Reflections....

After the events of the tragedy at the World Trade Center (September 11, 2001), there was the aftermath. Our school year began during the whirlwinds of the aftermath. It clung to us, invaded our thoughts, ruined our sleep, and left us to battle stress and fear. Social events were cancelled or postponed. In their place, benefits, candlelight vigils, and prayer services provided a welcomed opportunity to connect with families and friends, and helped our country get back on its feet.

At Cranford High School, we were indelibly marked by the uncommon, unthinkable, cold events of September, and knew instinctively we would never be the same. We also knew that we had a role to play in this tragedy, which was to unite and prepare for leadership in our school and in our community. We eagerly approached this task, and we did it well!

The following pages chronicle our year, our triumphs, and our diverse activities. They salute friendship, daunting circumstances, and unforgettable grace. They mirror Cranford High School, as it reflects on the past one hundred years of existence, celebrated proudly by the class of 2002.

Say what???

Sophomore Chris Belsky sits in class pondering the new concepts that were being taught. He worked hard all marking period to earn a respectable grade.

The great outdoors....

Casey and Glenn Brown share brotherly love while rowing down the Delaware Water Gap. It was a beautiful afternoon on the sparkling waterfront.

Silly stripes....

Senior waitresses Nicole Montgomery, Virginia Patrone and Beth Oliver continue the tradition of wearing crazy stockings on Pasta Night. They looked festive for the occasion.

Show me the money.....

Cash, money, millionaire Lakendric Blocker flashes the green to the camera. He wheeled the bills around in his portable suitcase all day long.

All work and no play makes Cranford students dull people. Being a student at Cranford High School entails more than reading, writing, and arithmetic. A plethora of memories are found in and, especially, out of school. At concerts from “Bon Jovi” to “Trey”, students stomped their feet to the groovin’ beat. While the beach was a blast, exciting trips were made to foreign lands.

Many students filled their pockets with greenbacks by working hard days through the sweltering heat. Christine D’Arcy cooled off while lifeguarding at the pool, while Dennis Rasmussen saved his tips from the Office to later treat his girlfriend. Staying in shape, students hit, kicked, and dribbled the ball through summer leagues and club teams.

As school returned, all fun and play was put aside for the 2001-2002 year. Alarm clocks were set, lunches were made, outfits were picked out, and weekends were eagerly anticipated. As the year progressed, memories were made that will never be forgotten.

Student Life

Fun in the ...

Hot Fun in the Summer Time

SUN

What is your most memorable experience that you had this summer?

"My weekly trips to the shore with my close friends were a definite highlight of the summer."

Jen Kelly (12)

"My trip to LBI with my two best friends was a really fun experience."

Meg Brady (10)

During the summer of 2001, numerous Cranford High School teens visited Seaside Heights, Point Pleasant, Avon, and LBI. Kicking back and relaxing at the beach is what these students enjoy most during the summer. After a hard week of part-time jobs, jumping in your car and heading down to the beach with a bunch of your friends is what makes summer so much fun.

Many students take a vacation for a week or two with family or friends and travel to a get-a-way spot.

After a ten month school year, taking this trip certainly is relaxing. Having no homework leaves time to enjoy the fun activities of summer.

Whether taking a dip in the ocean or just lying out under the warm sun, the beach is definitely one of summer's most popular hot spots. After two months of this never-ending fun, Cranford High School students are ready to move forward for a memorable year.

RIGHT: Prom weekend fun... Best friends Sharon Majors and Jenna Colineri chill out at their prom house after a fun filled day of the Seaside Heights beach. Later that night, they enjoyed partying with all of their girlfriends.

BELOW: Beach buds... Seniors Ferris Caldwell, Beth Arcieri, Rachel Ramsey, Megan Cuzzolino, and Emma Riley enjoy spending time at the Jersey shore. They always loved being around the crystal blue water.

LEFT: Lookin' good... Seniors Vicki Hollerbach and Jean-Marie Unish spend a summer day in LBI. While they were there they both enjoyed getting their ears pierced.

BELOW: Water volley-ball... Allison Kitzhoffer, Nora Doty, and Jamie Ross take a quick dip on a hot summer day.

Friends are...

Good times with friends.

The only thing that keeps some students from going crazy is the chance to hang out with their friends during school hours. Whether it's in the hallway, in between classes, or during class, talking with your "buds" helps make the day go faster.

Friends are people you can always count on and are people you can go to when you've got a problem. Senior Scott Zucker says, "They're always there when you need someone to lean on, or if you just want to have a good time."

The promise of hanging out with friends on the weekend is what drives most students to deal with weekday after weekday of schoolwork. Looking back on your high school years, it will be the time you spent with friends that you'll remember the most.

forever

What was the craziest thing you and your friends have ever done?

"The craziest thing I've done with my friends is trying to start a food fight every day last year in lunch."

Tom Stratton (12)

What do you and your friends like to do on the weekends?

"We enjoy racing in our cars and hanging out in big groups just enjoying the free time from school."

Mike Sedges (12)

ABOVE: Hangin' at the Crustic... Seniors Beth Casciano and Kaitlyn Boyle share a picture together. They went out later that night and had fun with their friends.

RIGHT: Ah, Ross... Seniors Jamie Ross and Stacey Sheerin have a good time hanging out at their shore house. The two of them spent a lot of time together this summer.

BELOW: Girls just wanna have fun... This group of upper-classmen are straight "chillin" at a party. They enjoyed the camaraderie of one another on that summer afternoon.

LEFT: Two of a kind... Seniors Megan Cuzzolino and Jen Kelly hang out in a friend's basement together. They had fun relaxing with some close friends.

BELOW: The three muskateers... Seniors Meghanne Malinowski, Lindsay Kornmeyer, and Vicki Mui hang out together in France. They enjoyed touring the streets of Paris.

ABOVE: You rang?... Rachel Ramsey and Marco Guarino make their plans for the evening. They spent a lot of time together over the summer.

LEFT: Let's go cougars!... These upper-classmen friends support the Cougars at a football game. They helped cheer on the Cougars to a victory.

begin!

Up!!!

One of the things that students look forward to in the summer, other than not being in school, is concerts. This summer was no different as bands like Lynyrd Skynyrd, Eric Clapton, Trey Anastasio, Rusted Root, Dave Matthews Band, and Bon Jovi all played in the area.

At concerts all over the tri-state area, CHS students could be seen tailgating in the parking lots and rockin' the night away to their favorite music.

Senior Joe Bottino says, "It's always a fun time at concerts. Not only do you get to listen to good tunes, but you also get to hang out with your friends and just have fun."

Concerts have always been a big part of any summer vacation, and it was no different this past summer with CHS students rockin' out throughout the country.

BELOW: Strike a pose... Seniors Allison Kitzhoffer and Nora Doty love N'Sync. They couldn't wait to get tickets to their next show.

ABOVE: Rockin' out... Seniors Martha Manrique and Molly Frieri take time out from their busy concert-going schedule to take a quick snap-shot. They had a great time going to see their favorite bands.

LEFT: Chillin' on the lawn... This group of seniors is having a picnic in the parking lot before the Matchbox 20 concert. Their time together made the concert very enjoyable.

Who are ...

A full moon +
Halloween =
Festive Fun

you?

Think back. Remember when you dashed home, quickly changed into a costume, and hunted for the houses with the best candy? That's right, October 31-Halloween! Okay, so you don't crave the chocolate anymore, but everyone still loves the idea of a day of merriment and mayhem.

This year, students carried on the tradition of dressing up, but the costumes were more retro instead of ghoulish. The best costumes reflected a look at the past- The Charlie Brown Characters, Kiss, and The Revenge of the Nerds.

Although high schoolers don't readily admit it, the costumes are only part of the fun. "I have never found any house that gives out Swedish Fish," responded one reluctant trick-or-treating senior.

Whether it's wearing a costume or searching for just the right amount of treats, Halloween is a creative diversion from everyday life.

What's the best part of Halloween?

"My favorite part of Halloween was dressing up as Kiss and wearing a funky wig."

Collette Ishiyama (12)

"Our favorite part of the holiday is seeing the numerous creative costumes that everyone thinks of."

