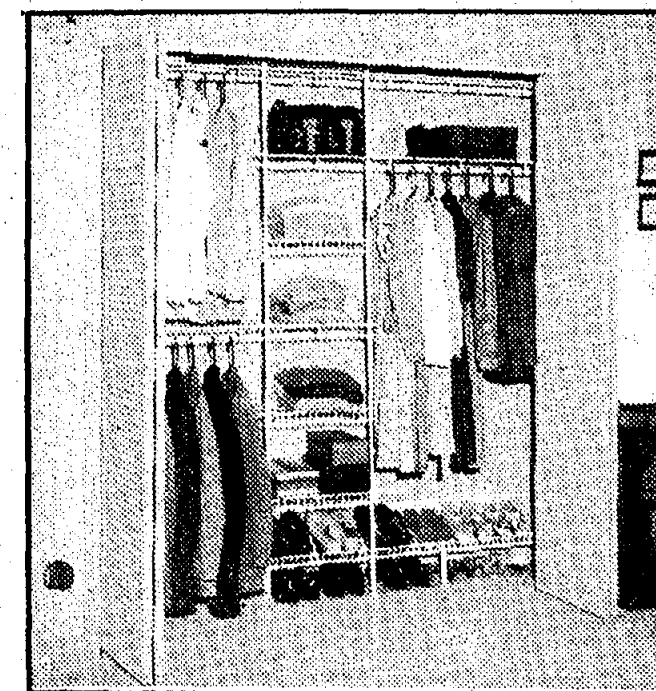

Pat Habig
North Plainfield, N.J.

- 6 chicken breast skinned
- 2 tbsp. flour
- 2 tbsp. vegetable oil
- 1 can condensed onion soup
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 2 tbsp. chopped parsley
- 1 tbsp. onion powder

Dust chicken pieces with flour. Heat a large skillet over medium heat; when hot add oil and heat again. Brown chicken on both sides, takes minutes. Transfer to casserole dish - bring soup to a boiling point, add onion powder and wine. Pour over chicken and bake for 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Baste occasionally. Serve with chopped parsley spread over chicken.

The sauce is very rich tasting so serve with plain simmered red potatoes or rice and vegetables.

Main Dishes

Happy Warrior Scampi

Laura O'Neill
Cranford, N.J.

18 jumbo shrimp, peeled and deveined, but leaving tail shells attached salt, pepper and a little paprika
1 large shallot, finely chopped
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup dry white wine
1/2 cup brown sauce (see recipe below)
1/4 cup butter
juice of half a lemon
1 tbsp. finely chopped parsley
1 clove garlic, mashed

Brown Sauce - melt 1 tbsp. of butter, stir in 1 tbsp. of flour, then add 1/2 cup undiluted canned beef bouillon and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Add 1 tbsp. of sherry.

Cut shrimp open (butterfly) but not all the way through, then flatten the shrimp and place them on an ovenproof platter or shallow casserole with the flesh side up. Season with salt, pepper and a little paprika.

Saute shallots briefly (about one minute) in the 1/4 cup butter, add wine and reduce this to 1/3 of the original volume. Stir in the brown sauce and bring to a boil. Remove from heat, then add the additional 1/4 cup butter, lemon juice and parsley.

Use about 3/4 of this mixture and spoon it evenly over the shrimp. Add the garlic to the remaining 1/4 of the sauce and set it aside.

Broil shrimp about 6-8 inches from broiler for about 5 minutes. Remove and drain off, or spoon off, the juices, adding them to the garlic sauce. Now - baste the shrimp with this mixture. Broil again for one or two minutes and serve very hot. Serves 4-6.

To prepare ahead of time: the basting sauce can be prepared ahead of time.

Sicilian Meat Roll

Ruth Sjogren
Somerset, N.J.