Meghan Fitzpatrick
and Rachel Thomas (11)

"My favorite part of Halloween is wearing my bald old man mask every year."

Lee Paster (12)

ABOVE: Say cheese... Junior Samantha Burns and Freshman Glenn Brown are all smiles after they found out that they won one of the Halloween Costume Contests.

RIGHT: Senior citizens?? Seniors Beth Jackson and Cait Brady make a spoof on Cait's grandparents. A lot of people got a good laugh out of this creative and unique costume.

BELOW: "NERDS!!!"... A group of senior jocks and freshmen nerds took home one of the Halloween costume prizes. The seniors spent all day goofing on the freshmen and fitting the demands of their characters.

Bustling halls...

It's amazing what occurs in 4 minutes!

at chs

The second before the bell is about to ring every student anxiously waits to meet their friends in the hallway. Riiling!!! These once quiet halls are now filled with hyper teens. Students scramble to meet up with their friends for a few minutes, go to their locker, look for homework, or go to class. In between classes, the hallways are always buzzing with excitement. Students normally try to keep the same routine throughout the year. Senior Gillian Murray agreed, "I've been meeting up with my friends in between classes in the same places since freshman year."

However, once the bell rings again, any students remaining in the hallways become frantic. Conversations are cut short, and teens pick up the pace to get back to class as fast as possible in order to avoid getting detention.

"Look who's TALKING"

What is your favorite thing to do between classes?

"I enjoy meeting up with my boyfriend in the hallways and discussing the day's events."
Lindsay Schoonmaker (12)

"I like chillin' with my homegirls in the circular rotunda of Cranford High."
Rachel Ramsey (12)

BELOW: Step lively... This pair of freshmen buddies travel through the underpass between their busy class schedule. They kept each other company while walking places throughout the day.

BELOW RIGHT: Math madness... Senior classmates Rich Montag and Mike Timms gladly leave a forty minute period of grueling math. They worked hard all year to earn a top grade for the course.

BELOW: Three of a kind... Lee Paster looks on from behind amusingly as Greg Donofrio snatches Jenna Colineri to take a picture. The three friends walked on to their next class.

ABOVE: Walking in style... Freshmen friends rush to class with the four minutes they had. The duo always rushed to make in order to avoid detention.

LEFT: Keep moving... These freshmen friends manage to make it to class on time. They also were able to catch up on gossip as they traveled their route.

Abroad

Language students this year have stamped their passports all around the world from Paris to Barcelona to Germany. The incredible opportunities to travel across the Atlantic have provided many CHS students with amazing memories that they are sure to never forget.

Spanish students traveled to Spain over Spring Break 2001, while French students went to France in early summer 2001, and German students went to Germany in late summer 2001.

According to Senior Virginia Patrone, "Our trip to Spain was definitely filled with memorable experiences. I made a lot of friends and none of us will ever forget it."

From bonding with fellow students to experiencing foreign culture and getting to practice speaking the language, students have been learning here at CHS. Everyone who traveled on the foreign trips agreed that this experience will leave lasting impressions in their minds forever.

favorite dance
move?

"My favorite dance move is definitely the tootsie roll!"

Jamie Ross (12)

where's
the Party?

For many years, high schools have been conducting dances, and teenagers, have been attending Sweet 16's. These activities enable young kids to relieve their stress and pressures from academics and teachers' demands. It is always a highlight of the year when sophomores celebrate a girl's 16th birthday at a dance hall. Many teens enjoy gettin' down all night long to the melodious music and the bumpin' beats.

"My sweet 16 was one of my most memorable experiences that I shared with friends and family," exclaimed Jenna Colineri. The Senior prom is also an eagerly anticipated event that teenagers prepare for all year. Students love the ability to relax and share creative dance moves with one another. Dances and Sweet 16's were successful hits this year.

LEFT: Let the good times roll... These juniors enjoy making their own music at another friend's Sweet 16. Their music entertained the others throughout the night.

Can you say ...

25 minutes of freedom!

The bell rings. It's the end of the period, giving you only 4 minutes before you enter yet another class. But then that one special bell chimes--finally your cue has come to head to lunch.

Whether you use your 25 free minutes to chat with friends, finish or start your homework, or just to eat--since you never had time for breakfast--lunch seems to be the most anticipated part of the school day. According to senior Katie Magargal, "Lunchtime is the perfect time to relax, talk to my best friend Martha, and eat LOTS of food...mmm, food."

So it doesn't matter if you bring a bag lunch or chow down on Otis Spunkmeyer cookies, get claustrophobic in the underclass cafeteria or grab some fresh air in the outdoor cafeteria. Either way, lunch will always be the favored and most relaxing time of the day.

Story by: Molly Frieri

Lunch?

What's your favorite part of lunch?

"I like taking a break from academics and sitting outside."

Eliza Young (12)

"I like seeing all of the people that I don't see in my classes during the day."

Amanda Choy-Shan (9)

These juniors are too busy to quickly smile for the camera. Their food and conversations must have been very important to them.

The favored food at this freshmen table is obviously fries. The boys enjoyed their choice of food everyday together.

This group of junior boys takes a minute away from their food to smile for the camera. Lunch gave them enough energy to make it through the rest of the day.

Pasta Night...

Your order
please?

Focus in: An enthusiastic group of seniors serving a sumptuous three-course meal...a crazy bunch of girls singing their hearts out on the karaoke machine ... and famished customers anxiously anticipating their meal. Well, it is not Sorrento's, but it is the senior class's annual Pasta Night.

Pasta Night is an age-old tradition at the high school and serves as the senior class's main fundraiser this year. The main dish, this year, was a steaming bowl of pasta, served with your choice of three savory sauces. This delicious bowl was accompanied by a side of top-notch salad and italian bread. Momma Celeste eat your heart out!

Senior Michelle Leonard, who worked as a waitress said, "Even though it was pretty crazy, I still had a lot of fun waiting on people at Pasta Night."

Another part of Pasta Night was the donated door prizes. Senior class secretary Joe Bottino said, "We were very lucky to get as many donations as we did. It helped to make Pasta Night a big success."

Deluctable food, great entertainment, superb service----it doesn't get any better than this.

Story by: Keith Shaw

LEFT: Other chefs of 02'... The 7:00 shift prepares themselves for a night of endless service. The shift was full of hungry customers who were anxious to experience this great cuisine.

Brothers and ...

Can you notice the family resemblance?

Sisters

As if having to spend every day of your existence with your sibling wasn't enough, now you both go to the same school. This year, many new faces, among them the younger siblings of current students, joined the CHS community. While this may seem like an annoyance for some, it gives these freshman siblings someone that they can look to for help when they need it.

Senior Pat Bither says, "It's fun having my sister in the high school because I can always joke around with her or help her out when she needs it."

With a sibling in the high school, it's not uncommon to see a sibling rivalry occur either athletically or academically. Sophomore Jason Occi states, "At first, I was apprehensive about going to the high school, but then I realized it would give me an opportunity to meet new people and show up my brother at golf."

When Jason's senior brother, Mike, was reached for comment, he responded, "In his dreams!" It's relationships like these that help make having a sibling in the high school so special.

*Story by:
Charlie Kellett*

What's the best part about having your younger sibling in CHS?

"I'd have to say picking on my little 'bro' and kickin' it 'Ross' style."

Jamie Ross (12)

"Just having another chance to hang out with my little brother."

Melissa Paparozzi (12)

BELOW: "Hood"lums... Chessie and Virginia Patrone are "straight chillen" in a parking lot. They had a lot of good times together in the "lot."

LEFT: Two of a kind... Senior Pat Bither carries his freshman sister Kate. They made this a ritual everyday as Pat developed a chronic back problem.

BELOW: Shady siblings... The Krinzmanos, Werders, and Peposes take time out to pose together. They've certainly spent a lot of time together throughout the years.

ABOVE: Silly sisters... Sisters Cait and Meg Brady get a little crazy with one another. The fun ended when they had to clean up!

Ridin' in...

Cruisin' the streets of C-Town

Style

The anticipation is over. Finally, the birthday every sixteen-year-old has been waiting for, the big "one-seven." Now, once you get your license, you're free to choose where you want to go and when you want to...if you have car!

CHS has a huge variety of cars around the school and some would argue that not enough parking spaces exist. Many have noticed the brand new cars, real old classics, or even just the ones that they have been dreaming of for a long time.

The high school, this year, has more drivers than any other year. Many Juniors receive their license in the early months of October and November, adding to the parking chaos. Senior Emily Ulanski doesn't seem to mind though because she says, "I seem to get the closest spot to school everyday."

So, wake up and drive!

*Story by:
Sharon Majors and Jenna Colineri*

What is the car of your dreams?

"I already own my dream car in the form of a Chevy Chevelle. It purrs like a kitten."

Chris D'Ambola (12)

"I've always wanted to rock a 'Beemer.' My BMW would rock hard."

Felisha Wright (12)

ABOVE: Double trouble... Seniors Cindy Kovac and Rob Nowakowski enjoy driving their VW cabrios with the top down on seasonable days. The two really enjoy their "twin" cars.

RIGHT: Top secret... Senior Joe Carvallo likes working on his new Acura Integra. He loves spending his time and money on new toys for it.

BELOW: White wash... Seniors Greg Donofrio, Nick Seeman, and Sharon Majors drive their cars with class and style. They are always sure to keep their cars squeaky-clean.

ABOVE: Yellow submarine... Senior Meg Malinowski drives around in her yellow GEO accompanied by her buddies. They love all the attention it brings.

LEFT: Drive safely... These two crazy senior pals Joe Bottino and Cait Brady always meet up in their look-a-like Volvos. They share fond memories while cruisin' around.

Show Your ...

Cougar Fans Rule!

Spirit

How did the
PEP RALLY
get you pumped?

"I get really excited when I hear the roar of the crowd. It gives me a real adrenaline rush."

Steve Carbone (10)

"When you see all your fans out to support you. It gives you a real boost of confidence."

Bridget Murphy (10)

All athletes would agree that in an excruciating game, during the last ten minutes when your tongue is hanging out of your mouth, a cheering fan can really "psych" you up. Hearing the support from a crowd gives an athlete that little extra push to play 100% until the end. Events like the pep rally really gather all supporters, fellow athletes, and the student body together to inspire enthusiasm and Cougar pride. Most students really enjoy supporting their favorite teams and showing that they appreciate what athletes do for the school. Senior Jillian Tardif explains, "Pep rallies really make me excited to be an athlete. I like being down in the action instead of the stands. When I know I have a really tough game and a super-fan is cheering me on, I get that little extra kick to push it."

Everyone should turn it up, and if you've got spirit, let's hear it!

*Story By:

LEFT: I dressed myself... These three freshmen show their love for their senior teammates with signs and "interesting" clothing.

When students at CHS reflect upon what is actually done in class, we realize we do a lot more than just reading, writing, and solving math problems. We learn how to handle real life situations, and we get to express and improve our talents, and even get a head start on our careers and futures. Classes such as Child Development, Peer, and Health prepare us for handling real life experiences, while Art, Orchestra, and Band allow us to display just how gifted we are. The Vo-tech , Accounting, Autos, and Visual Communications programs actually give us opportunities to practice today what we would like to do for the rest of our lives. We even go on trips in classes like Environmental Science to do actual field research and to learn about the world's precious resources. CHS offers its students every opportunity possible to prepare for their careers and promising futures.

Academics

"Strike up the band!"

If you are a Cranford High School student, you should be very familiar with the music of the Gold Band. Every morning at 7:45 until the end of first period, the Gold Band practices for concerts, parades, and football games.

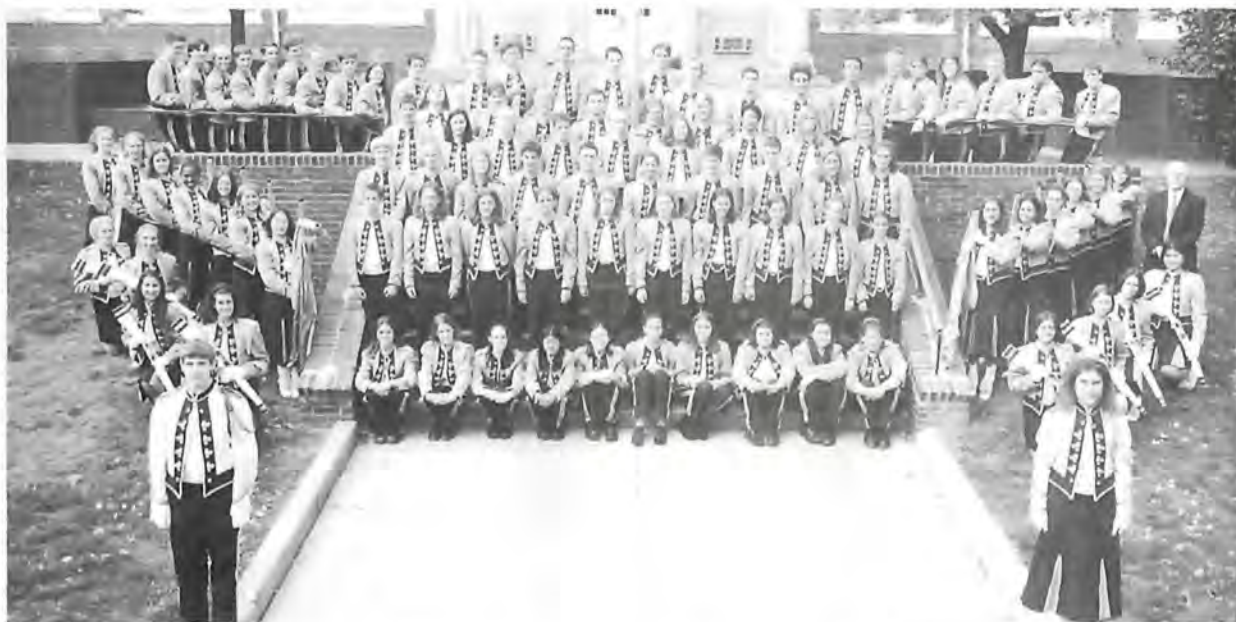

Drum majors Julia TenBroek and Steve Riccen lead the band in everything they do, accepting all responsibility for possible mishaps, but with the CHS band, these mishaps are few and far between.

This near perfection is all thanks to Mr. Horowitz, who has been instructing the band for many years, and has made a name for himself as being one of the best around Union County.

The band traveled to Orlando, Florida this year, to compete against the best bands around the nation. Their keen competition skill, developed through rigorous practices, was the benchmark for the success of the band this season.

A Time For Opportunities

Once again it is time for Cranford High students to take a break from the tedious 8:15-2:55 everyday. That is why some teachers give their students an opportunity to learn not only in the classroom but from outside its walls.

From a day trip to clean up the beaches at Sandy Hook to a visit to Pennsylvania for a German trip, students are going everywhere to enjoy a chance to get out of class.

"I enjoyed meeting Santa at the Kindermarkt." It was obvious that Falon Schaarschmidt, along with the busload of German students on the trip had a fun yet intellectual day at the fair.

Likewise, senior Rachel Ramsey went on a fun yet informative trip to Washington D.C. She was selected as a National Young Leader.

Overall, the students at CHS have become educated both in and outside of the classroom, being offered a much broader learning experience.

Music Making

Many schools have one music class. They might have one choir, and maybe even a girls and boys chorus. However, the music classes at CHS are ahead of the rest. If you are interested in taking a music class at the high school, there are several classes to choose from: Boys Chorus, Girls Chorus, Concert Choir, Orchestra, Madrigals, or even Music Theory.

Every day, these classes have intense rehearsals for forty full minutes, and if you have ever been to a CHS concert, you know it pays off.

If you ask students how they enjoyed one of these classes, you will never hear a negative word. When asked what she thought about Concert Choir, Molly Frieri said, "Concert choir and Madrigals are very productive courses. They give all the students a good chance to further their education in music."

Overall, the CHS music program is greatly successful thanks to the direction of Mr. Seighman and Mrs. Berry with the Orchestra.

Child Development brings back memories for the young and old

The Future Generation

Many graduating seniors and underclassmen have fond memories of spending time in Mrs. Migliorini's Child Development class. The funny thing is that their memories might be either childhood memories or teenage ones.