2 beaten eggs (can use 4 egg whites for lower cholesterol)
3/4 cup soft bread crumbs (1 slice of bread)
1/2 cup tomato juice
2 tbsp. snipped parsley
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. dried oregano, crushed
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 small clove garlic, crushed
2 pounds lean ground beef
8 thin slices boiled ham
6 ounces shredded mozzarella cheese
3 slices mozzarella cheese, halved diagonally

Combine eggs, bread crumbs, tomato juice, parsley, oregano, salt, pepper and garlic. Stir in ground beef, mixing well. On foil or waxed paper pat meat to a 12x10 inch rectangle (can use a cookie sheet). Arrange ham slices on top of meat, leaving a small margin around edges. Sprinkle shredded cheese over ham. Starting from short end, carefully roll up meat, using foil to lift; seal edges and ends. Place roll, seam side down in 13x9x2 inch baking pan. Bake in 350 degree oven for 1 hour 15 minutes, or until done. Place cheese wedges over top of roll; return to oven for 5 minutes or until cheese melts.

Lazy Lobster

Dorothy A. McLaughlin
Somerset, N.J.

2 cans frozen lobster meat (10 oz. each app.) or langostenos or "sea legs"
2 sticks margarine or butter, cut in pieces
1 stack crackers such as Ritz or Hi-Ho, crushed

Thaw lobster. Cut into bite-size pieces and remove pieces of hard membrane from claws.

Place lobster, margarine, and cracker crumbs in an oven proof casserole. Bake for 30-40 minutes at 350 degrees or until bubbly. Serves 6. Recipe may be halved or doubled. Also, extra crackers may be added to extend the dish, if necessary. If it appears dry while baking, add more butter.

(My mother called this lazy lobster and served it often when lobster was 99 cents a pound and when one pound blocks of langostenos were also 99 cents a pound. Some restaurants call it Lobster Pie. It's quick and easy and the ingredients can be kept on hand if needed for unexpected company.)

Desserts

Angies Ricotta Cookies

Mrs. Angelina Desiano
Bound Brook, NJ

1-1/2 cup ricotta cheese
4 eggs
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup crisco
1/3 cup orange juice
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp vanilla
4 1/2 cups flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. baking powder

Soften butter and crisco. Blend with ricotta until creamy. Add vanilla, mix with other juices. Add sugar gradually beat until blended. Add eggs and mix well. Slowly stir in dry ingredients and blend well. Spoon on cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees for 12 min.

Italian Rum Cake

Anne G. Restaino
Piscataway, NJ

8 egg yolks
1 c. sugar
1/2 c. sherry
1 sponge cake—round or loaf
1 c. dark rum
1 c. heavy cream
1 c. candied fruit (optional)
Top with chocolate curls

Put egg yolks and sugar in a double boiler on low heat. Don't let water on bottom touch top pan. beat these ingredients until thick. Add sherry, keep beating. Mixture will thicken. Remove and cool, fold in cream and fruit. Slice sponge cake into 2 or 3 horizontal layers. Pour rum over the layers. Spread cold custard evenly, even on outside of cake. Decorate with chocolate curls. Chill and serve.

Grated Apple Pie

Pat Kotyuk
So. Bound Brook, NJ

1 stick margarine (melted)
1/4 cup sugar
1 heaping tbs. flour
1 egg beaten
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
3 cups grated apples (peeled)

Mix all ingredients together, prepare your own pie crust (or use Pillsbury box mix, for single crust) Pour mixture into unbaked pie crust, using a 10 inch pie plate. Bake at 350 degree oven for one hour or until golden brown, and center comes out clear.

Rugelach Friss Cinnamon Walnut Crescents

Robert Rosa
Edison, NJ

3 cups unbleached flour
1 tbs. active dry yeast
2 sticks (1 cup) cold unsalted butter, cut into bits
3 large egg yolks
1 cup sour cream
1 cup minced walnuts
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon

This is Betty's recipe. She makes them. I eat them

In a bowl combine the flour and the yeast and blend in the butter until the mixture resembles meal. Add the egg yolks and the sour cream and combine the mixture well. Form the dough into a ball and chill it, wrapped in plastic wrap, overnight.

Quarter the dough and form each quarter into a ball. In a bowl combine the walnuts, the sugar, and the cinnamon. Sprinkle one fourth of the mixture onto a work surface and on it roll 1 ball of the dough into an 8 inch round, turning the dough over and incorporating the walnut mixture. Cut the round into 16 wedges and beginning at the wide end roll up the wedges. Shape the rolls into crescents and put them 1 inch apart on buttered baking sheets. Make crescents with the remaining dough and walnut mixture, bake the crescents in a preheated 350 degree oven for 20 minutes, or until they are golden, and let them cool on racks. Makes 64 cookies.