If you're a student here at CHS and have walked down the A-wing on the first floor, you know that the Child Development class has its own little world here at the high school.

With taking Child Development, you get the chance to interact with children and learn different teaching and cooperative learning techniques.

The most important thing you get out of the class, perhaps, is the chance to be a kid again.

Senior Mike Timms said that, "Taking Child Development gives me the chance to have some fun and learn at the same time."

A number of students at CHS have actually been preschoolers in the class as well. Senior Tom Murray remarked, "I can still remember when I used to go to Child Development when I was a little kid. It makes me laugh everytime I walk by the classroom."

All in all, Child Development is one of the best hands-on classes you can take here at CHS. Whether you're five or seventeen, you'll always come out with many great memories.

Peer Facilitators Help Out

Everyone knows how it feels to be a freshman. You get lost between classes, keep looking for that fifth floor with the pool, and carry your entire locker in your low-slung backpack. It's a good thing CHS has a Peer Facilitating program full of juniors and seniors eager to ease the freshmen through their transition at the high school.

Peer is not just a program any student can join. As a sophomore or a junior, students can apply to Peer by filling out an evaluation form. If they pass through this step, they are then called back for an interview. Once students qualify for Peer, they can't just go to meetings now and then like any other program -- they have Peer as an actual class period in their daily schedule. During this class, drugs, alcohol, decision making, and many other topics are discussed, so that the facilitators can teach the freshmen all there is to know about these subjects, in their weekly classes with the freshmen.

Second-year facilitators also become puppeteers and visit the elementary schools to help out the younger students in the school system as well.

The Peer program is, overall, a great asset at CHS and helps out all students in the school system in every way possible.

The Diary Of Anne Frank

This year's play production was The Diary of Anne Frank, which was based on the real story of Anne Frank and her family. The set consisted of a cramped and hot attic with barely one window which is never opened. In the play, three families are forced into hiding from the German army during WWII.

Throughout the play, we are brought into the mind of Anne through her diary, which leads us into the world of a young girl trying to become a woman during a time of strife.

The drama, although sad, enlightens people on the actual experiences which people were forced to go through.

"The experience of playing Mrs. Frank was moving and taught me a lot about myself," Molly Frieri believes.

All the actors and actresses did a wonderful job and are greatly appreciated by the student body.

Reflections of the Real World

Every day, CHS students are learning how to be cooks, law enforcers, carpenters, cosmetologists, and many other professions. This is possible due to the Vo-tech and Career Pathways programs available to the students here at Cranford High.

In the Vo-tech Program, students spend half of a day here at the high school, and then go to Vo-tech for the second half of their day. At Vo-tech, they work in specialized programs according to what they would like to do with their careers. You can study anything from law enforcement to carpentry to cosmetology. The Vo-tech program offers CHS students incredible opportunities to begin their future now.

In the Career Pathways program, students are given the opportunity to do real-life things in the suite on the fourth floor. They cook, craft, and serve food to the teachers every Thursday for lunch, and learn how to do many other things they can use in their future.

As a part of the marketing program, students also have the opportunity to work at the school store and see what it is really like to work at a store and run a business.

The students at CHS are given an incredible amount of opportunities to start preparing for their careers today.

Our reflections on the 2001-2002 sports year will always be positive. One can look back at the football team's steady improvement over the season. One can recall the boys' soccer team's hard work all season as the guys pushed each opponent to the limit. Think of yet another winning season for the girls' soccer team. Consider the perseverance of the gymnastics team as injuries plagued them throughout their victorious season. Remember another remarkably successful season for the cross-country team, or the field hockey team's amazingly competitive games until the final whistle. Students will also recollect the heart and effort of the fall, winter, and spring athletes and teams. Each season took on a new meaning after September 11, as the athletes were driven by a new found determination. The school has proudly supported its teams throughout the year. These reflections from this sports year will always showcase our school's heart and desire.

GLORY

The Cougar Football team comes to play!

The 2001 Cranford Football team certainly followed in Cranford's tradition of having a hard-working and expectation-exceeding group. Having lost an important core of seniors over the summer -- including their starting quarterback -- the 2001 Cougars fought to a record of 2-8. The team's defense showed great improvement from the previous year, holding powerhouse Plainfield to only 6 points. Even when the team abandoned their previous offense for a more "high-octane" one, they still managed to turn heads on the field. Their victory against Shabazz was a water mark game for the team. In front of thousands of fans at the opening of Shabazz's new stadium, the Cougars, with the help of a late Mike Dollard fumble recovery, fought their way to a big victory. This hard fought game symbolized all the hard work and determination that the Cougars showed this year. Junior wide-out Mark Bostel stated, "We certainly proved that when everything came together, we could compete with the best." Story by: Charlie Kellett

for boys soccer!*

This year's Boys' Varsity Soccer team faced a frustrating rebuilding season. After a rough start, the Cougars steadily improved over the course of the season. Leading the team was senior goalie Keith Shaw. He said, "Even after injuries, the team managed to step up and improve over the season." The team always brought their heart onto the field. Although their record may not show it, the team kept every game competitive. The guys lost in a shootout in the counties to Johnson. They lost to number one ranked East Brunswick in overtime, and they lost to annual powerhouse Kearny 1-0 in overtime. Each team member supported each other and backed each other up. The future looks bright, however. Junior Bill Anthes said, "This year was tough, but we had some positives. I think we'll show improvement next year." The guys are proud of their accomplishments and look forward to next season. Story by: Scott Zucker

ON THE

Girls have another winning season!

PROWL

The Cougars fielded another young and energetic team this past season. Led by three experienced seniors, the girls posted a winning record yet again. The girls had a difficult season to follow after winning the States last year, but the girls were able to make a strong showing this year.

Senior Captain Gillian Murray

said, "We worked hard from the first day of practice until the last game of the season. The underclassmen on the team showed great improvement throughout the season."

Although seniors Kate Sands, Gillian Murray, and Michele Segear will be missed next season, Jen Nist, Terri Van Horn, Lauren O'Donnell, Valerie Nigro, and Kelly Donnelly have formed a strong nucleus of juniors ready for leadership roles on the team next year as seniors. "The team should be a strong force again next year with a balance of youth and experience," said senior Captain Michele Segear. However, there's no doubt that the girls have had a successful season.

Who's making all that racket you ask? It's the Cranford girls' tennis team. With a record this year of nine wins and six losses, the girls' tennis team certainly gave opponents a run for their money. This year, with the leadership of returning senior team members Robyn Eisert, Stefanie Clay, Cait Brady, Eliza Young, Elizabeth Coccia, and Rachel Ramsey, it's no surprise that the Lady Cougars were so successful.

In only his second year as coach for Cranford, Vinny LaSalle's Cougars earned a bid into the state tournament. It was quite an accomplishment for the team. A few of the achievements for this year's team includes senior captain Stefanie Clay's honor as a Third Team All-County player. This year's seniors will most certainly be missed next year, but there's no doubt the Lady Cougars will be ready to hit the hard courts come next fall.

KEEP YOUR STICKS UP

Play hard and win big!

Having a winning season depends more on just statistics and the final record. Out of all the teams at Cranford High the Varsity Girls Field Hockey Team knows this all too well. The team worked extremely hard for weeks in pre-season, did a number of skill drills, and conditioned to combat different obstacles they had to face. The players demonstrated the stamina to overcome adversity and numerous difficult opponents.

The team would agree that the most memorable game of the season was knocking off the second seeded team, Arthur L. Johnson in the county tournament. The Star Ledger even named the game the "Game of the Year" for Union County.

ON UP

When it came down to getting serious the CHS varsity gymnasts really knew how to rule the floor this year. Seniors Erica Neadle and Nicole Montgomery shined in their roles as captains. "It's really easy for us to get along and we love spending time together. We worked really hard this season. I'm going to miss the team next year," says Erica Neadle.

Unfortunately, the girls suffered an injury early in the season by sophomore Bridget Murphy, who was a strong leader last year. However, the team still had a successful season, coming in fourth at the Brearley Invitational Tournament and finishing in third at the Union County Tournament. Overall, the girls have done great and will continue to work hard next season. The Cougars will be coming back with a young group of experienced gymnasts.

The cross country team runs into the record books!

The cross country team has turned in a performance typical of Coach White's tenure, one of great success. The boys' team finished the season undefeated, with a record of 10 wins and 0 losses; the girls' team did extremely well too, finishing with a record of 8 wins and 2 losses. The team accomplished many of its goals including the boys' team's victory in the Watchung championship and the County championship. Also, both the boys' and girls' teams placed second in their state section. This year was the final year for an extraordinary group of senior runners. Kevin Pipchick, KC Brown, Matt Werder, Asia Lee, and Sarah Maier all contributed to the cross country team over the years.

It certainly was a memorable season filled with plenty of miles and hills to conquer. Coach White's legacy was only furthered this year by adding more titles to the prolific amount his teams have already won.

IT OUT

The girls volleyball team's camaraderie helped them towards another winning season. In addition, the Cougars went far in the counties and even qualified for the state tournament.

Senior Gina Raiteri said, "This season we had a lot of talent. Not only that but we were close on and off the court and it really showed. The team was young this year; we only had three returning varsity members, but everyone stepped up this season." The team delivered big games against Westfield, Rahway, and New Providence. A memorable performance against Mother Seton in the county tournament also stands out for the girls volleyball team.

Undoubtedly, the girls took pride in their success this past season under Coach Kriks.

The team heavily emphasized teamwork and that can be attributed to their winning season. The team was led by its four seniors, Kaitlyn Boyle, Gina Raiteri, Nicole Seney, and Katie Singer. The underclassmen are prepared to show leadership next season after they graduate!

They decorate the locker room, make posters for the senior athletes' lockers, appear on Friday Night Football on NJ News 12, pump the crowd at soccer, field hockey, football, wrestling, and basketball games, decorate houses with toilet paper, run the pep rallies...the list goes on.

This year, the cheerleading squad improved so much that they were invited to cheer on television, on NJ News 12's Friday Night Football wrap-up. The girls were all given t-shirts from the station and were invited back to cheer again on the show next year. It is an honor such as this which shows how great the cheerleading squad has become.

It is no longer surprising to see the cheerleaders put up full extensions and liberty stunts with ease. The squad has certainly come far this season and is sure to continue to in the years to come.

The Varsity Girls Basketball Team was successful this year in the final conference standings and in accomplishing many goals. The exciting season took the team to the State Sectionals where the girls beat long-time rival Rahway in the quarterfinals before succumbing to a red hot Scotch Plains squad in a close battle in the semi-finals.

The seniors, Gillian Murray, Sharon Majors, Katie Sands, and Jenilee Hill; provided stability and leadership for the younger players and gained great insight themselves. Offering some reflection on the season, senior Kate Sands added, "Ultimately, we learned a lot about basketball from the coaches, but also lessons to use for the future."

With a strong nucleus of returning players, next year's squad will carry on the tradition of "playing them all big."

SWIMMING

To be able to glide through the water with the greatest of ease is a skill that Cranford High School swimmers have been able to hone quite effectively this past season. Thanks to a strong year from seniors like Bryan Krinzman, who dominated in the 50 and 100 meter freestyle events, Eliza Young, and Ashley Klappholz, the Cougars were able to punish their competition week-in and week-out.

One of the most memorable performances of the year for the swimming team was their first place in the relay carnival. The Cougars proved themselves to be among the best in local high school swimming when they performed at their highest level.

Junior Katie Silvestry put it best, "We really worked hard to improve our times and become better in each of our individual events."

Katie is part of a large group of underclassmen swimmers who will surely make Cranford swimming a force to be reckoned with for years to come.

RULE

The Cougar winter track team had to overcome the loss of several key members from last year's squad to accomplish their goals this year. With the help of a strong long distance performance, however, the team saw a milestone laden season.

The girls' shuttle hurdle relay team, consisting of Michele Segear, Jen Nist, Khristelle Manuyag, and Jill Humphries, took both the county and the group II state title. The girls really piled on the titles this year as their Distance Medley Relay team took the county crown, as did their 4 x 800 meter relay team. The guys' team didn't exactly do poorly either, with the addition of a County Distance Medley Relay Championship.

Junior Ed Clinton says, "We were an especially tight group of runners this year. Most of the juniors and seniors have been together for awhile, and it really showed up in the results."

With a strong nucleus returning for next year, look for the winter track team to keep the winning tradition going.

FOR 300

The Cranford bowling team may not be the most celebrated of Cranford High School's athletics, but thanks to great performances from many of this year's athletes, it's gained the respect of the student body. This year's team was extremely young as the Cougars were without a single senior. However, with the help of seven juniors they certainly didn't let up on any of their opponents. Junior Steve Albert put it best, "We certainly lacked any senior presence; however, with many of the juniors' putting up high scores, finding wins wasn't that difficult."

With many, if not all, of this year's bowlers returning next year, the future looks bright for the Cranford High School bowling team.

This year, the Cougar wrestlers would stop at nothing to make this season a memorable one. The practices were grueling, but every wrestler was willing to endure it for the sake of the team. Their strong will and determination made this season one of the best. Seniors Greg Donofrio, Patrick

Daly and Tom Murray truly showed their outstanding talent in the Counties finishing in first place.

For the first time in Cranford High School history a wrestler broke a hundred wins. Greg Donofrio stepped up to this challenge and conquered it along with qualifying for the State Championships in Atlantic City. It was an emotional, but very happy event for Greg and his family. Greg stated, "My mother's one goal for me was to win my hundredth match, and I did it."

As a team, the wrestlers took second place in the counties. They all worked together to make this season one to remember. This great group of athletes stepped up every challenge they faced.

Cougars Step Up to Tough Teams

HE SCORES

After a tough rebuilding year last season, the CHS Hockey team made a turn around and became a legitimate contender in their division. With the Cougar's solid defense, the team rarely let up more than 15 shots against a game.

Behind the strong goaltending of senior Chris Stopero and leadership of captains senior Mike DiGiovanni, junior Ryan Ahern and sophomore Chris Ozolnieks, the team was able to step up against state powerhouses like Westfield and Millburn.

When asked about fan support, Mike DiGiovanni said, "Fan support was a big part of teams success, we really appreciated their loyalty."

Perhaps the biggest game this year, was on February 13, vs. Westfield. All the proceeds went to both Cranford and Westfield 9-11 support funds for families were effected by terrorists attacks at the Trade Center.

Freshman Joe Conte uses his great offensive skills to pass a couple of Westfield players. Joe was big part of the team this year and is expected to be a great county threat throughout high school.

THE ROAD

*The Varsity Teams
aren't the only successful teams at CHS!*

TO VICTORY

The athletes of Cranford High School work hard at all levels of competition: freshman, junior varsity, and varsity. Underclassmen develop their fundamentals as well as advanced skills at the freshman and junior varsity levels. In a few years, these athletes will display their abilities and talents on the varsity playing fields.

Teamwork, cooperation, and communication are also honed during the freshman and junior varsity seasons. As the athletes gain experience at the lower levels, they become prepared for the competition on the varsity team. The freshman and junior varsity teams play with the same heart, desire, and determination as the varsity teams. These athletes practice equally as much and as hard as the varsity players. For this, they deserve tremendous credit and attention.

Senior Keith Shaw reminisces, "Playing on the junior varsity and freshman teams years ago for soccer really helped me improve. I was able to practice with the varsity goalkeepers and pick up tips from them while getting playing time in competitive games. The practice was helpful."

No matter what, the teams knew how to celebrate the victories afterwards. These Big Wins came in the clutch for the Cougars and will provide memorable moments for all involved.

FAMILIAR

Cranford comes through in the clutch!

WITH VICTORY

The teams of CHS are familiar with winning. It's a pretty often occurrence for the various Cougar teams. There's only one thing left to do after winning, celebrate the joy of victory.

Students know how to support the school's teams on the road to victory as well. Tremendous attendance at athletic events and vocal crowds provide rushes of adrenaline to the Cougars.

Senior Tony Spiliotopolous remarks, "I try to attend every Cougar sporting event when it's possible for me. I think it really helps our teams pull through in the close ones."