Apricot-Pecan Sticks

Mrs. Rina A. Ehrhardt
Somerville, NJ

- ¾ cup butter, softened
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 3 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 tbls. all-purpose flour
- 1 jar (12oz.) apricot preserves or jam
- 1 pinch salt
- 2 egg whites
- 1 cup chopped pecans

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Cream butter in mixing bowl, beat in 1 cup sugar and the 2 eggs. Beat until light and fluffy.

Beat in vanilla and 3 cups flour. Mix well. Place on a lightly greased baking sheet, 10x15x1 inch. Spread lightly over sheet. Place a sheet of wax paper on top of mixture and roll to ¼ inch thickness.

Peel off paper, spread dough with a thin layer of the preserves. Bake in the 375 degree oven 6 min.

Meanwhile, beat egg whites with salt until soft peaks form. Gradually beat in remaining cup sugar by teaspoonfuls and the 1 tablespoon of flour. Beat until stiff peaks form. Fold in the pecans.

Spread on top of partly baked crust. Return to oven; bake 15 min. longer. Cool. Cut into sticks 3x1 inches. Store in airtight container at cool room temperature.

You may want to perk up the apricot preserves with a couple of drops of cognac and Grand Marnier. Enjoy!

English Trifle

Muriel J. Smith
Somerville, NJ

1 lb. of sponge cake
2 tbs. madeira wine
4 eggs, separated
1/4 c. sugar
1/2 tbs. unflavored gelatin
1-1 1/4 c. light cream
2 c. heavy cream
2 tbs. light rum
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tbs. confectioner's sugar

Cut cake into 1/2" thick slices and line bottom and sides of crystal bowl. Sprinkle with madeira and refrigerate.

Beat yolks and sugar thoroughly and add gelatin. Beat light cream to boil, add yolk mixture. Stir constantly.

Cook and stir custard over low heat until it coats back of wooden spoon. Remove from heat, place pan in bowl of ice cubes to cool, stirring constantly.

Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks; fold into cooled custard.

Beat half the heavy cream until stiff; fold in custard with rum.

Spoon custard into chilled bowl lined with cake; place in freezer briefly (only until set).

Beat remaining cream, sweeten with confectioner's sugar and vanilla, garnish top of trifle.

Desserts

Lucille's Chocolate Charlotte

Laura O'Neill
Cranford, NJ

- 2 pkgs. lady fingers
- 1/4 c. creme de menthe or rum
- 2 pkgs. (8 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate squares
- 3 tbl. instant coffee
- 1/2 c. boiling water
- 6 egg yolks
- 1/2 c. sugar
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 6 egg whites
- 1 1/2 c. heavy cream whipped

Split lady fingers, but do not separate into individual pieces. Brush flat surfaces with creme de menthe or rum. Line sides of a 9" springform pan with ladyfingers, rounded sides against pan. Separate remaining lady fingers; line bottom of pan, overlapping to fit.

Melt chocolate in top of a double boiler over hot water, stirring occasionally. Dissolve coffee in boiling water. Beat egg yolks in small bowl at high speed until foamy. Beat in sugar gradually; continue beating until thick. Reduce speed. Beat in vanilla, coffee and melted chocolate. Wash beaters. Beat egg whites in large bowl until stiff.

Stir about 1 c. egg whites into chocolate mixture to lighten it. Fold chocolate mixture into remaining egg whites. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into lined springform pan. Freeze until firm. Garnish with chocolate curls and piped rosettes of whipped cream.

Take from freezer and refrigerate one hour before serving. Should be almost frozen when served.

- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 c. flour
- 6 tbl. butter
- 1/2 c. chopped nuts

Combine rice, apples, lemon juice, 1/4 c. sugar, and spices in large bowl. Spoon into buttered shallow 2-qt. baking dish. Mix flour and remaining sugar. Cut in butter til mixture is crumbly. Stir in nuts. Sprinkle over rice mixture. Bake 30 minutes or til apples are tender. Serve warm with whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

Hawaiian Wedding Cake

Lorraine A. Cimusz
Somerset, NJ

- 2 c. flour
- 2 c. sugar
- 2 tsp. baking soda
- 2 eggs
- 1 20 oz. can crushed pineapple, undrained
- 1 c. coconut
- 1 c. chopped walnuts

Mix ingredients together by hand. Pour into greased pan (13"x 9"). Bake at 350° 40-45 minutes.