One of the most thrilling games this season was the field hockey game in the county tournament at Johnson. The game came down to strokes that Cranford won. The suspense led to lots of hugs and a huge pile-on when it was over. Senior Jillian Tardif said, "The end of that game will always be memorable. We all went nuts afterwards!"

Involvement in co-curricular activities is a way for students to expand their horizons and challenge themselves, becoming more involved in both the school and the community. Whether your talents lie in the arts or in the field of science, CHS offers clubs that satisfy the quiet, introspective student as well as the most outgoing person. As our school aspires to improve, new clubs evolve each year to accommodate the growing interests. This year crafty hands are put to work in the Quilting Club, the Pre-Engineering Robotic Club members construct and design technology, the Chess Club tries to out-manuever its opponents, and the Hand in Hand Club touches on reality outside of Cranford. Cranford High School clubs allow you to be who you are and let your talents shine...

Clubs

Encore

Advisor: Mrs. Everhart

Encore is a performing arts club that gives students the opportunity to share talents and experience other styles of expression. The club enjoys their annual film festival, trips to Broadway plays and Open Mic Night.

Quilting Club

Advisor: Ms. Narus

The Quilting Club is a new club composed of students interested in clothing, fashion, and sewing. They work on numerous projects that help them improve and master the skills of needlework. This year's project was a quilt to commemorate the September 11 tragedy.

Literary Society

Advisors: Mrs. Dachnowicz & Mr. Maiore

Literary Society provides an opportunity for students to enjoy reading many different types of literature. After the literature is read, members hold a discussion where their opinions and critiques are shared. Social events such as cultural trips and get togethers enhance the experience.

Tri-M National Honor Society

Advisor: Mr. Seighman

The Tri-M National Honor Society encourages music appreciation and the promotions of music in the school. The club is composed of gifted musicians who enjoy spending their free time studying great works of music and expanding their musical skills. They also entertain the Cranford community during the holiday season at the Cranford House Tour.

Below: Living on the edge... Sophomore Kristin Rocco uses a straight "edged" ruler to make the perfect line in Art Club.

Art Club

Advisor: Ms. Knego and Mrs. Cudworth

The Art Club provides an outlet for students who are interested in art. Through many exciting activities, members strive to beautify the school and improve their crafty skills. To enhance Cranford High spirit and fundraise, the club bakes and decorates holiday cookies.

Art Honor Society

Advisor: Ms. Knego and Mrs. Cudworth

Art Honor Society is a club whose purpose is to inspire and recognize students who have shown an outstanding ability in art. The society strives to aid members in attaining the highest standards in art areas and to bring art education to the attention of the school and community.

Spanish Honor Society

Advisor: Mrs. Crocamo

The Spanish Honor Society is a group of students who excel in their Spanish course and maintain either an "A" or "B" average. With their holiday parties, various Spanish restaurant trips, and their santa lollipop sale the members continuously develop their understanding of the Spanish culture. Adios!

Latin Honor Society

Advisor: Mrs. McGuire

The Latin Honor Society recognizes and celebrates the achievements of its Latin students in their pursuit of the classics. Some members attended a Latin competition at Montclair State. In addition, Latin members get down with Saturnalia.

Perfect Strangers

Brian Mahoney (9)

Golden C Business

Advisor: Mr. Philips

The Golden C Business staff primarily organizes the sale of the Golden C Yearbook. They also collect and deposit money, maintain the yearbook account, and distribute yearbooks in June.

Yearbook II

Advisor: Mr. Dugandzic

Each year, a group of seniors collaborate their ideas and opinions to produce the Golden C. The students design the pages and cover, interview students for feature stories, and crop and caption photos. Using the Adobe Pagemaker 6.5, staff members work together in small groups to produce individual sections. The 192 pages of the yearbook of 2001-2002 will forever reflect upon the whole school year.

Below: The Question is who is number one now!... Sara Kate Bilman clutches on to her trophy after a big win in Forensics.

S.S. Honor Society

Advisor: Ms. Wang and Ms. Podbelski

The Social Studies Honor Society is made up of a group of students who share the love and knowledge of history. This year, they have developed a project in which they have presented historical quotes located above each history room's doorway.

Model Youth In Government

Advisor: Mr. Berke

Model Youth in Government is a club which prepares students for an Annual Conference at the State House. Members write and prepare bills to be debated and hopefully passed at the conference. Through the process, the students learn about government functions and the political process.

Mock Trial

Advisor: Mr. Flashberg

Mock trial simulates our trial system. Students assume roles as attorneys, witnesses, and jurors. They use a case provided to all schools by the New Jersey State Bar Foundation. This year's case is criminal- a "Road Rage" homicide. The goal is to be competitive in county and subsequent competitions. To do so, advisor, Mr. Flashberg, hopes the students enjoy the experience and apply their abilities to achieve satisfaction and success.

Chess Club

Advisor: Mr. Binazeski

As a new addition to Cranford High School clubs, the chess club has attracted much attention from those strategic thinkers. Either learning the basics or mastering the game, the club provides the opportunity to both and has various levels of competition.

Making the Move

What strategic plan helped you win?

"The quadratic formula!"
Chris D'ambola(12)

"Guessing

Tom Murray(12)

"Experience from the past three years has helped me give impacting speeches
in Model UN."
Megan McGauran(12)

Student Government

Advisors: Ms. Hilborn & Mrs. Wang

The Student Government is an organization comprised of over forty students from all grades. They are dedicated to helping students voice their concerns in the building and making positive changes in CHS. The Student Government annually runs their Mega Food Drive, where they collect food for local charities, and the AIDS Awareness week that donates the proceeds to AIDS organizations. The Powder Puff game has been a successful addition to the Student Government's event schedule that earns money to support the classes.

Math League

Advisor: Mr. Caverly and Mrs. Dugandzic

The Math League brings together students with a common mathematical interest and bond. The club participates by taking six tests sponsored by the New Jersey Mathematics League. Those who receive the high score of six are presented with a ribbon in recognition of their achievement. Whether you are in the club for the challenge, a time to be with your friends, or the food, you always leave with a smile.

Left: Mr. Sorrentino is the next Bobby Fischer... Mr. Sorrentino takes on Andrew Paulak after beating the rest of the Chess Club. Mr. Sorrentino used his smooth moves as well as threatening students with detention to win.

Below: Ribbon -it up.. Student Government Secretary Jillian Tardif, teaches Billy Bennett, Joe Caravella, and Beth Jackson the technique of ribbon making. Their efforts contributed to a successful drive.

Investors Club
Advisor: Mrs. Podbelski

Future careers in the stock market, trading, and money lead students to join the Investors Club. To become a successful business man or woman, students learn skills and tips on analyzing and investing money in the stock market. Using the club's money, the members invested it into the stocks and watched the effects of economy on the market.

Above: The pressure is on... These Chess Club members concentrate deeply on their upcoming moves. The next move will determine who wins the game, which one of them will announce, "Checkmate!"

Gourmet Club
 Advisor: Ms. Narus

The Gourmet Club fills the school with an aroma that makes everyone's mouth water. The club meets every other Thursday morning to experiment with different foods and recipes. The club expands knowledge in the culinary arts and food preparation as well as filling student's growling stomachs.

Ham Radio Operators
 Advisors: Mr. Narkiewicz

The Ham Radio Club is comprised of students who share the interest of communication. The students learn the improvement of technical skills, the advancement of the radio, the increasing number of trained radio operators, and the promotion of international goodwill. The activities include morse code practice, building projects, theory sessions, and even on-air operations.

Home Improvement

"AJ Meek's car."
 Chris Stopero (12)

"When I made cornbread, I put in way too much butter. The cornbread was not very appetizing."
 Gloria Ryan (9)

"I was making a repose. Unfortunately, I pushed down too hard and put a hole in the artwork."
 Tara Kechner (9)

"I made a table in Woods. However, when I stood the table up, the legs broke off!"
 Brian Zuravansky (11)

Auto Club
 Advisor: Mr. Leva

The Auto Club is designed to give students the opportunity to do simple maintenance procedures and repairs on automobiles. The club members learn how to change oil and perform tune-ups. In addition, the members discuss new technological advances in the automotive field. Vroom!