- Cream Cheese Frosting:
- 1/4 lb. butter or margarine
- 1-1/2 c. confectioners sugar
- 8 oz. cream cheese
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Mix ingredients with beater. Refrigerate cake after frosting.

Desserts

Lemon Squares

Heather Kay
Metuchen, NJ

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1/2 cup confectioners sugar
- 1 cup butter
- 4 eggs, beaten
- 2 cups granulated sugar
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 tsp. baking powder

Crust

Sift flour (2 cups) and confectioners sugar together. Cut in butter until mixture clings together. Press into 9x13 pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 min. or until lightly browned. (Do Not Over Cook, It will become dry)

Filling

Beat eggs, granulated sugar and lemon juice, mix well. Sift flour and baking soda and add to mixture. Pour evenly over crust. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 min. and let cool. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar before serving and cut into 2 inch squares.

Apple Strudel

Joan L. Acken
Colonia, NJ

- 1/2 lb. margarine
- 2 1/2 cups flour
- dash of salt
- 1/3 cup of water
- 1 tbs. vinegar
- 3 egg yolks

Mix first 3 ingredients together. Blend with remaining ingredients. Place in the refrigerator overnight. Makes 2 large strudels. Divide dough in two parts. Roll very thin. Place finely cut apples on dough, sprinkle with sugar, breadcrumbs and cinnamon. Turn ends over slightly, then over lap sides over the filling. Bake 30 min. at 375 degrees on a jelly roll pan so it doesn't spill over in your oven.

Irish Soda Bread

Anne G. Restaino
Piscataway, NJ

- 4 c. flour
- 3 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 1/2 box raisins
- 1 tsp. caraway seeds
- 1/2 stick butter
- 1/2 c. sugar (white)
- 2 c. buttermilk

Sift flour, sugar, salt, soda and baking powder together. Add enough buttermilk to make a stiff dough.

Bake for 1 hour at 350°.

Cassata (Italian Sweet Ricotta Cake)

Olive Van Voorhis
Somerset, NJ

- 1 Pound Cake (Sara Lee), thinly sliced, defrosted
- 3 lbs. ricotta cheese
- 1 1/2 c. confectioners powdered sugar
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 2 tbl. white creme de cacao
- Several tablespoons each of chopped, sweet chocolate and candied citron or pineapple

Beat together with mixer ricotta, conf. sugar, cinnamon and creme de cacao until smooth. Mixture should not be too thin. Add chocolate and citron. In spring form pan, line sides and bottom with pound cake. Alternate filling with cake. Finish with filling. Add a few more bits of chocolate for decoration. Refrigerate preferably over night. When serving remove from refrigerator a few minutes early so that cake will not be too cold; and remove sides of pan and place on serving platter.

SMALLER CAKE—2 lbs. ricotta and approx. 1 c. conf. sugar.

Desserts

Pineapple Delights

Barbara Michaels
Bedminster, NJ

4½ c. flour-sifted
2 tsp. baking powder
2 eggs
½ c. sugar
½ lb. butter
1 c. sour cream
½ tsp. soda
½ tsp. salt

Sift flour with baking powder, salt & soda. Work butter into flour as for pie dough. Add sugar. Put eggs into sour cream and beat. Mix into first mixture and knead dough until smooth. Take about ⅓ of dough. Roll on floured board, place in large cookie sheet and spread with following mixture:

1 large can crushed pineapple
1 c. sugar
3 tbl. cornstarch

Combine ingredients and cook until thick. Allow to cool and then spread on dough in cookie sheet. Roll out remaining dough, cut into 1 inch strips. Twist and put over dough in criss-cross fashion. Bake at 375° F. for 30 minutes.

Long Island Pineapple Carrot Cake

Minx McCloud
North Plainfield

2 c. sifted all purpose flour
2 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. ground cinnamon
1¾ c. granulated sugar
1 c. vegetable oil
3 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
2 c. shredded carrots
1 c. flaked coconut
1 c. coarsely chopped walnuts
1 can (8¼ oz.) crushed pineapple (drained)
cream cheese frosting

Grease a 13x9x2 in. baking pan. Dust lightly with flour. Sift flour, baking soda, baking powder, salt and cinnamon into a large bowl. Add in order: sugar, oil, eggs and vanilla. Beat with a wooden spoon until smooth.

Stir in: carrots, coconuts, walnuts and pineapple until well blended; pour into prepared pan.

Bake 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until center springs back when pressed with fingertip. Don't worry if center sinks slightly. Cool completely and frost with cream cheese frosting.

FROSTING:

Beat 3 oz. softened cream cheese with ½ stick softened butter in medium bowl. Beat in 2 cups sifted 10x confectioners sugar with ½ teaspoon of vanilla. If frosting needs thinning, add a teaspoon or two of milk. This should frost the top of a 13x9x2 inch cake.

This cake should be stored in the refrigerator.

Viennese Plum Cake

Grace R. Eisner
Cranford, NJ

½ c. butter, creamed
½ c. sugar
2 eggs
1 c. flour, sifted with
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
10 red or blue plums, cut into halves and pitted ½ c. sugar mixed with
2 tsp. cinnamon

Oven temperature: 375°
Baking Time: 30 minutes

Cream butter in a bowl and add sugar. Cream until fluffy. Add one egg at a time, beating well after each addition. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt; add to first mixture, beating until well blended. Spread into a buttered 9x9 inch pan. Place halved plums, skin side down, pressing into top of batter. Mix second half cup of sugar with cinnamon. Spoon into each plum. Serve warm or cold. Whipped cream or dessert topping may be served with cake.

Desserts

Lemon-Coconut Cake

Elizabeth Scilla
Edison, NJ

½ c. shortening
¾ c. sugar
1½ c. sifted cake flour
3 egg whites
2 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
½ c. milk
1 tsp. vanilla

Cream shortening and sugar. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt; add alternately with milk to first mixture, add vanilla. Beat egg whites stiff; fold in. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer cake pans in moderate oven (375°).

FILLING:

½ c. sugar
¼ c. flour
1 lemon, juice and grated rind
2 tbl. butter or margarine
1 c. warm water
3 egg yolks

Mix sugar and flour; add water gradually; beat egg yolks; add. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thick. Cover; cook five minutes longer. Remove from heat; add lemon juice, grated rind and butter or margarine; mix well. Cool; spread between cake layers.

FROSTING:

1 c. sugar
½ c. water
1 tsp. vinegar
2 egg whites
½ tsp. vanilla
Moist-pack coconut

Boil sugar, water and vinegar to 236 degrees or until syrup spins a thread when dropped from tip of spoon. Beat egg whites stiff; pour hot syrup slowly on egg whites, beating constantly. Continue beating until frosting holds its shape. Add vanilla. Spread on top and sides of cake. Sprinkle top and sides of frosted cake generously with moist-pack shredded coconut.

Champagne Sherbert

Robert Rosa
Edison, NJ

½ cup white champagne
1 pint of lemon or lime sherbert

Chill champagne. Use an inexpensive Champagne like Andre. Add both ingredients to a blender and whip until stiff and frothy. Scoop into sherbert glasses and serve with a spoon. Quick, easy and light. Serves 6.

Blueberry Buckle

Patricia Kotyuk
So. Bound Brook, NJ

¾ cup sugar
¼ cup vegetable shortening
2 eggs
½ cup milk
2 tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. ground nutmeg
1 can (15oz.) blueberries, packed in water, drained or 1 pkg. (10oz.) frozen dry-pack blueberries, or 2 cups fresh blueberries

½ cup sugar
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ cup soft butter or margarine

Mix sugar, shortening, eggs and milk until well blended. Stir in flour, baking powder & nutmeg. Fold in blueberries. Spread batter into a greased 9 inch square pan. Combine remaining ingredients and mix until crumbly. Sprinkle crumbs over batter.

Bake in preheated moderate oven 375 degrees for 45-55 minutes or until top springs back when lightly touched. Serve warm, cut in squares.