Wood Technology Club
 Advisor: Mr. Chorazak

The Wood Technology Club teaches the techniques of woodworking and uses their skills to create intricate creations. The club allows students to work with materials that are not usually provided in the classroom. At the end of the year, the members leave the club with advanced knowledge and understanding of wood technology.

Left: Keep on filing... Sophomore Mike Jablonski files down a book end. This project will be given to his mother for a Christmas present.

Computer Club
Advisor: Ms. Puma

The Computer Club provides students with an interest in computer applications, graphic design, editing, and web document creation. It is an opportunity to expand their knowledge base in this ever-changing field of computer technology. The members present at workshops pertaining to varied software applications, tutoring services, and web design.

Technofilles
Advisor: Ms. Connelly and Ms. Puma

Technofilles provides female students at Cranford High School the opportunity to meet challenges of rapidly changing technological society. The members learn how to create web pages, designs, and learn the mechanics of how a computer works. Beyond computers, the girls apply their solving skills to real problems and challenges.

Rod and Reel

Advisor: Mr. Pizzi

Hook, line, and sinker! The members of the Rod and Reel Club enjoy learning how to use all their fishing skills to catch the ideal 20 pound bass. For those who are just starting out, they can practice their new skills on catching the little sunnies. Either way, the Rod and Reel Club anxiously awaits every fishing adventure which always turns out to be a catch!

Athletic Training Club

Advisor: Mr. Nixon

Check, Call, Care! Are you okay? Are you okay? As a member of the Athletic Training Club one rarely encounters serious emergencies however, minor scrapes, bruises, and sores are as abundant as the number of roles of tape Mr. Nixon stashes. In the club, the members learn the basics of taping, caring, icing, and first aid for sport-related injuries.

Born to Be Wild

did you

Below: Zoom!!!!... The Pre-Engineering members, Bob Sukovich, Mike Sofranko, and Rob Nowakowski test out their self built car.

Science Club
Advisor: Mr. Binazeski

The Science Club is certainly a terrific asset to the school's activities. Under the direction of Mr. Binazeski, members perform scientific experiments and learn safety and procedure. During the year, the students travel to the Liberty Science Center, the planetarium, and many other fun-filled places.

Pre-Engineering and Robotics Club
Advisor: Mr. Esola

The Pre-Engineering and Robotics Club enter competitions that are held by various colleges and universities which involve the club members in the areas of design, mechanical, electrical, structural, and construction technologies. Problem solving, troubleshooting, and relentless perseverance towards a common goal are commonly seen characteristics of all club members.

Interact Club
Advisor: Mr. Tehan

The Interact Club is dedicated to furthering learning through community service. Projects this year included the helping in the creation of a quilt commemorating the September 11th attacks, trips to Runnells hospital, soup kitchens, as well as many other humanitarian acts.

Hand-in-Hand Club
Advisor: Mrs. Shaw

Either visiting the nursing homes or giving gifts to less fortunate families, club members devote their time to make other's smile. The club teaches members the importance and gratification of helping and caring. This year's activities include participating in the Special Olympics and March of Dimes.

All for One and One for All

Left: Generation gaps... Jamie Ross has a chat with her older friend.. The Hand in Hand Club takes annual trips to the nursing home which is an enjoyable time for the young and old.

Below: What's your sign?... Joanna Becker uses sign language to express her thoughts. The Sign Language Club members learned the alphabet as well as many key phrases.

National Honor Society
Advisor: Ms. Bailin

Each year, scholarly students who are at the top of their class are inducted in the spring to the National Honor Society. To be a member of the National Honor Society, one must excel academically and show strength in leadership, service, scholarship, and character. The members have been chosen from a highly selective group and worked hard for this recognition.

American Sign Language
Advisor: Mrs. Becker

Have you ever wanted to say "Hello" or hold a conversation without even opening your mouth? The American Sign Language is a club where students learn and expand their sign language skills. Students learn about the origin of the language, recite the alphabet, and experience signing new words.

The people at CHS reflect what our school is really composed of: an enthusiastic staff and student body. These people create the great personality that exists at Cranford High.

When a freshman first enters the halls of the high school, they are understandably frightened of getting trampled over by some big groveling seniors. However, most freshmen will agree that as they walk through the halls, they can see what a great community of people we have here, ready to help one another out and eager to just give a smile or wave "Hi!" to a classmate. It is instances like stopping to chat with a student or staff member who cares how you are doing that create the great personality we have and make us what we are. Many things like this are what help our people get through the day here. Without others who care and who are eager to say "Hi" and give a cheerful wave, the people here would certainly dread their daily routine.

On most days, if outside observers looked into a classroom here at CHS, they would see a group of bright, cheerful students participating and volunteering enthusiastically, interacting well with their teacher. It is this personality of the people at CHS which reflects what a great atmosphere and learning environment we have at Cranford High.

Changes

The transition from Junior High to Cranford High.

Getting Involved...Freshmen Olivia Cathcart, Jillian Berkowitz, Francine Walsh, Aileen Salerno, Ryan Mikotacyzk, and Tom Hannen have all adjusted well to Cranford High.

The first day of high school can be exciting, scary, and adventurous for all freshmen. You are moving from having one floor to four floors, a bigger class, new faces and a place full of new opportunities and experiences. The first year is full of changes and adjustments.

There are many ways to become involved in the school—various clubs, sports, plays, orchestra, band and many activities. "I joined the soccer team and that was a great way for me to become involved and meet other freshmen and upperclassmen," states Ryan Mikotacyzk.

Another change for the freshmen is the adjustment to the school work, the papers, mid-terms, and finals. But once adapted to the new environment, balancing the time becomes easier.

Also, upperclassmen are always glad to assist underclassmen around. The peer program is designed especially for underclassmen, and they are always there when you need them. "My peer leaders have been such a help in adjusting to high school and finding my way around," says Alisse Connolly.

So even though the beginning of high school is full of new experiences and changes that can be nerve racking at first, students and faculty are there to assist and make the transition easier.

Let the Good Times Roll

Those who are there in the good times and the bad.

KEEP ROLLIN'...These sophomores are ready to roll; Amanda Mitchell, Todd Wilson, Bridget Murphy, Blair Palmisano, and Kenny Ilg.

As their second year of high school begins, the class of 2004 has lots to look forward to. They are no longer on the "bottom of the totem pole," which is very exciting. These sophomores are well on their way to being leading upper classmen. They are excited about taking Drivers' Ed and getting their permit. The sophomores are just counting down the days until they can finally get behind the wheel.

Sweet sixteens become a very popular event to attend on Friday and Saturday nights. Girls love getting dressed up and dancing late into the night. With the DJ playing your favorite songs and all your friends hanging out, you just have a blast. All the girls look forward to having their own big bash.

Sophomore year is loaded with fun and is a great time to enjoy new events with your friends. So just sit back, relax, and let the good times roll.

Keeping Busy

A junior's life is full of energy, fun...and anticipation.

BUSY BODIES... Juniors Julie Kulinski, Ashley Daubert, Crystal Jacobs, Ruth Halko, Leanne Lawrence, Michael Polidoro, and Michelle Buontempo are all having a great time during their last year before having to get ready for such things as college and graduation.

This year's juniors have been an incredibly active group. They participated in many events, raising money to help them with their prom next year.

One of the more exciting events was this year's Powderpuff game. The juniors took the winning title away from the seniors in a very competitive game. The girls played extremely well, putting all their strength and energy into the game, while the junior boys cheered them on from the sides as a great group of cheerleaders. All in all, the game was a great success and tons of fun for the juniors.

There was also the junior car wash that many of the juniors participated in, and they also took over the responsibilities of sponsoring this year's Battle of the Bands. The groups were great and everyone had an amazing time listening to the non stop music.

Yet, of course, as it is with every junior class, the highlight of the year is getting a driver's license. Although many of the juniors fell under the new law where they can only receive a restricted license for a year, it still is a highly anticipated time.

Even though the wait for a license seems to take forever, the school continues to come up with new and exciting events to keep the juniors busy.

Below: Where did everybody go?

Miss Bailin takes some time inbetween classes to practice her upcoming lesson. Because of all of her practice, the lesson went smoothly.

Right: Bon appetite!

Mr. Burke gets ready to dig in to some delicious food at Pasta Night. Anyone who saw him after his meal could tell that he was really satisfied.

Above: It's not who..It's whom...

Mrs. O'Donnell and Mrs. Carol chat together after climbing up the stairwells to the fourth floor. You can always find these two throughout the day discussing literary works.

Left: Goth Milk?

Gothic science teacher Mr. Doheny takes a break from scaring people to frighten the photographer. People who had Mr. Doheny in class said he taught a very "scary lesson" that day.

Below: Juice and cookies please...

These young spirited faces enjoyed a laugh while taking a daily snack break. This group has remained close throughout the years.

Above: It's a tea party...

This playgroup enjoyed sitting together while eating some cookies. This group gathered together weekly for their tea date.

Right: Truckers Local 07016...

These four best friends were excited to show each other their new trucks. They all shared their cool new toys with each other.

Right: Best Friends...

Best friends Dever Kennedy and Melissa Paparozzi were inseparable while pumpkin picking. They have remained close companions all these years.

Left: Ready to win...

Charlie Kellett and Chris Pitassy created a book float on the magic school bus. They were winners of the contest that day.

Left: Let's dress up...

Alison Wischusen and Beth Casciano played dress up on a cold December day. This activity was a favorite for the duo.

Below: Graduates...

Best buddies Colette and Sue capture their exciting moment with a picture. They both went to a celebration lunch after the big ceremony.

Below: Brownie huddins...

Angela Cerchio and Lindsay Kormmeyer patiently awaited their turn to decorate the tree. Before the rain came, they were able to display their ornaments.

Those Were The Days...

Above: Strike a pose...

Chrissie Marra and Beth Arcieri loved dancing around the kitchen in their undies! These girls are models in the making for Cosmo magazine.

Our senior year will soon be ending and graduation is rapidly approaching. It seems like only yesterday when we were having snack time and taking daily naps. Those were the good old days when life seemed so simple. Now, we must prepare ourselves for a whole new experience. Even though people are moving on, we will still hold on to the memories of our childhood.

We have all shared the experience of going to high school everyday together. It feels like only yesterday that our class was standing by the front door reluctant to start our freshman year. Now we are leaving here anxiously awaiting new challenges and opportunities.

During our childhoods, we all had our one favorite toy, whether it was a Barbie doll or even a G.I. Joe. We played with

"I still have the Ghostbusters Firehouse and action figures, not to mention the costume."

* Eric Hansen

different friends and spent lots of quality time with our family. Our childhood helped mold us into the people we are today. Under the guidance and care of our families, we learned positive values and and good moral judgement.

Growing up is so simple, but now that we have experienced these past years of our school career, new outlooks on life are before us. But we hold dearly the meaning of friendship, acts of kindness and compassion, and the happiness and well-being of our families and friends.

High school has been one of the most challenging and growing experiences we all have shared throughout the years. As we grow up, we will forever look back on our memorable childhoods and the enduring imprint they have on us.

Those were the days...

Summer was endless, school was fun, and friends were created.

Right: Best buds... Lauren Sawicki and Heather Pizella sit in front of the fireplace in their Christmas dresses.

Above: Two is better than one... Twins Carly and Crystal spend time playing together on those hot summer days. They still remain very close just like when they were younger.

Right: Dancing duo... Stacey McDermott and Molly Frieri take a break from their dance recital to take a picture. These two ballerinas were commended on their performance.

Who Was Your First Crush?

"When I was in first grade I had the biggest crush on Ms. Collins!!"

Reflecting on our pasts...

Today, tomorrow, and forever.

Remembering our childhood is one of the most important things in our lives. Our childhood is a reflection of who we are today. Whether we were playing with our dolls or fighting with our Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, we always had a blast and nothing could get in our way.

Today, we look back on our past and smile while remembering happy thoughts. Senior Laura Geraci recalls, "Playing S.P.U.D. with Anthony Giacone was so much fun, although we did fight over who won."

Growing older can be hard, but taking a piece of our past with us can certainly guide us along the way.

Story By: Jenna Colineri

*Above and Below: Two of a kind...*Jenna Colineri and Meghan Maher wait patiently while sitting watching their brothers play baseball, a weekly ritual that has helped them become as close they are today.

Left and Far Left:
The Best ... Scott Bingham and Joe Bottino found time everyday in grade school to hangout. Now they can be found in CHS walking the halls together.

Left and Far Left:
Scouts honor... Drew Mitchell and Kevin Pipchick show off their new play cars at boy scouts. They felt they had the best cars out of everyone. Today they still feel that their cars can beat anyone who is up for a challenge.

The Game of Powder Puff

Seniors take on juniors on the gridiron...

The bleachers were filled, chants were screamed, and the adrenaline was rushing. The seniors held a lead for a substantial portion of the game until a sudden change in score near the end of the fourth quarter. The juniors were triumphant with a final score of 27-25, which left the seniors teary-eyed while exiting the field. The game was an intense battle all afternoon, and both teams' coaches worked hard to prepare their players with tactics and strategies.

Senior MVP, Emily Ulanski states, "Powder Puff was so much fun both years. I'm very happy that I participated in the competition with all of my friends."

"The game was a tough struggle the whole way through. We wouldn't have won without the support of our fans!" commented Junior MVP Khristelle Manuyag.

The CHS Powder Puff football game is an activity that should continue as a tradition in future years. The students shared a high-spirited afternoon together and created long lasting memories.

Almighty coaches...

What was it like trying to teach girls how to play the grueling game of football?

"These girls tried hard, fought with spirit, and took it to another level. It was a fun time."

**Josh Harris*

"It was a challenge, but the girls worked hard and we had a good time playing."

**Brendan Small*

Reflections.....of the many memories created this year!

This has been a most memorable and eventful year in the highschool as well as throughout the world. Students and faculty participated in a plethora of activities that contributed to a productive school year.

The year unfolded with many efforts to raise money for charities in respect of the Great Tragedy on September 11, 2001. It proceeded to move on from this mournful period into a more uplifting and fun-filled era. Pasta Night was a delicious delight, Powder Puff football was a competitive collaboration, and the Fashion Show was a glamorous gala. The seniors participated in each of these activities while conquering the ominous application process.

Each grade emerged together to contribute to the efforts in earning a Blue Ribbon award for Cranford High. The freshmen hosted a Kickoff Dance in the beginning of the year which gathered new students together with some tunes and tasty snacks. In order to lower the eventual price of prom bids, the sophomores conducted a large candy sale to fundraise for their class. The junior grade led a carwash in the school parking lot, which was a successful group project uniting students for the afternoon. Reflections of our days from this past year touch our hearts uniquely and create our individuality.

Mr. Jay "Doc" Smith

During the past 23 years, Mr. Jay Smith has served as a loyal member of the Cranford High School faculty, taking on many tasks outside of his department. In addition to being head of the visual arts department, Doc was also the advisor of the lighting crew, as well as being an integral part of the production of both the Golden C Yearbook and the Prologue.

Through the many roles that he took on as a teacher, Doc established relationships with his students unlike any other teacher-to-student relationship. Doc's students undoubtedly respected and adored his strong sense of self and his open-mindedness, as he existed as both a teacher, a friend, and in some cases, a mentor.

The yearbook staff, as well as the rest of the students and faculty of CHS, would like to dedicate this page in remembrance and celebration of man who personally touched and inspired so many people. Speaking as a former student of Mr. Smith, I think I speak for all of his friends and students when I say, "Doc, you are an inspiration and a blessing, and we are forever grateful for having known you."

Written by: Virginia Patrone

"After having worked with Doc for five years on the yearbook staff, I came to appreciate not only his creativity but generosity and willingness to help with every aspect of the book." -Ms. Hilborn

"Doc was an inspiration to me, both in and outside of school. He taught more than photography; he taught to cherish life." -Falon Scharrshmidt

"Doc Smith was one of those teachers that I will never forget. He pushed me to do my best, and taught me what it means for someone to go beyond his job because he cared. I miss him a lot and think of him every day." -Charlie DiPasquale
